Hance Unopposed in House Bid

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says isn't it odd how neighbors we seldom see all year write to wish we were with them when they get 500 miles away?

"Remember the good old days when gasoline was selling for 19 cents a gallon...and the oil companies were ripping us off for a 27 1/4 percent depletion allowance, and there was no Department of Energy around to protect us?"--Cong. Kent Hance

IN A SUNDAY COLUMN, this writer listed some of his pet peeves in the newspaper business. We've taken quite a ribbing about that list. Some folks want to know which item it was that made us blow our top.

"Man," remarked one lady, "I am glad I hadn't been in to see you in a few days. What was it that set you off?"

I assured her that it wasn't anything in particular--I was just trying to come up with something for the column. "Oh, yes, I'm sure that's what it was," she said with a smirk. "I bet it was some lady who called and complained that her daughter's name wasn't in the basketball story," she added.

Actually, I was telling her the truth. Writing this column several times a week sometimes is a chore, while other column writers seem to come up with fresh ideas and stimulating thoughts day after day. I enjoy writing the column, but it's not so much fun that I'd want to do it daily, year after year, for free.

INFLATION IS NOT NEW to our society. Here's an ad which a business ran in U.S. News & World Report in 1960:

"Every time you buy food for your family or clothing or anything at all, half of all you pay is wasted. You pay it, but you get nothing for it. You have been robbed, by inflation."

"Since just before the War, the value of your dollar has been cut in half and is still being cut by..."

-billions spent on veteran benefits for sickness not even remotely caused by war service

-billions in unearned wage increases that cause higher prices instead of higher value

-hordes of bureaucrats who create nothing, yet cost and spend billions which can only be subtracted from values of everything you buy.

"Half of the value of your money gone, because of these and other wastes, and the other half threatened because the spenders want 'something for nothing.' They get the something in handouts; you who pay the taxes get nothing."

Location Questioned

TACB To Hear Plant Criticism

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Texas Air control Board Monday night will hear complaints from a group of Deaf Smith County residents concerned about the proposed construction of a plant to recycle cattle waste.

The public hearing is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Pioneer Natural Gas Company Flame Room in Hereford. The TACB staff will be on hand to hear citizen complaints, according to John Warner of Lubbock, regional TACB supervisor.

Calorific of Texas Inc. has filed an application with TACB to construct a methane and fertilizer plant approximately 5 1/2 miles northwest of Hereford. Several local citizens responded with a petition, sent to TACB, objecting to construction of the facility.

The petition includes the following complaints:

--a "considerable amount" of sulfur dioxide will be emitted from the plant into the air.

--the proposed location is more than five miles north of the nearest feed yard.

--the proposed location is within less than one-half mile from a residence and less than 1 1/2 miles from several other residences.

--most of the residents in the area of the proposed location are opposed to construction of the plant.

--more than 1 million pounds of manure will be needed daily in the plant operation, and the manure will be hauled in trucks which will "tend to increase the noise, traffic and dust in the area."

--manure stacked at the facility will "tend to create air pollution and fly problems," besides emitting an odor.

--and the proposed location will "tend to decrease property values in the area."

The petition states that several of the persons who signed it visited Calorific's Thermometrics plant near Guymon, Okla., and found it to be located adjacent to a feed yard, not near any residential property.

"...it is the belief of the undersigned that such facility will discharge one or more air contaminants, or combination thereof, in such concentration and of such duration as will or may tend to be injurious to or to adversely affect human health or welfare, animal life, vegetation or property..." the petition states.

Hereford Dinner For Clayton Slated

State Representative Bill Clayton of Springlake, unopposed in his bid for a 10th term in the Legislature, will be honored at an appreciation dinner Monday Feb. 11 at the Community Center.

The dinner, which will cost $10 per guest, will begin at 7:30 p.m.

A Hereford steering committee said the purpose of the dinner is not to raise funds for Clayton's campaign, but to pay tribute to the 74th Legislative District representative.

Clayton, who was first elected to the House in 1962, has served an unprecedented three consecutive terms as Speaker of the House.

His 74th District, includes Bailey, Castro, Cochran, Deaf Smith, Lamb, Oldham and Parmer Counties.

The Hereford dinner actually will be a Deaf Smith and Oldham County affair. Co-chairmen for the dinner are Dr. Milton Adams, James Gentry and Don Dorman. Ticket sales chairmen in Deaf Smith County are Dr. Hap Cavness and Tom Draper, while Clayton Cook, Bill Cleavinger, Pat Blankenship and Garland Rattan are heading up ticket sales in Oldham County.

Tickets may be purchased at both Hereford banks or from anyone involved in preparations for the dinner.

Appreciation dinners are planned later for Friona and Olton.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Seven of the 24 Texas congressmen, including three of the freshmen elected two years ago, are running unopposed in their bids to return to the Capitol.

The number could diminish, however, if an application postmarked before Monday's filing deadline were to arrive at the secretary of state's office in Austin.

The congressmen without opponents in the May primary or the general election are Democratic Reps. Sam Hall of Marshall, Marvin Leath of Marlin, E. "Kika" de la Garza of Mission, Richard White of El Paso, Charles Stenholm of Stamford and Kent Hance of Lubbock and Republican Rep. Bill Archer of Houston.

Leath, Stenholm and Hance won their seats in 1978 during the big shakeup that saw nine new faces come to Washington. Eight were freshmen and the other was Rep. Ron Paul, a Republican from Lake Jackson who had served a partial term two years before.

Observers see little likelihood that the delegation will undergo

Hereford Assured Of Nominee

It will be Bob Price versus a Hereford opponent in the November general election for the State Senate.

Price, elected two years ago to the Senate, is running unopposed in the Republican primary, while only two Democrats--Gerald McCathern and Bill Sarpalius--filed by Monday's deadline.

McCathern and Sarpalius are from Hereford.

McCathern, a farmer, has been a leader in the national American Agriculture Movement. Sarpalius, former assistant to Speaker of the House Bill Clayton, is now in private business.

SBA Loan Meeting Scheduled

The Small Business Administration will hold a program on disaster loans available to area farmers tonight at 7:30 in the Community Room of Hereford State Bank.

Milton Gurney and Jim Connelly of the SBA Lubbock office will explain the disaster loan program and distribute loan application packets to interested persons.

Loans are being made available for farmers and ranchers who suffered production losses due to inclement weather conditions during the past production season.

According to the SBA, loans are provided on terms compatible with repayment ability.

Tonight's program was originally scheduled for two earlier dates, but inclement weather forced its postponement on both occasions.

Clements Predicts End to Oil Spill

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) - A blown-out Mexican offshore well, source of the world's worst oil spill, will be capped within two days -- weather and equipment permitting -- according to Gov. Bill Clements.

"I have a technical report ... that the second directional well has established communication with the blowout," Clements told a news conference late Tuesday.

Crews have been drilling two relief wells, one on either side of the runaway Ixtoc I exploratory well in the southern Gulf of Mexico. The relief wells were designed to reach the underground source of oil and plug the leak that has spewed more than 100 million gallons of crude oil into the gulf since June 3.

Oil from the spill stained Texas beaches last summer, and government scientists predicted it would do so again if the well were not capped by March. Tuesday, Clements said that danger will disappear if matters at the well proceed smoothly.

"If everything goes as planned, and keep your fingers crossed, within 48 or 72 hours the thing will be killed," Clements said, citing information from sources at the well site whom he declined to name.

The governor said he understands workers will start filling the cantankerous well with concrete within a day or so.

"I hesitate to forecast (a precise date) because the weather is such a factor in the Bay of Campeche at this time of year. They have waves of 20 to 25 feet down there," he said.

Clements, on Jan. 4, had predicted the well would be capped before the end of the month, but weather and equipment problems interfered, he said.

Clements also told the news conference he has six new ideas for Texas tax relief, but did not reveal any of them.

Earlier Tuesday, Clements had met South Texas shrimpers who claim they are suffering from rising fuel prices, bad harvests and the loss of access to winter shrimping grounds off Mexico.

Clements toured facilities near Brownsville where 200 shrimp boats, about half the Brownsville-Port Isabel fleet, are harbored.

Shrimp fishermen told the governor they usually have slow months in the winter, but this year has been especially hard.

There is an obligation to clear this matter up ... immediately if we can," he said.

"We've got to protect individual rights. But I think the American people need to have their faith restored in the American political process."

Hefflin said his committee might go to court to force the Justice Department's cooperation in its inquiry, but he said he hoped some settlement could be reached without legal action.

At this point, officials said, the House and Senate ethics panels lack independent information on which to conduct effective probes of their own.

Rep. Charles Bennett, D-Fla., chairman of the House committee, said that a Justice Department refusal to share its information would leave his committee with little to go on.

But he also said he would prefer to delay the committee inquiry, which would concentrate on possible violations of House rules, if it would imperil the FBI's case.

"If it means that persons would escape criminal prosecution because of a committee hearing, obviously people should not be allowed to escape criminal prosecution," Bennett said.

However, several members of the two panels are known to feel strongly that some investigation should go forward even in the face of an FBI refusal to cooperate.

Meeting with House leaders during the day Tuesday, Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti urged a three-month delay in any Capitol Hill inquiry, according to several congressional sources.

Even if wrongdoing were found, the House and Senate panels have no authority to exact punishment. They can only recommend punishment ranging from a reprimand to expulsion from Congress.

In all, some 20 public officials and 10 businessmen and lawyers have been implicated in the 14-month investigation, in which sources say FBI undercover men posed as aides to Iranian President Abolhassan Bani Sadr today angrily denounced the Moslem militants holding the U.S. Embassy hostages in Tehran as "dictators who have created a government within a government."

