Contra aid narrowly gets Senate nod

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Reagan, a narrow winner in the Senate on his Contra aid proposal, now has to persuade the House to change its mind and approve the plan for military aid to rebels fighting Nicaragua's leftist govern-

The vote by the Republicancontrolled Senate late Thursday reversed last week's defeat of the $100 million plan by the Democraticrun House. But before the Senate approved the proposal by voice vote, it voted 53-47 to attach a condition that delays delivery of lethal weapons to the U.S-backed rebels for 90 days in order to boost chances for negotia-

Bentsen, Gramm favored contra aid

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas Sens. Phil Gramm and Lloyd Bentsen gave hearty approval to the $100 million Nicaraguan aid package President Reagan is trying to push through Congress.

Gramm, a Republican, said Thursday he voted for aid to the Nicaraguan Contras to prevent his sons from one day fighting communists in Mexico.

And Bentsen, his Democratic counterpart, also voted yes, saying Texans are perhaps more concerned about the Central American communist threat since they border a Latin country.

Senators revived President Reagan's plan on a 53-47 vote Thursday night to send $100 million in aid to Nicaragua's Contra rebels, sending the legislation back to the House, where it was rejected just days before a Sandinista raid into Honduras.

Congress unlikely to meet deadline

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress began its Easter recess today with little hope of meeting an April 15 deadline for enactment of a fiscal 1987 budget blueprint.

The House and Senate reconvene Apri. 8, but White House officials have said they do not think the Senate can pass a budget acceptable to the administration. The House, meanwhile, is waiting to see what the Senate does.

The Senate wrapped up work Thursday night and the House had recessed earlier this week.

The only spending plan pending on Capitol Hill for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 is a bipartisan package approved last week by the Senate Budget Committee that calls for $18.4 billion in additional revenues and pares about $25 billion from President Reagan's military spending request.

White House officials have denounced that plan.

"I'm supporting this aid because I don't want to see communism succeed and to see my sons sent to Mexico to fight because we would not provide assistance for people in Central America who are willing to fight and die for our freedom," Gramm said.

Reagan's plan would give the Contras $70 million in military aid and $30 million in non-lethal help in their effort to oust the Marxist Sandinista government.

"I support it because I think the more they (the Sandinistas) solidify their base and continue to export communism, that it becomes a very said. "And if they subvert some of those democratic governments down there, it is of a concern to me."

Bentsen said he believes the Contras will ultimately prevail because they are volunteers seeking to recapture their country, while the Sandinista army is made up of draftees.

The Sandinistas, he said, "don't represent the people."

Bentsen, a native of the Rio Grande Valley, jokingly dismissed Reagan's assertions that the capital of Nicaragua is only a two days' drive from Harlingen, but did say, "maybe Texans feel it a little more than others because we're on the border of a Latin country."

The House rejected the aid package last week, though the Texas delegation voted 15-12 in favor of it. Some Texas members of the House said they were voting against last week's package to wait for a compromise limiting the military aid which they expect will come up later.

Only 11 Democrats joined 42 Republicans in voting for the aid resolution while 36 Democrats joined by 11 Republicans voted against it.

The narrowness of Reagan's victory in the Senate showed he still has a fight on his hands. The House rejected the Reagan plan 222-210 a week ago, so Reagan must find some converts there if he is to prevail.

The White House's stress on what it pictured as a large-scale incursion this week by Nicaraguan troops into neighboring Honduras failed to have much impact on the vote, according to opponents and supporters of the aid plan.

"I don't think it made a difference," said Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and chief proponent of Reagan's package. "We thought we had about 52 or so votes all along."

Sen. James Sasser, D-Tenn., the leading opponent, concurred, saying, "I don't think the alleged invasion really had much effect one way or the other."

In a statement issued from Santa Barbara, Calif., Reagan pronounced himself "deeply pleased" with the vote and said it "is sure to send a profoundly reassuring signal to the freedom fighters in Nicaragua and to Nicaragua's threatened neighbors."

House," said Reagan, "where I hope we can gain the few additional votes necessary to achieve a positive out-

In Nicaragua, government-run radio reported the vote and denounced it as an "immoral act," adding: "Nothing good will come out of the Congress, and it is necessary to be prepared."

The aid package approved by the Senate includes $70 million in military aid and $30 million worth of non-lethal help for items such as medicine and clothing. A $27 million (See AID, Page 2)

WASHINGTON (AP) - A large U.S. Navy battle group has sailed unmolested from the Gulf of Sidra and away from Libya with vows by American leaders that the ships will return any time they wish.

We'll do it again, whether or not any incidents happen or anything of the kind," said Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger, as he and President Reagan announced the 6th Fleet had completed exercises in the disputed gulf Thursday.

Libya's state-run radio responded with claims that strongman Col. Moammar Khadafy had overseen "a glittering victory over the imperialist invaders." The official news agency JANA added that Walid Jumblatt, Lebanon's Druse Moslem militia leader, had offered "suicide squads" to help carry out Khadafy's threat of retaliation for the destruction wrought by the U.S. ships and planes.

Weinberger offered no And he pledged, "The United States will not be intimidated by new threats of terrorism against us ... Mr. Khadafy must know that we will hold him fully accountable for any such actions."

The American withdrawal came four days after the 6th Fleet began operations in the Gulf of Sidra and two days after Libyan forces gave up any pretense of further military challenge to the 30-ship battle group led by three aircraft carriers.

The firing of surface-to-air missiles at American planes on Monday touched off U.S. attacks on a missile site and on Libyan patrol boats. At least two of the vessels

President Reagan, who flew to were reported sunk, and Weinberger California Thursday for an Easter said Thursday the Libyans had still operational status.

Weinberger declared the maneuvers "in every way a successful operation." Reagan called the fleet commander to hail the bravery of the American sailors. And Adm. William J. Crowe, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. declared that the outbreak of combat earlier this week had demonstrated the potency of modern American weapons.

Looking relaxed and occasionally joking during an afternoon appearance at the Pentagon, the defense secretary denied the United States had mounted the operation for the sake of revenge.

