

Theft of Airplane Under Investigation by SO

By JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor
Deaf Smith County sheriff's officers are continuing their investigation into the theft of a single-engine light aircraft from the Hereford Airport.

after the first of the year, according to Sheriff Travis McPherson. McPherson reported that the aircraft was parked in a hangar at the airport here and had a wheel lock in place. Thieves apparently jacked up the aircraft and removed the wheel lock before flying away with the aircraft. Ironically, the Cessna 210 was apparently stolen from the same hangar from which a similar Cessna 210, owned by Joe Reinauer and Logan McClelland, was stolen about two years ago. "This is one of the favored types of airplanes used in drug smuggling operations. I have no doubt smugglers were involved in the theft of this airplane," said McPherson. The Cessna 210 has a range of some 1,100 miles according to McPherson, and the fuel tanks on the Sears-Easley aircraft were full, according to the local sheriff. McPherson reported that the plane had been refueled and placed in a hangar at the airport about Dec. 22 or 23 and that an airport authority noticed that it was gone on Dec. 26, but assumed that one of its owners had taken the aircraft on a skiing trip. McPherson reported that Easley went to the airport to check on the plane after the first of the year and found it missing. "The trail was cold when we got it. We don't have much to go on. All we found was a bag with a western shirt and some pants in it left next to the hangar," said McPherson. "I think the airplane is in the U.S. somewhere, probably sitting at a large airport. It was a professional job," said McPherson, who estimated the replacement value of the aircraft at $170,000. Local authorities have put out the word on the stolen aircraft to airports throughout the country in hopes of locating the plane. "With a range like it has, the plane could already have been to Brazil and back," said McPherson. Local sheriff's officers are also looking to assist Castro County sheriff's officers in locating a suspect in a break-in and burglary at the home of Tom Draper on South Highway 385 during the Christmas holidays. According to McPherson, the Draper home, located on the Deaf Smith-Castro County border, was broken into and guns, appliances and other items were taken. Because the residence lies in Castro County the Castro County sheriff's office has jurisdiction in the case. However, the local sheriff's office is assisting in the investigation, and according to McPherson, a suspect arrested in connection with a house burglary in the county on New Year's Day may also be a strong suspect in the burglary at the Draper residence.

Strategy Session

Members of the Hereford Young Farmers map out last-minute plans for their upcoming junior livestock show during the organization's last regularly scheduled meeting before the Jan. 29-31 event. The stock show is open to 4-H and FFA youngsters from Deaf Smith, Castro, Parmer and Oldham counties and attracts a large turnout. The stock show is the major project for the local Young Farmer chapter each year. Young Farmers also made plans for a farm machinery sale to be held in late February during last night's session. # Tax Board Gives Approval To Computer Terminal Purchase

Deaf Smith County tax appraisal board members authorized the chief appraiser to order a computer terminal for the use of the tax office during a called meeting Thursday night. The terminal will cost about $515 per month, and is necessary because of the heavy daily use taxing operations require, board members decided. In other business, the board discussed the need for an auditor for the $5.5 million operation that includes four tax rolls and the school district. No decision was made, but

The Brand missed the swearing-in ceremonies for county officials on Jan. 1. Bill Bradley, commissioner of Precinct 1, was the only new face, but Sheriff Travis McPherson, Tax Assessor-Collector Nell Miller and Precinct 3 Commissioner Bruce Coleman also took the oaths of office for new terms.

There was a unique sidenote involved with Bradley's position. He became the first county official to fill a post once held by his grandfather. The precinct 1 post was held by L.R. Bradley when the county seat was at La Plata.

Bill says his grandfather had his ranch headquarters where the VFW clubhouse now stands. He would ride to La Plata on Sunday, hold court on Monday, and ride back on Tuesday. L.R. Bradley died in 1911, not long before the courthouse was completed in Hereford. Jack Rose, L.R.'s son-in-law, also held the county post in the 30's.

As we head into a new year, the general feeling in this community seems to be one of optimism, even though ag producers are still not sure what another year will bring.

Most of the optimism stems from a renewed faith that the nation's economic woes may start to be turned around under new political leadership. Ronald Reagan and the new faces in Congress have made some promises about changing the way this nation is headed. We can only hope that such will be the case.

The year 1980 was not all bad; it had its ups and downs. The average American, despite his complaints about the high costs of living, was living five times as well as people did 40 years ago. Ask anybody who was working for a living 40 years ago.

As the calendar turns over each year, we think about the future as well as the past. There has also been speculation as to what kind of world we will have when the year 2000 rolls around. To those of us whom 1960 seems like recent history, the year 2000 is not far away.

After Disturbance Call Deputy, Police Recover Vehicle

A call on a disturbance at the San Jose labor camp resulted in the recovery of a stolen 1979 Fiat by police and a deputy sheriff.

A request for assistance by the sheriff's office led police to the camp, and police saw several people jump from a vehicle and run.

Police later discovered that the vehicle had been stolen from a shop at First National Fuel and Fertilizer.

The business had been broken into and items rifled in the office before the car was taken after 11:30 last night.

Vandalism at the Bradley Photography Studio, 904 East Park, resulted in about $2,500 in damages.

Vandals placed a water hose through a small opening and flooded the studio's basement. Many picture frames and an undetermined amount of wood and other materials stored in the basement were destroyed. Police were called to 704 Stanton this morning at 7:30 to investigate a window shot out by a BB gun or a pellet gun. Estimated damage to the living room window is $100.

Burglars stole several pounds of pork, hamburger meat and a large bag of flour during a break-in at the Northwest Elementary cafeteria. Entry to the school was gained through a window broken out sometime Thursday night. A bus parking sign was intentionally knocked down in front of La Plata Jr. High yesterday. Police said someone drove up onto the curb and knocked the sign down. Police investigated two accidents yesterday, one at the intersection of Bowie and Avenue E and another at Highway 60 and Holly Sugar road. No injuries were reported. Fifteen traffic citations were issued Thursday.

Serving Hustlin' Hereford, Deaf Smith County

Burdett: Age of Farmer Is Coming on Scene

By CHERI WARD
Staff Writer
The new president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce is enthusiastic and excited about Hereford's prospects for the next decade.

Tom Burdett, president-elect of the chamber, said Thursday that the age of the farmer is coming, and control of the world's economy will no longer be in the hands of OPEC nations, but in the fields of agriculturalists.

One of Burdett's main goals in his term as chamber head is greater involvement of farmers in the chamber.

"It is Deaf Smith County, Chamber of Commerce, not the Hereford Chamber of Commerce," Burdett emphasized.

Burdett also said chamber members realize the farmer is the backbone of this community, and he pledged to put a great deal more emphasis on farmers and agricultural producers than in the past.

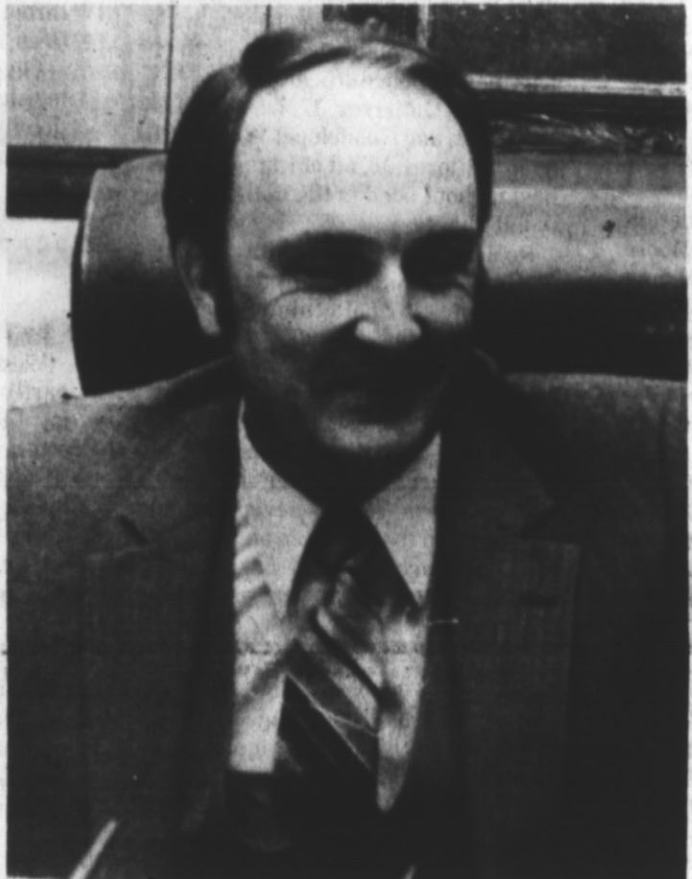

A community-wide project to honor producers of agricultural products in the community has been proposed by Burdett and other chamber members.

The project proposed is similar to Maize Day in Friona or the XIT Rodco in Dalhart, and community organizations including 4-H, FFA, Home Demonstration and garden clubs would be asked to support or initiate the project with chamber guidance.

This and other projects will be discussed at the chamber's January retreat, Burdett said.

Burdett also seeks to increase the membership of the Chamber and the involvement of board directors and committee heads in the chamber's activities.

"I guess you might summarize my main goal with Tom Burdett, new president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, put forward several goals to be accomplished by close cooperation of chamber members and coordination of chamber activities in a Thursday interview. Burdett, an enthusiastic supporter of Hereford, believes the age of the farmer has come to Deaf Smith County and the world.

one word--involvement," Burdett said.

Currently, the chamber receives about $3000 yearly from the city as its one-third share of a one percent hotel motel tax collected with sales taxes at the time of registration.

Burdett said the chamber deserves a larger share--up to 50 or 60 percent--since the chamber is heavily involved in community promotion.

Burdett cited the attraction of play-off football games, basketball tournaments and track meets to Hereford as evidence of substantial financial benefit brought to the community by the Chamber.

"These people come in and they have to eat and sleep," Burdett said.

Motels, restaurants, service stations and other commercial enterprises profit by the influx of visitors to Hereford, he said.

