Judge Gives Stern Warning in Brilab Trial

HOUSTON (AP)— U.S. District Judge Robert O'Conor Jr. has given a stern warning to defense attorneys for attempting "to put on trial" the government's key defense witness in the Texas Brilab trial.

And during a late Monday meeting in his Houston courtroom, O'Conor curtly told the attorneys:

"We are not going to get out of here anytime soon if this continues. I am running this court and you are not and don't think you are.'

An obviously angry O'Conor made the statement after defense attorneys asked for permission to dig deeper into the relationship between FBI informant Joseph Hauser and Waco, Texas, insurance executive Bernard Rapoport.

Roy Minton, defending Texas House Speaker Billy Claton, said he believed Hauser was lying to the jury when he told them Rapoport was a close personal friend, and "they should know this.

O'Conor said, "If you want to prove that, then bring Mr. Rapoport as a witness. You are trying the witness."

Minton said he was doing everything possible to shorten the case but that he was afraid to bring Rapoport as a witness in this second week of the trial because the judge might rule it

The judge issued two stern warnings during Monday's cross-examination of Hauser. First he said, "The witness (Hauser) is not on trial, move along."

And later, when he told attorneys to furnish Hauser with a copy of previous testimony, "We are not conducting a memory test of this witness.'

Hauser, twice convicted of bribery and of taking kickbacks in insurance deals, served as an FBI informant in the undercover Brilab investigation that touch almost every section of

His testimony, and secret tape recordings he made, led to the June 12 indictment of Speaker Clayton, Austin attorneys Donald Ray and Randall Wood, and L.G. Moore, regional director of the International Operating Engineers Union.

Clayton, Ray and Wood are now on trial before a sevenwoman, five-man jury on charges of bribery, conspiracy, racketeering, and extortion.

Moore is to be tried later on the same charges.

During Monday's testimony, Hauser said he had been paying off labor officials since 1965 to get union insurance

"Those are the facts of life. In my experience, nobody in America does any business with union officials without paying for it. No one can be successful without bribery when

The government witness also said he didn't come to Texas "to target" Clayton, but the politician's name first was brought up by Moore.

The jury also listened to tapes in which Moore said he could "cut a deal" with the house speaker.

Moore continued, "I can say, look, Billy, you get this deal and you get this, Okay?" Hauser: "Beautiful."

Moore: "Now he's that kind of guy."

The government has accused Clayton of accepting a $5,000 bribe from Moore with a promise of an additional $500,000 to help secure a rich state employee insurance contract for Hauser, who then was posing as a representative of Prudential Insurance Co.

Clayton said he received the money but thought it was a campaign contribution and planned to return it later.

Tapes of the Sept. 20, 1979 meeting between Moore and Hauser also revealed this exchange:

Moore: "I think I can wire that (delete) up... I really do. The Speaker of the House. I'm going to have breakfast him in the next two weeks. ... He's my friend. I've kept him, you know what I mean, when his ass was in a box and I'd go get one of my guys off his ass or something."

During the meeting, Hauser said, "We could lay 25 to 50

Coleman then moved that the county accept the higher bid from Orval Watson Ford and the motion was seconded by Commissioner J.F. Martin, receiving unanimous approval.

Sheriff Travis McPherson appeared before the commission to request that carryover funds in his department be used to augment the salaries of dispatchers working there.

"We have a real problem with salaries there. They are so low they are near the poverty level. For that reason we have a hard time filling the jobs. If we don't have dispatchers, we're in trouble," stated McPherson.

Coleman pointed out that the carryover had been figured into the new fiscal budget, and added that such an action might set an unintended precedent. "I think it's more an item of some salaries being too low and we need to approach it from this angle," stated Coleman, proposing that the whole question of salaries for sheriff's office personnel be placed on the agenda for the

Chris White and Bob Nigh, local ham radio operators, appeared before the commission to request that the county purchase a basic two meter repeater set and other items to allow approximately 12 ham radio operators here to link up with a radio network convering some 22 counties lying in the northern portion of the Panhandle and regions of New Mexico. White explained that the repeater would allow local ham operators to relay messages during emergencies stemming from storms or other disasters, and would help to bring in help from the immediate area in the event of a disaster. The proposal received the endorsement of county Civil Defense Coordinator Bill Bradly, who explained that the repeater and ham radio network could provide an additional communications link of importance.

Commissioners approved an expenditure of $1172.20 for the purchase of the repeater, with that expenditure to be matched by $1,055 provided by local amateurs for other equipment.

In addition, local hams will be responsible for installation, maintenance and all costs in putting in the repeater service here. (See COUNTY, Page 2)

Arkansas N-Warhead Bound For Amarillo's Pantex Plant

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) -The nuclear warhead damaged in the Titan II missile accident will be disassembled or analyzed at a nuclear weapons plant in this Panhandle city, a Pantex plant official says. Paul R. Wagner, the ranking Department of Energy official at Pantex, confirmed Monday that the weapon was destined for Pantex, but said he had not been told when it would arrive.

"I have been told ... that the damaged warhead from the Titan missle accident will be sent to Pantex for disassembly or analysis," Wagner said.

Meanwhile, the Air Force still would not confirm or deny a nuclear weapon was involved in the weekend acci-

At the devastated Titan II missile silo site in Damascus. Ark., the warhead, apparently contained in one of two canisters labeled "Do Not Drop," was loaded onto a flatbed truck Monday and taken to Little Rock Air Force Base.

Arkansas law enforcement officers followed the truck on the 90-minute trip to the base near Jacksonville, about 12 miles northeast of Little Rock. Two helicopters flew ahead to report traffic conditions.

The weapon in question carried by the Titan II intercontinental ballistic missile - is the largest in terms of yield in the U.S. arsenal. This conclusion is based on the "throw weight" of the Titan II, or its ability to carry heavy items.

