Iraq-Iran War Flares Around Oil Facilities

By The Associated Press

Iraq claimed ground and air successes in its campaign against Iran's oil province of Khuzestan, as the air war between the two Persian Gulf oil giants flared without letup into the third day today.

Iran's Abadan oil refinery, one of the world's biggest, was reported in flames and Iran admitted it was not operating.

A senior State Department official in Washington predicted that both the warring oil nations would cut off shipments of their chief export through the Persian Gulf today. But presumably Iraqi oil would continue to flow by pipeline to the Mediterra-

Iraq said its MiGs flew nine bombing and strafing missions into western Iran at daybreak today, causing heavy damage to seven military airfields and setting ablaze four Iranian Phantoms on the ground.

A communique broadcast by Baghdad Radio said Iranian warplanes struck back with bombing raids on the oil refinery and the oil harbor of Iraq's southern city of Basra, not far from a plant where four Americans and 27 other people were killed in an Iranian air raid on Tues-

The communique said Iraqi antiaircraft guns shot down one Iranian jet over Basra today and forced other Iranian warplanes to flee when they attempted to raid Arbil, some 70 miles from the northern Iraqi city of Kirkuk.

Iranian warplanes on Tuesday attacked Kirkuk, Iraq's chief oil center, Basra, Iraq's chief port, and the Um Qasr harbor built by the Soviet Union at the mouth of the Shatt al-Arab estuary between the two nations.

Iraq said its troops and tanks on the first day of their invasion penetrated up to nine miles into Iranian territory Tuesday along a 300-mile front stretching from Qasr-e-Sharin south to the oil refinery city of Abadan and captured all Iranian border posts. It said they killed 21 Iranian soldiers and

Iraqi communiques said the invaders captured Qasr-e-Sharin and neighboring Sumar and surrounded the big port city of Khorramshahr on the Iranian side of the disputed Shatt al-Arab estuary. They said Iraqi MiGs destroyed the Abadan refinery and attacked seven military bases in western Iran, presumably the same ones claimed hit again today.

The Iraqis said today their forces tightened the siege on Abadan and Khorramshahr. "The two targets are cut off from the rest of the enemy lines and positions in Ahwaz," the capital of Arabic-speaking Khuzestan 65 miles from the Iraqi border, a communique broadcast by Baghdad Radio said.

The captain of a ship anchored near Abadan told the British Broadcasting Corp. the refinery was "burning over a large area."

Abadan Radio said an ammonia storage tank exploded. But Iranian communiques claimed the invaders were repulsed all along the front and denied the Iraqi claims that Khorramshahr was surrounded, that the highway from the coast to Ahwaz, the provincial capital 75 miles to the north, was cut, and that Qasr-e-Shirin and Sumar were captured.

The British government said four Americans and four Britons were among 29 people killed in the Iranian air attack before dawn Tuesday at a petrochemical plant being built near Basra. The Americans were not identified, but it was believed that they were employees of the Lummus Construction Co. of Bloomfield, N.J., which reported at least 10 of its employees — "some Westerners and some Iraqis" — were killed. The company said 1,000 others were evacuated by bus to Kuwait. A BBC correspondent said the raid on the plant came "without warning," catching scores of foreign technicians "while they slept." He said the planes made no distinction between the living quarters and the factory.

"It was a terrifying awakening, with men and women screaming in panic," he reported.

Warhead Awaits Pantex Check

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) - A damaged nuclear warhead is awaiting examination at an atomic weapons assembly plant here following an air and overland journey from the site of an Arkansas missle silo explosion.

Claud Gay, chief of the Department of Energy administrative branch at the plant, confirmed that a military convoy accompanying the warhead on the five-mile trip from Amarillo International Airport to the Pantex plant shortly before 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Paul R. Wagner, ranking Department of Energy official at Pantex, said Monday that the "damaged warhead" disassembled or analyzed at the plant.

The Air Force still refused Tuesday to say whether a nuclear device was involved in the explosion at a Titan II intercontinental ballistic missile silo near Damascus, Ark., Friday morning.

The Pantex plant is the only facility in the nation to assemble and disassemble nuclear weapons. It is operated by a private contractor, Mason & Hanger - Silas Mason & Co. Inc, but overseen by the DOE.

A giant C141 jet transport designed to carry nuclear warheads was brought in from McGuire Air Force Base, New Jersey to fly the weapon from Little Rock to Amarillo.

