Possibility of Food Corn Expansion Seen by F-L

Frito-Lay Inc., a Dallasbased snack foods firm with grain storage and cleaning facilities in Hereford, Hart, Olton and Hart Camp expects its corn usage for chip products to increase by 50 percent over the next five years, according to an article appearing in the July 24 edition of the Southwest Farm Press.

Much of the corn grown for Frito-Lay is produced in the High Plains area, with production concentrated in the Hereford, Dimmitt, Hart and Olton areas, and the an-firm projecting increased demand for corn products could open the way for greater production in Texas and Oklahoma, according to spokesmen for F-L.

Frito-Lay currently purchases 400 million pounds of food-grade corn per year, both white and yellow varieties. Much of the purchasing is done through contracts with area growers with other buying done on the open market.

North Central Texas and southern Oklahoma are potential new areas being corn production, according to the Farm Press article.

Sufficient irrigation water is a pre-requisite for food corn production in areas being eyed for the expansion.

According to Barney W. Hilton, vice president for research for F-L, dryland corn does not yield suitable results for the food processor.

Hilton pointed out that both yellow and white corn varieties must meet stringent quality standards of grain density, seed hardness and color, seed coat release in processing, and be grown

One Frito official pointed to the possibility of some acreage expansion in the 1981 crop year, particularly in chip-type potato varieties on sandyland acreage.

Hilton pointed up one factor that has limited food corn production in this area to an

Crop development work is centered at a manufacturing site at Dallas.

Other F-L manufacturing locations include San Antonio, Houston and Lubbock.

Pat Trotter, Hereford Frito-Lay operations manager reported that the local F-L facility has contracts with 220 High Plains farmers for food corn production this year.

The Hereford facility has storage for approximately 500 million bushels of corn plus cleaning facilities.

Billy Says President Gave Him Cables

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says children are a comfort to you in your old age-but, like social security, it's nowhere near as much as you expected.

As any smart politician knows, the best position to take is one that's to the left of the Republicans, to the right of the Democrats, and to the front of the cameras. Congratulations to Hereford's Babe Ruth baseball team on winning the state championship. Fans who would like to help send the team to the regional tourney in New Orleans can do so by buying candy bars from Kids, Inc. Youngsters are selling the big bars, or interested persons can contact Harold Wheeler at the courthouse. Jim Steiert, our versatile reporter and farm editor, is on Cloud 9 this week. He and his wife, Kerrie, are the parents of a daughter, Jaime. Of course, the rest of our news staff is almost as proud as Jim. Kerrie was our woman's editor before leaving a couple of months ago, and she is a very special person to folks at The

Those who know only that Kerrie is a fine writer and handicapped might think the birth of her baby is a miracle. But those who know her well are not surprised at any accomplishment by this strong-willed young lady. Congratulations and best wishes to the Steierts!

Recent articles concerning tax rates for local governmental units have emphasized that the tax base is down because of the ag value placed on farms. Instead of having a farm taxed on market value, a farmer can apply to have the land taxed on an ag value basis.

The school district here went to the ag value system last year, and about 76 percent of the county's farmers applied for that method. Fred Fox, school district tax man, was in the office Wednesday and he's concerned about this year's tax roll.

According to Fox, about 200 less farms are listed for the ag value taxing method this year. The school must have the signed applications at the tax office in order to grant the ag value. Some farms which were taxed on ag value last year will be taxed on market value this year, and that is adding about $10 million back to the school's tax base.

Fox has no explanation for the lack of applications. The school district published notices; there were articles in the newspaper and discussions on the radio, and there was wordof-mouth advertising. He just hopes they don't come to his office and complain, because the deadline was April 30.

Perhaps folks are getting over-burdened with tax information. There are too many forms to sign and too many offices to visit. This may be one advantage of the new central tax of-

Mentality Low Among Recruits

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Pentagon says it has vastly underestimated the percentage of lower-mentality recruits accepted into military service.

The Pentagon, in a report to Congress, said it now believes that 30 percent of 1979 recruits belong in the lowest of four mental categories - not 5 percent as previously stated officially.

