

School Board Approves Special Education Plan

By ALLISON RYAN
Staff Writer

During a relatively short meeting Tuesday the board of education for the Hereford Independent School District approved a three-year plan for Special Education in the district.

Majorie Lassiter, special education coordinator, presented the plan which includes policy and procedure to board members for approval.

"The format was devised in the Fort Worth area. This region went with the same format following Texas Education Association guidelines," Mrs. Lassiter said.

According to Mrs. Lassiter, some projection is used in the plan. Because it is a graduation plan, each year an advisory group will update the plan by adding another year.

Adrian, Vega and Boys Ranch have also approved the policy. Students from those areas with Special Education requirements attend classes in Hereford.

In other business, the board voted formally to participate in the operation of the central tax appraisal and collection office here.

In addition, members reviewed the tentative budget for the central tax office.

Under a tentative budget the HISD will be responsible for 52 percent of $114,201.91 of the overall budget of $216,322.48.

Trustees also approved 15 individuals to serve on the Textbook Committee for 1980-81 adoptions.

Supt. Dr. Harrell Holder commented, "These people have a most important decision to make because they are deciding on the adoption of reading books for the schools."

Dr. Holder will chair the textbook committee. Other committee members approved by the school board include James Smith, Stanton, Leona Miller, La Plata, Ann Warrick, HHS, Ed Warren, HHS, Dan Dudley, HHS, Ellen Smith, Stanton, and Jo Ann Lane, La Plata.

Also, Sarah Pesina, Tierra Blanca, Nan Conaway, Aikman, Doris Cagle, Northwest, Dorothy Brownlow, Tierra Blanca, Carlynn DeLozier, West Central, Bonnie Decker, Shirley and Dan Giliuson, HHS.

General reports including enrollment, transportation, school taxes and cafeteria were heard at the meeting.

Larry Wartes, assistant superintendent, reported enrollment compared to last year at this same time is down by 86 students.

Wartes also reported on transportation for the schools. He said buses running at Shirley Elementary are having some problems in establishing how many children will be riding the buses each day.

assessor-collector reported the tax collection rate was at 61 percent with $1,562,891.62 collected and $39,073.64 delinquent.

Wartes also reported on the school cafeterias saying, "things seem to be going the same."

"The only problem we are having is on the financial statement. We need money from the state for the lunch program. We have yet to see any reimbursement for the program. If we don't get that money soon, we could have a hard time paying our bills," he said.

Reports from Texas State Teachers Association and Classroom Teachers Association were also heard by board members.

Michelle Tubb, president of the local chapter, reported 15 teachers were in Amarillo last week for a delegate meeting.

Tommy Rosson, reporting for CTA, told the board Nancy Priest had been named president-elect and Charles Duvall principal at Northwest Elementary had been nominated for Administrator of the Year. Duvall's nomination has been sent to Austin for a state-wide election.

Joyce Wartes, teacher-coordinator for Vocational Office Education, presented a brief summary of the program to board members.

VOE is a two-year program in which students are involved in a pre-enrollment training one year and actual part-time employment the second year.

"At this time there are 14 students employed in Hereford. These students are in regular school classes one-half of the day and working the other half of the day," Mrs. Wartes said.

She said a five-year follow up is kept on file and of the 104 students that have been enrolled in VOE, 62 are still employed in the same occupation.

"Of the 62 students, many are still at the same job," she said.

Before the close of the meeting, trustee James Gentry was appointed the board's liaison to the state legislature in Austin.

U.S. Reply Delivered

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The U.S. reply to Iran's terms for freeing the 52 American hostages was delivered to the Iranian government in Tehran today, an aide to Iranian Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai reported.

Rajai's office, reached by telephone from Beirut, gave no indication of the initial Iranian reaction. But American officials thought it might be several days before Iran made its next move.

The five-man U.S. team that delivered the American reply to the Algerian government for relay to Tehran was returning to Washington from Algiers today. Their U.S. Air Force jet developed mechanical trouble en route, and the group spent the night at Shannon Airport in Ireland.

The two days of discussions that ended Tuesday between the American team, headed by Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher, and the Algerians were described as "intensive and useful" by John H. Trattner, a State Department spokesman here.

Christopher's team went to Algiers to try to speed the negotiating process after U.S. officials failed last week to open direct talks with Iran.

At first, Iran had insisted on a public U.S. response, but the Carter administration refused and took more than a week to develop the reply. That answer was delivered Monday by Christopher to the Algerian officials.

Hereford Man Dies In Friona Wreck

A 17-year-old Hereford man was killed Tuesday afternoon in an apparent head-on collision of his car and a semi-tractor trailer rig just outside the eastern city limits of Friona.

Dagoberto Rodriguez, 17, of 532 George died after his 1974 Pontiac Grand Prix collided with the truck rig.

According to investigating DPS officers from Friona, Rodriguez was westbound on Highway 60 when he collided with an eastbound truck driven by Joe Aguirre, 24, of 411 Cleveland, Friona.

An investigating DPS officer reported that Rodriguez was apparently blinded by the setting sun and veered into the path of the oncoming truck.

The accident occurred approximately one-half mile outside the eastern city limits of Friona.

Both Rodriguez and Aguirre were taken to Parmar County Community Hospital in Friona following the accident.

Funeral services for Rodriguez are pending with Rix Funeral Home of Hereford.

Christopher's group left Algiers on Tuesday despite its original plans to remain up to a week to receive an answer to the U.S. response. There was no word here on whether Christopher's mission was considered a success and Christopher had no comment as he left.

Algeria is acting as an intermediary between Tehran and the United States because the two nations have no official diplomatic relations.

Christopher's group met with Algerian leaders to give a "generally positive reply" to the Iranian demands, U.S. State Department officials said.

The Iranian Parliament outlined four demands, including a pledge of U.S. non-intervention in Iranian af-airs, cancellation of American financial claims against Iran, return of the wealth of the late Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and release of more than $8 billion in frozen Iranian assets.

Christopher's team went to Algiers to try to speed the negotiating process after U.S. officials failed last week to open direct talks with Iran.

On Tuesday, Christopher met with Abdelkrim Gheraib, Algeria's ambassador to Iran, and Algerian Foreign Minister Mohamed Benyahia to explain the written response, which was said by U.S. officials here to be long and technical.

Christopher carried with him a pledge of non-interference and an explanation of U.S. legal difficulties in meeting the other demands.

Death Toll Grows In Abadan Siege

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim announced plans to send a peace envoy to Iran and Iraq as the stalemate at Abadan continued. Iran claimed the Iraqis were pushed back from the east side of the besieged refinery city, while Iraq claimed 117 Iranian troops were killed in that sector at the southern end of the 300-mile invasion front.

Waldheim said he was sending former Prime Minister Olof Palme, the leader of the Swedish Socialist Party, to Baghdad and Tehran early next week to try to arrange talks to end the Persian Gulf war, now in its 52nd day.

Waldheim said both governments agreed to receive his envoy. But Iran's Supreme Defense Council said he would have to confine himself to fact-finding "about the position of the Iranian government and the aggression of Iraq."

It was the second time this week that the Iranian government had shown interest of any kind in a peace mission after rejecting all previous attempts at mediation. Pars, the official Iranian news agency, reported Sunday that the Supreme Defense Council was seeking clarification of a proposal by the Non-Aligned Movement to send a sation "good-will and fact-finding commission" to Iran and Iraq.

Meanwhile, Iraqi Vice Premier Terek Aziz arrived in Moscow, delivered a message from President Saddam Hussein and held talks with Boris Ponomarev, secretary of the Soviet Communist Party Central Committee and Viktor Maltsev, first Soviet deputy premier.

Kuwaiti newspapers said Aziz was seeking more arms, but Iraqi sources in the Soviet capital said he was seeking Soviet help in ending the war, which has choked off Iraqi exports of 3.5 million barrels of oil daily, Iranian exports of 500,000 barrels and done extensive damage to the oil industries of both nations.

The military communiques from both governments contained the usual unconfirmed claims of limited local action and no major gains.

Iran said Abadan's defenders pushed the Iraqis four miles back from the eastern bank of the Bahman-shir River late Tuesday and set up positions east of the river for the first time since the Iraqis encircled the city more than two weeks ago.

The river runs close to Abadan's northeastern and eastern outskirts.

Congratulations to the Whiteface football team on a great season. They didn't make it to the district throne, but the 8-2 won-loss record was a fine mark. That represents the best HHS grid records since 1972 and 1973.

The Herd was 10-2 in '73 and lost on penetrations in the regional contest. The 1972 team was 8-2 and missed the playoffs when Monterey captured a 7-0 decision in the rain at Lubbock. The cinderella 1971 team had a 7-6 record, but they advanced all the way to the quarterfinals before bowing out of that grid season.

We've got some fine athletes coming up, and the junior varsity and sophomore teams posted fine records. Prospects look bright for the future!

President-elect Reagan won't turn things around fast, but the move from the "left" to "right-center" will be apparent. People are sick of the liberalism in government and its interference with their lives and pocketbooks.