Friday's silo explosion was touched off by a fuel leak, the Air Force said. The blast killed one serviceman and injured

The explosion occurred about 81/2 hours after a workman dropped a wrench socket in the silo and it hit the rocket's first stage, starting the leak, the Air Force said. Monday, an Air Force convoy trucked two large containers from the missile site to an Air Force base at Little Rock. The C141 that landed at Amarillo came from Little Rock, the Federal Aviation Administration in Amarillo confirmed. The warhead is believed to be in the nine megaton range.

making it the largest in the United State's nuclear arsenal. Before the warhead was moved, technicians opened it and poured in a special oil mixture to neutralize the detonator, which is composed of high explosives, according to a defense official quoted in the New York Times. Nuclear material from past military accidents, including B-52 bomber crashes in Spain and Greenland, has been sent to Pantex for storage.

A June 1976 environmental assessment report on Pantex said part of the plant housed plutonium-239 residue from military accidents. The residue "is mixed and diluted by the debris" making recovery of the hazardous material "virtually impossible," the report said.

Stephens to Head Armour Plant

Eugene E. Stephens has been appointed manager of the Armour Food Company beef plant at Hereford, Thomas J. Hamlett, vice president of the beef and lamb division, today announced from his Phoenix, Ariz. office.

Stephens was previously Stephens started with the company as a general line salesman in Austin.

He held sales and management positions at Houston and Little Rock, Ark., before his appointment as beef division manager at the Houston plant in 1970.

After being assigned as region fresh meat manager there, Stephens was named beef department manager at Green Bay in 1975 and became plant manager in Moore then said to Houser. "I don't like to gamble it (money), and you say there's a gamble. I understand that. There's gonna be a gamble when we give him (the speaker) anything. But I like to have a pretty good feel from him." Hauser: "We got to get at least a commitment if he's Johnson (Bob Johnson, a member of the State Retirement Board), and some of them other guys. Then we gotta go. ... Cause then we have got to do our deal, and then we, then he owes us."

Clayton, Moore and Austin attorneys Donald Ray and Randall Wood were indicted June 12 by a federal grand jury on charges of extortion, bribery, conspiracy and racketeering. The charges arose from the undercover Brilab probe that reached into several states. Clayton, Ray and Wood now are in the second week of their trial before a federal court jury of seven women and five men.

Moore will be tried later. Prosecutors are building their case against Ray, Wood and Clayton through a tedious, step-by-step process depending almost entirely on tapes secretly recorded by Hauser. Government attorneys contend the tapes prove the three men took bribes to reopen the state employee health insurance contract. Hauser, twice convicted in kickback and bribery insurance schemes, posed as a representative of Prudential Insurance Co. and approached political and labor figures

An article in Tu Brand concerning the purchase of a new car by Deaf Smith County has resulted in a complaint by George Pratt, owner of Pratt Chevrolet-Olds.

Pratt felt the article was unfavorable to his company because it quoted one commissioner as saying that the county could get a 1981 model for just $54.12 more than a 1980 model.

"What the court failed to point out, or The Brand did not report," said Pratt "is that we bid a model with some $700 more in options than the specifications called for." He added that his bid was on a top-of-the-line Malibu, instead of a "plain vanilla."

Pratt emphasized he was not being critical of the court's decision to purchase a 1981 Ford at a slightly higher cost. "I'd just like to see it made clear that there was mere difference in the cars than was indicated in the article," said Pratt.

Pratt added, however, that he was unhappy with the way the county had handled some other vehicle bids in the past. He said he might request to be on the agenda at the next court session and discuss the situation with commis-

Historical Society Announces Completion of Gazebo Project

By DENISE SMITH Staff Writer

The Deaf Smith County Historical Society has announced the completion of a Victorian-style gazebo, which has been under construction in the yard behind the E. B. Black Historical House here in recent months. The gazebo began as a dream of members of the Historical Society and became a reality through the efforts of a number of individuals from the community and surrounding areas. Construction of the gazebo began in mid-April and was completed early this month. The foundation for the structure was built by students of the Hereford High School building trades class, under the direction of Rex Manley.

The gazebo was designed by Ruth McBride of Hereford, and the garden surrounding the structure was created by Sue James.

Coach Danny Haney with the assistance of former Hereford football player, Paul Bell, built the gazebo during spare time in the summer, working mostly at night to complete the new addition to the historical site.

Special features of the gazebo include Victorian trim, also known as gingerbread, which was constructed by Morris Easley. The patterns for the trim were reclaimed from the old English House which sat north of the E.B. Black House, owned by Mrs. E.B. Black's "Aunt Tish."

Also reclaimed from the old English were the short spindles, featured at the top of the structure. Another special feature of the structure is a glass weather vane, brought from Highlighting the gazebo are four pieces of stained glass, designed by Roger P.

O'Grady of Amarillo. The pieces, located in the cupelo, are symbolic of the four seasons, with red indicating the west, blue indicating the north, yellow indicating the east and green to indicate the south.

Capturing the Victorian period in conjunction to the house, the gazebo was painted by Chick Weemes. He was assisted by a local minister.

