U.S. Won't Pay Penny Until Hostages Freed

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration, vowing not to pay a penny before all 52 hostages are freed, is readying a formal reply to Iran's latest blueprint for releasing its American captives.

Assistant Secretary of State Harold H. Saunders, a key member of the U.S. negotiating team, said Monday night the message probably would be turned over to Algerian go-betweens at a windup session of talks here today.

Saunders refused to elaborate on the U.S. response, although he indicated that no breakthrough is imminent in the eight-week-old, indirect negotiations with Iran.

Officials insisted Monday the United States will not accede to Iran's latest demand for $24 billion in guarantees.

"The word of the president of the United States is the highest authority that this country can offer," State Department spokesman John H. Trotter said. "We don't see the need to offer additional guarantees beyond that."

But another official, who asked not to be identified, said the Tehran regime could get several billion dollars in assets immediately if the hostages are released.

The official said unfrozen Iranian assets could be put into an escrow account under a neutral country's control. Iran would receive the money simultaneously with the freeing of the hostages, now in their 423rd day of captivity.

"However," he said, "they are not going to get a penny until the Americans are out — all 52 of them."

Iran is insisting the money be deposited in the Algerian Central Bank as a guarantee that Iranian assets held in western banks before the U.S. Embassy takeover on Nov. 4, 1979, will be returned.

President Carter has called those terms unreasonable and said they are beyond his authority to implement.

Vice President Walter F. Mondale said Monday he thought the Iranians might be marking time in hopes of discovering where President-elect Ronald Reagan stands on the issue. Speaking with reporters in Vail, Colo., where he was skiing, Mondale said he does not foresee any quick change in the situation.

Reagan himself said Monday he had no regrets about his characterization of the Iranian captors a day earlier as "barbarians." The remark was denounced by the speaker of Iran's Parliament, Hashemi Rafsanjani.

"What have they got to be angry about?" Reagan asked reporters in Los Angeles. "They're the ones who did the kidnapping."

The purpose of the Washington talks with the Algerians is to try to keep the negotiations alive, even though there is little hope of progress during the closing weeks of the Carter administration.

"We will not abandon the process that we have been engaging in to secure the hostages' release," Trotter said. "We will keep the negotiating channel open."

Gasoline May Rise 8¢ Gallon Due to Price Hike by OPEC

By WILLIAM GLASGALL
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans will be paying an estimated 8 cents more for every gallon of gasoline or heating oil due to another round of price increases from members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Libya, Indonesia and Venezuela, which together supply 8 percent of U.S. oil needs, on Monday announced price increases of as much as $4 a barrel.

The current round of increases was touched off Dec. 15 when Saudi Arabia raised its oil price from $30 to $32 a barrel. OPEC, which provides 26 percent of the oil used in the United States, decided a day later to let its 13 members raise prices an average of about 10 percent.

Analysts predict that the Jan. 1 increases by cartel members and others could boost U.S. gasoline and heating oil prices as much as 8 cents a gallon.

Industry sources, who asked not to be identified, said Libya increased its price for a 42-gallon barrel of oil from $37 to the new OPEC ceiling price of $41. The move was expected to be matched by Algeria and Nigeria, which now charge $37 a barrel but which usually match Libya's prices, sources said.

Libya, Algeria and Nigeria supply 12 percent of America's oil and produce high-quality crudes that are prized for their high yields of gasoline.

Indonesia told buyers it would raise official oil prices, but would reduce the surcharges it levies on 15 to 20 percent of its output. "The net of all these factors was about a $3-a-barrel increase" to about $36, said a source.

The sources said Indonesia raised prices by between $3.50 and $3.80 a barrel, depending on grade. Its new surcharges were set at 75 cents to $1.50 a barrel — down from $2.25 to $4.10.

The base price of Indonesia's most popular grade — Minas crude — rose to $35 a barrel from $31.50. The price of Minas shipments carrying the surcharge rose from $34.20 to $36.20 a barrel, the source said.

Venezuelan Energy Minister Humberto Calderon Berti said Monday in Caracas his country's oil prices would rise as much as $3.50 a barrel, depending on the grade.

The price of Oficina crude, a grade of oil used as a reference point for other Venezuelan varieties, would rise from $34.85 to $38.06 a barrel, he said.

The Libyans said their new prices would be valid until June 30, about a month after an OPEC price meeting, sources said.

But the Libyan increase was "somewhat more than we anticipated," and probably was triggered by the recent cessation of nearly 1 million barrels a day of Iraqi oil shipments through pipelines to Mediterranean Sea ports, one source said.

The war between Iraq and Iran has cut off daily exports of nearly 4 million barrels of oil — about 7 percent of Western oil needs — from the two countries.

Bush, LULAC Leaders Confer

HOUSTON (AP) — Vice President-elect George Bush extended "the arm of friendship and trust" to the League of Latin American Citizens but apparently stopped short of giving Hispanic leaders the support they sought.

Five LULAC representatives huddled Monday with Bush to outline problems facing the Hispanic community and seek the vice president-elect's help to renew voting rights legislation.

However, the group was reluctant to directly acknowledge whether they gained the support they sought for renewal of the 1965 Voting Rights Act, which expires in 1982.

"This is the critical issue of the 1980s. We are certain he will assist in its extension but it is clear he will have to review it and get information from his staff," Ruben Bonilla, a Corpus Christi attorney and national LULAC president, said at an impromptu news conference after the 45-minute briefing.

Bush, then as a congressman from Texas, supported enactment of the bill, Bonilla noted.

Bonilla's brother, Tony, "a long-time friend of Bush's" and national executive director of LULAC, arranged Monday's visit with the vice president-elect.

It was the second time in a week Bush has met with minority leaders. On Dec. 22, he spoke to a largely black audience at Texas Southern University, promising sensitive dialogue between the Reagan administration and minorities.

Bush said he hoped to be "a catalyst for being sure that our administration keeps the commitment that President-elect Reagan feels in the area of fair play and in areas of enhancing the economic conditions for those who have been most severely hurt by unemployment or inflation or whatever."

Bonilla told Bush he recognized "sacrifices would be required of all citizens and we are prepared to make some sacrifices." However, he added, the sole burden should not be placed on the Hispanic community.

Bush said he re-emphasized the Reagan administration's desire to work with LULAC, the nation's largest and oldest Hispanic organization. However, he added, the goals that got them elected would not be compromised.

"That doesn't mean that Ruben isn't going to sit down with me or other members of the Reagan administration and not be fighting for programs that we may say, 'Well, look, we just can't continue to fund them at this level,'" Bush said.

"Sacrifice is called for. But I have respected LULAC because of their burning commitment to make life better for people that have been in a sense bypassed. That common ground is going to make us able to talk things out," he said.

Sun Setting on 1980

In the magic of dusk, the sun slowly sets on hustlin' Hereford to bring to close another day in the Panhandle...and, with 1981 fast approaching, the familiar sunset will soon bring to close another year. Due to the holiday, the Brand will publish a New Year's Eve edition, Dec. 31 and take a day off before returning to publish again Jan. 2, 1981. (Brand photo by Mauri Montgomery)

Impact Statement on Missile Site Stresses Land Costs Here

By ALLISON RYAN
Staff Writer

A summary of the Air Force Environmental Impact Statement concerning the proposed MX missile project is available for public viewing at Deaf Smith County Library.

The publication, which is a summary of the 1,900 page draft released by the Air Force Dec. 18, is at the main desk of the library. Although it can not be taken from the library, the public is encouraged to go by and view the study.

The summary includes maps of full deployment in the Nevada, Utah area, Texas, New Mexico area, and a split basis.

There is also summary comparisons of short-term and long-term impact significance between proposed action and alternatives.

In an overview of the deployment it is stated, "Nevada-Utah is predominantly public land which can be obtained through withdrawal and acquisition of right-of-way and use-permits. In Texas-New Mexico required land is privately owned. All land acquisition would require an act of Congress and Presidential approval."

In addition to maps of the area considered for full deployment, the study includes brief reports about impacts on ground water availability, surface water, air quality, vegetation, wildlife, employment labor force earnings, population, housing, public finance, education, health services, public safety, urban land use and energy.

Included in the report concerning quality of life, the Air Force states, "The main difference between the Texas, New Mexico and Nevada, Utah Designated Deployment Areas are population density throughout the area (much higher in Texas, New Mexico than in Nevada, Utah, though still sparse by Eastern standards) and the land ownership (nearly all private in Texas and New Mexico.) These two differences highlight the key quality of life variables that would be impacted, in Texas, New Mexico: private land purchased and possible relocation of people."

"Full basing in Texas, New Mexico would impact 146,700 acres of private land in 21 counties for construction with 91,500 permanently required."

Figuring prominently in the full statement released by the Air Force is the fact that about 6,900 irrigated acres of cropland would be disturbed by construction of the MX system in this region with 6,300 acres eliminated when the system is operational.

Concerning ranches and homes in the Texas, New Mexico area, the summary states, "Approximately 1,400 homes and ranches fall in the safety zones...the major portion of Texas relocation being in Deaf Smith County (146) and Parmer County (225). About 60 percent of the New Mexico relocation being in Roosevelt County (297). Of the 22 affected counties in Texas, New Mexico region, the potential for relocation exceeds 50 homes and ranches in all counties."

The summary also includes reports of impact on grazing, recreation, cultural resources, archaeological and historical resource, paleontological resources and construction resources.

The Air Force is expected to send the full EIS, which is a five-volume report, to area libraries, city halls and county courthouses.

