

Clements Cuts $250 Million from State Budget

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Texas Legislature's $21.7 billion state spending bill for 1980-81 went through Gov. Bill Clements' reducing machine Thursday and came out $252.4 million lighter.

Details of the numerous vetoes within the 400-page bill were not available until later today, Clements' office said.

In a brief veto message, Clements said that he expected the money he took from the bill, coupled with the abolishment of the state property tax, the tax reimbursement to school districts and money accumulated through increased tax revenues would still furnish $1 billion in tax relief to the people of Texas.

The votes totaled the largest amount a Texas governor has ever taken from a regular two-year state budget, although former Gov. Preston Smith vetoed the entire second year budget in 1971.

"I recommended and encouraged the Legislature to appropriate a less amount than was provided in the final bill," Clements said in a statement. "While I appreciate the extensive deliberations that produced this legislation, I am duty-bound to exercise my constitutional responsibilities to review it in a thorough manner."

"I am absolutely certain that this state and nation face no more serious domestic problem than the proper management of our fiscal and natural resources."

"Our citizenry rightfully expects a close scrutiny of government spending. In my opinion, government has for too long promised much more than it could or should deliver."

Clements had recommended a budget of only $19.8 billion.

The bill sent Clements by the Legislature raised total state expenditures from $15.5 billion in 1978-79, or a 29.8 percent increase. Spending from general revenue, the only money over which legislators have significant control, increased 22 percent.

Major provisions of the bill as it went to the governor included:

- An increase in state employees' pay of 5.1 percent.

- An increase in non-recurring

Independents Force off Trucks

By PETER MACKLER
Associated Press Writer

Independent drivers used more bullets, rocks and threats to keep trucks off the nation's highways, halting deliveries of fuel and foodstuffs from poultry to orange juice.

There were signs the strike could mean higher prices for consumer goods, including already high-priced beef. Some buyers were reportedly paying premiums to shippers who could deliver.

Violence continued to track the protest Thursday, as trucks in at least seven states were hit with bullets or rocks. A truck was run off the road in South Dakota. No serious injuries were reported.

In Alabama, where National Guardsmen and state troopers rode shotgun on 75 convoys, an unprotected truck was hurt by flying glass in a sniper attack. Another was pulled from his rig and beaten. A shot narrowly missed a truck loaded with dynamite.

Ominous voices uttering warnings like "You have one hour to get off the road" have turned up on truckers' citizen band radios and one hauler said the threats even reached into his home.

George Martin, of Staples, Minn., said a caller warned that "if I left the house with the truck I'd better have somebody there to protect my wife and kids and house." He kept his rig parked.

Meanwhile, federal officials say they had taken steps to ease the plight of the nation's 100,000 owner-operators.

Interstate Commerce Commission Chairman A. Daniel O'Neal was to discuss efforts "to alleviate fuel problems affecting the nation's trucking industry" at a news conference today.

There were reports the ICC would order freight companies to pass on a portion of rising fuel costs through higher rates. Companies may pass these costs on now, but are not required to do so.

The drivers, who have shut down rigs in at least 30 states, are protesting rising diesel fuel prices, load regulations and the 55-mph speed limit.

The Independent Truckers Association, which represents 30,000 owner-operators, has called on its members to join the strike Monday. Many already have parked their rigs.

More than a week of blockades at truck stops, fuel depots, grain terminals and farmer co-ops has created problems with food and fuel supplies in many sections of the nation.

Merchants in New York City said deliveries of fruit and vegetables were coming in days late - if at all. Some said freight charges were being doubled for refrigerated shipments from California.

Richard Simon, a vice president of Penny's Super Markets in Minneapolis, said one store was waiting for an overdue shipment of orange juice when the manager got a call from a frightened driver 700 miles away.

"If you want the orange juice, you can come and get it," the driver growled.

In Michigan, a sign on a truck at a traffic slowdown in the state capital proclaimed: "Lower the crude or no more food."

The protest threatened a $100 million crop of cherries in the Pacific Northwest for lack of transportation. Beef and poultry were left hanging in processing plants. Industry officials warned prices might soar if the strike continues.

"Prices are certain to increase over much of the nation because buyers unable to get supplies are beginning to offer price incentives to suppliers who can get them delivered," said Jerry

Report Endorses Coal Use

WASHINGTON (AP) - As Congress considers ways to ease gasoline shortages, a new Carter administration report claims that coal - not oil or nuclear power - is the nation's only hope for making energy ends meet this century.

In a yet-to-be-released report to President Carter, Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger says the United States "just may not make it" without greatly expanding use of coal.

The report proposed a crash program to increase U.S. coal consumption from 623 million tons last year to 1.8 billion tons by 1985 and 2.1 billion tons by the year 2000.

And the report, a copy of which was obtained by The Associated Press, proposes creation of a presidential coal Commission to consider ways of expanding U.S. coal use.

Among other things, the panel would be charged with recommending possible relaxation of environmental laws so more coal could be burned. A major government commitment to production of synthetic fuels from coal is also urged.

Meanwhile, the House Commerce energy and power subcommittee was considering rival proposals today for easing gasoline shortages.

One is a measure passed last week by the Senate that would allow the president to set national energy-saving goals and require states to develop plans to meet the targets. The president could order

Interest Ceiling To Increase

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Beginning Aug. 27, maximum home mortgage interest rates will rise from 10 percent to a floating rate not to exceed 12 percent under a bill signed into law by Gov. Bill Clements.

The governor inked his signature on the measure (HB409) Wednesday but did not release notice of it until today.

Sponsors of the bill failed to get the necessary two-thirds approval in both chambers to make it take effect immediately upon the governor's signing.

Clements himself proposed the central provisions of the bill, which he said was necessary to assure a supply of mortgage money in Texas.

He first threatened to veto any increase in mortgage rates but backed down after the Federal National Mortgage Association announced it would stop buying most VA and FHA loans in Texas.

The new rates will be based on the monthly rate for 10-year U.S. Treasury notes and bonds, plus two points. Treasury note rates have fluctuated at just above 9 percent recently.

The new ceiling will be in effect only until Sept. 1, 1981, unless the 1981 Legislature extends it.

THERE ARE things wrong with our economy, but a more positive attitude needs to be reflected in hustlin' Hereford! While inflation is a major problem, Hereford's economic base continues to look strong and healthy.

Deposits at the two local banks at the end of May were up by almost $17 million over the same time a year ago. And, if you don't think the business activity is on the move, consider this: The two Hereford banks handled checks, just during the month of May, of almost $190 million!

Texans Co-Sponsor Measure Opposing Treaty Implementation

WASHINGTON (AP) - The much-delayed House bill to implement the Panama Canal treaties will have more than a handful of opposition among the Texas delegation.

More than half of the 24 Texans in the House have signed on as co-sponsors of an amendment which the White House says would violate the treaties.

Supporters of the bill can mount some clout in the delegation, however, since they can count on a minimum House Majority Leader Jim Wright of Fort Worth.

"How would we like it, for example, if France - having helped us win independence from England - insisted on totally controlling a broad swath of territory running straight through the United States - let us say an area on both sides of the Mississippi River?" Wright said in an earlier statement on the treaties.

"How would we like it if an American citizen traveling from the western to the eastern side of the country would have to apply to France for permission to do so?" he said.

The House will not be voting on the treaties, ratified last year by a one-vote margin in the Senate. The canal and the canal zone will be turned over to Panama on Oct. 1.

The House bill carries out the treaties principally by establishment of a

Suspect Arrested For Armed Robberies

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Police arrested a 17-year-old Mexican-American early this morning for the Thursday night armed robbery of Kentucky Fried Chicken, 437 N. 25 Mile Ave., and last month's holdup of Mr. Burger on W. Park Ave.

Andrew Garcia, of 120 Ave. B, was arraigned before County Judge Glen Nelson, who set bond at $15,000 today. Garcia was arrested at 2:20 a.m., about 3 1/2 hours after a pistol-brandishing robber took $300 from Kentucky Fried Chicken.

According to police reports, Zeferino Reyes Jr., an employee of the restaurant, locked the front door of the business around 10:45 p.m. Thursday, walked around outside to the back of the building toward his car, and was met by a man with a nylon stocking over his head.

The robber, sporting a chrome-plated revolver, told Reyes he wanted the money inside the restaurant. The two men entered through the back door, and Reyes opened the safe. The robber told Reyes to stay inside a restroom before fleeing the scene.

