FFA Presents Annual Awards

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Outstanding achievers in the Hereford FFA were honored last night during that organization's annual Parent-Member Banquet held at the Hereford High School Cafeteria.

Gary Vogel, a senior vocational agriculture student at HHS copped the top award of the evening as he was presented with a certificate signifying him as the winner of the prestigious DeKalb award, which recognizes top FFA students for achievements in scholarship, leadership and supervised projects.

Vogel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Vogel and has been active in FFA throughout his high school career.

His supervised projects have included swine and beef herds and he has won numerous livestock show honors during his FFA career.

He plans to attend Texas A&M University, where he will major in agriculture education.

Marcel Fischbacher was named by Hereford Young Farmers President Jimmy Campbell as the recipient of the HYF chapter's fourth annual scholarship, which recognizes excellence in scholastic achievement along with participation in supervised FFA projects. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Fischbacher.

The HYF scholarship was beefed up to $500 for this year's presentation from its $250 level of past years.

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie, in his diplomatic debut, urged the European allies today to implement economic sanctions against Iran in the interest of the trans-Atlantic partnership and the Americans held hostage more than six months.

Muskie's call for solidarity came at a closed meeting of the NATO Defense Planning Committee. Some of the Europeans have threatened to ease the sanctions rather than lose current lucrative contracts.

"I understand the ability of some to wash their hands of this problem," a U.S. official said. But he stressed that the fate of the hostages, while not technically a NATO issue, is of vital concern to the United States.

In his speech, Muskie pressed for a relentless economic and diplomatic campaign against Iran and for "the fullest possible implementation" of the sanctions approved by the European Economic Community last month but now under review.

On Tuesday, Muskie appealed to the European allies to put heavy economic pressure on Iran and challenged the Soviet Union to withdraw from Afghanistan.

He also called on the allies to sidetrack their Mideast peace initiatives on behalf of the Palestinians.

Here for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's semiannual spring meeting, Muskie said the Carter administration has "a right to expect a commitment" from its allies that they will not water down the sanctions they threatened to invoke against Iran this weekend.

"The Iranians are truly concerned about European sanctions, and it can only mean that, if applied, the sanctions would have an impact," Muskie told reporters on his flight from Washington.

The nine nations of the European Economic Community, eight of them members of NATO, agreed last month to cut off all exports to Iran except food and medicine unless there was "decisive progress" by May 17 toward the release of the 53 American hostages in Iran.

Carter, Reagan Moving Closer

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

President Carter and Ronald Reagan are closing in on the delegate strength needed to clinch nominations for the White House, and both aim to get there before the month is out, with primary elections to spare.

While Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and Republican George Bush talk of comebacks in the 15 primaries still to come, the frontrunners' numbers tell more than the challengers' words.

Democrat Carter and Republican Reagan added to those numbers Tuesday with victories in the Maryland and Nebraska presidential primary elections.

The president moved within 301 delegates of a nominating majority; to wrap it up he needs just 26 percent of the Democratic delegates yet to be selected.

Kennedy would have to gain nearly 79 percent of the remaining delegates in order to catch Carter.

For Bush, the numbers are even more ominous. He'd have to win 97 percent of the remaining Republican delegates in order to achieve a nominating majority. The former U.N. ambassador bluntly described his comeback strategy as "a tough scenario."

Carter won Maryland with 47 percent of the vote to 38 percent for Kennedy. In Nebraska, it was Carter 47 percent, Kennedy 38 percent.

The president picked up 32 delegates in Maryland to Kennedy's 26. The Nebraska delegate score: Carter 14, Kennedy 10.

Assistant Principal Takes Dimmitt Job

Hereford High School assistant principal Alex Glass has accepted the principalship at Dimmitt High School, it was announced Tuesday by the Dimmitt Independent School District.

DISD trustees Monday night approved Glass for the position, which is being vacated by D.W. Harkins.

"We got a good one. He has outstanding rapport with kids, the teachers and the patrons in the community," Dimmitt Superintendent Robert Ryan said.

Glass, who started teaching at Hereford High School in 1956, has been in the local school system for 15 years over three separate stints. He returned to Hereford two years ago to become high school assistant principal.

"I will miss Hereford and, of course, I've got mixed emotions about leaving. But, I consider this a promotion, and I'm excited about it," Glass said.

Hereford High principal Ron Geyer said Glass, who begins work in Dimmitt on July 1, will be missed.

"It is our loss and Dimmitt's gain," Geyer said. "I'm happy for Alex that he got his principalship. He will be very difficult to replace because of his experience in administration and at Hereford High School."

"Mr. Glass has done an excellent job for me and I'm sure he'll do an excellent job at Dimmitt High School."

At School-Board Meeting

Teachers Request Hikes

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Two teacher organizations in the Hereford Independent School District asked the school board Tuesday evening for an across-the-board pay raise which would put local instructors on a scale above mechanics.

Robert Priest, Texas State Teachers Association chapter president, told the HISD board of trustees in their regular monthly meeting that both ISTA and Classroom Teachers Association consider a sizeable pay hike as a local priority.

Priest said that a recent survey showed 80 percent of the teachers in the two organizations listed more pay as their number one concern.

Return of sick-leave money for unused days and an adjusted personal-leave policy were other priorities, Priest said.

The ISTA president used an advertisement in The Brand as an example of the teachers' need for more money.

"Pratt Chevrolet had an ad for a mechanic at a salary of $11 per hour. If the mechanics works 38 weeks (like teachers) with no overtime and no weekend work, his salary would be $16,720. A teacher with 14 years' experience and a master's degree gets about $100 more than the mechanic," Priest said.

"We started behind and we're staying behind," Priest said the school district's personal-leave policy was difficult to understand.

"We haven't had it explained to our satisfaction what we have and don't have as far as personal leave," he said.

Bluebonnet Elementary principal Rodney Laubhan said that even though the sick-leave policy "is difficult for people to understand, we have one of the most liberal

Federal Judge Nixes Gas Fee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is asking a federal appeals court to overturn a lower court and let President Carter's dime-a-gallon gasoline fee take effect Thursday as planned. But even if the levy does get off the ground, Congress appears ready to make it short-lived.

The administration was filing briefs today to support its contention that the fee is legal and needed to cut gasoline consumption and dependence on foreign oil. On Tuesday, Carter called the levy "extremely important for our nation to maintain."

