Clayton Cleared of All Brilab Charges

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton and two Austin attorneys lashed out at their accusers in the Texas Brilab trial after the trio was cleared of influence-peddling charges that threatened to scuttle carefully nurtured reputations and careers.

Clayton, Randall Wood and Donald Ray were found innocent of six counts of bribery, extortion, racketeering and conspiracy by a federal court jury Wednesday afternoon.

The three maintained throughout the trial they had been manipulated and entrapped by convicted felon the FBI hired as an informant to assist the agency in the 10-month undercover sting operation.

Ray was quiet and soft-spoken throughout the lengthy trial, but after the verdict he blasted U.S. Attorney Tony Canales of Houston, who aided the prosecution.

"He is a small-minded politician using this case for his own advantage," said Ray, 39. "I will ask for a U.S. Senate investigation of the FBI activities in the Brilab case."

Clayton, the three-term speaker from the farmlands of West Texas, handed Canales a wooden stake after the verdict. On the stake were two plates.

One was inscribed with a Canales quote from August of this year, "I want to drive a stake into the heart of Billy Clayton."

The other plate read, "Oh Lord, make my words tender and sweet today, for tomorrow I may have to eat them."

On his way out of the Federal Building Clayton, told reporters, "I told you news people this would happen. This has been an experience I never expected and don't want again. But the verdict supports my belief in the court system. We are now going away for a few days rest."

Wood also chided the federal government and Canales for bringing the case to trial.

"The real tragedy was not the fact we had to go through this mess," said the 36-year-old attorney. "The tragedy was that a jury had to put a stamp of disapproval on what our federal government did."

"There will be from now on some concern about anything done by the FBI and that is a shame. But the responsibility must rest on the shoulders of U.S. Attorney Tony Canales and his assistant, (chief prosecutor) Ron Woods."

Wood said he would have done nothing different and Canales also defended his role in the prosecution.

"This case had to be tried,"

he said.

Prosecutors contended Clayton accepted a $5,000 bribe and the promise of $500,000 more a year from labor leader L.G. Moore to reopen the bidding on a multi-million dollar state employees health insurance contract.

Clayton denied repeatedly on the stand that he had ever accepted a bribe. He acknowledged receipt of the $5,000 but said he considered it a campaign contribution that he intended to return.

The veteran legislator has been embroiled in a heated bid for an unprecedented fourth term as speaker, but declined to say Wednesday night if he still is a candidate.

Moore, regional director of the International Operating Engineers Union, also was indicted on the charges and is to be tried later.

The government's presentation relied heavily on secretly recorded tapes of conversations between the defendants, FBI informant Joseph Hauser and Moore.

But jury foreman Tye Holman, a retired rancher, said it was the tapes that convinced some jurors to vote "not guilty."

The panel spread eight hours of deliberations over two days, spending much of Wednesday listening to five government tapes.

"There were some who were pro-conviction," Holman said. "I was in the three to four category. We would ask them 'what is bothering you about it?' After we listened to the tapes the

'Woman of Year' Nominations Open

The Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce will be making their "Woman of the Year" award at the Quarterly Meeting of the membership in January.

Nominations for this coveted award are open to the people of Hereford. Nominations should be turned into the Chamber of Commerce office by Nov. 1. Each nomination should contain qualifications and reasons why the person nominated should be considered. The Woman of the Year must be a member of the Women's Division. Accomplishments for and on behalf of the Women's Division and the Chamber of Commerce will be considered.

Selection of "The Woman of the Year" will be made a secret committee made up from members of the Women's Division.

Halloween Fest Slated at Walcott

Spook house tours and bingo games, apple bobbing and cake walking are only part of the activities scheduled for the Walcott Parent-Teacher Organization Halloween Carnival.

The carnival will begin at 6:30 p.m. Saturday at the Walcott School Gymnasium.

Other events will include a basketball throw, dunking booth, an animal walk with toy animals as prizes, a drawing for door prizes and costume judging.

The carnival is sponsored by the school and the PTO with the assistance of the Simms Lions Club, Walcott Volunteer Fireman, Messenger Extension Club and Simms Study Club.

The public is invited to attend the annual event. (Proceeds go to the Walcott PTO and will be used for contributions to school activities.)

Absentee Balloting Pace Rated 'Average'

Individuals planning to cast absentee ballots in the important Nov. 4 presidential election have only about eight more days to do so, according to B.F. Cain, county clerk.

Absentee ballots may be cast in person at the clerk's office at the courthouse from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, or arrangements may be made to mail in the ballot.

According to Cain, absentee voting is moving at an "average" pace for a presidential election.

A total of 132 absentee ballots have been mailed out thus far and 78 individuals have voted absentee in person, for an absentee voting total of 210.

That figure compares to an absentee ballot figure of 306 during 1976, the last presidential election year, with just over a week remaining to vote absentee.

Residents are reminded to bring their white voter registration card when coming to the courthouse to vote absentee.

Walcott School Board Okays Bilingual Aids

The Walcott school board reviewed enrollment at the Walcott Independent School District and approved the purchase of a copying machine and the hiring of additional personnel to conform with bilingual education program guidelines during a regular session Wednesday morning.

Trustees reviewed a report on projected kindergarten enrollment for the next five years and learned that an average of five to seven children are expected as students each year during the period.

An enrollment survey showed a total of 42 students currently attending classes at Walcott.

Board members also reviewed the history of enrollment at the school year over the past 10 years.

Board members approved the appointment of John Perrin to fill a school board post vacated by Gene Bradley, who recently resigned due to a move to Dimmitt.

Trustees opted to buy a new copying machine for the school office and approved the hiring of additional aides to assist Spanish-speaking students enrolled at Walcott. The move was made to keep the school in compliance with bilingual education program guidelines.

A textbook committee was also appointed by the board for the 1980-81 school year.

Trustees also heard a presentation on the school's speech therapy program during Wednesday's session.

Administering To 'Victims'

Amidst flaming "wreckage" of an airplane crash, Hereford volunteer firemen check the injuries of a "victim" in a triage operation during a disaster drill conducted here Wednesday evening. At right, emergency personnel carefully place one of the crash victims on a stretcher preparing him for transport to Deaf Smith General Hospital for emergency treatment. Members of a local Cub Scout pack helped out by posing as crash victims, and virtually every emergency agency in Hereford was involved in the drill, designed to sharpen skills and response time in preparation for any real emergency which might arise here. 'Disastrous' Plane Crash Triggers Rapid Emergency Unit Response

By JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor

Plectron and radio units crackled to life with news of a major disaster in the form of a plane crash here about 6 p.m. Wednesday, sending ambulance personnel, firemen and law enforcement officers racing to a crash site just south of New York Avenue with sirens wailing.

Emergency personnel discovered that a plane loaded with 18 adults and children had gone down just off New York Avenue, resulting in several deaths and serious injuries including severed limbs among the passengers.

Rescue workers and emergency personnel set up a triage operation on the scene, designating the most seriously injured as the first to be sent to waiting emergency vehicles, and within 12 minutes of the initial alarm the first ambulance unit was pulling into the emergency entrance of Deaf Smith

General Hospital with crash victims.

Those somber circumstances set the scene for the second disaster drill to be held here for the benefit of local emergency personnel who hope to prepare themselves through such staged events for real major medical emergencies, should they ever arise.

According to Deaf Smith General Hospital Administrator Jim Bullard, Wednesday evening's drill involved personnel from the hospital and ambulance service, the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department, the Hereford Police Department and the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's office, the Department of Public Safety, ham radio operators and a number of county Red Cross volunteers and youths from a local cub scout pack.

"We received the emergency call at 6 p.m. and by 6:30 all of those involved as injured in the disaster had been taken to the hospital. There were emergency units on the scene within about three minutes of the alarm," stated Bullard.

"Emergency personnel were faced with deaths, shock cases, chest wounds, severed legs and arm and neck injuries, Bullard continued.

The hospital administrator explained that the disaster drill was conducted for a number of basic reasons.

"We were testing the ability of various agencies to work together and were looking for the strengths and weaknesses in the system which we want to correct should a disaster occur," said Bullard.

"A secondary reason for the drill is that it is one of the requirements imposed on the hospital by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals," Bullard continued.

Bullard pointed out that last night's drill helped emergency personnel make some new discoveries.

"From our aspect we felt the response and transport time was good. The on-the-scene triage was handled well, along with the transportation to the hospital. From our end of it at the hospital we learned that we need to do a better job of identifying patients when they arrive here so that the information can be passed along to our communications center in order to let family members and ministers know who is actually here," stated Bullard.

The hospital administrator pointed out that this year's emergency drill was less public than the prior drill here, partially due to some criticism over that initial drill, conducted on East Highway 60, which depicted a disaster involving a school bus loaded with children.

A number of local residents took that accident for the real thing, due to its high visibility, ty, creating a considerable deal of alarm in the community.

Wednesday's drill was held south of New York Ave. in a less traveled area out of view of the general public.

"We tried to keep this one a little less out of the public's eye and not on a major highway so as to avoid disturbing and upsetting a lot of people," said Bullard.

"Overall, we had to determine that this was a very successful drill," he concluded.

Holder Says School Taxes Actually Down 10 Percent

The pairing plan and tax-two issues of interest to Hereford school patrons—were discussed by Supt. Harrell Holder at the Hereford Lions club meeting Wednesday at the Community Center.

A statement that surprised his audience was Holder's tax comparisons showing that taxes had decreased by about 10 percent on real estate since 1976.

The superintendent pointed out that market values on houses and buildings had not been changed since 1976. The tax rate was $1.46 per $100 on 60 percent assessed value in 1976. That figures 87.6 cents per $100.

The rate dropped to $1.24 in 1977, then the district returned $400,000 to taxpayers in 1979 through exemptions and ag-use values. The value went to 100 percent this year and the rate is 78 cents. That's more than a 10 percent reduction from the 87.6-cent rate in 1976.

Dr. Holder outlined the reasons the pairing plan came to be adopted by the school board, and then told of its impact on the school system this year. Inflation and declining enrollment were two primary factors for a change, he said.

"We were having difficulty keeping our teacher-pupil ratio at an acceptable number. With our shifting school population and declining enrollment, we would have needed a 20 percent tax increase to solve the overcrowded classroom problem."

Holder pointed out the school population was down about 150 over last year, and about 500 less than when he came to Hereford in 1976-77. "I had first proposed a middle school and putting ninth graders in high school, but the public and the board were negative to that proposal."

After talking to principals and teachers, Holder said, "we decided the pairing plan was our best answer with some kind of permanency. Generally, teachers thought we could offer a better education."

Tax Board To Meet Tomorrow

The Deaf Smith County tax appraisal district board will hold a meeting at 8 p.m. Friday at the Thompson House Restaurant.

Included on the agenda for the meeting is discussion of the location of the central tax appraisal office and a timetable for establishing a central collection and assessing facility here.

Board members will also discuss use of a computer and a proposed budget.

UW Urged To New Efforts

United Way volunteer workers were spurred this week to make efforts to add a substantial amount to their $50,000 attainment at this Friday's third report meeting, according to general campaign chairman Raymond White.