The lame-duck session coming up has to pass appropriations, but there is no possibility of getting the budget near balance. The appropriations business is held up until after elections to conceal the big deficit. Big tax cuts for individuals and businesses are assured in 1981, however, because of the outcome of the election.

naments. Also Christmas wreaths, stockings, tree skirts and wall hangings will be available for sale. The bazaar will be held this Friday beginning at 9 a.m. Lunch will be served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. The bazaar is scheduled to be held in the church fellowship hall.

Brief, Unproductive Lame Duck Session Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate leaders are predicting the lame-duck session will be brief and unproductive as lawmakers mark time for a new Congress more inclined to increase defense spending, cut taxes, permit prayer in public schools and ban abortions.

The first item on the Senate's agenda as it reconvened today was a $9.57 billion appropriation bill for several federal departments, but key lawmakers said this and other spending measures may be shelved until the new Congress meets in January.

The House Budget Committee chairman, Rep. Robert N. Giaimo, D-Conn., said Tuesday the plan is for the 96th Congress to adjourn before Thanksgiving.

And Rep. Jim Wright, D-Texas, the House majority leader, said he expects "very little action" in the lame-duck session, the first in a presidential election year since Democratic President Harry Truman called the Republican-controlled Congress back for a fruitless one-day meeting in 1948. The last lame-duck session was in 1974, when Congress met for about a month.

This time President Carter has Democratic majorities in both houses, but the Democrats lose both the White House and control of the Senate in January.

Senate Republican leader Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee predicted the Senate would pass a tax cut but put off other substantive legislation until President-elect Ronald Reagan takes office.

"It would be our preference to wait until next year to see what the new president's recommendations are," he said.

Baker said he expects Senate approval next year of sharply increased defense spending, lower taxes and constitutional amendments to permit prayer in public schools and to ban most abortions.

He said the chances of restoring the death penalty for some federal crimes "would be good."

Baker also predicted the Senate will approve a lower minimum wage for teenagers and permit non-union wages for work on federal housing projects.

As for the tax cut, Baker said its future was uncertain in the House and he had "certainly no optimism that President Carter would sign it."

Carter's spokesman, Jody Powell, said Tuesday as far he knows the outgoing president remains opposed to a tax cut, and Wright added that if the Senate passes one, the House will "just let it ride until next year."

Both Wright and Baker said Congress may skip all or some of the 10 appropriations bill that remain to be considered, choosing instead to pass resolutions to continue spending at current levels.

In the meantime, the skirmishing over monetary priorities in the 97th Congress already is beginning.

The House Budget Committee, over Republican protests, passed a binding federal budget ceiling Tuesday that would obligate Reagan to cut federal spending by 2 percent.

Giaimo said the Rules Committee will consider the plan

Monday and it is expected to reach the House floor the next day. He said the Senate is expected to consider its version of the budget Monday and a House-Senate conference committee is scheduled to meet two days later.

Baker and other Senate Republican leaders, declaring they would "set an example" by trimming spending "by starting at home," pledged themselves to cut the annual cost of their own operation by 10 percent in 1981.

Carter was staying out of the building budget battle. He directed his staff to make sure the budget he presents before leaving office is "honest and responsible" and lays "no political traps" for Reagan.

The appropriations bill before the Senate today would cover the State, Justice and Commerce departments, the federal courts and several federal agencies.

The measure bogged down earlier over an amendment by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., that would bar the Justice Department from requiring busing to desegregate schools.

One of the House-passed appropriations bills awaiting Senate action would provide $1.57 billion for the military.

Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, in line to become chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said Reagan probably will seek $3 billion extra in military spending early next year to finance a military pay raise, to pay for supply ships in the Indian Ocean and a rapid deployment combat force, and to offset higher fuel costs.

Bush Selects Top Staffers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired Adm. Daniel J. Murphy will become chief of staff to Vice President-elect George Bush after Bush takes office Jan. 20, it was announced today.

In other appointments, Peter E. Teeley, press secretary to Bush during the presidential campaign, will have the same post in the vice president's office and Jennifer A. Fitzgerald will be appointments secretary.

Bush made the announcements through the Reagan-Bush Committee campaign headquarters in suburban Arlington, Va.

Murphy is currently deputy undersecretary of defense, a post he has held since 1977 when he retired from the Navy. Earlier, he had served as deputy to the director of central intelligence when Bush was CIA director.

Teeley is a former director of communications and press secretary for the Republican National Committee and held similar posts for Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y. and former Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich.

Ms. Fitzgerald was special assistant to Bush when he was chief of the U.S. liaison office in China. She also was his executive assistant at the CIA.

Hurricane Jeanne Moving to West

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The National Hurricane Center in Miami said Hurricane Jeanne was moving slowly toward the west today.

In a 4 a.m. (CST) advisory, the weather service said the center of the hurricane was near latitude 24.0 north, longitude 89.0 west, or a little more than 400 miles south of New Orleans.

It said reports from aircraft and satellites indicated that Jeanne was moving toward the west at 5 mph, and this motion is expected to continue for the next 24 hours.

Highest sustained winds were estimated at 70 mph, with gale force winds extended 150 miles north of the center and 100 miles south.

The hurricane center said no important changes in the strength of Hurricane Jeanne are likely today.

Winds Jolt Plane off Runway

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Gale force winds jolted a Braniff Airlines plane off a runway at Newark International Airport Tuesday night and seven passengers were injured as they slid down emergency chutes, authorities said.

The injuries were not believed to be serious.

Braniff flight 112 from Washington had landed safely and was taxiing to the airport terminal when it was apparently blown off Runway 22 by winds of up to 45 miles per hour, said Bill Nantz, duty officer for the month ago and from the 1979 harvest of 131.6 million bushels. Sorghum grain was estimated at 550.6 million bushels, a 32 percent decline from the 1979 harvest of 814.3 million.

However, the latest estimate was up from the October forecast of 547 million bushels.

Cotton production was put at 11.2 million bales, down 23 percent from 14.6 million in 1979. The October estimate was 11.6 million bales.

Federal Aviation Administration in New York.

"A gear threw dirt in the air and airport officials thought a fire had occurred," Nantz said. "But there was no fire."

Emergency fire crews surrounded the Boeing 727 when the accident occurred at 10:32 p.m., Nantz said.

The flight, which originated in Dallas and made a stop in Memphis, Tenn., before taking off again from Washington, carried 30 passengers and seven crew members, Nantz said.

Strake, the state's chief election officer, said Tuesday his office had had numerous complaints from individuals and groups.

"The long, time-consuming lines in certain polling places were, for the most part, unwarranted and unreasonable," he added in a statement.

Strake said questionnaires would be sent to county election officials to identify problems and seek solutions.

He urged Texans to tell his office of any "unreasonably excessive delays, voting irregularities or any other needless problems ..." and to suggest remedies.

"This treasured right (to vote) can be better safeguarded and yet not involve an intolerable burden," he said.

23 Inches of Rain
KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A record of more than 23 inches of rain in 24 hours inundated Key West Tuesday, leaving streets flooded and clogging with abandoned cars, closing schools and blacking out electricity and telephone service in some areas.

The rain, which already had broken an all-time 24-hour mark of 19.88 inches on Nov. 13-14, 1954, continued to fall Tuesday evening at the rate of one to two inches an hour, National Weather Service forecaster Ray Boucher said.

Late Tuesday night, however, radar indicated the heavy thunderstorms that had hung over the Lower Keys were moving south over the Florida Straits at about 10 mph.

Forecasters said the torrential rains should slow and that only moderate to light rain was expected over the next several hours.

Haitians Refuse
To Return Home
CAYO LOBOS, Bahamas (AP) — After kneeling among cracked conch shells and discarded military ration cans to pray for rescue, 102 Haitian castaways determined not to return to their homeland reportedly repelled a Bahamian landing party with knives, bottles and sticks.

But officials said the refugees would be removed today, at gunpoint if necessary, by a larger force.

The Haitians, marooned nearly six weeks on this tiny island off the coast of Cuba, eagerly greeted a Haitian American priest from Miami on Tuesday. They prayed with him, but listened in disbelief when the Rev. Gerard Jean-Juste told them the Bahamian vessel Lady Moore would soon arrive to take them back to Port-Au-Prince.

Reagan Assuming More Conciliatory Attitude

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan always said that if he got to the White House and couldn't make bumpy members of Congress see the light, he'd go over their heads to the voters and make them feel the heat.

As president-elect, he is taking a more conciliatory tone.

There are sure to be controversies, and there are likely to be conflicts, between the Reagan White House and the 97th Congress, even with a Republican-controlled Senate.

It goes with the territory. But Reagan and his people aren't about to invite trouble.

President Carter came to office after saying he would go public to put pressure on a Congress dominated by his own Democratic Party.

That is what it took to get his programs adopted. His liaison people did not do their homework, and some of the first appointments he made unnecessarily irked House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., which hardly was the way to begin.

Reagan is organizing his forces to avoid mistakes like that. His campaign chairman, Sen. Paul Laxalt of Nevada, is in charge of a congressional advisory committee to look after relations with the Senate and House right from the start.

Then too, the Republican president-elect does not have to talk tough to Congress the way Carter did — election returns speak louder than words.

Reagan was elected by a landslide that helped Republicans gain a dozen seats in the Senate and enlarge their House minority by 33.

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The man — white-haired, old, anonymous — moves slowly down the grocery store aisle, pushing a cart that ricochets off food displays and shelves.

