Council Awaits Arrival of Iran Minister

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - The Security Council delayed the start of its debate on the U.S.-Iranian crisis until Saturday night, waiting for the arrival of Iran's acting foreign minister from Tehran.

The 15-nation council launched its public consideration of the crisis with a 16-minute session Tuesday afternoon at which it heard brief speeches by Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim and Council President Sergio Palacios de Vizzio of Bolivia. Then it adjourned until 9 p.m. EST

Waldheim called on the United States and Iran "to avoid any action which could inflame" the situation further. Palacios de Vizzio urged Iran to release the 49 Americans held hostage in the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, renewing an appeal he made on behalf of the council on Iran's U.N. Mission said Acting Foreign Minister Abolhassan Bani Sadr would be in New York for the start of the debate Saturday night. But Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the leader of Iran's revolutionary regime, rejected in advance any council resolution "dictated" by the United States.

Khomeini in a statement broadcast Tuesday also appeared to reject the only prol posal for council action that has surfaced so far, a package deal in which the Iranians would free the American hostages and end the occupation of the U.S. Embassy in exchange for creation by the council of an international commission to investigate his charges that Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi was responsible for the death of "nearly 100,000 martyrs" and with his family and other associates plundered the Iranian treasury.

The ayatollah lumped together the charges against the shah and his charge that the American hostages were spies, saying any "investigation into the case of the deposed shah and the spies must be carried out only in Iran." He added that the hostages must be put on trial within the "spy den," his term for the embassy.

Iran had sought to delay the council meeting until next week while the United States demanded an earlier public session to call again for the release of the hostages. The United States also wanted to speak at the meeting, but after the council president made his new appeal U.S. Ambassador Donald F. McHenry told a news conference: "We came out just where we wanted to."

State Department officials in Washington said the U.S. government was willing to wait through the end of this week for U.N. action and the time had not come for a showdown. But President Carter scheduled a news conference tonight and told a group of Democrats at a meeting in Washington Tuesday: "I will protect the honor of our country and will not under any circumstances yield to blackmail."

Iran's chief U.N. representative, Jamal Shemirani, told the council debate on the crisis would not be "opportune and productive" until after the Shiite Moslem days of mourning Thursday and Friday for the founder of the sect, the Prophet Mohammed's grandson Hossein, who was assassinated in the seventh century.

Most Iranian Moslems are Shiites, and the holy days, known as Tasua and Ashura, are the occasion for fervent religious demonstrations in Iran. Last year hundreds of thousands marched through Tehran and other cities each day to protest the shah's rule.

As the holy days approached, rumors swept Tehran that the United States was planning an attack to free the hostages and that American agents would incite the demonstrating crowds to break in to the embassy so that a rescue could be attempted during the confusion.

The militant students holding the embassy since Nov. 4 announced that they had mines planted throughout the

Carter Won't Yield

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter, appealing to America's sense of honor, hopes to rally public opinion and to convince Iran of American solidarity during tonight's prime-time news conference.

At the news conference, scheduled for 9 p.m. EST, Carter is expected to insist anew that the United States will not yield to "blackmail" by militants still holding 49 Americans hostage at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

Carter said Tuesday that the honor of America is at stake in the embassy seizure, and said the hostages have been threatened at pistol point and forced to make statements in which they did not

Speaking to a group of Democrats working for his re-election, he said,

"This is a reprehensible thing, a disgrace to every person who believes in civilization and decency.

"I will protect the honor of our country and will not under any circumstances vield to blackmail." Carter said. His remarks were recorded by radio station WGIR in Manchester, N.H.

White House and State Department officials are saying meanwhile that they want to keep the 24-day-old Iranian crisis on "hold" until the U.N. Security Council meets again Saturday.

The administration fears Iranian leaders believe they can "win some battle for American public opinion and that the American people will end up supporting their demands" for a trial of the deposed shah, said a White House

MOSCOW (AP) - The Soviet Parliament met today to approve reduced economic targets for next year after President Leonid Brezhnev reported that this year's grain harvest - the worst since 1975 - is 48 million tons short of the goal and oil output is off 10 million

Because of the low harvest. Western specialists expect the Soviet government may buy all 25 million tons of corn and wheat the U.S. Department of Agriculture will allow to be sold to the Soviet Union in the 1979-80 fiscal year.