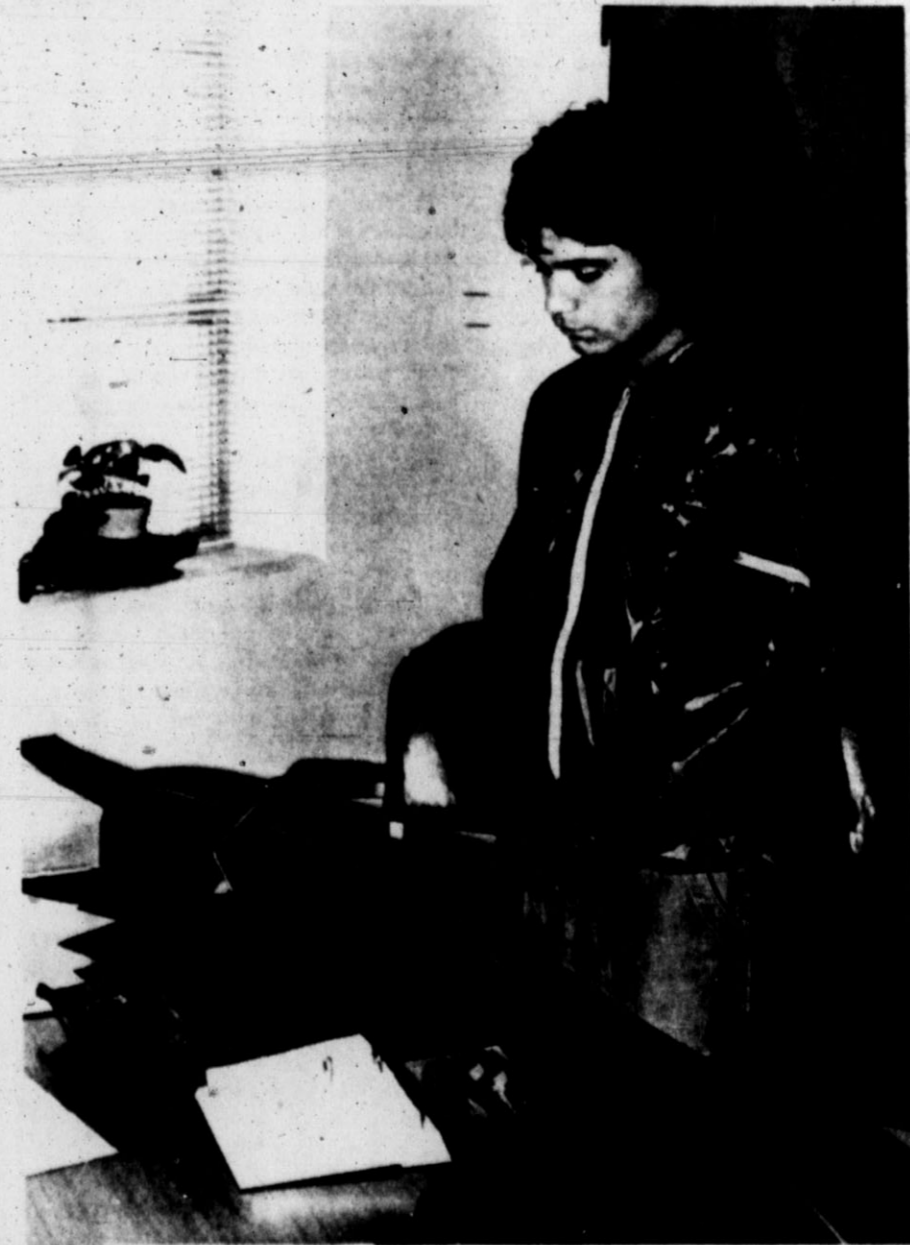

Officers Roger Scott, Vernon Hope, Joe Brown, Dale Morgan and Kenny Sifford and sheriff's deputy Randy Williams patrolled Hereford streets for 1 1/2 hours after the holdup. Brown spotted a man fitting the robber's description at 1:17 a.m. on E. Park Ave.

According to police, the suspect ran north down the alley between Ave. D and Ave. E, eluding Brown.

Approximately an hour later, the suspect was again seen by Brown in the vicinity and was arrested. Officers, conducted a search of Garcia's residence, reportedly found four money bags containing cash and several checks.

A man wearing a nylon stocking over his face robbed Mr. Burger of $435 on May 28. Police Thursday charged Garcia with that holdup.

Officers investigated two family disturbances Thursday as this week's light activity for the police department continued.

Football Trip

Sparks Controversy

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) - An anti-poverty agency wants to spend $27,575 in federal money to send 1,750 underprivileged youngsters to a Green Bay Packers football game as a "summer youth recreation project."

But the proposal by the Northeast Wisconsin Community Action Project Inc. has run into interference from the BayLake Regional Planning Commission, which recommends that it not be funded.

"We've got nothing against the Packers," said John Kerski of Marinette, chairman of the commission. "It's just that it's a hell of a lot of money to send some kids to a football game."

Administrative costs for the outing were set at $4,136, which irked another member of the commission, Louis Nelson, of Spread Eagle.

"I think it is excessive to have a $4,000 administration cost on a $27,000 project for one day. The way they had the money allocated, the majority of the commission felt it was a waste of money," he said.

Southern Baptists

Investigate Voting

HOUSTON (AP) - An official investigation was under way today into reported voting irregularities at the Southern Baptist Convention in the wake of its tension-racked annual meeting.

Just what the results might imply about the election of the new president, the Rev. Adrian Rogers of Memphis, Tenn., was uncertain and officials declined to speculate about it.

He himself said he doubts any effects on him and he brushed off any idea of resigning as "disruptive" and "very hurtful," but he said if serious abuses are found, "which cast doubt on my election, then so be it."

He said he welcomes the inquiry "if there has been any misdoing. I would hope it would not cast aspersions on any innocent people, but I would be in favor of exposing anyone who has done anything dishonest."

The issue erupted near the close of the three-day convention Thursday night after a local registration secretary, the Rev. James Varner of Houston, blew the whistle on irregularities he cited in registration and voting.

Exports To China

May Set New High

WASHINGTON (AP) - Exports of U.S. farm products to China, which resumed buying American grain 14 months ago after a four-year gap, may hit a record $800 million in 1979, says the Agriculture Department.

One department expert added, however, that the projection could fall about $100 million short of that mark unless China buys additional U.S. corn.

But even if no more corn is sold, total sales of U.S. Commodities at $700 million this calendar year would still be a record and would surpass the 1978 mark of $614.3 million by about 14 percent.

China, needing wheat, corn and soybeans, spent $625.6 million on U.S. farm commodities in 1973 and a record $664.3 million in 1974. Except for cotton and some other products, China bought no more until April of last year.

Values of U.S. farm exports to China dropped to $79.7 million in 1975 and to only $44,000 in 1976 before rising to $65.8 million in 1977 as it placed further orders for cotton and soybeans.

Ex-El Paso Deputy Charged with Perjury

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - A former El Paso sheriff's employee has been charged with perjury after telling a federal grand jury he had never heard members of the Bandidos motorcycle club discussing the attempted assassination of Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr.

Ransom Patrick Cross had been granted immunity from federal firearms charges and ordered by U.S. District Judge-Adrian Spears to testify before the San Antonio grand jury investigating the Nov. 21 attack.

The complaint filed here Wednesday alleged Cross had earlier told an El Paso deputy sheriff that a man called "Timken" had "spilled his guts to Cross" about the Kerr case.

"Timken" is the nickname of Timothy Kenneth Larson, a former Bandido who awaits trial on a federal firearms charge.

FBI Special Agent Gregg Van de Loo had earlier testified in a bond hearing that Larson was "a prime suspect" in the attack on Kerr. Van de Loo also filled the perjury complaint against Cross.

Kerr, 38, who has been helping spearhead a massive federal investigation into alleged interstate narcotics smuggling centered in El Paso, escaped a hail of automatic rifle fire by ducking behind the dashboard of his car. The assailant fired from the back window of a stolen van, officials said.

Talmadge Ignores Questions

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Herman E. Talmadge says he regularly kept "a few hundred dollars" in cash on hand at home, but declines for now to answer his former wife's allegations that the amounts ran as high as $45,000.

"Anyone who has been in political campaigns sometimes has; Talmadge said in his first public answer to Betty Talmadge's testimony.