Increased industrialism--gasohol plants, a tannery and other agricultural-related facilities--along with the development of the oil and gas industry is another joint goal of Burdett and the chamber.

Burdett said he could elaborate more on specific plans for attraction of industrial development after he met with chamber directors next week.

As president of the chamber, Burdett will chair and preside over the Board of Directors as well as coordinating the actions and activities of the chamber, Burdett said.

He plans to work closely with chamber manager Mike Carr and vice-president Bill Johnson and Bob Gentry, treasurer, to accomplish his goals.

Burdett will represent the chamber at local functions, and he will represent Hereford at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention.

Burdett will also travel to Washington D.C. in late February for the convention of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Burdett, a partner in Thomas and Burdett Law Firm, has practiced law in Hereford since 1967. Originally a native of Alpine, he and his wife Carlie have three daughters.

In addition to his active role in the chamber, Burdett is a board member for the Hereford Y.M.C.A. and the family is active in the Central Church of Christ where Burdett serves as a deacon.

Mary Sentenced To 50 Years

A 28-year-old Hereford man has been sentenced to 50 years in the Texas Department of Corrections after pleading guilty to a charge of aggravated robbery in 222nd District Court here while a second Hereford man has been found guilty of charges of receiving stolen property and sentenced to a two year probation sentence.

According to District Attorney Roland Saul, Richard Mary, 28, was sentenced to 50 years in the state penitentiary on Dec. 31 after withdrawing an insanity defense and pleading guilty.

Mary was found competent to stand trial during a special hearing here on Oct. 14.

Mary was charged in connection with the aggravated robbery of Hereford resident Aristeo Alaniz on April 6, 1980.

According to Saul, Frank Mays of Hereford was found guilty by a 222nd District Court jury in connection with charges of buying a stolen instrument obtained in a burglary Jan. 4, 1980 at Hereford High School.

Mays was assessed a two year probation sentence by the jury following presentation of the case before Dist. Judge Wesley Gulley's court.

Delays Could Improve Hostage Return Prospects

WASHINGTON (AP) — Algeria's enhanced role in negotiations over release of the 52 American hostages is causing a delay that Carter administration officials say could end up improving prospects for an agreement with Iran.

Deputy Secretary of State Warren M. Christopher, who rushed to Algiers Wednesday night to explain the legal problems that prevent unfreezing all Iranian assets, is extending his talks there with Foreign Minister Mohamed Benyahia and his advisers at least until Saturday, officials here said.

The initiative taken in recent days by the Algerians, who are turning out to be more than strictly intermediaries between leaders in Washington and Tehran, is seen as a potential ly positive development by administration officials.

Impressed with the Algerians' grasp of the negotiating intricacies, U.S. officials say a more active Algerian role could accelerate a settlement for two reasons.

First, the Algerians are able to anticipate Iran's concerns over the U.S. position. This could save time in the closing 11 days of the Carter administration.

Second, the Algerians' greater involvement gives the revolutionaries in Tehran an out if they choose to take it. Terms that Iranian leaders might otherwise find hard to accept politically could be adopted on the grounds Algeria recommended them and they were the last, best U.S. offer. But U.S. officials stressed that deep disagreement remains with Iran on how much of Iran's blocked assets can be transferred to an escrow account to be paid to Iran when the hostages are released.

Claims against Iran by U.S. citizens and American firms have tied up nearly $8 billion. According to U.S. officials, who asked not to be identified, Iran has offered to post $1 billion in guarantees to meet those claims.

The administration wants the entire dispute over the U.S. claims turned over to an international claims commission.

A reply to 15 questions posed by Iran was drafted here Tuesday night, with the intention of transmitting it to Tehran. But, the officials said, Algeria doubted the reply would do the trick with the Iranians.

Clues Sought

In Stabbing Death

CANADIAN, Texas (AP) — As this tiny Panhandle community on Thursday eulogized and mourned the death of one of its daughters, a task force of state agents and police in Oklahoma continued to follow the threads of a tiny store of evidence gathered in the probe of the woman's stabbing death Monday in her Moore, Okla., apartment.

Townpeople here jammed the Baptist church on the edge of town to pay tribute to Tracey Diane Neilson, the 21-year-old daughter of one of Canadian's most respected families, city officials said.

"You couldn't even get in the church," said City Manager Vernie Farrington, one of an estimated 500 mourners who attended the services. "People were standing in every aisle — even in the hallways."

Canadian High School principal Sam Scroggins said a large group of students signed out of classes to attend the funeral.

Mrs. Neilson, the former Tracey Waterfield, was salutatorian of her Canadian High School graduating class of 53 students three years ago. She also was a star basketball player and an honors student who played on the school's tennis and golf teams. She was head cheerleader her senior year, Scroggins said.

Scroggins described the slaying victim as "an all-around, All-American girl."

"She never met a stranger," he said.

Meanwhile, a task force in Oklahoma made up of four Moore police detectives, four Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation agents and a lab technician still were uncertain Thursday whether Mrs. Neilson's killer was a stranger or an acquaintance, nor were they certain of the slayer's motive.

Mrs. Neilson was not robbed, her home was not burglarized, and she was not sexually attacked, police said.

Scheme May Have

Cost Family $380,000

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Authorities here are searching for thieves who bilked a family feed lot out of about $380,000 by using a radio-controlled hydraulic device to alter truck scales.

An area supervisor for the Texas Department of Agriculture is warning owners of large feed lots scattered in the Panhandle and South Plains regions about the scale-tampering scheme.

Wayne Cure said he found the hydraulic device planted in the truck scale mechanism of the family-owned Lubbock Feed Lots.

Jay Crofoot, owner of the feed lots, said he was suspicious of two drivers hauling loads of corn because he thought their company had defrauded the Lubbock Feedlots in July.

"After a little investigation of our own, we knew they had done it last summer. We decided to try them one more time to see if we could catch them," he said.

Crofoot said he weighed the trucks Wednesday but could not get the scales to balance. When he asked the drivers to wait, he said, they drove out of the lot.

Department of Public Safety investigator Jerry Johnson said no arrests had been made.

Men Who Killed

Policeman Indicted

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — A Potter County grand jury took only an hour to return capital murder indictments against four men charged with the Christmas night shooting death of an Amarillo police officer.

Ernesto Gutierrez, 17, his brothers Victor, 23, and Guadalupe, 19, and Urbano J. Flores, 18, all of Dumas, were held without bond in the Potter County jail Thursday.

Police say patrolman Berry McGuire, 26, was shot to death with his own .357 Magnum service revolver during a scuffle with four men he had stopped on a routine traffic violation.

Witnesses told police McGuire was overpowered by three of the men as he tried to arrest the driver of the car. McGuire was beaten severely and shot twice in the abdomen and once in the head, according to an autopsy ## report.

When McGuire was found dead by an officer responding to his call for assistance, police launched a massive manhunt for the suspects.

Two men were arrested shortly after the shooting when their car apparently ran out of gas just outside of Amarillo. One man was wearing McGuire's police handcuffs, police said.

Two other men were arrested the next day, one as he walked along a railroad track in Amarillo, the other at his mother's home in Dumas.

Police said officers found what they believe was McGuire's service revolver underneath the floor of one man's home.

Clements Intends

To Trim State Budget

HOUSTON (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements intends to trim $600 million to $700 million from expenditures recommended by the Legislative Budget Board.

And, Clements said Thursday, he hopes to return some of an estimated $1 billion surplus "to the taxpayers in the form of tax relief."

Speaking to the Houston Automobile Dealers Association, the governor said he does want to increase the budgets for Texas Southern University and Prairie View A&M and is "totally opposed to any move to abolish the two universities."

TSU and Prairie View are predominantly black schools.

"We have got to change that tax-and-spend kind of thinking. We have got to put our emphasis on getting the most services out of our dollars through better management practices."

Clements also said he would ask the legislature to consider a constitutional amendment allowing the state to guarantee a low-interest loan program to provide money for prospective small business people "who have a good record of experience."

Tehran Article Says Hostage Failed to Cross Embassy Wall

By The Associated Press

In the early days of their captivity, one of the American hostages in Iran tried to escape by scaling the U.S. Embassy wall, but he was caught hiding inside an empty oil drum, according to an article in an underground Tehran newspaper published Thursday.

The anonymous writer of the article in Mojahed, the paper of the Islamic Socialist movement Mojahedin, claimed to have been one of the militants who seized the embassy and hostages Nov. 4, 1979. He said he left the group because he concluded the militants were not truly "anti-imperialist."

The article said three Americans tried to escape at different times, but all three attempts failed. The writer described only one of the incidents, involving an unidentified hostage.

He said an American who was being kept on the ground floor of the embassy tore off a screen window on night and lowered himself to the ground in front of an armed guard who had fallen into a "sweet sleep." The article continued:

"The American walks past the sleeping guard and starts for the northern wall of the embassy grounds.

"Another guard patrolling the grounds spots him, orders him to halt and fires warning shots into the air.

"The hostage reacts deftly, snatching the bullet loader off the guard's gun, then sprints again for the north wall."

The story said the hostage made it to the 10-foot-high wall and jumped onto an empty oil drum to try and scale the wall.

"Other guards alerted by the sound of shooting start shooting into the air, too," the article said. "The hostage is frightened. He drops down into the barrel to hide."

After a long search, one guard decided to look over the wall and "as he lifts his foot onto the rim of the barrel, he realizes the hostage is inside," according to the writer.

The article said the hostage was asked what he was doing in the barrel and replied, "I became impatient. I came out to make a phone call."

Clayton Says He Might Run For a Fifth Speaker Term

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Bill Clayton, assured of election to an unprecedented fourth term as House speaker next Tuesday, says he might run for a fifth term in 1983.

He once said he would leave the Legislature after completing his 1981-82 term but when reminded of that Thursday, Clayton replied with a grin, "I've made New Year's resolutions, too."

Clayton raised the possibility of a fifth term — which would make him speaker for a decade — during an informal chat with reporters after holding a news conference on issues before the 67th Legislature.

