County May Receive $20 Million in Loans

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says sticking your nose into other peoples' business is the surest way of coming face to face with trouble.

Another explanation of the modern child's manners is that too many woodsheds have been converted into garages.

THE HEREFORD HIGH School Rodeo Club is hosting the Tri State High School Rodeo starting tonight and continuing through Sunday. Some 100 contestants are scheduled to perform.

Activities are picking up around the community with the Super Sports Weekend and the Miss Hereford Pageant on the calendar next week. Gov. Dolph Briscoe is scheduled to visit here March 20, appearing at the airport from 8:45 to 6:30 p.m. on that date, and the Chamber Fun Breakfast is scheduled March 30. The Hereford & Vicinity YMCA will introduce its new executive director, Rick Wood, at a reception March 31 in the Flame Room.

BUREAUCRACY PREVAILS again, and this time the red tape has ensnared the Hereford School District and its scheduled trustee election on April 1. It appears, from a court ruling this week, that the district may have to change its method of electing trustees because of interpretation of the Voting Rights Act.

There are districts, I'm sure, where a voting change adversely affected the rights and political powers of minority voters. But it is difficult to determine why the bureau-rat planners think a change to the "place" system would have adverse effect here.

In fact, in the Justice Department forces a change back to the at-large system here, it would cancel the automatic election of a Mexican American candidate, Paul Ramirez is unopposed for one of the places on the board. He could face the possibility of not being elected if the election system is changed.

Uncle Sam works in mysterious ways his miracles to perform.

SADIE LEE OLIVER, a former county home demonstration agent here, fell at her home in Belton last month and broke her hip, according to a report from Mrs. F.G. Collier of Hereford. Miss Oliver was her until 1946, when Argen Draper took her place as HD agent. Mrs. Collier suggests that friends might want to send a card to Sadie Lee Oliver, Rt. 2, Box 390, Belton, TX 76513.

La Plata Sets Second Showing Of Play Tonight

The La Plata Junior High all-school play, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," will have its second performance beginning at 7:30 p.m. today, in conjunction with Texas Public School Week, which ends today.

The La Plata principal Pat Hughes said today that last night's showing was one of the most successful extra-curricular public activities ever to be held at the school.

Another large crowd is likely tonight, Hughes added.

Ticket prices are $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Registration Lines Getting Longer

Vehicle-registration lines haven't been overwhelming at the county tax assessor-collector's office but the number of those registering this month has steadily been increasing, according to office head Neil Miller. She anticipates the start of a registration rush next week and has announced that the office will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.—straight through—to handle the influx. The office presently closes during the lunch hour. Deadline for vehicle registration is April 1. [Brand photo by Paul Sims]

SW Bell Requests Rate Increases

EDITOR'S NOTE: If the rate increases are approved, it would mean an 80-cent increase in Hereford for a one-party telephone—from $5 a month to $5.80. The two-party residence phone would increase from $3.25 to $3.45. The business service rate would go from $10.50 to $12.20. All extension rates would increase from $1.50 monthly to $1.60.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. asked the Texas Public Utility Commission on Thursday for rate increases that would add $214.3 million to the company's income in one year.

John Hayes of Dallas, Bell's vice president for revenues, said the company was not getting the rate of return the commission foresaw when it granted a $58 million increase in December 1976.

The impact on telephone users would vary. Cities are broken into 10 rating classes. In addition, local gross receipts taxes figure in what the phone company users pay.

"On a statewide basis, the monthly bill for one-party residence service would increase in a range from 75 cents a month in the smaller cities to $1.20 per month in the largest," Hayes said.

However, Bell's proposed residential rates do not include local gross receipts taxes while the current rates it used for comparison do.

Residential users in Houston, for example, would pay Bell $1.36 per month more than they do now, not the $1.20 shown by the company's handouts.

In Austin, which has a higher gross receipts tax, the phone company would get a $1.27 increase, not the $1.05 jump it presented in its figures.

Counting city gross receipts taxes, Houston's basic residential bill would climb from $8 to $9.38, and the Austin bill from $6.50 to $7.85.

Dale Johnson, Bell news services manager, said there had been no intention to mislead anyone.

Bell wants to break out the gross receipts taxes as separate billing items. It now bills customers outside city limits for the gross receipts tax of the city where they exchange is located.

Impact of the telephone company's proposed revenue increased break down this way:

- $37.7 million, residential
- $40 million, basic business rates
- $25 million, installation and telephone relocation charges

- $36 million, multi-line "key" telephones such as small offices and business commonly use
- $14 million, PBXes
- $10 million, "Centrex" systems such as large industries and government bodies employ

- $20 million, private lines
- $30 million, separation of the gross receipts tax

Hayes observed that Bell seeks no increases in long distance, WATS, directory assistance or pay telephone, which were covered by the rate hike granted in December 1976.

Hayes said Bell's rate of return on its investment was running at 7.74 percent, not the 9.5 percent envisioned by the commission when it granted the 1976 increase.

He said the anticipated $58 million jump in revenue, however, had been realized.

The new rate proposal would generate a 10.38 percent rate of return on Bell's investment, he said.

In the past year, he said, Bell added 418,000 telephones to its system and expects another 500,000 this year.

"Growth is good for any business only when new revenues from that growth keep up with the additional costs that growth causes. That has not been the

Court Orders Blitz Coalfields But Miners May Stand Firm

WASHINGTON (AP) — As contract talks resume in the 95-day coal strike, federal marshals are fanning out into the coalfields with a court order telling miners to go back to work.

There were few indications, however, that many of the 160,000 striking miners planned to halt their protracted walkout, although President Carter said Thursday he believes "a substantial portion of them... will comply with the law."

Meanwhile, union and coal industry negotiators planned to meet today at the United Mine Workers headquarters to search for a settlement of their bitter dispute, which has forced electric utilities to curtail power and industries to lay off thousands of workers.

Sources said UMW President Arnold Miller and his bargaining team were to meet with three officials from the Bituminous Coal Operators Association without the presence of federal mediators.

The two sides have not bargained on a new national contract since the industry agreed to union contract demands two weeks ago under the threat of presidential intervention. The contract was rejected by the rank-and-file by a 2-1 margin last weekend.

Immediately after U.S. District Judge Aubrey E. Robinson Jr. issued his temporary back-to-work order Thursday under the Taft-Hartley Act, U.S. marshals began distributing copies of the order and supporting documents to 1,451 defendants that included the UMW, its local unions, mine construction workers and mine operators.