The Georgia Democrat was interviewed a few hours after Senate Ethics Committee investigators completed six weeks of presenting evidence about allegations of financial misconduct.

In the next stage, Talmadge's lawyers will ask the committee to dismiss five specific charges of wrongdoing.

Overall, Talmadge said, the six committee members "have no evidence to support the charges."

Several times during the interview Talmadge caustically brushed aside questions about specifics of his ex-wife's testimony and his plans for presenting his side in the hearings.

"I ain't gonna testify before you if that's what you came over here for," he said.

Among the allegations are that Talmadge, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, converted campaign contributions to his personal use.

Energy

mandatory fuel-saving steps in states that failed to comply.

The other proposal before the panel is a bill by a group of liberal Democrats led by Rep. Toby Moffett, D-Conn., to institute a standby plan that if invoked - could force motorists to keep their cars at home at least one day a week.

Autos would have to bear stickers in their windshields indicating the day on which the car couldn't be driven. The motorist would be able to pick the day.

"I'm not sure either proposal is usable this summer," said Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., the subcommittee chairman.

Dingell said in an interview the panel would look at the "feasibility and workability" of both proposals. He said he hoped to get the finished product to the House floor as soon as possible.

In other energy developments Thursday:

-Schlesinger said an unexpected boost in oil imports this week should lessen gasoline shortages this summer if imports continue at the higher level. But Schlesinger said the administration was concerned lest a decline in refinery operations negate the greater availability of crude oil.

-Responding to Schlesinger's remarks, Charles DiBona, president of the American Petroleum Institute, said: "Oil companies are distributing, according to government regulations, all the refined product that is presently available for distribution. Our supply and distribution systems are stretched to their limits and, in some cases, beyond those limits."

-The Senate agreed by voice vote to provide $500 million in loan guarantees to support pilot projects for the production of gasohol, a gasoline-based fuel that is 10 percent alcohol. Four gasohol pilot projects with loan guarantees totaling $42.7 million already are under way.

-The House Ways and Means Committee failed to reach a final vote on the so-called windfall profits tax on additional oil company revenues resulting from oil price decontrol. The panel plans a vote Tuesday.

-The State Department said the United States is considering the Pacific islands of Wake, Palmyra and Midway as potential sites for storing spent fuel from nuclear reactors. All three are owned by the United States. Wake and Midway have small U.S. Navy contingents but no other residents. Palmyra is completely uninhabited.

Truckers

Stewart, sales director of the poultry producer Gold Kist in Atlanta.

Gasoline shortages developed in the South. Most were alleviated by today, but there were some California-style lines in parts of northern Alabama.

In Tennessee, trucks backed away from blockades at fuel depots after Gov. Lamar Alexander threatened to get a court order to keep the supplies of gasoline open.

The truckers say they are being squeezed out of a living by the rise in diesel prices, which have climbed to as high as $1.29 a gallon - when the fuel is available.

They want a mandated rate surcharge so they can pass along fuel costs without losing ground to their competition, as well as uniform state regulations on the size and weight of loads.

"I'm flat going bankrupt," said Alan Jozwiak, an independent trucker from Kentwood, Mich. "My truck is not rolling now. If I go broke, I'm going broke sitting at home, not on the road someplace."

Canal

U.S.-controlled Panama Canal Commission to operate the waterway until the end of the century.

The vote, expected to be a tight one, was rescheduled for this week but then again pulled from the House calendar.

A head count of the 24 Texans, or the entire House, might not be accurate as many members remained noncommittal awaiting developments and the final version of the bill.

U.S. Rep. Jack Hightower, a Vernon Democrat, said he had opposed the treaties but would not make a decision on the implementation bill until voting time.

He said the same holds true for his decision on the proposed amendment that the State Department said would be a violation.

The measure introduced by U.S. Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho, would require Panama to pay the costs of implementing the treaties, estimated from $870 million to $4 billion.

"My inclination is to favor it," Hightower said of the amendment, which he co-sponsored along with more than 225 colleagues. "But I don't know what the situation will be."

U.S. Rep. Phil Gramm said he could not support the implementation bill unless it carried the Hansen amendment or a similar one.

"I think it violates the basic commitment that the President made to the American taxpayer in that it wasn't going to cost anything to give the canal away," the Democrat from College Station said. "I think that it might be possible to draft an agreement which could protect the taxpayer and the consumer and yet be a reasonable compromise in fulfilling the obligations of the treaties."

U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm, another Hansen amendment co-sponsor, was less open to compromise on the implementation bill as a whole.

"I'm going to vote 'No,'" he said. "The senators were assured over and over there would be no transfer of taxpayers' funds."

The Stamford Democrat said the international repercussions might not be as strong as the bill's supporters claimed.

"I don't think the prestige of America is on the line as strongly as those who advocate the treaties do," Stenholm said.

U.S. Rep. Jim Collins, a Dallas Republican, said any gloomy international results would come from the treaties themselves and not from whichever route the House takes.

"I think that getting out is more likely to bring a revolution. We're the stability in the area," he said.

He favored an amendment stronger than Hansen's to require Panamanian payment of supplementary implementation costs as well as direct costs. He said, however, that he would have to vote for the bill in some form because the treaties were ratified.

"I think it was a mistake that the House didn't vote on it originally," he said. "Since they have it in effect, I don't think I'd have an alternative."

A Dallas Democrat, U.S. Rep. Martin Frost, came to a similar conclusion less virulently.

"My inclination is to support the bill on final passage," he said. "We just can't leave it in limbo."

He said the time to change the treaties one way or the other was during the ratification process, but he would be looking "very carefully" at the amendments offered.

U.S. Rep. Ron Paul, a conservative Republican from Lake Jackson, said he was surprised to be asked what his vote would be.

"Gee, I didn't even know there would be a choice," he said. "I couldn't even conceive of spending any money to implement that treaty."

ZULEMA GARCIA

Zulema Garcia, director of the Hereford Child Development Center for the Texas Migrant Council, was killed at 3 a.m. Thursday in a two-car accident on US 60 about six miles east of Hereford.

Two passengers in Mrs. Garcia's car, Carolina Tijerina, 27, and Alicia Torres, 22, both of Hereford, were injured in the crash. Both were in fair condition late Thursday in Deaf Smith General Hospital.

The driver of the other car, Bonnie Baird Noyes, 50, of Hereford, also was in fair condition late Thursday at Deaf Smith hospital with head and chest injuries she suffered in the collision.

Mrs. Garcia, 26, was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident by Hereford Justice of the Peace O.K. Neal.

Department of Public Safety reports show that a 1973 Ford, driven by Mrs. Garcia, was westbound on U.S. 60 when it apparently ran off the road and into the median before stopping across U.S. 60. The other vehicle was westbound on U.S. 60 when the collision occurred, reports indicate.

Mass for Mrs. Garcia will be said at 8 p.m. today at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Plainview, with a rosary at 9:30 p.m.

Services will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at the church with the Rev. Rex Nicholl, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Plainview Memorial Park under the direction of Lemons Funeral Home in Plainview.

Mrs. Garcia, a Haskell County native, grew up in Plainview and graduated from Plainview High School in 1972. She was a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

She married Joe Garcia Jr. Feb. 2, 1971 in Plainview and moved to Hereford a year ago.

Survivors include her husband; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ramirez of Plainview; three sons, Steven, Michael and Gabriel; all of the home; three brothers, Paul Ramirez and Armando Ramirez, both of Slaton, and Albert Ramirez Jr. of Lubbock; four sisters, Alejandra Flores, Ernestina Ramirez, Gloria Ybarra, all of Plainview, and Modesta Mojica of Brownfield.

The Abundant Life
LIKE YOURSELF
BY BOB WEAR

"I DON'T LIKE MYSELF" is a comment often made by the people who have difficulty with themselves, with their self-image. This is what they usually say to the person to whom they go for counseling. In most instances, they can be helped. The wise counselor will say, "You must learn to like yourself."

IF YOU DON'T LIKE YOURSELF, but never admit that you don't and never seek the right kind of help, or never try to overcome this faulty attitude; you are in trouble. This is one of the most hurtful of all human attitudes, and is probably tied to more personal and social difficulties than any other flaw in one's self-view.

WITH MOST OF US, there is probably something about ourselves that we do not like; or, at least, something we would like to change that cannot be changed. This may be true in your life, but it is not the same as not liking yourself. You can, and you must "like yourself," in spite of what you consider flaws that cannot be altered.

