Mammoth exhibit open Friday

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

The "Easter Elephant," an Imperial Mammoth skull unearthed southwest of Hereford in May 1988, will be unveiled Friday at 6:30 p.m. at the Museum of the Llano Estacado at Wayland Baptist University at Plainview.

The skull was discovered along a county road south of Hereford by Lon Woodburn, a Dimmitt farmer, and Eddie Guffee, director of the Plainview museum, earlier in 1988 while they were working on restoring the chapel at the Prisoner of War Camp near Hereford.

A West Texas Rural Telephone employee had been checking for a line washout along the road when he discovered fossilized teeth in the barditch.

Woodburn and Guffee were told about the teeth and took several excursions in the area near where the teeth had been found, along the south slope of the Frio Draw.

Woodburn and Guffee found what appeared to be one of the tusks sticking up out of the barditch, did some light digging, and unearthed the skull cap.

Guffee used archeological volunteers from Texas Tech University and the Texas Antiquities Committee and help from Castro County Commissioner Jeff Robertson to excavate the skull.

Once dirt and other debris which had encased the skull for at least 12,000 years had been removed, workers encased the skull and tusks in a plaster cast, then built a wooden platform around it to lift it, intact, from its grave.

That work took about two weeks, during which school children from throughout the Wayland Baptist University art professor Candace Keller puts the finishing touches on the display area for the Imperial Mammoth exhibit at the Llano Estacado Museum. area visited the site during hastily-arranged field trips.

The skull was then slowly trucked to Plainview, where Guffee and others have spent the past year working on the skull.

Workers removed the cast from around the skull one piece at a time, then the fossilized bone was again cleaned, patched and stabilized to prevent further deterioration.

The exhibit area around the skull was painted by Wayland art professor Candace Keller and re-creates the natural habitat of the imperial mammoth.

The terrain in the area was not all that different 12,000 years ago, but what is now the south slope of Frio Draw was probably the north slope when the mammoth died. Because of the difference in slope, Guffee said it's unlikely the rest of the mammoth's remains will ever be found.

Also on exhibit are other discoveries, including a mammoth tooth, bone and tusk fragments excavated in the Silverton, Quitaque and White River areas.

Participating in the unveiling will be Guffee, Woodburn, and Plainview city officials.

A reception, sponsored by the Plainview Cultural Arts Council, will follow the ceremony. All activities are open to the public.

Holly payment boosts economy

The impact of Holly Sugar on the area's economy is apparent again this week with a $4.7 million payment made by Holly to area farmers.

Holly, which has a sugar beet processing plant in Hereford, contracts with about 300 growers in the area. When beets are harvested in the late fall, the first of four payments is made to growers. The payment is about 65 percent of the total amount due to growers and is about 65 percent of the total amount growers will receive, the payment is based on the projected net selling price of sugar the following year.

A second payment is made in April, and a third is made in July. Holly makes its final settlement with farmers on Nov. 1.

"We are partners with Holly Sugar," said Bill Cleavinger of Wildorado, president of the Texas Sugar Beet Growers Association who is also serving a second term as head of the American Sugarbeet Growers Association.

Cleavinger said last year's merger of Holly with Imperial Sugar is helping area growers and, in turn, the region.

"The merger is helping bring

about a marked improvement in our marketing nets," Cleavinger said. "We are extremely pleased with the results the marketing department is producing. These results benefit everyone involved, and the $4.7 million payment is proof that this industry is helping the regional economy."

Relations seminar scheduled Tuesday

"Customer Relations" will be the topic when Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce sponsors a seminar for local businesses next Tuesday.

The seminar is open to all business owners, managers and employees who have customer contact. The workshop should be of interest to all business firms except those with too much money and too many customers," according to Don Taylor, the workshop presenter.

Taylor is a small-business consultant with more than 20 years of experience in "taking care of the customer." Workshop topics will include: Taking care of the customers, expanding the customer base, first impressions, and six secrets that will keep customers coming back.

The workshop will be held at the Hereford Community Center from 7 to 9 p.m. next Tuesday. Registration is $10 a person, or a maximum of $50 per business. Call the chamber office (364-3333) to register.

Taylor currently serves as director for West Texas State University's Small Business Development Center. He is a former president of a Missouri-based investment group which specialized in small business ownership, management and consulting, and is a former top national salesman for the Riley Company.

Reagan may have hurt 'war'

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Reagan administration undermined its own war on drugs, as it "delayed, halted or interfered" with operations that jeopardized support for its policy in Central America, a Senate panel reported today.

The government looked the other way, according to the report, when law enforcement agencies learned that drug traffickers were protected and aided by some U.S.-supported Nicaraguan Contras, members of the Honduran military, Panamanian strongman Manuel Antonio Noriega and Bahamian officials.

The 437-page report was prepared by the Senate Foreign Affairs subcommittee on terrorism, narcotics and international operations, whose chairman, John F. Kerry, D-Mass., held a series of public hearings last year on international drug trafficking.

In the most glaring examples of what the committee found to be a two-faced policy during the Reagan years, the report said:

"While reports of Noriega's drug activities were mounting, the U.S. government ignored the evidence as the Panamanian strongman promised to help train Contra rebels and offered use of Panamanian units to strike targets inside Nicaragua.

The late CIA Director William Casey justified his failure to raise the narcotics issue in a 1985 meeting with Noriega, the report said, on grounds "that Noriega was providing valuable support for our policies in Central America, especially Nicaragua."

"The Drug Enforcement Administration apparently ignored trafficking allegations against Noriega because the now-indicted strongman also cooperated in DEA operations. But the DEA was fooled, the report said, when Noriega used his close relationship with the agency "to share DEA information with traffickers."

"When a former Honduran military officer who has assisted the United States in the Contra war ... became involved in a 'narco-terrorist' plot to kill the elected president of Honduras, high officials of the U.S. government interceded in an effort to get his sentenced reduced."

The Honduran military, which the report said "consistently supported U.S. policies in Central America," included elements that "protected the cocaine trade," the report said.

Panel finding may end Wright's role

WASHINGTON (AP) - Dealing a serious and possibly fatal blow to Jim Wright's speakership, the House ethics committee has concluded that he improperly accepted gifts from a business partner and tried to evade outside income limits through book sales.

The last of the decisions were reached Wednesday on strong bipartisan votes, according to sources familiar with the panel's probe. The votes mean the panel has found "reason to believe" the Texas Democrat violated a series of House rules, and they point toward a new phase of the case which could involve a disciplinary hearing and possible punishment.

Wright continued to maintain he had not knowingly or intentionally broken the rules and was expected to mount a vigorous defense. His spokesman, Mark Johnson, said late Wednesday that the speaker had not been informed of any decision by the panel. "All options are open" in defending against the charges, he said.

The action essentially completed the committee's 10-month, $1.5 million investigation of Wright's finances. The panel was meeting again today to work on the specific wording of its report detailing the basis for the charges against the speaker, one source said.