News of the arrests was not released until Thursday, because the arrests were coordinated as part of a nationwide roundup of motorcycle gang members, he said.

Arrested and named in a federal complaint alleging violations of federal firearms, explosives and arson laws were Charles Edward Bennett, 38; Dennie Allen Schweitzer, 32; Jacky Dale Austin, 33; Gary Lee Wells, 30, and Twila Faye Williams,

Two prison inmates are also named in the complaint - James Thomas Adkins, who is serving time in the federal penitentiary in Texarkana, and David Gilbert Coatney, who is imprisoned at LaTuna, Beaty cache of weapons Monday, including four hand grenades and a submachine gun.

Drug Enforcement Administration agents made the seizure on a narcotics search warrant for a Lubbock residence after attempting to serve an arrest warrant on Joe Edward "Little Joe" Benavides .

According to DEA Agent Ken Lee, Benavides is a national sergeant-atarms of the Bandidos motorcycle club. Lee said Benavides is wanted on arson charges.

Beaty also said he expects two others to be arrested in Texas and 50 others nationwide.

Police arrested two

The Hereford Police Department arrested an individual for driving while intoxicated and another for public intoxication Thursday. Lawmen also heard reports of three stolen bicycles, a burglary of an apartment at Bluewater Gardens where approximately $50 worth of damage was done, theft from the high school tennis courts, a juvenile problem, harassment, trespassing and two cases of criminal mischief.

Need perfect memory, too

Dispatcher duties include being mother, psychologist

By SHAWN COCKRUM Staff Writer

Officially, all you have to have is a high school education, a good speaking voice and the ability to type.

Actually, you need to be a psychologist to relate to people during a serious crisis, a dir negotiate problems, a friend to lend an understanding ear, and a mom to worry about the officers and deputies on duty.

On top of all that, you need a perfect memory.

It takes a lot to be an emergency dispatcher for the law enforcement offices, but Hereford is lucky enough to have dispatchers who have everything it takes to get the job

Tonya Garcia of the Hereford Police Department and Terry Denning of the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's department have similar jobs. They both work the day shift, 8 m to 4 p.m., they both handle on he average of 60 to 75 calls per day, both have been working as dispatchers for three years, and both have smiles that would rival the most

'One time a guy called after his son was arrested and just cussed me out," Garcia said. "All I did was just listen to him for a while, then I told him I did not have to listen to stuff like that. You just can't take everything personal." Police dispathers are also responsible for alerting the fire department and ambulance crews when they are needed. "If somebody calls the hospital for an ambulance, the hospital operator will get all the information needed, then they call me, and I dispatch the ambulance," Gar-

Along with dispatching duties, the dispatchers are responsible for setting off the toronado alarms when necessary. "I'm not sure I want to be sitting in this building if a tornado does hit." Garcia joked.

According to Denning, the dispatching duties at the sheriff's department are similar to the police department. "After we instruct the deputies, or take a call, we write everything down," Denning said. "We know every time a deputy steps out of their car. And we worry about them every time we don't hear from them." Dispatchers also must learn an almost entirely new language. They must learn to talk by using number codes and use complete words to denote letters, such as those on license tags. "I have to write everything down and tape it to my desk," Garcia said.

A computer teletype system also is used to track down driver's license numbers or vehicle registrations.

"It is easy to use," Denning said. "With this teletype we have access to records all over the country."

Both dispatchers said that they treat every call like a life or death

"Most of the time if the call is really serious, you don't have time to think about it," Denning said. "It really doesn't hit you until after the situation is over, then I feel just exhausted. It really drains all the energy out of your body to work a serious call.

Garcia added that she sometimes is guilty of taking the troubles of the day home with her. "I felt really sorry for the family who had those three children die in that fire not long ago, you just can't erase those things from your mind."

Many voters undecided about race

AUSTIN (AP) — Almost half of Texas' registered voters are still undecided in the Democratic governor's race, according to a mail survey taken by candidate Andrew Briscoe.

Briscoe told a Capitol news conference Thursday that answers received in the mail survey showed 47.7 percent of the registered voters answering the poll were undecided.

"I think this means no candidate, in either party, can win without a runoff," said Briscoe.

Responses came from 68 Democrats who were registgered voters, 52 Republicans and 74 independents. Briscoe said 43 percent of the registered voters replying did not think Gov. Mark White was doing a good job.

Briscoe did not disclose survey figures on any other Democratic candidates, including his own campaign.

Briscoe said he still had hopes there would be a statewide debate for Democratic candidates although the Texas League of Women. Voters has given up on the endeavor.

He said the Dallas Press Club had agreed to provide the forum, and all candidates have been asked if they can meet on one of eight suggested dates in April.

Holiday increases border traffic

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — As border traffic increases for Holy Week celebrations, one federal agency is on the alert for travelers who fit the profile of a terrorist because of unrest in the Middle East.

Easter week festivities have increased the flow of Mexican vacationers, U.S. students on spring break and local shoppers on the Gateway International Bridge.

But this year, Silvester Reyes, U.S. Border Patrol district supervisor in McAllen, said his agency is on the alert for anybody illegally crossing who fits the profile of a terrorist or could be associated with terrorist activity.

"We have had communications from our central office in Washington, D.C., to exercise particular caution during this period because of the events that have occurred in the Middle East," Reyes-said

Although the Border Patrol office was put on alert for potential terrorist activity twice this year, Reyes said the Tuesday directive was the first to refer to the nationality of the potential terrorists.

He said his office was directed to be on the alert for individuals from the Middle East, particularly Libyans.

Walgreen pulls drug off shelves

CHICAGO (AP) — An anonymous caller's assertion that Encaprin capsules had been tainted with cyanide prompted Walgreen Co. Inc. to remove the non-prescription pain reliever from its 1,170 stores nationwide, a company spokesman said.

A spokesman for the drug's manufacturer today confirmed that the company received an anonymous telephone call in which the caller claimed that Encaprin packages had been tampered with in Walgreen stores in Chicago and Detroit.

Tom Mammoser, director of corporate communications for Deerfield-based Walgreen, said late Thursday the company has no stores in Detroit and he didn't know if there actually had been any tampering.