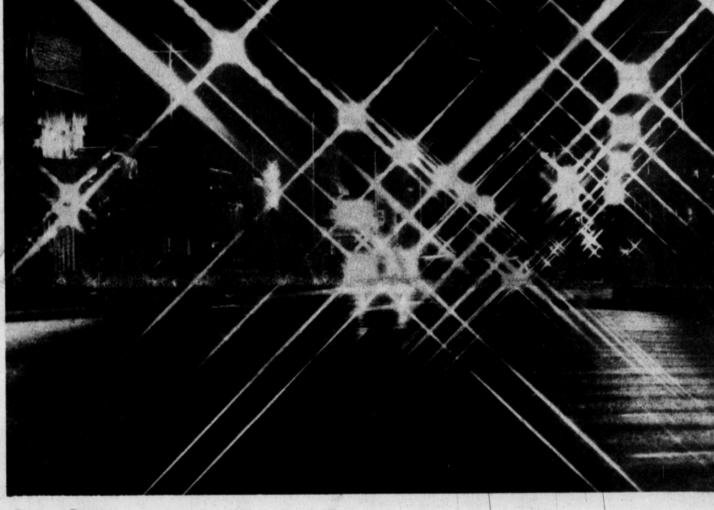

Defense officials blamed technical errors for the inflating of entrance test scores.

While the Pentagon studies focused on 1979 recruits, officials indicated such problems probably have existed over at "We've been inflating the scores of youths coming into the military at least back to 1976 because of technical errors," said one specialist who asked to remain anonymous. It was in 1976 that the Pentagon put into effect a standard qualification test for all the armed services, which previously had used separate examinations. The defense manpower official denied that the 1976 tests were designed to "make the all-volunteer force look better than it is."

Israelis Expect Protest

JERUSALEM (AP) -Israeli officials say they expect the storm of protest over the new law proclaiming united Jerusalem the capital of the Jewish state to subside with minimum damage.

They recalled that Israel weathered similar storms when it declared Jerusalem its capital in 1948, and when it moved its Foreign Ministry there in 1950.

"We are sovereign in Jerusalem, and we can do as we please," one official asserted.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said that the law adopted Wednesday by the Israeli Parliament ran "against the spirit and working of (the) Camp David" accords, the foundation for the 1979 Israeli-Egyptian peace agreement.

However, Sadat refused to say whether he would again suspend the negotiations with Israel on Palestinian autonomy, scheduled to resume next week. He said he would discuss the matter with his advisers and meanwhile would call in Israel's ambassador to Egypt and ask him to convey Egypt's views Minisrer Prime Menachemn Begin.

"It's not new," said Sadat, "We knew it would take place just as we know Begin in a few days will shift his office to East Jerusalem.'

Foreign Minister Kamal Hassan Aly said Egypt would consider recalling its ambassador from Israel as well as suspending the negotiations. Egypt broke off the talks in May for two months after the united-Jerusalem bill was introduced in the Israeli Parliament by a rightist foe of the peace treaty with Egypt.

Secretary of State Edmund Muskie criticized the adoption of the law, saying, "Unilateral actions that appear to foreclose negotiations are diversionary."

Accusing the U.S. government of "telling lies by claiming it is making an effort to end the crisis," Speaker Hashemi Rafsanjani said Washington was trying to intensify it by freezing Iranian assets in U.S. banks, pressuring its allies to apply economic sanctions against Iran, the abortive attempt to rescue the hostages and fomenting the plot against Khomeini.

But Tehran Radio said Rafsanjani read to the Mailis the letter from the U.S. congressmen asking that it give its "earliest and highest priority" to hostage issue.

The letter was delivered by the Swiss Embassy, which has represented U.S. interests in Iran since President Carter broke diplomatic relations with the revolutionary government three months ago.

There was no indication the Majlis would heed the congressional appeal.

"The president...does not now recall showing the texts to Billy Carter or giving him copies," Jenkins said.

Jenkins said the cables were classified no higher than "confidential" or "limited use only." However, a special clearance normally is required to see confidential documents.

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) -Looters raced through stores, Molotov cocktails lit up the neighborhood and roving gangs of black youths pelted police with rocks and bottles in a second straight night of violence in this central Florida city.

At least four people were injured and two businesses were burned to the ground.

Officials sealed off a 16- to 20-square-block area of Orlando's west side late Wednesday and hundreds of police in riot gear swept through the area, pushing young blacks from the streets and arresting more than 30

Early today, few people were left on the streets, officials said.

'We're pretty well keeping them moving and making as many arrests as we can,' said police Lt. Tom Wylie.