'The real beauty of the gazebo can be seen in the early morning looking straight up in the cupelo with the sun shining through the stained glass," commented Mrs. McBride. The gazebo, funded by the Historical Society, was also built through donations made by Garden Beautiful and La Madre Mia Study Clubs. In addition to donations

Brothers See Triple

NEW YORK (AP) - Adoptee Robert Shafran went to college and learned he had an identifical twin, Eddy Gelland. That was a surprise. The shocker came when they learned a third man was using their face.

David Kellman walked into the lives of his long-lost brothers last week after he looked in a mirror and saw a face identical to those in a newspaper photograph of the two just-united 19-year-olds

The triplets, adopted at birth by three different families, have spent the days since the discovery getting to know each other and getting used to the idea that they have mirror im-

Maine Votes

To Keep N-Plant

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) - Maine residents voted by a 3-2 margin to keep the state's only nuclear generating plant in operation, but industry officials are not taking the result of the unprecedented referendum as a ringing endorsement of nuclear power.

Tuesday's referendum, which would have shut the Maine Yankee plant in Wiscasset and banned all future nuclear development here, was a defeat for anti-nuclear activists who contended that alternative energy sources such as hydroelectric power would be a cheap, safe replacement for Central Maine Power Co.'s nuclear plant. With 660 of 665 precincts reporting, there were 230,780 votes, or 59 percent, for keeping the plant open and 159,761 votes, or 41 percent, for closing

Maine Yankee supporters chalked up their biggest margins in the two counties farthest from the plant, while backers of the shutdown prevailed only in Lincoln, Sagadahoc and Waldo counties, located on the coast and among the closest to the plant.

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) - A rowdy student protest against the Southern University band playing for a Ronald Reagan rally was characterized as "a regrettable incident" by the president of the school attended mostly by blacks.

About 175 students temporarily kept the band's buses from making the trip across town to Louisiana State University and some - chanting "We don't want Reagan" - had to be dragged from the street by Southern University police.

There were neither arrests nor injuries, although there were unsubstantiated complaints that SU campus police sprayed some of the protestors with a disabling chemical.

"It is a regrettable incident, but I also recognize the rights of students and citizens to peacefully protest," said Jesse Stone, Southern University president, when contacted later.

At LSU later, Reagan later went out of his way to embrace SU band director Isaac Greggs and saluted the musicians during the rally attended by about 7,000 persons.

"You had to display a special kind of courage to be here. God bleys you." Reagan told the band.

Consumer Increase Expected

Americans living in Iraq.

American consumers, who had to swallow the biggest rise in grocery prices in five years in August, can expect another "significant increase" this month, the government says. But things may ease a bit in the year's last three months.

Grocery prices jumped 2.3 percent in August - the largest jump since July 1975 - and, overall, food prices rose 1.7 percent. Those were the biggest elements of a consumer price rise of 0.7 percent, meaning an annual inflation rate of 8.6 percent, the Labor Department said. Howard W. Hjort, chief economist for the Agriculture Department, called the August figures "very much in line with our previous expectations."

He said the year's biggest jump in food prices is occurring in the third quarter and the rise may slow in the last three months of the year, Overall, food prices will jump 9 percent for 1980, Hjort said. That prediction compares with the 1979 increase of 10.9 percent. And for 1981, Hjort is sticking by his earlier predictions of a 10 percent to 15 percent hike, depending partially on the weather.

Hjort said the third-quarter increase was due in part to the fact that farm prices were depressed in the spring and have since risen.

William Cox, deputy chief economist for the Commerce Department, laid part of the blame for the August jump on the midw. ern heat and drought, which killed many chickens and ruined much of the soybean crop, a main component of animal feed.

Rape, Bride Burning Cause Nationwide Furor

NEW DELHI, India (AP) - The crimes of rape, bride burning and dowry demand, reportedly on the rise in India, are causing a nationwide furor, reflected in street protests, heated editorials and irate speeches by politicians.

Indian newspapers carry daily reports of rape and sexual assault on women, some allegedly by policemen.

In June, several police officers were accused of stripping and raping a housewife in the dusty northern Indian town of Baghpat. One of the accused was shot and killed on the street by the rape victim's brother-in-law. An investigation is continuing; none of the men has been tried. Protests by women's organizations have increased since that incident, and the news media have been giving increasing attention to the problems of women in this tradition-bound, dominantly Hindu nation of 66 million. Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government has presented legislation to Parliament which would establish sentences of two years' hard labor for people who demand gifts and cash from a bride's family.

The legislation also seeks to toughen rape laws by specifically providing jail terms for police officers convicted of the offense. Current laws do not differentiate between policemen and other of-

Security Council Sends Appeal To Iran, Iraq

By OTTO C. DOELLING Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - The Security Council sent an appeal to warring Iran and Iraq today to stop fighting immediately and settle their differences peacefully.