"All I am doing is looking at the 67th session. When I see how everything is rolling, I will make my decisions on my future at that time," he said.

Clayton's federal trial on charges arising from the FBI's Brihab (bribery and labor) investigation is widely believed to have damaged his chances of winning a statewide election next year.

Even so, he said, "I haven't dammed up any possibility," when asked about a race in 1982.

He denied using the fifth term threat to avoid lame duck status that could embolden House members to resist his authority.

Clayton said his control over redistricting would give even a lame duck all the leverage he needs.

Clayton was acquitted Oct. 22 of federal corruption charges. He acknowledged receiving $5,000 in cash from labor official L.G. Moore but testified he never intended to keep it.

He said it would be a good idea for the Legislature to require all political contributions to be made by check, not cash.

"There wouldn't have been a Brihab had there been a law like that because he would have had to give me cash," Clayton said.

At his news conference, Clayton said:

— Redistricting of the Legislature and Texas congressional seats is "back on schedule" and "I think we can produce a bill" drawing district lines that reflect the 1980 census.

— He prefers using the state treasury surplus to create a trust fund for water development projects instead of paying it out as tax relief.

— Gov. Bill Clements' wiretap bill has a better chance of passing than in 1979 because it offers more safeguards against abuse by law enforcement officers.

— He would not oppose an indirect initiative and referendum proposal that would allow public petitioning to force the Legislature to act on an issue. But he would oppose direct passage of laws by the people.

— It is "almost imperative" that the Legislature act to provide safe storage of low-level nuclear waste.

— A regional presidential primary bill in which several states would vote on the same day has a good chance of passage this session and has his support.

Reagan is Optimistic About Hostage Release

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President-elect Ronald Reagan, still reluctant to say what he might do if the American hostages are not out of Iran when he takes office, is expressing optimism that the crisis will be resolved before he has to tackle it.

Reagan said Thursday he felt confident he would be able to carry out any agreement President Carter might reach to free the 52 Americans.

But, he added, he would feel free once in office Jan. 20 to review the course of the negotiations, implying that he also would feel free to alter them.

"I don't think anyone should be asked to sign a blank check," he told reporters at the State Department after meeting at an auditorium there with his Cabinet nominees. Questions about Iran dogged Reagan later in the day as he made his way across the country for a five-day stay at his home in nearby Pacific Palisades — his last planned stay there before taking the oath of office a week from Tuesday.

When Reagan's Air Force jetliner touched down at Tinker Air Force Base in Oklahoma City for refueling, the president-elect emerged and told questioning reporters that "all of us feel a little more optimistic and think that at last we might be getting someplace."

"At least I feel that way," he said, explaining that he was more hopeful than "a month ago (when) everything seemed to be at a stalemate."

But the president-elect acknowledged that he was making no effort to keep in close touch with the negotiations. He said he did not have access "to that information that prompted" Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher to take off suddenly Wednesday night to consult with intermediaries in Algiers. But, Reagan said, "there must be something cooking."

Then, after he landed in Los Angeles, he was about to enter a waiting limousine at Los Angeles International Airport when, after hesitating, he strode over to respond to questions from beekoning reporters.

Was Carter giving away too much in the negotiations?

"I'm just not going to comment," he said.

Was he prepared to take a more forceful stand than Carter, once in office?

"I don't want to comment while this is going on," he said.

Reagan's focus during 2½ days in Washington was the economy.

During his campaign, Reagan said he would push for a personal income tax cut to be made retroactive to Jan. 1. Although he made no specific statement Thursday, he indicated he would push for an income tax cut to be effective as soon as possible.

Home Assistance Loans Available

Cash payments of $20 to $40 to assist low income households meet the increased cost of energy for home heating are available from the Texas Department of Human Resources under the Home Energy Assistance Program.

Hereford families can apply for this assistance at the Deaf Smith County Community Action Center, 303 McKinley, said Jean Patty, director.

Applicants should bring some type of income verification, said Patty, such as social security checks, employment verification or Aid to Families with Dependent Children certification.

Applications for the cash assistance program must be made by February 28 of this year, and cash payments will be awarded based on family size, income and the primary energy source used.

Eligible applicants should receive payments within 20 to 30 days from the Department of Human Resources.

Families already receiving Supplemental Security Income, Food Stamps or Aid to Families with Dependent Children do not need to apply for the assistance because they will receive benefits automatically.

Bull

There are people in our community who were around when the year 1900 showed up on the calendar. Some were just children but they can remember living in a different world. Soon after the turn of the century, people traveled by horse and buggy. They had no paved roads, but the automobile was becoming popular.

They had no radio or television; their newspapers were not delivered daily; travel was slow and difficult, and they had to put out more physical labor to survive. People appreciated the necessities of life and only once in a great while did they get to taste the luxuries.

Change was gradual for the first 40 years of this century, but the global war that began in 1941 changed all that. The war brought vast and sweeping changes in our way of life, our tools and products.

Who would have thought, in 1941, how living styles would change in the next 40 years? Who would have thought that the average newlywed couple wants a home with central heat and air, carpet and dishwasher, two-car garage and a microwave oven?

But probably the invention that has changed the American way of life more than anything else has been television. It is a home entertainment center, taking the place of family conversation and visiting with friends, and its influence upon all facets of American life is overwhelming. It has influenced morals and manners and has become an addiction to some that rivals dependence on drugs.

Won't it be interesting to look back in the year 2000 and see how far we've come, how much we've changed?

Power Outage Darkens Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Engineers worked today to find the cause of a vast power failure that hit 1½ million residents of Utah, Idaho and Wyoming and left people jangling from ski lifts, awaiting rescue in elevators and maneuvering in traffic snarled by blacked-out signals.

It was one of the most widespread outages in U.S. history.

"The entire state of Utah lost electricity from lunchtime to suppertime Thursday. Some 27,000 people in five Wyoming counties also lost power for up to 45 minutes, and a few communities in southeastern Idaho also were affected. Lights flickered in eastern Nevada, but stayed on.

By early today, 99 percent of Utah Power & Light's customers had full power.

Officials at the utility said they didn't know what triggered the seven-hour outage, although they speculated a break in a 230,000-volt power line may have contributed to the problem.

At 11:38 a.m. MST, elevators throughout Utah halted between floors, traffic lights darkened, radio stations went silent and television signals were knocked off the air.

"This is ridiculous," snapped a girl who had just lost a quarter in an electronic game machine.

Skiers dangled over mid-slope from Snowbird Mountain's Gad II lift for an hour before a backup power system got them moving.

An open heart operation — in progress at the University of Utah Medical Center when the electricity failed — continued with light from spare generators. But all other operations were canceled for the day.

A graduate student at Brigham Young University in Provo fractured both knees when he fell four floors as he tried to escape from a stuck elevator. Simon Tang, 22, was hospitalized in critical but stable condition.

The power failure, which occurred just as lunchtime crowds began filling Salt Lake City streets, triggered numerous minor traffic accidents. But Mayor Ted Wilson said motorists adjusted quickly.

Although banks were blacked out and electronic cash registers in stores were frozen, no increase in crime was reported, according to Salt Lake City Police Chief Bud Willoughby.

Temperatures were in the 30s.

The mayor, who had planned a curfew had power not been restored by nightfall, said the comparative lack of problems "speaks well for the people of Utah."

In November 1965, a power failure blacked out most of the northeastern United States and parts of two Canadian provinces for a night. In July 1977, New York City and some suburbs lost power for 25 hours, and looting and vandalism caused millions of dollars in losses.

The worst previous outage in Utah came on the day of the nation's Bicentennial, July 4, 1976, when a malfunctioning switch in Kemmerer, Wyo., plunged 85 percent of Utah Power's service area into darkness.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The city's flu outbreak has increased to seven confirmed cases, five of them reported by Wilford Hall Air Force Medical Center.

All the cases at the military hospital, located on Lackland Air Force Base, were A-Bankok Influenza, the hospital reported.

The San Antonio Metropolitan Health District reported two other cases of the type A variety, but they have not been sub-typed to distinguish them between A-Bankok and A-Brazil.

"We are seeing an increased number of flu-like symptoms, but primarily among new recruits at Lackland Air Force Base who did not receive flu shots or received them too late to provide immunity," a Wilford Hall spokesman said.

Texas is among nine states reporting large numbers of influenza cases.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A man was shot to death shortly before midnight Wednesday outside a bar where he and another patron quarreled over a woman, police report.

Andres Torres, 27, was shot at least eight times in the chest in the fray after he objected about the other bar patron dancing with a female acquaintance of the victim, investigating officers reported.

During the argument, witnesses said, one of the men told the other, "come outside and fight like a man."

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Hot rhetoric has punctuated a squabble between a city councilman and municipal judge over the dismissal of traffic tickets.

Republican councilman Van Henry Archer calls the ticket dismissals, "the Pena scam," in reference to Judge Albert Pena, a Democrat.

"Ordinarily, I do not waste my time jousting with pygmies," Pena retorted. Pena added that he was not going to become "the whipping boy of a simplistic, Neanderthal, Richard Nixon apologist, nor am I going to resign."

Archer has been carrying out a campaign against dismissal of traffic tickets, saying he is convinced there is a correlation between fatal traffic accidents and the number of tickets dismissed for certain individuals.

Lignite May Grow In Energy Picture

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Chairman James Nugent of the Railroad Commission said Thursday that lignite — used so little in 1970 that no accurate records were kept — should provide 40 percent of Texas' energy needs by 2000.

Nugent told a seminar on the federal Natural Gas Pricing Act that an estimated 3.5 million tons of lignite were produced in Texas in 1970, but current production totals 35-36 million tons.

He said the state has six billion tons of lignite that can be "economically recovered and used."

"We have an exceedingly bright picture as far as energy is concerned," Nugent said.

He said, however, he believed the nation would "be better served" if the federal Department of Energy were abolished. Many at the seminar — designed primarily for oil and gas company employees — applauded.