The scaled-down economic plan, which is expected to be routinely approved by the 1,500 members of the Parliament, or Supreme Soviet, calls for industrial output to rise by 4.5 percent in 1980 over this year's level.

The growth target for this year had been 5.7 percent over 1978. But Soviet economists have estimated the growth actually achieved at about 4.2 Percent.

Nikolai Baibakov, chief of the state economic planning organization. presented to parliament members a series of production targets for 1980, many of them lower than those envisaged in late 1975 when the Soviet Union announced its 1976-80 economic plan.

Baibakov said oil production is targeted at 606 million tons for next year. against an original goal of 620-640 million tons for 1980. Steel productior is planned for 150 million tons, compared to 160-170 million tons originally planned.

Baibakov said production in 1979 fell short of targets in steel, coal, oil, mineral fertilizers, synthetic chemicals, paper, non-ferrous metals and some consumer goods and food products.

Brezhnev confirmed earlier predictions of a poor harvest in a speech Tuesday to a closed session of the Communist Party's 250-member central committee.

The 72-year-old president blamed "bottlenecks and shortcomings" for the economic troubles. But Western analysts blamed the grain shortfall on a record cold winter in 1978-79, particularly in Western Siberia, Kazakhstan and northeast of the Ural Mountains; wet weather during the harvest and shortages of storage and drying facilities.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency.

said Brezhnev told the committee 1979 was "perhaps the most difficult year" of the 1976-80 five-year planning period.

"The assignments for 1980 are lower in a number of aspects than those for the five-year plan," said Brezhnev, indicating that the Parliament, or Supreme Soviet, would adopt scaled-down economic goals for 1980.

He stressed some good news, including construction of more than 1 billion square feet of new housing in the past four years

At the time of the incident, which occurred at about 9:40 a.m., Kennedy was in his office, which is separated from recommended that 60 percent of future price increases on such "new" oil, which now sells for a controlled price of around $13 per barrel, be taxed away. Chafee and Bradley want to raise the rate to 75 percent, noting that as price controls are removed, that oil will sell for more than $30 a barrel.

The Chafee-Bradley proposal is generally considered to have a better chance of passage than any other amendment to strengthen the tax. But the only previous effort to stiffen the tax - an amendment to double it - failed on liberal senators supported an amendment by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, to cut the 11-year impact of the tax by $10 billion by exempting the first 1.000 barrels of crude oil pumped each day by an independent operator. The amendment was approved by a 53-41 margin. Bradley and Chafee voted against it.

Since an independent is defined generally as any operator other than the giant oil companies, the Bentsen amendment allowed senators to cast a vote for solving the nation's energy problems without appearing to be siding with "big oil."

Bentsen said the tax break is needed to provide independents, who drill 90 percent of the nation's exploratory oil and gas wells, the money for increased exploration.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Although housing costs rose last month at the steepest rate since 1947, many economists are saying record-high mortgage rates mean the worst is yet to

"If housing increases were high in October, the November increase will be whopping." said Commerce Department economist Theodore Torda.

And Robert Russell, director of Président Carter's anti-inflation council. said mortgage rates will affect inflation with a "vengeance."

The Labor Department reported Tuesday that consumer prices rose 1 percent overall last month, fueled primarily by a 1.5 percent boost in housing costs.

By contrast, food prices were up a relatively modest 0.7 percent, fuel oil prices up 1.3 percent-compared to an average increase of 5 percent a month over the prior nine months-and gasoline increased 1.8 percent, the smallest rise since last December.

In a separate report, the Labor Department said the average price across the country for gasoline topped $1 a gallon for the first time in October., The $1.006 a gallon October figure compared to 99.8 cents in September.

Ann Landers Outside Looking In

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been married for five years to a man who was married before. He has a child from that

My problem is with my in-laws. My husband's mother is very friendly with his ex-wife. She invites her over for dinner once a week. They take vacations together, and exchange birthday and Christmas gifts. The same goes for my brother-in-law and sister-in-law.

Two weeks ago I had my first baby. Not a single in-law came to visit me in the hospital. No one sent a gift, or even telephoned to see how I was.