The library is open from 9 a.m. - 9 p.m. Monday and Thursdays from 9 a.m. - 6 p.m. weekdays and until noon Saturdays. However, the library will be closed Jan. 1-3 for the new year holidays.

o The Brand will miss publication only one day this week, as employees take off Thursday for New Year's Day. A number of business firms in Hereford will observe the holiday that signals the beginning of a New Year.

o An out-of-town newsman finally took a look at Hereford and came up with a decent story—one that captures some of the important factors that make hustlin' Hereford a unique community in the Panhandle of Texas.

o The article is found in the January issue of "Texas Business" magazine and the author is William G. Smith. The article leads off with an overview of what is happening in Amarillo and how city leaders are trying to change the city's image. Then it adds a couple of pages on Hereford and Deaf Smith County.

o "Just when one thinks he has the High Plains all figured out and neatly stereotyped as one vast billiard table—its people one nicely homogeneous mass of like-thinking, conservative-politickin' Texans—up pops Hereford, Texas (pop. 15,000) to dash all designs of Panhandle pigeonholing," writes Smith.

o "Deaf Smith is the agricultural heart of the Texas High Plains, leading the Panhandle in production of cattle, wheat, grain sorghum and many vegetables whose combined value exceeds $200 million annually. Farmers there wear many hats, often becoming vegetable growers, wheat farmers and cattle ranches on the same plot of ground."

o The article quotes James Sears, president of First National Bank, as saying that "the average farmer around here is far-

DPS Prepares For New Year's Traffic

By The Associated Press
With only three days of rest, Texas highway patrolmen must return to intensive patrols of state roads Wednesday as Texans hit the highways again for the New Year's holiday.
The traffic death toll for the 102-hour Christmas holiday period was 51, as compiled by the Department of Public Safety and The Associated Press. The deaths — seven fewer than the DPS had predicted — came in 41 separate accidents between 6 p.m. Wednesday and midnight Sunday.
But another holiday driving period begins New Year's Eve.
"We will have every available trooper out on the job, trying to help local law enforcement agents take the drunks and reckless drivers off the city streets and highways," DPS spokesman Richard Grimmett in Austin said Monday.
"Last year," he added, "we set an all-time record for traffic fatalities in Texas when 4,229 people died. During the first 11 months of this year, we have been running 3 to 4 percent ahead of the same period last year."
Fourteen of the fatal Christmas accidents involved only one vehicle, Grimmett said.
"There is no state law requiring a blood test so we don't know how many of those accidents were alcohol-related," Grimmett said. "But we believe that drinking and speeding were the two major causes of the fatal accidents over the Christmas holidays."
In addition, seven pedestrians were struck and killed, and one bicyclist died. A woman was killed when a freight train hit her car at a crossing, and a state trooper died during a high-speed chase.

Civil Rights Case Dismissed

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — The civil rights case of John W. McCrory, convicted of the rape-murder of a 17-year-old woman, was dismissed Monday by U.S. District Judge Eldon Mahon.
McCrory, of Argyle, was convicted here in February 1979 of the rape and strangulation of Jeanna Melissa Walker of Roanoke.
McCrory's attorneys filed a writ of habeas corpus in federal court claiming their client's civil rights were violated. The attorneys said they waited 20 months for a typed record of the trial to be made and proofed before they could file an appeal with the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.
Mahon said he dismissed the case because McCrory had not exhausted his appeals at the state level.
Attorney M.P. Duncan said he would continue appealing the case at the state level, but that he wasn't sure what action he would take at the federal level.
McCrory's lawyers had argued that court reporter Holly Hanks Mobley unjustly delayed McCrory's ability to appeal the murder conviction because she had taken so long to make a typed record of the trial.
Mrs. Mobley testified the trial record filled 6,000 pages in 28 volumes.
McCrory's lawyers also argued she hadn't properly proofed the record and could not swear to its validity.

Mayor Miffed
At Uncle Sam

ROSCOE, Texas (AP) — Mayor B.P. "Beep" Cain says when his West Texas hamlet was ravaged by floods, Uncle Sam became a penny-pinching Scrooge.
"There is no Santa Claus here or in Washington, D.C., when it comes to cold, hard cash for people in trouble," Cain said.
Twenty inches of rain knocked out the city sewer system, which backed up and flooded the area even more.
Cain says he has yet to see "a red cent" of aid promised by the Federal Emergency Management Agency in Washington.

The agency has "supposedly approved" $300,000 in federal aid and another $120,000 of state money to help Roscoe rebuild, he said.
City Hall has been forced to borrow $50,000 for "partial, token payments to the small business people who responded in our time of need, because they are no position to carry us on their books," Cain said.
"The people who saved our town during our great emergency have been left holding the bag thus far by bureaucrats who appear to have no understanding nor sympathy for suffering citizens," he added.

Who is the Real Ronald Reagan?

WALNUT CREEK, Calif. (AP) — "May I have your name?" asks the man taking a pizza order.
"Ronald Reagan," comes the reply.
"Oh, yeah? I'm Jack Benny."
But it really was Ronald Reagan, though not the president-elect, ordering pizza in Walnut Creek.
This Reagan is a 40-year-old inventor and accountant for the Central Contra Costa County Sanitary District.
Having the same name as the GOP politician has produced some "comical" situations, he says.
In the late 1960s, Reagan lived in Sacramento when the governor was a man named Reagan. And Reagan, CPA, kept getting the governor's mail.
"It was addressed three ways — either Gov. Ronald Reagan, the Honorable Ronald Reagan or Ronald Reagan. If it came to me the last two ways, I opened it," he said.
Once, very early in the morning, he got a long-distance telephone call from Sweden asking where campaign contributions could be sent.

Military Adviser Shot

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The United News of India says an American "military adviser" was shot to death in Afghanistan while accompanying Moslem rebels about 200 miles southwest of the Afghan capital of Kabul.
The agency quoted official sources in Kabul as saying a camera and some documents were found on the body of the dead American, who was wearing the traditional pajama-like Afghan dress.
It said he was killed near Qalat, capital of Zabul Province. No further details were available. It was the first report of an American killed in Afghanistan since Soviet forces intervened a year ago to fight Moslem rebels battling the communist regime.
The United States has never said it has military advisers in Afghanistan. In Washington today, State Department spokesman Joe Reap said the department had heard the report but had no comment.
Last June, the Soviet Union accused the United States of supplying the Afghan rebels with arms. The United States denied it was aiding the rebels.
Rioters rampaged through the streets of Kabul Monday, and Western diplomatic sources said the protesters were Afghan policeman angered over the non-voluntary extension of their two-year period of service.
The informants said about 40 uniformed policemen beat up their officer and then attacked passing vehicles and shattered windows of the Ministry of Information and Culture and stores, including the Soviet bookshop. Several private cars and two jeeps, possibly belonging to the Soviet occupation forces, were damaged.

All the demonstrators were arrested by Afghan riot police after Soviet and Afghan security forces sealed off the area, ending the incident which began about 10:30 a.m. and lasted about two hours, they said. Military helicopter gunships passed low over the area and most stores in the business center remained closed for the day.
The Soviet news agency Tass attributed the riots to "a certain number of mercenary criminals and subversive elements, dressed in Afghan military uniforms."
No injuries were reported in the riots. Tass said militia and security forces took "active and timely measures" to break up the riots and detain those responsible. It gave no figures for arrests.
Western intelligence sources have reported massive defections from the Afghan army, which has been fighting anti-communist Moslem rebels with the help of an estimated 85,000 Soviet troops.
Afghan exiles around the world have been staging protests since Saturday, the first anniversary of the Soviet-backed coup that formalized Moscow's military intervention in the Central Asian country.
A Western diplomatic source in Islamabad, Pakistan said the only public ceremony in Kabul marking the anniversary was a speech by President Babrak Karmal. He said a call by Moslem insurgents for a general strike in the capital Saturday was largely ignored.

Spleen May Be Key To Cancer Treatment

DALLAS (AP) — A unique link between the eye and the spleen has given researchers new perspective into the body's defense against cancer and could alter methods of combating the dread disease.
Dr. Jerry Niederkorn, a University of Texas Health Science Center immunologist, said two recent studies indicated removing a cancerous eye could foster the disease's spread throughout the body while removing the spleen could kill the disease entirely.
"It's too early to say, 'Let's change our treatments,' but it's an important step in research," said Niederkorn.
Eye cancer, which claims about 500 victims a year in the United States, generally begins with development of a small black tumor on the surface of the eyeball. When the tumor enlarges it can push the eye out of the socket.
"It's not a very attractive sight and can cause some serious problems if not detected early," said Niederkorn.
Niederkorn is working with scientists from Harvard and the University of Illinois in studying the development and treatment of eye cancer in laboratory animals.
"The eye is a great organ to study. You can watch exactly what's happening," he said. "And what's happening is very exciting."
Researchers injected laboratory animals with a virus that causes eye cancer, removed the stricken eye from half the animals and gave no treatment to the other half.
Niederkorn said 93 percent of the animals that had the surgery developed cancer elsewhere in their bodies, while only 33 percent of those that escaped the scalpel contracted cancer in other parts of the body.
He said in almost all cases here the spleen was removed from the animals, the disease did not spread.
Niederkorn thinks the reason for that is the unique link between the spleen and the eye.
"There is a direct pipeline from the spleen to the eye," he said.