The judge issued the order after agreeing with the Carter administration—represented by Attorney General Griffin Bell in a rare court appearance—that the strike's continuation would "imperil the national health or safety."

The judge's order directed coal operators to reopen their mines and the strikers to end their walkout as of 7 a.m. local time today.

However, the judge gave marshals until 4:30 p.m. EST next Monday to serve copies of the order to all defendants, and Justice Department officials acknowledged that it would be difficult to force compliance with the order until Monday.

The judge, who also directed bargainers to resume "collective bargaining in good faith," said that while

Pot Smoking May Be Hazardous to Your Health

By MICHAEL J. SNIFFEN

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A toxic herbicide sprayed on Mexican marijuana plants under a U.S.-financed program has been found in marijuana seized in this country in concentrations 4.5 times greater than previously believed possible, sources say.

Congressional sources, who declined to be identified, said the Department of Health, Education and Welfare was ready to issue a new warning today about the danger of marijuana laced with the herbicide paraquat.

These sources said Thursday that the most recent government tests found contamination 4.5 times greater than the 500 parts per million the government said was possible three months ago.

They also said the tests showed that prolonged exposure to smoke of the tainted marijuana "may seriously impair the ability of the lungs to handle oxygen."

In a milder warning last Dec. 9, the White House office of Drug Abuse Policy said it saw no major health hazard associated with paraquat-treated marijuana. At that time, the government announced a $35,000 study of the potential dangers.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., ranking minority member of the Senate subcommittee on investigations, first asked Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance about possible dangers in a letter 10 months ago. Questions had been raised originally in the underground press.

Since 1973, the United States has provided $40 million for the spraying program, designed to halt the flow of illegal drugs into this country, with much of the money going to purchase 76 U.S. airplanes and helicopters.

Government sources said the State

Department was worried about potential criticism of the Mexican government from leftists there if the program were perceived as dominated by the U.S. government.

After a steady stream of queries from Percy, the White House drug abuse office called a meeting on May 27, 1977, of eight federal agencies to discuss the problem. According to one participant, several federal officials objected to tests because marijuana was illegal.

But, Peter Bourne, director of the White House drug abuse office, objected that any intake of paraquat-tainted marijuana in this country would be a direct result of the U.S.-supplied spraying operation and ordered the study by the National Institute of Drug Abuse, this participant said.

Paraquat is supposed to turn marijuana plants into a fine powder in three days of direct exposure to sunlight. The herbicide itself decomposes when it comes in contact with soil.

But the government says in some cases the marijuana has been harvested the same day it was sprayed and packed into bricks away from sunlight.

One swallow of concentrated paraquat can kill.

Jobless Percentage Lowest Since 1974

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big increase in new manufacturing jobs helped push the nation's jobless rate down to 6.1 percent in February, the fourth straight monthly decline in unemployment and the lowest since October 1974, the government reported today.

The unemployment rate in January was 6.3 percent.

The best unemployment gains in February were for blacks and other minority workers, whose jobless rate declined to 11.8 percent, down from 12.7 percent in January and the lowest in more than three years.

The February report said the effects of the long coal strike either had not yet shown up or not yet had an impact on overall employment, although it noted that the strike has taken 160,000 miners temporarily out of the labor force.

Aside from the miners themselves, about 20,000 workers have otherwise been laid off because of the strike.

The Labor Department said 93 million Americans had jobs in February, up from 92.9 million in January, while 6.1 million were unemployed, down from 6.2 million a month earlier.

Reflecting the steady improvement in the nation's economy, the February unemployment rate of 6.1 percent was the lowest since a 5.9 percent rate during the recession in October 1974.

Russians Return From Space Station

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet and a Czechoslovak cosmonaut returned to earth today from the Soviet Salyut 6 space station, leaving two other Soviet cosmonauts aboard, the Tass news agency reported.

Soviet flight commander Alexei Gubarev and Czechoslovak spaceman Vladimir Remek had spent seven days in space in the first mission to include a non-Soviet, non-American astronaut.

Tass said Georgy Grechko and Yuri Romanenko were continuing their work aboard the space station after more than 12 weeks in space. They are expected to return to earth in the next week or two, having broken the world space endurance record of 84 days set four years ago by a U.S. Skylab crew.

During their week in space, Gubarev and Remek engaged in joint scientific experiments, photography of the earth and in television broadcasts. They also brought supplies to the space station.

Tass announced during the flight that other East bloc spacemen, from Poland and East Germany, will also be orbited before the year is out.

Judge Hits Curtis With Contempt Charge

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Potter County District Attorney Tom Curtis was free on $100 bond today after a judge slapped him with a contempt citation Thursday when Curtis called the judge biased.

State District Judge Bryan Poff cited Curtis during a pre-trial hearing concerning suspended Potter County Commissioner Bob Hicks, scheduled to go on trial Monday on theft and official misconduct charges.

Poff told Curtis, "Tom, I ruled against you one time, and you're acting like a spoiled child. I've been trying to get along with you for three years. It's very sad I think it's time someone protected a man's rights around the courthouse. You indicted a man on five counts you conceded were beyond statute of limitations."

Poff had quashed five of the 15 counts against Hicks.

Curtis had said, "I think you're acting like a biased judge trying to help this defendant beat a darn good case."

Poff handed Curtis a 10-day jail sentence, but Curtis posted the bond.

Coffee Producers May Jack Prices Up

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Central American coffee producers are meeting in San Salvador to try to figure out ways to push prices back toward last year's higher levels. Their best hope may be reduced production due to drought.

The seven Central American countries agreed last month in London to suspend exports, but at least one of them, El Salvador, continues doing business as usual. And the world's largest producers, Brazil and Colombia, are not represented.

"There will definitely be an impact if they don't sell," said one source close to the market in El Salvador. "But if they don't sell, they would be hurting in a short time. It would affect their balance of payments, their bank reserves and debt payments."

"Anyway, I don't think they can even coordinate their marketing strategies."

"We aren't selling all that much," said Ricardo Falla Caceres, manager of the government Salvadorean Coffee Company. But Fausto Cantu Pena, who heads the Mexican Coffee Institute, told reporters that "flexibility within the agreement is not understood."

Police Report

G.S. Wheeler, 708 S. Main, reported the theft of a calculator, citizen's band radio antenna and writing pad from his car between 7 and 9 p.m. Thursday.

Leroy Burgess, Country Club Drive, told police, somebody shot a window at his house with a BB gun.