Bani Sadr's attack, his strongest yet on the embassy militants, came after they broadcast allegations that the minister of information and national guidance, Nasser Minachi, had "close links with the CIA." Minachi was arrested by revolutionary guards without government authorization at about midnight Tuesday.

The minister had denied the allegations before being seized at his home.

The new tension between Bani Sadr and the militants arose as Iranian officials gave conflicting signals on whether the establishment of a U.N. investigation of the ex-shah's regime would lead to the release of the approximately 50 embassy hostages.

It was announced Tuesday night that Bani Sadr had been chosen chairman of Iran's ruling Revolutionary Council, strengthening his position and raising hopes among those who expect him to try to get the American hostages released.

The new president, stung by the arbitrary arrest of Minachi, told the Tehran daily newspaper Kayhan that although the militants may not realize it they are paving the way for lawlessness in the country.

"How could you expect a government employee to go to work feeling secure," he said.

"When there is no legal or judicial security in the country, that will undoubtedly lead to disorder."

Bani Sadr also attacked the state-owned television network for acting without prior government approval in giving the embassy militants air time Tuesday night to broadcast their allegations.

The militants found documents in the embassy files "proving the existence of close links between Nasser Minachi ... and both the U.S. Embassy and the CIA," Tehran Radio reported in a broadcast monitored in Kuwait.

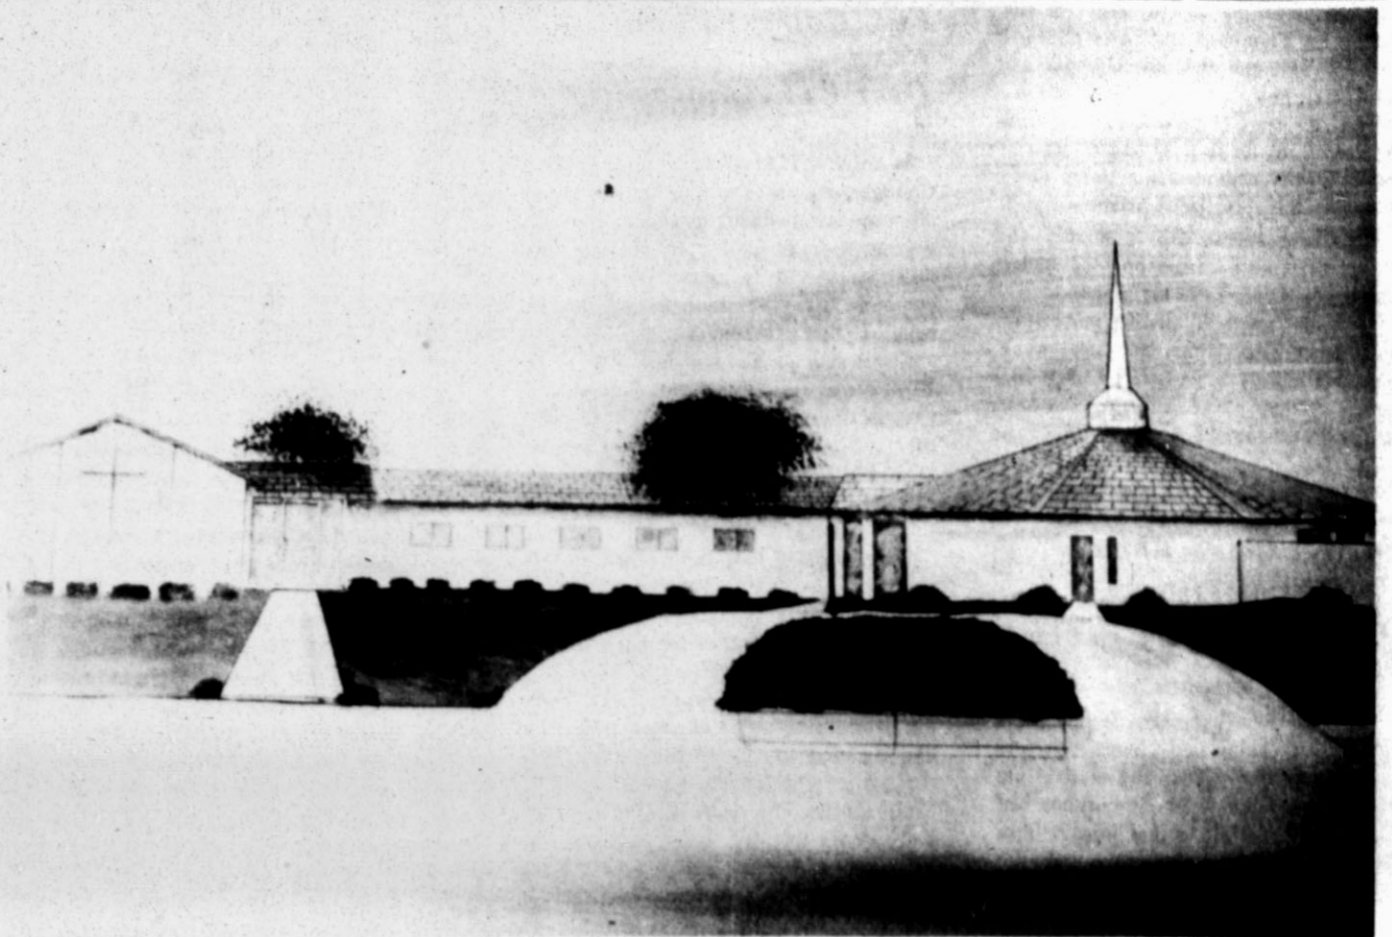

Until today, Bani Sadr's criticism of the militants had been confined to statements to the effect that the new government alone must make decisions for the country.

Council spokesman Hassan Habibi announced Bani Sadr's selection Tuesday night and said it was subject to approval by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

But this seemed merely a formality since Iran's 79-year-old revolutionary leader endorsed Bani Sadr when he swore him in as president Monday in the hospital where the ayatollah is recuperating from a heart attack.

Habibi said parliamentary elections would begin March 7. Bani Sadr is expected to name

Proposed Church Sanctuary

Hereford Church of the Nazarene, 248 W. 16th, plans to build a 7,000-square-foot sanctuary [right end of painting] with new offices, classrooms and baptistry. The new building will adjoin the west portion of the existing church and will cost approximately $275,000, according to The Rev. Bob Huffaker, pastor. Deaf Smith County Sheriff Travis McPherson painted the proposed finished church.

Justice To Withhold Evidence

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Justice Department will withhold from congressional ethics committees evidence the FBI has amassed on eight congressmen allegedly implicated in the bureau's political corruption inquiry, the chairman of one of the panels said today.

"That was the indication given to me" at a meeting Tuesday night with Assistant Attorney General Philip Heymann, Sen. Howell Heflin, Senate Ethics Committee chairman, said in a CBS-TV interview.

Heflin, D-Ala., noted that his committee planned to meet with Heymann and other Justice Department officials later today.

"Unless they (the officials) change their mind, I think they will tell (the committee) that they don't think it would be proper to turn over the evidence and the information that they have," Heflin said.

A source close to Heflin said earlier that the Justice Department was concerned with protecting "the integrity of its own investigation."

Heymann, who runs the department's Criminal Division, also planned an appearance before the House ethics committee today.

Heflin, a former appeals court judge, said he was "torn between a lot of responsibilities and obligations."

"There is an obligation to clear this matter up ... immediately if we can," he said.

Guards' Protection Was First Concern

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) - Authorities knew inmates were being killed and mutilated soon after a 36-hour state prison uprising began, but put off storming the facility to protect guards being held hostage, officials say.

The death toll in the weekend rebellion at the New Mexico State Penitentiary has been revised several times. Gov. Bruce King's office said Tuesday that at least 36 inmates died -- some of drug overdoses and a few from fire, but most at the hands of other prisoners.

Warden Jerry Griffin said 33 bodies had been found, but a King aide said that count did not include three bodies found in a burned prison gymnasium that some convicts said was used as a torture chamber.

Authorities said about 50 inmates were unaccounted for, but said that did not mean they should be presumed dead or missing. A number still refused to identify themselves Tuesday.

Col. Bill Fields, commander of the National Guard troops called to the scene early Saturday, said there was "some talk" of storming the penitentiary when officials learned inmates were being killed.

"But our primary concern was that they had the hostages and we wanted to do everything we could to get them out alive," he said.

The siege ended Sunday afternoon when a Special Weapons and Tactics team and about 60 National Guardsmen seized the ravaged prison without firing a shot.

Fields said he was aware some inmates had been tortured as early as 7:30 a.m. Saturday when a wounded prisoner was released.

"A doctor told me he had

Storm Forces Schools

To Close In South

A winter storm left a blanket of snow over much of Dixie today, forcing many schools to close in Virginia, Tennessee and Georgia, where accumulations ranged up to 7 inches deep.

It was only the second snow of the season for Tennessee and parts of North Carolina and the first for Georgia and South Carolina.

Up to 4 inches of snow fell as far south as Dublin in central Georgia, with 7 inches in the northern mountains and 3 inches in the suburbs of Atlanta.

Four to 5 inches fell in middle and western Tennessee and up to 2 inches was reported in northeast Alabama.

Kentucky got 1 to 3 inches more snow on top of that which fell last week. Meanwhile, the Coast Guard closed 13.7 miles of the Ohio River in western Kentucky to loaded barges because of low water caused by frozen tributaries.

