

Force Mounts Extra Effort To Nab Thieves

Police Say Break Due In Burglaries

(EDITOR'S NOTE - Burglars and break-in artists have been hitting local businesses and residences at such a steady rate during the final four months of 1980 that their raids have presented virtually a major crisis for law enforcement officials in the city. The burglary problem in Hereford and the manner in which city police are dealing with it are matters under examination by The Brand in a two-part series. An article which appeared in the Dec. 14 edition looked into the magnitude of the burglary problem here. Today's article examines the police department's attitude toward the burgeoning burglary rate here and the problems police have in dealing with the problem.)

Managing Editor

"I don't mind saying we're getting desperate. The public is watching us and the high incidence of burglaries here makes us look bad."

Those were the comments of Detective Vernon Hope of the Hereford Police Department concerning the spiraling rate of burglaries and break-ins here during the past four months in which thieves have averaged a haul of over $700 a night from local businesses alone in cash, merchandise and property damage.

That figure, which excludes residential burglaries as well as a number of business burglaries where no loss estimates were available, points up the seriousness of the problem confronting the police force assigned to protect local merchants from such encroachment.

Hope and Det. Joe Brown are the two men on the Hereford police force assigned to investigate burglaries and along with officers on the street they seek out leads that might lead to the arrest of the responsible thieves and the recovery of stolen property.

In the past three months, the pair of detectives have been assigned "over 400 cases to work," according to Hope and although a few of the burglaries which have occurred in the four-month span have been solved, Hope admits the process is slow and often frustrating.

"You can't solve all the burglaries in a day. It may take three weeks to get a little information on just one, and you may go a long time without breaking any, then have some leads on related thefts fall together and make several arrests and clear up a lot of burglaries in a couple of days," said Hope.

"We must be able to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that someone committed a crime. That moves slowly because often it is the suspect that ultimately must provide you with leads. You may work three weeks thinking you're building a good case and then hit a brick wall," he continued.

One of the brick walls that has been encountered by city law enforcement officials has been piecing together a pattern where the virtual epidemic of burglaries here during the past four months is concerned.

Compounding the problem, according to Hope, is an egg-on-the-face feeling among many officers on the city force in connection with "back door burglars" who operated with virtual impunity in the downtown Hereford area during late October and much of November, often striking at businesses within one or two blocks of the city police station.

"I think those responsible are just awfully gutty when they are breaking in the back doors of businesses a couple of blocks from the police station," said Hope.

"When a theft takes place within a block or two of the police station, I think it does affect morale among the police officers here. Many of the officers on the force seem to feel like here we are, supposed to be Hereford's finest, and we let something like this happen," Hope stated.

According to Hope, the number of burglaries in Hereford almost always picks up during the holiday period, but the large number this year is puzzling.

"Probably some of the burglaries can be attributed to the economy and evidently the pickings are also better during the Christmas holiday period. I don't feel like there is any organized group responsible for all the burglaries in the last few months and I feel like when we do find who is the perpetrator we will probably clear up quite a few of these cases," stated Hope.

"We made four pretty good arrests within a period of a week here last month. Two were for business burglaries and two for residential," he continued.

Hope pointed out that only a brief time span is necessary for hit-and-run bandits to carry off a burglary.

Officers Nab Burglars in Act

Hereford police began getting some breaks in several recent burglary cases during the weekend period and Monday and arrested burglary suspects in the act in two instances during the time period.

Officers arrested two suspects in the theft last Wednesday of a Jeep pickup owned by Jim Arney of Hereford. The arrests came here Monday after a pair of suspects reportedly attempted to sell the pickup to a service station operator in Socorro, New Mexico.

Arrested and charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and three counts of burglary were Brian Underwood, 17, of 2032 Plains, and Eddie West, 17, of Hart.

According to Hereford Police Lt. Paul Ramirez, the youths apparently took the pickup to the station after it developed alternator problems and they attempted to sell it to the station owner.

The suspects left their names with the station owner and apparently returned to Hereford.

A station employee was evidently road-checking the vehicle yesterday and was stopped for a traffic violation. A check on the vehicle subsequently revealed it had been stolen and Hereford law enforcement officials were notified by New Mexico authorities.

According to Ramirez, the arrest of the suspects cleared up the vehicle theft as well as

A patrolling police officer observed a suspect as he entered a vehicle at Trucker's Diesel Service on East Highway 60 last night and Raymond Brown, 21, of Tierra Blanca Apartments was subsequently arrested for vehicle burglary. He remained in the county jail today.

Hereford police officers and a Deaf Smith County deputy caught a burglar red-handed after responding to a silent alarm at Max's Big Burger at 711 West First just before 2 a.m. Sunday.

Ramirez, Sgt. David Wheeler and Deputy Bud McClendon responded to the alarm and arrested 20-year-old Cherry Patricia Cockrum on charges of burglary after they found her inside the business.

Ramirez reported that the arrest is expected to clear up a number of other burglaries which have occurred in the city.

Trucker's Diesel was also the site of an attempted burglary Sunday morning.

A patrolling officer found pry marks on the edge of a door at the business at that time and Ramirez indicated that the officer may have driven the would-be thief away as he made his rounds.

A patrolling officer also found a footprint on the door of a warehouse at Arrowhead Mills, 110 South Lawton, and subsequently searched the area but turned up no suspects.

Mistletoe Missile?

The Rick Lees of 137 Sunset took a different, but timely approach to Christmas ornamentation in their front yard this season, opting for a rocket delivery of Santa Claus. This photo, snapped before the local residents completed their decoration by putting the jolly old elf in place, had its own air of what could possibly be in store for the Hereford area, however, as it called to mind the possibility of location of a complex of MX missile shelters by the Air Force in Deaf Smith County. An unusual sign of the season thus became an unwitting sign of the times as well, but in a more seasonal spirit, this rocket pad will likely launch nothing more lethal than mistletoe. City Okays Center Lease

Hereford's city commissioners agreed to allow a long-term lease of 2½ acres of city property on 15th Street for the construction of a new Hereford Day Care Center during a regular commission meeting Monday night.

George Warner appeared on behalf of the Day Care Center and made a request to lease the 2½ acre site, located west of the Assembly of God Church on 15th Street.

City fathers agreed to lease the land to the center subject to a definite starting date for the project validating the lease.

The center was granted a two-year period for a starting date on construction and city fathers agreed on a minimum lease of $1 per year, subject to the approval of the city attorney.

Commissioners awarded a contract for a new Civil Defense warning system during last night's meeting, accepting an $85,000 bid from Alerting Communicators of America on behalf of Ken's Communication in Wylie, Texas.

The bid included seven new rotary-type sirens and the relocation of two non-directional sirens now in the city's possession.

Deaf Smith County will pay $6,500 of the cost of locating a siren at the San Jose labor camp as well as a unit on South Main.

The new rotary-type sirens are to be radio-activated and are expected to give the city a much-improved tornado war-

Before you decide to retire, stay home a week and watch the daytime TV shows.

If you're in the mood for Christmas sharing, remember that Thursday is the deadline for contributions to the Christmas Stocking Fund, as well as Project Christmas Card.

In a survey of local stores for a Sunday article in The Brand, it was reported that some stores have increased sales over last year while others were down. The shopping tempo is expected to pick up this week.

