Document shows Bush-North ties

PRESIDENT BUSH
...Document shows role in North affair

WASHINGTON (AP) - A document produced in Oliver North's trial sheds new light on George Bush's role in the Iran-Contra affair, showing that he helped the Reagan administration effort to support the Nicaraguan Contras despite a ban on U.S. aid.

The document, read to the Iran-Contra jury by North's defense attorneys, placed Bush at a May 1985 meeting in Honduras with then-President Roberto Suazo. It says Bush informed Suazo of President Reagan's decision to speed U.S. military and economic aid to the country.

What set up the Bush meeting were behind-the-scenes discussions among North and other U.S. officials on a plan to seek assistance from other countries to tide over the Nicaraguan rebels at a time when direct or indirect American assistance was outlawed by Congress.

A preface to the document said "the United States has admitted for purposes of this trial the following facts to be true," and it went to lengths to stitch together how the secret covert support program worked.

In effect, the Reagan program established a "quid pro quo" relationship basing U.S. assistance to Honduras and some other countries at least in part on those countries' willingness to help sustain the Contra fighting force.

There was no indication that Bush cited this linkage in his meeting with Suazo. But in earlier testimony, former national security adviser Robert McFarlane had said the aid was part of a secret agreement calling for Honduras, in return, to help the Contras.

Portions of the document show Bush as an enthusiastic supporter of the effort to tide over the Contras until direct U.S. assistance could be resumed.

In early March 1985, for instance, Bush asked McFarlane whether he (the vice president) should "encourage a private group to donate a planeload of medical supplies that would arrive in Honduras coincident with" Bush's meeting with Suazo.

"Bush strongly favored such a flight," the document said, "noting that the (unidentified) group was supportive of the resistance." It said North told McFarlane that Bush's idea was sound. The document did not reveal whether the planeload of supplies actually arrived in conjunction with his visit.

Asked on Thursday about the revelation of Bush's go-between role with the Honduran leader, White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said: "We can't say anything. It would become a part of the case."

Bush has denied ever having any knowledge of a diversion of Iran arms-sales proceeds to the Contras, although he admitted knowing about the clandestine arms sales to Iran and said he supported the initiative with certain reservations. Donald Gregg, his national security adviser during the period in question, said he did not tell Bush about the Contra resupply effort that Gregg had learned about from Felix Rodriguez, a one-time CIA associate.

Two Maine senators who played key roles in the congressional investigation of the Iran-Contra affair - Democrat George Mitchell and Republican William Cohen - said in a book published last year that Bush's role in the scandal remained unanswered.

A source who had been involved in the congressional committees' investigation, who discussed the situation Thursday on grounds of anonymity, said Bush "didn't leave very many footprints anywhere. It needs to be said that the extent of his knowledge was not our major goal. We were more interested in what the president (Reagan) knew."

According to the court document, Bush personally told Suazo during their May 1985 meeting in Honduras that extra aid was being funneled to his country.

McFarlane testified Reagan personally approved the secret deal to slip $110 million in extra aid to Honduras as one of several "quid pro quo" arrangements with other countries in exchange for support for the Contras.

McFarlane said Reagan telephoned Suazo to gain the release of an arms shipment to the Contras that had been seized by a Honduran military commander.

The statement entered in court said: "Vice President Bush also informed Suazo that President Reagan had directed that currently withheld economic assistance for Honduras should be released, that the United States would provide 'from its own military stocks critical security assistance items that had been ordered by Honduran armed forces, and that several security programs under way for Honduran security forces would be enhanced."

Vandals damage Hereford church

By KAY PECK
Staff Writer

Vandals armed with cans of spray paint inflicted approximately $350 in damage to the Centro Evangelico Church sometime Thursday night.

A window was discovered open at 3:45 a.m. today by Hereford Policeman Brent Harrison while he was on patrol. When officers investigated the interior of the church, they discovered the damage left by vandals.

Walls and windows had been sprayed with paint, and church pamphlets had been scattered throughout one room.

Graffiti written in spray paint by the vandals included some names and initials.

Sparks fly as Senate studies AIDS

AUSTIN (AP) - A minister who headed a special legislative task force on AIDS says state lawmakers, who are studying several bills on the disease, are taking the wrong approach.

The Rev. Chris Steele, an Episcopal priest from Houston, said many AIDS proposals this legislative session reflect fear and misunderstanding - things the task force wanted to stop.

"There is a predominance of bills focusing on criminal justice," Ms. Steele said. "I think it's evidence of a very fearful, uninformed mindset. If this is any indication what we're in for, I think it's going to be very disappointing."

Ms. Steele commented Thursday after a Senate subcommittee hearing on several bills dealing with acquired immune deficiency syndrome in prisons, mandatory testing of certain criminals and making it a crime to knowingly transmit the disease.

Sparks flew in the hearing when Sen. Craig Washington, who served on the AIDS task force, accused other members of trying to kill his plan for dealing with the disease in prisons.

Washington, D-Houston, also said all the AIDS measures before the subcommittee should be recommended to the Senate Criminal Justice Committee and the full Senate because of the importance of the issue.