The Titan II is a liquidfueled rocket with the range of some 7,000 miles.

The blast, which killed a sergeant and injured 21 other men, occurred Friday about 81/2 hours after a wrench socket was dropped by a workman in the silo and hit the rocket's first stage, starting a fuel leak.

Nuclear material from past military accidents has invariably wound up at Pantex and remained stored there.

Pantex, which is wholly owned and operated by the DOE, serves as a final assembly point for all the nation's nuclear weapons. Nuclear weapons being removed from the nation's arsenal also are disassembled there. A June 1976 environmental assessment report on Pantex said part of the plant housed plutonium-239 residue from military accidents. The residue "is mixed and diluted by the debris" making recovery of the hazardous material "virtually impossible," the report said.

The residue is from military weapons accidents in Palomares, Spain, and Thule, Greenland, the report

In Spain, a B-52 bomber loaded with four nuclear bombs collided with a KC-135 tanker during refueling operations. In Greenland, a

B-52 bomber crashed on ice while attempting an emergency landing. That material previously was stored at the Medina base outside San Antonio and moved to Pantex when that facility was closed in the 1960s, the report said.

Border War Could Cut Oil Supplies

WASHINGTON (AP) -The border war between Iran and Iraq could temporarily block shipment of about 7.5 percent of the world's daily oil supply but would have little direct impact on the United States, government officials and oil industry sources say.

Deputy Energy Secretary John Sawhill told a Senate hearing Monday that while the United States gets much of its oil imports from Persian Gulf nations, it buys none from Iran and very little of the 3.2 million barrels a day exported by Iraq.

Industry sources, who asked not to be identified, said high world oil inventories could help cushion the blow of a Persian Gulf oil cutoff. Oil industry experts say the Iran-Iraq conflict so far has caused no reduction in oil production or exports by either country, but an independent analysis prepared for the Energy Department before the fighting broke out said about 4.7 million barrels of Persian Gulf oil a day could be blocked.

The analysis warned that "in the next few years, the most likely source of major disruptions at the head of the (Persian) Gulf is the extremely difficult relations between Iraq and Iran."

Fredric S. Feer, senior analyst of Analytical Assessments Corp. of Arlington, Va., which prepared the report, noted that most oil ports and refineries in the area "are within less than 200 miles of each other - close enough to make airborne or naval threats to shipping more than credible enough to halt tanker traffic even if no damage is done to facilities."

For that reason, he said, a conflict between Iran and Iraq could indirectly block oil shipments from Kuwait as well.

That could mean a loss to the world oil market of 1 million barrels a day from Iran, 1.1 million from Iraq and 2.6 million from Kuwait,

Iraqi Forces Invade Iran

By The Associated Press Iraqi ground forces invaded Iran today, Baghdad reported, as Iranian jet fighters bombed and strafed the Iraqi capital and nine other targets in Iraq. Iraq said its MiGs hit three more air bases in Iran following heavy raids across much of Iran Monday.

Iraq reported more than 20 civilians killed and more than 50 wounded by the Iran's U.S.-made jets and claimed 20 were shot down and many of the pilots were taken prisoner. Iran said all of its planes returned safely and its forces downed 16 Iraqi MiGs Monday and today. Iraq admitted the loss of three planes. The invasion was reported in a communique broadcast by Baghdad Radio, which said Iraqi ground forces "advanced to take control of vital positions inside of Iran" to "break the racist government" of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini. The targets were not specified. But Radio Tehran said Iranian armored troops routed Iraqi troops around Khorramshahr, Iran's main port on the disputed Shatt al-Arab estuary at the head of the Persian Gulf.

Reporting on the air war, the Iraqi state radio said Iranian jets struck all over the country, attacking Baghdad, Masul, Nineveh, Basra and six airfields and bases.

"Many men, women and children were killed," the broadcast said. "The largest portion of casualties occurred among the workers of the petrochemical and fertilizer factory of Basra, where 20 were killed and 50 wounded."

Investigation Set

For Young County

GRAHAM, Texas (AP) - An investigator from the Texas Attorney General's office is to begin an investigation into discrepancies in the collection of fines in Young County, according to a county official.

The investigator is to arrive here Wednesday, officials said.

County Judge R.L. Barrett said the investigation would involve the recent discovery of apparent discrepancies in the collection of fines.

The investigation was requested by Barrett and District Attorney Robert Hedrick, who said they wanted the outside investigation so no one could claim that conflict of interest was involved or that there was a "coverup."

The investigation actually got under way several weeks ago when persons listed on court records as not having paid fines showed receipts indicating they had paid the fines to the county judge's office.

Get Carter Ads

WASHINGTON (AP) - A group supporting Ronald Reagan has obtained copies of Jimmy Carter's 1976 television campaign commercials and turned them into the centerpiece of their own anti-Carter campaign.

The purpose is to show thencandidate Carter making promises he failed to keep.

Each one ends with Carter asking, "Are we satisfied with what we have or are we ready to change it for the better?" The scene then shifts from Carter to the words, "Are you satisfied?"

The advertisements are now in the hands of a group known as Citizens for Reagan in 80. It is a project funded entirely by the Fund for a Conservative Majority, a political action committee that hopes to raise $4 million to $5 million to plug Reagan's campaign.

By law, Reagan, who has accepted public financing of his campaign, cannot have any official tie with independent fund-raising committees, such as the Fund for a Conservative Majority. In fact, Reagan denounced one ad the group made earlier this year as "in lousy taste ... a pretty bad commer-

Exchanges Mark Campaign

By LEE BYRD Associated Press Writer

President Carter and Ronald Reagan trooped one political another's strongholds today in forays launched by a brutal exchange of charges over suffering, betraval and even life and death.

The president, campaigning in Reagan's home state of California, declared flatly Monday night that the Nov. 4 poses a choice between 'peace or war." It was Carter's severest characterization to date of the Republican nominee's prospective responsibility as commander in chief.