ALL OF US MUST ACCEPT what cannot be changed. Because this is part of the formula for making the best of life.

THERE ARE SOME TEACHINGS which reject the view that you must "like yourself." Do not give heed to such teachings, because they usually embrace some form of distorted notions about humility. Of course, if you "like yourself" as an expression of vanity; you have an inferior self-view; however, even this is better than disliking and mistreating yourself.

THERE IS A VERY WHOLE-

SOME WAY in which you can and should "like yourself," and you must find this way.

SELF-RESPECT IS perhaps the most necessary element in the formation and maintenance of the valuable concept of "liking yourself." This is not what we usually consider selfishness. If it is selfishness, it is wholesome. You cannot respect others, or respect your Creator until you respect yourself. This is a well-established fact. Therefore, you will always have a better view of others; when you "like yourself."

SELF-RESPECT IS the noblest garment with which a man may clothe himself, the most elevating feeling with which the mind can be inspired." - S. Smiles

IF YOU WOULD "LIKE YOURSELF," think and act in the ways which produce and nurture self-respect.

BEMEANING AND BELITTLING AND MISUSING YOURSELF does not help you with your self-image, and causes you to find much difficulty in liking your fellowmen. Of course, it is a mistake to be arrogant, and haughty, and boastful, and self-centered; but none of these are identifying marks of the wholesome attitude of "liking yourself."

"TO LIKE, RESPECT AND ENJOY ourselves is as much a part of the healthy personality as is the ability to like others." - Carnegie

ALL OF THE WISDOM AVAILABLE to us reveals both the necessity for "liking yourself," and the way you "must think," and "speak," and "act" so this meaningful, mature living can be attained.

Eastern Star Meets With New Officers

Eastern Star held their first meeting of newly installed officers Tuesday in the Masonic Hall.

Beverly Brooke presided over the business session. The chapter was opened in regular form with the introduction of two guests.

A report of the auditing committee was given by Courtney Brooke; treasurers report was given by Audrey Powell; secretary report by Karen White; and junior past matron report by Wynema Wheeler.

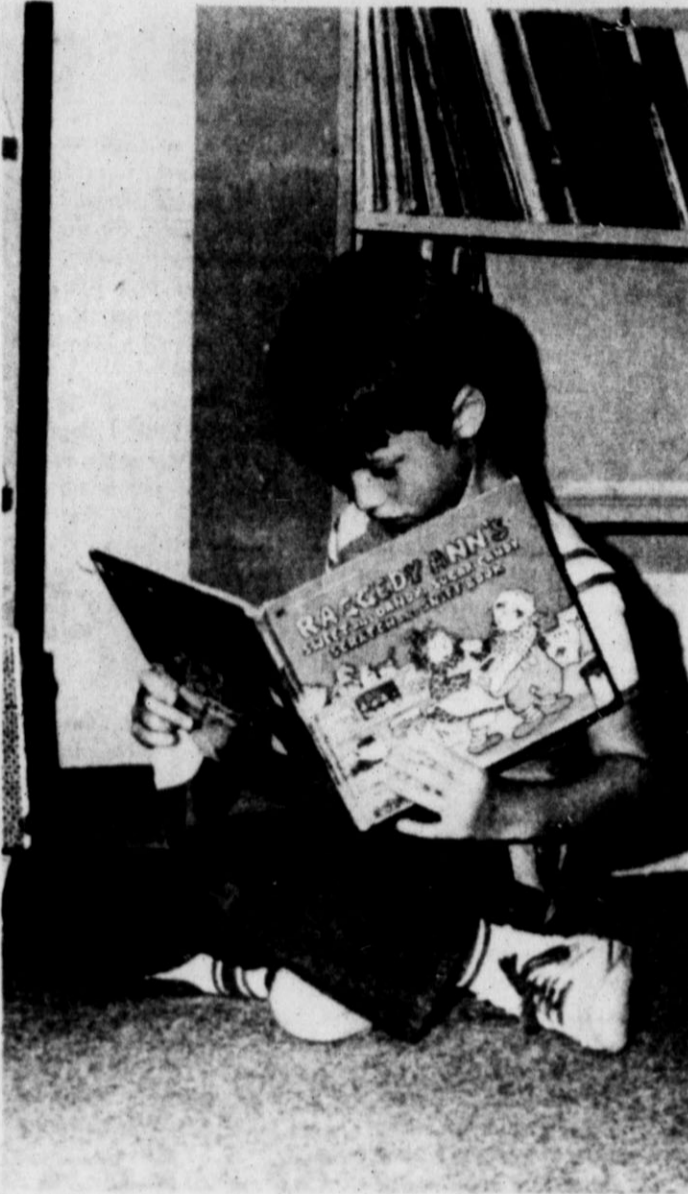

Several visitors from the Dimmitt Chapter were present to help with the installation of officers. Wanda Brown acted as installing marshal. A few members from the Hereford chapter reported to Vega to help with their installation. Those going were Argen Draper, Audrey Powell, Ruth Long and Wynema Wheeler.

Argen Draper and Dottie Darden installed Linda Knowles as Ruth of Chapter.

Hostesses were Messrs. and Mmes. Merl Parker, Herb Edwards and Ms. Laurie Meyers.

Twenty-five members were present with two visitors, Shirley Patton, Deputy Grand Matron of District II, section 11 from Channing Chapter #1078, and Helen Biddle from Vega Chapter #528, newly-installed worthy matron.

RESPONSIBILITY IS A PART OF DEMOCRACY
By PATSY GILES

How many times have we heard in the past few years "This is a democracy?" Does this imply that in a democracy, one has the right to behave as he wants? Because I live in a democracy, I may do as I please?

What we need to be aware of is the fact that with rights comes responsibility. We have a right to own and drive a car, but driving must be done according to the rules which are made for the common good. If we do not accept the responsibility for obeying the rules, we must accept the consequences or responsibility of killing or maiming our selves or others.

I have a right to play my radio, but a tranquil campsite after 10 p.m. is hardly the time or place. My responsibility here is to respect others' right to peace and quiet. With the right to own and love a pet comes the responsibility to care for him and keep him from bothering others.

Think what chaos we would have if everyone assumed that freedom and licenses were the only aspects of democracy. Responsibility is the side of democracy that we often overlook or choose to ignore. Let's try to remember that in a democracy we have rights, but with this must come the responsibility of our actions.

Frustration, resentment, stifled creativity and discipline problems can result if children are continually told "don't," points out a family life education specialist, Jenny Reinhardt, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Very Interesting!

Presently 516 children are enrolled in the summer reading program at Deaf Smith County Library with a good response of 20 books or more having been read. Any child interested in the summer program should come to the Library with a parent and sign-up. The program is entitled "In Search of Texas Treasures." Numerous programs are planned and the prizes include gold nuggets, ice cream and certificates. Concern Children

DEAR ANN: Please help us get something across to our kids through your column. WE LOVE YOU BUT DON'T WANT TO LIVE WITH YOU.

My son and his wife are begging us to get rid of our big house and share their home. True, it would be cheaper, but we are too old to conform to someone else's lifestyle. We like our independence!

They tell us we would have our own room, but we'd have to be dressed at all times in case some of their friends came by. They have four children who keep the kitchen littered with dirty glasses, dishes in the sink, pans on the stove, and whatever dirt they drag in on their feet.

I like to keep a neat house. Messiness upsets me. My husband enjoys sitting around in his undershirt. He also likes to chew tobacco. I'm afraid we'd feel that if we gave up our home and moved in with the children. We are in good health and can care for ourselves. Will you please give us a hand? -- Nameless In Cincinnati

DEAR ANN: I think it's lovely that the children want you, but you are wise to say "No, thanks," for all the reasons mentioned in your letter -- and more. Don't give in. You'd be miserable.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read in the paper yesterday that two men were legally married in California. My friend and I live in Minnesota and we can't be married in this state. How about Illinois? Also, where should we look for a home in Chicago? We like the Near North Side. Please advise. -- Two In-Love

DEAR LOVE: Two members of the same sex cannot be legally married in any state of the union. They may have a "religious" ceremony but this does not constitute a legal marriage.

As for location, Chicago has many nice areas. One thing is certain, you don't need to be near a school.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have followed with interest the controversy in your column about where to meet members of the opposite sex. As a college professor, I frequently find myself giving advice to graduate students on this topic. A few of my observations may be of value to you.