Soviets Claim China

Training Afghan Rebels

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass today said Chinese advisers were being sent across the border into Afghanistan along with "thousands" of Afghan rebels trained in China to fight the Soviet-backed Afghan government.

"We have facts indicating that Chinese advisers and instructors often accompany their charges on their bandit raids," Tass said in a dispatch from its correspondents in Kabul, the Afghan capital.

Tass said the Afghan rebels in the province were armed with American-made weapons and said two of them taken as prisoners were carrying photographs of themselves dressed in Chinese army uniforms.

"When questioned the bandits testified that these pictures were taken at one of the special bases for training anti-Afghan bandit rebel formations in the Chinese province of Xinjiang," Tass said.

It quoted a spokesman for the Afghan Ministry of Interior saying the Chinese had turned its approximately 50-mile-long border with Afghanistan, in the northeastern province of Badakhshan, "into source of constant tension."

FCC Going To Court

Over PTL Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission, rejecting claims of harassment, said today it would go to federal court to obtain the documents and testimony it needs to complete an investigation of a well-known religious broadcaster.

The decision to file suit against the PTL Club and its president, television evangelist James O. Bakker, was disclosed in the FCC's first public statement on the investigation of Bakker's financial activities since the probe began last March.

Over the last 11 months, Bakker has repeatedly accused the commission of violating his First Amendment guarantee of religious freedom, often using his TV program to make the charges.

Last month, Bakker announced from his headquarters in Charlotte, N.C., he had decided to ignore the latest FCC request for additional testimony and PTL Club records. The request came after he had already testified for several days in Washington, Bakker noted, and proved the FCC was "on a fishing expedition."

Despite the number of telephone inquiries and letters generated by Bakker's comments to his viewers, the FCC had refused until now to comment on the matter.

Jimmy Dean Settles

In Brother's Lawsuit

DALLAS (AP) — Country singer Jimmy Dean has settled out court with his brother Don Dean, who sued him for libel and slander, the Dallas Times Herald reported today.

The new paper said the singer agreed to pay his brother $4.2 million to settle the lawsuit.

The Dean brothers had been equal partners in the Jimmy Dean sausage firm until the entertainer bought out his brother in 1976. But afterward, in radio and newspaper interviews, Jimmy Dean was critical of his brother's part in running the company.

Jimmy Dean, who recorded the hit country song "Big Bad John" in the 1960s, was critical of a company decision to reduce the one-pound pork sausage package to 12 ounces. He said it was an attempt to fool housewives into thinking they were buying a full pound.

Two years ago Jimmy Dean obtained a court order keeping Don from visiting their mother's home at Plainview. Two months later Don filed the libel and slander suit, saying Jimmy damaged his reputation.

Inmates Complained

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas and New Mexico prison inmates have, in the past four years, filed complaints in federal court charging inhumane treatment and unsanitary living conditions.

Today, while Texas prisons are quiet, the New Mexico State Penitentiary has been reduced to a blood-spattered, smoldering hulk — a reminder that violence is an inmate's constant companion.

In 1977, a class action suit filed by New Mexico inmates charged the prisons were overcrowded and prisoners were receiving improper treatment.

Eight Texas inmates brought a long list of charges against the Texas Department of Corrections in October, 1978.

Both suits were similar but the New Mexico suit, on which no action has been taken, proved to be chillingly prophetic with its charge that overcrowding led to incidents of prison violence.

The carnage that exploded in the Sante Fe facility over the weekend left 35 prisoners dead. Some had been castrated, some had been dismembered, some had been tortured with blowtorches. Fifteen are still missing.

Even though Texas prisons have nearly doubled their inmate population in the past seven years — from 17,000 in 1974 to 29,000 today — the only recent incident occurred in 1978 when 1,300 inmates rioted over years ago in support of the suit filed by prisoners.

Following the incident, W.J. Estelle, TDC director, said "overcrowding could lead to more violence even though 90 percent of the inmates want to avoid further disturbances."

"Overcrowding is relative," a TDC spokesman said Tuesday. "Of course, we have more prisoners than in the past, but we are able to absorb them into the system."

He said some TDC inmates were sleeping on mattresses placed on the floors, and that cells originally built for one person were now housing two.

During the Houston trial William Turner, attorney for the prisoners, said TDC inmates were "constantly in fear of assault and punishment."

Leonard Ortega Diza, 28, serving a 15-year armed robbery sentence, testified his jaw had been broken and eardrum ruptured when hit by two prison officials.

Alan Lamar, 41, also serving an armed robbery sentence, told the federal judge in Houston nepotism among prison guards was a problem. "We are not getting the best of possible officers because there are too many brothers and cousins of present officers getting jobs here now," he said.

Lamar also said he found roaches in the food and the TDC dining facilities were unsanitary. He said he only ate one meal a day in the mess hall.

"The other meals I buy at the commissary with money sent to me by my family," he said.

TDC officials denied the inmates' allegations and a prisoners' rights attorney said "The Texas Department of Corrections is the best around. There's hardly ever violence and there's no corruption at all."

Trying to explain why Sante Fe exploded and TDC has remained calm, Estelle said Tuesday. "The chances of a prison riot depends on the total operation of an institution."

"One of the first things of all is a legitimate work program for the inmates. Security measures are important, but self-help opportunities and credible respect between inmates and staff are also important."

Presidential Debates Scheduled in Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Four Republicans and three Democrats are being invited to sit down for two face-to-face nationally televised debates from Florida before the state's presidential primary.

The Tallahassee Democrat newspaper and the Florida Economics Club quietly invited the seven candidates last week for debates in the state Capitol the week before the Florida primary on March 11.

President Carter, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and California Gov. Jerry Brown were invited for a March 5 Democratic debate by the organizers, Democrat Executive Editor Walker Lundy and club president Stan Tait.

The Republicans invited for a March 6 debate were Ronald Reagan, George Bush, Howard Baker and John Connally.

Lundy and Tait said Tuesday that they no longer believe the situations in Afghanistan and Iran are valid reasons for Carter to refuse to confront his opponents. The president originally scheduled a debate in Iowa last month but later backed out.

"We hope the president will be as willing to debate now as he was four years ago when he was the challenger," Lundy and Tait, a local public relations executive, said in a joint statement.

"We recognize, of course, that in American politics front-runners often have avoided debating their rivals. That may be good politics for the individual candidate, but we don't believe it's good for the country."

The organizers added that if Carter turns down the invitation, Kennedy and Brown "may wish to employ a political tactic often used by challengers when the front-runner won't debate — the technique of debating the empty chair of the missing candidate."

Although Republicans John Anderson, Phil Crane and Robert Dole were not invited, Lundy and Tait said all three probably would be allowed to take part if they asked. They said the three were not invited because "we want to try to get as much participation by the major candidates as possible."

Lundy and Tait also said they have taken the first steps toward lining up possible nationwide television coverage of the debate.

Two public stations, WFSU-TV in Tallahassee and WGBH-TV in Boston, have agreed to handle the technical production and to make a pool feed available to the Public Broadcasting Service, which has 281 affiliates, and the three commercial television networks.

Lundy and Tait proposed holding two-hour debates, with questions to be posed by a group of national political reporters. The debates would be held in the House chamber of the Capitol, a glass-enclosed, aquarium-like room that seats 500 persons on the floor and in the galleries.

Telegrams extending the invitation were sent to the candidates last Friday. Brown accepted an earlier invitation but none of the candidates has replied to the most recent offer.

Cronkite Plans To Leave Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Cronkite, who for years has been telling Americans "that's the way it is" as an anchorman of the CBS Evening News, says he wants to move to other assignments for the network.

Cronkite, in an interview with The Washington Post published today, said he plans to leave the Evening News program no later than November 1981, when his contract expires.

"I have no intention of leaving the air," he said. "It's just my intention to slow down a little and not be frozen to the daily grind."

Cronkite, 63, said he wants to take on other assignments for CBS. "It's just not in my plans to continue with the Evening News," he explained. "I'd like to do some deeper things."

Cronkite helped put — and keep — the CBS news program at the top of the ratings a decade ago. He first took the anchorman position in 1962 when CBS expanded its evening news show to a half hour.

In addition to his weeknight appearances on the Evening News, Cronkite interviewed leading figures of the times, traveled with presidents on major foreign trips and covered the major events of America's space program.

Cronkite said network officials asked him several weeks ago about his Evening News plans. "I told them that I'd like to be able to step out right now, but they won't let me do it right away," he said.

Speculation over who would replace Cronkite as anchorman and managing editor of the newscast has centered on two other CBS newsmen — Dan Rather and Roger Mudd. Both reportedly have been courted by ABC and NBC.

Engineer Body Freed from Train

DENISON, Texas (AP) — It took nearly 12 hours to cut the body of an engineer from the wreckage of a massive train derailment that also injured two crewmen, destroyed 59 grain cars and spilled more than $1 million worth of corn on the ground.

Officials with the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad said 79 loaded grain cars rolled down an incline at a rail yard and smashed into a switch-engine early Tuesday.

More than 50 of the 130-ton cars derailed on impact, gouging up several hundred yards of newly repaired track and spilling corn as high as six feet deep in places.

Officials at the scene said the wrecked cars carried about 240,000 bushels of corn, with an estimated market value of $1 million.

Cleanup crews were to work through the night, hoping to have the track cleared by this afternoon, company officers said.

Chris Putsche, general transportation supervisor for the railroad, said the switch engine was on a routine run to pick up some cars a few miles north of the Ray Yard, when the grain cars began moving.