I've tried very hard to get them to like me, but nothing works. When : m out shopping and see something I think my mother-in-law might like, I buy it for her. I have vet to see the woman wear a single thing I have given her. My mother-inlaw is a great fan of yours, Ann. She is always quoting you. I hope she reads this in the paper and realizes how much she has hurt my husband and me by her attitude. Any advice? -- Outside Looking In Obviously, your husband's first wife earned the love and respect of your in-laws, and she will continue to have it. Equally obvious is the fact that you were never accepted by your husband's family. After five years of the cold shoulder. I doubt that you ever will be. So. stop buying little gifts for your mother-in-law in the hope that it will generate some affection. Think about the reason you are "Outside Looking In," and look elsewhere for friendship.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been married to a stingy man for 17 years. He pays the bills and gives me a meager sum to buy a few odds and ends for the kids, but I've always had to beg for every extra dollar.

A few years ago, I went into his wallet and took out $3.00. He never missed it. From then on I've been helping myself to a few dollars every week. It's amazing how a man so tight doesn't realize what's been going on. Some weeks I've taken as much as $8.00.

The Hereford High Boys varsity basketball team came roaring back from a 17 point deficit last night dumping in 10 unanswered points but it was not enough, as Dimmitt held on to win the game 70-61.

Hereford Head Coach Bobby Decker commented after the game, "our shooting in the first quarter made the difference in the ball game."

Dimmitt jumped on the scoreboard first and opened the game with a zone defense to keep the Herd shooting from the outside. In the first five minutes of play Hereford only converted on one field goal while the Bobcats were running the score up to 14-2. Two straight field goals by Ernie Suarez started to bring the Hereford offense to Hereford opened the second period with six straight points to narrow the margin to 11 points which was the closest the game would get until late in the fourth quarter. Dimmitt stretched the lead to 12 and was in command at halftime 36-24.

The Bobcats opened the second half with a full court zone press giving Hereford a hard time getting the ball down court. The period was marred with Whiteface turnovers that enabled Dimmitt to stretch its lead to 18, the largest of the game the Bobcats at the end of the third period 52-35.

The final quarter was full of action for both clubs. Hereford went into a full court man to man press and started working on closing the gap. Behind interceptions and steals by Norman Hill and Ernie Suarez Hereford scored 10 unanswered points to close the gap to 55-48, when Dimmitt called time to talk things over. The Bobcats came out of the huddle and scored six straight points of its own to bring the lead back to 13 points at 61-48. Hereford pulled back within eight with 1:34 left in the game but the Dimmitt freethrow shooting in the final two minutes proved to be too much for the Whitefaces. On five one and one fouls. Dimmitt hit on eight out of ten, enough to hold on to a nine point lead and win the game, 70-61.

Coach Decker said after the game, "our shooting percentage has been 31 percent and we have to improve on that a bunch.

Hereford record is now 1-2 for the year while Dimmitt won its first game of the year to bring them to 1-2. Both Dimmitt's and Hereford's next game will be in the Hereford tournament Thursday. Dimmitt will play Monterey while Hereford will play Canyon who is undefeated at 4-0.

Hereford had four men in double figures. Ernie Suarez was high point man with 15, followed by Keith Adams with 14, Norman Hill had 12 and Joe Walker had 10.

Varsity Girls Fall To Dimmit 67-32

The girls varsity had a tough time breaking a zone press down at them in the second half and went down to defeat at the hands of Dimmitt 67-32.

Hereford was down by only 14 at halftime by a 34-20 score but the full court press in the half made the difference. The Herd was only able to score four points in the third quarter and eight in the last, to bring the final score to 67-32. ### Holtz Named SWC Coach of Year

By DENNE H. FREEMAN. Texas tight- end Lawrence AP Sports Writer

When Lou Holtz came to Ar-Pa., who had only played one and Texas' Steve McMichael.

But the Arkansas coach and Kevin Scanlon made magic during the 1979 Southwest Conference football season.

Arkansas surprised the experts by earning at least a tie for the championship. One of the big reasons: Senior quarterback . Scanlon.

They were the headline performers on Wednesday's Associated Press 1979 All-SWC football team as selected by the nine head coaches.

Every ballot listed Scanlon at quarterback and he was selected as the Offensive Player of the Year over Texas Tech's 1,000-yard runner James Hadnot six votes to three Holtz was named SWC Coach of the Year by his peers.

Mike Singletary, Baylor's magnificent junior linebacker. was the Defensive Player of the Year.

Other first team offensive performers included Texas running back A.J. ### Stock Activity Prompts Pullout Rumor

Jones: 'Holly Planning on Being Here' A wire story circulated only a week to ten days earlier.

