

City Banks: Third Quarter Deposits Up

BY JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor

Deposits, net loans and assets were all up at Hereford's two banks as Sept. 30 brought the year's third quarter to a close and revealed higher figures compared to the same time period in 1979. Inflation was cited as a contributing factor as net deposits at Hereford State Bank increased by 20.8 percent for the third quarter of 1980 while deposits at the First National Bank climbed by 12.2 percent for the same time period. Bank spokesmen reported that agriculture income represented a small portion of those figures, but one bank spokesman quickly added that local agriculture remains in a deficit situation at this time. Both banks noted increases over last year in third quarter statements on deposits, loans and bank assets. Jim Sears, president of the First National Bank of Hereford reported that third quarter deposits for FNB in 1980 totaled $63,737,602.67, up 12.2 percent over third quarter deposits for 1979 of $56,814,875. According to Sears, 1980 third quarter net loans at FNB amounted to $49,569,995.34, compared to the third quarter net loan figure for 1979 of $47,739,154.00.

The net loan figures represented an increase of just under four percent in the third quarter loans by FNB for 1980 compared to 1979. Sears indicated that third quarter assets for FNB in 1980 amounted to $73,108,809.84, compared to the third quarter of 1979 when they totaled $64,872,837.00—a change of 13 percent.

Jeff Carlile, president of Hereford State Bank reported that net deposits for the third quarter of 1980 at his bank amounted to $38,896,228.27, compared to the third quarter of 1979 when deposits totaled $32,194,051. The 1980 third quarter deposit figures at HSB represented an increase of 20.8 percent over the same time period last year. Third quarter loans for HSB in 1980 amounted to $25,090,004.13, according to Carlile, compared to a total of $22,939,764.00 in the third quarter of 1979.

Those figures represented a change of nine percent in net loans. Total assets at HSB for the third quarter of 1980 amounted to $44,452,930.00, up 18 percent over the third quarter asset figure for 1979 of $37,645,103.00.

Both bankers cited inflation as a factor in the increases in the three categories in this year's third quarter figures. "The factors in this year's increases would be very similar to the factors in increases in the third quarter of 1979," stated Sears. Both local bank presidents cited inflation, federal loans to farmers and an improving cattle market as reasons for last year's increases.

"You can plug in some factors for inflation this year," said Sears.

"Of course, there have been changes in the cattle market, and there is a little farm money this time of year. Not much, but some," he added.

"Our increased deposits certainly haven't been coming from increased profits in agriculture," stated Carlile.

"Inflation is a factor in increased deposits. Cattle might account for some of it, but for the most part, we have a deficit situation in agriculture," Carlile commented.

Housing Starts Down

Single family housing starts declined again in Hereford during the month of September as mortgage rates began to creep higher, discouraging home building. Only two single family dwellings went under construction here last month, although there were a number of add-on projects. Here, workmen are shown going about the process of putting up wall frames for a new home located on Brevard, measuring and sawing studs for the project. (Brand photos by Jim Steiert)

Housing Starts Decline Again

Building permits for the city of Hereford in September totaled $171,750, but higher mortgage rates that are edging upward again have evidently put a damper on a brief surge of single family dwelling construction here.

Only two single family homes, with a total value of $79,000 went under construction in the city in September. Three mobile home permits, accounted for $23,500 and the addition of a classroom building to the Nazarene Church accounted for $4,000.

Quoting from a letter from officials of Shell Chemical Co., manufacturers of Azodrin, King read, "The efforts of the TCGA may have indeed saved the corn crop on the Texas High Plains."

Garage and carport construction permits totaled $800.

One of the larger permits was for $18,000 for an office building for State Farm Insurance here. That permit involved a modular building.

A permit for moving a freezer on East Second accounted for $4,000. There were a total of nine housing additions which went under construction here in September with a total value of $44,450.

September's permits brought the total for 1980 to only $1,496,550, reflecting the hard times for construction in this area brought on by a money squeeze and high interest rates.

The total for 1980 is lagging behind 1979's paltry performance of $1,859,178 by the end of September.

At this time in 1978, Hereford had logged construction totaling a whopping $4 million, reflecting better economic times and more favorable interest rates.

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton and a Brilab co-defendant denied any knowledge of a campaign contribution made to Clayton three months after the West Texas politician allegedly accepted cash from an influential labor leader, according to FBI agents.

One agent has testified in the federal bribery trial that Clayton's administrative assistant also denied knowing anything about the contribution.

Fred Ligarde testified Wednesday he specifically questioned Clayton and Austin attorney Randall Wood on Feb. 8 about an alleged scheme to the reopen bidding on a $76 million state employees insurance contract.

Clayton and co-defendant Wood, both denied any knowledge of a contribution, he said.

When asked about a campaign donation from Deer Park union leader L.G. Moore, Clayton replied, "I kind of doubt it. Maybe he contributed at a fundraiser. He never made any contribution to me personally," Ligarde said.

Another agent, Gregory Rampton, also quoted Russell "Rusty" Kelly, the speaker's administrative assistant, as saying he was unaware Clayton had accepted any contribution from Moore.

Kelly, named as an unindicted co-conspirator in the alleged scheme, was expected to testify today for the government.

Clayton, Wood and another Austin lawyer, Donald Ray, are being tried before U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor on charges of extortion, bribery, conspiracy and fraud.

TCGA Hopes for Participation In New Checkoff Program

By JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor

Corn growers in a seven-county area of the Panhandle which produces 65 percent of the state's corn have an opportunity for the first time this fall to participate in a checkoff program on their yellow grain which will help to finance market development and research activities in connection with their product.

But, according to Carl King of Dimmitt, president of the Texas Corn Growers Association, participation in the program at this point is only minimal.

King blames depressed corn yields resulting from a summer of drought and the tight economy for the apparent reluctance of growers to participate in the ½-cent-per-bushel checkoff, to be collected at the point of delivery.

He adds, however, that the checkoff "is a minimal amount when compared to the benefits."

Producers in a seven-county area voted earlier this year to launch the corn checkoff with an assessment not to exceed ½ per bushel to be collected at the first point of sale.

Corn growers in Deaf Smith, Castro, Parmer, Lamb, Hale, Bailey and Swisher counties approved the checkoff.

Approval of the checkoff program came following a continuing effort by the TCGA to initiate such a project to help finance activities to secure improved markets for Texas corn, and to pinpoint better production practices for the growers of this area.

"Farmers need to realize that commodity groups do help, and that this is what organizations like the TCGA are constantly trying to do," stated King.

"This checkoff money can't be used for political purposes, legislation or other activities, but only for market development and research," he added.

King pointed out that even on a shoestring budget in recent years, the TCGA has accomplished some notable feats on behalf of the state's corn farmers, and that checkoff funds should help to strengthen the position of Texas corn growers even more in the marketplace.

"Activities such as this will help the farmer, the processor and the consumer alike," claimed King.

"The TCGA is still working on aflatoxin, a mold in corn which is not common to this area at this time, and which the organization hopes to keep out of this area in order to avoid problems," said King.

The Dimmitt native listed numerous other programs and the benefits they have brought farmers, even without the aid of the checkoff program.

"We met with Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown last year to ask that the Texas Department of Agriculture check rail cars and trucks coming in from out of state for aflatoxin and European corn borer larvae," King related.

"We achieved a crackdown on the European corn borer with the aid of the TDA and very few have been found in our area since," King maintained.

In addition, King pointed out that representatives of the TCGA, along with other commodity organization officials accompanied Brown on a fruitful trade mission to Mexico about four months ago which "helped set up additional corn purchases of some nine million metric tons by Mexico."

King added that the TCGA is currently working with state officials to arrange an agreement with Mexico for a trade of corn for crude oil.

"TCGA is constantly working on gasohol research, and recently had its recommendation that all state vehicles be put on alcohol fuel acknowledged by the state government. The organization is also working to have the state tax on alcohol fuel deleted and TCGA is also working to get more incentive to build bigger alcohol production plants and more of them in Texas," stated King.

The Dimmitt farmer pointed out that the TCGA led the vanguard in securing an emergency clearance for the pesticide Azodrin, King read, "The efforts of the TCGA may have indeed saved the corn crop on the Texas High Plains."

King also quoted a letter from entomologist Olan K. Moore of the Dimmitt area, reporting that "without the TCGA there would not have been any clearance for Azodrin in 1980."

"A short crop this year and the high cost of production may cause a lot of second glances at the corn checkoff this year, but corn growers in the area need to realize they will benefit from it," said King.

"We feel there is still a very good future for corn here in the coming years and we invite any and all producers to check the validity of our claims," he added.

Farmers may make arrangements with their local grain delivery points concerning the checkoff, according to King.

Checkoff funds are collected at the point of delivery and are turned over to the TCGA, for administration by a nine-member board.

Those on the board include Jay Boston and Raymond Schlabs of Hereford, Ray Joe Riley of the Hart-Sunnyside area, Doug Higgins and Harold Bob Bennett of Hart, Weldon Davis of the Kress-Hart area, Les Watson from Lamb County, W.L. Edelman and King.

Hand-to-Hand Combat Rages for Oil Facility

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iraqi and Iranian troops were reported locked in savage hand-to-hand combat today for Iran's oil port of Khorramshahr, and an Iraqi air attack was said to have heavily damaged a $3 billion Persian Gulf petrochemical complex under construction to the east.

Meanwhile, Iran's Parliament unanimously rejected any direct or indirect negotiations with the United States on the 52 U.S. hostages captured 334 days ago. And in an offshoot of the 11-day-old war, the Iranian and Iraqi embassies in Beirut, Lebanon, were rocketed and seriously damaged.

Iraq said its shock troops were battling diehards of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's revolutionary guards in a fresh assault to capture Khorramshahr.

"Savage battles are raging from house to house and street to street to complete the liberation of the city," the government-controlled Baghdad newspaper Al Gomhoria said in a report broadcast by Iraq's state radio. "They're fighting hand to hand."

The Iranian command said the Iraqis were "digging their own graves" in Khorramshahr and nearby Abadan, major cities of Iran's oil-rich Khuzestan province, and told the inhabitants: "You should fight tooth and nail to destroy these blasphemous enemies and teach them such a lesson that they will never be able to get up again."

Some 100 miles east of Khorramshahr, facilities of the sprawling Japanese-Iranian petrochemical complex in Bandar Khomeini on the Persian Gulf were heavily damaged by an Iraqi air attack, Mitsui and Co., Iran's major partner in the project, said.

Mitsui officials told reporters in Tokyo said the attack by several Iraqi fighter-bombers hit the central part of the 85-percent complete project, heavily damaging three of the 13 plants at the complex Tuesday.

They said damage from the attack, the second on the petrochemical complex in a week, could seriously delay the project's completion, scheduled for the spring of 1982.

The 745 Japanese workers at the project were evacuated to a camp six miles from the construction site after the first bombing raid, and none was injured in the attack, the officials said.

Cop-Taught to Use Throw-Down Gun

HOUSTON (AP) — A former police lieutenant received instruction on the use of throw-down guns while attending the Houston Police Academy in 1964, according to a federal court deposition.

Paul D. Dillon gave the deposition in a federal suit filed by the family of a Shreveport, La., youth seeking $2 million in damages from the city and police.

Randall Webster was killed in a high-speed chase with Houston police in 1978. A gun found next to the body subsequently was traced to the police property room.

The existence of throw down weapons "is kind of something that everybody knows about but nothing is ever really said about it. I was actually instructed about the use of throw downs when I went to the academy," Dillon said Tuesday.

"It would just be casually mentioned by the instructors that if you shot a man and it was learned later that there was no justification for it, you had better have something to lay down to protect yourself," he said.

Alternate Parties Denied Ballot Spot

By The Associated Press
Texas courts have refused to order state officials to place Citizens Party and Socialist Workers Party candidates on the Nov. 4 general election ballot.