"With our Employee Division solicitation underway in 60 employee groups, we expect workers to be showing some partial returns, as well as receiving sizable support in the other divisions," White said.

Leading all divisions thus far in the drive has been the Advance Gifts division, headed by Bud Eades, which has pledged $42,764. The overall quota this year is $130,000.

Friday's report session is scheduled at 4 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce board room with White presiding.

Air Force Plans Plane Decisions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force says it plans to select a manufacturer to begin development of a proposed new transport plane, despite a General Accounting Office report that says the plane may not be able to fly far enough without refueling or carry sufficiently heavy loads.

The Defense Department said Wednesday it will ask for development proposals because the new CX transport plane will correct a "critical deficiency" in military airlift requirements.

Shroud Study

To Be Completed

ESPANOLA, N.M. (AP) — A scientific study of the authenticity of the Shroud of Turin should be complete within three months, according to Raymond Rogers, a spokesman for the researchers.

The shroud, which is purported to be the burial cloth of Jesus Christ, bears the likeness of a bearded man with wounds like those the Bible says were suffered by Jesus.

Preliminary reports by some of the 18 scientists involved in the study cast doubt on the authenticity of the shroud. Dr. Walter McCone, a Chicago microscopist, said the cloth probably dates from about 1400. Rogers said Tuesday a full report would be released by January.

Freed American Headed Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — An American who was recently freed after being detained in Angola for six months is headed back to the United States by way of Portugal, according to the State Department.

Thomas Willitt, an employee of Globe Aero Co., of Lakeland, Fla., was taken into custody last April 22 after the light plane he was flying made an emergency landing on Angolan territory, U.S. officials said Wednesday.

He was released on Monday by the Angolan government after it had conducted an investigation of the incident, U.S. officials said.

Pickets Up

At Disney World

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (AP) — A number of prominent entertainers are refusing to cross picket lines at Walt Disney World and have canceled performances, according to a Disney spokesman.

The pickets were set up by 107 striking park musicians. Construction work on the park's $800 million futuristic center, Experimental Prototype Community of Tomorrow, was slowed Wednesday when about 250 of 760 construction workers conducted a sympathy strike.

Disney spokesman Charlie Ridgway said the acts canceled this week included the pop-soul group The Spinners, singer Frankie Laine and the pop group Peaches and Herb.

School Explosion

Kills over 50

BILBAO, Spain (AP) — An explosion in a school at Ortuella near here killed upwards of 50 children, rescue workers said today. More than a hundred children were injured, many of them seriously, officials said.

Rescue workers said 24 bodies had been removed from the debris, but that many other children were still trapped and cries could be heard.

The disaster, police said, was apparently due to the explosion of a propane gas tank, which in turn caused the explosion of a heating boiler.

There were about 700 children in the "Marcelino Ugalde" school, comprised of three buildings. The explosion almost completely destroyed one of them, officials said.

The children in the school were from 6 to 10 years old.

All rescue services in Vizcaya Province, one of Spain's northern Basque provinces, were mobilized. More than 5,000 persons were working in the rescue operation.

There were dramatic scenes as parents and relatives sought their children. More than 100 weeping women shouted the names of children who remained unaccounted for.

Most of the children attending the state-run school came from poor families. The Ortuella area is an iron mining region about eight miles northwest of Bilbao.

Today's catastrophe recalled that of December 1978, when a school bus and a train collided at a railroad crossing near Salamanca, killing 27 children and an adult, and injuring 36 others.

Mobile Weigh Station

Colonel Jim Adams, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, announced today that 12 new vans with trailers containing semi-portable scales will be used by State Troopers to weigh trucks and other heavy vehicles. The mobile scales will provide more flexibility in administering the License and Weight Laws and will result in a higher percentage of compliance with the statute while preventing additional damage to the state highways from overweight trucks. State License and Weight Sergeant Wesley Johnson of Pecos, left, Harold Kornegay of Garland, center, and Bill Summerlin of Abilene check out one of the new items of equipment. The new equipment, which was funded through a Federal grant by the Department of Highways and Public Transportation, will make the weight-enforcement program more effective.

Presidential Contest Nearing; Candidates Getting Nastier

second time, it started to clear up.

The trial centered around a Nov. 8, 1979 meeting between Clayton, labor leader Moore and Hauser, who was posing as a representative of Prudential Insurance Co.

At that meeting in Clayton's office, the speaker accepted $5,000 in cash from Moore.

The government claimed Clayton accepted a $5,000 bribe to reopen the rich state employees health insurance contract, one that has annual premiums of between $84 and $105 million.

Ray and Wood were accused of agreeing to accept payments to use their knowledge and influence at the state capital, where both had worked before entering private practice, to get the contract for Prudential.

During the trial — one of the most sensational state political scandals in this decade — defense attorneys portrayed Hauser and Moore as "liars" bent on trapping the influential speaker.

Juror Jimmy Haynes said his decision became a choice of believing Clayton or Hauser, who now is serving a 30-month prison term on insurance fraud charges.

"It was like two worlds fighting, with Clayton in the honest world," Haynes said. "And I think Joseph Hauser is one of the finest crooks in the business."

Haynes, 24, of La Porte said the turning point to him was the testimony of Chip Holt, an election code expert who said the speaker was not required to return any political contribution he did not intend to use.

Juror Mary Lou Lesseraux said she believed Clayton "intended to return the money."

"There was never a feeling of skepticism on my part," she said. "I would campaign for Billy Clayton for governor if he asked me to."

When the verdict was read, the three defendants hugged their tearful wives, then put their arms around their attorneys.

Clayton's attorney, Roy Minton, soon was in tears.

"My God, it's been a long, long time," he said. "I really can't believe it's all over at last."

In Austin, Republican Gov. Bill Clements said he was "delighted" that the man who once planned to oppose him in 1982 had been acquitted.

"He is blessed, truly blessed to get an acquittal," Clements said. "I just can't tell you how pleased I am with that verdict. I think it's marvelous."

tional program with this plan.

With the pairing plan, the school has cut back six teachers (by not replacing them) and classrooms are running about 25 students per teacher, said Holder. "If we had kept the old system, we would probably added about eight teachers this year.

The parents and the public, generally, have been very patient with us. We had a few bus problems and had more students than expected at Northwest, but we are solving those problems as they arise," added the superintendent.

Holder stated that "many good things are happening in our schools. We have instituted a program for gifted children in some grades and will expand that program. We have two National Merit Scholars this year, which speaks well for our school system."

Clayton Ducks Declaration Of Candidacy for House Speaker

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Billy Clayton said all along he would stay in the 1981 speaker's race if he were cleared of Brilab corruption charges before the "frost was on the pumpkin."

"My plans have not changed. The frost is not on the pumpkin yet," the speaker said in a telephone interview from Houston after his acquittal Wednesday night.

But Clayton was less emphatic than he might have been and ducked repeatedly when asked if he could simply say the words, "I am a candidate" for an unprecedented fourth term.

Aides said he planned to spend time consulting fellow House members and other advisors, and the unspoken message was Clayton needs to size up his support.

Also hedging was Rep. Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, who had captured conservative support — including that of Gov. Bill Clements — as Clayton's successor should Clayton be convicted.

Lewis would not immediately declare his withdrawal from the race, saying, "I think it would be unfair to make any comment on it at this time."

"I think probably Gib needs to talk," Clayton said.

A variety of scenarios have been played out in Capitol conversations about what might happen should Clayton be found innocent.

In one, Clayton decides to bow out after numerous members tell him, "Billy, I'm for you. But even though the jury acquitted you, those tapes looked bad to my folks. If I vote for you, I'm through as far as they're concerned."

But in another scenario, Clayton calls in all his chits for past favors, insists on a face-saving fourth term, tells House members he wants nothing beyond that and agrees to new limits on his power as Speaker.

The House, in turn, welcomes a breather from the hot and heavy race between Lewis and Rep. John Bryant, D-Dallas. Some legislators, uncomfortable with Lewis' lobby ties and Bryant's intensity, see two more years of Clayton as an opportunity for new choices to emerge. Clayton is re-elected speaker.

Former Rep. Mike Millsap, Lewis' campaign manager, said Clayton's style would be to announce his re-entry into the speaker's race only if he could prove to the world he already had it won.

"If Bill Clayton comes out as a candidate, he will have to win the support of the House members elect their speaker by majority vote on the first day of the legislative session in January.

Despite Lewis' hedging, Millsap said he would not be a

Iran's Conditions 'Not Impossible'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Carter administration officials say the conditions that Iran appears ready to impose for releasing the American hostages would be difficult — but not impossible — to meet.

As these officials see it, the demands are less important than whether both sides are flexible during negotiations. If they are, the crisis could end soon, said the officials, who asked not to be identified.

And there were clear signals Wednesday from Tehran that 50 weeks after the hostages were seized, Iran is anxious to bring the crisis to a close.

The British Broadcasting Corp. quoted Rajai as saying the United States now appears ready to accept the conditions.

leaders consider to have been stolen during the three decades before the monarchy was overthrown in February 1979.

—Release of billions of dollars in frozen Iranian assets held in U.S. banks.

—The dropping of legal claims filed in court against Iran by U.S. firms.

—A promise not to interfere in Iran's internal affairs.

Ali Akbar Parvaresh, a member of the hostage commission, said the Parliament probably will formally adopt those conditions and added that he expects the issue will be taken up in Parliament on Sunday.

The second and fourth demands appear to be the least contentious.

Postmaster Warns Of Chain Letters

People throughout the country are practically giving their money away while breaking the law in illegal chain letter promotions, the postmaster said today.

The Postal Inspection Service, investigative branch of the U.S. Postal Service, has been warning people for years not to get involved in chain letter schemes. And while most individuals realize it's a foolish way to part with hard-earned dollars, there are some who seem to think the chance is worth it, according to the postmaster.

"Of course, the chances of getting a return on the money invested are very slim, but even knowledge of that doesn't seem to stop many participants."

At first glance the well-conceived chain letter promotion may look promising, but a common ingredient, probability, always works against the player. The postmaster said the Postal Inspection Service may not be able to eliminate all chain letters, but they are working to inform the public these things are nothing but simple fraud.

"The operators of these schemes usually control several names on the list," the postmaster said. "But it is a mathematical fact that only 12 out of ever 100,000 purchasers would ever win. By the time the chain reaches the 10th name on the list, the entire population of the United States would be used up."

The postmaster also reminded the public that participation by mail in a lottery is usually a violation of Federal law, which could bring up to five years in prison, a $1,000 fine, or both.

School Burglars Nab $600 Stereo

Hereford police were kept busy investigating burglary and theft reports Wednesday.

La Plata Junior High reported that burglars entered that school building through an unlocked door on the northeast side of the structure, broke out an inside window and entered a room where they took a solid state stereo and speakers valued at $600.

Morales Laundry # 611 A Park Ave. reported that several boys were observed acting suspiciously at that location and the owner of the business later discovered that a change machine and a coinbox on a dryer had been rifled and about $2 in change taken. Damage inflicted to the machines was estimated at $20. Police have two suspects in that case.

Barrett-Fisher Co. of New York Ave. reported that an office at the firm was broken into, but apparently nothing was taken.