The panel has met behind closed doors and under tight secrecy for three weeks to deliberate the recommendations of its special outside counsel, Chicago attorney Richard Phelan.

In the final days of that process, committee members narrowed their focus to the two most serious issues before them: the acceptance of gifts from a person with an interest in legislation and the evasion of outside income limits.

On Wednesday, the committee voted that benefits received from Fort Worth developer George Mallick from 1980 through 1984, valued at more than $100,000, amounted to unreported "gifts" that were improper because Mallick, an investor in real estate and oil and gas ventures, had a greater interest in congressional legislation than an ordinary citizen, said one source.

The panel also concluded that Wright, in roughly half a dozen instances, had foregone speaking fees from groups he had addressed and instead sold them bulk quantities of his book, "Reflections of a Public Man." Under House rules, speaking fees are subject to limits, while book royalties are not.

Most difficult for the committee, sources said, was the issue of whether Mallick, a longtime friend of Wright, had motives other than friendship when he paid the speaker's wife, Betty, $18,000 a year in salary and gave the Wrights rent-free use of a condominium and a 1979 Cadillac.

Fusion draws more attention

DALLAS (AP) - The co-developer of a University of Utah cold fusion experiment defended his findings Wednesday before an audience of experts and concluded he was "absolutely sure" that it was a way to tap the energy of the stars.

B. Stanley Pons, a University of Utah chemist, told 7,000 people attending a national meeting of the American Chemical Society that an experiment conducted at room temperature produced energy from nuclear fusion, but that exactly how it works on a molecular level is still not clear.

"It's absolutely sure in my mind that what we've seen (is nuclear fusion)," said Pons during a session in which more than 40 technical questions were posed by experts in the audience. "We cannot explain the data in any other way."

Pons received long distance support just as the scientific discussions began. An ACS official told the audience that Soviet Union scientists announced they had duplicated the Utah experiment.

But a physicist and two chemists who sat beside Pons during a panel discussion said they remained unconvinced that the Utah experiment was, in fact, nuclear fusion.

Harold P. Furth, director of the Princeton University Plasma Physics Laboratory, said with barely contained contempt that world-class physicists will not take the Utah findings seriously until the precise process involved is explained and demonstrated with control experiments.

Furth said that some experts believe the energy detected in the Utah experiment is actually a chemical reaction that is not understood as yet.

"There are certain experiments that need to be done," he said. "And then we'll see."

University of Texas chemist Allen J. Bard, also on the panel, said he had an open mind on the Utah experiment, but noted: "It is unprecedented to see chemical reactions produce nuclear reactions. The verdict is still out."

A fourth member of the panel, electrochemist Ernest Yeager of Case Western Reserve University, said it was "hard to say" if the experiment was fusion "but the experiments are beginning to add up to a fairly strong case."

During four hours of public grilling by ACS delegates and by journalists, Pons responded calmly and at length to openly skeptical and often highly technical questions. Questions came from authorities representing major universities and from some of America's industrial giants.

Pons even managed a smiling "no comment" when one questioner asked him, "Are you Prometheus, Pandora or the Pitdown Man?" Prometheus is the figure in Greek mythology who stole fire from heaven; Pandora is a Greek myth who released troubles on mankind; and the Pitdown Man was a famous scientific fraud.

The Utah chemist said his laboratory created a fusion reaction by inserting a rod of palladium and a coil of platinum into a beaker of deuterium and then applying an electrical current to the metal.

After many days, said Pons, the experiment produces up to four watts of energy for every watt used to run the device and that the only explanation for the effect was nuclear fusion.

He said the current forces atoms of the deuterium, an isotope of hydrogen, into the crystal structure of the palladium. Eventually, the deuterium becomes so compressed in the metal that nuclei of the isotope begin to fuse. As this occurs, the process gives off heat, some neutrons, and helium.

Pons said he now is "scaling up", or enlarging, the experiment and said if the process still works then cold fusion may provide a dramatic new energy source for the

Today in history

By The Associated Press
 Today is Thursday, April 13, the 103th day of 1989. There are 262 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
 On April 13, 1970, the crew aboard Apollo 13, four-fifths of the way to the moon, told Mission Control: "We've got a problem here." A tank containing liquid oxygen had burst, crippling the spacecraft. The story ended happily four days later when the crew splashed down safely in the Pacific.

On this date:
 In 1598, King Henry IV of France signed the Edict of Nantes, which granted rights to the Protestant Huguenots.

In 1743, the third president of the United States, Thomas Jefferson, was born in what is now Albemarle County, Va.

In 1870, the Metropolitan Museum of Art was founded in New York City.

In 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt dedicated the Jefferson Memorial in Washington.

In 1958, Van Cliburn became the first American to win the Tchaikovsky International Piano Contest in Moscow.

In 1961, the United Nations General Assembly voted to condemn apartheid, South Africa's policy of racial segregation.

In 1964, Ian Smith became prime minister of Southern Rhodesia. The country became known as Rhodesia that October, after Northern Rhodesia became Zambia.

Today's birthdays: Playwright Samuel Beckett is 83. Former Minnesota Gov. Harold Stassen is 82. Atheist Madalyn Murray O'Hair is 70. Actor Howard Keel is 70. Movie director Stanley Donen is 65. Actor Bradford Dillman is 59. Actor Lyle Waggoner is 54. Playwright Lanford Wilson is 52. Movie and TV composer Bill Conti is 47. Rock musician Jack Casady is 45. Actor Ricky Schroder is 19.

Thought for today: "Very few men are wise by their own counsel; or learned by their own teaching. For he that was only taught by himself, had a fool to his master." - Ben Jonson, English dramatist and poet (1572-1637).

Town shocked by Satanism

MATAMOROS, Mexico (AP) - Traditional smugglers have long had a macho image and been praised in song along the swash-buckling U.S.-Mexico border, but the discovery of a drug ring involved in satanic killings was outside anyone's experience.

"Our smugglers do not pray to the devil," said secretary Alma Rosa Garza. She noted that the leader of a voodoo cult of drug smugglers responsible for at least 12 ritual slayings was Cuban.

Smuggling along the border involves drugs and illegal immigrants going north; luxury and consumer goods and even industrial and farm machinery that is highly taxed in Mexico comes the other way.

And thousands of Americans come to Matamoros and nearby Reynosa every night to drink, party or visit whorehouses. Nearly 22,000 visitors, many of them college students, come across daily during college spring break.

Some of that changed when Mark Kilroy, a pre-med student from the University of Texas, disappeared during an expedition with friends to Matamoros.

But the solution - the discovery that Kilroy was among those killed by smugglers who believed satanic ritual would protect them from harm - was far stranger than anyone had thought possible.

Mexican police said five people have been arrested in the case, and authorities on both sides of the border were seeking the cult "godfather," identified as Adolfo de Jesus Constanzo, a Cuban national in his late 40s.

