

Canyon to push for I-27 Hereford exit

The Canyon Chamber of Commerce, with a stamp of approval from Canyon City Commission, has proposed putting signs to indicate the most direct route to Hereford for motorists northbound on I-27, it was reported Thursday by The Canyon News.

Canyon C of C manager Beverly Bennett said rerouting traffic with new signs would not only aid travelers, but could be a boon to Canyon businesses and tourist attractions.

At present, northbound motorists wanting to go to Hereford on Hwy. 60 have to be "skilled orienteers or have an extra measure of patience," said the chamber manager. If the motorist misses Canyon, he could have to backtrack from the overpass at McCormick Road, several miles north of Canyon.

The proposed road signs would signal motorists to exit I-27 at Hwy. 217, the Palo Duro Highway, which becomes 4th Avenue. Signs would then conduct traffic along 4th Avenue to 11th Street, and then north under the railroad bridge to Hwy. 60.

Don Day, resident engineer with the Texas Highway Department, has received the request and has sent it on to the highway department's office in Amarillo.

"It's under study," Day told The News. "There are certain procedures that must be followed. We're taking it under advisement and I can't tell what our attitude will be."

Day pointed out that many tourists exit I-27 at Tulia and take Hwy. 86 to Dimmitt and turn north on US-385 to Hereford—a distance of 53 miles. "If they go to Hereford from Tulia through Canyon, it's 69 miles," he added.

Man has seizure during search

The search of an automobile by Hereford police Wednesday afternoon took an unexpected turn when one of the occupants in that car suddenly suffered a seizure.

Police had reason to suspect the presence of a controlled substance in an automobile traveling on West U.S. Highway 60 at about 3 p.m. It was believed that one of the occupants in that car may have had cocaine in his possession. The car was stopped and a search conducted, according to Hereford Police Detective Mike Ahrens.

No controlled substance was found, and persons in the car were being told that they were free to go when one man began to have some form of seizure. An ambulance was called to the scene, and the man was taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital.

The incident is still under investigation.

Bike safety: common sense

By KAY PECK
Staff Writer

A bicycle ridden correctly can give a child independence. A bicycle ridden carelessly can cause disaster.

In many ways the bicycle holds a unique place in a child's life. It is a special combination of toy and tool. Unlike most toys, a bicycle brings with it a certain amount of responsibility. Perhaps more so than at any time prior to that point in his life, a child on a bicycle is responsible for his or her own safety.

Ready to ride

Elov Valdez, son of Elov and Yolanda Valdez, prepares to climb on his bike for the journey home from West Central Elementary School.

"Ride defensively. Don't expect the other guy to watch for you," said Hereford Policeman Roy Rector.

Rector is frequently assigned the task of lecturing local school children on bicycle safety. He is also well-known to Hereford children for his presentations on DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education).

A bicycle is an important milestone in a child's life. This two-wheeled vehicle is a large step in the slow climb to adult independence.

When a parent presents a child with a bicycle, he or she needs to teach the child more than the balance needed to stay upright. The lessons taught about bicycle safety may mean the difference between safety and injury, life and death.

Rector points out that the boundaries set by the parents can be as important to a child's safety as those set by the law.

"Know where your kids are. Know where they're going," Rector said.

The officer also recommends that parents be active in checking the mechanical condition of their children's bicycles.

"It wouldn't hurt Dad, a time or two, to get on his kid's bike and ride it a block or so," Rector said.

He said many children, especially younger ones, may not be aware of mechanical flaws.

"Some kids won't know the handlebar's falling off until it falls off," he said.

Rector gives a number of pointers on how to ride a bike safely. Some of those instructions are:

--Bicycles are subject to most of the same laws as motor vehicles. This includes riding on the right side of the road and stopping at stop signs.

--Never ride with more two bicyclists abreast.

--In business districts, bicycles should not be ridden on the sidewalks. The pedestrian traffic is too heavy in these areas, increasing the chances of an accident. If riding on a sidewalk in a residential area, bicyclists should yield to pedestrians.

--When riding at night, a bicycle must have a white headlight visible from 500 feet and a red reflector or taillight visible from 50 to 300 feet.

--Never carry more people on a bicycle than it is designed to carry.

--Bikes used on the street are required to have brakes. Many of the new free-style bikes should not be ridden on the street because of the absence of brakes.

"They're either going to get hurt or wear out a lot of tennis shoes stopping," Rector said.

--The bicycle should be maintained in good mechanical condition.

Rector suggests that bicyclists not ride while wearing any form of headphone.

"You need all your senses when you're on the street... no matter what you're driving," he said.

--The bike should be properly adjusted for the rider. This includes seat and handlebar height.

--Bicyclists should avoid busy streets. If a child finds himself in a situation where he must cross a busy street, Rector recommends getting off the bicycle and walking it across.

"Most of these things are just common sense," Rector said.

Demos battle for Wright cause

WASHINGTON (AP) - House Democrats are girding for a bruising battle over the ethics case of their speaker, Jim Wright of Texas, and acknowledging that the worst may be yet to come.

