Betty Gilbert Named 'Realtor of the Year'

Realtor of the Year

Betty Gilbert, center, was named "Realtor of the Year" during the annual installation banquet of the Hereford Board of Realtors Thursday night at the country club. Beverly Lambert, left, secretary-treasurer, made the special presentation. At right is Billie Sonnenberg, who served as president in 1980. James Self was installed as the board's new president.

Chamber Board Eyes Plans For Fun Breakfast Events

A report on the Fun Breakfast, scheduled Nov. 25, and a bi-district football game hosted by the sports committee Nov. 21, headed the agenda for the monthly meeting of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce board Thursday afternoon.

Hereford Bucks will be given for $75 and $25, and all in attendance will be eligible for those awards. Breakfast price is $3.25.

Carr also reported on John Stagner's sports committee work in securing the bi-district football game here Friday night between Littlefield and Perryton. More than 50 persons will be involved in the project.

Rogers announced the appointment of a nominating committee for 1981 officers. Speedy Nieman is chairman and will have Joan Coupe, Dr. Milton Adams and Dr. Dennis Canon on the committee.

Women's Division president Frances Berry was unable to attend the meeting. The group is making plans for a Christmas lighting ceremony Dec. 1. An update on the Emergency Medical Services system was postponed because Jim Bullard was unable to attend.

Those attending the board meeting included Rogers, Carr, Milton Adams, Joan Coupe, Speedy Nieman, Dr. Dennis Canon, Dave Hopper, Bill Reinauer, Bill Johnson and Tom Burdett. Bob Sims, an incoming director, was a guest at the session.

School Cancer Dangers Concern Health Worker

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Cancer cases are increasing nearly twice as fast as the population in Texas, and state health department officials say children possibly face the same dangers at school as refinery workers on the job.

David Cochran, chief of environmental health, disclosed Thursday that nearly half of the construction samples taken recently from 184 Texas schools showed the presence of cancer-causing asbestos.

Cochran said health officials have tried for years to control asbestos in the work place, and he added, "Recently the focus on asbestos exposure has moved to the schoolhouse."

Dr. George Anderson Jr., consultant for occupational medicine, said the state's population has increased 18 percent over the past 10 years, but cancer deaths have increased 32 percent. Over the next decade, he said, cancer deaths in Texas will increase an additional 21 percent.

"Some 18 industrial chemicals or processes have been identified with increased carcinogenic risk in workers, most of which are found in Texas industrial settings, particularly in counties where petroleum refining is carried out," said Anderson.

The health officials addressed an advisory committee on cancer control. Cochran said the health department is cooperating with the Texas Education Agency in investigating the use of asbestos in Texas schools.

He said 184 schools submitted 623 samples to the health department, and 595 analyses have been completed, with 291 showing the presence of asbestos. Many new schools were built in the 1950s, he said, and asbestos was widely used in walls and ceilings because it retards fire and has good insulating acoustical qualities.

"If it (asbestos) is being released into the atmosphere, something should be done very quickly. If it is in board, however, perhaps the anxiety is not as high," Cochran said.

In some schools, he said, a fresh coat of paint might provide proper safeguards.

Cochran said the TEA would start a "more vigorous" (See CANCER, Page 2)

Lighting Ceremony Planned

Santa Claus will be in Hereford when the Women's Division of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce lights the community Christmas tree Dec. 1 at 7 p.m.

The division has chosen a tree on the southwest corner of the county courthouse lawn for the annual event.

In preparation for the event, students of the First Baptist Church kindergarten class are making ornaments to hang on the tree. The Hereford Chamber Singers and the First United Methodist Ladies Handbell Choir will be on hand to provide the traditional Christmas music.

Betty Lady, chairman for the Christmas project, is urging all residents to plan to attend the annual lighting of the tree.

Betty Gilbert, associated with First Realty, was named "Realtor of the Year" during the annual installation banquet of the Hereford Board of Realtors Thursday night at the country club.

Other highlights of the banquet, attended by some 100 Realtors, associates and guests, were the installation of new officers and the principal address by Jeanne Robertson of North Carolina.

Mrs. Gilbert was named by a secret ballot of members of the Hereford board, and her selection from a field of three nominees was announced at the banquet. Beverly Lambert made the presentation of the coveted award.

Mrs. Robertson, a former Miss North Carolina and the tallest girl ever entered in the Miss America Pageant, poked fun at the perils of being six-foot-two and kept the audience laughing for about 45 minutes with her unique sense of humor.

Jim Sawyer, executive director of Texas Realtors Association from Austin, served as the installing officer for the event. Billie Sonnenberg, 1980 president, served as mistress of ceremonies.

The new officers for the board are James Self, president; Jerry Hardin, vice president; Brenda Parks, secretary-treasurer; Mark Andrews, multiple listing chairman; and Jim Mercer and Joe Emanuel, directors.

Melvin Jayroe, state vice president from Hereford, presented plaques to Mrs. Sonnenberg and Self for their work as officers the past year. He also presented a special plaque to Gene Campbell for his work with TREPAC (Texas Real Estate Political Action Committee). The local board was one of the top quota members in the state.

Mrs. Sonnenberg presented the board with a special plaque listing the board presidents through the years. It will hang at the Deaf Smith Abstract office.

Theme of the banquet was "The Challenging 80's," and Self urged board members to be optimistic and "look for opportunities" as he accepted the president's gavel.

Reagan Returns to California To Concentrate on Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Ronald Reagan, his debut among the nation's power brokers over, is flying home to California to begin choosing a Cabinet.

Reagan is expected to spend the weekend reviewing a list of Cabinet finalists prepared by a group of old friends and trusted advisers.

A source close to the transition said Reagan will focus first on the top Cabinet posts — State, Defense, Treasury and Justice — along with the Cabinet-level jobs of running the CIA and the Office of Management and Budget.

Even as the weekend approached, the Cabinet competition was still developing.

A source said California Supreme Court Justice William P. Clark, a Reagan appointee who served as the former Republican governor's first chief of staff, now is in the running for attorney general. Until Thursday, that slot was thought likely to go to William French Smith, Reagan's personal lawyer, who was said by other sources still to be the leading candidate.

Reagan was to talk with former President Gerald R. Ford and meet with his transition team before departing today.

He capped his five-day stay here with a White House conference Thursday with President Carter, their first meeting since the election.

"We're very glad to have you here," Carter told his successor as he and his wife, Rosalynn, greeted Reagan and his wife, Nancy, at the South Portico of the White House. "I think you'll like the place."

Carter said the 90-minute session dealt with some of the problems Reagan will inherit when he takes office. Until then, the two men agreed that Carter is in charge "in the fullest sense of the word," the outgoing president said.

Carter added that he expected to see Reagan often in the future.

Reagan said the man he defeated in a landslide on Nov. 4 "has been most gracious and most cooperative...and has certainly made it a much easier time than it would otherwise have been."

Reagan, who will be inaugurated Jan. 20, met later with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, breaking tradition by scheduling the get-acquainted session before formally taking office. Reagan declined to meet with Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, when Begin was in the United States last week.

Schmidt, who had visited Carter earlier, declined substantive comment on what he and Reagan discussed during their 50-minute meeting.

"The governor with his own hands opened my tobacco box," the pipe-smoking German leader said.

An official joint communique issued after the Schmidt-Carter conference said the two men discussed a wide range of political, security and economic issues and agreed to continue close consultation.

Schmidt has often been critical of Carter administration policy, especially regarding military security. Just this past weekend he said, "There is a new decisiveness in the American nation, and that certainly will make itself felt in the new Senate, the new House and obviously in the new White House and President Reagan."

While the meeting between Carter and Reagan was traditional, some of the president-elect's other appointments earlier this week were not.