Cheese case is warning to companies

BELLFLOWER, Calif. (AP) — Criminal charges against a company that made cheese blamed for at least 39 deaths last year should warn food makers they will be held accountable for tainted products, a prosecutor says.

Los Angeles County prosecutors filed a 60-count misdemeanor complaint Thursday against Jalisco Mexican Products Inc., president Gary McPherson and vice president Jose Luis Medina. The complaint alleged violations of California agriculture, health and safety codes.

Medina pleaded no contest to 12 counts in a plea bargain in which prosecutors agreed not to pursue the 48 other counts or seek a sentence beyond a year in prison and $12,000 in fines, said Cliff Klein, a deputy district attorney.

Medina, 45, who ran pasteurization and overall operations at the plant, was released on his own recognizance pending a May 20 court appearance at which he could be sentenced.

Plant triples chemical weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has tripled its capacity to develop chemical weapons at a major testing facility on the Volga River, according to a U.S. intelligence finding made available to The Associated Press.

The recently declassified data about the Shikhany Chemical Warfare Proving Ground near Volks showed an expansion of testing capability as well as a tripling of research and development floorspace.

The plant was built in the 1920s and has apparently been in operation without interruption since. It contains facilities for research, development and production of chemical warfare agents and materials, a U.S. official, who asked for anonymity, said Thursday.

The expansion began in 1970, but it was not clear whether the buildup has been steady since then or was recently accelerated.

"The Soviets have constructed new facilities at Shikhany that have tripled the amount of its research and development floorspace, and have constructed several new chemical agent-weapon test facilities there." the report said.

International Rockets fired at ex-consulate

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Three armor-piercing rockets were fired at the former U.S. consulate in Moslem west Beirut today in what may have been retaliation for the U.S. confrontation with Libya in the Gulf of Sidra.

Druse militia guards at the deserted three-story building said all three rockets missed the building. No casualties were reported. Residents of the seafront Ein Mreisseh district said the rockets punched three holes in the wall of a building next to the consulate.

The Moslem Voice of the Nation radio later said an anonymous telephone caller claimed responsibility for the attack on behalf of a previously unknown group, the Revolutionary Command-Omar Mukhtar Unit. The name suggests the group is pro-Libyan. Omar Mukhtar was a nationalist Libyan leader who waged an independence war against the Italian colonial government in the 1926.

The radio said the caller "threatened more blows against U.S. in-

Although the U.S. flag still flies over the former consulate, the building has been empty since the U.S. Embassy moved to Christian east Beirut in 1984.

Combest touring district

WASHINGTON — Congressmant Larry Combest (R-Texas) will hold two news conferences in the 19th District of Texas on Monday and Thursday to discuss a comprehensive energy legislative package that is designed to improve the oil and gas industry's economic situation through deregulation and reversing adverse tax provisions.

Combest will provide details of the Emergency Energy Act of 1986 at a 1 p.m. news conference in Odessa at the Congressman's Ector County office located at 400 West 4th Street, Room 201. The Lubbock News conference will be held Thursday at 9 a.m. at Combest's Lubbock Office, 1205 Texas Venue, Room 613.

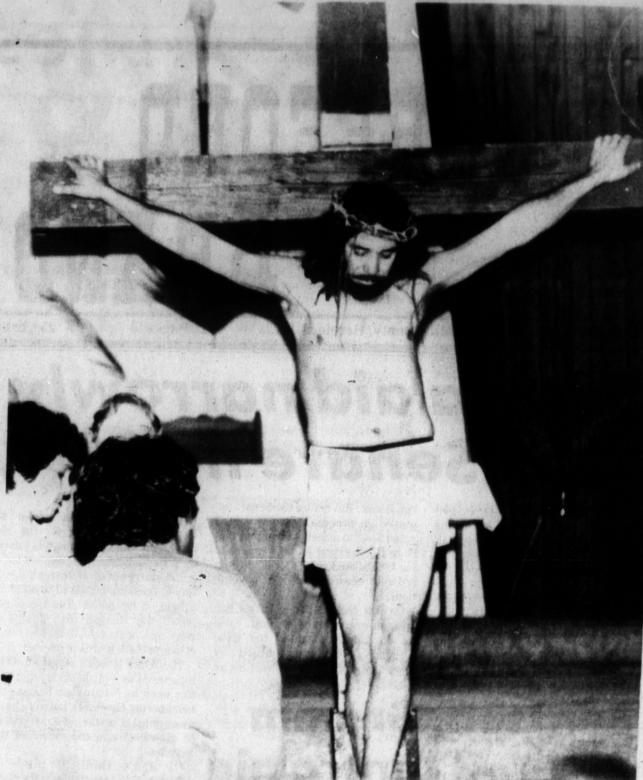

"While this energy package will provide an overall improvement in the industry's economic position, specific attention is made to two critical areas: 1-the need to avoid the permanent abandonment of high cost marginal production, such as from stripper wells, and 2-the need to maintain an exploration and development capability for future production of domestic reserves," said Combest.

The Senate plan bars Reagan from providing the Contras with "offensive" weapons until July 1, a proviso added to induce Nicaragua into peace talks.

Soviet-made equipment supplied

CAPIRE, Honduras (AP) — An army commander said Nicaraguan soldiers remain trapped inside Honduras, but that the Sandinistas have reportedly been reinforced and supplied by Soviet-made helicopters flying across the frontier.

Nicaragua's leftist government denies reports that up to 1,500 of its soldiers have crossed into Honduras. It says its soldiers have engaged

It says its soldiers have engaged Contra rebels on the Nicaraguan side of the border, and that reports of fighting in Honduras were made to bolster President Reagan's request for $100 million in aid to the Contras.

The Senate approved the package on Thursday, 53-47, and it will go back to the House for reconsideration. The House had earlier rejected the measure, 222-210.

The Honduran army Thursday showed reporters at this camp about six miles north of the border the bodies of five men it said were Sandinistas, as well as dozens of weapons, some Soviet-made.

