Saturday is election day in Hereford for city commission, school board, and hospital board members. Let us remind you, once again, that your vote is as personal as your fingerprint.

Only YOU can cast YOUR vote!

Eight candidates are vying for the three open slots on the school board, while an incumbent commissioner has drawn an opponent in the city election. It is important for us to go to the Community Center Saturday and select the people we feel might render the best possible service to our local governmental units.

Reserve a time Saturday for voting...it's the thing to do!

Clovis To Hold Missile Protest

A meeting to protest the possible choice of Eastern New Mexico as a site for the MX Missile System will be held beginning at 7 p.m. Friday in the Marshall Junior High School auditorium in Clovis. Residents from six New Mexico counties are expected to attend the meeting after a committee formed by the Clovis City Commission rated priorities and problems the city would face if the missile system were to be installed in the area.

Impacts in several areas will be discussed at the meeting, with emphasis on the economic impact of the system on agriculture, the problems of erosion and loss of water, effects on rangeland, and possible impacts on local government.

This week, committee comprised of Clovis city and public employees, school administrators, realtors, bankers, and hospital personnel rated a number of problems in the area in relation to the missile system on a scale of one to 10. Receiving high-priority 10 ratings were public finance, education, and transportation.

That survey is much like one currently being tabulated by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce under the direction of the chamber's Governmental Affairs Committee. Results of the findings of the committee will probably be released next week according to chamber executive Mike Carr.

Carr reported that the chamber has had good response to date with the questionnaire with around 75 already collected.

Strikers Shut Down Mines

By The Associated Press
Union coal miners seeking to put the muscle on the coal industry after rejecting a proposed contract are shutting down non-union mines amid signs that an end to the United Mine Workers' week-old walkout may be a long way off.

Roving pickets closed down non-union operations in West Virginia and eastern Kentucky Wednesday, one day after the rank and file rejected by a 2-1 margin the contract proposal endorsed by their negotiators.

The miners, who struck for 111 days in 1978, rejected the proposed agreement largely because of fear that some provisions would weaken the union and lead to use of more non-union coal, UMW leaders said.

"If they don't start talking soon, it could be a long one," said Charles Fuller, president of UMW District 20. "We don't have any kind of strike fund or anything like that."

In some places, efforts already were under way to help the miners through the strike. A central food bank was set up in District 2 in Pennsylvania.

women's auxiliary. "If the strike goes on, we're going to give strike support to all the miners."

Although the contract provided for a 36 percent boost in wages and benefits over three years, miners were worried about union security issues.

"There are two things that killed the contract," said Cecil Roberts, vice president of Charleston-based District 17, the UMW's largest. "That was the first article, the one permitting companies to subcontract out to non-union operators, and the one removing the royalty on non-union coal."

The contract would have eliminated the $1.90 a ton royalty companies pay to the union's benefit funds for non-union coal they process.

United Mine Workers President Sam Church, who negotiated the agreement with the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, could not be reached for comment Wednesday.

But B.R. Brown, the chief industry negotiator, criticized the 160,000-member union for a lack of "bargaining discipline." And, he added, the industry "has no plans to resume negotiations."

"The majority of the miners voting apparently

GOP Leaders Fan State To Seek Budget Support

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas Republicans launched an independent statewide effort today to build support for President Reagan's economic program.

Top party leaders fanned out over the state for a total of 20 news conferences today and Friday to show their backing of Reagan's proposed tax and budget cuts. They said no national funds were used.

In an entirely separate development, Republican Gov. Bill Clements sent letters to all state agency heads warning them federal funding to Texas may be cut as much as 50 percent. He asked that revised spending plans for 1982-83 be submitted to his office by May 1 with "appropriate reductions in staffing and expenditures."

State GOP Chairman Chester Upham, Mineral Wells, told a kickoff news conference in Austin Wednesday that Reagan's plan was "a bold and constructive program which can, and must, succeed. But to do so will require the partnership and cooperation of Congress."

That is why we are here today and will go to 19 other cities later this week. Congress must be encouraged to support the president's program and to quickly enact it into law."

Joining Upham at the conference were Dorothy Doehne, San Antonio, state party vice chairman; Ernest Angelo, Midland, Republican national committeeman; and Wayne Thorburn, executive director of the state party.

Upham said GOP officials would be telling Texans many of the things that Vice President George Bush would have said Monday in a scheduled speech before the Texas Legislature, which was cancelled when Reagan was shot.

Angelo said the trip was entirely the initiative of the state party. "We were not asked to do it by the national party. We will not be using any national party funds," he said. "It will be financed by the state party."

Angelo said Clements had no part in planning the selling trip, but "he is aware of it and agrees with us. He is busy with the Legislature right now."

Upham said Bush was due to return to Texas May 15 and 16 for appearances in Houston, including an invitation to speak before the State Republican Executive Committee. He said there was a possibility he might speak to the Legislature at that time.

Today, Upham had Dallas, Abilene and El Paso on his agenda, while Angelo headed for Midland and Houston. Mrs. Doehne and Thorburn were scheduled in San Antonio with Mrs. Doehne going to Harlingen and Thorburn to Victoria.

National GOP committeewoman Fran Chiles of Fort Worth will be in Fort Worth, Wichita Falls and Waco.

On Friday, Upham will visit Amarillo and Lubbock. Angelo will remain in Houston. Thorburn will be in Corpus Christi and Laredo. Mrs. Doehne will go to Temple. Mrs. Chiles will be in Beaumont and Tyler on Friday.

Senate Sticking To Proposed Cuts

By CLIFF HAAS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, winding up consideration of an initial multibillion-dollar budget-cutting package, is sticking to President Reagan's recommendations with a tenacity that is even surprising Republican leader Howard H. Baker Jr.

Baker kept the Senate in session until shortly before midnight Wednesday and said final action on the bill would come today.

The Senate had about 10 more Democratic amendments to consider today, and most of them were aimed at restoring money for social programs.

significant changes in the legislation to reduce spending by $87 billion over three years.

The bill, brought to the floor by the Senate Budget Committee, is almost a carbon copy of administration recommendations.

Congressional aides have said that although Democrats realize they cannot overcome the Republican majority in the Senate, they are forcing Reagan's supporters to go on record on a variety of cuts, especially those in social programs.

Baker called the positions being staked out by both sides a "huge political gamble."

But since consideration of the legislation began last week, Baker and Sen. Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M., the Budget Committee chairman, have demonstrated (See SENATE, Page 2)

First Moments Anxious

Reagan Wounded After Ricochet?

By TERENCE HUNT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, his recovery called "really amazing" from a wound that doctors say might have killed him, probably was struck by a ricocheting bullet rather than a direct shot, sources say.

Now in his third day of convalescence, the president was making "excellent progress toward full recovery" but experiencing some pain, the White House said.

Now in his third day of convalescence, the president "is in extremely good spirits after experiencing the best night's sleep since he has been in the hospital," his physician said this morning. Dr. Daniel Ruge said the president slept from 9 p.m. until 6 a.m. EST and "he looks fine."

"He is awake, alert and talking with hospital personnel," Ruge said in a statement relayed by assistant White House press secretary David Prosser. "His vital signs are normal, although he is still complaining of soreness in his left side, which is quite normal."

White House Counselor Edwin Meese III said Reagan may be released from George Washington University Hospital early next week. And deputy press secretary Larry Speakes said the president is still planning to travel to San Diego, Calif., April 27-28 to meet with Mexican President Jose Lopez-Portillo.

Reagan's accused assailant, John W. Hinckley Jr., meanwhile, was appearing today before a U.S. magistrate who will hear the results of psychiatric tests and determine whether the case should be sent to a grand jury.

In the most optimistic medical report to date on White House press secretary James S. Brady, doctors said he was breathing without assistance, moved both sides of his body and uttered his first words since suffering a gunshot wound through the brain in Monday's assassination attempt. He remained in critical condition, however.

Contradicting earlier declarations that Reagan's life was never in danger, qualified medical sources said Wednesday that the 70-year-old president lost almost half his blood after he was shot and doctors said they "thought they might lose him" in the first, anxious moments at the hospital.

The sources, who insisted on anonymity, said doctors in the emergency room could not find the cause of apparent internal hemorrhaging and feared the president was in danger of slipping into fatal shock.

White House officials said they could neither confirm nor deny the report.

On Tuesday, Dr. Dennis O'Leary, dean of clinical affairs at the hospital, said Reagan "was in no time in any serious danger. He was alert and awake with stable, vital signs up until the time he underwent anesthesia."

Dr. Solomon Edelstein, the hospital's director of emergency services who arrived several minutes after the president, confirmed that Reagan's blood pressure was low but discounted suggestions his life was in extreme danger.

Once doctors discovered the small wound under his left armpit, they inserted a drainage tube and drew out substantial quantities of blood from his chest, the sources said. Then, they began giving the president five pints of blood by transfusion and he was soon out of danger, the sources added.

Authoritative sources also revealed that investigators now believe the president was wounded by a .22-caliber bullet that careened off the door of his limousine rather than by a direct shot. Two bullets hit the car — one of them smashing into the right rear window and the other hitting the rear door.

Microscopic traces of paint have been found on the "really mangled bullet" removed from the president, sources said, and the entry wound was more ragged than if he been struck directly.

Kim Hoggard, a White House spokesman, declined comment on the matter.