Across the country, Christmas sales had been a little disappointing, according to a survey we read in another publication. One reason, however, was that many many stores had skimpy inventories brought about by a cautious and restrained business mood.

Some of the larger business firms, however, are investing more and plowing more money into the business now in hopes of reaping bigger profits later.

Shoppers, generally, are looking things over more closely than usual. They're comparing price and quality, and the trend is toward higher quality—even if they buy fewer gifts. There are more "sales" before Christmas than usual, too.

We recently ran across a letter that parents received from their daughter in college. She must have been majoring in psychology.

"Dead Mom and Dad: I'm sorry to be so long in writing, but all my writing paper was lost the night the dormitory was burned down by demonstrators. I'm out of the hospital now, and the doctor says my eyesight should be back to normal sooner or later.

"Bill, the wonderful boy who rescued me from the fire, kindly offered to share his little apartment with me until the dorm is rebuilt. He comes from a good family, so you won't be surprised when I tell you we are going to be married. In fact, you've always wanted a grandchild, so you'll be glad to know you will be grandparents in a few months."

Then she added the following postscript: "Please disregard the above letter, as it was a practice in English composition. There was no fire; I'm not pregnant, and I don't have a steady boyfriend.

"But, I did get a D in French and an F in Chemistry, and I wanted to be sure you received this news in proper perspective. Love, Mary."

Hospital Reports Low November Census

Deaf Smith County Hospital District directors approved a proposed contract with the Deaf Smith County Tax Appraisal District when they met this morning.

Jerry Smith, board director, briefly reviewed the contract with other members and suggested that the board approve the document.

"This proposal is the same contract presented to other taxing entities. Grammatically, there are some problems but that doesn't change the substance of it.

The language is cumbersome, but the substance is there, and I would suggest the board approve the contract," Smith said.

According to Smith, the contract wording was drawn up by the Attorney General's office in Austin.

The City commissioners are still in the process of rewording the same contract. Commissioners felt they could not approve the contract due to "vague wording."

Several reports were heard at this morning's meeting including the medical staff and operating reports.

Dr. Duffy McBryer reported on equipment used in the laboratory that needs replacing.

"The Coulter Counter which is used to measure the number of red and white blood cells, the size of cell and iron count, is missing the count every once in awhile and needs to be replaced. The old one cannot be fixed," McBryer said.

He told the directors a refurbished machine would cost in the range of $25,000.

The board asked McBryer (See HOSPITAL, Page 2)

Project Christmas Card Deadline is Tomorrow

Today is the last day contributions will be accepted for the Project Christmas Card Campaign's "greeting card" which will be published in the Hereford Brand's Christmas edition.

According to Wilma Nobles, co-chairman of this year's campaign, donors can place their contributions in the canisters placed at several businesses tonight and still make the Christmas publication.

Contributions will be accepted until Dec. 23 for a second greeting to be published after Christmas in the Brand, Mrs. Nobles said.

The Hereford Medical Auxiliary has sponsored the campaign for 24 years to raise money to benefit Deaf Smith General Hospital purchase needed equipment.

Residents are asked to donate the money they would normally use to mail local Christmas cards to the fund. The name of each contributor is then published in the Brand in the form of a "Greeting Card."

In addition to helping the local hospital, the auxiliary donates money to Opportunity Plan which provides scholarships for Hereford High school students interested in entering the health care field.

Canisters will remain at Armour, Ideal Food Store, Furr's Touch of Class, TG&Y, Thriftway and Taylor Foods until the Dec. 23 deadline.

In addition, donors may make a deposit at either local bank designating the contribution to Project Christmas Card. Contributors should sign the deposit slip as they wish their name to appear in either one of the special greetings.

The Spirit of Christmas is Giving 'My Mom Needs Help'

"I am writing to let you know that my mom is a widow and she really needs your help. So does my sister, who is very unhappy. Our dad died last year. This is all I have to say." Not much more needs to be said, but the folks who are conducting the Christmas Stocking Fund project here in Hereford will check out this family and try to make their Christmas a little brighter if a real need is seen.

Then there is Mr. C, who has been off work several months due to sickness. He and his wife have four children and he is only receiving $79 a week while off work.

They have not asked for help, but a neighbor recommended them to be helped by the Christmas Stocking Fund.

The CSF committee is screening all applicants and persons who are recommended for help, so time is short. A deadline of Thursday, Dec. 18, has been set for submission of names.

Contributions to the fund got off to a slow start, but they were coming in faster this week. The committee will need to know the amount of funds available within the next week, in order to make purchases of items for the needy families.

As of Monday, it appeared that about 50 families would be on the CSF list. The Christmas Stocking Fund is being administered by an anonymous group of businessmen and all work is volunteer. All funds collected will be spent on the needy families.

Contributions should be sent to The Brand, CSF, Box 673, Hereford. The newspaper is serving a fund-raising and promotion role, but has nothing to do with the families selected for help this Christmas.

Woman Bombs

Recruitment Office

PLYMOUTH, Mich. (AP) — A 50-year-old Canton Township woman charged with setting off a homemade bomb in a Navy recruitment office told police she was upset because the Navy had sent her son recruiting literature, according to Police Chief Tim Ford.

Eileen Anita Roths was arraigned Monday in Plymouth District Court on a charge of setting explosives and was held in lieu of bond at the Plymouth Police Department, authorities said.

No injuries occurred in the Monday morning bombing.

According to Ford, Mrs. Roths walked into the recruiting office carrying a jar filled with gunpowder and .32-caliber bullets.

She allegedly told two recruiting officers, "This is a present from my son — you better get out of here," then lit the fuse.

Two recruitment office windows were cracked and some tile was loosened by the minor explosion, police said.

The recruiters — one of whom was on his first day on the job — wrote down the woman's license plate number and called police, who arrested Mrs. Roths at her Canton Township home, said Lt. Robert Commire.

Commire said recruiting office records showed Navy literature as having been sent to Mrs. Roths' son Randall, 18.

Woman Charged With

Sexual Harassment

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A woman supervisor in the state Department of Health and Social Services has been charged with sexually harassing and discriminating against a subordinate who says she made passes at him, officials say.

It was believed to be the first case in Wisconsin in which a woman was formally charged with victimizing an employee for sex reasons.

The man who filed the complaint allegedly was demoted in 1979.

George Callan-Woywod, a state Personnel Commission equal rights officer, ruled Monday there apparently had been "a sexual relationship" which preceded a "negative personal reaction," and that reasons behind the man's demotion were "suspect."

The man may have had problems with office work, but they "were not of the character to deserve demotion," Callan-Woywod said.

He declined to identify the parties involved, saying the matter may be resolved without having to be aired at a public hearing.

The plaintiff and the department were given 10 days to reach accord. The plaintiff asked for a settlement including back pay, reinstatement and all court costs and legal fees.

The complaint said the man, with the department since 1974, was named to a supervisory job in 1978 but was demoted by the woman before completing a probationary period.

He told the commission she told him she was "disappointed she could not have me as a lover."

U.S. Park Police

To Be Replaced

FORT CHAFFEE, Ark. (AP) — Despite the objections of Gov. Bill Clinton, the replacement of U.S. Park Police with Federal Protection Service officers at Fort Chaffee is expected to take place as planned, a spokesman at Fort Chaffee said Monday.