La Plata Musicians Receive I Rating

CANYON—The Hereford La Plata mixed choir, under the direction of Bill Devers, earned its first "superior" rating in University Interscholastic League competition in at least eight years Thursday at West Texas State University.

All three judges gave La Plata a "I" rating, which symbolizes superiority, in the junior high competition.

"We really did a fine job. The kids represented the school and community in the finest manner," said Devers, La Plata director for the last five years. "I expected a 'superior.' I wasn't surprised but I was very well pleased. If we'd have gotten an 'excellent' rating (II), I'd have been disappointed."

La Plata has received II ratings for at least the past seven years.

Songs performed by the Hereford group were "Your Shining Eyes" by Bateson, "Surely He Hath Borne Our Griets" by Lotti and "Declare His Honor" by Handel.

Junior highs from throughout the Panhandle were represented at the UIL contest. Hereford Stanton earned an "excellent" rating.

The Abundant Life

SENSIBLE GOALS

BY BOB WEAR

FROM OUR EARLIEST DAYS, we hear much about the important of having goals or aims of our lives. Some of this is good for us, but some of it is not. It is good for us, if the goals are sensible; if they are reasonable; if they are attainable, and this means that they must be in keeping with our capabilities. It is not good for us, if the goals are unrealistic; if they create faulty expectations; if they are obviously beyond our reach.

ARTIFICIAL FAILURE IS often created by the persons who do well, people who do the things they are capable of doing. They perform successfully, but, because they do not reach some unrealistic goal, they have a strong sense of failure. This feeling is often so over-powering that the people have no sense of accomplishment in all of the worthwhile things they have done. It is sad to consider ourselves failures, when, in fact, we have justification for considering ourselves successful.

GOALS WHICH ARE less than our capabilities, and our potentials are unworthy goals; in the sense that they do not provide the challenge for doing our best. Our whole-life well-being is thus undermined. It is a mistake to choose goals beyond our reach, and it is also a mistake to choose goals which do not call forth our best efforts.

SENSIBLE GOALS ARE recommended. Some general goals are the same for all well-meaning and conscientious persons, and these goals are attainable. Then, there will be goals which are uniquely individualistic; which are chosen on the basis of personal interest and capabilities. We will have some common goals, but we will also differ in some of our goals, because we are different.

IT IS NOT ALWAYS EASY TO choose the goals which are best for us, but, if we understand this important task, with the best enlightenment available to us, with courage and the proper determination; we will be rewarded with a satisfying degree of success. If we try this in some sloppy, inferior way; we will either be disappointed because we did not do better, or frustrated and discouraged because goals were unreasonable.

OUR GOALS MUST BE well-defined so we can chart our course of action wisely. Otherwise, our behavior will be made somewhat haphazard by the "hit-or-miss" philosophy. If our goals are not well-defined, we cannot be as purposeful as we should. This means that much of our time and effort will be wasted.

OUR LIVES FASHIONED, to a great extent, by our goals. If our goals are wholesome, and we honestly work toward them; our lives will be wholesome. If goals are altruistic, our efforts to reach them will enrich our lives and bring us a generous portion of happiness. The wrong goals will give the wrong shape to our lives.

SENSIBLE GOALS ARE essential to the abundant life.

Fed Grand Jury Indicts Estes Pal

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal grand jury has indicated a longtime associate of Billie Sol Estes in an alleged mail fraud scheme in which a Los Angeles mortgage company contends it lost $700,000.

Raymond K. Horton, 49, a Midland businessman, was named on 14 counts of alleged mail fraud.

U.S. District Judge John V. Singleton set bond at $10,000. Conviction on each of the 14 counts could draw maximum penalties of five years and a $1,000 fine.

The indictment alleges Horton borrowed $2.7 million from the Alison Mortgage Investment Trust Co. of Los Angeles to buy 42 acres of land in Houston and that the 1973 loan was based on a $3.7 million appraisal of the property.

Marijuana

There is no known antidote. Inhaling spray mist can cause nose bleeds, mouth and respiratory tract inflammation, chest pain, asthmatic attacks, vomiting and wrinkled fingernails.

Congressional sources said government scientists are aware of about 100 paraquat-related deaths in this country.

On Dec. 9, the drug abuse office said that at a contamination rate of 500 parts per million, a person would have to eat one pound of marijuana in a few hours to be killed. This they said would be roughly equal to 32 pounds of marijuana brownies — the form in which marijuana is most frequently eaten.

The study authorized by Bourne attempted to determine if paraquat remained in the smoke from tainted marijuana or produced other toxic gases. The congressional sources said these tests had found the paraquat transmitted in the smoke and the possibility of lung impairment from prolonged exposure.

Loans

diesel fuel and equipment were going up, prices for commodities were going down.

In 1975, farmers received $4.13 per bushel for wheat, $4.70 per hundred for milo and $5.27 per hundred for corn. That compares to $2.20, $2.85 and $3.38, respectively, last year.

"The combination of our disaster payments and our deficiency payments would be only a small proportion of the loss the farmers actually acquired in 1977, maybe only three or four percent.

"This disaster program wasn't designed to take care of the losses; it was designed to keep a man from declaring bankruptcy."

Farm Bureau

Grant told a news conference.

On Tuesday, the federation's board called for "per acre payments for set-aside acres" and also "additional land diversion (idled acres) with performance payments to bring production in line with demand."

A day later, on Wednesday, Talmadge's bill was introduced. But it calls for payments only on the additional acres taken from production, not for the mandatory set-aside acres.

In response to questions, Grant said the board's earlier statement calling for the payments on all land taken from production was made in hopes of prodding the House and Senate agriculture committees into action.

Grant said the board's endorsement of "the concept" of the Talmadge bill was not a departure from its earlier statement. Other federation officials later said that efforts will be made to get payments extended to the required set-aside land.

"There'll have to be adjustments there," Grant said. "I don't know how they'll adjust it."

On the subject of the protest by American Agriculture, the Colorado-based farm group, Grant said the use of the word strike is inappropriate. American Agriculture has asked farmers to cut production 50 percent this year to trigger higher prices.

"It could happen but I don't see evidence of it, because people have to meet mortgage payments, interest payments and have money to live on," Grant said.

Recent efforts by some American Agriculture farmers to halt trucks carrying food to stores were rejected by Grant. "We're opposed to any effort to minimize the movement of goods to market in any way," he said.

Some in American Agriculture have called for resignations of farmers from the Farm Bureau because the group has not wholeheartedly joined in its quest for higher government guarantees for the commodity prices.