"It was the strangest case involving drugs that I have seen in my years as a newsman," said Edgardo Montiel, editorial director of the Matamoros newspaper El Bravo. Violence is common in the border, he said, but not this kind of violence.

"We are very concerned and we will tell the tourists that 99.9 percent of the people here are good, and that it only takes one or two to give the others a bad name," said Ignacio Garcia, a shift supervisor at Pancho Villa's restaurant, on Wednesday.

In every border town, from Matamoros to Tijuana on the California border 2,000 miles to the west, their true calling seems to be known to all.

"You can point them out," Matamoros Mayor Fernando Montemayor said in an interview with The Associated Press, "but you can't prove anything. It is like the Mafia in the United States."

Montemayor said the case "is an alarm to alert us on both sides of the border."

"Crazies like these are the FUSION

 Furth agreed with that, noting that if it works, "it might be regarded as the great breakthrough of the century."

Pons admitted that he was not precisely sure how the experiment causes fusion to occur and exactly what role each of the chemicals play in the production of energy.

He said the deuterium used in the experiment is laced with lithium, to conduct electricity between the palladium and the platinum, and that the lithium may play a role in the reaction.

Pons also said the reaction's force depends upon the size of the palladium electrode and that more energy will be generated as he "scales up" the amount of palladium used.

The Utah scientist acknowledged that palladium and platinum are expensive metals, and said that cheaper metals, such as titanium, may work in the same process.

Furth said physicists will not take the work seriously until a control experiment is conducted using ordinary water instead of deuterium, which is also called "heavy water."

"I don't think they'll think about it hard until experiments force them to do so," he said. If a control experiment using ordinary water fails to produce energy, Furth said it will prove that Pons' findings are not the result of a deuterium chemical reaction as some physicists now believe.

Furth said that physicists are also skeptical about the Utah experiment because Pons' reported only a slight flow of neutrons, a characteristic of fusion.

Earlier this week, scientists from Texas A&M and Georgia Tech announced that they, too, had achieved a reaction using equipment modeled on the Utah experiment.

product of the drug traffic," said the mayor who has closed down expensive bars and restaurants where drugs were sold and also shut down the red light district.

Federal Prosecutor Jose Silva said some killings appeared to be more revenge murder than cult sacrifice. At least two victims were former local police who had had some connection with the Matamoros drug trade, according to federal police.

"They (cult members) were manipulated by the Cuban," said Federal Police Group commander Juan Benitez Ayala.

Montemayor and others said they did not think the killings would stop the waves of U.S. tourists that come to this city every day.

"To me, this is all part of the U.S. influence of total freedom and excess. We Mexicans are more traditionalist, more conservative. Rituals and drugs are a thing of the United States," said Rosa Garza.

Attorney General restrictions turned back by Texas House

AUSTIN (AP) - The House at least temporarily has turned back an effort to prohibit the Texas attorney general from accepting political contributions and restrict the attorney general's ability to run for other offices.

Although Rep. Stan Schlueter emphasized Wednesday his proposed constitutional amendment would not apply to Attorney General Jim Mattox, some opponents dubbed it an attack on the incumbent, who plans to run for governor in 1990.

The measure on a preliminary vote got only 81 of the 100 votes necessary for a proposed amendment to pass the House. Schlueter, D-Killeen, expressed confidence he will be able to turn enough votes around in the 150-member House for passage.

 "This thing is aimed at nothing but Jim Mattox," said Rep. Paul Moreno, D-El Paso. He added, "We are toying around with the Texas Constitution."

"Let's attack. Let's be political. But don't play around with the constitution," Moreno said.

The issue of contributions could be covered through a law and does not need to be addressed by a constitutional amendment, Moreno said.

Rep. Al Price, D-Beaumont, said Texans already can choose to vote an attorney general out of office.

"I believe that the people of Texas are smart enough to recognize when somebody is putting ambition ahead of service," Price said.

Schlueter said his proposal is an attempt to put safeguards on an office that has grown increasingly influential.

"It has become the most powerful office in state government," said Schlueter. He said he probably would not bring the measure up again until next week.

"The attorney general... has the ability to do one thing that nobody else can do: He can grant or issue an opinion which has the force of law until a court overturns it," Schlueter said. "We need a person in that position that is not going to be manipulated in any fashion and be tempted by campaign contributions."

The attorney general also represents the state in court, he noted.

The proposed amendment would lengthen the attorney general's term of office from four to six years and prohibit anyone from serving more than one term, starting with the attorney general elected in 1990.

No attorney general could hold any other elected office created by the Texas Constitution during the term to which he or she was elected, and for two years after the term ended. The attorney general could not accept any political contributions during the term.

BABBLING BROOKS

By John Brooks

By JOHN BROOKS

It now appears it's safe to eat apples and grapes again.

"Course, it always was safe to eat them.

This was another case of the "media" (read that persons who practice adversarial journalism) running amok.

Even if Alar was used as a ripening agent on those apples you have in your refrigerator's crisper, consider these facts compiled by Dr. Bruce Ames and Dr. Lois Gold at the University of California at Berkeley:

Alar has less carcinogenic (cancer-causing) risk than a liter of tap water.

Alar has a "carcinogen risk index" of less than 1.0. Peanut butter's risk index: 30. One raw mushroom: 100. 3.5 ounces of shrimp: 100. Two slices of bread: 400. 12 ounces of beer: 2,800.

The risk index of Alar is less than 1. 12 ounces of natural root beer has a risk index of 200.

Of course, when you tell the "media" something, they won't let the facts stand in the way of a good story. Before CBS aired a story on 60 Minutes last month, it had been supplied with data on 3,801 samples. Only one of those samples showed a residue above one part per million, and that is only 5 percent of the Food and Drug Administration's "safe" level.

Instead of using or even showing that data, CBS used a sample of only 32 apples and claimed that 23 contained Alar residue. CBS did not point out that the highest concentration in its skewed sampling was only 2.5 percent of the "safe" level.

It's apparent that neither CBS nor any of the rest of the "media" considered that fruit and vegetable growers and packagers do tend to use common sense.

As pointed out by the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association, we need to keep in mind that in return for exposure to a very minute, teensy-weensie, amount of pesticide residue, we reap the benefits of a plentiful supply of fruits and vegetables. Those benefits include reducing several cancer risks.

Some of the fear has gone to the point of rinsing your fruits and vegetables in soapy water.

Bleecchhh! If you think you need to wash, for instance, your lettuce in soapy water, invite me over for a salad sometime. I want to see the bubbles come floating out of your mouth while you're eating.

All you have to do is rinse them in just plain old water.

The little apple controversy, we would hope, is over.

Maybe. Meryl Streep may end up in court for her little performance.

If you're a fruit or vegetable producer, you might want to consider doing to her movies what many Vietnam veterans do to Jane Fonda movies.

Don't watch 'em.

