Wartes named 1991 top citizenBy JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

When Larry Wartes moved to Hereford, he came to be more than a head football coach.

Wartes, successful in football and in life, was named the 1991 Citizen of the Year at the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce banquet Saturday at the Bull Barn in Hereford.

Tommy Weemes, president of the Hereford Lions Club, reflected on Wartes' volunteer service during the presentation.

"Our citizen is genuinely interested in people," said Weemes. "He visits nursing homes on a regular basis and has driven the dialysis van on numerous occasions. If someone needs a ride to Amarillo to see a doctor, he is always ready and willing to help."

"Many of his charitable works are known only to the person he helps. He prefers to remain anonymous."

Wartes is a past director of the chamber. He is a deacon of the First Baptist Church, where he's assistant treasurer and a Sunday School teacher.

Wartes was born in Morton and is a graduate of Amarillo High School and Hardin-Simmons University. He had a successful career as a football coach, guiding two state champions at Stamford before moving to Hereford in 1967. He got HHS on the winning track before becoming an assistant superintendent in 1971.

He was recognized by his peers with two terms as a director of the Texas High School Coaches Association, and was inducted into the THSCA Hall of Honor in 1975.

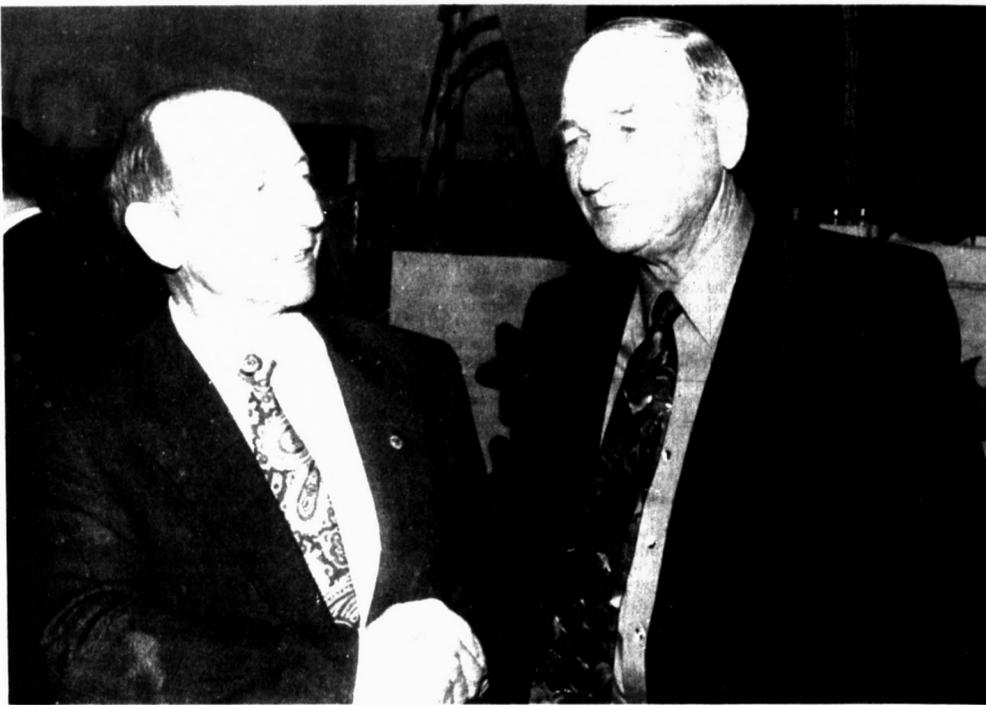

Weemes said Wartes' coaching style was "good-natured intensity."

"He is the only football coach I have ever seen stand on his head to get the referee's attention," Weemes said. "He also tells great sports stories and is a walking encyclopedia of Texas high school sports."

"A coach's professional success is not only measured by the number of games won, but also by the number of people who follow in his footsteps. In the case of our citizen, many of his former student athletes, including his two sons, have pursued successful coaching careers."

Most of Wartes' family were present, including his wife, Joyce; his youngest son, Alan, and daughter Susan; their spouses and the six grandchildren. His oldest son, Mike, wasn't able to be there Saturday; he's the athletic director at Canyon, and had two teams win girls state championships in Austin.

"I've been real blessed during my years in Hereford," Wartes said. "On Monday, hundreds of people will go to work who deserve this more than I do, but today I thank you very much."

Chamber announces award

A new award unveiled Saturday at the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce banquet will honor a Hereford High School senior each year.

Pat Robbins, 1991 president of the chamber, announced the President's Leadership Award. The award, including a scholarship, will be given at the annual Awards Assembly each spring at HHS.

Mike Carr, executive vice president of the chamber, said the award was begun this year in memory of Doug Josserand and in honor of all past presidents of the chamber.

"We wanted to do something special in memory of Doug, but we also want to honor all of the past presidents who have served the chamber and this community so well," said Carr.

Greenawalt details 1992 plans

Charles Greenawalt laid the groundwork for 1992's program of work at Saturday's Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce banquet at the Bull Barn.

