Pheasant Season '80 Opens Tomorrow

By JIM STEIERT
Outdoors Editor

A tradition as colorful as the gamebirds themselves will be renewed Saturday as pheasant season 1980 gets underway in the Texas Panhandle 30 minutes before sunrise and continues through Dec. 28.

Thousands of hunters in the "Magic Triangle" area of Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer counties can expect to find relatively good hunting this season, and the results should be especially good for Deaf Smith County hunters who will be afield in the undisputed pheasant hunting capital of Texas.

Ringneck numbers this year rival the peak population of 1979 in Deaf Smith County when opening day hunting proved possibly the finest since the season was initiated in the Panhandle.

Shooting hours for pheasant hunters will be 30 minutes before sunrise to 30 minutes after sunset daily and bag limit will remain the traditional two cocks per day with four in possession. Hens are not fair game.

Sportsmen bagging pheasants are reminded that the head and feet must remain attached to the birds until they are taken to their final destination.

Hunters may not drag chain or cable between vehicles in fields to flush pheasant and hunting from public roadways is illegal.

Pheasant may be hunted from vehicles on private property, however.

Pheasants may be legally taken with rifles although the practice is discouraged due to the large number of hunters who will be in the field, and also because of the presence of livestock.

Sportsmen will be well-advised to obtain landowner permission before hunting as all pheasant hunting in the region is on privately-owned land, much of which is posted.

In order to post their land, property owners must place a sign at the main entrance to the property or have the land completely enclosed, or must have given a verbal command not to enter the property.

Should a local landowner desire to file trespassing charges, he will be required to sign a complaint form in order to press charges.

Local farmers and other landowners urge sportsmen to close gates and be on the lookout for electric stock fences as they go about their hunting, and hunters are especially asked to be conscious of livestock and property, including irrigation equipment.

The Texas Parks & Wildlife Department will have a beefed-up force of game wardens on hand in the Hereford area to monitor the conduct of hunters here this weekend.

TP&WD officials have issued a reminder to sportsmen to be particularly careful in their handling of firearms in the field, especially where large groups of hunters are working the same field.

No fewer than three instances of pheasant hunters being shot by fellow hunters were reported on opening day here in 1979 and with veritable hordes of hunters expected to be in the fields again this year, sportsmen should place extra emphasis on safety.

Hunters need not have their guns plugged to hunt pheasant, although the plug must be in place if sportsmen opt to seek waterfowl in addition to pheasant.

Most local hunters prefer shotguns of 12 or 20 bore for their ringneck hunting and high-brass loads of No. 6 shot are among the most prominently used shotshells here.

Trade in sporting goods including ammunition, winter clothing and hunting accessories, as well as hunting licenses was already picking up at local sporting goods dealers Thursday afternoon and a veritable rush of business was expected to greet merchants handling such items today.

Joe Gaylor, manager of Gibson Discount Center here reported that "substantial sales" are being recorded with ammunition one of the top movers, along with hunting licenses, insulated coveralls and game vests as hunters make last minute gear purchases prior to opening day.

Lodging facilities in Hereford have been booked full for opening weekend since October and heavy bookings for the subsequent two weekends of pheasant season are also being noted.

Civic clubs including the Dawn and Easter Lions clubs have long since booked up their guided pheasant hunts to be staged tomorrow morning and the Dimmitt Kiwanis Club is expecting a considerable number of hunters to participate in its season-long hunt in Castro County.

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce will be playing host to a number of pheasant hunters here this weekend as well as the Chamber's organized hunt run out of available hunting land long before it reached the end of the list of hunters inquiring about participating in the fee-basis hunt. The Chamber recently made arrangements with the county commission for the use of the Bull Barn Friday and Saturday nights to house some of the overflow crowd of hunters who were unable to find accommodations here.

Bedrolls and cots will serve as sleeping facilities for those hunters who put up at the Bull Barn this weekend.

Local restaurants are also expecting a business boom this weekend with plenty of hungry hunters to be in town. While opening weekend usually marks the peak period of pheasant hunting activity here, the fact that the season is starting a week later this year may account for the fact that considerable interest is being shown in pheasant hunting during the second and third weekends of this year's season too.

Concerned sportsmen and landowners raised objections after the Texas Parks & Wildlife Commission authorized a month-long pheasant season in the Panhandle for 1979.

Following considerable local commentary, Deaf Smith County Commissioners Austin Rose and James Voyles appeared before the P&W Commission in Austin this spring to voice a local request for a return to the traditional two week season. That request was approved.

Opening day was delayed one week, allowing the season to run through the Christmas holiday this year, thus providing additional hunting opportunity for students and other individuals.

Breakfast to Kick Off Big Day

Sportsmen and their guests can dish themselves up a heaping helping of rib-sticking breakfast Saturday as the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary holds its annual Pheasant Hunter's Breakfast from 5-7:30 a.m. at the Hereford High School cafeteria.

opening coffee and with the early opening hour, there may even be time for a few tall tales and some pondering on the morning of hunting ahead prior to shooting time. Auxiliary members have also made arrangements to have those last-minute hunting licenses, both state and out-of-state, available at the breakfast.

The Hereford VFD will also conduct a drawing for a Remington Model 1100 automatic shotgun during Saturday's breakfast. To top off the affair, Auxiliary members will provide hunters with a store of that vital staple—hot coffee, to get them through the morning of hunting. Auxiliary members will fill Thermos bottles for a fee of $1 and air pots will be filled for a fee of $1.50.

Chamber Seeking Hunt Guides

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce is seeking local guides to assist with its pheasant hunt project here.

Iran Rejects U.S. Explanation

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iran insists that the U.S. government must return the shah's fortune in the United States and rejects the American explanation that only the courts can dispose of it, the chairman of the Iranian hostage committee says.

Day. Whenever the U.S. accepts the Majlis (Parliament's) conditions and the Iranian government procedures, we can hope for release of the hostages," Nabavi said in an interview with Iran's official Pars news agency.

Mrs. M can only find part-time work because she must care for a mentally-retarded child, as well as keeping three other children in school. Two of the older children help care for the sick child after school hours. The children range in age from 6 to 11 years.

Christmas Music Set Sunday

The Temple Baptist Church Sanctuary Choir will present "An Old-Fashioned Christmas," Sunday at 7 p.m. at the church.

Tighter supplies will be a major cause of the price increase, not only in higher prices for crude oil but also in refiners taking advantage of the tight market to recoup profits lost during this year's gasoline glut, said the study released Thursday.

While the report estimated that the actual impact on global oil markets of the war is somewhat less — 400,000 to 1.4 million barrels a day — nevertheless "higher world oil prices will likely result in the aftermath of the war, even if it ends within the next few months."

The analysis said such price increases would add 26 to 31 cents a gallon to gasoline prices by the middle of next year.

"The government of the Islamic Republic of Iran will definitely not accept the condition of submitting the case of the wealth of Mohammad Reza to the U.S. courts," said Behzad Nabavi, an adviser to Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajavi and the head of a government committee handling the hostage crisis.

Asked when the hostages would be freed, Azizi said, "We still do not know. When we give the U.S. our reply, it will be known. We are now in the process of answering the U.S. and I do not think it will take very long."