But if you do watch a Meryl Streep movie, don't eat popcorn while you're watching it.

Eat an apple instead. It'll make you feel good all over.

73 young girls to vie for Little Miss Hereford title

Seventy-three young girls will be competing in the 1989 Little Miss Hereford Pageant, sponsored by the Women's Division, to be staged Saturday in the Hereford High School auditorium.

Due to the increasing number of pageant contestants in previous years, the event will be presented in two segments. All Cutest Miss division contestants will compete at 5 p.m. Saturday and the remaining three division contestants will be presented at 7 p.m.

Tickets are priced at $2 per person and are available at the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce office, 701 N. Main St., or may be purchased at the door.

Marilyn Leasure and Greg Buckley will serve as emcees for the pageant which will have a theme of "Wonderland."

A variety of entertainment will be provided during the two pageant segments including piano and vocal selections as well as a skit to be presented by the 1988 Miss Hereford Deanna Hobbs.

Also, during the evening's festivities, the 1988 Little Miss winners will be presented to the audience and will also distribute trophies to the 1989 winners. Last year's winners are Regina Lewis, Miss Junior High; Gabriela Gamez, Little Princess; Cassie Abney, Miss Petite; and Michelle Leigh Weston, Cutest Miss. The girls will be escorted by Tyler Keeling, Zach Wall, Bric Wall and Billy Bankston.

Serving as judges for this year's event are Barbara Finch of Tulia, Keith Brewster of Amarillo and Deanne Clark of Dimmitt.

Finch was recently named Tulia's Outstanding Woman of the Year. She has served as president and treasurer of Tulia Women's Division; chairman of the Arts and Crafts Show; and committee member for both the Miss Tulia Contest and the Chamber of Commerce annual banquet. She has been actively involved in the 4-H program for many years and was awarded the Distinguished State Volunteer 4-H Leader Award in 1983 and Distinguished Volunteer Leader of Swisher County in 1979. She is a state 4-H record book and method demonstration judge. She and her husband, David, have three sons.

Brewster has been a teacher with the Amarillo Independent School District for 24 years and is currently teaching at Tascosa High School. He is also the owner of Kids Korner, a children's shop in Amarillo. He received a bachelor of science degree in business education from Southwestern State University in Weatherford, Okla. and a M.B.A. from West Texas State University. He is married and has three children.

Clark, who has resided in Dimmitt for 18 years, was named Dimmitt's Citizen of the Year for 1988. She is presently serving as the Castro County chairman of the Republican Party and is the volunteer coordinator for the Dimmitt Literacy Association. She is former president of the Castro County Republican Organization for Women and served as president of the Panhandle Area School Boards Association. She is a charter member of the Dimmitt Independent School Board of Trustees. The homemaker is co-organist at First United Methodist Church where she is actively involved and lists tennis as her hobby. She and her husband, Billy, who is the manager of Dimmitt Agri Industries, have three children and four grandchildren.

The 1989 Little Miss Hereford Pageant is being co-chaired by Karen Bankston and Karen Keeling. Committee members include Eileen Alley, Sandy Stagner, Debbie Tardy, Betty Gilbert, Sue Malamen, Peggie Fox, Shelly Moss, Lacy Driver, Nell Rhoton, Jan Carroll and Jackie Murphey.

The following girls will be vying for the 1989 title of Little Miss Hereford:

Latin American countries are responding more quickly to advances in the electronics and computer sector than they did in earlier industrial phases, such as metalworking and chemical industries, according to the Inter-American Development Bank. It says their response has extended beyond investigation and mere consumption and into the actual production of electronics and computer equipment.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a child molester. I now know that what I did had terrible consequences for my victims. It is not easy to think about what I have done. At time it is terrifying, but I am getting where I want to be and for the first time in my life, I am proud of myself.

I am being helped by an organization called Parents United, which counsels people who have sexually abused their children or other family members. It also helps all sexually abused children, whether they were victimized by family members or not.

The primary goal of parents United is to break the cycle of sexually abusing children. The people Parents United helps fall into the following categories: Child Victims, Siblings, AMACs (adults molested as children), Offenders (men and women), and Non-Offending Parents. All groups are led by professionally trained therapists. A condition of membership is that the person must be receiving one-on-one therapy. The national headquarters of this organization is Parents United International Inc., P.O. Box 952, San Jose, Calif. 95108-0952.

Please print this letter, Ann, and help those who need it.--An Offender

DEAR UTAH: It's a beautiful prayer and I'm certain that it will be clipped and reread by parents everywhere.

PARENT'S PRAYER

O Heavenly Father, make me a better parent. Teach me to understand my children, to listen patiently to what they have to say and to answer their questions kindly.

Keep me from interrupting or contradicting.

Help me to be as courteous to them as I want them to be to me.

Forbid that I should ever laugh at their mistakes or resort to shame or ridicule.

May I never punish them out of anger or spite or to show my power.

Help me, dear Lord, to demonstrate by all that I say and do that honesty does produce happiness.

Reduce, dear Lord, the meanness in me. And when I am out of sorts, help me to hold my tongue.

May I be ever mindful that my children are merely children and that I should not expect them to have the maturity and judgment of

Let me not rob them of the opportunity to do things for themselves or to make their own decisions.

Help me to grant them all reasonable requests and give me the courage to deny them the privileges that I think may be harmful.

Help me to be fair and just and kind, O Lord, so that I will earn their love and respect and they will want to imitate me. This is the supreme compliment. Amen.

Do you have questions about sex, but nobody you can talk to about them? Ann Landers' newly revised booklet, "Sex and the Teenager," will give you the answers you need. ## NoNoNoNoNolan almost gets sixth no-hitter in win

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

Nolan Ryan's fastball is still part of baseball lore and so is his lure. Because every time he pitches, a no-hitter is possible.

Ryan flirted with his sixth no-hitter Wednesday night, giving up a single in the eighth inning. He finished with a team-record 15 strikeouts as the Texas Rangers beat the Milwaukee Brewers 8-1.

"I would have loved to throw a no-hitter tonight," he said. "Anytime you get that close, you're disappointed."

Murphy, Glavine spark Braves

By The Associated Press

Dale Murphy didn't consider it a demotion, just an alteration. It was the catalyst to the Braves' 5-0 victory over San Diego.

Murphy was moved from his customary cleanup spot in the Atlanta batting order to No. 2 Wednesday night. In his first at-bat in that unfamiliar slot, Murphy hit a two-run homer, his first of the year.

"It was just one game, one at-bat really," Murphy said after the victory that featured Tom Glavine's first career shutout, a six-hitter. "For me, this is a day-to-day thing. I just got to keep going out there working on it. Russ said before the game that he was going to try something different. It certainly was something different."

Manager Russ Nixon wouldn't admit to any long-range plans for Murphy as a No. 2 hitter.

