

DOE Official: Feds Allow Violations

Geyer Hired at High School

Trustees Approve Principal Choices

Complaints of not promoting within the school system and the failure to hire a Mexican-American made normally routine appointments to principalships somewhat controversial in a special meeting of the Hereford Independent School District board Thursday night.

The board, despite the criticisms, approved Ronald Scott Geyer, of Dallas, as the new principal at Hereford High School, and Allen Brown, of Hereford, at La Plata Junior High. Both men had been recommended to the board by Superintendent Harrell Holder.

Trustees Sallie Strain, Mack Tubb, James Gentry and Clark Andrews voted in favor of Geyer. Paul Ramirez voted "no" to the choice. Absent were Jim Arney and David Hutchins, who arrived at the meeting later.

"I vote in favor of Allen Brown as La Plata principal, but for the high school principalship, I vote against the recommendation," said Ramirez, incensed over the fact high school assistant principal Alex Glass was not recommended by Holder.

"I have visited with people who think this way, and I strongly believe in promotion within the system. I was informed that Mr. Glass was capable. My feeling is that a man who has worked hard within the system and tried for advancement, it's his reward within the system to be promoted," Ramirez said.

Tubb said the board, when it hired Holder, put its trust in any recommendations the superintendent would make.

"This board has hired a superintendent and delegated certain authority to that superintendent to select individuals to recommend to this board for employment. Regardless of what my feelings might be one way or another, I don't have the expertise to decide a recommendation isn't good," Tubb said.

"It's our policy that unless we as board members are aware of some compelling reason that we should not accept the recommendation, then we should accept the recommendation."

Gentry said the selection of Geyer, who is assistant principal at Highland Park High School in Dallas, "is in the best interest of the children in our school district."

The board unanimously approved the selection of Brown, Stanton Junior High assistant principal, as La Plata's top administrator.

After the votes, Oralia Guzman Gamez, one of approximately 30 spectators at the meeting, questioned Holder's recruiting efforts to find potential Mexican-American principals.

Mrs. Gamez, who often has been outspoken against the school district, last month presented trustees with a petition urging them to consider HISD bilingual coordinator Louis Montano or third-grade teacher John Dominguez for the principalships.

"When I first spoke to Mr. Holder, he said he was going to advertise it statewide," Mrs. Gamez said Thursday. "I would like to know what kind of action was taken to hire a Mexican-American."

Holder told Mrs. Gamez that in his interviews with prospective administrators, he looked for men who were able to work with minority students.

"I also wanted someone who would have effective staff relationships, somebody that could maintain discipline within the schools and someone who is a

Amendment Would Provide Pay Raises for Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP) - Salaries for members of Congress and top-level federal employees could rise 7 percent if a little-noticed amendment, which has already won committee approval, becomes law.

But one member of the committee that passed the bill last Tuesday says he plans to fight the measure when the full House takes it up next week.

Rep. George M. O'Brien, R-Ill., who said he first learned of the change when a friend told him about it at a reception Wednesday, said the amendment is "not a proper way to deal with a pay increase. If we feel we are entitled to an increase in our pay, we should so state."

The amendment, which passed the House Appropriations Committee on a voice vote, is expected to be taken up by the full House as part of an overall appropriations bill.

A 7 percent increase would raise a congressman's salary from $57,500 a year to $61,525.

An appropriations committee staff member confirmed the amendment could mean members of Congress, U.S. judges and other federal workers making more than $47,500 a year could receive a hike of up to 7 percent.

The source, who declined to be identified, said the amendment does not guarantee the increase but only clears the way for such action.

"It doesn't give them a 7 percent raise. It just entitles them," said the staff member, who added, "I think the real significance of the thing is it would be limited to 7 percent."

Asked if the amendment would affect members of Congress, the source replied, "It would, sure, since their pay was frozen last year."

Here's the way the amendment would work, according to the committee source and staff members in O'Brien's office:

Each year, President Carter is required to make adjustments in federal pay levels to keep those salaries on a par with private salaries and to offset some of the effects of inflation.

Last year, he ordered a 5.5 percent raise but Congress exempted itself and all federal employees making more than $47,500 a year.

The amendment states, in somewhat convoluted English, that no funds from the bill can be used to increase the pay of these top-level officials by more than 7 percent over what they were making on Sept. 30, 1978.

Thus if Carter orders another 5.5 percent hike this fall, the top-level

Strong Winds Accompany Thunderstorms

Rainfall amounts in the Hereford area totaled, for the most part, less than a tenth of an inch Thursday night and early today, but strong winds accompanied the two thunderstorms and did some damage south of the city.

Sam Mazurek, who lives 6 1/2 miles south of town on the Dimmitt Highway, reported that strong winds shortly after midnight blew over a barn and toppled high-line poles in the area.

Deaf Smith Rural Electric Cooperative employees worked this morning to replace six electric poles which had been blown over in Deaf Smith and Parmer counties.

"It was just strong winds. We had a couple of good blasts—one around 10 o'clock and another around midnight," REC manager James Hull said. "We haven't replaced the poles yet, but we've got electricity restored."

Hereford received a tenth of an inch, according to KPAN Radio Station. The total was one of the largest amounts in the county. In the last two weeks, the city has received 3.05 inches, although totals up to eight inches were reported in the

Clements Whittles State Spending Bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements says he's having a hard time trimming the $20.7 billion state spending bill passed by the 66th Legislature but he's making headway.

"I wouldn't be surprised if I end up with as much as $200 million or $300 million," Clements said at a news conference Thursday. "I'm going to do as much as possible."

"It's not a simple task. The legislators made it as difficult as possible. By deliberate intent they covered up as much as they could. It's like hunting Easter eggs."

Clements, who had said earlier he wanted to give taxpayers $1 billion back in tax relief, said he will make up his mind on the 1980-81 state spending bill some time next week. June 17 is the deadline for him to approve or veto bills and resolutions approved by the Legislature.

Clements' proposed budget for 1980-81 state's business year was only $19.8 billion, compared with 1978-79 spending of about $17 billion.

The governor said he had not decided yet on several controversial bills sent him by the 181 legislators for final action.

They included: Reorganization of the State Board of Control. "I'm looking at this closely but I won't want to reshuffle something just for the sake of reshuffling," he said.

"We have been trying to find out what the problems are with the old Board of Control and so far we have not uncovered anything of any significance," Clements noted that he had appointed Bob Dedman, Dallas, as chairman of the board "and I think he will bring an entire new view to the Board of Control."

Grocery Prices Should Show Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) - Consumers buffeted by rising costs may finally be getting a break with one key item on the pocketbook - the grocery store.

Two government departments had encouraging news Thursday. The Agriculture Department said soaring retail meat prices are finally leveling off and should actually decline in coming months. Labor officials say wholesale food prices already are dropping.

About 2 billion pounds more pork, chicken and turkey on the market as a substitute for almost 1 million pounds less beef than a year ago should bring the slight decline in retail meat prices, the Agriculture Department said.

Consumers with relatively smaller amounts of cash to spend also should dampen foodstore price hikes through the rest of the year, the department said.

The Labor Department reported that last month's decline in wholesale food prices was the biggest in more than three years. The monthly report said food prices declined 1.3 percent in May, led by a 6.9 percent decline in the price of beef and veal.

The wholesale decline is "bound to have some effect at the retail level," said John Early, chief of the Labor Department's division of industrial prices.

And President Carter, speaking at a labor union convention Thursday, had an upbeat forecast about inflation in general: "It can be controlled if we are determined, patient, persistent and fiscally responsible," he said.

The Agriculture Department's report on meat prices noted that a "slowing in the rate of growth in consumers' disposable income will moderate retail prices during the second half of 1979."

It said "retail beef prices should slow their rate of increase during the third quarter...and decline seasonally during the fall."

Nonetheless, charts accompanying the report showed that department economists expect consumers to buy more meat between now and December than they have in the last three years.

The charts predict Americans will consume an average of 36.5 pounds of beef, lamb, pork and veal and 15.7 pounds of chicken and other poultry per person in the third quarter of the year, followed by 39 pounds per person of red meat and

Coffee Getting Steep Again

By FLOYD NORRIS
AP Business Writer

America's love affair with coffee, the nation's most popular hot beverage, is rapidly getting more expensive with the latest price increases likely to show up on grocery shelves within a month.

Major coffee roasters Thursday announced they are raising the wholesale price of ground coffee by 25 cents a pound to $2.83.

That's the second increase in five weeks. The first was a 15-cent boost. Wholesale coffee prices are now 16.5 percent higher than they were May 1.

Consumption of coffee dropped sharply as prices climbed to record heights in 1977. Americans began drinking more coffee last year as prices dropped, but the new round of increases threatens to once again force coffee drinkers to pass up that second cup. While the latest increases likely will be passed along to consumers in some form, they could be hidden, in higher prices for other food items since many supermarkets offer coffee as a loss-leader to attract customers.

Proctor & Gamble, the maker of the nation's best-selling brand of ground coffee, kicked off the latest round of price increases. It was quickly followed by Hills Brothers, MJB and Coca Cola, which makes Butternut and Maryland Club coffees.

The only major holdout by today was General Foods, which is still the nation's largest roaster although its Maxwell House brand has slipped, behind Folgers as the nation's most-popular coffee.

Proctor & Gamble said the increase was "made necessary by increases in green coffee prices, which have been rising since mid-February."

The latest increases follow two straight years of price cuts in coffee, which came after the wholesale price of coffee soared to $4.46 a pound in March 1977.

The major reason coffee prices reached those highs was a "killer frost" that destroyed millions of coffee trees in southern Brazil in 1975. Once again a Brazilian frost is getting much of the blame for higher prices.

The new frost struck Brazil last week, sending green coffee prices soaring on commodity exchanges even though the frost will affect next year's crop and have little, if any, impact on the crop

DALLAS (AP) - A Department of Energy official says one reason gasoline prices are so high is that major oil companies routinely violate oil pricing laws - and the government allows it by failing to enforce the laws.

"Billions of dollars are involved - I don't know how many," in illegal price gouging eventually paid at the gasoline pump, DOE lawyer Joseph D. McNeff said Thursday.

However, McNeff said he has been denied access to the files needed to prove his case.

