

Grand Jury Makes Probe, Issues Recommendations

By SPEEDY NIEMAN
Publisher-Editor

A grand jury investigation into the increase in violent crimes in the county and community has resulted in a seven-point course of action, according to the report released Monday by the January term of the grand jury.

The proposals range from an increase in the sheriff's department manpower and pay raises for all law enforcement officers to participation of all citizens in a "Togetherness Month" to promote goodwill and fellowship in the county and community.

Jurors agreed to undertake the investigation, according to the report, because of the "alarming increase" in violent crimes. The grand jury interviewed 13 persons, which included representatives of local law enforcement agencies, city and county officials, school officials, and several others.

The grand jury noted that statistics revealed that assaults increased from 35 in 1977 to 103 in 1978. In most of these cases, states the report, the use of alcoholic beverages preceded the assault situation.

The seven recommendations:

1. Hire a Juvenile Peace Officer (county) to help in counseling with juveniles before a crime is committed.
2. Hire more men in the Sheriff's Department (3) and develop a policy of paying these men overtime as in the City

Police Department.

3. Increase the pay scale of all our law enforcement officials to be comparable to that of wages drawn in industries in the community.

4. Develop an open-door policy with police welcome to patrol and in keeping peace for all dances--at the Community Center, Wishing Well, Bull Barn, K.C. Hall, and all clubs. The same policy to apply to all races.

5. Initiate schooling of our law enforcement officials on better attitude control on entry into a patrolling situation and depress the forcefulness. Make an approach more respectful. All emphasize proper respect in the community toward our officers.

6. Make our schools safer. Have better disciplinary codes and a disciplinary officer in charge on all campuses. One who is alert to all problem causing areas. (This person being the Assistant Principal or a rightful employee with enough time to do a thorough job.)

7. Propose to City and County officials that a "togetherness month" be proclaimed to promote goodwill and fellowship in our community through the churches and civic organizations.

The report also had accompanying comments on some of the recommendations. The report closed with the statement that the jurors believed the

'Jaws of Life' At Work

The "jaws of life" rescue tool was demonstrated here Saturday at Sugarland Mall by members of the Canyon Fire Department. The demonstration was sponsored by the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department to promote its fund drive for purchasing one of the tools. At left, firemen are about to pop the door from its hinges. At right, firemen are in the process of cutting the top from a wrecked car, with a pincer-like accessory fitted to the "jaws." The HVFD has scheduled a country music concert here June 8 with proceeds going towards the campaign to buy the $6,000 rescue equipment.

Texas Senators Kill Primary Bill

★ Fact Finder ★

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—The Texas Killer Bees senators probably have succeeded in blocking a 1980 presidential primary bill they contend was tailor-made for John Connally, says Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

But don't expect Hobby to wave white flags, send out conciliatory messages to the dozen absentees or let down support for the controversial election proposal.

To reward behavior of this sort is obviously not wise, Hobby told reporters in his office Monday.

He scheduled a 10:30 a.m. Senate session today amidst rumors the gang

Car-Pedestrian

Mishap Reported

Harold Loerwald, 57, injured in a car-pedestrian accident here Saturday night, has been transferred to an Amarillo hospital with two broken legs and possible head injuries.

Loerwald apparently walked into the path of the car, according to the investigating officer's report. The mishap occurred on E. Park Avenue near the intersection of Ave. H about 12:20 p.m. Saturday. Driver of the car was Thomas Elmo Reed.

Other incidents recorded by police since Saturday include a theft reported by Warren Bros. of four wheel covers valued at $320. Rosie Garcia of 501 Grand reported that someone entered her house and stole a purse which contained a watch, jewelry and an undetermined amount of cash.

Vandalism of personal property was reported by Carol Armor of 202 Douglas after a vehicle went across her lawn, causing an estimated $50 damage. Three miscellaneous calls were made by the police—one involving a cat-bite incident and two disturbance calls.

There were 13 traffic citations issued, and investigation continued in a four-car mishap on Ave. B early this morning. A car driven by David Shawn Greeson, 17, was involved in an accident with three parked cars. Greeson sustained minor injuries.

would not reappear until 12:01 a.m. Wednesday.

If the AWOL senators return, Hobby was asked, would the presidential primary stand a chance of passage?

"I think not," he replied. As the group ended their fourth day undercover, Hobby, the Senate's presiding officer refused to withdraw warrants for their arrest.

He ordered them captured Friday after they boycotted a Senate session to stop action on a measure that would hold a 1980 presidential primary in March, separate from May primary elections. Unless two return, the 31-member Senate lacks 21 members needed for a quorum and can do nothing.

The rebels claim the primary measure would benefit Connally by allowing Democrats to vote in the Republican presidential contest, then cast ballots for conservative Democrat state candidates two months later.

Connally, a Democrat when he served six years as Texas governor, has said he does not care when Texas holds a primary.

Hobby thought one absent senator,

Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, was heading back Monday.

"I expected him at noon. He hasn't appeared. I have no further information," the lieutenant governor said.

Brooks told the Associated Press in a telephone interview that he was in Oklahoma when the others fled Austin. He said he heard radio reports while driving back to the capital Monday that he had "abandoned" the Killer Bees.

"I've never been out of sympathy with them, although I have not been with them physically," Brooks protested. He told the AP he would call Hobby and offer to negotiate a settlement in the stalemate. Brooks never reappeared.

Senate Sergeant-at-Arms Kelly Arnold said security officers had no new leads on any other absentees.

One Killer Bee, Sen. Gene Jones, allowed photographers in his hometown of Houston to film him and his wife reading headlines of his escapade.

After Brooks was overdue by five hours, Hobby invited senators who were Q—The Russians are buying American grain all the time, but why isn't the price they are paying for it ever listed? What is the price they are paying for it, or are they not paying at all?

A—Most grain currently being sold to Russia is marketed through private grain firms. Although these private firms must have government approval to sell the grain, they are not required to disclose at what price the grain has been sold to foreign buyers. Charges for loading, handling and shipment are included in agreements for foreign sales, and these charges may not make the price relate to domestic commodity markets. However, Russian and Chinese grain purchasers are receiving no special market privileges at this time, and are paying the going cash rate for American grain, according to a spokesman for the Texas Wheat Producers Association.

Blood Donors

Needed Wednesday

Hereford residents are urged to report to the Community Center from 3-6 p.m. Wednesday and give blood to the mobile unit of Coffee Memorial Blood Center.

The current local debt with Coffee Memorial is 108 pints, according to Joan Bookout, local blood drive chairman. Blood can be replaced tomorrow for one of the current accounts or for older accounts, including Bill Lookingbill, who owes 38 pints of blood, or Dee Ann Osborn, owing 19 pints.

Current blood debts listed by Coffee Memorial are: Elmer Carlsen, owing 28 pints; Micky Gomez, 8 pints; Lyndell Scroggins, 12 pints; Helen Thomas, 8 pints; Frances Rape, 16 pints; Daisy Livesay, 4 pints; Brent Allen, 16 pints; and Michael Smith (deceased) 16 pints.

City Appoints Trio To Board

Hereford City Commission, in regular session Monday night, approved the appointment of three men to the city's Tax Equalization Board, approved a rate increase on the city's use of electricity, and authorized the aerial spray for mosquitoes this summer.

Neil Cooper, Melvin Jayroe and Wayne Sims were appointed to the tax equalization board.

The rate increase request from Southwestern Public Service Co. applied only to the rate charged for municipal use. Commissioners approved an increase of about 16 percent for city-used electricity.

After discussing the use of aerial spraying for mosquitoes, the city authorized the city manager to contract with Mosquito Control of the Southwest, Plainview, for the work when needed this summer. The company is the same one used to spray the city last year.

Crime Prevention Meet Draws 70

A crime prevention breakfast meeting, with an emphasis on "hot" checks, was held at the Community Center this morning under the sponsorship of the business committee of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Tim Scott, business committee chairman, served as emcee of the program and introduced panel members. About 70 persons attended the meeting and heard six law enforcement officials speak on various topics.

Members of the panel included Sheriff Travis McPherson, deputies Art Burton and Dean Butcher, Criminal D.A. Roland Saul and assistant Jerry Smith, and police officer Paul Rameriz.

Topics included shoplifting and internal theft, the "Operation Identification" program to help retain personal property, hot checks and forgery, and the use of force or deadly force, in protecting person or property, and armed robbery and kidnapping.

A booklet, entitled "Crime and The Businessman," was distributed at the meeting, as well as several other pamphlets pertaining to crime prevention.

Saul expressed appreciation for those presenting the meeting, saying that "effective law enforcement demands that continuing education and constant updating of techniques in preventing and reporting crimes be maintained."

Local rainfall proved beneficial for the dryland wheat producing sector of the county to the west, as moisture accumulations of at least an inch over vast expanses of the wheat range should virtually clinch a dryland harvest of the golden grain later this summer.

Inclement weather did strike one area bordering on Deaf Smith County, as heavy hail pelted the Bellview region.

Hailstones reportedly covered the ground "like snow" in that region, and damage to wheat and newly-emerged crops was reported.