"You're not going to vote for my bill ... so there's no need for us playing games at the subcommittee level," Washington told AIDS subcommittee Chairman J.E. "Buster" Brown and Sen. Ted Lyon.

Four other bills the committee was looking at "don't address the subject (of AIDS) at all," Washington said. "Ultimately, it's not a criminal justice issue. It's a public health issue."

Washington said the subcommittee should not be deciding which bills will make it back to the full committee or the full Senate.

"We can't decide these policy issues in this subcommittee," he said. "And if the subcommittee is going to decide on one approach or the other, I vehemently object to that, and I will see you in the full committee and on the (Senate) floor with these bills."

Brown, R-Lake Jackson, and Lyon, D-Rockwall, had just finished hearing testimony on the bills from health officials, law and corrections officers and prosecutors when Washington arrived and asked what recommendations would be made.

During testimony, Brown and Lyon had said they support measures to criminalize knowing transmission of the disease, particularly by prostitutes and by criminals who attack law officers.

Brown and Lyon told Washington they decided on recommending that three bills by Sens. Temple Dickson, D-Sweetwater, and Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, be combined as a committee substitute. Washington's bill and another prison bill by Brown also would be recommended, but separately, they said.

Subcommittee approves SSC

WASHINGTON (AP) - A House subcommittee's vote authorizing construction of the super collider gives the $4.6 billion particle accelerator "good momentum" heading into the next stage of the budget battle in Congress, says Rep. Joe Barton.

"It's just another building block to build on," says Barton, an Ennis Republican whose district includes the collider site.

The collider cleared its first budget hurdle of the year when the House subcommittee on energy and research development voted Thursday to spend $250 million on the project in next year's budget.

But panel chairwoman Marilyn Lloyd, D-Tenn., said the full committee on Science, Space and Technology must still approve the project.

"The will of the committee will be expressed at that time," Rep. Lloyd said.

Ms. Lloyd's subcommittee approved the Energy Department's energy research and development budget with no debate on the collider, agreeing with President Bush's request for $160 million for initial construction of the project and $90 million for research and development.

Financing the super collider at the $250 million level, however, means deep cuts will have to be made in other energy research projects, said Rep. Harris W. Fawell, R-Ill., and the shape of those reductions will influence his support of the super collider.

Barton, however, is predicting approval by the full committee next week.

Youth ministers form alliance

Area youth leaders and youth ministers have joined together to help young people in Hereford and Deaf Smith County.

Representatives of St. Anthony's and San Jose Catholic churches, Community Church and First Christian Church originally met Feb. 20.

"We all agreed that Hereford youth would benefit from the cooperation of the churches in various activities," said Dorman Smith, representing First Christian Church.

Since that first meeting, representatives of First Baptist Church, First United Methodist Church, Good News Gospel Church and the Church of the Nazarene have joined the alliance.

"We have two goals," Smith said. "To help and support our young people, and to unify them for Jesus Christ."

The ministers and representatives have already planned one program, on April 16 at 7:30 p.m. at First Christian Church entitled "Teen Suicide--The Wrong Answer."

The program will include the clown mime ministry at San Jose and St. Anthony's churches and Christian rock music by youth from the Church of the Nazarene. Smith will present information on teen suicide, and supportive counseling will be offered following the session.

Youth ministers alliance

Members of the new Youth Ministerial Alliance look over flyers that will be mailed to all junior high and high school students in the next few days. Members pictured here, from left, include Rev. Hector Madrigal, Teresa Munoz, Michael Vuytecki, Bryan Cooper, Virginia Artho and Dorman Smith.

Churches or individuals interested in being part of the alliance or giving their support of the upcoming program may call Dorman Smith at 364-0160 or Virginia Artho at 364-5429.

National Guard joins drug fight

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) - U.S. Customs officials say National Guard troops working with them in Texas for the next six months will make life more difficult for drug traffickers.

Ninety-two National Guard troops authorized for drug interdiction in Texas began working Thursday with Customs at international bridges on the Mexican border at Brownsville, Hidalgo, Laredo and El Paso, and at the Port of Houston.

"In very simple terms, what this will do is enable the Customs Service to inspect more cargo and do it quicker," said Charles Conroy, a Customs regional spokesman in Houston.

They will not search passenger vehicles, Conroy said.

A $2.9 million appropriation from the Pentagon makes the troops available for the next six months, said Lt. Col. Ed Komandosky, spokesman for the National Guard in Texas.

"They are weekend soldiers who have agreed to volunteer for the six-month duty," Komandosky said. "Some have left their civilian jobs to do this."

The troops inspecting cargo will not carry weapons or have authority to make arrests, Komandosky said.

"If the guy jumps out of the truck and starts to run away, it will be up to Customs to do something," he added.

"We have knowledge that narcotics are being brought into the United States through cargo, but because of a lack of manpower we cannot do the job we should do," said Fernando Macias, Customs port director at Brownsville.

Macias said the extra help will make it possible for his inspectors to fulfill a mandate that they unload, or "de-van," 10 percent of the cargo trucks that cross the Rio Grande at Brownsville. An average of 300 loaded cargo trucks enter at Brownsville every day, including many from U.S.-owned assembly plants across the border at Matamoros, Mexico.