Honduran Lt. Col. Danilo Carbajal

Honduran Lt. Col. Danilo Carbajal Molina said fighting was continuing about six to 10 miles northeast of his camp, but was mostly sporadic. The Contras have reportedly held the Sandinistas at bay for nearly a week.

The camp is about 150 miles east of the Honduran capital of Tegucigalpa, on the western edge of the triangular-shaped "Las Vegas salient" that juts into Nicaragua along the two Central American countries' common border.

Carbajal said Nicaragua reportedly was reinforcing its men with Mi-8 helicopters.

"I don't know how many reinforcements or how many new supplies they have brought in," he said. "But we have reports of Nicaraguan helicopter flights into this zone today."

He said Honduran border patrols had engaged in skirmishes with Sandinista soldiers, "who have been killed and buried on the spot by our soldiers."

"Nicaraguans remain in Honduras (and) have tried to flee to their country without finding the way out," Carbajal said.

Michael O'Brien, director of the U.S. Information Service in Tegucigalpa, said Thursday, "The Sandinistas belong to the regular army of their country and have been trained in counterinsurgency activities ... Of all this, our government will soon offer new and greater proof." He refused to elaborate.

The five dead men, shirtless and shoeless, were laid out in a gulley near the camp's helicopter landing pad.

"They were killed within the last 48 hours," said Maj. Miguel Perez, as he walked down the line of bodies. "They were killed by Honduran troops on our soil not far from here."

Reporters neither saw nor heard any fighting near the camp, manned by about 500 infantrymen airlifted into the area Wednesday by U.S. helicopters. But some residents said fighting had been heavy a few days

"There was a day of rockets, and another day of bombs," said Carla Sevilla, 37, a peasant woman. Roberto Hernandez, 30, a farmer, also said there had been a lot of fighting nearby. "We couldn't see it, but we could hear it," he said.

DEAR READER — Hiatal hernia,

a weakened opening in the diaphragm muscles through which the esophagus passes to reach the stomach, can cause heartburn, indigestion and gas. The symptoms seem to be much more severe in persons who are over-weight, because the added abdominal fat tends to exert pressure on the stomach and cause reflux, the backflow of stomach contents into the esophagus.

Medicines, such as antaeids and Tagamet, can often relieve the distress of hiatal hernia but do not cure, the weakness that allows stomach acid to flow upstream. Various forms of surgery may correct the problem, however. If you continue to experience discomfort from the hernia, I suggest that you see a gastroenterologist who can test you to determine if surgery is necessary.

I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report on hiatal hernia. Other readers should send 75 cents plus a long self-addressed, stamped enve-lope to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to ask for the Health Report on HIATAL HERNIA.

POLLY'S

DEAR POLLY - When shopping for a Christmas tree, what variety tree should I select to last the longest?

DEAR MATT - According to a Cornell University study, the pines will hold their needles the longest at room temperature, with or without water. However, with water (and no Christmas tree should be kept in the house without an ample supply of wa-ter), the Douglas and balsam firs and blue spruces will hold their needles just as well. White and Norway spruces tend to lose their needles a bit more readily. So really, the trick is to select the freshest tree available in whatever variety you like best, and set it in a stand to which you add water. A fresh tree will have bright, vibrantly colored needles, rather than dull and grayish needles. The needles should feel flexible, rather than stiff and brittle. Hold a branch in one hand. With the other hand, smooth the needles back toward the trunk. The needles should bend easily and feel soft and moist.

I'm sending you a copy of my newsletter "Caring for Christmas Trees and Holiday Plants," which has more Pointers for selecting and caring for your Christmas tree, as well as tips for bringing poinsettias, Christmas cactus and other holiday flowers into bloom. Others who would like this issue should send $1 for each copy to POL-

DEAR POLLY - If it's a rainy day and your children are between the ages of 8 and 10, here's something they can do besides watching TV. You may have heard of cutting pictures out of magazines. Well, you can make it an educational experience by having them make a scrapbook about one specific topic. For instance, a good topic would be pollution. They can find pictures of ways people pollute streams and air and even pictures of ways to stop it. - CHRISTIANNE

DEAR CHRISTIANNE - There are certainly many topics for a child to choose. And these scrapbooks could supply source material for future school projects, too! Thank you for a lovely Pointer. - POLLY

Denver, others perform at benefit for families

HOUSTON (AP) - Despite the Challenger tragedy that claimed the lives of seven astronauts, singer John Denver says the nation should proceed with space exploration and not "pause over this evil moment." "The show must go on," Denver said at a sold-out benefit performance he hosted Thursday night for the astronauts' families.

More than $50,000 was raised, and the money will be put into a fund for the astronauts' families and the Jojo, the size of a Labrador retriever, was picked up later near the shooting scene and was being treated at an animal facility.

Allbright, who sustained slight bite marks to the ankle, was working a second job as a security guard at a northwest Houston bank about 12:30 p.m. Wednesday when he was told a woman was passed out in a car behind the bank.

He said he was trying to wake the woman when the growling Jojo bolted from underneath the car and clamped its teeth onto his boot.

"When it came after me a second time, that's when I shot it in the nose," Allbright said. Wednesday was the first time the seven-year police veteran had to discharge his families of others killed or disabled in space flights, organizers said.

Family members of the seven Challenger astronauts who died when the space shuttle exploded shortly after takeoff were greeted with a standing ovation when introduced at the concert.

Some embraced, others wiped away tears.

Denver also sang a song for the first time in public titled "Flying for Me," which he wrote in memory of the seven astronauts.

Gerry Griffin, former director of Johnson Space Center, told the crowd that the dream of space exploration lives on.

"We are gathered here tonight as witnesses to the resiliency of the human spirit," he said. "I'm here to tell you the dream is alive." Joseph P. Allen, a former NASA

I then said, "You won't mind if I bring in the tools from my car and dismantle the machine so I can retrieve my money." Marcos' $39,000 shopping bill tentatively paid

WASHINGTON (AP) - A $39,000 shopping bill run up at U.S. military bases by the associates and family of former Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos has been paid on an "interim" basis with U.S. taxpayer dollars, a Navy official says.