The storm front arrived in the Hereford area with a vengeance late Sunday night, as near gale force winds pushed rain in sheets, and pea to marble-sized hail pelted down along with the rainfall.

Heavy blasts of wind-driven rain cut visibility for several minutes during the peak of the storm, and rainfall eventually tapered off to a gentler pace.

Light showers began once again in the wee hours of Monday morning.

Most of the farmlands over the area reported gentler rainfall, however, and damage from scattered hail was not thought to be too severe, although reports were received of at least one barley field damaged by hail, and some wheat to the west of the city was blown over and slightly matted.

Roads were awash for a time 10 miles west of the Ford community in the far northern portion of the county as 4.50 inches of rain fell in that locality.

Four inch reports also came from the vicinity of Ford, while 2.50 inches of rain was recorded at the Mark Hicks farm, five miles west of Ford. A four inch report was also received from Adrian.

Rainfall reports varied over the city of Hereford, with Tom Cunningham of the Hereford Soil Conservation Service office reporting a two inch accumulation at his home, a quarter mile northeast of 16th Street.

A near two inch accumulation was also reported at the northern end of Star Street, while Benny Womble reported a 1.75 inch accumulation at his home in the 200 block of Ranger Drive.

KPAN radio logged a total of 1.25 inches of rainfall in the downtown Hereford area and the Holly Sugar Corporation's Hereford plant recorded 1.21 inches from the Sunday downpour.

The J.E. McCabe farm east of Dawn reported two inches of rainfall, while Dawn Co-Op recorded an accumulation of 1.25 inches.

Hail was only minor in the Dawn area. Rainfall reports were encouraging for the county's dryland wheat farmers. Bill Page reported 2.20 inches of rain at his farm near Bootleg Corner, and accumulations of one to three inches were reported throughout the surrounding vicinity.

Jewel Smith--A 'Gem' to Needy For 26 Years

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Jewel Smith, for 26 years, has provided for Deaf Smith County's low and no-income folks not just because it was her job, but because of feelings instilled in her by her dad, watermelons and the Depression.

Mrs. Smith last week announced her retirement as county welfare administrator, a position she accepted in 1953 because of a plain and simple desire to help.

"My daddy was a minister, a country preacher, in Quail in Collingsworth County. Back during the Depression, my daddy actually kept a lot of people from going hungry," she said.

"He owned 160 acres of land, he had 20 acres in orchards--all kinds of fruits--and we raised big truck patches of vegetables. To give you an idea of the way my father worked...He worked 18 hours a day, we all did. He would plant watermelon-seeds in little paper cups and keep them in the barn during the cold months.

"He would dip muslin in hot paraffin then put it over the door of the barn to let the sunlight in. He'd water these plants ever few days, then when frost was over he'd take them to the field and he would set them out.

"That way we had watermelons a long time before anybody else. We shared them with people."

Her father, who moved to Collingsworth County from eastern Oklahoma, besides the fruit and vegetables, raised hogs and cattle to keep neighbors from going hungry.

"When he butchered them, he shared them with his neighbors. He'd kill hogs one day, we'd work up the meat, and the next day he'd take the meat to either Childress, Memphis, Hedley, Shanrock or Wellington. He'd go from cafe to cafe and sell it, and that's how we stayed off relief during the Depression," she said.

"So all my life, we just divided everything we had. We would render this lard from the hogs and give away the lard. We made lye soap and gave away the lye soap. We shared everything. My daddy always said that whatever God placed in hands was there to be shared. And he always got along pretty well."

Back in 1952, 11 years after Mr. and Mrs. Orville Smith moved to Hereford from their farm in Wellington, she was involved in the Women's Missionary Union at First Baptist Church. An experience with the WMU around Thanksgiving that year finally convinced her to work full-time on helping the needy.

"The WMU took a family out at the suggested proposals can be met without a tax increase. However, the report states: If the governing bodies deem an increase necessary, we would support such action in order to decrease the level of violent crime and make Hereford and Deaf Smith County a safer place."

Those interviewed by the grand jury included: Sheriff Travis McPherson, Police Chief Don Brush, City Mgr. Dudley Bayne, County Judge Glen Nelson, County commissioners Austin Rose, James Voyles and Bruce Coleman, Probation Officer Roger Bowers, Juvenile board member Doug Manning, GI Forum member Rumaldo Garcia, Wishing Well owner Pete Rodriguez, La Plata Junior High principal Jerry Richburg, and Stanton Junior High principal Bill McCarty.

Eleven indictments were also returned yesterday by the grand jury. One case was passed.

The indictments included: DWI—Juan Landin Gonzales, Carlos P. Pena Jr., Raul Rivera Gonzales, Inocencio Mariscal, and Milton Vinson; forgery and passing—Billy Chance; burglary of habitation—Juan Jose Alejandre; burglary of building—Roger Chance; theft—Janet Gayle Bridwell, Lyman Wayne Bassett; possession of controlled substance—Robert Wayne Newsom.

Court To Judge Minority Grants

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court Monday agreed to judge the validity of a law that reserved $400 million in federal public works grants for minority-owned businesses.

The justices said they will hear an appeal stemming from the minority set-aside provision in the Public Works Employment Act of 1977.

A federal appeals court in New York upheld the law, even though other courts have invalidated it as unconstitutional.

Despite Carter administration arguments that the legal controversy is "largely academic," the test case could lead to new high court edicts on "affirmative action," racial quotas and "reverse discrimination."

In other action Monday, the court: Ruled 6-3 that judges are not required in every criminal case to instruct the jury that the defendant is presumed innocent until proven guilty.

The majority said in an unsigned opinion. "The failure to give a requested instruction on the presumption of innocence does not in and of itself violate the Constitution. . . . Such a failure must be evaluated in light of the totality of the circumstances."

Rejected death sentence appeals by convicted murderers in Texas, Georgia, Virginia and Florida.

Agreed to hear the appeal of a San Diego man trying to sue California authorities in connection with his young daughter's murder.

The justices said they will review court rulings that state officials are immune from the allegations of George Martinez that they were negligent in paroling a convicted sex offender who later kidnapped and killed his 15-year-old daughter, Mary Ellen.

Left intact a ruling that persons facing commitment to a state mental hospital do not enjoy the constitutional protection against self-incrimination that is afforded criminal suspects.

The justices refused without comment to disturb a Nebraska Supreme Court ruling that the privilege does not extend to psychiatric interviews in civil commitment proceedings.

Rejected, without comment, a request that it order athletic league officials in Newport, R.I., to let Donald M. Gomes become a member of the girls' volleyball team at Rogers High School for the last two games of the year.

Weather

also recorded 2.20 inches.

At the far western sector of the county, near the New Mexico border, the Clint Homfeld farm, 47 miles northwest of Hereford recorded 1.10 inches of precipitation.

A total of 1.50 inches of rainfall was reported by Jim Perrin at his dryland farming operation, headquartered 43 miles northwest of Hereford.

Westway Fertilizer, west of the city, recorded 1.50 inches of rain, and a spokesman for that firm indicated that some wheat was blown down near the city.

Oddly, moisture skirted the Milo Center community north of Hereford, with only .60 inches of rain reported by a spokesman for Pioneer Fertilizer in that community.

Farms to the south of the city missed out on the waterworks, for the most part.

Charles Schlabs, who farms about two miles south of Hereford recorded only .40 inches of rainfall, while Easter Grain in neighboring Castro County to the south reported only .25 inches, although some isolated pockets in that vicinity received up to .50 inches.

Flood warnings and watches and severe thunderstorm warnings were posted throughout Texas yesterday as thunderstorms moved eastward.

Local authorities were on station to observe clouds Monday afternoon after authorities in Friona reported sighting a cloud with a hook about 2:30 p.m.

No threatening clouds were spotted by local observers, however.

Authorities searched today for a fourth person feared drowned in Southwest Texas after floodwaters transformed the peaceful Devil's River into a torrent.

Three bodies were recovered Monday near Texas 163 about 16 miles north of Comstock in Val Verde County, near the Mexican border. The victims were identified as Brad Elliott, 14, and his 12-year-old brother Byron, both of Ozona, and Del Rio resident David Sanchez, in his late 20s.

Department of Public Safety officials said they would continue to search for the boys' father, Larry Elliott, who was missing and feared drowned.

More than four inches of rain fell on Austin and between 3 to 4 inches fell on surrounding communities Monday night, flooding low-lying areas.

Carry Williams, 14 was swept into a flooded drainage ditch and carried under two bridges before he managed to grab a tree and hang on until students from Travis Junior High School rescued him.

Wet streets may have contributed to the death of an 8-year-old Austin boy Monday. Tony Hernandez died after he was struck by a pickup truck.

Three firemen were hit by lightning as they battled a blaze at a church. All were taken to Brackenridge Hospital for observation.

Fire officials blamed lightning for the church fire and minor blazes at seven Austin homes. At one time, all vehicles were away from the city's 23 fire stations, officials said.

A tornado warning was issued for Kerr County in the Hill Country Monday afternoon when the sheriff's office received reports of one near Kerrville State Park.