As for himself, Carter said he already has dealt with crisis after crisis that "you never knew about." He didn't elaborate, except to say that had he acted improperly, it "perhaps would have endangered the safety and peace of the entire world." Reagan, for his part, said Carter had betrayed the South, had spread "distortions and half-truths" about the GOP campaign and was responsible for more than tripling what Reagan termed the "family suffering index."

After stops in Knoxville, Tenn., and Miami Monday, Reagan stumped in Pensacola, Fla., today before setting out for Baton Rouge, La., and Springfield, Mo. Independent challenger John B. Anderson, meanwhile, insisted he had gained equal footing with Carter and Reagan via his nationally televised debate with the Republican Sunday night. But his balloon was deflated at a rally in Philadelphia and burgeoning indications that the first debate may well have been the last of the 1980 campaign.

Carter headed for Northern California and stops in Portland, Ore., and Tacoma, Wash., today after opening his tour of the Golden State with an embrace from the man who won its Democratic primary, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. The Massachusetts senator joined Carter at a Beverly Hills fundraiser, exhorting the party faithful to rally behind the president.

Earlier, at a question-andanswer session at a Torrance, Calif., high school, Carter said the current fighting between Iraq and Iran could speed the release of the American hostages.

"It could convince Iran that they need peace with their neighbors, that they need to be part of the international community, they need to be able to have a strong and viable economy, they need to get spare parts for their military weapons and so forth, and therefore induce them to release the hostages," Carter said.

"I'm not predicting that, but it's a possibility," he said. Carter told the California AFL-CIO convention the state will be vital in determining who wins the White House. Carter has lost it three times so far, twice in the 1976 primary and general elections, and to Kennedy this The president accused Reagan of offering a "counterfeit future," and said that while the GOP workers. On Nov. 4, said Carter, "What you decide on that day, you and those who listen to your voice, will determine what kind of life you and your families will have, whether this nation will make progress or go backward and whether we have peace or Carter was introduced by Jack Henning, executive secretary of the California AFL-CIO, who cited a "fraudulent political advertisement of the Reagan crowd which indicated I have sympathy with the candidacy of Ronald Reagan." That, said Henning, was conceivable."

Reagan, in Knoxville, said that "Jimmy Carter has turned his back on the problems you face in the South" by mismanaging the economy.

Combining figures relating to mortgage rates, price increases in food and gasoline, and unemployment, Reagan unveiled his "family suffering index" by which to measure the president's performance.

Reagan said that index, propelled by a 50.9 percent hike in gasoline prices alone, had more than tripled since Carter took office.

Carter had used a similar statistical gimmick in his 1976 campaign, a "misery index" that combined the inflation and unemployment rates. Reagan said the misery index was 20.3 percent under Carter, compared with the 12.5 percent which the Democrat had said was so

Later, in Miami, Reagan accused the president of "using distortions and half-truths in an effort to frighten. Americans into believing that would hurt Social Security." The Republican said he had long since laid to rest the suggestion that he still favors, making Social Security a voluntary program. In Springfield, Ill., on the way west, Carter said the 1980 choice is sharper than any since Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater faced President Lyndon B. Johnson 16. years ago. Johnson won a landslide after a campaign in which he painted Goldwater as a rash Republican who, would risk war.

Carter previously had tempered his variation on that theme by saying, as he did in Cleveland a week ago, that he doesn't mean to insinuate Reagan "is for warand against peace."

Questioned over his decision to sit out the Sundaynight debate, Carter said "I think I came out okay." Reagan and Anderson disagreed, each chiding the president as having run from the fight. But Reagan said he saw no purpose in meeting Anderson again, though he left the door open for a "round robin" format in which he would meet Carter one-on-one only if. Carter did the same with Anderson.

But Carter continued to insist on meeting Reagan first,

At Wits End By ERMA BOMBECK

Guess what?

I spotted a full-time, stay-at-home mother the other day, which brings my total to three this year.

I'm bragging. It was just a fleeting glance of her in flight, but it was enough to excite me. Why, I haven't seen a woman like this since 43 percent of the species migrated into the working force.

When I mentioned this to a teacher friend of mine she nearly dropped the phone. "Tell me," she shouted, "where exactly did you spot this rare bird?"

"In the car, where else? She was driving some children around."

"Was she in our neighborhood?"

"Yes."

"Great. What were the ages of the children?"

"What's that got to do with anything?" I asked. "Plenty," she said. "Have you any idea what it's like trying to find a homeroom mother these days?"

"Oh, c'mon." "I mean it. We had one poor mother who was the only one who didn't work outside the home. She was homeroom mother for grades 3, 5, 8 and 9. The poor soul finally unravelled. She was calling herself to bake cookies, chaperone field trips, help with testing, assist on the playground, clear tables in the cafeteria, and make customes for eight happy feet for National Foot Care Week." "What happened to her?"

"One day she put herself on hold and she hasn't been heard of since. We call it Homeroom Mother Burnout."

"That's a shame. There used to be so many," I observed. "That's what they tell me," she said, "but not anymore. Do you have any idea what it is like to be the only mother listed under 'IN CASE OF EMERGENCY'?"

"I had no idea."

1. What burns the most fossil fuel in your home? (a) the furnance, (b) the range, (c) the toaster.

2. What is the most efficient way to cook rice? (a) boil it in a pot with a tight lid, (b) boil it in a lidless pot, (c) put it in under the broiler.

3. What is the most energy efficient way to make toast? (a) 2-slice toaster, (b) oven broiler, (c) toaster oven.

4. What is the most energy efficient way to freeze food? (a) in a full freezer with no frost build up, (b) in a selfdefrosting freezer, (c) in a freezer with a 1" frost build-

These and other questions were developed for use in an "Energy Quiz Bowl Game." (The answer to each question is A.) Played in teams of three, the game tests 4-H members' energy conservation awareness. Participants can, in turn, apply this knowledge at home.