(1) One must be comfortable with one's self in order to be comfortable with others. Thus, a person who abhors singles bars should not go scouting in such a place. No matter how many eligibles are around it won't work. A woman who hates sports shouldn't go to ball games to meet men. She will meet people whose interests are not the same as hers.

(2) Campus activities are a good setting for getting acquainted. The same goes for art galleries, museums, and libraries.

(3) If possible, get on a committee, become involved in learning discussions. One will be more comfortable with a new acquaintance if both are working toward a mutual goal. In this way they can start out as friends and a deeper relationship can develop naturally. -- B.H.B., Loyola University, Chicago

DEAR B.H.B.: Thanks for the input from academia. The words are a little different, but the melody is the same.

What is A Town?

A town is a group of people.

- It is schools.
- It is city government.
- It is churches.
- It is hospitals
- It is industry and jobs.
- It is retail businesses.

They all have to work together. All must have the support of the people.

Or there is no town.

Give your local merchant a chance for your business. You shouldn't spend your hard earned money with him unless his selection is adequate and his price competitive. But give him the first opportunity to make the sale.

For the local retailer pays the highest percentage of local taxes. He most often is the civic leader who dedicates his time and talents to his town. He is contacted first for contributions to charitable projects. He provides jobs. Without his store you have no town.

Give the local merchant a fair shake

Four Share Open Lead

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) - They're calling the 79th United States Open Championship the Year of the Tree. And it's an apropos title.

A 25-foot spruce was awaiting Lon Hinkle and his Short Cut Gang today beside the eighth tee at Inverness Club.

Embarrassed officials of the governing U.S. Golf Association hope the tree, put in place Thursday night, will eliminate playing down the adjoining 17th fairway to negotiate an easy par - or even birdie - at the 528-yard, par-5 dogleg hole.

"I was real tempted not to tell anybody about it. We hit the same landing area that people from 17 do," said Hinkle, who hit a 1-iron to the fairway, a 2-iron to the eighth green and 2-putted from 70 feet for his bird.

The strategy helped him to a 1-under-par 70, good for a share of the first-round lead with 1975 Open champion Lou Graham, Tom Purtzer, Andy Bean and Keith Ferguson.

At least six players - Jerry Heard, Dave Eichelberger, John Schroeder, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Jim Simons and Hinkle - played the eighth hole via the shortcut, which cut about 50 yards from the length of the hole. Heard and Schroeder also birdied it. The others parred it.

The tree incident nearly overshadowed one of the great Open comebacks by Tom Purtzer.

Purtzer, 27, whose only victory came in the 1977 Los Angeles Open, was 5 over par after five holes Thursday. He went double bogey, then triple bogey.

He had hit shots bare-footed from a creek, left-handed from under a bush and from atop a pine cone. He took a fat 39 on the front side.

And this was the world's most prestigious golf tournament, the second of four major championships this year for the men.

Then, in a startling turn-around he couldn't explain himself, Purtzer lashed back at proud, old Inverness, the site of its fourth Open in 59 years.

Purtzer birdied four straight holes, five of the last six for a 31 on the backside and a share of the lead.

Despite the playing conditions in sunny mid-80 degree weather, it was one of the most inauspicious first rounds for an Open. Not since 1974 had no players been in the 60s.

Inverness was particularly harsh on some of the sport's glamour names. Johnny Miller, who holds the single round Open record of 63, went for 73. Three-time Open titleholder Jack Nicklaus struggled to 74 as did two more Open kings, Hubert Green and Hale Irwin.

Tom Watson, this year's leading money winner and the pretournament favorite, explained his 75: "My driving was the worst part. My irons weren't that good either. I just couldn't get the feel of it today."

Arnold Palmer had 76. Lee Trevino, a two-time winner in this tournament; Masters victor Fuzzy Zoeller, and PGA National champion John Mahafey matched 77s.

Portions of this $350,000 major championship, with a first prize of $50,000, will be carried Saturday and Sunday by ABC-TV 2:30 to 6:30 p.m. EDT.

'Birds Lose 13-3

AMARILLO — Amarillo used a big sixth inning to overwhelm the Hereford Redbirds in action here last night, 13-3.

The Sandies scored seven runs in the sixth to win their third game of the year as Hereford drops to an even .500 with a 2-2 mark.

The Redbirds took an early lead in the game, scoring three runs in the initial inning and held Amarillo scoreless until the third when the home team picked up three runs to tie the game.

Amarillo went ahead the following inning with a single run and then pushed across the seven runs in the sixth to put the game out of reach.

Chris Hill went the distance for the Redbirds in a game called by the 10 run ruling after the seventh inning. Hill's record is now 1-1 for the year.

Don Weemes had the Redbird's only extra base hit as he blasted a double.

Coach Joe Don Cummings said that both Ronald Plummer and Steve Bartels did well at the plate with both hitters in the top 10 in batting in the league.

"We played real well except for that one inning," Cummings said, "and we are a good team and we will just have to work on correcting our mistakes."

The Redbird's name game will be against Tascosa June 17 at Bone Hooks field here in Amarillo.

Ballot Stuffing Not Fair To Players

SAN DIEGO (AP) - If ballot-stuffing costs Dave Winfield a starting spot in the All-Star game, Dave Parker votes for revamping the selection method.

Despite leading Parker, the National League leader in runs batted in and hits, San Diego's 6-foot-6 right fielder has dropped from fourth to fifth in balloting.

Winfield doesn't accept it. And neither does Parker.

"It shouldn't be a popularity contest," said Winfield, whose statistics include a .352 batting average, 54 RBI and 15 home runs.

But, in Thursday's latest All-Star returns, he dropped from fourth to fifth, behind Philadelphia's Greg Luzinski, arker, Cincinnati's George Foster and Philadelphia's Garry Maddox.

Winfield believes his statistics indicate he should be one of the three starting outfielders. Parker, the NL's Most Valuable Player of 1978, agrees.

"The guy has a legitimate shot at the Triple Crown," said Parker, "yet he's only fourth or fifth in the balloting. That's not right."

"I don't say we should take it away from the fans. I think that would be a injustice - but the players should have more say," said Parker, in San Diego for a series with the Padres.

Winfield and Foster "are the hardest-hitting right-handed hitters in the league," said Parker. "If I were starting a team, I'd build it around him."

He objects to the present system because it allows ballot stuffing and dominance by the major metropolitan cities.

Another example, he said, is Cincinnati's Johnny Bench.

"He's had back problems and doesn't play that much. It's unfair to Bob Boone and Ted Simmons, who are having great years."

"We've got to devise a fairer system. I don't think the seven best players in the National League are in Philadelphia," he said, adding that players and writers should have a role in the selection format.

"It is baseball's biggest showcase," Winfield said. "The players take it seriously and there is a lot of prestige involved."

"I can understand if a Lou Brock or Hank Aaron or Willie Mays were named and were not at the top of their games. If a great player like that is bowing out, I'd vote for them too."

"But the All-Star game is supposed to be based on your statistics for the current season. I think my statistics are good enough that I should be a starter."

Spent the Weekend in Amarillo

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) - The big difference between the 1978 and 1979 Milwaukee Brewers is a big knockout punch, but that wasn't apparent Thursday night.

"We just don't break open games like we did last year," said Milwaukee Manager George Bamberger after the Brewers nailed the fast-unraveling Texas Rangers, 6-2.

Bamberger said, "We just don't have the hitting with Don Money and Larry Hisle injured. We don't have the big innings where you get five and six runs and put away the games."

The Brewers did a fairly good job of offense against the Rangers, collecting 13 hits. The highlights included a two-run triple by Sal Bando, a two-run double by Buck Martinez and a two-run homer by Ben Oglivie.

The victim was Doyle Alexander 3-5, who lost his starting job in the Ranger rotation after yielding eight hits in three and a third innings. Reliever Ed Farmer surrendered only five hits and got Alexander's starting job in the process.

Brewer left Bill Travers, pitching with short sleeves for the first time in his major league career, limited the Rangers to just seven hits to earn his fourth victory in seven decisions.

There was a mild tempest in the Ranger locker room after the game, with Manager Pat Corrales starting out by saying he was considering taking Alexander out of the starting rotation.

"I wish he'd do it and quit considering it," said an angry Alexander. "He doesn't scare me with that bleep."

After talking with Corrales, Alexander said later, "It's official now."