The governments of the United States and most other countries were fearful of what the war at the head of the Persian Gulf would do to the world's oil supplies. But most of them were depending on U.N. action rather than their own independent action to halt, the conflict.

One exception was Cuba's President Fidel Castro, the current president of the Non-Aligned Movement, which includes both the warring nations. Havana Radio announced that Foreign Minister Isidoro Malmierca left Cuba Tuesday night for mission "aimed at putting an end to the military conflict."

President Carter said the U.S. position was one of "strict neutrality, and we're doing all we can through the United Nations and through other means to bring a peaceful conclusion to this combat." And Iran's ambassador to Moscow, after meeting with two senior Kremlin officials, said the Soviet government was also adopting a "neutral policy" despite the fact that it is Iraq's chief supplier of arms. The 15-nation Security Council made its appeal for peace in a statement agreed to Tuesday night by consensus after two hours of consultations among the members. There was no formal council meeting and no

"We hope that this will be a sufficient first step," Ambassador Donald McHenry, the chief U.S. delegate, told ABC News, "but...the council made it clear that it was a first step and that other steps are possible and contemplated." Secretary of State Edmund Muskie acknowledged earlier Tuesday that Iran and Iraq might ignore a council call for a cease-fire.

The council statement said the members were "deeply concerned that this conflict can prove increasingly serious, and could pose a grave threat to international peace and security." It asked Iran and Iraq "to desist from all armed activity, and all acts that may worsen the present dangerous situation and to settle their dispute by peaceful means."

The council also expressed its support for an offer by U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim to use his "good offices to resolve the present conflict." But there was no indication yet what action he might take.

President Carter, in a statement issued while campaigning in California, called on "all other countries, including the Soviet Union, not to interfere with this conflict" and said, "The United States is itself following such a policy."

Muskie interrupted his stay at the General Assembly and returned to Washington for a White House meeting today on the crisis. A reporter asked him whether his government would consider unilateral action if the war interrupted the flow of oil through the Persian Gulf, but he said it was a hypothetical question that could not be answered usefully.

Reagan Goes on Defensive

By LEE BYRD Associated Press Writer

Ronald Reagan says it's political malpractice, but President Carter is giving no ground in his diagnosis of the Republican nominee as suffering from a chronic itch of the trigger finger.

The rhetoric of the Carter camp clearly threw Reagan on the defensive Tuesday, as he found himself parrying his opponent's peace-or-war thrusts. One Reagan strategist called the president a "mean, courthouse Georgia politician."

Carter said Reagan's habit of looking to the military for answers to international crises was a matter of record, and "what he would do in the Oval Office I hope will never be observed by the American people."

With one ear still cocked to the electorate and the other pressed to the White House telephone, the president seized upon the Iran-Iraq crisis Tuesday night as evidence that his own hands are steady as a surgeon's.

Wrapping up a West Coast swing, the president told a $500-per-head gathering of about 80 Democrats on a hillside patio in Portland,

Bubonic Plague Found in N.M.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. problem in the years to (AP) - Bubonic plague - the ancient scourge that littered the lanes of medieval Europe with bodies - has struck 11 people in New Mexico this year, killing three of them.

Bubonic plague is a rare disease, but it hits New Mexico harder than any other state. "There is no question that the disease is endemic in the rodent population in New Mexico," said Dr. Jonathan Mann, assistant state director for health promotion and disease prevention.

Fleas transmit the disease from animals to humans - a pet dog or cat might kill an infected rodent, a flea might hop from the rodent to the dog and the dog might carry it home.

The disease can be transmitted between humans when it reaches the pneumonic stage; the victim's coughs spewing the virulent plague organism into the air to infect other humans. However, New Mexico has never registered a human-to-human plague

"The risk of plague is higher in adolescents and children," Mann said. "This probably has to do with their relationship with dogs and cats - they maybe are more likely to have close contact with the dogs and cats."

Plague symptoms include a high fever, a general feeling of sickness usually accompanied by painful swelling of the lymph glands in the neck, underarm and groin areas.

In the 30 years since 1949, when a Taos physician who had seen plague cases in California diagnosed the first one in New Mexico, 97 people have caught the plague. Seventeen of them died.

Forty-four of the cases occurred in the first 25 years of that span. But in the past five years, there have been 53.

"Clearly, the number of cases is increasing significantly," Mann said. "This is the first century of our experience with plague in the United States and it's too early to know how it's going to behave. It may die out or it may become a more difficult come." The plague reached this country around 1900, Mann said, when disease-ridden fleas hopped rides on freighters from China then jumped ship on the shores of California.