Clinton was "very upset and concerned" when he learned Saturday about the decision to replace Park Police with Federal Protection Service officers rather than with U.S. marshals, Clinton aide Bob Lyford said.

The governor considers it a breach of an agreement reached late last week, Lyford said Saturday. He added that Clinton was concerned about whether the Federal Protection Services could handle emergencies.

"Right now we're proceeding as planned," Charles Hughes, a spokesman for the Cuban-Haitian Civilian Task Force at Fort Chaffee, said Monday.

Hughes said the changeover is planned to take place next Monday.

Haskell County

Sheriff Pleads Guilty

HASKELL, Texas (AP) — Although Sheriff Garth Garrett of Haskell County has pleaded guilty to failing to arrest an Arizona fugitive, the veteran lawman says he won't resign. "I will do just like I've always done for the citizens of Haskell County," Garrett said after entering his guilty plea to the state misdemeanor charge.

He has been sheriff for 20 years, and was elected to a sixth term on Nov. 4.

The long-time sheriff pleaded guilty to a charge that he "refrained from performing an official duty" when he did not arrest Gerald R. Pyle on May 5. Pyle was wanted on an Arizona fugitive warrant.

Under the plea bargain arrangement, Garrett was fined $250 plus court costs, and agreed to repay $165.27 that was allegedly improperly charged to county credit cards. Prosecutors dropped three felony charges and one misdemeanor in return for the plea.

The agreement was announced at about 11:50 a.m. Monday, an hour before jury selection was slated to begin in Garrett's trial on the charges.

Austin Bray of the Secretary of State's office in Austin said that there is no law barring Garrett from holding office. Had he been convicted of felony charges, however, he would have been disqualified, Bray said.

Garrett was indicted in August on three felony charges of aggravated perjury, unauthorized use of county credit cards, and tampering with a witness. He was also indicted on misdemeanor charges of failing to perform an official duty and of working county prisoners on his property.

Now that the criminal proceedings are over, Garrett said, "maybe we can give people the justice they deserve."

if they could have more information about prices at the next meeting before deciding on what action to take.

Jim Bullard, hospital administrator, reported about the operation of the hospital for the month of November.

"November was not a good month, from a census standpoint. Our surgical procedures were down from what they were last year, so that hurt us financially," he said.

The census count for November averaged 25.7 which was down from the same thing last year at 27.7. Surgical procedures numbered 66 last year whereas this year the count was 52.

Financial reports for the hospital showed a positive cash position of $51,329. The district received $192,000 in tax money.

Concerning the ambulance service, $1,627 was shown as a loss for the month of November bringing the total loss for the year to $2,893.

In other business, Bullard told the board there could be a problem with the county health nurse, Tilley Miller, being moved from the Central School building.

"It is my understanding that with the renovation of the building, the county health nurse will lose her office. There will no longer be a place for her program. We have space at the public health clinic," Bullard said.

Frank Zinser, president of the board said the report was "simply not true," in that the health nurse was not losing her office space.

Bullard told the board he would ask Mrs. Miller to come before the board to explain the problem as well as what her program does concerning health care.

Bullard also had more information concerning the development of a long-term care facility at the hospital.

"The guys from the state were here to review our facility. We are going to need some renovation done to the wing in order to meet the requirements," he reported.

"The requirements for a long-term facility are different from the hospital. As soon as I get more information I will have a full report," Bullard said.

Jay Swayze, Hereford resident, was present at the meeting to discuss the admitting policy with board members.

Swayze was concerned about the number and length of forms that must be filled out when admitted to the hospital.

Bullard read one of the forms at the meeting. Members agreed the information was needed each time someone was admitted.

No action was taken.

Government Runs Money Well Dry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Much of the federal government technically ran out of money as Congress failed to approve a stopgap spending measure by midnight Monday.

Late Monday night, the Senate voted approval of a compromise spending measure and sent it to the House for consideration.

Hoping to break a sustained deadlock with the House and end a prolonged lame-duck session, the Senate ended several hours of private negotiations by adopting on a voice vote a "barebones" multibillion-dollar spending bill.

In a related tactical maneuver, the Senate also sent to the House a more costly companion appropriations measure containing hundreds of millions of dollars in pet projects designed to satisfy individual senators.

The House was free to choose between the two versions. But the so-called Christmas tree version of the spending bill was expected to lose in the House, although all predictions were chancy in a legislative standoff which has run far longer than predicted.

Expiration of the midnight Monday deadline meant that the departments of State, Justice, Commerce, Treasury and Health and Human Services technically lost their authority to spend money.

An opinion from Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti last April said government agencies cannot legally spend money unless specifically authorized to do so by Congress.

However, when a similar situation arose in October, most affected government agencies continued to operate normally.

PRIVATE RICKY PENA
Private Ricky Pena, son of Manuela M. Pena of 702 Irving, recently completed One Station Unit Training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. This qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

Citing a recent theft at the Western Auto store in downtown Hereford, where thieves broke a glass door, entered and made off with over $1,000 worth of firearms, knives and watches, Hope remarked, "If I were a burglar I could go in the building the way they went in, take what they took and be gone in less than three minutes. It doesn't take very long to break a window, sweep up an armful of merchandise and be gone."

The police detective explained that among prime pickings for burglars who have been operating here in recent months are watches, guns, knives, stereos and other items which can be easily moved and marketed.

According to Hope, A $600 stereo taken in a burglary at a local school was later sold by a thief for only $50, and he added that most of the items taken in local burglaries are either hocked or sold, with much of the "hot" merchandise sold locally.

Hope remarked that good leads on burglary cases get harder to come by today. "People weren't afraid to come forward and tell you things at one time but now they don't want to. Maybe they're afraid of retaliation or people just don't want to get involved in many instances. I'm not saying everyone is that way. We've had several tips and the tipsters are kept anonymous, but they are fewer now. Before we can get our information we must have someone give it to us and that goes right back to not wanting to get involved," said Hope.

Hope explained that Hereford police have altered some techniques and beefed up efforts in an attempt to catch burglars in the act or at least to prevent them from striking effectively at local businesses.

"We've changed our patrols and added men on duty, particularly during the night hours when businesses are vulnerable to burglaries. We've also reviewed some other techniques for observation and coverage of businesses," stated the detective.

According to Hope, many local merchants could also do a great deal to help alleviate burglary problems through simple procedures. "Businessmen might check into a burglar alarm which could be connected to the police station. Many businesses here are on them already. Businesses will also surprise you in not having any lighting inside or outside, which seems like an open invitation. Security lighting and leaving lights on inside the place of business can help the merchants and the police too," Hope related.

The detective indicated that dead bolt locks are also an effective deterrent to residential burglaries while a double metal bar across the back door of businesses, complete with a pin through the bars to prevent them from being slid upwards and out of place is also a good burglar foil.

Hope explained that any lock which delays a burglar for a sufficient amount of time will serve to discourage the thief from pressing the entry attempt and will also buy more time for patrolling police to catch thieves in the act.

Lt. Paul Ramirez, one of the officers who patrol the city's streets, lanes and alleys and stand vigil against those who would steal is of the opinion that once a break is made in the current rash of burglaries, a "domino effect" will be seen as the clearing of one case may mean a break in several others.