By JIM STEIERT Brand Farm Editor

The perennial rumor that the Holly Sugar Corporation's Hereford plant will close was apparently touched off again early this week when a New York-based firm called for the liquidation of Holly Sugar Corp., but a spokesman for the local Holly plant reported today that excellent production and the most attractive sugar market in many months are more than ample reasons for Holly to stay on in the Hereford area.

Tuesday by the Associated Press apparently touched off a new wave of concern over the continued presence of the firm's beet processing plant here. That report indicated that a

New York firm was calling for Holly's liquidation, claiming Holly stock should be valued at $100 per share.

According to Calvin Jones. agricultural manager of the Hereford Holly plant, Holly stock closed at $50 per share Tuesday, marking an impressive climb from $18 per share

Holly's corporate headquarters in Colorado Springs issued a statement on activities of their stock last week, with Holly officials indicating they had no information concerning the tions became favorable. reasons behind the drastic stock

In the release, the firm advised by counsel for Irwin L. Jacobs, a Holly stockholder, of a call by Jacobs for the sale or liquidation of the Holly firm due to his dissatisfaction with management of the company.

"We're planning on being here. We have the beet growers in this area who produce a good product and we have a good market for our sugar. The sugar market has been a lot better in the last month and industry specialists predict sugar consumption will exceed production in 1980. That will place the industry in a supply and demand situation which should make the price of sugar more attractive. Better sugar prices are good news not only for our company, but for our producers in the Hereford region," stated herd in one year through breed). knowledgeable sire selection and selective breeding programs, believes Dr. Larry L.

Sire Selection Key Factor In Beef Profits

Boleman, a beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Texas A&M University System. points out that cattlemen can select from more than 50 breeds to develop the type of beef herd they desire.

"It all boils down to one point, though," contends the specialist. "Cattlemen should strive to efficiently produce economically affordable beef for the consumer while insuring a profit for themselves."

One way to accomplish this is to keep the calf crop as close to 100 percent as possible. A high percentage calf crop can best be insured by only purchasing bulls passing a complete breeding soundness evaluation consisting of a physical examination; scrotal size determination and a semen evaluation. However, Boleman advises the owner to > Another profitable practice is to raise heavy calves at weaning. This is where a performance-tested bull comes in. Average weaning weights may be increased from 25 to 40 pounds per calf by selecting a bull with a heavy weaning and yearling weight. "Insist on records containing exact weights and ratios measured at weaning and yearling periods," urges the specialist. "Other data such as average daily gain or weight per day of age is helpful since the ability to grow is transmitted to offsprings."

In addition to a larger calf crop and heavier weaning weights, cattlemen should produce calves that fit market needs that will demand the highest prices per pound. contends Boleman. A thorough knowledge of the market and factors affecting productivity is mandatory. Oftentimes, color and conformation may actually determine a calf's average price

FFA Members Now Taking Citrus Orders

Citrus fruit for the holiday season is currently being sold by members of the Hereford FFA, according to a spokesman for the local chapter.

Chapter members are taking orders for navel oranges and ruby red grapefruit, with delivery of the fruit to be made. the week of Dec. 10.

Grapefruit are priced at $6.50 for a 20 pound box and $9.50 for a 40 pound box. Oranges, available only in 20 pound boxes this year, are priced at $8 per carton. Early orders for fruit have already been turned in and additional orders will be processed quickly for early delivery, according to the chapter spokesman. Proceeds from the annual citrus fruit sale help fund activities of the Hereford FFA earliness of maturity." says the

"Given cattle that meet carcass specifications, those which grow fastest are likely to be most profitable because they achieve production targets faster and usually on less feed." notes Boleman.

However, calving difficulty may result from increased birth weights of heavier cattle. Losses at calving could easily offset any overall calf performance gains. '

"Selection for growth rate may delay maturity." reminds the specialist. "Early maturing cattle produce marketable carcasses at relatively young ages on high forage diets. In turn, late maturing cattle grow fast on high grain diets without getting too fat, but can also be used in forage systems to produce heavy carcasses."

Boleman believes there is. room in beef production for both early and late maturity types. depending on the management system used.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates the 1979 domestic cotton crop at 14.2 million bales - a half million more than predicted and up 31 percent from last year's crop.