The alternative parties had filed separate lawsuits asking they be placed on the ballot after Sec. of State

George Strake ruled neither party had produced sufficient signatures on nominating petitions.

In Austin, the Texas Supreme Court Wednesday refused to issue a court order placing Citizens Party candidate Barry Commoner on the ballot. Two Texas supporters, Bob Poteet and Ed Cervinka, filed suit in the Supreme Court after Strake refused to certify Commoner on Aug. 19.

The party had submitted petitions in July with 15,000 signatures asking Commoner be put on the ballot. Strake said Commoner needed just over 23,696 signatures — equal to 1 percent of the total vote for governor in 1978 — to get on the ballot.

Anti Carter

Blitz Planned

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A committee which claims independence from the Ronald Reagan campaign but is working for his election plans to saturate Texas suburbs with ads criticizing President Carter.

Tom Reed, chairman of the Americans for an Effective Presidency, said at a Wednesday news conference that a television ad campaign slamming Carter's record soon will be airing in the suburbs of Texas' major cities.

AEP has targeted Illinois, Ohio and Texas as "swing states." The suburban vote is seen as crucial in deciding how those states will go.

Reed, a former secretary of the Air Force who directed Republican Gov. Bill Clements' 1978 campaign, said Clements was able to score heavily in the suburbs.

Results of polls in Texas suburbs in mid-September showed Reagan leading by 30 percentage points. Pollster Lance Tarrance, working for AEP, said Reagan must win big in those areas to carry Texas and the other key states.

AEP bills itself as a committee of Republicans, Democrats and Independents.

"We want to illuminate the very sorry record of President Carter," said Reed.

Testing Continues For Cholera

LEAGUE CITY, Texas (AP) — Health officials hope water samples taken from three area sewage treatment plants will determine the source of Galveston County's first recorded case of cholera.

Samples were taken this week from sewage treatment plants in League City, Friendswood and Nassau Bay. Officials said potable water supplies in the three communities have not been contaminated.

"With the tests, we should know Thursday if there is a form of cholera in any of the three sewer plants," said Dr. W.W. Kemmerer.

Meanwhile, signs warning residents not to use Clear Creek water were posted along the stream that cuts across the mainland section of this coastal community after officials reported Monday that a 3-month-old League City girl had contracted the sickness.

The child became ill Sept. 15 but recovered without being hospitalized, Kemmerer said.

He said he was unaware until Sunday night that a private laboratory in Houston had found cholera bacteria in a feces sample taken from the youngster. The sample was destroyed before officials determined if an epidemic form of cholera or a less dangerous type existed.

"We must find out where it came from," Kemmerer said. "We want to preclude it from going anywhere else."

Congress Quits for Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, after doling out enough money to keep the federal revenue-sharing programs that expired Oct. 1, to protect Alaska park and wilderness lands, to revise the federal criminal code and to establish a billion-dollar fund to pay for oil spills and chemical waste site cleanups.

The Senate recessed early today and the House was to do the same later in the day, having broken a deadlock Wednesday on a stopgap government-wide financing bill.

The controversy, over financing abortions for poor women, had brought the government into the new fiscal year Wednesday without the legal authority to do business, meet payrolls or pay bills. But agreement on the spending bill came in time to avert any noticeable slowdown in government activities.

The measure that kept Senators on Capitol Hill until the early morning hours was a proposed 10-week extension of jobless benefits — one of the elements in President Carter's economic revitalization program. The bill was passed, but not until five hours of negotiations between Democratic and Republican leaders had added language tightening eligibility requirements for unemployment compensation.

That sent the measure back to the House, which passed the benefits extension alone.

When lawmakers come back on Nov. 12, it will be to the first lame-duck session in a presidential election year since 1948.

The major chores will be completion of the federal budget for fiscal 1981 and approval of the necessary appropriations bills to allow government agencies to operate beyond the Dec. 15 cutoff in the stopgap bill passed Wednesday.

The outgoing 96th Congress seems certain to complete work on these "must" economic items before the 97th Congress convenes Jan. 3, 1981.

But many other major bills were left hanging as members closed up shop until after the election — and how many of those bills would be revived in the lame-duck session remained an open question.

Mansion Humbles Carter

By MICHAEL PUTZEL

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter lives in one of America's great mansions, but even he was humbled recently by a visit to the Shaker Heights, Ohio, home of former Ambassador Milton Wolf.

Wolf, 56, who served as Carter's envoy to Austria until earlier this year, is a Cleveland builder who returned to his spacious home outside the city to spend more time with his family.

Carter stopped in to talk to more than 150 well-heeled Democratic Party contributors who had joined the Wolfs for a simple, six-course dinner on the elegantly tented patio outside the ambassador's luxurious home.

The president, noting that he and his wife Rosalynn had visited the ambassador before, both at the Shaker Heights mansion and at "their other home in Austria," confessed that the Carters "have had kind of a social problem with the Wolfs."

"We wanted to return their hospitality and have them to the White House," Carter said, "but we didn't know if they were prepared for roughing it."

Before Carter spoke, Wolf called on a number of the dignitaries present to stand up and accept a round of applause. But when he called the name of Rep. Charles Vanik, who has represented Ohio's 22nd Congressional District for a quarter century, no one stood up.

The ambassador called again, but still no sign of the venerable congressman.

Democratic majority of scheduling the lame-duck session to avoid the political repercussions of having to deal with a budget that is not balanced.

In fact, a GOP attempt Wednesday to keep Congress in town until work on the budget wound up was rejected on a 231-161 House vote that split along party lines.

The abortion financing deadlock was broken when the Senate agreed to a softened House provision prohibiting Medicaid payment for abortions in cases of rape unless the victim reports the rape to authorities within 72 hours. The law had required only that a rape be reported "promptly" for any subsequent operation to be covered by Medicaid.

Obituaries

HELEN REESE
Services for Helen Reese, of Plainview, sister-in-law to Mrs. Dale Scott of Milo Center, have been tentatively set for 4 p.m. Friday in Plainview under the direction of Lemons Funeral Home.

Mrs. Reese, 52, died Wednesday afternoon from injuries she received in a car-train collision near Lockney.

Hospital officials pronounced Mrs. Reese, a longtime Hale County school teacher, dead at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday on arrival at Central Plains Regional Hospital.

Investigating Department of Public Safety troopers said Mrs. Reese was fatally injured when her car and a train collided at 4:47 p.m. Wednesday near FM 97 on the south edge of Lockney city limits.

An O'Donnell native, Mrs. Reese was raised at Ralls and was a graduate of Ralls High School and Wayland Baptist College.

The elementary school teacher had taught at Cotton Center, Abernathy and Dalhart and was a member of Parkway Baptist Church, where she was a Sunday School teacher. She was a member of Delta Kappa Gamma, Plainview Classroom Teachers Association and the Texas State Teachers Association.

At the time of her death, she was a Title I teacher at Hillcrest Elementary in Plainview. She married Dr. W. Harold Reese on May 29, 1948, in Plainview.

Reese is a professor at Wayland Baptist College.

Survivors include the widow; a daughter, Cheryl of Denton; a son, Hal of Decatur; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D.A. Barnhart of Vernon; a brother, David Barnhart of Huntsville; and two sisters, Mrs. Nelson Hilliard of Vernon and Mrs. M. Haney (Melba) Wideman of Ralls.

GERONIMO RUIZ

Local funeral arrangements are pending for Geronimo Ruiz, 23, with Rix Funeral Home. The body will be sent to Old Mexico for further arrangements.

Mr. Ruiz died from injuries received Wednesday morning in a head-on collision west of Hereford near Summerfield, 2-1/2 mile into Castro County. He was pronounced dead by Deaf Smith County Justice of the Peace O.K. Neal.

Born Sept. 29, 1957 in Old

Mexico, he came to Deaf Smith County three and a half years ago. He was employed as a truck washer, and was a member of San Jose Catholic Church.

Survivors include the widow; six brothers, Sam, Lupe, Martin, Teodoro Jr., and Joe, all of Summerfield, and Mario of Old Mexico; six sisters, Luisa, Virginia, Carolina and Aurora, all of Old Mexico, Catalina and Mary, both of Summerfield; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peodulo Ruiz of Summerfield.

ELOYSE PITMAN TAYLOR

Services will be held Friday at 4 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church for Eloyse Pitman Taylor, 74, of 122 E. 15th Street. The Rev. George Belford, pastor, will officiate. Interment will be in West Park Cemetery under direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Mrs. Taylor died Wednesday afternoon at Deaf Smith General Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Born May 18, 1906 in Amarillo, she was raised in Hereford. After having lived in Amarillo for a couple of years, Mrs. Taylor moved back to Hereford in 1971. She married Don E. Taylor April 11, 1946 in Hereford. She preceded her in death in 1971. She was an active member of the First Presbyterian Church, former Hereford teacher and homemaker.

Survivors include a niece, Helen Ann McWhorter of Hereford; and a nephew, John Douglas Pitman of Rock Port, Tex.

the International Operating Engineers Union, was indicted June 12 along with the three defendants but is to be tried later.

Secretly-recorded tapes played earlier in the three-week-old trial revealed that FBI informant Joseph Hauser gave $5,000 to Moore during a Nov. 8, 1979, meeting in the speaker's office. Moore then passed the money to Clayton as a contribution, according to tapes.

Clayton later acknowledged receiving $5,000 from the union leader, but said it was a campaign contribution and had planned to return the money at a later date.

Moore had boasted to undercover agents during the 10-month investigation that he was a personal friend of Clayton.

However, Ligarde said, Clayton said he had no idea what type business Moore "is in, if he's in business at all."

Under cross-examination, the special agent said he believed Clayton had "honestly answered" his 32 prepared questions during the Feb. 8 meeting at the speaker's office "with the exception of accepting money."

When asked by Ligarde about the money, Wood acknowledged he and Moore had discussed payoffs and brides as a means to secure a lucrative state insurance contract, but both "agreed it wouldn't work," Ligarde said.

Earlier Rampton testified he asked Kelly if the speaker had received any contributions at the Nov. 8 meeting.

Kelly answered, "I am not personally aware of any contribution from Mr. Moore to Speaker Clayton. I am also not aware that any promise was made to the speaker of money that he would receive on a yearly basis," the agent said.

Michael Wacks, one of the agents who worked with Hauser, also testified that

Wood once told him that Clayton planned to run for governor and might need money.

Wacks said Wood and Ray talked of a need for $2,000 to $3,000 and he considered this a one-time "flat fee to do business in Texas. I don't think it was a retainer."

However, defense attorneys said tapes proved the money was simply legal fees to help the undercover agents, who like Hauser, posed as representatives of Prudential Insurance Co.

Hauser currently is serving a 30-month term in federal prison for insurance kickbacks and bribery.

Cancer Society Gift

Local American Cancer Society unit president Bob Nigh and ACS memorials chairman Irene McKinster were the grateful recipients of a $3,000 gift to the ACS Wednesday by the estate of the late Iva W. Cocanougher. Making the presen-

Exhumation Efforts Continue

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — An attorney for a British author says he will ask the Fort Worth Court of Civil Appeals to set aside an order blocking the exhumation of the body in Lee Harvey Oswald's grave.

State District Judge James E. Wright ruled last month that the grave of the accused presidential assassin should remain undisturbed although Oswald's widow, Marina Oswald Porter, had given author Michael Eddowes permission to arrange an autopsy.

Wright, in granting the restraining order, said the permission alone was an insufficient reason to open the grave.

Attorney Cue Lipscomb said Wednesday that Eddowes will urge the appeals court to set aside the restraining order, but that the appeal could be complicated by a jurisdictional question.

"The appeals court might take the position that it lacked jurisdiction since Wright had not ruled on pleas filed by Rose Hill Cemetery and Dr. Charles Petty, who is the Dallas County Medical Examiner," said Lipscomb.

Eddowes contends in his book, "The Oswald File," that a Soviet impostor, not Oswald, assassinated President John F. Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963.