Four members of the Elliott family survived the Devil's River tragedy, including Martha Elliott, mother of the drowned boys, her three year-old daughter and two relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sparling, of Tulsa, Okla.

DPS officers said the Elliotts were returning to Ozona late Sunday when the storm hit. They stopped about 10 p.m. behind Sanchez' truck at a low water crossing. Ozona is 65 miles north of where the river crosses the highway; Del Rio is 50 miles southeast.

The two men and teen-age boys decided to tie the two trucks together and wait out the rising water. All four were in the Sanchez truck when the Elliott truck broke loose and floated downstream.

The survivors were swept down the river, but the truck stayed afloat from an air bubble trapped inside. When it came to rest, the Elliott family found themselves chest high in water a quarter mile from the road.

DPS investigators said the four in the Sanchez truck, apparently got out of their truck to help the others.

Sanchez reached the teenaged boys and tied them to a tree, but rising water rose over their heads before help could come. Sanchez drowned also, still clutching the rope tied around his body.

The weather forecast for the West Texas area calls for fair conditions to the west and decreasing cloudiness east of the Pecos River.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms are expected to continue through the southeast, and warmer conditions are expected to prevail over most sections through Wednesday.

Highs today will reach the 70's in the Panhandle, to 90's in the Big Bend. Lows will be mostly in the 50's.

Tomorrow's high is expected to be in the 80's in the Panhandle.

present to a strategy session in his office. Sen. Jack Ogg, D-Houston, sponsor of the primary bill, suggested lifting the "call" that orders the absentees' arrests.

Ogg threw out the idea for general discussion in hopes that would be a conciliatory gesture and bring them "back," Hobby said. "There was not wide support for that," he added with a laugh.

Ogg later told reporters he agreed with Hobby that the primary measure is dead. It now appears the Killer Bees are trying to slay other legislation, Ogg said, including measures affecting product liability laws and police wiretapping authority.

Most of the missing senators oppose both measures Ogg mentioned.

In addition to Jones and Brooks, other absentees - all Democrats - are Ron Clower of Garland, Glenn Kothmann of San Antonio, Raul Longoria, of Edinburg, Oscar Mauzy of Dallas, Carl Parker of Port Arthur, Bill Patman of Galveston, A.R. labor camp. Dyalhia Bradley—she was the county welfare worker—gave us a name of one family out there at the camp. We got together a lot of food for them.

"The snow was on the ground and it was extremely cold. They had very little heat and they were sleeping on the floor. So after we left the food we came back to town and gathered up mattresses, all sorts of bedding, clothing and bed linens, and took them to the family.

"They had a little baby in that family who was ill. The baby had a temperature. So we brought the mother and the baby into Mrs. Bradley, and she took the baby to the doctor. It had pneumonia and had to be hospitalized."

The following March, Mrs. Bradley resigned. Mrs. Smith applied for, and got, the job.

Back then, as part of her duties, Mrs. Smith served as probation officer, juvenile officer and district court child worker. Her job description later eliminated those things, but the basic duties remained the same.

"We give emergency assistance to people in need," she explained.

"Whatever the need is, we try to meet it. We don't hand out money, but we buy food and clothing and provide transportation. People give me a lot of useful items, so we don't have to use county money to buy a lot of things. If there's a great need, I can usually appeal to people that I know, and they come through."

"I also do some social work for the hospital. The hospital district pays for the prescription drugs and I investigate and authorize the drugs for whoever needs them."

Will she miss it all? "Are you kidding? Twenty-six years is a big hunk out of my life," she answered.

"My husband is retired and I felt guilty about not spending a lot of time with him. But I plan to remain active. I don't think a rocking chair would be becoming to me."

Mrs. Smith is a charter member of the county Council on Alcoholism, which she helped form in 1955. She's on the board of South Plains Health Providers, serves on the Salvation Army Service Committee and Top Of Texas Area Council for the American Lung Association, and is treasurer of the child welfare board.

She has resigned that latter position, effective May 31, when her retirement from the county becomes effective.

In 1972, Mrs. Smith was named Citizen of the Year at the chamber of commerce's annual banquet.

"One other thing I remember was back in 1953, my family received a real nice trip to Drowsy Water Ranch in Colorado because we were chosen as Hereford's Good Neighbors of the Year. The Hereford Brand sponsored that trip," she said.

Mrs. Smith has been honored as recently as last month, when the Hereford Peace Officers Association cited her as Citizen of the Month.

"I love Hereford, everything about it except the wind and dirt. I've enjoyed my work. People in Hereford are the most charitable people in the world. I have never had a need for help, and made it known, that wasn't met," she said.

Henderson To Seek Seat On RR Commission

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - John Thomas Henderson, an unsuccessful Railroad Commission candidate in 1978, announced Monday he will seek the commission seat now held by Jim Nugent in next week's Democratic primary.

Henderson, a retired Austin manufacturer's representative, received 450,000 votes in a 1978 primary race won by Commissioner Mack Wallace.

"I was pleased at my efforts last time," Henderson said. "So I thought I'd try again."

Nugent was appointed to the commission last fall by former Governor Dolph Briscoe after Jon Newton resigned.

Henderson said he will be his own campaign treasurer and will personally pay all campaign expenses.

'Panic Buying' Factor In Shortage

NEW YORK (AP) - The great toilet paper shortage began fairly simply. Johnny Carson made a joke on the "Tonight" show a couple of years ago about supplies of toilet paper being tight. There really was no shortage - until Carson's joke.

In a matter of days, toilet paper became a rare commodity. Americans, believing Carson was serious, bought every roll of toilet paper they could get hold of. Soon, lots of people had several weeks' supply of toilet paper - but stores had virtually none.

That phenomenon is known as panic buying. And many experts say it's a chief cause of the current gasoline crunch.

There is little question that there actually is a shortage of gasoline - demand for the fuel has been going up at a 4 percent annual pace, while oil companies compensating for a shortage of crude oil, have cut back shipments to dealers by about 10 percent.

But analysts say that shortage should have been easy to manage. The lines which have appeared in California and elsewhere, they say, have been due not so much to the shortage itself as to motorists' perception that the shortage is worse than it actually is.

That perception - built from news reports, rumor and personal experience with gas lines - has worsened the situation, analysts say. "If you wake up in the morning, turn on the TV and see a news story about long gas lines, you're going to think, 'Wow, I better go out and buy some gas,'" said one oil industry executive.

"As I drive around and I see people in lines at gasoline stations I think I can't afford to let my car get down to a low level," said Michael Canes, an analyst at the American Petroleum Institute, a Washington-based industry group. "It inclines me to think I must fill up earlier to avoid that."

If enough people have the same thought, they can cause serious problems for the nation's gasoline supply.

Analysts say that what happens in a panic-buying situation is that motorists start pulling up to gas pumps as soon as the gas gauge reaches the three-quarter mark, instead of waiting until their down to one-quarter of a tank, as is normal.

The origins of this are varied. Many analysts say panic buying is tripped by the first signs of tight gasoline supplies - news that companies are cutting shipments to dealers or that gas stations are closing Sundays, cutting hours or limiting sales to a few gallons.

By saying "top it off" instead of "fill 'er up," motorists are setting off a whole chain of events that analysts say can lead to trouble.

To begin with, the difference between running around with a quarter tank of gas and three-quarters of a tank is about 10 gallons. If all of America's 134 million cars and trucks made that change, 1.34 billion gallons of gasoline would shift from the distribution system to gas tanks. That's a 42-day supply, an amount called "absolutely staggering" by Larry Goldstein of the Petroleum Industry Research Foundation, an industry group.

While that probably would never happen, a recent American Automobile Association check of 40 cars coming into a Washington, D.C., gas station found only two actually low on gas. The rest were topping off.

And topping off creates problems. It takes just about as long to buy two gallons of gas as it does to buy 10. Although the pumping time is a bit longer for 10 gallons, the time to pull up, give your order, have the pump nozzle put into your tank, put the nozzle back, replace the gas cap and pay is just about the same no matter how much gas is bought.

So five motorists buying two gallons each take about five times as much time as one motorist purchasing 10 gallons.

"You get more visits per person into gas stations, and under queuing theory, you must take up more time at the pump," said the petroleum institute's Canes.

Is this why there is agitation in the Pentagon to start drafting again? Defense Secretary Brown says that it might call for U.S. military force if the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty breaks down.

Brown and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance talk of the "possibility" of American supplies and ships and planes; they do not mention American troops yet.

Meanwhile, however, Brown has gone ahead and ordered $10 billion worth of $10 million dollar tanks so apparently the Pentagon still intends to fight the next war with the weapons which lost the last two.

Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Israel's Defense Minister Moshe Dayan have insisted that they neither want nor need U.S. troops. But that prospect is still being used by infantry-oriented American generals as leverage for more footsoldier mobilization.

Begin told our Congress:

Paul Harvey News

American Troops To Mideast?

"Israel will never ask American boys to fight its wars."

Yet Press Secretary Jody Powell confirms that President Carter on at least one instance has considered stationing American troops on the West Bank.