COMMENTARY Donald F. Graff

The terrorist business

There's a boom underway these days in one aspect of interhational business activity that is causing no joy in board-

Terrorism directed at business enterprises and executives is spiraling sharply and steadily upward, according to a study just out from The Conference Board.

By its tally, terrorist incidents — murders, kidnappings, bombings, personal assaults and the like — nearly tripled in a four-year period, jumping from 572 in 1975 to 1,511 in 1978. And indications from the first three quarters of 1979 are that another record year is coming up The private economic research organization says its figures, because of different criteria, vary somewhat from those of such other interested parties as the State Department and CIA, but all are in agreement on the upward trend.

Focusing on kidnappings, the study finds that businessmen are far and away the prime terrorist targets. They were involved in 55 percent of abductions of American personnel in foreign countries between 1970 and 1978, with diplomats a distant second at 28 percent. There is a sexist as well as economic tilt to kidnappings: Some-90 percent of victims have been male. Of the few women abducted, about half were daughters of executives who were the real targets of extortion incidents.

The increasing incidence of terrorist kidnappings has been paced by rising ransom demands. In 1978 there were 12 demands for $1 million or more, where early in the decade there had been none that high. The norm is now in the $5-10 million range and since 1970, the terrorists' total take has been an estimated $150 million.

In self-defense, businesses and businessmen operating abroad are using a number of strategems such as assumed names for travel and hotel reservations, unlisted addresses ance.

How many firms are utilizing the latter is unknown because publicity can in some cases be grounds for cancellation of coverage. But ransom insurance is known to be a growing field with - surely to no one's surprise - Lloyds of London in the forefront of carriers.

While insurance may be an appropriately businesslike way of minimizing financial losses, it does nothing to resolve the basic problem. And unfortunately, no resolution yet appears in

Autopsy Ruling Blasted

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - Prosecutors trying to prove a controversial murder case had the victim's body exhumed. examined privately by three doctors and promptly reburied - all without the knowledge of the dissenting medical exam-

Bexar County Medical Examiner Dr. Ruben Santos angrily said Monday that Friday's surprise examination of 15-year-old Billy Barnett's body was an illegal "fly-by-night autopsy" and was conducted solely to discredit him.

Barnett, a member of the Holmes High School Rodeo Club, died Oct. 22 while allegedly being beaten by six classmates from a rival student facexaminer for 17 years, ruled that Barnett's death was caused by an aneurysm, a congenitally weak artery, that burst in his brain during the attack. It could have burst at any time, he added.

That ruling brought a public outcry, especially from Barnett's parents. District Attorney Bill White is pressing a murder case against the youths, five of whom are juveniles. White's office had earlier asked the three doctors to examine autopsy records and all three said the artery burst from trauma inflicted by the beating. There was no evidence of an aneurysm, they added.

White said the three Univer-

Santos, the county medical Center professors performed the second autopsy Friday at the school. The body was exhumed, examined and reburied in the same day without Santos' knowledge, White added.

The district attorney said he understands the findings from the second autopsy supported the doctors' earlier opinions. White requested the exhumation, which was granted by a justice of the peace and allowed by Barnett's parents. White denied the exhumation was illegal and said he was not trying to discredit Santos. "We're out to prove a charge of murder on six people." he said.

But Santos said, "They're after my neck. It's very obvious they're trying to prove me sity of Texas Health Science wrong. The way they're treating me, they may want another medical examiner."

Attorney Fred Semaan, who represents Santos, added, "We may have to dig up the body again to see what they've done to it."

Santos, pointing out that he had encouraged opinions from other pathologists, said he would have agreed to a second autopsy, if asked.

Santos and his attorneys contend that state law requires the medical examiner's consent for such an exhumation in Texas counties with populations exceeding 500,000.

Without such consent, they added, only a district judge, not a justice of the peace, can order ation. Adams described Hill's getting a knife on board as "a chance in a million, but it obviously happened."

> Hill was charged with armed interference with a flight crew and appeared in federal court Monday, where his bond was kept at $500,000 and attorney John Langford was appointed to defend him.

"I've requested the court to order that a psychiatric evaluation be made," Langford said, adding he also asked for postponement of another hearing scheduled for Thursday. Neither motion had been acted upon, he said.

Adams said the San Antonio airport's security system was checked before and after Saturday's incident.