Leroy Sims of 301 Chrooke informed police that someone entered his residence and went through several articles, but nothing was taken. Charles Vasek of 121 Pecan reported that someone entered his residence and removed a 12 volt battery from the garage, in addition to taking a man's gold watch from an interior room. Total loss in that theft was set at $360.

Maggie Guerrero of 825 Brevard reported the theft of a bicycle from her residence. Officers checked five non-offense reports Wednesday and issued four traffic citations.

Methodist Church Sets 'Country French Bazaar'

The First United Methodist Church has slated their annual "Country French Bazaar" for Nov. 14 in the church fellowship hall.

General chairman of the event is Mrs. Labry Ballard and Mrs. Fain Cesar.

The bazaar will open at 9 a.m. with handmade articles suitable for gifts to be featured.

Coffee will be available all morning with doughnuts, cookies and sweet rolls. Mrs. J.J. Durham and Mrs. Ansel McDowell are in charge of the "coffee break."

Lunch will be served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. under arrangements of Mrs. Bill Walden.

With its downtown location, the church has planned coffee and lunch for the convenience of downtown business employees and invites them especially.

Booths available will include Christmas decorations, food, needlework, art, plants, candy and crafts, with a special booth for men's crafts.

A Trunks and Treasures booth with Margaret Golden as chairman, will have antiques, white elephant items and other used-but-good articles.

Booth chairmen include Christmas - Mrs. Jay Boston and Mrs. Jack Renfro; food - Mrs. Bob Josseland and Mrs. David Hutchins; plants - Dorothy Noland; crafts - Mrs. Don T. Martin and Mrs. C.R. Winget; men's crafts - Ivan Tipps; art - Mrs. Earl Holt and Mrs. Ted McWhorter; needlework - Mrs. Wes Fisher and Mrs. Charles Skinner; and candy - Mrs. Charley Shipley and Mrs. Kenneth Cowan.

More than 200 plants have been collected, and are at the church now ready for sale. They include 43 African violets, started from cuttings this summer by Mrs. O. Wertenberger, who grows these plants as a hobby.

The public is encouraged to attend the bazaar.

Examining Plants

First United Methodist Church has scheduled its annual "Country French Bazaar," for Friday, Nov. 14 in the church fellowship hall. The bazaar will open at 9 a.m. Friday with handmade articles suitable for gifts to be displayed. More than 200 plants have been collected including 43 African Violets, ornamental peppers, airplane plants, staff of life, Irish mittens, jade's, wondering jaws, Aloe Vera, and begonias. Above standing left, Helen Spinks and Cora Brown look over one of the larger plants to be sold, while kneeling, Dorothy Noland, examines a plant. These plants are located in the entry of the Methodist Church. During the bazaar, members of the church will take orders for poinsettias to be delivered by the first of December. Reception Scheduled After Oct. 28 Community Concert

The Hereford Community Concert Association has announced their 1980-81 concert season, according to President Mr. and Mrs. Ted Panceria.

The first community concert slated in Hereford will be Tuesday, Oct. 28 at the high school auditorium beginning at 8 p.m. Making a guest appearance will be Monty Alexander, a pianistic phenomenon.

All Hereford Community Concerts are scheduled at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Immediately following the Oct. 28 show, a reception will be held in the cafeteria for those interested.

The New York Post was quoted in saying, "Alexander's playing is kaleidoscopic, energetic, musically knowing; it delights the mind as well as the senses."

In 1975 Alexander made his London debut at the renowned Ronnie Scott Club. In the words of the reviewer for the Sunday Times, "It was one of the most unforgettable debuts I remember in sixteen years' attendance at the distinguished club."

Alexander returns regularly to Great Britain as well as to Switzerland, France, Germany and many other European countries and appears annually at such festivals as the Montreux International Jazz Festival.

Alexander's first recordings were released on World Pacific Records. Albums with RCA and MGM followed and he then released a series of recording with the prestigious MPS-BASF label. He is presently affiliated with Norman Granz' Pablo Records.

During the summer of 1978 Alexander returned for nine weeks to the distinguished Cafe Carlyle in the Carlyle Hotel, where the great Bobby Short is resident pianist. The New York Post recommended him highly and called him "a phenomenon."

He was immediately re-engaged for a six-week stand in the spring of 1979. During this time he also appeared in a Carnegie Hall tribute to Milt Jackson along with such other stars as Dizzy Gillespie, Percy and Jimmy Heath, John Lewis, Billy Taylor and Slide Hampton. Alexander made his first tour of Japan early in 1979; the recording from that tour will be released soon by Pablo.

The schedule for all of the community concerts in this area is listed below:

Oct. 24 in Lubbock, Gil Morgenstern, violinist; Oct. 27 in Dalhart Veri and Jamanis, duo-pianists; Oct. 28 in Hereford, Monty Alexander Trio; Oct. 29 in Borger at 8:30 p.m., "Naughty Marietta"; Nov. 11 in Clovis at 7:30 p.m., Festival Trio, instrumental; and Dec. 8 in Clovis at 7:30 p.m., William Carter Dancers.

Other concerts scheduled include Jan. 8, 1981 in Dalhart, James Pinkerton, harpist; Jan. 29, 1981 in Lubbock, James Dick, pianist; Feb. 9, 1981 in Hereford, Harvey Pittell Trio; Feb. 23, 1981 in Borger, Ronnie Brown Trio; March 6, 1981 at 7:30 p.m. in Clovis, Thomas Uchtmann, pianist; March 6, 1981 in Lubbock, Southwest German Chamber Orchestra; and March 17, 1981 in Lubbock, Toccatas and Flourishes, organ and trumpets.

Other concerts are April 7, 1981 in Borger, Les Brown and the Band in Renown; May 14, 1981 in Hereford, Roger Wagner Chorale; and May 16, 1981 in Dalhart, Les Brown and the Band of Renown.

All concerts are at 8 p.m. unless otherwise noted. All Clovis concerts are at 7:30 p.m. (MST).

In Lubbock, all concerts will be held at the Lubbock Civic Center Theatre, 1501 Sixth Street, in Dalhart, concerts will be held in the Dalhart High School Auditorium, 801 Oak; Borger, concerts are scheduled in the Borger High School; and Clovis concerts are scheduled in the R.E. Marshall Auditorium, Main at Commerce Way.

Class Reunion Planned

The Hereford High School graduating class of 1961 has begun preparations for its 20-year class reunion.

A planning meeting has been scheduled for Oct. 27 at the Community Center. Anyone wanting to help should meet at the game room at 7:30 p.m.

Rebekahs Hear Reports During Regular Meeting

Several reports were heard at the regular business meeting of the Hereford Rebekah Lodge No. 228 Tuesday evening at the IOOF Temple.

Noble Grand Verna Sowell presided at the meeting as reports were heard concerning sick members and friends. Twenty six visits were made to the sick and 32 greeting cards and seven flower arrangements were sent in the past week.

Reports were made by members who attended a school of instructions at the Friona Rebekah Lodge No.

308 for District 5. District Deputy President Wilma Wise was in charge of the meeting.

Traveling to Friona from Hereford were Lyndia Hopson, Anna Conklin, Edna Mathes, Sadie Shaw, Verna Sowell, Faye Brownlow, Leona Sowell and Susie Curtsinger.

Bessie Saulcy served as the hostess at the Tuesday meeting. Other members attending were Nellie Beauford, Leona Sowell, Sadie Shaw, Faye Brownlow, Beth Hall, Merl Bridges, Martha Bridges, Helen Sowell, Ruth Rogers, Ada Hollabaugh, Anna Conklin, Ursalee Jacobsen, Karrol Rettman, Peggy Lemons, Edna Mathes, Susie Curtsinger, Lydia Hopson, Roberta Combs and Verna Sowell.

Excited All Over

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read you overseas in The Stars and Stripes. It helps me keep in touch with what's happening at home.

And now, in repayment, I would like to share with you and your millions of readers a secret that has made a big difference in my sex life.

If the lovemaking at home has turned a little stale, fellas, tell the wife to lose about 15 or 20 pounds. (Especially if she has put it on around the hips and thighs.) My wife did this and it's fantastic-like making love to a new woman. We're like honeymooners again. Sign me—Excited All Over

DEAR EXCITED: Thanks for the tip. And now, do you suppose the husbands out there would oblige their wives in the same manner? Especially if the guy has put it on around the stomach and looks like he's seven months pregnant with twins? Please let me know if you have any thoughts on this. I hear from a lot of women who have this complaint. DEAR ANN LANDERS: I noticed the brouhaha in your column from angry people who think it's outrageous to buy jeweled collars for pets, take them to the animal hospital in a "pet ambulance" and lay out billions (nationally) to feed cats and dogs. My feeling is that if they can afford it and want to do it, why should anyone criticize them?

I wonder what these same people would say about an ad I saw yesterday in the Miami Herald. Would you believe designer diapers for baby? Yes, Calvin Klein has created status-symbol diaper pants in pure navy denim. They come in infant sizes, small, medium and large. The pants have two double-stitched patch pockets, an elasticized waist and Klein's block letter logo over the hip.

Wanna barf? Me, too.—When Will The Nonsense End? DEAR WHEN: I see no end in sight, if you will pardon the pun—so long as the flaky moms and grannies shell out money for the nonsense. And I agree, it's pretty nauseating. Also, that TV ad by another jean manufacturer showing a pre-teen girl mounting a pre-teen boy should be taken off the air.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a girl who will be 14 years old in three months and one week. I want to be a good dancer. I dance swell with girls, but when I get with a boy I freeze. It's like my shoes are nailed to the floor. Can it be because I have always been the one to lead?

I keep worrying that I will step on a guy's foot and crush his toe or something. I weigh about 160 pounds, but I'm tall and don't look fat. That's another problem. Most guys are shorter than I am.

When I get uptight, my hands get clammy and I sweat a lot under my arms. I just pour off.

Can you give me some advice on how to be well-poised? —Linda in Shrewsbury, N.J.

DEAR LINDA: You have several problems, dear. First, you ought to stop dancing with girls, so you can get out of the habit of leading. Second, see a physician about a diet. A 13-year-old who weighs 160 pounds is too heavy.

Next, see a druggist about the perspiration problem. You need an anti-perspirant. A deodorant won't do. The poise will come later. Be patient and conquer these other problems first.

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers' booklet, "Booze and You—For Teen-Agers Only." Send 50 cents and a self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

TTU President Appoints Vice President, Director

LUBBOCK--Texas Tech President Lauro F. Cavazos recently announced the appointments of Dr. C.L. "Len" Ainsworth as interim vice president for Academic Affairs and George M. Fielding as interim director of Development and University Relations.

Ainsworth was named the interim successor to Dr. Charles S. Hardwick and Fielding as interim successor to Dr. Clyde E. Kelsey Jr. Hardwick and Kelsey resigned their vice presidential positions, effective Wednesday.

The president said that search committees will be named promptly to begin the selection process for permanent successors to the posts vacated by Hardwick and Kelsey. In the interim, Ainsworth and Fielding will have the full responsibilities formerly held by the vice presidents.

Ainsworth has been associate vice president for Academic Affairs since 1973. Fielding has been director of Development for Texas Tech University since 1978.