Hours earlier, federal judge Aubrey E. Robinson Jr. ruled here that the president had exceeded his authority by trying to impose the charge on all gasoline, whether refined from domestic or imported oil. Robinson said a 1962 law gives the president the power to regulate only imports.

White House press secretary Jody Powell said the three-judge appellate panel would be asked for a quick hearing, but Powell would not predict if that could come in time for the levy to be imposed on schedule.

The administration is coupling its judicial appeal with an effort to save the fee in Congress, where repeal efforts were gaining steam. Treasury Secretary G. William Miller arranged to take the administration's case to a House Ways and Means trade subcommittee today.

The panel was then planning to vote on legislation that would abolish Carter's fee and send the repeal measure to the full Ways and Means Committee.

The subcommittee chairman, Rep. Charles Vanik, D-Ohio, told reporters Tuesday, "I think the oil import fee is dead. We're just arguing about how to bury it." And House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., although supporting the fee, predicted the House would overturn it "in a walk."

Stones To Pay Settlement in Suit

DIMMITT, Texas (AP) — Attorneys have declined to reveal details of a wrongful death suit settlement reached between self-avowed witches Loy and Louise Stone and the parents of a teen-age girl killed on the Stone's property.

Roxanna Casas, 15, was killed instantly Halloween night 1977 by a shotgun blast that hit a pickup truck as it turned into the Stone's driveway. Two of three other youths riding in the vehicle were wounded by the blast.

Jurors in Plainview acquitted Stone of Murder in the case Feb. 1. Criminal charges are still pending against Mrs. Stone. Raul and Karen Casas, sued the Stones for an amount to be set by the court. Attorneys for both sides came to terms Friday, and District Judge Van Stovall signed an order Monday dismissing that suit.

The Casas' attorney, John Maner of Lubbock, said Tuesday the suit was settled in favor of the Casas and the money was paid. The Casas had no comment on the case.

"The law in Texas provides for no pain and suffering element in the death of a minor" when death occurs instantly, Maner said.

Iran To Watch

Visiting Journalists

By The Associated Press
Iran's revolutionary regime will prosecute foreign journalists involved in plots and keep American travelers under surveillance to guard against conspiracies, the Interior Ministry said.

A ministry spokesman said after a meeting of the ruling Revolutionary Council Tuesday night the government will be on the lookout for journalists who come to Iran with press cards issued abroad and "sometimes take part in conspiracies," the official Pars news agency reported.

"Our officials will be on the alert, and those who actions conflict with their work as journalists will be prosecuted, just as some have already been detained." This was an apparent reference to free-lance journalist Cynthia Dwyer of Buffalo, N.Y., arrested on charges of being a CIA agent.

Black Democrat Seeks Speakership

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Rep. Craig Washington, a black Democrat who represents a near-downtown district in Houston, has announced he will run for speaker if Bill Clayton abandons his bid for an unprecedented fourth term in the job.

Washington, 38, would be Texas' first black speaker if elected by other House members to be the state's third most powerful officeholder.

But he told a news conference he was confident Clayton would overcome his legal problems and win re-election as speaker. A federal grand jury in Houston is examining evidence against Clayton developed during the FBI's Bribery and labor sting investigation.

Washington said he was concerned over the "blitz" by liberal Rep. John Bryant, D-Dallas, and conservative Rep. Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, to lock in votes for the 1981 speakership. Both have indicated they have a majority.

Board

and CTA president Rosemary Shook for working with trustees during the school year.

"Thank you for your communications," she said. Mrs. Strain appointed seven standing committees, each comprised of three school-board members, to make recommendations to the full board on various matters.

"These committees will look into the and so forth. It will save time for the full board," she said.

Trustee Mack Tubb praised the idea. "It will give this board expertise in different areas because the committee could spend some extra time on things, while the full board would not have the time," he said.

The committees appointed Tuesday are as follows, with chairmen listed first:

- budget and salary, James Gentry, Tubb and Mrs. Strain.
- curriculum, Mrs. Strain, Paul Ramirez and Clark Andrews.
- long-range planning, David Hutchins, Gentry and Jim Arney.
- personnel and policy, Tubb, Gentry and Ramirez.
- insurance, Andrews, Hutchins and Tubb.

—pupil services, Arney, Hutchins and Mrs. Strain.

—and community relations, Ramirez, Arney and Andrews.

Holder recommended that the purchase of carpeting at Tierra Blanca Elementary and roofing repairs at Northwest Elementary be referred to a committee before the board takes final action on bids.

Trustees tabled action on accepting bids until the committee has time to study the matter.

The board accepted resignations from Carolyn Lively at Bluebonnet, Joanne Hairgrove, Patricia Heck and Elizabeth Willis at Shirley Elementary, Tena Brunson at La Plata Junior High, Donald Ever and Donna Umstead at Stanton Junior High and David Schwertner at the high school.

Hired Tuesday were Terry V. Connolly at La Plata, Mary Lou Ward at Stanton, Nancy Flore at West Central Elementary and special-education instructor Mary Brooks.

Evelyn Lyles was granted a leave of absence from the school district.

Holder presented the monthly enrollment report, which showed 5,101 students in the school system as of Tuesday. That compares with 5,150 last month a 5,323 a year ago.

On Tuesday, there were 2,387 students in elementary school, 1,232 in junior high and 1,055 in high school. All those figures are down from last month, Holder said.

The board gave final approval to policy changes regarding student test exemptions, grading periods and the switching from the quarter system to semesters.

The new test-exemption policy will require mid-term examinations in all subjects. Exemptions at the end of each semester will be based on absences and grades.

The nine-week grade-reporting system calls for a report on student progress to be sent to parents of failing pupils in the middle of the grading period.

Assistant Superintendent Larry Wartes told the board he would immediately order three new buses for the school system. The buses will arrive in eight or nine months, he said.

Tax Assessor Collector Fred Fox said the year's total collections stand at $2,467,972, which represents about 92 percent of the HISD tax roll.

In other business, the board hard a curriculum report on the school district's fourth-grade and met in closed session to discuss personnel.

Officers Report Quiet Day

Hereford police reported a relatively quiet day, offense-wise, Tuesday, investigating an automobile burglary and a residence break-in.