Grant said Farm Bureau membership has not been affected appreciably and that in one state checked specifically this organization's membership has dropped only 147. He declined to identify the state but said it had a Farm Bureau membership of about 80,000.

Another reporter asked Grant about allegations among some women's groups that he has been advising farm women to ignore efforts in behalf of the Equal Rights Amendment.

Grant said that he has "absolutely not" engaged in anti-ERA talk nor has the federation been involved in such activity as a matter of policy.

Rates

case with Southwestern Bell's Texas operations," he said.

Last year, despite record growth, our earnings continue to be inadequate. Texas ranks 40th among the 48 states where the Bell System operates," Hayes added.

The 1976 utility commission rate action is currently before the Texas Supreme Court, primarily the question of Bell's rate base. The commission said Bell's profit should be a percentage of the original cost of its equipment. Bell says the commission was bound by law to consider current replacement cost as well.

The Supreme Court has set an April 5 hearing on the issue.

Hayes said the rate of return sought by Bell in the new proceeding is based on "original cost" because we doubt if the commission would change unless the Supreme Court requires it to do so."

Attorney General John Hill, who blocked an attempt by Bell to raise long distance rates before the commission was created, said he felt the latest request was unjustified.

"It is highly unlikely that any additional increases in the magnitude requested by Southwestern Bell would be reasonable. My staff will be studying this request, and I will be discussing it with Pat Loconto of Touche-Ross a consulting firm, who assisted us before in previous Southwestern Bell litigation," Hill said.

he was ordering the strike to a temporary end, no individual miner could be forced back to work against his will.

Because of that exclusion, many UMW officials and rank-and-file members have predicted that while most local leaders would obey the law by ordering a stop to the strike, the order will be widely ignored by the members.

The order, which requires miners to work for the same wages and benefits they received under their old contract, expires at 6 p.m. EST on March 17, when the judge has scheduled a hearing on a government request for an 80-day injunction. Later Thursday, while Bell was arguing the government's case before Judge Robinson, Carter told a nationally televised and broadcast news conference: "The welfare of our nation requires this difficult step, and I expect that all parties personal direction of federal law enforcement activities in this area."

Carter praised the miners as "law-abiding and patriotic citizens," and said that if a "moderate number" of coal miners go back to work, "we can prevent a crisis evolving in our country."

He also said that he had "absolutely no plans" to ask Congress to pass legislation authorizing seizure of the strike-bound mines, an option that miners appeared to prefer to use of a back-to-work order under Taft-Hartley.

The first steam engine was patented in 1700 by Thomas Savery. It was improved by James Watt in 1769.

Ann Landers Dissatisfied Teacher

DEAR ANN: Here's something for the woman who wrote, "If you don't like children, get out of the teaching profession." Believe me, there are thousands of teachers who would be happy to do just that! We chose teaching as a career because we love children and dreamed of all the wonderful joys and mind-expanding experiences we could bring to them.

Then what happens: Classrooms are overcrowded. You grow weary trying to meet the needs of 30 -- or 40 -- students. Not all of them have had breakfast or a good night's sleep. More are being raised by sitters than parents. We get dozens of roughnecks whose parents can't control them and are told, "Billy (or Betty) is a real handful. Straighten this kid out."

Salaries for teachers vary according to where you live. I happen to teach in a small town in Michigan where the pay is notoriously poor. Teachers here have to buy classroom supplies with money out of their own pockets, or do without. (The administration's budget is very generous, however, when it comes to football.

The final straw: Good teachers set high standards for classroom behavior and academic achievement. The students and their parents complain to the administration that the teacher is "expecting too much." The administration complains to the teacher that the parents and students are complaining. So after being in the middle without hope of change, you either give in to the students to save your job, go crazy or leave the profession. -- Other Side Of The Fence

DEAR OTHER SIDE: I received a blizzard of letters from teachers who wanted to express their point of view. You spoke for a large number and I thank you. A subject you did not touch on was violence in the schools. Thousands of teachers are physically attacked in the halls and classrooms. Students have been severely beaten and even killed in the corridors. Stealing is rampant and vandalism costs taxpayers millions of dollars. Pretty it isn't -- and there are no easy answers. Somehow, parents must accept responsibility for teaching their children respect for authority. This means taking a hard line against laziness, apathy, dirty talk and insolence. The training must begin practically from the moment of birth. You can't plant onions and expect lilacs to bloom.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I don't want to start another Civil War, but "Belle From Richmond" should have signed her letter "Dumbbell From Richmond."

If she will look in a history book she'll find that Virginia was divided and fought on both sides -- the North and the South. Sometimes it was brother against brother, and father against son.

As for "Chilly in Philly," Virginia is definitely below the Mason-Dixon line but any Northerner can tell you they know when they cross that line. There is very little "Southern Hospitality." Southerners can come to Pennsylvania, however, and be treated very well. -- I've Been There

DEAR BEEN: So have I and my experience was completely different. Some people have more people problems than others.

Easter Program To Be Presented

The Don Harrington Discovery Center in Amarillo, has scheduled "THE HEAVENS DECLARE THE GLORY OF GOD" as a special Easter program to run two week-ends only March 18-19 and 25-26. Programs are shown at 3 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. The Easter program is one of two special religious programs scheduled annually by the Discovery Center. The other is the successful "STAR OF BETHLEHEM" Christmas show.

The Bible is replete with references to the stars, constellations and heavens. The program's title, "THE HEAVENS DECLARE THE GLORY OF GOD," comes from Psalm 19, verse 1. The performance is faithful to Biblical sources with special emphasis on the Easter season.

In addition to regularly programs on Saturday and Sunday, special group showing can be arranged by contacting the Discovery Center, 1200 Streit Drive, Amarillo, Texas 79106, during regular business hours, or by calling 806-355-9547.

Many churches and religious groups are searching for special ways to supplement and enhance their traditional Easter observance. "THE HEAVENS DECLARE THE GLORY OF GOD" offers an opportunity for Christians to further their understanding and observance of this special day.

The Discovery Center is located across the pond from High Plains Baptist Hospital in the Medical Center, Amarillo.

LET ME BE ME

Very often a child's supposed "stubbornness" is a struggle for individuality. At some point they all want to be their own person, instead of an extension of another person. We sometimes forget they have their own desires.

As adults, we get perturbed when a kid wants to finish his puzzle before he sets the table, but, on the other hand, we always insist he completes projects.

Co-operation from a child is possible if we only use a little politeness.