The new disturbances began when metorists were pelted with debris as they left a minor-league baseball game. Less than 24 hours earlier, two policemen were injured in violence ignited when white officers arrested a black robbery suspect in a neighborhood bar.

The city, ringed by Disney World and other tourist attractions, became the third in Florida to experience racerelated violence this year. Rioting Tampa and Miami in May killed 18 people in Miami, and rioting hit Miami again two weeks ago.

Rocks and bottles smashed into cars after Orlando Twins baseball fans left a downtown sports stadium Wednesday night, blocks away from the black neighborhood. Four hundred officers were called in to help quell the disturbance. Firebombs set blazes in at least five buildings, including a hotel and a fish market. A grocery and television store were "total losses," said fire department spokeswoman Leslie Fagundo. Sporadic

Fisher Worker Takes Hostages

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) - A man described by witnesses as a veteran autoworker took 18 hostages at the Fisher Body plant this morning, but later released eight of them unharmed, police said.

The hostages in the paint shop office of the General Motors Corp. plant 30 miles north of Detroit included the shop superintendent and two foremen, said witnesses.

The witnesses said the hostagetaker was armed with what appeared to be a .45-caliber pistol, but police were unable to confirm that.

Pontiac Police Lt. John Bridgewater said the man was talking to someone. Bridgewater said he did not know the identity of the person with whom the hostage-taker was conversing, but he believed it was a union official.

Troubled Braniff Sells Off Jets

DALLAS (AP) - Financially troubled Braniff Airways announced the recent sale of 15 jets to American Airlines in a move to offset losses which have forced the firm to cancel routes and cut back on personnel.

The Dallas-based airline reported a second-quarter loss of $47.6 million Wednesday, and said the sale of the 727-200 jets was part of a "... continuing aircraft acquisition and disposition policy ...'

"We've already taken delivery this year on several new 727-200s," said a Braniff spokesman.

The spokesman said the new 727-200s had "many different variations" but would not go into detail about how the new fleet differed from the planes sold to American.

Spokesmen for Braniff and American declined to comment on the purchase price of the 727 fleet, but said sales of surplus used aircraft came to "more than $180 million."

Braniff officials said capital gains from the sales "more than offset the second-quarter loss."

Judge to Rule

On Miss Texas

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) -State District Judge Hal Lattimore says he will rule within 48 hours on a suit seeking to have the current Miss Texas relinquish her crown.

Testimony came to a close Wednesday in a lawsuit filed by Miss Dallas sponsors, who contend the current Miss Texas, Terri Eoff, violated a pageant time limit rule for the talent competition during the final night of the pageant and should be disqualified.

If Judge Lattimore rules that Miss Eoff should step down, the crown would automatically go to Bobbie Candler, the current Miss Dallas and three-time runner up in the Miss Texas contest.

Miss Texas Pageant Board Chairman Don Magness testified contestants are not timed the last night of competition, and no procedure for disqualification of rule violators exists.

He also said he did not realize Miss Eoff would exceed the time lmit by two minutes during the final night of Miss Candler's sponsors claim the current winner won because extra time aided her performance.

Treasure Ship May Hold More

BERWICK, La. (AP) - Vast treasures may still be lodged aboard a sunken 18th-century cargo ship that has already been tapped by a salvage team for 40 pounds of gold and priceless Aztec artifacts, state officials say.

"Man, they haven't even touched it yet," said Steve Perry, assistant secretary of the Louisiana Department of Culture, Recreation and Tourism.

The ship was found buried in mud and silt in a murky section of the Gulf of Mexico off the Louisiana coast. Water there is 15 to 18 feet deep, but the visibility is only eight inches.

Salvagers led by Stephen Smith of Cameron have been exploring the sunken ship and on Wednesday, Smith, Perry and Gov. Dave Treen held a news conference to announce the find.

By The Associated Press

A weak cold front moved into the Texas Panhandle early today, triggering some thunderstorm activity. But forecasters warned that the front was not strong enough to break the summer-long heat wave.

The thunderstorms generated only light amounts of rainfall and dissipated during the pre-dawn hours. Forecasts called for clear to partly cloudy skies and hot temperatures statewide. Highs were to be mostly in the 90s with readings to reach between 104 and 108 in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas, the Lower Rio Grande Valley and along the Red River in North Texas. The mercury was to climb above the 100-degree mark for the 45th consecutive day at Del Rio and for the 39th consecutive day at Dallas-Fort a republican form of government may not be all that superior to a monarchy after all. It is clearly no guarantee against matters that might best remain private within a family becoming public controversies, providing a member of the family happens to be at the top of the public heap.

