By ALLISON RYAN
Women's Editor
Riders from throughout the United States will be coming out of the chutes Friday to kick off the Hall of Fame All Girl Rodeo.

Weekend activities will range from bull riding, steer unadorned and barrel racing to a barbecue dinner, dances and special exhibits.

Friday at 8 a.m. the first slack will be run at the Riders Club Arena with 47 girls competing. Each will have two gos.

Because of the number of girls who entered the rodeo, each had to draw to determine who would ride in the morning event, called a slack, or at the nightly rodeos. Only 10 girls in each event will ride in the nightly rodeo.

This year 10 girls have entered bareback riding; 35 steer unadorned; 27 goat tying; 40 barrel racing; 39 calf roping; 57 team roping and 10 bull riding.

The Friday rodeo will begin at 7:30 p.m. with a dance following at 9 p.m. The dance will be held two miles north on Highway 385. Music will be provided by Doug Collins and the West Texas Express.

Saturday, the second slack will start at 9:30 a.m. at the arena. Each girl will have two gos with their time being averaged for a score.

A chuck wagon barbecue has been set for 4:30 p.m. Saturday at the arena.

Tickets will be $5 for adults and $2 for children. These tickets will include admission to the rodeo that night, which has been set for 7:30. As in the slack, each rider will have two gos.

Another dance will be held that night featuring Daton Todd, disk jockey. The dance will be two miles north on Highway 385 beginning at 9 p.m. An added attraction at the nightly rodeos will be the Westernaires of Colorado. The mounted youth group will lead the grand entries Friday and Saturday in addition to performing two shows each night.

About 30 riders will be in Hereford; however, the entire organization consists of approximately 1500 members. They specialize in trick riding, specialty and light show acts.

The Sunday rodeo will begin at 2 p.m. Girls who averaged the best time during the Friday and Saturday competition will compete for first place buckles and All-Around Cowgirl.

Tickets for the event are $3 for adults and $1 for children.

An added purse of $7,000 is a feature of this year's rodeo, which is sponsored by the Hereford Riders Club.

A special exhibit and art show will be conducted at the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame, located in the basement of the county library.

The show will be open Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. and on Sunday from 1-5 p.m.

Fiestas Patrias Celebration Begins Tomorrow

Local residents will join in an event celebrating the rich Mexican heritage of the Southwest with the observance of Fiestas Patrias (Mexican Independence Day) here this weekend.

Fiesta activities get underway Friday evening and continue through Saturday and will include events ranging from a parade to musical entertainment and dances.

The fiesta is sponsored by the San Jose Catholic Church here, and members of various organizations of that church will be helping to conduct activities and selling Mexican foods during the events.

Launching the fiesta will be a dance Friday at 9 p.m. at the Bull Barn.

Highlighting the evening will be the coronation of the Fiestas Patrias Queen and a grand march.

Queen candidates Elizabeth Rangel Cantu, Adelina Murillo and Maria Lorenza Cisneros raised funds for the San Jose Church during the summer in competition for the title.

Miss Cantu was named as Fiestas Patrias Queen late this summer and will be crowned Friday night.

Two bands, Los Sunshiners and Los Adventureros will provide musical entertainment Friday evening.

Fiesta activities will get underway with a parade through downtown Hereford Saturday afternoon.

Parade entrants are scheduled to form up at Sugarland Mall at 2 p.m. and will move through downtown Hereford at 2:30, with the parade to culminate at the Bull Barn.

Entries in the parade include floats from the San Jose Church, in addition to various riding clubs and other groups on hand for the Cowgirl Hall of Fame Rodeo which is also underway this weekend.

Following the parade, the San Jose Mexican Folk Dancers will provide free demonstrations of authentic Mexican folk dances beginning at 4 p.m. at the Bull Barn.

Members of the group, all Hereford natives, include Raymond Gaytan, Ernesto Alamo, George Zepeda, Angel De La Cruz, Hilda Rodriguez, Margie De La Cruz, Rosie Garza and Rosie De La Cruz.

Musical entertainment is also planned for the afternoon.

Members of the Guadalupanos of the San Jose Church, the CYO and the San Jose Ladies' Organization will be selling Mexican foods during the afternoon of dancing demonstrations.

Closing out the weekend of events Saturday will be the Gran Baile, set to begin at 8 p.m. and to continue through 2 p.m.

The grand march for the dance is scheduled for 9 p.m. Saturday.

Providing musical entertainment will be Los Orquesta 'Mi Tequila' and Los Adventureros.

Proceeds from the weekend of events will help to defray building expenses for the new San Jose Church, in addition to helping fund a hall and kitchen for the church.

Fiestas Patrias is held in recognition of an event in Mexico Sept. 16, 1810 in which Father Miguel Hidalgo, the priest of Dolores, summoned his people to the church steps and issued the cry for independence, "Mexicanos. Viva Mexico! Viva la Independencia!"

Followers of Fr. Hidalgo also carried the banner of the Virgin of Guadalupe.

Day Care Director Disapproves Of Turnover of Food Programs

By BOB NIGH
Brand Staff Writer

Bettie Dickson, Hereford Day Care, Inc. Director, joined other Texas community representatives and one federal administrator Monday in voicing disapproval of a decision by the board of the Texas Department of Human Resources to turn over the administration of children's food programs from the DHR to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. Dickson was among a group of some 150 interested parties who attended a staff hearing of the DHR in Austin Monday. Those in attendance greeted H.H. Pulliam, regional director at Dallas of Food and Nutrition Services for the USDA with applause when he said, "It is my hope that the board will see fit to continue the administration of the programs."

At stake is the operation of two children's food programs, the child care program which pays for meals served to children in day care centers, and the summer program which provides meals and snacks to children who would normally receive free or low-cost lunches at school. Combined the two programs serve more than 95,000 low-income youngsters in Texas.

The DHR recently voted to change the administration of both programs, a move which is now meeting with stiff opposition from across the state.

"We are hoping that the board (DHR) will change their decision," Mrs. Dickson said. "Everyone who spoke at the hearing Monday was in favor of the food programs remaining with the DHR."

Mrs. Dickson cited major differences in working with the two entities in question as her main objections to the change. "Dealing with the USDA," she told the group at the hearing "is like you were stuffing it down a deep, dark hole...why go from an efficient operation back to the dark ages of the USDA?"

Pulliam said there was "no way" his staff of 31, which administers programs in five states, could do as good a job as the Texas Department of Human Resources on the food programs.

"If the programs are returned to the USDA, people can say that's my problem—no, it's the problem of the children we're trying to serve," he said. "I have learned that the first tenet of Texas government is that Texans look after themselves. They look after each other."

M.J. Raymond, Jr., associate commissioner for services to families and children, noted that state had taken over the food programs in October of 1977, and he said, "Times have changed. We just don't have the staff to continue the current level of programs."

Joyce Duke, administrator of a Borger day care center who accompanied Mrs. Dickson to Austin, told the group that she had worked under both state and federal programs, and "the state is far superior." "The state thinks of you as humans rather than paper or statistics as the federal government seems to do."

Raymond told the assembled witnesses that the DHR board might consider returning only one of the two programs to the USDA and asked those in attendance to voice their preference. Most agreed with Pulliam's assessment that "both programs are so closely related, and that the state has done such a beautiful job," that he could not choose."

Mrs. Dickson is not sure what action the DHR board will take now that the opposition forces have voiced their displeasure of the move. "We're just not sure what the repercussions will be," she said.

Cruise Reservation Deadline Near

Deadline for making reservations for a Caribbean Cruise sponsored by The Hereford Brand will be Sept. 19.

The deadline date has been moved up from Sept. 22, according to Joan Coupe of Hereford Travel Center. A deposit in the amount of $150 a person is due at that time, with the remainder due on Dec. 10.

The Brand-sponsored trip, aboard the Mardi Gras cruise ship, is scheduled Feb. 22 to March 1, 1980. Port calls will be made at San Juan, St. Croix and Nassau.

Lavon Nieman, cruise host, announced that only six cabins are available on the local group package rate. She urges interested persons to make reservations with Hereford Travel Center as soon as possible.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says from the time an infant first tries to get his toes in his mouth, life is a continual struggle to make both ends meet.

A friend on Sunset says he had a neighbor whose family life was so jumbled up that it was sorta like trying to assemble something complicated without looking at the instructions. Then he learned that his local pastor had a complete book of instructions including guarantees and warnings.

We got a double dose of good news Tuesday with the announcement that Armour would remain open, and with afternoon rainfall that continued into Wednesday.

There's no doubt that the mood of the local economy had been down since Armour announced in April that the plant would be closed the last of October. The reversal of that decision is a big asset to the community, and reaction to the news is already reflecting a change in attitudes of businessmen and individuals.

It appeared that some local businesses had reduced their inventories in anticipation of losing the Armour work force and the accompanying payroll of about $8 million a year. Along with the depressed national economy, the outlook was not bright.

But with Armour staying in business here, we should have a tremendous turnaround. Hereford ought to get hustlin' again.

We've got a busy weekend of activities in the community. The Hall of Fame All Girl Rodeo comes out of the chutes Friday and continues through Sunday. The local Fiestas Patrias celebration will include a parade Saturday as Mexican Americans observe their independence day.

Actually, the action starts tonight as the Hereford Whitefaces travel to Amarillo to play the Palo Duro Dons in the second game of the young football season. The Herd will be attempting to record its first victory of the campaign.

Hereford and area citizens are more concerned about getting enough water for their future than about the flouride content in the water they already have.

That's what Environmental Protection Agency officials were told last week at an Austin hearing by Panhandle city representatives. City officials and private citizens from Texas and other states attended the hearing to protest changes proposed on EPA flouride regulations.

Dr. H. A. (Hap) Cavness represented Hereford at the meeting at the request of City Mgr. Dudley Bayne. Cavness said a major point of contention was that the proposed changes would cause an unreasonable cost for many small Texas cities, and that the regulations would eliminate the ability of the state health department to grant variances to cities.

Dr. Cavness said Panhandle and West Texas representatives gave the EPA officials a difficult time about some of their impractical regulations, but he's not sure they really listened.

Hawkins Gets Another Trial

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A man sentenced to death in the slaying of an Amarillo girl was given a new trial Wednesday because the trial judge failed to warn him sufficiently of the pitfalls of representing himself.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals on Wednesday reversed the conviction of Samuel Hawkins even though it acknowledged he had rejected "lawyer after lawyer" appointed to represent him.

Hawkins was indicted for capital murder in the February 1976 death of a 12-year-old girl who disappeared from her bed overnight.

The girl's body was found in a wash under a culvert-like bridge just over the county line in Carson County by a 16-year-old farm boy.

The trial was transferred from Amarillo to Austin over Hawkins' objection.

The appeals court said Hawkins examined witnesses, testified in his own behalf, submitted proposed jury charges and argued his case to the jury, although "standby counsel" sat with Hawkins throughout the trial. Hawkins' defense was insanity.

More Showers Sprinkle Area

By JIM STEIERT

A cool front which triggered rain shower activity in the area on Tuesday left more moisture here Wednesday, to up rainfall accumulations over widely scattered portions of the county.

While precipitation was of a drizzly nature here however, areas of downstate Texas were receiving as much as five inches of rain with low-lying areas experiencing flooding.

The Midland-Odessa area in Ector County was hit by floodwaters that forced some

He also represented himself on appeal, but the Texas Civil Liberties Union filed a brief on his behalf.

The TCLU contended that the trial court erred in permitting Hawkins to represent himself without determining whether he had made an "intelligent waiver of counsel" and without warning him of the "dangers and disadvantages of self-representation."

