

Tannery Nixes Hereford as Site

Hereford has apparently lost its bid to locate a tannery here, it was reported Thursday at the regular monthly meeting of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce directors.

There was some good news at the meeting. One of these was the announcement, and approval by the board, that Miss America, Cheryl Ann Prewitt, will be the annual banquet speaker on Feb. 5, 1981. The current Miss America will relinquish her title next month.

Dick Montgomery, chairman of the Industrial Development Committee, said tannery officials had narrowed the site selection down to Hereford and Las Cruces, N.M., then reported last week that the New Mexico site had been chosen.

Tannery officials listed three major factors in choosing New Mexico, said Montgomery. These were (1) free land in New Mexico, (2) a more favorable labor situation, and (3) guaranteed 100 percent financing of plant construction through industrial revenue bonds.

According to the tannery officials, construction of a $12 to $15 million plant is being planned. They estimated the plant would employ about 400 persons when complete production was reached in about four years. Hereford was one of about eight cities in consideration at the outset of the company's search.

Ken Rogers, C of C president, expressed disappointment that Hereford was not selected by the company, but added that chamber officials and other community leaders were not discouraged. "We are working on two industrial prospects at this time, and we will continue to strive to add industrial business that will be an asset to the community."

The board also heard a report from the business committee concerning a recent "Crazy Days" promotion, decided not to participate in a West Texas Chamber industrial trip, approved a change in the annual New Teacher Banquet, and approved the monthly financial report.

Directors decided to welcome new teachers to the community by inviting them to a special event in September. The proposed West Texas Chamber trip was for the purpose of making industrial prospect contacts in Detroit, Pittsburgh and Cleveland. Directors felt the cost per person was prohibitive at this time.

Executive vice-president Mike Carr outlined the month's activities. Directors attending the meeting included Rogers, Tom Burdett, Joan Coupe, Speedy Nieman, James Hull, Milton Adams, Dave Hopper, Earl Brookhart, and Bob Gentry.

Billy Denies Talking Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Billy Carter says he once told President Carter there should be more U.S.-Libyan trade and once got a White House briefing on Libyan C-130 cargo planes. But he denies ever trying to influence U.S. policy for Libya.

The president's brother testified under oath Thursday that the Libyans never asked him to influence U.S. policy, he never asked the president to do anything for Libya and the president would not have done it if he had asked.

The brother was called back for more questioning today by the special Senate judiciary subcommittee investigating his Libya ties.

"I never tried to change U.S. policy," he told the senators. "I may have given Jimmy my opinion, but it was just shooting the bull."

Billy said he told the president in a brief conversation that "it makes no sense" for America to buy 900 times as much in goods from Libya as it sells to Libya. He said the president "made no response at all."

The brother said he also had his associate, Henry "Randy" Coleman, call the White House and get a briefing on eight C-130 cargo planes Libya bought but the Carter administration won't allow delivered.

The administration is prohibiting export of the planes to Libya under a law that bans U.S. arms sales to countries supporting international terrorists.

But Billy testified no Libyan official ever discussed the C-130s with him and said he had Coleman ask for the White House briefing only because he had read about the controversy over the planes in newspapers.

Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., asked the president's brother what he did with the White House information after he got it.

"I stored it along with a lot of other information I store in my mind," Carter said. "I didn't do anything with it."

Carter told the senators in his opening statement that when Libya invited him for his first visit to that country September 1978, "I had been invited because I was the brother of the president."

"And just in case any government officials in Libya had the idea that I would be a vehicle through which Libya could affect U.S. policy," he said, "I stated to various Libyan officials during this first visit that I had absolutely no influence over the policy or decisions made by the United States or my brother."

The Justice Department made Carter register as a foreign agent for Libya for receiving $220,000 from the government of Libya but Carter insisted the money is part of a $500,000 loan.

The Senate investigators also questioned Carter about testimony Thursday that Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said raised "a possibility" that the $220,000 was a foreign agent payment and not the loan Carter says it is.

Ronald C. Sprague, a financial consultant, testified Thursday that Carter instructed him to press Libya for "urgent" payment of the $500,000 loan last May 2 after Carter had already received $220,000 from Libya.

Sprague said he assumed the $220,000 was part of the $500,000 Libya loan he had negotiated for Carter but said "it could be something else."

Judge Criticizes FBI Tactics

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge says an FBI informant was apparently "unleashed" during the Brilab investigation, a move that may have violated the due process rights of Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton.

U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor, presiding over a pretrial hearing that came after defense attorneys filed motions for dismissal, questioned Thursday the tactics used by key informant Joseph Hauser during the 10-month investigation.

Clayton, Deer Park labor leader L.G. Moore and Austin attorneys Randall B. Wood and Donald W. Ray were all indicted June 12 on federal racketeering, fraud, conspiracy and extortion charges in connection with the investigation.

"It appears to me that what did was kind of unleash Mr. Hauser," O'Connor told FBI agent Michael F. Wacks, who had taken the stand for the government on the fourth day of the hearing.

O'Connor's questions came after Roy Minton, Clayton's attorney, had asked Wacks why the investigation of Clayton continued after Wacks acknowledged that no one had ever indicated Clayton would take a bribe.

"The problem I have," O'Connor said, "is why you have Mr. Hauser continually pushing money at people."

"Did it ever occur to you," he asked, "that perhaps you were violating the speaker's due process rights by going forward with the con...?"

Wacks replied that it did not, and again said "no" after O'Connor asked him "as a lawyer" in retrospect, if the question of possible constitutional violations bothered him.

"That doesn't bother you at all?" O'Connor asked. "The way you went about it (offering the bribe) on a politician — offering a campaign contribution."

"No, your honor," Wacks answered, "it doesn't." Clayton received $5,000 from Moore Nov. 8 during a meeting in Clayton's office. The money had been supplied by Hauser. Clayton has said the money was a campaign contribution and that he intended to report it.

Ronald Woods, assistant U.S. attorney, noted that Clayton had not reported the gift.

Wacks also testified that "about $108,000" in bribery money had been spent during the investigation in Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

During cross-examination, Minton asked Wacks if the bribe money had been marked.

District To Hike Rate

Hereford Independent School District trustees Thursday conducted a public hearing Thursday on their intent to raise taxes 8.13 percent.

Two persons attended the hearing, which lasted about 45 minutes after the board finally gathered a quorum necessary to hold the meeting.

The increase calls for a 78-cent tax rate, which will be finally set in another school-board meeting.

The 78-cent rate will result in a tax increase of 4.83 percent to most homeowners.

Although taxes were raised 8.13 percent, a 9-percent increase has been advertised by the school district. The Tax Relief Amendment requires the percent of increase to be advertised by rounding up to the next highest figure (8.13 to 9).

The 1979 tax roll, based on 60 percent of market value, was $220 million. A $1.24 rate was applied to that total. The Tax Relief Amendment required HISD to increase its assessment ratio from 60 to 100 percent — which means that a 74.4-cent tax rate would have yielded the same amount of revenue.

However, from 1979 to 1980, approximately $6 million in property growth and an additional $13 million, which the district received because numerous residents failed to sign up for homestead exemptions and agricultural-use values (on farmland) raised the tax roll to $385 million.

Agricultural-use value also was established by the amendment.

A 72-cent rate applied to $385 million would yield the same income as the district received last year.

Already six have died in Hereford and that figure, much higher than was expected, could soar in the next month, unless precautionary measures are taken.

The victim can die within 24 hours, and some have died in as little as five.

Once the disease is contracted, there is only a slim chance of recovery, the mortality rate being as high as 80 or 90 percent.

The dead are taken to an incinerator and burned, to avoid further spread of disease.

It's called Parvo, and it is a "very acute viral infection," which strikes only dogs...And dogs are contracting the disease here.

Discovered in some army dogs in 1977, it was first thought that the disease was a mutation of a cat distemper virus, according to Dr. Aaron Hutto, a local veterinarian concerned about the spread of the disease here.

Although humans cannot contract the disease, they are one of the main carriers of it, according to the veterinarian.

"It is carried by humans who pick it up on the soles of their shoes when they've been near an infected animal," he said.

It can also be picked up by being where an infected animal died, or even laid down, according to Butch Trevino, the Hereford animal control officer, who was backed up in his statement by Hutto.

The animals cannot be buried, according to Trevino, because the virus can be spread.

"They have to be burned," he emphasized.

According to the veterinarians, some of the symptoms of the disease are failure to eat, severe depression, indicated by the dog's moping around, dehydration, fever, "hemorrhagic diarrhea", and vomiting.

"If a dog has any of these symptoms," said Hutto, "he should be brought to the veterinarian immediately...There is some blood work we can do to determine what disease the dog has."

"It is imperative that the animal be brought in right away. Death can occur within 24 hours."

Even though the mortality rate is high, Hutto said, that the animal should be brought in to a veterinarian for diagnosis.

"There are other diseases that look like this," he said. "We need a diagnosis to monitor what's happening in the community."

And even if a pet has come down with the killer, there is a slim chance that he might recover.

"Therapy is mainly supportive," said Hutto. "It involves massive fluids, gastro-intestinal protectants and antibiotics for secondary infections."