"For some reason," he said, "the cars of grain rolled out of the yard, overtook and slammed into the switcher." He said the runaway cars traveled about a

Channels To Remain Off Air

Channels 11 and 13 on Hereford Cable-TV will remain off the air for at least two or three days. Cablevision manager Lloyd Ames said Tuesday.

The two Dallas-Ft. Worth stations went off the air in Hereford around 11 p.m. Tuesday.

"West Texas Microwave, who we buy our channels from, is relocating their Sweetwater tower and we'll be off the air until they get it moved," Ames said.

Juveniles Arrested For Theft

Hereford police Tuesday implicated two more juveniles in a purse-snatching and tire-slashing ring, bringing to six the total number of youths arrested.

The two youths were each charged with one count of automobile burglary in connection with two recent purse thefts in Hereford. Their ages are 16 and 14.

Police, in an otherwise slow day Tuesday, issued eight traffic citations and investigated one minor accident.

been cleaved across the head and his hands were almost chopped off. It gave me a pretty good indication," he said.

Medical Examiner James Weston said a team of anthropologists would search for more victims in the prison gymnasium and a dormitory considered unsafe to enter Tuesday because of fire damage.

Weston said one prisoner had been beheaded and another arrived at the morgue with a rod through his head. He said it appeared both mutilations occurred after death. He said other mutilations were confirmed, but most of the dead had been beaten and stabbed.

Authorities have said much of the violence apparently was directed against informants, but prison psychologist Dr. Marc Orner said racial hostility and personal grudges also appeared to be factors.

Attorney General Jeff Bingaman has promised a complete investigation and said inmate ringleaders could face the death penalty under a section of state law allowing capital punishment for "anyone found guilty of killing an informant."

Griffin said Tuesday he thought the guards' lives were spared because there was "a mutual trust" between them and the prisoners.

Griffin's comments were met with jeers by women outside the prison who shouted insults at police and demanded to see the governor.

Meanwhile Tuesday, prisoners from the devastated prison were being moved to other federal institutions until New Mexico officials can determine where to house them.

a wealthy Arab sheik willing to buy favors from congressmen and other public officials.

The undercover agents paid out almost $500,000 in cash, but sources said fewer than half the officials actually took money. Some transactions were videotaped by the agents.

Besides state and local officials in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, sources say subjects of the FBI investigation include Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., and Reps. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y.; Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J.; Michael O. Myers, D-Pa.; Raymond F. Lederer, D-Pa.; John W. Jenrette, D-S.C.; John

P. Murtha, D-Pa., and Richard Kelly, R-Fla.

Most of them have denied any wrongdoing.

A source said Tuesday that "the cases of those eight will be presented to grand juries."

A source close to the investigation also has said a ninth member of Congress may be involved in the case. But the source said that at this time that individual, who was not identified, does not appear to be the subject of further scrutiny.

The FBI's handling of the investigation — and leaks to the media about it — have been criticized by several congressmen.

A spokesman for Rep. Ted Weiss said Tuesday the New York Democrat planned to call for a congressional investigation into the FBI's activities.

Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., also lambasted the Justice Department, saying he believes the FBI was "trying to harass and entrap innocent citizens and to play games with U.S. senators."

Civiletti, appearing before a Senate investigations subcommittee, ran into criticism from senators upset at news accounts of the FBI investigation.

"Reputations have been irreparably damaged," said

Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev.

Sen. Lowell Weicker Jr., R-Conn., told Civiletti: "The basic question here is that without any presentation to a grand jury, without any indictments, this is all out here in full view. Does it not make a fair trial very difficult?"

Civiletti said he shared the Senate's concern about the leaks to the media, adding he had ordered an "intensive investigation" to determine their source.

In general, however, he confirmed news accounts of the FBI inquiry, saying they are "quite expansive and quite explicit."

Hance

vote. Panken is running again.

The 22nd District, which runs along the Gulf Coast from Houston to the Brazosport area, has seen extremely close races three times in a row between Paul and former Rep. Bob Gammage, a Democrat.

Paul first defeated Gammage in a 1975 special election. Gammage won in 1976 and Paul reversed the results again in 1978.

Gammage has filed for another stab at Congress, but he has to contend with opposition in the Democratic primary first.

Some Washington observers also forecast potentially tough races for Rep. Bob Eckhardt, a Houston Democrat, and Rep. Abraham "Chick" Kazen Jr., a Democrat from Laredo.

Both longtime congressmen face primary and general election tests, as does Rep. J.J. "Jake" Pickle, a Democrat from Austin.

All three are Washington veterans, with Eckhardt and Kazen here since 1966 and Pickle since 1963.

One Democratic congressman, who asked not to be identified by name, called it "very difficult" to knock off an incumbent in a Texas primary.

Wyatt and Rep. Martin Frost, a Democrat from Dallas, did it last time but it had been 22 years since a similar feat.

The Republicans doubled their number in the Texas congressional delegation from two to four in the last election.

Gov. Bill Clements, among others, has spoken of a Republican push to take over in the 4th District being vacated by Roberts.

J.L. "Jim" Gully, a Tyler drilling contractor, was the only candidate to file for the district's Republican primary. The Democratic side had two candidates, oil company attorney Jerdy Gary of Denison and Rockwall attorney Ralph Hall.

The 14th District, opened by Wyatt's decision to step out of the race, has a full slate of candidates in both parties.

Lined up for the Democratic primary are state Sen. William "Patman" of Ganado, Nueces County Judge Robert N. Barnes and Corpus Christi businessmen Joe Salem and Jason Luby.

Republicans are Russ Baird, a Wharton businessman, and Gerald D'Unger, a Corpus Christi oil and gas operator.

Iran

his cabinet after the elections.

Bani Sadr's foes in the council lost their first round against him when they failed in an attempt to delay his swearing-in as president until after the elections.

They lost again with his selection as council chairman.

Bani Sadr's emergence as head of Iran's top policy-making body marked a complete reversal in his fortunes since November, when he was ousted as foreign minister for adopting too moderate a stance toward the hostage crisis.

U.S. officials are now more optimistic than ever that Bani Sadr will be able to bring about the release of the captives, and there is speculation former U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young may be tapped as a go-between.

Iran's economic counselor in Washington, Kamban Movasaghi, speculated Tuesday the hostages might be released March 21, the start of the Iranian new year. He said the coming formation of a government by Bani Sadr and the Revolutionary Council's agreement to an international commission to investigate the regime's charges against the shah were "plus points as far as the situation goes."

The approximately 50 hostages began their 95th day of captivity. They were seized

Nov. 4 by militant students who took over the U.S. Embassy and demanded that the U.S. government return Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi to Iran for trial.

A group of 49 Americans sympathetic to the embassy militants' cause was to arrive in Tehran today at their invitation.

but it was not known if Bani Sadr would meet with them.

The militants invited the Americans to Tehran to use them as a publicity pipeline to the U.S. public, replacing the TV coverage they have been denied since the expulsion of all American reporters from Iran.

Obituaries

STEVE HUSMANN

Funeral services for a former longtime Hereford resident, Steve Arnold Husmann, 29, of Stratford will be at 3 p.m. today in St. Anthony's Catholic Church here. Officiating will be Monsignor George A. Husmann of the Dodge City, Kans. Cathedral.

Interment will be in Rest Lawn Memorial Park Cemetery by Morrison Funeral Directors of Stratford.

Mr. Husmann was killed late Monday in a pickup accident about four miles west of Stratford on an unmarked county road where his vehicle apparently left the roadway and struck a culvert head-on. Texas Department of Public Safety officials said Husmann was alone in the pickup at the time of the accident.

Born in Canyon, Mr. Husmann was raised in Hereford, where he graduated from high school in 1966. He was also a graduate of South Plains College at Levelland. He had farmed in the Stratford area since moving there in 1977.

He is survived by the widow, Rhonda; a son, Timothy of the home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A.H. Husmann of Boley, Okla.; three brothers, Matt and Danny Husmann, both of Stratford, and Johnny Husmann of Gruver; five sisters, Mrs. Jeanette Artho of Dalhart, Mrs. Mary Pool of Stratford, Mrs. Phyllis Kuper and Mrs. Christy Cox, both of Griggs, Okla., and Mrs. Judy Williams of Commerce; and his grandmother, Mrs. Edna Lemons of Laverne, Okla.

Among the local survivors is an aunt, Mrs. Marvin Diller of Dawn.

Although Republicans John Anderson, Phil Crane and Robert Dole were not invited, Lundy and Tait said all three probably would be allowed to take part if they asked. They said the three were not invited because "we want to try to get as much participation by the major candidates as possible."

Lundy and Tait also said they have taken the first steps toward lining up possible nationwide television coverage of the debate.

Two public stations, WFSU-TV in Tallahassee and WGBH-TV in Boston, have agreed to handle the technical production and to make a pool feed available to the Public Broadcasting Service, which has 281 affiliates, and the three commercial television networks.

Lundy and Tait proposed holding two-hour debates, with questions to be posed by a group of national political reporters. The debates would be held in the House chamber of the Capitol, a glass-enclosed, aquarium-like room that seats 500 persons on the floor and in the galleries.

Telegrams extending the invitation were sent to the candidates last Friday. Brown accepted an earlier invitation but none of the candidates has replied to the most recent offer.

The dead engineer, Jimmy Derischweiler, 31, was crushed beneath the engine car and buried under dozens of grain cars.

"All we know at this point is that the grain cars were parked at the 'Y' in the Ray Yards waiting for power to take them south," said Katy northern division manager, M.L. Janovec. "They broke loose and rolled down the track, gaining momentum as they rolled toward the river."

The dead engineer, Jimmy Derischweiler, 31, was crushed beneath the engine car and buried under dozens of grain cars.