"The key files are locked up by the FBI, the Justice Department and the DOE," said the maverick DOE lawyer, who told a U.S. House subcommittee last week he could get a conviction against major oil companies for conspiracy and accused "individuals in the government" of collusion.

He said the oil companies sell cheaper, government-regulated "old oil" as more expensive non-regulated "new oil," using a middleman who switches invoices after the oil leaves the field on its way to the refinery, McNeff said.

Oil company officials were not immediately available for comment.

Oil already in production at the time of the 1973 Arab embargo is subject to price controls, while the price of oil discovered afterward is not controlled.

McNeff outlined his circumstantial case in an interview with The Associated Press, repeating his contention that if he were a federal prosecutor he could "present enough direct and circumstantial evidence to convict some major oil companies of conspiracy and certain individuals in government of collusion."

He declined to name any of the government officials.

McNeff, who was the DOE's criminal case investigator in Houston until his transfer last year to Dallas, said the FBI continually refused to prosecute alleged oil-pricing fraud cases, once seized incriminating files from DOE offices, and did not assign enough agents to work the cases brewing in Houston.

"They had one permanent agent and five temporary agents in Houston, and that's the hotspot," McNeff said.

"When I showed former Houston FBI chief Dana Caro our best case was one against Conoco he was outraged," apparently by the implication that the Justice Department was not prosecuting the cases more vigorously.

However, Caro said earlier that he interviewed McNeff at the request of the DOE attorney and found no evidence to substantiate the allegations. He said McNeff also appeared before a federal grand jury in Houston, but no indictments were returned.

McNeff said that shortly after his talk with Caro, "FBI agents came in and removed those filing cabinets containing the Conoco file and now even congressional investigators cannot get to them."

Conoco later pleaded no contest in the case.

McNeff also claims the Justice Department prevented a witness - whom he contends had information about a "slush fund" set up to funnel money from oil resellers to certain DOE officials - from testifying last week before the House subcommittee on energy and power.

McNeff, a former Dallas County prosecutor, said he was transferred to Dallas and assigned only civil cases after he fed information to congressional investigators.

"I said the unidentified government officials involved in collusion with the oil companies had been around a long time."

"It's the same people in control, doing a bad job at the beginning, who have been consistently promoted by Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger and Deputy Secretary John F. O'Leary even though they failed to bring any prosecution of the massive fraud."

McNeff contends the number of oil resellers now doing business in Texas - compared with the number before the

Country Show Scheduled Tonight At High School

The Hereford Volunteer Fire Department's country-music concert has been moved from Whiteface Stadium to the high school auditorium because of threatening weather. It was announced this morning by Fire Marshal Jay Spain.

Tickets for the fund-raising concert, "The Golden Years of Country Music," will be sold at the door for $3 (chair seats) and $2 (general admission).

Proceeds will be used to purchase a $6,000 rescue tool.

Natural Gas Talks With Mexico Drag

WASHINGTON (AP) - Negotiations with Mexico over natural gas sales are proceeding slowly, but have not stalled, State Department officials said Thursday. The talks have been "educational," delving into the background of each country's policy, one official said. But negotiators have yet to bargain directly on the touchy problem of natural gas pricing.

President Carter and President Jose Lopez Portillo agreed to resume the talks after Carter's visit to Mexico early this year. Two sessions have been held; the third has yet to be scheduled.

Carter and Lopez Portillo, meanwhile, have decided to postpone their own meeting from sometime in mid-summer to late September, when the Mexican leader is scheduled to address the United States.

State Department officials said there was no link between the slow pace of the gas negotiations and the meeting's postponement.

MX Ballistic Missile To Be Developed

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter has approved fullscale development of a big new mobile MX intercontinental ballistic missile designed to elude any Soviet surprise attack, according to administration sources.

Carter was expected to announce his decision soon, probably today, a week before traveling to Vienna to sign the new SALT II nuclear arms control agreement with the Soviet Union.

The sources, who declined to be identified, said Carter had decided to base the new 190,000-pound MX missile in what was called a "mobile land system" involving a pattern of some 200 missiles scattered among an estimated 8,000 to 9,000 shelters, or "hardened" launch points.

They said Carter was not prepared to announce the precise basing mode, which has been the subject of intense debate within the administration, until he has had a chance to discuss the deployment plan with officials in four Western states, where the missiles would be spread over government-owned land in sparsely settled areas.

Guerrillas Hold 25

Nicaraguan Towns

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) - The Sandinista guerrillas claimed they held 25 towns and villages across Nicaragua today as their new offensive against President Anastasio Somoza escalated.

The shooting was accompanied by a war of words between Somoza and eight other Latin American governments.

The fighting cut highway travel and telephone communications between Managua and much of the rest of the country. The rebel Radio Sandino said a noose of violence was tightening around the capital and its 500,000 people. The broadcast said street warfare would erupt soon.

Despite an 8 p.m. to 4 a.m. curfew, bands of armed young people roamed the streets during the night. During the day the city was virtually paralyzed by a five-day-old general strike called by the Sandinistas.

The national stadium was converted into an induction center for reservists to reinforce the 13,000-man national guard, and armored vehicles cordoned off the military base in which the 53-year-old president has his headquarters bunker.

Pope Addresses

Crowd of 500,000

NOWY TARG, Poland (AP) - Pope John Paul II returned to his faithful Polish highlanders today for a morning Mass on a vast open field and was greeted by what appeared to be the largest crowd of his homecoming pilgrimage.

"Thou art Peter," sang a crowd that organizers of the Mass estimated to number at least 500,000. Hundreds more streamed toward the Mass in lines stretching miles over nearby hills and through woods.

The pope's return to the foothills of Poland's Tatra Mountains had been warmly anticipated by the highlanders, who live in one of this communist but predominantly Catholic country's most devout areas.

The pope hiked and skied in their mountains before his election as pontiff and most towns in the area feel close ties to the outdoors-loving former archbishop of Krakow.

The pope arrived in a blue and white Polish airline helicopter, making a half-hour flight from Krakow over rolling green pastures and woods.

Park Evidence Of Amin

PAKUBA, Uganda (AP) - Once one of Africa's great wildlife preserves, Kabalega Falls National Park in northwest Uganda, seems virtually empty of animals, its herds of elephants, buffalo and hippopotamuses destroyed by Idi Amin's troops.

In a three-day trek across the rolling plains of the former Murchison Falls National Park, a reporter saw one giraffe, one buffalo and several clusters of gazelles.

Less than a decade ago, zoologists estimated that the 1,500-square-mile park contained 30,000 buffalo, 14,000 elephants, 13,000 hippopotamuses, 600 crocodiles and at least a dozen rare white rhinoceroses transported into the area to save them from poachers.

The park includes a spectacular waterfall where the Victoria Nile thunders through a rocky gap 20 feet wide and plunges 127 feet into a pool. Both the falls and the park were named after Sir Roderick Murchison, president of Britain's Royal Geographic Society in 1864 when a European explorer discovered the falls.

Amin changed the names after his coup in 1971. As his turbulent, murderous rule unfolded, the number of foreign visitors to Uganda dropped from 80,000 a year to nearly none and the $17.5-million-a-year tourist industry collapsed.

Villagers living in the park said Amin's soldiers began invading Kabalega, the country's best wildlife preserve, to kill elephants and sell the ivory tusks across the border in Zaire.

After Amin lost Kampala, the capital, to an invasion force of Tanzanians and Uganda exiles on April 11, thousands of his troops fled through the park.

"They came in convoys of big trucks," said Pastor Lolili, a 25-year-old school teacher. "They shot the animals with machien guns, loaded the trucks with the carcasses and drove to the West Nile."

Lolili and other villagers said the soldiers wanted the meat to feed themselves and their families in West Nile, where food is chronically scarce.

The troops also sacked the two tourist lodges in the park, at Pakuba and Paraa. An official in the nearby town of Pakwach said a convoy of 20 trucks went to the lodges at the end of April and took away every movable item of value.

The furniture is gone. Floors are covered with broken glass.

Doors have been splintered and the electrical wiring ripped from walls.

The shooting could have driven some of the animals into hiding, and they should emerge later. But it will probably be many years before the park is again a place where visitors can observe African wildlife at close quarters.

One resident commented: "The lodges can be fixed up in a matter of weeks, and it will take a few years to restore the economy of Uganda. But it will be decades before the animals are back as they once were. "This empty park may prove to be among the longest lasting legacies of Idi Amin."

Committee To Study State Schools

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements announced the appointment Thursday of a 22-member citizen advisory committee to study the state's public elementary and secondary education system.

"This (public education) will undoubtedly be the priority item in the 1981 legislative session," Clements told his weekly news conference.

The committee will issue a report to the 1981 Legislature.

"They will take a hard look at every aspect of the elementary and secondary education facilities, not only the system within schools but also the Texas Education Agency and the State Board of Education," he said.

Dr. Willis M. Tate, SMU chancellor emeritus, will be chairman, Clements said.

Other members include the governor's wife, Rita Clements; Franklin Bass, Texas Association of School Boards, president; Joe Kelly Butler, State Board of Education chairman; Thomas J. Cleaver, education division director of the University of Texas at San Antonio; Cecil Drachenberg, Alvin assistant school superintendent; U.S. District Judge Reynaldo Garza of Brownsville; Gerry Gilmore of the Houston education service center; Johnnie Marie Grimes of Dallas; and Superintendent Calvin Gross of Alamo Heights schools.

Also, Eldon M. Knox of Coleman; H.B. Zachry Jr. of San Antonio; Tiny S. Hawn of Port Aransas; June Hyer of LBJ School of Public Affairs in Austin; Chandler Lindsley of Dallas;

Arnulfo L. Oliveira, Pan American University president; Virginia Allred Stacey, past president of Texas State Teachers Association; Betty Tidwell, Trinity teacher;

Floyd Trimble, Association of Texas Educators president; Superintendent Forrest E. Watson of Hurst-Euless-Bedford schools; Superintendent Linus Wright of Dallas schools; and Sam Young, member of the College Coordinating Board.

The Lighter Side

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) - David Turosak is so certain a piece of the Skylab space station will fall next to his Richmond home that he's selling tickets to anyone who wants to come and watch.

The $5 tickets pay for a chair from which to observe the action and all the beer you can drink. Spectators have to bring their own sunglasses, though. Turosak says "the color will be intense."