Teachers Endorse President Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter, campaigning for the second straight day, is hoping to impress the American Federation of Teachers with a defense of his record and a "highly partisan" attack on his Republican opponent.

The president, who won an endorsement from the 550,000-member union Thursday, was traveling to Detroit to deliver the speech today.

The federation allied itself with Carter in 1976, but switched earlier this year to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. With the senator out of the presidential race, the union became free to endorse Carter.

The White House had said earlier that the teachers' union endorsement would be welcome, and Frank Moore, the president's congressional liaison, predicted even before the action was taken that the endorsement would be granted.

"We wouldn't be going there otherwise," Moore said Thursday.

Kennedy appeared before 2,300 members of the federation Thursday and urged them to support Carter. Earlier in the day, the senator had sounded the same message in greeting Carter at Logan International Airport in Boston, where the president came to address the American Legion.

"We are ready to help him," Kennedy told the teachers in a speech interrupted 28 times by applause.

"We must support and work for the Democratic candidates, and together we must support and work for the re-election of President Carter."

Carter's speech to the teachers was expected to focus on his administration's education policies as well as on Ronald Reagan, the GOP presidential nominee. The president, who created a separate Department of Education during his tenure, already has strong support from the National Education Association.

A White House aide described it as a "highly partisan speech."

The cost of the trip is being picked up by the Carter-Mondale Presidential Committee, according to

Enrollment Revealed At 4,220

Hereford Independent School District officials reported today that 4,220 students registered Thursday for next Monday's start of classes.

That compares with 4,345 on registration day a year ago.

"We projected about a hundred declines so we don't miss it much," Superintendent Harrell Holder said. "Our registration figures usually correspond to what we'll show throughout the school year."

The school district has projected a peak enrollment during the year of 5,200 students, which compared with an approximate peak of 5,350 last year.

Consumer Prices Hold Level

WASHINGTON (AP) — Inflation at the consumer level eased in July, but the improvement is illusory, private economists say.

The government releases its report on consumer prices today. It was expected to show a dramatic decline in home financing costs, but a sharp rise in food prices, these economists say.

"Obviously, the increase in food prices is more significant than the decrease in housing costs," said Michael Evans, head of Evans Economics of Washington, D.C. "There's really no comparison."

"People go to the supermarket every week; they may buy a house once every seven or eight years," he said. "Less than a million people a year might be affected by mortgage costs; everyone feels the bite of higher food bills."

Allen Sinai, vice president of Data Resources Inc., of Lexington, Mass., said the Consumer Price Index for July "may show better results, but this is not indicative of inflation's true direction at this time."

The expected decline in home finance costs in July's report actually reflects conditions as far back as May, these economists say.

However, in recent weeks, both house prices and mortgage rates have begun to climb higher again. This won't be measured by the Consumer Price Index until the fall, they added.

Even July's rise in consumer food prices does not tell the full story, said Sinai. Wholesale food prices rose about 9 percent in July, but the full impact won't hit consumers for another month or two.

Rocketing food prices partly reflect the searing drought that has afflicted the Midwest and South this summer, killing off poultry and other animals while drying out corn and grain fields.

"Accelerating food prices already are evident at the supermarket," said Sinai. "Since food's a necessity, its effect on peoples' purchasing power is greater and more immediate than the impact of previous housing cost rises," he added.

Many economists now expect food prices to rise at a 20 percent annual rate through the last part of 1980.

This is in sharp contrast with past months when food prices moderated, thus offsetting the sharp rise in mortgage rates. Consumer food prices rose only 0.5 percent in June and 0.3 percent in May.

Overall, consumer prices increased 1 percent in June and

DA Stresses Improved LE Relationship

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

If there were only one thing Roland Saul wanted to accomplish as district attorney when he ran against incumbent Andy Shuval in 1978, it would have been to improve relations between the office and local law-enforcement agencies.

It was an area which seemed to need improvement — a surprising point when you consider the fact that the district attorney's office is the county's chief law-enforcement agency.

Saul, talked into running for the office by a large corps of friends, feels he has improved relations.

"I think we've done that. I had always felt that I could establish a better working relationship with law enforcement than we've had in the past," said Saul from behind his desk in the downtown law office of Saul, Smith and Davis.

"This office has got to work with and get along with the police and sheriff's department. If you can't work with the other agencies, your of-ice is much less effective. One thing I believe is that the police and sheriff's departments are so crucial to the function of the district attorney's office," Saul added.

Saul — young, aggressive but much softer-spoken than his opponent — won in the 1978 spring primary then became district attorney six months early when Shuval resigned and county commissioners appointed Saul to fill the unexpired term.

"I ran because I was asked by a lot of people, particularly people in law enforcement," Saul said.

Saul, born and raised in Plainview, attended Wayland Baptist College in that South Plains city on a basketball

Judge Postpones

Exhumation Hearing

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A state district judge has put off indefinitely the decision of whether to allow the exhumation of the body of accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

Judge James Wright, of Fort Worth, postponed a hearing on a lawsuit to block the exhumation after several motions were filed by an attorney for the accused presidential assassin's brother, Robert Oswald, and by the Dallas County medical examiner.

Oswald filed suit last week to block exhumation attempts by a British author who is trying to prove the body in the Fort Worth grave is that of a Russian impostor.

At that time, Wright issued an injunction against author Michael Edgemoor, who claimed he had "legal authority" to exhume the body and have an autopsy performed.

Finance Committee

Approves Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the Senate Finance Committee, rejecting arguments that a tax cut now would be inflationary, say the nearly $39 billion package of tax reductions they have approved is the right prescription for the economy.

A bill agreed upon by the committee Thursday includes about $22 billion worth of cuts in personal income taxes and about $17 billion in business tax cuts. The committee staff said the figures are still estimates and subject to revision.

Preliminary figures from the committee show personal income tax cuts proposed by the panel would reduce individual taxes by about 8 percent overall.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., the committee chairman, hailed the bill saying, "It will fight inflation, it will increase jobs, it will increase production, it will help bring us out of the recession, it will help industrialize America."

He added that he thought it was the best revenue bill "business has seen in the last 30 years."

Iranians Deny

Killing 5 Hostages

By The Associated Press

Four men and two women were executed after being found guilty of heroin trafficking and "spreading prostitution" in the western Iranian city of Khorramabad, Tehran radio reported today.

The radio said the special court investigating drugs in Khorramabad found the six guilty of "corruption on Earth and waging war against God" and they were executed Thursday.

The Iranian revolution toppled Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi in February 1979; hundreds of Iranians found guilty of drug trafficking and prostitution have been executed. The number put to death has increased this year under special anti-narcotics courts presided over by revolutionary judge Sadegh Khaikhal.

In another development, the Iranian Foreign Ministry denied a Lebanese radio report today claiming five of the American hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran were killed while trying to escape.

California Woman

Sentenced to Death

HOUSTON (AP) — A California woman who told police she watched her two strangulation victims writhe in agony for 10 minutes each has been sentenced to die by lethal injection for one of the slayings.

Pamela Lynn Perillo, 34, of Lynwood, Calif., was sentenced to death Thursday for killing 26-year-old Bob Skeems of Houma, La., by looping a rope around his neck and pulling on the end until he strangled.