Margaret, it will be recalled, has been receiving critical attention of late from some of her sister's loyal subjects in press and Parliament as a consequence of her willful, royal precedent-shattering lifestyle. Some years back, when the princess was considered something of a looker and pretty hot stuff for one of her station in life, her romances and marriage for love to a commoner tended to titillate more than scandalize the publics in Britain and beyond the seas.

But as she eases into plump middle age, there is less interest in her abroad and less tolerance at home of her affairs, such as divorce and a penchant for youthful boyfriends. Some MPs, on the principle that a loose woman is a loose woman no matter what her family connections, would express public disapproval by cutting her off from the public purse

No one, however, suggests that the princess's peccadilloes are in any way a menace to the nation. They are private indiscretions that are of public interest only because committed by a personage of exalted rank.

The behavior of the younger brother on this side of the Atlantic — demonstrations of beer-drinking prowess. TV appearances in costume, that sort of thing - has never had quite the jet-set panache displayed by the younger sister over there. But neither could it be described as menacing - except to most standards of taste.

Until, that is, the revelation of Billy Carter's business relationship with the Libyan government. Here there would appear to be the clear possibility of a trafficking in influence to the detriment of the national interest.

And so now we have Congress cranking up a probe of the impact upon national policy and well-being of what some quarters are hopefully viewing as a potential Watergate in reverse. The affair is, in fact, already being dubbed 'Billygate".

(If nothing else, the public could have good cause for being cross with Billy for inflicting all this upon it again. That presidential candidate who first takes a stand against ever again applying the suffix "gate" to issues of major or minor public controversy might well find himself a sure winner. Are you listening, John Anderson?)

The inquiry is scheduled to end a month before the presidential election, which may or may not be a good thing. It is a politically loaded situation that could distract attention from a serious debate of the issues in the campaign. On the other hand, considering how those issues have fared to date, that could be a definite plus.

In any event, the comparison with Watergate would appear to be an exercise in overreach. Even should bad come to worst for Billy Carter and he be found to have been not only on the foreign take but attempting to exert undue influence on the United States government through his relationship to the fellow in the Oval Office, he would appear to be in no danger of going to jail. Even less of dragging along any cabinet

The inquiry may answer some questions, but it is also certain to leave several open. Such as, for the Libyans, the mystery of exactly what they got for their $220,000. And for Americans, the matter of what's to be done about Billy Carter. Maybe a trade could be arranged for Margaret. We could use some panache these days.

WE HAVE A BETTER SYSTEM

For the old system dealt only with certain rituals - what foods to eat and drink, rules for washing themselves, and rules about this and that. The people had to keep these rules to tide them over until Christ came with God's new

He came as High Priest of this better system which we now have. He went into that greater, perfect tabernacle in heaven, not made by men nor part of this world,

And once for all took blood into that inner room, the Holy of Holies, and sprinkled it on the mercy seat; but it was not the blood of goats and calves No, He took His own blood, and with it He, by Himself, made sure of our eternal

And if under the old system the blood of bulls and goats and the ashes of young cows could cleanse men's bodies from sin;

Just think how much more surely the blood of Christ will transform our lives and hearts. His sacrifice frees us from the worry of having to obey the old rules, and makes us want to serve the living God. For by the help of the eternal Holy Spirit, Christ willingly gave Himself to God to die for our sin - He being perfect, without a single sin or fault.

Christ came with this new agreement so that all who are invited may come and have forever all the wonders God has promised them. For Christ died to rescue them from the penalty of the sins they had committed while still under that old system.

At Wits End By ERMA BOMBECK

My mother calmly announced to a group of us the other night that every time she turned on her organ to play "Alley Cat" she heard voices.

I immediately made some smart remark about piped-in music lover registering a formal complaint. When no one laughed, I hit 'em with the line about the author of "Alley Cat" trying to get his music back. Still no laughs.

Finally, my husband said, "Hearing voices isn't too unusual. I used to hear conversations coming out of my electric drill all the time. For a long while, until it became popular, I didn't tell anyone about it."

"There was a guy down the street," said my dad, "who had one of those remote controls for his television set and every time a plane went over his house, the channel would change. Sometimes, during a peak evening, he could follow as many as three shows at a time.