Greenawalt, 1992 chamber president, followed the banquet's theme, "Making It Happen in 1992," in his remarks to the 300-plus persons at the banquet.

Greenawalt said he had learned there are three classes of people: those who watch what's going on; those who have no idea of what is going on; and the few who make things happen.

"We need to be excited about Hereford and enthusiastic about our community," said Greenawalt. The school superintendent said he will be calling on persons from all segments of the community to work on the vision, purpose, functions and goals of the chamber for the next 10 years.

"We want to make Hereford a better place," Greenawalt said. "We need to break from the past as we move toward the year 2000. We don't need to wait for it to happen, but instead control our future."

"Many times we are afraid to take risks because we are afraid of being criticized. Don't be afraid to plan, set goals or be a visionary."

Outgoing President Pat Robbins paid tribute to the many persons in the community who worked on last year's July 4th celebration.

Thanks for your work, Pat

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says there really isn't a recession going on—it's just a nasty rumor started by 10 million people out of work.

You know inflation has hit when necessities and luxuries are selling for about the same price.

Congratulations to Larry Wartes on being named "Citizen of the Year" at the Chamber Banquet Saturday night. Larry has been a great asset for our schools and our kids, and now he continues to be a good neighbor in many ways.

The Chamber Banquet was another enjoyable event, and the program by Tumbleweed Smith presented Texas humor at its very best. We also extend congratulations to the new officers and directors of the Chamber, and we hope they have a great year in helping Hereford grow and prosper!

There was much emphasis put on being "politically correct" last year. It's not so much what you believe, but saying what you believe in the accepted manner. For example, you shouldn't say politicians are dishonest, they are just "ethically challenged."

Someone has also suggested that saying the economy is in slow recovery, not a recession, is like saying we don't have unemployment. Rather, we just have a lot of people who are really, really late for work.

County has very, very brief meeting

A two-item agenda for Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court consumed less than five minutes Monday but the court spent, altogether, about 15 minutes in session.

The first agenda item, "Minutes," was passed over, County Judge Tom Simons said, because County Clerk David Ruland had been busy with election details and had not finished the minutes of the last commission meeting.

The second item was "Pay bills and approve reports." The bills are a formality, giving County Treasurer Vesta Mae Nunley authority to send checks to persons and businesses that provide services and supplies to the county.

Under "reports," members of the court and other county officials often

Court remands drug sentence

A 1990 drug conviction in 222nd District Court in Hereford has been reversed by the Seventh Court of Appeals but a motion for the court to re-hear the case will be filed by the Deaf Smith County criminal district attorney's office.

Deadline for filing the motion to re-hear is Friday, said Criminal District Attorney Roland Saul.

The defendant in the case, Armando Castro, was convicted of possession of a controlled substance, less than 28 grams of cocaine, by a jury in August 1990, and received a 10-year probated prison sentence.

The conviction was appealed on the defendant's contention that the court erred in denying his motion to suppress evidence, the cocaine that Hereford police officers seized. The appeal also claimed that the cocaine was obtained by illegal search.

Testimony in the trial revealed that a Hereford city detective, Mike Ahrens, received information about Castro allegedly selling cocaine. The detective and three uniformed officers went to a Hereford club where they found Castro and another man sitting at a table.

The officers asked Castro to step outside and he complied. Once outside, he was told that Ahrens had received information about him and that he would be searched. The detective removed the defendant's wallet from his back pocket, opened the wallet and discovered a white substance that he believed to be cocaine. Subsequently, a laboratory test confirmed that the substance wrapped in paper in the wallet was cocaine.

The appeal challenged the search of Castro and the opinion from the appellate court upholds the challenge, calling the search "unreasonable" and observing that the defendant was not formally under arrest at that time.

Further, the court's opinion disagreed with the state's argument that search of Castro, without a warrant, was necessary to prevent destruction of the drug.

If the Seventh Court of Appeals turns down the motion to re-hear, Saul said an appeal could be made to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

County jail has record weekend

A busy weekend for law enforcement officers filled the Deaf Smith County Jail to a new record over the new record under my tenure," said Simons.

Deaf Smith County Judge Tom Simons said there were 104 persons in 35 persons over the weekend, with 104 persons arrested and 35 persons over the weekend. "That's a most of those seeing jail time."

Rhode Island firm to run lottery

Contract's worth estimated at $200 million

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas will have one of the largest lotteries in the world, predicts the Rhode Island company given the job of running the state's games.

Gtech Corp. of West Greenwich, R.I., also said the five-year contract's value could be more than the $200 million that's been estimated. The amount will be based on lottery sales.

"The breadth of this opportunity is unprecedented; never before has a single company been asked to provide such a comprehensive range of lottery services," said Gtech Chairman Guy B. Snowden.

Texas' lottery games are expected to bring in about $1 billion a year when fully operational. Instant winner, scratch-off lottery tickets are to be on sale by July 1, and the lotto games are to be in operation by Jan. 1.

Gtech will provide operating systems for instant-winner and on-line games; ticket warehousing, distribution and retailer support; and telecommunications and ticket validation equipment.