Try understanding the child's point of view. Say, "I'm sorry to interrupt you..." or "I realize you may not want to, but it would help me a lot if..." Just letting the child know you respect his wishes will make a world of difference!

Exercising power will only create a struggle which will accomplish nothing. Adults seldom win power struggles, and anyway, when they do, the only outcome is to belittle the conquered.

Let a child be his own person. When that "stubbornness" pops up, take a look at what is really happening.

"I'll bet that kid is saying (with his behavior) 'Let me be me!'"

Child Porn, Bill Topics of Seminar

Plans for a regional seminar, scheduled from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. April 25 in Amarillo, were discussed by members of the Hereford Chapter, Association of the W's Tuesday evening during a meeting at the Community Center.

Child pornography and a proposed bill concerning education will be the main topic of the seminar, which will feature Lottie Beth Hobbs, president of the National Association of W's, as main speaker. Further details concerning this assembly will be announced at a later date.

Patricia Vogler, who was ending her term as president, called the meeting to order and presented the president's gavel to Irene Mullins, her predecessor.

In other business, Audrey Allen was elected treasurer. Mrs. Vogler and Mrs. Mullins reported the National Congress for Educational Excellence which they attended recently at Tulsa, Okla.

Three Association members stated that they had participated in the recent selection of local textbooks to be used on the junior high and high school levels during the 1978-79 school year. The trio stressed the helpful cooperation and excellent attitude shown by Hereford teachers during the debates.

The Association's next meeting is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. April 11 at the Community Center and all interested persons are welcome to attend.

Churches To Observe Big Brothers Sunday

Churches of all denominations in Hereford have joined in designating Sunday, March 12, as Big Brothers-Big Sisters Sunday in support of the organization's annual drive for volunteers during Big Brothers-Big Sisters Month.

Appeals will be made to congregation members to sign up during the coming week as Big Brothers and/or Big Sisters. Because the Big Brothers-Big Sisters Movement is based on the unique concept of the personal relationship of one adult to one child, the continuation of the program depends on the number of volunteers recruited, particularly men. There is a long list of Little Brothers waiting for Big Brothers. Some have been waiting longer than two years.

These children, between the ages of 5 and 16, come from single-parent homes and are subject to increased social and emotional problems resulting from lack of sufficient adult attention at the time they need it most.

By offering mature, steady friendship, under the supervision of a trained professional, the Big Brother or Big Sister meets the needs of the Little Brother or Little Sister for the guidance and companionship of a stable caring adult.

The Big Brothers-Big Sisters formula has met with outstanding success in transforming potential problem children or actual delinquents into responsible citizens in communities throughout the United States. It has also been hailed by religious and lay leaders as a rewarding experience for the volunteer himself. The character of the relationship between the adult and the child is said to result in spiritual enrichment, mutual respect, greater self-awareness and increased character development.

FAITH TEACHES US THE LAWS OF RETRIBUTION

One of the most commonly held fallacies is the notion that we can "get away with something". This false premise is strengthened by the sight of those around us who have apparently succeeded in doing so; while at the same time it would appear that others are being punished out of all proportion to any wrong they may have done. However, you are destined to learn that in the long run you will receive whatever reward or punishment you deserve, according to the way you have conducted your life. And that choice is yours, as is the Church you should go to in order to learn how this divine merit system works.

We ought to do our neighbor all the good we can. If you do good, good will be done back to you; but if you do evil, the same will be measured back to you again.

Herd Baseballers Erupt For 13-8 Win Over Dons

In Good Form

Herd junior Kevin Bunch delivers a pitch in the HHS season opener Thursday against Palo Duro. Bunch walked five and struck out four in gaining a 13-8 victory for the Whitefaces. The Herd will attempt to make it two in a row today against the Amarillo High Sandies in Amarillo. [Brand Photo].

The Hereford Whitefaces finally got the stubborn 1978 baseball season underway at home Thursday, and the Herd played with a fury in claiming 11 base hits, including two doubles and three triples, in rolling by the Palo Duro Dons 13-8.

Junior lefty Kevin Bunch notched the win for the Whitefaces in a six-inning stint on the mound. Senior Chris Hill relieved the tiring underclassman in the seventh inning to secure the win.

Bunch, relying in the clutch on his effective curve ball, kept the Dons at bay through five innings as the 'Faces rang up a 12-3 lead. The red-haired hurler was tagged for four runs in the sixth inning however, and Herd coach David Ashby inserted Hill in the final frame to save the win.

Larry McNutt, Greg Hennington, and Donald Johnson led a potent HHS offense, which struck PD pitching for 11 hits. Those three Whitefaces each rapped out a triple in the game, while Hill and John Wagner collected a double each.

The Herd took a 2-0 lead in the first on a single by Bunch, a walk to Hennington, and McNutt's triple, which scored both baserunners.

The Dons fought back to take a 3-2 lead in the second with two base hits, a pair of walks, and a sacrifice doing the damage.

The middle innings proved to be the downfall of the Dons, now 1-4 on the year, as the Whitefaces scored three runs in the third, two more in the fourth, and five in the fifth to put the contest away.

Following the small rally in their half of the sixth inning, the Dons could manage but a solo tally against Hill. The senior stopper gave up one hit in the frame, and a base on balls followed by a Herd error accounted for the PD tally.

Hennington, McNutt, and Kent Ellis led HHS at the plate with two hits apiece. Hennington was the most active Whiteface in the game, going two-for-four at the plate with one triple, scoring three runs, knocking one run in, and stealing a pair of bases.

The Herd hopes to make it two in a row today in Amarillo against the Amarillo High Sandies. Amarillo High clipped the Canyon Eagles 9-3 Thursday to run their record to 4-2.

Hill has been designated to start the contest today by coach Ashby.

Canyon, Nazareth Get Finals Spots

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Defending champions Canyon and Nazareth made a strong bid for another state girls' basketball title Thursday with sensational shooting performances in semifinal victories.

Six teams advanced to the finals in the first day of the state tournament. Semifinals were scheduled today in Class A and 4A, with fans getting their first look at high-scoring Dallas South Oak Cliff, the other defending champion in the tournament.

Canyon, 36-0 breezed past Georgetown, 77-52, in 3A with Merry Johnson scoring 32 points and Glenda Williams 28, even though she played with broken fingers on her left hand taped together.

Canyon has won 65 straight over two seasons and has a chance to win its fifth title in a record 10 consecutive tournament appearances.