"From 1900 to 1908, all cases that occurred in the U.S. were from urban rat populations," Mann said. "In 1908, the first case of human plague from exposure to a squirrel was noted in Califor-

"It apparently spread from its beachhead in the California port cities from urban rat populations to wild rodent populations all over the western United States," he

"Plague is considered a medieval disease, but it's not," Mann continued. "It was only basically in the late part of the last century and the early part of this century that the mysteries of how it is transmitted, how it spread and how it exists in nature were discovered."

Few statistics are available on effects of the plague in medieval Europe, but it's estimated the disease killed a quarter of the population. "Statistics are rudimentary in most cases," said Mann. "There were communities and towns in Europe that were wiped out. In the early part of this century in Manchuria, there were extremely large outbreaks.

"There was devastation in some parts of the world meriting the word plague in every sense," he said.

Then, to a narrow but tantalizing extent, the president let them hear about it. And it was a lesson that Reagon could only envy: the incumbent's use of White House

"Today I've been monitoring very closely and dealing to some degree with the combat between Iran and Iraq," said the chief executive. "It's a disturbing thing. I've just been on the phone, the secure telephone that has encoded voices, going back and forth, with Dr. (Zbigniew) Brzezinski, and earlier with Secretary (of Defense Harold) Brown..." Carter said the administration is doing everything possible in concert with other nations for a peaceful settlement of the conflict. "We will not become involved in the combat and we are urging and insisting that the Soviet Union and other nations do not interfere in this very dangerous situation," he declared. "Well," he added, "I don't want to bore you with further details. But I did want to point out to you the importance of the presidency." Earlier, in Los Angeles, Carter tempered but then repeated his claim of a night before that Reagan might be quick to risk American forces in combat. The president said Monday night that the choice on election day came down to "whether we have peace or

The president's press secretary said Carter had overstated the case. But he said Carter had no apology to make for raising the issue.

And the president himself declared Tuesday, again in Los Angeles, that Reagan has often suggested "the use of American military force to address problems that arise diplomatically between na-

"The record's there," said Carter. "To call for the use of military forces in a very dangerous situation has been a repeated habit of his as a governor and as a candidate for president. What he would do in the Oval Office I hope will never be observed by the American people." Reagan strategists acknowledged that the issue had the effect of diverting the nation's attention, if not the candidate himself, from his own game plan. But they predicted the tactic would backfire. Reagan aide Stuart Spencer said the president was being "a mean, courthouse Georgia politician, and you don't run for president that way." Told that Carter would not apologize, Reagan said: "That doesn't surprise me.

That's in character." The Republican nominee and his camp were convinced they had regained an initiative after slipping in early September. They had intended to use this first tour following his debate with Anderson to sharpen their attack upon Carter's economic record and present what they called the GOP standard-bearer's "vision of America's future." Instead, Reagan ran into questions about Carter's statements at every stop. Reagan clearly seemed frustrated at the end of the day, when, in Springfield, Mo., he was asked specifically about Carter's remark that he had a "repeated habit" of Southwest Collection. Were it not for the corporate ranches of English and Scottish syndicates, said Holden, a former Texas Tech professor, written records of the ranching industry would have been almost nonexistent.

"Copying with the business aspects of the ranch made it necessary to have educated managers with a knowledge of business operation," said Holden. "Due to this requirement, managers of foreign corporate ranches were a different breed from the selfmade American rancher, who in most instances had only two items, a tally book and a checkbook, both of which he carried in his vest pocket.

So far as ranching heritage is concerned, this was a pity. The vast amount of the experiences of each passed away with him when he was buried. Most of the early, pioneering cattlemen died before the arrival of a historian with a tape recorder. So, we are indebted to the foreign corporate ranches for keeping and preserving definitive records of early ranch operation."

Holden was one of seven prominent historians participating in the symposium, which attracted about 400 persons.

Other Southwest historians participating in the day-long, silver anniversary celebration were: Dr. Rupert N. Richardson, J. Evetts Haley, Dr. William M. Pearce, Dr.

People Deficient

In Zinc

COLLEGE STATION - We all need zinc, but some people don't get enough, according to Cass Ryan-Crowe, a foods and nutrition specialist.

Human nutrition researchers report that some people in the United States may be marginally deficient in zinc, she says.

Some symptoms signalling that deficiency are diminished taste ability and poor wound healing.

Dr. Ryan-Crowe is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

WHO IS DEFICIENT? Individuals who eat a diet predominated by vegetable products are the most likely to be deficient.

Vegetable and grain products contain phytate, a "chelating" or binding agent that adversely affects the absorption by the body of zinc.