Peace Justice Charles Odle pronounced Derischweiler dead at the scene about 3 a.m., but workers were unable to remove his body until shortly after 2 p.m.

The two crewmen were pulled to safety shortly after the wreck.

The two youths were each charged with one count of automobile burglary in connection with two recent purse thefts in Hereford. Their ages are 16 and 14.

Police, in an otherwise slow day Tuesday, issued eight traffic citations and investigated one minor accident.

Bulldogs Squeak By Whitefaces 59-52

Over And Under

Darrell Polk [55] goes up for a set shot over Plainview's Kenneth Storey [44] while Mike Fraser [35] gets ready to rebound the shot. Polk fouled out of the game, but not before he had accumulated 19 points as Hereford's high point man. The Herd lost the decision however 59-52. (Photo by Mauri Montgomery).

Brand Sports Editor

There were any one of several things that probably helped administer the Whiteface boys varsity basketball team its untimely first game--first loss in the second round of district competition Tuesday night, as they handed over a 59-52 squeaker to the Plainview Bulldogs.

But if any two could be given more prominence in the long line of causes--the top choices would have to fall under the headings of a fourth foul to HHS post Polk (high point man for Hereford with 20 points) in the waning minutes of the third period, and a Hereford shooting blight in the same period which hit the Whitefaces on the least desired occasion.

After containing a lead that lasted the entire length of the first two quarters' play and which spread to as much as 10 points several times, the Whitefaces walked into the locker room at intermission tossing a 28-21 advantage over the Bulldogs.

And that Hereford lead continued even into late segments of the third period as Polk attempted to tip in a missed shot--missed himself and tipped it again for a bucket with 3:30 remaining to tilt the scales in the Whitefaces direction 36-27.

At that point in the contest the Hereford cagers had just about everything they wanted short of the victory, but what the Whitefaces didn't count on was the fact that the Polk score and two more just like it would be the end of the scoring for the Herd throughout the rest of the third period, and that Plainview would knock in 10 more points of their own in that quarter.

Nor did they expect to lose their big man--Polk--to his four foul (two back-to-back calls in less than half of the game right when they could have used him the most.

They were insignificant little things, but when added up, eventually gave the Bulldogs their first lead of the game.

With the score board showing Hereford out in front 40-37 at the third period came to a close, the Whitefaces managed to grab another score shortly into the final quarter as Gary Parman stole the ball--fed it to Joe Walker and Walker rifled the ball to Mike Fraser for a fast-break layup that separated the two teams by a margin of 42-37.

But on Plainview's next possession Kenneth Storey (Plainview's scoring leader with 17 points for the contest) drove down the basketline and stuffed a shot with 6:10 left.

It was that play that became the catalyst for the Bulldogs final onslaught because Plainview continued to score during a two minute duration and all of them were unanswered by Hereford replies.

Plainview's K.T. Taylor netted a 15 foot jump shot at 4:50 to double up the two teams scores at 42-42 and Storey followed on the very next possession to give the Dogs the first advantage of the match.

Even though the Herd tied the clash back up 44-44 30 seconds later upon the return of Polk to the game the damage had been done.

Polk tied the contest up once more with 3:13 remaining in the game as he sank a 25 foot shot from the corner and after despite two more Plainview scores, Norman Hill popped in both ends of a charity situation to keep HHS in the game with a two point deficit 50-48.

But the final blow which added injury upon insult, came at 2:17 left in the contest.

The Herd's big man had fouled-out and thus virtually eliminated the Whitefaces defensive threat to PHS's Storey. Storey had been intimidated more than once by Polk earlier, but now the threat was gone.

Hereford's Hill hit two out of two from the charity line at 1:41 to keep the score at a two point spread 52-50, with less than two minutes remaining but random and wild shooting from Storey and countless Bulldog foul shots took their toll in the final minute of the game.

And the result was that the Bulldogs had gotten the better of the Herd this round.

"We shot really well in the first half, but we were forced out of our offense in the second and we just weren't mature enough to set it up again," said Coach Bob Decker. "We had them 40-29 at one point in the third quarter, and they ended up killing us in that period. I should have used one of our timeouts, but I really felt like we were on the verge of making some shots when we got cold so I'll take the credit for the turn of events in the third quarter."

When asked how much of an impact Polk's leaving had Decker said, "Well, it wasn't only Darrell's leaving that hurt us in the third quarter because we sat back in our haunches a little there in the second half, but anytime Darrell comes out of the game it takes something away from our team--not only scoring wise, but also mentally."

Hemphill, Dogettes Upend HHS Girls

By MAURI MONTGOMERY

There's just no denying it. Plainview Dogette Gay Hemphill is pretty near unstoppable at home or otherwise, and the Hereford Whitefaces girls varsity basketball team would be the last one to deny it as they succumbed to Hemphill and the Dogettes 47-43 Friday night in Plainview for the second time this year.

The Whitefaces slipped to a 15-10 mark on the year and to 1-1 in second round district play while the Dogettes extended their season record to 20-10 and also took a 1-1 mark in second half district play.

But if there's one thing that the loss didn't take away from the Hereford girls it was the undying optimism of their coach Larry Sowers.

"Hemphill is a super athlete and Plainview is a good team--I've said so about both earlier this season, but the thing is we could have had this one here tonight," said Sowers. "Losing this game tonight might take a little edge of our play against Monterey Friday, but it might take a little of the pressure off us too because before we had to win them all and now that we've lost one we can't do any worse than lose the rest--we've got nothing to lose and everything to gain."

The Dogettes jumped out into an early first-quarter eight point lead and even though the Whitefaces made a run on that score following their first point at 4:46, Plainview still managed to command a lead of 12-7 at that quarters close.

And once Plainview had attained the lead there was no way short of knocking out Hemphill that would enable the Whitefaces to take it away from them.

The Dogette post had acquired seven points (the total of the Herd's scoring in the first quarter) at the end of the first period and later netted eight of the 11 points Plainview added up in the second period.

With less than 30 seconds gone out of the second quarter, Hemphill pumped in a 20 foot jumper to bring PHS out front 14-7 and then barreled down the lane for a second bucket shortly afterward as she dropped in a layup to extend the Dogette's score two points further.

But that's when Louise Mays (high scorer for the Herd with a tally of 17 points) got a little tired of the one sided scoring and took a few shots of her own. With 4:01 left in the second period she knocked in two consecutive one-and-one situations for four points and narrowed the Herd's scoring deficit to 18-11.

Then she tried out her field shooting and parlayed on two back-to-back shots from the outer-limits with two minutes left to bring the scoring gap between the two teams to only three slight points.

But the Hereford advance was short lived however. Dogette cager Hemphill hit two buckets from inside the lane with less than a minute remaining while Kim Laird (Plainview's second leading scorer with seven) hit the front of a charity opportunity to give PHS an eight point 23-15 upphand at the arrival of halftime.

That three point deficit in the second period became the closest distance the squads would ever see in the remainder of the contest because Plainview later pulled out to a 10 point lead in the third quarter.

Even with May's scoring sprees, Terry Harkin's timely shots, and corner shots provided by Cathy Lane, the Herd could never make up the deficit entirely for one Gay Hemphill remained on the lose. And the Whitefaces couldn't shut her down.

"We over concentrated on Hemphill--directed all our defense to her in our last game with them, but this time we loosened up and just played flexible and I think it was pretty successful considering she only hit us for 21 points rather than the 38 she got last time," said Sowers. "I really think rebounds hurt us tonight because we've got this bad habit of letting them come to us instead of going to meet them and it's hard to win off the boards like that. That's why Hemphill hurt us as badly as she did--because she was getting our rebounds."

"I was really pleased with Louise's play tonight. She played very well and on offensive especially," he said. "She finally looked like she came out of her shell and started being a leader which is something she hasn't shown before. She intimidated them rather than being intimidated."

"Even though we lost tonight, I still think we are capable of coming off the defeat to take on Monterey and I feel we can beat them. We'll be playing at home and it will be the last home game for our seniors so I think they'll be ready to get after it."

Boxers Take Titles

The Hereford Golden Gloves Boxing Team traveled to Tucumcari N.M. last week to compete in the AAU Tucumcari Boxing Tournament and came away with four championship titles to their credit.

Tracy Casarez defeated Smiley Gutierrez from Tucumcari and Jamie Reiz won his bout over Chris Martinez of Las Vegas, N.M. in the intermediate boxing competition.

In the senior division, David Reiz lost his match with Troy Montoya of Tucumcari while Jesse Herrera defeated Albert Lucero of Tucumcari to round out that divisions competition.

Fabian Reiz defeated Chris Arquello of Raton, N.M. in his bout in the open division boxing.

St. John's Coach Bags No. 20 Again

By The Associated Press

If Lou Carnesecca were a baseball pitcher, he'd be a cinch Hall of Famer. The St. John's University basketball coach makes a habit of winning 20 games every year.

Carnesecca's eighth-ranked Redmen did it again Tuesday night with an easy 89-73 triumph over the University of Baltimore, making loud little Louie a 20-game winner for the seventh year in a row and 10th time in his 12 seasons at the helm.

"I never expected to be 20-2," said Carnesecca, whose overall record is 252-87. "We have a chance to be something good."

St. John's was the only member of The Associated Press Top Twenty in action Tuesday night. The Redmen had a 17-game winning streak snapped by third-ranked Louisville on Sunday and Baltimore, in its second season as a Division I school, was just what the doctor ordered.

"We're a tired club," said Carnesecca, whose team has played 10 games in 23 days. "It was obvious tonight. We didn't have any quickness. It just wasn't there."