The Eagles shot 71.4 percent from the field, with Williams hitting 12 of 14. Denise Babicki tallied 27 for outcasted Georgetown, which had 33 turnovers that led to 34 points for Canyon.

Canyon will play Corpus Christi Tuloso-Midway, a 59-50 victor over Carthage, for the championship Saturday night.

Stephanie Arnecke scored 23, Nancy Kocurek 19 and Lari Rhyne 17 for Tuloso-Midway, which lost last year to Canyon in the semifinals. Cynthia Jennings scored 31 for Carthage, which took an early lead but fell under a 20-2 first half surge by Tuloso-Midway.

Slaton routed Pflugerville, 78-50, to join Granbury, an easy 63-48 winner over Palacios, in the 2A finals Saturday.

Lynn Webb pitched in 34 and Cynthia Robinson 25 for Slaton, which shot 64.7 percent. Pflugerville's tall tandem of 6-2 Karen Thompson and 5-11 Jackie Weiss combined for only 33 points as they missed 19 of 34 shots - most of them from within a few feet of the basket.

Gwen Stewart had 28 and Joyce Gregory 22 for Granbury, which gambled by using two guards on Debbie Polk of Palacios and letting one of Palacios' other two offensive players take wide open shots. The strategy worked as Polk scored only 24 points - 20 below her season average - and Charlette Schneider and Nancy Anderson could add only 12 each for palacios.

In Class B, Nazareth was devastating, hitting nine of nine, field goals in the first quarter, and nine of 10 in the final period, to whip Avinger, 71-43.

Nazareth finished with a 78.4 shooting percentage. Karen Schulte scored 29 points and 6-foot Cheryl Hartman 27.

Graford ran its record to 39-0 by edging Crawford, 53-50, in overtime in the other B semifinal game. Sub Jerry Gillespie scored Graford's last seven points, including five in overtime.

Nazareth and Graford play the first championship game, Saturday morning.

Avengers Extend Season

The Avengers extended the YMCA high school boys' basketball league to at least one more game Wednesday night, with a come-from-behind 39-37 victory over the Basketball Wizards.

Trailing 31-19 after three periods the Avengers suddenly came alive, outscoring the Wizards 20-6 in the final quarter to nab the win. Greg Brockman's 16 points led the uprising, while James McDowell contributed 10 and Randy Marrs nine.

Warren Cornelius tallied 15 points to the losers, winners of the league's round robin play. Greg Hennington added 10 points to the total.

The two teams will face each other again next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Central School gym. Should the Avengers win, they will be the champions of the league's postseason tourney and would have to face the Wizards a third time for the loop title.

Scott Begins Golf Defense

Hereford's Barbara Scott, 15th in the state last year among Class 4A fens, opens defense of her District 4-4A golf championship today in Lubbock. Miss Scott, only a junior, won the loop title last year by 30 strokes over her nearest competitor.

Miss Scott continued her success story in the Region I meet with a second-place finish, earning a spot at the state tournament in Austin. She had to overcome a six-shot deficit on the second day of the Regional Tournament in grabbing the state-qualifying spot by one stroke.

At Austin, Miss Scott carded the only eagle in the tournament on the second day of play enroute to a 183 total, good for 15th place.

Today's district round in the first of four such rounds. The loop fens will play two rounds each at Lubbock and Plainview.

Plainview is the defending team champion, while Monterey finished second and Coraondo was third. Hereford and Lubbock High didn't field full teams last season, and didn't compete for the team title.

Miss Scott captured the district medalist crown with a 288 total last season. Monterey's Cathy Dodson finished second with a 318 score. At the Regional Meet Miss Scott finished second to Odessa Permian's Jackie Diass, who won the title with a 161 total to the Hereford entrant's 172.

Tag Match On Wrestling Card

Roger "Nature Boy" Kirby and Lord Jonathan Boyd team up in tag action at the Bull Barn this Saturday night as the Hereford Lions Club once again sponsors wrestling at the 8:30 p.m. mark. They face Ricky Romero and Johnny Starr.

Kirby, who holds the world leg press record at 2800 pounds, weighs in at 240, ten pounds over the weight limit for the world junior heavyweight championship. He once held that title, but holding his weight down was too difficult. Boyd has been better known as one of the Royal Kangaroos. His former partner is fulfilling commitments in Europe. Boyd is an Australian, and steps in at 250 pounds.

Romero is a native of Mexico who was raised in Southern California. At 224 pounds, he stays in shape by lifting weights and jogging five miles daily. Starr, also 224, is from Nashville, Tennessee, and the son and grandson of wrestlers. A real crowd pleaser, he uses speed, style, and grit to offset his comparatively small size.

In semi-main action, James J. Dillon, the 238-pound New Jersey socialite, will meet the squat and ape-like Rip Hawk. Hawk, 230 pounds, is from North Carolina. The two men have had a personality clash in private life, and it has carried over into ring warfare. Alex "Texican" Perez, the 245-pound former fistic great, will meet Japan's Mr. Onoumi. Onoumi is a former sumo professional, and prior to that was amateur grand champion of Japan.

In last week's action, Onoumi drew with colorful Polynesian Tonga in the opener. Tonga Utuili Fifita also wrestled in sumo, and came to the Panhandle from Japan, where he lived for nearly three years after leaving the south seas kingdom. Boyd was disqualified over Hawk. Carlos Mata beat EIVikingo in the semi-main event, and J.J. Dillon was counted out of the ring when he became involved with another wrestler in the main event lumberjack match. His opponent was Super Destroyer, substituting for an injured Dory Funk, Jr. Funk put in an appearance despite an operation at Amarillo's St. Anthony's hospital on March first.

A shoulder injured in his football days at West Texas State University, and again in a truck accident on his Umbarger ranch when he held the world title, required surgery after a skiing accident in Colorado.

The Herd will be at home next week in hosting the Annual Deaf Smith County Invitational Tournament in conjunction with the Super Sports Weekend here.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) - North Carolina leads other Atlantic Coast Conference schools in this year's competition to determine the loop's strongest athletic program. North Carolina, after finishing no worse than third in any of the five winter sports, leads the Carmichael Cup competition for overall sports achievement in the conference.

Coach Wonders at Pairings

By BOB BAUM
Associated Press Writer

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) - Veteran Kansas basketball coach Ted Owens says he isn't sure why his ninth-ranked Jayhawks were matched against second-ranked UCLA in Saturday's opening round of the 32-team NCAA tournament.