He reeks of tobacco and alcohol and looks guppy-eyed, oblivious to his surroundings, as he drops wine jugs and beer into his basket.

The man is alone, much like millions of the nation's elderly. And more and more, the elderly, like this man, are turning to alcohol.

Experts do not know how many aging Americans are alcoholics. Various studies have estimated from 2 percent to 10 percent of them are problem drinkers.

There is no way to gauge accurately the incidence of alcoholism among people older than 65 because most are retired and can hide their drinking at home.

Some experts say as many as 20 percent of elderly nursing home patients are alcoholics when they are admitted. The incidence is as high as 33 percent for elderly patients who show up in hospitals for medical, surgical and psychiatric treatment.

Some nursing homes, particularly understaffed ones that want to keep patients sedated, tend to turn a blind eye to families who want to keep their aging relatives supplied with alcohol, said

Bill Belvin Jr. of the South Carolina Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

"There is probably no disease more denied than alcoholism — by the person and by his family," said Belvin, who has researched aging alcoholics.

"Family members tend to overlook the self-destructive element in the elderly alcoholic, preferring to believe that drinking is one of the few pleasures left to the aging and they should be allowed to obtain pleasure in what few alternatives remain."

Belvin said researchers would have a better idea of the number of aging alcoholics if the symptoms were not so easily disguised. Trembling, confusion and mental lapses are symptomatic of both the aging process and alcohol dependency.

To add to the diagnostic difficulties, alcoholics and their families often deny that Granddad or Grandmother is hitting the bottle a bit heavily.

For many elderly alcoholics, drinking problems do not begin until their later years. If they had begun in their youth, the alcohol would likely have killed them before they reached the "golden years."

Losing a mate is often a cause of late-life alcoholism, as are boredom, loss of a peer support system and the absence of meaningful activity, said Walt Power, an alcoholism treatment expert at the Lexington-Richland Alcohol and Drug Abuse Council clinic, a county-run facility in Columbia.

For Lee S., a 65-year-old retired administrative assistant, heavy drinking began right after her husband died in 1964.

"I had so many feelings of grief that I had to get rid of fast," she said. "Then in 1974 I was beaten up and raped and I drowned all those feelings with alcohol."

When she went to a detoxification center earlier this year, Lee S. found that she had to back track and deal with those repressed emotions. She has quit drinking.

Bill F., 62, a retired electrician, said the loss of his wife in 1977 sent him into alcohol dependency almost immediately. He had been a light drinker most of his life.

"I had to face the public again," he said, recalling now he had spent years at his wife's deathbed while she lingered.

"Many people blame it on loneliness," he said. "That's a cop-out. You don't have to be lonely. You just want to blame it on anything but yourself."

Now that Bill F. has stopped drinking, he says he has surrounded himself with nondrinking friends and is learning to socialize without the aid of alcohol.

Jim B., a retired federal worker and recovered alcoholic who lives in St. Petersburg, Fla., says he believes most elderly drinkers were social imbibers before retirement.

He says the usual scenario for Florida retirees is for a couple to pull up roots, move south and buy a new home. They have too much free time and often start drinking more.

"A lot of men and women when they are younger are alcoholics but they are able to keep it under control," he says. "There is no compelling reason to keep it under control when they retire."

Of course, not all elderly drinkers fit Jim B.'s picture. Many are poor, homebound and isolated — a situation treatment experts describe as high risk.

Complicating matters for older drinkers is the fact that many are taking medication — blood pressure pills or pain killers, for example.

"Medication of practically any kind with alcohol can be very dangerous," said Power. "Mixing alcohol and drugs is not fatal usually, but it speeds up the deterioration of the body."

Edmond Ramirez, 14-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ismael Ramirez of 138 Ave. I died Saturday after he was struck by a pickup driven by his father while backing out of the yard at the residence.

Not only leaves a good many Republicans in his debt, it sends a message to members of Congress in both parties: the voters opted for the conservative Reagan philosophy.

Carter had no such cushion. He was elected by the narrowest of margins, and coat-tails didn't count for much.

In most districts, it was the congressional candidates who led the Democratic ticket, not the president. And the candidates who went to Congress figured they didn't owe the White House anything.

O'Neill recalled an early conversation with Carter: "I told him, 'You've got to take into consideration that you have a new breed of politicians here. They came to Washington the same way you did. They came to change the establishment. ...' I said it would be wrong to have confrontation."

Reagan didn't get the lecture, but he apparently got the message. His transition to power is beginning with his promise of close attention to "things that require congressional support."

He plans to confer with Democratic congressional leaders when he gets to Washington, along with the Republican leadership.

He says he will seek a new era of bipartisanship in foreign policy, and that means consultation and cooperation with Democrats in Congress.

For operators, Reagan named two Democratic senators to his foreign policy advisory team and one of them, Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, would appear to be a prime candidate should Reagan decide to install a Democrat or two in his Cabinet.

Grain Supplies Still Expected To Remain Tightly Stretched

WASHINGTON (AP) — Not much has happened in the last month to change the government's pessimistic view that grain supplies will be tightly stretched to meet domestic and foreign demand in the coming year.

The latest indication came on Monday with the Agriculture Department's new estimates showing farmers are harvesting sharply reduced crops of corn and soybeans.

Some other crops, notably cotton, also were shriveled by last summer's drought and hot weather.

Officials said the 1980 corn harvest now is estimated at 6.46 billion bushels, virtually unchanged from prospects a month ago but still 17 percent less than last year's huge harvest.

The new corn estimate, based on surveys the first of the month, compared to the record 1979 harvest of 7.76 billion bushels.

Officials also reported further declines in harvest prospects for cotton and a few other 1980 crops. But there was some improvement in yields of soybeans, rice and sorghum from estimates made a month ago.

The department's Crop Reporting Board said that as of Nov. 1 about 86 percent of the corn had been harvested in the major states, compared to only 54 percent a year ago.

It is the first annual decline in U.S. corn production since had weather shriveled yields in 1974, reducing the harvest to 4.7 billion bushels, a 17 percent drop from 5.67 billion bushels produced in 1973.

Overall, the department's "all crops" production index for 1980 was shown at 129 percent of the crop production in 1967, a base year used for comparison.

Last year, the index rose to an all-time high of 144 percent.

Soybean production was estimated as of Nov. 1 at 1.77 billion bushels, a 22 percent decline from last year's record of 2.27 billion.

A month ago the crop was estimated at 1.76 billion bushels.

The latest figures showed rice farmers still are expected to harvest a record crop, now estimated at about 146.1 million hundredweight or 100-pound bags, up from 142.3 million indicated a month ago and from the 1979 harvest of 131.6 million bushels.

Sorghum grain was estimated at 550.6 million bushels, a 32 percent decline from the 1979 harvest of 814.3 million.

However, the latest estimate was up from the October forecast of 547 million bushels.

Cotton production was put at 11.2 million bales, down 23 percent from 14.6 million in 1979. The October estimate was 11.6 million bales.

The department did not issue new production estimates for wheat and a number of other 1980 crops that already have been harvested.

This year's wheat crop was a record of about 2.36 billion bushels, with most of it being harvested before the full impact of last summer's drought.

Corn is the largest grain crop grown in the United States and, as livestock feed, is a vital element in the production of meat, poultry and dairy products for American consumers.

Along with wheat and soybeans, corn also is a leading commodity among U.S. agricultural exports to scores of foreign markets, including the big overseas buyers such as Japan and the Common Market countries.

Grain prices at the farm have risen from earlier slumps and generally are above year-ago levels. The most recent five-day average prices computed by the department show wheat at $4.47 a bushel and corn at $3.14 a bushel.

A year ago, wheat prices at the farm averaged $3.94 a bushel and corn $2.27 a bushel, according to official records.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says prospects for this year's tobacco harvest declined slightly in the last month but that the crop still is expected to be about 17 percent larger than in 1979.

Total production — mostly made up of flue-cured and burley types — is expected to be about 1.78 billion pounds, compared to 1.53 billion last year. A month ago, officials estimated the output at 1.79 billion pounds.

Based on Nov. 1 indications, the flue-cured crop was estimated at 1.1 billion pounds, up 16 percent from last year, and burley at 555 million pounds, up 25 percent, the department's Crop Reporting Board said Monday.

In Tehran, Ahmad Azizi, deputy adviser to Iranian Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai, said Tuesday, "I don't know the exact time we will receive it (the U.S. answer), but probably tomorrow."

The Iranian Parliament outlined four demands, including a pledge of U.S. non-intervention in Iranian affairs, cancellation of American financial claims against Iran, return of the wealth of the late Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and release of more than $8 billion in frozen Iranian assets.

Christopher's team went to Algiers to try to speed the negotiating process after U.S. officials failed last week to open direct talks with Iran.

At first, Iran had insisted on a public U.S. response, but the Carter administration refused and took more than a week to develop the reply.

That answer was delivered Monday by Christopher to the Algerian officials.

On Tuesday, Christopher met with Abdelkrim Gheraib, Algeria's ambassador to Iran, and Algerian Foreign Minister Mohamed Benyahia to explain the written response, which was said by U.S. officials here to be long and technical.