TTU Band Director Relinquishes Duties

LUBBOCK - Dean Killion, who "built the best collegiate band program in the country" during the past 21 years at Texas Tech University is relinquishing his duties as director of the Goin' Band from Raiderland, effective at the start of the spring semester.

Killion will continue to teach in the Department of Music at Texas Tech.

Dr. Len Ainsworth, interim vice president for Academic Affairs at Texas Tech, said that a committee would be named in the immediate future to search for a successor to Killion.

"We do not anticipate an early appointment, however," Ainsworth said. "The high quality of band performance set by Dean Killion will make the position attractive, and we expect that applications will be submitted from throughout the nation."

Killion said he was proud of every Tech band "and the 1980 band was no exception."

Dr. Harold T. Luce, chairman of the Department of Music, said he believed he spoke on behalf of the entire university when he expressed the "very deep appreciation we all have of Dean Killion's service to the students and the music program" at Texas Tech.

"His superior performance is recognized nationwide," he said. "He has built the best collegiate band program in the country during the past 21 years."

At one time friends compiled some of the comments of those who witnessed Raiderland band performances. Said a Philadelphia viewer, "Anyone who contends there's a better band in the country will get an argument from me;" from California, "Your show stood on its strength as an artistically produced and flawlessly performed musical presentation of the highest calibre." After praising a bowl performance, an Ohio viewer wrote that "the T.V. announcers who see many of the fine bands throughout the football season also claimed this to be the best they have seen."

Under Killion's direction, the band performed for close to 100 football halftime shows as well as scholarship benefit concerts. He also directed more than 160 concerts and five recording sessions. He has participated in more than 300 clinics and workshops and directed the Texas Tech Concert Band I in concert, the Lubbock Municipal Band and the Court Jesters who play at basketball games and other events. He has played trumpet with the Faculty Brass Quintet. His publications include "Notes," "Marching Band Check List" and "Marching Band Tips."

The University of Nebraska honored him as an Outstanding Alumnus in 1974 and the West Texas Museum Association has presented him its Action Award.

He is a member of the American Bandmasters, the College Band Directors, the National Band Directors, the Texas Music Educators and the Texas Bandmasters associations.

Killion's outstanding performances began in the Fairfield, Neb., high school where he graduated with honors in 1944. He had lettered in basketball and track, was an honorary basketball team captain and was rated superior in every county and district music contest he entered as a cornet soloist. He won a highly superior rating in the National-Regional Contest his sophomore year.

After two years' service in the Navy, he studied at the University of Nebraska School of Music and graduated with distinction in 1950, earning the Master of Music degree in 1951. He belonged to four music honor societies and was president of the University of Nebraska Band and an officer in two other societies. He was director of the University Brass Choir his last year in graduate school. He later took doctoral studies at the State University of Iowa.

He was music supervisor and director of instrumental music in the Sidney, Neb., public schools from 1951 to 1955, and his bands consistently won superior ratings. In 1955, he was appointed instructor of brass instruments and assistant director of bands at the University of Nebraska. In 1957 he was named director of bands and assistant professor of music at Fresno State College (Calif.).

Killion came to Texas Tech in 1959 as director of bands. Under his direction band enrollment grew from 110 members to almost 500 members, including the marching band of more than 300 members and four concert bands.

Contest Winners

Hereford High School speech students recently competed in the American Legion Oratorical Contest here. Contestants presented two speeches concerning the United States Constitution to the panel of judges. Shown from left are Willa Bess Lawson, first place; Caroline Kearns, second place; and Sabra Parker, third place. The winners will compete in the district contest in Amarillo Jan. 30.

Miss Lawson Wins Oratorical Contest

Willa Bess Lawson, Hereford High school senior, took top honors at the American Legion Oratorical Contest held Wednesday at the high school.

This is the 44th year the American Legion has sponsored the contest throughout the United States and the second year in Hereford according to Garth Thomas, Legion Post Commander.

Caroline Kearns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Kearns, won second place and Sabra Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Parker won the third spot. Miss Lawson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reece Lawson.

Kathy Geiger and Elizabeth Rudd also participated in the contest. They are members of Mary Parker's speech class at the high school.

The contestants are required to present two speeches to a panel of judges concerning the United States Constitution. The speeches include a memorized speech; with an 8-10 minute limit and an extemporaneous speech with a 3-5 minute limit.

The topic for the extemporaneous speech is taken from one of the articles in the constitution. The contestants are not informed as to which article until five minutes before they are to present the speech.

"The students are required to relate the importance of the constitution to their daily lives. I think they did a splendid job. It is a difficult subject for high school students but they did splendidly," Thomas said.

Hereford winners will travel to Amarillo Jan. 31 to participate in the district contest. Winners of that contest will then advance to the divisional contest at Odessa Feb. 13.

Auxiliary Participates In Orientation Course

Representatives from the Veterans Administration Medical Center in Amarillo presented a hospital orientation course to members of the Hereford American Legion Auxiliary Tuesday at the Legion Hall.

The course was given to prepare volunteers for work at the Medical Center in Amarillo. Instructors included Charles Emery, chief of volunteer service at V.A. Medical Center; Mrs. Ivor Davis, department hospital representative of the American Legion Auxiliary and Mrs. Florine Brockman, deputy hospital representative of Nazareth.

"Groups and individuals may contribute to a fund to assist indigent patients in the V.A. hospital and good clean clothing is always needed," Emery said.

He told members there are 172 V.A. hospitals in the United States and 10 are located in Texas. There are several contract bed hospitals in the state.

The Hereford group has planned to go to Amarillo Jan. 12 for a bingo game with the patients.

Prior to the business meeting, the auxiliary joined the American Legion for dinner at the hall.

Susie Woodford, a former resident of Iran, will be guest speaker for the Feb. 2 meeting at the Legion Hall.

About 20 members of the Hereford unit were present at the meeting. Other guests present were Irene Wilhelm of Nazareth and Nina Estlinger of Amarillo.

Vogel Listed On Deans Honor Roll

Gary Vogel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Vogel of 305 Stadium Drive, recently qualified for the Deans Honor Roll for the 1980 Fall Semester at Clarendon College.

Dr. Bob E. Riley, Dean of Instruction at Clarendon College announced the names of those listed on the Deans List.

To be eligible for the Deans list, a student must have an average of 3.6 or above and be enrolled in 12 or more semester hours and have an A average in a Vocational Technical program.

Dr. Riley stated "Clarendon College is proud of all its students, but we are especially pleased when our students achieve excellence in their studies."

Vogel had an 3.8 average.

Ann Landers

Traveled That Road

DEAR ANN: I just read the letter from "Depending on You in San Mateo." She was the 16-year-old girl who was going with a guy who kept pressuring her to have sex. He asked her what she was saving it for and she said she couldn't think of a good reason. Well--read on.

When I was 16 I couldn't think of a good reason, either. I was going with a guy I liked a lot, and he was awfully persistent. He said he loved me so much he just couldn't take it any more. (Sound familiar?) Also, I wanted to experience sex because everyone else was doing it.

I didn't know much about birth control, so I took a chance on what my friends said was a "safe" time. It was safe all right. For him. Within three months, he was safe, and I was pregnant.

What I am trying to say is this: It's your body and your life. If something goes wrong you will have to face the responsibility of having a child or getting an abortion.

If the guy really loves you he will take care of you. He will not risk your health, your peace of mind and your reputation. I know what I am talking about because I have--Traveled That Road In Long Island

DEAR LONG ISLAND: Thanks for a very good letter.

I hope every teenager who is sexually active or considering joining the ranks will clip your letter for future reference. It's worth the effort.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You have made trouble for me twice in the last eight months. I'll bet you have made the same kind of trouble for others.

My name is Norman. I live in Los Angeles and am the father of three children. My wife's name is Marge. A while back you printed a letter from a guy who signed himself "Norman on the West Coast." His problem was about a battle-axe mother-in-law (like mine.) When that column appeared I got a lot of ribbing.

Yesterday a letter signed "Norm's Wife, Marge" appeared in your space. It was about a couple with three kids, and the wife had a habit of going off on spending sprees--which mine does. Again I got needed.

Why don't you play it safe and use made-up names, no nobody will get hurt? I have never written to you in my life, but I had to write now and get this off my chest.--Not Guilty

DEAR NORM: Sorry I gotcha, pal. I often change names, number of children, city and state to protect the innocent, but invariably I score a bull's-eye someplace. If you can think of a fail-safe name combination, let me know.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Before I married my wife she was engaged to (and sleeping with) another guy. We have been married 12 years and I'm sure Nora has been completely faithful.

Dance Set

For Tonight

A dance has been scheduled for tonight at the Knights of Columbus Hall sponsored by the High Adventure Explorer Post No. 1.

"Peeler and Foster" will provide music for the dance which will be from 8 p.m. - midnight. Admission is $2.50 for singles and $4 per couple. All proceeds will go towards the post's trip to the coast this summer according to Steve Cortez, Boy Scout District Executive.

Anyone who would like more information about the Explorer group can contact Cortez at 364-1965.

The problem is this: We keep running into her old flame at weddings, funerals and social events. Nora greets him in a casual manner, as if she knows him only slightly. It galls me to see her put on this innocent act.

I think she shouldn't speak to him at all. Right or wrong?--Anti-Phonies

DEAR ANTI: Wrong. If Nora didn't speak to him at all, it would be most unnatural and people would suspect they are still sleeping together.

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers' booklet, "Booze and You - For Teen-Agers Only." Send 50 cents and a self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Work Continues On DSC History

Work is continuing on the Deaf Smith County History Book project being sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Historical Society.

As deadline nears for submitting family histories for the DS History book many local residents are hesitant in writing their histories, according to Kathryn Ruga, publicity chairman.

"Oh but I couldn't write a family history, I don't know how," seems to be the feeling of several people," she added.

Below are two examples for both oldtimers and newcomers to Hereford. Deadline for stories and pictures is Feb. 2. The public is encouraged to submit their histories as soon as possible.