HOW MUCH NEEDED? The Recommended Dietary Allowance (RDA) for zinc is 15 milligrams per day for each adult-with the consumption of a mixed diet or a diet that includes animal pro-

Meat, liver, eggs and seafoods are best sources of

On the other hand, wholegrain products, such as whole wheat, rye and oatmeal are poor sources of zinc.

Researchers say that the consumption of zinc by the "average" American adult may be below the RDA.

These findings emphasize the need for careful dietary planning, which includes a variety of foods to ensure that the RDA of 15 milligrams of zinc is met, Dr. Ryan-Crowe stresses.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been married for 15 years to a man who drinks too much. In my heart I have known for a long time that he is an alcoholic, but I never wanted to face the fact.

Recently I read in the Chicago Sun-Times an article by Sue Sussman. She said: If you reach in to help a drowning man, you rescue him. If you hold him while he tries to drown himself, you are an "enabler." People who bail the alcoholic out of drunkendriving charges, lie to the his work for him are called "enablers." THE WORLD'S GREATST FREE OFFER Abraham was, humanly speaking, the founder of our Jewish nation. What were his experiences concerning this question of being saved by faith? Was it because of his good deeds that God accepted him? If so, then he would have something to boast about. But from God's point of view Abraham had no basis at all for pride. For the Scriptures tell us Abraham believed God, and that is why God canceled his sins and declared him "not guilty." But didn't he earn his right to heaven by all the good things he did? No, for being saved is a gift; if a person could earn it by being good, then it wouldn't be free - but it is! It is given to those who do not work for it. For God declares sinners to be good in His sight if they have faith in Christ to save them from God's wrath.

King David spoke of this, describing the happiness of an undeserving sinner who is declared "not guilty" by God. "Blessed, and to be envied," he said, "are those whose sins are forgiven and put out of sight. Romans 4:1-7

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN

Meeting newcomers to Hereford is likely to be a happy experience, especially when the introduction is as nice a one as I had to Ann Klein last week, with her dog Pepper to introduce us.

Pepper, a beautiful black labrador retriever, was resting on her front porch at 307 Jackson when I walked by. She jumped up and barked to notify me that it was her territory I was passing and I stopped to get acquainted when Ann came out the door to assure me Pepper wouldn't bite me. That was a chance to pass the time of day with Ann and learn that she is the wife of Mike Klein, who came here lately for a job in the Soil Conservation Service office, after graduation from Texas A&I at Kingsville. The Kleins have a six-year-old daughter, CeRee.

She has started to school in the first grade, is enrolled in the Bluebirds and Ann has become a co-leader of a Bluebird group.

Pepper has hunted dove, which are abundant around Kingsville, Ann said. The Kelins want to try her to help them hunt ducks up here-and I hope they weren't discouraged by Jim Steiert's funny tale of a duck-hunting retriever in his Sunday column!

Spending a long weekend at Ruidoso, N.M. were Speedy and Lavon Nieman, Georgia and Bub Sparks and Ruth and Herschel Black.

Charles and Wanda Hoover also went up for the weekend leaving Wanda's mother, Blanche Williamson, at Roswell to visit with her two sisters. Saturday, while at Roswell, Mrs. Williamson fell and broke her leg. She will be confined to the Roswell Hospital six to eight weeks and Mrs. Hoover stayed there to help care for her.

Also in Ruidoso over the weekend were Thelma and Virgil Marsh who spent their time playing in a golf tourna-

The fall foliage show at Ruidoso is not yet underway, Lavon says, but the leaves are expected to begin turning in a week or so and be at their best about mid-October.

So many things are happening in town now that it's hard to keep up with them all-and I don't, but I made a couple of the specials Sunday afternoon, the farewell party for the Dwyers and open house at the new Satellite Center

The reception for Jo An and Archie Dwyer was a thoughtful gesture by the Big-Brothers-Big Sisters board to give friends a chance to say goodbye to a family that will be missed as they move to Amarillo.

There were some tears in Jo An's eyes as well as those of others in the group she was telling that she is excited over her new job, and is moving to a home she likes, and already has the girls enrolled in their new schools-but they all have regrets at leaving.

Archie says he will miss his yard work (he didnt' say happily or otherwise) and his vegetable garden, but he is taking right off on his other hobby with a part in a new play at an Amarillo dinner theater-not his first, you know. He gave some fine performances here when the Hereford Community Players were functioning, and has since been onstage a good deal in Amarillo.

Lavon Nieman tells me that even though the set date for the deadline on the Hereford Brand Cruise to the Caribbean has passed that she personally went ahead and paid the deposit for three more couples while the price is locked in with the cruise line.

Thirty-two rooms were reserved and most of these will be Hereford people going. Sounds like a good Christmas present for some thoughtful husband (or wife) to give his mate. The cruise is set for Feb. 22. Positive deadline is Dec. 10-if the three cabins are not taken by then.