Before joining the Texas Tech faculty in 1967, Ainsworth spent 10 years as a teacher and administrator in public school systems in El Paso, Lubbock and Big Spring. He spent two years in educational research laboratory activities. His bachelor's degree in Spanish was earned at Texas Tech as were his advanced degrees, both in education. The doctorate was awarded him in 1963.

Ainsworth was named professor of education in 1972. He has a special interest in bilingual education.

Last summer Ainsworth attended the Institute for Educational Management at Harvard University. He was selected in 1972 as an American Council on Education fellow, and he was named to a year's internship with the president of the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville.

He has had numerous assignments as an educational consultant. On campus he has been an ex-officio member of the Academic Council of deans, and he chairs the Administrative Council of associate deans. He is one of Texas Tech's institutional representatives to the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, a center associate for the American Association of State Colleges and Universities, and he has served as a member of the Instructional Administration Formula Study Committee, Coordinating Board, Texas Colleges and Universities.

Among his Lubbock community activities, Ainsworth has been a member of the Board of Directors of Day Care Centers and the city's Goals for the Eighties committee.

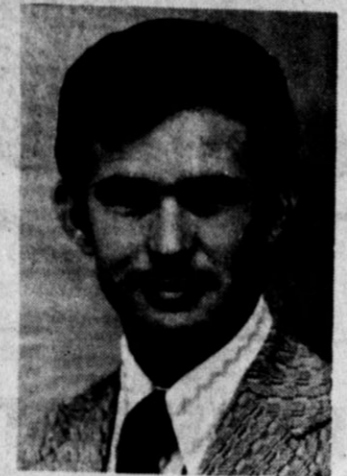

Fielding joined the university staff in 1972 as assistant to the vice president for Development and University Relations. He earned the bachelor's degree at the University of Texas-El Paso and the master's in management from the University of Northern Colorado. He is a lieutenant commander in the U.S. naval Reserve and served three years as public affairs and special services officer for Commander Fleet Activities in Japan.

He spent several years in industry before joining the Texas Tech Staff. He was a manufacturer's representative for the GAF Corp. floor division in San Francisco in 1972, immediately before joining Texas Tech.

Fielding is a member of the Southwest Rotary Club of Lubbock and has been a loaned executive to the Lubbock United Way, a member of the Board of Directors of Llano Estacado Heritage, Inc., of Hobbs, N.M., coach of a Lubbock Soccer Association team and sponsor of the Texas Tech Women's Service Organization.

Volunteers Essential To Camp Fire Program

By SUSAN OWENS

Volunteers are central to Camp Fire's existence and growth. Hundreds of thousands of committed adults give their time and energy to Camp Fire, offering caring friendship, guidance and positive role models for Camp Fire youth, and management skills for Camp Fire Councils.

The volunteers serving the Hereford Council are your friends, neighbors, grocer, teachers, lawyers, pharmacists, people from every walk of life. All volunteers do not serve as group leaders. Some serve as board members. Some volunteers give their time and talents by providing special programming. Camp Counselors are very special volunteers. In Camp Fire, there is a place for everyone. To "give service" is the human element of the volunteer that brings to life those skills and values offered to Camp Fire members to day - skills and values demanded by a changing and challenging tomorrow.

We are beginning our Camp Fire year, promising to give of our very best to the youth of the Hereford Council. May our promise become a productive reality in helping our youth become self-directed individuals, responsible to themselves and others.

ETA FOR WORTH STAR TELEGRAM NEA 80 HULME

IN WASHINGTON

By Robert Walters

A warning to all politicians

SEATTLE (NEA) - At first glance, the Pacific Northwest's Gamscam political scandal pales in comparison with the more-elaborate schemes, bigger bribes and better-known politicians now on display in the East Coast's Abscam cases.

But the recent Gamscam trial here and a series of similar legal cases elsewhere in the country are important elements of the federal government's new emphasis on aggressively investigating and prosecuting political corruption.

Although the members of Congress indicted in the Abscam cases have been the objects of intensive publicity, not enough attention has been paid to the companion cases involving state and local officials.

Here in the state of Washington, for example, an elaborate undercover operation conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation led to the early October conviction of a pair of influential state legislators and a lobbyist.

Lobbyist Patrick Gallagher was found guilty on 14 counts of extortion, racketeering and conspiracy. John Bagnariol, former speaker of the state's House of Representatives, was convicted on nine counts. And Gordon Walgren, majority leader of the State Senate, was convicted on three counts.

Gamscam (an acronym for gambling scam) was similar in many respects to the Abscam cases. An undercover FBI agent posed as an underworld figure promoting an organized-crime campaign to establish legalized casino gambling in the state. Bagnariol accepted $5,000 (a pittance compared with some of the Abscam bribes) in the men's room of a Portland, Ore., restaurant, and two of the defendants agreed in recorded conversations to share in future casino profits.

Similar trials are under way or soon will open in other states. In Houston, for instance, Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton is being tried on charges that he accepted a $5,000 bribe as part of an illegal insurance-sale scheme. Clayton allegedly was promised $600,000 if he could aid a fictitious company established by the FBI in selling insurance to an agency representing retired state employees.

Among those awaiting trial in New Orleans are Charles E. Roemer II, the most powerful state official during the administration of former Gov. Edwin Edwards, and Carlos Marcello, reputed to be an influential organized-crime figure. Roemer allegedly received a $25,000 payment and agreed to use his official position to influence the state's awarding of insurance contracts.

When Rep. Michael O. "Ozzie" Myers, D-Pa., was found guilty of bribery, racketeering and conspiracy by a Brooklyn, N.Y., federal-court jury in late August, two local politicians — Camden, N.J., Mayor Angelo J. Errichetti and Philadelphia

City Councilman Louis C. Johanson — also were convicted.

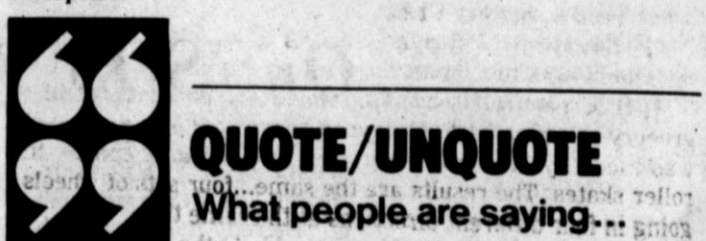

Less than three weeks later, a federal court jury in Philadelphia convicted George X. Schwartz, president of Philadelphia's City Council, and Harry P. Jannotti, chairman of the council's finance committee, of accepting $40,000 from FBI agents posing as envoys of a bogus Arab sheik seeking political support for a fictitious $34.6 million hotel project.

In every instance in which a trial has been concluded — including those cited above and the Washington, D.C., case of Rep. John W. Jenrette Jr., D-S.C. — Justice Department prosecutors have secured convictions.

That's important because the investigation of political officials at all levels of government represents a long-overdue departure from the FBI's time-honored practice of confining its activities to probing auto thefts, bank robberies and other street crimes.

A pattern of failure in the recent cases could have inspired the FBI to return to its tradition of venturing into the politicians' domain only to investigate the most compelling and obvious cases of wrongdoing.

But the FBI's success in those cases serves notice upon not only members of Congress but also state and local politicians that their profession's white-collar crime now is a high-risk enterprise.

"Anybody who can count to two can play this game. You swing the club up and you swing it down. It's that easy."
— Tom Watson, pro golfer, describing his swing. (Golf Digest)

Kiwanis Announce Arts, Craft Show

Co-chairman Wayne Ketter has announced the upcoming fourth annual "Arts and Crafts" Show sponsored by the Hereford Whiteface Kiwanis Club, will be Nov. 7-8 at Sugarland Mall. Chairman of the event is Cecil Boyer. Running from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. both Friday and Saturday, artists from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico will display their wares. Art, woodwork, metal sculptures and leather works will be among the crafts for sale. Booths (9x9) are still available for local people for a fee of $30. For reservation one can contact Boyer at 364-1841 or any other member of the Whiteface Kiwanis Club.

Mrs. Gililand Presents Program to Club Members

Eva Gililand presented a potpourri of modern subjects as the program for the La Af-flatus Estudio Club meeting Tuesday at the home of Irene Markham. Subjects included "Passing the buck to elect a president," "What to do when you lose your wallet," "Life Spans or how long things last," "The problem with caps on medicine bottles," "A report on a coffin collector" and "Are You an Average American." During the business meeting with Aileen Montgomery presiding Lucile Hughes reported that the Friends of the Library made $350 from the annual book sale. Mrs. Hughes reminded members that cash donations would be taken at the next meeting for the Christmas project which is helping with gifts for patients at the State Mental Hospital at Wichita Falls. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Markham and Della Stagner. Others present at the meeting were Lydia Hopson, Allyne Johnson, Opal Elliston, Tresha Hale, Jennie Terrill, Mary Williamson and a guest, Bess Atkinson, sister of Mrs. Markham. The next meeting will be Nov. 4 at 2:30 p.m. at the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room.

C of C Artist

Hilda Havens, local artist, has been chosen as the Chamber of Commerce October Artist. She will have four of her paintings displayed at the C of C. Specializing in landscapes and oil painting, Mrs. Havens has been painting for three years. She first took lessons under Jean Lyles. "I paint just for my own enjoyment and the family," Mrs. Havens said. The public is encouraged to visit the C of C office and view her artwork.

At Wits End
By ERMA BOMBECK

I've read it, but I don't believe it. The Southern California Grocer's Association is pulling together a plan to prevent the theft of shopping carts. My first reaction is why? Why would anyone want to steal a grocery shopping cart? Everyone knows that a grocery cart was made by the same committee that put an elephant on roller skates. The results are the same...four sets of wheels going in four different directions at the same time. It's a lot like stealing a two-year-old. At the time it might seem like you were getting away with something, but in the end, it will bring you nothing but aggravation. My second reaction is how? Shopping carts were never built to be pedestrian...let alone portable. It's just a guess but if I saw a four-foot basket on four rolling wheels that never stopped, a seat that folded down and the name of a supermarket on the handle, don't you think I'd become suspicious? Despite these drawbacks, store owners are serious about this and are considering two plans which I find positively chilling. First, they are talking about initiating stiff legislation that would enable them to ticket and prosecute individuals who possess illegal carts. This would cast a fine line between women who steal carts and those who are in pursuit of a runaway cart carrying their groceries out of the parking lot and into the street.

Second, if steps are not taken to stop the thefts of shopping carts, the industry will seek the help of those wonderful people who brought you the Post Office...the U.S. government! There will be no stopping the wheels of bureaucracy. "Cart-napping" will become a federal offense, punishable by death-threading a toddler's legs through the seat, whichever comes first. A cart cabinet will be set up in Washington to monitor cart operations and from time to time inspectors will be sent to protect the consumer from unsafe carts.

Seeking a chance for additional revenue, the government will issue a license to everyone who drives a supermarket cart which will be renewable every birthday. Fines will be levied on those driving without a license or failing to signal for a sudden stop in front of produce. It will only be a matter of time before compact carts start rolling in from Japan and supermarkets will have to float a loan to keep their carts above water. I say...let whoever wants to steal a shopping cart...steal it! It would serve them right!