The signing of the Gtech contract was announced Monday, along with that of a contract for lottery advertising with a consortium led by Austin-based GSD&M. The two-year GSD&M contract provides an 8 percent commission on about $20 million of advertising annually by the state.

"GSD&M is not only a home-grown Texas firm, but it's a company whose keen understanding of the Lone Star State is demonstrated by the highly successful 'Don't Mess with Texas' ad campaign" targeting litter prevention, said state Comptroller John Sharp, who oversees the lottery.

Sharp said Gtech's proposal was at least $90 million less than the competing bid and was technically superior. He said that company committed to hiring 95 percent of lottery personnel in Texas, and to securing 89 percent of its subcontracted staff, goods and services in the state.

There have been several unconfirmed reports that a federal grand jury in California is looking into the activities of Gtech, which says it is the world's leading lottery supplier.

A former California state senator has testified that he was bribed by a Gtech lobbyist to oppose a bill the company wanted killed.

Gtech has repeatedly denied the claim.

The comptroller's office said a Texas Department of Public Safety team found no evidence of criminality on the part of Gtech, "particularly in regard to allegations from California." The investigation into Gtech and other lottery operators will be an ongoing process at the state's request.

Gtech, which has about 2,300 employees, said the Texas lottery is its 25th U.S. customer and represents the largest single contract in the company's history.

Among its other U.S. clients are the California, New York and Illinois lotteries. It also supplies or operates lottery systems for 32 jurisdictions outside of the United States.

The company said it will operate 12 offices in Texas, including data centers in Austin and Irving, and 10 regional distribution centers throughout the state. The location of the regional centers has not yet been determined.

The other bidder for the lottery operator contract was a consortium that included Control Data Corp. of Minnesota and Scientific Games of Georgia.

There were four other bidders for the advertising contract: from Dallas, The Richards Group and Tracy-Locke-Ornelas; and from Houston, CME-GLD&W and Ogilvy & Mather of Houston.

Texas takes hit in FmHA closings

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Texas director of the Farmers Home Administration says partisan politics didn't play a role in determining which county field offices are going to be closed.

But at least one Texas congressman begs to differ.

"It kind of sure looks like it to me that they are picking on Democratic members," Rep. Bill Sarpalius, D-Amarillo, said Monday.

Seventeen of the 20 FmHA offices due to be closed by the end of September are in congressional districts held by Democrats. Fifteen are in the districts of three Democrats - Sarpalius, Jim Chapman of Sulphur Springs and Charles Stenholm of Stamford.

Sarpalius, who noted that Republican Larry Combest's neighboring Panhandle district didn't lose a single office, isn't the only one who believes some of the closings may be politically motivated. David Senter, national director of the American Agriculture Movement, said he shares in those suspicions.

But, FmHA director Neal Sox Johnson said of the allegation: "I don't understand it completely."

"The problem being, if you're going to close any offices in the state of Texas of our 127 offices, 96 were located in a Democratic congressional district."

The nationwide restructuring is designed to save money and streamline the agency, which makes and guarantees housing and farm loans. FmHA has either shut down or authorized closing 89 county offices and six district offices in 21 states since last October. Another 19 or 20 closures are pending.

Johnson said FmHA is mainly closing one- and two-person offices that are not able to efficiently serve farmers and in some cases average one or two loans a month. Efforts are being made to transfer employees from closing offices to other operations.

"The purpose of this was not to reduce the number of staff, it was just to get them in better working units," he said. "We think a four- to eight-person staff per office gives us our most efficient operation."

Sarpalius said he is concerned that FmHA is abandoning its presence in key rural areas.

"No question about it, they are closing offices in the areas where the farmers are having the most problems," he said.

But Johnson said the closings don't mean FmHA will not retain a presence in affected counties.

Both Sarpalius and Stenholm said they favor a restructuring of FmHA, with Sarpalius saying he would like to see the agency absorbed by the Small Business Administration.

Stenholm, who said he had no reason to believe partisan politics dictated the closures, favors a plan floated by Rep. Dan Glickman, D-Kan., to consolidate many Agriculture Department agencies under one umbrella.

"We've got to go much further than they've gone thus far and that's where it's unrealistic to argue that (the restructuring) is going in the wrong direction."

Hereford man killed in Oklahoma crash

A Hereford man, James Coy Mireles, 17, died Sunday in a single-vehicle accident in Cimarron County, Oklahoma.

A passenger in a 1988 Suburban driven by his father, Paul Moreno Mireles, 43, the young man was ejected from the vehicle when it apparently skidded out of control as it approached a curve on U.S. 385, near the Texas-Oklahoma state line.

A special fund has been established at Hereford State Bank for donations to help the family with funeral expenses for James Coy Mireles.

According to an Oklahoma Highway Patrol report, the vehicle rolled 5 1/2 times, coming to rest on the passenger side. James Mireles, who apparently was not wearing a seat belt, was thrown 129 feet from the vehicle.

The accident occurred in Oklahoma, as the car approached the Texas state line. The father, who was wearing a seat belt, was taken to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo for treatment. He suffered a broken arm and lacerations.