"The breaks hafta' come sometime too. Our officers feel bad that these burglaries have taken place but they pride themselves in keeping the particular area of town that is assigned to them as their beat clean. Particularly, the mid-night officers will no sooner get home from a shift than they are on the phone to check if there were any burglaries in their assigned part of the city," said Ramirez.

"We are dealing with people that steal for a living and they are good at it and a thief is gonna' steal regardless of the part of town he's in. We are working to cut down the burglaries. We have put on extra patrols and stakeouts and some of these officers go for days without a day off. I would rather have the satisfaction of getting a thief trying to walk away from a place of business than almost anything else," he continued.

Ramirez got a bit of that satisfaction here Sunday night when he and fellow officer Sgt. David Wheeler, along with Deaf Smith County Deputy Bud McClendon responded to a silent alarm at Max's Big Burger on West First and arrested a suspect inside the business. The suspect was later charged with burglary and Ramirez feels the arrest may lead to the solving of a number of burglary cases currently under investigation.

"Crime solving today is a science, it's not just going to the scene of a crime and walking away. We have to start from scratch. One clue might lead us to solving several thefts. I'm confident in our officers and I feel we're making progress here," said the police lieutenant.

Ramirez agreed with Hope that merchants themselves can do much to help police keep potential thieves away from their shops while homeowners can help too.

"More lighting would help at many businesses and steel doors would help turn more thieves away. Preventive measures could help us do our job. We can't be everywhere at once, though we try to," Ramirez remarked.

"If a businessman notices someone coming into his store and acting suspiciously this is the kind of information we need.—A car parked in an unusual area or two or three individuals coming into a business acting suspiciously. Businessmen know who comes in to buy, browse or just look around. We're more aware of thefts now because of the holiday season, too, so shoppers should take a little extra time to lock up their vehicles. People never think burglary will happen to them," stated Ramirez.

The lieutenant emphasized that theft-preventive measures will continue to be a major focus of the local police force.

"Overall, we're starting to get some good leads and things are starting to break for us. Sure, our officers feel bad when their part of town gets hit by burglars because they are professional people and they may feel that their efforts may not have been what they should be. But, overall, we still have a fantastic group of people in the department. I'm confident in our officers and I feel we're making progress here toward solving the rash of burglaries we've seen. We have officers in unmarked cars and others who have spent hours on stakeouts and it's just a matter of time before we start getting some of the people responsible for these thefts," Ramirez concluded.

replaces a defective warning system which has been problematical for the city for a number of years and which ultimately prompted the city to file suit against the Motorola Corp.

That suit is still pending. City commissioners took no action on a contract with the Deaf Smith County Tax Appraisal District after turning down the contract at their previous meeting. City fathers are awaiting the re-wording of the contract by city attorney Earnest Langley before proceeding with the approval of the document.

Commissioners balked at signing the agreement in its original form based on objections to "vague" working in the contract.

Shelton, who is 80-years-old began working as a dispatcher for the department May 20, 1963. The majority of the time he was associated with the department, Shelton worked the evening shift from 4 p.m. - midnight.

"Even though he has retired, he will work maybe one day a week. At the time of his retirement, Wally requested he still be able to work, Caydon Brush, chief of police, said.

According to Brush, Shelton is also a reserve deputy. "With this duty and with working part-time with the department, there will be enough for him to do to stay in touch with all the activity," Chief Brush explained.

"We have been together for a long time, but he will still be around with the part-time work," Brush said.

Fellow dispatchers and police officers gathered at the police department Sunday evening to honor Shelton with a retirement party which was complete with a decorated cake.

Shelton and officers swapped stories about Shelton's years with the department before he went back to finish his duty shift as dispatcher.

"I don't think he (Shelton) would have been happy if he hadn't gone back to finish his duty," Brush said.

The property, which adjoins Owens' business location, had been the topic of discussion at an earlier commission meeting and the easement was granted last night with the stipulation that curb be put in and paving if necessary to facilitate drainage at that location.

The 1981 paving program for the city and assessments for the project were also discussed by city fathers last night.

Miss Walterscheid Honored at Shower

Brenda Walterscheid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Walterscheid, 222 Elm, was honored at a bridal shower Saturday afternoon at the E.B. Black House.

Miss Walterscheid is the bride-elect of Tony Melugin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Melugin, 101 Nueces. The couple plan to marry Jan. 10, 1981 at St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated in the bride's chosen colors of burgundy and cream. The table was covered with a cream-lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of burgundy flowers.

The bride-elect's sisters assisted at the shower. Kari Walterscheid registered guest and Donna Tidmore and Lindy Walterscheid stood at the serving table. The couple's grandmothers, Mrs. F.J. Walterscheid and Mrs. D.Y. Edwards, attended the shower. Standing in the receiving line were the bride-elect; Mrs. Bill Melugin, prospective bridegroom's mother; Mrs. Leonard Walterscheid, the bride-elect's mother; and Mrs. Allen Brown, hostess.

Hostesses for the shower were Meses. Allen Brown, Kenneth Artho, Joe R. Artho, Gilbert Yosten, W.J. Schumacher, Carl Last, Leander Reinart, Allen Brockman, Albert Maxwell, Robert Thoton, Quinton Martin, Raymond Schlabs, J.L. Arney, R.L. Blakely, Carl Straufus and Miss Vivian Martin.

Recognized for Service

A.J. Phillips, representative to the United Way Board for the local Red Cross office, was awarded with a certificate of appreciation and cake from Betty Henson, executive secretary of the local chapter. The certificate was in appreciation of Phillips service to the local Red Cross Chapter in obtaining and helping the chapter move into a new office.

Allsup's Graduates Assistant Manager

Karen Castellano received her diploma from Ray Stewart, instructor, for successfully completing the Allsup's Assistant Store Manager Training Course.

Held at the company's home offices in Clovis, New Mexico, the class is a requirement for all Allsup's assistant managers.

According to Stewart, "The training prepares individuals for future advancement by teaching them proper food handling, cooked food procedures, store cleanliness and maintenance as well as public relations. It's designed to produce a more professional employee who can better serve the customer and community."

Karen will return to her store at S.E. Main and Austin Rd. in Hereford to assume the duties of assistant manager.

The Newspaper Bible

WHAT WOULD IT TAKE TO CONVINCE YOU?

One day about this time as another great crowd gathered, the people ran out of food again. Jesus called His disciples to discuss the situation. "I pity these people," He said, "for they have been here three days, and have nothing left to eat.

And if I send them home without feeding them, they will faint along the road! For some of them have come a long distance."

"Are we supposed to find food for them here in the desert?" His disciples scoffed.

"How many loaves of bread do you have?" He asked. "Seven," they replied.

So He told the crowd to sit down on the ground. Then He took the seven loaves, thanked God for them, broke them into pieces and passed them to His disciples; and the disciples placed them before the people.

A few small fish were found, too, so Jesus also blessed them and told the disciples to serve them.

And the whole crowd ate until they were full, and afterwards he sent them home. There were about 4,000 people in the crowd that day and when the scraps were picked up after the meal, there were seven very large basketfuls left over!

Immediately after this He got into a boat with His disciples and came to the region of Dalmanutha.