He visited Capitol Hill —

Republican senators as well as Democratic House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. Reagan received Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., visited the Teamsters union and the Supreme Court. He hosted a dinner Tuesday night for Washington's elite and dined privately Thursday night with columnist George Will.

Reagan also received his second national security briefing Thursday from CIA Director Stansfield Turner and traveled to a government office building to meet with a group of early congressional supporters.

Close-Range Fight Reported in Iran

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iranian paratroopers fought close-range combat with helicopter-dropped Iraqi commandos today for a strategic chain of heights along the foothills of western Iran's Zagros Mountains.

Tehran radio reported Iranian paratroopers were pushing the Iraqis back in the fighting near Iran's border towns of Mehran, Gilan Gharb and Sar-Pol-e-Zahab. It said Iranian troops had inflicted heavy casualties and destroyed many enemy fortifications.

A communique from the Iraqi defense command in Baghdad said its forces drove off the attackers behind waves of bombing air force jets and rocket-firing helicopter gunships.

The three towns, conquered by invading Iraqi forces in the first week of the 61-day-old war, control the routes from Iran's western border to the Iraqi capital of Baghdad, 90 miles farther westward.

Military communiques from the two warring nations on the northern rim of the Persian Gulf suggest the battle for the heights might become crucial to Iran's week-long counter-offensive at the northern and southern sectors of Iraq's 300-mile invasion front.

Control of the heights is essential for holding the three towns as well as the major border-crossing Iranian city of Qasr-e-Shirin, which also is in Iraqi hands.

The Iraqi communique said 45 Iranian troops were killed in the running battle for the heights this morning.

An Iranian communique made no mention of casualties there but claimed 60 Iranian troops were killed in mid-morning helicopter gunship assaults on Iraqi positions around the embattled Iranian town of Susangerd, 100 miles to the southeast.

None of the claims could be confirmed because Western reporters have been barred from traveling to the battlezones on a regular basis since Iraq invaded Sept. 22.

The capture of Susangerd would let the Iraqis drive 35 miles farther southeast to Ahwaz, capital of Iran's oil-rich Khuzistan Province, and the oil wells beyond.

The Iraqis are shelling Ahwaz from the south, having pushed there after taking most of the port of Khorramshahr and surrounding the nearby refinery city of Abadan, 65 miles to the south on the Shatt al-Arab estuary, Iraq's only waterway to the Persian Gulf.

Iran's Pars news agency said one Iranian was killed (See COMBAT, Page 2)

AAM Business Session Tonight

A business meeting of the American Agriculture Movement of Texas, District 1, will be held tonight at K-Bob's Steak House in Hereford beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The Dutch treat meal will be followed by the election of delegates and alternates. All members are urged to attend. Speaker for the event will be AAM President Marvin Meek of Plainview.

Land Bank Stockholders Will Meet

The Federal Land Bank Association of Hereford will hold its annual stockholder's meeting Saturday at 6 p.m. at the Community Center.

Federal Land Bank of Houston Vice President Don Rogge will be the guest speaker at the event and will speak on functionings and accomplishments of the land bank program.

New techniques designed to keep the major agricultural lending institution in step with modern times will receive particular emphasis.

Fun Breakfast Set Tuesday

"Eat Your Heart Out Neiman-Marcus" is the theme for the third annual Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Christmas Kickoff Fun Breakfast to be held Tuesday, Nov. 25 at 6:30 a.m. at the Community Center.

The breakfast was originally scheduled for Nov. 20 but was postponed until the later date due to a scheduling conflict.

Local merchants will have Christmas gift-wares on display for the breakfast, and several of the items of merchandise to be featured on display will be offered as prizes during drawings.

In addition to merchandise, drawings will be held for a grand prize of $200 in Deaf Smith County bucks.

Drawings for $75 and $25 in Deaf Smith bucks will also be featured.

The bucks can be redeemed by any county business at the Chamber office here and are issued in order to keep local money at home, working for the community.

A "Bull Chip" award is also scheduled to be presented to a local resident during Tuesday morning's breakfast.

Those in attendance will be provided ample time to review the merchandise on display in order to pick up on holiday gift-giving ideas.

Reservations for the Fun Breakfast should be submitted to the Chamber office no later than 5 p.m. Monday.

Proposals Could Lead to Violence

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Proposals by the so-called "Moral Majority" could lead to urban violence if enacted by Congress, an Hispanic leader alleges.

Ruben Bonilla, national president of the League of United Latin American Citizens, said Thursday that minorities may have to resort to economic boycotts, peaceful marches and "a revolution at the ballot box" in the 1980s to prevent ultra conservatives from eroding gains made by Hispanics and blacks the past two decades.

"What I've outlined is a fight on the political and economic front — survival," the Corpus Christi, Texas, attorney told a regional meeting of the Office of Federal Contract Compliance Program. "...This is no time for the weak or faint-hearted."

Marine Preferred North Vietnam

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. (AP) — Marine Pfc. Robert Garwood chose to remain with the North Vietnamese after he was given his freedom as a prisoner of war because he felt the communists treated him better than the U.S. military, a former soldier has testified.

Former Army Pfc. Luis Ortiz-Rivera testified Thursday at Garwood's court-martial on charges of desertion and collaboration with the enemy during his 14 years in Vietnam.

Garwood faces a maximum sentence of life in prison if he is convicted.

Ortiz-Rivera, a member of a helicopter supply group in Vietnam, said he was captured in December 1966 and was released 13 months later.

During his captivity, Ortiz-Rivera said he attended the ceremony in which Garwood was given his freedom in 1967. Garwood, who disappeared near Da Nang in 1965, returned to the United States last year.

Ortiz-Rivera, a Puerto Rican who spoke to the court through a Marine interpreter, said Garwood remained at the POW camp "because he said he felt better with the Viet Cong, because they treated him better than the U.S. Army."

Teachers from Mexico

HOUSTON (AP) — Hiring bilingual teachers trained in Mexico and lengthening the school year should be considered as possible solutions to ease the influx of illegal aliens, says the superintendent of the Houston Independent School District.

The ideas were proposed Wednesday to the Urban Council, a group of eight Texas school districts, said Superintendent Billy Reagan. He also suggested state colleges establish "institutions in Mexico whose sole purpose is to supply bilingual teachers to Texas."

The state currently operates an exchange program allowing many Mexican teachers to visit and observe Texas classrooms, Reagan said.

Crash Kills 20, Injures 80

VIBO VALENTIA, Italy (AP) — Two express passenger trains travelling full speed at more than 100 mph crashed into empty freight cars from the opposite direction early today, killing at least 20 people and injuring 80, officials said. A police source said a signal malfunction appeared to be responsible.

Police officials said the crash occurred shortly after midnight just outside the station in Vibo Valentia, a Calabrian town near Catanzaro.

Police said express train "587," bound from Rome to Siracusa, Sicily, hit two or three empty box cars of a freight train, bouncing them onto an adjoining track where they were hit by the Rome-bound "588" express coming from the opposite direction.

Police said the passenger trains were travelling "at full speed" in excess of 100 miles an hour.

Teen Given 30 Year Sentence

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Jurors here rejected a father's pleas for probation for his teen-aged son and recommended the youth be given a 30-year prison term for murdering his mother.

Greg Heflin, 18, was convicted Thursday after a 10-day trial. Prosecutors asked for a sentence of a "substantial number of years" for the slaying of the youth's mother, June Heflin.

"I'm dumbfounded," said Frank Heflin, the boy's father, after District Judge Jim Dear read the jury's recommendation of a prison term. Heflin then led his two weeping daughters from the courtroom.

Mrs. Heflin was gunned down in the family home on June 1. Heflin's sister, Kimberly, was shot in the head.

The jury returned the guilty verdict after spending a night sequestered in a hotel. Heflin stood motionless as the verdict was read.