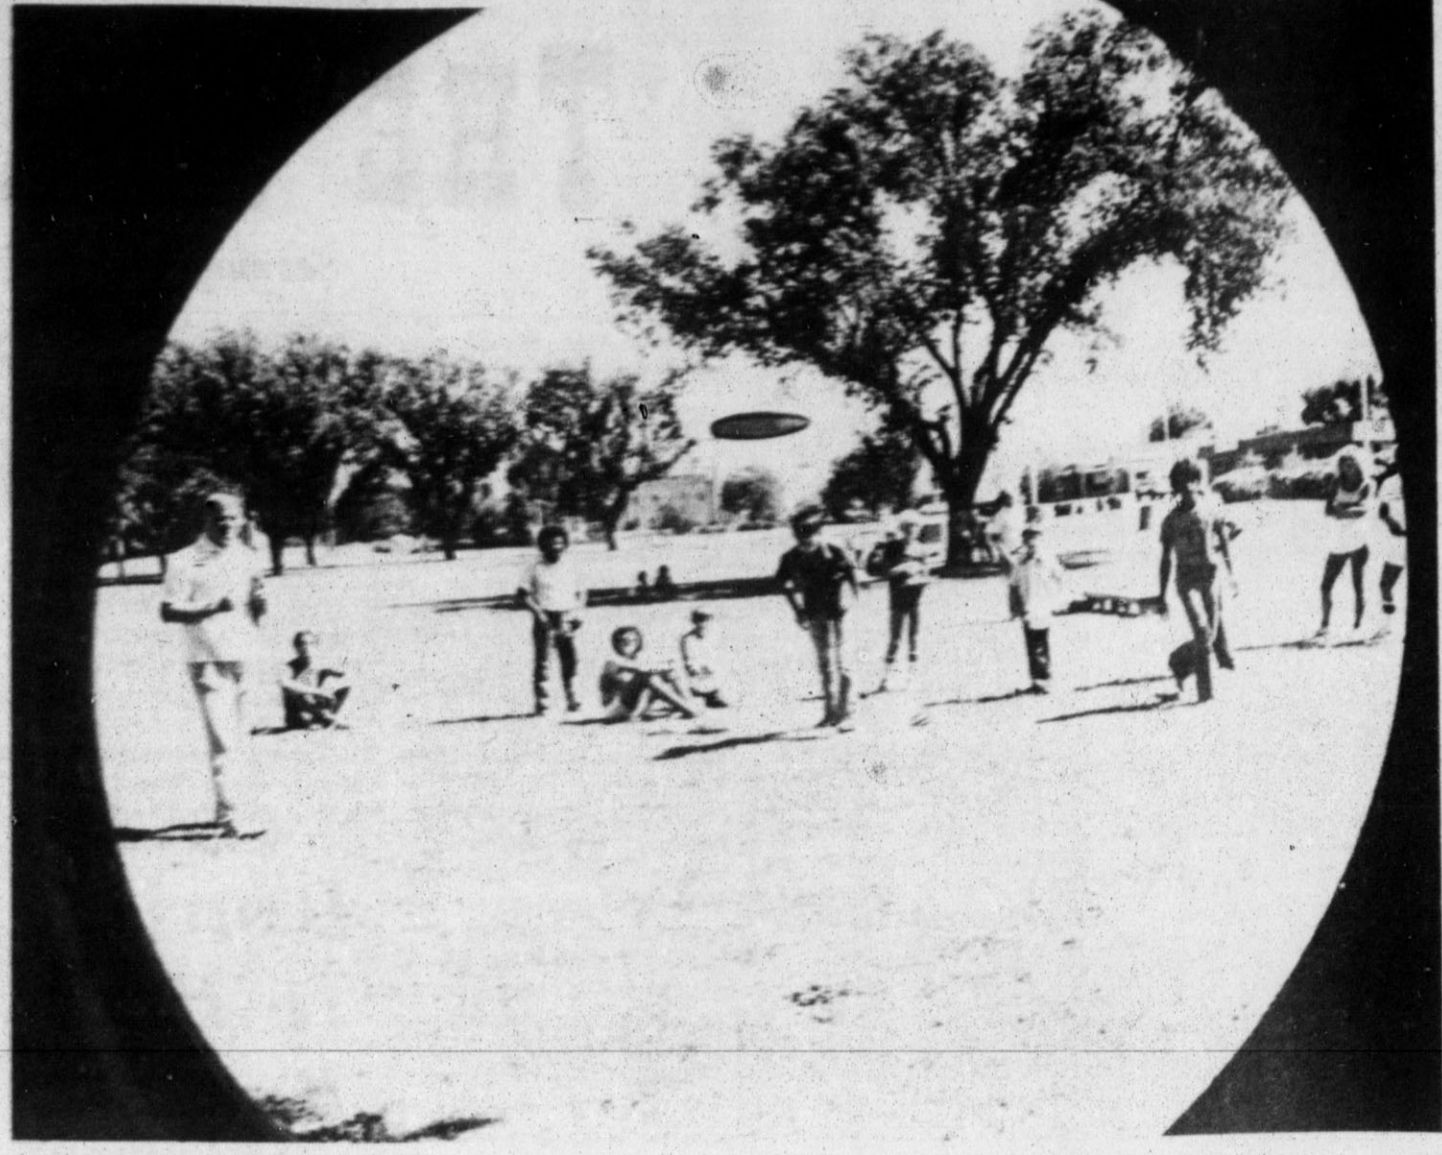

It was the first death penalty assessed to a woman in Harris County courts since 1963. Only one other woman is on Texas' Death Row.

Skeems and Bob Banks, 30, were found dead in late February in Banks' Houston home. Prosecutors said Ms. Perillo and two companions met the victims while hitchhiking through Houston.

According to testimony by a Denver, Colo. detective, Ms. Perillo surrendered to Denver police and gave an account of the killings.

Saul was graduated from Texas Tech law school in 1973 and moved to Hereford as assistant district attorney.

"I had applied for a job with an attorney in Floydada," Saul said. "The district attorney here had gotten a grant for an assistant and he hired me. I wanted to get a job where I could get some trial experience."

"It worked out real well because my wife was raised in Hereford and her father lived here."

Saul worked for Shuval until January, 1976, then entered private practice with the law firm of Tubb and Easterwood. He resigned from the firm in mid-1979.

"I terminated my partnership because, while I was district attorney, they couldn't have their criminal practice, which had been a good practice in the past," Saul said.

The criminal district attorney's office is primarily responsible for prosecuting individuals charged with crimes. Since the county has no county attorney, Saul's office is also responsible for advising the commissioners' court in legal matters.

Juvenile cases, child-welfare cases and hot checks are handled by the DA's office.

Saul's office includes his assistants, Jerry Smith and Don Davis; an investigator; an office manager; and two full-time secretaries.

Saul said his age has not been a detriment to the performance of his duties. "I'm Wacks replied that it had not, then added that such a procedure was not deemed necessary by the FBI.

Mike Ramsey, Moore's attorney, also sharply questioned Wacks about Hauser's tactics, at one point saying Hauser "begged" labor official Harold Grubbs to take a $1,000 consideration.

Ramsey pointed out that when Grubbs refused to take the first offer of "consideration," that Hauser then offered $2,000.

"He (Grubbs) absolutely refused it (the first offer)," Ramsey said, noting that Grubbs said he would take the money in the form of a legal contribution made by check.

"Hauser's response to a legal means of payment was 'no, let's do it in cash' so that it would be illegal. Isn't that correct?" asked Ramsey.

"Yes," replied Wacks, who posed as an insurance executive with Hauser during the investigation.

"Grubbs is trying to do what's right and Hauser is doing it with cash. Is that right? That's persuasion, isn't it?" Ramsey again asked.

"Yes," the agent replied.

Later in the hearing, Woods tried to establish that Clayton's due process rights had not been violated by asking Wacks if Moore had not been responsible for arranging the meeting with the speaker.

The question drew a barrage of objections from defense attorneys. When Woods told O'Connor he was only trying to answer the judge's questions, O'Connor smiled and replied, "I'll withdraw my questions."

During his six hours on the stand, Wacks told the court how he and FBI agent Larry Montague were "president" and "vice president" of the Fidelity Financial Consultants, a firm set up to house the Brilab operation.

Hauser, now in the federal witness protection program, was the firm's "financial consultant."

He said Hauser's initial contact in Texas was Bernard Rapoport, a prominent Waco Democrat that Hauser knew.

presidential press secretary Jody Powell.

The teachers federation endorsed Kennedy last March, when he still was a contender for the Democratic presidential nomination. The senator ended his underdog candidacy last week.

When he greeted Carter at the Boston airport Thursday, Kennedy was considerably more enthusiastic than their last appearance together on the platform of the Democratic National Convention a week ago.

In a related development, an aide in Carter's campaign organization said Thursday that campaign officials are considering seeking sponsors other than the League of Women Voters for this fall's presidential debates.

The League sponsored the debates during the 1976 presidential election and Carter's camp is reportedly miffed at not being consulted on preparations for the 1980 meetings.

While officials of the president's campaign concede it's likely they'll participate in the League-sponsored debates, they are considering asking for proposals from other groups also, said the aide, who asked not to be identified.

Virus

"You can save some of the animals."

The animal control officer said that there is a vaccine available and that all dogs should have it.

"It's a vaccine called Pavrocine," agreed the vet. "There are two shots, given at least three weeks apart. It's extremely important that you get two. We've had some dogs only have the one vaccine, and they did get the virus."

"But we were able to save them," he added.

The vaccine is not expensive, usually costing less than $10.

Besides being carried by humans, Pavro is spread by direct contact with an infected animal, or in an area frequented by an infected animal, it can be carried by fleas and ticks.

If an animal does die, the animal shelter should be called, in order to prevent the spread of the disease to other animals.

Prices

0.9 percent in both May and April.

The Labor Department reported that: —Housing costs dropped 0.7 percent, after rising 1.5 percent and 1.8 percent in May and June, respectively. The reversal was due to a steep, 5.7-percent plunge in mortgage interest rates and a 0.5-percent decline in housing prices.

—Food and beverage prices, after going up only 0.8 percent in May and June combined, accelerated by 0.9 percent last month. Prices at grocery stores increased 1.2 percent, after rising only 1.5 percent during the first six months of this year.

Prices for beef, pork, and poultry shot up sharply, following three months of decline. Fruits, vegetables and dairy products also registered substantial increases. Restaurant meals, foods at other than grocery outlets and beverages, including alcohol, rose a combined 0.5 percent in July.

—For the third consecutive month, the price of gasoline fell, but not as much as in May and June. Gasoline was down 0.5 percent in July compared with a 1 percent drop the month before.

—Automobile finance charges, which had advanced sharply earlier this year, declined 2.6 percent in July.

—Medical care was up 0.7 percent following increases of 0.5 percent in May and June.

—The price of apparel and its upkeep rose 0.4 percent last month, compared with no change in June.

—Entertainment costs increased 0.8 percent.

All these changes are seasonally adjusted.

Toy Poisons Children

DALLAS (AP) — The culprit in the worst case of mercury poisoning ever discovered in Dallas was a 12-ounce perfume bottle filled with a glittering silver liquid that was a surprise gift for several children.