Turosak, 23, dreamed Skylab will come flaming down to earth on July 3 and that a piece of it "the size of a Volkswagen" will fall next door to his Grove Avenue home.

Scientists expect the Skylab in orbit since 1973, to fall between June 27 and July 21, with a 50-50 chance it will come down July 9.

Turosak says he isn't frightened, even though the 500 or so pieces of the plummeting Skylab are expected to include 10 weighing about 1,000 pounds and a couple weighing 4,000 pounds or more.

"I think it should be a happy occasion, and everybody should drink beer and, well, learn something about science - what went wrong, you know," he says.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) - Bill Klenck and his son hope to travel from the Arctic to the Antarctic - a distance of 12,000 miles - in a 1929 Model A truck.

The 55-year-old Klenck and his 15-year-old son, Angelo, began their journey Wednesday from Albuquerque.

They were headed north, on route to Alaska. They plan to drive to the northernmost point on the longest day in the Northern Hemisphere, then turn around and head south where they hope to complete the trip on the longest day in the Southern Hemisphere.

"On June 21 we plan to be as far north on the North American continent as possible. And on December 22, we want to be as far south on the South American continent as possible," said Klenck, an Albuquerque home-builder.

Klenck and his son have been working on their antique truck at their home near Corrales, N.M., for the past year. The inside of the restored panel truck has been converted into a motor home, with two bunks, a propane stove, a sink and an ice box, as well as storage for auto parts, food, water and gasoline.

Officers Arrest

DWI Suspect

Officers arrested a Mexican-American male for allegedly driving while intoxicated Thursday in the 100 block of Catalpa and charged two passengers in the car with public intoxication.

Police were called to the 200 block of Elm Thursday to investigate a report of two cars racing down the street. No cars were found, however.

Police Thursday issued three tickets for speeding, three for expired inspection sticker, two for driver's license and one for no registration.

The Abundant Life

NO IMPOSITION

BY BOB WEAR

MUCH IS BEING SAID AND WRITTEN about personal human rights, and many wrong things are being done under the guise of obtaining or protecting somebody's "rights". Of course, some of this action is justified; however, much of the action is an "imposition" upon others. In fact, the action often infringes upon the rights of other people.

NOTHING IS GAINED for anybody by the process of "imposition." This action, whether by the unlawful conduct of persons; or by misconceived actions of legal units, is loss for all. It is a threat to the total concept of "human rights." It is also a cause of discouragement to all persons who understand and respect the lawful structure of a free society.

WE WILL NEVER IMPROVE our social order by the obtrusive maneuvering of people and situations: The practice of forcing one man to give up some of his legitimate rights, and arbitrarily bestowing them upon another person is alien to all time-tested concepts of "human rights." Taking away from one person that which has been earned, and giving it to another, who has not earned it is no part of good sense or of freedom.

IMPOSING JUDICIAL, OTHER, whether in person-to-person association; or by faulty legislation or court rulings, is bad for all of us. Therefore, we must be alert to avoid all kinds of "impositions." In the business world; in the general community life; in the family; and in every other segment of human associations; "impositions" are out of place. There will be some "impositions," but we must keep them to a minimum.

ALL OPPOSITION TO "IMPOSITION" must be expressed within the established system, or else all of the good may be lost.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE between letting others share our burdens, when they wish to do so, and in imposing our burdens upon them. It is also a grievous mistake for us to be forced to help other. There are times when we should help each other, when we will want to help; but there is never a time when it is wise to "impose" upon anyone.

LET US REMEMBER, however, that none of us are free from the control of rightful authority. If we refuse to submit to such authority, it must be "imposed" upon us.

ALIENATION IS one of the undesirable results of the wrong kind of "imposition"; and alienation is one condition we do not need; because there is already too much. We must face up to the raw reality that the more "imposition," whatever the source, the more sticky the problems we must face. This is what we must try to avoid.

"IMPOSITION" COMES from selfishness; egotism; inconsideration; and from other undesirable attitudes. It is often a gross disregard for the rights of people.

WHOLESALE CONSIDERATION for each other is our need; not "imposition" of any kind from any source; unless, of course, we rebel against rightful authority.

strong academic leader," Holder said. Ramirez asked Mrs. Gamez: "Are you a spokesman for the Mexican-American community?"

"Yes," she said. "Well, I'd like to say you're not speaking for me," Ramirez said.

Mrs. Gamez, addressing Holder, said she wanted the names of Mexican-American candidates for the positions. "I can't give anybody any names. These people applied in confidentiality," Holder said.

"Then maybe they weren't contacted," she replied.

Mrs. Gamez said Mexican-American principals in the school system would benefit students.

"We cannot expect to have our children working in the fields when they come out of college because combines and harvesters have taken the place of many jobs," she said. "We need to put someone up in front who is Mexican-American to show our children this."

Andrews told Mrs. Gamez that "there is no middle ground - I'm sorry we can't please you group."

The board also Thursday discussed the effects of implementation of the Tax Relief Amendment of HISD. Tax assessor-collector Fred Fox said the district should be able to maintain a $1.24 tax rate due to reimbursements to be received from the state for losses from homestead exemptions and taxation of land of agricultural instead of market values.

now being harvested. A firm estimate of the 1980 coffee crop won't be available until September, but the Brazilian government has sliced its estimate of the crop in Sao Paulo State, the largest coffee-growing region, by 30 percent.

Brazil is the world's largest coffee exporter. Estimates of future supply play a major role in the current price of green coffee, which is roasted to make the brown coffee purchased in stores. The price of green coffee has risen 43 percent since early February and was $1.84 a pound on Thursday. Coffee consumption in the United States had been declining for years, but the sharp rise in prices in 1977 caused a big drop, from 9.7 pounds per person in 1976 to 6.9 pounds in 1977.

Prices

16.9 pounds of poultry in the last three months. The department maintains that "high demand" because of rising personal incomes is partly responsible for soaring meat prices, along with steady declines in beef production.

In early 1975, cattle producers began an 18-month process of sharp cutbacks in their herds, to offset more than two years of heavy losses in the market. That swelled beef supplies until late 1977, when prices started to skyrocket, finally leveling off this spring.

Until the herds are rebuilt by 1981 or 1982, beef prices that have risen by $20 per 100 pounds in a year aren't expected to fall significantly.

The report said that 9 percent fewer pounds of beef were produced in the first quarter of this year from a year before and supplies are running 14 percent less in the second quarter. It forecast an 11 percent drop in July through September and an 8 percent decline in October through December from a year before.

But pork production, up 5 percent in early 1979, should record gains of 13, 16 and 20 percent, with chicken and turkey production both recording 10 percent gains this summer.

The report said that would make a net gain in meat supplies of 1 percent in the summer and 3 percent in the fall.

Ford community north of Hereford. Scattered thunderstorms were forecast to continue today across the western half of Texas with all of the state to have continued warm temperatures.

It was to be partly cloudy statewide with highs ranging from the 80s in the Panhandle to the 90s over the remainder of the state.

Scattered thunderstorm activity was reported throughout the night and into the early morning hours in the Texas Panhandle and some activity was reported in South Texas.

Amarillo received .17 of an inch of rain during the night. Other reports were not immediately available.

Two counties in northern sections of the Panhandle were placed under tornado warnings late Thursday, but there were no reports of serious damage in Dallas and Sherman Counties. Skies were partly cloudy over extreme North Texas and over Northeast Texas and mostly cloudy over the remainder of the state.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the 60s in the Panhandle to the lower 80s in the South Texas. Extremes ranged from 61 at Dalhart to 82 at both Corpus Christi and Brownsville.

officials could get the previous 5.5 percent plus 1.5 percent of the new hike for a total of 7 percent, the committee source explained. If Carter orders no increase this year, only the previous 5.5 percent could go into effect.

O'Brien declined to call Tuesday night's committee action secretive, noting it was done in an open meeting. But he added, "I don't think it was as clearly stated as it ought to be." He said he would not vote for any pay raise "given the present state of the economy." O'Brien also said he opposed any pay hike that affected current members of Congress, saying "In no case should you raise your pay during your term of contract."

1973 Arab oil embargo - backs up his accusations. The function of most resellers in switch the invoices to allow the sale of "old oil" at "new oil" prices, he said.

"Before the Arab oil embargo most big oil producers had their own systems to get the crude to the refinery," McNeff said, "and there were only 12 resellers - middlemen who charged about 25 cents a barrel to transport oil from the field to the refinery."

"After the embargo, the price of domestic oil started jumping toward the OPEC price and gave oil companies real windfall profits, and this was the basis of the government regulations.

"Now, instead of 12, we've got 53 resellers in Texas. But because of the regulations, they have no way to make a profit unless they change - on paper - old oil to new oil. They can make a profit of $7 and $8 a barrel. They sometimes make $1 million on a single sale."

They keep the oil companies happy by sharing the illegal profits, and giving certain executives kickbacks, McNeff said.

"All the resellers did was the paperwork. It got to where they didn't even transport the oil - just changed the invoice from old to new.

"The DOE has not regulated the reseller to show what he bought and sold the oil for. If you audit them you could do it, but we've had only a few audits - very few - out of this whole deal."

"Further, the resellers have made deals with producers, which amounts basically to kickbacks," McNeff said. McNeff said some people may wonder why a major oil company making good profits would want to get involved with the illegal resellers and the "old oil to new oil flip" in the first place.

Ann Landers Answer Needed

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am an 18-year-old girl (mature for my age) who needs an answer to a very personal question. There is no one I can ask without putting myself on the spot. This, incidentally, is one of the greatest things about your column. A person can get help without having to look anybody in the face.

Question: Can a man tell if a woman has had a sexual partner before him? I have heard both "yes" and "no" in answer to this one. What is the correct information? Please check with your medical authorities. -- Lilly Of The Valley

DEAR LILLY: I didn't have to check with anybody. The answer to your question is no, in most instances. If, however, the woman has an unusually thick membrane and she is a virgin, a man would know it. (Such situations often require medical help.)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Today I read another article critical of electric shock treatment. It was described as "inhuman, painful and frightening." I'd like to register vehement disagreement.

Six years ago I was taken to a private mental health hospital by my wife. I was severely depressed and didn't want to live. After two months of rest in this hospital and no progress, I became acquainted with a fellow patient. He told me he was in the same depressed state until he took electric shock treatments. The man felt like a million dollars and checked out shortly after.