Local Roundup

Tragedy avoided in incident

A tragedy was narrowly avoided Thursday when a child ran into the path of an oncoming car in the 400 block of North 25 Mile Avenue.

Witnesses indicated that, although the child was bumped by the automobile, evasive maneuvers by the driver prevented the child from being struck directly.

The child was treated and released at Deaf Smith General Hospital for minor injuries in that incident.

A report of failure to stop and render information was filed in connection with the driver of that car. Witnesses indicated that the driver did stop to check on the condition of the child.

Officers from the Hereford Police Department also investigated a report of criminal mischief reported in the 300 block of 16th.

One arrest was made by city officers when a 29-year-old male was charged in connection with a family violence assault.

City police issued 28 traffic citations and investigated one minor accident.

School board meets Tuesday

The Hereford school board will meet Tuesday at 6 p.m. at the Hereford School Administration Building.

The agenda includes sale of school property; a request from the City of Hereford on a water well site; the summer food program; reports on test scores and campus action plans; honoring of the employee of the month; and student hearings.

Commissioners meet Monday

Deaf Smith County commissioners will meet at 9 a.m. Monday at the courthouse.

The agenda includes an executive session to discuss medical care in the county jail; bids for law enforcement insurance; consider purchasing public officials' liability insurance and payment of attorney fees on a civil suit; discussion of purchasing phones from AT&T for the sheriff's office; and approval of a Panhandle Regional Planning Service grant for purchasing juvenile services.

Little cooler weekend

Tonight will be fair with a low of 45. Southwest winds will be 10-20 mph, becoming northerly after midnight.

Oliver North says he was under orders to keep actions secret

WASHINGTON (AP) - Oliver North, testifying in his own defense, says top-level Reagan administration officials put him in charge of keeping the Nicaraguan rebels alive and ordered him to maintain total secrecy about the operation.

The CIA had been supplying the Contras, but by October 1984 when Congress banned further military aid "every bit of that CIA responsibility had been passed on to me," North told the jury at his criminal trial Thursday. "It was basically a handoff as in basketball."

The former National Security Council aide took the witness stand in his own defense for nearly 2 1/2 hours. The 12 criminal charges against him focus on his alleged lies to Congress and the attorney general about his efforts on behalf of the Contras.

Then-national security adviser Robert McFarlane told him his role as overseer of the Contra network "could not be revealed," North testified.

The admonition "was reiterated innumerable times by Admiral Poindexter and by Director Casey," said North, referring to McFarlane's successor John Poindexter and CIA Director William Casey.

North said his superiors told him disclosure "would jeopardize the people doing it, the pilots shipping supplies" and others in the aid network. In addition, public exposure would "jeopardize the CIA's ability to move back in" because publicity would make it less likely Congress would restore military assistance.

North's testimony was preceded by a series of new disclosures about the Reagan administration's secret assistance to the Contras. Among the revelations in the written admissions of fact:

-Vice President George Bush was an intermediary in a secret plan approved by Reagan and disclosed earlier at North's trial to slip Honduras an extra $110 million in aid if it would help support the Contras. Bush told President Roberto Suazo that "President Reagan had directed expedited delivery of U.S. military items to Honduras" as well as other steps helpful to Honduras.

-North met in London in mid-1986 with Panamanian strongman Manuel Noriega, who "would try to take immediate actions against the Sandinistas." Noriega offered a list of priorities including "an oil refinery, an airport and the Puerto Sandino off-load facility."

-In an earlier meeting, a representative of Noriega had said the Panamanian leader was offering to "assassinate the Sandinista leadership for the U.S. government." In exchange he wanted a promise from the U.S. government to help clean up Noriega's image and a commitment to lift the U.S. ban on military sales to the Panamanian military. U.S. law forbade assassinations, North told the representative, who countered by pointing to Noriega's help to the U.S. government "the previous year in blowing up a Sandinista arsenal." When North reported back to his boss, Poindexter said the U.S. government "could not be involved in assassination, but Panamanian assistance with sabotage would be another story."

-In early 1985, President Reagan "urged the head of state of Saudi Arabia to continue its support for the resistance. Saudi Arabia subsequently made a contribution of more than $25 million."

-In a scheme initiated by Casey and known as Operation Tipped Kettle, Israel on two occasions secretly supplied the Defense Department with weapons it had confiscated from the PLO. The CIA advised Congress the weapons would be used for various purposes, but "in fact many of them were provided" to the Contras as congressionally appropriated funds ran out. The Defense Department said it would find a way to compensate Israel for its assistance.

Oil's importance to economy debated

DALLAS (AP) - The state's economic recovery is dependent on oil price stability, Railroad Commission Chairman Kent Hance told a meeting of petroleum industry analysts.

"We are not going to have a strong economic recovery until we have stability," Hance said Thursday.

Hance stressed stability, rather than high prices, saying even a jump to $30 a barrel for West Texas Intermediate Crude, the benchmark U.S. price, would be harmful. The price has been hovering around $20 per barrel in recent weeks, but dropped 19 cents Thursday to $19.80 a barrel.

Such a price would cause the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries cartel to retaliate by driving down the price, he said.