Now our House Foreign Affairs Committee hears that there is a "memorandum of understanding" between the United States and Israel which promises that in a shootout we will supply weapons and that we will "show" our ships and planes in the area.

Nobody imagines that we could go that far without getting in the way of some bullets.

What troubles pragmatic military strategists is the evidence that we seem to learn nothing from our past wars.

Contrast the tedious one-man-at-a-time invasion of Europe with the way President Truman ended the Pacific war with two big bangs.

And it is inconceivable that we would revert to fighting future wars with bayonets.

Yet in Korea and in Vietnam we did - and we lost.

And here we go again! Today we have big weapons - loaded for bear - and we can't wait to sign an agreement with the Soviets not to use them!

Little wonder the Soviets celebrate the SALT agreement. If we will agree to fight future wars with manpower, they have more of that than anybody.

In mid-March our secretary of state and our defense secretary were also promising to use U.S. armed forces if necessary to protect the oil fields of Saudi Arabia. Though now they say they are having second thoughts about that.

The footsoldier proponents protest that we must not be locked into an all-or-nothing-at-all response.

Thus, again the old men in Washington prepare to draft young men to fight pulled punches wars for which not one of those old men will ever volunteer.

Shower Honors Karen Schlabs

A pre-nuptial shower honored Miss Karen Schlabs, bride-elect of Lance Martin, Sunday afternoon in the Frank J. Bezner Jr. home south of the city.

Miss Schlabs greeted guests at the door with her mother, Mrs. Raymond Schlabs, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Gerald Martin. Signatures of those calling at the Bezner home were secured by the bride-elect's sister, Miss Barbara Schlabs.

Pineapple punch and assorted cookies were served by Miss Donna Meyer and Miss Lori Taylor from crystal appointments. Silver candlesticks holding yellow tapers flanked the peach and yellow centerpiece of silk roses and babybreath. The handmade floral arrangement was presented to the honoree as a gift. The refreshment table was draped with cream lace over yellow. Special guests in attendance included the honoree's grandmothers, Mrs. G.W. Hund and Mrs. A.G. Schlabs, and her fiancé's grandmother, Mrs. Bobbie Martin.

Members of the house party wore silk rose corsages complementing the bride-elect's chosen colors. Hostesses, in addition to Mrs. Bezner were Mes. Leonard Walterscheid, Kenneth Klechak, Vincent Walterscheid, Fred Fox, Joe Jesko, Robert Diller, Johnny Jesko, Carl Straffuss, Donald Meyer, F.A. Marnell, Raynold Herr, Leander Reinart, Roger Williams, Tommy Albracht, Tommie Weems, Clarence Betzen, George Paschel, Nick Yosten, Joe Reinauer, Lester Wagner and Leroy Berend.

Former Resident Feted at Shower

A lingerie shower recently honored Miss Melinda Bradley, bride-elect of Bill Bridge, in the home of Mrs. John Lantz in Dimmitt. The couple is to be married July 7 in First Presbyterian Church here.

The bride's chosen colors of brown and apricot were conveyed in shower decorations, which included a centerpiece of bronze iris and her corsage of apricot spider chrysanthemums.

Mrs. John Thomas served refreshments to guests, who were registered by Jennifer Carter.

A native of Hereford, the honoree is currently employed in the Dimmitt school system as a speech therapist.

Hostesses at the recent courtesy were Carol Lantz, Karen Carter, Alice Deger, Helen Stringer, Grace Killough, Dorothy Sheffy, Elberta Dryer, Rochelle Oldham, June Sutton, Miss Chale Montes, Nell Humphores, Leasa Thomas and Miss Suellen Pruess.

Pre-nuptial Party Honors Miss Rudd

Miss Jean Yvonne Rudd, bride-elect of Joe Don Ray, was honored last week in the home of Mrs. Irving Willoughby, 246 Ironwood, with a bridal shower.

Miss Rudd will be the bride of Joe Don Ray Saturday during a ceremony in First United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Willoughby received guests with the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Kenneth Rudd, her grandmother, Mrs. Paul Rudd, her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Perry Ray, his grandmothers, Mrs. W.W. Hodges and Mrs. Izell Ray, and his sister, Mrs. Mike McWhorter.

Mrs. Joe Mays invited guests to sign the registry.

Tammy Fischbacher and Carla McAlister presided at the serving table, decorated with blue and white iris with blue tapers.

4-H Firsthand

By AGNES TAYLOR

School will soon end and you will be busy making plans for summer. Why don't you come by your county extension office and collect information on the 4-H program?

4-H is open to anyone between the ages of 9 and 19. 4-H is a community, county, state, and national endeavor that requires the best thinking and planning of all adults interested in seeing that boys and girls are adequately prepared for their youth and adult lives.

Summer 4-H projects can be an exciting way to learn new skills and have fun with other 4-Hers your age. Deaf Smith County has fourteen different 4-H clubs with a total of 270 members. Many of these 4-Hers will be involved in a 4-H project of their choice this summer and you could be involved also.

A 4-H leader or an extension agent will be available to help anyone interested in working on a 4-H project. Listed are projects which are available to you: aerospace; automotive care and safety; beef cattle; bicycle care and safety; career exploration; citizenship; clothing; dairy cattle; dairy goats; dog care and training; electricity; entomology; exploring 4-H; family life; farm and ranch management; food and nutrition; forestry; home improvement; home equipment; horses; horticulture; leadership; management-life skills; meat science; money management; parliamentary; photography; plant and soil sciences; plant diseases; poultry production and marketing; public speaking; rabbits; range science; recreation; resource development; safety; fire prevention and safety; sheep and goats; small engines; swine; town and country business; tractor; veterinary science; wildlife and fisheries; wildlife; firearm safety; fisheries; woodworking; and world of house rats and mice.

Among these many projects areas available, you should be able to find an area in which you are interested. If you would like to spend your summer working with one of these projects just call your county extension office.

In addition to projects there are summer 4-H camps and trips to attend or work towards. If you are interested in attending a 4-H camp please obtain available information at your county extension office. Your summer can be fun when you are involved in a project you enjoy. 4-H can provide this opportunity for you.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

Every year I like to set goals for myself. This year is no exception. For 1979, I vowed I would (a) find inner peace, (b) study the religions of the world, (c) buy a bathing suit.

I was going to compromise the third goal when I got out my old two-piece bathing suit this year. Only one piece of it fit me. It is not important for anyone to know which piece it was. It is sufficient to say that if I appeared in it in public it would totally destroy my aura of mystery.

I don't buy a new bathing suit every year. It isn't because it represents a major purchase. It is because if I wanted that kind of pain I'd run the Boston Marathon or give birth to a Volkswagen.

To begin with, I am never psychologically ready for the styles. When I heard that this year's bathing suits were one piece, I had an entirely different concept in my mind as to what they would look like. Imagine my surprise when I picked up a one-piece suit and it caught on my ring finger.

The nymphs who appear in the ads lead me to believe the artist is sketching from memory. There hasn't been a girl with those measurements since Scarlett O'Hara trussed herself into a 16-inch corset.

To survive the summer at the pool I had to devise a list of Rules for Swimming.

1. Never frequent pools with full-length mirrors in the dressing room.
  2. Do not go into the pool area until you have seen three women who look more rotten than you do in a suit.
  3. If someone is wearing the same floral suit, do not stand close unless her flowers are opened at the same size as yours.
  4. Make sure the chlorine foot bath is deep enough to tread water in.
  5. Do not go into the water until three hours after you've eaten or your stomach goes down, whichever comes first.
  6. A beach ball, a folding chair and an air mattress may seem cumbersome, but when worn cover the effects of a long winter.
  7. When sunning, hold a child on your lap.
- If swim suits get any more daring, I may have to learn how to swim and hug the bottom of the pool.

Mrs. Perez Cited By Honor Roll

Tommie Perez of Hereford was recognized on the Dean's Honor Roll at West Texas State University recently with a 3.4 grade average. She is classified as a senior student majoring in elementary education.

Mrs. Perez resides at 723 Stanton St. with her husband and children. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcelo Torres of Coahoma.

Food takes a smaller part of disposable income in the U.S. than it does in other countries; even though food prices rose about eight percent during 1978, reports a foods and nutrition specialist, Mary K. Sweeten, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

CAVE OWNERS, REDDING, Calif. (AP) — Some 44 members of the National Cave Association gathered here recently.

There are some 200 show caves in the country providing their owners with poor to rich incomes.

The association was formed 13 years ago when cave owners began to realize that as their numbers increased, visitors to caves were taking on a different attitude.

"They no longer think in terms of fantasy and Donald Duck," says Steve Fairchild, who owns two caves in California. "They want to know everything about them, how they were formed and what's going on."

"If one cave is managed poorly, all the rest suffer," he said.

Kindergarten Grads Receive Diplomas

Theme for the 1979 First Baptist Kindergarten graduation was "The Kindergarten Hee-Haw", which was held Friday, night in the First Baptist Fellowship Hall.