I asked my physician if he would give me the treatments and he agreed. There was no pain, no headache, nothing to be afraid of. The only side effect was a possible partial loss of memory.

I was released two weeks after the shock treatments and have lived a happy, normal life ever since. Please tell people my story. It may help them as I was helped. -- Grateful And Content

DEAR G. AND T.: Electroconvulsive therapy has proved extremely effective in some cases, but the doctor in charge must make the final decision. I'm happy the treatments worked so well for you. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 18-year-old daughter has always been quite hairy. We weren't concerned until she began to grow hair on her face. She then became terribly upset so we took her to a doctor. He put her on birth control pills but this has not helped at all.

We don't know what to do or where to go. Our daughter is miserable, hates to go out of the house, and we are worried. Thanks for any help you can give us. -- Ohio Parents

DEAR OHIO: See another doctor at once, preferably an endocrinologist. You can call your county medical society for guidance.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a pet peeve and hope you can provide a "cure." It's people who keep repeating, every time we meet, "Please come to see us. We really would love to have you." But they never set a date.

This drives me up the wall. Any suggestions? -- I'm For Specifics

DEAR SPECIFICS: The next time you get one of those "Hollywood invitations," simply say, "I'd love to. Will you phone me tonight and we'll make a firm date? Or would it be more convenient if I phoned you? What do you say?"

Display Of Month

Roberta Campbell is this month's display artist at the County Library. Mrs. Campbell has been recipient of this title once before. She has a collection of miniature items which she started while she was attending college in Canyon. Her first piece of miniature furniture was a pair of scissors she received almost 50 years ago. The display will be up through the month of June.

Dye Hard Carpet

COLLEGE STATION — Wall-to-wall carpet is a "dye hard," says Dr. Jane Berry, a housing and home furnishings specialist.

Dr. Berry is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M, University System.

Success in dyeing a carpet depends on several factors over which most people have little or no control.

Major stumbling blocks are the type of dyes most carpet fibers will accept and application methods, she says.

FIBERS AND DYES
Different fibers respond to dyes and dyeing processes in different ways.

Wool is the easiest fiber to dye. Since it's highly absorbent, it accepts the widest range of different dyes and colors.

On the other hand, polypropylene (olefin) fibers are the least absorbent, so they're the most difficult to dye.

In between those two extremes are nylons, polyesters and acrylics.

To further complicate matters, there are variations within fiber families that cause some nylons to accept a dye, while other nylons will not.

When carpet yarns are a blend of fibers, each fiber will react differently to a given dye. FIND 'CLUES,' TEST CARPET

In deciding whether to dye carpet or not, first know the content of the yarns—the first clue to fiber absorbency.

Then test a small piece of the carpet.

Apply some of the dye to a swatch of carpet and let it dry overnight.

Next, place the swatch under the water faucet and try to wash out the dye.

This means that each time a damp shoe sole hits it, or someone spills liquid on it, or washes it, some dye will be removed from the carpet.

However, if the test proves the dye cannot be washed from the carpet, then more serious thought about redyeing might be in order.

Course To Be Offered To Retired Persons

A course in Defensive Driving techniques will be given by the Deaf Smith County American Association of Retired Persons #884 to members of National Retired Teachers Association and American Association of Retired Persons on June 14 and 15 from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. in the Medallion Room of REC.

The course is sponsored by NRTA-AARP as a cooperating agency of the National Safety Council. The classroom course offers pointers in preventing accidents in spite of the incorrect actions of others and adverse driving conditions.

During the class sessions instructors will use films and other visual aids to demonstrate how older drivers can improve their driving skills. No tests are given by E.R. Carver of Amarillo, National Safety Council certified instructor.

For further information one may contact Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Hershey, 587-4545, or Ed Druik, 364-1954. Members of NRTA-AARP pay a reduced tuition. The course is subsidized by the Association.

Consumer Food News Release Budget Buys

COLLEGE STATION — Pork, poultry and fresh produce make budget buys at Texas grocery markets this week, according to Gwendolyn Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist.

Several other items "on special" appear in some markets, she adds.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

PORK — Pork features are frequent. Look for low prices on chops — center, end and mixed chops, along with Boston butt roasts, loin roasts, fresh picnics and liver. Cured cuts at economical prices include boneless and semi-boneless hams, bacon and smoked picnics.

POULTRY — Specials appear on whole birds and mixed parts and chicken livers. Also, eggs are a very economical protein food. One dozen large eggs for less than $1 means a pound and a half of perfect protein food for under $1.

FRESH FRUITS — Best buys are bananas, pineapple and strawberries.

Navel oranges are fading out with quality lower than in past weeks. Limes are more plentiful just in time for summertime iced tea and fish delicacies.

First-of-the-season peaches are available with relatively high prices.

Cantaloupe and honeydew melons have more attractive prices, but watermelon prices are not down to summertime levels yet.

FRESH VEGETABLES — Most economical buys include dry onions, snap beans, cabbage, corn, carrots, broccoli, cooking greens and soft-shell squash. Potato prices are a bit higher, but they're still a "best" value.

Dry beans also are thrifty buys.

DAIRY — A few stores are advertising specials on whole milk and two percent lowfat milk, yogurt, cheese slices and cottage cheese.

FISH — More fish at lower prices is one advantage of improving weather.

A pound of fish fillets serves four.

While fresh fish may taste better, frozen fish are more economical.

GROCERY MARKET AISLES — Features include rice, pasta products, pineapple and applesauce.

Many stores are featuring many other items, but there is no definite pattern, so check for specials everywhere you shop this week.

FROZEN FOOD CHESTS — Very few features appear this week, but some are available on prepared dishes, such as egg rolls and lasagna, along with fish.

BEEF — Only a few features are offered, while prices remain on the high side.

Look for features on chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef with soy protein, round steak, sirloin tip roast and liver.

Consider buying the less-tender, less-expensive cuts — chucks, stew beef or bottom rounds — and cooking them in a slow cooker to save money, energy and time.

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS: It's "budget-wise" to use nonfat dry milk when possible.

Made from fresh pasteurized milk, with only the water and butterfat removed, it still contains all the protein, calcium, B vitamins, lactose and essential trace minerals of fluid milk.

It blends easily with either dry or liquid ingredients in any recipe, and it presents no storage problem since it stores in a cool, dry place with other dry staples. It needs no refrigeration unless you reconstitute it.

VIENNA (AP) — The eighth International Youth and Music Festival is to be held here Aug. 4-Aug. 25.

During the festival, more than 60 groups, choirs, orchestras, dance ensembles and marching bands will perform and compete for prizes.

Legion Auxiliary Announces Officers

The American Legion Auxiliary Unit #192, met Tuesday evening in the Legion Hall American Legion.

The meeting was called to order by vice president Beverly Jesko. President Betty Jo Carlson had a perfect attendance record broken when a new granddaughter was born and grandmother Betty went to take care of her.

Ruth King reported a good response to poppy sales last week, 19 members worked and $435.75 was collected.

A bingo party was hosted recently in Kings Manor with Vernice Parsons, Pet Ott and Jean Holden in attendance. Another party is scheduled for June 21 at 7 p.m. The unit will also host a bingo party Monday in the Veteran's Administrative Hospital in Amarillo.

New officers for the year 1979-80 were elected: Mrs. James Jesko, president; Mrs. Robert Trowbridge, first vice president; Mrs. S.T. Wiseman, second vice president; Mrs. Bill Gilliland, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. M.H. Koelzer, chaplain; Mrs. Garth Thomas, assistant chaplain; Mrs. Tom Dawson, historian-reporter; Jacob King, sergeant of arms; Mrs. Dick Barrett, assistant sergeant of arms; members at large, Mrs. Robert Odom and Virginia Cocanougher.

These members will be installed in August. Delegates to the Department Convention July 21-23 were elected. Beverly Jesko, Pet Ott, Troyce Hanna, Ruth King, Betty Jo Carlson, and Edwina Thomas.

Alternates are Virginia Adams, Dee Wiseman, Willie Vinton, Alice Gilliland, June Koelzer, and Venice Parsons.

The group voted to cancel July 3 scheduled meeting, any business will be taken care of in board meeting. Girls States delegates Carla West and Sherry Strain will report to the unit July 17 at a salad supper in the Legion Hall.

Tillie Miller was guest, and presented a program on diabetes. She gave symptoms and how to recognize them. Intense-thirst, frequent urination and sudden change in weight are many of the symptoms. A person who has these symptoms and who have parents or close relatives who have had diabetes, should contact a doctor for diabetes test.

At the close of the meeting members were given blood test. Girls State Citizens will leave Amarillo for Seguin, Tex. June 19 for a 10 day Girl State session.

Twenty members were in attendance.

REARING A RESPONSIBLE CHILD

Do you pick up after your child, take things to him when he forgets them, or fix him a plate when he is late to dinner? Aren't you a "good" mother? This is great, if you plan to rectify his mistakes and serve him the rest of his life.

One purpose, however, in rearing children, is to produce self-reliant, decision-making adults. Wouldn't it be better to make your child responsible for his own actions? Let's consider natural and logical consequences. If Susie oversleeps on a school day, let her risk her teacher's ire.

If John can't seem to get his favorite shirt in the laundry hamper, it doesn't get washed and he can't wear it. If Tim arrives late to dinner, he is welcome to join the family at the table at breakfast time. No snacks or fast-food service from mom. If Pat's toys must be picked up by Mother, she may put them where only she can get them.

Let's work at making our children responsible. Remember being a parent entails teaching and guidance, but slavery is not in the bargain.

DINNER FOR TWO
Opera Tuna Salad
Fruit Sherbert Beverage

OPERA TUNA
Hearty and delicious main dish.

4 ounces thin spaghetti
2 tablespoons instant flour

1 1/2 cups cold milk
2 tablespoons butter
Salt and pepper to taste
2 tablespoons dry sherry.

7-ounce can solid white tuna (albacore), drained
1/2 cup pitted ripe olives, thinly sliced
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Cook spaghetti according to package directions and drain. Meanwhile in a 1 1/2-quart saucepan gradually stir the flour into the milk; add the butter, over medium heat, stirring constantly, bring to boiling and boil for a minute. Off heat stir in salt, pepper, sherry, tuna and olives. Turn hot spaghetti into two shirred-egg dishes (1 1/2-cup size). Pour sauce over spaghetti. Sprinkle with Parmesan. Broil close to high heat until golden brown. Serve at once. Makes 2 large servings.