Playing with the homemade "toy," the youngsters poured the substance into their hands and onto the carpet in their homes.

When the Hernandez and Gallegos children developed severe stomach cramps and rashes, their parents blamed a virus.

"When we first went out there to take a measurement on the mercury, it went completely off the scale," said John Hulla, an industrial hygienist with the Texas Department of Health.

"The last time we went out Aug. 9, the mercury content in the house was 14 times what is considered safe. We don't know how much longer this can go on."

But the children's parents refuse to leave their contaminated homes, even though they are aware of how lethal the poisoning can be.

Gerónimo Hernandez, 33, and his wife Maria, 28, do not speak English. Fernando Gallegos, 30, and his wife Lupe understand little English.

They say they did not realize the danger of mercury poisoning when health officials discovered it last month — almost three weeks after the liquid was brought as a gift to the Gallegos home.

If new readings show the mercury levels have not declined, the families may be forced to leave, Hulla said.

"I don't know what happened," Mrs. Hernandez said through her daughter, who speaks limited English. "I don't know if we should move. Who has money to move?"

The mercury was brought to the Gallegos' children by the boyfriend of the oldest daughter. The young man got the mercury at his job and thought it would make an

Church Fires Gay Organist

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — For three months Kevin Walker played the organ for the 45 members of the First Orthodox Presbyterian Church in San Francisco's neat, middle-class Sunset district.

Church members didn't know he was gay.

Walker neither flaunted nor hid his homosexuality, says Pastor Charles McIlhenny, but after a member discovered the fact, McIlhenny tried to convince the musician that homosexuality is "sinful."

"He would not conform to what the Scriptures said about homosexuality," McIlhenny recalled recently, adding that Walker had a "similarly" Christian background to others in the fundamentalist congregation. Walker, who wasn't a church member, was fired.

Gay advocates, a legal group which supports homosexual rights, took the church to court. The group claimed the 1978 firing violated San Francisco's ordinance banning discrimination in employment because of sexual preference.

Burglaries and Child Negligence Reported

By DAWN MCCALIN
Brand Staff Writer

Two middle-aged black males, suspected by police to be the same ones who have been taking Hereford businesses for small amounts of money by short changing them, may have turned now to outright thieving, police said.

A roll of quarters and a lady's purse were their most recent takes, from the Band B Upholstery, 309 Jowell.

Donna Rowe, who runs the shop, told police that she and her husband had been in the back of the business when the subjects entered. When she went to wait on them, one of the men was coming up from the rear of the store.

After asking how much it would cost to have the cab of a pickup repolished, the man left, and it was not until later that Mrs. Rowe and her husband found the items missing from the office.

Police said that they have turned one case of child negligence over to the welfare office for possible action.

The case involved two small boys who were repeatedly left at home while their parents went out.

Vandals struck a rent property belonging to Victor Estrada, 219 Bradley.

Estrada told police that at least $400 worth of damage has been done to his rental property, including holes kicked in the wall and pieces of sheet rock broken.

Sam Pruitt of Pruitt's Truck Service, reported that five or six weeks ago, an intake and air hose were stolen from his business.

Pruitt told police he believes he knows who took the items, valued at $350.

A yellow 28 inch boy's bike, belonging to Helen Luna, 135 Ave. H, was stolen from her front yard.

The bike, valued at $50, had no brakes.

Police also said they will be filing on one man for disorderly conduct. They issued 10 traffic citations.

Pioneer Club Gets Underway

Beginning its seventy-second year as a Hereford Women's club, the Pioneer Study Club met Thursday morning in the Reddy Room for a coffee, in conjunction with a board meeting and workshop.

It was announced that the first regular meeting of the club will be at 11:30 a.m. on Sept. 23 at the country club. At that time, a guest speaker will address the ladies on the topic of "Americanism."

Presided over by Mrs. R.L. Wilson, president, board members discussed plans 1 programs for the upcoming year, and Mrs. Wilson read her list of committees.

The budget for the club was presented to the board for approval by Mrs. Hermanford, the club's treasurer, and plans for the yearbook were revealed by the yearbook chairman, Mrs. Ray Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson also read the list of hostesses for the upcoming year.

The theme for this year's yearbook will be "One Direction, Many Paths."

The Pioneer Study Club, which is not an open club, having a limited membership of 30, will meet every second or fourth Tuesday for lunch. The club is a member of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, and the Top of Texas District.

Those present at the meeting were Miss Roberta Campbell, and the Mmes. Jim Clark, Hermanford, W.C. Hromas, Ray L. Johnson, L.H. Lookingbill Sr., H.E. Miller, Ted Panchera, J.V. Pickens, Paul Rudd, P.B. Sowell, R.L. Wilson, and Wm.W. Wimberly.

Ann Landers Handling Drop-Ins

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You have said repeatedly in plain English that it is bad manners to drop in on people unexpectedly. I agree 100 percent, but my brother-in-law and his wife say they are not guests - they are FAMILY.

Three weeks ago my husband and I were cleaning our double garage. It was a mess, and we were filthy from top to bottom. Who drives up but my brother-in-law and his wife. We had to stop everything, go get cleaned up and put on the coffee. I was furious.

The following week we were weeding the garden, planting flowers and trimming the hedges. Lo and behold, my brother-in-law and his wife pulled up. My husband and I were annoyed but tried not to show it. I was caked with dirt and excused myself to go take a bath. It was a very long bath - on purpose.

When I came downstairs my brother-in-law chewed me out for being "rude." I blew up and yelled back, "You are the rude ones. When people have things to do, like yard work or garage cleaning, they don't appreciate being dropped in on." Then I quoted you. He said, "Ann Landers is crazy - relatives should be welcome any time." Please reply. - Mrs. J.J. Of Youngstown

DEAR J.J.: If your brother-in-law thinks I am crazy, my word won't mean much. But I would like to say something to you. The only way you will stop these clods from imposing is to keep on with your weeding or cleaning or whatever you are doing when they arrive unexpectedly. Say, "Sorry, we have to get this done. Next time phone ahead." And keep right on working.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My son has leukemia. It is a difficult disease to cope with, especially since he is not responding to therapy. Despite the anguish, I know I will see this ordeal through - thanks to my wonderful family and friends.

Many other parents are not as fortunate. When a member of the family becomes seriously ill, friends and relatives often stop calling. Perhaps they are afraid they will say the wrong thing, or they find sick people depressing. Whatever the reason, they are nowhere around. The grieving parent or patient considers it desertion at a time when the need for support is critical. The message I am trying to get across is this: If you have a friend, relative or neighbor who is going through a traumatic time, BE THERE for them, please. Pay a visit, make a phone call, send a card or a letter. And say or do whatever you feel is appropriate. Don't be afraid to laugh or cry. The most precious gift you can give is yourself. It will help more than you know. - Chris's Mom

DEAR MOM: Thank you for saying something that a great many people need to hear. Your letter is sure to move them.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a grown woman who decided to take my "problem" to you, like so many others have. Promise not to laugh at me.

I have a terrible time accepting a compliment gracefully. Whenever someone says, "That's a pretty dress," I reply, "It's an old one," or, "I wore it because it's so comfortable." It's a bad habit and I'd love to break it. Please tell me how. - Minnie in Medicine Hat, Alberta

DEAR MINNIE: Welcome to the club. I had the same problem until I learned a few canned responses: "Thank you for saying that, I like this dress, too." Or, "How nice of you to notice. You made my day." After a while, it will come naturally.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Love or Sex and How to Tell the Difference." For a copy, mail 50 cents and a long, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN

The gazebo in the yard at the E.B. Black House is almost completed, and that adds a finishing touch to the handsome setting of this early-day Hereford home which has been restored as an example of one of the fine residences in the city about 1910.

A thick carpet of grass covers the lawn, much of it native prairie grass on the east side of the house. The flower beds are a blossoming monument to Sue James' hours of work and planning. (Of course others helped her, but she has earned most of the credit.)

The gazebo - we used to call them summerhouses and I can remember only one, which I considered the height of elegance, down at Memphis where I lived as a child - is in the center of the old-fashioned flower garden at the back of the lot.

Narrow walks all lead to it, bordering the beds that have been a riot of bloom all summer. This week I noticed that the roses are all a blossom again, there are drifts of scarlet petunias, and deep purple ones, too, as well as foxglove, snapdragon, sweet sultan, early chrysanthemums and rose moss.

Beds of tall yarrow were dazzling yellow last month, but the blooms have dried now and are as striking in a different way.

If you don't see how all these can be combined beautifully in a relatively small space, drop by the house at 508 W. 3rd. It's a part of our county historical museum, you know, and maintained for the public's pleasure.

People came back home to the Frio Baptist Church from various places last Sunday when the congregation celebrated its Golden Anniversary. Orna Lee Dickson had two of her sisters as weekend visitors and they all went to the church they used to attend when they lived in Frio community.

Louise and Clarence Smith were here from Wellington, Della Mae McReynolds from Amarillo.

The traveling Thompsons, Alice and Robert, got back home last week after acting as directors of another bus tour, this time to national parks and monuments in the Rocky Mountain area. For a change, nobody from Hereford was a passenger on this tour, so the Thompsons say they "could do as they pleased and not get told on."