The recovery from prices as low as $10 a barrel to $20 "has not created drilling activity yet," he said, but if the price remains stable for another six months, exploration should pick up again.

Hance called natural gas "the sexy fuel for the future," but warned of its drawbacks.

"Everybody from Jesse Helms to Jane Fonda will be for natural gas," he said, because it is a cleaner fuel with less environmental problems.

But he added that delivery will be a problem because no new natural gas wells are being drilled.

"Oil is still king in Texas," said Hance, who heads the agency that regulates how much oil can be pumped from the state's fields.

Hance disputed the findings of a recent Southern Methodist University study, which concluded that the Texas economy no longer depends on energy.

He cited another study by Southwest Econometrics, which said a $5 increase in oil prices, sustained for more than a year, would have a larger impact on the state's economy than more than 25 "super colliders," the $4.6 billion atom smasher proposed for south of Dallas.

Hance said the SMU study gave too much weight to the early '80s, at which time oil prices were in the $30 range.

Hance plugged efforts to broaden the state's economy, "but you cannot forget the thing that's brought us to the point we are today," he said.

Meanwhile, Hance said the oil spill in Alaska's Prince William Sound will make the United States more dependent on foreign oil in the long run because it will hamper efforts to open up more of Alaska to production.

Cleanup still struggling Army may help battle oil spill

VALDEZ, Alaska (AP) - Oil from the Exxon Valdez threatened a national park and oozed through barriers protecting fisheries as the White House considered drafting the Army for the losing environmental battle in Alaska's Prince William Sound.

With the nation's worst crude oil spill in its third week, others joined in the call for the federal government to take control of the much-criticized cleanup. Exxon made a second public apology and the tanker's captain made bail on charges he was drunk when his ship went aground.

The Good Friday spill of 10.1 million gallons has killed thousands of seabirds and otters in the snowy landscape on the central Alaskan coast. Fishermen have lost millions of dollars.

And despite cleanup efforts by industry, government and private citizens, the spill has spread to more than 2,600 square miles.

"It's just immense," Jim Hayden, who is coordinating the cleanup for the state, said Thursday. "I don't think a spill of this size is controllable."

Alyeska Pipeline Service Co., the consortium of oil companies that owns and operates the 800-mile trans-Alaska oil pipeline and the Valdez terminal, announced Thursday that it would immediately begin requiring random drug and alcohol testing aboard all vessels using the terminal.

Alyeska also said it would require tugboat escorts for all entering and departing vessels to a point beyond Bligh Reef, where the Exxon Valdez ran aground.

Late Thursday the oily sheen was reported lapping at the rocks on islands near Kenai Fjords National Park, a remote refuge 100 miles southwest of Valdez. Ron Smith, a spokesman for a federal-state cleanup effort, said new booms were being put up to protect the area of inlets and fjords.

Closer to the spill site, local fishermen continued their fight to save the salmon fishery at three-mile-long Sawmill Bay, using fishing nets to corral the oil and "super sucker" vacuum trucks to remove it and protect millions of salmon fry.

Rand Little, product manager for the Prince William Sound Aquaculture Corp., said oil breached one of three booms protecting the young salmon. Fishermen were able to repair the breach before damage was done.

But fishermen worried about high tides this weekend that could lift the oil over the booms and complained that they couldn't empty their oil-filled barges because of a lack of pumps.

The frustration with the slow cleanup wasn't confined to area fishermen. Alaska legislators have introduced several bills designed to better prepare the state in the event of future spills. And Rep. George Miller, D-Calif., said his two-day tour of Prince William Sound convinced him oil industry contingency plans for a spill were "essentially a fraud on the public."

Miller endorsed Gov. Steve Cowper's call on Wednesday for a federal takeover of the cleanup.

While Cowper's request for the Coast Guard to head the cleanup is still under consideration, White House Press Secretary Marlin Fitzwater said President Bush may order the military to help in the long-term cleanup of the spill.

Exxon Chairman L.G. Rawl issued a second apology for the spill, caused when the tanker Exxon Valdez struck a reef outside the normal shipping channel, but said the company's response to the accident was "immediate and thorough."

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Here's a story told to me by my father who heard it from his father. The moral of this story is a lesson we all need to learn. - R.S. IN DETROIT

DEAR R.S.: How right you are! Thanks for tossing it my way.

"A Mule Called Hiney"

An old farmer and his grandson owned a mule called Hiney. Things weren't going very well on the farm and the bills were mounting. They decided it would be best to take Hiney to the city to be sold.

The old farmer and his grandson started to walk Hiney down the road. A woman saw them and shouted, "You foolish people! Why are you walking when you have a mule you could ride?" They decided she had a point and climbed on the mule.

Down the road a way another woman called to them, "What fools you are! With both of you riding that mule, he will become exhausted and drop dead!" So the old man climbed off.

A little farther down the road a farmer shouted, "You foolish lad, making your old grandfather walk while you ride! Aren't you ashamed?" The boy climbed off and urged the grandfather to get back on.

A short time later an old woman called out, "You foolish man! That poor mule looks as if he is going to drop dead. Get off and carry him for a while!"