Jenkins, Ellis Lead Rangers To Victory

MILWAUKEE (AP) - With 238 victories behind him in 14 brilliant major league seasons, Ferguson Jenkins wasn't going to be upset by so trifling a matter as a near miss of a perfect game.

"The important thing is we won," the Texas Rangers' 35-year-old pitcher said Thursday. "I know that sounds trite, but I've been lucky. I hurt my Achilles tendon in 1976, and a lot of people thought I was through then."

Jenkins had just dazzled Milwaukee with a two hit, eight strikeout, no walk effort as he faced two batters more than the minimum 27. John Ellis supplied the power with six runs batted in on two homers and a double as the Rangers whipped the Brewers 7-1.

All that separated Jenkins from a perfect game were an infield single by Cecil Cooper with two out in the first inning and a triple by Jim Gantner leading off the seventh on a drive which Johnny Grubb appeared to misplay in right center field.

Grubb, whose ninth inning single ran his hitting streak to 20 successive games, longest in the majors this season, got a late start on Gantner's drive, which skipped off his glove and rolled to the wall. A ground ball by Cooper scored Gantner to spoil Jenkins' bid for a 46th career shutout.

Cooper was credited with his first inning hit on a slow roller which third baseman Buddy Bell charged and grabbed with his bare hand. Bell's off-balance throw appeared in time to retire Cooper, but was high and pulled first baseman Pat Putnam off the bag.

"If I went the rest of the way without giving up another hit, Buddy and I would have protested the call," Jenkins said. "On the first close play of a game, I don't think the scorer should score a hit. I think he should give the pitcher a chance."

"But then Grubbe lost that other ball that went for a triple," he said. "When I turned round Grubbe still hadn't started running, so the first call didn't make any difference."

"It could have gone either way," Bell said of the scoring on his play. "It was do or die, and the ball just died in the wet grass out there. Without the other hit, that should have been an error. But since they got the other hit later, I think the first one should stand as a hit. That's how they usually call one like that."

Grubb said he slightly misjudged Gantner's drive.

"I might have been a little late breaking, and I made a mistake of cutting straight across instead of angling back," he said. "I knew it was a line drive, but I didn't think it would rise as much as it did."

Jenkins 7-2 got the only runs he needed when Al Oliver singled with two out in the first inning and Ellis lined an opposite field homer off Moose Haas 3-5.

Rockets New Coach Paid His Dues

HOUSTON (AP) - Del Harris, the new head coach of the National Basketball Association Houston Rockets, doesn't come with hat in hand, hoping one day to be worthy of the honor he says he's paid his dues.

"That's what friends keep telling me, 'you've paid your dues' and I guess they are right," Harris said Thursday as he replaced Tom Nissalke as head coach of the Rockets.

"I started 20 years ago coaching in junior high school, both boys and girls teams, and then I went to the high schools for five more years," Harris said. "Then I went the small college route for nine years and decided if I was going to get to the pros, I'd just have to quit and make myself available and wait for the phone to ring."

The phone never rang. "I tried public speaking and writing books and in a few months I was coaching in Europe and the team went broke. I later coached for the Utah Stars in the American Basketball Association for 16 games before that team went broke."

Harris almost went broke too. "We sold almost everything we had, the house and the furniture," Harris recalled. "Mr. Rockets General Manager Patterson called and offered me $17,000 for seven months and said we'd see how it goes. By February we were in first place."

"We came here in a 1972 Ambassador with a car load of kids and we are still here. If you love the game and want to do it,

60 Wins Raider Day Tourney

Athletic Director Dick Tamburo and several assistant Texas Tech coaches gave optimistic reports here last night as the annual Red Raider Play Day climaxed with a dinner at Hereford Country Club.

Seven teams—two with five members—competed in the golf tourney Thursday afternoon and trophies were awarded at the dinner.

A tie for first place occurred in the Florida Scramble golf tourney as each team carded a 11-under-par 60. One team was composed of Tech assistant athletic director John Conley, along with locals Lewis Block, Keith Hansen, Lupe Tigerina and Dr. Wohlgemuth. The other team had Raider assistant coach Jerry Bomar, along with Tommy Weaver, Paul Hubbard and Robert Benton.

Next with a 62 score were Tamburo, J.A. McWhorter, Virgil Marsh, Mike Hill, and Helen McWhorter. Golf pro Mike Horton presented the awards.

Tamburo outlined a number of "plus" factors which he says make things look bright on the Tech athletic scene. At the top, he emphasized the "spirit and attitude of the West Texas people."

The Raider athletic director was introduced by Earnest Langley, who served as master of ceremonies for the dinner. Leete Jackson, executive director of the Red Raider Club members attending from Lubbock.

Tech assistant coaches reviewed prospects for their teams in the coming year. Tech track coach Corky Oglesby had high praise for James Mays, the outstanding half-miler from Hereford. "If he improves as much next year as he did this year, James will be one of the top 800 meter runners in the nation."

Langley recognized a trio of local supporters who are not Tech alumni. He prested special Red Raider golf balls to Shorty Roark, Virgil Marsh and Charles Skinner.

U.S. Has Chance To Win Amateur

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) - The luck of the draw in the British Amateur Golf Championship means that for the first time in eight years two Americans may find themselves fighting it out the finals Saturday.

The only Americans left of the 23 who started in this year's tournament Monday are Scott Hoch, 23, of Raleigh, N.C., and Jay Sigel, 34, of Philadelphia. But they are both in opposite halves of the draw, which completed five rounds Thursday.

Hoch beat Alan Ferguson of Britain 4 and 3 Thursday and maintained his 100 percent win record since arriving with the U.S. Walker Cup team a week ago.

Sigel beat fellow countryman Griff Moody 3 and 2 shortly after Moody had played a grueling fourth round match against Wayne Player of South Africa that went to the 20th hole.

The other six who won through to the quarterfinals are Brian Marchbank, Ian Bradshaw and Stuart Robson of Britain, Australian Tony Gresham, Lakshman Singh of India and Doug Roxbrough of Canada.

Bradshaw beat Keith MacIntosh of Britain 5 and 3; Marchbank beat Stephen Andrews of Britain 2 and 1; Gresham beat Martin Walls of Britain 5 and 3; Robson beat Doug Fischesser, United States, 1 up; Sing beat Steven Cipa of Britain, 6 and 5; and Roxbrough beat David Whelan of Britain on the 20th hole.

Boston's Rice Hits What He Gets

By BOB GREEN
Jim Rice has a problem with pitchers. The pitchers also have a problem: Jim Rice.

"I'm still not driving the ball the way I'd like because I'm not getting good pitches to hit," the Boston slugger said after blasting his 10th and 11th home runs of the season Thursday night, leading the Red Sox to a 9-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Last year, Rice slammed 13 homers in the month of May alone and ended up the season with 46, tops in the majors. He also led the major leagues in total bases with 406, slugging percentage with .600 and runs batted in.

"The two pitches I hit for homers tonight were outside the strike zone," Rice said. "The first was high and in, the second low and away. But you've got to swing at something, so I swung."

In other AL games in an abbreviated schedule, Texas clobbered Milwaukee 7-1, Minnesota stopped the New York Yankees 4-1 and Baltimore edged Kansas City 3-1.

"I compare him with Willie Mays," Chicago Manager Don Kessinger said of Rice. "He's just a great hitter."

The American League Most Valuable Player last year, Rice ignited a three-run fourth inning with his first homer, a tremendous drive off Chicago pitcher Ken Kravec, 6-4, over the screen beyond the high wall in left center.

Then, leading off the seventh, Rice unloaded against reliever Rich Hinton, lining a shot into the Boston bullpen in right center. He drove in a third run with an infield hit in the eighth.

Rookie Chuck Rainey, 4-3, got the victory as Dwight Evans added four singles to Boston's 17-hit attack.

Orleans 3, Royals 1

"Gary Roenicke's bases-loaded single drove in two runs in the eighth inning, boosting Baltimore past Kansas City. Kansas City had taken the lead on Al Cowens' home run in the fifth inning. The Orioles tied the score in the bottom of the inning when Roenicke walked, took third on Eddie Murray's single and scored on a sacrifice fly by Doug DeCinces.

Twins 4, Yankees 1

Three pitchers combined to scatter eight New York hits and give Minnesota its victory over the Yankees.

Geoff Zahn, 4-1, started and won his first game since April 29 despite giving up a fifth-inning home run to Chris Chambliss. Mike Sacks came on in the sixth and Mike Marshall relieved in the eighth to register his 13th save of the season.

"My Skills Are As Sharp As Ever"

Jack Nicklaus Accepts Athlete Award

NEW YORK (AP) - Maintaining for the umpteenth time his opinion that golfers are indeed athletes, Jack Nicklaus has accepted a trophy as the Athlete of the Decade.

Nicklaus, the second winner of the award, told a black-tie audience at the Waldorf-Astoria that he was "honored and humbled," and refused to subscribe to the suggestion made by some critics that golfers cannot be identified as athletes.

The "Golen Bear" won by a sizeable margin over such stiff competition as baseball's Rod Carew, football's O.J. Simpson, hockey's Bobby Orr, basketball's Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, tennis' Jimmy Connors and Chris Evert, Olympians Bruce Jenner and Mark Spitz and jockey Willie Shoemaker. Muhammad Ali, last year's winner, was not eligible to repeat in the poll of sportswriters and broadcasters.

The athlete of the decade award will be given by the American Cancer Society each year.

"Comparing golfers with athletes of other sports is like comparing apples and oranges," said the golden-haired native of Columbus, Ohio. "Even in baseball you can't compare a pitcher with a hitter, in football a passer with a runner."

"But I certainly consider golfers athletes. There is no physical abuse. The sport calls for a different kind of training. But it requires a lot of endurance, work, mental strain and sacrifice."

Nicklaus said that golf was as demanding as other big time sports in time and dedication needed for refining skills and competing.

"Golfers don't play 2½ hours once a week as football players do, or three hours five or six times a week as baseball players," he said. "They play four hours a day for four days."

They train hard, practice before and sometimes after each round.

"Unlike tennis and boxing, which are one on one, golf is one against 140 other guys plus a golf course. The concentration has to be intense. You have to make the body do what the mind wants it to do.