The decision to reimburse the Air Force base exchanges with federal funds was made earlier this month by Adm. Ronald J. Hays, the commander in chief of the U.S. Pacific Command, according to Capt. Al Becker, a spokesman in Hawaii.

Hays authorized the issuance of a U.S. Treasury check to the exchange system, drawn on the Pacific Command's operational and maintenance fund, because he did not think the exchange system should be forced "to bear the burden of carrying these bills on its books," Becker said.

Hays fully expects his military account to be repaid, Becker said, although the matter of reimbursement has yet to be resolved.

Earlier this month, Pentagon sources disclosed Air Force officials were becoming increasingly concerned the bills at the Air Force exchanges in Guam and Hawaii never would be paid. The issue became a sensitive one because the base exchanges are self-supporting and profits are used to support morale, welfare and recreational programs for active-duty personnel.

The exchange system does not use money from Congress, and if the bill is not paid, "it's our people on Guam and Hawaii that could turn out the losers," said one Pentagon official who demanded anonymity.

"Admiral Hays was sensitive to the concern on the part of the officers and airmen and their families that the expenses that were incurred at exchanges would be a long time in being repaid," Becker explained in a telephone interview Thursday. "It's important to underscore that this is only an interim thing until we find out ultimately how we're going to take care of all the billings. How that will be resolved, we don't know yet," Becker said.

The State Department said Thursday the question of getting reimbursed by the Marcos party had yet to be

The confirmation by Becker that it was Hays who authorized issuance of the Treasury check came as a member of the House Armed Services Committee warned he was investigating the matter.

Rep. Dan Daniel, D-Va., chairman of the panel's readiness subcommittee, said he was concerned "that the U.S. government not get stuck with

Earlier this month, Pentagon sources disclosed the Marcos party had been allowed to "charge" more than $12,250 worth of personal and household necessities at the exchange at Andersen Air Force Base on Guam.

After arriving in Hawaii, 44 members of the Marcos party signed for goods worth $15,269.78 during one shopping trip, and 14 Filipinos charged another $11,575.29 during a second visit to the exchange.

That brought to $39,101.76 the value of goods charged by the group since fleeing their homeland.

But to Jesus' followers, it was sheer disaster, an utter, horrible defeat. How else consider it? What other point could there be than that absolute, awful end?

Something strange was going on there, and he had tried to prepare them for it, repeatedly admonishing them about what was coming, but they wouldn't hear of it.

Even back when the apostle Peter first affirmed his conviction that Jesus was "the Christ," Jesus had told them that he "must suffer many things, and be rejected ... and be killed, and on the third day be raised."

Peter promptly rejected any such a grim prospect, rebuking Jesus for even mentioning it. But Jesus flared up, distressed that his chief apostle wouldn't face the facts.

"Get behind me, Satan!" Jesus snapped. "For you are not on the side of God, but of men."

An odd note, there. What was going

For one thing, the episode points up the "radical dicontinuity between God's purposes and humanity's purposes," says theologian Ronald Goetz of Elmhurst College in Illinois.

At "the very moment when we are most convinced that we are 'on the side of God,' we may be opposing him," Goetz writes in the ecumenical weekly, The Christian Century.

He says the whole biblical story is that of "God's dragging his people, kicking and screaming, toward the kingdom," with them resisting all

"It is inevitable that there will be a vast gap in intelligence and perspective between the respective sides when God and people stand in relationship," Goetz says. "God's thoughts are not our thoughts."

Then, as now, those closest to Jesus and who had given up everything to follow him, looked for some tangible satisfactions for it, some triumph. Two apostles even vied over who eventually would get the highest positions.

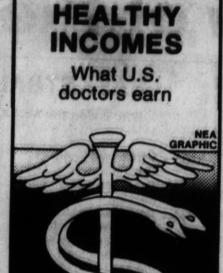

Beyond them, and beyond many since, has been what Goetz calls "Jesus' steel logic" - that any total commitment ultimately implies giving all, that it cannot stop short of the

On that first Good Friday, Jesus hung there until his life expired, giving his all, and the wind rose, thunder roared and tremors shook the Earth. "It is finished."

Former YMCA day care teacher sentenced to life

EL PASO, Texas - A jury sentenced former YMCA day-care teacher Michelle "Mickey" Noble, 35, to one life term and 17 other prison terms totaling 311 years after convicting her earlier in the day of 18 counts of child sexual abuse.

Jurors imposed two 60-year prison terms, one 50-year term, 11 12-year terms and three three-year terms Thursday night, in addition to the life sentence.

Defense attorney Charles Roberts said the conviction will be appealed because the prosecution's case centered on hearsay testimony by parents of their children's 'outcries." Those outcries described a variety of deviant sexual acts the students claimed took place at Mrs. Noble's house.

Roberts argued throughout the trial that Mrs. Noble was denied her rights, under the U.S. and Texas constitutions, to confront and crossexamine her accusers.

Roberts had asked the jury to give Mrs. Noble 10 years' probation and a chance for rehabilitation from "this one aberration" from what he said was otherwise a "good life."

Assistant District Attorney Debra Kanof pleaded with jurors to impose the maximum sentence.

"Life is not a sentence; it's a symbol of how much those children are worth," she said.

After receiving the case on Wednesday, jurors deliberated five hours before recessing, then deliberated for about two more hours Thursday morning before returning with a guilty verdict on 18 of 19 counts involving either aggravated sexual assault or indecency with a

Their verdict evoked strong emotions from the parents and from Mrs. Noble's young children. Her 8-yearold son climbed into his father's lap, while her 13-year-old daughter wailed loudly inside the courtroom, where relatives and Mrs. Noble's close friends sequestered themselves for more than an hour.

Mrs. Noble returned red-eyed to the courtroom three hours after the verdict as 205th District Judge Sam Callan began to prepare jurors for the punishment part of the trial. Crying, Mrs. Noble took the stand to teli jurors that she never before had been arrested.

Her son, in the courtroom for the first time, sat in the second row of the gallery, staring at his mother while clutching a rabbit's foot for

The spirit of Easter and resurrection should guide jurors to give Mrs. Noble 10 years' probation and a chance for "rebirth," Roberts said.