Christopher carried with him a pledge of non-interference and an explanation of U.S. legal difficulties in meeting the other demands.

More than 1.5 million persons annually visit the 86th and 102nd floor observatories of the Empire State Building, one of the world's tallest buildings. On a clear day, viewers can see a distance of 80 miles.

Christopher's group met with Algerian leaders to give a "generally positive reply" to the Iranian demands, U.S. State Department officials said.

Algeria is acting as an intermediary between Tehran and the United States because the two nations have no official diplomatic relations.

Christopher's group met with Algerian leaders to give a "generally positive reply" to the Iranian demands, U.S. State Department officials said.

The Lighter Side

CHICAGO (AP) — What has red hands, a red moustache and $4,000? Police say it may be the man who robbed the Amalgamated Trust & Savings Bank.

Police said a man about 30 years old made off with the cash Monday after handing a teller a note that demanded money and said he was carrying a bomb in a black satchel.

The teller gave the man a packet of money which also contained an explosive device designed to splatter the thief with red ink.

The robber fled on foot and security guards were unable to find him in the downtown crowd, police said.

But a cab driver later contacted investigators and said he had picked up a man with red stains on his hands and moustache.

However, the man's destination was O'Hare International Airport.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — It's not unusual for fraternity brothers to roll out the barrel. But three Tau Kappa Epsilon members from Bentley College are rolling a beer keg 250 miles from Greenwich, Conn., to Waltham, Mass.

They're rolling about 50 miles a day and hope to raise $2,500 for a Memphis children's hospital by the time the trek ends Wednesday.

The trio is rolling the keg up Route 1 in exchange for money pledges from restaurant chains and a brewery. A hotel chain is paying for their lodging.

The money will be donated to St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital in Memphis.

"We're having a good time. I won't say we're getting in shape. We party at night to offset any gains during the day," said junior Bob Minka, 20.

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Clifford Wetzler was supposed to take a bottle of 1836 bourbon from its hand-carved cedar container today and drink a toast to his dead World War I comrades.

But he won't carry out the Veterans Day ritual agreed on 38 years ago by 12 World War I veterans. He no longer drinks.

Wetzler is the last surviving member of a World War I Last Man Club formed in 1942. Its tradition called for him to uncork a sealed bottle of Cream of Kentucky, a 90-proof bourbon, and toast his buddies.

But Wetzler, 80, stopped drinking about 30 years ago. So he plans to auction the bottle off and give the proceeds to the Cancer Fund. The veteran aviator said his son and several men in the Last Man Club died of cancer.

Wetzler joined the U.S. Army Signal Corps on April 9, 1917, three days after the United States declared war on Germany. He was 16, and with other young men in the Signal Corps' first aviation division trained in Texas and eventually flew for the U.S. Army in France.

Once called Armistice Day, Veterans Day commemorates the end of World War I at 11 a.m. on Nov. 11, 1918.

Bishop Leads
In Election
WASHINGTON (AP) — Archbishop John R. Roach of St. Paul-Minneapolis, Minn., led strongly today in the race for the presidency of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, and seemed likely to become the winner.

With 10 candidates in the field, Roach got 90 votes on the first ballot, compared with 38 for his closest contender, Bishop James W. Malone of Youngstown, Ohio. Archbishop Joseph L. Bernardin of Cincinnati was a close third with 30 votes.

Student Returns 'Home' for Visit

Rene Batard, who attended Hereford High School in 1964 as an exchange student from France, came "home" recently to visit the Texas Panhandle.

Batard lived with the Gid E. Brown family of Hereford while attending high school in 1964-65.

"It was so different here than what I knew in France," Batard said about his stay in Hereford as an exchange student.

Following graduation from HHS, he returned to France but came back to the United States in January of 1968 as a sophomore at West Texas State University.

"I knew WT and I knew the people here, so I decided to come to school here," he said. He taught English and French at HHS for one year and worked as a laboratory assistant in the WTSU modern languages department. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree in English and graduated with honors in 1970.

A full scholarship enabled him to attend the American Graduate School in International Management at Glendale, Ariz., where he received a Master of Arts degree in international management.

Batard now of Paris, France, was conducting business in New York, when he decided to return to Texas to visit with friends at Hereford and WTSU.

As European manager for Benton and Bowles, one of the 20 largest advertising agencies in the world, Batard travels throughout Europe for the AMF group of sports equipment account.

Following the invocation lead by Mrs. P.B. Sowell, pledge of allegiance by Mrs. Delmar Sigle and pledge to Texas Flag by Mrs. Paul Rudd, members enjoyed a program on home life abroad, according to Mrs. Ray Johnson.

Before adjourning, members discussed their next meeting which will be held Dec. 4 in the home of Mrs. Clayton Sanders. This will be the club's Christmas dinner. All members are encouraged to attend with a guest.

In view of emerging statistics, it may clarify perspectives to note that most adults still marry, most still have children and most children are still raised in families, reminds Diane Welch, a family life education specialist.

Mrs. Welch is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Ann Landers

Nagging Increases Stubbornness

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please publish this letter in the paper. If you sent me a personal reply, my daughters would swear I stole some of your stationery and wrote the letter myself.

These girls are driving me crazy with their terrible posture. Most of the men in my family went to West Point. I was an Army nurse and married a Marine. Our oldest son is at Annapolis and our youngest hopes to go to the Air Force Academy.

We were taught to stick out your chest, pull back your shoulders, tuck in your chin, suck in your gut, tuck in your tail and relax. Our daughters slink around the house with their shoulders sagging, their hip bones sticking out and their necks pulled forward. I am sure they are imitating the way models walk today and it looks ghastly.

Is bad posture harmful? It surely is not attractive. Their dad and brothers and I have agreed to get off their backs if you say the word.-Eyesores in O.K. City

DEAR EYE: Poor posture is unhealthy, but get off their backs anyway. At this point, they probably slink around to prove that no one can tell them what to do.

As with children who eat too much, drink too much and hangout with the "wrong" crowd, their stubbornness increases in direct ratio to the amount of nagging. So, cool it, everybody.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We hear a lot about "the other woman" and how she waited for him to get a divorce-and he never did. Well, I am "the other man" with a different story to tell.

My marriage wasn't very good from the start. I met a woman who was in a similar situation - at least, that's what she told me. We fell in love. After much soul-searching we decided to divorce our mates and make a life together.

I divorced my wife, but my sweetheart kept putting off "the talk" with her husband. One night she told me she just couldn't do it. The reason: Her 24-year-old married daughter and aging parents would be crushed.

Her husband committed an unpardonable sin against her several years ago, and theirs is a marriage in name only. What do you make of this?-Memphis Miseries

DEAR M.M.: If your sweetheart had told you that she couldn't marry you because the moon is made of green cheese, the bottom line would be the same. When a person doesn't want to do something, one excuse is as good as another. Scratch her off your dance card-permanently. She's caused you enough trouble for one lifetime.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was taken aback by that letter from the reader who thought the term "gay" should be banished from the language because the homosexuals he knew were either gay, merry, cheerful nor happy.

Had you consulted an expert in the field of word derivation, he would have told you that the term "gay" originated from the word

"gaiety." It goes back to the Old English theater when women were not permitted to act. Men dressed in women's clothes and played the female roles.

Speaking for myself, I am Happy And Gay In San Jose DEAR HAPPY: Thanks for the fill-in. It figures.

Is pot a drug? Can LSD and pills open new worlds for you? Stop guessing. Get the facts in Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered, send a dollar, plus a long, self-addressed stamped envelope (28 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Seventh-Day Adventist Church Participates in World Service

Members of the Hereford Seventh-Day Adventist Church will be spending many hours in volunteer service between Nov. 10 and Dec. 10 as the congregation participates in the denominations' 72nd Annual World Service Appeal...a community and church drive in progress coast to coast.

The Campaign, says George Cantrell, local Appeal director, is "designed to bring help to millions of persons to whom life has not been as good as to most of us who live in Hereford, Texas.

Funds received from the annual appeal, Cantrell says, will be apportioned for both local and international use when the drive is over. Local church members are acting as volunteer solicitors, singers, chauffeurs, and in other capacities to help the local congregation reach its aHoted goal of $50 per member.

Members of the local congregation, clearly identified and authorized by the proper community agency will be visiting business and residential areas during the next four weeks in behalf of this World Service Appeal.

According to Cantrell, the World Service Appeal both solicits funds to aid millions of people in need throughout the world, and at the same time provides opportunity for local church members to get better acquainted with their neighbors.

Susie Woodford, a Hereford resident who lived in Iran for eight years, led the discussion and presented several items from Iran.

The three classes of DE study free enterprise and marketing throughout the school year. Mrs. Woodford's presentation began a new phase of study for the classes according to G.C. Graves, coordinator of the program.

Ms. Woodford spoke to the classes about the differences in the two countries concerning free enterprise, marketing, and life styles.

Values Can Still Be Found

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — In the past six years, through mid-August of this year, the Standard & Poor's 500 stock index more than doubled in value. The Value Line indicator, an even broader measurement, tripled.

More recently, the S&P had gained 34 percent and the Value Line 47 percent from their March lows. Even the Dow Jones industrial index had moved up 27 percent or 200 points since April.