A neighbor piped in, "I guess you all heard about the guy who lived near a highway with an electric garage door? Every time a CBer would go by, his garage door would zip up and down. No one thought anything of it after awhile.

I couldn't believe what I was hearing.

"The vacuum sweepers are the worst," said my mother. "A lot of people hear voices from their sweeprs."

"What do they say?" I asked hesitantly.

"It's not nice to eavesdrop," said Mother. "After all, if someone wanted to talk with you, they wouldn't call you on your vacuum sweeper, they'd call you on the phone.' "That's true," I said.

"The one I felt sorry for was the woman who was on some kind of a wave length with a transistor and heard music from the fillings in her teeth."

"Oh, c'mon," I said, "you're all putting me on."

They looked at me like they were seeing me for the first time. "Are you telling me you've never heard voices from your toaster or your electric toothbrush?" asked my hus-

"No," I said, trying to grin.

A Losing Battle

DEAR ANN LANDERS: So many parents feel helpless these days. They say peer pressure is much more important than parental guidance. They feel they are losing the battle to bring up their children to be lawabiding, morally decent human beings. I know the feeling. I had it myself when our children were teenagers in the early '70s.

I read recently where a group of parents in Palo Alto, Calif., are doing something about the problem instead of sitting around and wringing their hands. Will you please share this idea with others who are at their wits' end?

It all started when a mother of a teenaged girl was shocked to learn of the pressure being put on her daughter to drink-alcohol and smoke pot. This mother and 16 other parents formed a group called "Parents Who Care." They have held a series of kaffeeklatsches and meetings at Gunn High School and have reached more than 500

The founder of the group said when she first started to talk to teenagers about what they did at parties, they all said they drank booze and smoked pot. When they got to talking in a more honest way. it became obvious that they weren't having much fun.

The parents decided to draw up guidelines to create a healthy atmosphere and show the kids how much more fun they could have if they weren't stoned on pot and bombed on booze. It has worked wonders.

Please, Ann, share these guidelines with other parents who are probably as frantic as the Palo Alto crowd used to be. Here they are:

(1) Teenagers are required to stay home on school nights except for school or community events. (No running the streets or driving around aimlessly.)

(2) Weekend curfews for ninth-graders between 11 and 11:30 p.m.; 10th graders, 11:30 and midnight; 11th graders, midnight and 12:30 a.m.; 12th graders, midnight and 1 a.m. (3) Parents should feel free to contact parents who are hosting parties to find out if there will be adult supervision and whether drugs and alcohol will be permitted. (4) For their own children's parties, parents should be visible and feel free to ask anyone with drugs or alcohol (5) Parents should get to

It was only the second time in 10 Olympic basketball tournaments the Americans did not win gold - this time because of the boycott and in 1972 on a disputed, lastsecond basket by the Soviets.

Italy took the silver medal, its first Olympic basketball medal. The Soviets had to settle for bronze after downing Spain 117-94.

It was the second consecutive gold for the Soviet women. The event first was held in the Games four years ago, when the Americans finished second.

Bulgaria took the women's silver while Yugoslavia earned the bronze by defeating Hungary 68-65.

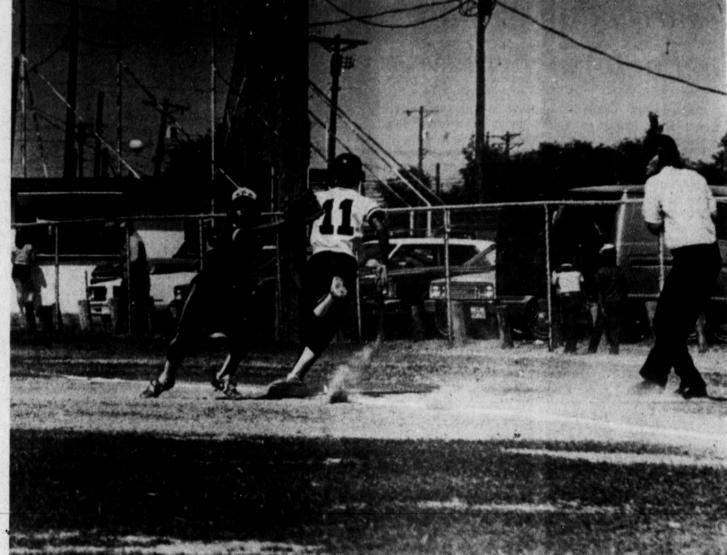

The Italian men's team included the only American citizen to win a medal at the Moscow Games - guard Mike Sylvester of Cincinnati who has dual U.S.-Italian citizenship so he can play pro basketball in Italy and qualify for their national squad.