FBI Vendetta Against Dallas
Police Department Alleged

DALLAS (AP) — Former FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, incensed over insinuations of an agency cover-up, directed a vendetta against the Dallas Police Department after President John F. Kennedy was assassinated here, a Dallas newspaper said today.
The Dallas Morning News quoted FBI documents obtained under the Freedom of Information Act as saying Hoover ordered his agents to stop teaching at the Dallas Police Academy and refused to invite Dallas officers to the FBI National Academy in Washington for more than two years after the assassination.
But only months after Police Chief Jesse Curry resigned in 1966, the newspaper said, FBI agents returned to the Dallas academy and a Dallas officer was invited to the FBI school.
Curry said his blood pressure increased as a result of "the continued pressures and tensions of the office" when he resigned. He died of heart problems last June 22.
In 1964 and 1965 Hoover instructed Dallas FBI agent-in-charge J. Gordon Shanklin to tell Curry his agents "just don't have the manpower to take on additional training commitments at this time," the News quoted FBI documents as saying.

The boycott was triggered by a statement attributed to FBI agent James P. Hosty Jr. by Dallas police Lt. Jack Revill the day of the assassination, FBI memos show.
Revill, now assistant chief, said at the time that Hosty told him the FBI knew before the assassination that Lee Harvey Oswald was "capable of committing the assassination of President Kennedy."
Hosty, however, denied making the statement.
The next day, Curry said on television the FBI wanted to cover up information that it was aware of Oswald's presence in Dallas and had not notified police. He retracted the statement after Shanklin challenged him to prove it.
Later in 1964, Curry wrote Shanklin a letter stating that no FBI source "ever asked me to 'cover up' the fact that the FBI knew Lee Harvey Oswald was in Dallas" before the assassination.
On April 28, however, Hoover wrote Shanklin that he "and personnel of your office are to deal at arm's length with Dallas Police Department personnel. We will not extend training assistance, nor will we accept candidates from that department to the (FBI) National Academy."
On Jan. 19, 1966, Hoover wrote Shanklin, Dallas Mayor Erik Jonsson visited his office and "asked to discuss the serious breach between this bureau and the Dallas Police Department, if one exists."
"I informed Mayor Jonsson that a breach in relations with Chief of Police Curry and his department does exist," Hoover wrote. "I made it perfectly clear actions and statements by Chief Curry and some of his personnel with respect to the bureau clearly indicated they are incompetent, blabbermouths and, in some instances, liars."
Hoover said Jonsson assured him he would "lay down certain guidelines under which Curry will be expected to operate," including "orders that Curry shall be certain of his facts in any statements made, establish tight discipline in his department and be circumspect in his remarks to the press."
He said training assistance would resume if the demands were met within two weeks.
Jonsson said recently he recalls meeting with Hoover, but he did not remember "any comment about Curry or the Dallas Police Department."
When it was announced that Charles Batchelor would

Paul Harvey News
Are Prisons too Comfortable?

We are likely to respond to frustration with anger.
From mourners for the late John Lennon I am hearing angry demands for gun control.
New York City boasts "the toughest gun control law in the nation."
But that did not prevent this.
Such is the backlash from recent senseless murders that I hear from one district attorney that perhaps our terrible prisons are not terrible enough!
Houston: A federal judge calls Texas prisons places of misery, degradation and pain.
Chicago: The Illinois prison population outnumbers prison beds.
Miami: Jails are jammed with an influx of Cubans; there are mattresses in corridors.
Yet inevitably aware of the conditions in our prisons and jails — drugs, bestiality, homosexuality, sadism and murder — Shreveport, Louisiana's Dist. Atty. Paul Courmouche says it could be that jails are not bad enough: "They don't seem to scare people any more."
The DA says more and more prosecutors are seeing the same faces in court: persons with two and three and more burglary convictions on their records. Many are willing to go to jail because "life behind bars is more comfortable than what they're accustomed to outside."
I queried some Louisiana lawmen for their reaction to the DA's remarks.
They believe he's right. They remember when Louisiana's Angola State Prison used to be self-sustaining — with inmates producing sugar cane, produce, so forth.
Now, say the more cynical, "inmates in Angola play sports, get furloughs home, enjoy TV, or sit around and smoke pot."
With little or no barbed wire, it's more like a hospital ward than a prison.
Compared to life in a ghetto or barrio, 18 months in a "country-club prison" is a piece of cake!
When the slum kid is fed, clothed and comforted more in jail than out, confinement is not the deterrent it used to be. They and I are aware this is an unpopular view. All of us have heard so many horror stories about prisons that, imagining ourselves or our loved ones in such a situation, we have recoiled in terror.

Something wrong. There is too much violence.
Yet the best option the New York Times has had to suggest recently is that, since so many New Yorkers have had gold neck chains jerked off their necks by hit-and-run muggers — "perhaps there should be an ordinance prohibiting the wearing of gold neck chains!"
Somewhere between forgiveness and the firing squad is a way to make our decrepit criminal justice system effective again. I don't know what it is, but it's time to listen to some different points of view.
Benavidez, Trahan Complete Course
Herman Benavidez, deputy of Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department, was named Salutatorian of the recent graduating class of the Amarillo Police Academy.
Benavidez completed the two-month course with a 92.5 grade average.
Roy Trahan, also a deputy with the department, completed the course of general law enforcement.
Both have been employed with the department for approximately six months and are assigned to the county jail according to Travis McPherson, DC Sheriff.
Short-Change Cases Reported to Police
Three "short-change" cases were reported to police Sunday and Monday involving about $95.
Police report that two black males were suspects in all of the cases, and an arrest was pending.
Taco Villa, 1200 W. Hwy. 60, Mr. Burger West, 812 W. Park, and Westside Shell, Hwy. 385 and W. Hwy 60, reported losses of $50, $20 and $25 respectively.
A burglary Monday night at Shirley School, 239 Ave. H, netted 122 candy bars and an undetermined amount of soft drinks for the burglar. A broken back window was the entry point. Police said they had no suspects.
Several thefts were reported to police Monday.
Mack Berryman, 239 Beach, said his car radio valued at $150 was stolen from his vehicle which was parked at the Family Medical Clinic.
Benino Rios, 602 Blevins, reported that two Western Flyer bicycles, valued at $85, and $95 respectively were stolen from his home.

ROBERT R. JACKSON
Services will be held Wednesday for Robert R. Jackson, 93, a long-time Hereford resident, in the Church of the Nazarene. Services will begin at 3 p.m. Wednesday with the Rev. Bob Huffaker, pastor, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Wallace Kirby, Westgate Nursing Home chaplain.
Burial will be in West Park Cemetery under the direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.
Mr. Jackson died Monday at 1 p.m. in Deaf Smith General Hospital after a lengthy illness.
Born Jan. 11, 1887 in Cooke County, Mr. Jackson married Lillie Mae Sayer Dec. 23, 1908 in Erick, Okla. She preceded him in death in June of this year.
A resident of Westgate Nursing Home for several years, Mr. Jackson came to Hereford in 1925 from Lefors. He was a farmer and a member of the Church of the Nazarene.
Survivors include two sons, Clinton of Hereford and Billy Bob of Salt Lake City, Utah; four daughters, Mrs. Robbie Seed of Hereford, Mrs. Emma Long and Mrs. Edith Hicks, both of Austin, and Mrs. Naomi Tucker of Killeen; two sisters, Mrs. Amye Ritter and Mrs. Mayme Cavin, both of Amarillo; 19 grandchildren; 46 great-grandchildren; and six great-great-grandchildren.

Sears added that "he's probably operating with around $200,000 worth of machinery and, while he won't put every acre into crops each year, he'll have around $225,000 in operating expenses."
The article outlines the agribusiness composition of the area, explaining the feedlot and vegetable operations. It goes on to report that "most of the population since 1960 is new, virtually all of it has turned over since 1940, when there were only 2,500 inhabitants."
The story quotes Sheriff Travis McPherson, a 17-year resident, as saying "there are not a lot of oldtimers here now." The author also points out that McPherson "shatters one's cowboy image of a Panhandle sheriff."
The article also touches on the large number of Hispanics in the population and how media attention was drawn to Hereford with the arrival of the Texas Rural Legal Aid (TRAL) office.
But, unlike many liberal-oriented articles, this one does not attempt to stir up a racial controversy. Instead, it reports the problems that exist and suggests that "the two sides have butted heads often enough to realize they both are working toward what may be the only homogeneous goal in Hereford: Betterment of the agricultural community."

Bonilla charged such "regressive political rhetoric" threatened to obliterate advances made by minorities.
He also credited many strides made by minorities to Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., outgoing chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee. He labeled the committee's incoming chairman, Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., as "lukewarm."

Study Club Members Host Holiday Party

L'Allegra Study Club members exchanged Secret Pal gifts at their annual Christmas party held recently at the home of Glenda Keenan.

The home was decorated for the holidays and refreshments were served from copper and brass appointments. Hostesses for the party were Mary McWhorter, Lynne Carlile, Carolyn Canon, Carmen Flood and Glenda Keenan.

The last meeting before Christmas is traditionally a party for members to exchange gifts and visit in order to promote friendship and the Christmas spirit of giving among members," a spokesman for the group said.

Members present were Kathy Allison, Carolyn Canon, Lynne Carlile, Janice Conkwright, Carmen Flood, Kitty Gault, Rosie Griffin, Carolyn Hays, Glenda Keenan, Barbara Kerr and Susie Mannschreck.

The Newspaper Bible

YOU NEED ONE MORE THING

Once when some mothers were bringing their children to Jesus to bless them, the disciples shoed them away, telling them not to bother Him.