Crown Auto Sales, 1315 E. Park, told police that a $100 console was stolen from a pickup either Monday night or early Tuesday morning.

Retha Tucker, 245 Greenwood, reported that someone entered her house Tuesday afternoon, removed items from the fireplace mantle and laid them on the living-room floor. Nothing was taken in the incident, however.

Police issued five traffic citations Tuesday.

A department spokesman said police are trying to locate the owners of three bicycles. Anyone who has had a bicycle stolen recently may contact the police department at City Hall.

RI Deadlock Finally Broken

WASHINGTON (AP) — A legislative deadlock that could have ended all service over the bankrupt Rock Island Railroad has been broken, and congressional leaders now expect final action on the bill in 10 days.

After fudging for a month over development of new highspeed, intercity rail passenger corridors, House and Senate negotiators reached a compromise on that plan Tuesday.

The agreement, which could be ratified by the full House and Senate before the end of next week, opens the way for preservation of service by other railroads over about half the Rock Island's 7,000 miles of track, primarily by setting up a plan to protect employees who lose their jobs because of the court-ordered liquidation of the line. It also authorizes $750 million to complete the $2.5 billion improvement program on Amtrak's Northeast Corridor between Boston and Washington.

"All in all, it was a matter of compromise and we did get a bill I think we can live with," said Senate Commerce Committee Chairman Howard Cannon, D-Nev.

The Senate and the Carter administration had supported the Rock Island and Northeast Corridor sections of the $1 billion rail package. But both opposed the House plan for $105 million to begin work and buy equipment for 13 proposed intercity passenger corridors with a reservation of another $850 million in oil "windfall profits" taxes to build them.

Transportation Secretary Neil Goldschmidt warned the president could veto the entire package if the so-called emerging corridor section was retained.

In an attempt to break the impasse, the Senate agreed last month to an administration proposal for a $5 million study of the new corridors and then finally accepted $38 million for that study plus another $25 million for new Amtrak equipment.

Ann Landers Disciplining Students

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I see where the Los Angeles school board has regressed to the Stone Age and will now allow teachers to spank pupils from kindergarten through ninth grade.

Many of New Yorkers were appalled at this decision. We are hoping and praying this insanity will not spread to the East. I am a parent whose child was "spanked" 12 years ago by a fifth-grade teacher, and he had to eat his meals standing up for three days. The teacher, a severely neurotic woman, beat two other children before she was finally transferred to another school. She continued to vent her hostility and frustration on other helpless students and was finally fired.

Please give us your views on this much-discussed topic. --Concerned

DEAR CONCERNED: One of the principal reasons Johnny can't read and Susie can't spell is that so much time is used up trying to discipline students. The fault lies not with the students but with the teachers. They are either incompetent or boring (or both). If they lack the courage to stand up to unruly students and let them know who is in charge. Pupils neither respect nor value a teacher who will let the class run wild.

A firm, no-nonsense teacher is able to maintain order in the classroom without hitting, slapping or knocking heads together. If the only way a teacher can control a student is to give him a klop in the chops, that teacher admits he (or she) is not equal to the job.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why is it that you have a lot to say about air pollution produced by cigarette smokers, but I've never read one word in your column critical of perfume?

Don't you realize perfume can make some people sick? Me, for example. I am allergic to it, and when I am around the stuff for even a few minutes, my eyes itch and my nose runs.

Today, the manufacturers of just about everything have the crazy idea that the whole world loves sweet-smelling things. They have succeeded in stinking up candles, pens, facial tissue, toilet paper, laundry soap, light bulbs and shoe polish, to name just a few items.

Thank goodness some manufacturers still make unscented products and label them as such. I wish there were more. Bless them, --Flint Mich.

DEAR FLINT: Over the years I have printed several letters from readers who are allergic to perfume. Almost always the culprit is someone with whom they work closely. They write and ask, "What can I do?" My advice is, "Tell 'Miss Smellwell' in a nice way, 'I'm allergic to your perfume. It really makes me ill.' Then try to keep as far away as possible from the offending party."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please help me out of this mess. I had the flu and begged my boyfriend Bob (age 17) to take my cousin Belle to a big party he had been looking forward to. (Belle is loud, fat and never had many dates).

Well, Bob and Belle got along just great. Now he is seeing her, and I'm out in the cold. Please tell me how to get him back. --A Big-Hearted Dummy

DEAR DUM: If Cuz was able to latch on to Bob so easily, your relationship wasn't as solid as you thought. Leave him be and fish in other waters. He might swim back one of these days, but don't put any nets out.

Are you parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged-By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send $0.50 cents with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Lamaze Classes To Begin

Homebuyers Wary

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

Homebuyers aren't likely to rush into the marketplace now that prices seem to have stabilized and mortgage rates have dropped even faster than they rose. They have learned to be wary.

"There are a lot of scared buyers out there," is the way Robert J. Mylod describes the market. "People know we're in a recession; they're still waiting to find out how severe."

Mylod, president of Advance Mortgage Corp., a lender, reasons: "A 12 percent rate may appear a bargain to a person who looked at 17 earlier, but his tendency will be to see if rates aren't going lower still."

Still, according to some current forecasts being made by knowledgeable housing people; it might not be wise to wait too long. Prices, and interest rates too, they say, may head higher again next year.

In the meantime, economists expect the existing home market, in which sales fell from a rate of 4 million units last summer to 2.7 million in March, to get back on its pinnings before the new home market rebuilds.

In fact, Jack Carlson, operating head of the National Association of Realtors, believes the existing market might already have seen its worst and that sales will now build slowly for the rest of the year.

For new housing, however, "It will be next spring before we see any kind of life," Leonard Santow, an economist, told a conference sponsored by the National Association of Home Builders.

Panelists at the meeting suggested that the new home market, where sales are below a million starts a year, may be hindered by cautious buyers and a slowness of lower interest to be reflected in mortgages.

Still, says Mylod, "there is a reservoir of backed-up demand," that eventually will feed into the market. "Some areas have real shortages, and inventories of completed houses are low." And, he added, "Most Americans still perceive housing as their best inflation hedge."

A lot of housing people agree.

Jay Janis, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, said at the home builder's conference that low production this year and into 1981 could precipitate more sharp price increases in 1982 and 1983.