"We haven't hit bottom yet," said Rep. Charles Wilson, a fellow Texan who is among Wright's most battle-ready defenders. Wilson said he expects more damage to Wright when the House ethics committee releases its report Monday and formally charges the speaker with several dozen rules violations.

But even before the charges were lodged, Wright was beginning his counteroffensive. In a carefully scripted and sometimes emotional speech on Thursday, he vehemently denied any intentional wrongdoing.

"I am confident that in the 34 years I've served in the Congress, I have not violated any of those basic rules nor any commonly accepted standard of ethical behavior," Wright told a packed room of reporters and television cameras.

With his top leadership lieutenants and many Texas colleagues at his side, Wright grew emotional as he defended his wife against a charge she did not do adequate work for the $18,000-a-year salary she was paid by a Fort Worth business partner.

"My wife is a good, decent, caring, thoroughly honorable person," he said, his voice choking. "I'll damned well fight to protect her honor and her integrity against any challenge by any source, whatever the cost."

The defense buoyed Democrats who already support the speaker, and many seemed prepared to fight.

"If you live in a glass house, you shouldn't throw rocks," said Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Texas. "Most of us in the House are prepared to eat a steady diet of glass for the next few weeks."

But others were dreading the battles to come and some expressed doubts whether the party could afford politically to maintain Wright as its most visible spokesman - particularly if the case leads to punishment. "The ground would start to move under him if he were reprimanded," said Rep. Pat Williams, D-Mont.

"The mood is bleak," Rep. Robert Mrazek, D-N.Y., told The New York Times. "There is recognition by virtually all of the people I would consider professional politicians that he will not survive." And he added: "For the first time, a couple of Texans have said to me they think it's all over."

The ethics committee, six Democrats and six Republicans, put the final touches on its report late Thursday and scheduled a Monday morning news conference to release it. The report will include a "statement of alleged violations" enumerating several dozen specific violations of House rules, said sources familiar with the investigation.

Under the rules, the panel's standard for issuing such a citation - the equivalent of an indictment - is that it has found "reason to believe" the violations occurred. For the committee to prove those charges requires the more difficult standard of "clear and convincing" evidence.

Wright asked that he be allowed as soon as possible to go before the ethics panel and present his defense and begin offering rebuttal evidence.

Along with the concern over Wright's standing came worry that the ethics committee might be setting a new and more difficult standard for congressional behavior, particularly in calling a spouse's income a "gift" and in determining that the business partner who paid Mrs. Wright, George Mallick, had a direct interest in legislation before the Congress.

Mallick paid Mrs. Wright's salary and gave the Wrights free use of a condominium in Fort Worth and a 1979 Cadillac. Under the rules, a lawmaker can accept no more than $100 a year in gifts from a person with direct legislative interests.

On that issue, the most potentially damaging to Wright among all the charges, the ethics committee voted 8-4 to find "reason to believe" the gifts to the Wrights were improper, with Democrats Chet Atkins of Massachusetts and Bernard Dwyer of New Jersey siding with the six committee Republicans.

One source said the panel based its finding not on any specific interest Mallick had, but on the more general grounds that as an investor in real estate and oil and gas ventures he had an inherent direct interest in congressional action on matters such as savings and loan regulation and taxation.

The other issues were more clear cut, the source said. On whether the car and condominium constituted unreported gifts, the panel was unanimous. The vote was 10-2 to place Mrs. Wright's salary in that category. And it also was 10-2 to hold that Wright sought to evade outside income limits through bulk sales of his book, "Reflections of a Public Man."

Police investigate reports

Damages totaled $4,000 in a case of criminal mischief reported to the Hereford Police Department late Thursday morning. It's not known when suspects smashed holes in almost every interior wall of a vacant house located in the 300 block of East Sixth. The damage was discovered when a Realtor inspected the property.

A complaint of cruelty to animals led to the discovery of a large number of dogs locked in a house and a shed in the 900 block of S. Miles. The animals had apparently been left without any food or water.

Other incidents investigated by city police were: A report of indecency with a child in the 400 block of Ave. E; a stolen license plate reported in the 700 block of Union; theft of a gun reported in the 200 block of Ave. B; family problems reported in the 400 block of Ave. B; burglary of a motor vehicle reported in the 700 block of Stanton ($100 in stolen property);

Two arrests were made by city police, including a man, 45, for driving while intoxicated, and a man, 52, for public intoxication.

Police issued six citations and investigated three minor traffic accidents.

WASHINGTON - House Democrats are girding for a bruising battle over the ethics case of their speaker, Jim Wright of Texas, and acknowledging that the worst may be yet to come.

WASHINGTON - Congressional approval of a compromise $49.7 million package of non-military aid for the Nicaraguan rebels gives President Bush bipartisan support to pressure the Sandinista government into keeping its promises on instituting democratic reforms, lawmakers say.

UNDATED - The nation's worst oil spill is provoking boycotts of some Exxon stations, galvanizing protests from enraged citizens and talk jockeys, and leading to reports of bomb threats. It's also inspiring some slick jokes.