Little Louie said he would give the Redmen a day off today since they don't play again until Saturday.

"They need a day's rest. That's why I substituted after five minutes, to keep them fresh. The players were looking at me to come out and you never see that. They always want to stay in. They must be tired."

"I saw it in the Niagara game (eight days earlier). We were lucky against Rhode Island (a one-point victory last Friday) but it caught up to us against Louisville."

Women's Division To Seek Judges

The Chamber of Commerce Women's Division will assist in procuring judges for the upcoming UIL-TFA Speech Tournament. It was decided yesterday by the executive board during their regular monthly business session. Frances Berry, Women's Division president, called the meeting to order in the Chamber board room.

Acting on a request from Hereford High School's speech department, the board agreed to assist in securing volunteers to serve as judges during the March 1st speech contest, to be held here.

Club Honors Member With Layette Shower

A baby shower was held in honor of Dixie Williamson and her infant son, Blake, Friday morning by members of Dawn Extension Homemakers Club in Dawn Community Center.

Hostesses for the club social were Martha Paetzold and Pam Wilson.

Future Fashions Promise Comfort

COLLEGE STATION - Fashions for the 80's promise four things:

to make more sense to emphasize comfort to focus on "self" to change.

"People will be more particular about what they accept -- because of economic conditions, energy and social trends," says Becky Saunders, a clothing specialist.

"Fashion trends will change at a slower pace, but there will always be room for the fun and frivolous. It's human nature to always want something new," she adds.

Ms. Saunders is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

FASHION SENSE
Due to increasing clothing costs, more consumers will make a special effort to sew quality fabrics and buy quality garments.

"Cost-per-wearing" will be important. We'll see longer-lasting, less-faddish garments.

For example, more women will reject suddenly shorter hemlines for spring, but may gradually inch them upward instead.

Clothing purchases may be postponed or budgeted carefully due to rising costs of other items, too, such as housing, transportation, medical care and food.

More consumers will update garments they already own to save money by accessorizing, mixing and matching or changing hem length.

FASHION COMFORT

Energy will affect fashion two ways -- fabric and style. We'll see more fabrics designed to offset warmer living conditions in the summer and cooler ones in the winter.

Styles will do the same. For example, the business world will wear more short sleeves, two-piece suits and open collars.

Also, if transportation becomes scarce -- or prices spiral, one-stop shopping in shopping centers and mail-order buying will increase.

FASHIONS FOR SELF

"Individualized" will be a key mood for the 80's fashion atmosphere. Ms. Saunders says.

More consumers will insist on the "right" design for them to get the most becoming looks.

Also, "image dressing" will be important, especially in career apparel. In other words, looking your best will pay off in the business world, the specialist says.

One recent survey study seems to confirm that -- appearance made an 8-20 percent difference in starting salaries.

What's best, healthy, suitable or impressive will be an Division as Miss Teen Hereford in 1977. Mrs. McDowell is now enrolled at the University of Oklahoma.

A membership report was given with a total of 250 women currently enrolled. Also, the proposed budget for 1980 was approved by the board.

It was announced that Linda Minchew is the featured artist for the month of February at the Chamber office, where her oil paintings will be on display.

Attending the business session were the following board members: Olivia Denning, Betty Gilbert, Mary Herring, Leatrus Clark, Marcia Snyder and Mary Thomas.

The board's next meeting is scheduled at noon March 4 at the chamber office.

Prior to the layette shower, the club convened for a routine business meeting and program. Roll call was answered with "Ways I Can Become a Better Leader." This was also the program topic, discussed by Becky Caraway.

Nine members were in attendance.

overriding influence in 1980's fashions.

For example, more cosmetics will be dual purpose -- good for skin care and appearance. Sporty looks will be big for the 80's.

People involved in keeping fit will make active sportswear important throughout the decade, and the sporty look will influence fashion in general along the way.

TIME, RULES FACTORS
Time management and government regulations will make the mark on the 80's fashions, too.

Technology will promote faster, easier ways to do anything -- even use home computers to scan wardrobe needs, program the laundry or order merchandise.

Government rules will keep an eye on safety and health, and that will make prices rise -- to pay for enforced testing and environmental control.

More products will be recalled, such as cosmetic ingredients and fabric finishes. Also, labels will be more sophisticated.

"CHANGE GUARANTEED"
All in all, the only guarantee for 1980's fashion trends is "change," as the next decade sees the world searching for the "individual," for more energy and for improved economic conditions.

- SPANISH STEW
- 1 pound beef cubes
 - 4 tablespoons flour
 - 3 tablespoons olive oil
 - 1 clove garlic, minced
 - 1 cup onions, diced
 - 1/4 cup Burgundy wine
 - 1 can (15 oz.) Chef Boy-ar-dee® Spaghetti Sauce with Meat
 - 1-1/2 cups carrots sliced diagonally
 - 1 cup green peppers, 1 inch chunks
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
 - 1 box small pearl onions, frozen
 - 1/4 green pepper sliced lengthwise

Dredge beef cubes in flour. Brown meat in skillet; add garlic and onions the last few minutes. Add wine; cover and simmer 3 minutes. Stir in the spaghetti sauce with meat; add carrots, green peppers, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer over medium low heat for 1 hour. Stir occasionally. Cook pearl onions according to package directions; drain. Stir into stew just before serving. Serves 4-6.

Serving Suggestions: Serve stew over a bed of fluffy white rice. Garnish with green pepper strips.

Ann Landers

Sinking Fast

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 27 years old. He is 31. He works hard, doesn't chase other women and doesn't hang around bars.

I have dedicated myself to this man for three years. Because I love him, I have cooked his meals, slept with him and cleaned his house. I believe I've proven my sincerity, and now I want some reassurance that I will be a permanent part of his life.

He says he is unable to make that kind of commitment because he doesn't want to make a promise he may not be able to keep. He claims he doesn't believe in marriage because most marriages don't work, and if I really loved him I wouldn't be concerned about a piece of paper and a ring.

Is marriage all that important, Ann? When I speak of leaving, he says, "It's up to you." Please throw me your lifeline of common sense. I'm--Sinking Fast in Georgia marriage you want, my advice is move out immediately and stop wasting your time. One of two things will happen: He will miss you and ask you to marry him--or he will find another soft-headed female who is willing to cook his meals, sleep with him and clean his house.

If the latter happens, you can either kick yourself for having invested so much love and time and energy--or you can congratulate yourself for having had the good sense to get out when you did.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 15-year-old girl who is a faithful reader. Sure, I have a few problems, but the one I am writing about concerns YOU.

Water Inc. Meet Is Saturday

The 13th annual membership meeting of Water Inc. will be held at the Villa Inn in Amarillo Saturday with a keynote address by Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton set to kick things off at 9 a.m.

Registration for the event will begin at 8 a.m. at a fee of $12 per person, which will include the cost of a noon luncheon.

Rep. Jack Hightower of Vernon will be the featured speaker at Saturday's luncheon.

Other speakers to appear Saturday include Rep. Bob Simpson of Amarillo, Harvey Davis, executive director of the Texas Department of Water Resources, and John Specht, president-elect of the National Water Resources Association.

Recent developments in water policy on the state and national levels and their implications for water importation will be examined during the program.

Water Inc. has supported water importation as the solution to a rapid decline in the underground water supply of the High Plains since 1967.

One of the major arguments used by the organization is that unless water is secured to augment the dwindling underground reserve, the agricultural productivity of this region will be lost.

Water Inc. is supported by voluntary membership contributions by approximately 1,500 individuals.

Membership is open to all interested persons on the High Plains.

WIFE Members Map Plans for Programs

Members of the Deaf Smith County chapter of Women Involved in Farm Economics (WIFE) mapped plans for organization activities in upcoming months during a luncheon meeting at the Hereford Community Center Monday.

Wilma Allred, president of the group, announced that the local chapter will be bringing J.C. Lewis back to Hereford for another presentation on the controversial Trilateral commission.

Lewis presented a program on the topic during a session sponsored by the local WIFE chapter just over a year ago, and since that time has uncovered additional facts and now carries his report through the current crisis in Iran.

The program by Lewis has been scheduled for March 3 at 8 p.m. at the Community Center.

A business meeting will precede the program at 7 p.m.

The April WIFE program will feature Gene Schroeder of El Campo Colorado, who will speak at the Community Center at 8 p.m. on the U.S. Monetary System.

Also scheduled by the local WIFE chapter for March is the second annual Agribusiness Luncheon, which will salute area agribusinessmen and their employees through a free home-prepared meal.

Date for the luncheon is Thursday, March 20, with the event to be held at the Community Center.

The luncheon is held in conjunction with the observance of Agriculture Day, March 21.

Show Comments Invited

Individuals with comments and suggestions concerning the operation of the annual Hereford Livestock Show will have an opportunity to make their views known as the Hereford Young Farmers host a stock show input session tomorrow.

The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room of the Hereford State Bank.

Division superintendents of the stock show will be on hand at the meeting to hear comments and recommendations concerning rules and rules changes.

All interested persons are invited to attend.

Following tomorrow's meeting, members of the Hereford Young Farmers will hold a regular monthly business meeting Tuesday, Feb. 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the Hereford State Bank Community Room for the purpose of reviewing general rules of the livestock show and electing a number of new stock show directors.

During Annual Banquet Saturday

Top Young Farmer, Homemaker to be Honored

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Top achievements by members of the Hereford Young Farmers and Hereford Young Homemakers will be recognized Saturday night during the annual Young Farmers-Young Homemakers Awards Banquet.