The program included old-fashioned country songs and jokes. The stage scene depicted country decor with the use of baled straw and large sunflowers.

Those children receiving diplomas were:

Holly Andrews, J.J. Bookout, Chris Brooks, Cynamon Brownlow, Jeffery Carlson, Robin Clements, Roby Decker, Wendy Emerick, Todd Gentzel, Kristie Halford, Pennie Hargrove, John

McBride, David McCarter, Emily McClelland, Brandy Messer, Jayme Moore, Dax Owen, Trey Patterson, Gabe Pitman, Randy Robbins, Heather Rogers, Scan Smith, Edie White.

A special award was presented to J.J. Bookout for perfect attendance. Teachers of the graduates are Mrs. Calvin Jones and Mrs. W.E. Sparks.

The music teacher is Mrs. Fred Ruland and Mrs. Floyd Coker is director of the kindergarten.

Several mothers of the graduates were hostesses for the reception afterwards, serving the 200 in attendance.

Mid-Plains Pioneer Luncheon Scheduled

The Community Center will be the site of the Mid-Plains Pioneer Association annual reunion to be held Saturday.

All interested persons are urged to attend Pioneer Day festivities.

Registration will begin at 9:30 Saturday morning with members of Pioneer Study Club filling their traditional role as hostesses. Coffee and donuts will be served.

Highlights of the day will be the noon luncheon, during which the "Pioneer of the Year" will be named by KPAN Radio. Awards will also be presented to the oldest individuals present and to those who have traveled the greatest distance.

The Pioneer Association will provide the main course and beverages for the noon meal; guests are asked to bring side dishes and desserts.

The Association will convene Saturday morning for a brief business session. Currently serving as officers are Bill Brady, president; Vesta Mae Nunley, vice president; and Mary Fraser, secretary.

Some scientists estimate world population about 25,000 years ago was only about 3.34 million, about the number of people living in Chicago today.

Mrs. Lee Hosts Bridal Shower

A shower was held in honor of Christine Chapman of Gunnison, Colo. bride-elect of Kent Herring, in the home of Mrs. Rocky Lee Saturday evening.

Registering guests at a table appointed with yellow daisies was the sister-in-law of the prospective groom, Mrs. Marc Herring.

Greeting guests were Mrs. Lee, Miss Chapman, and Mrs. Dean Herring, mother of the prospective groom.

Yellow pineapple punch, cookies finger sandwiches, and nuts were served on a table laid with ecru cutwork linen with yellow floral napkins. Crystal and silver appointments were arranged around silk flowers in a gold bowl.

Flowers of blue, yellow, pink, and yellow votive candles circled the centerpiece. Those serving, registering, and receiving guests wore

Photograph Places In Kodak Contest

Kerri Vinton, seventh grader from Stanton Junior High School, recently received an engraved bronze plaque from the Eastman Kodak Company for her award-winning photograph of a radiator.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Vinton of 315 Star Street.

The 11"x14" color photo was one of only 54 in the United States to win the coveted Kodak Medallion of Excellence. There were seven winning students from the state of Texas.

Her photograph will be part of an Eastman Kodak showing which will be displayed in various cities in the United States in 1979-80.

She also won 1st place in her division at the Camp Fire Girls annual art show held recently in Hereford.

Beef Costs Rising, Pork Prices Lower

COLLEGE STATION — Beef prices have climbed to record highs, while pork prices are dipping to attractive levels. Gwendolyn Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist, reports.

"Panic buying has helped push beef prices up, but they may drop a bit if consumer demand softens as some industry spokesmen believe it will," she says. At the same time, consumers will see larger supplies of pork at lower prices throughout 1979 and into early 1980 due to increased pig production, she adds.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. This week's price-quality trends at Texas grocery markets are the following:

BEEF — Only scattered features are available, including chuck cuts, beef liver and ground beef which has higher prices due to short supplies of beef for grinding.

PORK — In buying pork, look for a high percent of lean and little fat — only enough to make flecks of fat in the lean. Choose pork that is firm and grayish-pink.

Features include end chops, whole loins, loin and rib halves and liver. Also expect values on center chops, fresh picnics and quarter-loin cut into chops.

POULTRY — Low prices appear on whole fryers and mixed fryer parts. Some stores feature turkeys at attractive prices, while others offer it at reasonable prices.

High-quality protein at budget prices is today's egg buy. Specials may appear in most markets soon.

FRESH VEGETABLES — Best buys at lowest prices are potatoes, dry onions, carrots, soft-shell squash, corn, cabbage, mustard, collards, turnips and greens.

In general, vegetable quantity and quality are up and prices are a bit lower.

FRESH FRUITS — Strawberries are more plentiful, but watch prices. Two pints may be more economical than one quart packages. Citrus prices are up as the season closes.

Prices are down a bit on cantaloupe, honeydew and watermelon, but the "really low prices" will come later. Pear prices are dropping, but watch quality.

DAR Chapter Plans To Honor Veterans

The Hereford Country Club was the site of a luncheon meeting of Los Ciboleros Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Saturday.

The meeting was opened by the Regent, Mrs. C.F. Newsom, leading to the DAR ritual.

Marsha Burchinal was welcomed as a new member by Mrs. T.J. Carter, membership committee chairman.

Mrs. J.R. Carroll read the President General's message on "A Tapestry of Service."

Mrs. Austin Rose Jr. gave the National Defense report. She briefly reviewed articles by Phyllis Schlafly on "Drafting Women? Women in Combat?"

by Senator Jesse Helms on "Prayer in Public Schools"; by Senator Barry Goldwater, "It's Later Than We Think"; and by Governor Meldrim Thomson Jr., "Tax Revolt and Personal Liberty."

A motion was passed to purchase two copies of the book, "Texas First Ladies Historic Costume Collection" to be placed in the Deaf Smith County Library and the Deaf Smith County Museum.

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A "happy face" which becomes distorted when wet has been unveiled here as part of an effort to help prevent costly water-stain damage on aluminum shipments.

Part of a new labeling and packaging program, the "happy face" is a moisture-alert label that detects potential moisture problems.

"The left eye of the face is printed with a special ink which becomes distorted or irregular or runs when wet," explained J.E. Ward, sheet and plate product manager for Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. "It signals the need for inspection."

The chapter voted to participate in the tea to be held May 27 at the E.B. Black House to celebrate its acceptance in the National Registry of Historic Homes.

Mrs. Tom Draper reported that she was helping to put flags on veterans graves in West Park Cemetery where 260 veterans are interred.

Mrs. LeRoy K. Williamson reported that plans to honor Vietnam veterans include a luncheon meeting at the Community Center on May 30 and a dinner at the American Legion Hall June 1. Those knowing of Vietnam veterans were urged to submit their names to the County Judge's office or to the Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. E.S. Brainard reported on the Continental Congress held in Washington, D.C., April 16-20, when she was installed as Texas State DAR Regent.

Other Los Ciboleros DAR members who told positions in the Texas State DAR are Mrs. C.F. Newsom, finance committee member; Sydney Brainard, chairman of pages; and Mrs. L.W. Norvell, chairman of State Lineage Research Committee.

Mrs. C.F. Newsom introduced guests, including Beth Clark, Mrs. J.G. Echols, member of State finance committee of Arredondo Chapter DAR of Amarillo; and Mrs. Tom Upchurch, new State Treasurer, also of Arredondo Chapter, DAR.

The State Regent, Los Ciboleros member, Mrs. E.S. Brainard, installed the incoming chapter officers. Those installed were Mrs. Jess Robinson, regent; Mrs. T.J. Carter, vice-regent; Mrs. V.O. Hennen, chaplain; Mrs. Michael Carr, recording secretary; Mrs. L.K. Williamson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A.B. Clark, registrar; Mrs. Stanford Knox, treasurer; Mrs. Merlin Kaul, historian; Bea Barrett, librarian; Mrs. A.L. Jordan, secretary; and Mrs. C.F. Newsom, parliamentarian.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mmes. C.H. Newsom, Joe Reinauer Sr. and A.C. Rose Jr. The flower arrangements used, as table decorations were furnished by Mrs. T.J. Carter from her garden. She has furnished flowers for the annual luncheon meeting for seven years.

Others present were Mmes. Mary Sue James, Curtis Trawek, D.D. Henslee, George Millard, J.R. Johnson, Charlie Holt, W.J. Gilliland, Charles Vasek, Ron Smith and Miss Mildred Elliott.

Reunion Planned

The 50th anniversary of the Hereford High School graduating class of 1929 will be observed Friday with a dinner at K-Bob's Steak House at 6:30 p.m.

On May 26, at the Hereford Pioneer Day luncheon, the group has planned to reserve a special table for classmates.

Other classmates and friends are invited to come by and visit at either or both of the planned events. Also expected to attend will be a few of the teachers at Hereford High School during 1929.

The local planning committee includes Ruby Thompson Carmichael, Ruby Wade Stevenson, Leatrus Walsler Clark and Georgia Sparkman Andrews.

of Kearney, Nebraska; Darlene Hanes, freshman secretarial studies major and daughter of Ellis Hanes of 214 Rosemary in Amarillo; and Dar Lee McPherson, junior of Rt. 1 in Lockney.