Car-Child Safety Topic At Wyche Club Meeting

Louise Axe spoke about safety for children in cars to the Wyche Extension club at its recent meeting at the home of Wynema Wheeler.

In conjunction with the program members answered the roll call with cautions they take when a child is in the car. Following the call to order for the business meeting by Clara Trowbridge, Argen Draper presented a reading on remedies for a cold. Lorena Ward read the minutes in the absence of Louise Packard. The club will meet again Nov. 6 at 2:30 p.m. at the home of Ethel Logan, 305 Star. Members present at the meeting were Louise Axe, Beverly Brooks, Virgie Duncan, Argen Draper, Novella Hewitt, Carol Odem, Pet Ott, Clara Trowbridge, Louina Ward and Wynema Wheeler. The club will meet the first, third and fifth Friday of each month. Dues are $5 per month, per couple. Measuring the Candidates in TMI's Backyard

MIDDLETOWN, Pa. (AP) — A runaway nuclear reactor terrified this town 19 months ago, but fears have faded and most locals have other things on their minds as the national election approaches.

"The outside world thinks that we should be thinking about nuclear energy. But we living here think the big thing is the economy," says Mayor Robert Reid.

"We have the same problems that other communities have, except for that one little thing sitting down there that gives us a unique position."

That "one little thing" is the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant. Ever since the March 28, 1979, accident, radioactive water and other contaminated waste, including the reactor core, have been festering at the site.

But this middle-class, conservative community considers itself "back to normal." The throngs of reporters and rented cars have disappeared. A single elderly volunteer directs rush hour traffic on Union Street, the main avenue lined with elaborate Victorian houses.

People quietly pursue their jobs at government installations and private firms: Hershey Foods, Bethlehem Steel, the Mechanicsburg Navy Depot, the New Cumberland and Letterkenny army depots and the state capitol in nearby Harrisburg.

The accident's primary legacy seems to be what Reid gently labels "mixed feelings" towards nuclear power and the plant operator, the Metropolitan Edison Co.

The crisis spawned a band of fervent anti-nuclear activists who participate religiously in hearings on utility rates, cleanup activities and the future of an undamaged reactor at the plant site.

It also prompted formation of "Friends and Family of TMI." And outside town, on the river road to the nuclear plant, occasional billboards proclaim "More Nukes, Less Kooks" and "Before You Say No Nukes, Know Nukes."

Associated Press interviews with downtown shoppers found that, even in Three Mile Island's backyard, many voters are indifferent and most are not using a nuclear yardstick to measure the candidates.

As she folded clothes at a local Laundromat, Alice Durican, a 32-year-old Penn State student, said the accident and its continuing aftermath had added stress to her life. But when she decides for whom she will vote, she said, "Nuclear power will be part of it — but not the whole package."

One man, a 25-year government employee who works with local emergency planners, said the accident has made people more aware of nuclear energy's potential dangers, "but I don't believe that will have anything to do with the presidential election."

The Republican mayor, concerned about local health and welfare, asked President Carter this month for federal aid to decontaminate the plant. But he says he intends to vote for GOP hopeful Ronald Reagan.

Both major party candidates have supported nuclear energy, and both have stressed the need for careful adherence to safety regulations. Carter has said he favors other energy sources, especially solar power.

"It's been 19 months and we haven't had any help yet from Carter. I'm not saying Reagan would come through but we've got to take that chance," Reid said.

"I know people who are anti-nuclear, and they have told me they are going to vote for Reagan, who is more or less pro-nuclear," he added.

Judge Extends Temporary Ban on Enrollment

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Local school officials have 30 days to prepare to resume enrollment of illegal alien children — a move they say may force them to consider half-day classes to handle the extra students.

U.S. District Judge Filemon Vela extended a temporary ban on the admission of undocumented children to this border district on Wednesday following a 3½ hour hearing.

Brownsville School

Superintendent Raul Besteiro testified the school system lacked the money, classrooms and teachers needed to educate the additional students a Houston federal judge says must be enrolled.

"I think the evidence is unquestionable that they have problems in Brownsville," Vela said. "But the problems in the Brownsville school district are not only undocumented students but in other categories. For me to give a permanent injunction would be discriminatory and illegal."

The judge said he wanted to take the extra time to read all the evidence before writing an opinion due to "the impact this case may have in the entire state of Texas."

Vela issued a temporary ban on enrolling the undocumented children on Oct. 11. School officials estimated between 30 and 40 children have been turned away since then.

Linda Yanez, an attorney representing a family whose children were denied admission under Vela's earlier order, termed his ruling a "victory" and said other school districts probably would think twice before trying to seek an exemption from a statewide order to educate all children.

Brownsville school officials presented figures showing it has enrolled 557 undocumented children since U.S. District Judge Woodrow Seals ordered Texas schools to admit illegal aliens.

But Ms. Yanez said that figure was misleading.

"There are really only 170 of that number in which the parent and child are illegal aliens," she said.

School attendance officer Alonzo Perez confirmed under cross-examination that some of the "undocumented" children actually were U.S. citizens whose parents were illegal aliens. Children born in this country are legal citizens, whether their parents are here legally or not.

Ms. Yanez said there were other instances of children being considered undocumented when they simply lacked proper papers to prove they were citizens or lawful resident aliens.

Besteiro said the district would seek federal funds to help cushion the system's strained budget.

"We'll have to consider half-day sessions, but I don't want to get into that," he said. "Even if I had 50 classrooms, where would I get 50 teachers?"

In the month-long "grace period" Besteiro said the district could construct four portable classrooms to handle about 120 additional students.

"At least we have 30 days to work on some thinking," he said. "It's better than nothing."

Ms. Yanez said she thought

Vela's decision was fair on both sides.

"Of course, I wish he would have let the kids in on Monday," she said.

Brownsville schools have enrolled 27,100 and another 1,000 children of migrant farmworkers are expected to register by the end of November, the superintendent said. Bilingual teachers are in short supply and will not be available until December, he added.

Whiteface Netters Drop Match to Lubbock High

By MAURI MONTGOMERY
Brand Sports Editor

Head varsity tennis coach Robert Cox couldn't really understand why his squad lost to the Lubbock High Westerners this past weekend. But after the boys fell 4-5 and the girls dropped their match 2-7, he rationalized that Lubbock High was simply a tough team.

"Anytime you play a district school you're in for some tough competition — at least that's the status our district is in right now," he said. "We just need to keep winning some matches before the first half (the fall) comes to a close."

The squad's first half of season play terminates, essentially, with a dual match tournament this weekend against Lubbock Monterey and Coronado who are both ranked in the top ten teams of the state.

"Right now, LHS is sitting in third place in both the boys and girls, and even though we trail them by four points (in boys competition) we still managed to make up ground against Plainview," said Cox.

"We took a three point advantage over the Bulldogs in the district standings after this last match, and if we can possibly win some matches against Monterey and Coronado then we can edge closer to Lubbock High."

But the most dispiriting realization Cox had to face going into competition with the two state powerhouses was his squad's inability to cap every close match that came its way against Lubbock High (the HHS squad took four of six split set matches on the affair).

In singles competition, Adolfo Garcia edged out

Kivett Williams with a split set 6-1,5-7,6-1 victory and Danny Perez overruled Brian O'Shea in the same manner 6-1,6-7,6-0 to claim the Hereford team's only two advantages in that category of play.

Ramon Duncan dropped his contest with Mila Starkey 7-5,7-6 7-5, Robert Castro fell victim to Steve Brito after dropping a split set 6-3,6-7, 11-9 decision, and Eddy Lindeman and Trent Thomas lost their matches very easily with respective scores of 6-3,6-3 and 6-2,6-3.

And if the singles play seemed tough, the doubles segment was unbearably close as the Whiteface team managed to sweep two of three narrow outcomes.

Following Thomas and Garcia's faltering to LHS's Williams-Starkey 6-4,5-7,6-4, the boys compiled wins the remaining two battles of the battle.

The duo of Duncan-Castro won their first set over O'Shea-Teeter 6-4 and then dropped the second 3-6 before vaulting back with a 7-5 mark to win the match.

Danny Perez and Eddy Lindeman followed that performance with an equally narrow 3-6,7-5,8-6 victory to cap the HHS team's dominance of the doubles portion of play.

But the HHS girls didn't fare quite as well in the proceedings as their counterparts had after taking only two singles matches over the duration of match play and no doubles wins.

Lisa Snyder cinched an easy 6-2,7-5 singles victory over Elizabeth Russell and Dolly Montemayor created a 6-4,6-2 advantage against Salah Williams to record the only two victories of the day for the girls side of play.

Claire Montemayor dropped her bout to Sharron Hoffman 6-4,6-0, Kim Sims fell to Lisa Doggett 6-1,6-0, Carol Zinser slipped against Karen Smith 6-0,6-0 and Beth Frye was clipped by Jane Butler 6-2,6-3 in the girls other unsuccessful singles efforts in the tournament.

In doubles competition, Montemayor-Montemayor were defeated 6-4,6-1 by Hoffman-Doggett, LHS's Smith-Butler squad drilled Zinser-Snyder 6-3,6-2 and the duo of Sims-Gentry failed to win their split set match 2-6,6-2,6-4.

"In the girls play, we're trailing all the district teams for last place, but as far as our performance this past weekend, I felt like the girls played well in the bottom part of the ladder. We're also showing some improvement in doubles which has been one of our main problems all year long," Cox said.

"But basically, the boys competition is where the main story is at," he added. "We could have just as easily been the victor as the loser had we won that No. 4 singles match. Robert had five match points in the third set and still failed to get anything out of it, and you can't do that because it sets you down mentally in the next game you play."

"Yet even with the boy's loss, I still felt like it was an excellent job on their part to have clinched four of the six split set matches they had. If we can just do that against our opponents this weekend we'll be able to advance on the district ladder," he related.

The Whiteface netter squad is slated to meet Coronado here at 9 a.m. at the high school tennis courts Saturday, and then will follow that match against Monterey at 1 p.m. The squad will then compete in the Lubbock Invitational tournament November 1 in the team's final play of the fall.

Back Hand

Hereford's Dolley Montemayor sends the ball reeling toward her Lubbock High opponent Salah Williams, with a backhand shot in the two team's district competition in Lubbock this past weekend. Montemayor recorded 6-4,6-2 win over Williams in the match as only one of two victories posted by the HHS girl's squad in the tournament. The Hereford net team will essentially terminate its fall season play Saturday as they play host to the district and state powerhouses Lubbock Monterey and Coronado. (Brand photo by Robert Cox)

Landry, Coryell Match Wits

IRVING, Texas (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys and the San Diego Chargers meet Sunday night for the first time since 1972 but both Coach Tom Landry of the Cowboys and Don Coryell of the Chargers know what to expect.

They matched wits 10 times while Coryell was at St. Louis with Landry emerging victorious only 6 times. Not many coaches in the National Football League bat near .500 with Landry.

"We pretty well know what kind of offense the Chargers will run because we've faced Coryell teams before," said Landry. "They throw a lot to their backs. We'll try to just slow San Diego down. You can't totally stop their passing game."