The appeals court said the trial judge had appointed four lawyers to represent Hawkins, who refused each one. After a special hearing was held on whether Hawkins would represent himself, the trial judge said standby counsel would be available if Hawkins changed his mind.

The appeals court noted the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in 1975 that a defendant may waive counsel and represent himself.

However, the appeals court said, "the defendant must be aware 'he will be on his own in a complex area.'"

In the Hawkins case, the court added, "we must conclude that the trial court's admonitions to appellant were not sufficient to meet either the standard for waiver of counsel or the standard enunciated" in the 1975 Supreme Court ruling.

families from their homes, and many streets in Odessa were under water part of the day Wednesday.

The remnants of Tropical Storm Danielle are responsible for record rainfall in downstate areas, but for the most part the heavy moisture has failed to make its way to the moisture-short High Plains.

Drizzle continued here yesterday and upped the 24-hour rainfall total to .30 inches at KPAN radio in the city.

Judge Eases Pain Of Broken Romance

DALLAS (AP) — Justice of the Peace Dan Eddy says he just used a little "imagination" in solving a case involving the eternal triangle that wound up in his court.

The problem began, Eddy says, when a boy jilted his old girlfriend and began dating a new girl at another high school.

A series of fights followed between the friends of the boy and his new girlfriend and friends of the old girlfriend.

At one point, two girls and the boy apparently got into a slugging match and the whole mess wound up in Eddy's court with both sides seeking a peace bond against the other.

"I thought about sending them out to the juvenile detention home for the weekend so they'd know I meant business," Eddy said after 23 children and their parents showed up in his courtroom last Friday.

But, he added, "I realized that if I put them in jail, then the war would have started all over again when they got out," he said.

Eddy thought for a moment, then reached into his pocket and pulled out two $10 bills.

"I told her to treat his friends and for him to treat her friends at the Dairy Queen near here," he said.

"I told them if they didn't, they were going to jail. It worked out fine. They were there for about an hour as I understand it."

Kidnap Suspect Identified

DALLAS (AP) — A man charged with rape three weeks ago and freed on $100,000 bond is being sought in connection with the kidnapping of 7-year-old Matthew Mueller, according to police.

Officers were searching Wednesday night for the man after the young kidnap victim spotted the suspect's picture in a photo lineup Monday, officers said.

"He (the suspect) is a bad actor," said one officer involved in the investigation who asked not to be identified. "The boy is lucky to be alive."

The North Dallas second-grader was held for 28 hours before escaping from his captor Saturday night while his mother and stepfather, John and Beth Smith, were trying to follow the kidnapper's rapidly changing plans for delivery of $30,000.

The abductor lured the North Dallas youngster into his car by asking him to help find the owner of a small white dog, police said. The man referred to the dog as Heidi and Snow.

The boy described the man's car as being blue, white or white with a blue strip with a white interior.

Secret Witness

Views Lineup

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Seven members of a motorcycle club have appeared in a lineup ordered by a federal panel investigating the shooting death of a U.S. District Judge.

The seven men, all members of the "Bandidos" motorcycle club, were seen Wednesday by a secret witness in a lineup held in the Bexar County jail.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Wayne Speck said after the lineup that "what transpired at the jail was part of the grand jury proceeding, and a report will be made to the grand jury about what took place."

Officials said the witness viewed the lineup through a one-way mirror and then left the jail under heavy guard.

Major Plant Planned for Texas

CLEVELAND (AP) — Channelview, Texas will become home of one of the world's largest methanol production plants when planned construction is completed in 1983, the Davy McKee Corp. has announced.

The subsidiary of Davy Inc. has been awarded a contract for the 200-million-gallon a year methanol plant by ARCO Chemical Co., a division of Atlantic Richfield Co.

Davy McKee Corp. and Davy Inc., both based in Cleveland, are members of Davy Corp. Ltd., an international engineering, metals and construction company serving the process, minerals, metals and energy industries.

The plant will produce methanol, using natural gas as feedstock, under low-pressure synthesis technology.

The company did not say how many jobs will be created.

Since 1967, Davy McKee has designed 16 methanol plants that produce more than 1.5 billion gallons a year.

Poland Turns to Soviets

By SUSANNE SCHAFFER
Associated Press Writer
WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Poland's hard-pressed communist regime turned to the Soviet Union for financial help to improve the lot of its restive workers as scattered strikes continued despite government pleas for an end to the labor unrest.

Polish Deputy Premier Mieczyslaw Jagielski and a delegation of Polish officials went to Moscow and met with Nikolai Baibakov, the Kremlin's chief economic planner, and other Soviet officials to discuss "a number of important questions related to Soviet-Polish economic relations," the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

It said the meeting took place "in a warm and friendly atmosphere" but gave no other details.

Following the recent strike wave that forced the Polish government to promise the workers wage increases and the right to form independent trade unions, the Kremlin agreed to give Poland additional long-term credits to help with the interest on the $20 billion owed Western banks and to pay for imports of oil, natural gas and other raw materials, according to sources in Moscow.

Earlier this week, Henryk Kisiel, Poland's economic planning chief, said the Soviets made a total of $550 million in hard-currency loans to Poland between May and last week. He also told a news conference Monday the strike had cost $1 billion in lost production and that it would cost almost $3.7 billion a year to make good on the wage hikes and other economic benefits promised the strikers.

Polish officials have said they also had promises of economic aid from other members of the Soviet Bloc and from the West. Sporadic strikes began in early July following hikes in meat prices and in mid-August exploded into a mass protest demanding political and social reforms as well as wage increases. More than 800,000 workers stopped work before the government capitulated.

Those strikes ended last week. But they have been followed by a rash of local walkouts in individual plants demanding wage increases, removal of managers or improvements in working conditions.

A government source reported at least 22 local strikes Wednesday.

Meanwhile, an investigation was launched into the case of Maciej Szczepanski, former chief of radio and television, who officials reported earlier was accused of using government funds to buy villas, foreign cars and other luxury items.

PAP, the official Polish news agency, said the government's watchdog agency, the Supreme Chamber of Control, had begun an investigation of the radio and television committee at the request of the Polish Cabinet. The announcement did not mention Szczepanski, who was fired on Aug. 24, two weeks before his close friend Edward Gierek was dismissed as chief of the Polish Communist Party last Saturday. Gierek was replaced by Stanislaw Kania.

Kenneth Campbell, Oswald's attorney, said the judge was concerned that even if an injunction were issued against Eddowes and the cemetery, another group could legally dig up the body.

Eddowes contends Oswald was replaced by a look-alike Soviet agent when he went to Russia in the late 1950s. It was the agent — Alex James Hidell — who killed President John F. Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963, Eddowes says.

The author maintains key physical differences would be discovered if the body were examined. Eddowes obtained permission to exhume the body from Marina Oswald Porter, Oswald's widow, and Dallas County Judge Garry Weber. Petty had agreed to examine the body on his own time as a private physician.

Robert Oswald says he would suffer mental anguish if the body were exhumed. He says he should have a say in the matter because he paid for the burial plot and funeral. Mrs. Porter says she wants the grave opened to settle speculation that the body might have been removed.

Settlement Sought In Oswald Exhumation

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A judge won't say if he is pressing for an out-of-court agreement on whether to exhume the body in Lee Harvey Oswald's grave, but does confirm that he has ordered the Dallas County medical examiner back into his court.

State District Judge James E. Wright declined to comment Wednesday on reports he wants all parties involved in the complex case to come to an agreement about exhuming the body in the grave of the accused presidential assassin.

But Wright announced he has rescinded his order of last week that removed the medical examiner, Dr. Charles Petty, from the suit and granted him a separate hearing in Dallas.

He reversed himself because of Petty's failure to appear at a hearing last Wednesday, Wright said.

Petty told the court last Friday he did not receive the summons until 30 minutes prior to the hearing and could not appear.

According to published reports in Dallas and Fort Worth, Wright is asking attorneys for Oswald's brother Robert and for British author Michael Eddowes to settle out of court. Otherwise, the legal fight could go on for years, the judge said.

In the growing legal tangle, Oswald is seeking an injunction to prevent Eddowes and Fort Worth's Rose Hill Cemetery from exhuming the body.

Kenneth Campbell, Oswald's attorney, said the judge was concerned that even if an injunction were issued against Eddowes and the cemetery, another group could legally dig up the body.

Clayton Desires High Court Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas House Speaker Billy Wayne Clayton and two Austin lawyers, each facing criminal charges as a result of the FBI's "Bribe" investigation, said today they need a Supreme Court justice's help to insure a fair trial.

Clayton and lawyers Donald Ray and Randall Wood told Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. they would suffer "irreparable harm" without his intervention.

A federal trial on charges of racketeering, extortion, fraud and conspiracy against the three Texans is to begin in Houston Thursday.

Last month, U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor ordered that a fourth defendant, union official L.G. Moore, be tried separately at a later date. O'Connor also issued a "protective order" stating that if Moore were called to testify at the first trial, his testimony would be sealed and unavailable to government prosecutors at his own trial.

The government appealed, and on Sunday the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ordered the trial judge to set aside the protective order.

Without the protective order, it is doubtful Moore will be called as a witness during the first trial.

"Petitioners would suffer irreparable injury if forced to trial without having L.G. Moore available as a witness; the trial court has found as a matter of fact that L.G. Moore's testimony would be exculpatory and essential to their defense," the emergency request to Powell contended.

It was filed jointly by lawyers for all four men.

Bani-Sadr was elected president last January by an overwhelming popular vote, but the Islamic Republican Party's clerical leaders and allies dominated the parliamentary elections in late spring and Bani-Sadr's supporters were virtually shut out.

The president was forced last month to accept Rajai as prime minister because the IRP would not confirm anyone he wanted to name. But on Sunday Bani-Sadr rejected a third of Rajai's Cabinet choices and said they were representatives of a "despotic" minority, an allusion to the fundamentalist IRP.

Rajai told the deputies who forced Bani-Sadr to accept him as prime minister that he discussed the rejection of the nominees with the president "but I see no possibility of reaching agreement with him in the near future because he has come to certain conclusions in an environment where certain sources were available to him."

"I have reached some conclusions after living among certain people in Iran for 20 years," Rajai added. "When I talk, a villager understands what it means to be a follower of the imam," meaning Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the leader of the Iranian revolution.

The Majlis agreed to a discussion Sunday of its reply to a letter from nearly 200 members of the U.S. Congress urging the speedy release of the hostages. It is expected to repeat the revolutionary regime's earlier demands that the United States admit complicity in the crimes charged to the late Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, apologize, pledge never to interfere in Iran again and promise to turn over the royal family's holdings in the United States.

The militants who occupied the U.S. Embassy last Oct. 4 and are still holding 49 members of its staff also attacked Bani-Sadr for his contention that the hostage crisis

HOUSTON (AP)— Harriet Hubacker, an assistant Houston city attorney, has resigned after accusing the Legal Department of sex discrimination.

Ms. Hubacker said in her letter of resignation that City Attorney Edward Cazares had made "comments that created a non-professional and demeaning work environment for women."

She said women were locked into lower-paying positions and that white males doing equal or less work than females are getting more raises and promotions.

After joining the Legal Department in 1974, Ms. Hubacker handled a number of utility rate cases.

Cazares and Mayor Jim McConn declined comment, saying they were unaware of any details included in the allegations.

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Tarrant County officials have filed court papers seeking to revoke the five-year probation being served by 18-year-old Ky Andersen, a suspect in the theft of trophies owned by professional golfer Ben Hogan.