He says there are discrepancies between the autopsy report and Oswald's military records and that a second autopsy could prove the body is not that of Oswald.

Church Guild Entertains Women with Luncheon

St. Catherine's Guild of St. Thomas Episcopal Church entertained the Women of the Church at a luncheon meeting held at the home of Francie Farr. President Mary Waldrep presided at the business meeting which was opened with a devotional given by Frances Hennen.

A motion was made and seconded for the women to hold a combined meeting of both guilds, St. Catherine and St. Martha, once a month in addition to the three luncheon meetings a year now held. These meetings will be the second Saturday of the month.

Meredith Wilcox, chairman of the bazaar, reported on progress being made. The bazaar will be held Friday, Oct. 31 from 12 noon to 7 p.m. and Saturday, Nov. 1, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The two doll houses made by Frances Hennen, Buddy McBrayer and Rev. Charles Threewit will be displayed at The First National Bank and Hereford State Bank. Chances will be sold at the latter bank for the one shown there, the other house will be sold at the bazaar.

St. Thomas will have a display case at the Church at which items may be purchased the year round.

Mary Fraser, Mary Waldrep, Vera Threewit and Claudia McBrayer were appointed as delegates to Council which will be held No. 7-8 in Lubbock.

A slate of officers for the new year was presented and motion made and seconded to accept by acclamation the proposed slate as follows: President, Mary Waldrep; Vice-President, Francie Farr; Treasurer, Buddie McBrayer; and Secretary, Claudia McBrayer.

Participating in Program

The Family Asthma Program sponsored by the American Lung Association officially began Tuesday night with "Parents Night" at West Central School. Dr. Clyde Rush, right, guest speaker, discussed what asthma is and how it affects the family. George Ochs, left, West Central principal and instructor of the afternoon sessions, informed those present of the classes. The program will be held every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at 4 p.m. in the school's library. The program will last through the month of October. The Family Asthma Program emphasizes self-help, self-confidence and fun; teaches diaphragmatic breathing exercises which children can use to control the frequency and severity of asthma episodes; provides helpful counseling to parents and opportunities to share their experiences; offers ways for teachers and school officials to include children who have asthma in many regular school activities while accommodating their individual limitations; and serves as an adjunct to medical therapy and supervision. Children may participate only with written permission of a physician. Any parents interested in the program are asked to attend today's meeting.

OB Hospital Tour Set for Tonight

An O.B. hospital tour has been scheduled for tonight at 7:30 at Deaf Smith General Hospital. The tour is primarily for pregnant women who will be delivering within the month. Anyone interested in attending the tour should meet at the hospital board room.

More Gun Control

DEAR READERS: Every time I print something about gun control, I am bombarded with angry mail promoted by the National Rifle Assn. But here I go again. Maybe, just maybe, I can save a few lives. The National Rifle Assn. is a highly sophisticated organization with one of the strongest and richest lobbies in Washington. But they need new phrases. I am bored with "Guns don't kill people...people kill people." (We know people kill people. Who else? Monkeys?)

Thousands of people who are now dead would be alive today if some hothead hadn't had access to a gun. Nearly 70 percent of this country's gun victims are shot, not by burglars, but by people they know—relatives, neighbors, friends. Often the shooting is unplanned. If that person had no gun, he would have used his fist or a baseball bat.

Hunters, please note: I am not trying to spoil your sport. Rifles are OK. It's those handguns, the little "Saturday night specials," that ought to be outlawed by federal legislation.

I would like to share with you something received in the mail from "the other side"—Handgun Control, Inc., based in Washington, D.C.

During the Vietnam war, thousands of young people died in combat. Fathers and mothers throughout America lived in fear that their children might be listed among the victims. Although that war is over, their children are still not safe. Every day the American Handgun War kills somebody's son or daughter. Among those who died in the month of May:

Brooklyn, N.Y.: Kelly Bowman, 11, was shot in the head by a handgun wielded by two teenagers across the street. They were arguing about a record player.

Omaha, Neb.: Patrick Rhodes, 2, son of Mrs. Judy Rhodes, found a loaded pistol in the bedroom of his babysitter's mother. The toddler shot himself in the forehead and died a few hours later.

Cleveland, Ohio: Mark Hintz, 13, was killed by a 14-year-old youth whom police have described as "a little John Dillinger." The accused murderer had made up a hit list with Hintz's name already crossed out.

Houston, Tex.: Gregory Dupree, 13, son of McKinny Dupree, was killed in a vacant lot when three youths found a handgun and fired it.

Grand Coulee, Wash.: Teresa Ybette, 15, was killed as she slipped on some rocks while carrying a loaded .22-caliber revolver. She had been given the pistol by two companions who instructed her to fire it in the air if she needed anything.

Queens, N.Y.: Stephen Zwicker, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Zwicker, was murdered near his home in an attempted robbery as he returned home from a prom. It was the first night he had been permitted to stay out so late.

There are thousands more, but I think by now you have the idea.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: How should a girl, age 19, handle advances made by a man 40, who is her supervisor at work? He is married and has a son my age. This guy is handsome, has a cute sense of humor and kids around a lot, but I'm sure he has more serious things on his mind. He's beginning to look good to me, and I'm getting turned on. I need some suggestions.—Vulnerable And Scared

DEAR V.: Your letter is a cry for help if ever I heard one. Involvement with this man could only end in disaster. Save yourself a lot of misery, Toots, and give him the deep six NOW.

"Sexual freedom" presents a difficult decision for teenagers and their parents. Ann Landers offers down-to-earth advice in her new booklet, "High School Sex and How to Deal With It—A Guide for Teens and Their Parents." For each booklet, send 50 cents plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

By ERMA BOMBECK

One of the few advantages (make that ONLY advantage) to aging is being in a position to compare the present with the past.

The older I get the longer the distance I walked to school, the colder the winters, the more ragged the underwear and the poorer I become.

I had an audience close to tears the other night as I described how I used to paint my varicose veins with magic markers so they would look like textured stockings, when I saw the group was losing interest. Quickly, I went into my I-can-remember-when-gasoline-was-only-10-cents-a-gallon and a-movie-cost-a-nickel routine. That always impresses them.

From across the room, a young man said, "Think of the stories our generation will have to tell in just five years."

"How do you figure that?" I asked.

"Okay, assuming that the current rate of inflation is compounded annually over the next five years, you can pretty well figure out that if a postage stamp cost 15 cents this year, in 1985, it'll cost 35 cents. Or a pack of cigarettes that cost 85 cents will zoom up to $1.95."

The group began to drift over to where he was speaking.

"Can you imagine what kind of attention you're going to get in five years by saying, 'Why, I bought a home and only paid $150,000 for it in LA!' Can't you hear someone saying, 'What kind of a dump could you buy for $150,000? Why, I looked at one the other day with one bath and a carport for $343,000!'"

The whole group got caught up in the spirit of what he was saying.

"People will never believe I once bought a slice of pizza for only 75 cents or a ticket to a movie for $5."

"Think of it! A suit I bought this year for $235 will cost a guy $540 in just five years."

"Imagine, they'll be paying $3.35 for a quarter-pounder, $2.99 for a gallon of gas and $6 for a copy of Playboy."

Finally, a young girl intent on counting on her fingers said, "Good grief! A bra that cost $8.50 this year could run as high as $19.50 in just five years."

I didn't think anyone heard me as I mumbled, "That could bring Dolly Parton to her knees."

I had the attention of the group once more and didn't know what to do with it.

Goats do not eat trash, but if they are hungry enough they will lick the labels off cans to obtain the glue on the backs.

Rep. Delco To Deliver Keynote Address at Education Workshop

CANYON—A Texas state representative who is serving his third term will deliver the keynote address for "Where Education is Going in the '80s" at West Texas State University.

The workshop, hosted by the WTSU College of Education and the Office of Programs for Women, will begin at 9 a.m., Oct. 28, and is scheduled to conclude at 3 p.m. in the WTSU Activities Center.

Rep. Wilhelmina Ruth Fitzgerald Delco of Austin will discuss the educational issues which will be considered during the 1981 session of the Texas Legislature which convenes in January in Austin. She also will conduct the morning session, "Public and Higher Education," for the assembled group.

Workshop fee is $5 which includes a buffet luncheon and workshop materials. Deadline for registering is Oct. 18.

Two afternoon sessions will feature a choice for workshop participants.

The sessions include "Selecting Bias-Free Texts," presented by Dr. Enid Bates, WTSU associate professor of education; "The Field is Open," conducted by Maxine Roy, assistant personnel director with the Amarillo Independent School District; "The Young Child in Education," by Dr. Louise Murphy, WTSU assistant professor of education, and Rita Bryant, owner of Tot's Villa Conservatory, a private day care center in Amarillo; and "Learn to Read: Read to Learn," Claud Zevely, WTSU associate professor of education.

Also included in the afternoon section are "Women in Education Throughout History," presented by Elizabeth Davidson, WTSU assistant professor of history; "Discipline in the Classroom," Patsy Sommer, director of special education for the Canyon Independent School District, and Connie Wooten, assistant principal of Stephen F. Austin Junior High School in Amarillo; and "Bilingual Education Today," presented by Dr. Mary Gill, assistant professor of modern languages at WTSU.

Delco, who graduated from high school in Chicago, received a Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in sociology from Fisk University in Nashville, Tenn. She was the first black elected official from District 37 in Travis County, Austin. She has served on many legislative committees on education including vice chairperson of the Public Education Committee and member of Public School Finance Commission, Committee to Study Alternatives for Public School Finance and Subcommittee on Special School Populations.

Before her election to the Legislature, Delco represented the Democratic Party at conventions on the precinct, county, state and national levels. She was vice chairperson of the state convention in 1974.

As the mother of four children, she has been involved as a volunteer in civic and education activities including the Austin Independent School District Board of Trustees from 1968 to 1974, Austin Community College Board of Trustees, president of Parent-Teacher Association chapters in elementary and junior high school, president of the Travis County PTA Council, Girl Scout troop leader and as a member of boards concerning social work, child care and the Texas Employment Commission.

Her many awards include being named a life member of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, receiving the Public School Service Award, being named Outstanding Woman in 1969 presented by the Austin American-Statesman newspaper and inclusion in the 1979-80 edition of "Who's Who in American Politics."

Persons interested in attending the workshop do not have to be affiliated with education agencies, said Jane Kerr, director of the WTSU Office of Programs for Women.

Child care will be available at the WTSU Children's Center for children who are at least 18 months old. Participants needing child care should indicate before the Oct. 10 registration deadline.

Recognition Week

In conjunction with "National Needlework Week," Ann Carroll, owner of Ann's Knit Shop, 813 W. Park Ave., has displayed a few needlepoint and crewel artwork at the County Library. Further displays can be seen at the shop. A demonstration in needlepoint is scheduled for Friday, classes in crewel embroidery and counted cross-stitch is slated for Saturday, and on Oct. 6, latch hood and Oct. 7 in tatting. All classes will be held at the knit shop. Registration for the classes will be scheduled. The public is invited to go by the library and view the craft work on display.

Panhellenic Assoc. Announces Meeting

The Hereford Panhellenic Association has announced a business meeting for Monday, Oct. 6 at the First National Bank Community Room beginning at 7:30 p.m.

According to Lynn Carter, the meeting will consist of reports on the local girls who have pledged during the Fall rush. She also invites all people who are members of a National Greek Sorority to attend the meeting.

Rush chairman this year is Marsha Winget.

For further information concerning the meeting one can contact Mrs. Carter at 364-6345.

Secretaries Assoc. Announces Program

Deaf Smith and Castro County Legal Secretaries Association, in recognition of "National Day in Court" week, Oct. 6-10, will hold their annual "Day in Court" program at the Hereford State Bank Community Room beginning at 8:30 p.m. Monday Oct. 6.

Guest speaker for the program will be Virgil Slentz.

Entertainment will be provided by Judge W. Glenn Nelson, performing musical numbers on the violin.