Kimberly Heflin, her forehead scarred by the wound, held her face in her hands as the verdict was read. Afterwards, she collapsed into a friend's arms.

The youth's attorneys had argued he was innocent by reason of insanity.

During the trial, experts gave conflicting evidence on Heflin's sanity. The jurors heard a story of a boy who changed from a popular high school athlete to a recluse. Witnesses also said the family was torn by the mother's own battle with mental illness.

The elder Heflin, his face wet with tears, had testified during the punishment phase of the trial that his son was suicidal, and that he had found a Dallas hospital that would treat the youth if jurors would recommend probation.

Professor Says Consumers May Present Problems for Reagan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A university professor who helped design Democratic farm strategy 20 years ago says consumers could give the Reagan administration a rough time if food prices keep climbing rapidly next year.

One of the Agriculture Department's senior officials says food and agriculture policy will become increasingly important as a public issue in the 1980s.

And one of Ronald Reagan's agricultural advisers says it is his personal view, also, that public awareness of the U.S. agricultural sector, exports and food will be sharpened in the coming years.

Their views were presented Thursday at the closing sessions of the department's annual Agricultural Outlook Conference.

Willard C. Cochrane of the University of Minnesota said food prices are on the verge of skyrocketing further, particularly if bad winter weather or other major difficulties arise.

"I think the (Reagan) administration could easily have a very difficult time next year, growing out of a tight situation that is already here and the food price increases that are just around the corner," Cochrane told the department's Agricultural Outlook Conference.

Earlier this week, the department predicted food prices may go up an average of 12.2 percent in 1981, the sharpest climb in seven years. Depending on weather and many other factors, however, the 1981 increase could be somewhere in a range of 10 to 15 percent, officials said.

Cochrane recalled consumer food boycotts of past years, including protests against soaring beef prices in the early 1970s.

"When consumers get angry, they get wild-eyed and they rush around and say all sorts of things," he said. "They even stop eating meat."

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Tucker Foreman told the meeting she believes "the 1980s will come to be known as the decade in which our nation discovered the importance of agricultural policy, just as the 1970s was the decade in which we discovered the importance of energy policy."

During most of the 20th century, she said, "We have tended to regard 'the farm problem' as a rather parochial and specialized matter that mainly concerned only one segment" of the American society.

Ms. Foreman said government programs to help feed people, including the food stamp program, have been probed repeatedly by Senate and House agriculture committees, which "is appropriate when the public's money is being spent."

But agriculture programs "have not been subjected to the same scrutiny by the Congress or the public," Ms. Foreman said. "High food prices and the demand to reduce government spending and personnel will combine to change that."

Richard E. Lyng, head of the GOP's transition team at the Agriculture Department, said consumers have a big interest in the food sector and that if food prices go up 15 percent "that interest will be accelerated."

Commenting on indications that the new Republican-controlled Senate may crack down on government food stamp benefits and similar programs, Lyng said it was his own view that there is no serious move to dismantle those programs.

"I just don't believe that we're going to see a situation where it will be policy to have people starve," Lyng said.

Lyng was a department official in the Nixon administration, including a period when the food stamp program was expanded dramatically, partly at the insistence of Congress but also — as Lyng mentioned — as a result of the administration's pushing for an expansion of it.

"I'm not suggesting that there won't be pressures to make big changes in them (food programs)," he said. "Perhaps some massive changes should be made in them. But they will not be the kind of changes that will have people starving to death in the United States."

PUC Chairman Claims Few Changes Needed

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The chairman of the Public Utility Commission says only a few changes are needed to improve the way utility rates are set for Texans.

However, consumer groups told senators Thursday that basic changes are needed, such as electing utility commissioners instead of appointing them.

An East Texas mayor said the commissioners should not be elected or appointed — they should be abolished.

The Senate Subcommittee on Consumer Affairs asked for ideas on how to improve the PUC system, and there was no shortage of suggestions at the hearing.

"I have some very simple legislation for you," said Nacogdoches Mayor A.L. Mangham. "Abolish it (the commission) and turn it back to the cities."

Mangham, a bank president and the East Texas city's $5-a-year mayor, said he thought PUC was a good idea when it went into operation in 1976. He looked on it as a "big brother" ready to help cities with expert advice.

The mayor said the big brother has grown too much. "It's out of our hands now. We really don't have any input on holding rates down," said Mangham.

PUC Chairman George Cowden agreed cities have lost much of their rate-setting power.

The Texas Consumer Association and Electric Consumers of Texas both talked about restructuring the commission. They want six members, elected by districts, rather than the three appointed by the governor.

"The current method of selecting PUC commissioners, by appointment, removes them from any accountability to the general public," said TCA Director Rebecca Lightsey. "Election of the commissioners would force them to be accountable to the public they were created to serve."

After the hearing, Cowden said elected commissioners would have trouble maintaining objectivity, because of campaign support from utility companies. He said he would not run for the post he now holds.

Jack Hopper of Electric Consumers of Texas said the current system of appointments is equally fraught with pressures from the companies PUC regulates.

"I'll take my chances with an election," Hopper said at a news conference.

The consumer groups also complained the rate-payers are not represented at PUC hearings. Hopper said Gov. Bill Clements and Attorney General Mark White killed opportunities to get federal money for a consumer representative at the rate-setting hearings.

Cowden had a "laundry list" of changes he wants the 1981 Legislature to consider:

- Authority for PUC to ask a court to appoint a receiver to run a utility having problems.
- Cut in half the assessment utility companies pay the state. The assessment is now one-sixth of 1 percent of a company's gross receipts. Cowden said the money was meant to fund the commission. Last year it brought in about $14 million, the PUC budget was only $3 million. "That money is paid by the consumers," he said.

Clarification of the rule barring PUC employees from going to work for a regulated utility within two years after leaving the commission. Cowden said the rule could be interpreted to include utilities regulated by the Railroad Commission.

Humor Highlights Police Report

Events were on the light side for Hereford police Thursday as a bit of humor was injected into the daily routine as evidenced by reports from the files.

A police department spokesman commented today that "it's apparently illegal to kiss and run" following an incident here yesterday that will evidently result in the filing of charges.

Gloria Fuentes of 611 Ave. K reported that a subject came to her home shortly before 4 p.m. yesterday and knocked on the door.

When the complainant advised the subject to leave he reportedly kissed her on the forehead prior to departing, prompting indications from the complainant that she plans to file charges in the incident today.

Richard Spears of 122 Northwest Drive reported to police that as he was driving home about 1 a.m. today he noticed a vehicle following him.

Spears eventually drove to the city police station where a subject got out of the car following Spears and approached the Spears vehicle, then pounded the hood of Spears vehicle with his fists prior to departing.

No damage was done to the car and police are seeking a suspect.

City police officers are continuing their search for a suspect in Tuesday night's vandalism at a Southwest Public Service Company control house on East New York Ave. which resulted in a blackout for a four county area here.

Police had planned to question the suspect Tuesday but were unable to locate the individual.

Dora Gonzales of the 100 block of Catalpa informed police Thursday that someone took her purse from her car while it was parked at Fourth and Lee. The purse contained a checkbook, some change and credit cards.

Police handled four non-offense reports Thursday and four incident reports.

program" after regulations of the federal Environmental Protection Agency become effective Feb. 1.

R. Jones, director of school plant services for the TEA, said federal law re-analysis. Jones said a federal formula is used to determine whether the material is safe. The government could withhold federal funds if schools should refuse to follow instructions to encase or remove the material, but Jones said, "I'm sure the school districts will want to do what is best for the kids."

Relief

The Iranians have demanded an American promise of non-intervention in Iranian affairs, the freeing of more than $8 billion in assets frozen by the Carter administration in retaliation for the seizure of the hostages, cancellation of all American claims against Iran and return of the wealth of the late Shah

Mohammad Reza Pahlavi. The last two demands — cancellation of the claims and return of the shah's wealth — pose the greatest legal and

Texas Briefs

DALLAS (AP) — The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services has agreed in a tentative out-of-court settlement to pay $3.5 million in back wages to women and blacks who can prove they were denied promotions and the jobs were not given to another black or woman.