"The idea was to get him out of the number four spot and the

In other games, Baltimore beat Kansas City 5-4 in 15 innings, New York stopped Toronto 5-3, California defeated Oakland 5-0, Seattle topped Chicago 9-1 and Cleveland downed Boston 10-6.

Ryan, who has never pitched a perfect game, did not allow a runner until Robin Yount walked with two outs in the seventh inning. After Glenn Braggs drew a leadoff walk in the eighth, Terry Francona - just 1-for-14 this season - followed with an opposite-field, line-drive single to left.

Ryan, 42, got the next three batters after Francona and left after eight innings and 134 pitches. Craig McMurtry worked the ninth and gave up a run on three hits.

Ryan's last no-hitter came in 1981 while with Houston against Los Angeles. Ryan raised his all-time strikeout total to 4,798.

Julio Franco drove in four runs and Ruben Sierra got four hits, including his second home run. Orioles 5, Royals 4

Baltimore stopped a 15-game losing streak against Kansas City when Mike Devereaux hit a sacrifice fly in the 15th inning.

Kansas City scored three runs in the bottom of the ninth for a 4-4 tie.

Gregg Olson, 1-0, went the final two innings after Mark Williamson pitched five perfect innings.

Steve Farr, 0-1, took the loss. He relieved Tom Gordon, who pitched 6 2-3 scoreless innings and struck out 10.

Angels 5, Athletics 0
Kirk McCaskill and Greg Minton teamed on a three-hitter as California beat visiting Oakland.

McCaskill, 2-0, gave up two hits and left the game after sixth inning with stiffness in his upper back. Minton closed for his second save.

Mark McLemore's two-run triple broke a scoreless tie in the fifth against Curt Young, 1-1. Dante Bichette hit a solo home run and RBI single and Brian Downing also homered.

Mariners 9, White Sox 1
Rookie Erik Hanson pitched eight shutout innings and rookie Greg Briley drove in four runs as host Seattle stopped Chicago.

Hanson, 1-1, allowed five hits in his eighth major-league start.

Briley had three hits, including two doubles. Harold Reynolds hit his team-record 27th triple and scored on a single by Alvin Davis in the fourth against Bill Long, 1-1. Yankees 5, Blue Jays 3

New York ended its seven-game losing streak as Rickey Henderson's two-run single broke a 3-all tie in the sixth inning at Yankee Stadium.

The Yankees won for the first time since opening day and had been outscored 59-19 before beating Toronto.

John Candelaria, 1-1, pitched four-hit ball for eight innings. Lee Guetterman worked the ninth for his first save.

Henderson singled with the bases loaded against rookie Tony Castillo, 1-1. Kelly Gruber hit a three-run homer for the Blue Jays.

Indians 10, Red Sox 6
Cory Snyder drove in six runs with two homers and two singles as Cleveland outslugged Boston at pressure of carrying the club," Nixon said of Murphy, who had no RBI in 27 at-bats.

In 1987, Murphy hit .226 with 24 homers and 77 RBI.

Elsewhere, it was Chicago 3, St. Louis 2; Cincinnati 3, Houston 1; Philadelphia 6, Montreal 3, and San Francisco 3, Los Angeles 1.

While Murphy and Lonnie Smith were hitting homers at San Diego, Glavine was extending his scoreless streak to 18 innings. Glavine, 2-0, struck out four and walked one and was threatened only in the seventh inning, when Carmelo Martinez led off with a double. Martinez got to third but was stranded.

Cubs 3, Cardinals 2

At Chicago, two pitchers the Cubs acquired from Texas in a nine-player off-season deal held off St. Louis. Four double plays didn't hurt, either.

Paul Kilgus carried a 3-0 lead into the ninth. Vince Coleman reached on an error by shortstop Domingo Ramos and Tom Brunansky homered to make it 3-2 and knock out Kilgus. But Mitch Williams came on and ended the game by striking out Jose Oquendo for his fourth save and the Cubs' fifth straight victory.

Reds 3, Astros 1
At Houston, Paul O'Neill's three-run double with none out in the ninth won it for Cincinnati.

Astros starter Rick Rhoden and reliever Larry Andersen had combined on a five-hit shutout through eight innings. Dave Smith came on in the ninth and Eric Davis led off with a single. He went to third when first baseman Glenn Davis made a two-base throwing error on Kal Daniels' grounder.

Rob Dibble, 1-0, pitched one inning for the victory and John Franco retired the side in the ninth for his third save.

Phillies 6, Expos 3
At Philadelphia, Mike Schmidt, Von Hayes and Ron Jones homered

in the third inning off former teammate Kevin Gross, who yielded four home runs, three doubles and a triple. Gross was traded to Montreal in the offseason.

Darren Daulton's homer in the second gave the Phillies a 2-0 lead and they boosted it to 5-0 in the third with the three solo home runs.

Gross worked 4 1-3 innings, giving up six runs on seven hits, walking two and striking out six. Giants 3, Dodgers 1

Kevin Mitchell hit a three-run homer off Fernando Valenzuela and Scott Garrelts earned his first victory as a starter in three years.

Garrelts, 1-0, gave up three hits and four walks in five-plus innings.

Jeff Brantley, Atlee Hamaker and Mike LaCoss limited the Dodgers to two hits over the final four innings.

Valenzuela, 0-2, still looking for his first win since being disabled with a left shoulder injury last July, lasted only 4 2-3 innings.

O'Neill on streak for Cincy, beats Astros with late double

HOUSTON (AP) - Cincinnati manager Pete Rose had a compliment and a prediction for Paul O'Neill.

"He's a very confident hitter who may put up some awesome numbers this year," Rose said. "I'll be surprised if he doesn't."

O'Neill delivered a three-run double in the ninth inning Wednesday that rallied the Reds to a 3-1 victory over Houston.

O'Neill's third hit of the day came off Juan Agosto, Houston's fourth pitcher.

"He led us in runs batted in in the spring and it has carried over into the regular season," Rose said. "He's a streaky hitter but he's on a long streak right now."

"He's been on a streak since March 9."

O'Neill went 6-for-12 in the three-game series against the Astros.

"I hope this is an indication of what I'll do this year," O'Neill said. "I've been lucky until today."

but today I hit the ball hard. I learned a lot last season.

"Now I've got everything mapped out."

The Reds appeared headed for defeat until Eric Davis led off the ninth with a single off Dave Smith.

Kal Daniels then reached base when first baseman Glenn Davis threw wide to second base on a grounder for an error.

Todd Benzinger was intentionally walked by Smith and Agosto then came in to face O'Neill, who drove the first pitch between the gap in left and center field.

"I screwed up," Smith said. "But that stuff is going to happen. I never want to come out of a game but it was a good move (bringing in Agosto)."

Glenn Davis also wanted to share in the blame.

"I threw a little off balance and that was the difference in the game, I blew it," Davis said. "It seems like any time we make a mistake, teams capitalize on it."

