Local 'Scoping' Hearings on MX Set

By CHERI WARD Staff Writer
Two public 'scoping' hearings scheduled by the Air Force for Monday in Amarillo and Wednesday in Clovis will provide an opportunity for area residents to express concerns about the controversial MX missile system and to ask questions about the system's environmental impact.

The Amarillo hearing will be at 2 p.m. Monday in the Blue Room on the ninth floor of the American National Bank Building, Sixth and Fillmore, and the Clovis meeting will be at 7 p.m.

Wednesday in Marshall Junior High Auditorium at Main and Commerce.
The hearings, scheduled by the Air Force, will explain the MX system and provide the Air Force with feedback from residents who might be affected by deployment of the system.

Air Force officials agreed to hold the hearings after members of a special committee formed to study the Panhandle Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) for the MX system passed a resolution requesting hearings to allow local residents to express their concerns.

Federal law permits the hearings as a means of helping the Air Force to analyze and evaluate proposed military installation sites.
Comments gathered during the hearings will help determine what areas of local interest have not been covered in the draft EIS.

Local residents also object to an MX system based in West Texas and eastern New Mexico because the government would have to acquire land necessary for the missile system at a cost of up to $1200 per acre instead of basing the system on government-owned land in Nevada and Utah.

Local opponents of the MX system began circulating petitions in Hereford about two weeks ago calling for the Carter administration to abandon further efforts for the MX system and to allow the incoming Reagan administration to deal with the issue.

move which could put missiles within seven miles of Hereford.

In another move in opposition to the MX system, members of the Texas Wheat producers association passed a resolution against basing the MX in the local area during their 30th annual membership meeting in Amarillo last week.

The central issue of environmental concern, Plumlee said.
The scoping hearings are preliminary hearings concerning possible issues that should be included in the forthcoming EIS. During a 90-day period following the release of the EIS, more hearings are scheduled in the Amarillo area, Air Force and PRPC officials said.

Tom Plumlee, member of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission who attended a state scoping hearing in Austin last week, said he hopes local meetings will focus on environmental issues and not political concerns.

The Dalhart hearing will be conducted at 9 a.m. Tuesday in the community room of Dalhart City Hall while the Portales hearing, also set for Tuesday, will be held at 7 p.m. at the Portales High School Auditorium, 201 South Knoxville Ave.

The MX proposal has been the focal point of growing opposition in this area with many area residents opposing construction of a complex

Residents of several endangered San Bernardino mountain communities were permitted to return to their homes on Thanksgiving Day as firefighters grew more hopeful they were gaining the upper hand in the fight.

Capricious Winds Subside As California Fire Tide Turns

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) - While capricious 'devil winds' subsided, firefighters took to the air with water tankers and battled flames on doorsteps as they began to turn the tide in the fight against blazes that have scorched 80,000 acres.

Overall, it is looking pretty optimistic," Joanna Guttman of the U.S. Forest Service said Thursday.

Four people have been killed and 319 buildings damaged or destroyed since the rash of fires, one of the worst in Southern California history, began Monday.

Howling Santa Ana winds up to 100 mph had sent flames leaping over highways and surging through neighborhoods.

But the winds declined as the week wore on, and the 30 mph gusts Thursday enabled firefighters to make their first widespread use of air tankers to drop water and fire retardant on the seven blazes still burning. Three have been extinguished.

Firefighters raced from house to house Thursday to save buildings in the small community of Devore northwest of San Bernardino as the Panorama fire, the most destructive of the blazes, swept out of the hills.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., meanwhile, joined several hundred firefighters for a Thanksgiving feast at the Sycamore fire camp north of San Bernardino. Special meals were prepared for all of the more than 6,000 firefighters, some of whom came from as far away as New York and Texas.

Brown also toured the fire-ravaged Northpark sector of San Bernardino - where 253 homes were destroyed or damaged on Monday - and said the area looked "like some kind of a war zone."

He said he hoped President Carter would make low-interest loans available to Traditional turkey went creole for Haitian newcomers in Miami while time-honored celebrations marked Thanksgiving Day across the nation - family dinners, Macy's parade, football games and at nightfall, a blaze of Christmas lights to usher in another holiday season.

Turkey seasoned with onions, garlic, cloves and cayenne pepper was dished out for 57 Haitian youngsters Thursday at a refugee camp near Miami. They said grace in their native Creole, and then chorused, "Happy Thanksgiving!"

At the Fort Chaffee, Ark., relocation camp, 6,600 Cuban refugees feasted on a ton of turkey with hundreds of gallons of trimmings. Some also paraded with signs that read: "Thanks To The American People" and "Fort Chaffee, Arkansas, Freedom Land USA."

Snow Business Picking Up

While ski resort areas would have welcomed the six inches of snow which fell here earlier this week the powder presented city crews with another chore as they went into action to open lanes of access for downtown businesses. Here a crew picks up snow with a scoop loader and hauls it away from the downtown area in dump trucks. Open weather conditions and a warming trend which is expected to continue through Friday should go a long way toward clearing city streets and country lanes today and tomorrow as the sunshine transforms white powder into soaking moisture. This week's snowfall hiked the county's total of the white powder to 12 inches for the month of November. Record low temperatures for the area came on the heels of the latest snowstorm as well. Christopher Might Return to Algeria With New Response on Hostage Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) - Amid reports that Islamic militants have turned the American hostages over to the Iranian government, the State Department says its No. 2 man may return to Algeria soon with the next U.S. response to Iran's demands for ending the 13-month standoff.

Spokesman John H. Trattner held out the possibility of a return trip by Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher after two days of talks with Algerian intermediaries ended Thursday apparently without bringing the 52 hostages any closer to freedom.

Trattner said such a move "would be helpful," but he emphasized that there is no sign the hostages will be released in the near future and said he is neither optimistic nor pessimistic at this point.

"We're just beginning a process that we hope will result in the release of the hostages, and at the beginning of a process like that it's not advisable to project any kind of feelings of up or down," he said.

Trattner said the clarification requested by the Iranians was at least more than a demand for a yes-or-no answer to their conditions. "I would like to steer you away from assuming there is a yes-or-no situation existing here," he said. "All the signs indicate that it is rather the other way."

Trattner said the next step is for the United States to respond to the Iranian demands for clarifications. Those responses presumably would be contained in any message Christopher might take to Algeria for delivery to the Iranians.

The conditions set by the Iranian Parliament on Nov. 2 were return of the wealth of the late shah, dismissal of U.S. legal claims against Iran, a pledge of U.S. non-interference in Iranian affairs and release of more than $8 billion in frozen Iranian assets in this country.

Percy Warns Soviets About Persian Oil Routes

MOSCOW (AP) - Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and Sen. Charles Percy held nearly four hours of talks today that the Illinois Republican had said would include stern U.S. warnings against any interruption in the flow of Persian Gulf oil. Details of the talks were not immediately available.

Percy, who is likely to become the new chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, also had said he planned to raise the more general problem of the Iran-Iraq war during today's talks.

On Thursday, Percy told reporters: "Any effort by anyone to jeopardize the secure flow of oil from that region would cause us to react decisively - and there should be no misunderstanding or ambiguity about this."

Earlier, he met with Defense Minister Dimitri

Ustinov and with President Leonid I. Brezhnev, who had not conferred with a top U.S. leader since five months before the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan last December.

Percy says he is not on an official mission for Ronald Reagan, although he is coordinating his trip closely with the president-elect.

Percy told reporters he warned Brezhnev a Soviet military intervention in Poland would have a "catastrophic effect" and destroy any hope of U.S.-Soviet cooperation "in our lifetime."

Labor unrest in Poland since last summer and the Polish government's concessions to independent unions have raised fears the Russians may use force to crush the union movement before it spreads to other Soviet Bloc countries.

Percy said he also gave the

He added: "I did mention that, in my judgment, the Reagan administration is not eager for a new arms race. We would prefer to spend our money on other needs."

Percy is to leave Moscow for Brussels on Saturday.

Joseph Hardy, 66, and his 57-year-old wife, Lillian, were found on the second floor of the two-family house and were pronounced dead Thursday morning. The family living below escaped safely.

Cooks at a mountain command post dished up holiday meals for 2,000 firefighters battling devastating fires in southern California.

There was no Thanksgiving at Plymouth Plantation, a reproduction of the Pilgrim village in Massachusetts where it all began in 1621.

In Phoenix, Ariz., civic and religious organizations prepared thousands of free meals for area residents. And some 1,000 Chicagoans also enjoyed a free Thanksgiving dinner at the French Port restaurant in the fashionable Lincoln Park area.

The mock Pilgrims, priding themselves on historical accuracy, instead were salting meat, drying fish and putting up vegetables in preparation for winter.

And looking ahead to another holiday, nearly 100,000 people circled a giant Christmas tree in downtown Atlanta and sang carols after the traditional lighting of the tree.

"To have a harvest festival, you have to have something to harvest," said information officer Judy Ingram. "At this time of year there's not a lot left. We do have a harvest celebration, but it's at the end of

In Kansas City's Country Club Plaza shopping district, some 125,000 people watched as 152,000 colored lightbulbs, strung on 47 miles of wire, were switched on for the Christmas season.

Accident Injures SPS Employees

Three Southwestern Public Service Co. employees from Amarillo were injured Wednesday afternoon when their Chevrolet suburban collided with a State Highway Department truck equipped with a snow plow on east Highway 60.