Bamberger said he wasn't sure when he would get Money back. "The doctors say two weeks and I say three weeks for his hamstring to heal," said Bamberger.

"Hisle may not be back this year with his shoulder injury," Bamberger said it was encouraging that the Brewers could come back to win the last two games of the series after blowing the opener with errors and misplays.

"It was great to win two after giving them one," said Bamberger. "We bounced back great. We did that a lot last year. We might look bad, but we'd always come back."

He added, "The odds are against us winning our division. You never know, but out pitching would have to be extra good. If we had Money and Hisle, we would be right around first place. I really thought we could win it when we broke spring training."

Travers said, "The hot weather really helped me tonight. For me to pitch nine innings in short-sleeves is an all-time first. I really felt loose."

The Rangers scored an unearned run in the fifth inning and John Ellis hit a solo homer in the seventh for Texas.

Father-Son Project Helps Kids, Teams

A Strike!

Concentration on the part of the pitcher is evident in the minor league division of Kid's Inc. baseball. The teams are made up of boys 9-10 years old who have fun and learn the basics of the game. (Brand photo by Marc Herring)

By MARC HERRING
Brand Sports Editor

"These kids are out here by and large to play because their friends are out here playing and it's just what boys do in Hereford during the summer," says Buddy Peeler, a coach in the minor league Kid's Inc. baseball program.

"These kids are out here to have fun and basically so am I, plus the fact that I'm interested in helping the kids learn some baseball."

Peeler and his son Bryan are involved with the minor league Cardinals and are in their fourth season as coaches in the minor league system.

"We had been coming to the park for five years while Bryan was playing and when he quit baseball to concentrate on other sports, the habit of being together on the baseball field sort of carried over so we decided to make it a father-son project and coach a team."

Peeler said.

The minors are for boys age nine and 10 and Peeler said that the coaches are still teaching the fundamental basics about the game. There are 12 teams in the league with an average of 15 players per team, so the participation is very good.

"As far as these kids are concerned, the winning or losing aspect is not as important as having a good time, although they do want to win, but if they don't win, most of them forget about it as soon as the game is over and are ready to go and play with the other kids," Peeler said.

The league maintains a seven run rule per inning, and each boy gets to bat and play at least one inning in the field per game, barring any disciplinary problems, according to Peeler.

Another rule, which helps equalize the competition, is that a pitcher is allowed to only throw three innings each game.

This keeps the problem of arm injuries down and it keeps a team that has one overpowering pitcher from dominating the other teams.

Peeler brought up the problem that has been a nemesis of the Kid's Inc. problem all along, that of finding coaches for all of the teams. Most of the teams are coached by parents who have kids involved on the team, but the league has to rely on the adults that don't have kids involved to take up the vacancies.

"When the parents are involved in the league, most of them can see how the program is run and this helps eliminate the few isolated cases of parents yelling at the umpires and the teams," Peeler said.

"We use volunteers for every aspect of running the league, which helps save on costs, but it makes it hard at times to fill some of the positions."

The minor league is the second level of competition for boys, with tee-ball or the pee wee league for boys 7-8 years old.

In the minors, the kids for the first time use a pitcher to throw the ball and a catcher that has to catch the pitch behind the batter. These two aspects are the two basics that are stressed in the practices of the teams because the boys have never experienced them before.

Peeler said that the kids that have come through tee ball are stronger defensively because they have had a chance to play the ball more in the early program. Also the batter has a more level swing which comes from the fact that that is stressed in hitting the ball off of the tee.

"Most of the kids have a better swing, but we still have to work with them on having a good stance and hitting the ball where it is pitched to them," Peeler said.

The league has an 11 game schedule which is played at the new complex on 15th Street.

Amarillo Wins

By The Associated Press

Joe DeSa's two-run homer in the sixth inning boosted the Arkansas Travelers to a 4-2 Texas League baseball victory over the Tulsa Drillers Thursday night.

In other Texas League action, Shreveport beat Jackson, 6-3, in 11 innings. El Paso slipped past San Antonio, 11-7, and Amarillo defeated Midland, 10-3.

DeSa's homer came after Neil Fiala doubled. Arkansas also scored in the sixth when Tito Landrum singled, stole second, moved to third on a throwing error and scored on a wild pitch. Another Travelers run scored in the seventh when Jim Rigglesman doubled home Randy Thomas, who singled.

Len Strelitz, 4-4, was the winning pitcher. John Butcher, 4-6, was the loser. Shreveport scored three runs in the top of the 11th inning to beat Jackson, 6-3. Jose Barrios had two singles and drove in two runs for the captains. Gorman Heimuelier, 3-1, was the winning pitcher. Russell Clark, 0-1, was the losing Mets pitcher.

Mark Brouhard's three-run homer in the eighth inning helped the El Paso Diablos take an 11-7 victory over the San Antonio Dodgers. It was Brouhard's 10th homer of the season. Brian Harper had a homer in the third inning when the Diablos exploded for seven runs.

Keith Comstock picked up his first pitching victory after three losses. Doug Harrison, 4-3, was the losing pitcher.

The Amarillo Gold Sox used three big innings to take the 10-3 victory over the Midland Cubs. The Sox scored three in the fourth, three in the sixth and four in the seventh.

Gary Pickert, 6-3, was the winning Amarillo pitcher. Mark Parker, 4-2, was the losing hurler.

Men's Partnership Set

The Hereford Men's Partnership golf tourney will begin play Saturday morning with two rounds of 18 holes to be played according to Mike Horton, Hereford golf pro.

The tournament will feature low ball scoring, with prizes awarded to the top three or four places in each flight. There will be 10 flights entered with a total of 112 teams.

Entry fee for the tournament is $70 per team with entries still being accepted for a waiting list.

Anderson Loses Debut

Things have got to get better for Sparky Anderson but how much better can they get for Willie Aikens?

While the Seattle Mariners were spoiling Anderson's American League managerial debut by nipping the Detroit Tigers 3-2, Aikens tied a major league record by belting a grand slam for the second game in a row as the California Angels swamped the Toronto Blue Jays 10-2.

In other American League games, the Minnesota Twins turned back the New York Yankees 4-2, the Milwaukee Brewers whipped the Texas Rangers 6-2 and the Cleveland Indians edged the Oakland A's 2-1. Baltimore, Boston, Chicago and Kansas City were not scheduled.

Horton said. Teams on the list will be given a chance to participate if teams already entered drop out.

The team that is rated the best chance of capturing top prize in the championship flight is Bob Baker and John Goodwin. Goodwin was part of the winning team last year as he teamed with John Zett to win the top flight.

In other golf action, the Hereford's Women Partnership was played Thursday with Janet Crook and Gail Kenyon placing first in the championship flight with a 18 hole total of 72.

Other first place winners included the team of Lillian Keith and Joyce Spence in the first flight with a 75 and Lonnie Walterscheid and Cindy McWhorter placing second with a score of 76.

In the second flight Josie Long and Robin Gregory teamed to score a 85 to beat the team of Cooky Bamhert and Pearl Gunsteam in a playoff for the first place.

The third flight winners were Sandy Anderson and Theresa Albracht of Hereford as they scored an 89.

Prizes were awarded in the form of gift certificates from the pro shop for the top four places in each flight.

YMCA Gets Weights

The YMCA has received the new 16 station weight machine to be a part of their fitness club. Weldon Knabe, program director said.

The machine, a Pro Model Combo has stations for leg press, chest press, shoulder press, high lat, quad low pulley, a chinning bar, dipping, hip flexor, nine level abdominal board, rowing station, a calf flexor and a squat station.

In addition to the main machine the 'Y' added a leg flexor station.

With the use of the weight machine limited to fitness club members, the YMCA has opened a new weight training room utilizing loose weights which will be offered to regular members.

Advertise now!