He also wonders why two other at-large berths in the power-packed Western Regional went to seventh-ranked Arkansas and 11th-ranked North Carolina.

"I don't quite understand the reasoning behind having so many nationally ranked teams in the same region," Owens said a few minutes after his team arrived Thursday night to begin preparation for its Saturday showdown with the Bruins.

Five of the top 11 ranked teams in the country are among the eight competing in the Western Regional.

"I don't know the thinking behind the committee's selections," Owens said. "It seems to me they'd at least talked about trying to balance the brackets."

The showdown between UCLA, 24-2, and Kansas, 24-4, two perennial college cage powers, is the premier contest in this weekend's field of 16 games. The contest, to be part of a nationally televised tripleheader, will be preceded in Eugene by a game between Arkansas and Big Sky champion Weber State.

The Weber State-Arkansas contest starts at 11:10 a.m. The UCLA-Kansas matchup follows at 1:15 p.m. The games will be played on the University of Oregon campus at venerable McArthur Court, which was built in 1926 and is known as "The Pit."

The winners will advance, along with the two victors of games played in Tempe, Ariz., to the Western Regional semifinals and will play each other next Thursday night in Albuquerque, N.M.

The Jayhawks never figured to be in Oregon this week. They had stormed through the Big-8 season losing only one game, but were upset by Kansas State in the conference tournament.

"We could have maybe made it to the final four without leaving our home state," said Owens, explaining that the Midwest regionals are to be held in Wichita this weekend and Lawrence next weekend. "It was a very disappointing loss, but it's done and we're just looking forward to playing UCLA. It boosted our morale to know we'd be playing such a respected team."

Both Owens and UCLA Coach Gary Cunningham see their teams as mirror images in style. Both rely heavily on the scoring of one forward and two guards.

"We're a running and pressing team like they are," Owens said, adding that he plans no changes in style.

The Jayhawks' scorers are led by freshman guard Darnell Valentine, who is averaging 13.6 points per game and senior guard John Douglas at 2.6 points per game. Ken Koehnig, a 6-foot-10 senior forward, is averaging 11.3 points and 6 rebounds per game.

The fourth Kansas player averaging in double figures 10.8 is 6-9 senior Donnie Von Moore, who also leads the team in rebouncing at 8.3 per game.

The Bruins, whose only two losses have been to Notre Dame, are paced in scoring by forward David Greenwood at 17.6 points per game. Guards Roy Hailton 16.9 and Raymond Townsend 14.9 and the other two UCLA players averaging in double figures.

Kansas is the No. 1 team in the country for allowing the lowest field goal percentage by an opponent. UCLA is No. 4 in that statistic. Both teams are allowing other teams to shoot at slightly better than a 40 percent clip.

Arkansas will be a big favorite to knock off unranked Weber State in the opener Saturday. The Razorbacks, 28-3, tied for the Southwest Conference crown and were knocked off by Houston in the conference tournament. They are led by three high-scoring players - Ron Brewer, Sidney Moncrief and Marvin Delph.

Vega Girls Lose

Robert Lee spoiled the Vega Longhorn girls' bid for the state Class A basketball championship this morning with a convincing 64-47 win at the Super Drum in Austin. Robert Lee, now 34-2 on the year, will face the Snook-Cushing winner for the state title Saturday night at 7 p.m. Vega closed out the year at 28-11.

Dawn Harwell, a senior, scored 22 points in her final game for Vega, but it wasn't enough to offset 27 points by Robert Lee's Vicki Gartman and 23 more from the Steers' Lisa Duvall. Tanya Morris contributed nine points for Vega, while Kimmi Waters tallied eight and Dawna Rea closed out with four. Stella Bickley rounded out the Robert Lee list with 14. The winners took a 37-18 lead at intermission, and held on to go into the final stanza holding a 50-29 bulge. Vega outscored their opponent 18-14 in the final eight minutes, but it was too little too late.

Coach Don Ewing's Longhorns entered the state tournament by beating Shallowater 55-45 in the Region I finals last week. Vega handed Hawley a defeat in the Regional semifinal, while Shallowater upended heavy favorite Phillips.

Robert Lee averaged 65 points per game this season, and defeated defending class A champion Cooper, ironically by the same 64-47 score, last week in their regional finale.

Mandatory Exams Hot Item

To Test Or Not To Test?

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the scarecrow showed up asking for brains, the Wizard of Oz gave him a diploma. That seemed to please him, even though the wizard was a fake.

There's a bit of that flavor in the current controversy between politicians and educators over mandatory tests to determine whether public school students have learned enough to graduate.

Educators contend that state-wide test standards are likely to be meaningless at best, and may do more harm than good. Any kind of national tests would be worse, they say.

Nevertheless, there is a growing trend toward state testing systems as legislators respond to the pressure of dissatisfied voters who don't think the schools are doing a good job.

Thirty-one states now have adopted testing systems to determine the competence of students, and the other 19 are considering them.

The government has just concluded a national conference on achievement testing and basic skills, but it produced no consensus on steps to make sure that students emerge from the public schools competent at least in reading, writing and mathematics.

Acknowledging that the public clamor to do something is understandable, a panel of the National Academy of Education said statewide tests are not the answer.

That panel of educators said the setting of state standards for high school diplomas is "basically unworkable, exceeds the present measurement arts of the teaching profession and will create more social problems that it can conceivably solve."

One major difficulty, they said, is that any test tough enough to be meaningful would be too difficult for many students to pass. That conclusion underscores the problem, and the educators acknowledged that the schools should be paying more attention to the fundamentals of reading, writing and arithmetic.

The panel said standardized tests in the lower grades could be useful, not only to pinpoint student weaknesses, but also to build "public pressures if schoolwide performances in basic skills continue over time to be consistently low. ..."

But it warned against the abrupt imposition of state tests as a requirement for graduation.

"It is basically unworkable because in many populous states, cutoff points for a passing grade that are politically and educationally acceptable to parents, pupils and educators would have to be so low that an overwhelming majority of students would be allowed to pass," the panel said. "This would make the diploma standard almost meaningless."

That would make the tests, like the diploma the wizard bestowed, just so much paper. The problem is compounded by the fact that disadvantaged and minority students in troubled big-city school systems are more likely to have trouble passing standardized tests than are those in more affluent school districts.

Yet, they are the people who would be penalized most severely by failure. The academy of education panel warned:

"If success on tests for purposes of graduation or promotion is achieved by four-fifths of a suburban school system, but only one-third of a central city system, the consequences could be serious for domestic tranquility as well as social equity in a world where a high-school diploma, regardless of intrinsic meaning, is frequently a ticket to particular jobs."