MATAMOROS, Mexico - With a pick and shovel and his hands, a man suspected of involvement in a drug-smuggling sect was forced to dig up the body of the 13th victim of what are thought to be revenge and sacrificial killings.

NEW YORK - Traditional academic openness is going by the boards in the race to understand cold nuclear fusion as scholars withhold findings that could make them big money.

WASHINGTON - Once the Monday deadline for filing 1988 federal income-tax returns passes, the average worker still will have to toil an additional 17 days before having earned what government tax collectors will demand for 1989.

MATAMOROS, Mexico - The search for victims of revenge and sacrificial killings by a drug-smuggling sect was scheduled to resume today with heavy equipment borrowed from U.S. officials, a day after Mexican authorities forced one of the sect's members to dig up the 13th body to be unearthed.

BROWNSVILLE - Heads turned when Sara Maria Aldrete roamed the halls of Texas Southmost College. Friends and teachers describe the 24-year-old, tall, thin, fair-haired student as cheery, competitive and studious. But Ms. Aldrete, who stands at least 6 feet tall, had another side - a dark side - police on both sides of the Rio Grande now say.

DALLAS - Billionaire H. Ross Perot may not begin any profit-making ventures with his new company before Dec. 1, but may continue to hire employees from his old firm, purchased by General Motors, for the next 2 1/2 years, a Virginia judge has ruled.

SAN ANTONIO - The president of a Trinity University fraternity said he is disappointed with the school's decision for probation because the decision was made before the facts were presented.

DALLAS - A racetrack proposed for a portion of the Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport may not be built, track promoters say. Fire early Friday
The Hereford Volunteer Fire Department's new truck, Engine 3 at left, saw its first action early this morning at a fire at 307 Lake Street in Hereford. Creosote had built up in a chimney at the home from burning crosssties in the fireplace, causing the small fire. The fire caused little damage. It was reported at 6:50 a.m.

Texas Democrats support Speaker

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas Democrats say Speaker Jim Wright should be able to hold on to his job through the maelstrom ahead over whether the Fort Worth politician violated the rules of the House.

"Clearly the speaker's going to fight. I think he should. I don't think he violated the rules of the House," said Rep. Martin Frost, a Dallas Democrat who believes the House ethics committee has given an "expansive reading of the rules" to Wright's case.

"I think he'll survive. The key is, did he violate the law. Nowhere, nowhere can you find any evidence where he violated the law," said Rep. Bill Sarpalius, an Amarillo Democrat.

Wright, in a 30-minute counter-offensive Thursday to refute allegations against him by the ethics committee, denied violating any rules and asked for a quick decision from the bipartisan panel.

"No public figure has been pilloried so mercilessly by leaked information, speculation in the national press as Wright has for 10 months and he's basically been defenseless during that period of time," Rep. John Bryant, a Dallas Democrat, said after Wright's sometimes emotional defense at a Capitol news conference.

"He did a tremendous job laying everything on the table and telling it like it is," Sarpalius said.

Rep. Ron Coleman, an El Paso Democrat, said "Wright's press conference was 'long overdue. I thought it was good he was able to defend the issues the press has raised.'"

"There's no question that his activities have been called into question," Coleman said. "But that doesn't necessarily mean he's in trouble. He removed more of the serious questions from doubt by his press conference today. ... I think the Democrats and Republicans have some battles to fight here and we'll see who wins."

"Most members here are astonished that the ethics committee has raised a question about these last two remaining allegations," Bryant said.

Based on what they have heard, Bryant said other members are "puzzled why these two final remaining matters are worthy of ending his career."

Sources familiar with the deliberations said all crucial votes by the ethics committee had been taken and had gone against Wright on the two most serious charges: that he violated House rules by accepting gifts from a business partner with an interest in legislation, and that he evaded limits on collecting speaking fees through bulk sales of his book, "Reflections of a Public Man."

The first charge includes an allegation that the $18,000 a year salary of Wright's wife, Betty, from Fort Worth developer George Mallick amounts to an improper gift.

Frost said the question about whether a members' spouse has a "real job" is unprecedented and "puts a lot of other members in a similar situation."

"No matter how many hours worked, are you going to say 'Did they work?' 'Did they merit the pay they got?' It's a very subjective thing," Frost said.

Mallick said the Speaker's emotional state while he was defending his wife was to be expected. "When a man's honor and reputation have been challenged, especially when the man is voted by his colleagues as the most respected... he is the Speaker and a great orator, but he's still a human being," Mallick said, "and that was human."

Wright fought back tears as he defended his wife, Betty, against allegations that her income as an employee with Mallick's and Wright's company, Mallickco was invalid.

"I think (panel counsel Richard) Phelan has taken the evidence and is putting it in the most negative way possible," Mallick said. "The men on that committee are very busy... they didn't hear all nine months of testimony. They have to rely on Phelan's report and it's distorted. It's the same concept as with computers - garbage in, garbage out," he said.

Rep. Charles Wilson, a Lufkin Democrat who was among the three dozen or so House Democrats to attend Wright's speech, said it "serves to brace everybody up for a good, hard tough fight." But he added, "We haven't hit bottom yet."