When the local Jewish leaders learned of His arrival they came to argue with Him. "Do a miracle for us," they said. "Make something happen in the sky. Then we will believe in you."

His heart fell when He heard this and He said, "Certainly not. How many more miracles do you people need?"

Stockings should be hung by the chimney with care, in the hope that Saint Nick will soon be there — and with some thought to Christmas safety.

"Christmas trees, lights, candles, mantel trimmings, your fireplace and even excess wrapping paper can be a source for holiday accidents," according to Harold Ray, Director of the Product Safety Division of the Texas Department of Health.

In selecting a natural tree, Ray suggests getting one with a good green color. The needles of a fresh tree should be hard to pull from the branches, and they shouldn't break when bent. "Bounce the tree hard against the ground and you won't get a shower of needles if the tree is fresh," he says.

Christmas trees should be placed in a base which holds water, and this should be checked regularly. Before mounting the tree, cut about two inches off the trunk to allow it to better absorb the water.

Legitimate Physical Reprimand

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A very attractive and well-educated woman I went to college with moved to this city several weeks ago. Her husband was transferred here, and I was delighted at the chance to renew our friendship.

Yesterday we had lunch together. I noticed she had a black eye. When I asked her what happened, she replied, "My husband hit me."

My mouth must have dropped open because she quickly added, "Oh, that's all right - I deserved it." She then went on to tell me how she had gone on a spending spree after having promised the previous week that she would not buy a single item that was not an absolute necessity. Her defense of him was incredible. She then asked, "Hasn't your husband ever hit you?"

I told her, "Never," and added, "I would not tolerate such an indignity." We became involved in a lengthy discussion about the difference between "wife-beating" by a drunk and what she called "legitimate physical reprimand," which her father exercised on her mother. She made no bones about the fact that several of her rich and social women friends had confided that they also were spanked, slapped and slugged by their husbands. She kept insisting their marriages were "better than most."

I always thought only low-class couples did this sort of thing. Please give me the facts.—Alice In Birmingham

DEAR ALICE...in Wonderland: Men who hit their wives live in penthouses as well as housing projects. It has nothing to do with income.

The woman who accepts physical abuse because she believes she "deserves it" is operating at a pre-adolescent level. In the case of your friend, she had a role model. Her mother accepted such treatment from her father.

It is interesting how these kooks seem to find each other. I strongly suspect they had a few dress rehearsals before marriage.

DEAR ANN: My husband and I run a small business. We have four full-time and several part-time workers.

It has been our experience in hiring new people that many of them can start "immediately," even though they are employed at the time of the interview. We immediately disqualify a person who has so little integrity that he would quit without giving notice. Such an individual, we feel, is not trustworthy. If he would do it to one he would do it to another.

Please tell your readers, Ann, that most employers understand and appreciate an employee who is not willing to leave his boss in the lurch when something better comes along. Perhaps it will sink in if it comes from you. It may also help some job-seekers understand why they did not get the job.—A Loyal Reader

DEAR LOYAL READER: People who are loyal respect that quality in others. To me, it is one of the most important character traits of all. Thank you for saying it so well.

CONFIDENTIAL to Indigestion and Sore Feet: I'll bet you are wearing your "sit-down shoes" and "stand-up girdle." Dress more comfortable when you know you will be standing in a receiving line for hours. Since it's going to be part of your life for the next two years, you'd better learn how to cope with it.

Don't get burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Play it cool with Ann Landers' guide to "Necking and Petting

What Are the Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611, enclosing 50 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bible Study Course Scheduled

PLAINVIEW - A Bible study course in New Testament History will be taught in Dimmitt by Wayland Baptist College.

The course, which offers three hours college credit, is being made available to Dimmitt area residents through Wayland's Office of Special Services, and will meet each Tuesday from 6:30 until 10 p.m. in the Education Building of Dimmitt's First Baptist Church.

Classes begin Jan. 13 and run through April 7, with no class scheduled for March 17. Adults, regular college students, and high school students who have completed at least their junior year may receive college credit for the course.

To be taught by Robert W. Gibbs, instructor in religion at WBC, the class will offer a study and application of the New Testament, stressing the Gospels, the Acts, and the letters of Paul. The textbook to be used is "The New Testament Survey," by Merrill Tenney.

"We're offering this course to people of the Dimmitt area to provide them an opportunity to take a regular college course for credit close to home," explained Dr. Bill Hardage, Wayland's director of special services. "The course will also provide in-depth Bible study opportunities for pastors and other church workers."

Cost for the course is $155 for college credit, or the course may be audited (no college credit) for $100. Persons enrolling at Wayland for the first time must also pay a $15 application fee for admission.

Registration will take place on the first night of class; however, persons may also register in advance with their local pastor. For more information, contact Hardage at (806) 296-5521.

At Wits End

The anatomy of a volunteer who was asked to fill a table of eight for a style show benefitting needy children:

Monday: Called Jeanette. Jeanette bought a ticket and in turn sold me two tickets for a gymnastic exhibition to send six baton twirlers to the inaugural. Also gave me three books of chances to sell on a microwave oven to lobby against dirty books.

Tuesday: Saw Marge in supermarket. Marge bought a ticket and sold me two tickets to a ball to fund "Save the Sperm Whale." Gave me 60 flyers to distribute for a race to be run a week from Sunday to Stamp Out Puberty Among Our Young People.

Tuesday Night: At the tennis match, met Nancy who bought a ticket and in turn sold me ten chances on a pony and enlisted me to sell peanut brittle to benefit restoration of an 1890 brothel that was being torn down to build a 1980 brothel.

Thursday morning: Sold two tickets to Elaine who sold me a cookbook and two tickets to a luncheon with proceeds going to a Home for Retired Girl Scout Cookie Chairmen.

Thursday afternoon: Called Marty and sold her a ticket. Marty, in return, asked me to make a table decoration for a luncheon and solicit a Weight Watchers scholarship as a door prize. The luncheon would benefit a Shotmobile that would administer flu shots to the elderly.

Thursday Evening: Saw Mayva. She bought a box of peanut brittle and sold me a ticket to a house tour benefitting Misplaced Homemakers. She was sorry she couldn't attend my style show but signed me up to drive a group of Women in Crisis over Night Driving to a concert Friday night.

Friday: Saw Helen selling fruitcakes in a supermarket to buy a camper for the nuns at the school. She reminded me that when she bought a ticket from me last year for the Sponsor-a-Tree picnic, I told her I would collect door-to-door for Foot Health Week coming up next month.

Friday Afternoon: Heard Marsha just got home from the hospital and wanted to get to her before anyone else. Sold her two tickets to the style show, but not before she made me promise to serve as chairman of the next year's Devotion to Motherhood and Wine-Tasting Seminar.

Saturday Morning: Georgia finally returned my call. Before I could make my pitch, she asked me to fill a table of eight for a style show benefitting needy children.

Is there no compassion left for a volunteer suffering from Terminal Weakness?

Bippus EH Club Convenes

Bippus Extension Homemakers Club met in the home of Mrs. J.V. Perrin recently with a short business meeting.

Roll call was answered by "what place I'd like to visit if I could go to the Holly Land."

Following the business meeting, a program "The Bible Christmas Story," was read by Mrs. G.V. Hall. Following her story, Mrs. J.V. Perrin gave a brief story on Christmas customs of years gone.