4-H mem ers in the Texas Electric Energy Management Program conducted by the Extension Service also participate in "hands on" activities as they study ways of insulating homes, using solar energy, using electric appliances wisely, and other energy saving techniques around the home.

All boys and girls aged 9 to 19 are eligible to join the program. Awards are available to members, with medals of honor going to four members in each county. One 4-H'er from each state can earn an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, where six outstanding 4-H'ers receive $1,000 scholarships.

HHS Linksters Place In Opening Tourney Sy MAURI MONTGOMERY elated Wilbourn said. "I'm other day, I think we got as the better here

By MAURI MONTGOMERY Brans Sports Editor

It was an understatement to say that head HHS golf coach Jerry Wilbourn was pleased with his squad's opening performance in season play Saturday against opposing Monterey and Plainview teams. But he said it anyway!

The Whiteface varsity team compiled a day's total of 313 over 18 holes to grasp a second place finish over Monterey's 320 and seven strokes shy of Plainview's winning round of 306. And according to Wilbourn both teams would be the one's Hereford would contend with for the eventual district reign.

"I'm really pleased with the effort these guys put out there on the course in this (the first) tournament play we've had this year,"an even more pleased with our finish in light of the teams we were playing. I look for Monterey, Plainview and us to be the contenders in the district this year and since we showed well in play with them this past weekend - I think we can hold our own against them."

"As far as players that are missing from the squads this year due to other sports - I really don't think it will be a relevant factor in later play,"Wilbourn said. "Plainview has only one guy missing while football is going on, so the PHS we saw this weekend will basically be the team we'll see later on. Monterey will have some coming in after football too, but I don't think they will be as strong as they were a year ago. And considering how well we did against both the substantial (an equal) a chance to win district as do the others," he added.

One HHS linkster Wilbourn had to be glad wasn't biding time on the grid field became Tony Flores, after the golfer capped a round of 36-37-73 to lead the Whiteface field and garner low-medalist honors of the tourney.

tle better here this next week when Plainview and Monterey come here to play on our course. We should shoot a 310 pretty easy, but it all depends on how the weather is. This past weekend the wind was blowing 30 mph and it affected our overall score,"he added.

"I was really happy with the 313 we shot in Plainview

SPORTS

Following Flores' low round was Frankie Garcia who added up a 38-41-79. Gregg Robinson stayed close to the pack with a 38-42-80, Scot Skinner shot a 42-39-81 and Bob Foster rounded out the varsity squad's play with a 43-46-89.

"If we can just maintain an average in the 314-315 range this whole year, there's no doubt in mind that we can go to regional tournament play,"Wilbourn said. "The reason for that is that the district is going to be so close this year (everyone will shoot in the general area of that average in play) and there's really no overpowering team. It's that close, but we've got to continue shooting around that average if we want to win district."

"I think we should do a lit-though. I was pleased with Flores' 73 because that helped our overall team play - and I think it's a great way to start off our season.

The junior varsity squad had a more difficult time of it in the affair after it ground out a 336 - outdistancing the last place Plainview "B" team which drove in a 407 tally for the day.

David Dudding brought in a total of 37-38-75 (ironically only two strokes off Flores' round in the varisty segment of play) to lead the HHS team in the repective play. Micheal Craig followed Dudding's round with a 39-44-83, Paul Jorde rolled in with a 42-43-85, Brett Barrick brought in a 45-48-93 and Roger Hodges came in with a round of 47-51-98 to complete the junior

Forecaster Results

He was, to put it mildly, an unsung hero. Everyone on the staff knew his extraordinary feat rated as an achievement only outdone by Superman or one of the other do-gooders, but few offered anything other than a polite nod in his direction.

It was best that way. The relinquishment of those polite smiles and nods - nothing more, nothing less - saved the staff members' stubborn pride and more importantly saved

Mauri Montgomery

I speak of course, about the mild-mannered newspaper publisher who was able to leap the tall bounds of his losing quotient (58 percent - it had been even worse before, but I like my job so let's leave it at that) in the Brand's fearless forecaster predictions, and into a third place berth this week with a 63 percentage. Known as "Speedy" when he isn't posting time as a super hero, the boss punched out a 7-19 mark to lead the unruly field.

But with Nieman's jump into a respectable ranking in the competition, James Stout took it upon himself to grasp sole possession of the bottom spot with an even slump of 13-13 for 56 percent. Rumor around the office has it that Stout simply had a bad week, but I prefer to think Speedy offered him a raise to take the dive.

Naw, naw I was just kidding Speedy. Like I said I'm happy here, but just in case there is some truth to it, I'll gladly take some hush money to keep it under my hat. I mean, what are employees for.

"Big Bob Nigh" faltered this week and gave the staff reign to me after he built a 10-16 ledger for 64 percent. The Okie said he gave it to me under pretense I wouldn't get my feelings hurt, but the real reason had to be that he didn't want me to publicize his heritage as an Okie in this column anymore.

I went 8-18 for a percentage of 65 this week much to my surprise. Maybe I shouldn't have ridiculed my fellow forecasters so bad this time because one of them may have given me the benefit of the doubt on about 10 of my choices. You see, I don't add up all the wins and losses - I just report the grim details.

The turn of events weren't so grim this go-around however, as we finally gained ground against the guest forecaster people. Paul Ramirez still managed to keep the berth's advantage over our staff though after posting a 11-15 tally for a percentile of 69. The guest column lost ground and recorded its first week under the 70 percent correct range, but it still offers a person his best bet in picking these weekly grid contests - that is if you even follow them.

And from all indications, the readers are smart enough not to follow our picks in their own contest.