The ethics committee continued its work behind closed doors and chairman Julian Dixon, D-Calif., said no public announcement of its conclusions was expected until next week.

The committee's decisions essentially close the $1.5 million investigation and sent the case into a new, more open and more political phase which could lead to a disciplinary hearing and a range of punishments.

"I will fight to the last ounce of conviction and energy that I possess," Wright told reporters. "I am confident that in the 34 years I have served in the Congress I have not violated any of those basic rules or any commonly accepted standard of ethical conduct."

Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Texas, said even members of the House who have tried diligently to obey all ethical standards will wonder whether they could have survived the same kind of million-dollar investigation. He cited the familiar phrase about people who live in glass houses.

"Most of us in the House are prepared to eat a steady diet of glass for the next few weeks," he added.

Bob Slagle, Texas Democratic Party chairman, said he is glad Wright went before the press to address the allegations.

"I have known Jim Wright since I was a student at TCU in the early '50s," Slagle said. "And the fact of matter is he's the most moral, upright, conscientious public servant I've known. I think it's absolutely insulting for the panel to question the man."

Slagle said after all the information from "unidentified sources" started surfacing, he was glad to see Wright address the "leaks."

"The hearings were supposed to be secret," Slagle said. "I was raised in this business (politics) and 90 percent of the time, the damn good and is trying to do you harm."

Using pick, shovel, suspect is forced to dig up remains

MATAMOROS, Mexico (AP) - A suspected member of a drug-smuggling cult was forced to dig up the remains of the 13th victim of revenge and sacrificial killings as public officials decried the "massacre."

Authorities are looking for the sect's alleged ringleader, Adolfo de Jesus Constanzo, whom members called "godfather." The five men in custody said Constanzo, 26, and Sara Maria Aldrete, 24, called the "witch," believed human sacrifices protected the cult from harm.

Cameron County Sheriff's Lt. George Gavito in Texas said that Constanzo, a Cuban who has contacts in Miami, was last seen in Brownsville.

In Matamoros, City Council members and civic leaders issued a "Declaration Against Drug Trafficking" on Thursday that said, "Those connected to the massacre who poisoned the public should be prosecuted."

State Attorney General Amal Perez Vargas talked with Matamoros authorities, then said, "We will not rest until we uncover all the vermin that use legal activities as a front to break the law."

Using a pick and shovel and his hands, Sergio Martinez, 22, dug alone for more than an hour Thursday afternoon to uncover the body on the ranch near Matamoros, where authorities unearthed a dozen bodies Tuesday, including that of University of Texas student Mark Kilroy.

Martinez turned to police at one point and asked to be allowed to rest and then asked for a tractor to dig the hole. "Come on, use your hands," policemen yelled at him.

The 13th victim, about 30 years old, had a rectangular cut over the left side of his chest, which showed signs that his heart had been ripped from his body, authorities said.

Federal Judicial Police commander Juan Benitez Ayala said they fear there are more bodies to be found.

One investigator said some blood-stained children's clothing had been found at Ms. Aldrete's house, but they have received no reports of missing children.

Helen Kilroy, the mother of Mark Kilroy, asked 1,200 people at a Mass in Brownsville on Thursday to pray for the dead and the men who killed them.

"Pray for the people who have done these things," Mrs. Kilroy said at St. Luke's Catholic Church. "Pray that they are caught and that the Lord will enter their hearts, and they will know what they have done is wrong."

In a dramatic public confession Wednesday, some of the five men in custody were paraded onto a balcony where they told reporters the slayings were intended to provide a "magical shield" for members of a drug-smuggling ring.

A cauldron with a turtle, brains and other items were found near the graves at the ranch along with bowls containing burned goats' heads and a mutilated rooster.

So far, the only victim to be publicly identified was Kilroy, who was abducted from the streets of Matamoros last month during spring break.

The search for Constanzo has been focused on the Miami area, where his family lived in a middle-class neighborhood in the late 1970s and early 1980s, authorities said.

Those who know Ms. Aldrete say her alleged ties to the sect have taken them by surprise.

"Apparently, Sara was leading a double life: as a witch in Mexico and as a dean's honor roll student at Texas Southmost College," said Cameron County Sheriff's Deputy Carlos Tapia in Texas.

Texas Southmost College is a two-year college in Brownsville with an enrollment of 6,500.

A search of her home in Matamoros revealed an altar and blood-spatters, but no bones or bodies, Gavito said.

The bodies of the victims were at funeral homes pending identification, authorities said.

Little Miss Pageant Saturday

The public is invited to attend the 1989 Little Miss Hereford Pageant Saturday night in the Hereford High School auditorium.

Seventy-three young girls will be competing in four divisions: Cutest Miss, Miss Petite, Little Princess and Junior Miss. Cutest Miss contestants will compete at 5 p.m. and the other three division contestants will be judged at 7 p.m.

Tickets are priced at $2 per person and may be purchased at the door.

Marilyn Leasure and Greg Buckley will serve as emcees for the pageant which is sponsored annually by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division.

Serving as escorts for the contestants will be Tyler Keeling, Zach Wall, Bric Wall and Billy Bankston.