This is one of the families you can help through the Hereford Christmas Stocking Fund.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, Hereford post 4818, provided a big boost to the fund Wednesday by presenting a check for $1,000. The VFW post has been active in helping needy families for a number of years. Tom Goheen, post commander, said the members would still help a few families this year, in addition to the contribution.

The Christmas musical is open to the public and no admission will be charged. Each year the choir has presented various types of musical programs in celebration of the Christmas holidays, according to Steve Brashear, music youth director.

In addition, the study said, refiners are unlikely inventories on the market — the historical practice, and one that helps hold down prices — because the war has convinced the industry that stockpiles are valuable assets and should be conserved.

The world oil price was about $32.50 per barrel before the Iran-Iraq war and had been expected to climb $2 per barrel next month. But the report said that, "rather than this modest increase, a notably sharper one should be anticipated ... in a market where countries previously dependent on Iran and Iraq scramble to make up supplies on the spot market."

Gasoline prices are federally controlled, but refiners can pass on their cost increases — an action refiners were forced by competition to forego during this year's supply glut. That, in turn, cut their profit margins.

Federal law, however, allows the refiners to "bank" those allowable increases and impose them later, when the market will bear them.

Aspirin May

Fend off Cataracts

CHICAGO (AP) — Elderly people who take large doses of aspirin may be able to fend off the formation of blinding cataracts for up to 10 years, two studies say.

However, the studies do not indicate that people who already have a bad case of cataracts can cure them with aspirin, according to Dr. Edward Cotlier, a Yale University ophthalmologist.

Cotlier and his associates observed that elderly patients who were taking large amounts of aspirin to ease their rheumatoid arthritis — 2.3 to 2.7 grams a day for eight to 10 years — had a far lower incidence of cataracts than patients who did not take a lot of aspirin routinely.

Brothers Arraigned For Telephone Calls

WACO, Texas (AP) — Two brothers have been arraigned on federal charges in connection with telephone calls demanding $60,000 in cash in exchange for the location of grocery items supposedly laced with strychnine.

U.S. Magistrate Roy Rutland on Thursday set the bond of Steven Van Howard, 24, and David Wayne Howard, 21, at $100,000 on charges of interference with interstate commerce. Police Chief Larry Scott said state charges of attempted theft of more than $10,000 were being prepared.

Two other men also have been accused of participating in the alleged plot, in which a telephone caller said food had been poisoned in three of the H.E.B. chain's six Waco stores. Officials of the chain said they considered the poisoning claim a hoax, but closed six Waco stores for 3½ days and replaced 680 tons of food rather than take the chance. Attempts to arrange ransom drops were unsuccessful.

Federal charges were prepared against Daniel Ray Glenn, 23, but he remained hospitalized Thursday for treatment of a diabetic condition, officials said.

A fourth man, David Lloyd Foster, 19, was arrested Wednesday and arraigned on state charges. Peace Justice John Cabaniss set Foster's bond Wednesday at $100,000.

Scientists Compare

Voyager Data

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Scientists studying data from Voyager 1's rendezvous with Saturn last month say winds reach 1,118 mph across the planet and temperatures fall to 334 degrees below zero.

They discussed their findings and tentative conclusions at a meeting of the American Geophysical Union here Thursday.

Virgil Kunde of the Goddard Space Flight Center said under the haze and clouds that make Saturn appear striped with gold and buff are layers of frozen ammonia. Beneath that are organic chemicals such as methane, ethane and acetylene.

Scientists have been conducting a computer analysis of thousands of photographs and instrument readings beamed a billion miles through space by the unmanned probe last month.

They say Saturn appears to be a cold, barren ball of hydrogen and helium surrounding an interior of electrically conducting hydrogen frozen into solid metal and enveloping a much smaller core of rock.

Police Searching

For Underwear Thief

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Police and some angry residents are searching for a burglar who steals women's bras and panties and stows them in a woody hideaway described by one victim as an "underwear altar."

Officers say the burglar needs a psychiatric evaluation, but some folks here say he just better not fall into their hands.

The discovery was made by Terry Howard, 19, who stumbled onto the hideout and its plywood platform during a search for the stolen underwear of his fiancée and sister.

"There were clothes all over the ground," Howard said. "I just followed them until I came to his hide-out."

"It was scary as hell," Donna Streeter, one of a number of women whose homes have been rifled for lingerie, said of the hideout.

"There were negligees and underwear all hung up around the platform," she said. "There were dirty books all over the place and panties had been used as markers in them. Women's things were all over the woods. Some of them had been ripped and torn."

There have been numerous break-ins in the area, but the burglar has taken only women's clothing and adult magazines.

Terry Topolski said his 22-year-old wife and his mother, who lives with them, have lost all their underwear to clothesline thefts. His wife also lost some dresses.

The victims have heard noises at night, found finger smudges on their windows, footprints in the dirt and garbage cans overturned.

There have been eight break-ins in the neighborhood in the past month, he said. Each time, women's lingerie was stolen.

The plywood platform in the secluded area was about four feet square. Hanging about three feet above it was a board on which about 30 brassieres were draped. About 15 pairs of underwear were neatly folded on the platform.

Reagan Picks 8 for Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan's first eight Cabinet choices — all white, male and Republican — are speaking up quickly in favor of the president-elect's plans to reduce taxes, cut the federal budget and strengthen national defense.

Still to come after presentation of the first group Thursday: Reagan's decision on a secretary of state, an important foreign policy post that retired Gen. Alexander Haig seems increasingly likely to fill.

The first eight selections included New York financier Donald T. Regan as treasury secretary, Reagan confidant Caspar Weinberger as defense secretary and his personal lawyer, William French Smith, as attorney general.

There were no surprises as Reagan's aides also introduced Rep. David A. Stockman of Michigan as budget director, Reagan campaign manager William J. Casey as CIA director, retiring Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., as secretary of health and human services, Connecticut industrialist Malcolm Baldrige as commerce secretary and deputy Republican Party chairman Drew Lewis as transportation secretary.

Regan, chairman of Merrill Lynch & Co., the nation's largest brokerage firm, joined Baldrige in labeling inflation the nation's "No. 1 problem."

Both tax cuts and budget cuts are needed to fight inflation and stimulate productivity, said Regan, whose appointment gives the Cabinet roster an economic spokesman the Reagan team hopes will be respected in both Congress and in financial circles.

Stockman, who will inherit the job of molding the federal budget into the shape Reagan wants, noted that during the campaign Reagan promised at least a 2 percent cut, "and I think there's no indication that we will back off from that."

Weinberger, who won the nickname "Cap the Knife" for his budget-cutting work in former President Richard M. Nixon's administration, was asked about his plans now for national defense.

He refused to be specific but said, "I support a strong American military force wherever it is in our best interest to do so."

Reagan still must name seven more Cabinet-level appointees, and various sources say he will move quickly to nominate Haig as secretary of state — perhaps by this weekend.

All the appointments are subject to Senate confirmation, and there have been reports Haig could face Democratic opposition because of his role in the Watergate scandal as Nixon's last chief of staff.

However, Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., who will take over as majority leader in January, said Thursday he expects Haig to be appointed by Reagan and confirmed by the Senate.

Other unfilled Cabinet posts include the secretaries of labor, agriculture, interior, education, energy and housing and urban development. The budget and CIA directors are accorded the same status as the 13 department heads who formally comprise the Cabinet.

Aides said Reagan will try to make sure the remaining appointees include at least one woman and a member of a minority group.

Recovery Fund Payment Ordered

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Attorney General Mark White said Thursday a judge in McAllen has ordered payment of $40,000 from the state's Real Estate Recovery Fund to persons who allegedly were misled when they bought lots in the Holly Beach Development north of Port Isabel.

The fund, operated by the Texas Real Estate Commission, comes from fees collected from licensed real estate brokers and agents.

White said State District Court Judge Joe B. Evins entered the order directing payment from the fund.

The action came as a result of White's deceptive trade practices suit against Holly Beach Co. Inc. and broker-developer Bobby E. Deighton.

Evins ruled that 330 consumers were misled repeatedly by sales practices of Holly Beach Co. and Deighton.

White said payment to the consumers from the Real Estate Recovery Fund automatically results in the revocation of Deighton's real estate license.

Dental Conference Today

The "Town Without a Toothache" Dental Conference gets underway at 6 p.m. today at the conference room of the Deaf Smith General Hospital and will continue through Saturday as a number of dentists from New Mexico and Texas gather to exchange information and enjoy recreation.

Presentations from oral surgeons and other specialists are scheduled for the session, which is an educational-type event. Dentists will also participate in a pheasant hunt Saturday morning before entering the second session of their conference Saturday at 6 p.m. at the hospital.

Government to Rest Case In Veverka Proceedings

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Prosecutors moving toward the close of a controversial civil rights trial have introduced the statement that first revealed a brutal police clubbing — not a motorcycle accident — mortally injured a black Miami insurance agent.

Former Dade County, Fla., policeman Charles Veverka Jr., made the statement to assistant state attorney George Yoss on Dec. 26, 1979, five days after Arthur McDuffie died of severe head injuries.

Lead prosecutor Brian McDonald said he would rest his case today after reading the statement into the record. Yoss was the final government witness.

Veverka, 30, is being tried on federal charges he violated McDuffie's civil rights by conspiring and being an accessory to the beating and the cover-up that followed.

The politically explosive trial was transferred here after it was shifted from Miami, Atlanta and New Orleans because of racial tension in those cities.

Violent rioting broke out in Miami last May after a Florida jury acquitted five officers charged in McDuffie's death. Eighteen people were killed and more than $100 million in property damaged in the riots.

Two former officers testified this week that they saw "six to eight" officers pummel McDuffie, 33, with nightsticks and flashlights at the end of an 8½-minute chase through a black section of central Miami known in police jargon as the "combat zone."

Neither Mark Meier — a former Dade County officer who testified under immunity — nor ex-Miami policeman Richard Gotowala identified Veverka as one of the officers they saw beating McDuffie in the head on Dec. 17, 1979.

Defense attorney Denis contends Veverka was a "pawn" — that he took no active part in the beating, attempted to help McDuffie, was forced to file false reports on the incident because he was the junior officer in the district and was the first to expose the cover-up to Miami authorities.

Dean told U.S. District Judge William Hoeveler of Miami that Veverka would appear as his own key witness. Dean also indicated he would try to get into evidence a statement Veverka made on Jan. 31 — a document Dean says shows the defendant was cooperating with Miami authorities during the investigation.

He said he expect defense testimony to last about two days.

Federal prosecutors called 18 witnesses and introduced 41 exhibits during their presentation.

On Thursday, government attorneys introduced into evidence McDuffie's orange Kawasaki motorcycle and white helmet. They also called three expert witnesses who testified that McDuffie was not involved in a traffic accident.

Dr. Ronald Wright, assistant medical examiner in Dade County; Edward Whitaker, head of the Dade County crime laboratory; and Dr. William Fogarty, an engineer at the University of Miami, all testified that McDuffie's cycle, helmet and clothing could not have been involved in a collision.

"In my opinion, Mr. McDuffie died of blunt impact injuries on the head by a beating," Wright testified.

He said the massive head injuries were similar to those he had seen in airplane crashes and high-speed traffic accidents and were "consistent with the force of a person who jumps or falls from a three-story building and lands on his head."

"It was not involved in a vehicle accident," Fogarty said, as he circled the motorcycle which prosecutors parked in front of the jury box. Fogarty pointed out the various dents and broken lights which he said were broken by objects swung from various directions.

"It was not involved in such an event," Whitaker agreed.

"The damage approaches maybe 30 damaging events, different surface items, different directions and different forces."

Meier and Gotowala both have testified they saw officers beat McDuffie's helmet on the ground, pound the motorcycle with nightsticks and flashlights and drive a police car over the two-wheeler.

The victim's mother, Eula Belle McDuffie, also took the stand briefly Thursday. Her testimony was confined to her discovery of McDuffie's helmet chin strap at the scene of the incident.

The chin strap was introduced into evidence after Whitaker confirmed that it matched the helmet.

Prosecutors also introduced two autopsy photographs of McDuffie's head and six reports and traffic complaints signed by Veverka that the defense has admitted were faked. Veverka's attorneys contend he was ordered by superiors to go along with the concocted story and false reports.

Defense attorneys contend McDuffie received head injuries when his helmet flew off during a traffic mishap and that the insurance man was struck by officers when he violently resisted arrest.

However, Meier testified he heard McDuffie shout, "I give up!" and never saw him resist the arresting officers, which included Veverka.

If Veverka were convicted on all four counts of the federal indictment he could be sentenced to a maximum 26 years in prison and fines totalling $21,500.

The federal civil rights case was brought against Veverka as the result of a federal grand jury investigation that began after Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti visited the scene of the Miami riot last May.

He said he expect defense testimony to last about two days.

Depression May Have Caused Father to Shoot Daughters

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas homicide detectives say a series of personal tragedies left Edgar Pilcher "extremely depressed" and probably triggered a shooting rampage in which the father shot his daughter and pregnant stepdaughter before firing a bullet into his head.

Pilcher, 50, died early today at Parkland Hospital. A spokesman said earlier he was in extremely critical condition with "comatose with severe brain damage."

His youngest daughter, Paula Pilcher, 17, was in surgery Thursday night at Baylor Hospital but was listed in fair condition with a gunshot wound to the throat.

Pilcher's stepdaughter, Cindy Whiddon, 22, who was eight months pregnant, was in critical condition at Baylor Hospital with a wound in the chest. She was taken to surgery Thursday night.

Hospital officials said doctors delivered a daughter by Caesarian section and said the child was healthy.

The shooting occurred about 4 p.m. Thursday in the Pleasant Grove section of Dallas, where Paula Pilcher had recently moved in with Cindy Whiddon and her husband, John.

"The man was apparently depressed. He had an auto accident in 1967 that left him partially paralyzed on one side because of a broken neck, and he and his wife were divorced two years ago," said J.R. Pool, a Dallas police investigator.