But that leads back to the wizard's diploma, for if a certificate of graduation has no intrinsic meaning, it is not going to be a ticket to anything for very long.

Ethiopians Expect Influx Of Reinforcement, Weapons

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The Ethiopian government is expected to pour reinforcements and arms into the rebellious northern province of Eritrea to end the 16-year-old war there following Somalia's announcement that it is withdrawing its forces from the rebellion in eastern Ethiopia.

A spokesman in Beirut for one of the two Eritrean rebel factions reported Ethiopian troops already have launched a two-pronged offensive in Eritrea that has broken a two-month-long siege of the Red Sea port of Massawa by the Eritrean People's Liberation Front.

The spokesman, Omar Alim of the rival Eritrean Liberation Front, said the Ethiopians were battling to dislodge his organization's guerrillas from the outskirts of Asmara, the Eritrean capital, "but we are rallying back."

Alim said there had been daily air attacks on rebel forces besieging the two cities. He reported about 3,000 EPLF guerrillas were killed in Massawa, bringing that rebel faction's attempt to capture the port to a "disastrous end."

Ethiopia's war machine is well oiled and humming with $1 billion in Soviet military aid, Russian advisers and an estimated 10,000 Cuban troops. Somalia's announcement Thursday signaling the end of the fighting in the eastern Ogaden Desert means the Addis Ababa government can unleash them now for the more important battle for Eritrea, the former Italian colony Emperor Haile Selassie annexed in 1962 to give Ethiopia access to the Red Sea.

The EPLF, which along with the ELF claims to have captured 90 percent of the province, said last week that 1,000 Cubans already have joined Ethiopian forces in Asmara and there is evidence Cuban soldiers also are in Massawa.

To the south of Asmara, Ethiopian troops also control the port of Assab, which has the nation's only refinery and is a major point of entry for Soviet weapons and Cuban troops bound either for the war fronts or for Addis Ababa, the capital 550 miles to the southwest.

Up to now, the Assab-Addis Ababa highway has plagued by the guerrillas, whose total strength is estimated at 40,000 men. Ethiopian forces in the province have been estimated at 25,000 regulars and 25,000 hastily trained militiamen.

The end of the Ogaden War was signalled Thursday when the Somalia government announced in Mogadishu that at the urging of the "world community" it was withdrawing its troops from the region where they had been helping ethnic Somali tribesmen in their eight-month-old war to take their semi-desert homeland away from Ethiopia and annex it to Somalia.

In Washington, President Carter welcomed the announcement, adding: "As soon as Somali forces have withdrawn completely and as soon as Ethiopian forces have re-established control over their own territory, withdrawal of Soviet and Cuban combat presence should begin."

Fourth Network Not Threat

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Despite talk of a possible "fourth network," it's unlikely one would threaten CBS, NBC or ABC for years. And it would need much programming flexibility to catch on with stations.

So says A.R. Van Cantfort, the new president of the National Association of Television Program Executives, a major industry group of 1,030 station executives, producers and program syndicators.

"I don't say it couldn't happen," he said of a fourth network. "But at this time, I don't see any producer, organization, group or system that could be a serious threat to the existing three networks."

Van Cantfort, program director at WSB-TV, NBC's Atlanta affiliate, was interviewed recently following the NATPE's annual convention, attended by more than 2,800 TV industry members and observers.

He said major problems facing creation of a fourth network include huge costs of regularly scheduled programming and a lack of affiliates.

"You can't have a network without stations carrying your programs," he said. "Now, stations are looking for alternatives to network shows. But they're looking for selective alternatives."

He cited as an example last year's "Operation Prime Time," set up by 95 stations and MCA-TV to air costly, first-run programs equal in star names and production values to programs aired by the three networks.

OPT, as it's called, aired a miniseries, "Testimony of Two Men," as a test last May, and now says it plans to make three more miniseries for broadcast this year in May, July and November.

OPT has been considered by some writers as the prelude to creation of a fourth network.

But Van Cantfort notes "there's big difference between 'Operation Prime Time' once every quarter and providing network services of 12 to 15 hours a day, seven days a week. There's a big gulf."

He was asked if a fourth network could take hold if enough stations feel the network wares they get are too weak too consistently.

"Well, they a fourth network are going to need an awful lot of flexibility," he replied.

By this, he said, stations fed programs by such a network must be able to put the shows anywhere in their local program schedules that they think will help meet or beat the competition.

"That's going to be one of the selling points for a new service," he said. "If it comes in and says, 'You've got to take this show on Friday night,' or whenever, it may not fit your needs."

"And you'll say, 'I'll pass on it.'"

He cited another obstacle: sponsors of a fourth-network show may want it aired nationally on a given night, causing a conflict with stations that prefer to show it on a different evening.

Youngster Home After Operations

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The doctors kept telling the parents to give up, that there was no hope. But 9-month-old Steve McLaughlin is now home after three open-heart operations and a long series of complications.

Doctors at Riley Hospital still don't see how he made it. "They call him the miracle baby," said his mother, Vicki McLaughlin. "No baby in anyone's memory has undergone what he's done and they just can't believe he's survived."

Soon after Steve was born June 3, doctors discovered a heart murmur. He had two holes in his heart and was missing a pulmonary valve.

"They couldn't do anything about it then - he was just too small," said Mrs. McLaughlin. After 10 days, doctors sent the boy home.

But three months later the infant caught a cold that doctors said threatened his life. When the cold turned into pneumonia, doctors ordered open-heart surgery Oct. 19.

"They patched the holes but couldn't do anything about the pulmonary valve or the artery pressing on his windpipe," said Mrs. McLaughlin. Then, on Dec. 5, a heart catheterization disclosed that the stitches holding one of the "patches" on the heart had broken and open-heart surgery was scheduled for the next day.

Four days after the second open-heart operation, the boy's kidneys stopped working and doctors gave him two hours to live. An hour and 15 minutes later, they started working again.

Girl Scouts don't sell cookies just for fun.

They sell them to raise money. Cookie sales pay for many scouting activities.

Money raised by cookie sales stays in the area in which it was raised.

Cookie sales take place at different times of the year in different places.

One company does not make all the cookies. Cookie bakers across the country try to get the rights to bake these cookies. It's big business for them.

There are three types of cookies that the girls must offer for sale: Chocolate mint, shortbread and chocolate sandwich.

Chocolate mint is by far the biggest seller.