Oldtimers Story

Edgar Champe Carter

Visiting kinfolks in Hereford, the Edgar Carter family of Altus, Okla., liked the town so well they decided to move here in 1912. Mrs. Carter was a sister of "Aunt Jennie" Thompson, and being near the Thompson family was an inducement for moving.

They rented a house near Central School, where six of their eight children were to be pupils. The second daughter, Jennie Love, who later married Jesse Buckner and still lives in Hereford, was a high school junior.

When she was a senior in the class of 1914, the school board offered a $5 prize to the girl graduate whose dress was least expensive. Jennie spent 97 cents for material and with expert handwork made a pretty dress that won the prize and is now in Deaf Smith County Museum.

A carpenter, Carter worked for a construction firm which erected large buildings such as churches, so he was away from home for long periods. Jennie Buckner remembers that her mother took much of the responsibility for the family as well as working hard at the endless household tasks of that time.

Edgar Champe Carter, born near Booneville, Miss. March 28, 1867, and Sallie Morris, born the same year in Collin County, Tex., married June 21, 1886 in Dexter, Cook County, and later lived in Gainesville and in Marietta, Okla., then Indian Territory.

Edgar Carter died Oct. 12, 1932, in Amarillo and Sallie Carter lived until Dec. 21, 1956. Both are buried in West Park Cemetery.

Their oldest son, Frank Moore Carter, had married Inez Worley, from another oldtime Deaf Smith County family, in 1909 and lived in Amarillo. He died there in 1918. His son, Frank Jr., ranches north of Pampa.

Kitty Irene, born 1889 in Dexter, now lives near her son, Jack Carter Riley, in Portland, Ore. She worked for an Amarillo newspaper, the Daily Panhandle, married George Riley and lived in Amarillo many years.

Jennie, born in Gainesville, 1895, married Jesse Buckner July 4, 1915. Their children, all born in Hereford, are Mrs. J.K. (Irene) Salsar of Lubbock, Barbara Ford of New Orleans, Joe Edgar of San Antonio, Mrs. W.C. (Jessie Ann) Davis of Hereford, and Mrs. Jesse Lovorn (Nan) Richeson of Gainesville.

Nelia Alma, born 1897 in Marietta, married Gilbert Fox in 1918 and after his death taught school and reared four children. She died in 1974 at Waxahachie.

Mary Aileen, born 1902, died 1965 in Reno, Nev. Married George Caskey in 1918, had three children.

William Alex, born at Altus, 1904, died 1979, had a daughter and two sons.

Jesse Morris, 1907-1969, had a daughter, Harriett of Amarillo.

Bettie, youngest of the Carter children, married Jack Moore, 1936, had two daughters, and died in 1953.

Newcomers Story

Lester and Marjorie Mehlberg

Lester and Marjorie Mehlberg moved to Hereford, Texas in Deaf Smith County in 1978 from Bloomington-Normal, Illinois (McLean County) the heart of the Corn Belt.

Moving from McLean County, Illinois which is the richest agricultural county in Illinois to Deaf Smith County, the leading county in agriculture in the state of Texas, had made them both feel right at home. They have always been a part of Agri-business since they were both born and raised on farms and have an interest in their family farms in Illinois.

Lester graduated from the University of Illinois (he also attended Illinois State University) in 1942 and one week later was drafted into the U.S. Army where he served 3 years and 9 months during World War II. Marjorie graduated from Illinois State University and taught in the elementary grades. They were married in 1946 and made their home in Normal, Illinois for 31 years.

Lester worked for Funk Seeds International (home-based in Bloomington, Illinois) as a geneticist and an agronomist for 31 years. His main area of research was developing hybrid seed corn for the Deep South. He came to Hereford to manage Food Commodities, Inc., (formerly Olton Seed of Olton, Texas) which specializes in food quality seed corn and sunflower seed.

When their three children got into school Marjorie went back to the university to become certified as a librarian and an instructional media specialist and for the next 11 years was an Instructional Media Specialist for an elementary school. Since coming to Hereford she has been busy catching up on her hobbies and becoming involved in church and community affairs.

Their three children are all married and they have five grandchildren. Judith Ann and Craig have three little girls. Craig is an insurance agent for Sentry Ins. Co. and Judy teaches in the Special Education department in the high school. Linda and Jerry both teach. Linda as a Junior High Science teacher and Jerry teaches Motor Mechanics. They have a boy and a girl. Both of these families live in Illinois. Their youngest, Robert, has just completed his Doctorate in Chemical Engineering and is on the staff at Purdue University at West Lafayette, Indiana. His wife, Jeanne, is a nurse.

Marjorie and Lester are both very active in the First Presbyterian Church, singing in the choir and participating in most of the activities of the church. Lester is serving his 1st year as a Deacon and Marjorie is active in the Presbyterian Women's Association and a morning circle. They have been enjoying her research into the genealogy of their respective families. She is on the Board of Directors for the Friends of the Library and Deaf Smith County Museum and is a member of Bay View Study Club and Garden Beautiful.

Lester and Marjorie are very happy to be a part of Deaf Smith County. The friendliness of the people of the Panhandle have made them feel very welcome.

By SUE COLEMAN

By SUE COLEMAN

Looks like it's the girls who are stirring up the big sports excitement in Hereford High this year, what with the Whiteface Fems ready to begin their serious schedule with a pre-season record that includes only one loss.

Fans are visualizing a district championship, at least, and my personal prediction for the girls is a trip to Austin. That's not a forecast by an expert, but is as likely to be right as the forecasts of most sports experts.

If it is a district win, it won't be the first for HHS girl cagers. Lately I was looking through the Hereford Diamond Jubilee history book which Helen Rose edited as the city celebrated its 75th anniversary in 1973, and there was a photograph of the 1915 team, labeled "Girls District Basketball Champs."

Most likely the 1981 team won't pose like the 1915 sextet, lined up lying on the floor, their chins coyly held on crossed hands propped up by elbows, their feet in gym shoes kicked up over their backs.

Their headgear, cunning little hats, is like nothing worn by today's girl athletes but sort of cute anyway. You can see the collars of their middy blouses, and anyone familiar with sports uniforms of that time know they were wearing black bloomers, with yards and yards of cloth pleated into fullness below the knees.

If the Whiteface girls had to dress like that, I'll bet they couldn't get the ball down a clear court, but Lela Patton, Susie Lackey, Cassie Phillips, Zula Gillam and twin sisters Ruth and Temple Sites went right ahead with the handicap and won the games.

I'm not sure about any of that team now, except Susie Lackey Robinson who still lives here.

Champs are not, congratulations are due to the Whiteface girls for their record so far, and best wishes for conference play.

It's good to see Hereford, which like most other US schools neglected girls' athletics for years, giving the girls a major place in the sports program again.

Since about 1920 the girls were mostly ignored, except for some perfunctory P.E. classes, except of course in the smaller schools, as witness the Nazareth Swiftettes which are current state champs in their class for the fourth time.

Anybody who has lived in a house while a remodeling job was going on, to make a den of the back bedroom or some such project, can sympathize with the Hereford Senior Citizens who are using their center in the old Central School building while part of it is being made into offices for the county-city-school district tax entity.

But most people don't have workmen on the job who are as nice as the Building and Electrical Trade students from HHS who are remodeling the office space.

Margie Daniels, the HSC center director, says the members there are most grateful to the students who had a big cake baked and decorated, and gave it to the Senior Citizens for Christmas. Instructor Ed Warren delivered the cake and made the presentation.

Because so many of the Senior Citizens were out of town at Christmas, the cake was put in the freezer and saved for the New Year party that Margie reports as a gala occasion indeed.

The center was decorated with balloons and streamers, there were funny hats and horns and general hilarity to welcome 1981. Also the cake and punch.

THE TRAP THAT DIDN'T SNAP

The Jewish leaders wanted to arrest Him then and there for using this illustration, for they knew He was pointing at them - they were the wicked farmers in His story. But they were afraid to touch Him for fear of a mob. So they left Him and went away.

But they went other religious and political leaders to talk with Him and try to trap Him into saying something He could be arrested for.

"Teacher," these spies said, "we know you tell the truth no matter what! You aren't influenced by the opinions and desires of men, but sincerely teach the ways of God. Now tell us, is it right to pay taxes to Rome, or not?"

Jesus saw their trick and said, "Show Me a coin and I'll tell you."

When they handed it to Him He asked, "Whose picture and title is this on the coin?"

They replied, "The emperor's."

"All right," He said, "if it is his, give it to him. But everything that belongs to God must be given to God!" And they scratched their heads in bafflement at His reply.

Singing Emphasis Workshop Begins

Ralph A. Casey of Atlanta, Georgia, will conduct a singing emphasis workshop at the Central Church of Christ, Sunset and Plains Streets, Sunday through Wednesday, Jan. 11-14.

Casey will speak at both services Sunday on the subject, "The Music of the Church." Emphasis will be given during the workshop to train men and boys in the art of leading congregational singing.

The first session of the workshop will begin following a short worship period, which will begin at 6 p.m. Sunday. The week-night sessions will begin at 7 p.m.

Motto of the workshop is "We will coordinate our efforts."

The public is cordially invited to attend the Sunday services at 10:25 a.m. and 6 p.m. as well as the sessions of the workshop.

Each one who attends the workshop may come as early as he can and leave when he must, according to the local minister, Wilson Wallace.

Voters' Awareness Club Plans Sunday Meeting

Voters' Awareness Organization will meet Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center.

All members are urged to attend. Persons interested in joining the group are invited to attend.

Golden Globe Awards Predict Oscars, Emmys

Everyone knows the importance of an Academy Award. To win an Oscar could consolidate an actor's career or elevate a film's royalties by millions of dollars.

Not everyone knows that next to the Oscars in importance and longevity are the Golden Globe Awards, given by the Hollywood Foreign Press Association (HFPA).

Presented in January, these awards have an astounding track record in predicting the winners of the Academy's ceremonies in April. The Globes have marked the route the Oscars have followed for 37 years. Last year, for example, "Kramer vs. Kramer" was presented with a Golden Globe in the category of Best Motion Picture-Drama, while Dustin Hoffman carried away the honor of Best Motion Picture Actor-Drama.