The banquet is set for 7 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center, and will feature a dinner catered by K-Bob's Steak House.

Theme for this year's banquet is "Down on the Farm" and Shirley Carlson of the Hereford Young Homemakers is in charge of banquet arrangements.

Highlighting the banquet will be the presentation of the Outstanding Young Farmer and Outstanding Young Homemaker Awards.

George Warner Seed Co. is sponsoring the Outstanding Young Farmer Award, which is presented on the basis of dependability and participation on the part of a member of the Hereford Young Farmers.

A general vote of the Young Farmers membership was utilized to determine the winner of the OYF Award.

The Outstanding Young Homemaker Award will be presented to a member of the Hereford YH chapter on the basis of participation in organization projects as well as community service efforts.

All phases of the home life are considered for the award.

In addition, the Hereford Young Homemakers will also present a Distinguished Service Award to an individual who has rendered long-time service to the local Young Homemakers chapter.

The Deaf Smith Rural Electric Cooperative is the sponsor for the Outstanding Young Homemaker Award, and Southwestern Public Service Co. is the sponsor for the Distinguished Service Award.

Featured entertainers for Saturday night's banquet will be "The Psalm Four."

Business Is Picking Up

Members of the Ford 4-H were in the business of picking up Saturday as they conducted an aluminum drive that ranged southward from the Ford community. Cans and other objects along the shoulders of Highway 385 were the targets of the enthusiastic 4-H'ers as they gathered the aluminum in a project aimed at raising funds for their club. Adult leaders accompanied the youth during the day's activity and the weatherman proved cooperative as clear skies and sunshine greeted the project. A chili dinner was also held at the Ford schoolhouse in conjunction with the project. (Brand photos by Jim Steiert)

WT Vegetable Conference Scheduled for Tuesday

The 19th annual West Texas Vegetable Conference will be held Tuesday, Feb. 12 from 9 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center.

The conference is sponsored by the High Plains Vegetable Growers and Shippers Council, Inc., with the cooperation of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Deaf Smith County Crops Committee, The Panhandle Economic Progress Program, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas Tech University.

Officers of the High Plains Vegetable Growers will be elected during a business session held in conjunction with the conference, and local producers and packers will hear the latest word on outlook for markets for their summer vegetables.

Reports on various aspects of vegetable production research will also be featured.

Among speakers will be Bill Lipe, associate professor of horticulture at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock, Frank Baggerman, research associate at the plant and soil sciences department at Texas Tech in Lubbock; John Downes, professor of plant and soil sciences at Tech; Bill Kingston, professor in charge of the Texas A&M vegetable research facility at Munday, and Max Miller of the food technology department at Texas Tech.

Other speakers will include Creighton Miller, associate professor of horticulture at Texas A&M, area soil chemist Dale Pennington of Lubbock, Kelly Hicks, field representative with the National Potato Board in Denver, and Scott Toothaker, attorney with the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers Association.

Additional speakers include Paul Bailey, Austin marketing specialist, Bob Davis, associate professor of agriculture economics at Texas Tech, and Dan Bartell, associate professor of entomology at Texas Tech. A question and answer period is set to follow the various presentations.

Wes Fisher of Hereford is the current president of the High Plains Vegetable Growers & Shippers Council. Registration fee for the upcoming conference will be $5 to be paid at the door the day of the event.

Dairying Now Ranks Third Among Texas' Ag Industries

COLLEGE STATION — Dairying in Texas continues to grow and is now ranked as the third largest agricultural industry in the state. Some of this growth is due to an influx of out-of-state dairymen who find lower housing costs, favorable milk prices, and lower land taxes in Texas.

With the industry's growth, the importance of efficient dairy herd management becomes even more important, points out Dr. Michael Tomaszewski, dairy specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

To help dairymen in this effort, the Texas Dairy Herd Improvement Association and the Extension Service have developed a program designed to emphasize key areas of management.

"The DHIA program is a herd management system that deals with feeding, breeding, culling and a whole array of decision-making tools to help make dairy programs more efficient," explains specialist.

In the past five years almost 20,000 cows have been added to the program. Any dairyman can become a member of DHIA, yet only 20 percent of Texas dairymen are enrolled. The national average is 35 percent enrollment.

"The program requires a bookkeeping system, and a lot of people don't like to keep books," says Tomaszewski. "But herds enrolled in the program show a 3,000 to 4,000-pound increase in milk production over the non-testing herds."

Increased participation is the goal of the 1980 DHIA program, says the dairy expert.

BROWNWOOD, Texas (AP) — Jury selection is under way for the trial of Brad Bowen, a Texas Christian University football player accused of aggravated kidnapping.

The 22-year-old tight end, whose hometown is Brownwood, is charged with the abduction last Aug. 13 of a convenience store clerk.

Bridgette Faulks, 19, told police she was abducted at gunpoint by a masked man, but managed to escape unharmed after he drove her to a rural location in southern Brown County.

BROWNWOOD, Texas (AP) — Trustees of Howard Payne University have named Dr. Ralph A. Phelps as president.

He was named Tuesday to succeed Roger Brooks, who resigned last May to become vice president of graduate studies at Houston Baptist University.

Phelps has spent the past 16 years as president of Ouachita Baptist University in Arkadelphia, Ark.

OWENTOWN, Texas (AP) — Smith County Sheriff's investigators said they aren't sure if a .22-caliber rifle shot that killed a 64-year-old woman was fired accidentally or on purpose.

Annette Elizabeth Warren was hit in the chest by a single rifle shot while she was hanging out clothes to dry in her yard Monday, deputies said.

She was able to stagger to the porch of her home where her husband, B.J. Warren, helped her inside and ran for help.

Mrs. Warren was dead when authorities arrived.

Investigators said the shot was fired from a long distance, perhaps from L.H. 20, which runs near the Warren home about 10 miles east of Tyler.

Deputies said they are investigating the shooting as a homicide, but said they have not ruled out the possibility that it was an accident.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — If you have much jewelry, silverware or gold and silver coins, you might be underinsured as the booming precious metals market sends their value soaring.

That was the word Tuesday from Jerry Johns, president of the Southwestern Insurance Information Service Inc.

"Many consumers are not aware of how much money they have invested in jewelry and silverware, and even more important, that the total value of these items may not be covered by their standard homeowners policy," Johns said.

"With the rising cost of gold and silver, consumers need to be aware of how much insurance coverage they have on jewelry and other precious items before a major loss occurs."

Officers who voluntarily work overtime hours also should be compensated the same way as other county employees, White said.

"If the county personnel policy makes no provision for overtime pay, then the county need not pay overtime to peace officers who voluntarily work extra hours," White said.

In a separate opinion, White told Lubbock City Attorney John Ross Jr. that the city does not have to reveal plans, estimates and locations for a proposed reservoir project. White said all information about the project must be made public when the transaction is completed.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Kenneth H. Jehn, director of the Atmospheric Science Group and a professor of meteorology at the University of Texas died Tuesday morning. He was 62.

Jehn has been on the UT faculty since 1946 following service as a weather officer during World War II and as an instructor of meteorology at New York University.

For 15 years he was weather consultant for the Texas Broadcasting Co. in Austin, including KTBC-TV.

Funeral services will be Thursday.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Attorney General Mark White said Tuesday he will appeal to the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals the Interstate Commerce Commission decision on a coal hauling rate set by three railroads.

The rail lines — Denver and Rio Grande Western, Santa Fe and Southern Pacific — asked for a rate of $20.85 per ton to haul coal to the Coletto Creek plant of Central Power and Light of Axial, Colo.

The ICC said the protestants, including Texas, failed to show that the railroads dominated the market for such movement of coal, which would be a requirement for ICC to take jurisdiction.

ALICE, Texas (AP) — The U.S. Justice Department has rejected a redistricting plan for Jim Wells County, leaving local officials in a quandary over whether the May 4 primary election will be conducted.

"As far as I am concerned, the federal court order said there can be no election in Jim Wells County until a plan is approved and I'm not going to go against a federal order," County Judge T.L. Harville said Monday.

The county was ordered to redraw precinct lines after the Mexican-American Legal Defense and Education Fund sued commissioners.

The plaintiffs claimed a 1975 redistricting plan failed to reflect the county-wide ratio of 65 percent Mexican-American and 35 percent Anglo within each precinct.

Texas Briefs

Harville said the federal officials rejected the plan because it did not equally divide money for road and bridge districts and diluted Mexican-American voting strength.

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Several schoolchildren received minor injuries Tuesday morning when a school bus loaded with 60 students veered across a county road, slipped into a culvert and flipped over.

Department of Public Safety Sgt. Paul King said most of the students were bruised and cut, but apparently none suffered serious injuries.

"The parents are still bringing them in to be checked," he said.

The bus belonged to the Chapel Hill Independent School district about three miles east of here, King said.

He said the cause of the 8:15 a.m. accident was not known Tuesday afternoon, but troopers will continue the investigation.

The driver of the bus also was uninjured, he said.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Harte-Hanks Communications Inc. on Monday reported a 22 percent increase in net income for 1979.

The San Antonio-based communications company's 1979 revenues were $242,997,000, a $58 million increase over 1978, said president Robert G. Marbut.

He said the cause of the 8:15 a.m. accident was not known Tuesday afternoon, but troopers will continue the investigation.

Department of Public Safety Sgt. Paul King said most of the students were bruised and cut, but apparently none suffered serious injuries.

"The parents are still bringing them in to be checked," he said.

The bus belonged to the Chapel Hill Independent School district about three miles east of here, King said.

He said the cause of the 8:15 a.m. accident was not known Tuesday afternoon, but troopers will continue the investigation.