The event will be judged by Barbara Finch of Tulia, Keith Brewster of Amarillo and Deanne Clark of Dimmitt.

Supporting ACS

Amy Gililand, president of the Deaf Smith County Unit of the American Cancer Society, accepts a donation to the ACS from Joan Coupe of the Hereford Travel Center, at right. Hereford businesses are being contacted during the business drive which will conclude Friday, April 21. Business people will have a chance to donate to the Society in exchange for an ACS $10 bill which explains what percentage of the donated dollar goes for cancer research, professional education, fellowships and scholarships, public education, service, program development and administration and for the annual crusade drive. Serving as business drive co-chairmen are Jim Arney and Richard Ottesen.

Hints from Heloise

SHIRT SLEEVES

Dear Heloise: My son has quite a few long-sleeved dress shirts that have frayed cuff edges. Many of them were so frayed I was going to cut them up for dust cloths.

Then I got a brainstorm. I made them into short-sleeved shirts! All I did was measure the sleeves against a shirt with short sleeves, added an inch or so, then cut the sleeves off and turned a hem.

You would never know that the shirts were once long-sleeved and my son has several "new" ones to wear now. It also saved him money, since he didn't have to replace any! — Angela Greco, Indianapolis, Ind.

MONTHLY BELLS

Dear Heloise: When I get a bill, I read through it to see when it is due. I address the envelope and put the return address on it so it's ready to go. Then I write the due date where the stamp should go and attach it to the front of the refrigerator with a colorful magnet.

When it's time to send it, all I have to do is add the check, stamp it and mail it. Sure is a good method for me! — Kay Buselkist, Syracuse, Neb.

ICE-CREAM TIP

Dear Heloise: My children love to eat ice-cream cones. Before long the cones would start dripping and I'd have to shepherd the children outside. Then the patio would get sticky from the dripping cones.

I finally found a solution. Before putting the ice cream in the cone, I place a small marshmallow in the bottom. Even though the ice cream still melts, the marshmallow keeps it from dripping out, since the children can usually catch it before it drips. — Abby Milton, San Antonio, Texas

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Comedian Whoopi Goldberg joined seven battered women in an appeal for action to curb domestic violence.

"It's something people don't want to talk about," Goldberg said Monday. "The attitude is, if a man hits his wife, it's his wife. Well, we're here to say we're not anyone's property any more."

Goldberg, in Charlotte to do her one-woman show "Living on the Edge of Chaos," appeared at a news conference sponsored by the N.C. Coalition Against Domestic Violence.

Cornelius clears the bar

Shantel Cornelius clears the bar during the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce track meet in Hereford earlier this season. Cornelius and her teammates are competing in the District 1-4A meet today and Saturday at Dumas.

District spring meets set today, Saturday

The Hereford girls are expected to challenge Pampa for the team title while the Hereford boys hope to dominate the rest of the pack behind the always-strong Estacado and Dunbar teams today and Saturday at the District 1-4A track meet at Dumas.

All field events and most running preliminaries were scheduled today. The remainder of the track preliminaries will be at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, with the running finals at 2 p.m. Saturday.

For the boys, the best shots for medals and places in the Region 1-4A meet in two weeks are with the Brooke Perkins in the 200, with a season's best of 21.9, the third-best time in the district; Pat Mercer in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles, with a season best of 39.5, second in the conference; Brad Mason in the pole vault, with a season's top of 14-0, a school record; Benny Gonzales, 54-8 in the shot and tops in the district; and the 400 (43.5) and 1,600 (3:28) relay teams.

The girls' meet may be more competitive than in the past, with Tonya Lidy of Pampa finally graduated. Pampa still looks to be the strongest team in the meet, but more spots are likely to be up for grabs this year.

Hereford's strongest threats are in the discus, where Cande Robbins had a season-best 111-11 last week at the Dumas Invitational; Shantel Cornelius (5-2) in the high jump; Jill West in the long and triple jumps; Teresa Castillo in the 800 meters; Alina Benitez (12:42) in the 3,200 meters; and the mile relay team.

The Hereford High School golf teams are playing their third and fourth round of the District 1-4A season today and Saturday in Amarillo.

Naomi Grijalva is third among medalists after two rounds, while the girls' team has a chance at earning one of the team spots in the regional tournament.

The HHS tennis team is expected to dominate the District 1-4A tennis tournament today and Saturday at Canyon.

Kristie Allison in girls' singles, and the girls' doubles teams of Wendy Connally-Bridget Baker and Brenna Reinauer-Misty Reed are among the favorites in girls play, while the doubles team of Rick Alley-T.J. Head and Matt Coplen in singles are among the favorites in boys' action.

The HHS baseball team continues its odyssey through District 1-4A at 2 p.m. Saturday when the Whitefaces host Dunbar.

The Herd, ranked ninth in the state, is 8-0-1 in the district, a half-game ahead of Estacado.

The Herd will take a break from district play on Tuesday with a 4:30 p.m. game against Canyon, then hosts Pampa at 2 p.m. next Saturday.

Registration is Saturday for Kids Inc.