The victim was born in Burlington, Colo., and was a painter and building contractor. He was a member of San Jose Catholic Church.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: Since I am going to be painting several rooms, is it necessary to clean the paint roller each night? It's going to take a few days to complete the project. — R.P., El Paso, Texas

To keep the roller soft and clean, simply place it in a plastic bag and seal tightly. This will eliminate the need to wash and rinse it.

If the job takes more than a couple of days, I would suggest washing the roller every other day to keep it working its best.

Good luck on your painting project.

Boys golfers 11th in tough field; girls win in Perryton

The Hereford boys' golf team started its season with an 11th place finish in the Andrews Golf Classic

Friday and Saturday, while the girls' team won the Perryton Invitational Golf Tournament by 65 strokes Saturday.

Hereford's girls totaled 366 in the 18-hole event, blowing away second-place Wellington. Perryton's A team was third at 448.

Hereford swept the individual medals: Cecelia Albracht took the gold medal with an 89; Paula Britten claimed silver with a 91; and Dusty Saul took the bronze with a 92. Kelly Kelso with a 94 and Stephanie Walls with a 96 were barely out of the money.

In Andrews, Hereford's boys were 11th in a tough 22-team field, coach Stacey Bixler said.

Hereford totaled 326 on Friday and 346 on Saturday for a 672 for the 36-hole tourney (the top ten teams in the tournament averaged 16 strokes worse on Saturday than on Friday).

Andrews totaled 297-325-622 to win its own tournament, and Andrews' B team was not far behind at 308-325-633. Big Spring was third at 313-326-639; followed by Midland Lee, 312-329-641; Monahans, 311-335-646; Seminole, 319-329-648; Pampa, 322-332-654; Midland High, 320-338-658; Sweetwater, 325-339-664; Lamesa, 329-336-665; Hereford; and Snyder, 333-350-683.

Hereford was tenth--three strokes ahead of Lamesa--after Friday, but Lamesa's drop from Friday to Saturday was only seven strokes. That was the best of any team in the top 13.

Besides Pampa and Hereford, the only team from District 1-4A was Dumas, which finished last with 411-390-801.

Individually, Cory Newton led Hereford with a 83-81-164. Jayson Mines had a 80-85-165, followed by Mikel Walser, 83-92-175; Clay Cantrell, 80-96-176; and Kevin Kelso, 89-88-177.

In addition, Cantrell picked up a plaque for winning closest-to-the-pin on Friday. He hit an 8-iron to within about 18 inches of the cup on Andrews Country Club's 181-yard No. 12.

Richard, who was in the super-heavyweight class (276 pounds and up), benched 425, deadlifted 633 and squatted 733 for a total of 1,791.

Richard said he was a little disappointed with his finish, "but then there were some big boys there," he said. "There was a lot of competition. There were lots of people there."

There were 19 lifters in Richard's division, he said, and 24 in Jose's.

Herd goes 0-2-1 in Abilene; JV's win Monday

In the All-America Classic baseball tournament in Abilene, Hereford lost two games and tied one, but lost that on a tiebreaker.

The losses were 11-2 to Lawton (Okla.) Eisenhower in Thursday's first round and 6-1 to El Paso High in the Herd's third and final game on Friday.

The Herd was tied with Amarillo High at 4-4 when time ran out after six innings, but the Sandies advanced on the tiebreaker: men left on base (7-6). The tie was especially notable because Amarillo High had beaten the Herd 11-2 seven days before in Hereford.

Amarillo took a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the first--on a single, a walk, a double steal and a two-run single--and it stayed that way until the top of the fifth, when Hereford took a 3-2 lead.

Ralph Holguin, Hereford's pitcher, walked, and Chris Brummett courtesy ran for him and stole second base.

Kyle Hansen walked, then Richard Rodriguez drove Brummett home with a double. Jake Head's single plated Hansen and Rodriguez.

Amarillo tied it back up in the bottom of the inning with three consecutive singles, then Hereford took the lead again in the top of the sixth. Jerry Rincon walked, and Brummett, a pinch-runner, scored on Andy Kalka's single.

Amarillo tied it yet again, this time on a single, a sacrifice fly and an RBI single.

Holguin pitched the entire game. All four runs were earned. Holguin struck out seven, walked two and allowed seven hits.

Against Lawton Eisenhower, Hereford led 2-1 after one inning but unraveled in the third as the Oklahoma team scored eight runs. Lawton sent 12 men to the plate in the inning. They got four hits, including a home run, and were helped by three errors and two walks.

The game was called because of a eight-run rule in the bottom of the fourth. Sammy Casarez pitched for Hereford. He gave up all the runs, but only four were earned.

Hereford's runs in the top of the first were scored by Rene Cano and Ruben Ramos. Cano scored on Ramos' double, and Ramos scored on Tab Hathaway's single.

In the final game, El Paso High led Hereford 2-0 after three innings. Hereford scored once in the top of the fourth, but El Paso answered with four in the bottom of the inning.

Richard Rodriguez pitched three innings, and he faced several batters in the fourth without recording an out. He gave up all the runs, four of which were earned. Ramos relieved in the fourth and did not allow a run in two innings. He struck out three, walked one and gave up one hit.