Andersen, son of Tarrant County Commissioner Dick Andersen, was arrested Sept. 2 on a charge of burglarizing the Colonial Country Club.

The former Paschal High School student has been on probation since 1979, when he pleaded guilty to a criminal mischief charge stemming from vandalism at Arlington Heights High School.

miles northeast of the city recorded a two-day total of .60 inches of moisture for one of the best two-day accumulations in the spell of drizzle.

Other rainfall reports in the county ranged up to .50 inches, with light rainfall widespread throughout the county.

Additional moisture will be needed to stand the winter wheat crop in good shape as it is planted.

The forecast calls for widely-scattered showers in far West Texas and the Panhandle today and Friday.

budget that allows the city to reduce its tax rate by 16½ cents without affecting city services was approved by the city council after an eight-hour meeting Tuesday.

The new budget exceeds the previous budget by $6 million and includes pay raises for all city employees.

The tax rate was reduced from 64 cents per $100 valuation to 47.5 cents. City budget officer Jim Forte said the city was able to increase the budget and reduce the tax rate simultaneously by increasing fines and fees.

"What we're doing is offsetting the budget increase by raising revenue from other sources than property taxes," he said.

HOUSTON (AP)— Houston Independent School District officials say if the current enrollment trend continues both blacks and Hispanics will outnumber white pupils.

A preliminary check showed 52,700 whites, or 27.7 percent, 52,083 Hispanics, or 27.3 percent, and 85,400 blacks, or 45 percent.

HISD officials said the number of Hispanics has increased dramatically since a U.S. Supreme Court justice ordered Texas to provide free education for the children of illegal aliens.

During the first two days of this week, school officials said 1,470 blacks and 1,540 Hispanics had enrolled, almost double the number of whites who registered in the same time period.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Frances "Sissy" Farenthold, who twice ran for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, says she will vote for independent John Anderson for president in November because President Carter has an "inadequate" record.

Mrs. Farenthold, chairwoman of the National Women's Political Caucus, made the statement to reporters Tuesday night before addressing a crowd at Incarnate World College.

In her speech, Mrs. Farenthold said tenacity is the key to power for women in the 1980s.

"We need better organization, more money and a clear focus on what we are about and how to attain power," she said.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A man stabbed in the chest while defending his wife against a knife-wielding bandit was listed in fair condition Wednesday at Bexar County Hospital.

Esteban Gomez, 37, was the only person injured in a fracas at the Corckett Motel about 10 p.m. Tuesday.

Detective Ernie Riojas said Gomez's wife, Carmen, was the clerk at the motel office when a teen-ager entered and brandished a knife.

Gomez, sitting in a chair in the lobby watching television, confronted the youth and was stabbed during a brief struggle. The youth ran away without getting any money, Riojas said.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Mexico's Secretary of the Budget, Miguel de la Madrid Jurtado, will represent President Jose Lopez Portillo at the largest Diez Y Seis de Septiembre celebration ever scheduled here beginning Saturday.

Diez y Seis de Septiembre (Sept. 16), is Mexico's equivalent of the Fourth of July and commemorates the date in 1810 when Father Miguel Hidalgo gave the famous grito, or cry of independence, in the village of Delores.

De La Madred, accompanied by city and Mexican consular officials, will lay a wreath at Hidalgo's statue in Romana Plaza at 9 a.m. Saturday, then participate in the annual parade through the downtown area.

He also will participate in a celebration at Market Square, which will climax late Monday night with a reenactment of the grito.

HOUSTON (AP) — Shell Oil-Co. reported Wednesday it has increased its 1980 energy development budget by $216 million.

John F. Bookout, president, said planned investments for energy exploration and production now exceed $2.2 billion.

"This higher budget level is associated with increased domestic exploration for oil and gas both onshore and offshore and for coal mine development," Bookout said.

Bookout said Shell spent more than $6 billion on energy exploration and development in the 1975-79 period during which time the company reported net profits of $3.9 billion.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,
The Senior Supper was held last Friday night in the High School Cafeteria and was attended by many, many Hereford citizens.

I have been involved with nine of these suppers over the past few years and amazed at the turnouts.

It is great in the eyes of a parent and teacher to see so many town people interested in the activities of the school.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the parents, teachers, students and cafeteria personnel who helped with the supper. It took a lot of people working in the right direction and I am glad I was a part of this team.

Thank you,

Carter Housecleaning Pledge Examination Shows Some Progress

By ROBERT PARRY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Throughout his 1976 presidential campaign, Jimmy Carter pledged to create a government "as good and honest and decent and truthful and fair and competent and idealistic — compassionate and as filled with love as are the American people."

Portraying himself as a warrior in the battle against waste, corruption and red tape, Carter also vowed "to take a new broom to Washington and do everything possible to sweep the house of government clean."

Four years later, White House officials say the president has made headway toward those goals, largely through changes in the civil service system, the openness of his administration and his governmentwide reorganization.

Republican Ronald Reagan is ridiculing Carter's creation of two new Cabinet agencies — agencies which fulfill a Carter campaign promise. Other Republicans contend Carter failed to fulfill his promise to remove politics from the Justice Department.

The latter issue waned after Griffin Bell, a close friend of Carter's from Georgia, quit as attorney general. Bell's successor, Benjamin Civiletti, has become embroiled in a new controversy, however, stemming from his discussion with the president of a Justice Department inquiry of his brother Billy.

Another close friend of Carter's from Georgia also quit his post. Bert Lance, who was forced to resign as director of the U.S. Office of Management and Budget after only eight months in office when he became embroiled in controversy because of his personal finances and practices as head of two Georgia banks.

When Carter announced Lance's resignation, he fought back tears as he said, "I know him personally, as well as if he was my own brother. I know him without any doubt in my heart or mind to be a good and honorable man."

In April of this year, Lance was found innocent of nine charges of misusing funds from the two banks, and in June the case came to a close when a federal judge dismissed remaining bank fraud charges against him.

Carter's government reorganization has fallen short of the goal Carter pledged during the campaign, although there are more than 20 percent fewer federal government units than there were when the president took office.

Administration officials now concede the goal of cutting the number of federal agencies from 1,900 to 200 was unrealistic. The administration identified 1,846 units of the federal government in 1976 and by April 1979 had reduced that number to 1,434, mostly by eliminating advisory committees that had outlived their usefulness.

The president has made a modest dent in the federal payroll, cutting the number of full-time, permanent employees in the executive branch by about 1 1/2 percent from 1,913,008 in January 1979 to 1,884,442 by last May, the latest figures available.

White House officials also point to a dozen internal reorganizations, ranging from international trade to the president's executive office, that they say have increased efficiency and saved money. They say the administration has reduced the paperwork burden on the public by 15 percent.

Carter reorganization efforts have not been without controversy, however. Reagan charges that the creation of the departments of Energy and Education fattened the federal bureaucracy.

Harrison Wellford, a Carter reorganization expert, said that without consolidating three former energy agencies into a new department, "it would have been folly to try to develop a national energy policy."

Republican officials, however, contend that Carter's reorganizations have primarily shifted personnel around, rather than improve government.

"He rearranged the energy bureaucracy altogether, but he hasn't solved the (energy) problem," says GOP spokesman Michael Baroody. "I would argue that he's compounded it."

Carter articularly proud of legislation the White House pushed through Congress to change the the 100-year-old civil service system. They say the full benefits of the changes will not be apparent for several years.

A key change was the creation of a senior executive service that gives the White House greater leeway over disciplining, firing and rewarding thousands of government supervisory personnel at middle and upper levels.

Alan K. Campbell, director of personnel management, said the changes "have made it possible for the top people in government to require quality performance of their top managers."

Campbell also noted that the civil service changes created a special counsel to investigate complaints by "whistleblowers" — officials who have gone outside official channels to expose government wrongdoing and who may have been unjustly punished.

Critics, however, contend that the changes make the bureaucracy more susceptible to political pressure while providing little protection to federal employees who anger their superiors through public exposures.

In 1978, Carter-appointed GSA Administrator Jay Solomon launched an investigation that brought to light multimillion dollar corruption at GSA, the government's building management and supply agency.

Carter publicly vowed to support the investigation. However, after Solomon fired former GSA No. 2 man, Robert T. Griffin, a friend of House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, the GSA probe began to come apart.

In 1979, Solomon resigned, apparently under White House pressure. The new administrator, Rowland G. Freeman III, said Solomon had "overstated" the extent of corruption.

Woman Charged In Deaths

HOUSTON (AP) — A 20-year-old Houston woman has been charged with involuntary manslaughter in the traffic deaths of two pregnant sisters and a 3-year-old boy.

Authorities said Janet Elaine Thompson was held in city jail Wednesday on charges she allegedly was intoxicated when her pickup and a car collided Tuesday night on a Houston freeway. Bond was set at $10,000.

Killed were Thelma Lois Guynes, 19; her son, Cyell Eugene; and her sister, Shirley Darlene Edwards, 24, all of Houston.

An investigator for the Harris County medical examiner's office said Mrs. Edwards was six to eight months pregnant and Mrs. Guynes almost nine months pregnant.

Three other children were injured in the crash, but were in good condition at a Houston hospital, authorities said.

Investigators said the three were rescued from the wreckage by an unidentified truck driver who arrived at the scene shortly after the accident.

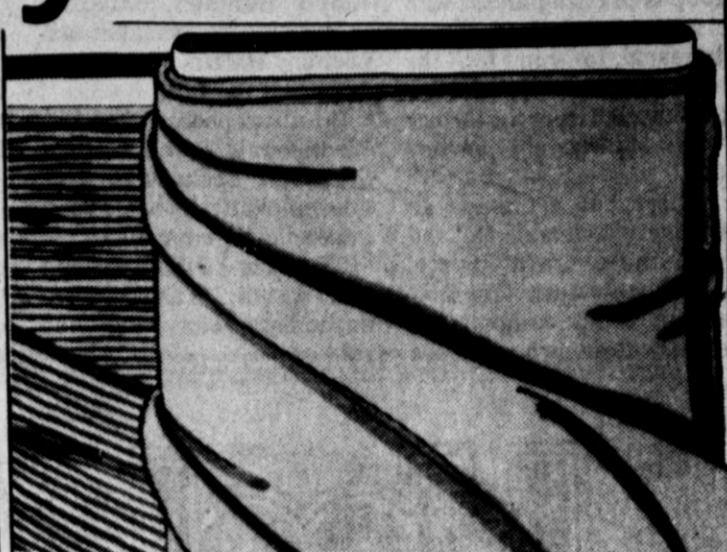

The pickup truck struck the rear of the car, sending the vehicle into a concrete pillar, investigators said. The car then flipped over and skidded about 75 feet, officers said.

Group Wants Staubach to Run for Senate Seat

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group is pressing ahead with its plans to draft Roger Staubach to run for the Senate in 1982, despite a show of disinterest from the former Dallas Cowboys' quarterback.

"Roger has not made an absolutely inviolable 'no' and he hasn't said yes," Republican Mark Tapscott said about his campaign to persuade Staubach to run for the Senate seat held by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas. "Frankly, we wouldn't expect any statement from him for some time."

In a telephone interview Wednesday from Dallas, Staubach spokesman Roz Cole emphatically denied any interest in the campaign.

"He's not having anything to do with it. He doesn't have any intention of running," she said.

Tapscott said he and fellow Texan Albert Forrester came up with the idea of drafting Staubach after the popular former quarterback retired at the end of last year's football season.

"We know his beliefs; we know what he stands for and we know about his character," Tapscott said. "I think our job at this point is to demonstrate that there is a broad base of support for him across Texas, not just in one party or the other."