Another registration session for the 1989 Hereford Kids Incorporated baseball and softball program will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center.

Registration will be held at the same time on April 22.

Any student who wants to play boys' baseball or girls' softball this year must sign up on one of these dates, said registration chairman N.D. Kelso.

The registration fee is $25 per player and must be paid at the time of registration. The fee entitles a player to participate in the program and provides the player with a cap, shirt and accident insurance.

YMCA sets swim class

Swimming lessons will be offered May 1-12 at the Hereford YMCA.

Sign-up deadline for the classes is April 26. The fee is $20 for Y members and $30 for non-members.

The classes will be taught by Regina Kester and will be offered from 6-6:30 p.m. and 6:30-7 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of the two weeks.

More information and sign-up forms are available at the YMCA at 500 East 15th in Hereford.

Rangers roll to 6-1 win

MILWAUKEE (AP) - The Milwaukee Brewers knew their first couple of weeks in April might be rough with Paul Molitor and Teddy Higuera on the disabled list.

But certainly they didn't expect to be steamrolled in their own ball park three straight games by the new-look Texas Rangers.

Texas got the pitching - 8 1-3 scoreless innings by their bullpen in the first game, seven innings of no-hit ball by Nolan Ryan in the second and another strong eight innings by Bobby Witt in Thursday's finale, a 6-1 victory.

And the Rangers got the hitting from Ruben Sierra and Julio Franco. Sierra went 2-for-3 Thursday to complete a 7-for-12 series. Franco homered, and for the second straight game, drove in four runs, giving him a major league-leading 12 RBIs for the season.

"I'm just glad to be getting them in bunches now," said Franco, who was 0-for-10 before his eight-RBI outburst.

"Julio wasn't hitting too good coming into the last two games, but just like some of their guys, you can't keep him down too long," said Rangers manager Bobby Valentine, whose team has won five straight.

But Milwaukee manager Tom Trebelhorn is still waiting for some of his guys to come around, especially after the Brewers managed only six runs in the series. Milwaukee has a team batting average of .210.

"This game has a niceebb and flow to it. The flow went the way of the Texas Rangers for three games and it didn't go our way," said Trebelhorn, who had to answer questions about his strategy after Thursday's loss.

Trailing 2-1, the Brewers had the bases loaded and one out in the eighth inning against Witt, who suddenly lost his control and walked two batters. Trebelhorn decided to let Terry Francona, the same guy who had foiled Ryan's no-hitter Wednesday, swing away on a 3-1 pitch.

Francona, with a .100 batting average and three straight strikeouts against Witt, rolled into an inning-ending double play when another walk would have tied the game.

"I chose to let a good hitter hit a good pitch and I chose to give him the liberty to turn the bat loose at 3-1," said Trebelhorn.

"I'm not going to pull the plug on a guy who's been a .300 hitter. We're going for the win. We picked the best guy we had in the spot and turned him loose and we will keep turning him loose."

Witt, his control wavering, was glad Francona decided to swing and not take.

"It was a relief. I'm almost positive it was a strike. I was kind of surprised, but he was trying to do something to get the run in," he said.

Francona wasn't surprised to see the green light.

"It was a good position to be in to hit, but I just didn't do it," he said, summing up the Brewers' early season batting woes.

Milwaukee will probably activate Molitor today but not even that will be a cure-all for what ails the Brewers.

"Impatience is a far more destructive element than anything that has happened to us," said Trebelhorn after the Brewers fell to 2-5.

"We can't force things. We've got to let things run their course and be patient, take the boos and the questions and take all the things during a time when things are not what you want them to be."

Don August, 1-2, took the loss for the Brewers, giving up a go-ahead homer to Steve Buechele in the fourth. Franco hit his three-run homer off Paul Mirabella, who replaced reliever Chuck Crim in the ninth.

Witt, 1-0, struck out eight and allowed seven hits in his eight innings before giving way to Jeff Russell in the ninth as the Rangers completed their first sweep of Milwaukee in four years.

While Jim Abbott got his first major league strikeout, he's still waiting for the California Angels to give him a run.

Abbott made his second pro start Thursday and once again the Angels were shut out, losing 5-0 to the Oakland Athletics.

"I'm trying to keep everything in perspective," Abbott said of the lack of runs. "Those things even up, the good and the bad. It would be nice if I could keep us at an even keel, not let us fall behind. It's harder to get runs when you're down."

Abbott, who made his professional debut with a 4 2-3 inning stint in a 7-0 loss to Seattle last Saturday night, pitched six innings against Oakland.

He allowed four runs, two unearned, and nine hits while striking out four.

"I'm feeling more confident in myself, more and more confident in being here," Abbott said.

Mike Moore allowed no runs and three hits in eight innings for Oakland and Dennis Eckersley finished.

"If they want to cheer for him, that's fine," Moore said of Abbott. "In the meantime, I'll just sneak out with the win."

Moore, 66-96 in seven seasons with Seattle, signed as a free agent with Oakland for $3.95 million over three years.

Elsewhere in the American League it was Detroit 3, Minnesota 0; Boston 9, Cleveland 1 and Texas 6, Milwaukee 1.