But when Jesus saw what was happening He was very much displeased with His disciples and said to them, "Let the children come to Me, for the Kingdom of God belongs to such as they. Don't send them away!"

I tell you as seriously as I know how that anyone who refuses to come to God as a little child will never be allowed into His Kingdom."

Then He took the children into His arms and placed His hands on their heads and He blessed them.

As He was starting out on a trip, a man came running to Him and knelt down and asked, "Good Teacher, what must I do to get to heaven?"

"Why do you call Me good?" Jesus asked. "Only God is truly good!"

But as for your question - you know the commandments: don't kill, don't commit adultery, don't steal, don't lie, don't cheat, respect your father and mother."

"Teacher," the man replied, "I've never once broken a single one of those laws."

Jesus felt genuine love for this man as He looked at him. "You lack only one thing," he told him; "go and sell all you have and give the money to the poor - and you shall have treasure in heaven - and come, follow Me."

Then the man's face fell, and he went sadly away, for he was very rich.

Jesus watched him go, then turned around and said to His disciples, "It's almost impossible for the rich to get into the Kingdom of God!"

This amazed them. So Jesus said it again: "Dear children, how hard it is for those who trust in riches to enter the Kingdom of God."

It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the Kingdom of God."

At Wits End

By ERMA BOMBECK

I have no idea who invented living rooms. But how come they aren't?

I've polled 135 people of varying ages and not one of them can remember doing anything in a living room but clean it. In most houses a living room has become a temple for dust, a shrine for stolen light bulbs and a lounge for guests connecting with another part of the house.

I didn't realize we had a living room until one day the realtor was going through the house and said, "How big is your living room?"

"Where is it?" I asked.

"It's that large room with the white sofas that faces the street."

"This is quite lovely," I said, walking through slowly, touching the glass table and the glass bowl of plastic fruit. "Do the draperies go with it?"

"It's YOUR house!" she said.

I talked with an architect about the living room mystique and he was as vague as anyone as to what they were for. Drawing from personal experience, his only recollection was that it was a room with the furniture wrapped in plastic or old blankets where you always tripped over something in the dark on your way to answering the front door.

I remember ours as a room that was never heated in the winter, had the draperies closed all summer, sheets on the sofa and the cellophane still intact on the lampshades. There was a sign on the door reading, "Shown by appointment only." My mother always said it was a room to be used for special company. A visit from Col. Lindbergh or President Roosevelt might have qualified.

No one seems to know why the living room is a protected species, but it never became a watering hole for families. When they got sick of gathering in the kitchen, some fixed up the basement so they could create more space for their activities. It was called the Early Water Heater decor. Despite a living room full of soft, comfortable furniture, the family spent the evenings in the basement on a porch swing watching the condensation drip down the walls.

Soon after the second World War, family rooms were added, which looked like a living room with people.

I passed by our living room the other day and smiled proudly. In ten years, it still looked like a recovery room. The dog ran by me and started to sniff around the white sofa leg. He hesitated. We made eye contact. He returned to my side. He felt the mystique too.

Improved Education Classes

Could Decrease Pregnancies

COLLEGE STATION -- Something can be done about the high rates of teenage pregnancies, says Betty Jo Smith, a family life education specialist.

Improved and expanded sex-education classes and the appropriate use of contraceptives could greatly decrease the problem, even though many other factors contribute to high rates of teenage pregnancy, the specialist explains.

Dr. Smith is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Looking at the "why's" connected with teen pregnancies, current home economics research on the subject is, at the same time, suggesting some answers, Dr. Smith says.

In a study examining sex education and the knowledge of pregnancy risk among teenage females, several facts surfaced.

Seventy percent of the females ages 15-19, who had never been married, had taken a course on sex education.

Of those having a sex-education course, more than 90 percent had been instructed about the menstrual cycle and venereal disease. Seventy percent had been instructed on contraceptives.

When the students were asked if they knew which period in the menstrual cycle afforded the greatest risk of pregnancy, 60 percent claimed to know which period. However, when tested, only one-third of the students could correctly identify the time when risk of pregnancy is greatest.

These findings are particularly important because many teenagers say they do not use contraceptives since they think they are protected by the time of month they have intercourse, Dr. Smith adds.

Other research shows that teenagers ages 16 and 17 delay using birth control for an average of six months after they become sexually active. Teens ages 15 and younger wait even longer--for an average of one and a half years after they become sexually active.

Ann Landers

Need Help in Connecticut

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from "Need Help in Cleveland" could have been written by me. I have the same problem, only my husband's impotence is due to diabetes.

I am not yet 50 years old. My husband is only 52. He has had to take insulin for a year now. Since that time he has not been able to have an erection. Until then I had more sex than I could handle.

It is very depressing to think that my sex life is over. He is the best husband a wife could hope for--would do anything for me, a good provider and a wonderful father. I have no intention of cheating on him. He is much too good for that.

Is there anything that can be done? Sex is one of the most satisfying things in life when you love your husband as I do.

I am sure this problem is shared by many other wives. A response would be greatly appreciated.--Also Need Help In Conn.

DEAR ALSO: Male impotence caused by diabetic medication can be remedied by surgery, just as impotence caused by other factors. I dealt with this problem in this space several weeks ago. Perhaps you missed it.

There are two types of penile implants that have proven effective. They both involve surgical procedures. The results have been excellent in the majority of cases. For more information write to Dr. David C. Utz, Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., Dr. F. Brantley Scott, Baylor College of Medicine, Houston, Tex., or Dr. Joseph Kauffman, UCLA Medical Center, Los Angeles, Calif. They are all experts in this field.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your answer to "Two-Faced" surprised me. You looked down your nose at Jack, who was a "switch-hitter." and had no comment for Jill, who was cheating on her fiancé with his best friend.

Why should Jack confess to Jill and not Jill to Jack? Do you think her relationship will stop with "Two-Faced" after she gets married? I don't. It is obvious that they are all sick and the best thing for everyone involved would be to continue the game of "mixed doubles" until someone gets caught. And then what will happen? Nothing. The three will live happily ever after. I know what I'm talking about because I've made the scene. Sign me--Oy Vey In Akron

DEAR VEY: You sound like an authority on this sort of thing, and I am not. So I'll take your word for it. Meanwhile (back at the ranch), I repeat the original advice. Jack (the switch-hitter) should tell Jill before they marry that he has a tendency to go both ways. If she still wants to marry him, she can't say she wasn't warned.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Instead of suggesting a cover-up cosmetic for people who have unsightly red birthmarks on their faces, why didn't you suggest the laser beam? While this remarkable method does not completely "erase" the port-wine birthmark, it can make a dramatic difference.--S.B. Of Connecticut

DEAR S.B.: I consulted with two top-notch dermatologists, and they both said the laser beam works well in some cases and not so well in others, depending on the density of the birthmark.

Anyone who is interested should see a skin specialist or call the nearest medical school for details.

Tax Time Here; Forms Mailed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Along with those Christmas bills you can expect to receive something else soon, courtesy of Uncle Sam.

The Internal Revenue Service today starts mailing out 89.8 million federal tax forms for the 1980 tax year, and most taxpayers should have the packages by Jan. 10.

The packages, if piled on top of each other, would extend nearly 210 miles high. The government's cost to print and mail the forms: $20.5 million, or about 24 cents a copy.

Every person who filed 1979 taxes should be receiving new forms in the mail, IRS officials say. For others, the packages will be available at post offices and IRS outlets across the country. As always, they must be filled and returned no later than April 15.

Completing tax forms this year will be relatively easy. There have been no major changes in the 1980 forms, IRS officials say.

Officials say the most common problems involve simple errors in arithmetic or failure to sign the tax return.

Also, the IRS cautions taxpayers to be especially careful about calculating earned income credits and medical deductions, as well as looking at the correct column to determine taxes.

Here are highlights and tips concerning the 1980 tax form: — Despite all the talk in Washington about a tax cut, there is none. Congress passed no general tax cut last year, and any enacted next year won't apply to the current return. Tax incentives to save more did pass Congress, but won't take effect until 1981 tax forms are filed.

— The 1040A short form can be filed if your income was $20,000 or less ($40,000 if you are married and filing a joint return) — and was all from wages, salaries, tips and unemployment compensation, except for up to $400 in interest or dividends.

— The longer 1040 form must be used if you itemize deductions, claim more than three exemptions if single and more than nine if filing jointly; and declare certain credits, such as the one for energy conservation.

— A single person will save money by itemizing deductions if they total more than $2,300, which is the value of the standard deduction (now called zero-bracket amount). For a couple filing a joint return, deductions would have to exceed $3,400.

— Families with incomes under $10,000 in 1980 may be eligible for a tax credit of up to $500 when they file their federal tax returns this year.

— The IRS has a Problem Resolution Program for taxpayers who have been unable to solve their problems with the government. Check the directory for a toll-free number.

Father of Burned Girls Says Army Housing Insufficient

MIDWAY, Ga. (AP) — Sgt. Gilbert Phillis Jr., whose two daughters died in an early morning fire at the only home he could find, says he now wishes he never had re-enlisted.

The 4-year serviceman, who boasts a spotless record, says he was forced to live off the grounds of Fort Stewart, where he is stationed, because housing there is "insufficient."

"It was the only thing we could find," he said of the four-room, $135-a-month "cottage" he was forced to rent.

"It cost me $420 to stay in a guest house for 30 days ... I had to pay that out of my hip pocket," Phillis, 24, said. "It took me three weeks just to find that place."

Phillis, his wife and two daughters moved to Georgia from Fort Hood, Texas, about six weeks ago after he re-enlisted for another six years.