"I've seen outstanding players of other sports be completely whipped after a round of golf. Sure, golfers are athletes."

Nicklaus said his physical skills are as sharp as any time in his long career and good for another 10 years.

"I am hitting the ball better than ever," added the 39-year-old Nicklaus. "If my game has deteriorated at all - and I am sure it has - it is in another area the area of desire and dedication. "But I am positive I can still win. If I didn't, I would not continue."

Nicklaus has played in eight tournaments this season without a victory. Yet his 18-year-record includes 66 tour triumphs, 17 major championships and more than $3.3 million in prize earnings.

Giants Edge Cards In 12-10 Slugfest

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Sitting on a 2-0 count in the ninth inning of a tie game was no time for the San Francisco Giants' Mike Ivie to be choosy.

"It was high and hard," he recounted of the pitch he belted on a towering trajectory into the center field seats to beat the St. Louis Cardinals 12-10 in a Thursday night slugfest.

"I don't know whether it was a backup slider or what, but I saw it good," Ivie observed. "We've been in a rut. I'm hoping something like this will provide us a spark."

Ivie's home run, a three-run blow, severed a seven-game Cardinals victory string in one of two Thursday National League games. In an afternoon game, the Chicago Cubs edged the San Diego Padres 4-3.

"We've got a much better team than we've shown. I'll guarantee you that," Ivie said after manufacturing only the second San Francisco victory in 12 games.

"I think 90 games will win our division," he conjectured. "Of course, if the frog had rubber legs he'd be on the moon. But, there is no question, if we were playing the same way we played last year we'd be ahead."

The Giants, who used five pitchers, trailed throughout after St. Louis exploded for six runs in the opening inning on six hits, one of them Keith Hernandez' three-run homer. It was 9-5 when Johnnie LeMaster and John Tamargo singled around an out in the eighth inning, then became 9-7 on Ivie's RBI grounder and a single by Terry Whitfield.

Larry Herndon singled off Tom Bruno and Darrell Evans off Darold Knowles to start the San Francisco ninth. That brought on loser Mark Littell, 4-2, who might have been better off at home.

Bill Madlock drew a pinch-walk, loading the bases, and Hernandez scored on LeMaster's force play grounder.

Evans next crossed the plate with the tying run with Hernandez, the Cards first baseman, failed to come up with a low throw on a try for a double play. Afterward, Ivie smashed his seventh homer following a walk to Tamargo.

An earlier sidelight was Willie McCovey's long home run in the Giants third, moving him into a tie with Mel Ott for 11th place on the all-time list with 511 career wallops.

Cubs 4, Padres 3
Pinch-runner Sam Mejias scored the tie-breaking run on Mike Vail's sacrifice fly in the eighth inning to give Chicago its victory.

Barry Foote opened the inning with his second double of the game. Mejias was sacrificed to third before Vail flied deep to center.

Fernando Gonzalez and Dave Winfield slugged home runs for the Padres.

Arkansas, Fullerton In CWS Finals

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) - When Fullerton State Coach Augie Garrido said his team's game with Pepperdine in the College World Series would be a "dog-fight," he wasn't kidding.

That's exactly what took place Thursday night. When the dust finally cleared after 3½ hours of baseball, there had been 24 hits, two players and a coach ejected, two records tied and most important, Fullerton had an 8-5 victory.

The triumph puts the Titans, 58-14, and rated third nationally, in tonight's championship game against seventh-rated Arkansas, 49-14, which had the night off. It will be a rematch of a game Wednesday night, when Fullerton outslugged the Razorbacks 13-10 to stay alive in the double elimination tournament.

Fullerton and Pepperdine split four games during the regular season. Fullerton won the Southern California Baseball Association title and Pepperdine, which finished the year 52-18, was second.

While Fullerton and Pepperdine were going at it in an emotionally charged game, Arkansas had the luxury of resting. That could work in the Razorbacks' favor, but Pepperdine Coach Dave Gorrie said he thinks Fullerton will win.

"They're a better team," he said. "Arkansas is an excellent team, but I feel Fullerton is stronger overall."

Left-hander Steve Krueger, 10-1 the winning pitcher in Arkansas' 5-4 victory over Pepperdine in the first round, will start tonight. Garrido will go with right-hander Dave Weatherman, 14-2, who started Thursday night but lasted only one-third of an inning, giving up three runs.

"I don't know what to expect," Garrido said. "The way both teams have been hitting, it could be a five-dozen baseball game. If the wind is blowing out and some of those gorillas start hitting the ball, we might need seven ball boys to run them down."

Sam Favata drove in the go-ahead run against Pepperdine in a three-run fifth inning and Mickey Palmer, making his first start of the series, tied a record by getting five hits.

Palmer hit .346 last season, but was batting only .236 coming into Thursday's game.

Two of Palmer's hits were bunts and another was a slower roller that he beat out.

Pepperdine's Tim Gloyd tied a record by stealing his seventh base of the series. He was thrown out trying for his eighth by fullerton catcher Kurt Kingsolver, who threw out two others runners and picked one off first.

Pepperdine first baseman John Lais was ejected by home plate umpire Randy Christal after arguing a called second strike in the seventh inning. Christal also banished Albert Arrieta, who had been relieved as Pepperdine's starting pitcher, from the bench and ejected third base coach Robert Damwijk.

Tony Hudson turned in another superb relief job for Fullerton, pitching the final 2½ innings to earn a save, his third of the series. Hudson has allowed only four hits and no earned runs in 11½ innings of series work.

Sox Whip Travelers, 7-5

By The Associated Press
Mark Bradley's three-run homer and a triple by hot hitting Ed Santos Thursday night helped the San Antonio Dodgers sweep a Texas League baseball doubleheader from the Shreveport Captains, 3-2 and 1-0.

The doubleheader sweep also allowed the Dodgers, who have won eight games in a row, to move into a narrow lead in the Texas League West. The Dodgers took over first place by percentage points over the Midland Cubs.

In other Texas League action, El Paso clubbed Tulsa, 12-7, Amarillo beat Arkansas, 7-5, and Midland beat Jackson, 6-1.

Bradley's three-run homer in the bottom of the third inning of the first game helped Doug Harrison raise his pitching record to 4-2. Scott Budner was the losing Shreveport pitcher.

Santos tripled to open the fifth inning of the second game and came home with the game's only run when Hilario Soriano beat out an infield hit. Rusty McDonald, who struggled throughout the early part of the game, picked up the victory, his fourth against a single loss. McDonald gave up five hits and allowed several Captaings to reach base before the Dodgers grabbed the lead. He retired the last five batters in order. Steve Cline was the losing pitcher.

Santos now has 21 RBI, nine doubles, a triple and two homers. The Tulsa Drillers jumped out to an early lead and appeared to be coasting toward victory, leading the El Paso Diablos, 7-5, going into the bottom of the seventh. The Diablos exploded for seven runs on three homers and took the lead. The Diablos stayed close to the Drillers thanks to a grand slam homer by Jeff Bertoni in the third inning. In the seventh inning Mark Brouhard slammed a three-run homer. Steve Whitehead hit an other with two aboard and Brandt Humphrey closed out the scoring outburst with a solo homer. Charlie Phillips, 4-1, picked up the victory. Jerry Vasquez, 0-3, was charged with the loss.

Kuhn For Ladies

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - Commissioner Bowie Kuhn sees a leveling off of problems involving female reporters in baseball clubhouses.

"There no longer are any serious problems," said Kuhn Monday night after addressing The Associated Press Sports Editors Convention. "The players and the other writers are beginning to adjust."

Kuhn told a dinner gathering of some 240 editors and representatives from 170 newspapers that 22 of baseball's 26 teams now allow female reporters into the dressing room.

"We have made a tremendous amount of progress," said Kuhn. "At first we thought it was unfair to the players to have the women come in. We litigated it and lost. It hasn't come easy. There have been rough spots."

Kuhn also said that baseball has the best media relations in the world of sports.

"We take pride in our media relations," he said. "The press is important to us. We want the press to do a good job

Jazz Get To Move

CHICAGO (AP) - National Basketball Association owners met here today to bless - unless a miracle intervened - the transfer of New Orleans' National Basketball Association franchise to Salt Lake City. NBA Commissioner Lawrence O'Brien was expected to announce that the required minimum of 17 of the league's 21-member board of governors had approved the franchise shift sought by majority owners Sam Bagustone and Larry Hatfield of the New Orleans Jazz.

Battistone and Hatfield, from Santa Barbara, Calif., have been trying since the regular season ended to uproot the Jazz and move them closer to home - and closer to the headquarters of Battistone's Mormon religion in Utah.

An owners' meeting on the matter last week was temporarily postponed because stockholders in a New Orleans racetrack were trying to buy the franchise and keep the Jazz in the $63 million Superdome. The deal fell through, however.

Various other attempts to keep the franchise in New Orleans also were unsuccessful.

Bird Signs Celtic Pact Worth $650,000 A Year

BOSTON (AP) - Larry Bird's signature on a five-year, $3.25 million National Basketball Association contract today caps the Boston Celtics' quest for the college star who will become the highest-paid rookie in sports history.

The Celtics called a 10 a.m. Boston Garden news conference and said Bird will be present. Signing the college player-of-the-year from Indiana State was viewed as a major step in rebuilding the once-dominant franchise.

Sources close to the negotiations pegged the annual worth of Bird's pact at $650,000, including salary and fringe benefits.

Lawyer Bob Woolf, Bird's agent in the often-bitter two-month negotiations with Celtics President Red Auerbach, would say only: "It appears Larry will be a Celtic."

The Celtics, fearful of an 11th hour snag, declined to say anything. Bird has been at home in French Lick, Ind., throughout negotiations.

The settlement, in the works for several days, was a compromise. Woolf originally sought more than $1 million per year when bargaining began April 10, but Auerbach countered with $500,000 per season. When Celtics owner Harry Mangurian intervened last week, the team hiked its bid to $600,000, with Woolf seeking $700,000.

The 6-foot-9 college star, who led his underdog team to the NCAA finals, apparently has beaten his rival Earvin "Magic" Johnson in the money grab, after failing to do so on the basketball court.