White House officials sought to keep the public focus on the president's recovery and the appearance of business as usual throughout the government.

Vice President George Bush stepped in for the president Wednesday at a previously scheduled picture-taking session with a White House employee marking 40 years of government service. "The president is doing so well...It's really amazing," Bush commented.

Reagan has been spending most of his time resting, reading and watching a wall-mounted television in his $234-a-day room. The president's hospital compound, including four private rooms and four semi-private rooms ranging in price up to $271 a day, has space for his staff, Secret Service agents, a communications center and a sitting room for his wife, Nancy.

White House aides insisted that Reagan remained in charge and that no presidential decisions were being (See REAGAN, Page 2)

Hereford Police Have Suspects

Hereford police officers have three suspects for the rash of criminal mischief cases that seem to have plagued the city since March 28. However, more vandalism was reported Wednesday.

Doug Rains, 220 Ranger, told police the tires on his bicycle were cut while it was parked outside of Bowling's Bowl Wednesday afternoon about 3:30.

The windshield of a vehicle belonging to Alicia Rocha, 339 Ave. G, was cracked when three boys at Northwest Elementary were throwing rocks and one hit the car Wednesday afternoon.

Catalpa, told police two tires on his vehicle were cut when it was parked on the south side of Hereford High School Wednesday morning. The tires are valued at $100.

Gloria Continas, 324 Dayton, reported that the person renting a house on Ave. D, which belongs to her, left the house later returning and broke the windows in the house. Damage is estimated at $100.

Clinton Jackson, 208 Centre, reported a tire on his vehicle had been cut while the vehicle was parked at the residence. Jackson was un-

School Closes;

Lice Spray Toxic

CHILLICOTHE, Texas (AP) — Public schools here are closed for the rest of this week because of student reactions to two chemicals that were sprayed throughout the school complex to quell an outbreak of head lice, school district officials said.

The chemicals were sprayed by school board members and volunteers and included Lindane and Tox-Phene, normally used to rid cattle of lice, said Dr. Roy Fisher, the city health officer.

Fisher said between 60 and 80 students have reported rashes, headaches, nausea and runny eyes in reaction to the toxic pesticides, which were sprayed Friday. Students began reporting adverse symptoms of exposure on Monday, he said.

Fisher said he thought the symptoms were annoying but not serious. He said the schools should be safe by Monday.

Officials at the schools have tried for several weeks to rid the buildings of lice. Students have been screened for lice daily for the past two weeks, Fisher said. He said between 15 to 45 percent of the students had been found to have head lice or nits, their eggs.

The schools were sprayed following an emergency meeting of the school board. School superintendent Monte Pannell said the spraying was undertaken as "a precautionary measure."

'Dallas' Blamed

For Fraud Charges

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — J.R. Ewing and his nefarious television family will make a fair trial impossible for a Texas oilman indicted for fraud in Minnesota, the man contends.

Orison F. "Mac" McDonald of Wichita Falls, along with Darrell Bomar of Dallas, was indicted by a Minnesota grand jury on nine counts of fraud and selling unregistered securities in connection with oil and gas well sales.

"Minnesotans do not have any oil and gas production in their state," said McDonald. "They are influenced by the 'Dallas' television show and equate Texas oil and gas operators to be the same as J.R. Ewing."

McDonald and Bomar were arraigned Wednesday before Peace Justice R.L. Stewart, and were released after posting $10,000 bond each.

McDonald, who plans to fight extradition, said a petition asking Gov. Bill Clements to investigate the charge and deny the extradition request is being circulated in the Wichita Falls area.

Newspaper Reports

Commissioner Quits

TEXARKANA, Texas (AP) — Bowie County Commissioner Milton Minter, implicated in a wide-ranging federal kickback investigation, will resign his post this month, the Dallas Morning News said today.

The newspaper said County Judge Ed Miller told of Minter's decision. Minter has "pleaded guilty to an infraction" and will be replaced on the commissioners court by dairy farmer Paul Fannin, Miller told the News.

Minter, in his first term on the court, attended Monday's regular session but made no statement, said the News.

Fannin was introduced to commissioners at that session.

The newspaper said one commissioner, who requested anonymity, said Minter admitted being involved in the investigation but said he was making restitution.

Federal sources have told The Associated Press their investigation into alleged kickbacks involving road-and-bridge fund expenses could result in indictments for as many as 50 county officials in 16 East Texas counties.

Water Tested For Hydrochloric Acid

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — State officials report they are testing water taken from a tributary of the Big Wichita River to determine the source of hydrochloric acid apparently being dumped into the creek.

The acid and various heavy metals have killed an undetermined number of fish in the Northwest Texas river, which runs through Wichita Falls, according to a Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife official.

Wildlife and Texas Department of Water Resources agents have taken samples of the water to find the origin of the dumping, discovered March 23 when city officials noticed water in Plum Creek had turned a "bright peagreen."

Plum Creek, which feeds the Big Wichita River, goes through northeastern Wichita Falls.

Game Warden Morris Stallcup said the tests are expected to be completed by Monday.

City pollution control officer Charles McDonald said preliminary tests of the water showed a "pH" reading of 4.75, a high-enough acid-level to corrode pipe.

Stallcup said several fish were spotted Saturday floating along the Big Wichita River below the Wichita Falls waste disposal plant.

Grand Jury Refers to Nursing Home Probe as 'Horror Story'

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Sealed murder indictments against eight persons and a corporation have been opened in a nursing home investigation the grand jury described as a "horror story."

Sheriff's deputies in two counties were preparing today to serve the indictments on officials of the Houston-based Autumn Hills Convalescent Center Inc. and on eight present and former employees of the rim and its Texas City facility.

The 23 indictments involving eight 1978 and 1979 deaths at the Texas City unit of the chain allege murder through patient abuse and neglect.

District Attorney James Hury and an assistant, David Marks, said prosecution of the corporation on the criminal murder charges would be the first such situation in the nation. Such charges against corporations normally allege negligent homicide or manslaughter.

Indictments involving the deaths of five patients were returned against the corporation. Those against the eight individuals ranged from one to five indictments.

Carol Vance, attorney for the corporation that operates 17 nursing homes, said the Galveston County prosecutors will have a difficult time proving the Texas City home or its employees are guilty of murder.

"It's going to be tough to prove a murder charge against a corporation," said Vance, a former Harris County district attorney in Houston, some 40 miles northwest of Texas City.

"I don't think Autumn Hills or the people who run the company should be held accountable in any deaths."

The 23 indictments climaxed a 17-month investigation and were returned late Tuesday as the term of a Galveston County grand jury expired. State District Judge Ed Harris said Wednesday he will swear in a new grand jury Monday for continuation of the investigation. Hury predicted there will be at least 21 additional indictments.

In returning the Tuesday indictments, the grand jury recommended "doctors involved in abuse or neglect be investigated and severely penalized for their action in this horror story."

It also called for a complete investigation "into the workings of the State Department of Health, from the administrator in Austin to the low man on the totem pole."

The nursing home could be fined up to $20,000 on conviction on the charges. The individuals could draw prison sentences ranging from five to 99 years.

Individuals named in the indictments were Mattie Locke, allegedly connected with five deaths; Cassandra Canales, four deaths; Mary Wagner, two deaths; Ron Pohlmeier, two deaths; Marie Ritchie, two deaths; Ann Wright, one death; Virginia Wilson, one death, and Phyllis Daulong, one death.

The indictments involve seven deaths that occurred between March 7, 1978, and Nov. 20, 1978, and an eighth death on April 5, 1979. Marks said the eight deceased patients were Galveston County area residents before being admitted to the 120-bed Texas City home.

The indictments allege the corporation and its indicted employees knew and were aware nursing care being rendered was not adequate or sufficient to meet the needs of the patients.

The grand jury also recommended that permanent financial penalties "be assessed against nursing homes that are in violation of state and federal standards and that state and federal standards be tightened."

Robert Gay, president of the Houston corporation, said the grand jury's allegations are completely unfounded.

"I don't believe these things," he said. "Several of those indicted are great people. If they can't do the job no one can."

Harris said he initially planned to extend the term of the old grand jury but found he could not do so under state law. He said he will allow grand jurors whose terms expired at midnight Tuesday to appear before the new panel.

Before the Tuesday indictments were opened, Hury had indicated they might remain sealed until the new grand jury completes its work.

Grand jurors had criticized Hury by saying he "should have been more cooperative with our investigation... instead of throwing up obstacles along the way."

"I just don't understand," he said, adding that he was flabbergasted. "I am just absolutely beside myself."

Before the indictments were returned, Vance had blamed the investigation on a "disgruntled former employee," Betty Korndorfer. The former nursing home employee denied the charge and said she was offered a promotion when she left the Autumn Hills facility.

The Houston Post said documents it obtained showed state health officials complained about conditions at the Texas City home in November 1978, expressing dismay that 35 deaths were recorded during a 90-day period.

Health officials said in a November 1978 letter one patient's death indicated the staff had been "totally negligent in observing and reporting visible signs of congestive heart failure."

And the officials said one man had bed sores that went untreated for a week because his nurse was on vacation.

State Health Department sanctions placed against the home in 1978, 1979, and 1980 have been lifted.

Dracula Takes Small Bites

Feudal slaves were required to kick back to their masters 25 percent of all their income.