"This is the usual Cowboy team—outstanding," said Coryell. "They are always well coached and (quarterback) Danny White is throwing the ball better than we are—just absolutely great."

"Dallas is awful tough to beat in Dallas. To win we'll have to play the best ball game we've ever played."

San Diego, with losses to Buffalo and Oakland, is leading the American Conference Western Division with a 5-2 record.

Dallas is also 5-2 but trails the Philadelphia Eagles by a game in the NFC East.

The Cowboys defeated San Diego 34-28 in 1972 in the only other time the two teams have played.

The Chargers are 25-9 since Coryell took over in 1978.

Phillies Wear World Champion Label

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies will never be the same. They need never again wear the label "chokers" because, finally, they wear the label "World Champions."

"For a long time we carried that label as chokers," Phils shortstop Larry Bowa complained. "People said we choked, but there wasn't a guy on this team that choked."

"All of the problems we had were the same as everybody else, the same problems that Kansas City had, the same problems every team has," Bowa said. "With this team, though, everything is magnified."

The Phillies were born in 1883, one of baseball's original franchises. Until 1980, they had been in only two World Series, 1915 and 1950, but they had never won. In 1941, the Phillies lost 111 games for a .279 winning percentage. In 1961, they set a major league record by losing 23 consecutive games.

In 1980, however, all those years were forgotten — as Bowa said, "We had some ghosts to put to sleep" — and with their 4-1 victory Tuesday night over Kansas City in Game Six, the Phillies claimed their first World Series title.

"Frankly, I thought it was going to be the same old thing until August," Bowa said.

"I'm the first to admit, we didn't play good baseball, offensively or defensively."

In August, the Phillies finally overtook the Montreal Expos and Pittsburgh Pirates, who had exchanged the National League's East Division lead most of the season. The Phillies clinched the pennant in their last series of the season in Montreal.

"They talked about the smug, overpaid Phillies," Mike Schmidt, the Series' Most Valuable Player, said. "They said the Phillies don't put out. I just hope now that we get the credit as a team we deserve."

"I want to make a point. People claimed this was a dull World Series," Schmidt said. "Well, maybe after our playoff series with Houston, it seemed like it, but you can't see better baseball in a World Series, better pitching or hitting. There was no sloppy baseball in this Series, and anybody who says this was a dull World Series ought to have his head examined."

On Wednesday, the city of Philadelphia turned out en masse to pay homage to their Phillies. The team and Manager Dallas Green were toasted in a parade along Broad Street from Center City to Veteran's Stadium. Many fans had stayed up all night, cheering in the streets and savoring that moment of glory they had awaited for so long.

"So many people in this organization have worked very hard and waited so long," Green said. "That includes scouts, front office people and everybody connected with the organization."

"I've been a Phillie for 25 years, and I know what a special feeling it is. We've all waited a long time for this," said Green, who took over as Phils manager last summer from Danny Ozark. "It finally came down to the players getting together and grinding it out."

Almost forgotten in the revelry over Philadelphia's victory were the obstacles the Royals had overcome to get to the Series.

In their 12 years in Kansas City, the Royals had never made the Fall Finale, losing three consecutive years to the New York Yankees in the playoffs (1976-77-78). This year, however, they beat the Yankees three straight to earn the right to represent the American League in baseball's 77th World Series.

"Feelings are hard to express," Royals All-Star George Brett said. "I can't forget losing in the playoffs, but I will never forget this. Losing the playoffs already is forgotten."

"The World Series is something I'll tell my grandchildren about," he said. "I won't tell them I played in a playoff. When they ask who won the World Series, I'll tell them we lost the first one, but we won the second."

Brett was asked if the fans of Kansas City would be disappointed.

"Sure, they're disappointed," he said, "but I think when we beat the Yankees, it was like winning the World Series for our town."

SWC Grid Picks

DALLAS (AP) — A little national prestige and a lot of regional pride will be at stake Saturday in four Southwest Conference football games.

Saturday's schedule in order of CDT starting times with full-season and SWC won-lost-tied records in parentheses:

SMU (4-2, 1-2 in SWC) at TEXAS (5-0, 2-0 in SWC), 1 p.m. — Longhorns going for 6-0 start — last four times they've done that, they finished with perfect regular seasons, winning national championships in '63 and '69 ... Texas currently ranked second in AP poll ... teams meeting for 60th time with Texas holding a 36-19-4 series lead, winning the last 13 ... Mustangs' last win over Horns was their 1966 championship year ... Texas has won 20 of last 21 at Memorial Stadium, has lost only five at home since Mustangs did it 14 years ago.

RICE (2-4, 1-2 in SWC) at TEXAS A&M (2-4, 1-2 in SWC), 7:30 p.m. — Teams renew rivalry for 65th time as Owls make first visit to expanded Kyle Field where record crowd is expected ... Aggies trying to rebound from 46-7 loss to 11th ranked Baylor last week ... Rice lost close one at home to Tech, 10-3 ... A&M leads series 35-26-3 with a six-game series winning string to protect ... last Rice win was 1973.

ARKANSAS (4-1, 1-1 in SWC) at HOUSTON (3-3, 2-1 in SWC), 7:30 p.m. — Last year's Southwest Conference co-champions meet for seventh time, looking to break 3-3 series deadlock ... both teams trying to avoid fatal second loss, which history shows eliminates a team from championship hopes ... Cougars appear recovered from 1-3 start with back-to-back SWC wins over A&M and SMU ... Arkansas riding four-game win streak after Sept. 1 loss to Texas on national television ... Razorbacks ranked 15th in AP writers poll ... and third in SWC ... Cougars have won two straight from Arkansas.

Philadelphia Defeats Losing Detroit Pistons

By The Associated Press
The Philadelphia 76ers beat the Detroit Pistons — and lost a record in the process.

"I'm glad their streak didn't end against us," said Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham after his team's 94-93 triumph Wednesday night extended the Pistons' losing string to a National Basketball Association record of 21.

The Pistons' losses, 14 at the end of last season and seven so far this year, wiped out Philadelphia's dubious mark of 20 set in the 1972-73 campaign.

"They will just have to learn to win games like this, the way we have," added Cunningham.

Detroit Coach Scotty Robertson was not so sure that this year's team deserved to be saddled with the negative mark, considering that it has been spread over two seasons. "I feel bad for my guys," he said. "Many of my guys didn't have anything to do with last year."

Added Robertson: "We may be 0-7 so far, but we're going to continue to be positive; we're going to play hard every night."

Elsewhere in the NBA, Boston whipped New Jersey 108-104; Milwaukee trimmed Indiana 119-106; Washington stopped Cleveland 109-96 and Dallas beat Seattle 107-102.

Julius Erving's 26 points led the 76ers over the Pistons. Detroit, with Terry Tyler contributing eight early points, grabbed a 27-22 lead at the end of the first quarter. But the 76ers got nine second-quarter points from Darryl Dawkins and led 49-43 at the half.

Ducks Unlimited Slates Fundraising Shoot

By JIM STEIERT
Outdoors Editor

The second annual Hereford Ducks Unlimited fundraising turkey shoot will be held Sunday beginning at 1 p.m. at the Hereford Gun Club with local sportsmen receiving an opportunity to aid a wildlife resource and sharpen their skills for the upcoming wingshooting season at the same time.

The gun club is located just east of the Hereford Municipal Airport and features trapshooting facilities.

Shoot fees will be $3 per five-shot round, with winners of each round of competition receiving their choice of a ham, turkey or slab of bacon.

Ducks Unlimited memberships will also be available at Sunday's event and those in attendance will also have the opportunity to register for drawings for two shotguns to be given away by the local DU chapter at a later date.

Those shotguns include a Harrington and Richardson "Greenwing Special" 20 gauge chambered for three inch shells and bearing the "Greenwing Special" inscription on the receiver. The "Greenwing Special" can only be obtained at Ducks Unlimited fundraising functions, and is not available through retail outlets.

Also offered is a Marlin model 120 pump-action 12 gauge repeater choked full and chambered for three inch shells. The shotgun is valued at $250.

Facilities for Sunday's turkey shoot have been donated by the Hereford Gun Club.

Proceeds from the event will go to Ducks Unlimited, a non-profit organization established in 1937 to help preserve the vital waterfowl nesting habitat in Canada where fully 70 percent of the North American waterfowl population is hatched each year.

Ducks Unlimited came into being at a time when drought had virtually decimated many waterfowl species.

Although duck stamp funds help preserve waterfowl habitat in the United States, law prohibits use of the funds outside the country.

Ducks Unlimited was designed to augment those funds in the vital nesting areas of Canada, and nearly $6 million in DU funds have been used for wetland development alone.

Ducks Unlimited has completed over 1,462 projects, varying in size up to 500,000 acres.

Total wetland acreage reserved for waterfowl and other wildlife by DU now exceeds 2.5 million acres.

In addition to this weekend's turkey shoot, the local DU chapter will be holding a special dinner at a date tentatively set for mid-November.

During that dinner a special federal duck stamp will plaque including all duck stamps from the inception of the program to the present will be offered at auction.

Also to be offered are a number of waterfowl and wildlife art prints donated to the Ducks Unlimited program by outstanding wildlife artists.

Former Community Concert Performers Awarded First Prize in Switzerland

The New York Vocal Arts Ensemble, a quartet of American singers under the musical direction of pianist Raymond Beegle, was awarded first prize in Geneva, Switzerland recently over vocal groups from all parts of the world competing in the first international contest for vocal quartets operated as part of the 38th annual Geneva International Music Competition, sponsored jointly by the Federal Government of Switzerland and the City of Geneva. The New York Vocal Arts Ensemble had appeared in Hereford April 19 in conjunction with the Hereford Community Concerts. The prize - including a cash award of 10,000 Swiss francs and an engagement to appear with the famous Orchestre de la Suisse Romande ... was presented to the four U.S. singers and their pianist - director from the stage of Geneva's Victoria Hall before an audience of 1200 people who had heard the New York Vocal Arts Ensemble in a program including a Cherubini cantata, songs by Mendelssohn and Cui, the world premier performances of Swiss Composer Francois Delor's "Nocturne" and "Three Songs on the Resurrection" by American composer William Vollinger ... the later set of pieces written for and dedicated to the New York Vocal Arts Ensemble. The presentation of the Vollinger work brought the group an additional prize of 1000 Swiss francs donated by the William Mathews Sullivan Foundation of New York for performance of an American piece.

The New York Vocal Arts Ensemble which was founded by California - born Raymond Beegle in 1971 for the purpose of exploring and performing the long-neglected repertoire of vocal chamber music from the Middle Ages through the 20th Century, has since presented annual subscription concert series at New York's Alice Tully Hall and performed throughout South America and Europe, in addition to touring the United States under Columbia Artists Management. The present complement of the ensemble includes, besides Mr. Beegle, soprano Lila Deis from Texas, alto Shirley Close from Minnesota, tenor Patrick Romano from Pennsylvania and basso Kevin Deas from Arkansas.