"I was stationed at Fort Benning (Ga.) for a while right after I enlisted," Phillis, 24, said late Monday in a telephone interview. "I liked it there, so when I re-enlisted I told them that's where I'd like to be stationed."

Fort Benning wasn't available, though, and Phillis chose Fort Stewart, where an opening existed, he said.

"It's good country around this state," he said.

"But if I had known then that this was going to happen, I never would have done it," he said, referring to re-enlisting and then arriving in Georgia to find out there was no place to live.

The native of Cambridge, Ill., said the home he rented had no heat and the circuit breakers would often switch off under the slightest use.

Preliminary investigations showed the fire started because of a short in an electrical heater or in the electrical system, fire officials said.

Sunday morning Phillis heard his youngest daughter crying, he said, so he went and got her out of the room where the three girls slept.

"Ten minutes later, my wife heard one of the other girls calling for her — and my wife, she yelled that she smelled smoke," he said.

The smoke, just 10 minutes after he left the girls' bedroom, was so thick that he couldn't see his hand as he crawled along the floor with a flashlight, Phillis said.

Two-year-old Krystal died early Monday at an Army hospital at Fort Gordon, some 100 miles away, a hospital spokesman said.

Four-year-old Randi died late Sunday. Both girls were burned so severely they had to be flown by helicopter to Fort Gordon, because the medical facilities at Fort Stewart were not capable of handling the cases, the spokesman said.

The third daughter, 15-month-old Stacie, escaped injury because she had been moved from the bedroom where the other girls slept, Phillis said.

Funeral services are planned for Friday or Saturday in Oceana, W.Va., and the girls are to be buried in nearby Long Branch. Phillis said his wife is a native of West Virginia.

Billions of Dollars Charged for Presents

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

'Twas the day after Christmas, and away went the smiles. As the mail brought the bills, To be stacked in big piles.

Americans charge billions of dollars in gifts and other purchases during the holiday season. In the last quarter of 1979, for example, retailers, banks and other lenders extended $34.5 billion in revolving credit — the kind you get with charge cards. Consumers borrowed more in revolving credit during December — $12.9 billion — than in any other month.

Credit-card use declined in some areas this year due to rising interest rates and a tight economy, but the charges still added up to billions and the post-Christmas period is a good time to review the advantages and disadvantages of credit.

The National Association of Federal Credit Unions notes that credit is more than charge cards and purchases. You are using credit, for example, when you pay your electricity bill at the end of the month.

"Credit usage is not only very common, but it is in fact essential in any economy," says the association, which designed a credit management seminar for its members so they, in turn, could help their members handle family finances.

The association drew up a list of pluses and minuses attached to credit. First, the advantages:

— Credit lets you use a product while it is being paid for.

— Credit can help you meet emergencies.

— Credit can be used to level out peaks and valleys in family income or spending.

— Credit can act as a form of forced savings for people who cannot manage to put money aside to buy something — no matter how much they want it.

— Credit lets you take advantage of special sales.

— Credit makes record-keeping easier, particularly for business people who need evidence for income tax purposes.

— Credit acts as a hedge against inflation. You can beat rising prices, while paying back your debt with dollars that are worth less.

Names in the News

STATERLINE, Nev. (AP) — The family of Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo spent Christmas at Harrah's Tahoe Hotel in Lake Tahoe.

Lopez Portillo was not reported to be with his family.

Among those said to be staying at the hotel are first lady, Carmen Romano de Lopez Portillo; daughter, Paulina Lopez Portillo Romano; daughter and son-in-law, Beatriz de Tovar and Rafael Tovar de Teresa, and Mexico's European ambassador, Augustin Garcia Lopez.

VANCOUVER, British Columbia (AP) — Some people say the art of letter writing is dead, but you could never get Terry Fox to believe that.

When he returned to his Port Coquitlam, British Columbia, home in September after cancer spread to his lungs and forced him to halt a cross-Canada run, Fox was greeted with three to five hefty postbags of mail a day.

A postal worker told him that while he was in the hospital for cancer treatment before his homecoming, more mail was dumped on his doorstep than was delivered to the entire city of Port Coquitlam, a city of 23,000 about 25 miles east of Vancouver.

The mail tapered off in October and November but has picked up during the holiday season, showing Canadians haven't forgotten the one-legged cancer victim whose Marathon of Hope raised more than $20 million in pledges and donations for cancer research.

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — As children, Ed Meese and his brothers said their prayers together and saluted the flag every night before going to bed, their mother remembers.

Sunday, only a few weeks before Edwin Meese III becomes President-elect Ronald Reagan's chief adviser, he will travel back home to Oakland to celebrate the 84th birthday of the man who suggested that flag salute, his father.

"Our whole family has been Republican since my grandfather came here in 1880 and built a home in West Oakland," said Ed Meese Jr.

The future presidential adviser, now 49, "showed leadership qualities" as a child, Meese said. "At one time, he planned programs and practically ran the Cub Scout troop here. His brothers looked up to him. They did things together. He was their leader."

CBS Wins Ratings Race Sixth Time

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS continued to strengthen its grip on the No. 1 position in prime-time television, winning the networks' ratings race for the sixth time in two months, figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. for the week ending Dec. 21 showed.

CBS' triumph, its second in a row, came with a big boost from "Dallas," which now has won the ratings competition seven weeks running.

CBS has seven shows among the 10 highest-rated, and ABC two. NBC, which finished last in the competition for the eighth straight week, listed only the "Bob Hope Christmas Show" in the Top 10 — 10th.

"Dallas," which began its remarkable string in November with the most recent survey of 33.8, nearly five points higher than the score for the runner-up, "60 Minutes," also from CBS.

Nielsen says that means of all the country's homes with television, just over a third saw the top-rated episode of "Dallas."

CBS' rating for the period was 19.3, to 17.3 for ABC and 16.5 for NBC. The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 19.3 percent of the nation's TV-equipped homes were tuned to CBS.

Five of the week's six lowest-rated shows were, on the other hand, new this season — ABC's "Breaking Away," in the No. 66 position, "Freebie and the Bean" from CBS 67th and NBC's "No. 96" in 68th place. A repeat episode of "Charles Angel" on ABC was 69th, followed by "Secrets of Midland Heights" on CBS and "NBC Magazine with David Brinkley."

Here are the week's 10 highest-rated shows: "Dallas," with an average rating for 33.8 representing 26.3 million homes, "60 Minutes," 29.4 or 22.9 million, "Dukes of Hazzard," 27.8 or AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Rep. Wayne Peveto, D-Orange, has pre-filed a bill authorizing the State Board of Education to establish a system of competency testing for new teachers.

The bill (HB295) will be introduced formally after the Legislature convenes Jan. 13 for its 140-day regular session.

Peveto's bill is based on findings of the Commission on Standards for the Teaching Profession, which were endorsed by the Board of Education.

Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, has pre-filed the companion bill in the Senate.

Recommendations by the commission call for a general literacy test of all college students who want to enroll in teacher training, followed by new tests on subject matter and teaching methods after graduation.

Persons already teaching or enrolled in teacher colleges would be exempt.

"Growing concern has surfaced the last few years as to the quality of education in our public schools. ... A competency test, however, is only a helpful tool. Many other issues must be addressed, including a substantial increase in teacher salaries, methods to deal with school discipline and the coordination of college studies for education students," Peveto said.

HOUSTON (AP) — Funeral services were held Monday for John Dickson "Peck" Kelley, a jazz pianist who preferred to stay in Houston instead of joining big name bands.

Kelley, 82, died Friday.

Trombonist Jack Teagarden and clarinetist Pee Wee Russell were among the musicians attracted by the Peck's Bad Boys group Kelley formed in the 1920s.

In 1977, Kelley said he once turned down $25,000 a year to join Tommy Dorsey's band so he could continue playing in small Houston clubs at $300 a week.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A high school science teacher called irreplaceable by his peers died Sunday when he was struck from behind by a car as he was bicycling with a teen-age friend.

The victim was Steven Froehner, 32, who was named the outstanding chemistry teacher in the nation by the American Chemical Society in 1977.

Troy Bode, 15, was riding beside Froehner but was not injured in the 3:04 p.m. accident.

Crockett Principal Forrest Kline said Froehner had "the greatest appeal to students of anybody I've been associated with."

"He was no ordinary person or teacher," said Leedell Horton, assistant principal. "He was something like the Pied Piper. There will just be no replacing him."

Froehner, a University of Texas graduate, had taught at Crockett 10 years and was chairman of the science department.

Police withheld the name of the driver. They said he was a juvenile.

Longhorns Smiling

With Clenched Teeth

HOUSTON (AP) — The Texas Longhorns are smiling through clenched teeth as they prepare for Wednesday night's Bluebonnet Bowl game against 13th ranked North Carolina.

It's obvious they'd rather be in Dallas representing the Southwest Conference in the Cotton Bowl and playing for the national championship instead of playing the underdog role to the Tar Heels, 10-1 and eager to enhance their national reputation.

A 7-4 finish in the rugged SWC and a bowl invitation would be considered a successful season for many programs but to UT fans it was apparently a yawner.

Longhorn officials returned 1,500 of their ticket allotment for the game, leaving Bluebonnet Bowl Executive Director Tex Thornton shocked.

"I can't understand why Longhorn fans don't want to come see their team," Thornton said. "They purchased only 7,000 and that's not much when you consider there are more than 100,000 Texas exes in Harris County alone."

Texas Coach Fred Akers admits Longhorn fans are demanding but not unfaithful.