If approved at a Jan. 22 hearing in Tyler, the settlement could affect up to 3,500 employees of the federal agency's Dallas region.

The proposed settlement stems from a class-action discrimination suit filed three years ago by two of the agency's civil rights investigators in Dallas.

DALLAS (AP) — The district attorney's office has obtained a court order imposing absentee voting records from the Nov. 4 election.

The order, signed by District Judge Thomas Thorpe, required County Clerk Larry Murdoch to give District Attorney Henry Wade about 10,000 documents, including absentee applications, ballot carrier envelopes and records related to who voted in the election.

When county commissioners canvassed the election results Nov. 10, Murdoch acknowledged his office had no system to prevent anyone from voting twice but said a "clear audit trail" was available to determine if anyone violated such provisions of the state election code.

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas City Council members have asked that serious consideration be given to selling the Surtran transportation service at Dallas-Fort Worth Airport to a private enterprise.

In an 8-2 vote Wednesday, the council instructed members of a steering committee deciding Surtran's future to look in a new direction for the troubled bus system.

Consultant Ernest Gerlach of Kimley-Horn and Associates Inc. repeatedly urged the council to keep running Surtran as a public enterprise, although he recommended a private firm be contracted to manage the operations. The Dallas Transit System now has a contract to manage the system, which is owned 85 percent by Dallas and 15 percent by Fort Worth.

DALLAS (AP) — Two armed thieves robbed an East Dallas jewelry store of about $32,000, police said.

Taken in the Wednesday afternoon robbery were 30 diamonds valued at $10,000, $15,000 in watches, an antique platinum watch with diamonds and rubies valued at $7,000 and $250 in cash, officers said.

Store owner Gary Gilbreath told police the two men held guns on employees and customers and him to give them the jewels and money.

DALLAS (AP) — A federal grand jury has indicted two men accused of driving a truck carrying 11 Mexican nationals from Del Rio to the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Named in the indictments were Valente Moreno Ponce and Jorge de la Cruz, who is also known as Cristobal F. Cervantes. They are to be arraigned Nov. 27 by U.S. District Judge Sarah T. Hughes.

The men were arrested last month at Grand Prairie after police found 11 aliens hiding in the rear of the truck.

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Arlington firemen have recovered the body of a Hurst man who drowned at Lake Arlington last week while trying to rescue his brother after they were thrown from a fishing boat.

The body of Edwin Frasure, 29, was found Wednesday. The body of his brother, Randy Lee Frasure, 24, was found only a few hours after the incident.

Edwin Frasure's wife, Laura, was able to swim to shore after the accident, police said.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Speaker Bill Clayton has appointed Rep. Hector Uribe, D-Brownsville, to the Southern Growth Policies Board.

Clayton said the board, an arm of the Southern Legislative Conference, helps prepare national policies.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this time and space to commend city manager, Dudley Bayne; street supt., Jerry Carr; and the entire street department for a job well done in removing the snow and ice from our city streets these last few days.

I know for a fact these men were out working all Sunday afternoon and until 5:00 a.m. Monday morning, and started back at 8:00 a.m. Monday morning.

I have had to drive to Amarillo, Canyon, Friona, and Bovina since Monday; their street conditions were terrible. As late as 2 p.m. Tuesday, Bell street in Amarillo was cut back to one lane of traffic.

After making this trip, I more fully appreciate the fine job done by our street department, and want to say "THANKS."

Sincerely
Jerry K. Johnson

Flag Confusion

The true history of the Stars and Stripes has become so cluttered by myth and tradition that the facts are difficult and in some cases impossible to establish. It is not certain who really designed the Stars and Stripes, who made the first such flag, or even whether it ever flew in any sea fight or land battle of the American Revolution.

Rebekah Members, Guests Celebrate Thanksgiving

Tables decorated with seasonal candles, flowers and turkeys set the scene for the Annual Thanksgiving Supper and festivities hosted by the Rebekah Lodge No. 228.

Forty-seven members and guests attended the annual event which was held Tuesday at the IOOF Temple.

A prayer of thanksgiving was offered by Ben Conkline as supper was served.

"The Thanksgiving feast included all the good food that reminded everyone of the bountiful harvest of things taken for granted so much of the time in our area," Susy Curtsinger, Rebekah reporter, said. "Our thanks go out to the Social Committee of the Rebekah Lodge and all those who helped in preparation for the successful event," she said.

Besides Hereford members and their families, out-of-town guests included Charlie and Wilma Wise, Friona; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Sowell, Dawn; Sam Weick, Umparger; Mr. and Mrs. Jake Block, Sturger, S. Dak.; Estelle Hopson, who has recently moved back to Hereford; and Mr. and Mrs. Hughes Millard, Rapid City, S. Dak.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN

Buildings and art from the ancient world that have been carefully preserved through the years in Italy make sights that are really awesome to a traveler, Betty Roberts says of her recent trip to that country.

Rome was the base for the eight day tour members spent. They saw classical ruins, impressive spots like St. Peter's and the Vatican, and world-famous works of art in addition to the modern city.

Short trips took them to Naples, Pompeii, the Isle of Capri, a day in Venice which Betty describes as "a dream city—you can't really believe you're there," and another day among art treasures in Florence.

Down to practical things, there was rain nearly every day of their stay, the hotel was chilly but heat was turned on for only an hour each day, and gasoline was $4 a gallon, the Hereford woman added.

She and her mother, Verda Littlejohn, also Virginia Skinner and Selsy Metz of Hereford, were in the tour party. A similar tour a week earlier had Elizabeth and Jimmy Witherspoon as members from Hereford.

To be here during the Thanksgiving season, Esther Springer's daughters will not only be visiting their mother, but will have time to see friends from their schooldays when they were growing up here.

Sue Springer Barbian lives in Ashland, Ky. now, and her sister Twyla Skor at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Spending a few days in the home of the Floyd Dunavants, Vivian Dunavant's sister, Mildred Brown of Childress, also visited an aunt, Elizabeth Finch at Kings Manor.

Mrs. Finch is recovering from a serious illness, and Mildred plans to take her down to Childress soon to finish getting well.

While the Indian summer weather was still with us as a prelude to our snowstorm, several Hereford residents enjoyed a few days at Ruidoso and found the autumn scenery still at its peak in those southerly mountains of New Mexico.

Delores and Lewis McCuistian, Mary and Dean Herring were guests of Lavon and Speedy Nieman for sightseeing, bridge playing and "a lot of eating." It was warm enough to be pleasant for bridge sessions on the decking outside their cottage.

Evelyn and Ed Wilson had as guests Ruby and Troyce Carmichael, Bessie Story and Scot Russell. To make two tables for bridge they included Blanche and Marcus Latham, former Hereford folks whose place in Ruidoso is near the Wilsons'.

When the Nieman's got home, they had a house guest for a couple of days, Janis Lockhart who worked at the Hereford Brand and Deaf Smith General Hospital when the Lockharts lived here. They are residents of Round Rock now.

Then, the last of last week, Lavon went to Hamlin to visit her mother, grandmother, a sister and family. Her mother, who is quite well acquainted in Hereford through visits to the Nieman home, is "doing very well," Lavon reports, and enjoys having her own mother live with her and take care of her.

For the Texas Tech Homecoming festivities Saturday, Speedy went down to meet Lavon at Lubbock.

Ann Landers Teachers Who Discipline

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you printed a letter about teachers who cannot discipline their students. You said they should get out of the profession.