Thinking that she had a point, the grandfather dismounted, hoisted the mule onto his back and headed toward the city. When he came to a bridge he lost his footing and dropped the mule into the river. Of course the poor animal drowned.

The moral of this story is this: If you try to please everyone, you will lose your Hiney.

Dear Ann Landers: Our marriage of 20 years is going down the drain, along with our family life. Here's what's happening.

My husband and I have four children. We have always been an open and honest family, but things started to change when our oldest daughter, "Karen," who is 15, started to go steady with a very nice 16-year-old boy.

My husband believes that he has the right to know everything that goes on when Karen and "John" are together. After a while, she became upset at his constant badgering and told him she didn't want to talk about it anymore. He was furious and shouted, "What you won't tell me, I'll find out on my own!" That evening, he searched her bedroom until he found her diary. I was shocked when I saw him pick the lock and read it. Last night he listened in on their telephone conversation.

Ann, they are good kids. I have seen no signs of drugs or drinking. Both Karen and John are active in high school affairs and in church. I know their relationship has not gone beyond kissing because Karen has dated other boys and when they tried to get fresh she dropped them.

Our daughter and her father have always gotten along well. Now the two of them are not able to have a civilized conversation and Karen says she hates him.

Father and daughter are drifting farther apart every day, and our marriage is in trouble because we fight about this constantly. Please give me some guidance. - TORN IN OREGON

DEAR OREGON: It is not uncommon for fathers to feel uneasy when their daughters begin to show more than a casual interest in one particular fellow. Your husband, however, is, more than uneasy. He is suspicious, hostile and angry. In fact, he sounds irrational. I suggest counseling before he wrecks the entire family.

Feeling pressured to go "all the way" because everyone else is doing it? You're not alone. For answers to your questions about sex, and to learn how your peers really feel about it, write for Ann Landers' newly revised booklet, "Sex and the Teenager." Send $3 plus a self-addressed, stamped business-size envelope (45 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Ryan rocky, but Rangers win

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Nolan Ryan hasn't lasted 23 years in the big leagues being stupid about blowing his arm out.

"I had a 95 mile an hour fastball, but I wasn't getting it over and had to throw too many pitches," Ryan said. "I didn't want to push it."

With that, Ryan took himself out of the game after five innings of his Texas Rangers' debut on Thursday night and watched from the dugout as the Rangers stopped Detroit, 5-4.

The Rangers have won the first two games of the season for the first time since 1980.

About 400 residents from Ryan's hometown of Alvin, Texas, about 30 miles south of Houston, drove about 300 miles in 12 chartered buses Thursday to watch Ryan's debut. Alvin Mayor Allen Gray threw out the ceremonial first pitch.

Ryan threw 107 pitches (39 balls and 68 strikes), allowed seven hits, four runs, three walks and had eight strikeouts.

"I had too many pitches and probably could have lasted another inning, but I didn't want to take the chance," Ryan said.

Ryan had problems with muscle pulls in spring training.

Then he suffered allergy problems on Wednesday and had to go to the doctor. He still had some swelling around his eyes on Thursday. It bothered his vision.

"I had a little extra anxiety because of the allergy problems," said Texas manager Bobby Valentine.

Ryan left with the game tied 4-4 after five innings along with Detroit starter Jeff Robinson, who threw fastball was average although his curve and changeup worked.

"I got hurt mainly on the fastball," Ryan said. "Detroit has a good hitting club and after I went through the lineup once, they took the approach they were going to wait on my fastball."

Ryan, who has five no-hitters, said his idea of a good outing is a shutout.

"It wasn't a real good performance. If I don't shut somebody out I'm not happy. I didn't want to get off on the wrong foot and embarrass myself," he said.

Cecil Espy scored three runs for Texas including the game-winner in the seventh inning from second base on Palmeiro's second RBI of the game.

"I just went on instinct when I saw how slow the grounder was going to be," Espy said. "It was 105 pitches."

"I had good stuff and walked a few guys I shouldn't have, but other than that I threw fine," Robinson said.

Tigers' manager Sparky Anderson said Robinson, who had four wild pitches, got killed by his lack of control.

"Robinson was awfully wild and usually he's not like that," Anderson said.

Former Chicago Cub Rafael Palmeiro had the game-winning hit in the seventh inning off loser Frank Williams.

Relievers Cecilio Guante and Jeff Russell earned a victory and a save, respectively.

Ryan, who holds 41 major league records, said he is fabled such a slow chopper that I just kept on going."

Anderson said Ryan "threw an awful lot of pitches. I think we were ready for him."

Detroit Torey Lovullo said he was impressed with Ryan's change-up.

"I don't think his most impressive pitch was his fastball," Lovullo said. "What he did was have a real good changeup and a curve."

A crowd of 25,735 turned out for Ryan's fourth major league debut. The other debuts were with the New York Mets, California Angels and Houston Astros.

"It sure was good to see Nolan out there in the middle of the diamond in that Ranger uniform," Valentine said.

In other games, Kansas City beat Toronto 3-2, Minnesota beat New York 7-1, Milwaukee beat Cleveland 3-0, Oakland beat Seattle 11-3, Baltimore beat Boston 6-4 and Chicago beat California 3-2.