Howard took the first place berth in calf roping with a time of 11.861 and won the steer wrestling event with an elasped period of 5.135.

Ward dominated pole competition as she rode to a first place time of 20.733. She also placed second in break-away roping with a 3.578 time.

Other highlighting performances reeled out by the rodeo club included; Brett Cunningham's second place finish in calf roping with a 12.183; Howard and Lee Washington's second place efforts in the team roping with a time of 13.903; Steve McConnel's fourth place time of 30.291 in calf roping and Robert Esqueda's total of 59 points in the bull riding competition.

Howard, following his feats during the competition, was named the rodeo's all-around cowboy with a total of 17 points added up over the duration of the event.

But with only two weeks left in the 1960 season, the Pirates are 31/2-games behind Philadelphia and four behind the NL East-leading Mon-treal Expos, who celebrate each victory with taped renditions of "Another One Bites the Dust" by the English rock group Queen.

The Pirates' family bit the dust Tuesday night as Steve Rogers pitched a three-hitter and the Expos scored six runs in the sixth inning on the way to a 7-1 victory.

The Expos theme song was selected by outfielder Ellis Valentine, who currently is back in Montreal with an ailing wrist.

'Ellis started playing it. He's not here, so I play it every time we win - and somebody bites the dust," said Rowland Office.

Pittsburgh tasted defeat on Tuesday, but can they come back in the last 11 games?

"It's not going to be easy, but we've been in tougher spots this and come back," said Pirates Manager Chuck Tanner.

"We've got to keep winning and hope we get some help," said Pittsburgh infielder Phil Garner. "We're not out of it by any means, but we've got our backs to the wall."

The Pirates, who despite the loss won 12 of 18 games against Montreal this season, have no games left with the Expos or Philadelphia, which fell out of first place with a 6-3 loss to St. Louis and one-half game behind.

In other NL games, Angeles defeated Atlanta 4-2 chers.

Al Olmsted won his first major league decision and knocked Philadelphia out of first place by holding the Phillies to three hits through eight innings.

Olmsted gave up three hits in the ninth, including Mike Schmidt's 43rd homer, and needed relief help from John Littlefield.

Ken Oberkfell had two RBIsingles to lead the St. Louis offense.

Padres 9, Astros 4

San Diego batted around in both the fourth and fifth innings, when it scored all its runs, as Houston saw its lead sliced to one game.

Broderick Perkins drove in three runs singles in both innings, Luis Salazar had a tworun single in the fifth and Tim Flannery drove in two with a sacrifice fly and a groundout. Starter John Curtis, 9-8, scattered 11 Houston hits for a complete-game victory.

Dodgers 4, Braves 2

Los Angeles broke a sevengame losing streak against Atlanta as Derrel Thomas had three hits, knocked in a run and scored two.

Bob Welch, Bobby Castillo and Don Stanhouse combined to scatter nine hits as Los Tuesday night to snap a fourgame losing streak and move to within one game of Houston in the National League West.

Bob Welch, 14-9, shut out the Braves on five hits before leaving in the seventh because of a pulled groin muscle. Bob Castillo, who gave up Dale Murphy's 30th homer of the season for Atlanta's runs, and Don Stanhouse finished for the Dodgers.

Starr's Status Rides In Game With Dallas

By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) - Tom Landry can remember the hard times...that expansion year in 1960 when the Dallas Cowboys didn't win a game.

Which is why he called Green Bay Packer Coach Bart Starr two weeks ago to tell him to hang in there. Starr disclosed that fact to the Dallas media Tuesday in a telephone hookup before Landry's weekly press lun-

Starr, who has yet to have a winning season as a coach, although he was the quarterback on two National Football League champion Green Bay teams that victimized Dallas, is 1-2 this season.

The Cowboys have whipped Washington and Tampa Bay, with a 41-20 loss to Denver sandwiched in the middle.

"It shows you something about Landry that he called me after the Denver loss," said Starr. "It was really encouraging."

Landry said, "I talk to coaches from time to time. I like to talk to Bart every once in a while. "

Landry was asked if he got any calls in Dallas' dismal "I didn't get many calls,"

he said, laughing. "I guess everybody figured I was on my way out."

He added, "Bart didn't call, but he was almost responsible for me on my way out by the way he beat us every time we played the Packers."

Landry said he feared a fired up Packer team Sun-

"It's been a very unusual season in the NFL," said Landry. "You see games where a team has been wiped out, like Green Bay at Los Angeles Sunday, then you see them come bouncing back like we did against Tampa Bay.

"It would be a mistake for us to underestimate Green Bay. They just might rise up. Sometimes it's hard to convince players that other professionals are as good as they are. Green Bay is capable of playing much better."