The driver of the Suburban, Sam Finch, 20, of Amarillo, and a passenger, Dick Timmons, 57, of Amarillo, were treated at Deaf Smith General Hospital and released while another passenger, Loretta Edwards, 24, of Amarillo was admitted to an Amarillo hospital for overnight observation.

The accident occurred about 5 p.m. Wednesday on east Highway 60 just outside the Hereford city limits when the truck, which was clearing snow from the highway, apparently turned into the path of the oncoming Suburban. The impact demolished the

The driver of the Highway Department truck was not injured. An investigating officer from the DPS issued a citation to Finch for failure to control speed.

Robot Runs Amok At University

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — An experimental robot that ran amok in a University of Florida laboratory and started bashing into lab equipment will be rigged with a safety device before being allowed back to work, a mechanical engineering graduate student says.

Harvey Lipkin, 29, was at the controls when the robot began slamming itself into a support stand before he could turn the device off.

No one was near the five-foot-long, 70-pound robot during the accident, which occurred a few weeks ago but was made public this week, Lipkin said.

Double to $2 Billion China Ag Sales

PEKING (AP) — U.S. agricultural sales to China doubled to about $2 billion this year and are likely to double again within the next four years, a U.S. official said today.

William L. Davis, U.S. Embassy agricultural counselor, said the recent growth has been based primarily on a surge in demand for wheat and cotton.

"I think that those commodities will continue to be important but that the next surge will be in the livestock feed complex — feed grains and soybeans. In addition, we will see other commodities adding to this trade, for example, seeds, hides and skins, and tallow."

In a statement on the closing day of the first U.S. agricultural trade show in China, Davis said grain accounted for about half of the $2 billion export revenues from China.

More than $250 million in soybean sales and $700 million in cotton exports are expected, he said.

Last year, the United States sold China $997 million worth of agricultural products out of total exports worth about $1.7 billion. Chinese exports to the U.S. market last year totaled about $600 million.

Last month, China signed an agreement to buy 6 million to 8 million metric tons of American grain a year for the next four years at market prices.

The agricultural show, visited by more than 100,000 Chinese, was part of a larger U.S. trade fair at the ornate Soviet-built Peking exhibition center.

Cannibalism Evidence Found

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Indians who lived in Ohio up until the 17th century may have cannibalized their enemies, a University of Toledo anthropologist says.

"We've found clear evidence of cannibalism at three sites between Waterville and Rossford," said Dr. William Strothers, associate professor of anthropology.

Because American Indians usually took great care in burying their dead, the discovery of skeletal remains of six people mixed with garbage pointed to cannibalism, Strothers said.

The cannibals also may have removed the bone marrow and brains of their victims. In the excavated remains were mostly long, narrow bones sliced in such a way that the marrow may have been removed, Strothers said.

And the skulls had been deliberately detached, possibly so the brains could be withdrawn, he said.

"Cannibalism among North American Indians is not as uncommon as most people think," Strothers said. "This is ritual cannibalism we're talking about. These people were quite able to meet their nutritional requirements through other methods."

The cannibals, who probably were eating their enemies to show contempt and to absorb such good qualities as bravery or cunning, lived near Toledo from 1400 until after 1600, he said.

William Simon Declines Post

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Ronald Reagan is preparing to resume his search for a Cabinet amid a published report that his top choice for Treasury secretary turned down the job.

The New York Daily News said in today's editions that former Treasury Secretary William E. Simon asked Reagan a telephone conversation Wednesday to withdraw his name from consideration for personal reasons. Reagan had called Simon and told him he was the president-elect's first choice for the Treasury job, the paper reported.

Reagan was returning to his Pacific Palisades home in Los Angeles today after a three-day Thanksgiving vacation at his secluded ranch near Santa Barbara, Calif.

He is scheduled to fly to Palm Springs on Saturday to attend a benefit for the Eisenhower Hospital, overnight in that southern California city and return to Los Angeles on Sunday for meetings with his top advisers on Cabinet appointments.

When he left Washington last week, Reagan said he hoped to choose his Cabinet by the end of November or early December, but none has been announced yet.

Simon is among the "kitchen cabinet" advisers who drafted a list of Cabinet candidates for Reagan to consider.

The Daily News quoted Simon as saying Reagan told him he was the first choice of both the transition committee and the president-elect to return to the Treasury position.

Simon said Reagan accepted the decision with regret, the paper said.

Simon, 53, who was Treasury secretary under former President Gerald R. Ford, could not be reached for comment.

Iraq Building Protective Wall

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iraq has almost completed building a 57-mile-long wall in Iran's oil-rich Khuzistan Province to protect Iraqi forces against winter floods and possible attempts by Iran to "drown" the invaders by letting loose irrigation dams, an Iraqi newspaper said today. The government-controlled, English-language, Baghdad Observer also quoted Iraqi engineering corps officers as saying other embankments were under construction to protect the roads and communication routes of the Iraqi forces from being inundated by flooding from the Karun and Karkheh Rivers.

The Karun runs by the port of Khorramshahr, which the Iraqis seized last month, and the Kharkheh by Susangerd, about 75 miles to the north, which both sides have been fighting for the last two weeks. The report of the wall construction indicated Iraq plans a long siege in Khuzistan.

Both Iran and Iraq reported attacking each other's positions Thursday near Susangerd, which is 35 miles northwest of Ahwaz, the Khuzistan capital, and near Abadan, the refinery city 10 miles south of Khorramshahr.

Iran claimed it killed 440 Iraqis near Susangerd and Abadan and that its jets destroyed ammunition dumps, power stations, a radar antenna and a factory in raids on northern Iraq.

Iran also said its forces killed 30 Iraqis in the Gilan Gharb area, at the northern end of the invasion front in the foothills of the Zagros Mountains overlooking highway routes west to the Iraqi capital of Baghdad.

Iraq reported killing 76 Iraqis and suffering 16 dead along its 300-mile invasion front, but said nothing of Iran's claims, which military observers believe have been exaggerated since the war began nearly 10 weeks ago.

Iraq invaded Sept. 22 aiming to gain sovereignty over the Iranian east side of the Shatt al-Arab estuary, which divides the two nations at the southern end of the front and is Iraq's only waterway to the Persian Gulf.

Swedish Socialist leader Olof Palme, special envoy of U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, said he got the two sides to agree to let 63 stranded foreign ships out of the waterway under Red Cross flags.

But he said on returning to Stockholm Thursday, "Neither side showed any willingness to make peace and took very tough bargaining positions."

Senate Approves Bill Authored by Bentsen

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The Senate has approved legislation authored by Senator Lloyd Bentsen and two of his colleagues to cut back on government paperwork and red tape.

The bill, authored by Bentsen along with Senators Lawton Chiles (d-Fla.) and John Danforth (r-Mo.) would implement recommendations made by the Federal Paperwork Commission in its concluding report. Over a year of work was devoted to preparation of the bill, which was introduced in June 1979.

The Senate approved the measure unanimously.

"One of my main concerns since coming to the Senate has been the costly burden imposed on American businesses and consumers by unnecessary and excessive government paperwork and red tape," Bentsen said during Senate debate on the legislation.

"The paperwork burden threatens the very existence of small businesses whose owners are diverted from the necessary tasks of producing goods and serving customers."

"The Paperwork and Red Tape Reduction Act overhauls the Federal Reports Act in line with the final recommendations of the Paperwork Commission and consolidates all responsibilities for controlling federal paperwork under the Office of Management and Budget."

"At present, no one in the sprawling federal bureaucracy has comprehensive authority to curb and cut back on needless paperwork demands," Bentsen said.

"This bill also marks the first official government recognition that government paperwork and red tape impose a significant cost on businesses and consumers and divert resources from other productive uses."

Under the bill an office would be set up within the Office of Management and Budget, headed by a Presidential appointee, with authority to coordinate and control federal paperwork.

The Act instructs the office to reduce the burden of federal paperwork 15 percent by October 1, 1982, and another 10 percent by October 1, 1983.

In a major step, the legislation also requires all federal agencies — including the Internal Revenue Service — to clear all proposed forms with OMB. At present IRS, which with its tax forms accounts for over 80 percent of all federal paperwork, is not required to clear its forms.

"Because IRS has in the past been exempt from the requirements of the Federal Reports Act, we have had no real control over the numerous tax forms that impose such a tremendous burden — over 250 million hours a year — on both individuals and businesses. This legislation will correct that situation," Bentsen said.

"A 1978 General Accounting Office study, prepared at my request, determined that businesses must spend about 69 million hours yearly to meet more than 2,100 federal reporting requirements at a cost of over $1 billion a year. This doesn't, of course, include the many tax forms of the IRS," Senator Bentsen said.

Two Bentsen anti-paperwork bills were approved by Congress and signed into law in the last Congress. One of them eliminates overlapping demands made by individual federal housing agencies. The other reduces demands made on local governments under one Comprehensive Education and Training Act.

Under the bill an office would be set up within the Office of Management and Budget, headed by a Presidential appointee, with authority to coordinate and control federal paperwork. The Act instructs the office to reduce the burden of federal paperwork 15 percent by October 1, 1982, and another 10 percent by October 1, 1983.

'Confession' Obtained

PEKING (AP) — Once the No. 4 man in China, ailing and feeble Chen Boda confessed in the Gang of Four trial today that he ordered the persecution of the late President Liu Shao-chi, the highest-ranking victim of Mao Tse-tung's 10-year Cultural Revolution.