The Golden Globes also attract more stars in its ceremony with sixteen categories in film and nine in television. As a precursor to the Emmys, last year the Golden Globes honored the "Lou Grant," "Alice," and "Taxi" television series.

This year "The 38th Annual Golden Globe Awards" can be seen Saturday, January 31, from 9-11 p.m. ET on the CBS Television Network. This Special is sponsored in part by Kraft, Inc. and will be presented live from the Beverly Hilton in Los Angeles.

"Our ceremony is often considered a fun gathering of celebrities in the entertainment world. Minus the inherent tensions of other more formal award ceremonies, the Golden Globes aim for an intimate and friendly approach," says Marianne Ruth, president of the HFPA and Swedish correspondent.

Many of the stars know, and are comfortable with, the members of the Hollywood Foreign Press Association. This group consists of 76 film and television critics who write for approximately 200 million readers of newspapers and magazines published in more than 30 countries around the world.

When I insured my store, I was Mr. Creamy. When I had a claim, I was Mr. 873-54269.

When you buy insurance, there are two types of agents you can deal with. A one-company agent who works directly for your insurance company. Or an Independent Insurance Agent who represents several companies. What's the difference? There are quite a few. First of all, if you buy insurance from a one-company agent, he's probably not the person you talk to when you have a claim. Most one-company agents have nothing to do with the claims process. If you have a claim, it's between you and the adjuster.

Your Independent Insurance Agent doesn't do business that way. He's right there ready to serve you when you have a claim. Nothing slows down a fair settlement as quickly as possible. Personal involvement is not the only advantage your Independent Insurance Agent offers you. Since he doesn't represent only one insurance company, he can offer you policies from several companies. So he can help you choose the policy that's right for you - at the right price. Whether you need homeowners, auto, life or business insurance.

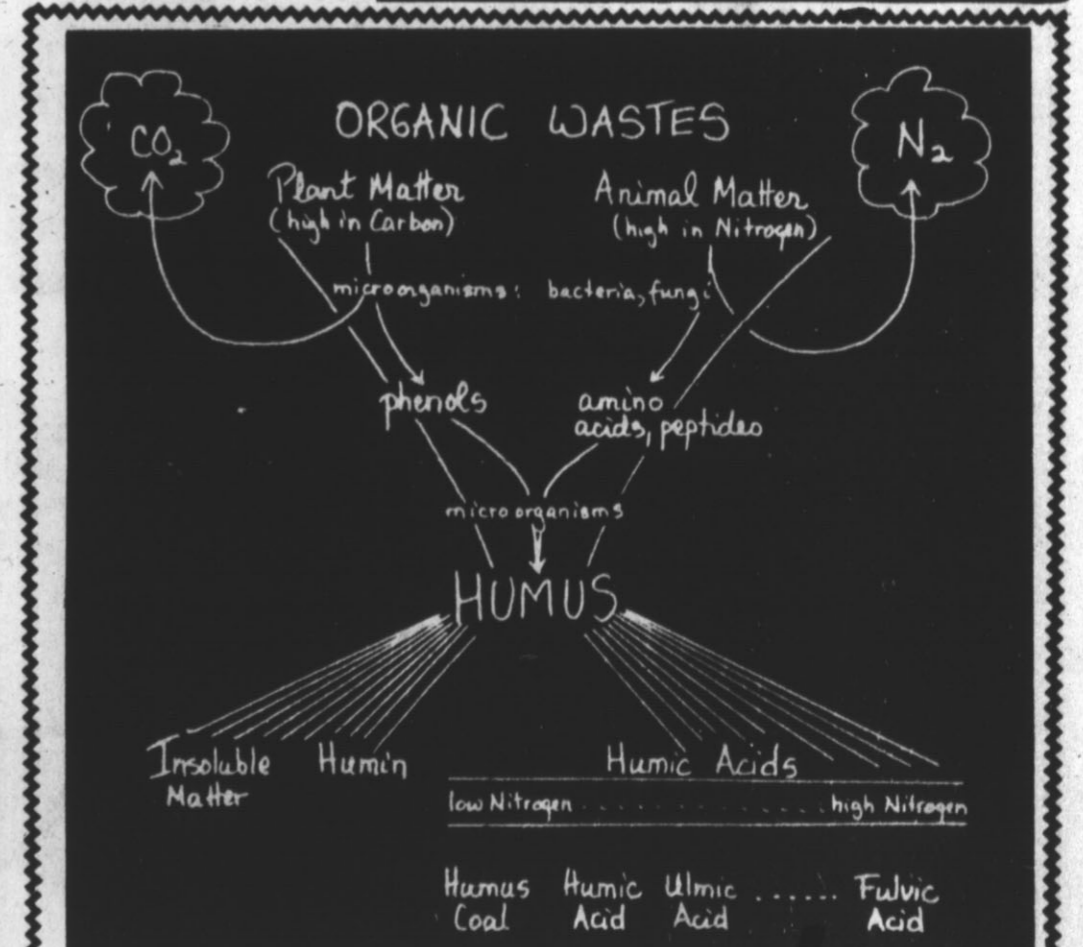

The Independent Insurance Agents of America has a large national network of more than 100,000 member agents. You'll find the one nearest you in the Yellow Pages under the Blue "I" symbol.

It's very simple. It's explaining how the crop residues - or raw manure applied to your field for that matter - largely escapes to the air - EVAPORATES! Now in compost the humus is concentrated. The humus gives your soil structure - meaning less tillage needed and better water efficiency. And did you know the value of the N&P in our compost gives you free humus. Get the facts.

Will It Be Beauty or Beast Cowboys ?

WHAT WAS ONCE FLAGRANTLY branded as a terrible toad earlier this year, turned into a handsome prince.

An orchestrated chorus of "DING-DONG THE WITCH IS DEAD—THAT WICKED OLD WITCH—THE WITCH IS DEAD" bounced off the walls of Texas Stadium.

Prim and proper Highland Park elites scoffed at the thought "Dallas" meant more than a weekly television episode depicting their aristocratic lives as Miss Elly, J.R., Jock and Sue Ellen Ewing.

Mauri Montgomery

NO! THERE WAS SOMETHING in the air more pungent than Ewing oilpatch real estate - and it wasn't fleeting whiffs of Channel No.5 drifting off pom-pomming Dallas Cowboy Cheerleaders.

It was those crazy jokers (Wild Card Dallas Cowboys) who had the impeccable tenacity to win long after they were beaten - a team that had duly earned the junk-yard dog genre of the National League playoffs following its 15th qualification, an NFL record, in 16 years.

Danny White and Co. had somehow managed to pull off another one of its renowned and basically squirrely entries into the playoffs with a 30-27 victory over the Atlanta Falcons. Cowboy fantasies were being fulfilled - they would play the "Birds of a Different Feather" Philadelphia Eagles for the NFC Championship on Sunday.

AND WHERE HAD THAT loving Ultrabrite kiss come from - the smacker that eventually transformed the BEAST into the BEAUTY!

The year 1980 was supposed to spell the end of the long-held Cowboy dynasty. "America's Team" would be playing well over their heads by attaining a mediocre .500 slate - playoff dinners and a Super Bowl extravaganza would only be enjoyed on the tube at Kate's Kozy Inn Roadside Cafe.

Haphazard finger-pointers directed their gaze toward the man behind the machine, Tom Landry. Who else could have created such a miracle? Votes for Pope Paul were cast out after

THE HEREFORD BRAND SPORTS

Page 6--The Hereford Brand-Friday, January 9, 1981

he was found to have been in the Vatican City on the eve of all the squad's miraculous victories.

LANDRY HAD TO BE the saint who was walking on water in the Metroplex, if for no other reason than he had been involved in the divine decision making so many times before.

Danny White, shadowing memorable Roger Staubach performances, pushed the Cowboys into the championship race with a Hail Mary of prayer pass to Drew Pearson - the catch, the pass and the Tom Landry play stunned the Falcons much like the Cowboys of the 1975 era had done to the Minnesota Vikings in order to gain post-season notoriety.

THE POST SEASON STINT marked the third time Dallas has turned a second-class citizen wild card invitation into a championship confrontation.

And considering the Cowboys have already proven their ability to beat the other three remaining semi-finalists this year (Oakland, Cleveland and Philadelphia) it would appear they have the nod for the Superteam roll in Bowl XV.

Yet potential Superbowl status wasn't always on the menu for the most-of-the-time clinging Cowboys.

WELL BEFORE THIS YEAR'S campaign had even felt its first faint heartbeat, Dallas was given all the right reasons for being quitters.

Gone were the days of Jolly Roger, the NFL's all-time leader in the quarterback arena, and the other retirement in All-Pro free safety Cliff Harris.

The secondary looked like a sieve with 50 cent piece holes. Charlie Waters was attempting a comeback after a year's worth of knee surgery, designated free safety Randy Hughes was sidelined with a separated shoulder and resulting surgery. Then there were injured cornerbacks Benny Barnes and Aaron Kyle who were bedpan patients in the surgery ward also.

SO SEVERE WAS THE SITUATION Landry, a man who had given great amounts of attention to designing the Pokes multiple offense, turned that chore over to assistant Danny Reeves, and became a defensive general.

But despite those holes and shoes to fill, the scrappy junk-yard Cowboys managed to end the regular season with a begrudging 12-4 mark.

On Sunday however, Dallas will be trying to overcome another less tangible grid pitfall against Philadelphia - the squad's infamous Blue Jersey Jinx.

AND OF ALL THE TROUBLES that could crop up for the computer squad, the jinx is perhaps the one sleuth that could conceivably terminate the Cowboy's prolific hopes for Superbowl prosperity - IT'S HARD TO SOAR WITH THE EAGLES WHEN YOU HAVE TO PLAY IN THE JERSEY BLUES.