The Reds had trailed 1-0 from the second through the eighth innings while battling Astros starter Rick Rhoden and reliever Larry Andersen.

Rhoden allowed five hits over seen innings and Andersen retired the side in order in the eighth.

"I made some good pitches today, I kept the ball down and got a lot of ground balls," Rhoden said. "Later in the year, when I'm a little stronger, I'm sure I'll stay in games like that."

"It was only my second start and I'd thrown 100 pitches." Thirteen of Rhoden's 21 outs came on ground balls.

"Both pitchers deserved to win the game," Rose said. "I was glad when they took Rhoden out, he had us handcuffed."

Cincinnati starter Jose Rijo kept the Reds close through seven innings.

He allowed six hits, including a double by Ken Caminiti in the second and a run-scoring single by Alex Trevino.

That's all the Astros could score, although they got runners to third base in the third and fifth innings.

"We've come close in a lot of games this season, but it seems like one inning is costing us ball games," second baseman Bill Doran said. "We're real close to playing some good baseball."

Boxing's original Sugar Ray dead

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP) - Sugar Ray Robinson was pound-for-pound the world's greatest boxer whose influence extended far beyond the rings he dominated for much of 25 years, friends said after his death at age 67.

"He was one of the finest human beings who ever lived, even a better person than a prizefighter," said Sid Lockitch, Robinson's business manager for 19 years.

"He was charitable, he cared very deeply for children," Lockitch said, referring to the Sugar Ray Youth Foundation, founded in 1969 in Los Angeles.

Robinson, whose 175-19-6 record included 110 knockouts in his career, died Wednesday, apparently of natural causes shortly after being taken to Brotman Memorial Medical Center. He suffered from Alzheimer's disease, diabetes and high blood pressure, Lockitch said.

Boxing's original Sugar Ray influenced fighters from Muhammad Ali to Sugar Ray Leonard.

"I idolized the man," Leonard said of Robinson. "Someone once said there was a comparison between Sugar Ray Leonard and Sugar Ray Robinson. Believe me, there's no comparison. Sugar Ray Robinson was the greatest."

"Generations of fighters copied his style, including Muhammad Ali," said Archie Moore, former light heavyweight champion and a friend for nearly 50 years.

Robinson fought his first fight Oct. 4, 1940, and his last at age 44 on Nov. 10, 1965, losing a 10-round decision to Joey Archer.

And he was as flashy outside the ring as inside it. He owned a Harlem nightclub and drove a flamingo-pink Cadillac. On his boxing tours of Europe during his peak, his entourage included a valet, a barber who doubled as his golf pro, and several family members as well as his trainers.

Robinson was born on May 3, 1921, in Detroit, Mich., as Walker Smith Jr.

As a teen-age amateur boxer, he borrowed the card of a young fighter named Ray Robinson. Once his Sugar Ray nickname stuck, he never used his real name again.

He was elected to the Boxing Hall of Fame in 1967.

"Sugar Ray Robinson was The Man, along with Joe Louis," said former heavyweight champion Larry Holmes.

Even Louis, the renowned Brown Bomber and former heavyweight champion, once called Robinson "the greatest fighter ever to step into the ring."

Indeed, Robinson inspired the phrase, "pound for pound, the best," a description intended to transcend the weight divisions.

Robinson won the vacant world welterweight title on Dec. 20, 1946, with a 15-round decision over Tommy Bell and never lost a fight to a welterweight the rest of his career.

He also won the middleweight title, stopping Jake LaMotta in the 13th round on Feb. 14, 1951, in Chicago. That was the sixth time the two fighters had met, with Robinson winning five. It also was the only time they did not fight to the distance in one of the most brutal rivalries in boxing history.

By the time Robinson met the "Raging Bull" for the last time, he was almost 30 years old and his record already was 119-1-2, yet he fought for another 14 years.

Another of Robinson's most memorable rivalries was against Gene Fullmer, whom he had beaten only once in four meetings.

Robinson lost the middleweight title to Fullmer on Jan. 2, 1957, on a 15-round decision, then regained it on May 1 in Chicago with one of the most famous one-punch knockouts in boxing history, ending that fight in the fifth round.

He and Fullmer fought to a draw on Dec. 3, 1960, and he lost a 15-round decision to Fullmer on March 4, 1961, in Las Vegas.

Besides his wife, Millie, Robinson is survived by a son from an earlier marriage, Ray Jr., two stepchildren - Ramona Lewis and Butch Robinson - four grandchildren and a sister, Evelyn Nelson of New York.

Tex Mex wins B division

Thomas returns; scoreless in win

By BILL BARNARD
AP Basketball Writer

Isiah Thomas only played 13 minutes, so he had plenty of time to ponder the status of the race for the NBA's best record.

"They might as well rest their guys because this race is over," Thomas said after the Pistons defeated the Cleveland Cavaliers 107-95 Wednesday night. "The thing about this team is that we can hurt you in so many ways. Every night it's a different person."

Thomas, who has a broken hand suffered in a fight with Bill Cartwright last week, is being replaced in the starting lineup by Vinnie Johnson, who scored 17 of his 31 points in the second quarter.

Suns 109, Mavericks 94
Dallas fell 31/2 games behind Portland for the final Western Conference spot despite the return of Roy Tarpley following treatment for cocaine abuse.

Jeff Hornacek scored 21 points for Phoenix.

The Suns hit seven straight shots in the second period to stretch a three-point lead to 14 and led 70-47 early in the third period. Tarpley, who was suspended Jan. 5 because of cocaine-related violations of the NBA's drug policy, came off the bench and had 16 points and 13 rebounds.

Adrian Dantley led Dallas with 17.

Lakers 107, Spurs 100
Magic Johnson had 24 points, 10 rebounds and seven assists while A.C. Green and James Worthy scored 17 points apiece for Los Angeles.

The Lakers took control with an 11-2 run late in the fourth quarter to snap an 88-88 tie.

The Spurs were led by Vernon Maxwell with 22 points. Jay Vincent and Willie Anderson had 21 apiece.

Hornets 104, Knicks 99

Charlotte broke a nine-game losing streak and handed New York its fifth loss in eight home games.

Kelly Tripucka scored 25 points for the Hornets. Patrick Ewing scored 30 points for New York.

Charlotte took the lead for good, 87-86, on a tip-in by Dave Hoppen with 6:57 left.

Bullets 111, Bucks 107
Washington beat Milwaukee for the first time in five tries this season as John Williams scored 17 of his 22 points in the second half, including a 3-pointer with eight seconds left.

Jeff Malone scored 24 points for Washington, which trailed by 16 at halftime.

Ricky Pierce and Terry Cummings had 24 points apiece for Milwaukee.

Herd coaches, TV team in benefit tilt

Hereford coaches will be challenged by the KFDA-TV Long Rangers in the third Annual Casey Smith Memorial Basketball Game at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Whiteface Gym at Hereford Junior High School.