Chen, who was Mao's political secretary and a member of the Communist Party Politburo, also confessed that he and the four radical Communist Party leaders on trial with him, persecuted Lu Ding-yi, a former propaganda officer who is now a member of the party central committee, sources attending the trial said.

The hearings in the Supreme People's Court are closed to foreign reporters.

Chen, 76, was himself purged in 1973 and was thought by many to be dead until he was brought to trial. The sources said he appeared in "very bad physical shape," used a hearing aid and was so weak he had to be helped in and out of the courtroom by two bailliffs.

The indictment against Chen says that in July 1967 he, Mao's wife Jiang Qing, and then-security chief Kang Shen decided that President Liu should be "repudiated and struggled against."

Liu's home was searched, he and his wife were denounced at a rally and both were physically abused, the indictment said. He died in prison in 1969, and the post-Mao government rehabilitated him with great fanfare last April.

Liu, along with the late Premier Chou En-lai and Deng Xiaoping, urged that the development of the communist system in China be modified in the interests of economic development. But Mao and the radicals insisted that revolutionary change have priority and launched the Cultural Revolution against their opponents.

Chen also is accused of responsibility for the persecution of 84,000 persons and the death of 2,950 of them during the Cultural Revolution. But sources said those charges were not brought up today.

Earlier this week, the court questioned the other four former political leaders on trial at the rate of one a day about the charge that they tried to convince Mao the late Premier Chou En-lai and his protegee Deng Xiaoping were plotting against him in 1974.

Arab League Summit Gives 'Lip Service' to Iranians

AMMAN, Jordan — The 11th Arab League summit conference approved a $5 billion regional development plan and paid lip service to Iraq's claims against Iran. But the Syrian boycott blocked plans for a unified approach to the next U.S. administration.

Jordan's King Hussein used Thursday's final session to condemn Syria and other Arab states for their support of non-Arab Iran and vowed to repulse any attack from the 20,000 Syrian troops massing on the Jordanian border.

The conference failed to reach its stated main goal of developing a comprehensive Middle East peace plan to supplant the U.S.-sponsored talks between Israel and Egypt. Egypt is suspended from the league.

Hussein had hoped to carry such a plan to President-elect Ronald Reagan. He told a news conference after the summit he was willing to go to Washington after Reagan takes office in January, but only in his capacity as Jordan's leader.

There had been speculation the summit would authorize Hussein to speak on behalf of all Arabs, but the mandate apparently fell through in the confusion of boycott and the hostility that followed.

The summit did approve a 10-year development program to narrow the gap between the oil-rich Arab states and their poorer Arab neighbors. But the $5 billion earmarked for the project was only a third the sum initially proposed — an indication the conservative oil producers were angered by the absence of the more radical countries.

The Syrian boycott was joined by Algeria, South Yemen, Lebanon, Libya and the Palestine Liberation Organization. All but Lebanon, which is neutral, have expressed support for Iran.

At the end of the three-day conference, the 15 nations which attended issued a cautious statement recognizing Iraq's "rights to its lands and waters" and calling for a cease-fire "to preserve Arab Islamic ties."

Iran, while Moslem, is Persian rather than Arab. Iraq is Moslem and Arab.

Hussein was explicit in his support for Iraq and his contempt for Arabs siding with Iran.

Positive Signals Noted

MOSCOW (AP) — President Leonid I. Brezhnev is sending "very positive" signals to President-elect Ronald Reagan and has offered "certain assurances that give hope for the future, hope in Soviet-American relations and hope for the world," Sen. Charles Percy said today.

Percy, pegged as the next chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said his nearly three-hour-long talk with the Soviet leader today was "by all odds the most satisfactory discussion because we had such a full agenda." The meeting in the Kremlin, also attended by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and U.S. Ambassador Thomas J. Watson Jr., was much longer than scheduled.

Percy, the first U.S. government official to hold talks with Brezhnev in 16 months — and since the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan in December 1979 — declined to give details on the talks. But he said it was "difficult to name a subject we did not discuss."

Police Record Quiet Holiday

Hereford police encountered a quiet Thanksgiving Day here with only traffic cases to occupy them Thursday.

Officers issued a total of four traffic citations Thursday and investigated two break-ins.

One break-in was reported Wednesday evening by an officer on patrol who discovered a broken window at the office of Dr. H.A. Cavness, 129 West 5th. Although a book case was overturned in the office, no items were found to be missing in that break-in.

Police were also notified concerning a break-in at the home of Juan Aranda, 105 Brevard.

Aranda reported that someone entered his home through the back door and took several items off the wall and threw them on the floor.

Nothing was found to be missing at the Aranda home, however.

Insurance Available During General Sign Up

People who failed to sign up for medical insurance under Medicare, or who once had this protection but dropped it, will have a chance to obtain medical insurance during the 1981 general enrollment period of January through March, Jim Talbot, social security district manager in Amarillo, said.

Medical insurance is that part of Medicare that helps pay for doctor bills, outpatient hospital services, and many other medical items and services not covered under hospital insurance.

Protection for people who sign up during the general enrollment period will start July 1, 1981.

Medical insurance is financed by premiums paid by those enrolled and the Federal Government from general revenues. Presently, the Federal Government pays more than two-thirds of the cost.

People who sign up during a general enrollment period may pay a higher premium. This is because the premium is increased by 10 percent for each full year a person could have had this protection but did not.

More information about the medical insurance general enrollment period can be obtained at the Amarillo social security office located at 3119 SW 27th. The telephone number is 376-2241 (area code 806). The toll free number is 1-800-392-1603.

Salute the Homefront Missionary

Politically, America is coming home.

But there is a related movement of perhaps greater significance from a "social gospel" to a "spiritual gospel."

For decades our nation's elected leadership has worshipped at the shrine of a "social gospel." The three messiahs of that gospel were education, science and politics.

We were told that if we would feed and finance these three they would guarantee heaven on earth.

This assumed that men are animals: feed them, clothe them, shelter and entertain them and they will be healthy, happy and productive.

It will be less inspiring for missionaries who prefer exotic outposts, but the urgent need is for the moral, social, cultural and economic regeneration of our own nation.

America's missionaries have preferred preaching and teaching on faraway islands and in remote jungles to the neglect of the asphalt jungles in our own cities.

Seminary graduates prefer world travel.

Foreign cultures are exotic, romantic.

The prospective missionary is willing to tolerate poor living conditions in a foreign situation, is proud to have his parents and in-laws visit his deprivation in the bush.

The slides he brings back fascinate and enthrall the stay-at-homes. Dollars flow readily to such ministries.

There are no cobra skins, no elephant tusks, no flint-tipped spears to show-and-tell.

The skid-row missionary, at home or on station, without status, is more pitied than applauded.

And usually is in much more physical danger.

Yet the apostle Paul always went to the cities, expecting his ministry to expand from there. He went to Athens, to Rome — even when it meant to be imprisoned among the servants of the emperor.

When Jonah knew that the time was short he rushed to Nineveh, the capital of Assyria, to warn the most people first.

We'll have to try to learn to salute and support the homefront missionary.

He will try to take the do-not-others gospel into the midst of our own unwashed, unprincipled, undisciplined natives.

If he succeeds, we might again become a lighthouse for the world.

Night Baptist Women Meet with Mrs. Hays

The Night Baptist Women of WMU met recently in Kinsey Hall of First Baptist Church with guest speaker, Nancy Hays.

Introduced by Donnie Owen, Mrs. Hays reviewed the book, "Missions For Tomorrow," by Bill O'Brien.

Costaline Lee read the scripture and gave the calendar of prayer. President Leatrus Clark told of coming events, one being Dec. 4, a meeting with Rev. B.L. Davis, guest speaker, speaking on crusades to Brazil and the other, Dec. 10 from 4-6 p.m. being a tea for all the WMU members.

Club Attends Luncheon

The Ki Psa Ya Horizon club attended a luncheon recently served by members who attended a camp in Oklahoma last spring.

Several projects are underway for the group including the Wo He Lo Medallion; Marian Medal, a service project to benefit patients in the hospital and the cheese and sausage sale. The club is also selling erasable organizer calendars.

Members meet each Monday at 6 p.m. at the Camp Fire Lodge.

Officers include Amy Griffin, president; Bethany Boyd, vice president; Marilyn Osborn, secretary; Brooke Taylor, treasurer; Allison Thomas, parliamentarian; Anna Beth Friemel, reporter; and Stephanie Foster an Cynthia Lady, telephone committee chairman.

Advisors include Rosie Griffin, Phyllis Dawson, Charlotte Clarke and Romilda Friemel.

Wa-He-Chi-Wee Bluebirds

Ann Landers

Minor Social Annoyance

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A senior vice president of the Tobacco Institute made the following statement: "We believe that a law is now the proper way to deal with a minor social annoyance."

As a 48-year-old woman whose life has been made miserable by other people's smoke, I am infuriated by such a lack of sensitivity.

I suffer from chronic bronchitis and emphysema although I am and always have been a non-smoker. I have, however, worked in offices for 20 years where other people's smoke has been a real problem. Also, I am married to a very heavy smoker who suffers from emphysema.

My husband is 55 years old and cannot walk 30 feet without gasping for breath and stopping to rest. He has not been able to sleep through the night for the last 15 years. He gets up at least twice for a "nicotine fix." Needless to say, the physical side of our marriage disappeared many years ago.