Today's American taxpayer kicks back to his "rulers" almost 47 percent.

How did it happen? Since FDR each new government spending program has provided major benefits to a small group — at a relatively small cost to the majority.

A farm subsidy, for example, may mean tens of thousands of dollars each to certain farmers — while costing Americans generally only a few cents each.

The federal bailout of Chrysler is worth $1.5 billion to Chrysler's management; ultimately will cost each taxpayer about $20.

In each case the beneficiaries of the program lobby for it, entertain members of Congress, contribute to re-election campaigns.

And since taxpayers stand to lose only a little on each program — it is not really worth their while to lobby against it.

A government program may cost you $1.25 a year. It's not worth the $2 phone call to your congressman to find out what it's all about.

So members of Congress feel much support and little opposition and thus pass each new spending program which benefits a few at the expense of the rest of us.

As long as Dracula takes small bites each does not hurt much. Gradually, however, they add up to a debilitating drain.

The total was a staggering $612 billion last year. That's up from $211 billion just 10 years ago.

Every president promises to curtail these costs. Carter promised to reduce the burdensome overhead — but government spending during Carter's four years escalated another 52 percent.

When Ed Clark was seeking the presidency last year as candidate of the Libertarian Party, he pleaded with the American electorate not to dissipate its energies by trying to cut back or cancel spending programs one at a time.

He feared the opposition of each individual "special interest group" was too formidable for any president to overcome.

He urged, instead, that we force government to live within a balanced budget.

That government would be deprived of its now limitless ability to tax and spend and print more money worth less.

President Reagan is trying to cut taxes and cut spending, but the record of the past 28 years — of both Democratic and Republican administrations — is not encouraging. Both Nixon and Ford — fiscal conservatives — nonetheless increased federal spending by 118 percent.

The big factor in this president's favor is a new enlightenment among the electorate. Where previous generations were sold by Ponzi premise that we could all stand in a circle with our hands in one-another's pockets — and somehow all get rich thereby — you and I know better.

Don't we?

LT. TOM KOELZER

Military Muster

Lt. Tom Koelzer, USN, briefly visited his parents, Werner and Betty Koelzer, in Hereford during the weekend.

Koelzer, assigned to Replacement Air Group Squadron VF124 at Naval Air Station Miramar in San Diego, Calif., was on his way home from the east coast where he had completed fleet carrier qualifications in the Navy's F14 Tomcat fighter jet.

Lt. Koelzer and his radar officer, Commander Steve Barkley, arrived at Cannon Air Force Base, Clovis, N.M., late Friday evening and proceeded to NAS Miramar Saturday afternoon. The two-man team had completed 10 daytime and six night time arrested landings aboard the USS Nimitz, dispatched from NAS Oceana, Virginia Beach, Va.

Koelzer, who entered the Navy upon graduation from Texas A&M University in 1977 began training in the Navy's largest fighter plane in August 1980 as instructor in the TA-4J Skyhawk at Kingsville.

By the end of May, Koelzer's class will have completed training in carrier qualification, air to air gunnery, air intercepts, air combat maneuvers and inflight fueling.

At that time Lt. Koelzer will be assigned to a fleet squadron based out of San Diego and will spend several months "at sea."

Airman Gabriel Moreno, son of Mary B. Moreno of 401 Avenue H, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force fire protection course at Chanutte Air Force Base, Ill.

Graduates of the course learned to fight structural and aircraft fires and repair fire fighting equipment, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Moreno will now serve at Torrejon Air Base, Spain.

Hinckley's Letter Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is the letter reported today by The Washington Post, of an unmailed letter to actress Jodie Foster found by law enforcement authorities in the Washington hotel room of John W. Hinckley Jr., the man accused of shooting President Reagan. The date "3-30-81" and the time "12:45 p.m." were written at the top of the letter, which the Post said was neatly written on lined paper.

Dear Jody:
There is a definite possibility that I will be killed in my attempt to get Reagan. It is for this very reason that I am writing you this letter now.

As you well know by now, I love you very much. The past seven months I have left you dozens of poems, letters and messages in the faint hope you would develop an interest in me.

Although we talked on the phone a couple of times, I never had the nerve to simply approach you and introduce myself. Besides my shyness, I honestly do not wish to bother you with my constant presence. I know the many messages left at your door and in your mailbox were a nuisance, but I felt it was the most painless way for me to express my love to you.

I feel very good about the fact you at least know my name and know how I feel about you. And by hanging around your dormitory, I've come to realize that I'm a topic of more than a little conversation, however full of ridicule it may be. At least you know that I'll always love you.

Jody, I would abandon this idea of getting Reagan a second if I could only win your heart and live out the rest of my life with you, whether it be in total obscurity or whatever. I will admit to you that the reason I'm going ahead with this attempt now is because I just cannot wait any longer to impress you. I've got to do something now to make you understand in no uncertain terms that I am doing all of this for your sake. By sacrificing my freedom

Speakes said Reagan, in his only official act Wednesday, signed an executive order granting lower tariffs to developing countries for some products to help them move into U.S. markets.

An increasing amount of correspondence, including letters from members of Congress, is going to the hospital, he said.

James A. Baker III, the White House chief of staff, said the assassination attempt probably helped Reagan's popularity and the near-term prospects for his economic program. However, he added in an interview on ABC-TV's "Nightline," "I don't know how long that will last, particularly up on the Hill (in Congress)."

A Washington Post-ABC News poll released Wednesday said 73 percent of 505 adults surveyed by telephone Tuesday approve of the way Reagan is handling his job. That was up from 62 percent in a similar Post-ABC poll taken last week.

The poll said the proportion disapproving the president's job performance fell from 23 percent to 15 percent, with the remainder having no opinion. The statistical margin of error in the poll was given as 5 percentage points either way.

Kidney Foundation Sponsors Urinalysis Screening Project

On April 13-16, 1981, the National Kidney Foundation of West Texas will sponsor a urinalysis screening project in The Hereford Elementary Schools in an effort to detect kidney disease early among school age children at no charge to the student or the school.

Kidney and urinary tract diseases affect more than 13 million American men, women, and children and continues to be one of the major causes of work loss and school absenteeism. Of these people, 43,000 need an artificial kidney just to stay alive, some of these are children. The mortality rate due to kidney disease is 54,000 annually, more people than are killed in traffic accidents each year.

There are currently more than 200 people in West Texas Area who must sustain life on an artificial kidney machine because of renal failure.

Dr. Miguel Rios, Chief Nephrologist at the Amarillo High Plains Dialysis Center, and president of the National Kidney Foundation of West Texas Board of Directors, states that 50 percent of all patients presently on dialysis could have avoided this costly, time-consuming treatment if they had been diagnosed during childhood.

Some kidney diseases can be present for 20 years before any symptoms are present. By then 85 to 90 percent of the kidney functions can be lost.

Funding for the project is being provided by a private grant and various donations by individuals.

The urinalysis screening consists of a very simple procedure. The child will be asked to go into the restroom and give a sample in a paper cup, the child will then give the cup to the nurse who is doing the testing. A dip stick, which works on the same principle as litmus paper, is dipped into the sample and the color will tell if the child could have any abnormal kidney function. This test checks PH, Glucose, Protein, and blood in the urine.

If a child shows some tendencies towards kidney disease, the parents will be notified informing them that the child should be seen by their family physician.

"If your child has not brought his/her parental consent form home, please contact the school so that your child may be tested. You can prevent serious complications which could lead to eventual kidney failure by participating in this program. Your children need our help," a spokesman for the foundation said.

Ann Landers Irritating Situation

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A close friend of mine has a five-year-old kid who is considered precocious. Judy's parents believe she is a genius, but I think she's a pain in the ankle.

Whenever I telephone this friend, Judy answers. She babbles on and on and disregards me when I ask her to put Mother on. Sometimes I get stuck for as long as 10 minutes. Maybe I'm an old meanie, but that child gets on my nerves. Do you believe it is right for a five-year-old to be permitted to answer the telephone and engage adults in conversation? Please tell me how to deal with this irritating situation. --Hot Wire In Indiana

DEAR HOT: I do not believe a five-year-old should be permitted to answer the telephone unless he (or she) has been taught impeccable telephone manners. Obviously this child has not. She thinks it's fun to talk on the phone. To her it is a toy.

Worse than getting trapped by a child who answers is being asked by a parent, "Do you want to talk to Judy?" Before they even hear an answer, the child is put on. (Grandparents may enjoy such a conversation, but social friends rarely do.) One solution is to tell Judy, before she gets wound up, "Please call your mother to the phone right away."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Ten years ago I gave up a good position in a bank to marry John. We were both in our early 30s and wanted a family. I had three children in five years.

Then I began to drink. (You'd think I would have known better. My mother died of alcoholism.) John fell into the habit of having dinner downtown and working nights. I suspected he was having an affair with his secretary. When I asked him point-blank, he admitted it.

We made a deal. I'd quit drinking if he would stop playing around. He kept his end of the bargain and, with the help of Alcoholics Anonymous, I was able to keep mine.

His secretary married last year, but I still go to the office four times a week to "oversee the bookkeeping." This is not necessary. The bookkeeping is just fine. The reason I go to the office is to keep an eye on the situation and remind one and all that I am very much in the picture.