Requirements to try out for song girls include a 2.2 overall grade point average. (4.0 - A).

Various activities for the song girls during the year include performing to the music of the WTSU band during football and basketball games, performing and hosting for various clubs and organizations, and they have been the judges for a high school band directors ugly legs contest.

The girls expect to learn 10 to 15 routines for next year, according to Glenn.

Sponsors for the song girls are Dr. Gary Garner, professor of music, and his wife, Mariellen.

SNACKTIME FARE

- Sour Cream Coffee Cake
  - Tea or Coffee
  - SOUR CREAM COFFEE CAKE
- You may want to vary the spice, as we did.
- 1/2 cup butter
  - 1/2 cup warmed honey
  - 2 eggs
  - 1 and 1-3rd cups whole wheat pastry flour
  - 1 teaspoon soda
  - 1 cup sour cream
  - 1 teaspoon vanilla
  - 2 tablespoons honey

- 2 teaspoons cinnamon
  - 2 tablespoons whole wheat flour
  - 1/4 cup broken nuts
- Preheat oven to 350 degrees and grease a 9 by 9-inch cake pan. Cream butter, add honey and eggs, and beat well. Add flour, soda, sour cream and vanilla. Mix thoroughly. In a small bowl, combine honey, cinnamon, flour and nuts. Pour one-half the cake batter into prepared pan. Cover with half the honey-cinnamon mixture, then add remaining batter. Top with remaining honey-cinnamon mixture. Bake in preheated oven for about 45 minutes. Yield: 9 servings. From "Naturally Delicious Desserts and Snacks" by Faye Martin (Rodale).

SUPPER FOR TWO

- Fish
- Pickles
- Honey Apple
- Vegetables
- Toast
- Beverage

- #### HONEY APPLE
- One of my sister Rowena's "quick fancies."
- 1 tablespoon butter
  - 2 tablespoons honey
  - 1 very large red Delicious apple, pared and coarsely shredded (1 1/2 cups lightly packed)
- Dash each of ground mace and cardamom
- In an 8-inch skillet heat butter and honey, stirring, until very hot. Stir in apple and spice. Cook quickly and briefly, stirring often, just until the apple is very hot and slightly cooked—the shreds should not lose their shape. Serve with vanilla ice cream. Makes 2 servings.

Ann Landers

Initial Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Since my parents have been gone for many years and loved me very much, I don't want to raise any rags looking for dirt. However, the letter from "Throckmorton and Mehitabel" could have helped me a lot had it appeared 50 years sooner.

My parents gave me initials -- no name. The result was that I became introverted -- almost withdrawn -- knowing that everyone who entered my life would have some comment like: "What, no name? You MUST have a name."

While other kids wanted ball gloves and bikes, I would have settled for just having a name -- to be a REAL somebody.

Then came the legal forms -- credit cards, military papers, etc. Can you believe, they came back time and again: "Incomplete." "Sorry, we must have your complete name. No initials, please." "First NAME, middle initial. Please read the instructions."

Because of my parents' inability to foresee these complications, I suffered needlessly. Almost every day someone asks, "What is your REAL name? What do the initials stand for?"

So to all parents who are about to name a child, I ask you not to force them to go through life silently questioning, every time they look at you, "Why did you do this to me?" -- C.E. Of Rockford

DEAR ROCK: Great letter. Thanks on behalf of all the initialed nameless out there.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I applaud the confidential answer to "Full of Doubts." I think it spoke for many of us. (I believe you said, "Some people who are institutionalized are more rational than many individuals who are walking the streets.") I'd like to share my view of counseling and the "sanity" of some of us who've experienced it.

It's hard for me to believe the inability of people to speak to a trained, qualified therapist in order to help themselves sort out their lives. It's also hard to realize that some people think if you have had or are having counseling, you are either weak or a little cuckoo.

I first went for counseling eight years ago because I was very unhappy and I didn't believe my life had to be that way. (My goal is not a bed of roses but I would like fewer peaks and valleys -- more steadiness and self-confidence.) I believe I'm a great deal healthier than some of my realtives and friends who continue to blame overbearing (or weak) spouses, a boring job, demanding parents, ungrateful children and insensitive friends. Therapy has taught me that I am responsible for how I feel. It saved my sanity. -- Still Battling

DEAR BATTLE: You spoke to and for a great many people today. Thanks for an excellent message. Your last paragraph is a gem.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Yesterday I was visiting in the home of a friend. Her small child was sitting on her lap while we were enjoying a cup of hot tea. The youngster (age two) suddenly upset the tea cup and scalded herself on the arm. My friend immediately put butter on the burn -- said it was something she had learned from her grandmother. My mother always put a cold towel on our burns. What is the best thing to use? -- Scranton

Erxleben Signs Saints Contract

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - The New Orleans Saints have signed their No. 1 draft choice, kicker Russell Erxleben of the University of Texas, to a six-year, million-dollar contract.

The contract was signed Monday, but no terms were announced. However, reports indicated it may have made Erxleben the highest paid kicker in professional football history.

The contract - a series of six, one-year pacts - reportedly included a $300,000 signing bonus and a sliding salary that will average about $150,000 plus bonuses.

Erxleben, both a punter and a kicker, holds the NCAA field goal record with a 57-yarder against Rice in 1977. He made three field goals of more than 60 yards and 11 of more than 50 yards.

Asked if he thought his distance would be cut by the National Football League rules which forbid use of a kicking tee, Erxleben said it might be reduced about 10 yards a kick. But he said he didn't expect any trouble kicking off the artificial turf in the Superdome.

As a combination kicker, he scored 120 of 134 extra points attempted in college and 49 of 78 field goals. He punted 214 times for a 44.2-yard average, with a hang time on punts consistently more than five seconds.

Most NFL teams have a separate kicker and punter, but Erxleben said he plans to keep on kicking both ways.

He said coaches' resistance to having only one kicker might be because it would require two replacements if the kicker got hurt.

"But we don't get hurt that much," he said.

"The kicking game is as important as offense and defense," Coach Dick Nolan told reporters. "Russell is capable of handling the kicking and punting jobs for us. I think we've corrected and cured our problems in that area."

The Saints already have a kicker, Rich Szaro, and a punter, Tom Blanchard.

Erxleben said he'll try to take both their jobs. "I've got to get it from them."

Besides, he said, Szaro now wears a No. 15 jersey, and Erxleben, who was assigned No. 14 by the Saints, said: "This is the first time in my life I've had a different number than 15. I've been wearing 15 since high school, college and Little League."

According to the NFL's player salary survey from 1978, Oakland All-Pro Ray Guy, a No. 1 kicker in 1973, was paid $68,571 last season. The highest salary recorded for a kicker in the survey was $90,000 for an 11 year veteran, either Don Cockroft or Gary Yepremian.

Eddie Jones, executive vice president of the Saints, said he is "not sure Russell will be the highest paid kicker in the NFL but I'm sure he will be the highest scorer in the NFL."

Sonics' Near Win Cheers Team

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) - If ever a loss had a silver lining, it was Seattle's 99-97 defeat at the hands of the defending champion Washington Bullets in the opening game of the National Basketball Association championship series.

The Sonics erased an 18-point deficit in the final 9 1/2 minutes, running off a pair of 10-0 streaks and tying the score in the final minute, only to lose on two free throws by Larry Wright following a controversial call at the buzzer Sunday.

That comeback showed the character of our ballclub," said Sonics Coach Lenny Wilkens. "We don't give up."

And the Sonics are confident that with a few days' rest, they'll be able to apply that fourth-quarter pressure from the start of Thursday night's second game of the best-of-seven playoff finals.

"We played defense and put good pressure on them, and they didn't handle it well," observed Sonics forward John Johnson. "We'll start the next game with pressure. We've got the greyhounds to keep up the pressure the whole game."

"If we play our pressure defense, there is no way this team will beat us," predicted Paul Silas, the Sonics' 35-year-old reserve forward. "If we can come from 18 down in this one, things will be different if we play that way the whole game."

The Bullets say they don't fear Seattle's pressure tactics, despite the near disaster in the fourth quarter Sunday.

"It's much easier to press a team when you're 20 points down," forward Elvin Hayes said. "The team that is trailing doesn't have anything to lose so they say, 'Let's go all out and see if we can come back.' Meanwhile, the team with the lead just relaxes. A big lead sometimes is more dangerous than a two-point lead."

"We relished the thought that they would press us," Washington Coach Dick Motta said. "But in the late going, I thought we dedicated ourselves to the clock. We weren't playing Seattle. That's a good lesson."

Wilkens said the Sonics didn't apply full pressure throughout the opener because he was afraid his players were too tired after their charter flight from Seattle. After waiting for several hours at the airport, the plane took off at 12:15 a.m. Saturday, and the Sonics didn't check into their downtown Washington hotel until 11 a.m.

"I didn't want to tire my people out early in the game," Wilkens said. "When there is a lot of tension and emotion, it (a long flight) takes a lot out of a player. My players were out of synch. I thought the players needed a day off to recover from the flight."