"As far as rebirth, this is her first offense. She's always had a good life generally," Roberts said. She had good qualities, although jurors saw bad elements of her character of which you found her guilty," he said.

"I would say it was out of her character to do those things, not in her character," he told jurors.

Bentsen going to Mexico for trade talks

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States and Mexico are 'always going to have their differences," says Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, who nevertheless will travel to Mexico next week to meet with President de la Madrid and seek a relaxation of U.S.-Mexico trade restrictions.

"It's a matter of making progress," Bentsen said. He said he wants to encourage Mexico to enter GATT, the General Agreement on Trade and Tariffs, and also discuss a bilateral agreement to lower tariffs on both sides of the U.S.-Mexico

"It isn't a matter of just our lowering our tariffs for them. It has to be on both sides," Bentsen said. "They say, 'uno mano lave el otro, y los dos laven la cara - one hand washes the other and they both wash the face."

Bentsen, the ranking minority member on the Senate Finance Trade subcommittee and head of a Democratic working group on trade, said he thought Mexican officials "in turn, want to give me a message insofar as trade."

He said the last time the United States had a trade surplus with Mexico was in 1981.

"Last year, our trade deficit with them was $5.8 billion, a dramatic reversal in that situation," he said.

Bentsen said the deficit was expected to shrink this year, but that is not good news.

"First, it is bad news because Mexico needs a larger trade surplus, not a smaller one, in order to service its international debt," Bentsen said. 'The second reason it is bad news is because it signals a decline in overall trade between our two countries.

"The deficit won't shrink because of a surge in U.S. exports to that country. We are expecting reduced exports, in fact. They just won't be reduced as much as Mexico's exports to us will be."

In comments announcing his trip on Wednesday, Bentsen said he would also meet with officials of Pemex, the Mexican national oil company, and discuss whether Mexico should be exempt from the oil import fee he has proposed.

President Reagan opposes an import fee, but Bentsen said, "I think it's still a viable possibility.'

Some critics of the import fee say it wouldn't be effective because Mexico and Canada, which can supply all

A preview of the NCAA Final Four

Duke

By TOM FOREMAN Jr. AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) - Bob Bender continues to pile up his share of space in NCAA basketball championship's trivia book.

"The fact that we made it to the Final Four and the championship as a player, then to come back as a coach makes me even more appreciative of having gotten here as a player," says Bender, one of three assistants to Duke Coach Mike Krzyzewski.

Bender is about to participate in his third Final Four after two stints as a player. He was a member of Bobby Knight's Indiana team which downed Michigan for the 1976 title.

Bender was a junior on the 1978 Duke team that lost to Kentucky in the championship game. He is the only player ever to participate on two Final Four teams.

"I think I'm very fortunate in that when I started in coaching I was able to start at my alma mater," Bender says. "If there's one goal you have to have as an assistant coach, it's maybe to be able to coach where you played."

He says coaching is not necessarily aided by playing.

"Now I know all the work that goes into the coaching part of it," Bender says. "It is amazing. I don't care how knowledgeable you are as a player, or how much you think you know, once you become a coach you really get your eyes opened."

Bender started his coaching career at the same time as Duke's current senior class descended on the Durham campus as freshmen. They struggled that season to an 11-17 finish, but Bender was encouraged.

"I was very fortunate to come into a situation where the talent was there already," he said. "I think all of us as a coaching staff felt that the chemistry of this team came together in France."

Almost to a man, France is the popular choice as the turning point for Johnny Dawkins, Jay Bilas, Mark Alarie and David Henderson after their first years at Durham. The Blue Devils toured France after the 1983 season and returned home to post a 24-10 mark and earn their first NCAA appearance under Krzyzewski.

"We were in a situation where we had to depend on each other," he said. "It was just a matter of time before the playing part of it came together with all of the little personalities. This is the final result."

It might be enough for some teams to make the four-year transition from doormat to contender, but Bender says the Blue Devils have to develop an even greater desire this weekend to reach the top.

"You've got to be selfish at this point," he said. "Nobody can take away from you that you got here. That's over and done. But somebody can take it away if you want to get to that championship game."

Getting to the championship game involves beating a Kansas team which the Blue Devils knocked off in the finals of the Big Apple NIT last

"I think both the teams are quite different now," Henderson said. "I think that was a really big offensive game. Now, we've played more games and gotten more experience. I think it will be another one of those great ball games."

It turns out that an NCAA investigation that LSU considered closed may be very much open, after all. And in the worst of scenarios, that could send the Tigers home from this rich tournament without a dime to show for their trouble.

The school has been the focal point of some season-long curiosity by the folks in Mission, Kan., who guard collegiate athletics so scrupulously. And the questions are lingering, primarily about the eligibility of was asked for documentation of Vargas' eligibility. The team voted, and Brown supported, a boycott if the popular Dominican center were not permitted to play. The Tigers then went ahead, beginning an unlikely tournament drive past four favorites - Purdue, Memphis State, Georgia Tech and Kentucky - to reach this lofty plateau.

"It is our understanding that he was completely cleared," said LSU's assistant athletic director, Joe Steve Horton, an NCAA legislative assistant working on the case, indicated that LSU had complied with that request, saying, "I got all the information I asked for."

Did that then clear Vargas and his school?

By JANE GIBSON Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) - Louisville Coach Denny Crum is ready for Dale Brown and his traveling "freak show."

Crum is busy playing down - and Brown is just as busy playing up -Louisiana State's "freak" defense, which Louisville will face Saturday in the semifinals of the NCAA basketball tournament.

Brown describes it as a combination of changeup and matchup zones that quickly changes to a box-andone, diamond-and-one, or triangleand-two based on various cues.

The LSU coach credits the defense with holding Kentucky All-American Kenny Walker to just four points in the second half of the Southeast Regional finals after the 6-foot-8 forward had scored 16 points in the first half.

"There's nothing they can throw at us we haven't already seen," Crum said. "We've seen all those things a number of times."

Not exactly true, Coach Crum, savs Brown.

"Maybe Coach Crum is trying to make his team feel good telling them not to be confused because they've seen it before," Brown answers. "I doubt if he has seen it."