Kenneth Rosen, University of California at Berkeley economist, concurred. Price surges in 1981 through 1983, he said, would be comparable to what occurred in the 1977 and 1978 economic recovery.

Carlson and other housing authorities are on record with essentially the same outlook for prices. Carlson also foresees a return sometime next year to sharply higher mortgage rates, perhaps 20 percent.

For the most part, they reason that as demand rebuilds inflation must return because the underlying causes of inflation have not been dealt with by Washington. Carlson, an economist, is vehement.

"Unfortunately," he said in a statement issued last week, "no one seems to have noticed that this highly touted balanced budget is not coming because of a responsible administration or Congress, but will be achieved—if it will—by the sole expense of the American taxpayer."

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, May 14, the 135th day of 1980. There are 231 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On May 14, 1787, a convention began in Philadelphia to draw up the American Constitution.

On this date: In 1804, Captain Meriwether Lewis and William Clark set out from St. Louis, Mo., on an expedition to the Pacific Coast. In 1948, the independent state of Israel was proclaimed as Britain ended its rule in Palestine. In 1964, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev opened the Aswan Dam on the Nile River in Egypt.

In 1972, after 27 years of American rule, Okinawa was returned to Japan.

Ten years ago, the Ford Motor Co. announced that it had turned down a proposal to build a truck plant in the Soviet Union.

Thought for today: There is no education like adversity. —Benjamin Disraeli (1804-1881)

Veleda Installs Slate of Officers

The slate of officers for 1980-81 were installed Monday evening during Veleda Study Club's spring salad supper in the home of Janice Brownlow.

Using trees as her theme, Norma Walden installed the following: Juanita Brownlow, president; Carolyn Waters, vice president; Darlene Fields, recording secretary; Norma Martin, corresponding secretary; Billie Birdwell, treasurer; and Mrs. Brownlow, historian.

The club presented a pair of antique British salt and pepper shakers to Mrs. Walden as a token of their appreciation for her service this past year as president. Also, in a review of the past year's programs, appreciation was expressed to the guest speakers who have addressed the club.

In other business, the club accepted the resignation of Retha Tucker, who is moving to Friona. Also, members voted to increase their annual dues.

Members answered roll call by responding to the question, "Where Do I Go from Here?"

Hostesses for the evening were Mmes. Brownlow, Walden and Jean Ruther.

Veleda will be adjourned until September. A summer social with members' husbands is planned.

Other members present Monday were Marcella Bradly, Frances Crume, Betty Gilbert, Arvella Lauderback, Donna Lindemann, Marcella McLain, Teddie Poindexter, Joyce Ritter and DeAun Sisson.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN

Downtown Hereford is much more pleasant to look at because of a number of small parks here and there, besides the green in planter spaces along Main Street.

It's nice that the city made a little park instead of a parking lot where the old city hall stood, linking it to grounds of the new city hall. Already it is an eye-resting spot with the big trees that were left there, grass already in a thick turf, shrubs and new trees flourishing.

It balances the courthouse yard and the banks' parking lots on the other side of town, and the post office grounds, phone company and Hereford Clinic grass plots, United Methodist and Baptist church yards and Lone Star Agency's scrap of lawn that dot the brick-and-asphalt area.

A little clump of asparagus out by my garage, which I cultivate with a lot of wholesome neglect, has supplied a couple of delicious meals this spring and might have made it a half dozen if I'd taken good care of it.

Most people think of asparagus as an expensive delicacy and never consider growing it in the backyard. Actually it's a practical vegetable for West Texas. The shoots sprout up every spring once it is established, it tastes good, has lots of vitamins, may be canned as easily as peas or beans, and besides, the foliage is as lacy and pretty as fern.

In the 1930's when people were encouraged to grow anything they could eat, the Extension Service urged farm families to plant asparagus for a green vegetable that was tasty and grew without too much water. Lots of gardens sprouted asparagus beds planted by Home Demonstration Club women.

Don't know how many people grow it here now, but Betty Turpen was an asparagus grower for a few years ago. I know because she and Corinne Neely invited me to Corinne's house for one of the best lunches I ever tasted, as Betty brought the fresh asparagus and Corinne, a notable cook, prepared it.

With all the tele-thons, skate-a-thons, jog-a-thons and whatnot that keep cropping up to raise money for good causes, I'm impressed with one that's different to me, held last weekend by the First United Methodist Youth choir.

It was a work-a-thon, and instead of donating so much to have one of the kids walk a mile, a donor paid for him to work so many hours at the church or Kings Manor. Sounds like a good way to raise money for a choir trip and get some window-washing and floor-polishing done too.

Singing youngsters in churches seem to be a rather energetic sort this spring. I noticed an announcement that a bunch at First Christian Church were staging a car wash to earn trip money.

YHT Luncheon Held For Mother's Day

In observance of Mother's Day, members of Young Homemakers of Texas honored their mothers and mothers-in-law Saturday with a luncheon in the E.B. Black Historical House.

Members and their guests were guided on a tour of the restored home by Sue James from Deaf Smith Historical Society. The official welcome was given by Shirley Carlson. Marilyn Culpepper delivered the invocation.

The luncheon fare included ham, various salads, homemade bread and desserts. A large centerpiece of red carnations decorated the head table and bud vases with matching flowers centered each quartette table.

After the meal, Mrs. Culpepper presented a brief program about the club's flower -- the red carnation -- and what it symbolizes. In conclusion, each member presented her mother and mother-in-law with long-stemmed red silk carnations.

Guests attending the luncheon from Hereford were Mrs. Coy M. Tice, Betty Jo Carlson, Shirley Barber, Yelda Swopes, Jane Dearing, Gloria Smith, Mary Gilbert, Nell Culpepper and Eris Pulliam.

Out-of-town guests were Maydell Pope of Portales, N.M., Louise Alair of Earth, Frau Frazier of Dimmitt, Estelle Brazzil of Canyon, Eloise Dixon of Bovina and Llene Patzig of Tulia.

Local Kiwanis Club Joins in Prayer Week

The Kiwanis Club of Hereford has joined clubs in 69 countries around the globe in observing Worldwide Prayer Week this week.

The national program kicked off with a prayer breakfast in Washington, D.C.

Kiwanis officials hope that all Kiwanis Clubs will hold similar breakfasts simultaneously so that their total membership of more than 300,000 will be paying homage at the same time (except for time-zone differences) to their own supreme beings.