"In October, he and his wife got back together for a week, but she left him and left a note. This had been eating at him, and he and his youngest daughter had moved in with another daughter in Arlington."

But a week ago, Pilcher and his youngest daughter "had some type of spat" and she moved in with her step-sister, Pool said.

Miss Pilcher told police her father came to her step-sister's house about 3:45 p.m. Thursday, quarreled with her, then told her he was going to kill her and pulled out a .32-caliber pistol from a coat pocket.

2 Juveniles Arrested On Shoplifting Charge

Police arrested two juveniles Thursday on a charge of shoplifting from Allsup's convenience store. The youths were reported to have taken two packages of batteries.

The Plains Motel reported damages of $150 in a criminal mischief charge. A sink and bathtub were broken causing water damage. Police are still investigating the incident.

Police investigated a charge of disorderly conduct brought by Maria Lucio, 330 Ave. H, against her ex-husband who reportedly entered her home without permission and caused a disturbance.

Burglars pried open a candy machine and took $47.35 from Bob Baker's Vending, Holly Sugar Road.

Police reported three incidents of a bus being driven erratically, a false alarm and an investigation of a disturbance in an alley behind a residence.

Voters' Awareness Will Meet Sunday

Voters' Awareness, a new organization in Hereford will meet Sunday at 11 a.m. at Dickie's Restaurant.

The function of the organization is to make the Hereford community voters aware of possible political candidates, according to a spokesman for the group.

Officers of Voters' Awareness are Jerry Reyna, president; Rinaldo Garcia, vice president; and Diana Castro, secretary.

All interested people are invited to attend.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN

With the overabundance of snow we've already had this winter—before winter is actually here—there is probably less than usual wishing for a White Christmas.

Most of us would be glad to settle for one of our ordinary sunny Christmases, with highways clear so we can make holiday trips or have holiday visitors in good travel conditions.

We aren't planning any one-horse open sleigh rides anyway, and can get along without the flakes, drifts and blankets of snow that make such picturesque Christmas card scenes but may be pretty miserable to get around in.

Here in the Southwest we admire the scenes but get tired quickly of the reality after a few samples like we've just had. And if other parts of the country pity us for our lack of White Christmases, well, what's wrong with a Gold Christmas?

A trip back to the old hometown followed immediately on a Thanksgiving family reunion for Judge Glen and Helen Nelson, who have spent this week getting back into routine "after all that running around," Helen said.

It was a reunion of Judge Nelson's high school classmates that took them to Eldorado, Okla. There were about 1,500 who registered for the school reunion, and he was surprised not only at the number, but the fact that people came from California, New York and in between for the nostalgic event, and there was even an ex-student from Spain.

The Nelson family had just ended a gathering at Pagosa Springs, Colo. Son Olen flew in from Pacific Palisades, Calif. with his wife, Connie, children, Melissa and Greg, also Connie's mother, Adriane Vinet of Los Angeles.

The other son, Bill, with his wife, Ann and son Michael completed the party.

While they were in Pagosa Springs, eating at a cafe, they saw Larry Guinn, the son of Mildred and E.A. Guinn of Hereford, and his family who were in the winter resort spot from Harrah, Okla.

Amazed frustration is always my reaction to people who can whip up beautiful handmade sweaters and such in less time than it would take to get an atomic plant in operation, because that's something my two left hands, equipped with 10 thumbs, can't manage.

At a beauty shop recently, Bunny Watts was busy knitting as she sat under a dryer, just starting on a piece of work. Two weeks later she was back with it finished, a handsome sweater in variegated shades of brown and beige.

Admiring the garment, Mary Elizabeth Barnard held it up before her to see in a mirror, and remarked that it certainly went well with the beige pants she was wearing. Bunny said firmly that she made it for herself, and was prepared even to refuse the request for it that she expected when daughter Melinda saw it.

Ann Landers

Parents Held Hostage

DEAR ANN LANDERS: If I wasn't going insane I wouldn't bother you. But there is no one I can talk to about this. Please help me.

I have a 35-year-old son. I'll call him Tim. I love him dearly, but he is driving my husband and me up the wall. "Tim" comes over every night for dinner and spends all his weekends with us. He is here every time he has a day off, every holiday or sick day. He has no friends. Tim earns more than my husband, yet he has yet to bring a steak or chop into this house, or offer to take us out for a meal. It would never occur to him to help pay a grocery bill, although he is a steady border.

The money isn't the most important part, believe me. My biggest complaint is that my husband and I have raised six children and we would like some time to ourselves. We never have an hour to discuss anything privately.

Our son stays late every evening. By the time he leaves we fall into bed exhausted.

Also, Tim horns in on every conversation. He causes arguments and is generally obnoxious. To top it off, he is a manic-depressive, and we are afraid to say anything for fear he will become despondent and do something terrible to himself.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I think you are all wet when you say the bride who does not acknowledge each and every wedding gift with a written note is a clod. Six hundred people attended my wedding. Do you have any idea how long it would take me to sit down and write a thank-you note to every person who sent a gift? And I think you ought to know before you give such crazy advice that in some cases as many as six people pitched in together for one gift.

I work an eight-hour day and still have to fix meals, do the laundry, marketing and a jillion other things.

I told everyone who went through the receiving line, "Thanks for the lovely present." That should be enough. What's more, every person who attended the reception got plenty to eat and drink, and it cost my folks plenty.—Fed Up On Your Bum Advice

DEAR FED: Six hundred people? Obviously, you found the time and energy to send out a staggering number of invitations. Now you should crank yourself up and find the time and energy to say "thank you." The fun and refreshments at the reception don't quite make it, Kiddo.

Discover how to be date bait without falling hook, line and sinker. Ann Landers' booklet, "Dating Do's and Don'ts," will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. Send 50 cents along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995 Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Then Jesus called to the crowd to come and hear "All of you listen," He said, "and try to understand."

"Your souls aren't harmed by what you eat, but by what you think and say!"

Then He went into a house to get away from the crowds, and His disciples asked Him what He meant by the statement He had just made.

"Don't you understand either?" He asked. "Can't you see that what you eat won't harm your soul?"

"For food doesn't come in contact with your heart, but only passes through the digestive system." (By saying this He showed that every kind of food is kosher.)

And then He added, "it is the thought-life that pollutes. For from within, out of men's hearts, come evil thoughts of lust, theft, murder, adultery, Wanting what belongs to others, wickedness, deceit, lewdness, envy, slander, pride, and all other folly.

All these vile things come from within; they are what pollute you and make you unfit for God."

Two Indicted in Last Year's 'Murder-Suicide'

HOUSTON (AP) — A real estate broker and a two-time ex-convict have been indicted on capital murder charges in the bizarre slayings of a wealthy Houston couple and their 14-month-old son ruled a double murder-suicide last year.

Named in an indictment Thursday by a Harris County grand jury were Walt Waldhauser Jr., 26, and Allen Wayne Janecka, 31, a two-time ex-convict who has been held since Nov. 23 on murder charges in an unrelated case.

The indictment came after several hours of testimony by Waldhauser, his estranged wife, and Markham Duff-Smith, 33, of Houston.

Assistant District Attorney Bill Eggleston said the indictment alleges Janecka "actively pulled the trigger" and killed the three for "remuneration, or the promise of remuneration, namely money."