Dave Henderson gave the A's a 1-0 lead with a two-out homer in the first inning. Oakland made it 4-0 with three runs in the sixth, on Dave Parker's RBI groundout and a two-run double by Mike Gallego. Parker also added a run-scoring single in the ninth.

Abbott got his first major league groundout - and made his first error - on a sharp groundout to the mound by the Carney Lansford in the second inning.

Abbott, who was born without a right hand and switches his glove on and off his left, hadn't made the switch on the grounder, but he did knock the ball down and retrieve it in time to throw to first - but the throw was high and he drew an error.

Red Sox 9, Indians 1

Roger Clemens allowed just three hits in seven innings, and his eight strikeouts put him over the 1,000-strikeout mark as Boston routed Cleveland at Fenway Park.

Bood when he was introduced at Fenway on opening day for disparaging remarks about the Boston fans, Clemens received a standing ovation when he struck out Brook Jacoby with the bases loaded in the second for his 1,000th strikeout.

The eight strikeouts gave Clemens 1,005 for his career. Wade Boggs was 3-for-5 with three RBI for the Red Sox.

Tigers 3, Twins 0

Jeff Robinson pitched a four-hitter as Detroit beat Minnesota, snapping a 12-game losing streak against the Twins.

Robinson, 1-0, struck out seven and walked four. He worked out of a bases-loaded jam in the first inning by striking out Gary Gaetti and Randy Bush.

Lou Whitaker homered for the Tigers.

"Breath of Spring" opens tonight

The Country Squire Dinner Theatre opens tonight with the hilarious comedy, 'BREATH OF SPRING.'

The story: Beatrice is given a mink stole by her maid who happens to have a "shady" past. Beatrice thinks the stole has been stolen from her next door neighbor, and with a former army officer and other lodgers join in a plan devised with the secrecy of a battlefield strategy to return the fur.

They enjoy the scheme so much, a syndicate is formed for stealing and returning furs. The police enter the picture, and they swear never to steal furs again. When boredom sets in, they realize it was only furs they promised not to steal.

Nanette Parry is played by Saralynn Moore. She last appeared on the Squire stage eleven year ago in Ladies Night In A Turkish Bath. Saralynn is a teacher at Western Plateau, and has performed in numerous productions at Amarillo Little Theatre.

Brigadier Albert Rayne will be played by David Hines, last seen in Right Bed, Wrong Husband. Currently from Dallas, his career includes numerous stage productions, film, television and commercials.

Christy Schmidjell will portray the part of Lily Thompson, the maid of "Shady character." Christy was last seen on the Squire stage in Meanwhile, Back On The Couch. She currently teaches at Bonham

Middle School.

Alice will be played by Sara Kelly in her first appearance on the Squire stage. Currently a teacher of Theatre Arts at Crockett Middle School, Sara has performed in theatres in Corpus Christi, Lubbock, Abilene and Amarillo Little Theatre.

Jo Ellen Moses as Beatrice makes her first appearance for the Country Squire. She has appeared on stage at Amarillo Little Theatre, Amarillo College and most recently, Kismet. Jo Ellen is employed by Region 16 Education Service Center as a Library Specialist.

Hattie will be played by Star Polk who recently returned to the Amarillo area after an absence of twenty five years. She performed for nine years as a ballet dancer with Amarillo Civic Ballet, Ballet Oklahoma and Southwest Ballet in Santa Fe, satellites of New York City Ballet Co.

Detective-Sergeant Pape will be played by Kyle Page. Audiences will remember Kyle from numerous productions on the Squire stage, one of his most memorable with James MacArthur in The Foreigner. He performs each evening in the pre-show entertainment at the Squire.

Breath of Spring will run April 14th thru May 27, Tuesday thru Saturday, with special performances on Monday, May 1st and 15th.

Dinner at 6:15 with Curtain at 8:00.
For reservations call 358-7486.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Today I overheard a man telling his friend that he could not stand his own kids. "They drive me crazy," he yelled. His latest confrontation had occurred that morning when he was preparing their breakfast.

One son asked for apple juice. When the father opened a can of a well-known brand, the boy said, "This is not apple juice." The father replied, "Yes, it is. Read the label." The child kept insisting that it wasn't apple juice because it tasted "funny." The father continued to shout that it was apple juice and the argument went on for 20 minutes.

I didn't know whether to laugh or to cry. I wanted to cry because the father had no idea of how to deal with his son. Perhaps I should have laughed because the "problem" was so absurd.

Ann, I have two sons. My 23-year-old autistic son has never spoken a word. If he ever said, "This is not apple juice," I would jump for joy. It has taken a lot of hard work and patience to get my handicapped 19-year-old to function. He now holds a job and has his own bank account. I couldn't care less if he drinks apple juice or tomato juice.

What I'm trying to say is: If your child is normal, thank God and lighten up. Don't quibble about inconsequential matters. Focus on love and how to make your kids feel better about themselves. Children need praise more than they need criticism. If you let them know that you think they are terrific, they just might surprise you and be terrific. -- Proud of My Children (New York) going through this humiliating experience if the cause hadn't been discovered?