The observance is designed to dramatize the long-standing Kiwanis Support of Spiritual Aims program. Kiwanis is the only large secular organization to promote such an activity annually.

In making the local announcement of Worldwide Prayer Week, Danny Boyer, president of Kiwanis Club of Hereford, said that it is "Kiwanis' own answer to man's eternal quest for peace; across-the-border acknowledgement of the presence of a being superior to man, himself, as a long step toward accomplishing that peace which the world needs and wants."

Locally, Kiwanis will observe Worldwide Prayer Week by inviting and honoring all local ministers to their regular meeting at noon Thursday at the Community Center. The program will be presented by Crossroads Youth Ministries from the Hereford Church of the Nazarene.

Amarillo Booker-BUILDER Discusses Financing

Bob Fenley, builder and real estate broker of Amarillo, discussed home financing at the regular monthly meeting of the Hereford Board of Realtors Tuesday at noon.

James Self presided at the luncheon meeting, held at Hereford Country Club. About 20 members made plans to attend a Realtor meeting in Dalhart Thursday where the Texas Association of Realtors president will be guest speaker.

Fenley discussed both FHA and conventional loans on homes. He outlined several FHA plans-one which allows home buyers to make a lower down payment and start with lower monthly payments. It is called an FHA 245 plan.

On a $60,000 house, Fenley gave an example of monthly payments starting at about $538 during the first year and increasing on a graduated scale to $720 in the sixth year.

The speaker said mortgage rates are now ranging from 11.5 percent and 3 points to 13 percent and 2 points discount on FHA, and VA loans. Conventional 80-percent loans are ranging from 12 percent plus 1 point and 1 percent origination to 16.5 percent and 1 point.

Persons interested in buying a new or used home should contact a Realtor to learn full details on rates and points.

Canada's Founder

French explorer Jacques Cartier is generally regarded as the founder of Canada. But his exploration of the Gulf of St. Lawrence in 1534 followed by 37 years the sighting of Newfoundland in 1497 by English seaman John Cabot. Centuries prior to that, increasing evidence shows, Vikings had reached Canada's Atlantic coast and Newfoundland.

La Scala

La Scala, short for "Teatro alla Scala," the great opera house of Milan, Italy, is so called because it was erected, in 1778, at the site of the church of Santa Maria alla Scala - St. Mary's by the Stairs.

The Newspaper Bible

IS THIS THE MAN WHO USED TO BE BLIND?

As He was walking along, He saw a man blind from birth. "Master," His disciples asked Him, "why was this man born blind? Was it a result of his own sins or those of his parents?"

"Neither," Jesus answered, "But to demonstrate the power of God.

All of us must quickly carry out the tasks assigned us by the one who sent Me, for there is little time left before the night falls and all work comes to an end."

But while I am still here in the world, I give it My light. Then He spat on the ground and made mud from the spittle and smoothed the mud over the blind man's eyes.

And told him, "Go and wash in the Pool of Siloam" (the word "Siloam" means "Sent"). So the man went where he was sent and washed and came back seeing!

His neighbors and others who knew him as a blind beggar asked each other, "Is this the same fellow who used to be a beggar?"

Some said yes, and some said no. "It can't be the same man," they thought, "but he surely looks like him!"

And the beggar said, "I am the same man!"

Then they asked him how in the world he could see. What had happened?

And he told them, "A man they call Jesus made mud and smoothed it over my eyes and told me to go to the Pool of Siloam and wash off the mud. I did, and I can see!"

"Where is he now?" they asked. "I don't know," he replied.

Congressman Argues Grain Prices Forced Down

Bergland Apologizes to Hance After Exchange

Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland has issued an apology to 19th Congressional District Rep. Kent Hance of Lubbock following a verbal exchange between the congressman and the ag secretary in which Hance pointed up to Bergland that he is not in touch with the reality of the effect of the Russian grain trade embargo on the price of grain in the Texas High Plains.

According to a spokesman for Hance's office, Bergland and Howard Hjort, chief economist for the USDA, were testifying before the House Agriculture Committee when Bergland reportedly implied that Rep. Hance used devious campaign methods.

Bergland and Hjort were testifying on future agricultural policy when Hance told Carter administration officials that grain prices in his district, which ranges from Deaf Smith County to the Permian Basin, were 50 to 60 cents below price levels prior to the Russian grain embargo.

Hjort indicated disbelief at the statement, prompting Hance assistants to contact two grain elevators on the South Plains to prove that grain prices have plummeted to well below the levels at which they rested prior to the announcement of the embargo Jan. 4 by President Carter.

The price of wheat was in the $4.10 per bushel range on Jan. 3, and wheat now brings only about $3.50 per bushel.

Hance was critical of the disbelief expressed by USDA officials, stating to Bergland: "That's one of the problems we've had. We come back from the district and tell you how bad it is and you don't believe us. It's creating a real frustration among our farmers, and the problem is, the only place they can relieve the frustration is at the ballot box. I hate to see that because we are missing a chance to help a lot of people."

Bergland reportedly countered, "Mr. Hance, I'm sure you'll do whatever it takes to get re-elected. I congratulate you on that."

Hance fired back, "I'm sure it works both ways and I'm sorry that I offended you. My position is that I represent 550,000 people, and I'm not going to sit idly by and watch them taken advantage of. I know they are, right now. That's my position and I won't yield from it."

Reports indicated that Hance later demanded an apology from the White House, and Hance spokesmen reported that Bergland later apologized both in writing and through a telephone call.

Both Bergland and Hjort have come under criticism in farm circles for refusing to face up to the real situation that exists over much of the nation's farmlands as a result of depressed commodity prices that were triggered by the embargo on grain sales to Russia.

Recent reports have shown that farm income for this year will be considerably lower than predicted by Hjort's economists, and that the parity level for farm goods is approaching the all-time low of the Depression era.

Herd Riders First In TSR Standings Too

HHS Boys' Rodeo Team Lassoos First at Dumas

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

The Hereford High School boys' rodeo team tightened its grip on first place in point standings in Tri-State High School Rodeo competition over the weekend while the HHS rodeo girls held on for third place in overall rankings with the high school rodeo circuit down to the home stretch.