The Alamo Political Action Committee was formed with the draft Staubach campaign as a special project, Tapscott said.

He said "draft Staubach" committees will be formed in major Texas cities soon and a benchmark poll is planned in January to test support.

Tapscott, now working for Ronald Reagan's presidential campaign, said he hoped Staubach would run as a Republican. Staubach is supporting Reagan this year.

"I think Roger has proven in his career that he has the capacity and the ability," Tapscott said. "Just as important are the principles that he holds. It's very obvious that Roger is very much a family man and he believes in the values that have made America great."

Staubach, 38, joined the Cowboys in 1969 after spending a four-year tour of duty in the Navy that followed his Heisman Trophy-winning stint at the U.S. Naval Academy. As a professional, he led his team to two Super Bowl victories.

Tapscott, a native of East Texas, has spent five years in Washington where he worked for conservative Republican congressmen. He is the treasurer of the Alamo PAC.

Forrester, the political action committee's chairman and an Amarillo native, is an independent political consultant. Tapscott said Forrester was active in Young Americans for Freedom and Americans for Reagan.

Bentsen, in the Senate since 1970, was asked recently what he thought about rumors Staubach might run for the Senate. The senator limited his reply to an observation that Staubach was a fine football player.

Lonely Widow Wins Judgment from Dance Club

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A "lonely widow" who paid a Nueces County dance club $29,669 in two months for lessons won a $78,001 judgment today in the Texas Supreme Court.

The high court agreed with lower courts that Fiesta Dance Clubs had taken advantage of Lenore Bailey, who had been a widow for eight years.

Mrs. Bailey sued M.L. Bennett, the dance club, M.L.B. Properties, Inc., and Clark Sesler, club manager, after she suffered two injuries dancing with instructors and decided to discontinue the lessons.

She alleged violations under the Deceptive Trade Practices-Consumer Protection Act.

Mrs. Bailey, according to court records, first learned of the club in January 1976 when she saw an advertisement offering a $60 membership for $5.

Her instructor told her she danced "rather well" and suggested she take the "Fun and Confidence" course of 32 lessons. Mrs. Bailey signed a contract for $616.

Shortly afterwards, her instructor said he had designed a course especially for her, and she signed a contract for $10,153 — withdrawing $9,000 from savings. The "Bronze and Silver Dance Program" offered 550 lessons.

After seven lessons, Mrs. Bailey was told she should take the "Gold and Supreme Gold" course and join the "Tiffany Ladies," which included only five women. The new contract was for $18,900, but Mrs. Bailey first had to take a 15-minute dancing test in Dallas. She passed the test.

Mrs. Bailey was filmed dancing, she testified, and the videotape was shown to her on color television. It was "very pretty," she said.

Next, a proposed $49,000 contract was presented to Mrs. Bailey but she refused. She also refused an additional $9,000 contract.

It was then, she said, that her instructors stopped complimenting her and club employees said they would no longer be able to pick her up at night for club parties.

Mrs. Bailey testified an instructor stepped on her foot and she could not wear a shoe for 11 weeks. When she returned to the studio, an instructor spun her in the air and she suffered two broken ribs.

She decided not to take any more lessons although she was still entitled to 1,027 lessons on three contracts.

In affirming the trial court, the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals said:

"The jury could properly infer from the evidence that the plaintiff was a lonely widow who lacked the knowledge, ability, experience, or capacity to withstand the premeditated attention lavished upon her by defendants, who purposely took advantage of her vulnerability to a grossly unfair degree."

The Supreme Court affirmed lower court rulings without writing its own opinion.

Whitefaces, Palo Duro Tangle Tonight

It was a match made in heaven, but in this instance the phrase denoted grid team meets grid team rather than boy meets girl. It was only a question of who would gild who first. And while both the Whitefaces and Palo Duro looked identical on paper (both had suffered resembling losses in their preseason openers despite my report to the contrary earlier this week - Palo Duro fell to the Clovis Wildcats 20-8 while Hereford was unraveled by the Pampa Harvesters 20-7) the Herd held one slim advantage over the Don crew in coach Don Cumpton's eye, the fact that it had rained the night before.

"If it rains like it's supposed to the next couple of days it will be all the better for us because our type of attack is much easier to run in wet weather than Palo Duro's is," said Cumpton at the Whiteface Booster Club meeting Tuesday night. "Palo Duro is a team that likes to burn you on the big run - big pass type plays and I think the prospect of rain in the forecast will only better our chances in the game because we're going to try and rely on ground attack before anything else Thursday night."

The two squads, picked in the preseason polls as candidates to establish upsets among their respective district lineups this year, are slated to face each other tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Dick Bivins Stadium in Amarillo and both will be looking for their first win of the season. The Whitefaces have been labeled as a two-point favorite going into the affair which is scheduled to be broadcast on KPAN radio at FM 106.

"We're going to come out and establish our ground attack if we can right from the beginning, but we'd like to put the ball in the air more than we did against Pampa the other night," Cumpton said.

"I guess we got into a rut the other night against Pampa by our attempts in our running game, but the game was really odd - we weren't doing too bad until the third quarter, but we were suddenly facing a two TD deficit instead of a seven-point disadvantage and our strategy changed accordingly to catch-up football," he said. "Maybe by then our passing game was too forced and too late, I don't know," he said.

On the opposite end of the line and spectrum, Palo Duro has been billed as a team that would rather throw the ball than eat breakfast. And the two favorite receivers Don quarterback Chuck Smith will be looking for are defensive-flat burners Troy Smith and Mike Wafford.

More than 900 total yards were added up between the two wide receivers a year ago on 39 completions, and it's that PD offensive threat that has Cumpton the most worried going into the affair.

"Those two guys can definitely hurt us if we let them get down behind us Thursday night. They're exceptional players in that they always know where the ball is and will be, and they've got good break-away speed too," Cumpton said. "But I think our defensive secondary is smart enough to handle whatever Palo Duro might throw at us."

As far as injuries go on the Whiteface squad, there is only one questionable player in big starting defensive tackle John Josseland. Josseland, suffering from an injured ankle in the Pampa game is expected to start, but maybe relieved said Cumpton should playing on it become to painful.

"We're in pretty good shaped health wise except for Josseland. We've decided to let him start, but we don't want that ankle to get to bad so we'll pull him if it becomes necessary."

Gullickson Fans 18 In Route To Montreal Expos Win

By KILEY ARMSTRONG
Associated Press Writer

Bill Gullickson may turn out to be a master of understatement as well as strikeouts.

"I'm actually more excited about getting the win than I am the strikeouts. It was an important victory for us," said the rookie right-hander, who came within one of the major league strikeout mark for nine innings Wednesday night when he fanned 18 Chicago Cubs to pace the Montreal Expos to a 4-2 victory.

"I had good control of the fastball, both inside and out, and I was staying ahead of the hitters," said Gullickson, who has struck out 68 batters in his last 65 innings.

Expos catcher Gary Carter said the performance put Gullickson "up there with the Koufaxes and the Drysdales, and any other strikeout pitcher...He's just a rookie. Look how many years he has ahead of him."

Montreal Manager Dick Williams said it was "the best pitching performance I've seen this year."

In other National League games Wednesday, Cincinnati beat Atlanta 3-0, Philadelphia shutout New York 5-0, Pittsburgh nipped St. Louis 7-6, Houston outlasted Los Angeles 6-5 in 12 innings and San Diego downed San Francisco 4-2.

Gullickson's performance was a major league record for a rookie. He fell one short of the overall mark of 19 shared by four pitchers.

Charles Sweeney of Providence was the first to fan 19 batters in 1884. His feat was matched by Steve Carlton with St. Louis in 1969, Tom Seaver with the New York Mets in 1970 and Nolan Ryan with California in 1974. Only five other pitchers have ever matched Gullickson's total in nine innings.

Bill Stoneman held the nine-inning strikeout record with 14, which he achieved twice in 1971. The victory maintained the injured arm would mean a maimed career. But Seaver, who leads active National League pitchers with 53 career shutouts, was back on track with his first shutout of the season.

"It was the first time in 14 years I ever had a sore arm. I didn't know what it would do to my career," said Seaver, 37, who suffered the arm miseries early in the season. George Foster's three-run homer in the first inning provided Seaver with all the runs he needed, and Seaver protected the lead, scattering eight hits and allowing two in only one inning.

Astros 6, Dodgers 5
Houston left fielder Jose Cruz clubbed a solo home run over the right field fence in the 12th inning to send the Astros into a first-place tie with the Dodgers in the National League West. The victory gave the Astros a sweep of the two-game series. The Dodgers had taken a 5-3 lead in the top of the 11th when pinch hitter Gary Thomasson drilled a two-run single before Houston rallied to tie.

Pirates 7, Cardinals 6
Manager Chuck Tanner was brimming with optimism after the Pittsburgh Pirates snapped their losing streak at five games.

"We're going to win it, because we're playing each other in the division," Tanner said of the chase in the National League East.

Kenyan Comes To Plainview

Ngetich to Pace Wayland Track

PLAINVIEW, TX (Special) - The Houston Oilers have Earl Campbell, the San Antonio Spurs have George Gervin. And Wayland Baptist College has Joel Ngetich. Ngetich may not be "The Franchise" for coach Gary Goodin's Pioneer track and field team in 1980-81, but his presence will undoubtedly be felt by a host of folks.

Ngetich is one of two Kenyans landed by Goodin for the coming season just before the fall school term began this month. The transfer out of Ranger Junior College comes to Wayland with fellow countryman Kip Mibey, who competed for two seasons at Lubbock Christian College before sitting out the 1979-80 year.

It may very well be the biggest recruiting haul in Wayland track and field history, and Goodin knows it. "I can't sleep nights thinking about the possibilities," says the second year WBC boss, whose troops begin the 1980 cross-country season next week.

With two years of collegiate eligibility remaining, Ngetich comes to Wayland with credentials that made at least 12 NCAA Division I schools sit up and take notice. He anchored Ranger's mile relay team to a 3:08 clocking and to the junior college national championship with an incredible 44.8-second leg, and holds a personal best of 45.2 seconds in the open 400-meter dash (a full 1.6 seconds under Wayland's 12-year-old school record).

He also topped the field at the national meet in the 800 meters in a personal best 1:46.2, no less than six seconds under the all-time Wayland best, but was whistled down for breaking to the inside less than a yard too soon. It was only the third time Ngetich had ever run the half-mile competitively. Ngetich, who has been in the United States only about 18 months, initially enrolled at Foothills College in Los Altos, Calif., but transferred to Ranger after one semester. During his one-year term at RJC, he won the university-college division title in the 800 meters at the Knasa Relays in a 1:47.0 effort, defeating two-time NAAIA champion Evans White of Prairie View A&M in his first competitive half-mile.

At the same meet, he anchored Ranger teams to new university-college division meet records in the sprint medley and mile relays, and says of his efforts, "I think I should have run better."

At Wayland, Goodin says Ngetich's major role will be in the 800, but his tremendous talent will lend itself to a wide variety of events. "Joel is primarily a half-miler, and that's what he likes to run best. But we'll use the 400 as speed work for him, and he gives us a tremendous amount of possibility in the relays. He should really shine during the indoor seasons because of his versatility."

Goodin added, "We don't really know yet how good Joel can run because this will be his first time ever to have a fall program. We'll have him on a weight and distance workout during the fall, and he should be ready to go by spring."

Watson Excited Over Pinehurst

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) - Although normally reluctant to voice predictions and extremely cautious in doing so, Tom Watson did have a positive approach to the $250,000 Hall of Fame Golf Tournament.