The indictment against Waldhauser, a Houston real estate broker, charges he was party to the July 6, 1979, slaying by hiring Janecka to kill the family.

Both men were jailed without bond, authorities said.

Harris County Medical Examiner Joseph Jachimczyk ruled last February that Diana Wanstrath, 35, shot and killed her husband, John, 35, and adopted son Kevin with a .22-caliber pistol and then turned the weapon on herself in the family's suburban Houston home.

Jachimczyk ruled Wanstrath and the child were shot in the back of head. Mrs. Wanstrath, however, was shot in the right temple, a "classic suicide wound," he said.

Police detectives, skeptical of the ruling because no weapon was found at the Wanstrath house, continued their investigation of the shootings.

Detective Johnny Bonds said Thursday that police "have the weapon" and ballistics tests confirmed it was the same gun used in the killings.

Bonds said hollow-point bullets were used in the shootings and although they usually shatter on impact, a bullet was recovered intact from the baby's head.

Jachimczyk said he has not changed his rulings in the deaths, but has received new evidence from detectives and prosecutors promised to keep him informed of an additional information.

Eggleston said the investigation is continuing and that he anticipates the grand jury will reconvene on the case.

Duff-Smith, the adopted brother of Mrs. Wanstrath, inherited more than half of the couple's $800,000 estate. He told the Houston Chronicle on Thursday that Bonds had hounded him and was carrying out a "personal vendetta" because the detective believed Duff-Smith was involved in the slayings.

Duff-Smith said he has been told investigators want more information from him in the case, but refused to elaborate.

He said he read a statement to grand jurors about his displeasure at the way detectives conducted the investigation and then answered all the panel's questions.

Duff-Smith said he is willing to give grand jurors any additional information, including financial statements. He said the panel declined the offer last week.

"To be truthful, I think the whole thing stinks," Duff-Smith said.

The Lighter Side

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP) — It was supposed to be the filming of John Steinbeck's "Cannery Row" but it looked more like "The Great Escape" as several thousand frogs played hard to get on the MGM backlot.

About half the 5,000 frogs rented for a swamp scene broke out of their pen overnight and were hopping all over the place when workers arrived for Thursday morning's shooting, said publicist Leo Janos.

By jumping their cue, the frogs prompted a roundup that delayed shooting for several hours.

At $2 apiece the film crew wasn't prepared to kiss the frogs goodbye. Most were soon caught, Janos said. But, he added: "I would assume there will be frogs living on the back lots of MGM for eternity."

LYMAN, S.C. (AP) — Former Lyman Police Chief John Chapman says he had no idea the Town Council was considering firing him — until he went out to get in his patrol car.

The car was missing, and Chapman said Thursday he called the police station to report the apparent theft.

Chapman said an auxiliary policeman who answered the telephone told him to look under his front door. The chief looked, and found a letter that said:

"This is to inform you that you are relieved of all further duties as police officer of the town of Lyman and are dismissed as an employee effective as of the date of this letter."

The Town Council had met Wednesday night. Chapman said he was in town all night, but was not invited to the meeting and no one knocked on his door.

Town officials declined to discuss the firing. Chapman said he understood he was fired for allegedly failing to respond to calls promptly and general failure to do his other duties. He denied the accusations.

EDWARDSVILLE, — It took a curse to do it, but a stone marker missing from a nature trail since Halloween is back at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Phil Heath, a Granite City, Ill., firefighter, returned the marker after finding it in the yard of a neighbor.

Bob Williams, associate professor of education, promptly recanted a curse put on the thieves which he said would cause their bodies to shrivel slowly until next Halloween.

"They should be OK," Williams said. "Only the right legs should have shriveled a little by now. I always start with the right leg because a group of thieves with short right legs is more obvious than a group with shriveled arms."

An Alton, Ill., fourth grade ecology class had placed the stone in honor of a retiring teacher. The stone carries an inscription warning mankind that modern technology is disrupting the ecology.

The class had collected aluminum cans to buy the stone and travel to the school to erect it.

FAITH REVEALS A WINTER-WHITE WORLD AT REST

When the bright leaves of autumn are gone from the trees
And the branches are suddenly bare,
Soon the mirror-like ponds will be starting to freeze
As the cold winter wind fills the air,
While the glistening white of a snowfall so deep
Paints a beautiful scene at its best,
In the cycle of nature when life goes to sleep
And our weary old world is at rest.
You will learn through your Church what the winter is worth,
As you gaze at the snow-covered land:
It's the promise of God for new life on the earth,
In the spring that will soon be at hand!

— Gloria Nowak

"The snow from heaven... returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower, and bread to the eater."
— Isaiah 56:10

A pine tree stands so lonely
In the North where the high winds blow.
He sleeps; and the whitest blanket
Wraps him in ice and snow.
— Heinrich Heine

After Disappointing Season Play

Battered Seattle Destined to Finish Last in League

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

As it turns out, the Seattle Seahawks' first game this year was an omen. They opened the season at home against San Diego. Everything but the Kingdome roof fell in on them. The Chargers' quarterback, Dan Fouts, beginning a new season after a record-smashing 1979 campaign, battered Seattle's secondary with four touchdown passes in a 34-13 victory.

It was the first loss at home for the Seahawks. They're 0-7 there now, 0-7 in the past seven weeks overall, 0-6 since they started playing San Diego in 1977 and are destined to finish last in the American Conference's Western Division this year.

And the numbers get worse. Now, perhaps mercifully, they're on the road — but the road takes them to San Diego on Saturday, where the Chargers are gunning for a National Football League playoff berth, either as the AFC West champion or as a conference wild-card, depending on how they and Oakland finish. Going into Saturday's game, San Diego and the Raiders are tied for first place with 9-5 records.

In another Saturday game, the New York Giants visit the Washington Redskins, a matchup of two teams tied for fourth place in the five-team National Conference East, each at 4-10. The loser will inherit sole possession of the cellar. The Redskins won this season's first close encounter 23-21 on Mark Moseley's 45-yard field goal with 1:55 to play.

Sunday's games are Oakland at Denver, Buffalo at New England, San Francisco at Atlanta, Cleveland at Minnesota, New Orleans at the New York Jets, Tampa Bay at Detroit, Houston at Green Bay, Kansas City at Pittsburgh, St. Louis at Philadelphia, Cincinnati at

Chicago and Miami at Baltimore. Monday night's game is Dallas at Los Angeles.

Another of those numbers that make the Seahawks-Chargers game even more interesting is 4,068 — the number of passing yards accumulated by Fouts this year. That's only 14 below the single-season record he established a year ago.

If Fouts happens to complete, say, a 15-yard pass to Charlie Joiner to start the game, they can smash two NFL records on one play. Not only would it enable Fouts to surpass his own record, it would give Joiner more than 1,000 receiving yards and make the Chargers the first team in NFL history to have three 1,000-yard receivers in the same season. Joiner has 993 going into the game, tight end Kellen Winslow has 1,062 and John Jefferson 1,181. Together, they have caught 25 of Fouts' 29 touchdown passes.