Please tell Mr. Vice President that "minor social annoyance" can ruin lives, make people old before their time and kill. I know—because it has happened to me—Me In Atlanta

DEAR YOU: It wouldn't do any good to tell him anything. I know such people, and their minds are not only closed but nailed shut.

What we CAN do is keep pushing to ban cigarette smoking in as many places as possible. I am adamant on this subject and will continue to hang in there, no matter what.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother always said, "Nothing happens without a reason." She was a smart woman, and I believe she was right about this. So, Dear Ann, can you explain the recent findings of Dr. Simon Rabkin on heart attacks? He is associated with the University of Manitoba, and his statement was pretty scary.

According to this doctor, 75 percent of all fatal heart attacks among males who have had no previous history of cardiac problems occurred at work on Mondays.

Please put your noodle to this one and tell me why. If you print your answer in the paper it might help avert a few tragedies.—Startled In Hamilton, Ont.

DEAR HAM: If the man's job is tension-producing, perhaps returning to work after two days of rest might be sufficiently traumatic to bring on a fatal attack.

Other possibilities: Excessive drinking and carousing over the weekend or excessive jogging, tennis, swimming and "body-building" might cause a weakened ticker to go haywire on Monday. The watchword is moderation, fellas.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you please try to find space in your column for just one more word from an animal lover who was incensed by that letter critical of pet lovers?

I will simply quote one of American's favorite authors, Mark Twain. He said, "If you pick up a starving dog and make him prosperous, he will not bite you. This is the principal difference between a dog and a man." Sign me Lillian B. Of Everywhere

DEAR LILLIAN: That quote certainly reflects Mark Twain's delightful cynicism. But I am unclear as to how one makes a dog prosperous. Put him in the movies, or on TV, maybe? Thanks for writing.

A no-nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage—What to Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611, enclosing 50 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN

Dear Santa, All I want for Christmas is a snow shovel.

People who haven't lived in Hereford long may wonder why the very small tree on the corner of the courthouse grounds is dignified with the title of Community Christmas Tree and made the center of the city's annual Yuletide lighting ceremony, when there are much more handsome large evergreens nearby.

But the little tree has a special meaning to the Women's Division on the Chamber of Commerce which conducts the yearly ceremonies to formally inaugurate the Christmas season in Hereford.

When the Women's Division was assigned that duty about half a dozen years ago it brought the tiny tree in, planted it and decked it for the first ceremony, then has taken an interest in its care as it grows according to the original plan.

The decorations were bigger than the tree that first year, and it still isn't a forest giant like some cities seek for their community trees. But it is still growing, getting bigger every year—like Hereford and the Hereford community's Christmas season.

As a living, growing symbol of the Christmas spirit, it means more than a big tree that is cut somewhere, brought to town for a brief period of splendor and then hauled to the dump.

It is our own Community Christmas Tree, not just this year but every year.

If these outbursts of snow and ice keep up every week or so, there may not be standing room available on the Hereford Brand's Caribbean cruise that will start Feb. 22. But a few reservations may still be made, due to a couple of cancellations.

Looks like a great way to get your mind off the snows, planning for a tropical cruise in late February and into March. You can get details by a telephone call to Lavon Nieman or the Hereford Travel Center.

The Newspaper Bible

IT'S LIKE THIS

Here is another story illustrating what the Kingdom of God is like: A farmer sowed his field, and went away, and as the days went by, the seeds grew and grew without his help.

For the soil made the seeds grow. First a leaf-blade pushed through, and later the wheat-heads formed and finally the grain ripened.

And then the farmer came at once with his sickle and harvested it.

Jesus asked, "How can I describe the Kingdom of God? What story shall I use to illustrate it?"

It is like a tiny mustard seed! Though this is one of the smallest of seeds, yet it grows to become one of the largest of plants, with long branches where birds can build their nests and be sheltered.

He used many such illustrations to teach the people as much as they were ready to understand.

In fact, He taught only by illustrations in His public teaching, but afterwards, when He was alone with His disciples, He would explain His meaning to them.

Working Marrieds Assessed More Taxes

COLLEGE STATION — Who brings home the bacon in your family?

If it is both husband and wife, then you are assessed more taxes than if just one spouse earned the same total income, says Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist.

Mrs. Granovsky is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Here is her analysis of the tax situation for working marrieds:

If each spouse earns $5,000, they will be taxed $202 more than they would be if they were single and earned $5,000 each. That $202 "extra" amounts to a 40 percent increase in their total tax bill—hence, a $202 "marriage-tax penalty."

In 1979, a person earning $15,000 would have been taxed $1,635 if married to a non-working spouse.

That same person with the same salary if married to a working spouse who also earns $15,000 would be taxed $2,796 on that one $15,000 income.

A single person making $15,000 would be taxed $2,345. "FOR WORKING MARRIEDS ONLY"

In other words, just because you're MARRIED and BOTH WORK outside the home, you're "penalized" that extra amount, according to current tax regulations.

Some people call this the "sting" of the "marriage-tax penalty."

It happens only to working marrieds.

HOW CAN THAT BE? How can that be?

It works this way: the presence of a second income means the couple's TOTAL earnings are thrust into a higher tax bracket.

In fact, the government looks at both salaries as ONE TOTAL SALARY.

The "first dollars" earned by the second worker—which would be subject to lower rates if he or she were single—are taxed at the maximum rate (a higher rate) applied to the "last dollars" earned by the other spouse.

HOW DID THIS HAPPEN?

How did this happen?

It all started back in 1948, with a tax provision to help the majority of families, Mrs. Granovsky explains.

In 1948, the majority of families depended on one wage earner for financial support.

So, to "take pressure off" of families who depended financially on just one wage earner, the 1948 tax provision began "penalizing" married couples with two wage earners.

RULE AFFECTS 32 MILLION

But the nation's majority has changed since 1948.

Today, 32 million working marrieds are affected by the 1948 tax provision—as more than half of the nation's married women work outside the home for wages, Mrs. Granovsky points out.

BE AWARE OF HIDDEN COSTS

Working marrieds need to become aware of both the obvious and the hidden costs entailed in earning a living, the specialist advises.

They must grapple with making enough from the second income to offset the higher taxes they'll have to pay when they are both working—in addition to other extra expenses that the "second" job will create—such as transportation costs, clothing costs, and perhaps, babysitting fees.

WHAT ABOUT MARRIAGE?

Since they cannot break the tax rules, some couples simply do not marry in order to avoid the "marriage-tax penalty," while some working marrieds have actually divorced to avoid the "penalty."

This is causing greater awareness among national policymakers, Mrs. Granovsky adds, who are beginning to recognize that current tax regulations do not meet the needs of today's families.

WILL TAX RULES CHANGE?

Most probably, Mrs. Granovsky says, tax rules will change.

But here's where things get rather complicated. It isn't a simple matter of just "throwing out" the "marriage-tax penalty."

Since the provision that created it depends on the idea of "lower tax brackets" and "higher tax brackets"—and on married persons, single persons and "unmarried-head-of-household" person, then any changes in the tax rules must deal with all of these factors.

Here's what Mrs. Granovsky says about the future:

Although we do not know when changes will occur, the U.S. Congress is definitely involved in ideas for change.

The House Ways and Means Committee held hearings last April on the tax treatment of married and single taxpayers.

Bills to reduce tax inequities have been introduced in both the U.S. House of Representatives and the U.S. Senate.

At the three White House Conferences on Families held this summer, the proposal to eliminate the "marriage tax" drew more support than any other issue, Mrs. Granovsky adds.

By a margin of 17-1, the 2,000 delegates specifically called for permitting a married couple the option of filing joint or separate returns.

Support for the issue cut across regional, economic, ideological and political divisions within the delegations.

SEVERAL IDEAS FOR CHANGE

Several ways to resolve the issue have been proposed, Mrs. Granovsky says.

"Each proposal has potential benefits—and costs—for families, as well as for American society as a whole," she says.

"The possible impact of each proposal to change tax rules needs careful evaluation before specific tax-reform measures can be adopted," she stresses.

African Teens Fight in Land of Legionnaires

N'DJAMENA, Chad (AP) — On many maps this town is still Fort Lamy, evoking scenes of foreign legionnaires defending the northern reaches of what the French called Equatorial Africa. Until 18 months ago, it was a sleepy capital of 180,000 people who went about their business on the banks of the Chari River as civil strife swept the rest of the country.

Today it is all but abandoned, a battlefield where teenage boys dash from house to house, firing automatic weapons at other young men they often cannot see. Many Chadians and a few Europeans who once lived here now stand across the river in Kousseri, Cameroon, listening to the clatter of machine guns and the thud of mortars.

They know former Defense Minister Hissene Habre is fighting President Goukouni Oueddei for control of their town. But they are less clear about events that caused them to flee their homes in March to settle in the village once known as Fort Fourreau, the scene of Gary Cooper's adventures in "Beau Geste." Before independence in 1960, France had kept the traditional factional fighting well under control. But in 1963, battles erupted between Christian and animist southerners, who controlled most of the administration and the single political party, and the Moslem northerners, angered at their subordinate position. Although lines have become blurred and rhetoric more and more confusing, the fight first pitted south against north. But since 1979 northerners have been fighting among themselves. For all practical purposes the south is now an autonomous region in a country where government records lie scattered on floors of ransacked buildings in which Goukouni's 1,500 fighters camp out.