Scott Debord of 215 Beach missed a total of four games to win the football prediction contest this week, while Cal Jones of 205 Centre and coach Jerry Wilbourn of 228 Hickory each missed five.

Jones landed the contest's second place after falling twopoints off the tie-breaker score with a pick of 33.

Wilbourn missed the tie-breaker score by three points after picking a total score of 32 in the Hereford-Borger game.

Out of 213 entries in the competition, four others missed only five games, but were off on the tie-breaker score. Those contestants included; Bobbie Kitchens, Zane Foster, Bill Mc-Carley and George Petree. Sixteen entrants missed six Morgan smacked a two-run homer in the fifth to put Houston ahead 3-2. The blast was the ninth of the year for the Astro second baseman.

"The home run wasn't any special thrill. I'm just happy because it put us ahead," said the two-time Naional League MVP who led the Cincinnati Reds to three World Series before rejoining Houston this year as a free agent.

Cedeno led off the sixth with his 10th home run of the year to increase the Astro lead to 4-2. Cedeno also scored in the fourth when he singled, stole second and scored on a single by Gary Woods.

the No.1 spot, drawing 34 first-place votes and 1,215 of a possible 1,260 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Ohio State's Buckeyes rolled over Minnesota 47-0 and held tightly to the No.2 ranking with 26 first-place ballots and 1,183 points.

Alabama and Ohio State each polled 30 first-place votes a week ago, but the Crimson Tide led the rankings in total points, 1,232-1,216.

isn't very nice at all.

The other day, DeBerg watched Richard Todd of the New York Jets pass his way into the NFL record book with 42 completions. And all he could feel was sympathy, because on the scoreboard San Francisco had thoroughly and completely whipped New York, the third straight loss for the Jets.

"I know how he feels," said DeBerg. "It's very frustrating. It's very difficult to feel you've accomplished anything when you're losing."

DeBerg has plenty experience losing. He went through those dreadful 2-14 seasons, the first one as the 28th-ranked quarterback in a 28-team league, the second one as a record-setter. That was the only difference. The bottom line - wins and losses - was the same. Now San Francisco is 3-0, sitting pretty for the first time in awhile, and you wonder how come. DeBerg has an answer. In fact, he's got a couple of answers. One is Paul Hofer and the other is Earl Cooper.

They are his running backs and they have given a new dimension to the San Francisco attack. "They are great Alabama, a 59-35 winner all-purpose backs," said over Mississippi, continued in Deberg. "They give us a lot more speed than we've had."

> Hofer is the man who replaced O.J. Simpson in the San Francisco backfield last year. Cooper is one of two first-round draft choices the 49ers obtained in the trade that gave the New York Jets the No.2 selection in the NFL grab-bag last spring.

The 49ers have whipped New Orleans, St. Louis and the Jets in order - no powerhouses to be sure, but coming off consecutive twowin seasons, San Francisco can't be choosy. And they're having a high old time doing it, with flea-flickers, reverses, options - the fun stuff in the playbook.

Besides the two No.1 choices (Cooper and defearsive end Jim Stuckey) trom the Jets in exchange for a higher No.1 (Lam Jones), Coach Bill Walsh picked up defensive back Ray Rhodes and flanker Jimmy Robinson from the New York Giants, Tight end Charle Young from Los Angeles and defensive back Scott Perry from Cincinnati. Nothing major there, just some useful NFL players, the kind of players who can make a team more competitive.

The most glamorous name among the newcomers was linebacker Hollywood Henderson, the ex-Dallas enfant terrible. He's gone now, though, waived last week. Walsh wants production, not

Freak Play Preserves Yankees' Win

With Cleveland threatening Manager Dave Garcia, "and seen anything like that. It was just a freak thing."

It was the kind of freak thing that goes in your favor when you're going good, and the New York Yankees are going better than anybody else. Their record in September is 18-4.

The victory, combining

Boston, increased the Yankees' lead to five game over the Orioles in the American League East. Any combination of Yankee wins and Oriole losses adding to eight assures New York of its fourth division crown in five years. Both clubs have 12 games left. Elsewhere in the AL, with Baltimore's 5-3 loss to Toronto edged Detroit 6-5 despite Tom Brookens' five runs batted; Kansas City's George Brett went 1-for-4 and his batting average dropped to .393 as his Royals also went down, losing to Seattle in 11 innings, 5-4; California clubbed Milwaukee 7-3, and Minnesota blanked Texas 1-0.

The Yankess, who didn't touch Cleveland starter Len

Barker for a hit until two outs in the sixth, had gone ahead 4-2 with three runs in the eighth on two walks, a bad hop double and a bouncing single by Bob Watson. Gossage came in for the ninth, an entry which has meant peace of mind for the Yankee pitching staff this summer.

In Gossage's previous 18 victory in a row and 11th in 14 appearances over 282-3 innings, the hard-throwing right-Blue Jays 6, Tigers 5 hander hadn't surrendered a run. But Jack Brohamer's

Lloyd Moseby's fourth hit of the game drove in the tying run and Al Woods followed with a bloop single for the game-winner as the Blue Jays beat Detroit and reached a plateau of their own.

The victory assured the four-year club of avoiding 100 losses for the first time in its history. "It's a goal we've talked about for the last month," said Toronto's Barry Bonnell.

Tom Brookens knocked in all five Detroit runs on a three-run homer and a tworun triple.

Carlton scattered eight hits in nine innings, allowing the Cardinals just single runs in the first and eighth innings.

The Phillies scored their winning run in the 10th when pinch hitter Keith Moreland delivered Larry Bowa from second base with a double. Bowa had singled off reliever Kim Seaman, 3-2, to lead off the 10th and was sacrificed to second by Bob Boone before scoring on Moreland's hit.

Earlier, Mike Schmidt had a solo homer for the Phillies in the fourth inning, his 42nd this season.