And even more numbers surface. If the Chargers and Raiders both win their final two games to finish at 11-5, the division title will be decided by the best net points (those scored minus those allowed) in division games. Right now the Chargers are 19 points ahead of Oakland in that category. But San Diego Coach Don Coryell insists: "We're not going to worry about the points... We're only concerned about winning the game."

Brewers Anxious to Sign St. Louis' Simmons

DALLAS (AP) — The Milwaukee Brewers were poised to acquire veteran catcher Ted Simmons from the St. Louis Cardinals at baseball's winter meetings today.

The only thing holding up the multiplayer deal was the need for Simmons' approval and his agent, LaRue Harcourt, has placed a $1 million price tag on that.

Because he is a 10-year veteran with the last five years on the same team, Simmons holds veto power over the transaction. And Harcourt wasn't surrendering that item easily.

If Simmons agrees to the transaction, Milwaukee would also receive reliever Rollie Fingers, obtained by the Cardinals on Monday, and pitcher Pete Vuckovich. In exchange, St. Louis would get a number of players including outfielder Sixto Lezcano and pitcher Larry Sorensen.

Harcourt's price for Simmons' approval could be reduced and it may be that St. Louis and Milwaukee would split the cost. A similar arrangement allowed the Cards to trade another Harcourt client, Ken Reitz, to the Chicago Cubs earlier this week. In that deal, St. Louis received reliever Bruce Sutter and that made Fingers expendable.

Simmons was angered over the Cardinal signing of free agent catcher Darrell Porter on the eve of the winter baseball meetings and demanded a trade.

Harcourt met with Brewers General Manager Harry Dalton for 2½ hours Thursday night and resolved nothing in the Simmons case. After the meeting, Dalton told the press that he would get back to the Cardinals tonight for further discussions.

Should the Brewers-Cardinals deal fall through, Milwaukee has another direction in which to turn.

A source disclosed that the world champion Philadelphia Phillies have offered the Brewers four players for Lezcano. The Phils are willing to part with starter Randy Lerch, relievers Dickie Noles and Ron Reed and minor league pitching prospect Scott Munninghoff.

There were no major trades completed Thursday with the major business at the meeting centering around the American League rejection of Ohio businessman Edward DeBartolo's bid to purchase the Chicago White Sox. The vote of the 14 American League clubs was 11-3 against admitting the 71-year-old shopping center magnate into their exclusive club.

The main reasons offered by the majority, and baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn, were the lack of local ownership and alleged high pressure tactics by DeBartolo associates to force a favorable vote.

In other developments at Thursday's session of baseball's annual winter meeting, the Los Angeles Dodgers withdrew their effort to obtain outfielder Fred Lynn from the Boston Red Sox. National League president Chub Feeney received a new three-year contract, and the Oakland A's acquired catcher Cliff Johnson from the Chicago Cubs for minor league pitcher Mike King.

Rogers Formally Presented With Heisman

NEW YORK (AP) — "If you only knew what it took for me to get here," George Rogers said last week when he was announced as the 1980 Heisman Trophy winner.

Rogers was referring to his childhood, coming from a rough Atlanta ghetto and then bouncing from one Georgia town to another, his parents separated and his father later jailed for almost eight years for fatally shooting a woman.

Thursday night, South Carolina's star running back and the nation's leading rusher was formally presented with the Heisman Trophy and modestly said it "should be awarded to the team instead of me."

Besides Gov. Richard W. Riley, university President Dr. James B. Holderman and

Coach Jim Carlen, a number of South Carolina faculty members were on hand for the annual Heisman dinner, including Mrs. Sandra Wertz, a professor of communications in the College of General Studies and Rogers' academic adviser since his sophomore year. They painted a picture of a 6-foot-2, 225-pound running back who does more than just beat his chest and run over people.

"George's biggest problem was studying," Mrs. Wertz said. "He never got organized in high school. He didn't know how to take notes or how to study for exams. We worked on a lot of basics with George. But it's not true that he wouldn't have gotten into college without football. He had a projected 2.0 grade point average.

"He's an intelligent young man. The main thing he had to overcome was a lack of self-confidence in academics. He was very shy and introverted when it came to academics, just the opposite of football.

"In class, there was no eye contact. He'd always look down at his feet. But, gradually, those two people became the same person. He's no different now from the young man on the football field. He doesn't panic when he sees an academic adviser any more.

"In terms of his basic personality he hasn't changed much. He's always been open, kind, upright. He can do more than just play football and he knows that now."

Franklin Ashley, another professor in the College of General Studies, taught Rogers a creative writing course with an emphasis on scripts during his sophomore year.

"We set up a whole production company and George was chairman of the script-writing group," Ashley said.

"He has the capacity to make people follow him. After the script was finished, he starred in a 30-minute video tape drama.

Accident Rates Higher In Right-on-Red States

WASHINGTON (AP) — States that have adopted right-turn-on-red statutes have suffered a dramatic increase in the number of intersection accidents, the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety reports.

In nine states surveyed by the institute, crashes involving right turns at traffic lights rose by more than 20 percent after the adoption of right-on-red laws, and there were 57 percent more accidents that caused injuries to pedestrians.

Right turns at a red light are now permitted in all 50 states and the District of Columbia. Right-on-red laws are officially encouraged by the federal government, which says they help save fuel by eliminating needless automotive idling at intersections.

"The results of this study show that, whatever the savings in gasoline resulting from right turn on red, they are being paid for in increases in pedestrian and other intersection crashes," the industry-sponsored institute said Wednesday in reporting its findings.

On the basis of its survey figures, the institute estimated there are 20,000 more crashes each year because of right-on-red, 1,400 of which result in injuries to pedestrians.

The findings of the institute's study conflict with one commissioned in 1976 by the Federal Highway Administration. The government study concluded right-on-red would result in a "relatively insignificant number of accidents" while greatly reducing both fuel consumption and auto pollution.

For its study, the insurance group analyzed police reports from New Jersey, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia and Wisconsin between 1974 and 1977, when right-on-red was introduced in those states. The figures were then contrasted with Maryland, Texas and Washington, whose laws did not change during that period.

The researchers found a 20.7 percent rise in crashes involving right-turn maneuvers at intersections with traffic

Recent Stock Market Bumps Shaking Wits of Investors

NEW YORK (AP) — Since the stock market often plays seesaw with interest rates, it has landed with a disturbing bump several times in recent days, shaking the wits and confidence of investors.

And, since the prime rate — they call it the crime rate around Broad and Wall Streets — seems destined to lurch higher over the next few weeks, investors large and small are worried about bumps to come.

With so much on their minds, therefore, why should investors make a New Year's resolution to finally read what is probably the most prolifically produced but least read of all stock market literature?

Why, that is, should the investor read the corporate annual report, 50 million copies of which will begin flooding the mails from about 15,000 publicly-held companies a few weeks after the New Year?

For one thing, to get a better notion of where their company is headed during one of the bumpiest times ever for business, a time when some companies are going to get thrown right off the seasaw.

Drexel Burnham Lambert, a brokerage house which, you might say, has a vested interest in the market, has issued perhaps the simplest guide to reading a report.