"It's one of my very favorite courses," Watson said of the famed old Pinehurst No. 2 course in the North Carolina sandhill country.

"I'm always excited about coming here, playing Pinehurst. And, usually, when I'm playing on a course I like I do pretty well," Watson said before teeing off in the first round today.

His record supports that statement. He has a history of scoring multiple victories in key events on courses he favors.

Of his 22 career American triumphs, 14 have come in only six tournaments. He has won the Byron Nelson four times. He has won twice in the Western, the Crosby, San Diego and the Tournament of Champions.

And he's won this title for the last two years.

Obviously, he's favored to do so again.

His credentials are unmatched in the game today. The winner of the British Open and six American titles this year, he has clinched both Player of the Year and leading money-winning honors for a fourth consecutive season, the latter with a record $510,258.

But a highly coveted third seasonal honor, the Vardon Trophy, is very much in jeopardy. Watson has won the Vardon, which goes to the player with the low stroke average on the PGA Tour, for the past three years.

He comes into this event with a 69.94 average, trailing Lee Trevino who has a 69.91 mark. Trevino is not playing here. Watson and Trevino each has one more tournament on his schedule this year, Trevino in San Antonio next week, Watson in Napa, Calif. the following week.

Watson needs a score of 277, seven under par, to regain the lead.

There's every good reason to believe he'll make it. He's won the last two years with scores of 277 and 272.

Ford Talks To Sports Enthusiasts

HOUSTON (AP) - Former President Gerald Ford suggested politics, like athletics, is something to fondly remember and urged President Carter to join him on the sidelines.

"I have found retirement isn't all that bad, and I would recommend it for President Carter at the earliest possible date," Ford told a private organization for sports enthusiasts Wednesday night. The former president refrained from openly campaigning for Republican presidential nominee Ronald Reagan in his speech to several hundred members of the Houston Touchdown Club.

He chose instead to reminisce about his football career, saying the experiences "came in mighty handy in the political arena."

Ford noted athletics helped him "develop a very thick skin and a reasonable tolerance of criticism that comes from many Monday-morning quarterbacks."

An effective president must learn to "ignore what the press says, what self-appointed political advisers say about what you're trying to do. If a president spends all his time worrying about what grandstand quarterbacks say, he's not going to be able to do the job."

The former Michigan center and coach at Yale reflected briefly on the 1976 campaign, but quickly noted retirement has improved his skills on the ski slopes and the golf course.

"I fall down less on the snowy slopes of Colorado, or at least the press reports them less."

Rams Hope Problems Behind for Bucs Game

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams — hoping their considerable problems of the young season are behind them — meet the Tampa Bay Buccaneers tonight in a nationally televised rematch of last season's National Football Conference title game.

The Rams won the conference crown last January in a tough defensive battle that saw the Bucs blanked 9-0 and sent Los Angeles to the Super Bowl.

Los Angeles has been in a revolving door situation with injured and unhappy players since training camp began. On Monday, quarterback Vince Ferragamo became the seventh dissident to leave the team.

He came back Tuesday after a one-day boycott over wages, and by then all veterans were back and accounted for. Coach Ray Malavasi saw the toll it took in last week's season opener, a 41-20 loss to Detroit.

"It did hurt us," he said, referring to late holdouts by Jack Youngblood, a defensive end, linebacker Jim Youngblood and defensive tackle Larry Brooks.

"I didn't feel we could waste the time and let them go without playing another game. I felt the sooner we got our veteran players in the ball game the better off we would be for the whole season. They had to get in there and start playing."

But when they came back, the Rams had to make room for them. Halfback Elvis Peacock said that hurt.

"It affected us by the guys coming in the week before the game. We had to cut some people who were good to make room for those guys. Those things hurt us. If we get those things behind us, then we'll be all right," Peacock said.

Besides the dissatisfaction, the morale situation and the cuts, there's also the problem of the top veterans getting back their timing.

Malavasi is keeping his fingers crossed that his veterans will fall in quickly. "I hope they make a bigger contribution against the Bucs than they made last week. We had just gotten them back, and it's very hard to get their timing."

"We have only two full days of practice this week. How much better they'll be is hard to say. You don't just come in and do it overnight."

He's not concerned that Ferragamo's brief walkout will fuel the situation. "I really don't think he intended to stay out," the coach said. "I think he just wanted to make a point for that one day. He's not that type of guy. He knows this is his opportunity to show what he can do."

Ferragamo, filling in for injured starter Pat Haden, guided the Rams to the victory over the Buccaneers in the NFC playoff game last year and led Los Angeles to the Super Bowl, where they lost to Pittsburgh.

Haden took his place in the starting lineup against the Lions last week but went out with a broken finger. Ferragamo finished the game. It will be Ferragamo leading the Rams against the Bucs, led by third-year quarterback Doug Williams.

Tonight's game is the fourth meeting of the two clubs and the first time Tampa Bay will play a nationally televised night game. The Bucs, under Williams, beat the Rams 21-6 early last season.

In 1978, Williams' rookie year, he was sidelined during the Rams' clash with a broken jaw.

Despite the shellacking by Detroit, Bucs Coach John McKay is certain the Rams will be ready as Tampa Bay takes on its second opponent of the season following Sunday's 17-12 win over Cincinnati.

"It's living proof you can't come in on Saturday and play on Sunday," says McKay. "But LA will be a 100 percent improved team now that they've got all their players back. Detroit ran well on them, and nobody, as a rule, runs well on the Rams."

A collection of the world's rarest postage stamps would have an estimated value of half-million dollars or more, yet the entire accumulation easily would fit in a man's wallet.

Orioles Defeat Detroit 8-4

AL Roundup

By MIKE HARRIS
AP Sports Writer

Baltimore's Pat Kelly firmly believes there's no substitute for experience.

The veteran pinch hit a grand slam homer and walked with the bases loaded Wednesday night to help the Orioles beat the Detroit Tigers 8-4. The triumph also kept his team within three games of the New York Yankees in the American League East.

The Yankees came from behind to beat Toronto 7-6 and, in other AL action, California beat Kansas City 8-3; Oakland stopped Texas 3-1; Cleveland dumped Boston 7-4; Milwaukee socked Minnesota 3-1, and Chicago slipped past Seattle 4-3.

"I'm no power hitter, but I'm no rookie any more, and I think my experience has been a big help for me," said Kelly, an 11-year veteran who led all AL pinch hitters a year ago with 12 runs batted in. "You've got to make contact. If you don't make contact, you're in trouble."

Kelly's grand slam was the fourth of his career and his third since coming to the Orioles in 1977.

Terry Crowley added a three-run homer for the Orioles, who handed Detroit its sixth straight loss.

The Yankees got the benefit of some exceptional relief pitching from Ron Davis and Rich "Goose" Gossage.

The pair shut the Blue Jays down on two hits over the final 61-3 innings and, coupled with a five-run rally in the seventh, the Yankees managed to overcome a 6-2 deficit.

Davis, 6-3, retired 12 of the 13 batters he faced, while Gossage retired the first six batters he went after, making it 28 hitters in a row he'd sent back to the dugout over a seven-game stretch. The string was snapped when he issued a two-out walk to Bob Bailor in the ninth.

Angels 8, Royals 3
California scored three runs in the seventh and four in the eighth to hand the slumping Royals their seventh loss in nine games.

The seventh-inning rally started with a routine fly to center field that Amos Otis, the AL's top percentage outfielder the last two seasons, allowed to bounce out of his glove for an error. Bobby Grich's two-run single was the key blow in the eighth.

The Royals still saw their magic number in the AL West cut to six over Texas and Oakland, who were tied for second after the A's victory over the Rangers Wednesday.

George Brett, still chasing the elusive 400 mark, sat out his fourth straight game with a sore right hand, which was to be re-examined today.

A's 3, Rangers 1
Tony Armas drove in all three Oakland runs with a homer, his 31st, and a two-run single, and Mike Norris, 19-8, pitched a five-hitter and turned in his 20th complete game of the season. Norris struck out five and walked four in lowering his earned run average to 2.27.

Indians 7, Red Sox 4

Rick Waits scattered nine hits and Bo Diaz and Dave Rosello each drove in a pair of runs to pace the Indians. Waits, 11-13, struck out eight and walked five as he threw his seventh complete game of the season. The victory boosted the Indians past the Tigers into fifth place in the AL East.

Brewers 3, Twins 1
Ben Oglivie whacked his 34th homer of the season, a two-run shot, and also drove in a run with a sacrifice fly to provide all the Milwaukee scoring. The victory was the first for interim Manager Buck Rogers, who took over Sunday for George Bamberger, who retired. It was also a big night for Cecil Cooper, who rapped out a double and two singles, to raise his season average of .362.

White Sox 4, Mariners 3

Marv Foley drove in Harold Baines with the winning run with an eighth-inning sacrifice fly that completed a Chicago comeback. The White Sox trailed 3-1, but Baines cracked a two-run double to tie the game and Foley followed with his long fly ball to give Lamarr Hoyt, 8-2, the victory. Ed Farmer pitched a scoreless ninth and picked up his 25th save.

Richard Recovering

HOUSTON (AP) — Strikeout artist J.R. Richard, felled by a stroke July 30, has a healthy appetite and is back to "his funny self again," according to teammate Joe Morgan.

Richard, still hospitalized after the stroke partially paralyzed his left side, was given permission to leave the hospital and meet at a Mexican banquet with his teammates.

Terry Puhl said the Astros ace piled his plate high during the banquet Monday. "He had more on his plate than anybody, and he had that glitter in his eye," Puhl added.

"He knows he's still part of this team."

Dr. Harold Brelsford, the team physician, said a meeting later this week might determine when Richard will be released from the hospital.

Joe Morgan, the second baseman, said Richard, after the dinner, stopped by his house before returning to the hospital.

"He laughed, he joked," Morgan said. "He was his funny self again."

Manager Bill Virdon said he joked with Richard, asking him to suit up for the Tuesday night game with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Pitcher Nolan Ryan said he thought Richard was in good spirits and looked good.

STEPHANIE BROWN
...Young Concert Artist

Concert Artist Series Set at WT

CANYON - The department of music and the Special Programs Committee of West Texas State University will present the year's first Young Concert Artists Series, pianist Stephanie Brown, this Saturday and Sunday in Mary Moody Northern Hall.

Brown will be on the WTSU campus for a two-day residency presenting two master classes on Saturday at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., and a formal recital on Sunday at 3 p.m.

Admission to YCA recitals is $3 or by subscription of $15 to the WTSU 1980 Music Celebration Series. WTSU students with identification cards will be admitted free.

The program for the recital will include "Sonata" composed by Mozart; "Tombeau de Couperin," by Ravel; and "C Major Sonata," by Brahms.

According to Stanley Potter, assistant professor of music at WTSU, pianist Brown had the singular honor of being named the first recipient of the Mortimer Levitt Career Development Awards for Women Artists in the spring of 1978.

She has performed concertos in Lincoln Center's "Mostly Mozart" festival and with orchestras including the St. Louis, Seattle and Detroit Symphonies and the New York Philharmonic. Brown also has recorded the Brahms piano quartets with violinist Alexander Schneider, violinist Walter Trampler and cellist Leslie Parnas for Vanguard Records.

Brown's early studies were with Jeaneane Dowis at the Aspen Festival, and from 1969 to 1977, she worked with Ania Dorfmann at the Juilliard School and then privately with Rudolf Serkin.