I could have been one of those teachers, but seven years ago I was lucky enough to start my career under a strong administrator. She observed us regularly and stepped in personally when necessary. What a gem! I have seen too many teachers who were never guided by their principals—only criticized.

Much of the blame should be placed on the preparatory training. I took 42 credit hours after my B.A. degree to be certified in elementary education. I had exactly ONE DAY of instruction on classroom discipline. I love teaching but get disgusted when I see talent being wasted because no one prepared the teacher for the classroom. "Practice teaching" under a "master teacher" is a joke. I have asked teachers from every college in the state, and not one said it was difficult or demanding. IT SHOULD be both.

Parents have the right to insist on competency requirements in the schools their children attend. Administrators should be held accountable. If a teacher is failing the students, the administrators are failing the teachers through lack of guidance.—G.M. In The Louisiana System

DEAR LOU: You say, "Parents have the right to insist on competency requirements in the schools their children attend." It sounds good, but how many parents know anything about "competency requirements?"

The number of students who graduate from high school and cannot read or write (to say nothing of the proper use of grammar) is a scandal. Often the teacher is spending too much time trying unsuccessfully to maintain order so she can be heard. Another problem is overcrowded classrooms.

I read recently a comparison between the Russian high school student and ours. The Russians are so far ahead of us it isn't funny. Education in Russia is a serious business. If we fail to develop the brainpower of our youth, we will find ourselves a fourth-rate nation without a single shot having been fired.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you please make it clear whether or not people who write to you have to sign their real names? My friends and I have gotten into quite an argument over this.

What confuses me is when someone writes in and says,

Promises Lure the Desperate

Desperation often is a major symptom accompanying an incurable disease. Even the wealthy and famous are not immune from searching for even a slight possibility of hope. In this search, victims of diseases ranging from cancer to multiple sclerosis can be tricked by medical hucksters who prey on desperation. The Texas Medical Association (TMA) says some hucksters are people who sincerely believe they have a cure; less fortunate victims find con artists who are only out to make money any way they can.

Telling a con from a cure can be tricky. But one test is to look at the healer's credentials.

One cancer treatment is being promoted by followers of a dentist who has had his

Texas dental license suspended, was convicted of practicing medicine without a license and who is legally prevented from distributing his book on cancer. The dentist lost his license because of what the Texas State Board of Dental Examiners called "use of an advertising statement of a character tending to mislead or deceive the public" and "obtaining a fee by fraud or misrepresentation."

Another alleged treatment that has received publicity recently is a snakebite serum used to treat multiple sclerosis. The federal Food and Drug Administration says the drug is an unproven remedy and might have harmful side effects. Yet some victims of multiple sclerosis risk their money and lives with this special formula, TMA says.

The use of special or secret formulas that have not been scientifically tested and accepted can be one trait of a suspicious operation. Legitimate medical researchers are anxious to have their possible cures thoroughly, scientifically tested and they follow standard cures thoroughly, scientifically tested and they follow standard scientific procedure to get their results. Quacks often avoid these channels and rely only on testimonials and undocumented case histories. Claims of cure for the snake serum so far have not been backed up by scientific tests.

Another signal to be suspicious of a cure is when promoters claim that the medical establishment is persecuting them or that physicians are afraid of the competition. Quacks often use their accusations to try to explain why they are receiving deserved criticism or why they do not participate in scientific experiments. Actually doctors welcome new cures and are anxious to have legitimate remedies become widespread, TMA says.

Lots of claims sound wonderful in advertisements or in conversation. But always consider the source and double check information, TMA says. A bad decision could take your money and harm your health.

Ode Written to 'Dallas'

By PETER J. BOYER
AP Television Writer
"To 'Dallas' (With Malice)"

"To 'Dallas' (with malice) I offer these thoughts, No longer concerned with who fired the shots, I'm worried instead that this excess of hype Will render sweet 'Dallas' a bundle of tripe.

"O, how I once watched those doings so vile And marveled that trash could be done in such style. Clan Ewing, that lusty and various crew Kept me in Friday nights, and away from the brew. With pizza before me and wife at my side, I missed not one 'Dallas,' indeed, never tried.

"Miss Ellie, so sweet, loves Jock, a bit rude, Whose hate of D. Barnes he passed on to his brood. The youngest of these, a plump dumpling niece Named Lucy could tensions most nimbly release. In fact she first did so with Southfork hand Ray,

Who himself had once rolled with Miss Pam in the hay. Miss Pam, by her blood, was a staunch Ewing foe The daughter of old Digger Barnes — but wait, no; It turned out that Bobby's sweet wife little Pammy Was daddy'd by some man who'd got to her mammy. And Bobby, her husband, a wimpering geek Brought morals and ethics to 'Dallas' each week. Wonderfully blind to all this was Sue Ellen Whose booze habit led to much screamin' and yellin'. Hers was the misfortune of being the spouse Of Texas' most loathsome, despicable louse. She was well-oiled but her marriage was rusty Thus did she meet with a cowboy named Dusty.

"But mostly I watched for the commonest reason To witness the depths reached by J.R. each season. Last year was his best one in guile and deceit, I watched and I watched, first-run and repeat. I saw his raw deals, his affairs and his schemes 'Till 'Dallas' did wantonly enter my dreams. I twice saw his shooting and wondered along With all of the others, who done our boy wrong? And now after months of enduring this stress So shamelessly dealt to us by CBS, Perhaps we from 'Dallas' should unglue our stares, After six months of wond'ring whodunnit, who cares? Nah. Let's watch.

'Mr. Hereford' Chosen

Jeanne Robertson, guest speaker for the Hereford Board of Realtors banquet Thursday night, had the audience rolling in the aisles when she conducted a "Mr. Hereford Pageant" with six men she chose from the crowd. At left, she consoles Joe Reinauer as she gives him the title of "Mr. Congeniality." The 6-2 beauty poses a question to Neil Cooper in the photo at right. The man with the good-looking legs in the center is Mark Andrews. Cooper was her choice for the title from a field which also included Andrews, Reinauer, Charlie Hill, James Self, and Terry Sonnenberg.

Carter Administration Stamped Important to Conservationists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Everybody knows President Carter couldn't handle Congress, couldn't figure out how to get his programs through. That's one of the reasons often advanced for his landslide defeat.

Before he leaves, a bit of evidence to the contrary.

Carter will soon sign a bill protecting 104 million acres of Alaskan wilderness — an area larger than the State of California — as national parks and refuges. It will stamp his administration as one of the most important in history for conservationists.

Without Carter, the conservationists might have gotten no bill this year — and certainly none as far-reaching as the final compromise.

Legislation has been kicking around for more than a decade to declare federal protection for huge chunks of Alaska and for the spectacular wildlife in America's last great wilderness.

The bills never passed. So in late 1978 Carter called Congress' bluff. On his own authority, he declared 56 million acres to be national monuments, protecting the land and wildlife from virtually all development. Then he had his interior secretary, Cecil Andrus, declare another 40 million acres as wildlife refuges.

Alaska officials screamed. And sued. But the designations stuck. And only Congress could have stricken them down.

Carter said he still preferred congressional action on the same land since his own didn't allow him to set up the flexible development rules that Congress could approve. But he also said he would protect more of Alaska if Congress didn't budge.

Looking at his actions, Congress had to believe Carter's promise.

So development-minded senators who had been trying to block House efforts — or at least water them down beyond recognition — suddenly had an incentive to come up with basically similar legislation.

Senate failure to pass a bill now would leave many loggers, miners and other developers worse off than a compromise bill. In fact, private conservation groups began to talk up the advantages of ending up with the Alaska Sen. Ted Stevens, who led the fight to tone down development and hunting restrictions in the bill, agreed "the threat of more land withdrawals" was a potent weapon.

With Carter able to sign more land-protection orders before Ronald Reagan took his place in January, "the worst thing that could have happened to us would have been no bill," Stevens said.