Proceeds from the game will benefit the Casey Smith Memorial Scholarship Fund. The scholarship is given each year to a graduating senior who plans to "walk on" in a collegiate sport.

Smith was a standout athlete here. He was killed in an automobile accident during his freshman year at West Texas State University.

The game is sponsored by the Hereford Key Club. Tickets are $2 each, and are available from any Key Club members and will be available at the door.

Kids Inc. sets another registration Saturday

Another registration session for the 1989 Hereford Kids Incorporated baseball and softball program will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center.

Registration will be held at the same time on April 22.

Any student who wants to play boys' baseball or girls' softball this year must sign on one of these dates, said registration chairman N.D. Kelso.

The registration fee is $25 per player and must be paid at the time of registration. The fee entitles a player to participate in the program and provides the player with a cap, shirt and accident insurance.

More identified in drug inquiry

TORONTO (AP) - The federal inquiry into drugs in sport took an international focus as former sprinter Mike Sokolowski identified Italy's top sprinter as a steroid user.

Sokolowski, a former teammate of Ben Johnson, also says he arranged to receive a mail-order training and steroids regimen from a Polish track coach.

Sokolowski told the inquiry Wednesday that he saw Italy's Pierfrancesco Pavoni injected with steroids in Toronto in the months leading up to last fall's Seoul Olympics.

Johnson was stripped of a gold medal for testing positive for the drugs in Seoul, sparking the inquiry.

Sokolowski, 27, said the Italian sprint champion came to Toronto to receive steroids from Charlie Francis, the now-suspended national sprint coach.

Once in Toronto, Sokolowski said the Italian swung a deal with Canadian team physiotherapist Waldemar Matuszewski, whom he said made regular trips to the runner's hotel to inject him with the drugs.

Sokolowski became the ninth Canadian track athlete to admit taking the banned drugs himself. He said he began taking steroids under Francis and Dr. Jamie Astaphan in 1983.

But the Polish-born runner said he later had disagreements with Francis and decided to look for another coach.

He said Tadeusz Szczepanski, a coach with the Polish national team, offered to mail him a monthly training plan that would include the types and dosages of steroids to take.

"He made it absolutely clear to me - absolutely clear - that in order to compete internationally, drugs are just a way of doing things," said Sokolowski.

Accent on Health

A recent survey conducted for the Texas Department of Health (TDH), to measure AIDS-related knowledge, attitudes and behavior in the state's adult population shows that Texans may know more about AIDS than does the U.S. population as a whole.

Dr. Robert Bernstein, Commissioner of Health, said that the baseline survey results confined the value of having accurate AIDS information. "The more people know about AIDS the more tolerant their attitude is on AIDS-related issues. The better their attitude, the more likely they are to take precautions."

While 87 percent of the survey's respondents knew that the AIDS-causing human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) could not be contracted by eating at a restaurant where a waiter was HIV-positive, only 50 percent of the U.S. population correctly answered a similar question in a recent study conducted by the National Center for Health Statistics (NCHS).

The Texas survey, conducted for TDH by the University of Texas' Office of Survey Research (OSR), also showed Texans scoring higher on two other AIDS knowledge questions.

Some 77 percent of the Texas respondents, compared with 49 percent in the NCHS study, knew that AIDS is not spread by mosquitoes. And 95 percent in the Texas study knew that a person can be infected for five to 10 years before developing any AIDS symptoms, compared with only 47 percent in the national study.

According to Dr. Pamela Shoemaker, OSR director, the survey provides a good assessment of the AIDS-related knowledge, attitudes and behaviors of the heterosexual, middle-class segment of the Texas population.

The attitude section results indicate that 65 percent would allow HIV-positive children to attend public schools. Some 59 percent opposed quarantining infected persons, and 58 percent would afford AIDS patients the same legal protections as the handicapped.

About 90 percent favored mandatory AIDS testing of persons arrested for prostitution or intravenous drug use, while only 48 percent would require testing as part of the application process to obtain medical insurance.

Some 85 percent of the parents of children under 18 said that sex education classes should be taught at the junior high (46 percent) or elementary (39 percent) level.

Christie Reed, director of TDH's AIDS Division, said she was encouraged by some of the findings, but disturbed by others. "We've got a long way to go in educating some areas of the heterosexual population. For example, two out of five Texans think you can contract AIDS by donating blood. That's wrong," she said, adding that she also is concerned about "knowledge gaps" among minority groups.

In a 10 question survey section testing AIDS knowledge, 37 percent of the Anglos scored high results (answering eight to 10 questions correctly), while only 22 percent of the Hispanics and 17 percent of the Blacks scored in the high category. "This indicates a need to overcome language and cultural barriers, if we're going to reach all segments of the Texas population," Reed said.

The behavior section results show that two-thirds of the 13 percent who admitted having more than one sexual partner in the past year reported changing their behavior as a result of the AIDS epidemic.

However, only half of those judged sexually active, but non-monogamous reported the use of protective condoms. Some 43 percent of these respondents also reported having sex with a partner who had had sex with multiple partners.

The survey, based on scientifically-conducted telephone interviews, and funded by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control (CDC), is scheduled to be repeated this year.

AIDS or acquired immune deficiency syndrome, is spread predominantly by the transfer of blood or sexual fluids from an infected individual to another, primarily through sexual intercourse or the sharing of IV-drug needles or syringes. An infected pregnant woman can transmit the virus to her unborn baby.

Now You're Cooking

By GAYE B. REILY
Staff Writer

Argen Draper is known to some people as "the lady with food on her floor."

Indeed, in her kitchen, which was once a Pullman boxcar, Draper does have carpet bearing the names of various types of food. She and her husband, Tom, a retired farmer/stockman, have shared their unique country home southeast of Hereford since 1948.

"We moved to Hereford in 1947 when there were only 3,500 people and no traffic lights," she said. "But Tom decided that living one year in the city was enough for this country girl, so we moved to the country."

The active, dark-eyed woman is best known throughout Deaf Smith County as a former county extension agent for home economics, a position she held for 28 years after serving better than three years in Canadian.

Several people still rely on Draper's memory of extension service work. "One woman called me the other day for a coffee cake recipe she made in 4-H in the 1950s. I looked around and eventually found it for her."

Many changes occurred throughout Draper's career as extension agent.

"Although there were no paved roads or telephones, extension clubs met monthly and members gave demonstrations. There were community centers where night meetings were held for families.

"Since there was no electricity we canned such items as beef and hogs." Draper is grateful for modern inventions such as electricity. "I think all advances are improvements--I wouldn't want to go back."

Such forward thinking has carried Draper far as she persevered to achieve goals she set for herself. A native of Wellington, Draper graduated from high school there and earned her bachelor of science degree in home economics education from Texas Tech. University in 1940, a feat that required 10 years.

"I taught for seven years in the '30s in a one-room school in Collingsworth County. My first job upon acquiring my BS degree was working at the Farmers Home Administration office in Tahoka." It was in Tahoka that she met Tom and they married in 1946.