In favor of the U.S. boycott over Soviet intervention in Afghanistan, he said he felt compelled to come after being threatened with suspension if he failed to accept an invitation to join the team in Moscow.

"So it was a question of putting bread on the table for my family or going along with the boycott," Sylvester said.

The Italians gained the gold medal match on the strength of their upset of the Soviets last weekend. That, and another loss to Yugoslavia in the semifinals, dropped the Soviets into the bronze medal game and lifted Italy to the title match.

Ford's imperfection, the Rangers claimed, came when he called a controversial double play, wiping out a potential run that would have put them ahead in the sixth inning. Instead, they dropped a 3-2 decision to the Baltimore Orioles when Al Bumbry doubled home the winning run. It was Baltimore's fourth consecutive triumph and left the Orioles only 61/2 games behind New York in the American League East when the Yankees suffered their seventh setback in 11 games, a 2-1 10-inning loss to the Minnesota Twins.

Elsewhere, the Chicago White Sox nipped the Milwaukee Brewers 6-5, the California Angels edged the Detroit Tigers 6-5, the Boston Red Sox downed the Kansas City Royals 7-1 and the Cleveland Indians beat the Seattle Mariners 5-2.

Twins 2, Yankees 1

John Castino's run-scoring bad-hop double off New York relief ace Rich Gossage with two out in the bottom of the 10th gave the Twins the triumph behind Jerry Koosman's three-hit pitching. Ken Landreaux singled with two out and Castino's smash hopped over first baseman Bob Watson's glove and down the right field line as Landreaux scored all the way from first base. Koosman did not allow a hit over the last seven innings. The Yankees' lead shrank to 61/2 games for the first time since July 3.

White Sox 6, Brewers 5

Rookie Randy Johnson's pinch sacrifice fly following Wayne Nordhagen's runscoring double capped a tworun Chicago rally in the eighth inning. The Brewers had taken a 5-4 lead in the top of the eighth on Ben Oglivie's 26th home run. Orioles Snuff Out Rangers Following Disputed Call ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Umpire Dale Ford says maybe Bump Wills did cross first base before the throw on a controversial double play that snuffed out a Texas Ranger rally in the sixth inning of Wednesday night's 3-2 loss to the Baltimore Orioles.

"But I didn't have the benefit of an instant replay like you did in the press box," Ford said later.

The Rangers already had one run in, for a 2-2 tie, and the bases loaded with Bump Wills at the plate with one out in the sixth. Jim Sundberg was at third, Jim Norris at second and Mickey Rivers on Wills lined a shot to the right of Baltimore shortstop Kiko Garcia, who leaped and caught the ball, only to have it roll out of his glove when he hit the ground.

But the runners - and the other umpires - caught only the initial "out" sign from second base umpire Jim Evans. the crew chief for the fourman umpiring team, and Sundberg, Norris and Rivers ran back to their bags.

Garcia got up, threw to second baseman Rich Dauer for the easy out on Rivers, and Dauer relayed to Eddie Murray at first base, where Ford gave the "safe" sign on Rivers.

After Ford learned that Evans had changed his call, he ruled Wills out on the force, completing a double play that got Baltimore pitcher Jim Palmer, 10-8, out of the inning.

Television replays showed Wills and Rivers were already on first base when the throw from Dauer arriv-

"I didn't even see Wills. I thought he quit running. I don't even know if he got to first base," Ford said after 'I never called Wills out because I didn't know what I was watching Rivers come back like everybody else "The call cost us the game," said irate Texas manager Pat Corrales, who was ejected after five minutes of contesting the ruling. "Al Oliver was 4-for-5 and the next time up (leading off the eighth), he got a base hit." Corrales added.

"Dale Ford lied. He blew it. but there can't be a protest. It's a judgment call. Jim Evans made three decisions on that play and all of them were wrong," Corrales add-

Norris said Evans was right on top of the play "and he went like this (raising his right hand in the out-sign). So I hustled back to the bag, and I see him (Evans) going safe. Then I see him go out again on the force. I'm watching trying to figure out what the heck he's doing," Norris said. John Lowenstein got on base via an error in the first inning and by a single in the third and scored on doubles by Dan Graham and Murray. respectively, to give Baltimore an early 2-0 lead.