The situation in Chad poses a serious threat of destabilization for some of its neighbors. In the Central African Republic, President David Dacko's government is still struggling with the wreck left by the overthrow of Emperor Bokassa I; in Cameroon, President Amadou Ahidjo is dealing with tension among the various ethnic groups whose tribal and religious differences are similar to those of Chad; and Niger's large Toubou minority in the eastern part of the territory keeps in close contact with their brothers in Chad and Libya. The U.S. Defense Department in Washington recently said intelligence indicated 4,000 Libyan troops were fighting alongside Goukouni's Popular Armed Forces (FAP) in central and southern Chad. The capital lies on the western border, halfway between the north and south.

Libyan air base about 38 miles north of N'Djamena. "The situation in Chad constitutes a grave preoccupation for the French government," the Foreign Ministry said in a statement. "France is in contact on this subject with the African countries which are, like it, preoccupied by the worsening of the situation." In Kousseri more than 100,000 Chadian refugees line up in their United Nations and Cameroonian administered camp for food rations. Officials from the U.N. High Commission for Refugees say the camp is "not bad" compared to those in Somalia and Southeast Asia. Refugees have swelled the population of Kousseri and Cameroonian authorities are concerned that the conflict may spill over into their country. Chad's neighbors have periodically tried to arrange cease-fires. On Sunday, seven members of the Organization of African Unity, called for another cease-fire, to which Goukouni reportedly agreed. Habre's position was not known. A few French military observers remain in Kousseri, remnants of an expeditionary force that pulled out of here in May after protecting the evacuation of Europeans and Chadians. There are also U.S. diplomatic personnel in Kousseri. Some of them were attached to the embassy here until it was evacuated in March.

Texas Briefs

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A judge has fined the First Church of Divine Truth $500 on its plea of no contest to a charge it attempted to set up and promote a gambling operation.

Judge Carolyn Spears also ordered that $4,000 in cash confiscated in a raid on a bingo operation be turned over to the state.

Attorney Stewart J. Alexander entered the plea Monday in Bexar County Court-at-Law on behalf of the church, located near Canyon Lake. In a plea bargain, the judge ordered equipment seized in an Aug. 15 raid returned to the church and dismissed felony gambling promotion indictments returned recently against five members of the church's congregation.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A teen-age suspect shot in the leg by a police officer was listed in fair condition Tuesday at Bexar County Hospital.

Patrolman Chrisoforo Vieyra Jr., pursuing on foot two suspects who abandoned a stolen pickup truck, said he fired the shot at one of the youths who appeared to be carrying something in his hand after both teen-agers refused his warnings to stop.

The shooting happened after the two youths drove into a used car lot in one pickup, parked it, got into another and fled with police in pursuit.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Georgetown High School took top honors Tuesday in the state marching band contest cut short by cold and rainy weather.

Georgetown won the Class 4A competition based on its afternoon performance. The evening portion of the contest was cancelled because of the weather. Medina Valley won the 3A contest, and Castroville won in 1A.

The 5A contest went to Austin Crockett on Monday. Howe won the 2A contest.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Attorney General Mark White said Tuesday the city of Port Neches does not have to disclose the amount of a gift pledged by a donor until the gift is made.

The opinion was requested by H.P. Wright, Port Neches city attorney. A donor has pledged a substantial sum to the city to build a library. However, the donor has asked the amount be kept secret until paid in full by Feb. 1.

White said the city "need not" disclose the amount until the donation is made.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — William Riley, accused of murdering and disemboweling Austin car salesman Jack Cooney III in 1976, has been transferred from Rusk State Hospital — a maximum security unit — to Austin State Hospital.

Travis County District Attorney Ronald Earle said Riley, 29, was transferred here after psychiatrists at Rusk determined he was no longer "manifestly dangerous."

But Police Sgt. Bill Landes, who worked on the case, said, "Everyone in Austin is in danger as long as that man's out there."

Earle said although mental health officials no longer consider Riley "manifestly dangerous," they maintain he is still not competent to be tried in the shooting death of Cooney.

"This is their world of smoke and mirrors," said Earle. Cooney's headless, handless and legless torso was found on a sandbar in the middle of the Brazos River near Hearne, about 100 miles northeast of Austin.

SAN MARCOS, Texas (AP) — Bill Veidt, manager of radio station KCVY, has been elected president of the San Marcos Community Relations Council for Gary Job Corps Center.

The council serves as the liaison between the center and the community.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Dr. W. Albert Noyes Jr., a retired University of Texas professor with international honors in chemistry, died Tuesday in a local hospital. He was 82.

Noyes was elected to the French National Academy of Sciences in 1975. His other honors included the King's Medal from the British Empire for "Service in the Cause of Freedom," a Medal for Merit from the United States government and the Priestly Medal from the American Chemical Society.

He was Ashbel Smith professor emeritus at UT-Austin.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Doggett filed legislation Tuesday which would create a public utility counsel to represent residential consumers at rate hearings before the Public Utility Commission.

"Not only do the consumers end having to foot the bill, they have no way to counter-balance the arguments advanced by company-hired experts and attorneys in rate hearings," said Doggett, D-Austin.

"Utility customers deserve to have their interests equally represented, and that would be the prime function of the office of the public utility counsel," he said.

Doggett also wants utility companies to pay more than the current 6 percent on deposits.

Another proposed law would deny utility companies the automatic right to include construction work in progress (CWIP) in their rate base.

DALLAS (AP) — After five hours of voting — 56 ballots — Dallas school board members retired Monday night without deciding who should fill a vacant board seat.

The place 5 position was vacated in May when trustee Robert Price resigned because of an apparent conflict with state nepotism laws. Board members then chose attorney Lorenzo Brown to fill the unexpired portion of Price's term, but last week a court ruled Brown ineligible to serve because he failed to meet the letter of state election law requirements.

Trustees were supposed to pick Brown's successor Monday night but, after narrowing the field to three candidates, could not agree on a winner. The most votes any of the candidates received was four, and five are needed to pick a new trustee.

Finally, at 11:30 p.m., board member Jerry Bartos announced he had other business to attend to and walked out of the meeting, whereupon the remaining members voted to adjourn until 1:30 p.m. Wednesday. The business of Brown's successor will resume then.

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas City Manager George Schrader may be leaving the city in less than a year, the Dallas Morning News said Monday.

Schrader hinted that 1981 will be his last year with the City of Dallas, the newspaper said, during a municipal retreat at Lake Texoma earlier this month.

The city manager told the gathering he hoped "somebody will send me an invitation" for the opening of a new central library, scheduled to be dedicated in late 1981.

Schrader's departure would not surprise many members of the Dallas City Council. In fact, one council member has suggested privately that the biggest challenge the council will face next year will be picking a new city manager.

Schrader has been the target of some isolated but bitter complaints by city employees the past six months, particularly by bus drivers during the recent, ill-fated strike against the city transit system. They accused the manager of being cold and aloof, and refusing to discuss their demands.

MCKINNEY, Texas (AP) — It took three recounts and almost three weeks to decide who had been elected Collin County clerk but when the smoke had cleared, Margie Craft had won.

By one vote. Mrs. Craft was sworn in Monday after county commissioners completed a canvass of votes in her battle against Democrat Helen Starnes, a former chief deputy clerk.

The Republican asked for a recount after early results showed Mrs. Starnes had won by a 291-vote margin.

The recount showed Mrs. Craft, appointed to the job last summer, had won by a 41-vote margin. But a second recount cut the margin to five votes.

Mrs. Starnes then requested a manual recount and was declared the winner, by the slimmest possible margin.

Scientists Recommend Easing of Restrictions

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of scientists, in apparent agreement that there are fewer risks in DNA research than once thought, recommends easing restrictions for about 80 percent of the gene-splitting experiments in the United States.

The proposals, developed by scientists who monitor the safety of genetic research, would result in fewer overseers, paperwork requirements and review procedures for scientists working with DNA, the genetic material that transmits inherited characteristics.

About 200 representatives from institutional biosafety committees developed the proposals and presented them at a special meeting called by the National Institutes of Health. The committees operate at universities, medical schools, private research organizations and companies engaged in DNA research.

The recommendations will be considered by NIH's Recombinant DNA Advisory Committee, probably in April. The advisory committee's recommendations go to the NIH director and the secretary of health and human services for final consideration.

Among the recommendations announced Tuesday was one that all research involving the organism known as E.coli K12 be exempted from the federal regulations. Scientists say evaluations over the past 40 years indicate the organism is safe and incapable of causing a harmful infection.

The organism, the one most commonly used in making new genetic combinations, figures in about 80 percent of the experiments conducted. DNA, which stands for deoxyribonucleic acid, is subject to the federal guidelines when experiments involve organisms that can be transmitted and propagated and can grow. Strict federal guidelines were imposed on DNA research out of concern that it might create in harmful genetic combinations.

Nearly all agree that the battle lines have remained almost static since fighting broke out eight months ago.

French doctors treat the wounded of both sides in two field hospitals at opposite ends of Kousseri.

The FAP casualties are ferried across the river during the day. The FAN, Habre's Armed Forces of the North, transports its wounded in dugout canoes across the river at night. Doctors say casualties run from a few to "more than 30" a day from fighting that has claimed an estimated 3,500 dead and 10,000 wounded since March.

During daylight hours, merchants in long robes and women in brilliant shawls with babies on their backs and cooking pots on their heads, ride canoes or a makeshift ferry to visit relatives fighting in FAP-controlled areas.