The jury which voted first prize to the New York Vocal Arts Ensemble in the 1980 Geneva Competition was chaired by Derrek Olsen, professor at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Zurich, and included: Lorenzo Alvary, basso, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera Association; Rene Bernier, professor at the Royal Academy of Music in Brussels; Andre Charlet, conductor of the Suisse Romande Radio Choir; Helena Lazonska, professor at the Academy of Music in Krakow; Heinze Mende, director of the Bayerische Rundfunk and the State Theatre in Stuttgart; and Hugh Ross, noted American choral conductor.

Thumbsucking, Bedwetting--How To Cope

COLLEGE STATION -- Thumbsucking and bedwetting have answers - and solutions - if you know how to find them, says a family life education specialist.

Both are "stress signals," so first find the stress cause, and then help the child deal with it, Cindy Wilson advises parents and other caretakers of children.

Mrs. Wilson is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

EMOTIONAL, PHYSICAL STRESS

Stress causes might be emotional or they might be physical, the specialist explains.

Physical stress can happen when certain foods are upsetting to a child's system. His body is so "busy" dealing with the stress, it "forgets" and wets the bed. Any illness can have the same effect.

PATIENCE: KEY TO COPING

Patience is the key to dealing with all stresses. A lot of time and patience usually do wonders in helping a child deal with-and overcome-any kind of stress.

THUMBSUCKING 'NOT SO BAD'

"Looking at thumbsucking closely, we should point out that this behavior really isn't so bad," Mrs. Wilson says.

"Most pediatricians recommend that we ignore episodes of thumbsucking, in fact."

However, parents should realize that thumbsucking is a reaction to stress--it's a comforting habit to a child. Stress factors that cause thumbsucking can include fatigue, boredom, depression, anxiety or a need for attention.

When you notice thumbsucking, if you can't just ignore it, tackle the stress instead of forbidding the child to suck his thumb, Mrs. Wilson suggests.

For example, try spending more time with the child in a play or work setting - and divert his or her attention to new and exciting activities.

If stress occurs because of a family crisis or any other cause for anxiety, comfort the child, so he won't need to resort to thumbsucking as a comfort measure.

BEDWETTING

Before looking more closely at bedwetting it should be noted that some children simply are not physically ready for toilet training--although they seem to be making great progress at times.

Children whose bladders are not large enough to hold reasonable amounts of urine simply wet the bed during long periods of sleep. The same is true for children who develop muscle control more slowly than other children.

In these cases, patience is all important--it is a "must."

Emotional stress, on the other hand, is a different matter. A child with emotional stress may hide his or her fears in the daytime, but as sleep brings relaxation, he or she may wet the bed.

To deal with this, try talking to the child who appears to be worried - to help him relax by getting his problems into the open.

Also, limit fluids before bedtime.

Remind the child to use the bathroom before going to sleep, too.

Be patient and relaxed with the child a bladder control is regained.

Lamaze Classes

Scheduled By

Penny Jessup

Penny Jessup has announced another session of Lamaze Classes to begin Monday, Oct. 27 at the First Baptist Church.

The classes will meet weekly on Monday nights for seven weeks. A fee of $35 will be charged for those participating.

Pre-enrollment needs to be made by contacting Mrs. Jessup at 364-6435.

Children learn responsibility through examples set by important people in their lives, explains Diane Welch, a family life education specialist.

Parents need to examine their actions in terms of "worthiness of a child's imitation," she says.

$357.5 Million in Fed Highway Funds Are Denied Texas

Bureaucrats of the U.S. Department of Transportation have lowered the hammer on Texas by cutting off $357.5 million in federal highway funds.

DOT's Federal Highway Administration has advised the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation that no funds for highway construction contracts will be released until the state complies with federal minority business enterprise regulations. The DOT regulations require state to establish "goals" for utilization of businesses owned by minorities or women. If the low bidder fails to meet the quota, the DOT regulations say the contract will be awarded to a contractor who submitted a higher bid, providing he agrees to meet the goals for minority subcontractors.

The DOT-MBE regulations are in conflict with state law requiring the award of highway construction contracts to the lowest responsible bidder. This was the basis of a request for a waiver, which was denied by DOT.

The DOT-MBE regulations have stirred a storm of protest in Texas and other states where they are viewed as an attack on the competitive bidding system. The time tested competitive bidding system protects the public interest by assuring that quality work will be performed at the lowest cost.

The DOT-MBE regulations have generated court challenges in Alabama, Missouri and Virginia. In the Alabama case, a federal judge issued a restraining order against implementation of the regulations in that state. The DOT will appeal that decision. Texas Attorney General Mark White has announced his intentions to challenge the regulations.

The immediate effect of the freeze on federal highway funds in Texas is the withdrawal of $100 million in projects scheduled for the November letting, and another $50 or $60 million in the December letting. On October 1, with the beginning of the new fiscal year, $357.5 million in federal highway funds had been released to Texas. This represented 80 percent of the funds Texas expected during the year. The other 20 percent was to become available August 1 of next year.

Ironically, minority highway construction workers will be among those hurt most by the freeze on Texas road funds. Industry sources indicate the $100 million in projects pulled from the November letting would have provided jobs for 4,000 workers. Based on the present work force, 58 percent of those jobs would have gone to minority workers.

Federal officials have frequently threatened Texas with the loss of federal highway funds for not enforcing the 55 mile per hour speed limit, truck weight laws, for not meeting clean air standards, for not controlling billboards, or for not meeting other federal mandates. In spite of these threats to Texas and other states, this is one of the few times where federal funds have actually been withheld. The Environmental Protection Agency has recently applied sanctions to California, holding up $850 million in highway and sewer funds because the state legislature there failed to pass a mandatory motor vehicle emissions testing program.

Commenting on the action of the feds, Eugene W. Robbins, President of the Texas Good Roads-Transportation Association, said, "Officials of the U.S. Department of Transportation are clearly wrong in attempting to destroy the competitive bidding system. They are wrong in attempting to usurp state law by bureaucratic edict. They are wrong in taking this action which will hurt minorities more than help them. We resent having the federal government collect taxes here in Texas, then penalize us by withholding our own money if we don't meet their terms."

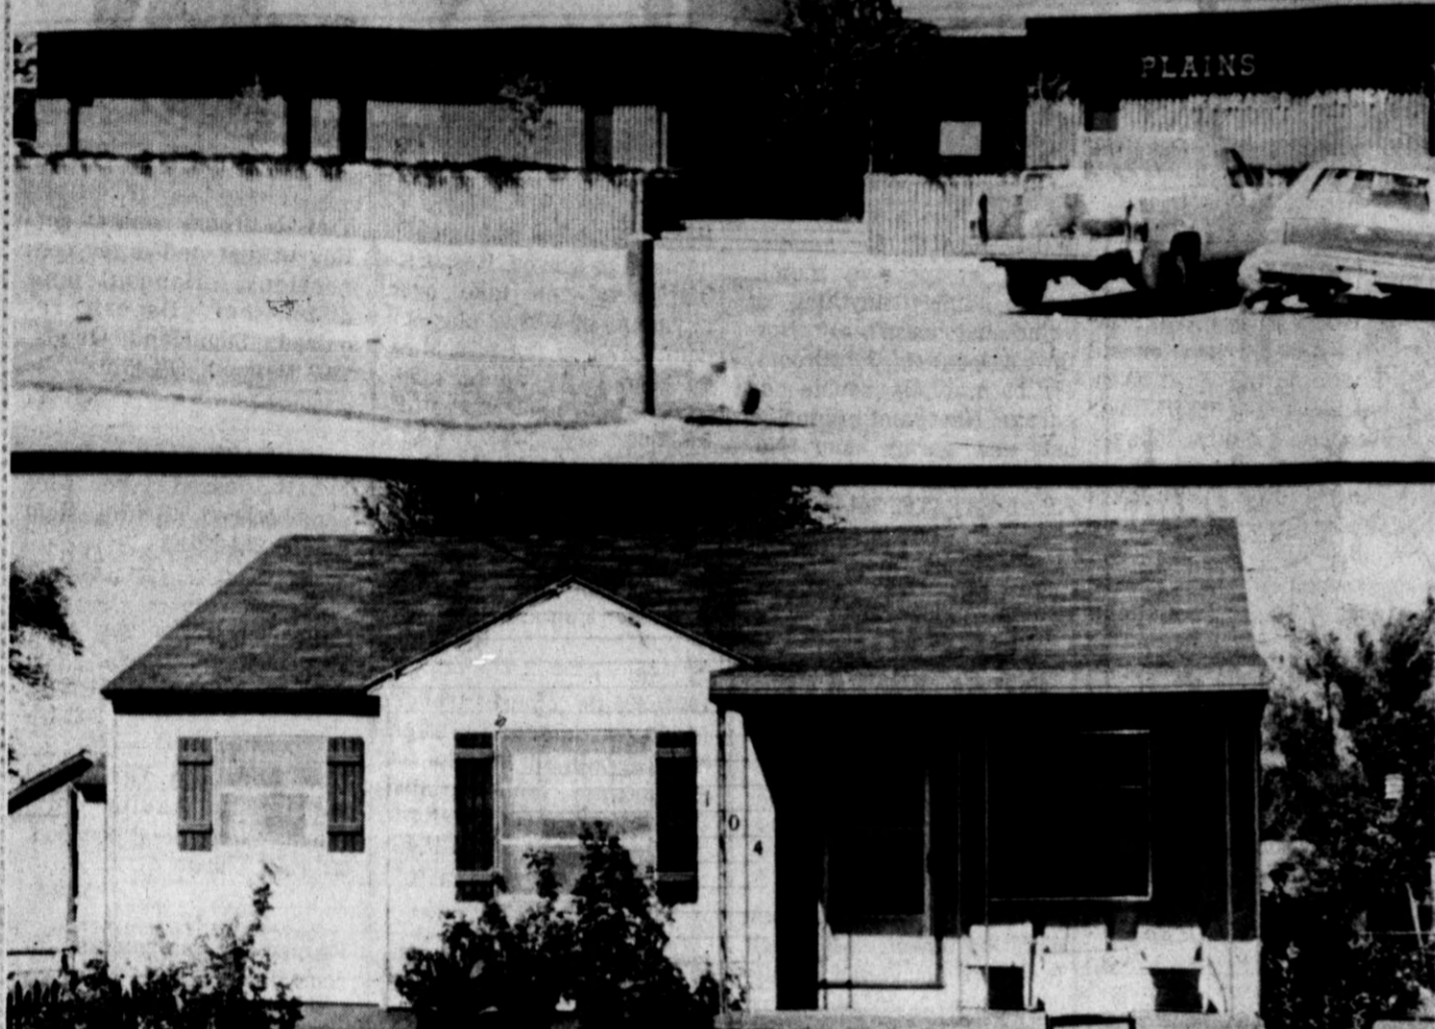

Critics of the DOT-MBE regulations point out that there are very few construction firms owned by minorities or women, that the regulations would limit competition, and invite "fronts" and other types of chicanery. Opposition to the DOT-

MBE rules has been expressed in editorials and columns in many of the state's newspapers including the Dallas Morning News, Waco Citizen, Wichita Falls Record-News, Fredericksburg Standard, Graham Leader, Ballinger Ledger, East Texas Light, Valley Morning Star, Kilgore News-Herald, Midland Reporter-Telegram, Odessa American, Honey Grove Signal-Citizen, and Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

Resolutions and policy statements opposing the DOT-MBE regulations have been adopted by Chambers of Commerce in Amarillo, Brownsville, Austin, San Antonio, Fredericksburg, Plano, Graham, Longview, El Paso, Breckenridge, Haltam City-Richland, Abilene, and Lubbock.