I know in my heart the affair is over, but I still feel shaky, knowing she is there every day. Any advice? --SuperHawk in Hawaii

DEAR SUPER: Quit going to the office. You aren't fooling anyone. Moreover, your husband feels watched. This robs him of his dignity, and it can't be doing much for yours.

When, on when, will women learn that keeping an eagle eye on a man never makes him more faithful--just more careful?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What, if anything, can be done about people who stretch their necks and sit too close on trains and buses because they want to look at the paper you are reading? This happens to me a lot and I don't know what to do about it. Help!--Resent Being Breathed On

DEAR RE: If your newspaper has sections, pull one out and hand it to "The Breather." If not, give him a couple of pages to look at, then trade. This friendly gesture costs you nothing and the ride will be more comfortable.

"Sexual freedom" presents a difficult decision for teenagers and their parents. Ann Landers offers down-to-earth advice in her new booklet, "High School Sex and How to Deal With It--A Guide for Teens and Their Parents." For each booklet, send 50 cents plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Beautify Texas Council Will Recognize Youth

The month of April has been proclaimed as "Youth Activity Month" with April 25 as "Keep America Beautiful Day in Texas" by Governor William P. Clements, Jr., in cooperation with the Beautify Texas Council.

Clean up projects planned and conducted locally by youth groups in the state are in full swing. Special emphasis is being placed on "keep America Beautiful Day" activities by youth organizations.

Groups involved in community improvement programs are eligible to enter the 1981 "Youth Activity Awards" of the Beautify Texas Council, a statewide recognition program for youth. This program is an opportunity to earn recognition, as well as improving the appearance of the community, according to Mrs. Lamar Lewis of Kilgore, state Youth Awards Chairman for BTC. Entries are judged on a theme, committee coordination, club participation, outside participation, and the lasting quality of the project.

Every mayor in Texas is being urged to proclaim "Youth Activity Month" and "Keep America Beautiful Day" in each community. "Perhaps the most important benefit to the "KAB Day" and other youth activities we are sponsoring will be the increased awareness and caring about the attractiveness and cleaner appearance of our communities," stated Mrs. Carroll Sturgis of Waco, president of the Beautify Texas Council.

Projects being undertaken by youth are wide ranging: from litterbag distribution, to litter drives, to recycling, to tree plantings and park renovations, to cemetery clean ups, among others. Awards will be given to outstanding groups of 4-H Clubs, FHA Chapters, FFA Chapters, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire, school groups, Junior Gardeners of Texas and others.

Entries should be submitted in the form of a typewritten narrative report and should clearly state the name, address, phone number of the club and sponsor. All entries must be postmarked no later than May 10, 1981. Supportive material such as pictures and news clippings may be sent.

Additional information and entry forms may be obtained by writing the Beautify Texas Council, P.O. Box 2251, Austin, Texas 78768 or by telephoning the project director in the Governor's Office for Volunteer Services, 512-475-4210. Mrs. J.B. McCray, Box 310, Panhandle, Texas 79068 is District 4 Governor of the Beautify Texas Council.

Conference Set in Austin

AUSTIN - Members of county historical commissions and interested citizens from across Texas will attend the 1981 Historic Preservation Conference in Austin, April 23-25. The program, entitled "Back to Basics: Preservation Issues for the 1980s," will focus on local and state efforts to preserve, interpret, and wisely utilize the historic landmarks, buildings, and cultural resources of Texas.

This year's Conference includes an orientation session to introduce participants to the staff, services, and programs of the Texas Historical Commission. The THC is the official state agency for historic preservation and cosponsor, with the Texas Historical Foundation, of the annual Conference. County historical commissions, in turn, will have an opportunity to report on their local preservation programs and accomplishments.

In addition, the Annual Historic Preservation Conference includes addresses by national and state preservation leaders, workshops and presentations on specific heritage conservation issues, a state preservation awards ceremony, films, tours, and informal social gatherings.

The THC consists of an 18-member governor-appointed State Commission which functions as a board of directors; a professional staff of historians, archeologists, architects and experts in related fields; and volunteer preservationists in county historical commissions, heritage societies, conservation societies, and other interested groups throughout the state.

At Wits End

By ERMA BOMBECK

I sat next to a really neat lady at a luncheon the other week who got to talking about braces on the teeth...hers.

She said, "How come you never mentioned my braces?" I started awkwardly into her fruit cocktail and said, "I don't know...I guess I didn't want to make you self-conscious."

"I'm not," she said. "You are. It's funny, kids are great about it. They'll come right up and say, 'When do they come off?' or 'Wouldn't you kill for a caramel?' But not adults. They act like they don't see them."

It occurred to me that adults are that way about a lot of things. People make such a flap about face and body lifts. I personally considered Eleanor Roosevelt the most beautiful woman I ever met, but if something bothers you and you can still get the parts, I say go for it!

Or, as a wise friend of mine once said, "To heck with my ironing board, let's put the silicone right up front where everyone can see it."

There is something admirable about a woman (or man) who works on perpetual maintenance. My mother-in-law went through extensive and expensive bridgework at the age of 74. Another woman in her 60s got a face lift and it made such a difference to her. Too often, we're intimidated by age. Everything becomes predictable. At age 20 the teeth start to go, at 30 the skin dries up, at 40 the eyes dim, at 50 all the muscles relax and bag around your knees, and at 60 you fall asleep during a tax audit.

I defy you to gather together a group of women (or men) and find one who is totally happy with the way she looks. One friend of mine confessed she hated her nose.

"What's wrong with it?" I asked. "It works, doesn't it?" "That's not the point," she said. "It looks like George C. Scott's."

"So?"

"So, I can't act." She had the nose altered and I swear I never saw the difference, but she did.

The mind is also not exempt from the self-improvement route. People who are college graduates are the first to admit it's overrated. I knew people who graduated with honors who couldn't operate a pay toilet. But another friend of mine lived for the day when she could enroll in the university and unlock the doors of ignorance.

Whatever stands in the way of your self-confidence...whether it's an overbite, toeing inward, a 30-pound honker, hips like saddlebags, weak eyes, a quest for Thoreau, wrinkle city, hamster hair or a concave chest, fix it.

I know I never started to live until I lost ten pounds...five off each upper arm.

Susie Merrick Presents Program on Gourmet Cooking

Susie Merrick hosted the La Madra Mia Study Club in her home recently and presented a program on gourmet cooking.

Guests and members watched, as Mrs. Merrick, a gourmet cook, prepared apple tarts and Napoleons, which she later served with coffee. She answered questions from the group about gourmet cooking.

Following a short business meeting, plans were made to travel to Amarillo Tuesday evening. Members will tour the Harrington Cancer Center and then go to the Concord House for a program, followed by dinner.

Guests at the meeting included Jerri Bezner, Sue Sims, Sarah Hazelrigg, Kylene Gentry and Niki Walser.

Is Irish Really Irish?

By GARTH B. THOMAS
Past President
Deaf Smith County
Genealogical Society

On March 17, each year, many people around the world identify themselves with that fabled rocky island of Ireland. They wear a bit of green, dance a jig or two, swig a cup or so of concentrated mist and end up singing the night through those beautiful melodies about smiling eyes.

I suspect few of these have much, if any, true Irish blood. Maybe that isn't of great importance. Nevertheless to these it is significant in that it gives them a sense of cultural belonging—a heritage worth preserving and worth remembering.

The April 1981 issue of the National Geographic magazine has a terrific article, with some eye appealing photographs, and a most informative map of the entire island. This issue is available in the library, and I recommend it to you without reservation.

Ireland has a history extending back over 5000 years. It became Christianized before England and at one time vied with Rome over the leadership of the Catholic religion.

The island today has many celtic ruins. Ireland, like England, was for centuries, invaded by the Vikings. Later the Anglo-Saxons and still later the Normans, who in reality were Northmen or Vikings from the Northwest coast of France, founded settlements there.

So in all probability that wild Irish blood of yours is 99 percent pure Viking. And be proud of that for that may be what helps you endure this high plains environment.

If you claim Irish ancestry, then instead of a cruise to some tropical paradise take a flight to Ireland - you will be glad you did.

The Deaf Smith County Genealogical Society meets tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the county library Heritage Room. The meeting is open to anyone interested in attending.

Residents Oppose $34 Billion Missile System

CEDAR CITY, Utah (AP) — With few exceptions, people testifying here Tuesday on the draft environmental impact statement for the MX missile system told Air Force officials they don't want it in their area.

Criticisms of the system voiced at the two public hearings at Southern Utah State College ranged from its cost, $33.8 billion in 1980 dollars, to the possibility that MX construction could raise clouds of dust contaminated with radioactive fallout from Nevada nuclear testing two decades ago.

The Air Force proposes deploying 200 missiles among 4,600 launch sites in Utah and Nevada. An alternative deployment proposal being studied would place some of the missiles along the Texas-New Mexico border.

The testimony came in the second day of the latest round of MX hearings that began Monday in Las Vegas and continue today in Milford, Utah.

Last Wednesday supporters of the missile system rallied at Milford, saying they intend to have their views heard in decision-making circles in Washington, and will fly 120 people there later this month to meet with secretary of defense and Utah members of Congress. Many of the 38 people who testified at the Cedar City hearings were also critical of the draft impact statement itself, saying it gave only superficial coverage to impacts the MX will have on such things as education, health care, the environment and Indian tribes.