Two miles upriver, canoes carry vital supplies of food and gasoline every night to the FAN. Military observers say weapons are crossing a number of borders to both armies.

Officials Miffed at Government Concerning Aid

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Four months after Hurricane Allen slammed into South Texas, officials of the stricken cities complain that they are hopelessly mired in a frustrating tangle of federal red tape.

Lower Rio Grande Valley mayors told a Texas Coastal and Marine Council hearing that they have been stonewalled and short-changed by the government agency set up to ease the flow of federal relief funds.

"We've spent $10,000 picking up brush alone," Mayor Jeff Burke of Rio Hondo said at the Tuesday hearing. "They've offered us about that much for all our damage, including only $3,800 for roads."

Burke and others were critical of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

"We had potholes before the storm and now the road bases are damaged. I feel like FEMA is responsible for our roads being totally destroyed," Burke said of his city of 2,000.

FEMA representative Bill McAda attended the council meeting, but offered no explanation of its operations.

Port Isabel Mayor Quirino Martinez told of a similar problem with road repairs. He said officials at the bayfront resort community estimated highway damage at $325,000 but federal officials offered only $48,000.

"We'll just have to let some roads go down the drain," Martinez said. "The federal people gave us six months to appeal and show that our roads deteriorated that much."

FEMA has received more than 28,000 applications for aid such as Small Business Administration loans, family grants, income tax credits and temporary housing.

Brownsville Mayor Emilio Hernandez complained that the FEMA "one-stop" disaster office for the area should have been located closer to the coast, instead of in Harlingen, 25 inland.

FEMA officials said they decided on Harlingen because of its central location to residents of McAllen, Edinburg and other Lower Rio Grande Valley towns.

"Many people had no way to get to Harlingen," Hernandez said.

Sens. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, and Raul

Longoria, D-Edinburg, criticized FEMA disaster coordinator Dale Milford, for not sending someone to testify at the hearing.

"You go back and tell Mr. Milford that he's a public servant and taxpayers pay his salary," Longoria told McAda.

Military Notes

San Diego Marine Corps Private First Class Rayes Cano Jr., son of Rayes and Maria Cano, 137 Campbell St., Hereford, completed recruit training and was meritoriously promoted to his present rank, at the San Diego Marine Corps Recruit Depot.

This 11-week training cycle covered basics of battlefield survival and provided an introduction to the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by marines. While participating in an active physical conditioning program, trainees gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill.

He received special recognition for superior achievement during the rifle marksmanship training phase, scoring 225 of 250 possible points and qualifying as the unit's high shooter.

A 1980 graduate of Hereford High School, Cano reported to the San Diego Marine Corps Recruit Depot in August 1980.

Boy Scout Council Investigates Reports of Lethal Combat

HOUSTON (AP) — The Boy Scout Council has jerked its credentials from an Explorer post scarred by reports that leaders trained the youths in lethal hand-to-hand combat techniques.

The Council, which governs more than 70,000 youths and adults who participate in Scouting in the Houston area, rejected the charter application of Post 2125 on Tuesday night following a lengthy meeting.

"Disturbing reports have been brought to light concerning the temporary leadership and activities of the post ... The local Council held up the application after receiving adverse information last week," said Council President Burke Baker Jr.

"Although the published reports are difficult to substantiate, interviews with youth members of the proposed post and their families developed sufficient information to cause this committee to seriously question the advisability of granting the charter," he said.

The post was allowed to organize while application for a charter was reviewed by the Boy Scouts of America.

The controversy erupted after the Houston Chronicle reported in a copyright story Sunday that several Explorers and Civil Air Patrol cadets had been taught how to strangle people, decapitate enemies with a machete and fire semi-automatic weapons.

The youths, ages 13 to 20, reportedly received training at a "survival camp" in Southeast Texas from a Ku Klux Klan member and a man convicted in Tennessee earlier this year on a weapons charge.

An investigation into the allegations was ordered Monday by the Council after reports surfaced.

"Charters for Explorer posts are based upon three factors — sponsorship, leadership and membership. Sufficient questions existed to dictate that the Council reject the charter," Baker said.

In a copyright story Tuesday, the Chronicle reported the mother of two Explorer Scouts said troop leaders once talked of a mission to the U.S. Mexico border to spot illegal aliens entering the country.

The mother asked not to be identified because she feared retaliation, the newspaper said.

The teen-agers said the plans called for the Scouts to notify the U.S. Border Patrol if they spotted any illegal aliens crossing the border, the Chronicle said.

"I had no idea what they were getting into or I would never have let them do it," the mother said after learning her sons had participated in the training sessions at Camp Puller in nearby Chambers County.

But John Bryant, who helped KKK member Joe Bogart organize the post, said reports of the proposed border trip, which never took place, were misconstrued.

Bryant was convicted last January of illegally selling automatic weapons in Memphis, Tenn.

From 12 to 30 youths received training at the camp, operated by Robert J. Sisente and Louis Beam, the Grand Dragon of the Texas KKK. Sisente, who was ousted in October from the CAP, has denied he is a Klan member.

Lt. Col. R.L. Close, a 23-year-veteran of the U.S. Marine Corps and head of the Marine reserve unit at Ellington Air Force Base sponsoring the Explorers troop and CAP cadets, disclosed earlier that the youths had received hand-to-hand combat training at the camp.

One Scout's mother told the Chronicle she thought a mission to the border seemed strange because many of the Scouts were Mexican-Americans and might be sympathetic to aliens crossing the Rio Grande.

Bryant, 26, told the newspaper that talk of a so-called mission had been misrepresented.

"Some groups went and did that a while back," he said "If they (the boys) wanted an actual mission, they could go down and talk to them about it," said Bryant, 26.

The Chronicle reported that in 1977 Beam announced that unarmed Klansmen would patrol the Texas-Mexico border for aliens entering the United States illegally.

Border Patrolmen, however, told the KKK its calls would be ignored. Several leaflets bearing the skull and crossbones and a KKK warning to illegal aliens were found near Brownsville, but no sightings were reported.

Beam refused to comment on the allegations. A Klan spokesman who identified himself as Jack Evans said many members of the Texas Emergency Reserve, a paramilitary arm of the KKK, trained at Camp Puller.

Authorities in Chambers County have said no effort has been made to close the camp.

Meanwhile, Baker said the Scouts would be allowed to join other posts.

"We feel it would be unfair to deny the youth members the many advantages of Scouting. Each will be contacted personally and offered the opportunity to join other officially chartered Explorer posts," he said.

Names in the News

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Some of Hollywood's best-known figures will be on hand to celebrate the inauguration of President-elect Ronald Reagan at a gala the night before he takes office.

Johnny Carson, the longtime host of NBC's "Tonight" show, will be master of ceremonies for the Jan. 19 gala, producer-director Frank Sinatra announced Tuesday. Others appearing will be Dean Martin, James Stewart, Rich Little, the Osmonds and Ethel Merman, according to Sinatra spokeswoman Susan Reynolds.

The event will be staged at the Capital Centre in the Washington suburb of Landover, Md.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pop singer Stevie Wonder, who has joined black leaders in calling for a national holiday on the birthdate of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr., says he will give a benefit concert to support the drive.

At a news conference to announce plans for a Washington march Jan. 15, Wonder said such a holiday would go a long way toward "showing the rest of the world that people really can live together in unity, in harmony."

The capital parade, set to culminate in a rally near the Washington Monument, is aimed at bolstering public and congressional support for the King national holiday proposal, which was voted down in the House by a narrow margin in late 1979.

King, who would have turned 52 on Jan. 15, was assassinated in 1968 in Memphis, Tenn. Wonder said the benefit concert would be held Jan. 16 at the Capital Centre, just outside Washington.

FAIRVIEW, Okla. (AP) — The Six Million Dollar Man has been accused of killing a deer out of season — during the Grand National Quail Hunt.

Lee Majors, who starred as Steve Austin on TV's "The Six Million Dollar Man," allegedly shot a buck deer last Friday, one day before the deer season opened, officials said.

He had been taking part in the Grand National Quail Hunt near here.

A business agent for Majors posted $281 bond Tuesday, said Ray Tillery, district chief game ranger.

Majors also was accused of using improper ammunition and taking a deer without a license.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Blind country music singer Ronnie Milsap is resting at his Nashville home following a relapse of pneumonia, a spokeswoman says.

Milsap, 34, collapsed last Friday at Nashville's Municipal Airport while waiting for a flight to Kansas City.

"He's still resting at home," the spokeswoman said Tuesday. "He had pneumonia in one lung and was recovering but just started back to work too soon."

Milsap's hits include "It Was Almost Like a Song," "I'm a Stand By Your Woman Man," "What Goes On When the Sun Goes Down" and "Only One Love in My Life."

Trucker Facing Homicide Charges After Collision

KENNER, La. (AP) — A gasoline trucker who allegedly tried to beat a freight train to a railroad crossing has been charged with negligent homicide after a collision and blast killed seven people, torched a neighborhood bar and plunged parts of Kenner into darkness.

Flames shot 100 feet into the air and hundreds of people were forced to flee their homes following the accident Tuesday night in this New Orleans suburb.

The truck driver, identified by police as Glendon R. Russey, 36, of Baton Rouge, a driver for Mobil Corp., was booked on seven counts of negligent homicide.