Pirates 4, Expos 2 Mike Easler smacked a two-run homer and Dave Parker doubled home two runs, leading Pittsburgh over Montreal. The victory, Pittsburgh's 12th in 17 meetings with the Expos this season, left the third-place Pirates 31/2-games behind Philadelphia.

Parker's two-run double off Scott Sanderson, 15-10, gave Pittsburgh a 2-0 lead in the third inning. After the Expos scored in the seventh on Warren Cromartie's sacrifice fly, the Pirates made it 4-1 on Easler's blast in the bottom of the inning.

Jim Bibby, 18-5, was the winner.

Astros 4, Padres 2

Joe Morgan and Cesar Cedeno homered to power Joe Niekro to his 17th victory of Niekro, 17-12, allowed just two unearned runs on four hits while walking three and striking out three en route to his 10th complete game of the season.

Loser Bob Shirley, 11-11, was tagged for four runs on seven hits through six innings. The loss snapped a 10-game Padre winning streak at San Diego Stadium.

Braves 7, Dodgers 2 Gary Matthews and Bob Horner slugged two-run homers and Chris Chambliss had four hits and two RBI to lead Atlanta over Los Angeles. Preston Hanna, 2-0, hurled five scoreless innings for the Braves to earn the victory with relief help from Rick Camp, who picked up his 19th save. Don Sutton, 12-5, took the loss.

Giants 7, Reds 3

Rich Murray drove in two runs, including the gamewinner in the fifth inning, as San Francisco defeated Cincinnati.

The Giants scored the winning run in the fifth when Terry Whitfield singled and took second when Guy Sularz walked. Murray singled to drive in Whitfield, giving the Giants a 4-3 lead at that point.

They added three runs in the eighth on RBI-singles by Larry Herndon, Milt May and Whitfield.

Alan Ripley, 8-9, was the winner with relief help from Gary Lavelle. Cubs 3, Mets 2

Perez had a single, a double and a homer, his 22nd and first in six weeks, which keyed a three-run rally in the seventh as the Red Sox defeated the Orioles.

It was the first time since July 19 that the Orioles had taken a lead into the seventh and not won a game, ending a streak of 32 straight under those conditions.

Mariners 5, Royals 4

George Brett's ninth inning homer tied the game and both teams scored a run in the 10th, but Willie Horton's single in the 11th scored Bruce Bochte to allow Seattle to win a cliffhanger.

Brett's solo homer, his 21st of the season, was just the Kansas City star's second hit in his last 14 at bats, both homers. Brett was 1-for-4, with a walk, and is now hitting .393 in his quest to become the first .400 hitter since 1941. Angels 7, Brewers 3

Before long-term contracts, the Angels' September surge would have been called a salary drive. Now, California Manager Jim Fregosi calls it a healthy streak.

"The reason we've been playing well lately is that I've finally got my injured players back," said Fregosi after Bob Clark scored the tying run and knocked in the winning run with a single in the eighth inning.

YOU OTUA HNOW

By Don Henslee Twice this summer I had a strange problem with my 1973 Grand Prix. The car stalled, sputtered and died like it was out of gas - but with over half a tank of fuel. It wouldn't re-start immediately but started fine after sitting for a couple of hours. Any ideas?

Since your trouble has been during hot weather, I suspect you may be getting a vapor lock caused by overheating fuel lines and carburetor. When the temperature in the engine compartment gets too hot, the liquid fuel turns into a vapor. You may get a vapor chibble in the line between the fuel pump and he carburetor. The buretor is out of gas. To correct, let the car cool off and the vapor lock will disappear. If this condition persists, try insulating the fuel lines with aluminum foil. If your car's equipped with a vapor bypass system, make sure the vent is open and not

clogged. D&R AUTO PARTS Parts Plus

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) -Both of his legs were broken, his pelvis was fractured and a major blood vessel in his heart was torn, but doctors say daredevil motorcyclist Gary Wells' condition is no longer critical. A hospital spokeswoman said Monday that Wells "is now listed as serious, but much improved."

Wells, 23, was injured when he crashed his motorcycle Sept. 15. while trying to jump over the fountains at Caesars Palace casino as thousand of horrified spectators looked on. The stunt was to have been filmed for the ABC-TV series "That's Incredible!"

Wells still must undergo surgery to repair the broken bones. No date had been set for the operation.

NEW YORK (AP) - Musician Cab Calloway is especially pleased by the the Negro Actors Guild's plans to honor him Sunday in a fundraiser for the new Black Hall of Fame, his wife says.

"He's received awards all over the world, but this one is particularly meaningful to him," Nuffie Calloway told the New York Daily News on Monday in an interview from their White Plains home.

"Will he sing? You know Cab," Mrs. Calloway said. The benefit will be held at the Shubert Theater.

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. (AP) - If his mother agreed, former 1960s activist Abbie Hoffman says he would legally change his name to Barry Freed, the name by which he was known during most of his years as a fugitive. "My home is here in the islands, my friends are here, the river I love is here and besides, the only ID I have is my fishing license, and that says Barry Freed," Hoffman told the Thousand Islands Sun.

For four years, Hoffman used the name Freed and lived in this area of upstate New York:

Hoffman returned to the islands last week for a meeting with the group's steering committee to plan a series of fund-raising events and speeches.

He recently turned himself in to face drug charges lodged against him in New York City eight years ago.

Sheriff Nicknamed 'Ayatollah'

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador (AP) - You can't buy a beer on Sunday in this sweltering equatorial seaport. The sheriff won't a llow it.

Guayaquil, with a population of more than 1 million, is Equador's largest city, ocated two degrees south of the equator on the wide and muddy Guayas River.

And until Sheriff Abdallah Bucaram was appointed by the Ministry of Government plast year, it was a typical tropical port with all-night dance halls, exotic women and a sensuous climate reputed to induce a measure of laxity in public morals and attitudes.