Crum said the defense would be especially hard to play against his seventh-ranked Cardinals, who have all five starters averaging in double figures

"I think it would be very difficult for them to play that kind of defense against us because we're a wellbalanced team," Crum said. "If you rely on that type of thing, especially when a team has had a week to prepare, it usually hurts you more than it helps you."

Louisville is on a pace for a school record in field goal percentage. The Cardinals have hit 52.9 percent from the field, ahead of the 52.1 percent performance of the 1980 NCAA championship team. All but one of Louisville's starters is shooting 50 percent or better from the field. The one exception is guard Milt Wagner, who is at 49.8 percent.

'We do feel the team that plays the best defense will win," said Louisville senior guard Jeff Hall, the Cardinals' zone buster with his outside shooting. "We're not concerned with the freak defense. It's just a name for defenses we've played against."

Whether Denny has played against it or not, I don't know," Brown said. "I do know this: You don't need any psychological warfare to know they're one of the greatest teams in the country and he's one of the greatest coaches.

"If we can't confuse them throughout the game, they'll play Monday for the championship because we don't have the firepower they have. If we can confuse them and neutralize their superior talent, there's a good chance we can play for the title.'

Teams are from four conferences

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) - What we have here is a Final Four with all of the song-and-dance - and no theme.

The NCAA basketball championships of recent years have become, like the Super Bowl, a four-letter word - hype. More a pageant than a sporting event.

There's plenty of that here, too, but what's missing here, with Duke, Kansas, Louisville and Louisiana State, is a common denominator, the kind of story that binds two or more teams or players together.

Last year in Lexington, Ky., it was the Big East Feast, with Georgetown, St. John's and Villanova.

This year's four teams represent four conferences.

Last year had the possibility of a repeat champion. Georgetown missed by one victory, losing to Villanova.

This year, Villanova didn't make it past the second round. Two years ago in Seattle it was the Battle of the Big Men -Georgetown's Patrick Ewing against Houston's Akeem Olajuwon.

This year's "Big Man," Danny Manning of Kansas, is measured more by reputation than by his 6-foot-11 frame.

Three years ago, Houston's Phi Slama Jama fraternity owned the

This year, there's more dunking going on in the coffee shops.

Four years ago, North Carolina Coach Dean Smith came to the Final Four bearing a monkey on his back. In six tries, he had never won a championship. Would he finally succeed? He did.

This year, neither Kansas Coach Larry Brown, nor Duke Coach Mike Krzyzewski nor Louisville's Denny Crum nor LSU's Dale Brown wears anything resembling a millstone.

The only angle to all of this, therefore, is, who will win the national championship? There is none of the fabricated foolishness that so often pervades these events.

No headbands. No refrigerators. Just basketball.

And money. This is, of course, Dallas. But it could just as well be Lexington or Seattle or any other city fortunate enough to become the college basketball capital of the nation for a few days each March.

Reunion Arena, more than 16,000 spectators won't have so much as one thought about the Texas Longhorns' I-formation, about the Dallas Cowboys' Super Bowl chances.

This may be football country, but for now basketball is king.

Duke, champion of the East, comes here hoping to prove that its No. 1 ranking is justified, and 6-2 guard Johnny Dawkins seeks to cement his position as one of the top two or three draft choices next June.

Standing in their way Saturday is second-ranked Kansas, which overtimed Michigan State in the controversial clock game, getting 10 to 15 precious extra seconds, then beat North Carolina State to take the Midwest title. Ron Kellogg, slowed by a sprained left arch, says he will play alongside Manning.

In the first game Saturday. Louisville, the seventh-ranked champs of the West Regional, will play LSU, the surprise entry this year, unranked - as Villanova was a year ago.

None of these youngsters, Dawkins, Manning and the rest, will be making a dime off the extended weekend's proceedings, according to the dictates of the NCAA.

1907-1977

Their time will come later, when agents and pro teams discuss seven-On Saturday and Monday night in figure contracts. For now, it is their teams which reap the benefits of their stardom

> The Final Four - and the Final Two - means money in the bank for the teams which get this far and the city which wins their presence.

Each team receives $835,300 - to be shared by their respective conferences. And it is expected that the 20,000 or so visitors who come to see them will leave behind something like $6 million in restaurants and hotels and other tourist-related businesses.

To own a ticket to Saturday's and Monday night's games is to be wealthy, one way or another.

There are those who simply must be wherever the action is. They are the chosen few.

Those who purchased their ducats year or so ago as a $46-per-seat investment but can just as well watch the game on television can achieve a return that would make even E.F. Hutton stop and listen. The asking price here, where scalping is legal, ranges anywhere from $650 to $1,500.

Tickets orders for next year's Final Four in New Orleans have been in the mail for several weeks now. Kansas City, Seattle and Denver await their windfalls in succeeding

Psychology, surgery lessen sexual impact

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) -Non-traditional surgery to remove some ovarian cancers is effective against the disease and can preserve a woman's fertility, while frank talk can help male cancer patients avoid blocks to sexual performance, researchers say.

Other alterations of traditional surgical approaches can preserve sexual function and body image in some women with cancer of the cervix or vulva, said Dr. Philip DiSaia, chairman of the obstetrics and gynecology department at the University of California College of Medicine in Irvine.

The techniques remove less tissue than classical approaches and do not diminish a patient's quality of life as much, he said Wednesday at a science writers seminar sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

In some early-stage cancers in one ovary, for example, surgeons can spare the other ovary and the uterus rather than sacrificing the woman's fertility, he said.

Follow-up chemotherapy is so effective at catching any cancer that might have spread from the ovary that not removing the other organs entails minimal risk for women who want to stay fertile, said DiSaia, who based his conclusion on a study of more than 50 women over a period of about six years.

Traditional surgery for cancer of the vulva means loss of the clitoris and both sets of outside lips of the vaginal area, but small cancers can be treated without such mutilation. DiSaia said. If the cancer has not spread to nearby lymph nodes, only small-scale surgery to remove the tumor is needed, and sexual function can be preserved, he said.