Gains by individual stocks have been even more impressive. From spring lows to recent highs, hundreds of issues have risen 50 percent or more. In a year, at least 300 New York Stock Exchange issues doubled.

This is the foreword to Merrill Lynch's most recent compilation of "Unrecognized Values in Today's Market," a report that some investors believe will go far toward correcting any undervaluations.

Despite the big gains, despite the constant risks, despite the state of the economy — all of which the ML analysts dutifully warn about — there are still values to be found, according to the report.

Thirty-two of them, in fact, beginning alphabetically with Albertsons, Arizona Bank, Baldwin-United, Best Products, Cabot Corp., Church's Fried Chicken, Control Data, Crown Cork and Seal and R.R. Donnelley.

Family Dollar continues the list, followed by Golden West Financial, G. Heileman Brewing, Host International, Lear Siegler, Lennar Corp., Litton Industries, Mission Insurance Group and Morrison Inc.

Two Washington state companies, Pay N Pak Stores and Pay 'N Save, are added to the compilation, as are Pennzoil Co., Pitney Bowes, Southwest Air, Sperry Corp., Trinity Industries and United Energy Resources.

And completing the list are U.S. Air, U.S. Bancorp., Valley National Bank, West Company, Whittaker, and Zurn Industries.

"Individual stocks may be undervalued for any number of reasons," says Anna Merjos, vice president, and she lists some:

1. Disappointing earnings could preclude significant market interest, even though the situation is temporary.
2. The market may have failed to recognize that certain conditions that previously affected a company's standing in the marketplace have been corrected. A company might have changed management or policies.

3. Prices for individual issues can suffer from sheer neglect or unpopularity among investors.

4. Even though the price of a stock may have moved up sharply, the market may not yet have given full recognition to its underlying value and potential.

This list is being used by Merrill Lynch brokers and some of their customers too. Merrill Lynch is a huge operation with enormous market power. Its advice can have a decided impact on prices.

Therefore, anyone using this list as a guide would be advised to check the extent of price changes that might already have occurred over the past several weeks.

Today in History

By The Associated Press
Today is Wednesday, Nov. 12, the 317th day of 1980. There are 49 days left in the year.

On this date:

In 1603, Sir Walter Raleigh was put on trial for treason in Winchester, England.

And in 1956, Morocco, Sudan and Tunisia joined the United Nations.

Ten years ago, military activity in Vietnam was reported at its lowest ebb in nine months.

Five years ago, U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas retired because of failing health.

One year ago, President Jimmy Carter ordered a halt to all U.S. oil imports from Iran — his strongest retaliatory step since the American hostages were seized eight days earlier.

Today's birthdays: Princess Grace of Monaco is 51 years old. U.S. Supreme Court Justice Harry Blackmun is 72. and Romanian gymnast Nadia Comaneci is 19.

Thought for today: It makes no difference if I burn my bridges behind me, since I never retreat — Fiorello La Guardia, New York City mayor (1882-1947).

Larry Gatlin Named Smokeout Chairman

The American Cancer Society has announced that country music performer Larry Gatlin has been named honorary chairman of the 1980 Great American Smokeout in Texas.

A recipient of numerous country music honors and recent nominee for four Country Music Association awards, Gatlin will join thousands of ACS volunteers in Texas to encourage smokers to give up their cigarettes for at least one day - November 20.

As part of the fourth annual one day event sponsored by the ACS nationwide, Texas is planning activities in most cities and towns to recruit smokers to commit to quit.

Rallies with local celebrities are planned in Fort Worth, Houston, Austin and San Antonio while Dallas is aiming at corporate involvement with over 40 major companies planning in-house promotions.

Other cities and towns are planning similar rallies and events with involvement of Youth Against Cancer (YAC) groups; pledge booths at shopping centers and malls; anti-smoking educational programs and a wide range of publicity events designed to draw attention to the smokeless celebration.

A survey conducted by the Gallup Organization last year indicated nearly 15 million American smokers attempted to give up cigarettes on Smokeout day. Five million succeeded for a full 24 hours. One to three days later, 2.3 million still were off cigarettes while another 7.8 million said they had cut down on the number of cigarettes smoked.

All Texas smokers are invited to join in the event. They may contact their local ACS volunteers or office for a pledge card, tips on quitting and information on local planned Smokeout events.

Names in the News

NEW YORK — Actor Dean Paul Martin has reported for military service. But don't despair, fans. When he finishes training as a jet fighter pilot, he'll be doing a series pilot for ABC.

Martin, son of entertainer Dean Martin, reported for military service Monday at McGhee Tyson Air National Guard Base near Knoxville, Tenn., where he'll complete six-week officer candidate school leading to a commission as a second lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve. Then he'll attend USAF jet pilot training in Phoenix, Ariz., and will serve with the California Air Guard's 163rd Tactical Air Support Group.

Acting will always be his true occupation," he said in a statement released through a public relations agency. But "the chance to go through Air Force pilot training and fly high performance supersonic aircraft is a bit like being a semi-pro football player and winning a trip to the Super Bowl," Martin said. Martin made his acting debut in the film "Players" last year, and was in the 1960s teen pop group Dino, Desi and Billy. He is working toward a degree in aerospace engineering at the University of Southern California.

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Anita Bryant says she and industrialist Larry Striplin are "close friends" but they have no immediate plans for marriage.

Striplin echoed that sentiment Monday at an impromptu news conference outside Miss Bryant's Protect America's Children organization headquarters in this central Alabama city.

Striplin, 50, president of DISCO Inc., a manufacturer and worldwide distributor of aluminum window framing, also said he resented the intrusion of media into his and Miss Bryant's private lives.

Miss Bryant moved her organization's headquarters to Selma from Florida after she and her husband of 20 years, Bob Green, split up.

The singer said Green, who also was her manager, had violated her "most precious asset, my very conscience." Green said last week that he believed she still was his lawful wife despite a civil court divorce.

"My primary goal in life still is to win Anita back, I still love her with all my heart," Green said Thursday.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Col. Harland Sanders remains hospitalized here in critical condition, but there are signs his condition is improving, a company spokesman said.

Sanders, the man who made Kentucky Fried Chicken famous, entered the hospital Friday for treatment of an infection of the kidney and bladder.

"He is responding to antibiotics and his appetite is returning," John Cox of Kentucky Fried Chicken said Monday. "When his appetite returns, we know he is feeling better."

Songs included "Surrey with the Fringe on Top" and "Oh What a Beautiful Morning." Mrs. Ken Walser accompanied him on the piano.

Mrs. Bill Bradley and Mrs. A.J. Schroeter played a piano duet, "Oklahoma."

Selections from "South Pacific" were sung by Mrs. Lynton Allred with Mrs. Sid Shaw accompanying. These were "A Wonderful Guy" and "I'm Gonna Wash that Man Right Out of My Hair."

A medley of several songs from Rodgers and Hammerstein's "The King and I" was offered by a sextet composed of Mmes. Allred, Joe Reinauer Jr., Bob Sims, Brent Caviness, Wesley Fisher and Shaw accompanied by Mrs. Joe Hacker.

Mrs. Thomas Betzen performed a piano solo, "Climb Every Mountain," from the musical, "The Sound of Music."

At the close of the program members of the club joined in chorus to sing selections from the musical, "Carousel." Mrs. Wayne Thomas accompanied.

Mrs. Tom Burdett, president, conducted the business meeting following the program.

Mrs. Troyce Carmichael gave a report about the district convention which was held in Stratford Nov. 4.

Mrs. Burdett presented information about project post card and urged member participation. The project is directed towards removing defensive television programs.

Members met at the home of Mrs. Fisher with Mrs. Brady, Mrs. Hacker and Mrs. Paul Lyons serving as co-hostesses.

NBC Election Coverage Made Big Difference

LOS ANGELES (AP) — NBC's election-eve newspaper promotion was meant to suggest quiet confidence and competence, a bit of understated hypemanship in the intense ratings competition between the network news departments.

"NBC News. Journalism That Makes A Difference." Trouble was, NBC's election-night journalism may have indeed made a difference. In its drive to be first on election night, NBC declared Ronald Reagan the winner of the presidential contest with voting booths still open in nearly half the 50 states.

NBC scored a remarkable beat on its two competitors, ABC and CBS, but in so doing stirred the wrath of citizens who felt their votes had been muted. When NBC's Tom Brokaw pronounced, "It's all over, as far as NBC sees it," it was 8:15 p.m. in New York. It was 5:15 in Los Angeles, 2:15 in Nome, Alaska.

Afternoon and evening voters in the West, who awoke last Tuesday believing their votes would count in what was expected to be a close presidential race, were suddenly faced with the prospect of casting redundant votes.

Many, according to California Secretary of State March Fong Eu, simply passed on the opportunity.

Mrs. Eu canvassed the state's 58 counties at mid-day Nov. 4, leading her to conclude that California voters were turning out in numbers expected to exceed her pre-election prediction. Mrs. Eu had called for 79.3 percent of registered voters, but mid-day data suggested the turnout would be more like 81 percent.

"If things turn out normally," Mrs. Eu says, "the evening hours bring out a heavier vote than the daytime hours. But instead, it was lighter." After 6 p.m., the voting dropped considerably, resulting in a 76.3 percent turnout.