Both Wood and Kerr were regarded as tough on narcotics traffickers. The judge was known as "Maximum John" because of the tough sentences he meted out to defendants convicted of drug-related crimes. And Kerr often prosecuted cases in Wood's court.

"It's always been my theory that different persons did the shooting in Wood and Kerr, but that probably the same people willed both of them done," said U.S. Attorney Jamie Boyd, who has alleged that big time narcotics traffickers were behind the killings.

Feds Still Investigate Murder

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Federal officials recently have been quietly pursuing the massive investigation into the assassination of a federal judge and attempted killing of a prosecutor.

Prosecutors conducted a lineup under rigid security precautions in Houston Thursday and one source told The Associated Press that the investigation — described as the most extensive federal inquiry since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy — could be nearing a solution.

The wide-ranging investigation began two years ago today when former assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr was ambushed on his way to the federal building in San Antonio.

It was intensified when a sniper shot U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. to death outside his fashionable San Antonio townhouse as he prepared to drive to the federal courthouse on May 29, 1979.

Kerr escaped assassination rather than a weak bill. In the end, both sides compromised. And Carter got pretty much what he wanted in the legislation which will replace his executive orders.

His influence — widely criticized in Alaska, little known elsewhere — is freely acknowledged by principal players on both sides on Capitol Hill.

Alaska Sen. Ted Stevens, who led the fight to tone down development and hunting restrictions in the bill, agreed "the threat of more land withdrawals" was a potent weapon. With Carter able to sign more land-protection orders before Ronald Reagan took his place in January, "the worst thing that could have happened to us would have been no bill," Stevens said.

In Overtime Contest, 27-24

Chargers Outlast Miami

MIAMI (AP) — San Diego kicker Rolf Benirschke, whose confidence hit rock bottom last weekend, said his concentration was so intense against the Miami Dolphins that he couldn't see potential disaster staring him in the face.

"Routine? No kick is routine after the week I had," Benirschke said Thursday night after booting a 28-yard field goal with 7:46 remaining in overtime to lift the Chargers to a 27-24 National Football League victory.

Benirschke, who missed on three field goals tries and had another blocked in addition to missing an extra point in San Diego's 20-7 triumph over Kansas City last Sunday, said he was so determined to make good on the game-winning field goal attempt that he didn't see the snap from center bounce before it reached holder Mike Fuller.

"I was so tuned in and so confident that Mike would give me a good hold that I didn't know the ball bounced until we got in the locker-room," the fourth-year placekicker from California-Davis said.

Linebacker Woodrow Lowe's interception of a David Woodley pass set up the winning kick. Lowe picked the aerial off at the Miami 40-yard line and rambled down the right sideline to the Dolphins 12.

Three running plays netted two yards and Benirschke, who had kicked a 37-yard field goal in the second quarter, came on in the season's sixth overtime game.

Woodley said his primary receivers — wide receivers Nat Moore and Jimmy Cefalo — were covered and that he spotted running back Tony Nathan open near the sideline. "He was open. I just threw the ball behind him," he said.

"I lost sight of him (Lowe) when I went outside," said Nathan. "I saw Woodley throw the ball, and didn't see him (Lowe) until the last moment. I'm not sure if I was open."

"We were in no special defense. But Lowe sure made it look like we were rolling to that side just like we had drawn it up. It was a helluva play," said Chargers Coach Don Coryell.

The victory moved the Chargers, 8-4, to within a half game of American Conference West leader Oakland, who will carry an 8-3 record to Philadelphia Sunday. The Dolphins dropped to 6-6 and fell out of a third place tie with Baltimore in the AFC East.

Delvin Williams' desperation dive for a touchdown on a fourth-and-one play from the Chargers 1-yard-line with 1:21 remaining in regulation forced the overtime period as the Dolphins rallied from a 24-17 deficit.

The Dolphins, who bounced back from costly mistakes all night long, had been stopped on downs at the San Diego

1-yard-line on their previous possession.

"For everybody to work so hard and then lose it on one play is tough on a team," Woodley said. "We kept fighting back, forced it into overtime. Then it seemed like we really had a chance and in a matter of three or four seconds it's over."

Miami Coach Don Shula called the defeat, "one of the toughest losses we've had around here for a long, long time. You have to feel bad for the players who battled out there tonight."

San Diego quarterback Dan Fouts completed 25 of 41 passes for 230 yards to hike his season total to 3,530. He had scoring tosses of 4 yards to running back Clarence Williams and 7 and 6 yards, respectively, to wide receivers Charlie Joiner and John Jefferson.

But the Dolphins' young secondary, consisting of one second-year starter and three first-year starters, refused to give up big gainers to Fouts, who increased his touchdown pass production to 26.

"Obviously Miami had a game plan to take away our deep stuff. It became a battle of discipline then," said Fouts. "We had to take short stuff, be satisfied with it and let Miami get frustrated giving up 9- and 10-yarders."

Woodley, starting for the sixth straight game since veteran Bob Griese went down with a shoulder injury, hit 22 of 34 passes for 251 yards. He tossed a touchdown pass of 7 yards to Nathan to complete a drive keyed by a 61-yard pass play from Woodley to Nathan.

Terry Robiskie's 6-yard scoring run gave Miami an early 7-0 lead, but the Chargers stormed back with a, 11-play, 73-yard drive capped by Fouts' scoring pass to Clarence Williams. Benirschke's 37-yard field goal made it 10-7.

The teams exchanged touchdowns — Woodley's pass to Nathan and Fouts' flip to Joiner — before Miami's Uwe von Schamann kicked a 48-yard field goal three seconds before halftime to tie the game 17-17.

San Diego running back Chuck Muncie, who had been listed as questionable with a knee sprain, came off the bench in the second half and went on to gain 77 yards in 10 carries. His 53-yard run in the second period led to Fouts' scoring pass to Joiner.

It was the second overtime victory of the year for the Chargers, who beat Oakland 30-24 in the second game of the season. They have won three of five overtime games overall, while Miami has lost all three overtime games it has played in regular-season play.

The game was played before a crowd of 63,013 — most this season for a Dolphins home game — in the Orange Bowl.

Junior HHS cager Alan Wartes (22) concentrates on the bucket in a layup approach as Sandie defender Derek Cockerhan attempts to rush in and thwart in effort on the play. Wartes, one of the top achievers on the HHS junior varsity a year ago, only managed to dump in a total of two points against the Amarillo team as the Sandie squad cruised to a 64-39 decision over the Herd Tuesday night in HHS's season debut. The Whitefaces will try to even that 0-1 mark on the year here tonight as they play host to the Palo Duro Dons at 7:45 p.m. in the La Plata Gymnasium. (Brand photo by Mauri Montgomery)

Top-Ranked Kentucky Favored

ATLANTA (AP) — Coach Denny Crum of defending national champion Louisville knows the odds are stacked against his team repeating, but he's not ready to throw in the towel yet.

The Cardinals lost only one starter from last year, but he generally was considered the heart of the team — College Player of the Year Darrell Griffith.

Louisville will rank among the South's top outfits again this season, but could have trouble repeating as the champion of the Metro Conference, and likely will be rated below another team from the Bluegrass State — the Kentucky Wildcats, a solid choice to win the Southeastern Conference title and ranked No. 1 nationally in The Associated Press preseason poll.

The traditional hotbed of basketball in Dixie, the Atlantic Coast Conference, also figures to provide a few nationally ranked teams again this year with Maryland carrying the favorite's tag, followed closely by the Ralph Sampson-led Virginia Cavaliers and North Carolina.

"In the last four years, there hasn't been a single repeater in the final four," said Crum. "It's not a realistic goal, but because we did it with a young team, we have as good a chance as anybody. It all depends on how good you're playing at the end."