TGR-TA's Robbins concluded, "We hope the DOT bureaucrats will have the good judgement to allow the highway program to proceed in an orderly manner until the legal questions have been resolved in the courts."

What Difference Who's President

The president of the United States has limited authority. He does not, cannot "run the country."

In our system of checks and balances the president's power is necessarily limited.

Congress can thwart him, even override him.

And the courts can overrule them both.

Then what difference does it make who's president? A big difference.

The prerogatives of the presidency which are of most lasting significance involve his power to make appointments.

For example, to appease the professional environmentalists President Carter let Ralph Nader pick so many people for the EPA that he, the president, lost control of that department of government.

Most important, however, are the president's picks for federal judgeships - and particularly his selections for the Supreme Court.

Whatever his other attributes, President Eisenhower most altered the course of history and influenced our daily lives with his selection of Earl Warren as Chief Justice.

He later confessed he had no idea Warren would "turn out that way."

That happens.

When President Madison selected James Story - when President Wilson appointed James McReynolds - those presidents were subsequently disappointed.

For the most part, however, presidents select for the Supreme Court individuals whose basic philosophy parallels their own.

I believe that, confronted with a Supreme Court vacancy, Jimmy Carter's first choice would be former Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell.

However, should the president have to make a choice between now and Election Day, it's more likely he would name a woman or a black. The pragmatism of partisan politics would dictate it.

The Republicans sought in their party platform to ensure constructionist choices for the High Court. The platform calls for the appointment of judges who "have the highest regard for protecting the rights of law-abiding citizens" and whose philosophy is consistent with belief in "the decentralization of the federal government and efforts to turn decision-making power back to state and local elected officials..."

In his acceptance speech, Gov. Reagan said, "I ask you not simply to trust me, but to trust your values - our values - and hold me responsible for living up to them."

The next president of the United States is going to make two - possibly as many as five - appointments to the Supreme Court.

For a generation behaving Americans have been victimized.

Hopefully, the next High Court appointee will bring the scales of justice back in balance.

Of course it's not so that the elephant never forgets. Just ask any Republican candidate who didn't make it in the primaries.

You can't blame a fellow for trying to make a buck - but don't try and tell that to treasury agents if you're printing funny money.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Many causes for backache

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have lower backache, especially after doing housework. My doctor says it is from the muscles affecting the position of the spinal column. After a hard work period I tend to stoop forward and have difficulty maintaining erect posture. I'm 47 years old, female, height 5-foot-4 and weigh 132 pounds. I'd like to go down to 125. I walk a mile or more in good weather. I enjoy gardening with shoveling and can lift 40 pounds and have a very comfortable shoe fit. I also do exercises from my high school gym class to stretch and work out. Despite my exercise, I still have back pain. I have two glasses of milk or less a day and eat a good diet of chicken and fresh fish, vegetables and fruit. Would isometrics help me?

DEAR READER — I always stress to people with back problems that it can be due to more than muscular weakness. There are many causes for backaches and that's why I don't like for people to begin an exercise program for a back complaint until after they have seen their doctor. It's true that most people's backaches are caused by weak trunk muscles. The Health Letter number 13-10, Backache and What to Do about It, which I'm sending you, discusses the many different causes of back pain including ruptured discs. It describes various exercises that are important in strengthening the trunk to avoid recurrent back problems for those caused by weak muscles. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019

Weak abdominal muscles are often a major factor in causing backache. Walking will not use your abdominal muscles and neither will most gardening work or housework that you describe. About the only way a person can use their abdominal muscles is during activities such as sit-ups and leg lifts. The sit-ups primarily work the upper part of the abdomen and leg lifts of various varieties work the lower part of the abdomen. Now, straight leg lifts can be rather strenuous for someone who has a back complaint. For that reason, at least at the beginning until the abdominal muscle strength is improved, it's wise to do modified leg lifts, bending the knees and not extending the legs to the full amount. This is discussed in The Health Letter which I'm sending you. Exercises that are done wrong can cause more harm than any good they might do. If your physician agrees, you should start using exercises to strengthen your abdominal muscles and the other exercises discussed in The Health Letter.

You'll also want to pay attention to your sitting posture. Bad chairs and poor furniture are often underlying causes for chronic back complaints. So are postural problems.

I don't think isometrics will help a great deal, although you can lie flat on the floor and voluntarily contract and relax your abdominal muscles. This will help to strengthen them to some degree without putting any strain on your back. Almost anyone can do these without running the risk of damaging an already injured back.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Polly Cramer
— Pine cones have uses —

DEAR POLLY — We have a large quantity of pine cones (some from white pine trees) and would like to know of some ways to use them in the arts-and-crafts field. Perhaps some readers have used them and would share with us. Thanks for any information. — ANNA.

DEAR ANNA — I am sure we will be hearing from many readers. You certainly can make beautiful Christmas wreaths with your cones. What lovely gifts they would make for those less fortunate than you. The small cones could be gilded, painted white or whatever and combined with red velvet or satin ribbons to make holiday boutonnières to wear or to trim napkin rings or place cards for holiday parties. Put the less-than-perfect ones in an attractive container by the fireplace, as a few dropped among the logs for an open fire give off a nice pine scent. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — I used to hate to run the hot water long enough to get a small amount of water hot enough to make a cup of tea. I have a gas stove whose pilot light was doing nothing but using extra gas, so I bought a tiny tea kettle that I keep filled and over the pilot light all the time. Now I have hot water instantly when I need it. — ELLEN.

DEAR POLLY — I have a Pointer to help make school lunch boxes last longer. Before a new one is used, I line the inside with that heavy adhesive-backed paper. The box will not rust and is very easy to keep clean. — DONNA.

DEAR POLLY — During these days of trying to stretch every food dollar as far as we can, I have a Pointer that I think will particularly interest those who live alone or have small families. I had to throw away part of every head of lettuce until I started wrapping the head in paper towels before putting it in a plastic bag. Now I use every leaf and can keep it for quite some time. — MRS. F.E.S.

DEAR POLLY — I have another idea for an old TV console cabinet. Remove all the inside of the cabinet and add a grow light (one on a timer is very good) and a shelf that is about half as deep as the cabinet. This makes an ideal display place for your violets or other plants. — JOYCE P.

DEAR POLLY — Here in Central Texas, we learned many ways to conserve our precious water during this record-breaking summer. Two that may interest other readers are included here.

Place your oscillating sprinkler on the ridge of a sloping roof so that the foundation is evenly watered. Water is conserved and the attic stays up to 10 degrees cooler, which saves electricity when operating the air conditioning.

Set the timer on your stove so that you are reminded to move or turn off the sprinkler, thus avoiding over-watering and wasteful water run-off. — FRAN.

DEAR POLLY — To take the squeak out of outdoor hinges, I use that spray I put in my kitchen pans to keep food from sticking. — VERA.

DEAR POLLY — To remove the dust and rain spots off my screen door, I use a mixture of one-half to three-fourths cup of vinegar in two cups of warm water and use a sponge as it does not drip. Rinse off with water and the screens look almost like new.

During damp hot weather I put two or three pieces of charcoal (like we use on the grill) in an open pint jar and stand this in my closet so there will be no musty odor. — MAXINE.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My sister is 53 years old and according to our mother she was born as a blue baby. Could you explain this term to me? During our teen years she would lose her breath while walking against the wind. For many years now she's had numbness in both hands which comes and goes. And she also has pain in her arms and shoulders. I'm very concerned about her but she refuses to see a doctor.

DEAR READER — It's often difficult to know exactly what parents might mean by saying that one of their children was a blue baby. In medical circles it usually refers to a defect of the heart. Some of these are relatively mild and are consistent with a relatively normal life span. It literally depends on what type of defect (if any) is present. Blue blood venous blood. It's really not blue but it looks that way when you see it through the surface of the skin in your veins. It has that color because it doesn't contain as much oxygen as arterial blood which is bright red.

In some birth defects, the blue blood is shunted to the left side of the heart and mixed with the normal red blood. Then when this blood is pumped out of the heart to go to the face and lips, this oxygenated blood causes a bluish appearance to the face, just the same as it gives a bluish color to veins in your hand.

The only logical thing for your sister to do is to see a physician and have a competent examination. If she really has a cardiac condition, she will have findings that will enable the doctor to identify her problem rather quickly. In that case he might choose to refer her to a heart specialist for a further and more detailed examination. If not, she still needs attention for her other complaints.

Nightmare Begins When Woman Falsely Accused

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
A $16 billion-a-year problem turned into a 25-minute nightmare for Joan Fletcher last week.
The problem is shoplifting. The nightmare came when Joan Fletcher was accused of stealing.
She was innocent. "They let me go with the words, 'It was an honest mistake,'" she said.

Joan Fletcher is not the shopper's real name. She asked that her identity be concealed. But her experience was real, and it highlights the crime of shoplifting, and the difficulty of prosecuting people who are guilty and protecting people who are not.
Mrs. Fletcher was shopping at a New Jersey department store when a young woman stopped her and flashed a badge.

"I'm from security," the woman said. "Will you come with me? We think you've stolen something."
Mrs. Fletcher started to protest.
"Come along with me anyway," the woman said. "We'll determine that."
The determination was that Mrs. Fletcher was innocent, but the incident brought "overwhelming fear" to her. State laws on the problem vary widely and often are vaguely worded. Where do the retailer's rights begin and the customer's end? How can you catch the guilty and protect the innocent?

The National Coalition to Prevent Shoplifting in Atlanta, Ga., estimates that retailers lose a nickel of every dollar in sales as a result of thefts like the one of which Mrs. Fletcher was accused.

Judi Rogers, director of the federally-funded coalition, said retailers actually may be over-cautious.
"The retailer is put on the defensive," she said, reluctant to prosecute for fear of harming the store's image or of lawsuits for false arrest. Mrs. Fletcher is consulting a lawyer about filing just such a suit.
Mrs. Rogers said it is "impossible to know how many people are apprehended" for shoplifting, but she estimated that less than half are turned over to police for further action. There is no way of knowing, she said, how many of those who go free are victims of "honest mistakes" and how many are guilty.

Mrs. Fletcher, 40, was one of the victims.
Chance took her into the department store where she was accused of stealing an eyeshadow stick. She was taking a short cut to another store, spotted a cosmetic display and bought some makeup, paying for it with a personal check for $28.76.

Mrs. Fletcher had left the store and was already in another shop when the security officer stopped her. She returned to the first store, where her bag and packages were searched.
When she asked if she could phone her office, she said, store personnel told her: "If we let you go, you can call from a pay phone."

Mrs. Fletcher said she was "shaking from head to toe." But the worst part of her experience, she said, was that "I did not know my rights and that's a terribly fearful situation."
You don't have to wait for Christmas for an irked spouse to give you a deep-freeze.