Greg Woodall, an area resident, questioned why the document did not consider possible health problems from airborne construction dust that may carry plutonium and other fallout contaminants from Nevada nuclear tests in the 1950s and early 1960s.

Woodall said said much of the fallout landed on areas where the MX system has been proposed for construction.

Hundreds of Great Basin residents have filed claims against the federal government contending fallout from the Nevada tests caused them or their relatives to develop cancer.

Spokesman for Henningson, Durham and Richardson, the consulting firm that helped write the impact statement, said the issue was not addressed in the document because it was not raised at previous Air Force scoping hearings. However, Air Force officials said Woodall's comments would be considered in preparing the final version of the impact statement.

David Jenkins, a spokesman for Intermountain Oil Marketers, said the area could use the MX to boost its economy.

Noting that some mines in the area have closed, and the Warner Valley energy project is in doubt, Jenkins said,

"I think as one speaking as a businessman, it's about time we had a little business thrown our way."

But Kayleen Bundy, an area resident, said, the Air Force will need the area's water, land, schools, hospitals and other facilities for the MX.

"Let us hope our honorable President Ronald Reagan will make good his promise to get the government off our backs," she said.

'Honors Day' Scheduled at Texas Tech

LUBBOCK — The presidents-elect of both the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas and the former chairman of the U.S. House Appropriations Committee will participate in Honors Day activities Friday (April 3) at the Texas Tech University School of Law.

ABA president-elect, and Wayne Fisher, president-elect of the Texas State Bar, will deliver addresses during the day. Former Congressman George H. Mahon will be initiated into the Order of the Coif, the law scholastic honorary organization, at a luncheon Friday.

recipients of 75 student awards and honors will be announced. Ten teams also will compete in the Geary, Stahl and Spencer Spring Intraschool Moot Court Competition, which begins at 8:45 a.m. in the Law School Courtroom. The topic of the competition concerns the criminal appeal, on the grounds of unconstitutionality arrest, search and seizure, of a woman convicted of murder.

At 10:45 a.m. in the Forum, Harrell will deliver the Strasburger and Price Lecture on trial problem areas, including delays and abuses of the discovery process, and possible changes. Harrell is a partner with the Dallas law firm of Rain, Harrell, Emery, Young & Duke. Harrell is a fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers.

Harrell will be introduced by Mark Martin of the Dallas law firm Strasburger & Price, which sponsors the annual Honors Day lecture.

At the Order of the Coif luncheon at noon in the University Center Coronado Lounge Mahon will give brief remarks after his honorary initiation into the society. Also attending the luncheon will be trustees of the Texas Tech Law School Foundation, program participants, members of the Lubbock Bar and the 23 students who may become eligible for initiation.

A student must graduate in the top 10 percent of his class to be eligible. Order of the Coif initiates are determined after graduation.

The honors and award program will begin at 2 p.m. in the Forum with Fisher, partner in the Houston law firm Fisher, Roch & Gallagher, delivering the main address. Awards will be given to students for excellence in academics, for outstanding performance in legal writing and in oral advocacy and for service to the Law School. A reception will follow in the Foyer.

Members of the Law School's second graduating class will celebrate their 10th reunion at 6 p.m. at South Park Inn. The day's activities will end with an all-school party and dance at 8 p.m. in the Sigma Chi Fraternity House.

Conference Squabble Derails Emergency Prison Measure

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A plan to provide emergency housing for inmates of the state's over-crowded prison system was stalled by a joint legislative committee squabble over a work-release amendment to the measure.

The $35 million bill, pushed by Gov. Bill Clements and passed by both houses, was left in limbo Tuesday when Senate and House conferees adjourned without agreeing on a Senate amendment that would have provided $250,000 for the work-furlough program.

A federal judge has ruled the overcrowding violates of inmates' constitutional rights.

The House has approved Rep. Rodney Tow's bill which asks for the funds to be made available to build prefabricated metal structures that will provide 2,880 beds for the Texas Department of Corrections.

Senators also passed the bill, but added an amendment allowing TDC to spend up to $250,000 of the $35 million for a work-furlough program.

TDC Director W.J. Estelle proposed the program, which would allow 2,500 inmates to live and work outside prison walls.

He told the conference committee the program would help relieve overcrowding in the 30,000-inmate system, where up to 3,000 prisoners sleep on the floor.

Clements said he does not like the work-furlough idea, especially since Estelle would be the one to decide who is released. Under the existing parole program, Clements has the final say.

After hearing Estelle's pitch, Rep. Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline, moved that the committee adopt the House bill, without the Senate amendment calling for the work-furlough program.

The motion failed when three senators — Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, Kent Caperton, D-Bryan, and Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls — voted against it.

Tow, D-Woodlands, also voted against the motion. Reps. Jerry Benedict, D-Angelton; Bob Davis, R-Irving; Hollowell; and Bill Presnal, D-Bryan, voted for it.

"I don't see any sense in wasting any time meeting again," Davis said after the vote.

The senators and representatives, divided over an inmate work-furlough program, walked away from the table and set no future meetings.

"IF YOU HAVE EARS, USE THEM NOW!"

Not long afterwards Jesus began a tour of the cities and villages of Galilee to announce the coming of the Kingdom of God, and took His twelve disciples with Him.

Some women went along, from whom He had cast out demons or whom He had healed; among them were Mary Magdalene [Jesus had cast out seven demons from her], Joanna, Chuza's wife [Chuza was King Herod's business manager and was in charge of his palace and domestic affairs], Susanna, and many others who were contributing from their private means to the support of Jesus and His disciples.

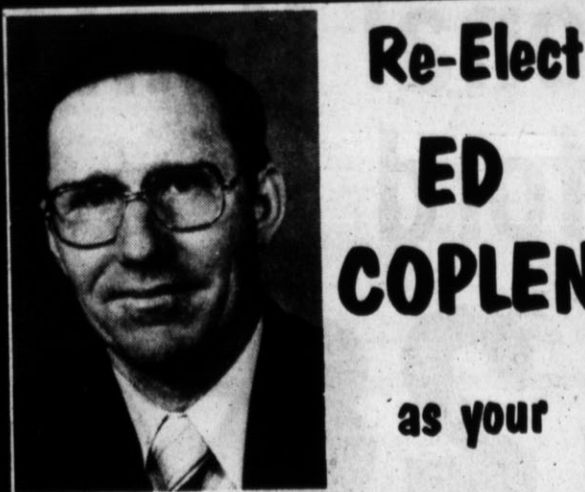

One day He gave this illustration to a large crowd that was gathering to hear Him... while many others were still on the way, coming from other towns.

"A farmer went out to his field to sow grain. As he scattered the seed on the ground, some of it fell on a footpath and was trampled on; and the birds came and ate it as it lay exposed.

"Other seed fell on shallow soil with rock beneath. This seed began to grow, but soon withered and died for lack of moisture.

"Other seed landed in thistle patches, and the young grain stocks were soon choked out.

"Still other fell on fertile soil; this seed grew and produced a crop 100 times as large as he had planted." [As He was giving this illustration He said, "If anyone has listening ears, use them now!"] Luke 8:1-8

Houston Upsets Lakers In NBA Playoff Opener

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Lakers, hoping to become the National Basketball Association's first repeat champions since the 1968-69 Boston Celtics, suddenly find themselves one game away from playoff elimination after running into a red-hot Rocket named Moses Malone.

Malone, Houston's 6-foot-10 center, scored 38 points and grabbed 23 rebounds — including 11 off the offensive boards — to lead the Rockets to a 111-107 upset over the Lakers in Los Angeles Wednesday night in the opening game of their first-round playoff series.

"To win we had to play our hardest and best game of the year, a maximum effort," said Rockets Coach Del Harris. "It was our best game of the year and for all I know the best game in the history of the franchise."

Houston, which posted a 40-42 record in the regular season and didn't gain a playoff berth until the final weekend of the campaign, can wrap up the best-of-three mini-series by winning Friday night. A third game, if necessary, will be played in Los Angeles Sunday.

"When I score big and rebound well, we usually win. We're no pushovers," said Malone. "But this series is not over yet. You have to respect the world champs."

In the other Western Conference first-round series, the Kansas City Kings posted a 98-97 overtime victory over the Portland Trail Blazers at Portland. With Chicago's 90-80 triumph at New York on Tuesday, that means three of the four mini-series openers were won by the visiting team. Philadelphia, which defeated Indiana 124-108

Tuesday, is the only home team to win so far.

Houston raced to a 16-point lead during the second period and was ahead 60-50 at halftime behind 23 points by Malone, the NBA's leading rebounder and No. 2 scorer during the regular season. Los Angeles fought back and twice cut the deficit to two points but could never draw even.

The Lakers trailed by just three points with 19 seconds remaining before guard Mike Dunleavy hit two free throws for Houston. A basket by Earvin "Magic" Johnson again cut it to three, but a free throw by Malone clinched the victory.

Johnson led the Lakers with 26 points and Norm Nixon and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar added 22 and 21 points, respectively.

"We are in a whole lot of trouble," said Johnson. "I'm mad, upset and disappointed."

"Our course is clear," said Lakers Coach Paul Westhead. "There are no options and no contingencies — we must win in Houston. We must be more aggressive, keep the ball away from Moses and keep Moses away from the boards."

And as the Lakers learned Wednesday night, that's no small task.