Vietnam War Movie Success

By PETER J. BOYER

AP Television Writer LOS ANGELES (AP) -Philip Caputo's "Rumor of War" changed the minds of many who thought the Vietnam War would never yield a significant work of literature Somewhat surprisingly, the four-hour CBS movie that screenwriter John Sacret Young wrought from Caputo's book is itself a singular achievement. The very strength of Caputo's work would seem a barrier to its transference to film, especially a film meant for prime time television consumption. Caputo's story is no simple war yarn, with heroes and heavies and a well-defined purpose; it is, rather, a case-study of tormented ambivalence.

There is a thread of a storyline in Caputo's autobiographical account:

A restless youth, charged by the ideals of JFK's New Frontier, joins the Marines and is shipped to Vietnam as a young officer in the first-toarrive Marine Expeditionary Force.

He is brutalized by the war, and by his own brutality, emerging scarred, scared and old. And charged with the murder of two Vietnamese villagers killed on his order.

Of necessity, Young's screenplay seizes that thread and weaves a story that is much more linear than the book. But this four-hour CBS drama (tonight and Thursday night) manages to capture the frustration and hopelessness that was at the heart of Caputo's story.

"I was initially concerned about their turning the book into a war story," says Caputo, "rather than what it was intended to be - a spiritual odyssey of men at Screenwriter Young once a path opposite the one that Caputo took.

"In some perverse way, one of the reasons I wanted to do this was because I wasn't there," Young says. "I went to the urban war, the protest. But that decision later seemed somehow insufficient to me. I had a need to have been there."

veterans, and had hoped to expand Caputo's story into a Vietnam saga. The network, and Caputo, said no. Still, Young is happy with what

"It's one man's story, one man's war, but it gives a sense that he was not alone. Also, I hope it will help keep us looking at what happened there, not to romanticize it. To look clearly at it, especially in light of Ronald Reagan's recent remark that Vietnam was a 'noble effort."" Brad Davis, brought to fame in "Midnight Express," plays Caputo with a fine sense of seething ambivalence. And you will remember Brian Dennehy as the been-there-before Sgt.

It's a masterful movie, the first to really bring the "living room war" into the nation's living rooms.

Dandruff is merely the shedding of the surface cells of your scalp, the same as the surface cells of the skin over Do all women have to take your arms and elsewhere shed. It is not a disease. It is not caused by bacteria or tion for three more months.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Would

Some people have very small, fine cells that are invisible and that's why you never see the shedding. Other people have irregular shaped cells that clump together as scales and that's why you see them. Some of these people do tend to have a higher rate of activity of new cell formation which means they shed more

There are a lot of things that have been suggested for dandruff and there are some dandruff shampoos on the market that do help in some instances. Frequent shampoo-ing of the hair also helps, par-ticularly if there's a tendency often and rely on tap water. One of the reasons that some people have duller looking hair is because of the water that they wash their hair in. Hard water tends to leave a chemical film on the hair shaft itself which may give it a dull appearance. If you happen to be in an area where your water is hard and have this problem, you might find that rinsing the hair adequately with distilled water after you've washed your hair will get rid of these deposits and give your hair a better

Is it usual to wait before doing the surgery? If it is malignant, which she says they rarely are, wouldn't it give it a chance to spread? I would appreciate any information you have. I'm 33 years old and have had two children.

DEAR READER - A myoma is what most people call a fibroid. It's an overgrowth in a symmetrical, organized fashion of the muscle and connective tissue in the wall of the uterus. Such a tumor is common and many times when they're small they may Some shampoos and soaps are irritating to some people's bleeding and that's probably scalp. gery on a semi-emergency No, fibroids are limited to the uterus and just because you have fibroid tumors does not mean that you'll have tumors or cancer anywhere

Now about hysterectomies and hormones. The uterus is not an endocrine organ. I does not form any estrogen or progesterone. Those female hormones come from the ovaries and some from the adrenal glands over the kidneys. A woman can have a complete hysterectomy, meaning her entire uterus taken out, and as long as the ovaries are left intact and are functioning normally, she won't need to take hormones. If the ovaries are taken out, which is not part of a complete hysterectomy, then she is likely to need hormone

Burns on counter top

DEAR POLLY — Do you know of a way to bleach out burned spots on my laminated plastic kitchen counter top? I very foolishly set a pan directly from a high-set burner on to the counter, and do not know how to remove the small black burn spots or make them less

noticeable. — PATTI
DEAR PATTI — Scouring powders, bleach or peroxide that might remove the black spots will dull the surface and make it more prone to other stains, so they should be avoided. Since this area is evidently quite near the stove, why not cut out a section of the plastic top and insert a wooden cutting board? I am sure you would find it a most convenient addition to your kitchen. -