"I think Texas fans do have big expectations of us," Akers said. "But they are always there. We averaged 72,000 fans this year and finished with a 7-4 record. Not many can claim that."

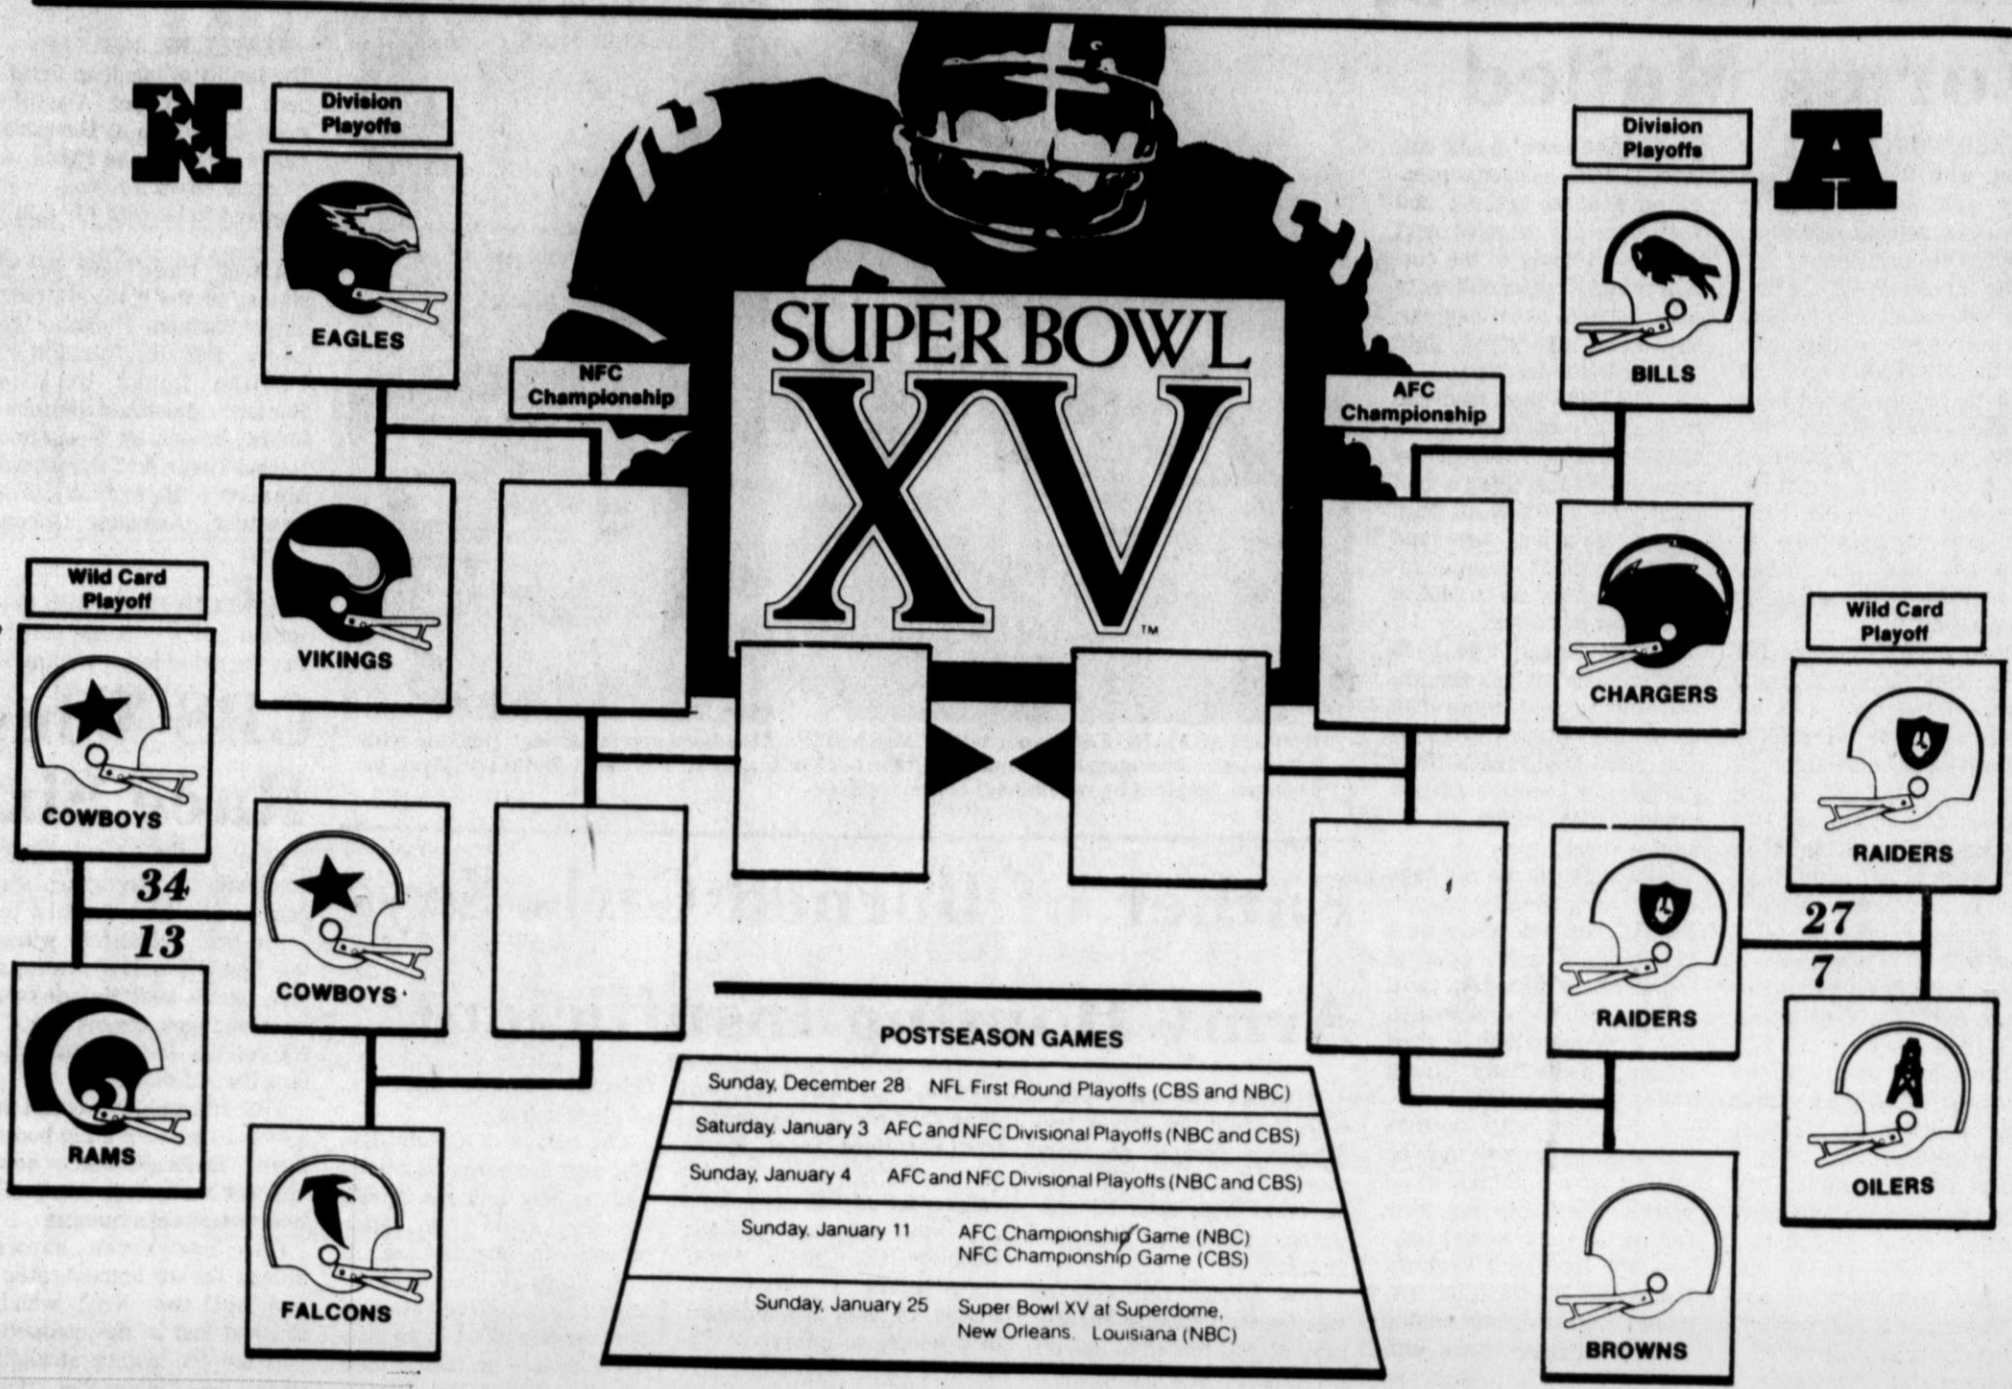

"Noone is nearly as disappointed as the coaches and players that we didn't have a better season," Akers said. "But high expectations can't always be realized and that's when you have to learn to put up with that knot in your stomach."

Texas' disappointment may have carried over into preparations for Wednesday's 7 p.m. kickoff.

"I've seen all of the workouts of both teams and Texas had better be careful or they're going to get waxed," said one official. "North Carolina is ready to play."