Additional information about the WTSU 1980 Musical Celebration Series or ticket reservations may be obtained at Box 238, WT Station, Canyon, Texas 79016.

ACT Assessment Available To High School Students

Postsecondary education and career planning are subjects Hereford High School juniors and seniors will be considering this year.

A national service called the ACT Assessment Program will be available to help students in deciding what to do after high school graduation.

Designed to provide guidance information for education and career planning, the widely used program is recommended for use by student applications at more than 2,700 colleges and universities.

ROTC Enrollment Increases

CANYON — An enrollment increase of 200 percent in the ROTC program at West Texas State University this fall has resulted in the appointment of Captains Ronald Williams and Paul Buckheister to the military science staff.

This semester, more than 200 students have registered for ROTC courses, compared with about 70 who participated last fall.

Lt. Col. Fred E. Lord, head of the military science department, does not believe that the reinstatement of draft registration has affected the program. Instead, he cites as major reasons for the increase university support for ROTC and especially "word-of-mouth advertising" by students already involved in the department.

Lord considers ROTC to be the "true epitome of the citizen soldier concept." He seeks to involve as many students as possible in the program to "train leaders for our country in times of crisis." He adds that "the program is challenging, but fun," and this is why it has become popular.

Despite the overall increase in student participation this year, there was a slight decrease in female enrollment. Approximately one-third of the ROTC students this year are women.

Capt. Paul R. Buckheister will be the map-reading and orienteering instructor this year, in addition to assisting Capt. Ralph Moglia with advanced training and sponsoring the Night Hawks, an extracurricular activity for ROTC students.

Buckheister was born in Greenville. He was drafted into the army in 1968 and served in Vietnam, where he was wounded. In 1974, he attended the Officer Candidates School in Fort Benning, Ga., and was commissioned as a second lieutenant, infantry. He then served for 3½ years at Ft. Riley, Kan., and 1½ years at Ft. Gordon, Ga., before coming to WTSU. He and his wife, Patti, a senior physical education major at WTSU and a licensed sky diving instructor, plan to live in Canyon.

Capt. Ronald Williams was born in Chandler, Texas. He enlisted in the army in 1970, spending eight years in Hawaii, both before and after he attended Officer Candidates School in Georgia. He arrived in Canyon in July. He lives with his wife and two children in Amarillo and will be the instructor for senior military science students this year.

Defensive Driving Course Slated For Senior Citizens

A defensive driving course will be offered Sept. 29-30 for the Hereford Senior Citizens from 1-5 p.m. each day.

Paul Hoff Jr., former Hereford resident, will conduct the course. Hoff is with the Safety Education Service of the Texas Department of Public Safety at Amarillo.

Persons who complete the course may be eligible for discounts of up to 10 percent of their auto liability insurance with approval of the insurance company.

The Center has also rescheduled their regular activities for the fall including physical fitness classes, handbell choir, square dancing classes, oil painting, and bowling.

The physical fitness class is meeting twice a week and is instructed by Esther Baer. The Wednesday fitness class is at 10:30 a.m. and the Friday class is at 1 p.m. each week.

Handbell choir, recently beginning its session, meets at 1:30 p.m. with Ray Owen, First Christian Church's minister of Music, as director.

The Kazoo Band is conducting its schedule with regular rehearsal at 10:30 a.m. the second Wednesday of each month.

Square dance classes have been set for each Monday at 3 p.m. In addition to square dancing, an instructor is being sought to teach ballroom dancing.

Lorene Newman will be teaching oil painting and the plaster classes will meet at 1:30 p.m. each Wednesday.

Bowling teams will be organized for inter-city competition with the Dimmitt Senior Citizens team. Bowling is taught twice a week with a special rate for the senior citizens.

"All senior citizens are encouraged to participate in the above activities," said Marjorie Daniels, director of the Senior Citizens Center.

Ann Landers Tacky Invitation

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please comment on the enclosed invitation to a bridal shower. I am at a loss to express my reaction.

The Tale of the Money Tree Before Sue became a prospective spouse,

She packed up her things and moved out of her house. She got her own blankets and pillows and sheets,

A toaster, a mixer, a blender that beats. She has it all from A to Z. So we've decided to grow a money tree.

Cribs, green singles will act as our leaves.

Then Sue can pick them for whatever she needs.

A more beautiful sight you couldn't see—

Than a thick foliage on that little tree.

P.S. Bring your contribution in singles, or check payable to the bride-to-be, and new bills will be bought.

Well, Ann, how about it? One word will do.—St. Louis Woman

DEAR WOMAN: The word is tacky.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In response to "Caring in Chicago" about the jailbird who had ideas on reforming potential criminals, here is a point of view from a correction officer on the other side of the bars.

The reform system in our country does not work, and it's time we admitted it and tried something else. The proof is that most offenders have a list of arrests a mile long.

Aside from being out of their cells from 8 a.m. until 11 p.m., they are allowed unlimited phone calls, three hot meals a day, access to a commissary where they can purchase luxury items, can listen to music and watch TV all day long.

Is this such a bad life for a cold winter? These people are not being punished, they are being housed. — The Way It Looks In Brooklyn

DEAR BROOKLYN: Pampering prisoners is no answer, but the other extreme is worse—witness Attica and Santa Fe. I agree the penal system in this country is nothing to brag about, but it is getting better, thanks to crusaders like Dr. Karl Menninger. (He wrote that excellent book, "The Crime of Punishment.")

Phillip Hardiman, the executive director of Cook County Department of Corrections, pointed out that a large percentage of inmates in Cook County Jail are detainees. This means they are waiting for their trials to come up — and some wait as long as three years. (Looks like the judicial system is in worse shape than the penal system.) Since these men and women have not been proven guilty of anything, they are treated fairly well. They are free to walk around in their living area, which is similar to a Spartan college dorm. There's one phone in each unit (about 19 prisoners), but all calls must be collect. They can play ping-pong or cards, watch TV, read or listen to music.

Sounds good? Darned few who are in would not prefer to be out. Another thought from your Problem Girl, Ann Landers: it costs the American taxpayer approximately $20,000 a year to keep a prisoner in the slammer (N.Y. state, $28,000). These people contribute nothing to society or to the victims of their crimes. Something is wrong with this picture!

A no-nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage—What to Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611, enclosing 50 cents and a long stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dawn Music Club Plans Supper

Meeting at the home of Mrs. J.B. Caraway, the group decided to host the supper Oct. 31 at the Dawn Community Center.

Mrs. Caraway presided at the business meeting which was opened with members repeating the Federation Music Club "Collect."

The program consisted of favorite selections from musical shows.

Mrs. R.E. Curtsinger played a piano solo, "Love Makes the World Go 'Round" from "Carnival," composed by Bob Merrill.

Mrs. H.H. Miller read poetry selections including "Recompense" by Dorothy Callaway, "Songs" by Helen Loomis Lenham and "Recuerdo" and "The Singing Woman from the Woods Edge," both by Edward St. Vincent Mallay.

Mrs. Alfred Smith expressed her appreciation of several musicals including "Sound of Music," "Oklahoma" and "Texas."

"Summer Time," by George Gershwin, from "Porgy and Bess," was vocalized by Mrs. R.T. Stewart accompanied at the piano by Bette Stewart.

Miss Stewart played "Though the Eyes of Love" from "Ice Castles," by Carol Bayer Sager.

Mrs. Ronnie Johnson sang "Impossible Dream" from "The Man from La Mancha" by Mitch Leigh. She was accompanied by Mrs. Carl Wimberley at the piano.

Mrs. Wimberley reported to the group that her grandson, David Wimberley, had been chosen to audition for the "Singing Boys Choir" of Houston.

In closing the program, members sang the Hymn of the Month.

Co-hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Robert Caraway and Mrs. Bill Caraway.

Attending the meeting were Meses. H.V. McCabe, Wertenberger, H.H. Miller, R.E. Curtsinger, Alfred Smith, Ronnie Johnson, Carl Wimberley, H.R. Stewart, R.I. Stewart, Miss Bette Stewart, the hostesses and their children Christy, Melissa and Aaron.

Hereford Senior Citizens Concur In Local Forum

More than 150 senior citizens from Randall, Swisher, Deaf Smith and Castro counties gathered at the Canyon Senior Citizen Center in Canyon recently to participate in a local forum on the White House Conference on Aging.

The purpose of the forum was to determine the needs, concerns, and opinions of the rural older American. Issues discussed by the groups included medical cost, housing, utilities, property taxes on senior citizens and the rate of social security raises.

The information gathered at the forum will be compiled for input at the White House Conference on Aging in Washington, D.C. in 1981.

Bob Davis, Congressional Aide to Representative Jack Hightower, guest speaker, spoke to the group about the changing role, attitudes, and individuality of the older American. He also offered the services of the Congressional office to the district constituents.

Local coordinator for the event and master of ceremonies was former West Texas State University professor, Dr. Emmett Smith. During registration entertainment was a sing-along provided by the Tulia Senior Citizen Choir. Lunch was served by the Canyon Senior Citizen Center.

The forum was hosted by Texas Farmers Union Green Thumb, Inc. and co-sponsored by the Canyon Senior Center, Texas Department of Human Resources and the Canyon Chamber of Commerce.

You Must Know Your Numbers

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — To have any understanding of today's economy it is said that you must know your numbers, like the 7.6 percent unemployment rate and the 12 percent prime rate and the 12.6 percent inflation.

You must know your alphabet, too, at least if you are going to have any comprehension of recent economic literature, which is filled with discussions of which letter best describes the recession.

Will it be a "U" or a "V" or an "L" or a "W"? That is, will the economy continue to fall swiftly, stay depressed for a while, and then rise swiftly, as in "U"? Will the rise be sudden, as in "V"?

While "U" and "V" are the most common descriptions, the others are drawing a following of late. An "L" recession would mean a decline that would persist. A "W" suggests a "double dip" recession.

reason the unemployment rate hasn't shot up as they had forecast.

But they don't see the decline in the jobless rate continuing. They think it will begin climbing soon. They think that any cheering, by the Carter administration and others, should cease forthwith.

"The decline in the unemployment rate, which is likely to capture the headlines, was more the result of a drop in the labor force rather than an increase in the number of employed," says Morgan Stanley.

The investment house isn't very impressed either by other economic measures. "Put simply, the underlying buying power to support renewed economic expansion is lacking at present," it is telling clients.

The adherents of "W" aren't impressed by a slight pickup in retail sales or consumer confidence. They aren't impressed by some strength in housing; they say that market will fall on its face again by October.

In fact, they argue that the rise in interest rates for homebuyers as well as businesses is already making its mark on the economy. And that mark, they say, is the mark of "W." It will fall again.

"L," which describes a depressingly straight line at the bottom of the decline. An "L" economy is one that no longer responds to the usual incentives.

Those who believe in "L" say the economy it describes is inevitable in view of bureaucratic interference and debt-induced inflation, which they say has worn out the nation's will and its productive machinery.

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Sept. 11, the 255th day of 1980. There are 111 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On Sept. 11, 1609, the island of Manhattan was discovered by English explorer Henry Hudson.

On this date:

In 1677, the first law against liquor in the American colonies was passed, in Maine.

In 1777, American forces were defeated by the British in the Revolutionary War battle of Brandywine, near Wilmington, Del.

In 1940, Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the British to be prepared for an attempted German invasion.

In 1969, Soviet President Alexei Kosygin paid a surprise visit to Peking and talked with Premier Chou En-lai.

Ten years ago, President Richard Nixon ordered federal armed guards to start

At Wits End

By ERMA BOMBECK

I thought I could endure a fall season of reruns brought about by the strike of two unions, but I can't.