Kenner's chief administrative officer said the driver passed a stopped car and a barricade at the crossing and drove onto the track, where the tanker collided with an Illinois Central Gulf train.

Administrative Officer Jimmy Warren said interviews with several witnesses indicated the truck "attempted to out-run the train to the crossing."

"There was a collision. The truck exploded and broke in half. Half of the truck fell on a car behind it and half of it on a barroom," Warren said.

Warren said six of the victims were in the bar, Buck's and Chuck's, a popular after-work watering hole. The bar was leveled by a fire sparked by explosions which followed the collision.

"Everyone ran to the door and the fire shot up all around us," said Charles Albrecht, 50, who was playing pool at the bar, which is 20 to 30 yards from the railroad tracks. He escaped out a back door.

The seventh victim was identified as 6-month-old Heidi McGill, who was in the car the truck allegedly passed, officials said.

State trooper Wallace Gettys said the child's mother, Alice McGill, was pulled from the wreckage by the truck driver, whose clothes were aflame.

Neither adult was hurt seriously.

The other victims were not identified immediately.

The blasts and fires knocked out power lines and plunged the area into darkness. Hours later, firemen were still toppling burning utility poles while electrical lines crackled overhead.

Officials evacuated 200 to 300 people from surrounding homes and opened an emergency center at the Kenner City Hall. Officials said most of those evacuated stayed with friends or relatives.

Only shattered hulls remained of four vehicles caught in the blast — the 18-wheeler and its cab, another tractor cab, a pickup truck and the car at the crossing.

In addition, the parking lot of the bar was littered with the debris of up to a dozen other burned out cars.

—On the Lighter Side—

HIGHLAND, Utah (AP) — Cassandra thought it was another goat, and wanted to say hello. Unfortunately, the white form she tried to butt horns with was just her image reflected off the shiny solar panels of Jay and Elaine Davis' house.

"We were watching TV and I kept hearing this noise — a really heavy thud, thud, thud," said Mrs. Davis. "Our neighbor came to the door and said, 'Do you know there's a goat butting your solar panels?'"

"Jay said, 'Oh, no,' and ran out, and sure enough, here was this silly goat. Jay had to take it by the horns and pull it away. It took all his weight to get that little thing away from the panels, and then he didn't know what to do with it," she said.

The goat, named Cassandra, belonged to a nearby family.

"When they see another goat, they butt each other," explained Renee Harper, Cassandra's owner. "That's what they do to say hello. She wasn't trying to be malicious, poor little thing. She was just trying to be friendly."

CHICAGO (AP) — If Peter Piper picked a peck of pickled peppers, how many Pickles and Peppers can Pickle Packers International pick for their "Gold Pickle Award"?

One of each, the organization said Tuesday as it announced the two recipients of the award — Congressman J.J. Pickle of Texas and Congressman Claude D. Pepper of Florida, both Democrats. William R. Moore, executive vice president of Pickle Packers, said the Gold Pickle awards were in recognition of the men's recent re-election to Congress, where they have both "diligently" served for the last 17 years.

"During this season, we as an industry are celebrating holidays as pickle days,"

Moore said. "But after the joyous period is over, the new administration will still face many trouble areas."

"We hope the Gold Pickle will serve to remind both distinguished legislators to help keep our nation out of any serious pickles," Moore said.

Congress Retirees Well Taken Care Of

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whoever said, "You can't take it with you," never heard of the congressional retirement system, which allows veteran members of Congress to retire earlier and with far higher benefits than most American workers.

While the actual retirement income of retiring congressmen is confidential, the formula used to figure the benefits is public. And it shows that some outgoing members still in their early 50s will be taking a hefty retirement package with them — $35,000 a year in some cases.

Several of this year's retirees will doubtlessly feather their nest further with the lucrative job offers that often come to ex-congressmen.

Here's how the congressional retirement formula works.

Congressmen, if they elect, can put up to 8 percent of their gross salary per year in the retirement plan, or a maximum of $4,800 a year at the current salary level. Members covered by the plan can retire at age 50 so long as they have 20 years of government service, including at least 10 years in the House or Senate. Military service counts as government service.

With 10 years of service, participants can retire at age 60; with only five years in Congress, at 62.

For each year of government service, a retired congressman covered by the plan gets 2.5 percent of the average salary earned in the three highest-earning years in Congress and the military.

The three-year average for members retiring this year is $58,554; 2.5 percent of that is $1,464.

Multiplying $1,464 by the years of service gives a congressman's yearly retirement benefits. If he worked in another federal job, retirement benefits from those years would be added on.

And benefits are adjusted every six months to account for changes in the cost of living, twice as often as for other federal workers and Social Security recipients.

Last Minute Run Gives Chicago Win

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Vince Evans has plenty of reasons for giving thanks, but the Chicago quarterback must be especially thankful for the Detroit Lions.

Evans received his first National Football League start of the season six weeks ago against Detroit, led his team to an easy victory, and has become the Bears' offensive leader.

On Thursday he did in the Lions once again, rallying the Bears from a 14-point deficit in the fourth quarter to set up an overtime period which lasted exactly 21 seconds.

Chicago won the coin toss and return specialist Dave Williams raced 95 yards with the kickoff to give the Bears a heart-stopping 23-17 triumph.

"I felt, and I could see everyone else on our team felt, we could still win the ball game," Evans said. "We needed this win in a big way."

The fourth quarter was less than three minutes old when Evans concluded an 86-yard, nine-play drive by hitting tight end Bob Fisher with a 20-yard touchdown pass to narrow the score to 17-10.

With 3:37 left, the Bears began a drive on their own 6-yard line. Evans drove them to the Detroit 47 — with time running out — he dropped back, found his receivers covered, then televised Thanksgiving Day game before 75,397 fans at the Silverdome.

"I've been in football a long time, but I just don't ever remember seeing a game like this," Bears Coach Neill Armstrong said. "A touchdown scored with no time left, we win the toss and run the kickoff back for a TD."

"You know, that was the only real coaching I did to-

"After I caught the ball, I was trying to get us the best field position possible," Williams said. "I felt I had a chance to go all the way after I cut left and could see the goal line."

Detroit Coach Monte Clark, whose club wanted desperately to win the game in order to expand its first-place lead over the Minnesota

Vikings in the Central Division of the National Football Conference, called the defeat "the bitterest loss I can remember as a coach."

Detroit quarterback Gary Danielson completed nine of 21 passes for 157 yards, including a 47-yard touchdown pass play to Billy Sims, and Danielson also scored on a 1-yard sneak.

Eddie Murray booted a 34-yard field goal for Detroit, 7-6, and Bob Thomas hit a 24-yarder for Chicago, 5-8.

day. I told them to go out and win the toss."

Battling Hereford Whiteface post men Mike Fraser (34) and Bert Wofford (57) look for the rebound coming off a shot another Whiteface teammate sent to the glass in Hereford's last game contest with the Berger Bulldogs Monday night. The Herd fell in the clash by a margin of 71-53 to slide even further into the depths of the winless (the HHS crew now holds 0-3 mark on the year), but will be vying for its first win of the season again Saturday as they meet the Pampa Harvesters in Amarillo. The Hereford varsity girls (contrasting the boy's success with a 3-1 slate on the year) are scheduled to make their first home debut of the 1980-81 season as they pair off against the Harvesters here in the La Plata Gymnasium at 7:45. ## Jabbar Leads Laker Tally

OAKLAND (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers rediscovered a winning formula from the days before the arrival of Magic Johnson, now missing from action.

It involves 7-foot-2 Kareem Abdul-Jabbar — as much as possible.

"We have to mix things well on offense. Of course, that means one play for Kareem, then one play for the rest of the team," Coach Paul Westhead joked after Jabbar scored 40 points in Thursday night's 128-119 victory over the Golden State Warriors.

In the night's only other National Basketball Association game, the Washington Bullets beat the Indiana Pacers 123-108.

The Lakers have had some rough nights since the loss of Johnson, the brilliant guard who had knee surgery recently.

"The team can do something about that. I can't," said Jabbar, whose teammates got the ball to him more than enough Thursday night.

"He just has to play his normal game," said Westhead.

"Tonight, he was very assertive on both ends of the court."

Forward Jamaal Wilkes contributed 24 points for the NBA champions and said, "We've still got a lot of talent. We're not going to fall apart."

Jabbar went 10 points over his previous single-game high this season and he did it against a team which had the NBA's best homecourt record, 10-0. He made 15 of 22 shots from the floor, 10 of 14 free throws, and grabbed 11 rebounds in 38 minutes.

"My hook shot was good, but what helped most was the fouls. I've got to go to the line to have big scoring nights," he said. "If they don't call fouls, it makes my job a lot harder."

He came back from a 5-for-15 shooting performance in last Sunday's 110-94 loss to Milwaukee. The Lakers shot .385 from the floor in that game compared to .573 against the Warriors.

Joe Barry Carroll, the Warriors' 7-foot rookie center, had his best scoring game as a pro with 32 points, with 14 coming in the final period. In the third quarter, when Jabbar had 14 points, Carroll and backup center Clifford Ray both got into foul trouble and went to the bench.

The Warriors, down by 15 points late in the third quarter, cut the margin to five several times in the final minutes.

"I think we've proven we can play with anyone in this league," said Coach Al Attles, whose team will be home Saturday night against the Phoenix Suns, the Pacific Division leaders.