HHS rodeo team members rode in the Dumas Rodeo over the weekend and Sid Howard, still ranked No. 1 cowboy in overall Tri-State high school standings, paced local riders and ropers to another trophy garnering outing.

Howard was high point cowboy in the Dumas rodeo and copped a trophy saddle for his efforts, while the boys' rodeo team from Hereford also lassoed the team trophy in the weekend outing with 13 points.

Howard finished first in steer wrestling with a time of 7.582, was fourth in ribbon roping at a clocking of 11.864, and was third in team roping as the header with a time of 10.208 for a total of 13 points.

Robert Esqueda tied for first in bull riding in his best showing of the spring rodeo season with a score of 61, giving him 5 1/2 points.

Lee Washington placed sixth in calf roping at a clocking of 14.127 in the event, Washington was also sixth in steer wrestling with a time of 17.547 and was third in team roping as the heeler with a time of 10.208, for an overall total of six points.

The Hereford rodeo team will ride again this weekend at the Canadian High School rodeo, with only one rodeo at Guymon then remaining prior to Tri-State finals the first weekend of June.

Hereford competitors continue to ride high in individual standings in numerous events as the finals approach, with the top 15 qualifiers scheduled to square off in the finals.

Overall Tri-State standings through the Dumas rodeo show the HHS boys' team ranked first with 264 points, leaving local competitors in good shape to round up the overall championship with strong showings in their

Import Routes Topic For Water Inc., Meet

LUBBOCK -- At a meeting of the Water, Inc., board of directors here Friday, the director of planning and development for the Texas Department of Water Resources will give a detailed briefing on potential water importation routes bringing surplus water to the High Plains.

Dr. Herb Grubb will outline these alternative routes in a report on the work of the High Plains Study Council, which is overseeing a six-state, $6 million study on the economic impact of declining groundwater supplies in portions of Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska.

The Water, Inc., board meeting will begin at 1:30 p.m. in the Conference Room of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce at 14th Street and Avenue K. The session is open to all interested individuals.

Late last month the High Plains Study Council directed the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to make additional studies on four of six importation routes that have been proposed in recent years as alternatives for supplementing the Ogallala aquifer. All four of those alternative importation routes as envisioned would provide water to the High Plains of Texas and New Mexico with a major storage reservoir near Littlefield.

Although the High Plains Study is primarily an economic study to evaluate what declines in the Ogallala will mean to local and national economies, in setting up the effort, Congress appropriated $750,000 to further evaluate the feasibility of importing water to augment the Ogallala, which has no source of replenishment except for the small amount of rainfall that percolates down to the formation. Since much of the region produces agricultural commodities and relies heavily on irrigation, the decline of the area's water supply has national and global implications.

Water, Inc., is a non-profit organization which has been working non-stop for the last decade to secure a supplemental water supply for the High Plains and to assure the continued agricultural productivity of the region.

Jones, who will be a senior at HHS in the coming year, was elected during the district record book check at Boys Ranch.

The Amarillo District includes 17 schools in an area including much of the central and western portion of the

A Finely Tuned Machine Makes A Repairman's Job Lonely

By MAURI MONTGOMERY
Brand Sports Editor

There wasn't any dispute to the claim that head Whiteface football coach Don Cumpton was destined to become one of the loneliest men in the world, along with the likes of the Maytag washing machine repairman.

He, like the Maytag man, would soon join the ranks of men without appliances to restore, because in both instances, their fine-tuned machines needed little work.

rather a full-speed look at offensive and defensive alignments," said Cumpton. "We're trying to give everyone one last opportunity to show us their stuff before the M-W contest. We'll film the scrimmage to see how good we look so far, and then we'll make up the teams for the final game of spring training."

Like the commercial says, "It's pretty lonely when you're the repairman for the best machine around."

Albert Hill of Great Britain had reached the mature age of 36 when he won the 800- and 1500-meter races at the 1920 Olympics in Antwerp.

Eddie Eagan of the United States was the only man to win gold medals at both the Summer and Winter Olympics. Eagan won golds in boxing and bob-sledding.

"I would say that we don't need any work at all and that we're right where we should be at this point in our spring training program, but I think we've gotten pretty close to our objective so far," said Cumpton. "That objective has been to dust off all the cob webs we gathered since last fall (as far as fundamentals and the basics), and to refresh ourselves on offensive and defensive assignments we'll be running next fall."

"And so far we've accomplished almost everything we set out to do. We looked pretty good in our Tuesday workout, especially when we went seven-on-seven. The reason I say that we looked good is that our inside running game has come on, and so has our screen-pass throwing game. Both of those elements are crucial to our game and the screen is very important considering all the drop back passing we intend to do."

But, the keynote in the HHS success story this next fall will lie in a diversified attack says the coach.

"This year we will be using a similar offensive strategy much like the one we had last year—a combination of the split backfield veer and I formation—and we'll be using the same philosophy originally derived from both, but we'll use them in conjunction with each other, thus diversified."

And with all that engineering expertise used in casting the HHS machine, the only thing left for the coach to do, is to see if the finished product actually works like it's designed to.

That trial run actually (the second of it's nature, following a scrimmage last weekend) will come as a controlled scrimmage Friday beginning with two contests at 3 p.m. and a final pair-off at 6 p.m. in the Whiteface Stadium.

Then, on May 22, the final test (the annual Maroon-White Game) will be made before the pads will be hung up for the summer.

"This match-up Friday will be a controlled scrimmage. It won't be like a game, such as the Maroon-White game, but

Red Sox Whip Twins

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

When is a triple better than a homer? When it follows a homer...and a double...and a single.

Fred Lynn's drive off the wall in center field in the eighth inning went for a triple as he hit for the cycle for the first time in his career to lead the Boston Red Sox to a 10-5 victory over the Minnesota Twins Tuesday night.

"I'd rather have the triple because I've never hit for the cycle," Lynn said. "I only had one triple last year. So I've gotten my quota for this year. I made good use of it."

Lynn doubled in the first inning when the Red Sox scored once, hit a two-run homer off loser John Verhoeven to give Boston a 6-5 lead in the fourth and singled in a run in the sixth before his run-scoring triple in the eighth completed the cycle.

Genuine Risk Favored To Win Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP) — Genuine Risk, the filly trying to become the first of her sex to win the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, has been picked as the favorite in the second jewel of the Triple Crown.