Wills hit his third career inside-the-park homer in the fifth. He circled the bases when his line drive to center field took a big hop over Al Bumbry's head and rolled to

An inning later, John Grubb singled to right field with one out, and Sundberg tied the game with a double to the right field corner.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I hope you will explain to me and several friends what appears to be a confusing contradiction in one of your columns about alcohol. The statement that leaves us bewildered is the one that alcohol doesn't contain any fat or cholesterol - that it's the closest thing to an empty calorie. Then you say that alcohol is fattening and in large amounts it can be damaging to the heart. You also said that alcohol is the major cause of obesity in many Americans but you said that the calories were empty. Please explain.

DEAR READER - All the statements you've quoted are absolutely correct. Evidently, you just don't understand some of the terms used.

Alcohol contains calories the same as carbohydrates, fat or protein. There are seven calories per gram of alcohol. Calories from any source, whether they come from sugar or protein or alcohol, that your body doesn't use can be converted to fat and stored that way. Hence it's no surprise that the calories in alcohol can be stored as fat.

The fact that alcohol can cause you to develop body fat because of its calorie content has nothing to do with the question of whether alcohol contains fat or not. The same thing is true of table sugar which doesn't contain any fat but if you use enough of it and limb that's been amputated, you don't need the calories, it can cause you to get fat.

The term empty calorie may have bothered you. That's a phrase commonly used to indicate that a food substance contains calories but no important vitamins or minerals. Alcohol does not contain any vitamins and it does not contain any minerals. By contrast, many of the natural foods that we eat such as vegetables, cereals, dairy products and meat all contain important nutrients other than calories, specifically vitamins and minerals. Hence alcohol is an empty calorie.

Your body can convert carbohydrates from sugar, flour, corn, fruits or starch to fat. You body can also convert amino acids from protein to fat. And it can convert alcohol to fat. A food need not contain fat to end up as fat on your body. Whenever you consume too many calories of any and all kinds, your body simply stores the excess calories as body fat. To help you understand more about alcohol and its effects on the body, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 14-6, Alcohol Can Be Dangerous to Your Health. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Finally, I would like to emphasize again that a major factor in the national problem of obesity is the excessive use of alcohol. All those empty calories that can be converted to fat contribute enormously to the excess calorie intake and obesity. The solution, of course, is not to decrease your normal diet but to eliminate the excess use of alcohol. As The Health Letter I'm sending you explains, that provides additional health benefits as

DEAR DR. LAMB - A little more than two years ago I lost my right leg about four inches above the knee. I still have what my doctor calls phantom pains in my foot and toes. He says it will eventually go away but it has hurt more than two years and seems to be no better. Is there anything I can do to stop this?

DEAR READER — The sensation of pain arising from a limb that has been amputated is a well-known phenomenon. An amputee may have such a strong sensation that the amputated limb is still present that it may create other difficulties. What precautions should I be taking now to prevent me from having heart problems later? I want to stay healthy by doing the right things now. DEAR READER - That's an intelligent question. Rheumatic fever is a complication of a strep throat. If you've had one attack it is easier for you to develop a second one, often in the wake of being exposed again to a streptococcal infection. For this reason heart specialists recommend that people who have had rheumatic fever, particularly if there's any associated heart complication, should receive continuous prophylactic antibiotic treatment. This is usually daily penicillin tablets. If there is damage to any of the heart valves, which may be true in your case, it's important to increase the antibiotics during any dental procedures, including having your teeth cleaned, or during any surgical procedures.

WHICH EXERCISES should you use to exercise your heart? Why, then, has the U.S. growth rate shrunk? Why can other nations. West Germany, Japan and, in isolated instances, even less developed nations, so effectively challenge U.S. industrial leadership?

David, former presidential science adviser and past president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, laid it on the line recently in a talk to engineers at the University of Nonsense, said David. Real spending for industrial research and development turned up in 1972 and since then has been rising at 5 percent a year in deflated dollars.

"In 1979 industry spent some $24 billion of its own funds on R&D. Venture capital was readily available in the late 1970s, and new small enterprises have been playing their accustomed innovative role."

Inflation, the low savings rate and, compared with other nations, the low level of capital investment, are frequently cited. David didn't disagree. But he said we must look for an even more basic