Royals 3, Blue Jays 2.

Toronto catcher Ernie Whitt's needless throw went into left field and allowed the winning run to score in the eighth.

With the score tied 2-2, Willie Wilson walked off Duane Ward, 0-1, Kevin Seitzer sacrificed and George Brett was walked intentionally.

With a 3-1 count on Danny Tartabull, Wilson broke for third as Todd Stottlemyre pitched ball four for a walk. But Whitt threw to third and the ball went over Kelly Gruber's head into the outfield, allowing Wilson to score.

Jeff Montgomery, 1-0, pitched two innings of one-hit relief. Steve Farr pitched a one-hit ninth for the save.

Twins 7, Yankees 1

Shane Rawley allowed three hits in six innings in his Minnesota debut and Wally Backman and Kirby Puckett hit successive triples in a five-run sixth inning.

Both benches emptied in the eighth when Kent Hrbek charged the mound after Dave Righetti threw a pitch high and inside. Hrbek was stopped by several players and no one was ejected.

Yankees starter Dave LaPoint, who signed as a free agent in December, led 1-0 and had a perfect game through four innings until allowing Gary Gaetti's leadoff double in the fifth.

Brewers 3, Indians 0

Chris Bosio pitched a three-hitter and retired the final 16 batters, gaining his first victory as a starter since May 16. He struck out three and walked none.

Gary Sheffield broke a scoreless tie with a two-out, eighth-inning homer. Robin Yount followed with a triple off the top of the fence in center to chase starter Bud Black. Rob Deer then doubled off reliever Keith Atherton, scoring Yount, and Glenn Braggs singled in Deer. Athletics 11, Mariners 3

Mark McGwire, Carney Lansford and Dave Parker each drove in two runs for Oakland, which has won its season-opening, three-game series against Seattle after taking its final seven in spring training.

Storm Davis, 1-0, allowed seven hits and three runs in five-plus innings. He left in the sixth with a bruised right knee after being hit by Scott Bradley's line drive. Todd Burns pitched the final four innings for his first save.

Orioles 6, Red Sox 4

Jose Bautista allowed six hits in eight innings and Phil Bradley's single snapped a fourth-inning tie as Baltimore swept the two-game series.

Mickey Tettleton and Larry Sheets drove in two runs each for Baltimore, the only unbeaten team in the American League East.

Bautista, who lost his last six decisions in 1988, won for the first time since beating Milwaukee Aug. 5. He struck out two and walked two, and Mark Williamson got the final three outs for the save.

White Sox 3, Angels 2

Ron Kittle snapped an eighth-inning tie with a two-out double. Willie Fraser, 0-1, hit Greg Walker with a pitch with one out. After Harold Baines flied out, Kittle doubled into the left-field corner.

Ken Patterson, 0-1, allowed one hit over 3 2-3 innings. Donn Pall pitched a one-hit ninth for his second save.

The legendary "death valley" left-center field fence at Yankee Stadium now is about 400 feet. It once measured 457 feet from home plate.

Trevino, finally, tames Augusta

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) - Not even the best round of the day could keep Lee Trevino from insisting that his golf game wasn't suited to the Augusta National course.

Jack Nicklaus didn't buy that contention for one minute.

Neither did Tom Watson.

Nicklaus said he once told Trevino, "You can play anywhere. There's no reason in the world you can't play that golf course."

"Does he have the game to play this course?" Watson asked. "You bet he does."

Kids Inc. registration is Saturday

The first registration session for the 1989 Hereford Kids Incorporated baseball and softball program will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center.

Registration will be held at the same times on April 15 and April 22.

Any student who wants to play boys' baseball or girls' softball this year must sign up on one of these dates, said registration chairman N.D. Kelso.

The registration fee is $25 per player and must be paid at the time of registration. The fee entitles a player to participate in the program and provides the player with a cap, shirt and accident insurance.

Trevino, who has won each of the four major championships except the Masters, solved the swirling Augusta winds Thursday better than anyone in the 85-man field. He shot a 5-under-par 67 and had a one-shot lead over Nick Faldo of Great Britain after the opening round of the 53rd Masters.

"Sixty-seven on a windy day at Augusta is a great round of golf," Watson said. "I'm pulling for him. If I can't win, I want Lee to win."

"It's fabulous to see him playing well," Nicklaus said.

Trevino, one of the game's most colorful performers, said, "This is a confidence builder to find it on a course not suited to my game in difficult conditions."

The 49-year-old Mexican-American has insisted for years that he can't play this 6,905-yard course.

This is his 18th Masters - he's turned down invitations three times and withdrew another time because of illness - and the last he can play under his five-year exemption for winning the PGA in 1984.

"I may come back with three

NEW YORK (AP) - According to the NBA publicity department, the following colloquy once took place between John Drew, a former Atlanta and Utah star, and a front office secretary obtaining information for an insurance form.

Secretary: "What's your birthday, John?"

Drew: "Sept. 30."

Secretary: "What year?"

Drew: "Every year."

80s," Trevino said.

"I always regret what I say," he added, referring to past criticism of this course. "When you talk as much as I do you put a shoe in every once in a while."