Think this is the wrong time of year to advertise? Sure, business is slow, but the smart advertiser makes his advertising dollar work even harder during this time of year:

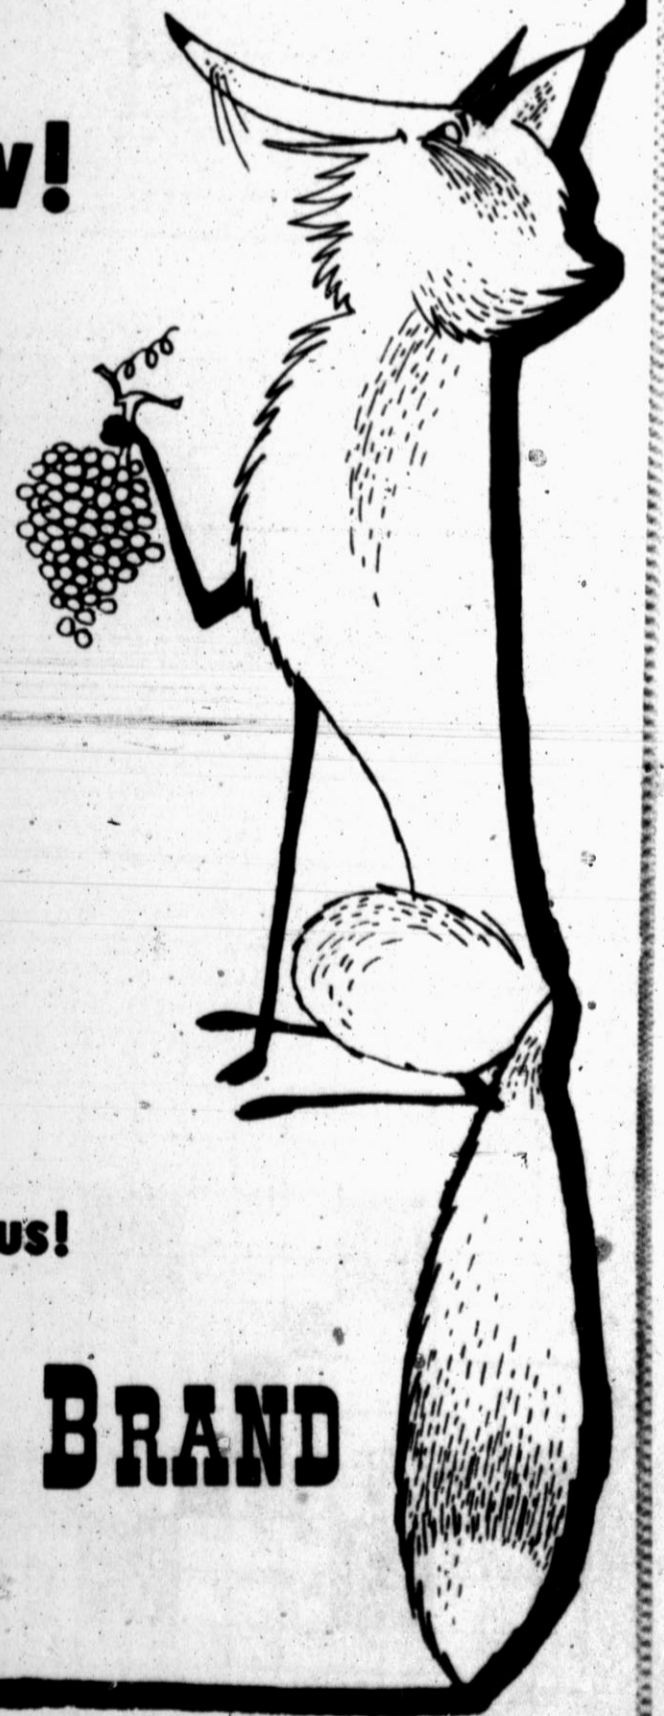

1. New customers move into Hereford daily. The smart advertiser attracts this new business into his store. If the newcomer shops with you first, chances are he'll be back again and again.
2. People stop trading with your competitors for one reason or another, and the smart advertiser attracts this business with effective advertising.
3. Advertising is designed to build business and one of its strongest effects is familiarity or repetition; consistent advertising pays. The smart advertiser never lets the buying public forget he is still in business.

The smart advertiser always thinks of his advertising dollar as an investment in greater sales volume, never as an expense of doing business.

FBC, Presbyterian Win In Softball

He's Out!

Larry Roberts stretches all he has to make the catch from an infielder in the game last night that had First Baptist playing Community Church. FBC

First Baptist Church used consistent scoring and sparkling defense to keep their perfect record intact last night as they beat Community Church 14-3 in the YMCA sponsored church softball action played at St. Anthony's field.

The late game featured First Presbyterian using a big second inning to overwhelm First Christian I in the second game of the night, 11-7.

FBC held Community to only one run until the final inning as they chalked up their third consecutive win without a loss in the regular league play. The defense efforts of short fielder Larry Roberts keyed the Baptists victory.

Offensively, Craig Nieman, Roberts, and Ralph Hill blasted home runs for FBC and Larson of Community Church lashed a double for his team's only extra base hit.

In the second game, Bob Wagner led the Presbyterians with a single and a home run for their second win of the season to move their record above the .500 mark at 2-1.

First Christian kept the game close throughout the first three innings, when the score was 10-7, but First Presbyterian held them scoreless the rest of the way to capture the win.

Tonight's action is makeup games and will pit FBC against Ave. Baptist in a game of unbeatens and in the second game, First Christian I will go against St. Anthony's. All games are played at the St. Anthony field on Sunset Ave.

BOURQUIN WEED PULLER

Finally, a simple, exciting and workable alternative to hand weeding. The Bourquin Weed Puller is one of the few innovations in cultivators in 30 years.

This inexpensive weed pulling machine will many times pay for itself in labor savings within the first season. The Bourquin Weed Puller is ecologically safe, has no recurring chemical costs, and may be front or rear mounted.

The Bourquin Weed Puller removes shattercane, careless weed, velvet leaf, beggar weed, coffee weed, and a variety of other weeds from grain sorghum, soybeans, cotton, sugar beets, and vegetables.

The Bourquin Weed Puller is working well in uprooting seedling johnsongrass; and applying herbicide at a root stunting rate should improve the weed puller's performance in established johnsongrass.

An important side benefit may be emerging in our soybean operation. By operating the Bourquin Weed Puller at a slightly lower level, a slight pruning of the soybean leaves occurs. We have a growing number of farmers who feel they will get a boost in yield from this pruning action, in addition to the weed removal.

This may be the missing link in your weed management program. For more information, contact Bourquin Design and Mfg., Inc. Route 3, Colby, Kansas 67701 (913-462-2998 or 462-2065). Send coupon to Royce Cratsinger, Box 6, Wildorado, Texas 79098 or Call 806-426-3338

Mays Named As Elite

James Mays, achieved all-American status as an 800 meter runner it was disclosed. Mays, running in the AAU meet in Walnut, Calif. this weekend has run a personal best of 1:47.14 this year.

He made the elite list with his effort in the Federation meet at Wichita, Ka. the week before the NCAA's.

Mays will be running the 800 meters three times at the AAU meet. The prelims to the finals that will be run Saturday were contested yesterday but results were not available to the Brand before press time.

Grimsley's Sports Analysis Sparky Happy As Manager

DETROIT (AP) - It looked incongruous to see Sparky Anderson in the blue-trimmed white uniform of the Detroit Tigers rather than Cincinnati's flamed red, but there was no mistaking the man himself. Ebullient. His California-bronzed face beaming under a full head of silver hair. Obviously so happy he was bursting at the seams. It seemed he couldn't smile enough. He couldn't shake enough hands. He couldn't quit responding to unending salutes.

A 9-year-old kid walks up for an autograph. A lady wants a Sparky Anderson signature for her father on Father's Day. "Welcome, Sparky, glad to have you!" people yelled. Sparky was back home - and happy. Not the home that he had festooned with National League and World Series trophies - but home, nevertheless.

He was back on the field as a manager. "The pressure is behind me," he said. "The book is closed on the past. Let history and the people of Cincinnati decide what kind of manager I was. Now I am taking over what I think is the finest young talent in baseball. I have a chance to put my imprint on the team - I never really felt that way at Cincinnati. I was naive. I always felt - as the people did - that the Reds were a team of stars and were supposed to win.

"I am no genius. I intend to give the kids a chance to play baseball. If it backfires, I'll pay the dues. I'll accept full blame - not these kids.

"But let me tell you something - I don't have lightning in the bottle. But if they keep me - and I hope to God they do - I promise you this: I'll have Detroit in the World Series."

The gracious Anderson wears no scars for his brutal dismissal as Cincinnati manager after nine years in which he led the Reds to five division crowns and into four World Series, two of which he won.

"I have no animosity," he said, referring to the Cincinnati boss who fired him so unceremoniously. "Dick Wagner likes Sparky Anderson. I can understand the reason he fired me, and I can't be bitter. He thought we should have won the last two years.