Kansas City's backup center, Joe C. Meriweather, scored four of his six points in overtime, including the winning basket with 57 seconds remaining. The Kings erased an 86-76 deficit with six minutes left in regulation to win.

"This doesn't mean much," warned Kings guard Ernie Grunfeld, who scored 10 of his 16 points in the fourth quarter. "They've shown that they can beat us in Kansas City."

Kansas City's Otis Birdsong, who led all scorers with 29 points, sent the game into overtime by hitting a driving layup with one second left.

After Meriweather's go-ahead basket, Portland center Mychal Thompson missed a 10-footer. The Blazers regained possession with nine seconds left, but despite the urgings of Coach Jack Ramsay, nobody called a timeout to set up a play. Instead, Kermit Washington heaved up an air ball from beyond the three-point arc just before the buzzer.

"There's no excuse for it," Thompson said of the failure to call a timeout. "We just didn't do it."

"Somebody out there had to call it," Ramsay said. "I couldn't call it on the sidelines. We were all hollerin'." But forward Calvin Natt, who dribbled the ball upcourt in the final seconds, said he didn't hear Ramsay.

The Pacers, who have lost all seven of their games against Philadelphia this season, hope the home-court advantage will help them break that streak.

"We haven't beaten Philadelphia all year, but we have played them close here," said Indiana Coach Jack McKinney, noting that the 76ers won the last two games at Indianapolis by one and two points. "We won't try any new wrinkles — just try to get playing again."

James Edwards, Indiana's 7-1 center who averaged 15.6 points per game this season, failed to score in the series opener.

"I wasn't in the game," he said. "I was rushing my shot too much. I've just got to get out and play better."

The same goes for the entire New York team. Chicago center Artis Gilmore dominated the Knicks in the opener of their series, blocking seven shots and grabbing 16 rebounds. He has forced New York to consider a change in strategy for Friday's game.

"We were intimidated by Artis," said Mike Glenn, one of the Knicks' reserve guards. "But we played right to their strength. Drive down low and he'll block every shot. We've got to pass the ball more, set picks and run our offense."

"When we penetrate in the next game, we have to dish off the ball instead of shooting and having him block the shots," added guard Michael Ray Richardson.

Two Former Champs Eye Gymnastics Title

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Two former champions were expected to wage a head-to-head battle for the all-around title at the 39th NCAA gymnastics championships opening tonight.

Junior Jim Hartung of Nebraska is the defending champion and he was to be joined by the three gymnasts who finished right behind him in the all-around competition at last year's NCAA meet.

But Hartung's main challenge was likely to come from Oklahoma's Bart Conner, the 1978 champion and winner of the 1981 Nissen Award, presented annually to the nation's outstanding senior gymnast.

"This is a prestigious title," Nebraska Coach Francis Allen said of the upcoming all-around battle. "This pretty much decides who rules the roost next year."

Other contenders for all-around honors include Peter Vidmar and Mitch Gaylord of UCLA, Iowa State's Ron Galimore, Phil Cahoy of Nebraska, Brian Babcock of Southern Illinois and Oklahoma's Peter Stout. Vidmar was second to Hartung a year ago, Galimore was third and Cahoy fourth.

Conner did not compete as a collegian last year because he was training for the Olympics. He has won four Big Eight Conference all-around titles and late last month he beat Hartung for the American Cup championship in Fort Worth, Texas.

Hartung was slowed by an ankle injury during the latter stages of Nebraska's dual meet season, but Allen says he's at near full strength now.

Nebraska, which is hosting the meet for the second straight year, is gunning for its third consecutive team title. When the Cornhuskers won last year, they became the first team to do so on their home floor.

"Last year, when our guys walked out, they got a nice standing ovation," Allen said. "I'm sure that sparked them. You could sense the tingle in the atmosphere."

Women Golfers Rank Colgate As Top Tourney

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (AP) — It isn't one of the official "majors," but that doesn't diminish the stature of the $250,000 Colgate-Dinah Shore golf tournament in the eyes of the players.

"This is the one we all want to win," said defending champion Donna Caponi, who heads a select field of 80 in the Ladies Professional Golf Association event which began today. "It's been great for us and great for women's golf."

This 10-year-old event was the first on the LPGA circuit to offer a $100,000 purse. Previous winners were Jane Blalock, Mickey Wright, Jo Ann Prentice, Sandra Palmer, Judy Rankin, Kathy Whitworth, Sandra Post twice and Caponi.

The LPGA lists the U.S. Women's Open, the LPGA championship and the Peter Jackson tournament in Canada as its official "major" tournaments, but the players feel otherwise.

"I think most of the girls would tell you the Colgate is our most prestigious tournament," said Blalock. "Sure, I'd like to win the Open or the

*AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Brigham Young teammates Tito Steiner and Mike Gardner moved into a first place tie Wednesday after the first five events in the 1981 Texas Relays Decathlon.

LPGA, because I've never won them. But truthfully, I'd rather win the Colgate again."

Pat Bradley vaulted into the 1981 LPGA earnings lead with a five-stroke victory in the Women's Kemper Open at Costa Mesa, Calif., last weekend. The $26,250 first prize gave her $69,821 in winnings.

But with $37,500 awaiting the winner of the Dinah Shore tournament, the money-winning lead could change quickly.

The tournament's final two rounds Saturday and Sunday over the 6,302-yard, par 72 Mission Hills Country Club layout are scheduled to be nationally televised.

Adolph, who rewrote WT assist records in just two seasons, will be presented the award April 27 at a luncheon in the Hall of Fame on the Springfield (Mass.) College campus. The 5-9 senior and Buff coach Ken Edwards will be guests at the enshrinement dinner when four new members are inducted into the Hall of Fame.

Adolph transferred to WT from Portland State and completed his two-year Buff career as the school's 20th leading scorer. He is the leader in assists with 520 in his Buff career. He led the Missouri Valley Conference the past season in assists (8.9) and steals (3.3) per game.

He was named to the first team All-MVC the past two seasons and is also a two-time NCAA all-District V selection. Adolph was named honorable mention All American by UPI last month.

Barr turned in a 37-31 68 card, while Fuller had identical rounds of 34 strokes on the front and back nine for his 68-stroke total. Forsman turned in a 33-35 68 score.

Other individual leaders included Pete Byman, LSU, and Andrew Magee of Oklahoma, both of whom were one stroke back at 69. The tournament is being played at Houston's Bear Creek Golf World.

Houston led in team standings following Wednesday's round. The Cougars turned in an 18-hole total of 280.

Trades Adding Spice To Exhibition Baseball

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

There are a lot of ways to get from California to New York quickly. For Jason Thompson, the turnpike through Pittsburgh is not one of them — not when Bowie Kuhn's putting up roadblocks.

Thompson, the left-handed first baseman who hit .288 with 21 home runs for the California Angels in 1980, was dealt to the Pittsburgh Pirates Wednesday — and then on to the New York Yankees.

In the three-way deal, the Angels ended up with catcher Ed Ott and pitcher Mickey Mahler from Pittsburgh and the Pirates wound up with first baseman Jim Spencer, minor league pitchers Greg Cochran and Freddie Tolliver and some of Yankee owner George Steinbrenner's cash.

How much? That's what Kuhn would like to know. That's one of the reasons he gave for temporarily holding up the two trades. Since 1976, Kuhn has insisted on a $400,000 ceiling in all trades involving money.

The other reason for holding up the deal, according to Bob Wirz, major league baseball's director of information, was that Kuhn wants to know whether the two trades, "having been made back-to-back ... are inter-related." Wirz acknowledged that there is no specific rule banning such interlocking deals. "But in this case, until we know all the facts, it's being held up overnight," he said.

It was the second big deal in 24 hours involving the Yankees. On Tuesday night, they completed a six-player trade with San Diego. The keys were the center fielders, Jerry Mumphrey coming to New York and Ruppert Jones heading west.

The deals with Thompson as the linchpin were Wednesday's biggest before the midnight interleague trading deadline.

This also added pitching strength by acquiring 34-year-old Ken Forsch from Houston, where he was 12-13 with a 3.20 earned-run average in 1980. After the season, he asked to be traded. The Astros first tried to ship him to San Francisco, but Forsch vetoed that deal. Then they worked the deal with the Angels, getting 22-year-old utility infielder Dickie Thon in return.

Like the Pirates and Angels, the Chicago White Sox made two trades Wednesday. They sent outfielder Thad Bosley to Milwaukee for minor league outfielder John Poff and relief pitcher Mike Proly to Philadelphia for reserve second baseman Jay Loviglio.

Bosley, who hit .224 last year for the White Sox, didn't figure to make the team this year. Proly, 5-10 with a 3.06 ERA and eight saves last year, became expendable when the White got reliever Dennis Lamp from the Chicago Cubs last week.

Nobody, it seems, wanted one-time Detroit phenom Mark Fidrych. The pitcher cleared waivers, then was sent down to the Tigers' Evansville farm team, subject to 24-hour recall.

The 26-year-old "Bird," as he is affectionately known, promised he'd be back in the majors once again, talking to baseballs and doing his own groundskeeping on the mound the way he did in 1976, when he went 19-9 and captured the fancy of the nation. "I'll be there again. You watch," he vowed.