But when Bucaram instituted strict adherence to a set of 16 rules he himself calls Abdallah's Commandments," disgruntled citizens quickly nicknamed him the "Ayatollah of Guayaquil."

Bucaram, whose grandparents were Lebanese immigrants, is a Roman Catholic, as are most of the thousands of people with Lebanese backgrounds in Guayaquil.

His 16 commandments, tacked to the wall behind his desk, implore the citizenry to love their country and to respect motherhood.

They tell those with modern plumbing in their homes to share the facilities with less fortunate citizens. Merchants are ordered to stick to official food prices and doctors are warned to maintain reasonable fees.

The commandments prohibit the sale of fireworks, playing soccer in the streets, selling alcoholic beverages all day Sunday and after midnight other days, throwing water-filled balloons during carnival, bribery, extortion and all other crimes. "You will take your paycheck home. Don't leave it in the canteen," says the 16th commandment.

Bucaram strictly enforces his personal interpretation of the law.

He has sent 3,000 men to jail for urinating in the streets. He routinely closes bars which serve drinks after hours and confiscates overpriced groceries, distributing them free to shantytowns.

He once shut down the city's top three hotels, ordering their guests out of their rooms in the middle of the night, because the owners allegedly treated his inspectors rudely.

He has collected the equivalent of $1.3 million in fines in one year, more than previous sheriffs accomplished in 50 years. Dressed in an open-necked, tropical shirt, a cross dangling on a chain around his neck, Bucaram claimed in an interview that he was the first honest sheriff in Guayaquil's history.

He is at least wellconnected politically. President Jaime Roldos is his brother-in-law. His uncle is Asaad Bucaram, a powerful member of Congress who is locked in a perpetual power struggle with Roldos.

The sheriff sides with Roldos, calling him "the greatest man of all Latin America for being the youngest president of all time." Roldos is 39. Bucaram

Talking Economic Trash

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP) The language of economics may seem like gobbledygook to many Americans, but the director of the Washington County landfills thinks more economists could talk trash.

In Washington, D.C., experts measure the economy with the consumer price index and other indicators. Landfills director Guy Keadle believes you can get a good handle on the state of the economy, at least in Washington County, by gauging the traffic at the local

"When business is good, traffic is great and when business isn't too good, traffic is down," Keadle says.

During tough times, less trash is dumped by businessmen and homeowners because folks aren't buying as much, and thus have less to dispose of, Keadle says.

"People get conscious of what to do with their money, and I can't blame them," he

Right now, he says, the dump is in a slump.

- Professor Breaks Web of Myths About Spiders

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) - There's no reason to be to professor Lenny Vincent, who shows off preserved specimens that have bitten the dust but little else.

Vincent, who conducts courses on spiders at the University of California, says spiders are hardly the ferocious creatures they have been made out to be. Living proof, he says, is Rosebud, a huge, hairy tarantula with a leg span of 6 inches who often views the world from her perch on his shoulder.

Tarantula bites have little effect on people, he says. Of the supposed deadliness of the black widow, he says, "more people die of bee stings."

Vincent, 32, says that in the nine years he's worked with spiders, not one has ever taken even a nibble. He doubts that many spiders could even break a person's Vincent says another myth is that the a female spider eats her mate.

"That's the exception," says Vincent. "In most cases the male leaves."

- Motorist's Luck Takes Fowl Turn

MADISON, Wis.(AP) James Manning's luck took a fowl turn when he met up afraid of spiders, according with some ducks and soggy weather.

Manning encountered a flock of ducks on the road Monday as he drove near Madison's Vilas Park zoo, police said. He swerved and his car's brakes, drenched by a puddle, failed.

Moments later, the compact car landed in the Vilas Park lagoon.

Manning escaped unhurt and watched from shore as his car drifted out about 40 feet and bubbled 15 feet to the bottom, said police.

There was one bright spot. The car's battery did not duck out when the vehicle was ducked under. The windshield wipers were still whirring when the car was towed from the tional Tribunal of Constitutional Guarantees, demanding Bucaram's political rights be suspended.

ing a complaint with the na-

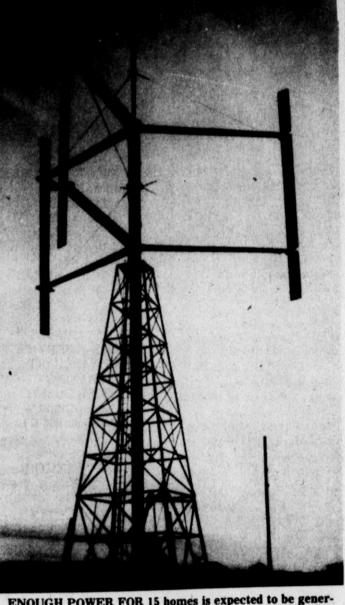

The Tribunal agreed the dry laws had no legal basis and recommended the Ministry of Government apply administrative sanctions against him. The case is pending.

In the meantime, Bucaram - who says the Tribunal's ruling would only guarantee "the right of the Ecuadorean people to make brutes of themselves with alcohol" continues to enforce his commandment against late-hour and Sunday liquor sales.

And in the capital of Quito, the newspaper "El Tiempo" editorialized about "our home-grown Khomeini" and reported how he reacted to a woman who entered his office wearing a dress with side slits.

The newspaper said Bucaram turned his back on his visitor, told his secretary to lend her needle and thread and ordered her to sew up the slits in her dress.

When the woman had Tinished, the newspaper said, Bucaram explained that he was protecting her from men less saintly than he.