Philadelphia's maligned coach Dick Vermeil knew this all too well when he opted to brew heavy magic - fanatically choosing to send his team on the field clad in white (the Eagles have never played before a home crowd in anything but green) in an all-out effort to put even the demons on his side.

HE NEEDED CONTRACTS with all the gremlins if he was to expect a victory over Dallas - the Cowboys had Divine Intervention on their side. Remember Landry walks on water! Vermeil tried it once, but with waders.

Who knows, maybe the sorcery will work. The ploy could go either way - the result would depend on whether Vermeil used fresh lizard lips or day old in the conjuring kettle. Dallas, when dressed as Dallas' finest in the blue uniforms, have garnered a 10-10 badge overall. They are 1-3 in the blue suits this year.

BUT THEN AGAIN, maybe the voodoo charming won't work. The Cowboys did win a Super Bowl in them once upon a time.

It really doesn't matter though. When you're a beast one day and beauty the next - you usually don't get named to "The Best Dressed of the Year". Elites in the Highland Park district could tell you that - they were the "beautiful people". They never wore blue except on Sundays.

Bulldogs Crunch Falling HHS Crew

BORGER - Members of the Hereford Whiteface varsity basketball team could probably remember better times they'd had on the court after they dropped their sixth game in a row with a 80-49 defeat against the Borger Bulldogs here Thursday night.

The loss sent the crew's season slate spiraling to 3-17 two weeks shy of district competition.

Hereford had previously battled to within a three-point spread of the unbeaten Bulldogs (42-39) during the opening round of the Borger Tournament last weekend.

But in the absence of head coach Dan Giliuson, and under the brutal shooting spree Borger mounted in second quarter play, the Whiteface crew's attack floundered in the second match between the two squads.

Despite scoring efforts provided by Norman Hill and Alan Wartes, (two of the HHS unit's leading scorers this year who also netted respective high-point tallies of 10 and nine points against the Bulldogs) Hereford found itself outscored 40-25 in the second period and 55-34 by the time the third quarter had terminated.

Borger held on to that weighty advantage before lengthening its lead to give the Whitefaces a final 31-point deficit and the loss.

The boy's squad will compete again tonight as they travel to meet Amarillo Caprock in a clash set for 7:45 p.m.

The Hereford boys' junior varsity cage squad pushed its season ledger to 5-9 after smothering the Dumas junior varsity 47-25 in the opening round of the Pampa junior varsity tournament.

Hereford's Matt Collier

pumped in 10 points to lead all other HHS scorers while John Keating added eight to help push the Whiteface's scoring over Dumas in every quarter of the conflict.

The win advances the squad into the winner's bracket of the tournament and will send Hereford into competition with the winner of the Pampa vs. Perryton game Saturday morning.

Following the tournament competition, Hereford is then scheduled to meet Tascosa here Friday and Lubbock Coronado January 27 in the first district clash of the season.

Two Wild-card Teams Retain Playoff Spots

San Diego, Cowboys Picked to Win

By The Associated Press

The National Football League season will end in two days for all but two teams, and then begins the two-week wait for Super Bowl XV on Jan. 25 in New Orleans.

The wild-card Dallas Cowboys and East Division champion Philadelphia Eagles will decide the National Conference title. They are scheduled for a 1 p.m. EST kickoff Sunday in Philadelphia.

The wild-card Oakland Raiders and San Diego Chargers, winners in the West, begin their American Conference championship game at 5 p.m. in San Diego.

The Cowboys, coming off a 30-27 victory over NFC West champion Atlanta in the division playoffs, are one-point favorites to repeat as the only wild-card team ever in the Super Bowl.

San Diego, meanwhile, is a four-point favorite to end the Cinderella season of Oakland's Jim Plunkett, who became the Raiders' starting quarterback after Dan Pastorini broke his leg.

Dallas, guided by quarterback Danny White, appears to have its offense flying. The Cowboys have scored 30 or more points in their past three games, including a 35-27 victory over the Eagles in the final game of the regular season.

"White has come a long way, and they have those great receivers and offensive line," Eagles linebacker Frank LeMaster said of the Cowboys. "I'm concerned about that, but I'm not going to go into the game concerned. We can play defense, too, you know."

Several Eagles' players are mending from injuries, and a few of them won't mend in time for the conference title game.

Wide receiver Charlie Smith, with 47 receptions on the year, broke his jaw against the Cowboys, and backup Scott Fitzkee rebroke his foot in the Eagles' 31-16 playoff victory last Saturday over Minnesota.

The only healthy flanker is rookie Rodney Parker, and even tight end Keith Kreple has been slowed by minor knee surgery late in the season.

Also on the mend is Eagles running back Wilbert Montgomery, who sustained head, thigh and knee injuries against the Vikings.

The Oakland-San Diego tilt, meanwhile, shapes up to be an aerial show with the Raiders' Plunkett having his best season in the NFL and the league's most prolific passer, Dan Fouts, throwing for San Diego.

"Week after week, someone has come up with big plays when we needed them," the 33-year-old Plunkett said. "If we execute well, there's no telling how many points we can score Sunday."

Plunkett is in his 10th season in the NFL, but he had not started a game previous to this season since 1977. "If you play football long enough, I guess something good is going to happen," Plunkett says.

However, before Plunkett and the Raiders can accomplish the ultimate NFL "good," a Super Bowl victory, they must stop Fouts. The Chargers quarterback is coming off his second consecutive 4,000-yard passing season.

Ainge, Williams Shoot For Record

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

Danny Ainge of Brigham Young and Herb Williams of Ohio State are two of college basketball's most consistent scorers, and each has a chance to break the NCAA record for consecutive double-figure games before time runs out this year.

Ainge, a senior who plays infield for baseball's Toronto Blue Jays during the summer, has scored 10 or more points in 93 straight games, while Williams, also a senior, has reached the 81-game mark.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association record for most consecutive games in double figures is 101 by Ronnie Valentine of Old Dominion in 1976-80.

Brigham Young has 14

regular-season games left this season, plenty to accommodate Ainge, whose average of nearly 26 points a game gives him an excellent shot at Valentine's mark. If Ainge keeps scoring at his present pace, he would tie Valentine's record at home against Air Force on Feb. 7 and break it at Hawaii on Feb. 12.

Ohio State has 19 games left on its schedule, which would leave Williams one game short of 101. The Buckeyes, however, are a good bet to make either the NCAA playoffs or the National Invitation Tournament, giving Williams an outside chance.

Ainge scored 37 points, his third highest career total, to lead the 17th-ranked Cougars to an 84-73 victory Thursday night over San Diego State in the Western Athletic Conference. With his 11th point in the game, Ainge went over 2,000 points in his career and trailed only Bob Elliott of Arizona (2,131) and Flynn Robinson of Wyoming (2,049) on the all-time WAC list.

"Ainge is one of the greatest players in the country," San Diego State Coach Smokey Gaines said of the 6-foot-5 guard. "No question about it. He should be a No. 1 NBA draft choice."

Brigham Young, 11-2, led by as many as 17 points after allowing San Diego State to battle back within seven, at 55-48, midway through the second half.

Williams, a 6-10 center, scored 14 points, including the go-ahead basket to key a late rally, as Ohio State upset 11th-ranked Iowa 58-56 at Iowa City. Ohio State trailed by as many as 15 points in the first half, but the Buckeyes outscored Iowa 20-7 to finally tie the game with 8:13 to play. Williams' jumper with a little less than six minutes left put the Buckeyes ahead for good, 53-52.

"I've been coaching 19 years and never had a team play better than our team did in the second half," Buckeyes Coach Eldon Miller said.

The loss was Iowa's second in 10 games and first at home this year. Ohio State's record is 6-3.

Iowa Coach Lute Olson felt that Larry Huggins' defensive job on Iowa's high-scoring guard, Vince Brookins, turned the tide. Brookins, who averages 16.1 points a game, scored just four points against Ohio State.

"Huggins took our leading scorer and eliminated him from the game on offense," Olson said.

None of The Associated Press' Top 10 teams was in action Thursday night. In other action involving Second 10 teams, it was No. 12 Illinois 88, Northwestern 64; No. 14 Arizona State 62, Washington State 59 in double overtime; No. 15 South Alabama 92, North Carolina-Charlotte 61; No. 18 Utah 100, Hawaii 87, and No. 19 Minnesota 76, Wisconsin 60.

Craig Tucker scored 16 points to lead five Illinois players in double figures. The victory was Illinois' fifth in a row and ninth in 10 games, while Northwestern's record dropped to 6-4.

Lafayette Lever scored the clinching points on a pair of free throws with 12 seconds left in the second overtime as Arizona State held off Washington State. Regulation time ended in a 48-48 tie, and a layup by Lever with four seconds to go in the first overtime tied the scored again, 54-54. Lever wound up with 15 points.

Rory White scored 16 points to pace a balanced South Alabama attack as the Jaguars rolled over UNC-Charlotte in a Sun Belt Conference matchup for their 11th straight victory. South Alabama shot 63.5 percent from the floor and out-rebounded Charlotte 40-27.

Danny Vranes led Utah's high-powered front line with 23 points, and the 12-1 Utes easily defeated WAC opponent Hawaii. Tom Chambers scored 18 points, and Karl Bankowski added 16 as Utah's frontcourt combined for 57 points.

Mark Hall scored 21 of his career-high 25 points in the first half to keep Minnesota in the game, and the Gophers came alive after intermission to defeat Wisconsin in the Big Ten. Minnesota, 9-1, led by only three points at halftime, but the Gophers reeled off 11 straight points midway in the second half to put the game out of reach.

Elsewhere, undefeated Connecticut won its ninth game in a row, the best start for the Huskies since the 1953-54 team won its first 14, by beating Holy Cross 66-57. Cory Thompson scored 12 points and grabbed 11 rebounds, while Karl Hobbs had 14 points.

Isiah Thomas scored 20 points to lead Indiana to a 55-43 victory over Michigan State in the Big Ten. A foul shot by Ray Tolbert and a basket by Thomas gave Indiana a 37-30 lead midway in the second half, the Hoosiers cruised to their eighth victory in 13 games.