Earle Hart, who establishes the odds at Pimlico Race Course, Tuesday selected Genuine Risk to go off at 9-5 with the West Coast favorite, Codex, close behind at 2-1.

Colonel Moran, the winner of the Withers Stakes at Aqueduct, was Hart's third choice at 4-1.

Lucky Pluck, meanwhile, became the ninth entry in the May 17 race. Hart made the horse, which is headed from Suffolk Downs to Baltimore, a 20-1 shot. The Michigan-bred gelding, which won Sunday at the Boston track in a six-furlong contest, has won three of 26 starts and has earned $27,338.

Hart, meanwhile, rationalized Genuine Risk's one loss to Plugged Nickle and Colonel Moran in the Wood Memorial.

"I've got to go with the filly. I think she's done everything," he said. "I don't know anything much about Codex except what I've read about him. But he's won those two big races in California (Santa Anita and Hollywood derbies), and he has Angel Cordero on him."

"As for Colonel Moran, I just couldn't put him any closer than third," Hart adds. "I know he finished ahead of the filly in the Wood, but I think she was bothered in that race and would have beaten him."

DEAR DR. LAMB - Many people do not know that the pancreas is not what the pancreas is but it is used for sweetbreads from livestock as any cookbook would inform you. It's the thymus gland less than one year of age. It's located in the neck region, not in the trunk. It may be an honor and a lot of work to write a column on health but too many lay people take these items as truth, unable to temper what is stated with any discernment. I trust more careful research might be shown in both medical and general areas.
DEAR READER - I was astonished at your letter since you sign your name as a home economist. It's true that the thymus gland is used for sweetbreads and I do know where the thymus gland is. Apparently, you know less about the pancreas than many of my other readers. And while you may be knowledgeable about cookbooks, it would be helpful if you would visit the butcher shop a few times or consult Webster's Dictionary or look at one of the U.S. Agriculture Dept. handbooks on food tables. You will find that both the pancreas and the thymus are used as sweetbreads. Maybe a little bit more careful research might be shown in the future on your part, to use your phrase.
Meanwhile, as a peace offering, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 11-4, The Pancreas: Your Enzyme Organ. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.
DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm an 18-year-old girl and I have something I can't ignore. About a month ago I started getting sores around my mouth and then the same kind of sores started appearing around my vagina. After that I went to the doctor and he said I had herpes. He told me, there was no cure for it and no medicine would help heal it faster. So for the next two weeks I wore loose clothes and suffered every time I urinated, or even walked. The doctor said it was one of the most painful things to have and I agree 100 percent. It finally went away.

Now three months later I'm having the same symptoms and it kills me just sitting here thinking of the pain I have to go through every time I go to the bathroom. Please tell me a way I could help prevent or lessen the pain of this infection. Could I soak my bottom in salt water or use peroxide?
DEAR READER - Apparently, your doctor thinks you have herpes simplex, which is a virus infection and does cause sores around the mouth and can cause sores in the genital area. It's a fairly common disorder. Those little blisters that you're having are very difficult to treat, and in the past there's been no successful treatment available although numerous suggestions have been made. A new treatment was recently reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association (June 29, 1979). The treatment consists of a gel of two-Deoxy-D glucose which is chemically an analogue of glucose. This gel was very successful in treating a number of women with the problem you have. Your doctor might want this reference if he hasn't already seen it.
DEAR DR. LAMB - What causes itching before, during and after urination? Is there a cure and what is the treatment?
DEAR READER - It's a symptom. You might as well ask what causes part of the skin to itch. There can be a local inflammation that's irritated by the urine. That may be from mechanical factors or from an infection. Some women are prone to have yeast infections, particularly if they're diabetic, and this can cause a maddening itch. I would suggest that anyone who has such a symptom should have an examination to see if there is any local problem that deserves treatment.

said I had herpes. He told me, there was no cure for it and no medicine would help heal it faster. So for the next two weeks I wore loose clothes and suffered every time I urinated, or even walked. The doctor said it was one of the most painful things to have and I agree 100 percent. It finally went away.
Now three months later I'm having the same symptoms and it kills me just sitting here thinking of the pain I have to go through every time I go to the bathroom. Please tell me a way I could help prevent or lessen the pain of this infection. Could I soak my bottom in salt water or use peroxide?
DEAR READER - Apparently, your doctor thinks you have herpes simplex, which is a virus infection and does cause sores around the mouth and can cause sores in the genital area. It's a fairly common disorder. Those little blisters that you're having are very difficult to treat, and in the past there's been no successful treatment available although numerous suggestions have been made. A new treatment was recently reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association (June 29, 1979). The treatment consists of a gel of two-Deoxy-D glucose which is chemically an analogue of glucose. This gel was very successful in treating a number of women with the problem you have. Your doctor might want this reference if he hasn't already seen it.
DEAR DR. LAMB - What causes itching before, during and after urination? Is there a cure and what is the treatment?
DEAR READER - It's a

symptom. You might as well ask what causes part of the skin to itch. There can be a local inflammation that's irritated by the urine. That may be from mechanical factors or from an infection. Some women are prone to have yeast infections, particularly if they're diabetic, and this can cause a maddening itch. I would suggest that anyone who has such a symptom should have an examination to see if there is any local problem that deserves treatment.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Many people do not know that the pancreas is not what the pancreas is but it is used for sweetbreads from livestock as any cookbook would inform you. It's the thymus gland less than one year of age. It's located in the neck region, not in the trunk. It may be an honor and a lot of work to write a column on health but too many lay people take these items as truth, unable to temper what is stated with any discernment. I trust more careful research might be shown in both medical and general areas.
DEAR READER - I was astonished at your letter since you sign your name as a home economist. It's true that the thymus gland is used for sweetbreads and I do know where the thymus gland is. Apparently, you know less about the pancreas than many of my other readers. And while you may be knowledgeable about cookbooks, it would be helpful if you would visit the butcher shop a few times or consult Webster's Dictionary or look at one of the U.S. Agriculture Dept. handbooks on food tables. You will find that both the pancreas and the thymus are used as sweetbreads. Maybe a little bit more careful research might be shown in the future on your part, to use your phrase.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm an 18-year-old girl and I have something I can't ignore. About a month ago I started getting sores around my mouth and then the same kind of sores started appearing around my vagina. After that I went to the doctor and he

Cincinnati Routs New York

Knight Drills Double Homers

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Ray Knight didn't want much.