Refreshments will be served following the program. President of the Secretaries Association is Jeannie Tucker.

The public is invited to attend the program.

Springer Attends San Antonio Show

Daleine Springer, owner of the Face Place in Hereford, made a presentation at the San Antonio Beauty Show recently.

Her presentation, "Make-up for the average American Women," included cleansing techniques and simple make-up procedures.

The workshop included three days of educational presentations and hair cutting techniques.

At one time, the word "nice" meant wanton.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Day

Oct. 4 has been proclaimed Hereford-St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Day in conjunction with the Wheel for Life Bike-a-thon. (from left) Ann Lueb, general chairman; Ty Nall, 2½ year old bike-a-thon rider and Susie Banner, prize chairman, watch as Mayor Bartley Dowell makes the proclamation official. The bike-a-thon will begin Saturday at 1 p.m.

Wheels for Life Set for Saturday; Need Sponsors

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Wheels for Life Bike-a-thon will begin Saturday at 1 p.m. and some riders are still looking for sponsors. "The money our riders earn will help continue St. Jude's lifesaving study of childhood cancer that has become so important to children all over the world," said Mrs. Ann Lueb, Bike-a-thon chairman.

Food Trends of the Future Given

"We'll be eating less formally and our food will be more quickly prepared, more nutritious, and more varied. Anyone who had predicted these things 40 years ago would have been right. But these are also the predicted food trends of tomorrow, according to today's scientists and nutritionists. Review of current research shows that in the future fewer meals are expected to be consumed at the dining room table, with more eaten in the kitchen or on the consumer's knee. More meal items will be taken straight from the package, as are today's yogurt, fruit juices, and canned pudding. Trends indicate most meals will be quickly prepared in "talking" microwave ovens, and served in a casual setting. Formal meals will be limited to Sunday lunch and special occasions. Long established basic foods and family favorites are likely to be served at these times. Convenience continues to be a priority in our fast-paced working society. According to marketing forecasters, more families and singles will be eating at restaurants or fast food places. Already, two out of every five food dollars are spent eating away from home. This trend is discouraging to those concerned about their own and their children's nutrition, but some restaurants have taken the initiative to publicize nutrition information about the foods they serve. Our concern with nutrition carries over to agricultural research. Because consumers are so vitamin-conscious, for instance, vitamin C content is now considered in developing new varieties of tomatoes. Such new varieties of fresh foods, along with man-made foods now being developed, will make up the wider variety in our future food supply. The consumer of the future may not actually put nutrition or dollar value first when food shopping, but he or she will certainly be more aware of these issues, according to writer John McKenzie in People and Food Tomorrow. McKenzie also suggests that we will begin to distinguish between foods for nourishment and foods for fun. The best method we have now for understanding food and nutrition does, in fact, make this distinction. The food grouping system developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture for Americans places all foods into one of five groups: (1) vegetable-fruit, (2) grains (bread, cereals, noodles, rice, tortillas), (3) milk (cheese, yogurt, ice cream) and (4) meat and meat alternates (poultry, fish, eggs, dried beans). The fifth, high-calorie—"food for fun"—group contains foods high in sweets or fats, and alcoholic beverages. By today's standards, eating a variety of foods from the first four groups and exercising restraint in regard to the fifth group will provide you with a wholesome diet and help maintain your ideal weight. It may be that we will be able to group space-age foods of the future within these same categories according to their nutrient value."

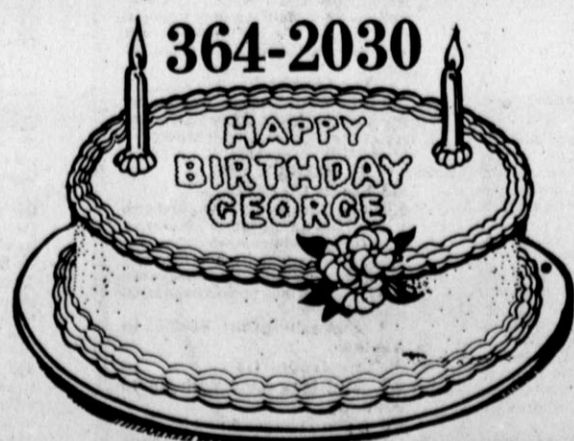

Doak Presents Program At Homemakers Meeting

Carrie Mae Doak presented the program "More Personal Happiness" at the Culture Extension Homemakers Club meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Doak. Mrs. Doak introduced the program by demonstrating exercises using different parts of the body. At the end of the program each member told the group one thing they liked about themselves. Members present included Ruth Gandy, Edith Hunter, Winnie Wiseman, Vernis Parsons, Jewel Hargrave, Tallie Scott and Carrie Mae Doak. The group will meet again Oct. 10 at 2:30 p.m. at the home of Edith Hunter.

A 'moderate' campaign?

WASHINGTON (NEA) - Seldom has a U.S. president drawn an undercurrent of guffaws from the press by giving a straight answer to a straight question. But such was the case when Jimmy Carter characterized his re-election effort as "very moderate in tone" when questioned on campaign tactics at his latest press conference.

In response to another question, the president elaborated: "I try to discuss the issues and I do not indulge in attacking personally the integrity of my opponents and I hope that I never shall." In addition, Carter denied that he becomes "mean spirited" on the stump or that he ever called Ronald Reagan a racist or believed him to be one.

But as the president was making those remarks, black newspapers and magazines across the country were receiving copy for a Carter-Mondale committee advertisement featuring pictures of Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall (who was appointed by Lyndon Johnson, not by Carter) and Health and Human Services Secretary Patricia Roberts Harris, both of whom are black.

In bold type, the ad proclaimed: "Jimmy Carter named 37 black judges, cracked down on job bias and created 1 million jobs. That's why the Republicans are out to beat him. ... It wasn't too long ago that we had Richard Nixon in the White House ... codding the bigots and exploiters."

Publication of the ad resulted in a storm of protest. Republican National Chairman Bill Brock termed it a "sneak." Senate Minority Leader Howard Baker said: "I'm a Republican and I want to see Ronald Reagan elected. The ad calls me a racist and I deeply and personally resent that."

Officials in the Carter campaign responded by "withdrawing" the ad while insisting that its contents were "accurate" and expressing surprise that anyone would think it accused Reagan of racism. They also said that no one at the White House had seen the ad before its publication.

But a source at Carter headquarters admitted that the ad was produced by the communications company of Gerald Rafshoon, the former White House media adviser who directs the campaign's advertising, and was approved by high re-election committee staffers, including former White House Chief of Staff Hamilton Jordan.

Before its withdrawal, the ad had appeared in about 100 black newspapers and in several monthlies, some of which have not yet been distributed. So, it is still guaranteed widespread visibility in the black community through mid-October.

Meanwhile, on the night of Carter's press conference, CBS aired a 30-second spot showing an empty Oval Office as an off-camera voice asked: "What kind of person should occupy the Oval Office? Should it be a person who, like Ronald Reagan, has a fractured view of America? Who speaks disdainfully about millions of us as he attacks the minimum wage and calls unemployment insurance a 'prepaid vacation?'"

When protests arose over the spot, Rafshoon explained that it had been prepared for possible use much later in the campaign and had been sent to the network in error. The media man added that he does not consider the spot to be negative, that "it just points out Reagan's record."

Since the beginning of fall campaign, the Carter campaign has been quick to jump on Reagan's every misstatement. But it has simultaneously been setting records for hyperbole.

At one recent campaign appearance, Carter credited his administration for the recent drop in interest rates (never mind that the rates had risen because of his monetary policy), for having "completely reversed the despair" in the inner cities (never mind this summer's riots), for having brought peace to the Middle East (never mind that Egypt and Israel are now openly skeptical about the success of the Camp David agreements).

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Oct. 2 the 276th day of 1980. There are 90 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On Oct. 2, 1919, President Woodrow Wilson suffered a stroke that paralyzed the left side of his body.

On this date:

In 1889, the first Pan American conference was held in Washington, D.C.

In 1941, German armies launched an all-out drive against Moscow during World War II.

In 1967, Thurgood Marshall became the first black to sit on the U.S. Supreme Court.

Ten years ago, President Richard Nixon received an enthusiastic reception when he visited Madrid.

Five years ago, U.S. Treasury Secretary William Simon declared that another increase in world oil prices would seriously jeopardize global economic recovery.

One year ago, Pope John Paul II delivered his most comprehensive statement on international affairs in an address to the United Nations, General Assembly in New York.

Today's birthdays: film critic Rex Reed is 40 years old. Editor Jay Felker is 55.

Thought for today: There is one thing stronger than all the armies in the world, and that is an idea whose time has come — Victor Hugo, French writer (1802-1885).

The Newspaper Bible

TO WHOM ARE YOU ENSLAVED?

Do not let sin control your puny body any longer; do not give in to its sinful desires.

Do not let any part of your bodies become tools of wickedness, to be used for sinning; but give yourselves completely to God—every part of you—for you are back from death and you want to be tools in the hands of God, to be used for His good purposes.

Sin need never again be your master, for now you are no longer tied to the law where sin enslaves you, but you are free under God's favor and mercy.

Does this mean that now we can go ahead and sin and not worry about it? (For our salvation does not depend on keeping the law, but on receiving God's grace!) Of course not!

Don't you realize that you can choose your own master? You can choose sin (with death) or else obedience (with acquittal). The one to whom you offer yourself - he will take you and be your master and you will be his slave.

Thank God that though you once chose to be slaves of sin, now you have obeyed with all your heart the teaching to which God has committed you.

And now you are free from your old master, sin; and you have become slaves to your new master, righteousness.

I speak this way, using the illustration of slaves and masters, because it is easy to understand: just as you used to be slaves to all kinds of sin, so now you must let yourselves be slaves to all that is right and holy.

In those days when you were slaves of sin you didn't bother much with goodness.

And what was the result? Evidently not good, since you are ashamed now even to think about those things you used to do, for all of them end in eternal doom.

But now you are free from the power of sin and are slaves of God, and His benefits to you include holiness and everlasting life.

For the wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Making the Most of Resources

COLLEGE STATION -- Make the most of resources on hand to confront today's economic situation, advises Bonnie Piernot, a family resource management specialist.

Resources are useful and especially important in reducing the difference between an individual's level of living and standard of living, she points out.

Mrs. Piernot is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The standard of living is the social or individual goal, and the level of living is the actual situation, she explains.

"The closer these two are to each other, the more comfortable and secure an individual feels about his economic welfare. "Living standards and living levels differ mainly due to lack of use of all resources to close the gap," Mrs. Piernot says.

HUMAN RESOURCES
Human resources are perhaps the most useful because an individual can exchange them for goods and services, including money. They include many tools such as knowledge, skills, abilities and time, the specialist continues.

For example, someone with athletic ability might serve as a playground supervisor on a part-time salary basis.

Or, exchange baby-sitting skills for someone's gardening talents.

COMMUNITY RESOURCES Community resources is another means of reducing the resource gap, she suggests.

There are many agencies and organizations which can provide entertainment, information or assistance.

For example, take the family on a picnic at a local park instead of going out to eat.

'ENVIRONMENTAL' RESOURCES

In addition, you can use "environmental" resources to narrow a gap.

This might include local art exhibits, flea markets, museums, libraries and government facilities, which you could consider "environmental" resources.

Whitefaces Host Amarillo Sandies

Harold Terry, like the Hereford Whiteface football team, was quickly becoming a household name in district 4-5A. Both had churned out some impressive statistics going into the wake of Friday night's dispute here with last year's (9-2)

Mauri Montgomery

But perhaps, even more enlightening to Terry's and the Hereford squad's successful surge into this year's grid campaign is the fact the team maintains a second place niche in the district's overall total offensive and defensive statistic columns.

The offense, lead by junior quarterback Alan Wartes, (who still leads the 4-5A league in passing after connecting on 15-34 tosses for a total of 230 yards on the season) has amassed 261 yards per game against opponents while the HHS defense has yielded 172 per outing.