Carroll, in his first regular season meeting with Jabbar, was outscored 29-14 on Oct. 19 in Los Angeles.

"I thought J.B. was tremendous this time. He fought him tooth and nail," Attles said after the rematch. "It seemed like everything he put up went in."

Georgia Hopes For Perfect Grid Season

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The last time the Georgia Bulldogs had a perfect year, the redoubtable Charlie Trippi was running rings around the opposition.

That shows you how long it's been.

Since that peerless 10-0 season in 1946, the Bulldogs have been close a few times — but not until now have they been so near to getting the cigar.

The nation's top-ranked team, bound for a Sugar Bowl meeting with Notre Dame on New Year's Day in a game that figures to decide the national title, can finish a perfect regular season by beating Georgia Tech Saturday.

It's one of several season-ending games this weekend pitting a host of traditional rivals.

The action got underway today when fourth-ranked Pitt met fifth-ranked Penn State in their annual "battle of Pennsylvania." On Saturday, Army plays Navy in the continuation of their spectacular series.

While Georgia is experiencing its best season in many years, Georgia Tech is not. The Yellow Jackets only have one victory and one tie, against mighty Notre Dame, during their disappointing season. They'll have to contend with one of the nation's best runners Saturday in Herschel Walker.

"We're going to have to do the best job of the season if we're going to hold him," Georgia Tech linebacker Steve Mooney said of Walker. "They're going to try to get him Tony Dorsett's freshman rushing record, especially in a game with as much incentive as Georgia-Georgia Tech."

Walker needs 176 yards to break the 7-year-old NCAA freshman rushing record set by Dorsett at Pittsburgh. But he won't be the only problem facing Georgia Tech.

"If you try to stop Herschel, the other two guys (quarterback Buck) Belue and (fullback Jimmy) Womack — will kill you," said Georgia Tech's defensive coordinator Ken Blair.

"We're just going to play our regular defense and do the best job we possibly can."

Both Penn State and Pitt had 9-1 records and both were going to bowls — the Nittany Lions to the Fiesta Bowl on Dec. 26 and the Panthers to the Gator Bowl on Dec. 29. Penn State held a 39-37-3 edge in the series.

Navy has a chance to pull ahead of Army in the honored series between the service academies. Navy's sixth victory in seven games last season evened the series at 37 victories apiece. Navy, with a 7-3 record and a stronger schedule, is favored over Army, 3-6-1, at Philadelphia's JFK Stadium.

Among Saturday's other traditional games, it'll be Alabama vs. Auburn, Arizona State at Arizona, Holy Cross at Boston College, Miami (Fla.) at Florida, Oklahoma State at Oklahoma, Texas A&M at Texas and Tennessee at Vanderbilt.

In a light day Thursday, Brown beat Rhode Island 9-3 as Hank Landers hurled a first-quarter touchdown pass to Mike Campbell.

Contestants Vie For Grand Prize

This is the last week of the Brand Football Contest, sponsored by local merchants, and 13 of the contestants will be vying for the grand prize awards of $100, $35 and $15.

All of the first-place winners in the 12 previous weeks became eligible to enter the grand-prize contest. These were: Murlene Streun, Jerry Morgan, David Caldwell, Scott Debard, Karen Marsh, Armando Alaniz, Tracy Shepherd, Ansel McDowell, K. Phommvong, Susan Crosby, John Keating, Lela Duggan and Jim Hillwig.

This week's entries, due this afternoon, will be separated into two contests. All other entrants will have a chance at the regular weekly cash awards of $25, $15 and $10, while the elite 13 will be shooting for the big prizes.

When you buy insurance, there are two types of agents you can deal with. A one-company agent who works directly for one insurance company. Or an Independent Insurance Agent who represents several companies. What's the difference? First of all, if you buy insurance from a one-company agent, he's probably not the person you talk to when you have a claim. Most one-company agents have nothing to do with the claims process. If you have a claim, it's between you and the adjuster.

Your Independent Insurance Agent doesn't do business that way. He's right there ready to serve you when you have a claim... helping you reach a fair settlement as quickly as possible. Personal involvement is not the only advantage your Independent Insurance Agent offers you. Since he doesn't represent only one insurance company, he can offer you policies from several companies. ## Major NFL Confrontations Slated

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

Talk about showdowns and late-season confrontations, there are two major ones in the National Football League Sunday.

Everybody knows about Cleveland and Houston going head-to-head for first place in the AFC Central. But over in the NFC East, St. Louis and the New York Giants tied for third place (if you're an optimist) or last place (if you're not) go against each other. Also interested is Washington which shares the three-way deadlock.

Go with the Browns in the major showdown and the Giants in the minor one.

Last week's 9-4 (6-7 with the points) left the season's record at 100-65-1 (66-100 with points). The picks:

Giants 20, Cards 14
The winner moves out of the NFC East basement. Can New York stand the big-game pressure? St. Louis favored by 2 points.

Browns 21, Oilers 13
A second chance at the top for Cleveland. Brian Sipe won't let it get away. Houston favored by 3 1/2.

Rams 30, Jets 24
New York should have lost last week, blowing a 21-point fourth quarter lead at home. Los Angeles favored by 10.

Falcons 21, Redskins 13
Steve Bartkowski is playing the best football of his career for Atlanta. Most Redskins are not. Atlanta favored by 9 1/2.

Packers 13, Bucs 10
These teams tied the last time they played, but Green Bay has improved since then and Tampa Bay has not. Green Bay favored by 4 1/2.

Bills 24, Colts 14
Buffalo sniffs playoff land, an enticing aroma.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Polly Cramer
Alabaster alibi

DEAR POLLY — I lost the paper that had the directions for cleaning alabaster and would like very much to know what they were. — MRS. S.J.S.

DEAR MRS. S.J.S. — Alabaster is a natural stone mined in Italy and the information I have is from a shop in Italy that sells such products. They say, "Never expose to direct sunlight or water. Sun causes fading and water removes the finish and causes permanent damage." A small amount of petroleum jelly or soft white wax or paraffin can be applied briskly and periodically. Many so-called alabaster figurines from Italy are molded from a synthetic composition and can be washed. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — A guest we had from Europe this past summer had previously experienced problems in airports, motels, etc. because he spoke no English. My husband had a good idea that helped our guest and could be useful to others. On paper or cards we wrote questions such as, "From which gate does my plane leave?" in both the foreign tongue (so he knew which question was which) and in English so that attendants, etc. could read it and give the proper directions. — M.E.G.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Aids to a vegetarian diet

DEAR DR. LAMB — My daughter, 18, has been a vegetarian for about five years. She does not eat meat, fish or eggs. What is a good diet for her and how about vitamins?

DEAR READER — It depends on what her vegetarian diet includes. You can have a reasonably satisfactory diet and still omit meat, fish and eggs. The complete protein in this instance must come from milk and milk products such as cottage cheese. The other alternative is to have a sufficient variety of vegetable proteins that complement each other. Mature bean seeds, particularly soybeans, are often very helpful in this regard.

As a young woman she could have an iron deficiency unless she's very careful. Women in the childbearing age tend to require about twice as much iron as men do anyway. The other possible deficiency would be vitamin B-12. She can avoid both of these problems by taking one of the general purpose, daily vitamin tablets that also contain iron.

It's a bit more difficult to manage children on a vegetarian diet because those are the years when they need increased amounts of protein for growth and two of the amino acids that are not as important to adults. Protein requirements are also increased during pregnancy and during lactation. There are a lot of misconceptions about diet so I know you'll be interested in The Health Letter number 16-2, Dangerous Dieting, which I'm sending you. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Help. Our daughter-in-law had two Caesarian sections and two or three miscarriages. Now my husband is blaming her for not trying to have a son. Our daughter-in-law and our son have told him that the doctor advised against another pregnancy. My husband says another child would not kill her. Is this true? I'm very dependent about the whole problem.

DEAR READER — Apparently I missed something. I was under the general impression that the prospective parents were the ones who decided whether they wanted another child or not rather than the potential grandparents.

It's a good idea to follow your doctor's advice on such matters. I know nothing else about your daughter-in-law's problems but it is true that a woman who has had one Caesarian section often must have another one. There are several reasons for this. If the first Caesarian section was done because the pelvic outlet was too small for the passage of the baby, that condition will still be present for all subsequent births. Then, once there's a scar from an incision in the uterus, it's more likely to rupture. Some women are able to have subsequent normal deliveries provided the basic reason for the first Caesarian is no longer applicable, but this has to be decided on an individual basis.

Finally, why does your husband think the daughter-in-law is responsible for having a son? The sex of a newborn baby is determined by whether the ovum was fertilized by a female or a male sperm cell from the man.

LET FAITH FILL YOUR HOLIDAY SEASON WITH LOVE

During the long and busy holiday season, crammed with the hustle and bustle of shopping, wrapping, writing cards, decorating, etc., all this feverish activity should add up to a time of spiritual as well as material happiness. However, we sometimes find the dark shadow of an unpleasant incident cast upon an otherwise bright scene. Is there a friend or relative with whom you have quarreled over some trivial matter? Have you hurt someone's feelings with an unkind remark or a slight? There is no better time to heal these wounds and show your spirit of love than during this season in honor of the One who devoted His life to teaching us to love one another. Take the time to learn this at the Church of your choice on Sunday.

Forget, forgive, for who may say that Christmas day may ever come to host or guest again.
— William Henry Harrison Murray

"Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another."
— I John 4:11