'The equipment was working as it should be," he said from his Fort Worth office. "There is a possibility of momentary equipment error or human error or both." He said the metal detectors were installed in San Antonio in 1973 and have worked properly until now. "Just since March," he said,

"283 guns have been detected in the five-state region. "Of the millions and millions of people who have gone through the metal detectors since then, this is the only case that resulted in a hijacking by someone who introduced a weapon through the security system.

"The system is working. It State police pushed through has proven to be almost inthe crowd and cut down the Adams added that his Washington supervisors ordered him to advise airlines in his region they might want to stiffen security checks because of the U.S. Embassy siege in Tehran.

Not a vitamin deficiency

DEAR DR. LAMB -Recently on TV I heard a doctor say that arthritis is caused by a deficiency. I wasn't listening very closely and I didn't get which vitamin he said but he said it was a B vitamin. When I went to the drugstore, there were so many different kinds of B vitamins I didn't know which one to get and the druggist could not help me. I gave up.

I swear by vitamin C, having had colds all winter long until starting on it about eight years ago. I haven't had one since. Several doctors have scoffed at my story but I vouch for it. I thought if I could get hold of the proper B vitamin, it would also help my arthritis which has come on very suddenly and is very painful in my knee. My family doctor prescribes two aspirins every four hours but if you can give me the name of the proper B vitamin, I'd surely appreciate it.

DEAR READER Arthritis of the knees, which is persistent and not associated with some infectious process, is usually osteoarthritis, or wear and tear arthritis. It is not caused by any vitamin deficiency. regardless of what you think you heard on television.

Osteoporosis or softening of the bones is more apt to occur in people who are on calcium deficient diets. That's really not arthritis but I know many people call it arthritis. Taking increased amounts of calcium will help to slow down the process or help to prevent it but it won't correct what's already happened.

There are a lot of quack cures that are used by people to try to treat osteoarthritis. Some people do feel better when they take these, even though they don't have any influence on the osteoarthritis, because of the psychological reaction to the medicine itself. Such individuals would usually get the same response to a coated sugar

To give you more information about osteoarthritis and what can be done about it. I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-10, Osteoarthritis: Degenerative Or Wear And Tear Arthritis Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long. stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019 Now about vitamin C. I hate to tell you this but a very good study done on Marine recruits, which was statistically perfect so that you could draw a valid conclusion. showed that there's no difference in the frequency of colds in Marine recruits who took vitamin C and those who did not. And there was no difference in the duration or severity of the symptoms. In short, vitamin C didn't help at all. This is pretty much the story for all of the properly designed research studies that have been done on this relationship.

The fact that you've gotten along without a cold for eight years has nothing to do with vitamin C. I'm always reminded of the University of Minnesota study of vitamin C a number of years ago; half of the students were given an inert pill with no effect and half were given vitamin C. The next year a former student wrote back and asked if he could have the cold pill because he hadn't had any colds all year while he was taking it. You guessed it. He didn't get the vitamin C. He had been getting the inert pill all along.

Such testimonials do not prove a thing and that's why we have to have properly designed research studies to make any conclusions rather than relying on individual testimonials

AUSTIN-Gov. Bill Clements last week accused Attorney General Mark White of overstepping his authority when White met with 34 oil company representatives to discuss oil spills. Clements charged that White was "politicizing the oil spill issue" and was misrepresenting his authority to the companies. White is suing SEDCO, Inc., a Dallas-based oil drilling firm founded by Clements, in connection with the Campeche Bay oil well blowout. Clements placed his holdings in the firm in a blind trust headed by his son before he took office. White told reporters he met with the oil companies to discuss how more effective action could be taken in response to future oil spills. He said the Campeche Bay blowout and the tanker accident near Galveston this month caught authorities by surprise. The meeting was a "free exchange of ideas concerning oil-spill damage control," according to White, but Clements took hot exception to White's refusal to allow the governor's general counsel to sit in on the discussion. The governor's staff was last week in Austin. Following first day addresses by several presidential hopefuls, including John Connally. Howard Baker and Gerald Ford, the GOP governors blasted Presiden₱ Jimmy Carter's energy policies and later approved Clements' resolution calling for more production of oil. natural gas and coal.

At one point during the gathering Clements fold reporters he "might" become a favorite son presidential candidate if Connally and George Bush drop out of the race before the GOP Texas primary in May. However, he was careful to stress that as long as the "two Texans" were in the race, he would not take sides or an active role.