Probably not so revealing however, is the realization that figures on paper don't always present the whole picture - the Whitefaces are only as powerful as opposing teams have let them be.

And that's why head coach Don Cumpston billed the upcoming contest with Amarillo, one of the most important tilts the Herd had to face up to since the season's debut.

"I know I keep saying each week that this is the best team we've faced up to at that particular point in the season, but it's the truth," Cumpston said. "Amarillo, just like Borger and Canyon were at the time we played them, is the most talented team we've faced so far and I it's going to be an important game for us."

The Sandies (1-3 on the year) dropped a 21-13 decision to Plainview last week after sliding against top-ranked Odessa Permian 13-0 and Odessa High 34-6. The Amarillo squad recorded its only win over Lubbock High 17-6.

"Amarillo is a lot better than their 1-3 record indicates because they've played some top quality teams - that's why this game is important to us. I think overall talent wise, they are probably as good as they've ever been even though they didn't return very many people this year, and they're ready to win a game. If we can meet the opportunity we will have put away a tough team."

"It's sort of like the country boys are playing the big city boys - and it will help us to play a team like Amarillo in that respect," he added.

SPORTS

Page 8 - The Hereford Brand

Offensively, the Sandies returned only three offensive veterans, but under the direction of veteran fullback Mark Mathiasmeier (5-10, 190 and who runs a 4.7 in the 40-yard dash) the Sandies pose a threat to any opposing defensive crew.

Mathiasmeier was named the district 3-5A's offensive player of the year following his rushing average of 6.3 yards per carry and 12 touchdowns a year ago for a 1000-yard plus total at the termination of play.

"They (the Sandies) have got a very good offense even though, as I mentioned earlier their record doesn't indicate it," Cumpston said. "The key to their strength lies in Mathiasmeier - he's a blue chipper if there ever was one, he's good boy! And they've also got Randy Aufleger who is a talented quarterback and Lindell Flower is strong end that can hurt you deep."

"Defensively they've got two top-notch linebackers in Robert Loratoi and Tommy Epps. I don't know how many tackles those guys have got so far this year, but I can tell you it's quite a few."

"We've just got to control the line of scrimmage and eliminate the big play, which is something we failed to do against Canyon last week," he said. "We had a breakdown in our defensive game several times and gave Canyon too many big plays - as a result the game became a much closer contest than it should have been."

The Whitefaces, bringing a flourishing three game winning streak into Friday night's clash, will pair off against the Sandies in their first home game in three weeks at 7:30 p.m. in the Whiteface Stadium.

"I think this is going to be one heck of a game if both teams play like they can. The fact this is our first home game in a pretty long time should give our team a little added boost going into the contest," Cumpston related. "Our players would sort of like to even the mark on our home field performances after we lost our first game to Pampa here. And that should give us some added incentive and momentum going into the game."

3-4A district champions - the Amarillo Sandies, and both were still out to prove they weren't overrated.

Terry, retaining a firm hold as the district's third leading rusher after compiling 329 yards on the year for an average of 83 yards per outing, stepped off more than half of the Hereford offensive unit's mileage on the ground in HHS's narrow 18-16 squabble with a capable Canyon Eagle team last week with 157 yards on 23 carries. The performance earned him a spot as the Amarillo Globe News offensive player of the week.

Yankees Break 3 Game Losing Streak

By ALEX SACHARÉ
AP Sports Writer

New York had lost three in a row, tying its longest losing streak of the season. Since Saturday, Baltimore had wiped out more than half of the Yankees' lead in the American League East, cutting it from 5½ to 2½ games.

Reggie Jackson had had enough.

So Jackson took matters into his own hands. He belted a home run and drove in four runs as the Yankees broke their three-game losing streak with a vengeance, hitting five home runs and beating the Cleveland Indians 18-7 Wednesday night. New York piled up 37 total bases in its highest scoring game of the season.

The Yankees' lead over Baltimore remained 2½-games, since the Orioles outscored the Boston Red Sox 12-8, but New York's magic number for clinching the division title was reduced to two.

The Yankees can clinch a tie by beating Detroit at home tonight, but Baltimore has the night off so the race will last until at least Friday.

Elsewhere, the Kansas City Royals beat the Seattle Mariners 4-1, the Oakland A's defeated the Chicago White Sox 11-3, the Detroit Tigers topped the Toronto Blue Jays 11-7 and the Milwaukee Brewers outscored the California Angels 10-7. The Minnesota-Texas doubleheader was rained out.

The Yankees collected 18 hits off four Cleveland pitchers. Oscar Gamble, Aurelio Rodriguez, Rick Cerone and Bobby Brown joined Jackson with home runs, and Gamble matched his four RBI.

Jackson's homer was his 39th of the season, the most hit by a Yankee since Roger Maris slugged his record 61 in 1961.

Orioles 12, Red Sox 8

Baltimore won its fifth in a row to stay on the Yankees' heels. Dennis Martinez, who pitched a five-hitter on Monday, worked 31-3 innings of two-hit relief to nail down the victory.

The game was Boston's first under interim Manager Johnny Pesky, who took over after Don Zimmer was fired earlier Wednesday.

Ken Singleton belted two doubles and a pair of singles, driving in four runs, and Eddie Murray, Terry Crowley and Rich Dauer drilled homers to lead Baltimore's attack. The Orioles pounded Boston starter Dennis Eckersley for eight hits and seven runs in less than four innings, then put away the game with a five-run fifth against relievers Bill Campbell and Luis Aponte.

Royals 4, Mariners 1

George Brett climbed back into the race for .400, going 3-for-3 and raising his average to .391 with a home run and two doubles for Kansas City.

"It's possible," Brett said after adding four points onto his season average and also collecting his 502nd plate appearance, which officially qualifies him for the batting title.

Tigers 11, Blue Jays 7

Steve Kemp drove in two runs to raise his season total to 101

Back in August, it seemed the cards were stacked against Bill Virdon.

He had lost J.R. Richard to a stroke and Nolan Ryan, another of baseball's top pitchers, was not up to par.

What the Houston Astros' manager needed was an ace in hole — and that's what he got in Vern Ruhle.

The most pleasant surprise of the Astros' staff stayed in there pitching Wednesday night, hurling a six-hitter to lead the National League West leaders to a 5-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

"I'm not worried about what I've done already," said Ruhle after improving his record to a sparkling 12-4. "I'm just looking down the road. We've got to look at what's ahead and take this thing one game at a time."

The victory kept the Astros two games in front of the Los Angeles Dodgers, 8-4 winners over the San Francisco Giants.

Elsewhere in the NL, Montreal defeated St. Louis 8-0; Philadelphia tripped Chicago 5-0; Cincinnati edged San Diego 2-1 and Pittsburgh outscored New York 10-5.

Terry Puhl hit a three-run double to key a four-run second inning for Houston. Alan Ashby led off the frame with a double off Phil Niekro, 15-17. Niekro retired the next two batters before walking Joe Morgan and Cabell to load the bases.

Dodgers 8, Giants 4
Joe Ferguson belted a home run and a triple and drove in six runs to lead Los Angeles over San Francisco.

The Dodgers scored their first four runs in the second inning with four straight hits off loser Ed Whitson, 11-12, including Ferguson's two-run triple.

Ferguson got another RBI in the third on a fielder's choice, and three more in the fifth when he belted his eighth home run of the year. The six RBI were a career high for the Dodger catcher, who has driven in five runs on three other occasions.

The victory went to Burt Hooton, 14-8, who continued his mastery over the Giants. He worked the first seven innings to record his 11th victory in his last 12 decisions against them.

Expos 5, Cardinals 0
Andre Dawson stroked three hits, drove in two runs and scored a pair to spark

Montreal over St. Louis. David Palmer, 8-6, scattered six hits and struck out 10 to gain the key victory.

The Expos' victory kept their one-half-game lead over Philadelphia in the NL East.

The Expos broke the game open with five runs in the seventh. Dawson had a run-scoring single in the inning.

The NL East race will be decided this weekend, when the Expos and Phillies play a make-or-break, three-game series. The Expos are idle today, while the Phillies finish up their series with the Cubs.

Phillies 5, Cubs 0
Steve Carlton hurled a brilliant two-hitter, throwing no-hit ball until the eighth inning, as he pitched and batted Philadelphia past Chicago.

The two-time Cy Young Award winner gave up only a leadoff single to Mike Vail in the eighth and a base hit by Bill Buckner in the ninth. Carlton, 24-9, struck out 10 overall to raise his National League-leading total to 286.

SWC Teams Defend Rankings

DALLAS (AP) — Three Southwest Conference teams defend Top 20 rankings in their second SWC games this week, while three others open bids in the conference race.

Saturday afternoon TCU visits No. 14 Arkansas at Fayetteville, and Texas Tech is at Texas A&M. Night games include Houston at No. 20 Baylor, No. 5 Texas at Rice, and SMU at Tulane for the only non-conference game.

A look at the games in order of CDT starting times (full-season and conference won-lost-tied records in parentheses):

—TCU (0-3, 0-1 in SWC) at ARKANSAS (2-1, 0-1 in SWC), 2 p.m. CDT. Arkansas is seventh (296.7 yards per game) and TCU ninth (212.7) in SWC total offense. Hogs lead series 34-20-2. Arkansas rushing only eighth in SWC (152.7 yards per game); eighth in rushing defense (233.3). TCU is ninth (251.0). Arkansas' Steve Cox leads SWC punting with 53.1, TCU's Stan Talley is third with 42.7. Hog Quarterback Tom Jones second in SWC passing with 131.8 rating (67.4 percent, 4 interceptions). Frogs' Bobby Stewart leads SWC receivers, averaging 4.3 catches-game.

—TEXAS TECH (2-2, 0-1 in SWC) at TEXAS A&M (1-2, 0-0 in SWC), 2 p.m. CDT. Aggies averaging 322 yards a game. Tech third in SWC defense at 274 yards per game; allowing only five TDs in four games. Aggies ninth in SWC pass offense but hitting 50.8 percent. Aggies third in SWC rushing (219 yards-game, Raiders 157). A&M's Johnny Hector sixth in SWC rushing (80 yards-game). Tech's Wes Hightower seventh (72). Tech's Maury Buford ninth nationally punting with 44.3 average. Aggies lead series 21-16-1.

—HOUSTON (1-2), 0-0 in SWC) at BAYLOR (3-0, 1-0 in SWC), 7:30 p.m. CDT. Bears' offense is second nationally (502 yards-game), rushing is fifth (309 yards) and defense sixth. They lead SWC rushing, passing and total offense. Bears lead SWC total and rushing defense; are sixth nation ally at 180. Cougars lost Quarterback Terry Elston for season with wrist fracture, will start soph Brent Chinn. UH holds 7-5 series lead.

—SMU (3-0) at TULANE (2-2), 7:30 p.m. CDT. Mustangs seek to win first four for first time since 1950. Tulane has two narrow losses. SMU last in SWC pass defense with yield of 219 yards a game. Mustangs QB Mike Ford's passing improving. Mustangs also improving ground game as they average 405 yards per start with Craig James, third in SWC rushing (84 yards a game) and Eric Dickerson, eighth (67 yards). Tulane has 4-1 series lead.

'Bama, Huskers Favored

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — All the secret operatives from X9 to X23 were in Las Vegas this weekend for the big heavyweight title fight, but they rushed over to the Churchill Downs Race Book to plot the college football games.

"Some real beauties this week," said operative XII, pouring over the form sheets.

"Notre Dame and Michigan State, for instance — the Spartans always play the Irish tough; Florida State and Nebraska — was Bobby Bowden looking over Miami's head last week, and what happened to Oklahoma?"

So it's with a feeling of indecision and trepidation that we plunge into the first Saturday in October, looking over the shoulder to see if Muhammad Ali can pull another rabbit out of the hat against Larry Holmes.

Last week: 39-15, .723. Season: 143-48, .754.