Detroit picked up infielder Mick Kelleher from the Cubs in exchange for cash or a player to be named later. Kelleher batted .146 for Chicago in 1980, playing 31 games at third base, 17 at shortstop and 57 at second. In another deal, Baltimore traded shortstop Kiko Garcia to the Astros for minor league outfielder Chris Bourjos.

A few "name" players were waived Wednesday, among them pitchers Jim Barr and Dave LaRoche by the Angels, pitcher Fred Norman by the Montreal Expos and outfielder Willie Horton by the Texas Rangers, who also sent pitchers Ed Figueroa and Dave Rajsch to their Wichita farm club.

Needing a victory he faces one of the strongest fields this old event has had in years. Chief among the threats for the $54,000 first prize are Trevino, Ben Crenshaw and defending champion Craig Stadler, who tied for second last week in the Heritage Classic.

Other major challengers include Bill Rogers, the Heritage winner, and Jerry Pate and Lanny Wadkins, each of whom has played very well in recent weeks.

The foreign field includes current Masters champion Seve Ballesteros of Spain, South African Gary Player, Isao Aoki of Japan and Australian veteran Bruce Devlin.

Leading money-winner Ray Floyd, winner of consecutive titles last month, was forced to withdraw because of the illness of his son.

Weiskopf Faces Must-Win Tourney

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Tom Weiskopf is facing a must-win situation this week if he is to qualify for the Masters.

"I want to play in the Masters because it's a major championship and I like major championship golf," Weiskopf said before teeing off today in the first round of the $300,000 Greater Greensboro Open on the 6,984-yard, par 72 Forest Oaks Country Club course. It's his last chance to gain a spot in the field for next week's prestigious event in Augusta, Ga., a tournament in which he has played for 13 consecutive years.

To make it again this year, he must win here. Nothing else will put him in the elite gathering of golf's greatest players.

And there are strong indications the deeply-talented Weiskopf is ready to make a run at it.

HOCKEY
EDMONTON, Alberta (AP) — Wayne Gretzky of the Edmonton Oilers, who earlier in the day was named the National Hockey League Player of the Month for March, broke Bobby Orr's league single-season assist record with his first of two assists in Edmonton's 4-4 tie with the Colorado Rockies.

The 20-year-old center now has 104 assists this season, two more than the 102 Orr accumulated for the Boston Bruins during the 1970-71 campaign. The record-setter came on right wing Jari Kurri's power play goal at 1:33 of the first period.

Gretzky cemented his March award last Sunday when he broke P. J. Schallert's single-season point record of 152, also set with Boston in 1970-71. Gretzky scored 11 goals.

Milwaukee May Be Contender

Birds, Yanks Picked in East

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

The soap opera continues. Will George and Reggie kiss and make up? Will big Dave bring George success in his search for another world championship?

The New York Yankees had the best record in baseball during the 1980 regular season but they bombed in the playoffs against Kansas City, and owner George Steinbrenner went shopping. He went all the way to San Diego for free agent outfielder Dave Winfield. He didn't have to go quite as far for a field manager to replace the popular Dick Howser (whose 103 victories made him the second winningest rookie skipper in baseball history), only upstairs where Gene Michael was bidding his time as the Yankees' general manager.

"The season was somewhat disappointing because we failed to make the World Series," says Michael.

Winfield takes his money bags to Yankee Stadium's spacious left field with Reggie Jackson, who batted .300 for the first time and tied for the American League lead with 41 homers, in right. Fleet Jerry Mumphrey, just acquired in a trade with San Diego, is the man in the middle. Oscar Gamble and Lou Piniella will DH a lot.

A veteran infield will have Graig Nettles at third, Bucky Dent at short, Willie Randolph at second and Bob Watson and Jason Thompson splitting time at first. Thompson was acquired in the capper of a three-team trade which sent first baseman Jim Spencer from the Yankees to Pittsburgh.

Clutch-hitting catcher Rick Cerone handles a pitching staff that includes Ron Guidry, Tommy John and Rudy May, all left-handers, in the starting rotation — the Yankees are searching for a right-hander — and a sensational bullpen headed by fireballing Goose Gosage.

The Baltimore Orioles, says Manager Earl Weaver, "had an outstanding season in 1980, but 100 wins wasn't enough. So this year we'll have to win 101 games, or whatever it takes to bring the Eastern Division title back to Baltimore."

The Orioles seem solid everywhere. The pitching staff includes three Cy Young Award winners — Jim Palmer, Mike Flanagan and Steve Stone — and Scott McGregory may soon be the best of all. Tim Stoddard is the bullpen bulwark.

There's plenty of offense with first baseman Eddie Murray, Ken Singleton, Al Bumbry and Gary Roenicke, third baseman Doug DeCinces and alternate catcher Dan Graham. Catcher Rick Dempsey, shortstop Mark Belanger, second baseman Rich Dauer and DeCinces help make Baltimore baseball's best defensive club.

The Milwaukee Brewers, seeking a way to make up 17 games, think they found it in the big swap with St. Louis in which they acquired catcher Ted Simmons, reliever Rollie Fingers and starting pitcher Pete Vuckovich.

"We were instantly turned into a contender," says Manager Buck Rodgers.

Simmons joins a power-packed lineup which includes first baseman Cecil Cooper, shortstop Robin Yount, third basemen Roy Howell and Don Money, outfielders Ben Oglivie, Paul Molitor and Gorman Thomas and DH Larry Hise. If Vuckovich and fellow starters Mike Caldwell and Moose Haas can give Fingers enough leads to protect, baseball's all-time save king could be just what the doctor ordered.

The Boston Red Sox, on the other hand, don't figure as contenders without Carlton Fisk, Fred Lynn and Rick Burleson, despite new Manager Ralph Houk's rose-colored optimism.

Dennis Eckersley, Mike Torrez and Frank Tanana, acquired from California, all had losing records a year ago. The Red Sox do have a fine bullpen featuring Tom Burgmeier, Bob Stanley and Mark Clear. And they have punch with outfielders Jim Rice, Dwight Evans and Joe Rudi, first baseman Tony Perez, third baseman Carney Lansford and ageless Carl Yastrzemski.

Now that second baseman Jerry Remy is over his knee problems, Houk must find a place for Dave Stapleton, last year's rookie sensation. Glenn Hoffman, last year's third baseman, is the new shortstop. Gary Allenson figures as the catcher.

The Detroit Tigers scored more runs than any team in baseball (830) last year but a team ERA of 4.25 sabotaged any hopes for a high finish. "No team will ever win with a 4.25 ERA," says Manager Sparky Anderson.

Since Mark Fidrych is back in the minors, the Tigers will rely on starters Jack Morris, Dan Schatzeder, Milt Wilcox and Dan Pety, who could be a big winner. Aurelio Lopez is an in-and-out reliever.

Left fielder Steve Kemp wields the biggest bat. His helpmates includes catcher Lance Parrish, first baseman Richie Hebner, shortstop Alan Trammell, outfielders Al Cowens and Rick Peters and DH's Champ Summers and John Wockenfuss. A healthy Kirk Gibson would help. So would a comeback by second baseman Lou Whitaker.

The Cleveland Indians are hopeful of their best season in years. They have plenty of offense in catcher Ron Hassey, first basemen Mike Hargrove and injury-plagued Andre Thornton, third baseman Toby Harrah and outfielders Joe Charboneau, Miguel Dilone and Jorge Orta.

The Indians traded for Pittsburgh's Bert Blyleven. If he can return to his old form, the starting mound staff will be formidable with Len Barker, Rick Waits and John Denny. The bullpen, though, may kill Cleveland's chances.

The Toronto Blue Jays have never finished out of the cellar and seem destined to make it five last-place finishes in a row. Dave Stieb and Jim Clancy are premier starting pitchers and first baseman John Mayberry, shortstop Alfredo Griffin and outfielders Otto Velez, Lloyd Moseby and Al Woods will produce some runs, but not enough.

PREDICTION: Baltimore, New York, Milwaukee, Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, Toronto.

Uncertainty Raising Havoc

NEW YORK (AP) — Uncertainty is the bane of all investment markets, as was proved again when trading was forced to halt Monday on news of the attempted assassination of President Reagan.

Exchange officials knew many investors dump their holdings until prospects are in better focus, so they simply wait.

It didn't take long. U.S. and Canadian exchanges closed within an hour of the shooting, and bond markets by 4 p.m., but all opened again for trading Tuesday morning. The immediate crisis was over.

But the longer-term economic problem remains. Uncertainty is raising havoc with all markets.

Paul A. Schosberg, president of the Savings Association League of New York State, says if the nation believes the future is sound, it might quickly knock 2.5 to 3 percent from home mortgage rates.

That much, he said, is the psychological factor. Fearing rates will go even higher, borrowers take what they can. Afraid that inflation will drive the cost of money sky-high, lenders are unwilling to commit themselves without insurance.

As for stocks, the plight of those stocks that make up the Dow Jones industrial average are evidence enough of what uncertainty means. Where is the average today? About where it was 15 years ago.

Since shortly after 1966, when the average reached 1,000 points, the market has been hit by rising inflation and interest rates, and many professional investors are worried it will continue.

It would be another story if they expected an economy similar to that which prevailed in the early 1960s, when inflation amounted to only 1 or 2 percent a year and changes in interest rates were rare.