Basically, I'm a weak person. I never told anyone, but once when I was watching "The Wizard of Oz" for the tenth time, something happened to me. I jumped to my feet and shouted at Dorothy, "Do you know how fat your stupid legs look wearing white anklets with black pumps? Wise up, Dorothy, you're 10 years old and you're eaten up with cellulite!" I don't know what made me say that.

Just after a summer of reruns, I am already saying unkind things to Alan Alda, Jim Garner and those nice men who work for Barney Miller.

I am sympathetic to the cause of the unions, but something has to be done before families are forced to go back to communicating with one another.

It occurs to me one solution to reruns would be to shorten the shows and extend the commercials to 30 or 60 minutes. Who among you has not wondered what happens to the guy who comes home to his surprise birthday party? His wife meets him at the door and says, "Surprise!" then gasps, "Honey, your breath!" She drags him into the nearest bathroom. Sure, we see him minutes later on an antiseptic high, breathing on everyone, but what happens the next morning? I would like to pursue that relationship.

I'd also like to see Robert Young and Mrs. Olsen meet at a party some night and see which one triumphs in the fresh-perked Olympics.

Mrs. Olsen: What are YOU doing here?
Robert Young: I'm here because Fred has been mean as a snake lately, and I think he's drinking too much caffeine.

Mrs. Olsen: I think he's ticked off because he can't come home without tripping over you with a coffee pot in your hands.

Robert Young: Coffee beans up your nose!
Mrs. Olsen: Just so they're mountain grown!

There is no question that a longer commercial format could answer a lot of questions. Do the little weirdos in the Fruit of the Loom waistband have families? Does anyone ever wonder what kind of a babysitter travels with a chalk demonstration to explain fluoride to a kid? What holds the marriage together between the plumber and his wife who are always meeting over a clogged sink? Who's been stealing all the American Express traveler's checks overseas?
It's a possibility.

Eastern Star Plans 'Friendship Night'

Order of the Eastern Star held their regular meeting Monday night at the Masonic Temple with Golda Brown, Worthy Matron, presiding. Plans were made for the organization's "Friendship Night."

"Friendship Night" is scheduled for Sept. 27 at 7 p.m. at the Temple. All Chapter's in section three have been invited to attend this event.

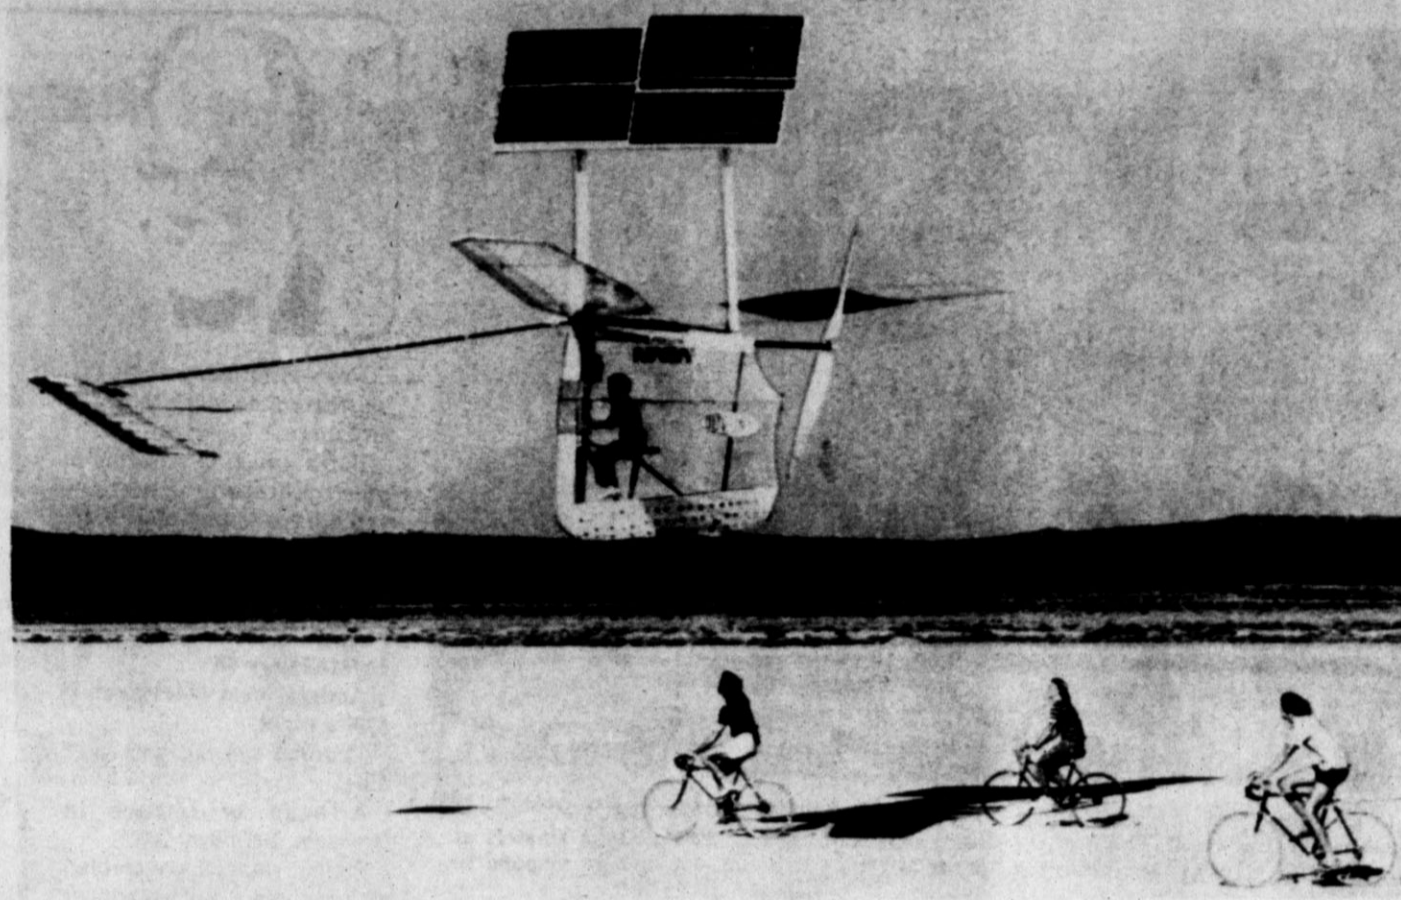

Memorial services were held and the chapter draped for Jessie Wagoner. Members received an invitation to "Friendship Night" Sept. 13 from A.E. Shirley with the chapter in Amarillo. Beverly Brooke gave a brief report on Clarendon's chapter. Members of the local chapter had traveled to Clarendon for their 50 year pin celebration in which Grand Exemplar of this District presented Charlie and Thelma Barefield with their pins.

Wanda Brown served as warden, and Dottie and Vernon Darden served as association matron and patron at the meeting Monday evening.

Hostesses for the meeting were Juanita and Horace Hershey, Irene and D.R. Holt, and Winnie Wiseman.

Twenty-four members were present.

THE GOSSAMER PENGUIN, which is described as the world's first solar-powered manned airplane, flies over a remote section of California's Mojave Desert. Pilot Janice Brown, a schoolteacher, took the plane to an altitude of 12 feet at a speed slow enough to enable her ground crew to follow on bicycles.

Conviction Reversed Over Juror Exclusion

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today reversed a Fort Worth death penalty conviction because a prospective juror was excluded for her qualms about capital punishment.

The court ordered a new trial for David Grijalva, who was assessed death by injection in the Jan. 11, 1977, slaying of Jeanette Powers, who was stabbed and beaten.

It was the first case in which the court applied a U.S. Supreme Court decision imposing new restrictions on Texas capital murder trials. The Supreme Court ordered the restrictions on June 25, when it reversed the death penalty conviction of Randall Dale Adams of Dallas.

Under lengthy questioning, the juror in the Grijalva case said that although imposing the death penalty would not be easy for her, she could do so in the proper case. She was excused anyway.

"The same error as occurred in Adams ... is evident in the record of this case," the appeals court said.

In Adams, the high court said it was unconstitutional to disqualify jurors "whose only fault was to take their responsibilities with special seriousness or to acknowledge honestly that they might or might not be affected" by the death penalty.

The state contended no error was committed because it had not used all its peremptory challenges.

A peremptory challenge is one in which either side rejects a juror without giving a reason.

But the court said it was clear from the state's death penalty statute that "in capital cases each party must exercise any peremptory challenge at the time the particular prospective juror has been qualified" and not wait until everybody on the panel has been questioned.

College Enrollment Increases

By KRISTIN GAZLAY Associated Press Writer

Students are flocking to Texas college and university campuses in higher numbers this fall and registrars credit lower attrition, stepped-up recruiting, transfers and the increased value of a diploma in a sagging economy for the influx.

"We had significant increase in the number of transfers and freshmen, an improved rate of retention and a large number of students returning to school," said a Texas Christian University spokesman in Fort Worth.

"It's going to astound people who said the decreased birth rate was going to affect colleges and universities."

The enrollment figures, gathered in a random survey Wednesday, are preliminary. Texas A&M, at College Station, increased enrollment by about seven percent, bringing its total number of students to approximately 35,500.

Women now number about 12,000, or one third of the student population.

"We've been growing quite a bit since the late 1960s," a spokesman in the registrar's office said, "and we just keep growing. In 1970, we had 14,000 students — it's up 139 percent since then."

TCU reported a healthy gain of about 5.9 percent in overall enrollment. There is an eight per cent increase in undergraduate students, the highest for a fall semester since 1973, despite a seven percent tuition increase.

The University of Texas at Dallas and the University of Houston credited students returning to school and transfers for their five percent increases.

"Being an urban campus, we have very few of the folks who come here on a four-year stint. We have a lot of people who drop in and out over a period of time," a Houston official said. "And we may have 2,000 freshmen every fall, but we get at least 5,000 transfer students."

The University of Texas at Austin and Stephen F. Austin in Nacogdoches each experienced a 4.5 enrollment hike. Officials at UT attributed the rise to its position as "the biggest and best school in the Southwest" and SFA officials breathed a collective sigh of relief that their declining enrollment had begun to correct itself.

Austin College in Sherman and Southern Methodist University in Dallas each gained 1.4 percent, which brought SMU over the 9,000 enrollment mark for the first time since 1976.

Bishop College, a small predominantly black college in Dallas, suffered the biggest decrease in enrollment, about 9 percent. University spokesmen blamed the drop on a small increase in fees and the adverse publicity it received last year when some college officials were indicted.

Texas Tech in Lubbock was the only other university polled that had smaller enrollment, but only about one per-

Conviction Upheld, Sentence Reduced

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today upheld the convictions of two men accused of killing an undercover narcotics agent in 1974 but reduced the punishment of one of them from death to life imprisonment.

Both Charles Victor Sanne and Doyle E. Skillern were assessed the death penalty by an Aransas County jury in the Oct. 23, 1974, slaying of Department of Public Safety agent Patrick Randal.

The appeals court left standing the death sentence against Skillern but changed Sanne's punishment to life imprisonment.

At an earlier trial, a jury in Live Oak County had assessed Skillern the death penalty but found Sanne would probably not commit future violent acts if allowed to live and gave him a life sentence.

The high court ruled that because of the prior jury action, "Sanne should not have been subjected to the risk of receiving the penalty of death upon his retrial following reversal of his first conviction."

"When ... the defendant has in fact received a favorable verdict on the issue of future dangerousness in his first trial, he should be entitled to ... protection against having his life placed in jeopardy a second time," the court said.