Alabama 42, Kentucky 20: The blue grassers always play Alabama tough but can't deny Bear Bryant victory No. 300.

Nebraska 35, Florida St. 26: The Seminoles are smarting from last week's upset; the Huskers shine at home.

Ohio St. 42, UCLA 21: They can just pretend they are playing in the Rose Bowl.

Southern California 36, Arizona St. 17: Trojans make sure that the frisky but troubled Sun Devils aren't spoilers.

South Carolina 33, North Carolina St. 17: After Southern Cal and Michigan, the Wolfpack will look like home cooking.

Pittsburgh 30, Maryland 22: For midable Pitt finally got over the magazine cover jitters against Temple.

Notre Dame 25, Michigan St. 23: The Fighting Irish are coming off a week's rest.

Texas 38, Rice 6: In the Southwest, nobody closes the gates of mercy.

Washington 30, Oklahoma St. 18: The Huskies may have trouble snapping back from surprise loss to Oregon.

North Carolina 27, Georgia

Tech 15: The Tar Heels tighten up their pass defense to escape this one.

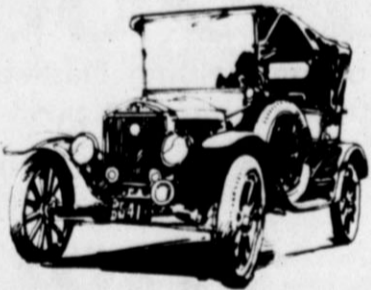

Syracuse 28, Kansas 14: The Orangemen's Joe Morris carries the ball in the tradition of Jim Brown, Ernie Davis and Larry Csonka.

Army 17, Harvard 10: The leaves on the Plains never looked so golden.

Texas Briefs

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown certified the election Wednesday of three new members of the Texas Soybean Producers Board.

Arthur Lumley of Hooks and Paul Stuckey of Plainview were elected for six-year terms. Wesley Schumacher of Plainview was re-elected for a six-year term.

Swearing-in ceremonies were scheduled for Wednesday at a meeting on the State Fair grounds.

HOUSTON (AP) — Dan Jones rejects reports 10 city garbage trucks have been lost.

The spokesman for city public works adds, however, the vehicle cannot be located. Jones blames the problem on poor record keeping.

He said vehicle parts with serial or shop numbers often are swapped among the trucks and paperwork does not reflect all the changes.

A recent City Hall report indicated at least 10 the 474 vehicles carried on a solid waste inventory are missing.

HOUSTON (AP) — A plain beige cloth coat brought only $5 but a pair of platinum-mounted ear clips with dangling pear-shaped diamonds of four carats each brought $42,500.

The auction of belongings of Mrs. Gus Wortham ended Tuesday night when jewelry sales netted about $350,000 for a four-day total of about $1.5 million.

Auctioneer Jerry Hart said it was the biggest auction in Houston history. He said the ear clips that went for $42,500 had been appraised at $100,000.

Mrs. Wortham died in July at 87. She was the wife of the late founder of the multibillion dollar American General Insurance Co.

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A Texas Department of Corrections major died Wednesday after an altercation with an inmate in his office at the Eastham unit 13 miles west of Trinity, officials said.

Another officer and the inmate were injured.

A TDC announcement said Maj. Cephus D. Burson, 58, suffered a cardiac arrest and was dead upon arrival at Huntsville Memorial Hospital.

The inmate was identified as Johnny R. Johnson, 28, under a Galveston County life sentence for robbery.

Burson, a native of Randolph County, Ala., joined the TDC staff in 1972 and became a major in 1977.

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A doctor arrested here for possession of marijuana began serving 90 days in the La Tuna federal penitentiary Wednesday, after arguing unsuccessfully that the substance was intended for medical purposes.

Marshall Tuck, 38, said marijuana has been approved by the U.S. Surgeon General for treatment of glaucoma, arthritis and cancer.

"You might have a really good point," U.S. Magistrate Janet Ruesch said Tuesday before passing sentence. "But there isn't anything I can do about it now. There are other ways to press it, but not here."

Tuck had previously pleaded guilty to possessing a small amount of marijuana — a misdemeanor — in exchange for the federal government's dropping felony charges of intent to distribute cocaine and marijuana.

Federal prosecutors said the drugs were found in the trunk of Tuck's car. The physician was arrested here while he said he was in the process of moving his practice from Milford, Conn., to Los Angeles.

Tuck was given a one-year sentence, with nine months suspended and put on probation for three years. He was also fined $500.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Railroad Commission said Wednesday it has agreed to spend $600,000 in federal funds to reclaim the abandoned Olmos Mine in Maverick County.

Fifty-six acres of the 145-acre coal mine will be restored to pasture land, the commission said.

Costs will be borne by a federal fund created with a special tax on coal.

The mine, with a 25- to 30-foot shaft and two lateral tunnels, is across the highway from a housing project and poses a risk to children, the commission said.

The mine was abandoned in 1925.

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — U.S. District Judge Fred Shannon ruled Wednesday that Texas may legally exclude the Socialist Workers Party from the Nov. 4 general election ballot.

Secretary of State George Strake refused to certify the party because it failed to come up with the required number of signatures on nominating petitions.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Sen. Ron Clower, D-Garland, said Wednesday that Senate and House subcommittees will conduct a joint hearing Oct. 8 on problems of the state's new crime victims compensation fund.

Clower's Senate Subcommittee on Consumer Affairs and the House Subcommittee on Implementation of the Victims of Crime Compensation Act will receive testimony on possible changes in the program.

"It appears that funding problems have developed, and we want to examine this issue to determine what steps can be taken to correct the problem," Clower said in a statement.

GET OUT THE WOK! Agricultural workers in a Peking suburb load fresh vegetables onto trucks for transport into town. More than 39,000 acres around the Chinese capital are devoted to the cultivation of vegetables.

The fund is financed by a special "tax" on criminal convictions, but income is running far below estimates.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Lame duck Sheriff Rudy Garza, criticizing program priorities and lack of security, has fired Bexar County Jail administrator Norman Cox Jr.

"I have relieved Mr. Cox as chief jailer of Bexar County, and the reason I did this was there have been a lot of problems at the jail and he has not been able to bring them under control," Garza said Tuesday.

Garza, defeated in the Democratic primary, said Cox would not be replaced until a new sheriff has been elected.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court ruled Wednesday Houston had no standing to appeal a $130.6 million rate increase granted by the Public Utility Commission in 1978.

Houston Lighting & Power received the increase for areas outside city limits.

A district court and the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals here both said the city could not appeal the decision, and the Supreme Court agreed in a two-sentence ruling.

The courts said that even though Houston was an intervenor in the rate case before the PUC, it had no "justiciable interest" because the rates applied only outside its city limits.

The appeals court also said a PUC decision could be appealed only by those showing a "special injury" from a rate increase, beyond what any member of the general public would suffer.

But the Supreme Court left that issue for another day, saying its action in Houston's case was not to be interpreted as either approving or disapproving what the appeals court had said.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The son of Republican presidential nominee Ronald Reagan plans to campaign here Sunday.

Mike Reagan and his wife, Colleen, have scheduled an appearance at a campaign rally. They will join 2,000 Republicans who plan to walk through 200 voting precincts handing out Reagan-Bush literature. The rally is scheduled at the Bexar County Republican Party's South Side headquarters at 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The 1974 gold-colored Thunderbird that the late narcotics gangster Fred Gomez Carrasco bought for his wife is being advertised for sale by a local attorney.

Carrasco, who led a bloody, 11-day siege at the state penitentiary in August 1974, asked attorney James Gillespie to buy the car for his wife, Rosa, in December 1973 while he was in the Bexar County Jail awaiting trial for murder.

"Fred told me exactly what he wanted: a fully loaded, gold T-bird with a white top," Gillespie recalled. "I located the car and told Fred what it would cost, about $6,500. A paper sack with the exact amount to the penny in cash was delivered to my office."

Gillespie said the title to the car was registered to his law firm and Rosa Carrasco never transferred the title to her name.

Carrasco, another convict and two hostages were killed in the escape attempt, the longest prison siege in Texas history. The automobile was discovered located in a mini-storage shed in June 1975 and turned over to Gillespie.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — What police at first thought was a possible murder has been ruled a hit-and-run traffic death by the Bexar County Medical Examiner's office.

The man, still unidentified, was found late Sunday night near the intersection of Nogalitos and Vermont Streets. Police said there was a trail of blood near the body, causing them to suspect foul play.

Tighter Grain Export Restrictions Noted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Private exporting companies are being required to comply more rigidly with federal rules on reporting grain sales to the Soviet Union.

The Agriculture Department said Wednesday the tighter restrictions will enable authorities to keep a closer watch on sales so that they do not exceed the limits set by President Carter when he imposed a partial embargo on U.S. grain shipments to Russia Jan. 4.

Beginning Sept. 25, exporters will have to report each day sales of grain to the Soviets that total 25,000 metric tons or more. Normally, only sales of 100,000 metric tons have to be reported to the department on a daily basis.

Kelly Harrison, general sales manager, said the new reporting requirement will apply only to wheat and corn sold to the Soviet Union. Sales to other countries will continue to be guided by the daily reporting of 100,000 metric tons or more. "It should permit closer monitoring of the level of sales to the Soviet Union in view of the eight-million-ton limitation on fifth-year purchases and exports, and provide more timely and accurate data to the public," Harrison said.

When Carter imposed the embargo in response to Russia's invasion of Afghanistan, he exempted sales of wheat and corn allowed under an earlier five-year agreement.

The pact allows the Soviet Union to buy up to eight million metric tons of wheat and corn annually from the United States. Slightly less than that amount was shipped to the Soviets in 1979-80 as a result of Carter's action.

So far, the Soviet Union has bought about 5.93 million metric tons of grain for delivery in the year that will begin on Oct. 1, the fifth and final year of the agreement.

A metric ton is about 2,205 pounds and is equal to 39.4 bushels of corn or 38.7 bushels of wheat.

Officials said that recently Russia has ordered quantities that individually total less than 100,000 metric tons. Thus, the reporting requirement was reduced to 25,000 to help keep better track of those smaller orders.

Incas

The powerful Inca empire had its seat at Cuzco in the Andes, and covered most of Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador, as well as parts of Columbia, Chile and Argentina. Building on the achievements of 800 years of Andean civilization, the Incas had a high level of skill in architecture, engineering, textiles and social organization.

Americans Implicated in Gun Smuggling

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The bullet-pocked streets of Northern Ireland are 3,000 miles from the flatlands of eastern North Carolina, but the federal government believes three Americans conspired to ship weapons and ammunition from here to the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

Government prosecutors also believe the owner of a gun shop in nearby Wilson, N.C., conspired with two New York men to ship 80 to 100 high-powered guns to Ireland along with a million rounds of ammunition allegedly stolen from the Camp Lejeune Marine base.

On trial in the U.S. District Court gun-smuggling case are Howard Bruton, owner of the B and B Gun Shop in Wilson, Robert Ferraro of New York City and George DeMeo of Yonkers, N.Y.

Prosecutors on Monday questioned Scotland Yard detectives and Irish National Police officers in an effort to link guns found in England and Ireland with the defendants.

Among the government's star witnesses are Bruton's ex-partner, Binford Benton, and former worker John Bulla, both granted immunity in exchange for their testimony. Benton, who pleaded guilty in 1978 to one violation of federal firearms laws and received a suspended sentence, testified last week he sold 80 to 100 guns, many off-the-record, to DeMeo and Ferraro on Burton's orders.

When Ferraro first visited B and B Gun Shop in 1972, he "indicated that he wanted to buy military-type weapons, and he didn't want any records kept of it," Benton testified.

For the next eight years,

Ferraro, 31, and DeMeo, 46, appeared about three times a month to buy small lots of "military-assault weapons," Benton said.

Records, when they were kept, often listed dead or fictitious people as purchasers, Benton said.