Carols were sang followed by exchange of gifts.

It was announced that a Christmas Carol will be held at the Bippus Community Center Dec. 21 beginning at 5:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend this.

The club adjourned with the next meeting scheduled at the home of Mrs. Jimmy Bradley Jan. 14.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated in the Christmas theme to Mrs. Jerry Homfield and children, Mrs. Dan Hall and children, Mrs. C.F. Homfield, Mrs. Jimmy Bradley, Mrs. J.V. Perrin and mother Mrs. Stone.

Burglars Get Attorney's Brillab Tape Copies

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — One of the defense attorneys in the federal Brillab investigation says burglars stole from his office several copies of secret tape recordings made by an FBI informant in the case, but doesn't know why anyone would want them.

"I can't believe it's in any way related to the case because I don't know who would want the tapes who wouldn't already have them, except the press, said Arthur Lemann III.

He said the burglary over the Thanksgiving weekend was reported to police and the federal judge in the case.

The thieves also got about $200 in cash and knickknacks, but left untouched some expensive equipment such as typewriters.

Lemann is representing lawyer Vincent A. Marinello in the trial. FBI informant Joseph Hauser acted as an undercover man for the FBI and recorded what prosecutors allege to have been bribery transactions.

Marinello is accused of racketeering, conspiracy and wire and mail fraud along with reputed Mafia boss Carlos Marcello; former state Commissioner of Administration Charles Roemer; Washington, D.C., lobbyist Irving Davidson; and Aubrey Young, a former aide to Lt. Gov. Bobby Freeman.

The cassettes resemble the ones on which music is taped, and the burglar probably believed he was getting a new collection of tapes, said Lemann's secretary.

But the tapes were definitely not intended for public consumption, she said.

The press has been excluded from all pre-trial hearings in the case, and several motions to suppress the tapes have been argued in privacy.

The break in Lemann's office is the second reported in recent weeks.

Two weeks ago, Marcello asked U.S. District Judge Morey Sear to make the Department of Justice tell how it came to have possession of personal papers stolen from his home three years ago.

"The government emphatically denies any participation in any 'fashion of form' in the alleged burglary," responded U.S. Attorney John Volz.

"Further, the FBI does not know the identity of the perpetrators of the burglary."

Part of the loot from Marcello's offices was 12 telephone log books. The government came by the books in a still undisclosed manner and voluntarily returned them to Marcello in October.

Volz said the first of the log books turned up in the office of an assistant U.S. attorney in a sealed envelope bearing a telephone number. Additional books were acquired from the person at the telephone number, Volz said.

He refused to identify the person at the other end of the phone. In its reply, the government said the person who gave them the books had nothing to do with the burglary.

He said the log books had no relevance to the Brillab case.

Lemann said he couldn't see how the prosecution could benefit from the tapes taken from his office, since the stolen tapes were defense copies of government tapes.

Defense attorneys are reviewing an estimated 30,000 tapes made during the government's year-long investigation.

Scholarships to Japan Available to High School Students

Youth for Understanding (YFU) is offering scholarship opportunities for American high school students interested in spending next summer in Japan.

Youth for Understanding, one of the largest teenage student exchange organizations in the world, will award more than $60,000 in partial scholarships to qualified high school students between the ages of 14 and 18. A total of 315 American high school students will be going to Japan through the YFU program, leaving home in mid June and returning in mid August. Youth for Understanding has exchanged more than 80,000 high school students since its establishment in 1951.

The scholarships will be awarded primarily on the basis of merit, although need may be taken into account. Among those providing funding for the scholarships are the Rockefeller Brothers Fund and many well-known Japanese companies including: Toyota, Datsun, Mitsubishi Motors, Seiko, Hitachi, Nippon Steel, Toshiba, SONY, Sanyo, Honda, Pioneer, Kikkoman and Minolta.

According to YFU President John Richardson, Jr.,

former U.S. Assistant Secretary of State for Educational and Cultural Affairs, the sponsors of the scholarships believe that greater understanding between Japan and the U.S. will result from affording young Americans the unique opportunity to live with Japanese host families and to experience Japanese culture firsthand.

Before leaving for Japan, the students will attend a three day orientation which will introduce them to Japanese culture and tradition. The program also includes expense-paid Fall seminars for most participants for three years following the summer exchange experience. This enables students to continue to develop their understanding and appreciation of Japanese life.

Youth for Understanding is a non-profit educational organization dedicated to promoting greater international understanding by making it possible for young people to have an overseas family-living experience. Each year the organization exchanges about 7,500 students with 25 countries.

Interested students should apply immediately in order to be considered for this special scholarship opportunity prior to the February 15, 1981 deadline.

For more information on this or other YFU exchange opportunities, including programs in Europe, Australia, South America and the Far East, write to the following address:

Texas Briefs

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Railroad Commission executed three contracts Monday to start a $2.9 million project next month to repair 14.5 miles of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad system between Dallas and Carrollton.

The commission said nearly $2.2 million in federal funds and $716,784 from the railroad would finance the project, which is expected to take 11 months to complete.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Major buyers of Texas crude oil have asked the Railroad Commission for 2,587,938 barrels a day in January, an increase of 28,566 barrels daily from December.

The purchaser nominations reflect what buyers think they can obtain from their leases.

The commission will meet Thursday to set the January production allowable, which has been 100 percent of capacity for seven years.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Railroad Commission on Monday authorized Texas Utilities Generating Co. to expand by 6,000 acres its Monticello Winfield coal mining operation in Titus County.

The commission previously approved a 9,893-acre mining operation 2.5 miles of Mount Pleasant. The operation is the largest in Texas.

Examiner Chesley Blevins said the company expects to increase its output of coal by 1.2 million tons per year to about 11 million tons.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Attorney General Mark White has filed suit in federal district court here to have the Staggers' Rail Act of 1980 held unconstitutional.

White said the act, which deregulated many railroad rates, fails to protect consumers "from the abuse of monopoly power," particularly in rates for shipping coal to electrical power plants.

He said the act allows railroads to exact "monopoly profits from captive shippers."

White also complains in the suit that the act displaces state authority over rates for carrying rail freight entirely within state boundaries.

"This statute constitutes another attempt by the federal government to replace the states as independent sovereigns and to exercise regulatory control over every element of our lives," he said.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Speaker Bill Clayton has appointed Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, to head a nine-member House committee to hear the election contest filed by Rep. Al Brown.

Brown, D-San Antonio, is challenging returns that show he was defeated for reelection Nov. 4 by Alan Schoolcraft, a San Antonio Republican.

Clayton appointed Rep. Bob McFarland, R-Arlington, as vice-chairman of the election contest committee. Other members are Reps. Lloyd Criss, D-Lamarque; Tom Delay, R-Wallis; Ray Keller, D-Duncanville; Bob Leonard, R-Fort Worth; Sue McBee, D-Del Rio; Bob Valles, D-El Paso; and Brad Wright, R-Houston.

The speaker earlier appointed Rep. Bob Bush, D-Sherman, as special master to develop information on the case and present it to the committee. Bush said the committee would begin consideration of the election contest on Dec. 29.

Clayton says he wants the committee to have its report ready by the time the Legislature convenes Jan. 13.