Michigan State and Johnson, who is turning pro as a hardship case, beat Indiana State in the NCAA tournament. Bird and Woolf were intent on signing for a richer contract than Johnson, whose pact with the Los Angeles Lakers reportedly is worth $600,000 per season in salary and real estate.

The signing of Bird enables Auerbach, whose team missed the playoffs for two consecutive years, to begin a long-awaited house cleaning. A deal for forward Bob McAdoo, acquired by Boston from the New York Knicks last February for three first-round draft picks and reserve center Tom Barker, was in the works.

The trade, made by former Celtics owner John Y. Brown - who later sold his half interest in the team to Mangurian - left the Celtics without a pick in the June 25 NBA draft until the third round.

Auerbach has been planning player moves with new Coach Bill Fitch, signed last month two days after he quit the Cleveland Cavaliers. Fitch replaced player-coach Dave Cowens, who will return - at a salary of some $500,000 - strictly as a center.

Kramer Sees Future Of Tennis Up To Young Stars

NEW YORK (AP) - Jack Kramer is gripped by mixed emotions - pride, reservation, concern - when he views the explosion of big time tennis.

"It's the fruition of what a lot of people worked for down through the years - Tilben, Vines, Perry, Budge, Riggs and, if you'll excuse me, myself," said the one-time king of the courts. "Now we have to be careful we don't know it."

Kramer, of Los Angeles, former world champion, tour promoter, administrator and spearhead in the move to open tennis, was in New York Thursday to be inducted into the Madison Square Garden Hall of Fame.

He took time out to put in a few promotional licks for his new book, "The Game: My Forty Years of Tennis," co-authored with Frank DeFord.

"Big Jake" is now 57, going on 27. He has lost none of his boyish good looks, his clean-cut All-American image, unbridled enthusiasm and charm. Few men, if any, have left a finer legacy or greater impact on the game.

"Tennis players today have gained equal stature with the athletes of every other major sport - football, baseball, basketball, golf and hockey," he said. "Prize money and endorsements run to more than $1 million a year in some cases. They are given prime spots on TV. They are lionized by the fans.

"As such, they must not overlook the fact that they have a responsibility. They can't take it all with them. They have to leave something for the next generation."

Kramer is disturbed that the modern professional tennis player too often assumes the role of "spoiled brat" - surely, undisciplined, at times even boorish and profane.

"Not all of them, certainly," Kramer said. "But as a body they have much to learn from their counterparts in golf. Golfers are more mature when they begin. They aren't as accustomed to parental pampering. They are drilled to do the right things.

"In tennis, there seems to be too much of a premium on winning. Maybe it's because tennis players start so young and parents and coaches haven't done their jobs properly. This raises the temptation to cheat. The kid is afraid to come home and tell his mother he got beat."

When Jack was 14, he got sore after being called for a foot fault and threw his racket over the fence while uttering an epithet. "My father came out on the court and said, 'That's all, Cockey - let's go home.' I never forgot it."

Kramer said he hoped young John McEnroe would shun the so-called "color syndrome," typified by the volatile Ilie Nastase and Jimmy Connors, and become an example for all the youngsters coming up in the game.

"... I hope he will play more like Bjorn Borg. This way he could turn it all around. Young kids would look at him and say, 'I want to play like McEnroe. I want to act like McEnroe.'"

"The same is true in the case of Tracy Austin among the women. These youngsters carry a great burden on their shoulders."

Television Experiment

MASON, Ohio (AP) - National television is experimenting again with equipment Ladies Professional Golf Association players with live microphones while they play.

Don Ohlmeyer, executive producer for sports for NBC-TV, says his network may make as many as three players for the final two rounds it will telecast Saturday and Sunday from the LPGA Championship tournament.

"It brings the viewer closer to the game. He can hear what the player says to his caddy about club selection, what the player's reaction is to a shot."

Nancy Lopez, the defending LPGA champion, was to give the experiment a test run in her first round today for the $150,000 major event at the Nicklaus Golf Center.

"But even if Nancy does not like the idea personally, we may proceed with it

BECKENHAM, England (AP) - Australia's John James defeated Nick Saviano 6-3, 7-6 in the men's quarter-finals and South African Yvonne Vermaak downed Lea Antonoplis 6-2, 2-6, 6-3 in a women's quarter-final match in the rain-shortened Beckenham Grass Court Tennis Championships.

Tanya Harford of South Africa beat Britain's Michele Tyler 6-2, 6-3 in the only other match of the day.

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) - Tournament sponsors announced that the annual World Cup tennis competition between the United States and Australia will end after the 1980 event, chiefly because of the domination of U.S. players in men's professional tennis.

PARIS (AP) - Chris Evert

Lloyd of the United States and Wendy Turnbull of Australia gained the women's singles final of the French Open Tennis Championships.

Lloyd defeated Australia's Dianne Fromholtz 6-1, 6-3, while Turnbull beat Czechoslovakia's Regina Marsikova, 6-4, 6-3.

ATLANTA (AP) - Mark Lye shot a 9-under-par 63 and established a 4-stroke lead in the weather-delayed first round of the $300,000 Atlanta Golf Classic. His effort was within a single stroke of the record on the Atlanta Country Club course.

MASON, Ohio (AP) - Jerilyn Britz, who did not qualify for the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour until she was 31, shot an opening 8-under-par 64 for a 4-shot lead in the LPGA Championship.

Britz was nine shots in front of defending champion Nancy Lopez, who struggled to a 1-over-par 73, well back in the pack.

Penny Pulz, with a 4-under-par 68, was the closest challenger for Britz.

MU's Leach Signs With Tigers

DETROIT (AP) - "It's like a dream," said University of Michigan star Rick Leach after announcing Thursday he had signed a contract to play baseball in the Detroit Tigers organization.

"I've been following the Tigers since I was a young boy. Playing in my home state, where my family and friends could see me, was a big concern."

The All-American from Flint had been sought by several professional baseball and football teams, both in the United States and Canada. He had been drafted in 1975 and 1978 by the Philadelphia Phillies but turned down their bids to play for the University of Michigan instead.

The Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League made him an offer and he was selected by the Denver Broncos last month in the National Football League player draft.

Money wasn't the reason for signing with the Tigers, explained Leach's father, Dick. "If this was Rick's only concern, he probably wouldn't be here because both Montreal and Denver would have meant a lot more," he said. "We're not in a bidding war. I wasn't brought up that way and my family hasn't been brought up that way."

"I figured my opportunity was as good or better here than in the Denver organization and the terms were very fair," Rich Leach said.

In keeping with Tiger policy, contract terms were not disclosed. Leach signed a one-year minor league contract with six renewal years, explained club vice president William Lajoie.

At the end of the year, the Tigers have the option of renewing the pact, Lajoie said. Leach leaves for Lakeland, Fla. Monday to begin a 10-day training camp.

The 22-year-old will be assigned to one of the teams within the club's farm system after the camp, he said, adding Leach would probably play center field.

Fight Livens Pre-Race Activities At Belmont

NEW YORK (AP) - Spectacular Bid's trainer, Bud Delp, heard someone behind him greet a friend.

"Hello, slugger," the man said. Delp quickly looked over his shoulder and smiled. "Slugger? Who's the fighter around here? I thought that Franklin was standing behind me," Delp said.

Delp's light-hearted reference was to a scuffle between Spectacular Bid's jockey, Ronnie Franklin, and rival jockey Angei Cordero Jr. in the jockey room at Belmont Wednesday.

Franklin's reference to the scuffle was less light-hearted on Thursday morning.

The fistcuffs took place after the fourth race at Belmont

Wednesday. Films of the start of the race showed that Cordero's mount, Ski Pats, cut sharply into Franklin's mount, Lorine, forcing Franklin to stand up in the saddle and check his mount.

"I guess he tried to drop me," Franklin said of Cordero. "When I got to the jockey room, I walked up to him and he took a swing at me."

"I think I hit him a couple of times. I don't think he hit me," said Franklin, who will ride Spectacular Bid in Saturday's Belmont Stakes. Asked if Cordero had said anything to him, Franklin said: "He threatened my life. He said to me in Spanish, 'I'm going to kill you...'"

Both jockeys were fined $250 by racing stewards Thursday for the scuffle.

Spectacular Bid will be trying to become the third consecutive Triple Crown winner Saturday in the 111th running of the Belmont Stakes. Franklin guided him to relatively easy victories in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, and he was made an early 1-10 favorite in a surprisingly large field of 10 for Saturday's race.

Spectacular Bid will start in the No. 5 post position with second-favorite Coastal, at 6-1 odds under Ruben Hernandez, in the ninth post position. General Assembly, a 15-1 shot under Cordero, drew the No. 2 post position.

The other entries are Che-Bar Stable's King Celebrity, No. 1 post position under John Nied, 50-1 odds; Tayhill Stable's Quiet Crossing, No. 3, no rider listed, 50-1; Harbor View Farm's Picturesque, No. 4 Hernandez second call, 50-1; Flying Zee Stable's Screen King, No. 6, Cash Asmussen, 20-1; Viola Sommer's Gallat Best, No. 7, George Martens, 50-1; Oldknow and Phipps' Golden Act, No. 8, Sandy Hawley, 15-1, and Charles Festa Jr.'s Mystic Era, No. 10, Jorge Velasquez, 50-1.

If all 10 go to post, gross value of the Belmont will be $273,000, with $163,800 going to the winner.

Delp, a balding happy-go-lucky type who trains Spectacular Bid for Harry and Teresa Meyerhoff, said his colt was "fit to go a mile and a half," the Belmont distance.

"I'm not worried at all about it," Delp said. "I am concerned, because this is the big one. It's not a formality, that's for sure. But everybody in our camp is confident, the Meyerhoffs are confident and even the exercise rider says the Bid's never been better."

Jockey Laffit Pincay, Jr., rode the winners of $2,025,250 at the 1978-79 Santa Anita meeting.

Gibson Decides To Stay With Baseball

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) - Former Michigan State flanker Kirk Gibson, the Detroit Tigers $200,000 bonus baby, says he will stick with baseball despite the fact the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League have offered him an identical amount.

The pro football contract forms - spelling out offers of $35,000; $45,000; $55,000 and $65,000 over the next four years - are tucked away in Gibson's locker at the Tigers' American Association Evansville farm club.

Gibson, who has had a rough year at Evansville, has been plagued with injuries and a mediocre .177 batting average with one home run and five runs batted in. He missed the first six weeks of the season with a knee injury and recently came up with a sore arm.