Texas running back A.J. "Jam" Jones, coming off a dislocated collarbone injury, said "Some of the guys see this as a game to make up for lost high hopes. Others aren't that worried, but I think we'll be ready to play."

Akers hopes so. "I keep telling them, this is not a game for next year," Akers said. "This is this year. There's no waiting. We've got to perform now."

Race for Super Bowl Heats Up

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

The Philadelphia Eagles probably played their best game of the 1980 National Football League season on Sept. 14 when they routed the Minnesota Vikings 42-7. The NFC East champions wouldn't mind a repeat showing this Saturday when they play the Vikings in Philadelphia.

Minnesota won the NFC Central title with a 9-7 record, the worst of any playoff qualifier. The Eagles, 12-4, tied for the best record in the league and will be solid favorites to defeat the Vikes.

Yet, the Vikings seem unworried. "We've got everything to gain and nothing to lose," said Minnesota linebacker Jeff Siemon. "We were a team not picked to do anything this year. All of a sudden, here we are. They may fear us more than we fear them."

That seems unlikely since the Eagles outgained Minnesota 529 yards to 207 in their regular season meeting.

"I'm not sure they were quite as dominant during the second half of the season as they were early," added Siemon, a nine-year veteran who is in the playoffs for the seventh time. "We respect them but their whole season could go down the drain with this one game."

Still, the memory of that 42-7 pasting will be on the Minnesota players' minds. "You can't help but be affected by the outcome of the previous time we played them," added Siemon. "They looked very good in that game but we're a better team now than we were then."

The other NFC playoff contest will pit the Atlanta Falcons, winners of the Western Division, against the Dallas Cowboys, who beat Los Angeles 34-13 in the conference wild-card game last Sunday.

The Falcons, in only their second season of playoff competition, were eliminated by the Cowboys from the 1978 postseason action. If Dallas plays as well this Sunday as it did against the Rams, the Falcons, 12-4, might make another quick exit.

"This was about as well as we can play," said Cowboys coach Tom Landry. "We were really picking up the holes."

"It was a satisfying game," said Dorsett, "and not because it was my best playoff game. It wouldn't have been a great game if Tony Dorsett rushed for 160 yards on 22 carries and scored two touchdowns. Tony had a great game. He meant a thing if I'd rushed for over 200 yards and we lost."

In the AFC on Saturday, the Buffalo Bills make their second trip to San Diego this season. Buffalo and the Chargers met in the fifth week of the campaign, with both clubs unbeaten, and the Bills upset the Chargers. Buffalo, 11-5, will rely on the AFC's best defense to shut down the super air attack of the Chargers, also 11-5, led by quarterback Dan Fouts and receivers John Jefferson, Kellen Winslow and Charlie

Joiner. "They're very physical, and they're probably the biggest team we've played all year," said Browns Coach Sam Rutigliano. "They'll spend some time this week worrying about our passing game."

On Sunday, the Oakland Raiders, who won the wild-card game against Houston 27-7 last Sunday, travel to Cleveland. The Browns, 11-5, are in the playoffs for the first time since 1972.

Fouling Aggies Fall in Tourney Play

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) — When Shelby Metcalf agreed to teach at a coaching clinic at the KOA Classic basketball tournament, he had good reason to believe his nationally ranked squad from Texas A&M would be putting on a clinic of its own.

Instead, the Aggies ran afoul of unranked Cal-Irvine and the nation's top college scorer, Kevin Magee, to come out on the short end of a 91-74 decision Monday night. For the Aggies, ranked 12th going into the game, the loss was the first in eight outings this year.

Irvine's previously 4-4 squad was able to reel off more than 90 points against a defense that was averaging just 55.7.

The Aggies will play in tonight's consolation game against Eastern Montana, which fell 58-44 to Montana in Monday's second game. Montana and Cal-Irvine then will meet for the championship of the six-year-old tourney.

Metcalf said his squad was "outhustled" by an Irvine squad that was in better shape.

"We just got tired," he said. "They're just much better conditioned than we are. They played so much better than we did."

Magee, the nation's leading college scorer with a 32.0 average, had problems early in the game with the A&M zone, but he scored 21 points in the second half to finish with 34. Teammate Randy Whieldon added 27.

Irvine coach Bill Mulligan said his 6-8 junior center proved himself against the Aggies. "We didn't know how to get the ball inside at first, but we found we could get it to him if we reversed it around their zone."

Metcalf called Magee "the best player we've seen this year. He looked like a man beating up on a bunch of kids at a boys club."

Foul trouble plagued A&M. The Aggies' starting front line of Vernon Smith, Rynn Wright and Rudy Woods all fouled out. The Aggies collected 26 fouls to just nine for Irvine and were outscored at the free-throw line 25-8.

The Anteaters recovered from a 9-2 deficit in the early stages of the game to post a 40-32 halftime lead. Cal-Irvine continued to pull away from A&M early in the second half, building the lead to 58-41 with 12 minutes remaining. The Aggies got no closer than 13 points the rest of the way.

In the second game, 6-6 senior guard Craig Zanon sparked a second-half rally and scored 20 points to carry Montana over Eastern.

Eastern played the Grizzlies even through most of the first half and led 24-21 just three minutes before intermission. Zanon then scored twice, and baskets by Rod Brandon and Marc Glass gave Montana a 29-24 halftime lead.

Montana edged away in the second half, then boosted the lead to 52-38 with a run of eight straight points, six of those by Zanon.

Glass also reached double figures with 18 points, while Eastern's scoring honors were shared by Russell Murray and Calvin Weinberg with 12 points each.

The Grizzlies now are 7-4 while Eastern slipped to 6-5.

Villanova Over

UTEP 43-41

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — John Pinone sank five crucial free throws during the final two minutes to give Villanova a 43-41 victory over Texas-El Paso Monday night for the championship of the 20th annual Sun Carnival basketball tournament.

In the consolation game earlier in the night, John Hegwood scored 20 points to lead San Francisco to a 65-60 win over Miami of Ohio.

In the title game, Anthony Burns had a chance to tie the game with three seconds left but missed on a desperation 25-foot jump shot. The buzzer sounded as both teams scrambled for the rebound.

Pinone, who led Villanova with 15 points, was called for charging with 10 seconds left in the game, giving UTEP its last chance to make up the two-point deficit. UTEP got the ball, but Burns' shot missed.

Terry White, who fouled out with 27 seconds left, led UTEP with 10 points in the low scoring game.

By Don

Q. Lately, my car has had a tendency to continue to run after I've turned the ignition off. It's gotten to the point that the engine will run - ignition off - for almost a minute. What causes this?

A. Dieseling or after-running, as the condition is known, is caused by either incorrect idle speed and/or high engine temperature. High idle speed increases the inertia of the crankshaft and flywheel, causing dieseling. Adjusting the idle speed is the simple answer here, either by carburetor adjustment or ignition timing. Enriching the idle fuel mixture will also decrease the dieseling tendency. You might also try using a higher octane gasoline and decrease the heat range of the sparkplugs. Allowing the engine to return to idle speed before shutting it off and in automatics, turning off the engine while in gear may help dieseling.

In Gator Bowl

Pitt Destroys South Carolina

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Third-ranked Pittsburgh will need a lot of help to win the national championship, but quarterback Rick Trocano says the Panthers can rest easy knowing that they've done everything in their power to lay claim to No. 1.

"We don't control our own destiny, so we just have to sit back and hope for the best," Trocano said Monday night after Pitt destroyed 18th-ranked South Carolina 37-9 in the 36th annual Gator Bowl. "We came out and did what we had to do and that was win decisively. Now, if we don't make it to No. 1, we know it's not because we didn't do everything we could to make it happen."

The Gator Bowl victory before a record crowd of 72,287, boosted the Panthers' record to 11-1 and spoiled Heisman Trophy winner George Rogers' collegiate finale for the 8-4 Gamecocks.

It was the Panthers' seventh victory in a row since the team dropped a 36-22 decision to No. 2 Florida State. But it still doesn't put them in the driver's seat for the national crown, which many of the experts predicted Pitt would win in preseason polls. Top-ranked Georgia must fall to Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl on Thursday and Florida State would have to stumble against 4th-ranked Oklahoma later that night for the Panthers to have a shot.

"It's frustrating not having the final say. But on the other hand, you've got to give credit to Georgia for being undefeated and Florida State credit for beating us," said Trocano. "I can't predict the future, but if they both lose, I don't see how we can be denied."

South Carolina Coach Jim Carlen agreed.

"I said going in that Pitt was the best around and nothing has changed. They're certainly one of the three best and right now, I'd have to give my vote," he said.

Trocano and his backup, sophomore Dan Marino, both tossed touchdown passes, fullback Randy McMillan scored twice and Dan Trout booted three field goals to key the victory.

Rogers, who was slowed by a pulled leg muscle, carried 27 times for 113 yards against a stingy Pitt defense anchored by All-American defensive end Hugh Green, who finished second in the Heisman balloting.

The game was billed as the first time the top two vote getters in the Heisman balloting had met in a bowl game.

"I didn't look at it as a personal confrontation," said Green. "We felt going in that we could beat them up front, and if we did that, that we could contain him (Rogers)."

Rogers, a 6-2, 220-pound senior from Duluth, Ga., fumbled three times and lost two of them and was obviously disappointed with his performance.

"I played my worst game. I'm afraid I let the team down," he said. "But maybe Pittsburgh had something to do with that."

Cleveland Crumbles Dallas

RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Mike Mitchell and Bill Robinzine are pretty good friends off the basketball court. But the camaraderie suffers a bit when they have to guard one other.