The returning starters from the 33-3 championship team are Derek Smith, Jerry Eaves, Wiley Brown and Rodney McCray. Crum also has back Rodney's brother, Scooter McCray, who missed most of last year with injuries.

Louisville is ranked third in the preseason poll and Maryland is No. 4, Virginia

No. 8 and North Carolina No. 13.

If Louisville fails to repeat in the Metro, Florida State appears in line to rise to the top. The Seminoles are led by Mickey Dillard, who averaged 20 points a game last year. Virginia Tech also could be in the title hunt, relying on two-time All-Metro star Dale Solomon, who averaged 16 points and 7 rebounds per game.

Coach Joe B. Hall will be seeking his second national crown since replacing the legendary Adolph Rupp at Kentucky, and many forecasters are labeling his team the one to beat.

The Wildcats lost All-American guard Kyle Macy, but return such stars as Sam Bowie, Dirk Minniefield and Freddie Cowan to go with such outstanding recruits as center Melvin Turpin and guards Jim Master and Dicky Beal.

Kentucky's biggest challenge in the SEC will be from the same challenger of recent years — Dale Brown's Louisiana State Tigers, No. 12 in the preseason poll. The Bengals lost Dewayne Scales to the NBA draft, and some say this will help the team because of his moody outbursts.

Raiders, Eagles Collide

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

The Oakland Raiders and Philadelphia Eagles have the two longest winning streaks in the National Football League, two quarterbacks having the best years of their careers and a date to collide head on at Veterans Stadium Sunday.

It's much too early to call the game a Super Bowl preview, but the Raiders and Eagles have as much right as any two teams to hope for a trip to New Orleans next Jan. 25.

Philadelphia Coach Dick Vermeil says Oakland is "as good a team coming in here as the Dallas Cowboys" and added that the Raiders are "the biggest team we'll play this year."

The Eagles, 10-1, have won seven games in a row to take a two-game lead over Dallas in the National Conference East.

Quarterback Ron Jaworski is ranked No. 1 in the NFL, completing nearly 60 percent of his attempts for 23 touchdowns and only nine interceptions. Meanwhile, the Eagles' defense is tops in the NFC.

"I think we're a darn good football team," Vermeil said.

both 6-5, are tied for the lead in the NFC Central, and Atlanta, 8-3, leads Los Angeles by one game in the NFC West. Buffalo, 8-3, has a one-game edge over New England in the AFC East and Houston, 8-3, is one game ahead of both Pittsburgh and Cleveland in the AFC Central.

NFL rushing leader Earl Campbell of Houston has 1,300 yards in 11 games (although he has missed seven quarters of play with injuries) and must average 141 yards in his last five games to surpass O.J. Simpson's single-season record of 2,003.

Rockets Skimp By Cavaliers

RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Houston's Calvin Murphy hit a miracle 20-foot shot to cap a Houston Rockets' National Basketball Association comeback victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers.

With Houston leading 113-111 with 20 seconds left Thursday night, Murphy aimed high and pushed the ball toward the basket. It cleared the net at the buzzer of the 24-second clock and gave Houston a four point lead, enough to hold off the Cavs.

Cleveland led the game several times in the first half by as many as 18 points, but Murphy pumped in 14 third quarter points to close the gap and leave the squads deadlocked at 85 apiece after three periods.

Houston opened leads of six points several times in the last quarter, but Murphy's miracle shot iced Houston's win.

Five weeks remain in the 1980 season, but competition for the six division titles remains keen.

Leonard Says:

"Duran Is a Clown"

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Roberto Duran trademark. But it was Sugar Ray Leonard. Leonard showed up at his workout wearing a beard and the cap, and after the training session, he donned the disguise again, grabbed a microphone and shouted: "Me no like Duran. I keel him. Be there."

At a news conference, Leonard, still wearing the beard and cap, was told that Duran had said he considers the flashy-boxing Leonard a clown.

"Do I look like I'm clowning," said Leonard, laughing. "We're just having fun," said trainer Angelo Dundee.

It was also pointed out that Duran called Leonard an imitator and said that "an imitator is a loser."

"First, he said I was imitating Muhammad Ali, and he didn't like me for that," Leonard said. "I figure if I imitate him, he'll like me."

The beard gimmick grew from Dundee's complaint about Duran fighting with a beard again as he did in Montreal when he won the World Boxing Council welterweight title. The trainer said WBC rules state a fighter must be clean-shaven, and he wants Duran to be that way for the rematch Tuesday night in the Superdome.

Duran has said he won't shave, and it is felt he won't have to. Duke Durden, a member of the Nevada State Athletic Commission, is the WBC supervisor for the fight and will decide about the beard.

It is becoming increasingly obvious that Duran's and Leonard's dislike for one another goes far beyond fight hype.

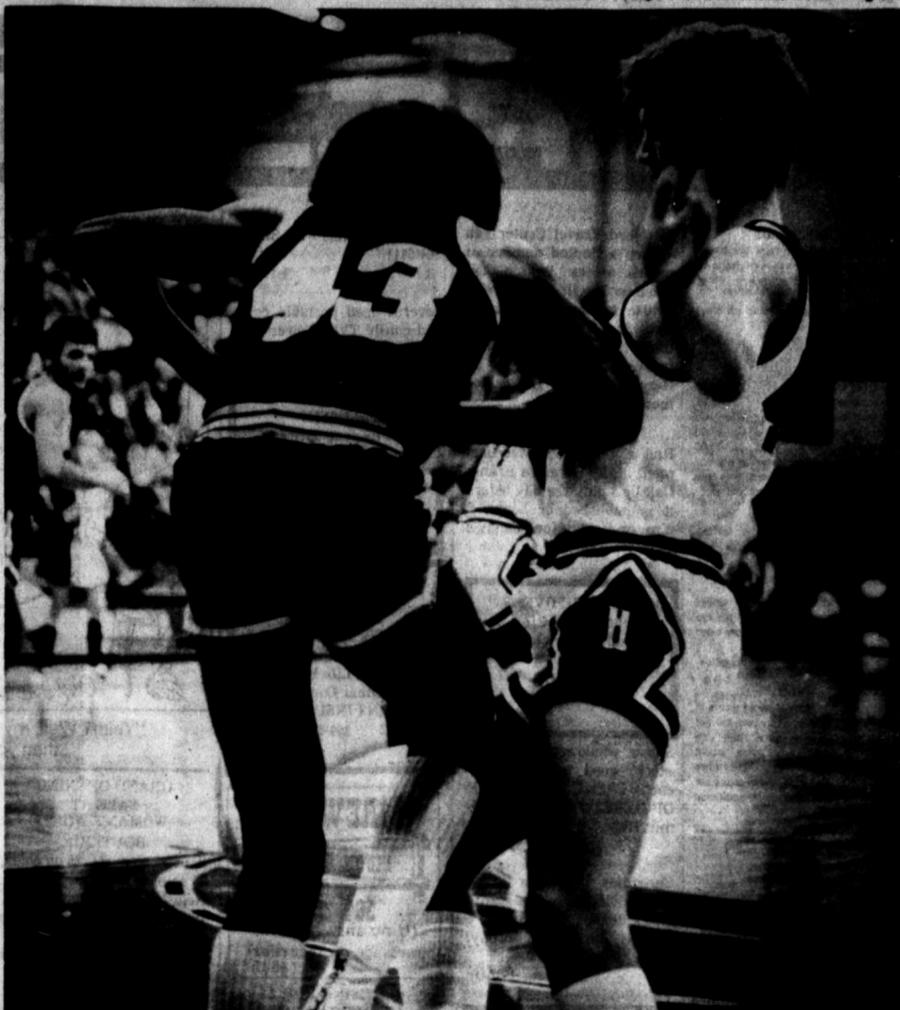

"I never understood why he dislikes me," Leonard said. "But after thinking about it, I believe it is because of the way I came up."