"I didn't expect to play this well," he said. "It lets me know there still is a spark in the fireplace. All I've got to do is throw the right wood on it."

Trevino gave some of the credit for his round to a 21-year-old picture taken of him during his first Masters. It showed his putting stance with his elbows up against his stomach.

"I've been all over the place," he said of his arms flinging while putting recently. "It could only go so far."

He went back to that style Thursday and said, "I was making them from everywhere."

Trevino, winner of two U.S. and British Opens and two PGAs, had a bogey-free round. His four birdies on the front side came on putts of 10, 20, five and 20 feet. He also birdied the par-3 16th from three feet.

Only 10 players bettered par. Faldo's 68 had him alone in second, one shot ahead of Scott Hoch, who birdied the final hole.

Don Pooley and Andy Bean each shot 70s and five players shot 71 - two-time champion Seve Ballesteros of Spain, T. C. Chen of Taiwan, Jumbo Ozaki of Japan, Ben Crenshaw and Tom Purtzer.

Scotland's Sandy Lyle, the defending champion, struggled to a 77.

Watson, Tom Kite and Hal Sutton were in a group at 72 and Nicklaus had a 73, one shot better than Mark Calcavecchia, Curtis Strange and Australian Greg Norman, one of the game's top players still seeking an elusive Masters crown.

Arnold Palmer, a four-time winner making his 35th Masters start, had a fat 81, staring at his sixth year in a row of missing the cut.

BLONDIE by Dean Young and Stan Drake

Church News

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The Youth Discipleship will begin at 5 p.m. Sunday and the Youth Choir will meet at 5:45 p.m. Jana Baird and Karon Harder were winners in the Bible Drill Competition held recently. The girls will be competing in the State Bible Drill April 14-15.

ST. ANTHONY'S CHURCH

Karnival Krazy is planned from noon until 5 p.m. Sunday at St. Anthony's School. The public is invited to attend the afternoon's festivities.

Food will be served during the afternoon which will feature an auction, live mimed clown entertainment and door prizes.

Among the items to be for sale will be spin painted T-shirts, house and garden plants, crafts and baked goods. Some of the game booths will include cake and toy walk, face and hair painting, fish toss, balloon darts, fish and ducky pond, bingo dunking booth, water arena, etc.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

A workshop for Sunday school workers from six United Methodist Churches in this area will be held in First UMC of Hereford from 2:30-5 p.m. Sunday. It will be directed by Louise Schock, a specialist in Christian education from the Northwest Texas Conference office in Lubbock.

Churches participating, in addition to First UMC, will be Wesley and San Pablo UMC of Hereford, and those at Friona, Vega and Dimmitt. Teachers of Sunday School classes for all age levels will be included.

Rev. Jerry Kunkel, Northwest Texas Conference evangelist in the United Methodist Church, will conduct revival services in First UMC April 23-26. Dr. Steve McElroy, pastor, and the congregation invite all residents of the community to hear him preach.

He will speak at the Sunday morning worship, 10:55, to open the revival, then in evening services through Wednesday, April 26.

Rev. Kunkel was featured in youth meetings here late in 1987.

FIRST CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

The public is invited to "Family Outings", a three-act play to be presented in a dinner theatre format at 7 p.m. today and Saturday at the Hereford Community Center. The play will also be performed at 2 p.m. Sunday when dessert only will be served. Tickets are priced at $10 for the evening performances and $5 for Sunday's performance. They may be purchased at the Nazarene Christian Academy office, Thames Pharmacy and Oudia's.

REBEL SHIP

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Confederate warship Alabama was built under secret conditions in Birkenhead, England, in 1862.

After protests from the United States government, the ship escaped to the Azores, where it took on guns and stores. Commanded by Capt. Raphael Semmes, the Alabama sank, burned or captured 66 Union ships during the next two years.

In June of 1864, after being repaired at Cherbourg, France, the Alabama was attacked and sunk in the English Channel by the U.S.S. Kearsarge under Capt. John Winslow.

Seven years after the Civil War, Britain paid the U.S. $15.5 million for damages inflicted by British-built ships of the Confederate Navy.

"Pinocchio", Concerteens to be presented tonight

"Pinocchio" will be featured at tonight's Community Concert set to begin at 8 p.m. in the Hereford High School auditorium.

The event is sponsored by the Community Concert Association and is the final concert of the season. The Concerteens will be presented before the event as they are introduced, then escorted by their fathers. A reception honoring the Concerteens and their families will follow "Pinocchio" in the James Witherspoon home.

Concerteens to be presented will include Susan Gage, Jennifer Jackson, Laura Kerr, Toni Campbell, Brenda Allen, Monica Grotogut, Dana Zinser, Michelle Hamilton, and Sandra Cook, all of whom are seniors at Hereford High School.

"Pinocchio", the classic storybook tale, will be staged by the Broadway Marionettes.

Community Concert Association ticketholders are invited.

Hints from Heloise

DEAR READERS:

The video-camera industry is booming. Weddings and other special occasions are now being taped for that extra-special memento.

If you decide to hire a professional to tape a special occasion, here are a few guidelines you will want to follow.