NBC News chief Bill Small discounts the influence of his network's early projection, claiming "You hear this whenever there's a landslide." Of Mrs. Eu's data, he says, "I'm not a statistician, but I'd just say that of those who were going to vote, more did so during the day and therefore there were less left to vote in the evening."

Besides, Small points out, while California's real voting percentage declined from 1976, the decline was smaller than the national average.

Mrs. Eu will not be swayed. Convinced that network projections discourage voters and therefore have an effect on local elections in the West, she is pressing for federal and state legislation that will close the nation's polling booths at the same time.

That seems to be the popular answer to the perceived problem of TV's intervention in the electoral process. Sen. S.I. Hayakawa of California, who says the process "was certainly injured" by the early call, plans to introduce a bill in the U.S. Senate mandating staggered voting hours across the country with the aim of simultaneous poll closing.

LOOK WHO IS COMING!

Here begins the wonderful story of Jesus the Messiah, the Son of God.

In the book written by the prophet Isaiah, God announced that He would send His Son to earth, and that a special messenger would arrive first to prepare the world for His coming.

"This messenger will live out in the barren wilderness," Isaiah said, "and will proclaim that everyone must straighten out his life to be ready for the Lord's arrival." This messenger was John the Baptist. He lived in the wilderness and taught that all should be baptized as a public announcement of their decision to turn their backs on sin, so that God could forgive them.

People from Jerusalem and from all over Judea traveled out into the Judean wastelands to see and hear John, and when they confessed their sins he baptized them in the Jordan River.

His clothes were woven from camel's hair and he wore a leather belt; locusts and wild honey were his food.

Here is a sample of his preaching: "Someone is coming soon who is far greater than I am, so much greater that I am not even worthy to be His slave.

I baptize you with water but He will baptize you with God's Holy Spirit!"

Mark 1:1-8

Stanton 7th Grade Masters La Plata

Led by a quick first quarter 27-yard scoring run by runningback Allen Dudding and Dogie linebacker Joe Zuniga's interception of a La Plata pass for a score in the second period, the Stanton Junior High 7th grade football squad upended cross-town rival La Plata 12-8 for the respective district championship here Tuesday.

The victory (a win that established a Stanton dominance following an earlier 12-12 tie between the school's this year) boosted the Dogie squad to 6-0-2 mark on the year, and more importantly, delivered the squad to the heights of the district crown.

"We got that touchdown real quick in the first quarter and that really helped give us the momentum we needed through the rest of the game," said head coach James Salinas. "We're very happy with the kids efforts in this, the last game of the year for us. And I think they were pleased too, because I thought they were going to tear the bus down after it was over."

Early in the first quarter, Allen Dudding capped a 55-yard drive after he took a Stephen Hacker handoff, and spurred through the Maverick's defensive line for 27 yards to score that first decisive Stanton touchdown. The extra point conversion attempt was halted by an angry La Plata goal-line crew however, and Stanton seized a 6-0 advantage.

down a La Plata throw and raced 11 yards for another Stanton scoring run. The extra point conversion was again stopped short of its mark, but the Dogie grid crew was reasonably satisfied with their bulging 12-0 lead.

La Plata mounted its own scoring thrust late in the La Plata within four meager points (12-8) of the Stanton team, but the late staged rally was just that. La Plata had run out of time and the Dogies basked in a victory over the cross-town rival and a district championship.

"I was happy for all of them," said an equally elated Salinas. "Winning is great, but on the 7th grade level we are primarily looking for improvement in their skills. And I think we improved a little every week and it shows on both our's and La Plata's squads. I thought we both showed a big improvement over the last time we squared off - we didn't have near as many mistakes and that's what we're striving for."

"It's been a good season for us and I'm glad we don't have to play La Plata or Bill Compton again. They are awful tough for us," he added.

out of the game."

He added, "I get mad about this thing that has happened so many times."

Luck has certainly been on Dallas' side since 1978.

In 1978, a Jim Bakken field goal bounced off the upright in the fourth quarter and Dallas won in overtime with its own field goal.

In 1979, with 1:16 left in the fourth period, a Rafael Septien field goal bounced off the upright and barely skipped over the crossbar for a Dallas win.

Quarterback Danny White, taking a page out of retired Roger Staubach's book on how to break St. Louis' heart, flipped a fourth-down 28-yard touchdown pass to Tony Hill with 45 seconds left in 27-24 victory.

The loss sent Cardinal Coach Jim Hanifan into a rage, saying he could remember too many Dallas-St. Louis games where "we'd lose by a point or get cheated

Big Charge

Stanton's 7th grade defensive end Joe Garcia (81) and cornerback Johnny Pena (44) go airborne along with another Dogie defender on the ground in an attempt to styfle La Plata punter Robb Wells' kick during the second quarter of the annual La Plata vs. Stanton grudge match

Tuesday in Whiteface Stadium. The battle (frequently looked upon as the two squad's match of the year) went in favor of the Stanton Dogies 12-8 on this particular occasion, and as a result gave the Stanton crew a claim as the district champion. (Brand photo by Mauri Montgomery)

Stats Don't Tell Whole Story

Statistics don't lie, but they don't always tell the whole story, either.

Plainview is second in team offense and fourth in defense among the District 4-5A schools, but the Bulldogs are 3-0 and heading for the playoffs.

Hereford closed out the year with an 8-2 mark and the Whitefaces were second in team defense and third in offense this week. The other four teams still have a game to play, however.

Hereford's offense averaged 270.9 yards a game, and the defense gave up an average of 199 yards a game. Alan Wartes leads the league in passing yards with 717 and it appears no one can match that. Wartes hit 52 of 114 passes for a 45.6 percent completion record. Alan Harp of Coronado and D. White of Monterey had better pass completion marks at 52 percent.

The Herd's Harold Terry is currently ranked third among the district rushers with 697 yards. Pat Brown of Plainview hit the covered 1,000-yard mark (at 1,015) and Monterey's Steve David 48 yards on 29 catches. Hereford recorded 152 points in the 10-game slate and yielded 117. Results for the year: Pampa 7-20, Palo Duro 14-0, Borger 28-7, Canyon 18-16, Amarillo 17-14, Tascosa 14-0, Plainview 0-21, Monterey 15-14, Coronado 24-11, Lubbock High 15-14.

Knight Fills Hoops In Win Over Spurs

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — To Indiana's Billy Knight, the HemisFair Arena basketball hoops looked as big as wagon wheels so he proceeded to fill them up with a career-high 52 points.

"I like the hoops here in San Antonio. They are big; they are soft and I've always liked shooting here," Knight said.

He poured in 19 of 30 floor shots and 14 of 16 free throws to spark the Pacers to a 119-113 victory that snapped the San Antonio Spurs' 11-game homecourt winning streak Tuesday night.

Knight's outburst was just one point short of the arena record set by the Spurs' George Gervin last year.

"It's been a very tough road trip and this one eases the pain," said Knight, whose team dropped their first four games on a five-game tour.

76ers Keep on Winning

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

The Philadelphia 76ers kept on winning, the Dallas Mavericks and Atlanta Hawks kept on losing and the New York Knicks and Billy Knight kept on scoring in a wild night of basketball marked by streaks, sprees and blowouts.

Tuesday night's best individual performance came from Knight, who scored a career-high 52 points — including 35 in the second half and 19 in the final quarter — to lead the Indiana Pacers to a 119-113 National Basketball Association victory over the San Antonio Spurs.

Although the rules require that all baskets be made of metal and measure 18 inches in diameter, don't tell that to Knight, a 6-foot-6 guard who also plays some forward.

"I like the hoops here in San Antonio," he said. "They are big and they are soft. I've always liked shooting here."

While Knight was setting an individual NBA season scoring high, the Knicks set the team mark with a 149-118 rout of the Detroit Pistons. The 149 points were not only the most in the NBA this season, but the most at the new Madison Square Garden since the building opened in 1968.

The Knicks figure to have a tougher time of it tonight, however, when they travel to Philadelphia to take on the 76ers. Philadelphia tied a franchise record by winning its 12th in a row Tuesday night, a 121-80 pasting of the Chicago Bulls. The 76ers are now 13-2, tied with Phoenix for the best mark in the NBA.

At the other end of the spectrum, and the standings, are the expansion Dallas Mavericks, who lost their 10th in a row and dropped to 2-15 with a 105-94 loss to the Houston Rockets.

Although Dallas was expected to have its problems winning, the same was not supposed to be true for Atlanta. But the injury riddled Hawks were clobbered by the defending champion Los Angeles Lakers 126-97 for their eighth straight defeat.

In other NBA games, the Milwaukee Bucks rallied to beat the Cleveland Cavaliers 100-96, the Washington Bullets beat the Denver Nuggets 107-92, the Phoenix Suns defeated the San Diego Clippers 109-107 and the Kansas City Kings edged the Portland Trail Blazers 102-101.

Pacers 119, Spurs 113
Knight's 52 points surpassed the NBA season high of 50 set by Utah's Adrian Dantley 10 days ago and was just one shy of the record for San Antonio's HemisFair Arena held by the Spurs' George Gervin, who had 38 Tuesday night.

San Antonio, getting 18 points from Gervin in the third quarter, pulled even at 83-83 with one minute left in the period before Knight helped the Pacers take command in the fourth quarter.