The team will play in a tournament in Dumas Friday and Saturday.

Hereford's freshmen baseball team braved the cold wind at Whiteface Field Monday and came away with an 11-2 win over Dimmitt's junior varsity. The game was called after four innings because of darkness.

The Bobcats, whose program is in its first season, committed only five errors but had trouble with pitching control. Dimmitt pitchers walked seven batters and had particular problems with wild pitches.

Chris Castro pitched all four innings for Hereford. He struck out four and did not give up a base hit. He struck out the side in the fourth inning.

Hereford scored five runs in each of the first two innings, and also sent 10 men to the plate in each. Hereford only had five hits--all singles--but the Herd stole 12 bases, as a stiff wind out of the north made throwing to second or third base difficult for the catcher.

Dimmitt stole four bases, and three of those resulted in two runs in the second inning.

Also on Monday, the Hereford junior varsity used a seven-run second inning to beat Plainview 12-5 in Plainview. A double-header was scheduled, but only one game was played.

Ray Hastings pitched the complete game for Hereford and struck out 10 Bulldogs. Offensively, the Herd was led by Josh Tice's four RBIs, two of which came in the big second inning.

Russ Watts led off with a single and Hastings and Michael Melendrez followed with walks to load the bases. Elias Reyna's single brought two runs home, and Tice's double plated two more. Tice scored on J.J. Rico's single, and Watts singled again, scoring Rico and Shama Hernandez, who had reached on a fielder's choice.

Plainview didn't score until the fifth inning, when the Bulldogs picked up three. They added two more in the sixth, but never really threatened the lead.

Plainview will get a rematch with the Hereford JV Friday at 4 p.m. at Whiteface Field. The game originally was scheduled for Saturday.

Girls' track team fourth at Concho Belle

The Hereford girls' track team was fourth at the Concho Belle Relays Friday and Saturday in San Angelo.

The Lady Whitefaces' 71 points edged Estacado, which had 68. Canyon won with 108 points, followed by Big Spring with 100 and Abilene Wylie with 87. Monahans, which beat out Hereford for first in last weekend's Comanche Relays was sixth with 59 points.

Hereford got three first-place finishes--two from Jeannie Barrien-tez. She ran the 100-meter hurdles in 16.06 seconds (a personal best) and ran the 300 hurdles in 47.66.

April Roddy won the discus with a toss of 112 feet and 7 inches.

Among other point-earners for the Lady Whitefaces: Brandy Dunn placed third in the long jump (14-5 1/2) and fourth in the triple jump (31-1 3/4); Ricka Williams was third in the 3,200-meter run (13:14.04) and sixth in the 1,600 (5:59.92, a personal best); Angie Jowell was fourth in the 300 hurdles (50.59); and Minerva Salazar finished sixth in the 400 dash (67.26).

Hereford's 1,600-meter relay came in third as Jowell, Barrientez, Salazar and Laura Rangel combined to run it in 4:17.20.

The 400 relay was fifth. Jowell, Salazar, Rangel and Krista West ran it in 53.03. The 800 relay team of Rangel, West, Robin Chandler and Beth Weatherly finished sixth in 1:53.92.

"This week we only scored 18 points on the relays and last week we had 40 points on the relays," Coach Martha Emerson said. "We ran about the same times but placed lower. The same happened in some other events. We showed improvement in some events and seemed to lose some in others.

"Last week--because of the weather--I don't think we did a good job with conditioning. We will concentrate on that this week while we prepare to run the meet here in Hereford."

Hereford will host a track meet Saturday for girls and boys.

Boys' track team eighth in Lubbock

The Hereford boys' track team finished eighth in the Lubbock Invitational track meet Saturday.

Estacado won the 4A division with 125 points, followed by San Angelo Lake View with 101, Big Spring with 87, Dunbar with 82, Frenship with 49, Clovis, N.M., with 44, and Hereford with 23.

Leo Brown earned 14 of those points. He was second with a triple jump of 46 feet and 3/4 inch, which stretches his school record in the event. Chike Lewis of Estacado won the event with a meet record leap of 48-10 3/4.

Brown also got a third-place finish in the 110-meter high hurdles, running it in 15.2 seconds.

Michael Ramirez finished fourth in the 800 run with a time of 2:07.48, and Colby Fangman threw the discus 123-4 for sixth place.

Both of Hereford's relay teams came in sixth: the 400 with a time of 44.6, and the 1,600 in 3:41.19.

Hereford won the meet's junior varsity division with 100 points, edging Clovis by five and Estacado by 16.

The Herd JV got two first-place finishes from Richard Hicks in the hurdles. He ran the 110-meter high hurdles in 17.8 seconds, and he ran the 300 intermediate in 47.7.

Another top JV performer was Michael Brown. He earned 13 points, placing second in the triple jump (35-7 1/2), fourth in the high jump (5-6) and sixth in the 200-meter dash (24.6).

Plainview won the 5A varsity division with 141 points, compared to 132 for Odessa High.

NETTERS

Hereford's boys picked up only two wins. Both were by the doubles team of Jamie Kapka and Torey Sellers, and both went to three sets. They beat Miller/Paterson, 3-6, 7-6, 7-5, then beat Campbell/Mandel, 6-4, 7-6, 6-1.