Asked where the guns were going, DeMeo replied, "someplace cool and green," Benton recalled. "They were stockpiling them and then shipping them out of the country."

Weapons that prosecutors are trying to link to the three defendants began turning up in Ireland and Britain from 1975 to 1979.

After a 1975 siege of a London apartment house where IRA members had held a middle-aged couple hostage, Scotland Yard detectives seized an AR-180 machine gun.

That gun was identified by William Redding as one of 18 stolen from his house in Wilson, a town of 32,000, in July 1974.

Those stolen guns were sold to B and B, most ending up in Ireland by way of New York, according to federal prosecutor Julian Greenspun.

In October 1979, Dublin authorities seized about $1 million worth of weapons at a dock warehouse, the largest weapons seizure in Dublin history.

Hidden inside electrical machinery packed in wooden crates, the weapons had been sent by a fictitious New York company, officers of the Irish National Police Force testified Monday. One of the guns, a Luger rifle, had been sold to DeMeo a year earlier, according to testimony.

NBC Plans To Replace David Letterman with 2 Game Shows

By PETER J. BOYER
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Visigoths have overrun that tiny outpost of wit and original thought on morning television, "The David Letterman Show." At the end of this month, NBC will replace Letterman with two game shows.

Canned avarice prevails. In announcing the demise, NBC programming chief Branson Tartikoff blithely reckoned that Letterman was in the wrong time period. The young star may return sometime, perhaps in "Saturday Night Live's" once-a-month vacancy.

But on to the important stuff. Starting Oct. 27, NBC will serve up in Letterman's stead two new game shows, Tartikoff said, "offering money and fabulous prizes."

"Las Vegas Gambit" and "Blockbusters" are the new NBC entries in television's onward march.

In its current issue, Panorama, the television magazine, features a story on the ABC "Charlie's Angels"-Spelling-Goldberg scandal, "Angelgate," as it is sometimes called.

The scandal involves alleged under-the-table kickbacks from ABC to Spelling-Goldberg for "Charlie's Angels," enabling the producers to make money on the show without sharing their profits with their partners, including Robert Wagner and Natalie Wood.

There are no revelations in the story, written under a pseudonym by a screenwriter. But there is the interesting suggestion that, since under-the-table payments to producers and the cheating of profit participants are considered part of the Hollywood game, someone must be out to get ABC.

"The real question," Panorama quotes a producer as saying, "is why everybody is yelling and screaming about something that was a fact of life for 15 years, maybe more."

"Could it possibly be... that there are persons unknown who want to make it easy for the FCC to lift a few of ABC's station licenses? Could it be that someone is trying to hurt ABC?"

Two independent stations, WOR in New York and KCOP in Los Angeles, have purchased broadcast rights to the Oscar-winning Vietnam film "The Deerhunter" after the networks turned it down, deeming it too violent.

Part of the networks' thinking, no doubt, was the centrality of a bloody gambling game involving Russian roulette. The game is completely bound up with the storyline — occurring four times — and wouldn't easily yield to judicious editing.

Both WOR and KCOP intend to broadcast "The Deerhunter" on election night, when the networks are tied up with vote returns.

It is a traditionally big ratings evening for independent stations. The violence WOR and KCOP are principally interested in is the bloodying of their network rivals.

STOP MONKEYING AROUND and cut the cake! That seems to have been the desire of chimpanzees Kousteau (left) and Kumi as they celebrated the first birthdays recently at the St. Louis Children's Zoo. The flavor of their cake? Banana, of course.

NEW YORK (AP) — Penthouse wanted to call Isabella Ardigo "Pet," but now the magazine's officials are calling her petulant. She rejected $300,000 and the publication's Pet of the Year title because she declares she is "too good to represent Penthouse."

The announcement stunned Penthouse officials, who hustled the 28-year-old Italian beauty off a platform at Lincoln Center's Library of the Performing Arts where a lavish Pet of the Year Party was in full swing Tuesday night.

In a telephone interview from a mid-Manhattan restaurant where she had taken refuge, the 5-foot-10 brunette said the idea for abdicating the pet throne came after she learned that Americans cast a more critical eye on nudity than she had thought.

"In Europe we take nudity different than you do," she said with the merest trace of an accent. "Here it's almost offensive to people. The more I thought about it, I learned that people's reactions to this magazine is not so favorable. They buy it... for the pictures, but just because men like it and buy it doesn't mean it's good for me."

The announcement stunned Penthouse officials, who hustled the 28-year-old Italian beauty off a platform at Lincoln Center's Library of the Performing Arts where a lavish Pet of the Year Party was in full swing Tuesday night.

In a press release issued at the party, Penthouse wrote that their 38-25½-36-inch beauty queen would receive $300,000 in "the richest and most prestigious beauty contest ever."

"And when she wants to really get away from it all," the release said, "our busy Pet will be whisked away in her private airplane to anywhere along the East Coast. Or, if she prefers the sea, she can choose to sail away in splendour on the magnificent Queen Elizabeth 2."

Now, Penthouse publisher Bob Guccione said the award will be donated to charity, probably to the Metropolitan Opera.

Ms. Ardigo said she made up her mind to reject the title "at the last minute as I started to read the speech they wrote for me."

"I tried to explain to them that I wasn't what Penthouse wanted me to be. I couldn't go through a year of being Pet of the Year. But people were rowdy and not really listening."

'Shooting Stars' Often Face Problems, Enemies

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The shooting star of industry, the person who rises early and swiftly to a position of high responsibility, often flames out or is shot down by the flak of events, enemies and competitors.

"There is no problem trickier and filled with perversity than that of the supermobile man or woman," said Professor Eugene Jennings, an adviser to top executives on personal, corporate and personnel matters.

"It is amazing to me how many corporate officials sponsor a very rapid rising man or woman and don't fully realize the safeguards that must be taken to protect that person," said the professor.

Jennings' comments followed reports of the predicament faced by Mary Cunningham, 29, vice president of strategic planning for the Bendix Corp., a Southfield, Mich., manufacturer of industrial equipment.

Amid controversy about her rapid promotions and association with William M. Agee, chairman and president, Miss Cunningham had sought a leave of absence but was convinced to remain by the Bendix board.

"The best way to burn out a talented individual is to let him or her go as high as possible as fast as possible," Jennings commented, adding that bosses who allow it to happen share much of the blame.

Shooting stars, or young, upwardly mobile executives, were common in the economic expansion of the 1960s, he said. Rarer now, and more often women, Jennings feels they are less tolerated and more criticized.

Most often, he said, they are found in planning, public relations, consumer and government relations, and sometimes in personnel, all areas in which it is difficult to apply tangible performance criteria.

The same lack of success measures, however, make it equally difficult for the individual, no matter how talented, to prove he or she belongs in the position. "The record is not demonstrable," he said.

If criticized, Jennings suggested, neither the sponsor (the person mainly responsible for the promotions) or the star can offer a strong defense. And if they do, he said, they only make matters worse.

"In most cases the sponsor and star should remain quiet and let the controversy die down," he said. If the star has the competency, he suggested, it will in time begin to manifest itself.

How, he was asked, can a sponsor protect a young but highly competent person who, because of youth, cannot prove his or her right to a job in the conventional manner, i.e., by demonstrating a string of successes? "When you see an exceptional talent you must view it as a perishable asset," said Jennings, graduate professor of management at Michigan State University, who has helped executives handle many shooting stars.

During Mark Twain's days as a newspaperman, he was editor of a small Missouri paper. One day he received a letter from a subscriber, stating that he had found a spider in his paper, and asked if this was an omen of good or bad luck.

Twain replied: "Finding a spider in your paper is neither good nor bad luck. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

Japanese Loan Companies Give 'Run Around'

By RICHARD BILL
Associated Press Writer
TOKYO (AP) — One thing stood between Yasuaki Tanoue and his dreams of a better life — $13,000 — so he borrowed the money. He didn't know what he was getting into.

Unable to get a bank loan because of a poor credit rating, Tanoue approached a neighborhood loan company that was only too willing to provide funds for him to put his children through school and buy a few luxuries.

By year's end, Tanoue's dreams had turned to nightmares: interest payments had soared to several hundred percent annually and his earnings from his construction job, equivalent to $200 a week, left him far behind in payments.

Then, in what is known in Japan's loan sharking business as "giving the run around," the company forced Tanoue to take out four more loans to cover his original debt.

Finally, after months of being hounded for payment, the family disappeared without a trace — owing $27,000, more than twice the original amount borrowed. Two months later, police found the remains of Tanoue, 35, and his wife Haruko, 29, hanging from a tree in a remote forest. The couple's son, Yoshiyuki, 6, and daughter, Miho, 5, were found nearby, dead from an overdose of sleeping pills.

The only money found with the family was a one yen coin — less than half a cent. Last year, police say, 180 people killed themselves in Japan because they owed money to a "sarakin," a breed of money lenders who are legal but who can be as intimidating in retrieving money as they are gracious in handing it out.

An additional 2,203 persons disappeared, police say, all apparent victims of a tight credit squeeze by Japan's loan sharks who operate without fear of the law. "That's because there are few restrictions on setting up a money lending business," explained a finance ministry official. "All one has to do to set up shop is to first notify the prefectural (state) governor. That's all there is to do."

The loan business in Japan didn't really get going until the early 1960s, when the country was experiencing an economic boom and people's expectations rose with new-found affluence, officials say. Since then, the sarakin — short for "salaryman loan" because they generally lend money to salaried workers — have continued to prey on low-income people with poor credit ratings who are pinched for money.

There are now 184,202 money lenders registered in Japan, up from just 89,742 just 10 years ago. But their true numbers are impossible to verify because of almost non-existent government licensing regulations.

Religions Entering 1980 Campaigns

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Evangelical conservatives, who used to shun getting involved in political battles and w... churches for doing so, have plunged into the 1980 campaigns with a passion. So zealously have they entered the fray that, ironically, they've been attacked by other church forces which long have engaged in similar activity, although usually on a different side. "It's a question of whose oxen are being gored," says the Rev. Richard Neuhaus, a Lutheran and editor of the monthly Worldview, observing that the resembling operations take contrasting views. What definitely distinguishes the newly mobilized religious activists are their causes, described as

"pro-morality," and mostly tagged conservative, such as: Opposing abortion, sex education, the Equal Rights Amendment, homosexual rights laws, compulsory school busing, allowance of pornography and favoring stronger U.S. defense, security for Israel and voluntary prayers in public schools.

"We want legislators and laws that we believe reflect our Christian values," says Gary Jarmin of Washington, legislative director for Christian Voice, one of several groups launched to register voters and influence them to back approved candidates.

Collectively, the groups often are called a newly emerged "Christian right," although Jarmin regards the term unfair, noting that church groups of differing views aren't called leftists.

In any case, a newly arrayed network of conservative believers, who once shunned politics as outside the Christian purview of personal salvation, has entered that worldly arena, with hard-hitting tactics.

NBC Rates 1st Again

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time in nearly two years, NBC has put together back-to-back first-place finishes in the networks' prime-time ratings competition, according to figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co.

NBC was a runaway winner in the three-way race for the week ending Oct. 21, due in large part to "Shogun," the second most-watched miniseries ever broadcast. And with a boost from "Little House on the Prairie" and three repeat episodes of the "Centennial" miniseries, NBC made it two in a row in the week ending Oct. 28. NBC's average rating in the weekly Nielsen survey dropped almost 10 points, from an all-time high for the network of 26.3 during "Shogun" week to 17.5 for the most recent check. ABC was second at 17.4, with CBS third at 16.

The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week ending Oct. 28, 17.5 percent of the nation's homes with television were tuned to NBC. NBC listed four of the week's 10 highest-rated programs to three each for ABC and CBS. CBS' "60 Minutes," the top-rated show in the 1979-80 season, was No. 1 for the week with a rating of 25.1. Nielsen says that means of all the homes in the country with TV, 25.1 percent saw at least part of the program.