They went as far north as South Dakota and over to Montana, then down through Utah and Colorado on the two-week trip. Now they look forward to conducting a New England fall tour that is a favorite for them.

Some families have been crowding last-minute vacation trips into the final weeks before schooltime, and the Frank Bethunes enjoyed a few days of camping in the New Mexico mountains near Red River last week. They got home Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Zinser and children, Dana and Derek, of Conway, Ark. have been visiting Zinser's mother, Mrs. Frank Zinser, also the Gene Zinsers and other relatives in this area. Robin, daughter of Paul Zinser, was also here from Arkansas for the family gathering.

Fire-Resistant Boxes, Safes Recommended

COLLEGE STATION - Buy fire-resistant boxes and safes to protect valuable papers in case of fire, advises Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist.

The typical lock-box or filing cabinet won't burn, but the papers inside will char at 400 to 420 degrees F. and burn to ashes at 450 degrees F., she explains.

Mrs. McCormack is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Fire-resistant lock-boxes and safes are designed to prevent such losses, she points out.

However, they won't stop a burglar since some are easily carried, but they will safeguard valuables against any home fires.

HOW THEY WORK

These resistant containers protect their contents with steam, essentially, the specialist explains.

Water is incorporated in the insulation which turns to steam when exposed to high temperatures of fire, an action that absorbs a tremendous amount of heat.

As steam forms between the walls of the container, it is released through seams or holes to the outside, forming a protective halo around the box.

The contents are kept well below the charring point, Mrs. McCormack continues.

All fire-resistant boxes and safes are effective for only one fire because the moisture is used up and cannot be replaced.

Besides, the door or top is usually jammed shut by heat expansion and must be pried open.

SELECTION

U.S. manufactured fire-resistant safes and insulated record containers carry an Underwriters Laboratories (UL) label, indicating they have been tested and results verified as to withstanding extreme temperatures for fire endurance and stress.

The Newspaper Bible

THE ONLY THING THAT REALLY MATTERS
We have an altar - the cross where Christ was sacrificed - where those who continue to seek salvation by obeying Jewish laws can never be helped.

Under the system of Jewish laws the high priest brought the blood of the slain animals into the sanctuary as a sacrifice for sin, and then the bodies of the animals were burned outside the city.

That is why Jesus suffered and died outside the city, where His blood washed our sins away.

So let us go out to Him beyond the city walls that is, outside the interests of this world, being willing to be despised to suffer with him there, bearing His shame.

For this world is not our home; we are looking forward to our everlasting home in heaven.

With Jesus' help we will continually offer our sacrifice of praise to God by telling others of the glory of His name. Don't forget to do good and to share what you have with those in need, for such sacrifices are very pleasing to Him.

Obey your spiritual leaders and be willing to do what they say. For their work is to watch over your souls, and God will judge them on how well they do this. Give them reason to report joyfully about you to the Lord and not with sorrow, for then you will suffer for it too.

Pray for us, for our conscience is clear and we want to keep it that way.

I especially need your prayers right now so that I can come back to you sooner.

And now may the God of peace who brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, the great Shepherd of the sheep, equip you with all you need for doing His will, through the blood of the everlasting agreement between God and you. And may He produce in you through the power of Christ all that is pleasing to Him, to whom be glory forever and ever. Amen.

QUOTE/UNQUOTE

What people are saying...

"It's like Attila the Hun... he's going to do a summer camp for the elderly..." — Ron Alridge, television critic, describing the irreverent attitude of Ted Turner towards the news. Turner owns CNN, the all-news cable network. (Pasadena)

"Our country is being held to ridicule through the misadventures of one Billy Carter, and I thought I'd make a contribution and help avoid embarrassment to the president." — Arthur J. Wilson, a New Jersey podiatrist who sent $220 to Billy Carter to help the president's brother pay off a $220,000 loan from Libya. (Pittsburgh)

"I'm going to put in some stuff at my place — a jacuzzi, a basketball court, weights, everything, so I can work out. If it costs $150,000, it's worth it, because I've got to take care of the body. That's what makes the money." — Dave Parker, member of the Pittsburgh Pirates baseball team. (Pittsburgh)

Christians Rallying To Clean Up Politics

DALLAS (AP) — Political conservatives and fundamentalist preachers trying to rally their flocks to the polls in November urged foot-stomping, hand-clapping Christians to "get a bar of soap, roll up their sleeves and make politics clean as it ought to be again."

Ten thousand yelling, whistling people from at least 45 states packed flag-draped Reunion Arena on Thursday for the opening session of a two-day non-partisan conference aimed at getting Christians involved in politics.

The predominantly white, middle-class crowd shouted chorus after chorus of "amen," "hallelujah," and "praise the Lord" to a barrage of blasts against the Equal Rights Amendment, abortion, homosexuality and America's deteriorating military might.

"Christians have ignored for too long the lack of leadership in this country," said the Rev. Jerry Falwell of Lynchburg, Va. "But we can't blame the politicians for the condition of the country because it often reflects the spiritual condition of the church."

"People have got to get saved, get baptized and get registered to vote," said Falwell, founder of the weekly television program "Old Time Gospel Hour."

The conference, billed as the National Affairs Briefing, is sponsored by the Roundtable, a Washington, D.C.-based non-denominational organization that provides information on moral issues to church and business leaders.

Organizers of the conference have declined to publicly endorse any candidate, but have urged Christians to vote for conservative principles that would "turn the nation back to God."

However, Rep. Guy Vander Jagt, R-Mich., who delivered the keynote address at the Republican National Convention last month, took the chance to urge support for GOP presidential nominee Ronald Reagan.

He also challenged Christians to become involved in government.

The Rev. W.A. Criswell, pastor of the 20,000-member First Baptist Church of Dallas, attacked proposals that would give rights to homosexuals, while the Rev. E.V. Hill, pastor of a Baptist church in the Watts section of Los Angeles, brought the crowd roaring to its feet three times with a ringing call for Christians to speak out against moral decay.

"When a woman who is accused of lesbianism is given an honorable discharge (from the Navy), something should be said. In days when teachers look and smell worse than those they are teaching, something should be said. When we are told...it's time to get rid of unemployment and then they double it, something should be said," he told the cheering crowd.

Phyllis Schlafly, national chairwoman of Stop ERA, continued the momentum by outlining the "destructive" elements of the proposed "sex amendment."

"The devil is using one word, sex, to take away the rights of wives and give them to homosexuals. The ERA doesn't give women rights, it puts sex into the Constitution," she said.

FORNEY, Texas (AP) — The school board here voted 4-2 Wednesday to reinstate Superintendent Johnny Henderson, who was relieved of his duties last month after allegations of official misconduct.

Henderson, superintendent for eight years, was suspended July 28 after school board member Don Sline testified Henderson improperly leased a drivers' education vehicle for his own use, reported false expenses on a business trip, allowed a secretary to work as a teacher's aide and failed to correct a school plumbing problem.

The superintendent said he subsequently bought the car, denied the false expense reports, said the teacher's aide was approved by the Texas Education Agency and that new pipes have been ordered for the school.

DALLAS (AP) — Hundreds of royalty owners fighting the windfall profits tax gathered at a hotel here, proclaiming they are "2 million to 3 million strong and we're going to fight!"

Experts attending the Wednesday night meeting of the National Association of Royalty Owners said the members, many on fixed incomes, were not supposed to be affected by the tax on oil companies.

Jim Stafford, president of the six-week-old organization that claims chapters in 40 states, urged members to get the message across to their congressmen.

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Three police vice squad officers have been placed on detached duty with pay pending a grand jury review of a July 13 incident in which officer Darrel G. Moon was killed.

Officers Floyd Mills, Alfredo Garcia and Jesus Hernandez were present during a scuffle when one of their pistols discharged, killing Moon.

A police investigation has disclosed Moon was struck by a bullet from the gun of Mills, who reportedly was struggling with a suspect during an arrest.

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — A federal bankruptcy judge here has issued a temporary restraining order blocking Playboy Clubs International from terminating its franchise with Playboy of Dallas Inc.

U.S. Judge Bill Brister of Lubbock, acting in the absence of Dallas bankruptcy judges, issued the 10-day order at the behest of the Dallas club, which has filed a petition for reorganization under Chapter 11 of the federal bankruptcy code.

The club will continue to operate while trying to work out a plan with creditors, said general manager Peter Couvill.

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Authorities were searching for a 36-year-old state prison inmate who slipped away from a construction detail, a spokesman for the Texas Department of Corrections said.

Lance Bedgood, serving a 20-year sentence, turned up missing during a routine prisoner count about 2 p.m. Thursday, according to Keith Wall.

Wall said Bedgood was assigned to a construction detail that was roofing a prison warehouse located outside the walls of the Huntsville Unit, located in the downtown section here.

Authorities had not determined how the inmate escaped, Wall said.

Bedgood began serving his sentence in August 1978 following his conviction in Harris County on a charge of burglary of a building, the spokesman said.

MCALLEN, Texas (AP) — Federal agents are investigating claims of brutality leveled against the McAllen Police Department by civil rights activists, a television station reported Thursday.