Both clubs took a day off Monday to recover from Sunday's hectic series opener. Both had practices scheduled for this afternoon at the Capital Center.

The Sonics wasted no time putting Sunday's loss behind them. Guard Fred Brown said that only moments after that game ended, before newsmen were admitted to the Seattle locker room, the players already were looking ahead to Thursday.

"There wasn't any complaining about the referees," Brown said. "We discussed the game, the things that worked and the things that didn't, and what we could do on Thursday. We were into preparing for Thursday's game. Very few teams would have done that."

The Bullets, meanwhile, feel they must run - as they did in the first three periods Sunday - in order to take a 2-0 lead to Seattle for the third and fourth games of the series.

"We played too cautiously in that span," said Grevey, referring to Seattle's comeback. "We have to run and push the ball inside."

"They had tried to run with us early and they couldn't," forward Bobby Dandridge said. "But in the end we just stopped running. We stopped getting out on the break. We started walking the ball up and down the floor. We can't let that happen again."

Walton Surgery Listed Successful

SAN DIEGO (AP) - Bill Walton was listed in good condition at a Los Angeles hospital after ankle surgery Monday to remove bone spurs.

The San Diego Clippers' center has had trouble with bone spurs in recent years, but it was not immediately known whether the spurs removed at Daniel Freeman Memorial Hospital were new growths.

Surgery was performed by Dr. Tony Daley, head physician for the 1980 U.S. Olympic teams.

Dr. Daley said the surgery was the same procedure that Phil Ford, the National Basketball Association's Rookie of the Year, underwent prior to his senior year in college.

Walton will be ready for the 1979-80 season, Dr. Daley said. The 6-foot-11 former Portland Trailblazer star underwent surgery as part of a rehabilitation program, a club spokesman said.

The surgery may be a factor as the Clippers' try this week to arrange compensation with Portland, sources said.

A former advisor to Walton, Jack Scott, said over the weekend that Walton's physical condition renders the former All-American UCLA unfit to play basketball.

"He's playing basketball, but he can't jump," Scott said. "He's afraid and anxious that he won't be able to play again."

GOLF

STOCKHOLM (AP) - Severiano Ballesteros of Spain chipped in an eagle on the final hole to tie Howard Clark for the lead after the first round of a $12,000 dual challenge match.

Both men shot a 1-under-par 71 on the 6,711-yard Brottingholm course.

Winning Golfers

Jr. High Golfers Finish

Individual scores for Hereford players in the junior high district tournaments have been released by Coach Raymond Schroeder with Alan Wartes, Steve George and Tony Flores with the top score of 238, best for the local golfers as well as the entire district.

These three, along with Bob Foster and Kerry Beard made up the La Plata 'A' team which captured the district title with a total of 952.

Throughout the district tournaments there were eight local golfers that shot under 80 at least once which included Wartes, Flores, George, Foster, Charles McDowell, Beard, David Dudding and Gary Long.

Total scores for individuals after the tour which included three tournaments or 54 holes are Foster-244, Dudding-246, Rodney Neumeyer-248, McDowell-250, Beard-250, Frankie Garcia-255, Scot Simmons 256, Scot Skinner-261, Bob Templeton-262, Greg Gobel-273, Steve Fairweather-277, Mike Spangler-281, Stacy Evans-311, Eric Walterschied-340, Jim Layman-341 and for 36 holes, Long with a 159.

The four local teams will be involved in group play and a two-day tournament

Use Small Envelopes, Cards Before July 15

"Use up your small and undersized envelopes and cards before July 15," Postmaster Nolan Grady reminds customers. That is the date when the Postal Service's new size standards become effective.

The Hereford postmaster said that July 15, envelopes and cards measuring less than 3 1/2 inches high or 5 inches long will be returned to the sender if mailed.

Postmaster Grady said that because the envelopes and greeting card industries have had more than three years to prepare for the new standards, few retailers should still be selling undersized pieces.

"Many consumers, however, are likely to still have smaller envelopes and cards in their supply of stationery," Grady said.

The regulations also prohibit flimsy cards. In the future they must be at least seven-thousandths (.007) of an inch thick. An official postal card, for instance, has a thickness of nine-thousandths of an inch.

Undersized pieces and flimsy cards are being banned because they can become trapped in other mail, tear and jam mail processing machinery. As a result, the letters of others can also be damaged.

Waldrop Named To SHPT Commission

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) Sam Waldrop, was named chairman of the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission by Gov. Bill Clements Monday.

Waldrop, an Abilene furniture store owner, was named to the commission last October 24

"The standards also affect oversized and odd-shaped pieces of mail," Grady said. For first-class mail weighing one ounce or less, there will be a surcharge of 7 cents for pieces more than 6 1/8 inches high or 11 1/2 inches long.

For more information, the postmaster suggest customers check with a post office window clerk.

by former Governor Dolph Briscoe.

Clements said Ray Barnhart, former Texas Republic chairman and his recent commission appointee, requested not to be considered for the chairmanship.

BJM Cuts Ribbon in Hereford

BJM, which sells and services equipment for cattle feeding operations, has opened its new facility on E. Highway 60. A ribbon-cutting ceremony was held Friday with the Hustlers of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce extending a formal welcome to the new business. Holding the scissors are Don Chesser, ...

Tigers Erupt For 13 Hits To Douse Yanks, 3-1

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Even Rod Guidry has his off-days.

And it was one of those days Monday night against the Detroit Tigers.

"My control was too good - I kept hitting their bats," joked the New York Yankee ace after giving up a career-high 13 hits and losing a 3-1 decision to the Tigers.

"They were just hitting the ball. I thought I threw well," added the Cy Young Award winner who had never before given up more than 10 hits in a game. "I kept the ball in play and they just got a few hits that fell in. And that's the name of the game."

While the Tiger hits were falling in, the same couldn't be said for the Yankees. Detroit's winning pitcher, Jack Billingham, could thank a splendid defense for that.

"If I was a spectator, I would have loved to have seen this game," said Billingham, who pitched an eight-hitter. "There were some great plays behind me and double plays really helped me out."

In other American League action, the Minnesota Twins edged the Texas Rangers 7-6; the Seattle Mariners walloped the Kansas City Royals 12-7 and the Toronto Blue Jays turned back the Cleveland Indians 8-1.

The last time that Guidry faced the Tigers, just last Wednesday as a matter of fact, the left-hander put on a 13-strikeout performance while whipping Detroit 6-2.

Twins 7, Rangers 6
Hosken Powell's RBI double capped a three-run rally in the ninth inning to lead Minnesota over Texas. Mike Marshall gained his 11th save of the young season, preserving the victory for Pete Redfern, 2-0, with a ninth-inning appearance. Sparky Lyle, 3-3, who attempted to stop the Minnesota rally in the ninth, was the loser.

Mariners 12, Royals 7
Willie Horton smashed a three-run homer and Dan Meyer collected a single and two doubles, powering Seattle over Kansas City. Glenn Abbott, who hadn't beaten the Royals since July 1976, got roughed up for four runs in the first but, with seventh-inning relief help from Shane Rawley, improved his record to 2-5 behind the 15-hit Mariner attack. Horton's 197th career homer and ninth of this season capped a five-run outburst in the third against Rich Gale, 3-3, giving the Mariners a 5-4 lead they never lost.

Blue Jays 8, Indians 1
Rick Bosetti drove in two runs with a double to key a five-run outburst in the fourth inning, leading Toronto over Cleveland. Dave Lemanczyk, 4-2, matched his victory output for 1978 when he had a 4-14 record. Twenty-year-old Dan Ainge collected three hits in four at-bats, scored three runs and added one RBI in his first major league appearance for Toronto.

It was a strange feeling for Nancy Lopez. Here she was approaching the finish of another golf tournament and not knowing whether she wanted to win or not.

"I was almost pulling for Mickey," confessed the raven-haired darling of the ladies' tour. "She is such a nice person. She plays the game so beautifully. Once I was saying to myself, 'If I can't win, I hope Mickey does.'"

It was raw drama in the final round of the $100,000 Ladies' PGA Classic in Clifton, N.J. - the 22-year-old Lopez going head-to-head with the tall Texas veteran, Mickey Wright, twice her age, acclaimed the best woman player of all time.

The old and the new. Following a fictional script, the issue came down to this pair on the second hole of a sudden death playoff - Nancy eight feet from the cup, Mickey a foot closer. Nancy sank, Mickey missed - and the huge crowd erupted into wild rejoicing.

Nancy was inwardly relieved, with a twinge of regret.

"Mickey always has been something special to me," Nancy said during a stopover Monday in New York. "I had read of all her accomplishments (82 tournament victories, four PGA crowns, four U.S. Opens). I knew what a great golfer she had been."

"She hadn't won a tour tournament in six years. She came out in tennis sneakers instead of cleated shoes because of a foot problem. That, in itself, was a great handicap."

"She amazed me. She never referred to a yardage chart. She walked up to the ball, looked toward the pin, pulled a club and hit. The ball arched toward the pin every time. I turned to my caddie and said, 'I think I'll get Mickey to caddie for me from now on.'"