Amarillo High's wins in singles were Jeremy Fisk def. Donny Perales, 7-5, 6-2; Matt Paterson def. Chris Lyles, 6-2, 6-3; Brandon Exposito def. Bobby Perales, 6-1, 6-2; and Dave Chastain def. Richard Drager, 6-1, 6-4.

Hereford will host a tennis tournament Friday and Saturday.

Hereford's junior varsity teams also played Saturday, but Hereford didn't win a match.

"The JV played a tough team for its first match of the season," Sims said. "Hopefully this will open their eyes and prove to them that tennis takes hard work and practice, just like any other sport."

Family violence can be prevented

Family violence can be defined as an act of force between family members that would be illegal if it occurred between strangers. The statistics of family violence are shocking:

- *approximately two million women, two to four million children, and one million elderly in the U.S. suffer from violence and abuse annually;
- *the incidence of child abuse, pediatric sexual assault, elder abuse, spouse abuse, and rape has increased dramatically during the past five to 10 years; and
- *domestic violence is the leading cause of injuries for women in the United States; according to the Journal of the American Medical Association, 22 to 35 percent of women who visit emergency departments are there for symptoms related to ongoing abuse. But perhaps the most frightening statistic of family violence is that 30 percent of children from violent households become abusive as adults.

Such exposure to violence in the childhood home is one cause of family violence. Other factors include unemployment of the family's major breadwinner, alcohol or drug abuse in the family, and isolation of families that are new to a community or involved in few activities.

Symptoms of family violence often are difficult to detect. Physical symptoms, such as bruises or broken bones, may be explained away by the victim. Abused children often react to abuse in one of two ways: they withdraw and develop feelings of low self-worth or they turn their emotions outward, sometimes reaching out for attention or affection.

The effect of family violence are widespread and long-lasting. Besides physical injury, which can be serious or even life-threatening, abuse takes a psychological toll. Victims of abuse can develop suicidal feelings, depression, substance abuse problems, shame, and the inability to trust or develop intimate relationships later in life.

Families can work to prevent violence in their homes. Parents can create an environment that discourages violence and encourages alternatives for resolving conflicts. Techniques include stress management and self-esteem building. Other factors that lessen the likelihood of abuse include job training, substance abuse treatment, and mental health services. Parents also can consider alternative discipline methods, such as using "time-out," removing the child from the situation, or grounding their children.

If you are concerned about family violence, speak with your physician. Many communities also have resources to address this issue.

Texas Medical Association is a professional organization of more than 30,000 physician and medical student members. It is located in Austin and has 119 component county medical societies around the state. The Association represents 82 percent of the doctors of medicine licensed and residing in Texas and 96 percent of the state's allopathic medical students. TMA's key objective is to improve the health of Texans through professional and personal development of its members.

Newsom honored as retiring director

Pat Robbins, right, 1991 president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, presents a plaque of recognition to outgoing director Ruth Newsom. Newsom was 1991 president of the Women's Division of the chamber. Also honored but not present were retiring directors Carol Gerck, Bobby Moore and Scott Keeling.

CHAMBER

"Wes Klett, Bill Lyles, Henry Reid and many others worked long and hard," said Robbins. "The success we had showed the solid people we have here, and the celebration was an example of what community effort is all about." Robbins also praised Ken McLain of McLain Garden Center for his work on the park at 15th and Ave. H that was created as a tribute to the county residents who participated in Operation Desert Storm and to all soldiers in the past from the county. Robbins said his tenure had been enjoyable. "There are a lot of good people in Hereford, Texas to work with, and I thank you for the opportunity," said Robbins.

The crowd enjoyed a humorous talk by Tumbleweed Smith, Smith, whose real name is Bob Lewis, has spent much of his life traveling around the state interviewing colorful folks and collecting stories. He played some of his most entertaining tales for the crowd, beginning with clips from Roy Faubion talking about Bravo Smokes. Bravos were made here in the 1960s from lettuce leaves.

The crowd enjoyed a prime rib dinner catered by K-Bob's and served by the Hereford Key Club. Greg Coplen played dinner music.

Five persons won special door prizes at the banquet. Grace Gamez won a portable cellular telephone from XIT Cellular; Ken McLain got a bronze from Andy Wilks; Mike Morrison received a three-month subscription to the Amarillo Daily News; Clint Formby received a silver bowl from Custom Trophies of Amarillo; and Elizabeth Holt won $75 in Hereford Bucks and $75 in Hereford CattleWomen beef certificates given by KPAN.

Lewis receives bronze

Bob "Tumbleweed Smith" Lewis, the speaker at Saturday's chamber banquet, received a bronze by Andrew Wilks from Mike Carr, executive vice president of the chamber.

Do y'all reckon we can elect?

By CHRISTOPHER SULLIVAN
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA (AP) - The critical "Bubba vote" in Super Tuesday's Southern primaries has spoken in an Associated Press poll, favoring candidates who chew kitchen matches, wear shirts with snaps and take a hard line on sassing Mama.