"I was just hoping to get a base hit," the Cincinnati third baseman said.

But he more than doubled his expectations Tuesday night with two home runs in the same inning, one a grand slam, to lead the Reds to a 15-4 rout of the New York Mets.

Knight thus became the first Cincinnati player and only the 11th in National League history to slug two homers in one inning.

Not bad for a hitter stuck in an 0-for-15 slump.

"I thought I might never get a hit again," Knight said. "I'm basically a contact hitter and was starting to get desperate over my long hitless streak."

In other NL action, the Montreal Expos defeated the Houston Astros 3-2, the Atlanta Braves downed the Philadelphia Phillies 7-3, the San Francisco Giants whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-0, the San Diego Padres edged the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2 and the Los Angeles Dodgers stopped the Chicago Cubs 4-2.

The Reds made a laugher of their game with eight runs in the fifth inning, sending 11 batters to the plate. Knight led off with a homer and ended the scoring with his grand slam. Ken Griffey also hit a three-run homer during the burst.

Knight blasted his first homer off Mark Bombardieri, and later his slam off Ed Glynn.

Winner-Frank Pastore, 4-1, pitched only five innings for the Reds, leaving the game with a stiff shoulder. Ray Burris, 2-3, started for the Mets, but wildness caused his departure in the third inning.

Expos 3, Astros 2
David Palmer and Woodie Fryman teamed up on five-hitter and Andre Dawson and Larry Parrish doubled home runs as Montreal defeated Houston.

Palmer, 2-0, gave up all five of Houston's hits before needing relief help in the eighth from Fryman, who recorded his fourth save.

While Palmer was baffling the Astros, Houston starter Nolan Ryan was having his problems, losing for the third time in four decisions.

Braves 7, Phillies 3
Bob Horner, batting .051 at game time, snapped out of an 0-for-21 slump and drove in his first run of the season with a single as Atlanta downed Philadelphia.

Horner's RBI single sparked a two-run rally in the second inning off Randy Lerch, 0-5, and gave the Braves a 4-1 lead. They later wrapped it up with a three-run eighth, one on Dale Murphy's homer.

Giants 5, Pirates 0
Vida Blue pitched a four-hitter for his first shutout since 1978, and Jack Clark hit a home run and knocked in two runs to lead San Francisco over Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh's Bert Blyleven, 0-3, made a strong showing in his first pitching appearance in two weeks. The right-hander, who quit the team on April 30 but rejoined the club last week, allowed six hits in eight innings.

Blue, 4-2, struck out nine, walked only one and did not allow a runner past first base until the ninth.

Padres 3, Cardinals 2
Gene Richards' RBI single with two out in the ninth capped a two-run rally, leading San Diego over St. Louis.

Trailing 2-1 going into the ninth, Von Joshua doubled and took third on a groundout. Jerry Turner, hitting for Rollie Fingers, 3-3, singled to score Joshua with the tying run.

Jerry Turner took second on a passed ball by catcher Ted Simmons and reliever Jim Kaat, 0-1, intentionally walked Dave Winfield to set the stage for Richards' winning hit.

Dodgers 4, Cubs 2
Reggie Smith slugged a solo homer and singled home another run to lead Los Angeles over Chicago.

Bob Welch, 2-1, earned the victory, scattering nine hits, including Dave Kingman's two-run homer in the first inning, his seventh.

Smith homered in the bottom of the first and Los Angeles went in front to stay with two runs in the third.

Graham Slams Homerun, Single for Win

Orioles Overcome Texas

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dan Graham shook things up when he was recalled by the Baltimore Orioles last week, and now the rookie catcher is about to bring about another major change.

After Graham socked a solo home run and drove in the tie-breaking run with an eighth-inning single in the Orioles' 4-2 victory over Texas Tuesday night, Manager Earl Weaver announced the shocking news.

"He's starting Wednesday night," said Weaver, who is known for his lineup juggling. "I have to start him or I'll be run out of town. It might be the first time this year we've had a duplicate starting lineup."

Graham was brought up from the Orioles' Rochester farm club of the International League to try to add some offensive punch to the attack the defending American League champions.

To make room on the roster, the Orioles placed veteran catcher Dave Skaggs on the reassignment list, a move that upset many of the Baltimore players who had come up through the minors with Skaggs.

But Graham has quickly made points for the Orioles' recall decision. He hit a homer in his first game with Baltimore and went 3 for 4 Tuesday night as the Birds snapped a three-game losing streak. For his first week in the majors, he's 4 for 8.

Graham said he went up to the plate in the eighth, "looking for a fastball" from Jim Kern, who had relieved Texas starter Ferguson Jenkins in his bid for a 250th major-league victory.

"I'd never faced Kern before but they told me he'd be coming with the fastball, and that's what I got," Graham said. "He didn't get it where he wanted."

With two outs and the scored tied 2-2, the left-handed hitter smacked the first pitch from Kern to center field to score Pat Kelly with the tie-breaker.

Eddie Murray then scored all the way from first base for the Orioles fourth run when center fielder Mickey Rivers misplayed the ball for an error.

"I had to have a strikeout at that point," Texas Manager Pat Corrales said of his decision to pull Jenkins with one out in the eighth. "There were too many things that could have happened. I couldn't worry about personal goals at that time."

Kern, who was sidelined earlier this season with an arm injury, said he was having trouble with his delivery that made it difficult to release the ball.

Rookie Crashes

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Being a first year driver at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway can have its pitfalls.

Jan Sneva, the youngest of the three racing brothers from Spokane, Wash., Tuesday added his name to the growing list of Indy rookies who have had a sudden and violent introduction to the Speedway wall.

The 26-year-old driver, whose brothers, Tom and Jerry, are Indy veterans, barely got an introduction to the crew members on the Dayton-Walther team before he was back on the outside looking in.

Sneva, who was hired on Monday to drive veteran Salt Walther's backup car, made only a few laps around the 2 1/2-mile track before losing control and sliding through the infield grass and back across the track into the wall on turn two.

He wasn't hurt, but a spokesman for the Walther team said the car won't be fixed in time to be qualified for the May 25 Indianapolis 500. So the youngest Sneva was out of a ride.