It was Nancy's fourth tour victory of the year, boosting her prize money to $103,475. She appears certain to break the record $189,813 she set as a part-time rookie last year, captivating the public with five victories in a row.

"I would like to be the first to go over $200,000," she said. "I think, with this start, it is possible."

She will pass up the Corning N.Y. Classic this week, returning to Harrisburg, Pa., to rejoin her husband of 4 1/2 months, TV commentator Tim Melton.

"When I was playing the final hole Sunday, I felt myself gripped with tension," she said. "I was dripping with perspiration. My mouth was dry. I wondered if I could make it."

Nancy said, however, that she feels more pressure outside the restraining ropes than inside.

Protests Marring Indy Classic

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - The Indianapolis 500, regarded as the showcase of the U.S. Auto Club's schedule for years, has turned into a nightmare for the organization as controversy overshadows the question of who will win Sunday's $1 million race.

Jerry Karl, one of the drivers bumped from the field filed a protest over the time trials Monday. He said he and others in racing have "become victims of USAC's incompetence in enforcing its rules."

The denial of seven protests involving decisions made during the time trials was announced Monday by chief steward Tom Binford following a day of hearings on the protests.

Most of the protests involved efforts by USAC to enforce its regulations restricting engine power and claims that those regulations were changed last Sunday in the middle of the time trials, which determine the 33-car field.

Binford, referee Art Meyers, USAC technical director Jack

Beckley and race registrar Bob Cassaday held a closed-door hearing on the protests. They rejected claims that the regulations were changed since the track opened this month.

Binford said a notice stating competitors could qualify with at least an opening of 1.47 inches in an exhaust pipe that helps limit the amount of boost an engine receives was a warning to prevent further attempts to violate the rules and not a new standard.

The protestors, who included drivers Larry Cannon, Al Loquasto and Spike Gehlhansen, disagreed.

"Everything we told them was twisted to hit their fancy," said Loquasto, who was bumped from the field and was asking for a chance to requalify claiming a change in specifications.

"I'm talking to my lawyer. It's too bad that people running the biggest race in the world who are intelligent can make such a bad call. They had their minds made up about this before the meeting even began."

Karl also indicated he was thinking about legal action to get him in the race.

Several of the persons, including Karl and Loquasto, involved in the dispute are affiliated with the rival Championship Auto Racing Teams. However, others involved with USAC have expressed their unhappiness over the situation and said they might leave the organization.

Schmidt Belts 15th Homer To Pace Phillies

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

The 1979 stories of Bob Horner and Mike Schmidt are a study in contrasts. But Monday night, the slugging third basemen were headed in the same direction - around the bases.

Horner's three-run homer paced Atlanta to a 7-5 victory over Houston while Schmidt's 15th home run of the season, tops in the major leagues, led Philadelphia to a 5-3 triumph over St. Louis.

In other National League games, San Diego edged Los Angeles 3-2 and Pittsburgh topped Montreal 4-2.

Against Houston, Horner's decisive blow followed a double by Gary Matthews and a throwing error by Enos Cabell on Jeff Burroughs' grounder. It came off reliever Bo McLaughlin, 1-2, and made a winner of Phil Niekro, 5-6.

Garv Matthews also homered for Atlanta and Terry Puhl connected for Houston.

Phillies 5, Cardinals 3

While Horner has had a spring he wouldn't mind forgetting, Schmidt is off to a memorable start. The Phillies star is batting .293 and has knocked in 34 runs. Nine times he's had the game-winning hit. "Pete Rose is rubbing off on me," said Schmidt, crediting Philadelphia's off-season free-agent acquisition for improving his own attitude. "He doesn't need me," said the Phillies first baseman. "God gave him a gift, power, and he's using it."

He used it in the sixth, powering a leadoff homer off John Denny, 3-3, to put the Phils ahead. St. Louis had reached Philadelphia starter Steve Carlton, 5-5, for a 3-0 lead after three innings but the veteran left-hander gave up just two hits the rest of the way.

Padres 3, Dodgers 2
Eric Rasmussen won his first game of the season after losing four by firing a five-hitter and outdueling Andy Messersmith, who tossed a six-hitter. San Diego won the game on Kurt Bevacqua's one-out RBI single in the ninth.

That's the best I've seen him pitch," said the Dodgers' but McMullen shrugs that off.

"You go with your instinct, nothing else," he said. "Houston is a good young team and the Astrodome is a great facility. Baseball's not a science, you know. Looking back, 1975 was the best time to buy into the New York Yankees. But I can tell you the financial statement then was awful."

Now as part of the Astros purchase agreement, McMullen must sell the less than 6 percent of Yankee stock which he owns. His 9-year-old son isn't thrilled

"He doesn't understand why I'm doing this," McMullen said. "He's been screaming at me. He said, 'Two points in the Yankees is worth all the Astros.'"

It may not be when the new bosses get through.

New Houston Astros Owner Optimistic

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

The principal owners of the Texas Rangers and Houston Astros spent the weekend in New York, and although they weren't together, it seemed as if they were clearly operating on the same wave length.

Brad Corbett, who runs the Rangers, handed out some advice and if you didn't know better, you'd swear John J. McMullen, who's just purchased a large-sized piece of the Astros, was listening.

Properly attired in his academic robes, Corbett delivered the graduation address at the 94th commencement of Wagner College on suburban Staten Island. Just across the upper bay, where the Statue of Liberty stands, on the Manhattan side of the water, McMullen looked after the affairs of his marine engineering and naval architectural firm, located in

Corbett, who also is chairman of the board of Robintech, Inc., a company involved in the manufacture of plastic pipes, first made a confession to Wagner's new graduates. And they simply loved it.

"I was a 'C' student here in the Class of '60," he announced, a touch of pride in his voice. The Class of '79 loudly applauded that disclosure.

Obviously overlooking his less-than-awesome academic record and preferring to consider his accomplishments in plastic pipe and baseball, Wagner invited Corbett back to supply some wisdom to this year's class.

In essence, Corbett's address was to advise Wagner's Class of '79 to take a chance with life now and then in order to find happiness and success. And that's exactly what McMullen has done in the transaction in which he and attorney David LeFevre acquired the Astros.

McMullen first got into baseball in 1975 when he purchased stock and became a limited partner in the New York Yankees. The club was a poor relation in New York at the time, occupying tenant status at Shea Stadium while Yankee Stadium was being rebuilt.

"I was a baseball fan," said McMullen. "That was the appeal. If you work hard, you might as well have some fun, too. But it was a questionable financial investment at that point." That kind of describes the Astros' current status, too.

DENVER (AP) - Svein Walvik of Texas-El Paso has been named Western Athletic Conference track athlete of the week after tying his own WAC discus record in a Tri-Conference meet in Austin, Texas, last week.

Walvik, a senior from Stabekk, Norway, hurled the discus 211 feet 4 inches in last Friday's competition, meeting the WAC mark he set a year earlier on the same field.

Walvik's throw also was the best this year by a collegiate thrower. He was NCAA discus champion as a sophomore, but lost the title last year.

Other nominees were Kipsubi Koskie, New Mexico, who ran the fastest 1,500 meters in the WAC this year, winning in the Tri-Conference meet at 3:0.50.

David Russell, San Diego State, who ran his lifetime best in the meet, a 20:59 wind-aided 200 meters.

Rich Harris, Colorado State, who ran a seasonal best in the 1,500 meters in Austin last week. He finished third in 3:41.90, the second best time in the WAC this year.

James Kamau, Wyoming, who improved on his 10,000 meter best by going 30:04.24 last week at the Tri-Conference meet.

HOUSTON (AP) - The National Collegiate Athletic Association has notified University of Houston quarterback Darrell Shepard he will be ineligible to participate in any post season bowl games for the rest of his college career at UH.

Shepard and UH officials had appealed for reinstatement of his eligibility for post season games. Houston spent the 1977 season on probation after the NCAA accused the Cougars of recruiting violations involving Shepard and his purchase of a car.

"I think they made the wrong decision," UH Athletic Director Harry Fouke said. "He is eligible to play 33 of the 36 possible games, most of them against the closest rivals, but he will not be able to participate in bowl games."

"I don't think there's much we can do about it right now."

The NCAA letter said Shepard could transfer to another school and become immediately eligible. However, to transfer to another Southwest Conference school, Shepard would have to get unanimous approval of the other eight SWC schools.

Shepard was red-shirted his freshman year with the Cougars and is eligible this fall for participation in the regular season. But if the Cougars go to a Bowl game, Shepard would have to stay behind.

The NCAA has sanction over all bowl games.

RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) - When it came to the final moments of his nine years as coach and general manager of the Cleveland Cavaliers, Bill Fitch unashamedly shed tears.

Fitch, the 46-year-old quip-master and admitted basketball junkie, asked for and was given his release from the final two years of his current contract with the National Basketball Association team.

Sometimes the actors need a new stage. Fitch said, his voice choking with emotion as he and "Nick" Mireli, team president and majority owner, made the announcement Monday.