U.S. Attorney Tony Canales of Houston told KGBT-TV the FBI began the investigation Aug. 15, but he had received no reports on the matter.

The police department has been without a permanent head since Chief Jack Caldwell resigned in June over a dispute concerning disciplinary measures for several officers, the station reported.

The American Civil Liberties Union has filed more than a dozen lawsuits in federal court alleging that poor Mexican-Americans were illegally arrested or beaten while in police custody.

City manager Calvin Gibson confirmed the federal investigation, according to the televised report.

FREDRICKSBURG, Texas (AP) — Two men were killed

Thursday when their single-engine plane crashed into a pasture three miles west of here, authorities said.

Harris D. Simpson, 39, of Center Point, and Sam G. Hill, 34, of Kerrville, were pronounced dead at the scene, according to Department of Public Safety spokesman Larry Todd.

Witnesses reported the craft went down nose first, Todd said.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A justice of peace has no authority to collect bad checks on behalf of the person or business that got stung, the attorney general says.

The legal opinion was asked by Criminal District Attorney Tim Curry of Fort Worth.

The opinion issued Thursday pointed out a state law that says any justice of peace, sheriff, constable or other peace officer who tries to collect a debt for others except under processes of law is guilty of a misdemeanor.

"A violation occurs unless the justice of the peace is authorized by some other statute to act as a debt collector of private individuals. As long ago as 1914 a court held there is no such statute," the opinion said.

The opinion stressed it was not commenting on the collection of bad checks by or on behalf of the district attorney according to another state law.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — It is up to the governing board of a public junior college to decide if tuition or fees are charged for non-credit vocational technical courses, the attorney general said Thursday.

The opinion was asked by State Auditor George W. McNeil.

The attorney general told McNeil that it apparently has been generally understood, both by the auditors office and by the various junior colleges, that present law means that tuition must be assessed for all courses offered for credit, but not for non-credit courses. "We conclude that this is a reasonable interpretation of this section, and that any course, whether academic or vocational, offered for credit in a public junior college wishing to participate in state funding must be offered on a tuition basis. By necessary implication, no tuition is required for non-credit courses," the opinion said.

The opinion added that the board of a junior college had "full discretion" in setting tuition or fees for non-credit vocational technical courses.

Texas Medicaid Contract An Issue

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Former Attorney General John Hill says he will urge the State Board on Monday to end the fighting over Texas' $400 million-a-year Medicaid contract by giving it to H. Ross Perot.

"I do expect to make a presentation, particularly about the underlying merits of the case — what is in the best interests of the taxpayers," said Hill, who lost a race for governor in 1978 and now handles some of Perot's legal business.

Hill said he advised Perot to visit each of the three board members after they voted July 15 to give the contract to Bradford National Corp. of New York City.

Department of Human Resources staff members and consultants said Bradford's bid would save $20 million to $50 million cheaper than Perot's.

Perot made the visits, and the board reopened the contract on July 29. It will hold a public hearing Monday on the issue.

Bradford's chairman, Peter Del Col, said he would sue if the board gives the contract to Perot's National Heritage Insurance Co. Del Col says Perot violated the Texas Administrative Procedure Act in visiting the board members.

"The Administrative Procedure Act does not apply in this instance," Hill said.

Bradford ran full-page newspaper ads today complaining of Perot's activities and the board's backtracking on the contract.

"That seems like desperation tactics to me," said Hill.

Texas is the only state that pays the medical bills of welfare recipients — 700,000 of them — by paying premiums on a group insurance policy for the needy.

Perot formed National Heritage Insurance Co. about four years ago to bid on the Medicaid contract, then held by Blue Cross.

Bill Wright, public relations man for Perot's Electronic Data Systems Corp., said Perot consulted Attorney General Mark White before asking Hill whether it would be legal to visit the board members.

White said he did not give Perot any legal advice but later said, "I told him, 'You're free to do what you want.'"

Wright said Perot approached White as "a Texas businessman who feels he needs a rehearing and asks what is the right way to go."

Bradford spent $55,000 on today's ads in a dozen Texas papers, including the Southwest edition of the Wall Street Journal, Del Col said.

"We felt we ought to have public awareness of what transpired. ... To the extent the public is incensed by it, hopefully that would bring pressure on the responsible parties," Del Col told reporters Wednesday.

Architect Gives Other Exemptions

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — An architect says property tax assessors need to understand that big glass solar panels aren't the only form of solar installation.

Texas are entitled to property tax exemptions for solar installations, but some are taxed because assessors don't know what they are looking at, L.M. Holder of Austin told the state's Solar Advisory Committee on Thursday.

The committee, a branch of the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council, held its last public hearing before issuing recommendations on Sept. 3. Holder said certain types of rooms, including sun porches and greenhouses, are designed by architects to collect and distribute heat from the sun on winter days and should be tax exempt.

He suggested that once an architect certifies to taxing authorities that such a room is a solar unit, eligible for a tax break, the documentation should remain with the tax records of a building.

Bob Russell of Austin, executive secretary of College House, a university living cooperative, said state agencies should repeal rules that interfere with the use of solar energy for heating both water and living space.

He cited rules allowing gas companies to impose a minimum monthly charge no matter how little gas a customer uses.

"This eliminates our saving (from solar energy) yet we save the gas company a considerable volume of gas," Russell said.

Ralph Latta of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation said a solar-powered unit to air condition living quarters at an MHMR unit in El Paso had proved far too costly for practical use.

He said the solar unit could not, by itself, keep temperatures within the 72-to-78-degree range required by federal rules for living quarters for the mentally handicapped.

Frank Kurzawa of Austin accused Gov. Bill Clements and Railroad Commissioner Mack Wallace, who heads the solar committee, of being "small-minded" and overly skeptical about solar energy.

LULAC: Proposal A Discrimination

By SOLL SUSSMAN Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the League of United Latin American Citizens says a proposal to exclude illegal aliens when congressional seats are reapportioned would cause a "massive discriminatory impact" on Hispanics.

"How do you determine in going back whether the brown skin you counted is citizen or non-citizen?" Ruben Bonilla said Thursday. "The administrative problem is obvious; you'd have an administrative nightmare."

He said Hispanics must make their top priority the defeat of an amendment to bar illegal aliens from being counted when congressional seats are reapportioned after the 1980 census.

The amendment sponsored by Rep. Joseph M. McDade, R-Pa., was sent to the Senate after it passed the House on Wednesday.

Bonilla, in a telephone interview from Detroit, said LULAC and other Hispanic groups will lobby senators for the amendment's defeat.

He also called on the major presidential candidates to denounce the amendment and urge its defeat.

If the amendment passes, Bonilla said, LULAC would file a lawsuit seeking to have it declared unconstitutional.

"It would appear that the (amendment) is an effort to deny the Hispanic community of America equal representation under the law," the Corpus Christi, Texas, attorney said.

The Constitution states that a census shall be taken each decade counting all "persons" in the United States.

The Census Bureau did not ask the legal status of the people it counted, apparently meaning a new count would be needed if the amendment becomes law.

The 435 seats in the House are reapportioned every 10 years so that each district contains about the same number of residents, and supporters of the amendment argued that illegal aliens should not be counted along with voters in distributing seats.

Bonilla said the Pennsylvania congressman overestimated in his claim that there are 20 million illegal aliens in the country.

"It's emotional hyperbole, excessive misstatement," he said. "We do not know if it is 200,000, 2 million or more. ... Then it's impact on reapportionment becomes quite minimal."

In any event, Bonilla said the federal government has no hesitation in using the taxes that undocumented workers pay.

Whiteface's Head Mentor Discusses Upcoming Season

Are You Good or Bad This Year?

By Mauri Montgomery
Brand Sports Editor

"ARE YOU A GOOD TEAM OR A BAD TEAM?" asked the wicked pre-season sports vultures armed with conjuring companions - NOTEPADS AND PENCILS.

The angelic coach, undaunted by the malicious query, contemplated his squad's awaiting journey down the 4-5A brick road and replied, "Well that all depends, we couldn't get hold of those new Ruby Cleats this year. Does that put us out of the running?"

Actually, the ruby cleats were about the only thing Hereford Athletic Director and head football coach Don Cumpston didn't have listed in his favor going into the 1980 edition of grid warfare.

AMONG OTHER THINGS, he had deftly engineered a crew of 25 returning lettermen (five offensive and defensive positions would be filled by starting veterans off last year's 5-5 squad), he had a four member cast auditioning for the play-calling role, and at the risk of sounding mundane, he thought things looked quite good for the Herd in the upcoming season.

The Hereford Brand talked with Cumpston this week concerning the Whiteface's overall outlook in the new football campaign, and the advantages and disadvantages the squad might face in future combat.

back -10 defensive starters and nine offensive starters returning, and they're all big. But I think the one thing CHS doesn't have physically is speed. They will be the biggest team with experience in the district this year though so that might not make much difference in the long run.

2. Then there's Planview. For some reason, I don't know why, everybody has overlooked them and I personally think they're going to be very good. They're probably going to have more speed than anyone else in the district this year. Their backs, Pat Brown and P.W. Thompson are both speedsters in every aspect of the word. Brown was a 23-foot long jumper and runs on their sprint relay team. And W.P. Thompson is a

Defensively, we've always been kind of a multiple - we used several alignments to make up for lack of size - but here again we're going to limit what we do and try to do the few extra things we utilize better. This year we have the size and our people have played enough so we're going to simplify the thing and just line up and play with opponents one-on-one.