If we are going to spend so much money on law-enforcement equipment, we should at least spend enough to perfect the systems in order to protect the innocent.--C.A.

DEAR C.A.: Your point is well taken. Why have sophisticated, high-tech equipment that doesn't work?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been reading a lot lately about the stress our children are under these days. I say, baloney.

You are about my age, Ann, and I'll bet you will agree that we had it a lot rougher than the kids have it today.

The Depression was so awful I don't know how we lived through it. There wasn't enough food in the house to feed us five kids. If the neighbors hadn't helped, I think we would have starved.

There were no jobs. Both Mom and Dad took any little piece of work they could find. I remember when Dad put in three days at a coal yard and was paid in coal, which he was darned happy to get.

Kids today don't know what it is to be hungry. A lot of them get fed breakfast and lunch in school at government expense, which means by us taxpayers, of course.

When Franklin D. Roosevelt became president he started the Civilian Conservation Corps, which was a Godsend. What a brilliant idea! It not only helped rebuild our country but provided millions of young people with jobs. I was one of them. How many kids today would be willing to work that hard? Darned few, I'll bet.

I look at my grandchildren, Ann, and they are cream puffs compared to what we were. They have it so much softer, it isn't even funny. I'll bet you agree with me. Please print my letter and let me know what you think.--A Feisty Michigander

DEAR ANN LANDERS: More and more-high tech law enforcement equipment is victimizing the innocent. There have been cases of people being falsely accused of drunk driving because of faulty breath analyzer tests.

Recently I heard of an interesting case that involved my son-in-law. He was leaving a Los Angeles department store. As he walked through the exist, an alarm sounded. he was perplexed because he knew that he had done nothing wrong.

The police searched him and found that he had not stolen anything. They apologized and said there was a malfunction in the alarm system. Further tests, however, indicated there was nothing wrong with the system. They still could not figure out why the alarm sounded every time my son walked through the detector.

Later, a woman had the same experience. It wasn't until weeks later that the investigators found that the false alarms were due to the fillings in their teeth. Dentists in the area had been using a new substance to fill cavities, they have since discontinued using it but who knows how many people would be

When I was growing up we never used to lock the doors at night. Today everything is locked up, and in spite of the locks, alarms and security systems, the number of muggings, rapes and murders that occur in even the best neighborhoods is appalling. Crime is rampant.

As a teenager I never heard of cocaine or crack. A few of the musicians smoked "reefers," but teenagers didn't touch them. Today there's speed and angel dust and crack and gang violence and murders that are clearly drug-related. There are billions of dollars to be made dealing dope and some teenagers want part of the action.

AIDS is something else we never heard of. And it's a death sentence. The sexually transmitted diseases in our day could be cured with penicillin.

I haven't even mentioned the mania or body-building that has created steroid-junkies. This is a dangerous drug and young people are going bananas over it. Also, the craze to be pencil-thin has produced an astonishing number of anorexia and bulimic teenagers.

I'm glad I have lived the greater part of my life. I wouldn't be 20 again for all the tea in Sri Lanka. I just pray that my grandchildren and yours will be able to pick their way through the mine fields of the '90s and into the 21st Century.

For day's energy

First meal sets pace

A breakfast-skipper is somewhat like a car running on empty, according to a nutrition expert at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Dymple Cooksey, nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said a well-nourished person, like a well-lubricated engine, works more efficiently.

Cooksey said that proper choices from the basic food groups of meat, milk, fruits and vegetables and cereals and grains should provide an individual with about one-fourth of the recommended daily amounts of protein, calories, vitamins and minerals.

"These nutrients are essential for energy, maintenance and body repair," Cooksey said.

The nutritionist said that persons who regularly eat a well-balanced breakfast can perform more efficiently, concentrate on the day's schedule and are less tired after a busy day.

Cooksey said other benefits include:

-Breakfast participants have more nutritionally balanced diets than breakfast skippers.

-Kids who eat breakfast are better nourished than students who skip breakfast.

-Breakfast participants have higher intakes of calcium that is derived from milk, as well as phosphorus and riboflavin, all nutrients essential for strong bones and teeth.

-Breakfast participants tend to maintain normal weight levels and are less likely to be overweight or underweight.

-Breakfast participants are energetic and can concentrate on school-related tasks, while breakfast skippers often tend to be irritable, restless and listless.

-Breakfast eaters have a better late-morning problem-solving ability.

-People who eat breakfast regularly have more energy at the mid-part of the day than breakfast skippers.

-The habit of eating breakfast on a regular basis often is associated with a vigorous older age.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Actor Todd Bridges must face trial on a charge of attempted murder in the shooting of a convicted drug dealer at a cocaine hangout, a judge has ruled.

Municipal Judge David Horwitz also declined to reduce the $2 million bail for the former "Diff'rent Strokes" star, despite a defense lawyer's plea that Bridges should be freed from jail so he can make commercials warning young people about drugs.

"The defendant is held to answer," the judge declared Monday after a hearing in which people testified the 23-year-old actor was high on cocaine for weeks before the shooting. "The bail will stand."