First and foremost, check the reputation of the videographer. It is generally best to find one that has done several tapings and has a lot of experience. You only get one chance to catch the event on film.

When the videographer is quoting you a price, be sure to check on how much editing will be done after the event. Be sure to see a file tape. You may want to go through it and explain angles and shots you want to get.

Be sure they either attend the rehearsal or show up before the event so there is enough time to walk through everything.

Ask the professionals to dress according to the occasion. You don't want someone showing up in blue jeans when everyone else is in black tie.

These simple steps will help make your special day's video a wonderful keepsake. — Heloise

EMPTY BLEACH BOTTLE

Dear Heloise: I have found a unique use for an empty bleach bottle: Use a white (not clear) gallon jug for a domino aid. Wash the bottle well with hot, sudsy water, cut off the neck and cut a large opening in the top half, opposite the handle. This opening should be large enough to accommodate a large man's hand.

Instead of turning over all the dominoes, scoop them off the table into the jug, reach in and stir them up, then pass the jug from player to player to draw from. It makes for a quicker game, and nobody is too far from the "bone pile" to draw. Using a white jug makes it impossible to read the dots through the plastic.

I have also used this principle with another game which has small letter blocks that you choose. — Jean Farnam, Three Forks, Mont.

CHANGING A TIRE

Dear Heloise: I enjoyed reading the article you printed on changing flat tires, but I'd like to add one small bit of information. Some automobiles have left-hand threads on the wheel nuts or stud bolts.

They are usually identified with a stamped or raised letter "L." All this means is that the ones with the "L" must be turned in the opposite direction to the way given in your article.

I prefer having a novice driver actually park in the driveway and learn by doing. Pretend to have a flat tire (do not remove the air from the tire) by going through the procedures. Be sure to have good advisors nearby and do not allow any heckling. — Stan Johnson, Wayne, Neb.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) - One of the most destructive myths for career hunters is the belief in the "perfect job," says the University of Rochester's career placement director.
"Looking for that ideal fit can lead to a never-ending, impossible search," says Jim Case. "It makes choosing any career more frightening, since that choice may not be the 'perfect' one."
Being aware of your interests, skills and values and seeking a reasonable match between them and possible jobs is a better way to get started, says Case.

Canyon-Randall Co. Centennial planned

Celebration of the Canyon-Randall County Centennial will peak in July in two area-wide activities.

The first will be a pageant highlighting 12 episodes in the history of the town and county. The second will be five days of western celebrations culminating in a grand parade and fireworks display on the fourth of July.

The story, "Hello! Second Century" start with the founding of the city and the county which was possible because of the signatures of some wandering cowboys who almost swelled the population to the required number and because two horses, Rafter Smith and Jug Jones were signed to fill the final two places.

Other scenes will include a hotel dining room where the plans for building the city are laid out, a courthouse scene where the defendant's beautiful daughters vamp the jury of cowboys, the coming of the first train to Canyon, the building of the college and the burning of the administration building, the re-election of a judge while he is in jail for bootlegging, the ex-GI's plans for Sadie Hawkins Day while West Texas State University was on strike, and the planning of the musical drama

"TEXAS."

The show will close with a "Hello!
Second Century" spectacular.

The pageant will follow a medieval form. The scenes will be played on twelve pageant wagons stationed around the old Canyon Square and the crowd will move from one scene to the next as the story unfolds.

Choruses of hundreds of children will greet the crowds as they arrive and as they leave. Admission will be by donation.

The writer of the work is Jack Walker, historian and author of Canyon. Walker grew up in Collingsworth county and his wife is descended from the Thompsons who have been in business around the square for many generations until quite recently.

Walker's first two degrees are from West Texas State and he obtained his PhD at the University of Denver. He was a regular writer for the magazine section of the DENVER POST and has published 35 or 40 more stories about the southwest including two books: HEAVEN IN MY HAND which has many scenes in the Palo Duro Canyon, and BOOMER'S
GOLD, the story of the early oilfields in Berger.

Special music for the occasion has been composed by James Earhart who sang in the barbeque area at "TEXAS" last summer as well as on the stage. He is a member of a well-known country-western group in Laredo, Texas where he teaches anatomy and physiology at Laredo Junior College. The songs,
"Canyon" and "The Golden Spread" and "Hello! Second Century" will be used in the show and the Canyon Rotary Club has arranged to have commercial tapes made for sale which include these and other western songs of the composer's choosing.

The second peak of activity will be the Western Days celebration from June 30 through the fourth of July.
There are plans for reunions, box suppers, brush arbor day, a rodeo, burial of a time capsule, games on the college farm, a raft race on the tiny Palo Duro Creek, Centennial day at the "TEXAS" show with entertainment in the patio drawn from Canyon and randall County talent, and a final July 4 parade and fireworks.

In addition to the tapes, the AAUW has Centennial T shirts for sale, and framed copies of the logos, of early courthouse stationery and of the HISTORY OF RANDALL COUN-TY. Historical calendars with the happening on each day through Canyon's history are available at the Canyon Branch of the First National Bank.

For information write the Canyon
Chamber of Commerce, Box 8,