But in football it (strategy) plays a minor role in the game. It boils down to one thing - whoever blocks and tackles the best is going to win. It really doesn't matter what type of game plan or new procedures you try to utilize. The squads that do those two things the best will be successful.

In high school ball, there's been sort of a preference to run the option type game the last five years, but here lately, there's been a trend to resort back to the power formation. In our attack this year, we're going to incorporate the power situations because of the people we've got, but at the same time we're hoping to alternate that play some.

BRAND: What were your general observations about last season's progress - the success or lack of success in a 5-5 season?

CUMPTON: Oh, I don't know. Of course your never satisfied with a 5-5 season, but at the same time we felt like we accomplished some things that kept our program going in a positive direction. It had been since 1973, that a Hereford team had managed to even win as many as it lost, so we felt like we kind of turned the corner in that respect. And like I say, you're never really satisfied.

When you look at it though, we were actually 20 seconds from being 7-3 in light of how close come our games were. We could have been 7-3 just as easily as we could have 5-5 which would have been better - everybody wants to get in the playoffs and we're no exception to the rule. But that's just the way things worked out for us this past year. We think we have a legitimate opportunity to do that this year, but it won't be easy. We have to be consistent and play on a level plain each time we participate in a game. If we can do that, get some breaks along the way and stay away from key injuries throughout the season, then we'll have as good a chance as anybody else.

Last year, out of our eight returning lettermen, we lost two before we even started district play and that hurt us.

BRAND: How does the schedule the Whiteface's will encounter this year look in perspective to a difficulty quotient?

CUMPTON: As a general rule I think the schedule this year is going to be tougher than it was a year ago. It looks like our non-conference schedule will be a good deal more difficult - at least on paper it looks rougher. Almost every one of those teams we play at the first of the season are ranked pretty high - in the top two or three in their respective districts. In district play, it will be about the same, but much more balanced. The team that wins the district this year will be the one that's able to establish momentum and be ready to play every one of the four games with few mistakes every Friday night. That's the key. You can't play one good game and one bad game - the winner will have to play all of them well.

BRAND: In conclusion, if you had to name off any weakness this 1980 squad will have or face, what would that weakness be?

CUMPTON: Well speed is a weakness this year. Harold Terry is the fastest back we've got. And Norman Brown is another fairly fast back, but we probably don't have anybody like we've had the last couple of years in respect to people that can churn out 9.7 or 9.8 100-yard-dashes - the burning type speed. But at the same time, we think our backs have exceptional quickness in the 20-yard range and that type of quickness is good enough to break open a play. In general, we think we have adequate speed, but not great speed. And we're facing that same situation in the defensive secondary, but intelligence and savvy should have an offsetting effect in that category.

Another weakness we have is our linebackers size. All four of them are excellent football players, but they're just not very big. Chris Schumacher, David Gonzales, Gary Parman and Ken Cosper are all experienced players at the spot - three of them were varsity players a year ago and the other was one of our best junior varsity players - but physically they are just not the big burly guys. And I think people are going to try to run at them early to see if that will be a major weakness. Our hope is that our linemen, again a lot bigger than in the past, can offset or take some of the heat off the linebackers.

CUMPTON DIDN'T HAVE any of those ruby cleats for his journey down the district's brick road, but he had everything else needed to enter the "Land of Playoffs." He and the Herd only had to begin the venture.

Cumpston says
'squad is big, experienced and quick'

BRAND: What are your chances this fall as far as you see them in regard to the district lineup?

CUMPTON: We've got the potential to have a good team this fall, and I emphasize that word potential. You have a good team only when you have a bunch of players who want to play and are willing to do the things necessary to accomplish that goal. Then when you have that potential - the talent is there - and the players are willing to commit themselves to the goal of being winners you have about the best chance you'll ever hope to have. I'd say that's about the point we're at now because we have the potential and the talent if the players decide to do everything it takes to win.

I'd say we've probably got the best chance we've had in the last two years of taking it right down the line. The reasons for that are: First, the district as I see it, is going to be much more evenly balanced this year than it has in the past because Plainview dominated district play two years ago and Monterey was the same way last season. And I don't think that's going to happen this year because any team in the district race is going to be capable of beating the other one on any given night.

BRAND: Can you cite specifics in the 4-5A league as far as what each team's strengths and weakness' are?

CUMPTON: 1. Well, of course Coronado has been listed as the clear-cut favorite according to everybody in the pre-season polls, and they probably ought to be. They've got 19 starters 50 quarter-miler so they've got speed as the prevailing advantage over everybody else this year.

3. I'd have to say Monterey is a little bit of an unknown - no one really knows how they're going to be - because they only have nine people back off of their varsity team last year. But with the numbers they have enrolled in their school - roughly twice the amount we have - you know they're always going to be a factor. A lot of their kids coming up such as junior varsity players and sophomores may be really quality athletes and there's always the possibility of that at MHS. I also understand they've gotten in a couple of transfers from other schools so I don't think you can discount the Plainsmen either.

4. Lubbock High is always tough for us because we always have such a hard time beating them for some reason. I think we've beaten them three times in the 10 years we've been in this district. One thing about it is, the three times we've beat them have all come at their home field and that's where we play them this year. I think that's a very good sign.

BRAND: I know you don't like to make comparisons, but if you could compare a team, such as the one you've got coming, with last year's squad - how would this team stand up in certain categories common to a squad's makeup?

CUMPTON: The plain difference between this year's and the one last season is experience. Last year we started the season off with only eight returning lettermen in our ranks and this year we've got 25 - and out of those 25 a bunch of them have played a lot of varsity football. Even though they might not have started, they still played quite a bit and that's the deciding advantage and difference between the two squads.

We also feel like this particular group of kids are really intense on being successful and they've indicated that by their talking about it and their actions. In short we feel real good about their attitude right now - we had the same thing with the group last year, but we just didn't have enough people that had been there before.

BRAND: What type of game are you planning to incorporate as opposed to the one you used last year? Will it be any different in strategy or alignments?

CUMPTON: We're going to try to take advantage of the certain personnel we have, and since we've got more size than in the past we're hoping to use a power type game. We've got a teaming amount of big linemen back and that will help us in ball control manner so we're just going to grind it out each down - that's what we're looking at anyway. When we get the ball we'd like to keep it because if the other team never gets their hands on it, they won't be a threat offensively. We've also got what we think is a good short-throwing game which is especially important to ball control type clubs.

Booster Club Slates Bowling Tournament

The Hereford Booster Club is slating the Booster Club Bowling Tournament at Bowling's Bowl on August 24 at 3 p.m. for men and women. Entry for the tournament, which is designed to acquaint fans with coaches and members of the Booster Club in addition to earning money for the Booster Club Activities Fund (used for athletic equipment), is $20 per person. The entry fee includes three lines of bowling, two hamburgers, a coke and prizes for the team with the highest score per total games, and additional prizes will also be given out to a team's highest three game scorer.

There is an expected limit of 80 people for the affair.

All persons interested in participating in the Sunday tournament should go by Bowling's Bowl and sign up at the desk.

Hughes Dons New Harness

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) - Dallas Cowboys' free safety Randy Hughes, who suffered a dislocated shoulder during last weekend's game against the Los Angeles Rams, will be wearing a new shoulder harness Saturday night.

"This harness is supposed to keep the shoulder from popping out, but he's still going to need surgery sometime," said team spokesman Greg Aiello.

Hughes plans to start against the Houston Oilers in a National Football League exhibition contest at Texas Stadium, but if the shoulder is injured again "he will have no choice but to go ahead with the surgery this season," Aiello said.

Dennis Thurmond will take over the free safety slot if Hughes cannot play or reinjures the shoulder, Coach Tom Landry announced Thursday.

Benny Barnes will replace Charlie Waters as free safety in Saturday's game, Aiello said.

"Waters and offensive guard Herbert Scott, both with injured knees, decided not to risk it in just a pre-season game," Aiello added.

Mariners Beat New York, 6-4

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

If the New York Yankees aren't hearing footsteps behind them, they certainly must be aware of the flapping of Oriole wings in the immediate vicinity of first place.

Playing more like the Bad News Bears, the Yankees handed Seattle four unearned runs in the first inning, then failed to score after loading the bases with none out in the ninth and dropped a 6-4 decision to the lowly Mariners.

Meanwhile, the high-flying Baltimore Orioles trounced California 7-1, giving them 11 consecutive regular-season victories over the Angels —

8-0 this year — plus a 3-1 edge in the 1979 AL playoffs.

New York's lead — on July 19 it was 9½ over Milwaukee, 10 over Baltimore — is down to a scant 1½ games for the first time since May 21 and George Steinbrenner's blood pressure must be boiling over.

In other action, the Cleveland Indians nipped the Kansas City Royals 4-3 — George Brett homered in four at-bats and is hitting .404 — the Detroit Tigers beat the Minnesota Twins 4-2 on Jack Morris' one-hitter after the Twins took the doubleheader opener 5-3, the Boston Red Sox downed the Oakland A's 5-1 and the Chicago White Sox defeated the Toronto Blue Jays 5-3. Milwaukee and Texas were not scheduled.