Moore Not Shaken by Prison

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) - Imprisonment has done nothing to shake Sara Jane Moore's belief that her attempt to assassinate Gerald Ford five years ago was the right thing to do. But now, 50 years old and serving a life term, Ms. Moore says her days as a would-be presidential assassin are

"I'm not at this time a potential assassin of anyone," she said in a telephone interview from the Federal Correctional Institution at Alderson. "The fact that I'm well-known, I've been in prison and my age, well it's not a role for me. I can be more effective in other ways, like writing or speak-fired a single shot at the president. Her aim was deflected by an alert former Marine in a crowd of onlookers and Ford was whisked away unhurt.

It was the second attempt that month on Ford's life. Seventeen days earlier, Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme, a member of the Charles Manson family, aimed a .45-caliber pistol at him in Sacramento. The gun failed to go off, and Miss Fromme is serving her sentence in a California prison. "Given the politics of this country and my own situation, I have no problem with what I did," Ms. Moore said, calling assassination a "valid political tool."

She spends her days doing needlepoint, reading and writing. "Unfortunately I've spent a good portion of my time watching TV because I've been sick," she said.

She will be eligible for parole in 1985, but Ms. Moore said she thinks "the first chance I would have would be the 30-year mark, which is 2005 for me."

Cataracts, Cause and Cure

In 1977 the National Eye Institute reported that people have a higher incidence of cataracts. Other studies indicate that people who work outdoors have more cataracts. This led Dr. Sidney Lerprofessor of ophthalmology at Emory University, to research the effects of ultraviolet light on the human eye. Now he thinks he knows how we can prevent cataracts.

Ultraviolet radiation from the sun, once thought harmless, now is known to damage human skin, may

V rays can burn the cornea of the human eye, causing cataracts and other retinal problems.

While most of sunlight's UB-V rays are filtered by the earth's atmospheric ozone layer, not all are.

And further, we are increasingly exposed to small amounts of UV-A radiation indoors - from intense artificial fluorescent light.

An alarming 60 percent of Americans over 60 have some vision deficiency resulting

Half a million Americans each year have cloudy lenses (cataracts) removed surgically.

Dr. Dennis Brooks of Philadelphia was first to "lunch-hour develop surgery" for cataract patients. Now he has further refined his painless "fiveminute operation" technique by using computer-controlled sound waves to "dissolve" the cataracts.

The operation is so simple that where the patient is not insured, Germantown Hospital absorbs the nominal

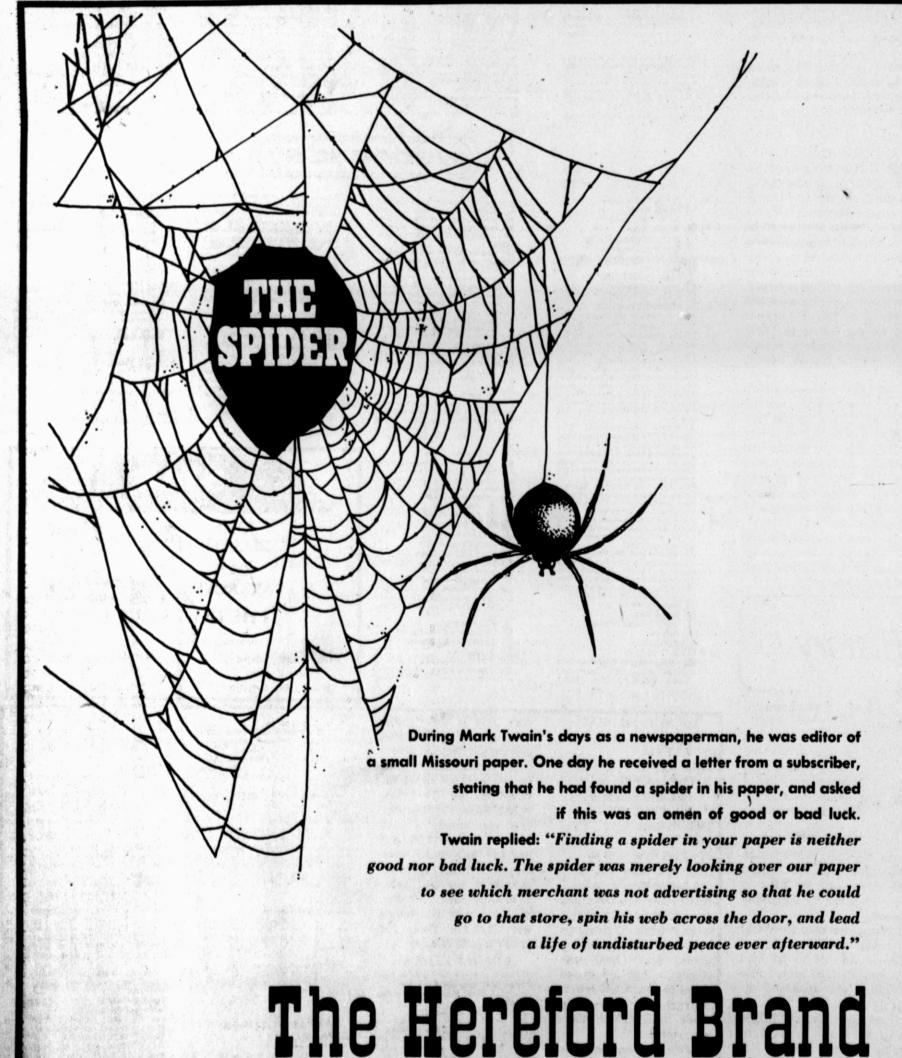

The old procedure involved an incision halfway around the eye which then had to be closed with eight to 10 stitches - followed by seven to 10 days in bed with an eye patch - then the patient had to wear thick cataract spectacles. The new procedure is a painless five-minute operation including a permanent artificial plastic lens implant - after which the patient goes home or back to work.

The new lens stays in place

The technique is even being used on newborn babies with congenital cataracts, and on patients as old as 95.

After performing, 6,000 such operations, Dr. Brooks reports a 98 percent success rate in restoring full vision.