In scrutinizing a report, it says, investors should seek to identify the factors underlying past operating trends and those likely to provide for

Have a Safe Holiday!

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Takes time for weight loss

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 5 feet 3 and weigh 160 pounds. I am not a very big eater. I do have cereal for breakfast, a half sandwich for lunch, fruit and decaffeinated coffee. For dinner I do have a slice of any meat — about seven ounces — very little vegetables, very seldom potatoes and I like a green salad with dressing. Now and then I like to nibble on garbage. I have very poor will power. Would you please send me a balanced diet so I can lose at least 20 to 30 pounds? I feel very uncomfortable with all this blubber.

DEAR READER — You may as well settle down to a long-term project as you can't lose 20 to 30 pounds of fat in a few weeks. Even if you ate nothing at all and starved, you would only lose about a half pound of fat and a half pound of muscle a day. You'd lose water and empty out your digestive system which would look good on the scales, but that is not body fat. It is not a good idea to lose muscle from a fast or many of the overly restricted fad diets either.

The diet plan in The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet, which I am sending you, is a balanced 1200 to 1300 calorie diet. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. It will provide the basis for a balanced diet that you can use after you have lost the excess pounds of fat.

You'll need to exercise daily too in order to avoid loss of body muscles and body protein. Don't expect or hope to lose more than about a pound of real fat a week. You'll lose more in the first week but it won't be fat loss.

Remember that a pound of body fat contains 3500 calories. To eliminate one pound of body fat you have to eliminate 3500 calories from your diet or use 3500 calories more than you consume through activity. If you can have a 500 calorie a day deficit through a combination of an improved diet and increased exercise, that will amount to the calories in a pound of fat each week. It will also begin to build the kind of program you should follow to avoid obesity for the rest of your life. That is a lot better than the yo-yo fad diets that so many people try.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband and I have been married for two years and we would like to start a family. We need to know the best time of the month for a woman to get pregnant. I'm sure there are many other couples like us who have heard so many different stories. We've heard the middle of the menstrual cycle and a week before the menstrual phase are the best time. Which is true? Also how long does this best period last — just hours or days?

DEAR READER — Most women are not absolutely regular, but a fairly good rule is that ovulation occurs 14

POLLY'S POINTERS
Polly Cramer
Egg carton creations

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — I hope you or the readers can give me some ideas for the use of empty foam egg cartons.

— Rosemary

DEAR ROSEMARY — Such cartons can be used as packing material in larger cartons when moving or shipping things. Some use them to hold costume jewelry in dresser drawers, as the divider sections keep things neatly divided. In a desk drawer they can keep paper clips, rubber bands, etc., nicely separated. I am sure some of the readers will be sending us imaginative suggestions for their use. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — To keep multiple strands of yarn from tangling, insert each skein in a clean potato chip can and then pull the yarn through a smooth hole you have made in the lid. When I have each strand pulled to a working distance and all of an equal length, I fasten the cans in a cluster with tape or a heavy rubber band. The weight of the cans and yarn keep the entire cluster on the floor or beside me, all tangle free and clean. — BILLIE

DEAR POLLY — When cutting bathroom carpet, the do-it-yourself kind, instructions usually say "cut with the scissors." I like a single-edged razor blade for cutting through the rubber backing and have no small piles of cuts around. They simply unwind and a straight, even edge is left. Of course, this is done after the pattern is drawn on the backing, and one cuts from the back side. — MARY ANN

DEAR POLLY — I attached one of those long poles with a bright flag on top, designed for bicycles, on my grandson's tricycle. When he is on his bike in the driveway or around parked cars we may not see him but the flag is clearly visible above the cars.

A new plastic garbage can with a lid can be decorated with a child's name and make an ideal storage place for toys that otherwise might be left out in the play area of the yard. This works great near a sand box. — DOROTHY

DEAR POLLY — I recently attended a wedding in Oklahoma. The bride's parents were farmers, so instead of giving the guests tiny bags of rice to throw at the bride and groom, they had filled the bags with maize. — BETTY days before the onset of the menstrual flow. If you are fairly regular, you can pretty well predict when that day will be.

The ovum doesn't last long — perhaps only six hours — but the sperm may last two or three days. So if sex has occurred within two days of the exact time of ovulation, there is a good chance that a pregnancy will follow. That, of course, depends upon a healthy ovum and an adequate number of healthy sperm.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I had a prostate operation in 1974. I just had my 70th birthday. The urologist did what he called a radical prostate. He removed the prostate gland and both testicles. He said it was embedded and about the size of a match head. He did the radical to be on the safe side. I have been on hormones since.

I have moved to another state and would like to know how much longer I should stay on hormones. My breasts have increased to the size of a small grapefruit and they get sore and feverish at times.

DEAR READER — Your six-year history after surgery should be encouraging to others. Congratulations. You'll need to be under a doctor's care so he can tell what the status of your cancer really is. That is the only way anyone can tell you if you need to continue hormones or not.

Concepts about treating cancer of the prostate have changed rapidly in the past few years. Today, if you had such a small cancer localized to part of the prostate gland a radical operation might be done, but you might not be castrated. Such early cancers can be completely cured in some cases with radical surgery.

The current thinking on what type of surgery or radiation is to be used for cancer of the prostate is discussed in the new issue of The Health Letter, number 15-6, Prostate Gland Problems, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. This issue also discusses common problems such as prostatitis and prostate enlargement.

I would like to emphasize again that the most reliable

Plan Polish Contingencies

NATO Allies Hope Threats Will Deter Kremlin

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The NATO allies hope their threat of "appalling" consequences will deter the Kremlin from intervening in Poland. But they are planning for a variety of responses to meet any type of action the Russians may take, stressing the need for unity they never achieved in response to Moscow's thrust into Afghanistan.

Foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Alliance, winding up their annual winter meeting today, agreed that Soviet intervention could take varying forms, ranging from a military strike to a regime of repression by a puppet government in Warsaw.

The ministers also agreed that different forms of intervention would require different responses. So they ordered their permanent NATO representatives in Brussels to continue preparing for every conceivable set of circumstances. And they agreed on arrangements to ensure speedy response to any Soviet action.

Secretary of State Edmund Muskie said he and his colleagues at their first day-long meeting Thursday expressed "very strong, positive, unanimous expressions of points of view on the Polish situation." He told reporters any sort of Soviet intervention would be "the gravest sort of development, one that would call for the most serious kinds of responses."

But he refused to specify any likely responses, and said: "Given the possible scenarios, I doubt that the ingenuity of man could construct an automatic response."

The French, who traditionally take a maverick stance within the alliance, also emphasized the unanimity of the allies. Foreign Minister Jean Francois-Poncet said there were "no appreciable differences of viewpoints as to what should be done."

"The ministers made it clear that if there were an eventual Soviet intervention in Poland the consequences would be very grave on all levels — diplomatic, political, economic and defensive," he said.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Carrington said the allies were making it "perfectly plain" to Moscow that the consequences of direct or indirect intervention "would be appalling."

"We stressed that this is Poland's business which the Poles should settle," he said. "... At the same time we are making clear we do not ourselves intend to intervene but only to help the economic situation in Poland."