Sparky said that Jim Campbell, Tigers' general manager, called him six times before finally convincing him that he should come to Detroit. "I had - other managing options - one especially that I was interested in - and I couldn't make up my mind. My wife, Carol, and son, Albert, who has more sense than any of us, weighed the pros and cons. Finally, there were no cons. I said, 'Yes.'"

Sparky said the decision took a weighty load off his shoulders. "I was being mentioned in the press as a likely candidate for managing jobs with the Yankees, Red Sox, Phillies and Angels. I swear to you, none of these clubs talked to me.

"The talk made me uncomfortable. Danny Ozark (Phillies) is such a friend and doing a great job. I am no vulture. I am no grave digger. I wasn't after anybody's job."

Sports Shorts

By The Associated Press

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - Track star Renaldo Nehemiah easily outdistanced his pursuers in the voting for Athlete of the Year in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The University of Maryland sophomore, world-record holder for the indoor and outdoor hurdles, received 88 of 142 votes from members of the ACC Sports Writers Association.

Nehemiah, who will receive the Anthony J. McKeelin Award, was followed in the voting by Clemson quarterback Steve Fuller 35 and North Carolina State halfback Ted Brown 12.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) - Sally Little and Jane Blalock shot four-under-par 69s to tie for the first day lead in a $100,000 LPGA event.

Sue Roberts was alone in second place at 70, one stroke back. Bunched at 71 were Barbara Moxness, Connie Chillemi, Dot Germain, and Sharon Miller.

CHICHESTER, England (AP) - South Africa's Tanya Harford upset former Wimbledon champion Virginia Wade 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 in the second round of the Chichester Grass Courts Tennis Tournament.

In other matches, Pam Teegarden defeated Australia's

Montreal Wins At Home, 4-3

When things are going well, it doesn't matter what they throw at you.

Gene Garber tried to jam Montreal's Tony Perez with a fast ball in the eighth inning, and the veteran first baseman hit it for a run-scoring single. So when Gary Carter stepped to the plate, Garber decided to try and slip a changeup past him.

It didn't work. Carter slammed a booming double to left, driving in two runs and giving the Expos a 4-3 victory over the Braves.

The victory raised Montreal's home record to 20-3 and extended its lead over second-place St. Louis to one game in the National League East.

In other games, the Chicago Cubs beat the San Francisco Giants 8-6 and the San Diego Padres edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1 in 14 innings.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Unadulterated nonsense

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am 15 years old and I weigh 150 pounds. I have tried exercising but that doesn't seem to help. Most all of my fat is in my legs and hips. I once tried an exercise class for the lower part of my body, but I heard a rumor that if you lose fat in your legs that it will go to your behind. Is this true? If it is, I don't know what I am going to do because my behind is big enough.

DEAR READER - That's pure unadulterated nonsense. If you lose fat from your legs, you'll lose it and it won't go anywhere else.

There really isn't any such thing as spot reducing. If you follow a program that causes you to lose fat calories, it will eventually affect the undesirable fat deposits.

Simply put, that means you have to be on a diet that limits your calorie intake below the level of the amount of calories your body uses. You can affect this relationship in two ways - through a diet that decreases your calories or through an activity program that increases your use of calories.

Your resting metabolism is important too because you use calories at rest, but there's a limited amount that you can expect to do about that unless you want to start a weight lifting program and develop muscles. I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. You can consider this simply as a guide.

The Health Letter I'm sending you will provide the framework for a balanced 1300 calorie diet. You shouldn't consume less than that amount on a daily basis. The rest of your weight control program should be achieved by exercise. You should not try to lose more than one pound a week and you shouldn't stick to a rigid diet, even this one, for long periods of time. About every six weeks you should enjoy a six-week period of a balanced maintenance diet without weight gain or loss.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm a 36-year-old female. For the past two weeks I've been having hunger pains where my heart is located. About 15 minutes after I eat I feel hungry again. The pains are not intolerable but they are there. If I drink a cup of coffee they go away and start again in about 30 minutes and then I'll eat a cookie or some candy. I'm size 12 now and I don't want to gain weight. Maybe you can help me. Do you think I have an ulcer or is it my nerves or my heart?

DEAR READER - There's no way you'll know for certain what's causing your pain without a medical examination. Since you're a young woman it's most unlikely that the symptoms you're describing are related to heart disease, at least the type associated with heart attacks and fatty-cholesterol deposits in the coronary arteries.

Relief of pain with food is often a symptom of ulcers but before such a diagnosis is made, you should have X-ray studies.

In the meantime, I would suggest that you change your life style. That may significantly alter your symptoms. Don't use coffee to get rid of your pain. Eliminate all coffee, tea, colas or chocolate - all of which contain caffeine. Also, if you're a cigarette smoker, stop at once.

DEAR DR. LAMB - My husband is 47 and he's been told that he has cirrhosis of the liver and must stop drinking.

He's gone from 165 to 135 pounds and he's 6 feet tall. He doesn't eat well and he hasn't for years. He's always been a drinker. Beer first but for about four or five years, both beer and whiskey.

He's also a heavy cigarette smoker and has a chronic cough that aggravates a rupture he has had for many years.

We were separated but since he was made aware of his illness and because of his hard time financially, we are back together again. We don't communicate. If I try to approach the subject of his condition, his drinking or smoking, he gets very angry and tells me it's his life.

The doctor prescribed several medicines but, of course, he doesn't take them since he won't give up the alcohol.

I've talked to his doctor but all he will tell me is he has to quit - that hospitalization won't help.

I don't know what to expect or what direction his illness will take. I know he has coughed up blood. Will he get progressively worse? I've tried everything I know to help but he believes seeing the doctor was a waste of time and money - that the doctor was just trying to scare him.

I don't expect a diagnosis but with what little I've been able to tell you of his condition, can you tell me how long such a situation can persist without treatment? I will be grateful for any information you can supply.

DEAR READER - One of the frustrations physicians experience is having to observe people destroy their health and be completely helpless to do anything about it. In our free society, it's difficult to make people do things for themselves as long as that person is assumed to be sane and responsible.

If the situation is as you describe it to be, your husband is seriously damaging his health. There is no way I can tell you how long the situation will last.

One of the worse aspects of alcohol is that people often have to reach the stage of a medical emergency or total financial collapse before they're willing to accept any help. In many instances, there are important psychiatric and emotional factors involved.

That doesn't mean the rest of the family has to suffer the full brunt of the disorder. If your husband is intent upon damaging his life, there's no reason that you should allow this to happen to yourself.

To give you a resume of the medical effects of excessive use of alcohol, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 1-4, Alcohol, Whiskey, Gin, Vodka, Rum, Wine, Beer. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

I would strongly recommend that you look in the yellow pages of your telephone book under alcoholism and see what facilities are available in your community. You should definitely contact the Al-Anon organization which is for families of alcoholics. They could probably give you some useful help and insight while you're going through this stage of your life in coping with your husband's illness. If you can't find the proper facilities in your own community, perhaps you can in a nearby city.

Nostalgia is recalling the fun you had with fireworks and failing to remember the kid down the block who became known as "Two-Fingers."

Another nice thing about your newspaper: You don't have to turn down the volume if your spouse is taking a nap.

Put it in writing. That way, the boss won't have quite as much trouble pinning you down when the whole thing falls apart.

Doing out others can get you a fat lip.

ENROLLMENT DOWN WASHINGTON (AP) - A 4 percent drop in enrollment has been reported at state universities and land-grant colleges in the current academic year.

The decline was reported by the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, which said the total dipped from 3,362,846 in 1977 to 3,231,948 in the fall of 1978.

FAITH HELPS US APPRECIATE A FATHER'S WISDOM

Despite a variety of unflattering images depicting a father as either too stern or too spineless, the true picture is more likely that of a kindly, hard-working provider and protective shield for his family; the wise arbiter of right and wrong; the author of firm but loving discipline; and a tower of strength at all times. A father tries to conceal his anxieties while setting the example of character and courage for his children, and must provide the answer to any physical or moral crisis that may arise. The Bible is filled with passages in praise of a father's wisdom and guidance, and you should learn to honor and respect your father at the Church of your choice, not merely on special occasions, but every day of the year.

Be kind to thy father, for when thou wert young,
Who loved thee so fondly as he?
—Margaret Courtney

"Hear, ye children, the instruction of a father, and attend to know
understanding."
—Proverbs 4:1