While the spectrum of Bubba views turned out to be as wide and lumpy as the seat of a 1979 pickup, there was near unanimity in some areas. For example, 91 percent were more likely to trust a president with sideburns, the survey found.

Bubbas were deeply split on other issues, including whether candidates should drink Pepsi, rather than "Co-Cola," with breakfast. One percent said "longneck Bud."

"Any serious candidate would have to address these and other issues," such as a Dolly Parton postage stamp, said Dr. David Cannon, interpreting the poll results. He is a psychologist in Clemson, S.C., and author of "Hey Bubba! A Metaphysical Guide to the Good Ol' Boy." (That part is really true.)

Another scholar, Bo Whaley, who presaged many of the survey's findings in his book "Rednecks and Other Bonafide Americans" (also true), said Bubbas will probably decide the election.

"The only reason a lot of Bubbas won't vote is if their truck won't start, or either they lost their jumper cables," he said from his think tank in Dublin, Ga.

According to the Census Bureau, there are about 1.1 million Americans called Bubba, except by their mothers.

The AP's nationwide survey of 1,409 of these Bubbas (well, six, actually, interviewed at two Chattanooga-area truck stops and at a barbecue place called Piggy's in Mississippi) has a margin of error of, say, 94 percent.

The survey contained one finding that could discourage every campaign.

When asked to describe who best exemplifies their political ideal, 67 percent of Bubbas questioned named Hoss Cartwright, from "Bonanza."

Personal issues have dogged many campaigns this year. Probing Bubbas' views on these sensitive subjects, the poll found the following preferences:

- Slightly over half, 56 percent, said a president should be able to roll his own cigarette, down from 71 percent in a similar poll in 1988, but dramatically higher than the 22 percent for non-Bubbas.
- 30 percent said it was "very important," and 22 percent "some-what important," that a candidate not be afraid to spit now and then.
- 24 percent, answering a question about what they'd add to the presidential oath, quoted a lyric by country singer John Conlee: "I'm a common man, drive a common van; my dog ain't got a pedigree."

COUNTY

bring information or updates on business of Deaf Smith County. Judge Simons reported Monday that he had conferred with Potter County Judge Arthur Ware about autopsy services that may be provided Deaf Smith County.

"Basically, if we contract for autopsies, we'll pay $200 per month, plus $800 per autopsy," Simons said. "If we just pay by the autopsy, it will cost $1,500."

Commissioners approved the bills, heard reports and adjourned, fulfilling the statutory requirement for their first-of-the-month meeting.

Make recycling at home convenient

If you're one of the 50 million-plus Americans who recycle, chances are you have discovered that a green existence has its price—namely, space.

Depending on how many materials you recycle, and how you separate them, a weekly collection of recyclables—and trash—could easily become the focal point of your kitchen. And who wants to look at all that stuff piling up?

Studies show that the key to maintaining recycling habits is setting up a system that blends in with your family's lifestyle and fits comfortably in your home. A convenient and attractive (or hidden) sorting container system helps keep the process from becoming an irritant.

Recycling needn't take over every available inch of floor space in your kitchen. While there's no single right way to organize for recycling, a little planning helps. "Recycling can be convenient, if you develop a system that's right for you," says Jamie Hill, recycling program research analyst for the National Solid Waste Management Association.

Selecting the right system depends on what your community is recycling and how they are doing it. Some communities recycle plastic milk jugs and soda bottles. Others don't. Most recycle newspapers, aluminum cans and glass.

You may be required to separate newspapers from glass and aluminum, or you may be asked to put all recyclables into one bin.

The next step is to devise a personalized system that works for your family. You're going to need a place to put those recyclables until collection day, or until you have time to haul everything to the recycling center.

Whether you need to sort aluminum cans from newspapers and glass, or simply to separate recyclables from your trash, a set of stackable bins in your kitchen or pantry can be a real space saver. You can designate separate bins for various materials, and eliminate the need for sorting later.

Kitchen cabinets are another great place to store recycling containers. There are indoor recycling bins available to fit below the counter. Whether you put your recycling bins under the sink or stacked in the corner, consider adding a decorator's touch to the room by selecting popular fashion colors like wedgewood, almond, white and light teal.

For outdoor use, larger-sized bins in one of three nationally recognized recycling colors—bright green, blue or yellow—are recommended.

Convenience is the key for outdoor recycling storage. When choosing an outdoor bin, consider choosing one with a lid. This will keep your recyclables clean and protect against raids by pesky animals.

Outdoor stackable bins with lids allow recyclables to be separated and stored until collection day.

Before you throw those recyclables in the bin, give them a quick rinse in cold water. This will get rid of food residue and will keep odors to a minimum. It's not necessary to run glass jars through the dishwasher. A better method is to give them a quick dunk in your dirty dishwasher.

Most recycling programs don't require you to peel labels off of glass jars. However, many do ask that you remove labels from soup and food cans, and that you take the plastic or metal tops and rings off of glass or plastic beverage containers.

If you take a few minutes to learn about your community's recycling program, and to set up a recycling system that works for you, recycling will be easy and will quickly become second nature.