Italian officials said Muskie proposed a four-point plan of retaliation, including suspension of East-West negotiations, withdrawal of ambassadors from Moscow and other Soviet bloc capitals and cancellation of trade and credit deals and cultural exchanges.

Will Reagan Make Difference?

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Ronald Reagan and his conservative Republican allies poised to take over a large chunk of the federal government, the big question is: Will many Americans notice much difference?

The personalities, the style, the rhetoric of official Washington will change markedly. But when it comes to substance, change doesn't come easily in Washington, as Jimmy Carter discovered.

In the view of many Democrats, a conservative trend already was under way within the Carter presidency and the lame-duck 96th Congress. Fighting inflation had taken priority over jobs and stimulating the economy, and sharp increases in defense spending replaced Carter's calls for cuts in the Pentagon budget.

And many of the more militant conservatives already are accusing Reagan of being a closet moderate, a political pragmatist ready to compromise conservative principles. They bitterly resent the president-elect's willingness to support and work with Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee, who will become Senate majority leader with Reagan's blessing.

After all, it was Baker who torpedoed one of Reagan's favorite causes when the senator lent crucial support to Carter's push for approval of the Panama Canal treaties. Equally disturbing to the hard-line conservatives is the number of Republican moderates in positions of influence around Reagan.

When Reagan takes office Jan. 20, he will no doubt be ready to demonstrate that his administration will depart dramatically from that of his predecessor.

He'll keep his promise and sign an executive order freezing federal hiring. He'll call on Congress to enact tax cuts, increase defense spending and review federal regulations. He'd like to abolish the Energy and Education departments.

The new Republican ma-majority in the Senate will applaud the incoming president and plunge into the job of giving him what he wants — and even a little bit more.

But while Reagan is going to great lengths to woo Congress — both Republicans and Democrats — he's bound to run into many of the same problems on Capitol Hill that plagued Carter.

And, of course, the House of Representatives, while more conservative, remains under Democratic control.

Names in the News

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP) — Oberlin College, where names like Liszt and Leinsdorf are revered, has gotten a windfall from a different kind of musician.

The Liberace Foundation of Las Vegas, Nev., recently told the private northeast Ohio school it would donate $10,000 a year to the college. The foundation was set up by the popular pianist Liberace, who dazzles audiences with candelabras, glittering jackets and keyboard acrobatics.

Oberlin officials said they were delighted with the money, which will go toward scholarships for students of the performing arts.

George Liberace, the pianist's brother, said the foundation chose five schools to receive such grants. The others are Marquette University in Milwaukee, the University of Nevada, Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore and the Young Musicians Foundation in Los Angeles.

"Oberlin people should realize that Liberace has a serious musical and pianistic background," said Emil C. Danenberg, head of Oberlin's conservatory. "We find it appropriate that his foundation should choose to encourage college students who are developing their skills in the arts."

CHICAGO (AP) — It was "Marva Collins Day" for Chicago, but the honored educator didn't leave her teaching duties at Westside Preparatory School.

Mrs. Collins has never taken a day off since she opened the school in her home six years ago to work with inner city youngsters — "teaching the unteachables." Her fame as an educator spread nationally. She and her small school were spotlighted on CBS television's "60 Minutes" and a movie about her life and dedication is now being filmed on the West Side.

Cicely Tyson portrays Mrs. Collins in the movie entitled "Welcome To Success — The Marva Collins Story."

Gov. James R. Thompson and Mayor Jane Byrne proclaimed Thursday to be "Marva Collins-Westside Preparatory School Day" for her service to the children of Chicago's poor.

NEW YORK (AP) — After reaching age 76 and becoming unemployed, some people might think about retiring. And then there are people like Jacob K. Javits.

Javits, who recently lost his bid for a fifth term in the U.S. Senate, will teach a seminar on "Critical Issues of Public Policy" for graduate students at Columbia University.

"Senator Javits has an intimate knowledge of the workings of the American Congress and of the shaping of American policy," said Provost Fritz Stern. "How fortunate for the students of the graduate program that he should be willing to share with them the fruits of his experience and reflection. We are delighted that he will be in our midst."

Yoko Ono Says Death Not 'End of an Era'

NEW YORK (AP) — John Lennon's widow says the despair over her husband's slaying is getting out of hand, and she has urged rock fans not to treat his death as "the end of an era."

"So many things are happening ... people are committing suicide. They are sending me telegrams saying this is the end of an era. I'm really so concerned," Yoko Ono said Thursday.

Earlier this week, two people apparently despondent over Lennon's death took their own lives.

Mark David Chapman, who is charged with the shooting death of the internationally famous rock star, was taken to court in a bulletproof vest for a hearing Thursday in which his court-appointed attorney withdrew from the case. A new lawyer was appointed.

Lawyer Herbert Adlerberg said the case was "becoming an albatross," with his one-man practice interrupted by a flood of telephone calls from journalists and the curious. Adlerberg denied reports that he had received death threats.

Jonathan Marks, a former federal prosecutor, was appointed in Adlerberg's place.

Meanwhile, fans continued to mourn Lennon's death, maintaining a vigil outside the exclusive Dakota apartment building where Lennon lived in Manhattan. The rock star was shot just outside the building on Monday night, just hours after he had signed an autograph for Chapman.

About 20 people held a memorial service for Lennon, who was 40, at the Illinois state Capitol on Thursday.

Miss Ono has asked that 10 minutes of silence be observed worldwide at 2 p.m. Sunday to honor Lennon's memory.

Many Theories Avail On Motive of Slaying

NEW YORK (AP) — From the devil's voice to a Dali painting, there has been no lack of speculation about what compelled the man accused of killing John Lennon.

But no single, authoritative view has been offered by the captors of Mark David Chapman, the Beatle idolator, Jesus follower and security guard charged with the murder and now under psychiatric observation.

Among the lines of inquiry that have been reported, attributed to investigative sources, are that he heard voices and that the devil urged him on.

Also, it is speculated that he didn't like the way Lennon autographed an album for him several hours before the fatal shooting; that he was outraged by Lennon's statement 15 years ago that the Beatles were "more important than Jesus," or that he was angered by a contradiction between Lennon's poor-boy, man-of-the-people image and his nine-figure personal wealth.

The possible Dali connection resulted from a report that Chapman recently bought, and displayed prominently in his living room, a $100 print of "Lincoln in Dali Vision." The surrealist painting has been interpreted as representing Abraham Lincoln's assassination.

Chapman's lawyer, Herbt Adlerberg, has denied that his client's alleged confession contained a devil-told-me statement.

A witness who photographed Lennon signing an autograph for Chapman did not mention any show of displeasure, but quoted Chapman as saying, "John Lennon signed my album. Nobody in Hawaii is going to believe me."

A past acquaintance of Chapman's, David Moore, a YMCA official in Chicago, said he recalled the suspect's irritation several years ago over Lennon's 1965 remark about Jesus.

"I remember him saying, 'Who the hell are they to compare themselves to Jesus?' He harped on it a little. He thought they were being a bit arrogant."

For the record, the prosecutor's office told the judge at Chapman's arraignment that Lennon's slaying was "a deliberate, premeditated execution."