"We're real good buddies. All I have to do is keep the ball from him, just make him do something else but shoot," said Mitchell, whose 29 points led all scorers in the Cleveland Cavaliers' 112-100 victory over the Dallas Mavericks in the only National Basketball Association contest Monday night.

Robinzine, a Cavalier for 30 days between trades last fall, was hardly shut down. The 6-foot-7 forward led Dallas with 23 points and 14 rebounds in one of his few starting assignments for the Mavericks.

"They must be pleased with the way I'm playing now. I don't have any problems out there," Robinzine said.

But Mitchell's 10 third-quarter points changed the slow tempo of a first half deadlocked at 51-51.

"We were playing disciplined, deliberate basketball, which is Dallas' style. The difference was getting them off their pace in the second half," said Cavaliers' Coach Bill Musselman. "We weren't doing that at all in the first half. Mitchell was the only guy going to the boards for us."

Cavaliers Kenny Carr and Richard Washington thundered into action in the second half, grabbing 21 of Cleveland's total 49 rebounds. Those rebounds and subsequent second shots killed the Mavericks said Dallas Coach Dick Motta.

Dallas and Cleveland traded leads throughout the first quarter though the Cavaliers opened a five-point margin on a field goal and free throw by Roger Phegley. Cleveland led 27-26 after one quarter.

A sluggish pace continued in the second quarter, but it took slightly more than three minutes in the third period for Cleveland to open its first of several nine-point leads. Dallas, which lost its 35th game in 40 tries, whittled that to six points at the close of the third period, 80-74.

"Mitchell was getting the good shot but the other guys were getting him the ball in good shooting situations too."

In Boxing Ring

1981 Promises Extravaganza

An extravaganza in Madison Square Garden Feb. 23; Larry Holmes wants to make five title defenses; Muhammad Ali probably will fight in March; Roberto Duran could return to the ring wars, and Sugar Ray Leonard and Thomas "Hit Man" Hearns are headed for a welterweight showdown.

The year 1981 promises to give boxing fans a lot to cheer and complain about.

Gerry Cooney, the No. 1-ranked heavyweight by both the World Boxing Association and World Boxing Council, will headline the Graden show, which also will feature four title fights. Cooney is expected to clinch a title shot against WBA champion Mike Weaver by sending Ken Norton back into retirement.

Reportedly Cooney-Weaver is set, barring an upset by Norton or a surprise loss by Weaver in a defense against James "Quick" Tillis Feb. 28.

A major money fight would be one between the Weaver-Cooney winner, especially if it is Cooney who would be the first white heavyweight champion since Ingemar Johansson in 1959, against WBC champ Holmes to unify the heavyweight title.

The 31-year-old Holmes, who has indicated this could be his last year in the ring, is expected to open his 1981 campaign with a warmup against Trevor Berbick and follow with defenses against Marty Monroe and Leon Spinks and two other opponents. Holmes would like one of them to be Cooney, since he already has beaten Weaver.

Berbick, a Jamaican who lives in Canada, got into the title picture by handing John Tate his second straight knockout defeat on the Leonard-Roberto Duran card in Montreal June 20.

Tate, who lost the WBA title on 15th round knockout by Weaver, will fight for the first time since losing to Berbick when he meets Harvey Steichen Feb. 15 in Tate's hometown of Knoxville, Tenn.

Apparently Ali feels he can't end his career with the on-the-stool loss to Holmes and so is headed for a fight against European champion John L. Gardner. The fight has not been signed but Ali says it's going to happen.

Mickey Duff, the British promoter who manages Gardner, says Gardner has signed a letter of intent for an Ali fight with Harold Smith, president of Muhammad Ali Professional Sports, Inc. Duff also said he didn't want Ali to fight, but that he has a responsibility to Gardner, so if Ali wants to fight it might as well be against Gardner.

"This is his fight," says Smith, acknowledging Ali wants to fight. The promoter said possible fight sites are Puerto Rico, the Bahamas and Kingston, Jamaica. "It definitely won't be in the United States because the media in the United States would be too hard on Ali," said Smith.

Duran said he was retiring after quitting in the eighth round to lose the WBC welterweight title to Leonard Nov. 25. But now the Panamanian, who won the title from Leonard June 20, wants Sugar Ray again. Sources say Duran will fight again, maybe as early as March, but it won't be against Leonard.

De Paul Topples Georgetown

By JOHN NELSON

AP Sports Writer

It was almost inevitable that DePaul should feel some sort of a letdown after that game with UCLA. And Coach Ray Meyer had that bitter taste of fear in his mouth all day.

He suspected what was about to happen, and it did.

It was testimonial to his ballclub that the top-ranked Blue Demons came away with a 72-67 victory over Georgetown in the first round of the Cabrillo Classic at San Diego Monday night.

The Blue Demons, now undefeated in 10 games, hit just seven field goals in the second half, center Terry Cummings fouled out with 13 minutes left in the game and Georgetown held a 49-30 rebounding edge.

"I thought we'd be flat and we were. We were emotionally sky high for UCLA. I was scared to death all day," Meyer said.

"We stunk. Rebounding is all desire, and we didn't have the desire tonight," the DePaul coach said.

DePaul's largest lead was nine points, and the Blue Demons' lead shrank to just three with 3:51 left in the game. But down the stretch, DePaul sank 13 of 15 free throws, including two each by Skip Dillard and Mark Aguirre, to hold on for the victory.

"Free throws have been the difference for us all year," Meyer said.

Aguirre, who scored 24 points, said the Blue Demons just couldn't get aroused for the Georgetown game after Saturday's 93-77 drubbing of UCLA. "We were too pumped up. It drained us. We were emotionally let down," he said.

DePaul will face San Diego State in the title game of the Cabrillo tournament tonight.

In other games involving Top 20 teams, second-ranked Oregon State defeated Oregon 67-57 in the Far West Classic title game; No. 6 North Carolina downed Louisville 86-64 in the Trojan Classic; ninth-ranked Maryland crushed Marshall 114-84, and No. 10 Louisiana State whipped North Carolina-Wilmington 100-68.

In the Second Ten, 11th-ranked Texas A&M was upset by Cal-Irvine 91-74 in the KOA Classic; 13th-ranked Arizona State downed New Orleans 75-63 in the consolation game of the Sugar Bowl tournament; Clemson edged 15th-ranked Indiana 58-57 in the semifinals of the Rainbow Classic; 17th-rated South Alabama beat Navy 65-47; No. 18 Tennessee clobbered Duke 90-69 for the Sugar Bowl title, and 20th-ranked Utah defeated Northwestern 73-63 in the Far West Classic.

Mark Radford scored 20 points and help turn back an Oregon rally that gave Oregon State its second consecutive Far West tournament championship.

Oregon State led 48-33 with 9:43 left in the game, but high-scoring center Steve Johnson was on the bench in foul trouble.

The Ducks took advantage of his absence to pull within seven, at 60-53, but Radford sank for straight free throws to get the Beavers out of trouble. Ray Blume scored 18 points and Johnson had 13, even though he sat out most of the second half.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Polly Cramer

Stained wallpaper

DEAR POLLY — Do you have any suggestions for removing water stains from wallpaper? — MRS. R.F.J. DEAR MRS. R.F.J. — Spots and stains are very hard to remove from non-washable wallpaper. If your paper is washable, water stains might be removed by applying a thick solution of Fuller's Earth and a dry cleaning solvent to the stained area and letting it dry overnight. In the morning gently remove the loose powder and then wipe off with a sponge dampened in cold water. Hopefully this will help you. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I often make crocheted gifts for friends and relatives and whenever I give such a gift I always enclose the band from a skein of yarn so that the person will have the proper washing instructions. — CINDY DEAR POLLY — I had tried everything people told me to keep large ants out of the house, but had no luck until I tried turpentine. The ants came in the lower part of the window frames. I used a cotton swab that had been dipped in turpentine and drew a semi-circle on the cabinet top to keep them from crawling over to my work area. I also "painted" the wood frame where there was a crack I could work it into. — MRS. T.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Liquor won't help liver

DEAR DR. LAMB — I wrote you three years ago when I found out I had Addison's disease and got an answer from you. They have the Addison's disease pretty well straightened out. My problem now is the doctor says I have liver damage. Could this be caused from the disease that I have or the medicines I take? I do drink alcohol, but I wouldn't think it's enough to damage my liver. I would like your opinion on this. If I knew that any alcohol at all would damage my liver, I'd never touch another drop.

This has me awfully worried. I cried for days when the doctor told me about the liver damage. On top of Addison's disease and diabetes, it just seemed too much. Then I got to thinking, I'm able to work and do things, so I guess I'm luckier than a lot of people.

DEAR READER — I'm glad you can think positively. And I am pleased to learn the problem of adrenal insufficiency or your Addison's disease is under control.

There are many causes for liver damage, from alcohol to heart failure, from disorders of the biliary system to viral infections. Cortisone, which you are taking for Addison's disease, can alter liver function tests. And it can affect your blood glucose level, too.

Now, regardless of what causes liver damage, once you have any, you should be extremely careful about using any alcohol. I don't think you should be using it anyway. Alcohol is a toxin to liver cells, even if you eat a well-balanced, healthy diet. I hope you won't use another drop. It is not good for a person who has diabetes either.

To give you more information about the liver and liver diseases, I am sending you The Health Letter number 7-8, Living with Your Liver. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. While I would prefer that you had no liver damage, you should know that if it is mild and if you follow a good program and don't use alcohol, it may not cause you any serious consequences.