Serving refreshments

A large crowd attended an open house Sunday afternoon at the Deaf Smith County Museum. The event marked the museum's 25th anniversary. During the festivities, Historical Society board members served as hosts and invited guests to have refreshments and to take guided tours. Ladling punch for guests are Peggy Hyer, at left, and Judy Detten.

Sweating through the myths

Keeping fit can be confusing these days what with all the myths about exercise, says Mary Helen Gunkler, registered dietitian and staff nutritionist for Total cereal. Here are just a few of the myths and the truth about them.

*Myth: No pain-no gain.

*Fact: Exercise doesn't have to hurt to be effective. In fact, experts often strongly recommend against exercise that causes pain and strain.

*Myth: Special exercises can rid the body of fat in specific areas.

*Fact: Fat is burned at a somewhat uniform rate throughout the body no matter what exercise is performed.

Community School plans science fair

Community Christian School will hold its annual Science Fair at 1 p.m. Wednesday at the Hereford Community Center.

Students in Anita Lyon's sixth grade science class and Jan Wilks' science class for students in grades 7-10 will exhibit research projects pertaining to subjects studied during the year.

The school holds its science fair to give students experience in scientific methods, to further their work in science, and to give them an opportunity to share that work with other students. Some of the projects will include models of a hydroelectric generator, a hurricane and a telegraph; experiments dealing with Galileo's Law of the Pendulum, coordination, and a rabbit's preference to black or white.

The exhibits will be critiqued by Connie Gilbert of Hereford Junior High School and Karen Goldsmith, a former science teacher.

The public is invited to the science fair, which will be held in the ballroom at the community center.

Trendy watches tell much more than time

By FRANCINE PARNES
For AP Special Features

Time is money, and just about every major fashion house knows it. From Guess to Chanel, Gucci to Dior, they're into designer watches.

So is America, from pre-schoolers to retirees. In fact, according to the American Watch Association, the average American owns four watches.

Emilio Collado, executive director of the Washington trade group, says Americans bought 125 million watches last year. That's double a decade ago when "fun" watches were in their infancy.

"The watch business has exploded since the time when you waited till graduation and got a hand-me-down from 'Grandpa,'" says Michael Roman, executive director of Jewelers of America, a trade association in New York.

That's because inexpensive quartz movements and itty-bitty batteries encased in bright water-tight plastic made cheap chic. In fact, last year nearly 95 million of the watches sold were $75 or less each. So while Rolex might be de rigueur, Swatch is OK, too.

Owning several watches is made possible by the decline in prices; a reliable watch goes for as little as $12.

The first non-Native American known to have seen what are now the states of Arizona and New Mexico was a Black explorer named Estevanico.

Ask Dr. Lamb

Draper gives E.H. program

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have had trigeminal neuralgia for about 16 years. Medicine doesn't stop it. When I get in the wind or in front of fans, it hurts worse. A specialist told me he could use a needle, but it would deaden the whole side of my face and I couldn't use that eye or open my mouth on that side. He gave me Tegetrol, which didn't do any good. So I decided to write you and see if there is any cure for it?

DEAR READER: Trigeminal neuralgia is a severe pain that can "knock a person to the floor." There are trigger areas that are stimulated to cause an attack, as when brushing the teeth or, as in your case, when the wind blows on your face.

Treatment options have changed over the last 20 years. See a neurosurgeon again. The simplest surgery is radio-frequency thermocoagulation of the nerves to the trigger area. The local trigger area may be numb, but you will not have trouble with using your eye or mouth or any movement problems. Recurrence does occur in about 23 percent of cases, but the surgery lasts for several years, or permanently in most cases, and can be repeated if necessary.

Also, there are more complex operations that have been successful. Most patients with this problem no longer have to live in pain or use medicines with limited results.

"Members Wanted-Not Dead But Alive" was the topic of a program given by Argen Draper when members of Wyche Extension Homemakers Club met March 5 in the home of Beverly Brooke.

Draper said, "Keep your eyes open for prospective members. Tell people about extension homemakers and the various programs that are available. Plan the business meeting to move along swiftly and plan programs of interest to members. Bring friends to the meetings and use your telephone to call them about meetings."

Brooke gave as her opening exercise, "growing older but no old." Members repeated the T.E.H.A. prayer and the pledges to the United States and Texas flags.

Roll call was answered by "the reason I joined an extension homemakers club." During the business meeting conducted by President Jo Lee, Carol Odom gave the council report. The next meeting was planned March 19 in Carreen Odom's home.

Those present included Louise Axc, Helen Bell, Brooke, Shirley Brown, Draper, Virgie Duncan, Camelia Jones, Lee, Carol Odom, Coreen Odom, Pet Ott, Mary Stubblefield, Clara Trowbridge, Barbara Stern, La Verne Worley and a visitor, Brittany Brooke.

The earthworm is often known by several other names, including fishworm, angleworm or night crawler.

Thanks

The love and support of all our friends have given us strength to accept our great loss. A special thanks to Dr. McBrayer, Paramedics, Hospital Staff and the Police escort. God has loved us through you and we wish there were more ways to thank you. God Bless each one.