Seattle's Bruce Bochte, who singled home the tie-breaking run in the fifth inning — Julio Cruz homered in the seventh for an insurance run — helped settle reliever Shane Rawley down after the Yankees loaded the bases in the ninth on a walk and two singles, one a bunt.

Coaches Talk About Chances, Relate Views of Squads

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Since last year's final Associated Press Top Ten teams are expected to field strong units once again in 1980, what do the nine coaches who finished behind national champion Alabama think about their chances this season?

John Robinson, No. 2 Southern California: "If we're able to get off to a good start and keep improving, we could be a very good team by November."

Barry Switzer, No. 3 Oklahoma: "Oklahoma isn't as good as it's been in the past. I don't think we'll be as powerful. The defensive strength of our team won't allow it."

Earle Bruce, No. 4 Ohio State: "Our greatest asset will be our defense, but we have a number of other strengths. For example, we have great athletes at the skilled positions on offense, we have a very solid kicking game and we have excellent team speed."

Bill Yeoman, No. 5 Houston: "Just let us get out there three or four days into two-a-days and get it real warm and disagreeable, then I'll give you a better idea of just how desperately they want to be good. There never was any doubt in our minds that we could win, but now maybe there is less doubt in other people's minds."

Bobby Bowden, No. 6 Florida State: "Last year, we got great national exposure, so winning this year will be more difficult than ever. Last season, we were the No. 1 independent in the nation — I'm sure Pittsburgh will object to me saying that — and now we've got a lot to live up to. Our expectations will be higher after last year's record."

Jackie Sherrill, No. 7 Pitt: "The top five I'd pick right now would be Ohio State, Alabama, Oklahoma, Southern Cal and us...and not necessarily in that order."

Lou Holtz, No. 8 Arkansas: "We just have too many question marks going into the season to have any idea how good we can be. We have 15 starters back from last year but the headliners are gone."

If everybody loses four or five games, we have a heck of a shot at the title."

Tom Osborne, No. 9 Nebraska: "We think we'll have a good football team. We have a lot of good athletes, probably as many as we've had in a long time. We've got a lot of guys with speed and strength, agility and good athletic talent. That doesn't guarantee anything, but it's sure a heck of a lot better than if you don't have it."

Jim Young, No. 10 Purdue: "Our offensive unit could be very, very productive. It could be the best group I've ever had a chance to coach. The defense is what concerns me. We lost five starters, including three-fifths of the line."

Finally, a word from Bear Bryant, whose Alabama team will be trying for an unprecedented third consecutive national championship:

"If our defense can hold up and our offense dedicates itself to getting better every day, then we'll have a chance to have a good football team. Otherwise, we won't have a chance to finish better than in the bottom half of the conference."

Since The AP poll began in 1936, seven teams have tried for three in a row...and seven teams have failed — Minnesota in 1942, Army in 1946,

Notre Dame in 1948, Oklahoma in 1957, Alabama in 1966, Nebraska in 1972 and Oklahoma in 1976.

"We've won two straight national championships, but right now it would take a miracle to win a third," says Bryant. "We finished spring practice and didn't have a single interior lineman on offense that played like a winner in the Southeastern Conference. When you have that situation, you better worry about winning the conference."

The Crimson Tide will rely on an outstanding defense led by end E.J. Junior, linebacker Thomas Boyd and strong safety Tommy Wilcox — provided he doesn't have to play quarterback. The offense lost every starter except running backs Major Ogilvie and Billy Jackson.

Alabama's challengers for national honors are expected to be Auburn, Georgia and Tennessee in the SEC; Pitt and Penn State in the East; Ohio State, Michigan, Purdue and Indiana in the Big Ten; Oklahoma and Nebraska in the Big Eight; Houston, Arkansas and Texas in the Southwest Conference; Southern California, Washington and Stanford in the Pacific-10; Brigham Young and Utah in the Western Athletic Conference; North Carolina in the Atlantic Coast Conference and Notre Dame and Florida State among the non-Eastern independents.

During Mark Twain's days as a newspaperman, he was editor of a small Missouri paper. One day he received a letter from a subscriber, stating that he had found a spider in his paper, and asked if this was an omen of good or bad luck.

Twain replied: "Finding a spider in your paper is neither good nor bad luck. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

HEALTH
Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Aspirin isn't the answer

DEAR DR. LAMB - Would you comment on a theory I have regarding hypertension? I believe plain aspirin will hold the pressure down. Why don't doctors recommend this? My pressure was running fairly high and I wasn't on any medicine but my doctor said it required watching. I started taking daily aspirin for arthritis and it really helped. Then when I had a check up my pressure dropped to 125 over 82. The nurse was so surprised she took it a second time. I'm really curious as to whether this is a coincidence or does aspirin really help? If it's useful, I think doctors should be prescribing it. It would help a lot of people.

DEAR READER - I wish the diagnosis and treatment of high blood pressure were that easy but it's not. Your observation reminds me of a favorite old article of mine about the treatment of high blood pressure with watermelon seeds.

The truth is if you search the medical literature you'll find that high blood pressure has been treated with almost everything known to man and almost any of them will have some beneficial effects in some people. Why? Because whenever a person is relaxed or taking medicine, even if it's pink water, he often improves.

Many people have intermittently elevated blood pressure rather than persistently high blood pressure. Often this is associated with a reaction to the examination or anxiety about the danger of having high blood pressure. We often call these "vascular hyper-reactors" as opposed to people who have true hypertension.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 15-8, Blood Pressure, which will give you a great deal more information about what controls blood pressure and what can be done about it. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

For the reasons I've mentioned I'm not at all surprised that your blood pressure dropped but I'm not sure that it's because of aspirin. You could very well have gotten the same effect by taking sugar pills if you thought it was medicine. Or it might have been just a good day for you.

Also we know that people who have pain sometimes will have elevated blood pressure as a pain response. If aspirin relieved your arthritis pain and you're a vascular hyper-reactor, then it's not at all surprising that your blood pressure would be lower during your examination.

Perhaps I should emphasize for the benefit of other readers that I do not believe that taking aspirin regularly is going to lower people's blood pressure. Moreover, some people who have high blood pressure may be more prone to having a brain hemorrhage if they use it.

Aspirin appears to be useful in preventing strokes or at least their recurrence in men but that is due to its ability to prevent blood clots. That same mechanism increases the chances of bleeding in the brain in people with high blood pressure.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 45-year-old male in good health and have a physical every year. My weight is 160. I'm 6-feet-1. My blood pressure is 110 over 70. I run several times a week and don't smoke. My concern is this, every time after my wife and I make love my heart pounds for an hour or more. I don't mean fast but hard, to the point where I am unable to go to sleep. I just had an ECG and the doctor said my heart is in good shape.

DEAR READER - It is normal for the heart rate and blood pressure to rise during lovemaking. The heart rate may reach 180 beats a minute. It is unusual to have a forceful beat that you notice for such a long time afterward, but that doesn't mean you have heart trouble.

The heart work involved is usually less than occurs with vigorous physical exercise. I would guess that your run each week is more demanding. You may have become conscious of your heart beat and this causes you to notice it more.

I'm not a great enthusiast for stress tests but there are good clinical indications for them. You should ask your doctor to do an ECG stress test on you. If you can exercise vigorously without any significant abnormal changes during or after exercise I would think you have very little to worry about.

POLLY'S POINTERS
Polly Cramer
Vase has a film

DEAR POLLY - My beautiful cut glass vase has a film in it that is about 1 1/2 inches down from the rim and that was evidently left from flowers that were in it. I cannot remove this film with kerosene, oven cleaner, peroxide, cream of tartar or alcohol. - LOUISE

DEAR LOUISE - Try filling your vase with warm water, add some tea leaves and leave them in overnight. Wash as usual in hot suds, rinse in clear hot water and dry to a shine. If this does not work try vinegar or ammonia in the water. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - While using a popular spray furniture polish I noticed my patent leather shoes were dingy looking. I gave them a squirt of the polish and was amazed how the spots wiped off and how shiny clean they looked. This certainly saved me buying an expensive shoe cleaner. - MARTHA

DEAR POLLY - I have a Pointer for Bess who cannot get the seams of her white bathroom tile clean and white. She should try spray oven cleaner. Let it stand just a second and then clean it off. If the stains are bad ones it might take a second application. - MRS.R.E.H.

DEAR BESS and others - Do not let this stay on too long, hoping for better results, but wipe completely off and do another short application. - POLLY our children need to learn faith in God, as well as the basic skills of life. As the opening of the school season draws near, remember that it is also time to begin or resume their spiritual education; to fortify them for the time when you may no longer be on hand to guide and protect them. That a large segment of our young people have never learned goodness for its own sake is tragically evident in the almost daily accounts of juvenile wrongdoing. Children are not born with this knowledge; they must be taught it. Enroll your children in Sunday school, and set your own good example for them by the way you conduct your life, and by attending your Church.

"Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it."
— Proverbs 22:6

"His education forms the common mind:
Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined."
— Alexander Pope