Draper's pursuit of higher education did not end; she decided to pursue a master's degree. "I commuted to Texas Woman's University from Hereford and got a master's degree in 1964 in family financial management. It was 392 miles from my sidewalk to TWU."

Retirement has not slowed Draper down. She is a member of the Deaf Smith County Historical Society, Order of the Easter Star, Grand Cross of Colors (Rainbow), American Legion Auxiliary, VFW Auxiliary, TOPS Club, Los Ciboleros chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Women's Division of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, and they are both members of the Central Church of Christ. She is serving as president of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees, is in charge of programs for Wyche Extension Homemakers Club, and helped start the local Alzheimers Support Group.

"I've seen special friends suffer from the Alzheimers disease and I felt a need to provide a program for the care-giver. The support group modeled itself after Al-Anon and has been a success locally." The support group meets on the first Wednesday of each month at 10 a.m. at Hereford Senior Citizens Center.

Draper has been recognized repeatedly for her civic work. She was named Deaf Smith County Citizen of the Year in 1959, received the Texas Panhandle District Women's Service Award in the first year of its inception; received a Superior Service Award from the Extension Service; appears in the World Who's Who of Women; and is listed in the International Who's Who of Intellectuals.

She is quite modest about her achievements and finds it hard to believe that area clubs invite her to present a program. "I'm going to give a book review on 'Presidential Wives' next Thursday. I enjoy working on programs but I always believe someone else could do them better."

Not surprisingly, Draper cites working with people as her favorite hobby. Although the Drapers have no children, they have supported youngsters in organizations such as 4-H. She is bookkeeper for the family's farm and collects recipes and cookbooks.

"I've been collecting cookbooks ever since my mother taught me to cook. I have cookbooks ranging from Mother's 1917 edition of 'Presidential Cookbook' to 'Heavenly Recipes.'"

She even admits that she likes to wash dishes by hand and enjoys cooking for a crowd. "Extension women once cooked for the Chamber banquets and our 'pink punch' became famous."

Draper says she is a Western cook although she learned Southern cooking from her mother. "My mother was from Arkansas and Alabama and she had such recipes for such food as a 'One Egg Cake'."

"Tom and I like substantial food, any kind of food. I cooked hearty meals for farm and harvest hands and watched the fat, sugar, and salt content before it was fashionable."

Some of Draper's favorite recipes follow:

SIMPLE MEAT LOAF

- 2 lbs. ground beef
  - 1 large can evaporated milk
  - 1 pkg. dry onion soup mix
- Mix ingredients together. Shape into small loaves and bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes.

QUICK AND EASY CAKE

- 2 sticks margarine
  - 1 c. water
  - 4 Tbsp. cocoa
  - 2 c. flour
  - 2 c. sugar
  - 1/4 tsp. salt
  - 1 tsp. soda
  - 1/2 c. buttermilk
  - 2 eggs
  - 1 tsp. vanilla
- Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Sift dry ingredients except soda; set aside. Melt margarine, add water and cocoa and bring to a boil. Pour over dry ingredients and mix well. Dissolve soda in buttermilk and add to mixture. Add eggs and vanilla. Bake in 9x15" pan for 23 minutes. Spread icing over cake (Icing recipe follows).

Icing

- 1 stick margarine
  - 4 Tbsp. cocoa
  - 6 Tbsp. milk
  - 1 box powdered sugar
  - 1 c. nuts
  - 1 tsp. vanilla
- Melt margarine, add cocoa and milk. Add powdered sugar, then nuts and vanilla. Spread over cake while cake is still hot.

PARTY POTATOES

- 4 lbs. new potatoes (or canned whole potatoes may be used)
- 4 oz. cream cheese, softened
- 1 - 8 oz. carton sour cream
- 1 Tbsp. butter
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. onion salt
- 1/4 tsp. garlic salt
- dash of white pepper
- 2 Tbsp. chopped chives
- paprika

Cook potatoes, drain and save liquid; set aside.

Beat cream cheese, sour cream, butter and seasonings until smooth.

Add enough of the reserved liquid to make desired thickness of sauce. Pour over potatoes; put in casserole dish and sprinkle with paprika.

HOMINY CASSEROLE

- 2 no. 303 cans hominy

- 1/2 stick butter
- 1/2 c. sour cream
- 1 can chopped green chilies
- 1/2 lb. grated longhorn cheese

Cook hominy and butter until liquid is gone. Add chilies, sour cream and half of cheese.

Place in baking dish and cover with remaining cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 10-15 minutes.

VERMECELLI SALAD

- 2 boxes vermicelli
- Boil vermicelli for 2 minutes; drain. Add:
- 1 Tbsp. Accent
- 4 Tbsp. vegetable oil
- 2 Tbsp. lemon juice
- Mix well; cover, refrigerate overnight. Take out of refrigerator and stir well but lightly.
- Add before serving:

Advance registration planned

Advance registration for first and second summer terms at Amarillo College will be from April 17-21 at the Registrar's Office on the Washington St. Campus. During this week advising will be ongoing with a special advisement session set from 5-7:30 p.m. April 20 in the lobby area of the administration building.

If We Ran This Ad On TV, You'd Only Have 30 Seconds To See It.

Now you'd only have 25 seconds, and you wouldn't be able to go back and look at the opening line again or pause (19...18...17...) to consider its significance. You wouldn't be able to spend a lot of time with this advertisement—and it wouldn't be able to spend a lot of time with you. In fact, if we tried to say just this much in a 30-second TV commercial, throwing in only a brief mention that newspapers offer coupons, give you great flexibility of size, and can leave a lasting impression on your customers, we'd run out of...

Camp Fire activities planned for April

April is a busy month for Camp Fire groups as several events are scheduled.

A Fun Day for all Adventure, Discovery, and Horizon Clubs is planned for Saturday at Wonderland Park in Amarillo, weather permitting. The group will depart at 11 a.m. and will return at 6 p.m.

One of Gregor Mendel's less fortunate endeavors included breeding a strain of bees that produced excellent honey but were so ferocious they stung everybody for miles around and had to be destroyed.

Camp Fire members are invited to a matinee of the Shrine Circus on April 22 beginning at 1 p.m. Registration deadline is April 19.

A Fun Day for all Sparks and Blue Birds will be held Saturday, April 29 at Wonderland Park in Amarillo, weather permitting. The youngsters will leave at 11 a.m. and will return at approximately 6 p.m. Registration deadline is April 26.

One of the more recent events held at the Camp Fire lodge was the monthly board meeting of the United Way held April 11. "We appreciate United Way's support," said Stacy Lea, Camp Fire leader.

Taco, bean supper planned

The event is set from 5-8:30 p.m. in the Hereford High School Cafeteria and will offer tacos, beans, chips and hot sauce, salad, cobbler, tea, and coffee.