Evansville Manager Jim Leyland said the highest paid rookie in Tiger history is "improving every day."

"When I first got down here, I couldn't buy a hit with $200,000," Gibson said. "I couldn't hit a thing. I kept striking out. Then I started fouling pitches off. Now, a few of them are falling in for base hits."

The former MSU star said he was having some problems with fans who needle him about his big bonus.

"Everywhere I go, there's pressure on me," he explained. "The fans are all over me. They yell, 'You oughta play football. I've heard that a thousand times. Now and then it gets you, you know. Every time I strike out, the fans are all over me. Even at home. I think fans are brutal. I don't believe the way some of them act. What do fans come to games for - to get on the players or to enjoy the game?"

Gibson expressed confidence he would make it up to the Tigers before the summer is over.

"That's my goal. That's what I'm aiming for," he said.

THE HOT DOG VENDOR

There was a man who lived by the side of the road and sold hot dogs.

He sold very good hot dogs.

He put up signs along the highway and advertised in the newspaper telling how good they were.

He stood on the side of the road and cried:

"Buy a hot dog, Mister?"

And people bought.

He increased his meat and bun orders.

He bought a bigger stove to take care of his trade.

He finally got his son home from college to help him out.

But then something happened.

His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio and watching TV?"

There's a big depression.

The foreign situation is terrible.

The domestic situation is worse.

Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son's been to college, he listens to the radio and watches TV and he ought to know."

So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders, took down his signs and cancelled his newspaper ads and no longer bothered to stand out on the highway to sell his hot dogs.

And his hot dog sales fell almost overnight.

"You're right, son" the father said to the boy.

"We certainly are in the middle of a great depression."

DEAD AS A DODO

"DEAD AS A DODO" IS A COMMON EXPRESSION, BUT THE DODO REALLY EXISTED.

IT WAS A CLUMSY FLIGHTLESS BIRD THE SIZE OF A TURKEY, DISCOVERED ON THE ISLAND OF MAURITIUS IN 1507. SAILORS CALLED THEM DODOOS OR STUPID. THE BIRDS WERE SO INDISCRIMINATELY KILLED AND THEIR EGGS EATEN THAT LESS THAN 200 YEARS AFTER THEIR DISCOVERY DODOOS WERE EXTINCT.

POLLY'S POINTERS
Polly Cramer

Her cakes aren't flat

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — I wonder if anyone has solved the following annoying problem. My cakes, made either from scratch or a packaged mix, come to a pyramid on top while baking and this makes them very hard to stack and frost. — LILLIAN

DEAR LILLIAN — I have no sure cure for this problem and have had it happen many times. Do try to pour the batter in the pan so it is as even as possible. I hold the pan with batter about an inch or two above the counter and carefully drop it on the counter to even it up. When it does happen I turn the layers upside down so there is a flat surface on top for frosting. I am sure some of our good cooks will be sending me more professional suggestions for you. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is that cars do not come equipped with a horn facing out over the back bumper so we could remind tail-gaters when they get too close. — MARTHA

DEAR POLLY — The egg holder is in the top of my refrigerator door so in the summertime I use half for eggs and the other half for lemons. When I make iced tea it is so easy to just reach in without looking and grab a lemon. — HILDA

DEAR POLLY — I use hair spray to remove any ballpoint ink stains from a doll's "skin".
When baking a chocolate layer cake try sprinkling a little cocoa after greasing the pans rather than using regular flour. It will not show on the baked layers as white flour often does.
Try using cooking oil for removing stickers from furniture. Soak a small cloth in the oil and rub lightly. — MRS. F.D.

DEAR POLLY — To save time and embarrassment when I cut out money saving coupons I underline the expiration date with a red pen. I can tell at a glance which coupons are still good and do not get to the check-out counter and have this pointed out to me. — KATHY Polly will send you one of her signed thank-you newspaper coupon clippers if she uses your favorite Pointer, Peeve or Problem in her column. Write POLLY'S POINTERS in care of this newspaper.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newswriters

Q — Our house is very old, but we want to put some solar collectors on the roof to catch the sun's rays. How do we go about it?

A — Many books have been written to answer that simple question, so it would be impossible in this space to give you even an idea of everything that is involved. You should get your hands on some books on the subject, of which there are about 200, either from a bookstore or your local library. You can also call the National Solar Heating and Cooling Information Center, Rockville, Md., whose toll-free number is 800-523-1919, for specific data. Solar collectors work best when installed on the south side of the house, but remember that they are only part of the system. Besides being collected, the sun's energy must be distributed and stored. There are actually thousands of companies manufacturing such equipment, some of which make rather exaggerated claims. The government and industry are engaged in programs designed to determine which of the systems are living up to the claims made for them. If you are having a solar energy system installed, it is vital that it be done by experts.

Q — Our cedar closet doesn't seem to be working any more. It used to have a definite cedar smell, but doesn't ever since I painted the inside walls a year ago. Should I have left them unfinished? Is that why the pleasant odor is gone?

A — That's precisely why. You should not have put any finish on it. What you did was to seal in the odor that protects your clothes. You'll have to get the paint off, either with a remover of the non-flammable type or by intensive sanding or steel wooling. When the paint is off and the pores can breathe, the aroma will return.

The word "sideburns" originated with Civil War Gen. Ambrose Burnside, who is reputed to have had an admirable set of mutton-chop whiskers.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Hooked on scales

DEAR DR. LAMB — I've lost 30 pounds and want to lose a total of 40 or 50 pounds. My 30 pounds came off in a six-month period. The following six months have been discouraging and I don't seem to be able to lose any more. I gain a pound and then I lose it but I'm determined not to gain back those 30 pounds I lost.

In the past six months I seem to be getting smaller in my body as my clothes fit looser. I feel great. I take a daily vitamin but I don't have any weight loss. Maybe it's because I cheat but I still count my calorie intake. I'm on the pill and I sometimes wonder if that's the cause of it. I'm a very active person and on the go all day and now I either ride a bike at night or jump rope for more exercise. I'm 40 years of age. Can you tell me what the problem may be?

DEAR READER — The biggest problem is that you're hooked on the bathroom scales. All the scales do is tell you how many pounds you weigh. They never tell you pounds of what — whether it's pounds of water, undigested food material, fat or protein.

The purpose of losing weight is to eliminate excess body fat. You don't want to lose the normal water that's in your body. That's just as bad for your body as it is for a plant not to get the normal amount of water it deserves. Your body cells tend to wither up just like a plant will wither up if you don't give it enough water.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet, to give you the basis of a balanced diet that you can follow for the future. Of course, if you don't stick to the diet and cheat a little bit, you're not going to lose weight. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

It's important to exercise to keep from losing muscle mass and you're going in the right direction. You might wish to add daily walking to help you.

People who have not been physically active and start exercising at the same time they're on a diet may have some problem in losing pounds. Why? Because the exercise stimulates their body to develop good muscles.

There are about 600 calories in a pound of lean muscle and around 3500 calories in a pound of body fat. If you eliminate 3500 stored fat calories and lose a pound of fat, but exercise enough to use 600 calories to build a pound of muscle, there won't be any change on the scales. Even so, your body will have eliminated 2900 unwanted calories. That's progress in the right direction regardless of what your bathroom scales say.

This may explain why your clothes are looser. You may be getting rid of those fat pads underneath the skin that add to your unwanted dimensions while you're developing some healthy muscle elsewhere.

The best indication as to whether a person is too fat or not is by the amount of fat that's underneath the skin. A good healthy muscular person will have only a small amount of fat under the skin around the waist, hips and thighs. In general, it sounds like you've done a lot of good for yourself. Just don't overdo the dieting.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My son has had eczema since birth. We have doctored it most of this time and always when he was a baby. The pediatrician said he would outgrow it but he's 31 now. He clears up sometimes and then breaks out on his body, hands and in his hair.

He was given shots for years and still takes them but we really can't see very much help from them. As a baby and a child we tried to watch his foods.

What is lacking? I had a poor diet before his birth. Isn't there some way one can correct this? I insisted on good foods thereafter. We have three daughters and they have no problems. What could he take to help his system and is there a diet he could follow?

DEAR READER — The first question is the diagnosis. You need to be sure that it is simple eczema that your son has. If that is the correct diagnosis, I suspect he is going to have to live with it all his life. It's true that some children or infants have eczema as a child and it disappears. In such instances it's often related to an allergic reaction to cow's milk. In other instances it's onset is associated with the introduction of wheat cereal into the diet or eggs.

You need to understand that this is an inherited condition. Incidentally, it has nothing at all to do with your diet during the time you were pregnant with your son. At present there is nothing you can do about such inherited characteristics any more than you can change the color of your eyes or other inherited features.

The primary problem in eczema is a dry, itchy skin caused by this inherited characteristic. The other skin manifestations — weeping, redness, crusting — are usually secondary reactions.

These may be from an infection directly related to the scratching and irritation of the skin. One of the prominent features of the disorder is the excessive itching that occurs.

When a person inherits this characteristic there are numerous different factors which can precipitate an attack. This might be contact with nothing more than wool clothing. Incidentally, these people usually do better wearing clothing made of cotton fibers because they are less irritating to the skin.

When a person has infections, reddening and other problems, the first goal in treatment is to correct these complications. This may involve taking antibiotics.

Because the problem is related to drying of the skin, it's important to prevent loss of moisture from the skin. One approach to treatment is to avoid taking baths. In severely affected people, doctors often recommend total cessation of baths for long periods of time. A cleansing fluid that contains no oil or greasy material is used instead. It's important that the air in the house be adequately humidified.

READERS WHO want to know how to delay aging of the skin and such changes can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for The Health Letter number 7-10, Your Skin: Sun, Aging, Spots And Cancer. Send your request to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

THE CHURCH CAN BE A BRIDGE AS WELL AS A BUILDING

Is there a generation gap at your house? Have the lines of communication and understanding between parent and child fallen into a deep chasm of selfishness, intolerance and mutual mistrust? Take your family to Church and let them all listen to the word of God, who sent His only Son to preach the gospel of faith and love to young and old alike, so that both may better understand the meaning and purpose of life. When family needs replace individual desires, your faith will provide answers that will benefit all. Let your Church span the gap of discord with a bridge of love.

The family that prays together stays together.