Leonard, who won a gold medal in the 1976 Olympics, became an immediate glamor boy when he turned pro, getting lots of television exposure and big purses. In four years as a pro, Leonard has earned about $20 million.

Duran, the lightweight champion for most of the 1970s, didn't get a gold-mine purse until he fought Leonard and earned $1.5 million. He could get $5 million-$7 million for the rematch.

"Everything I've got I've fought for," Duran said. "I've earned it, and I deserve it."

Leonard was asked what was nicest thing he could say about Duran. He pondered the question for a few moments, then said, "The only nice thing about Duran is he's the champion."

Hereford's Don DeLozier takes an elbow and knee thrust from Amarillo's Bernard Whitaker (43) in an effort to stop his drive down the court with the added benefit of a charging foul. The move went for nought in this instance however, as the Sandie completed his journey down the court. DeLozier and the Whitefaces maintained a close-quarters battle with the Amarillo crew until the Sandies split the conflict open with a second quarter rally. Hereford could only muster five points to Amarillo's spree of 17 in the second period onslaught, and as a result could never make up the deficit. (Brand photo by Mauri Montgomery)

Big Eight, Big Ten -- Big Fights

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer

The Oklahoma-Nebraska game and the winner of the Big Eight go together like coffee and doughnuts, peaches and cream and...the Ohio State-Michigan game and the winner of the Big Ten.

The two games once again decide the champions of their respective conferences Saturday, but for the first time in years, they won't be nationally televised. ABC will telecast both games regionally, so TV audiences will have to settle for watching one game or the other, followed by the traditional game between Southern California, ranked 12th, and UCLA, rated No. 18.

It will be the 34th time in 36 games since World War II that the winner of the Oklahoma-Nebraska game has won or shared the Big Eight championship. Both teams are undefeated in conference play in 1980.

The fourth-ranked Cornhuskers, 9-1 overall, will get an Orange Bowl berth with a victory, with Oklahoma, 8-2, going to the Sun Bowl to play Mississippi State. If the ninth-ranked Sooners win, they still will have to beat Oklahoma State next week to clinch the New Year's Day trip to Miami.

Nebraska and Oklahoma are ranked 1-2 in the nation in rushing, and most of the 112th straight sellout crowd at Lincoln, Neb., will be hoping the Cornhuskers can break a streak that has seen them lose eight of the past nine meetings.

A 77th straight sellout is expected at Ohio Stadium for the Ohio State-Michigan clash, the winner of which will be the Big Ten champion for the 12th time in the past 13 years, 12 of them with Coach Bo Schembechler on the sidelines for Michigan.

Ohio State is 9-1 and ranked fifth in the nation, with Michigan 8-2 and No. 10. The winner again will go to the Rose Bowl.

In other games involving ranked teams, Air Force is at No. 2 Notre Dame, No. 20 Texas is at No. 11 Baylor, No. 13 Brigham Young travels to Utah to determine the Western Athletic Conference champion and Holiday Bowl host, No. 14 South Carolina is at Clemson, No. 15 North Carolina plays host to Duke, No. 16 Washington meets cross-state rival Washington State and Mississippi takes on No. 17 Mississippi State.

"Oklahoma has a lot to stop with our offense and they know it," said Nebraska quarterback Jeff Quinn, who teams with tailback Jarvis Redwine and Andra Franklin in the Cornhuskers backfield. "We can stop ourselves or beat ourselves, but if we play our kind of game, things are in our favor."

"We have our confidence up," said linebacker Mike Coast of Oklahoma, which hasn't lost since the Texas game six weeks ago. "The coaches won't need to try to get us up for this game."

Michigan has posted three straight shutouts, including last week over Purdue, but Schembechler said "this is a different game against a different team. There are explosive players on both sides."

Those players include quarterback Art Schlichter, receiver Doug Donley and running back Calvin Murray for the Buckeyes and receiver Anthony Carter for Michigan. The Wolverines also have a trio of runners — Lawrence Ricks, Stanley Edwards and Butch Woolfolk — among the Big Ten leaders.

BASEBALL

HOUSTON (AP) — Attorney Joe Jamail, acting for angry limited partners in the Houston Astros ownership, filed a suit in federal court seeking to oust John McMullen as general partner of the team.

The suit charged McMullen with mismanaging assets of the team and requested that a receiver be appointed to take immediate charge of the club's affairs.

The suit asked that McMullen be prohibited from selling or transferring any of the stock in the Astros until the court appoints a receiver to handle the rearrangement of the organization.

McMullen, who purchased the Astros last year, created a furor when fired popular Astros President and General Manager Tal Smith and replaced him with Al Rosen on Oct. 27; and by purchasing a $2.5 million five-seat airplane for the Astros without consulting his partners.

GYMNASTICS

PEKING (AP) — Julianne McNamara of the United States, already co-champion of the women's all-around event, won the floor exercise event in a U.S.-China gymnastics match.

American Tracee Talavera tied for first on the women's uneven bars, and Phil Cahoy of the U.S. tied for first in both the men's rings and parallel bars.

GENERAL

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Famed long distance runner Glenn Cunningham was charged in two counties with cruelty to animals.

In Conway County, Cunningham was charged with two misdemeanors in connection with a polar bear and other exotic animals that he owns. In Faulkner County, he was charged with improper treatment of horses.

Cunningham, 70, once held seven world records and won the silver medal in the 15,000 meters in the 1936 Olympics.

Martin Happy With New Contract

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — "I have nothing against general managers," Billy Martin said.

But he obviously feels more comfortable now that he's handling the job himself under a new five-year contract with the Oakland A's, as announced Thursday by Roy Eisenhardt, president of the American League team.

"When I was at Texas, you might recall, I tried to get them to send (pitcher) David Clyde out to the minors, and they fired me a month later," Martin said at the news conference at which the makeup of the A's front office was revealed.

There will be no general manager working over or with Martin, who was named AL Manager of the Year by The Associated Press Thursday. Eisenhardt will handle player signings and Martin, now director of player development as well as manager, will make all other decisions involving players in the organization.

"Billy will be responsible for the destiny of the team on the field," Eisenhardt said.

"This is something I've wanted to do for a long time. I think it's needed," Martin said in discussing his dual role.

Both Eisenhardt and Martin said the A's plan to put much more emphasis on development of players in the minor leagues.

"Our farm system, in the very near future, will be one of the best, if not the best, in baseball," Martin said.

The Walter A. Haas Jr. family of San Francisco bought the A's from Charles O. Finley, who always had the smallest front office staff in the majors. The sale became final Nov. 6, and the front office already is much more populated.

Andrew Dolich, who was general manager of the Washington Diplomats of the North American Soccer League, was named A's vice president of business operations Thursday.

DOES THIS CONFUSE ANYONE?

It's very simple. It's explaining how the crop residues - or raw manure applied to your field for that matter - largely escapes to the air - EVAPORATES! Now in compost the humus is concentrated. The humus gives your soil structure - meaning less tillage needed and better water efficiency. And did you know the value of the H&P in our compost gives you free humus. Get the facts.

Thanksgiving Day is an event celebrated by more than one nation, and aside from being a traditional family feast day, it is intended for those of us who are more inclined to dwell on our misfortunes than on our advantages, because we are naturally more conscious of them. For example, sickness is more likely to command our attention than a state of good health. Regardless of our circumstances, we must remind ourselves of all the good things that have happened to us, and also, of all the misfortunes that we have been spared; and we should do this every day of our lives, rather than wait for a special occasion such as this. By attending the Church of your choice you will learn to recognize and be grateful for your many blessings, and thereby be better able to cope with your problems, whatever they may be.

"Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto him, and bless his name."
—Psalms 100:4

O Lord! that lends me life, Lend me a heart
replete with thankfulness!

—William Shakespeare