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Fire Chief V.E. Rogers wants to develop new tests for prospective firefighters that include mathematics and reasoning.

Rogers has asked the City Council to approve a $33,000 contract for the tests which he said could cut sharply into the current drop-out rate of 25 percent.

Rogers told the council Monday that high school diplomas are no longer a satisfactory indicator of how well an applicant might do in certain training requirements.

He said firemen need math skills to compute water delivery rates and for training as emergency medical technicians. Skills in reasoning and judgement are needed, he said, "for crisis reaction at the scene of a fire."

The chief said the new tests must be designed so they will not discriminate against any ethnic group.

Applicants now are tested for reading comprehension and physical ability.

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — Five of the seven workers suspended two weeks ago by a mental retardation center returned to work Monday after they were cleared of abuse allegations, the center director said.

"The other two have additional information they were given until noon Tuesday to present to us," said Director Blas Cantu of the Rio Grande State Center for Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

The six men and one woman were suspended Dec. 5 after a former employee told officials he had seen patients neglected and verbally abused in the boy's section.

One incident allegedly involved an unrestrained resident who hurt himself by hitting his head against the wall.

A staff committee investigated the complaint.

HOUSTON (AP) — The Metropolitan Transit Authority has had problems with the 326 Grumman buses in its fleet but has no plans to remove the vehicles from service.

That was the reaction Monday by Tom Niskala, an MTA executive, to reports Los Angeles and New York agencies had removed Grumman buses from their fleets because of structural cracks.

Niskala, special assistant to Walter Addison, MTA's executive director, said Grumman is replacing portions of the undercarriages of the Houston buses.

"It's more of a serious maintenance problem," he said, adding that the other cities may have other problems.

Niskala said MTA has found cracks in engine cradles on its Grummans but does not know if the cracking is the same structural problem encountered elsewhere.

The cradles support the engine, transmission components, and the air-conditioning assembly and the cracks, Niskala said,

A trace of albumin

DEAR DR. LAMB — Our 15-year-old son just had a medical examination and the doctor said he has albumin in his urine. Is that dangerous? He didn't say if he had kidney disease or not and I'm worried about it. Our son seems healthy and is active in sports. He had the examination because he is wrestling on the high school team. The doctor didn't say what to do about it either. Can you shed some light on this for a worried mom?

DEAR READER — Since your doctor did not suggest anything to be done, I infer that he didn't think it was really important in your son's case. If he had thought it was serious, he would have asked for additional tests, if he had not already done them in the course of his examination and found the results normal. Albumin is a blood protein. We all have it; it is essential in helping control the flow of fluid into and out of our circulation into the tissues. The kidneys are filters. A small amount of albumin leaks through the kidney mechanism in everyone. The amount can be increased in some diseases. It can also occur in some people from just standing about it. Our son seems healthy and is active in sports. He had the examination because he is wrestling on the high school team. The doctor didn't say what to do about it either. Can you shed some light on this for a worried mom?

Biological Clock Sets Sleep Patterns

NEW YORK (AP) — Airline pilots, nurses and others who work irregular hours may have trouble getting enough sleep because they go to bed at the wrong time. Researchers say a biological clock dictates sleep according to body temperature. People who work irregular hours may find it impossible to get enough sleep because they do not go to sleep at the proper point in their biological cycle. Also, someone who has gone for long periods without sleep does not sleep extra hours to "catch up," but can sleep a normal length of time by going to sleep at the beginning of the cycle, when the temperature is low.

The research, reported in the journal Science, is being conducted at the laboratory for human chronophysics at Montefiore Hospital, and Albert Einstein College of Medicine, New York, the sleep research center at Stanford University School of Medicine and Harvard Medical School. "These findings," the researchers said, "have major implications for understanding the timing of human sleep and may also help explain the sleep-wake patterns in shift workers and in certain clinical sleep disorders."

Details of the research findings have been forwarded to the Federal Aviation Administration with recommendations that they be considered in flight crew scheduling, according to Dr. Charles A. Czeisler of Stanford, a sleep physiologist working with biological clocks. "The length of time we sleep depends on when we go to sleep in relation to the rising point on the temperature cycle," Czeisler said, referring to the cycle of about 97 to 99 degrees. "The time we sleep is not so much the need for sleep, but when we go to sleep."

The shift worker who works all night and then tries to go to sleep at 11 a.m. may not sleep well because his biological clock is on the upswing, trying to wake him up. Congratulations on losing your excess pounds.

With Last Second Salvo Against Tascosa

Hereford Girls Get Salvation Win

IN A WORD, SALVATION EMBODIED a great degree of the basic furor surrounding the Hereford girls' basketball team.

Mauri Montgomery

In this instance it held no theological applications — only a singular facet of the successful cage crew's type of play. The team seemed to have a recurring appetite for the two-point victories over the easily managed laurels, even though it had presented a contrast of both thus far in the season campaign.

AND FOR BETTER OR WORSE, HHS helmetsman Larry Sowers had to live with it. He had to endure 32 minutes of salvation every time his squad hit the court — at least that had been the general rule during several of the Whitefaces' last outings (all coming within a hair's breadth of being recorded as losses). Running in transcending order they ranged from:

1. A dramatic 48-46 victory over the Dimmitt Bobbies in order to clinch the Hereford Invitational Tournament.
2. A 67-65 triple overtime victory over the Amarillo High Sandies.
3. And most recently, a scanty last minute 50-48 saviour against the Tascosa Rebels Monday night — a victory that sent Hereford's robust season ledger to 13-1.

"WE MANAGED TO GET THE WIN over Amarillo, but we've got to start getting smarter at the end of these ball games," commented Sowers in recollection of the Whiteface's most recent salvation on the cage court. "We've just got to learn to realize that when we have the lead in the final quarter of a game, we don't need to score any more points unless it's a percentage shot. We keep trying to score even when we can sew the game up just by slowing it down and being patient."

That forced Hereford play became evident in the final quarter of the close match as the Whitefaces, cuddling a five-point lead, dribbled its way to three straight turnovers en route to a five-point Tascosa scoring rally which eventually deadlocked the score at 48-48 with 1:57 remaining.

UP UNTIL THAT POINT, THE HEREFORD crew had only coughed up six possessions over the length of the first three quarters of play.

"I don't know what our problem is," said Sowers. "We don't want to stall the game when we've got the lead because that often interrupts a team's momentum and ruins their chance for a score when they may need one."

But we can't seem to slow our pace down. Surely, as many close games as we've had this year, we'd finally realize that it would be a whole lot easier to just settle down and rest with the lead."

YET AS REDUNDANT AS THE NARROW BATTLE was to Hereford's theme of play as of late, so too did the reappearing salvation unfold.

This time it came at the hands of senior offensive force Louise Mays (Mays had nine points on the night behind the scoring efforts of Cathy Lane's 16 and Terri Harkins' 13) as she worked her way inside for the winning bucket with 46 seconds left in the contest.

THE PLAY ARRIVED FOLLOWING TEAM captain Terri Harkins' hustled recovery of a loose ball and ensuing pass to Mays. Mays took the throw and banked it off the glass to break the last minute stalemate into a slim two-point HHS lead.

Further Tascosa efforts at mounting a final come-back fell short as Hereford retained that advantage of the close-quarters feud for the victory.