In contrast, the first edition of "NBC Magazine with David Brinkley," successor to the network's "Prime Time Saturday," was the week's lowest-rated program, No. 53.

NBC began its rebroadcast of "Centennial" just after "Shogun," and Parts III, IV and V were screened in the week of Oct. 22-28. The third installment was ninth in the ratings, with Part IV in 11th place and the fifth chapter 32nd.

Production for the fall season still has not begun, though a tentative agreement has been reached in the actors' strike. Reruns continue to play a prominent role in prime-time programming. Of the original programs broadcast during the week, ABC scored with a made-for-TV biography of Marilyn

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Mae West's condition has worsened after a stroke despite reports to the contrary, according to a hospital source who says the 1930s screen siren is in intensive care in Good Samaritan Hospital.

The attack last August left Miss West, 87, with impaired speech. Until last weekend, she reportedly had been in satisfactory condition in a tightly guarded celebrity suite. The hospital and Miss West's agent, Jerry Martin, have declined comment.

But a hospital source, who asked not to be identified, told The Associated Press on Monday that Miss West had been moved to the facility's intensive care unit and her condition was deteriorating.

OTTAWA (AP) — Wars are generally started by street demonstrators, including politicians, says England's Prince Philip, who says soldiers are "the poor mugs" who have to fight.

The Duke of Edinburgh told reporters Monday it is wrong to think of military men as "brutal and licentious morons" — they simply are doing their duty in fighting. He doubted anyone wanted to go to war.

EXETER, N.H. (AP) — Renowned baby doctor Benjamin Spock said he considered his plea of guilty to trespassing during an anti-nuclear demonstration at the Seabrook nuclear plant a "victory."

Spock, his wife and four others were charged with criminal trespass in connection with the September 1978 protest. A plea bargain was reached by which all six pleaded guilty to simple trespass and received $25 fines. Spock, 77, of Rogers, Ark., a well-known child-rearing specialist, his wife, Mary Morgan, and the others had been sentenced to 60-day jail terms and fined $200 each.

Reduction Blocked If consumers stand to gain on that front, they stand to lose on another one. In the same week, a state district judge blocked a 14 percent reduction in credit life insurance rates granted by the board last March. Officials put the potential drop in rates to consumers at between $20 and $40 million in Texas. But Judge Jim Dear ruled the insurance board violated the Administrative Procedure Act last spring by not conducting the hearings as a "contested case." He also said the board lacked the authority to regulate credit insurance commissions.

Plutonium Leak? State Sen. A. R. Schwartz, D-Galveston, asked the State Health Department to look into reports of a plutonium leak at Todd Shipyards in Galveston. The shipyard is the storage site for controversial low level nuclear waste that has been building-up in Texas for the past two years. Schwartz has consistently spurred the shipyard to transfer its waste, but the removal has been slow. He called the plutonium report "the last straw" in a series of inept waste handling.

Gasoline Tax One of the toughest issues before the next Legislature will be reduction of local property taxes and finding other ways to raise revenue. Governor Clements and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby have considered raising the five cents-per-gallon fuel tax, currently the lowest tax in the nation, but last week Hobbs rejected a tax hike on motor fuels. He said he doesn't believe it will be needed because of unforeseen revenue increases in the sales tax and oil and gas severance taxes. Hobby may be reading the mood of taxpayers at the same time he is reading tax reports. Motor fuels are always subject to price increases, especially at times of crises in the Mideast, and consumers are already angry enough at the rising cost. If the state were to add the burden of increased taxes, more than one political head would fall to outraged voters.

Controversial Poll A poll released last week showing President Jimmy Carter eight points ahead of Ronald Reagan in Texas has been praised, booed, respected and scoffed by many. Clements says Reagan's own poll shows him leading Carter. The Carter folks say Reagan is dropping and the President is rising in their.

Both candidates will visit Texas again before November, surely causing more chaotic polling results.

AG Briefs Texas Atty General Mark White, in legal opinions issued last week, ruled: -For purposes of Section 21.301 (a) of the Texas Education Code, "current term" means the period beginning with the first day of scheduled in-service training and ending with the first day of scheduled in-service training the following year. -Public school teachers may not be required to pay for substitutes necessitated by their absence while engaged in military training or duty.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Spur may not cause problem

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm 66 years old and have always been in good health. Last fall my left heel began to hurt when I walked. It kept getting worse so I decided it wasn't just a bruise. I went to an orthopedic doctor and he had it X-rayed and said I had a heel spur. He gave me a hard plastic heel cup to wear two weeks and had me come back. Then he put a shot of some kind in the side of my heel and this helped about three weeks. Then it started again. I've had this problem about three months. What is the best way to treat this? I know it's a calcium deposit but I don't want an operation if I can avoid it. DEAR READER — Let's limit our conclusion to the fact that you have a sore and painful heel. Those little bony spurs on the bottom of the heel can occur without causing any pain at all. Other people can have very sore painful heels as you describe and not have any bony spur. The real pain is usually caused by inflammation and injury of the associated tendons and sheaths of tissue we call fascia that attach to the heel bone. The muscles under the arch of your foot stretch from the front of the foot to the heel somewhat like a string to a bow. When your long arch is put under too much strain and pulls on these muscles, it pulls at their attachments. This constant mechanical irritation is one way that you can set up inflammation and develop a sore heel. The pulling of tendons and fascia on this spot may stimulate the growth of the bony spur. Thus the bony spur is the result of the problem and not the cause. To give you more detailed information about your feet, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 11-10, Common Foot Problems: What to Do about Them. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Of course, your foot has to be examined and decisions made as to what's best in your particular condition. A heel cup is sometimes useful because it takes the pressure off of the inflamed area or the sore heel. Another way of helping solve the problem is to change the weight bearing of the foot. This is commonly done by rotating the foot in such a way that one walks more on the outside of the foot. This relieves the strain across the center of the arch, which in turn relieves the pull on the muscles, tendons and tissues of the bottom of the foot. You could get relief by just staying off your foot completely but that leads to other problems. Injections are sometimes used and you probably got some form of cortisone shot. These do counteract inflammation and may provide temporary relief. They will not solve the fundamental problem of weight bearing and strain on the tissues at the point where they attach to the heel.

In most instances it's not necessary to have an operation to remove the heel spur. In fact, some patients have more difficulty after an operation of that sort than if the heel had been left alone. The operation will not correct the fundamental strain across the foot arch either. There are rare cases in which a significant spur does contribute to the pain but more often than not it's the strain across the arch problem that I have cited here. DEAR DR. LAMB — What is the difference between a peptic ulcer and a hiatal hernia? I often wake up around 6 a.m. with a pain in my chest about four or five inches below my throat. I also have this pain about an hour after breakfast. Maalox tablets seem to keep the pain under control but I don't want to take them longer than necessary. Would a glass of wine before dinner have any adverse effect on this condition? Would orange juice at breakfast irritate it? DEAR READER — First things first. You should find out what the nature of your pain is and what's causing it. Four or five inches below your throat? puts it in the middle of your chest. Ulcers usually do not cause pain in this area. You can have some irritation of the esophagus and esophageal spasm which can cause pain in this area. That can be aggravated by a regurgitation of acid contents of the stomach up into the lower esophagus. This can occur with or without a hernia of the small portion of the stomach through the diaphragm. I'm sending you my new issue of The Health Letter number 15-10, Understanding Ulcers and Acidity. It will give you more detailed information about peptic ulcers and how they have markedly decreased in our society. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

To answer your specific questions, if you have irritation of the esophagus or if you had an ulcer, certainly wine before dinner or at any other time is something you should avoid. Alcohol tends to stimulate the production of stomach acid. Orange juice is great for most people but it does contain acid and if you want to avoid aggravating an irritated esophagus or an ulcer, it's probably one of the things you could do without. If a person finds out that a specific food irritates him, it's very simple. Don't use it. I want to impress upon you the importance of defining the nature of your chest pain and what's causing it. Sometimes people think they have indigestion when in fact they have heart disease. The difference in treatment is enormous. In other words, go see your doctor. DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been told there is an aneurysm in the carotid artery on my right side. The beating in my ear causes me to lose much sleep. It doesn't bother me much in the daytime. Can it be repaired by surgery or is it better left alone? DEAR READER — An aneurysm is a sacular dilatation of an artery. You can have such a change in many different arteries. The common large one is of the abdominal aorta. You can have one of an artery in the brain or elsewhere. Just what needs to be done depends upon a careful evaluation of each specific case, but I would like to assure you that most aneurysms can be surgically corrected unless they are in a strategic location in the brain. Most of those in the body, or even if you have one in the neck, can be surgically removed and a graft put in to replace the damaged artery. Surgery on the arteries of the neck is relatively common in the hands of experienced cardiovascular surgeons. See a good medical cardiologist first and see if he thinks you need such a procedure.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — In a surprise move that voters would probably like to see more of in state government, the State Board of Insurance Commissioners last week voted against a hike in auto insurance rates.

The insurance industry had requested a rate hike that would raise consumer premiums by close to $80 million in Texas. And since the state board staff had recommended a $257 million increase, almost 19 percent, most observers thought the industry would come away with some gains. But board chairman William P. Daves said the industry has enjoyed steady income increases from investments, and proposed to deny the rate increase. He was joined in the vote by Lyndon Olson Jr. and Durwood Mansford. Daves' denial was shock enough for the industry representatives attending the hearing, but chairman Daves, the former president of a bank and insurance company, had more to say. Using his own calculations, he argued companies have benefited from a steady increase in income from their investments, and that because of drastic inflationary changes, a thorough review should be made of the approach to the methods of insurance rate-making. Daves recommended creation of an advisory committee to study the subject of increased insurance company investment income.

Reduction Blocked If consumers stand to gain on that front, they stand to lose on another one. In the same week, a state district judge blocked a 14 percent reduction in credit life insurance rates granted by the board last March. Officials put the potential drop in rates to consumers at between $20 and $40 million in Texas. Study May Examine Assassination Evidence

DALLAS (AP) — The National Academy of Sciences will fund a new study of the acoustical evidence that led earlier investigators to conclude two gunmen fired on President John F. Kennedy when he was killed nearly 17 years ago, a Dallas newspaper reported.

The Dallas Morning News reported in its Thursday editions that the study will review the validity of committee findings that a recording of police radio transmissions captured the sound of four shots fired at the motorcade.

The newspaper said the study was requested by the Justice Department and quoted a department source as saying the study is the "first preliminary step" toward reopening the investigation.

The four-month study, financed by a $23,360 National Science Foundation grant, will be announced on Monday, the newspaper reported.

The Warren Commission determined in 1964 that Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone, fired three shots at the president from a sixth floor window in the Texas School Book Depository.

In 1978, the House Assassinations Committee concluded a conspiracy probably resulted in the president's assassination in Dallas' Dealey Plaza.

The committee's conclusions were based on a recording of a Dallas police radio transmission made when the microphone on a police motorcycle apparently was left open while the shots were fired.

Acoustical experts, who examined the nature and origin of the sound impulses, said they were 96 percent certain the sounds were four shots. They said three came from behind the presidential limousine in the general area of the book depository and the other came from an unidentified individual on a grassy knoll to the side of the vehicle.

Three dissenting members of the committee, Dallas police officers and former staff members of the Warren Commission have criticized the acoustical findings.

The newspaper said FBI agents last month reviewed a sharply critical report written by Dallas Police Capt. James C. Bowles.

Bowles, who wrote the report as a private citizen, was a communications supervisor at the time of the assassination and was asked to serve as a technical consultant in the Justice Department's study.

Bowles said his report "will destroy this canard they call acoustical evidence."

He told the newspaper that the high frequency of shots could not be transmitted through the "voice grade" low-frequency radio system used by the police in 1963.

The newspaper said a National Science Foundation announcement Monday will state that an ad hoc committee will be formed to review the methods used in evaluating the acoustical data and the reasons for the acoustical experts' conclusions.

The committee will report its findings at the end of January to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to the Justice Department, the newspaper said.