With stability prevailing then, investors eagerly bet on the future. The number of shareholders rose sharply and so did stock prices. But in 1968, with inflation beginning to erode values and interest rates rising, stock prices plunged and shareholders quit.

They gradually returned and prices returned to their earlier highs, but no higher. And when today's prices are adjusted for inflation, they turn out to be actually lower than the prices of 1966.

Now all eyes are on Reagan. His good physical prognosis clarifies the immediate future for everyone.

The longer-term economic outlook isn't as clear. Some commentators foresee the Reagan anti-inflation program gaining sympathetic support, and that could affect prices and interest rates.

But the marketplace is likely to await concrete results. It has been waiting patiently for more than a decade while interest rates and prices rose and bond prices and common stocks plunged.

Stars Maintaining Family Tradition

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Thanks to actor Clint Eastwood, whose musical judgment overruled several record company executives, singers David Frizzell and Shelly West have a country music hit.

Eastwood insisted that the song "You're the Reason God Made Oklahoma" be included in his movie "Any Which Way You Can." After hearing Frizzell and Ms. West sing the tune on a cassette tape in his car, he decided it should be in the movie — even though no major record company liked it.

"If he hadn't heard it, it would still be just hanging there," Frizzell says.

Instead of just hanging there, the touching tune has zipped up the country music charts to challenge for the No. 1 spot, and added to the family tradition of the Frizzell and West clans.

Frizzell, 39, is a younger brother of legendary country singer Lefty Frizzell. Ms. West, 22, is the daughter of Dottie West, Kenny Rogers' singing partner.

"My mom got her break singing with Jim Reeves and then sang with Jimmy Dean, Don Gibson and now Kenny," Ms. West says. "I guess singing duets just runs in the family." Frizzell sang frequently with his brother about 20 years ago, then periodically in the last years before Lefty died in 1975.

"Lefty had a lot of faith in me," Frizzell says.

Ms. West, who has blazing red hair like her mother, was a backup singer for her mother's concerts for about three years before Dottie teamed up with Rogers.

"She gave me my start," Ms. West says. "I wouldn't be singing if it weren't for her."

Frizzell and Ms. West have been working in a group together for about two years but singing as a duo for only one. Their current hit song is their first release; their first album, "Carrying on the Family Name," will be out in late April.

"She's a female Lefty," Frizzell says of his partner. "She curls her voice and does quick shots with it."

Unlike famous country music duets like George Jones and Tammy Wynette and Loretta Lynn and Conway Twitty, Frizzell and Ms. West have not established themselves as solo singers.

"We got bold and it worked," Frizzell says. "All we had were two shadows — Lefty and Dottie."

Captain Kangaroo Hour Being Nicked by CBS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — First Walter Cronkite, and now Captain Kangaroo. It's open season on icons over at CBS.

Actually, the Captain has only been nicked — for now, at least. Bob Keeshan's early morning province, long covered by CBS News, will lose half an hour to "Morning With Charles Kuralt" next fall. If Kuralt's show begins to act like a serious ratings competitor to ABC's "Good Morning America" and NBC's "Today," CBS likely will go to a two-hour morning news and Captain Kangaroo probably will be consigned to some afternoon corner, if he stays on the air at all.

It's tough to see the Captain getting pushed aside. For one thing, he's the world's only human being immune to aging (maybe it's the haircut). Besides, it is an irrefutable fact that stuff from my childhood was good and worthy of permanence, better by far than stuff that came later. Right?

On the other hand, I don't know that the Captain Kangaroo who is getting bumped by "Morning" is exactly the same Captain Kangaroo I used to know, which is to say, the REAL Captain Kangaroo. I sampled a show recently and was shocked to learn that the Captain Kangaroo theme song was missing.

I had just assumed it would always be there — jauntily rhythmic and inviting — and if not for a fortuitous circumstance (a whistling colleague with a good memory), it might have been lost to me forever.

Coverage of Assassination Attempt Cost ABC $1 Million

LOS ANGELES (AP) — ABC is said to have lost $1 million in advertising alone Monday night covering the attempted assassination of Ronald Reagan and postponing the Oscar telecast, but nobody at the network is complaining, and ABC's coverage figures to pay off in the long run.

It was quality stuff, fast, as accurate as could be expected and remarkably thorough. If America indeed turns to the tube when it wants to know now, ABC was the network to choose.

Frank Reynolds occasionally seemed a bit more shaken than some may prefer, but unflappable Ted Koppel eventually lent some calm to the scene. Besides, there's something to be said for the anchorman-as-human being: It was a scary story.

What ABC did on Monday was prove to viewers that ABC News is a place to turn to when in need for news. Four long years of image polishing by Roone Arledge, sterling performances on "Nightline" and whizbang pictures on "World News Tonight" set the scene for ABC's ascendancy; a day of being best when it counted may have cinched it.

ABC was there with the first bulletin of the shooting, the first clip of the shooting, the first word that Reagan had been shot. A viewer switching channels soon got the idea that CBS and NBC would have been well-served by keeping an eye on the ABC monitor.

That's not to disparage the work of Dan Rather, whose performance was completely professional. And Rather is best in a breaking story, fetching pertinent details from field reports and using his innate dramatic sense to good effect. Unfortunately CBS was late, and that didn't help.

At NBC, where Marvin Kalb and Edwin Newman ran things, ABC's dust was swallowed in big gulps.

Kalb was steady as a rock as usual and did a fine job of anchoring the incoming reports, but where was John Chancellor? Preparing NBC's prime-time special on the assassination attempt, says the network. Rather for CBS and Reynolds for ABC managed both tasks.

The Academy of Country Music has announced that the hosts for the 16th annual 'Academy of Country Music Awards' special will be Larry Gatlin, Don Meredith and Tammy Wynette. Both Gatlin and Wynette are previous winners of the Academy's 'Hat' trophy.

The 1981 show will be telecast 'live' from the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles, April 30 on NBC-TV. The show will be a Dick Clark Company production, with Al Schwartz and Gene Weed producing. Weed will also direct.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Unreliable birth control

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am 43 years old and going through the change, with hot flashes and irregular periods. For a while my periods will be regular, then I may skip a couple of months or may be several days late.

We don't use anything for birth control for 10 days after my period. The next 10 days we rely on protection. Then again nothing until I get my period. Lately we have been using protection until I get my period, yet I am not sure it is safe for those 10 days before. When will I be past the danger of getting pregnant?

DEAR READER - Well, I hope you haven't already gotten pregnant if you are trying to avoid it. The description of your method leaves a lot to be desired as an effective means of birth control.

I'm always surprised how many people do not fully understand such a vital basic function. Regardless of what you have heard, the most reliable date for ovulation is 14 days before your next menstruation, with a day or two before or after that magic date. If you are absolutely regular that information is helpful because you can predict when your next period is going to be. If you are not, as in your case, you have no real way of knowing when you may ovulate.

As a general rule, I advise women not to assume they are past the possibility of pregnancy for at least two years after they have had their last period and after all signs of the menopause are over. Any shorter period should be only on the advice of their doctor familiar with their state. That will provide a high percentage of protection against a midlife pregnancy. I would not want anyone to think, however, that any general rule will apply 100 percent in all cases to everybody.

Denture problems

DEAR POLLY - I am a senior citizen who wears dentures, which I secure with one of those commercial products that keeps them from slipping. The trouble is, I cannot get the glue out of my mouth, even though I scrub with a toothbrush and use a strong mouthwash. I need help. - MARIE

DEAR MARIE - A dental laboratory advised me that you should wipe the roof of your mouth and the dentures with a soft cloth. They also said that some people use too much of such a product because the dentures need relining. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - People who use disposable injection needles can use any kind of adhesive tape to keep the end from flying off when cutting the needle after it is used. This protects children and keeps one from having to hunt for the piece that was cut off. Just stick on a piece of tape before cutting. - SUE

DEAR POLLY - I have a few suggestions for using muffin pans that are seldom used or have been replaced by non-stick ones. They make great compartment bakers for baked apples. Paper cups can be put in the various sections to make a food serving tray for a child. There will be less spillage and dish washing. They also make good refrigerator organizers for small jars that will not topple or spill so easily.

To make egg salad quickly and easily, I chop hard boiled eggs with my pastry blender. - M.K.

DEAR POLLY - When a "get well" card seems inappropriate, a friendship card fills the need nicely. Some people, unfortunately, will not be recovering from their illness, but really appreciate cards saying "I am thinking of you" or just "hello." Hope this will fill that void left by greeting card companies. - CAROL

DEAR POLLY - My brother-in-law told me that he eliminates any danger of a fire in a wastebasket by emptying an ash tray on to a paper towel or napkin, making a package of it and then running water over the package before tossing it into the wastebasket. I use his smart idea when the gang has all been here, but on a larger scale by running a little water into a brown paper bag before emptying all the ash trays into it. I then crunch it together before dampening it a bit more before it hits the basket. - MRS. L.W.

DEAR READERS - I do something the same, but put all these "packages" in a fireproof container and leave in the kitchen sink until morning. It may not look too neat, but is really safe. - POLLY.

DEAR POLLY - I use empty egg cartons to make a footstool. Use the side the eggs fit into and fit together 100 cartons, so they fit in a circle. It takes two people to hold them firmly. After they are shaped as tightly as possible, fasten them together with masking tape. Tape several times so it really holds them firm, and then cover with a desired material. - MRS. H.R.B.