In small, early-stage cervical cancer, modifying the classical surgical procedure helps patients avoid chronic constipation and difficulty in urinating, DiSaia said. Only about 15 percent of cervical cancer patients are candidates for the modified procedure, he said.

Other researchers said Wednesday that in men, many barriers to sexual satisfaction that appear after cancer treatment are psychological.

"People choose to stop their sex lives. Cancer treatments don't," said Leslie Schover, assistant clinical psychologist at the M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston.

A study of 74 men treated for testicular cancer found psychologically based sexual problems years after treatment, especially among those who reported concealing emotions, said Patricia Rieker, assistant professor of social medicine and health policy at Harvard Medical School.

The men all had one testicle removed, 85 percent had undergone chemotherapy that may cause temporary infertility, and two-thirds had undergone additional surgery which, as a side effect, permanently stopped ejaculation at orgasm.

When studied, they averaged age 30 and had completed treatment two to 10 years before.

Besides treatment-related infertility and inability to ejaculate, Rieker said, some of them reported failure to maintain erection or reach orgasm, lack of satisfaction from sex or lack of sexual desire.

On movie set

Keaton can be a pain

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Actor Michael Keaton readily admits that he can sometimes be a pain on a movie set.

"I get excited and I express myself," he said. "That can cause problems, but that's a risk you have to take. You gotta look after yourself. After all, it's your face that's up there on the screen. You're the one who's going to take the knocks if the Dicture fails.

"I read about Dustin Hoffman being nuts or a pain on his movies. I can understand why he stands up for what he believes in, though I admit there are different ways of doing it."

The star of "Mr. Mom" and "Johnny Dangerously" can now be seen in "Gung Ho," Paramount's timely comedy about the takeover of an American auto plant by a Japanese company. The director is Ron Howard, who launched Keaton's movie career with "Night Shift."

"Ron and I complement each other," Keaton said. "... There's a lot of trust between us; Ron is secure enough that he is not threatened by what I say and do, as some directors are."

That doesn't mean that Keaton was a pussycat on "Gung Ho." Along with Howard and producer Tony Ganz, the actor argued for a Tokyo location to open the movie. Paramount finally agreed to the extra ex-

"It didn't cost much," said Keaton. 'We shot it like a student film, with a small crew, grabbing shots, improvising scenes, me talking to passers-by on the street. It was important to the picture. With comedies you gotta get out of the box fast and down to first base like a shot.'

Michael Keaton, a fast talker with a broad Irish face, thinning brown hair and darting eyes, seems to have been off and running since his childhood in a Pittsburgh suburb.

He studied speech for two years at Kent State University in Ohio, then returned to Pittsburgh, driving a cab by day and acting in plays at night. When he moved to Los Angeles, he tended bar, parked cars and performed his own routines at the Com-

His first acting job came on "Maude." Then he joined the 1977 sitcom, "All's Fair," starring Richard Crenna and Bernadette Peters. On "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," Keaton met his wife, actress Caroline McWilliams.

Keaton starred as a parole officer in a short-run series, "Report to Murphy," then won the "Night Shift" role as the hustler who turned a morgue into a call girl operation.

"I came along just at the time when the changeover from television to film actors was becoming possible," he said. "Tom Hanks and other guys followed me. Until that time, the studios believed that the only good comedy actors were in Plant watering system working well in U.S.

By The Associated Press

A plant watering system developed in Israel to cope with irrigation problems in barren stretches of desert is helping homeowners take care of their plants in the United States.

Called slow flow, or drip irrigation, the system can reduce the amount of water used by as much as 50 percent.

New do-it-yourself kits from several manufacturers make it possible for homeowners to adapt this technology. True Temper Slo-Flo kits, for example, come in three different configurations for specific applications - landscaping, patios and vegetable gardens.

The kits snap together and hook up an outside water tap. Timers can e added.

Tools needed for assembly are a ape measure for determining engths of tubing, and a pair of cissors or a knife for cutting tubing.

o adhesives are required.
First, a drawing should be made howing lawns, gardens and plan-ings with rough distances and inluding an outline of your house with vailable faucets. Next, determine ow best to serve each specific area.
Landscaping that contains needled lantings and flowers, for example, tould be provided a very fine,

For gardens and planters, water should be dripped slowly at the base of plantings, allowing the ground to absorb every drop. To meet these needs, some kits contain perforated tubing and small "dripper" nozzles for planters.

Installation should be started at the faucet, where a filter screen and flow regulator is inserted into a hose connector. If required by local law, an anti-siphon device may have to be

The supply hose either can be permanently buried or laid across the

The landscape kit comes with 80 feet of half-inch poly tubing and with two elbows and "T" connectors to provide additional flexibility in signing a watering system. Each kit also contains 12 half-circle sprayers that will each cover a six-foot radius and 12 full-circle sprayers that each cover a 12-foot radius.

There are 20 "risers" in each kit, used to support each spray nozzle whether the water line has been buried or not. Each riser is pushed into the poly tubing at the point where a spray is desired, and threaded into a snug fit. They don't leak. A spray nozzle is then screwed into the

WHICH VOICE ARE YOU LISTENING

I advise you to obey only the Holy Spirit's instructions. He will tell you where to go and what to do, and then you won't always be doing the wrong things your evil nature wants you to. For we naturally love to do evil things that are just the opposite from the things that the Holy Spirit tells us to do; and the good things we want to do when the Spirit has his way with us are just the opposite of our natural desires. These two forces within us are constantly fighting each other to win control over us, and our wishes are never free from their pressures. When you are guided by the Holy Spirit you need no longer force yourself to obey Jewish laws.

But when you follow your own wrong inclinations your lives will produce these evil results; impure thoughts, eagerness for lustful pleasure, idolatry, spiritism (that is, encouraging the activity of demons), hatred and fighting, jealousy and anger, constant effort to get the best for yourself, complaints and criticisms, the feeling that everyone else is wrong except those in your own little group-and there will be wrong doctrine, envy, murder, drunkeness, wild parties, and all that sort of thing. Let me tell you again as I have before, that anyone living that sort of life will not inherit the kingdom of God. (Galatians 5:16-21)