"We got lucky and won this one," Sowers added. "We simply got to start playing smarter ball because one of these times we won't be so lucky. I'm pleased with the win, but don't enjoy games getting quite that close. We've had some sort of salvation almost this whole year, whether its been someone off the bench making a crucial shot or sinking some last minute free-throws to push us on for the win. I just don't know how long that luck can hold out."

IT WAS ANOTHER LAST MINUTE save for the thriving HHS cage crew — not too big, just enough and not too bad. It was SALVATION in its finest hour.

Richburg Named To Super Team

Aubrey Richburg, Hereford's 6-3 215 pound junior offensive and defensive lineman standout, was named to the Amarillo Globe News' Super Football Team this past weekend in addition to the first-team All-District berths he acquired earlier this month.

The All-District performer was recognized as a member of the Super Team, along with three other area linemen after he averaged more than a dozen tackles per game from his defensive end post. The honor marks the second year in a row Richburg was named to the team following last year's showing on Hereford's 5-5 grid squad.

He was named to the first-team All-District defensive squad that year as the only sophomore to be recognized.

Whiteface Varsity Clips Palo Duro

Up until Monday night, the Hereford varsity boys' basketball team and Palo Duro Dons had but one thing in common — very little other than the fact both had competed in the Amarillo Basketball Tournament this past weekend.

The Dons had festooned a championship of the affair at its termination while Hereford managed dead last.

But after Hereford clipped the Amarillo crew 61-59 to push its season mark to 3-10 in Amarillo Monday, the two teams had another common trait — both knew they were capable of being out-manned on a given night.

That point had been realized by Hereford's first-year mentor Dan Giliuson some time ago, even though he considered his squad's eventual future success only a matter of time.

"This was a good win for us, but I'm not really surprised with it. We've been playing some good ball games for the last five or six weeks," he said. "But until now we've always suffered in our shooting ability. I think we're coming around in that department now and it was the complete difference between our other games."

"These guys have tried harder than any other team I've ever coach to start getting on the right track, but their shooting has set them back," he said. "Now that they're getting that feel, I think it's a good sign."

The Whitefaces led the entire length of the game and built their advantage of the contest to a heaping eight-point tally (50-42) going into the final period.

But a Palo Duro offensive thrust in that quarter tied-up the match at 54 all before Hereford started sacking charity line opportunities with the regularity of a machine. Under the direction of Don Delozier, (leading that HHS thrust with nine points — all of the coming at the lane) the Whiteface squad dumped seven of 11 shots at the line, including four front ends of one-and-one situations, to terminate the tie ball game.

Then senior guard Gary Parman popped in the first of another one-and-one chance to lengthen Hereford's lead to 57-55 with 1:44 remaining, and seconds later did a retake.

He sunk his first opportunity at the free-throw line again before Delozier dropped two with a mere :26 to send the Whitefaces into the front-runners lane 60-55.

Led by a Joel Washington field goal with :17 seconds left, (Washington garnered Palo Duro's high point honors for the evening with 23 points), the Amarillo team advanced again, but eventually succumbed to the loss after HHS's Alan Wartes completed the first of two shots from the charity line.

We had a real good night in our shooting — for that I was most pleased," said Giliuson. "But we're not doing anything different that we were at that earlier part of our season. Like I said that whole difference was in our shooting."

It's hard to say where we're at right now as far as improvement is concerned. I think we're finally getting our sights on the bucket, but we've still got a ways to go before we reach the point we need to be at. If we can ever get our shooting down we'll be as competitive as the next team," he added.

The Herd's next scheduled competition is set to be against Perryton, 9-0 thus far in season play, here Friday at 7:45 p.m. in the La Plata Gymnasium.

Junior Varsity Wins Tournament

The Hereford junior varsity girls' basketball team couldn't do anything wrong this past weekend as they competed in the Amarillo Junior Varsity Basketball Tournament — opposing teams couldn't do anything right.

The Whitefaces, now 10-1 against junior varsity teams and boasting a 10-3 mark overall, won the championship berth of the ordeal after clinching victories straight across the board over Amarillo High, Dimmitt and Canyon.

Under the direction of Sherri Ellis, (one of the squad's leading offensive HHS threats throughout the tournament competition who led the HHS squad in scoring with 15 points during the opening round) Hereford ridded Amarillo High by an awesome margin of 60-19. Cheryl Walterscheid and Gale Bartles popped in respective tallies of 11 and 10 was the only other Whiteface scorers to reach double-figure scoring in the onslaught.

That one-sided dominance slipped into the niche of close-quarters combat in the second and final rounds however, as Hereford barely outdistanced Dimmitt 32-30 and capped the championship of the tournament with a last-second 41-40 win over Canyon.

Smiles creased the faces of the Hereford bench as Sherri Ellis (high point shooter against Dimmitt with a spree of 12) sunk a baseline shot right at the buzzer to steal the game away from the tourney's stunned second-round opponent.

Then, after facing as much as an eight-point deficit at times against Canyon in the championship playoff, the HHS crew wound its way into a 40-40 tie with only 25 seconds left before Angela White dropped the front-end of a one-and-one situation at the charity line for the victory. The last ditch pressure shot pushed the Whitefaces past the Eagles 41-40 for the tournament win.

Mavericks Take 3rd Place Trophy in Dumas

The La Plata 9th grade girls' basketball team shoved its season record to 9-5 after it overwhelmed Pampa and the town-rival Stanton Dogies to place third in the Dumas Junior High Basketball Tournament this past weekend.

Led by the hot marksman-ship of Paula Mason and Angela Richburg who dumped in respective tallies of 16 and 10 points, the Maverick squad drilled Pampa 43-35 in the first round of the tourney.

The squad faltered somewhat in the second game however, as it was out-manuevered 42-30 against the hosting Dumas team. Vanessa Sims compiled a 10-point delivery to lead all other La Plata scorers in that clash while teammate Teresa Phibbs netted another eight in the Mavericks first loss of the affair.

But rebounding in the final match, the La Plata cage crew toppled cross-town rival Stanton 52-30 to retain rights to the third-place trophy of the tournament. Paula Mason came into her own again and scored easily en route to a 22-point burst as the high point Maverick cager in that final clash. Vanessa Sims pumped in 10 points in the conflict while Angela Richburg provided nine as the other La Plata scoring threats.

The La Plata squad, in addition to the both the 7th and 8th grades, is scheduled to pair off against district opponent Clovis Yucca in Clovis Thursday. The 7th grade will open competition between the two schools in a match set for 4:30 p.m. Texas time.

YOU AUTO KNOW
By Don Henslee

Q. Last winter I kept thinking my car heater wasn't keeping me as warm as it once did. After the first few chilly days this year, I'm sure it's not. Will a remedy call for major surgery - a new heater unit or is there something small I might look at first?

A. You may just need a tonic and not surgery. The first thing to do is drain and flush your radiator and cooling system with a good commercial system flush. But, do a complete job. First, set the heater temperature control to "high". Drain the radiator with only the radiator drain open. Remove the hose from the heater supply connection on the engine block. Using a garden hose, direct a hard stream into the engine block connection for three to five minutes. Reconnect the supply hose, close the radiator drain, add commercial flush. Drain again and add coolant. This should get rid of built-up "gunk" in hoses and heater core.