It cited the U.S. constitutional protection against double jeopardy, as interpreted recently by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Randal was last seen alive by other DPS agents when he left a motel room in Beeville with Sanne and Skillern. He had been working undercover in an attempt to buy illegal drugs from them.

Randal was found shot to death in his locked car at a roadside park in Live Oak County. Skillern and Sanne were arrested the same day in McAllen. They had Randal's gun, state-issued drug purchase money and credit cards.

At the second trial, Sanne testified he shot Randal but did so in self-defense.

In his appeal, Skillern objected to introduction of an indictment against him for murder with malice in the slaying of his brother because he actually was convicted of murder without malice.

But the appeals court said introduction of the indictment was permissible.

HEALING THROUGH PRAYER? WHY NOT

Is anyone among you suffering? He should keep on praying about it. And those who have reason to be thankful should continually be singing praises to the Lord.

Is anyone sick? He should call for the elders of the church and they should pray over him and pour a little oil upon him, calling on the Lord to heal him.

And their prayer, if offered in faith, will heal him, for the Lord will make him well; and if his sickness was caused by some sin, the Lord will forgive him.

Admit your faults to one another and pray for each other so that you may be healed. The earnest prayer of a righteous man has great power and wonderful results.

Elijah was as completely human as we are, and yet when he prayed earnestly that no rain would fall, none fell for the next three and one-half years!

Then he prayed again, this time that it would rain, and down it poured and the grass turned green and the gardens began to grow again.

Dear brothers, if anyone has slipped away from God and no longer trusts the Lord, and someone helps him understand the Truth again,

That person who brings him back to God will have saved a wandering soul from death, bringing about the forgiveness of his many sins.

Sincerely,
James

Student Loses Lawsuit

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A teen-age girl who spilled acid on herself while carrying a one-gallon jar of nitric acid to a new school classroom lost her lawsuit today in the Texas Supreme Court.

James Wagner and his daughter, Susan, 17, sued the Alvarado Independent School District, teacher Arthur Rasmussen, the principal and superintendent for $750,000.

The girl was burned May 24, 1977, when she slipped and fell on the stairs and the jar broke.

According to court records, Rasmussen offered his students a tour of the new building where science classes were to be held in the fall. He suggested that the students carry 12 one-gallon jars and all but one student agreed. Ms. Wagner volunteered.

The transfer was made safely but Ms. Wagner and a friend returned — without Rasmussen's permission or request — and it was on her second trip that the accident occurred.

A Johnson County trial court granted a summary judgment for the defendants on the basis of governmental immunity. Wagner and his daughter conceded the school district was immune but appealed on the others.

Seduction or Rape

From inflation, you can run but there's no place to run to any more.

For a gallon of gasoline in most European countries you'd have to pay more than $3. In London $3.84.

In London's West End a Big mac, without fries, is $1.90.

And coffee is $2 and cocktails are $8.

And a decent hotel room is $180 a night.

You can run but you can't hide.

A head of lettuce in Brussels, Belgium, is $2.

British wages have trebled in seven years, but an annual inflation rate of 21 percent has gobbled up the increase.

However... Maggie Thatcher's belt-tightening is working.

By curtailing wage increases and curtailing government spending, consumer prices are moderating.

The inflation rate which has been running 21 percent declined to 16.9 percent last month.

However, you must consider increased taxes.

Because their taxes increase on a graduated scale, as ours do, the more you earn the larger percentage you pay.

If you include taxes, Britain's cost of living increased another 1.1 percent.

The only valid pay raise for anybody—there or here—is a tax cut. Again, the only raise in pay that you can spend—requires a tax cut.

If the distinction between "rape" and "seduction" is a matter of "consent" — then you name it.

American taxpayers have recently suffered a 155 percent tax increase — unprotesting.

What's happened is that the higher wages we sought and got pushed us into higher tax brackets.

We've been had! They promised us cost-of-living pay increases. When the cost of living increased 10 percent our pay was increased 10 percent.

What they remembered and we forgot was that the pay increase pushed us into a higher tax bracket. A 10 percent increase in a family's annual income raises the family's income tax by 16 percent!

Thus most Americans have more income and less buying power this year than last.

And if you work hard and earn enough more to end up in "the top half" of America's wage earners, look out! The top 50 percent of taxpayers pay 93.5 percent of all taxes.

Further...

When we seek and get more money without producing more, everything we produce has to cost more.

Thus inflation further cheapens the additional dollars received. And we receive our pay increases in funny-money and end up poorer than before.

Attack Procedure Plans Worked Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. radar screens light up with the launch of a Russian missile from a submarine steaming in the North Atlantic. The target is Washington. The president, working quietly in the White House Oval Office, is notified, and is rushed in secrecy and silence to a location where he can survive the nuclear blast. Elapsed time: 12 minutes.

That scenario illustrates the breathtaking swiftness of any nuclear war in the 1980s. But federal officials say that under plans being worked out right now, they would almost certainly be able to protect enough key officials to insure the continued, democratic functioning of the United States government — even with a few short minutes' notice.

Under Presidential Directive 58, issued earlier this year, the government is working out new procedures for evacuating government officials in the event of a nuclear attack.

Responsibility for the planning is in the hands of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, which coordinates federal efforts to cope with all manner of disasters, natural and man-made. Its director, John W. Macy Jr., spoke with reporters Wednesday about his agency's efforts.

The revamping of the government mobilization plans is "the largest conducted in decades," said Macy. He said the last major overhaul had taken place in 1964, "and many of the documents still bear the '64 date."

Macy and other federal officials naturally are unwilling to provide details of the government survival program. The agency's budget, known to be in the tens of millions of dollars, is carefully hidden in the labyrinth of the federal bureaucracy.

The officials covered by the program include all those specified by the 25th amendment to the U.S. Constitution as being in line to succeed to the presidency, along with key members of Congress and the executive departments.

A number of rehearsals of the evacuation process, known as "dispersal," have been conducted over the years, according to Macy. There has even been a practice evacuation of President Carter, he said, though he would not disclose when or how it had been conducted.

And what about the rest of us?

The government says it is doing what it can, but the plans for protecting the average citizen are much less elaborate than for the president and his entourage.

The current annual budget for the agency's civil defense programs is $100 million. Under an appropriations measure that has been passed by the House and by a Senate committee, the funding would increase to $120 million next fiscal year.

But the U.S. right now is spending about 50 cents per person on civil defense, whereas U.S. intelligence agencies estimate the Soviets are spending $8 per person.

The Peloponnesian wars between Sparta and Athens began in 431 B.C. and ended with a Spartan victory in 404 B.C.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—Under our present laws it is impossible for the state to appeal in criminal cases from rulings of the trial court; this right is now available only to the defense. When we go to the polls in November we will be given a chance to change this law. Constitutional Amendment 2 would give the prosecution in criminal cases certain limited appeal rights: (1) the right to make a temporary or provisional appeal from a trial judge's ruling on the constitutionality of a statute, (2) a motion to dismiss or set aside an indictment, (3) or a motion to suppress evidence.

This rights of appeal would be made by the state before the conclusion of the trial. In addition, this legislation would allow the defendant to make an appeal before the conclusion of the trial. Under current law the defendant can make an appeal only after the trial has been concluded. Those who support this amendment maintain that assure a fair trial for both the state and the defendant.

POLLY'S POINTERS

DEAR POLLY — My painted cement porch is blistering and peeling and I would like to know what I can do to remove all the paint. Some of it is sticking firmly. — MILDRED G.
DEAR MILDRED — Use a scraper or wire brush to remove that peeling paint and sand what remains before repainting with a porch or deck paint. Before repainting you could use a 10-to-20 percent muriatic acid solution for washing away dirt and grime, and you will have a better bond for the new paint. Wear rubber gloves and handle the acid solution with care. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — When using a recipe that calls for a number of different spices or seasonings, I measure the required amounts into the caps of the jars and line them up in front of the jars in the order called for. Then, if I am called away to the phone, when I return I know at a glance which ingredients have been used. The empty or full caps tell the story. — MRS. R.E.

DEAR POLLY — While in Florida this past winter I took my polyester knits to the laundromat. After washing I put them in the dryer on a low setting. I left, but when I returned someone had turned the dryer on "high" and my knits were so wrinkled they could not be worn.

I rinsed a few pieces in a solution of white vinegar and water and hung them up to drip dry, thinking the wrinkles might come out, but that did not work. In desperation I wrung a pressing cloth out of clear water and they looked beautiful after a pressing with it. I have washed these things since then and they needed no further ironing. — HELENA

DEAR POLLY — I always hated to see candles dripping on candle holders because they were so hard to clean. Now I take them out of doors, put them on a newspaper and pour boiling water over them and they come clean as a whistle and no wax goes down my sink drain. — DOROTHY

The ancient Germans believed that by listening to the sounds of running rivers they would be able to tell the future.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Epilepsy is a symptom

DEAR DR. LAMB — When I was 12 I started having convulsions and had grand mal seizures. At that time I took all the tests needed to show epilepsy. Nothing was found to confirm it. Because money wasn't available I discontinued my medicines.

I had no trouble until I was 20 and two children later. Now I'm pronounced to be an epileptic again. At 22 I had a gallbladder operation; six months later my uterus was removed. Now I've been doctoring for epilepsy since I was 20. I have taken all the tests over again and the only conclusive thing is the right side of my brain is darker through an EEG test.

Could all of these things I've been through have made my epilepsy return? Is it possible for my epilepsy to disappear as it did when I was a child? The doctor says I now have grand mal, petit mal, focal mal and motor mal.

DEAR READER — We still refer to epilepsy as a disease, but in truth it's really a symptom. The convulsion is the symptom or sign of an electrical disturbance in the brain.

Such an electrical disturbance can be caused by any brain injury. That's why a number of people develop epileptic convulsions after having head injuries from automobile accidents. Some people are born with some variation in the electrical mechanism in the brain which makes them susceptible to having convulsions. And in many such instances there is never any underlying defect found. We don't know why these people have minor differences in electrical discharge.

People may also have convulsions because they have inadequate circulation to the brain. We see this sometimes in older people who have heart block causing poor circulation to the brain. These convulsions can be corrected by providing a cardiac pacemaker.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 10-8. Epilepsy:

Only one man can stop them.

Secret Witness Views Lineup in Probe of Death

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Seven members of a motorcycle club have appeared in a lineup ordered by a federal panel investigating the shooting death of a U.S. District Judge. The seven men, all members of the "Bandidos" motorcycle club, were seen Wednesday by a secret witness in a lineup held in the Bexar County jail. Assistant U.S. Attorney Wayne Speck said after the lineup that "what transpired at the jail was part of the grand jury proceeding; and a report will be made to the grand jury about what took place." Officials said the witness viewed the lineup through a one-way mirror and then left the jail under heavy guard. The grand jury, investigating the shooting 1979 death of U.S. District Judge Robert Wood, also subpoenaed San Antonio boxer Bobby Thomas Wednesday to question him about a story given government investigators by convicted murderer and drug dealer Robert F. Riojas. Riojas told government authorities four men were in a car from which the rifle shot was fired May 29, 1979, that killed Wood, Thomas said, adding that Riojas claimed he (Thomas) was the driver of the car used in the attack. Thomas did not testify Wednesday but was asked to return for an appearance today. The 23-member panel also held a closed meeting with U.S. District Judge William Sessions. Sessions said afterward he had sealed the record of the discussion and would not disclose the subject of the meeting. The federal panel is also investigating the attempted shooting in 1978 of then-Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr.