The driver of the bus also was uninjured, he said.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Harte-Hanks Communications Inc. on Monday reported a 22 percent increase in net income for 1979.

The San Antonio-based communications company's 1979 revenues were $242,997,000, a $58 million increase over 1978, said president Robert G. Marbut.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Painful heels hard to treat

DEAR DR LAMB — I've had pain in my heel about four months. When it started the pain was so bad I could hardly walk. It is greatly improved now but it's not completely well.

I went to a doctor who specializes in the treatment of bone disorders. He looked at my heel and said it was an inflammation of the tendon that stretches from the toe to the heel. He gave me a shot of cortisone in the heel and told me to return in two weeks if it was not well. If anything, it was worse, so he gave me another shot and again told me to come back in two weeks. It didn't improve any.

I cancelled the third visit after hearing it was not good to take too much cortisone. The pain is on the bottom of the heel and spreads to the outer rim in a burning sensation. The most tender spot is in the center just where the arch meets the heel. I know this isn't much help but I hope you can enlighten me as to what I have. Thank you.

DEAR READER — There's no way to be certain exactly what you have without examining your foot and perhaps even looking at an X-ray. The disorder you complain of, pain in the heel, is similar to what many people call a heel spur.

That may be misleading because the little bony spur that develops on the bottom of the heel bone may or may not be associated with actual pain in that area. Some people do have the kind of pain you describe and don't have a bony spur at all. Other people have a bony spur and don't have any pain.

Your description suggests that your doctor was absolutely correct that it's related to soreness and irritation in the area where the tendons and other tissues attach to the bottom of the heelbone. These spread across the arch of the foot. The irritation is often caused by a strain on the arch — the constant pulling at the point of attachment.

It's no surprise then that one of the best forms of treatment is to get the weight off the foot so the pulling doesn't occur. From the foot's point of view, the best idea would be to stay off the foot entirely but, of course, that imposes other problems associated with inactivity.

A good foot doctor will sometimes strap the heel to rotate the foot a little and cause you to walk on the outside of the arch. By walking on the outside of the foot, you don't put all that strain across the center arch of the foot and you decrease the pulling effect. A similar approach is to put a little pad underneath the inside of the foot to change the weight bearing effect on the foot itself.

I am sending two issues of The Health Letter that may be of help to you: Number 11-8, Your Feet And How To Care For Them and Number 11-10, Common Foot Problems: What To Do For Them. Other readers who want either one of these issues can send 75 cents for EACH issue with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

People often don't realize how important it is to take good care of their feet. A good shoe is a prerequisite to good foot health. With good foot care that is described in the two issues that I'm sending you, you can avoid many common foot ailments.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Plant needs dusting

DEAR POLLY — My big and beautiful jade plant is really dusty and I would like to know how to remove the dust without having to wipe each of its thousand leaves one by one. — BRENDA

DEAR BRENDA — If spray misting does not remove the dust then the plant may need an overall shower. Smooth hard-faced leaves can be wiped off with a damp cloth. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — To me the most useful tool one can use in the care of African violets is the nut pick. It easily loosens up the soil between the leaves and if I need to remove a plant from its pot I just punch through the bottom drainage holes. — WANDA

DEAR POLLY — To rid drawers, trunks, etc., of a musty or mothball odor try using a piece of cotton that has been soaked in vanilla. I put such a soaked piece of cotton on top of a plastic lid and place it in an antique trunk, with no danger of it discoloring the wood. — MRS. C.J.G.

DEAR POLLY — When I buy extra weiners I wrap each one separately in aluminum foil and then freeze them. It is very easy to remove just one or two as needed. No more worries about waste or spoilage. — BETSY

DEAR POLLY — Often an odor develops in my microwave oven as it is shut so much of the time. I solved this by placing a little dish containing about two tablespoons of baking soda in the oven when it is not in use. Of course it is removed when I use the oven. The soda is changed periodically just as one does with the box kept in the refrigerator.

I keep a Polly's Pointers file with our other files at home and whenever I have a problem I immediately go to the file to see if it contains an answer. Thanks. — SUSAN

Farm Production, Use of Energy Topic for Amarillo Symposium

AMARILLO — Current research to help producers balance the costs and availability of energy against crop outputs will be detailed Thursday, Feb. 14, during the annual Crop Production and Utilization Symposium at the Texas A&M University Research and Extension Center here.

Scientists from the U.S. Department of Agriculture Southwest Great Plains Research Center at Bushland and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) at Amarillo and Lubbock will report on work relating to agricultural supply and use of energy, said Dr. G.B. Thompson, resident director of research at the Amarillo center.

The symposium, in the auditorium of the center at 6500 Amarillo Blvd. West, will begin at 10 a.m. and conclude at 4 p.m. A Dutch treat lunch will be provided.

The keynote address, "Energy—What Lies Ahead," will be delivered by T.B. Pickens, president of Mesa Petroleum, Amarillo.

During the morning session, at which Thompson will preside,

Ron Allen, USDA agricultural engineer at Bushland, will discuss energy use for food production. Irrigated grain production as a user and a producer of energy will be the topic of Dr. B.A. Stewart, director of the USDA center at Bushland. Harnessing the wind for crop production will be discussed by Dr. Nolan Clark, USDA agricultural engineer at Bushland.

The second session, following lunch, will be opened by Dr. Bill Lyle, TAES agricultural engineer from Lubbock, reporting on work to improve the efficiency of irrigation systems. Pumping efficiency will be the topic of Dr. Arland Schneider, USDA agricultural engineer, Bushland. The energy cost of weeding crops will be discussed by Dr. Allen Wiese, TAES weed scientist, Amarillo. The relationship of fertilizer and energy will be the topic of Dr. Harold Eck, USDA soil scientist, Bushland. The session will be chaired by Paul Gross, district agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The final session will begin with a look at cropping pattern changes in the 1970s, by Dr. Wyatte Harman, TAES agricultural economist, Amarillo. The session also will include reports on research in ways to reduce irrigation energy needs for area crops. Dr. Dan Undersander, TAES agronomist at Amarillo will report on energy reductions for wheat; Jack Musick, USDA agricultural engineer, Bushland, will discuss sorghum; and Dr. Paul Unger, USDA soil scientist, Bushland, will discuss sunflowers and soybeans. Chairman for the session will be Dr. Frank Petr, Extension area agronomist, Amarillo.

Each session will include a period for audience questions and discussion.

Beferendum Co-Chairman Counters Program Claims

"Some cattlemen are being misled about the Beferendum," declares J.D. Sartwelle, a Sealy, Texas rancher who is co-chairman of the Texas Beferendum campaign.

Beferendum is the name used by cattlemen supporting a national Beef Research and Information Program, on which cattlemen will vote February 19-22. Registration for the referendum began January 28 at county ASCS offices and will conclude today.

"Due to the misrepresentations, innuendoes and in some cases outright untruths being circulated, we have decided to call a spade a spade and try to set the record straight," says Sartwelle. "We are disappointed that some Texas organizations are opposing a self-help program designed to help cattlemen. It appears that they either don't understand the program or they are misleading cattlemen for ulterior motives."

Following are Sartwelle's points refuting what he labels "misinformation" being disseminated:

1. The Beferendum is NOT a government program. It is a cattlemen's self-help program initiated by cattlemen, to be financed by cattlemen and run by cattlemen...for the benefit of cattlemen.

2. It will NOT be run by the Secretary of Agriculture. His role is limited to (1) the formality of confirming cattlemen nominated to the Beef Board and (2) monitoring of programs to assure that producers' funds are invested in accordance with the law. Producers should welcome this added protection.

3. Consumers will NOT serve as voting members on the Beef Board. There may be up to five consumer advisors to the board, but these will be nominated by cattlemen. And if cattlemen nominate the right kind of consumers—dietitians, home economists, nutrition researchers, etc.—they will be an asset.

4. Cattlemen will NOT be fined or taken to court for failure to comply. Slaughterers are the only segment of the industry that actually collect and remit funds. If they are suspected of fraud—of collecting but not remitting funds to the Beef Board—they will be taken to court.

5. Foreign beef will NOT be promoted. This program is to promote U.S. beef and to help U.S. producers. If foreign producers were paying assessments, we could not use their money to promote U.S. beef.

6. Current beef promotion programs are NOT adequate. The National Live Stock and Meat Board has a beef budget of only $2.4 million (about 1 cent per capita) to protect and expand beef markets. Authorities say 15 cents to 20 cents per capita is needed.

7. It will NOT take a producer five or six months to get a refund. The law states that a refund must be made within 60 days after a producer requests it.

8. This program IS needed. It's needed to fight anti-beef propaganda, combat beef substitutes, promote the nutritional value of beef and expand foreign markets...all aimed at helping cattlemen.

"For these reasons," concludes Sartwelle, "we urge cattlemen who are concerned about economic stability in our industry to register and to vote 'YES'."

"Winter wheat in the Corn Belt was rated good but had only limited snow cover," the report said.

The median age of U.S. farm residents in 1978 was 33.8, compared to 29.5 for the non-farm population.

Severe Cold Raises Concern for Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP)—A big push of severe cold weather across much of the nation has raised concerns that some winter wheat may be subject to damage.

"Snow cover increased but remained light in many areas, spurring the potential of possible damage. However, no freeze damage was apparent," the Agriculture Department said Tuesday.

The weekly report on weather and crop conditions said that by Feb. 3 most grain planted last fall was still "rated fair to good."

But low temperatures with little additional snow cover raised the possibility of damage to winter wheat in North Dakota and some other parts of the plains area, it said.