Knicks 149, Pistons 118
The Knicks shot 61 percent from the field and got double-figure scoring from eight players in the rout of the Pistons. New York broke the game open during an eight-minute stretch of the first half when they outscored Detroit 30-6 to take a 55-30 lead. Campy Russell scored 11 of his season-high 28 points in that surge.

"They got me here to score points, and I'm here to win games," said Russell, who was obtained from Cleveland in the preseason.

76ers 121, Bulls 80
Julius Erving scored 21 points and Darryl Dawkins added 20 — on 10-for-11 shooting — for Philadelphia, which last won 12 in a row back in 1949. The Sixers were in control throughout, leading 64-34 at halftime and 92-52 after three periods.

Afterwards, Erving turned his attention to tonight's game against the Knicks, whom they lead by two games in the Atlantic Division.

Dudding No Dud

Stanton runningback Allen Dudding (42) rolls around the right side of his offensive line behind the backfield blocking of Pat Rodriguez (41) and another teammate while La Plata's Patrick Phibbs (32) comes out of his cornerback position to make the stop. Dudding knocked off an early first quarter score on a 27-yard run to give the Dogies their first lead of the game. And that lead was never relinquished as Stanton rolled on for another score in the second period before La Plata netted its only drive late in the fourth quarter. (Brand photo by Mauri Montgomery)

Carrasco, Arroyos Fail in Region Meet

Rodolfo Carrasco and George Arroyos, the only two members of the Hereford High School cross-country team to qualify for Region I track competition this past weekend in Lubbock, were unable to extend their hopes for more post season running after both were outdistanced by other area long-distance harriers.

Carrasco clocked not only his fastest run of the year, but also the best performance in district 4-5A as he nudged off a 16:28 for a finish of 21st in the regional meet.

Arroyos came down the finish chute in the top half of the 76 harrier field with a 31st place showing of 16:59.

El Paso held the controlling advantage in the individual portion of the cross-country meet after posting seven runners in the top 10 at the completion of the affair. The only other harriers able to meet the demands of the rigorous field included Midland's Robert Schooler who netted first in grueling race with a time of 15:20, Tascosa's David Williams who clocked a fifth place 15:40 and Brent McCarty of San Angelo Central who capped seventh with a 15:46.

In overall team competition, El Paso Riverside claimed first with 73 total points while El Paso Burges netted 75 for second, Bel Air took third after gaining only 77, El Paso Austin claimed third with 85 and San Angelo Central squeaked into the top five finishers with a tally of 110.

Carrasco and Arroyos, even though not successful in furthering their state competition, became the only members of an HHS cross-country team to establish post season honors since 1976.

Singletary Named SWC Player of Week

DALLAS (AP) — Mike Singletary doesn't get as much business as he used to at the Baylor middle linebacker spot. When he does, the All-American still gives the business to the opponent.

Saturday's homecoming game against Arkansas was a prime example. He made 16 tackles, 10 of them unassisted and 3 behind the line of scrimmage in the Bears' 42-15 victory.

It earned senior Singletary the fourth Associated Press Southwest Conference Defensive Player of the Week award in his career.

"I think I've played well this year," said Singletary. "I'm blessed with a great front four and they've been protecting me well. In a lot of games, they haven't been giving me much to do they've been playing so well."

Defensive statistics compiled from game films show Singletary has made 116 tackles this year, 53 of them unassisted.

"He's cracked another helmet which makes 12 in his four seasons with the Green and Gold."

"I'm just one week away from a big goal I had when I came to Baylor and that's play in the Cotton Bowl," said

Singletary. "There's been a lot of hard work and now we're just a step away."

If Baylor defeats Rice Saturday in Houston, then the Bears clinch the SWC title and a Cotton Bowl berth.

"Rice is a dangerous team," said Singletary. "I hope we learned something from going down there in 1978 and getting beat. It was a terrible feeling. We've got to do our best not to let that happen."

Singletary and offensive guard Frank Ditta worked out with some members of the Houston Oilers during the offseason.

"I guess I'm in better shape than I've ever been," said Singletary. "We really worked hard. We were lucky to get through it. We laugh about it a lot now. Somehow the games seem easy."

Singletary said after the season is over he will devote some fulltime thought to a professional career.

"Tom Williams of the Oilers told me I would probably do better at strongside linebacker and I was kind of negative about it at first," said Singletary. "But the more I look at pro football, the more optimistic I feel about going to the outside. But that's a long way off."

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—In a dramatic victory that has been a dream-come-true for some and a nightmare of reality for others, GOP candidate Ronald Reagan soundly whipped President Jimmy Carter with ticket-splitting Texas Democrats.

In state races, the GOP also made gains in the Legislature, but most Democratic incumbents were returned to office throughout the state.

At least one message from the voters to elected officials is clear: cut taxes like you've promised, or else. It's a message Reagan heard four years ago, and he out-promised Carter on the tax cut issue. Reagan wants a tax cut immediately, while Carter wanted to wait until next year.

In essence, Texas voters are signaling some officials that they have one more chance... then heads that spend too much shall fall, whether Democrat or Republican.

Texas named to Reagan's transition team are Gov. Bill Clements, U.S. Sen. John Tower, Houston attorney James Baker and former ambassador to Great Britain Anne Armstrong.

Senate Upsets
In the Texas Senate, three "Killer Bees" regarded as liberals were replaced by Republicans. Ron Clower of Garland fell, as did Gene Jones of Houston and Babe Schwartz of Galveston. Jones' re-election bid was plagued by courtroom battles over alleged misuse of state office funds, and Schwartz was undoubtedly hurt by charges he used fist-cuffs in a non-political lawsuit meeting.

Another Senate vacancy will be created later when Raul Longoria of Edinburg, who won a district judge race, resigns.

Democrats managed to defeat one Republican senator, Bob Price of Pampa. Hereford businessman Bill Sarpaullis, a former aide to House Speaker Bill Clayton, won that race.

Texas House
If liberals had a bad time of it, longevity might also have been a factor with voters. Schwartz was dean of the Senate and his counterpart in the House, Richard Slack of Pecos, also fell in an upset. Slack had served 28 years.

Other House members defeated were Jimmy Mankins of Kilgore, Bob Hendricks of McKinney, Tip Hall of Denton, Mary Jane Bode of Austin, Bill Harrison of Corpus Christi, Al Brown of San Antonio and Bill Caraway of Houston.

Polarization
Traditionally, Texas politics at the state level has been divided into three factions: liberal Democrats, conservative Democrats and Republicans. Conservative Democrats have played the middle against both ends and generally came out ahead.

The rules of the game are changing. The rise of the GOP has caused the political demise of more conservatives than liberals. And conservatives know they are catching it from both ends now. When the middle becomes traumatized, there is always a chance its members will scatter for cover at either end. For conservative Democrats, it could well mean either working stronger within the party or converting to the GOP.

Clayton Running Solid
One conservative Democrat who says he will not bolt the party is House Speaker Bill Clayton, freshly free of Brilab woes.

Announcing his candidacy for an unprecedented fourth term last week, Clayton laid out the names of 98 House members pledged to vote for him and declared the race over.

Seventy-six votes are required for a winning margin when the new speaker will be chosen as the first order of business when the session convenes in January.

All other candidates have dropped out except for Clayton's nemesis, Rep. John Bryant of Dallas. Bryant claims some 60 supporters and says he will continue his bid.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Preventing swelling

DEAR DR. LAMB - I got in an argument with my neighbor lady about using ice or heat for an injury. I say put ice on a sprained ankle or injury and she says you should use heat. Which is right?
DEAR READER - Both. But it makes a difference when. Most authorities today agree that you should use cold applications intermittently for the first two days. After that if there is swelling or soreness a heating pad may be useful. I must point out that it is unwise to put an injured foot in an ice bucket, in part because of the position involved.

For an injury, position is everything in preventing swelling. Fluid runs downhill and if the injury is level with or below the heart level, the swelling will increase.

Look at your hand a minute: let it hang down. Notice how the veins pop out. If one of those veins was damaged, the blood would be pouring out under the skin. Now hold your hand up before your eyes and look at the veins on the back of your hand. Notice how they collapse. The empty veins will not leak much blood under the skin.

So the first rule in preventing swelling from an injury is get it up above the heart as quickly as possible and keep it up.

Properly applied external pressure also helps to prevent fluid accumulation in the surrounding tissues. Cold, heat, position and pressure are all discussed in greater detail in

The Health Letter number 11-6, Swelling: Causes and Management, that I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. You and your neighbor can read it and bury the hatchet - not in each other.

DEAR DR. LAMB - In the past several months I have been having an unusually heavy flow with my period. What could be causing this? Is this something I should have checked and can it lead to an anemia? Could it be a sign of menopause?
DEAR READER - One of the bits of medical knowledge that every woman should know is that if she has unexplained bleeding or some marked increase in bleeding, she should seek attention from a physician at once. There are a lot of causes for increased bleeding. It can be from a little fibroid tumor in the lining of the uterus. It can be from hormone imbalances such as might occur at the time of the menopause. And, unfortunately, unexplained bleeding and increased bleeding sometimes signals an abnormal change in the lining of the uterus which can be associated with an increased likelihood of cancer. That's why anyone with unexplained bleeding must have an immediate examination.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Polly Cramer
Rust stains towels

DEAR POLLY - There are some rust stains on my towels and I would like to know how to get rid of them. - MRS. B.M.

DEAR MRS. B.M. - Boil the stained towels in a solution of four teaspoons cream of tartar to each pint of water. When stains disappear rinse thoroughly. Or color remover used according to directions on the package will remove rust stains on white fabrics. Another way is to sprinkle salt on the stain, squeeze lemon juice on the salt and spread in the sun to fry. Rinse thoroughly and repeat if necessary. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - Do tell Lousie to use powdered denture cleaner to clean her glass vase. I use it to clean vases, plastic cups and regular coffee cups. Use as you would on dentures and then rub with a cloth or soft brush. - MILDRED

DEAR POLLY - I have news for the reader who has trouble washing her tub and shower mats. I have washed mine in the washing machine for over 20 years. Our tub and shower are separate so there are always two in use. It is not really necessary to let them go through the entire rinse cycle and I usually remove them when the wash cycle is over and then rinse them in the laundry tub or at the outdoor faucet and leave them there to dry. I put them in with other laundry and they seem to wash better that way. - MRS. E.L.M.

DEAR POLLY - When typing recipes on file cards the card often starts to slip at the bottom. To keep this from happening I tape each of the four corners of the card to a sheet of paper with clear adhesive backed tape. - ELSIE

DEAR POLLY - It is amazing how much space you can save in your garage can if you flatten all cartons and boxes either by opening the folds or putting them on the ground or floor and stepping on them. This only takes seconds to do and I can really use that saved space. - MRS. T.W.B.

DEAR POLLY - I discovered a new use for peanut oil. It cleans sticky enamel paint from the skin, without a mess, just as peanut butter removes gummy labels from plastic and other items. I hope someone else can benefit from my discovery. - MARY C.

Friona Industries Reports 25% First Quarter Earnings Climb

FRIONA, Texas - Improved profit margins and slightly higher cattle prices in the first quarter of the 1981 fiscal year enabled Friona Industries, Inc. to show a net earnings increase of 25 percent over the first quarter of the prior fiscal year.

For the three months ended Sept. 30, Friona reported net earnings of $1.3 million, or 60 cents per share, on revenues of $50.1 million. This compared with net earnings of $1.1 million, or 48 cents per share, on revenues of $41.7 million in the first quarter of fiscal 1980.

"All of the company's industry segments, with the exception of grain operations, achieved better operating profits than in the same period of last year," explained Ron Davenport, president.

The operating profits from company cattle—$877,000 or 59 percent ahead of the prior year—and commercial feeds with $367,000, up 70 percent, registered the largest increases.

More company-owned cattle were marketed—19,380 head versus 17,260 head—at about an 8 percent higher selling price during the quarter.

Commercial feeds tonnage increased 5 percent.

"Also, the sales of higher profit margin range cubes, which livestock raisers use to feed range cattle, were considerably better because of drought conditions," said Davenport.

Operating profits from meat processing were up 3 percent to $416,000, primarily as the result of higher average price per pound and more Wendy's restaurants served—716 stores (including stores services from the San Antonio facility) at the end of the current first quarter versus 669 at the same time last year.

"Even more importantly, we began delivering additional products to Wendy's such as cheese and other dairy items, which will make our refrigerated transportation operations more efficient," said Davenport.

"We expect to provide hamburgermeat and delivery of these other items to a growing number of Wendy's restaurants throughout the coming year," he added.

Operating profits from custom feeding totaled almost $1.1 million, up 3 percent on a quarter-to-quarter comparison. Average occupancy rate (83 percent) at the company's three feedyards was virtually the same for both years.

The retail sale of animal health supplies achieved an 18 percent higher operating profit for a total of $183,000. Operating profits from grain were $66,000 compared with $127,000 in the first quarter of the prior fiscal year.

"The supply of beef and the number of cattle on feed continues to be below historical averages," said Davenport.

"Also, pork industry statistics indicate that the supply of pork will be drastically reduced in the first half of 1981, when compared with the same period of 1980. Both of these developments should boost the consumption and price of beef. However, these positive aspects must be weighed against the rising inventory costs of grain-fed cattle, especially in regard to escalating feed and grain costs," Davenport added.

At a meeting of the company's board of directors in Friona on Wednesday, Nov. 5, a quarterly cash dividend of 10 cents per share on the Friona common stock was declared. It is payable Feb. 4, 1981, to shareholders of record as of Jan. 16, 1981. Friona's common stock is traded on the American Stock Exchange under the symbol FI.

FmHA Can Make Unsubsidized Loans To Borrowers with Credit Elsewhere

WASHINGTON - The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Farmers Home Administration now has authority to make unsubsidized emergency disaster loans to farmers who are able to get credit from commercial lenders.

This new authority, granted recently, means the USDA agency will serve credit-worthy farmers previously served by the Small Business Administration, said Alex P. Mercure, assistant secretary of agriculture for rural development.

It is expected to add an estimated $400 million to FmHA's emergency loan volume for fiscal year 1981 (Oct. 1, 1980-Sept. 30, 1981), Mercure said.

The new authority represents a major change for Farmers Home Administration, Mercure said. Up to now, he said, the agency has made loans only to borrowers who meet the USDA criterion of being unable to get credit from private lenders. The change affects only loans made by the agency in designated areas hit by natural disasters for losses caused by these disasters.

Farmers Home Administration also makes emergency loans for annual production expenses and major adjustments in farming operations. These loans will continue to be made only to farmers unable to get credit elsewhere.

Authority to serve credit-worthy borrowers was provided Farmers Home Administration by the Small Business Act of 1980, which became law on July 2, 1980. The intent of the law, said Mercure, is that Farmers Home Administration take over the emergency farm lending previously carried out by the Small Business Administration to the fullest extent possible.

Regulations implementing the new insured emergency loan authority were effective Oct. 22. Farmers Home county offices, which have been accepting and processing—but not approving—applications for emergency disaster loans from farmers able to get credit elsewhere, now will be able to approve and close these loans.

The new law:

- Affects only farmers suffering losses from natural disasters commencing on or after July 3, 1980, who are located in designated disaster areas.
- Limits loans to these farmers to $500,000 or the actual amount of loss per borrower, whichever is less.
- Severely restricts, but does not eliminate, Small Business Administration disaster loans to farmers able to get credit elsewhere who will be eligible for consideration for Small Business Administration loans for losses to their farming operations only if they have been turned down for such loans by Farmers Home because of legal restrictions. Loans to farmers for losses to residential housing still may be made by either the Small Business Administration or Farmers Home.

- Provides that Farmers Home emergency disaster loans to farmers able to get credit elsewhere will be made at a rate of interest reflecting the cost of money to the federal government—currently 11.75 percent. The interest rate for Farmers Home emergency actual loss loans to farmers unable to get credit elsewhere will continue at 5 percent.
- Farmers suffering production losses from disasters commencing on or after July 3 and able to get credit elsewhere may apply for loans at their local county Farmers Home offices. Those with housing losses only shall have the option of applying to either Farmers Home or the Small Business Administration.

Winter Prime Period For Brush Control Work

COLLEGE STATION - Chaining, root plowing and grubbing are all effective mechanical methods for controlling brush during fall and winter months, says a range brush and weed control specialist.

Chaining involves using a heavy anchor chain (weighing 40 to 90 pounds per foot) 150 to 300 feet long and drawn between two crawler type tractors points out Dr. Tommy Welch with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Chaining uproots or beaks off brush. Chaining of live brush species that have the capability of sprouting from a bud zone beneath the soil will provide only temporary control. However, chaining following a herbicide treatment provides effective and economical brush control, particularly of mesquite.

Chaining of mesquite is most effective about three years after a herbicide has been used, says Welch. Chaining during late fall and winter is best because the dormant and brittle mesquite plants break up easily, inflicting maximum damage. Soil moisture should be high so that the mesquite will be uprooted, thus removing the bud zone from the soil so that the tree cannot resprout.

Chaining is effective on areas supporting mesquite trees 4 to 5 inches or more in diameter. Chaining of sprayed areas uproots most large trees, increasing the duration of control over that obtained from herbicide control alone. Dead or partially dead mesquite trees are easier to uproot than unsprayed, live plants.

Root plowing is also effective in controlling brush but it's expensive. Therefore, it's best suited for sites with high production potential, points out Welch.

Root plows with fins usually provide best control, but they also destroy existing turf. If existing turf is to be saved, a thin-bladed root plow without fins will minimize turf damage. Also, root plowing during the winter months causes less damage to existing forage plants. Seeding the root-plowed area with desirable forage species is often a wise step, suggests the specialist.

Grubbing works well on thin stands of brush and is also useful as a maintenance control measure. Use of a small crawler tractor to grub thin stands of small brush species is a good practice, believes Welch. Plans are available from the Extension Service for a grubber developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station for use on small crawler tractors.

A grubbing unit may be placed on rubber-tired farm tractors and may be re-mounted or attached to a front-end bucket loader. The tractor should be equipped with puncture resistant tires such as steel-belted logging tires, recapped aircraft tires, or foam-filled tires.