Sims A "Runaway" Choice For Offensive Rookie Honor

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Sims of the Detroit Lions, who proved in 1980 he was every bit the runner he'd been in college — and a fine receiver as well, was named today The Associated Press Offensive Rookie of the Year in the National Football League.

Sims was, fittingly, a runaway choice. He received 53 of the 84 votes cast by a nationwide panel of sports writers and sports broadcasters, three from each NFL city. Joe Cribbs of the Buffalo Bills was second with 24 votes. The only other player to receive more than two votes quarterback David Woodley of the Miami Dolphins with three.

Sims enabled the Lions to vault from last in National Football Conference, rushing in 1979 to second in 1980, just behind Los Angeles. He set club records with his 313 carries and 1,303 yards (fourth in the conference and fifth in the league), his league-high 13 touchdowns rushing and his five 100-yard games in the season.

He also caught 51 passes for 621 yards and three touchdowns (not bad for a guy who'd caught the ball just three times in college). In all, he accounted for 1,924 yards on offense and his 16 TDs led the league.

Dantley Sparks Jazz Win

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Adrian Dantley, the National Basketball Association's leading scorer, made 40 points including a game-winning jumper with one minute left to lead the Utah Jazz to a 99-97 National Basketball Association victory over the Dallas Mavericks Thursday night.

Utah Coach Tom Nissalke said his top scorer, who played 46 minutes of the game, was getting tired, but "Dantley at 60 percent is better than most NBA players at 100 percent."

The Mavericks fought back from a 91-84 deficit midway through the fourth quarter to tie the game up at 97-97. Then Dantley, who scored 12 points in the fourth quarter, hit his short jumper from the lane to settle the contest.

"If you were to add up our experience, you'd probably find Dantley has more minutes played than our entire team," said Coach Dick Motta. "That experience makes the difference."

In the last two games, Dantley has tallied 91 points. He scored 51 points against Denver Wednesday night, and is averaging 31.7 points per game.

Sims was the Heisman Trophy winner as a junior at Oklahoma and the runner-up to Charles White in the voting as a senior. There was never any question of his ability to run.

Had there been, he would have dispelled it instantly. In his first game as a pro, he rambled through the Los Angeles defense for 153 yards and three touchdowns in a 41-20 romp over the Rams.

"I felt chills every time he touched the ball," veteran linebacker Charlie Weaver said following Sims' debut. And quarterback Gary Danielson said after that blowout of the Rams, "If you think he's good now, wait'll you see him in our eighth game."

In his second game, against Green Bay, he gained 134 yards, scored a touchdown rushing and, to show his versatility, caught an 87-yard touchdown pass from Danielson.

In the Lions' home opener, Sims came within five yards of becoming the first rookie ever to rush for 100 or more yards in his first three games. He followed up that 95-yard day with his best game of the season in the fourth week, a 157-yard day against Minnesota.

Before the season ended, Sims had performances of 155 yards and two touchdowns against Kansas City in that eighth game Danielson had talked about, and 126 yards against Baltimore.

"He made all of us better football players," Danielson said. "Everybody on the offensive line loved blocking for him. They knew Billy would pick up the big gains."

And Coach Monte Clark of the Lions said almost wistfully: "He's everything we thought he'd be — and more."

Sports Briefs

BASEBALL
CHICAGO (AP) — The sale of the Chicago White Sox for $20 million to a local group headed by real estate investor Jerry Reinsdorf and television executive Eddie Einhorn was approved by officials of the American League club.

The 12-man board of directors unanimously approved the sale after a 90-minute meeting. The next step will be approval from the White Sox shareholders, an apparent easy step since the board of directors owns a majority share of the ballclub.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Polly Cramer Preserving paint

DEAR POLLY -- Do you know of any way to preserve leftover paint in the can so that it does not harden and can be used later for another job? — MRS. C.L.K. DEAR MRS. C.L.K. — Melt paraffin and pour it over the top just as you would cover a jar of jelly. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — To keep the burners on my gas range from being splattered with grease I painted some peanut butter jar lids avocado to match the stove color. I use these jar lids to cover the burners when they are not in use and am saved a lot of cleaning time. — MRS. C.C.R.

DEAR POLLY — An excellent coupon and newspaper item clipper is the serrated metal edge that comes on an aluminum foil box and that is usually just thrown away. It is easily removed and if cut in half (about 8 inches) and held firmly with the index finger and thumb, it can be used to start cutting and then the going is easy. This is safer to use than scissors, especially if children are around. Try it — I think you will like it. — BESS

DEAR POLLY — My infant son is rather chubby so that clothes that fit his girth are too long in length. Now that cooler weather is here I am hitting two birds with one stone. Rather than hem up his too long infant overalls I encase thread-thick elastic two inches from the hem on the wrong side of the pants legs with a zigzag sewn casing and leave fairly long ends on the elastic. I then sew soles around the circumference of the hem. I adjust the elastic once baby is in the pants to form feet and just tie the ends together. That way the length fits and his feet are covered. When he gets bigger I can re-adjust the elastic and later remove the soles and elastic casing. Of course, I have to reposition buttons on the straps for the bib portion of the overalls. — JANE

DEAR POLLY — If your house needs refreshing take a 27-ounce coffee can and fill it half full of water, add a heaping teaspoon of cloves and boil. Turn heat down and let simmer for 10 minutes. The whole house will have the nice smell of cloves for a couple of days. Save the clove water and it can be reused about four times. — ANN

DEAR POLLY — When you make your grocery list before going shopping, write a small "c" after each item you have a money saving coupon for and you will be saved time and frustration when you get to the store. — VIRGINIA

DEAR POLLY — My mother no longer has messed up yarn when she knits. She takes the black plastic bottom off a half-gallon soft drink bottle, cuts a round circle out of the bottom of the plastic bottle that is big enough to get a skein of yarn in it, and threads the starting end of the yarn through the back. She finds this works beautifully. — CONNIE

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D. Damage from a stroke

DEAR DR. LAMB — We lost my mother-in-law when she was 88. The cause of death was listed as a pontine infarct. We had never heard of it before but the hospital personnel told us it was quite common in her age group. She was a strong vital person until she was 85. She was from the old country and in her 60s she did concrete work and built a driveway.

When she was 85 she had a sudden loss of hearing in one ear. She had trouble swallowing and got weak. She often fell in spite of her quad cane. Then she was hospitalized for pneumonia and when she was recovering she had a "massive stroke to the brain stem" and died four days later. Do pontine infarcts occur often in older people? What causes them? Does the tendency run in families? Others in her family lived to be in their late 80s and 90s.

DEAR DR. LAMB — It is always hard to let people who are close to us go. Apparently your mother-in-law had some problem with brain function when she first suddenly lost hearing in one ear. That was probably related to changes in the arteries to her brain — most likely fatty-cholesterol deposits that obstruct the arteries and cause strokes.

A pontine infarct is simply an anatomical designation of the area of the brain that can be damaged in a stroke. This is the area where the nerve from the ear enters the brain. The brain stem is a larger area of the bottom part of the brain.

Regardless of the location of brain damage, most strokes are caused by obstruction of one of the arteries to the brain from fatty-cholesterol deposits, as explained in The Health Letter number 16-6, What You Need to Know about Strokes. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Strokes are particularly apt to occur in women over 75 and are the second most common cause of deaths in that age group of women.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have finished the menopause and try to be sure to get enough calcium as you suggest. I'm a buttermilk sufferer, drinking more than a half gallon a day. Is this bad for me? Does it have cholesterol? Is there enough calcium in it? It certainly does give me a lift.

DEAR DR. LAMB — It is a fine source of calcium. And since it is made from skim milk it should not contain any important amounts of cholesterol or fat. Some people who have trouble tolerating ordinary milk because of lactose intolerance will be able to digest some buttermilk. That is because the lactose content in buttermilk is less than in fresh milk. The fermentation process converts some of the lactose into its component single sugars.

Nevada has two nicknames — Sagebrush State and Battle Born State.

DEAR DR. LAMB — In a recent column about a woman having cervical cancer, I note you failed to inform her of the following: 1. Women who began having sexual relations at a very early age with numerous partners have a higher risk of developing cervical cancer; 2. Jewish women have the lowest incidence of cervical cancer, which is attributed to the male being circumcised; 3. Nuns or virgins do not develop cervical cancer. The greatest contributing factor to cervical cancer is the penis, and I'm wondering why this failed to merit your attention.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Some studies have shown that women who have had multiple sexual partners early in life have a higher risk of cervical cancer. But cervical cancer does occur frequently in women with different histories and even in nuns or virgins, although this is certainly much more rare.

You are out of date with your information about cancer in Jewish women. Subsequent studies showed that the low rate of cancer in some Jewish women was related to your first statement — the Jewish girls in the original groups studied were raised with stricter morals and did not have sex at an early age with multiple partners. Circumcision was not the main factor. Studies of different Jewish groups with different moral standards established that point.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 16 years old and have noticed that my breast development has been stunted. I am a male who exercises daily and I'm in excellent physical shape. My underdeveloped breast plates, as they are called, cause me great anguish and have started an inferiority complex for me. Please tell me what kind of exercise I am missing or anything that could be of some help. DEAR READER — Those "breast plates" are the pectoralis major and minor muscles over the front of the chest. While there are some refinements to this concept their main function is to pull your arm forward and round your right arm straight out to your side shoulder high. Put your left hand over the right chest muscles. Now move your right arm forward so your hand is directly in front of you. You should have been able to feel your right chest muscles contract as you make this movement.

You need to make these and other movements that swing the arms and shoulders forward against resistance. There are a number of exercise devices for this or you can go to an exercise facility and use machines to exercise your chest muscles against resistance. If you follow a proper exercise program designed for these muscles, they will enlarge. Developing these muscles also improves a person's ability to do the crawl stroke when swimming, as a stroke uses these muscles.

FAITH WILL PROVIDE YOU WITH STRENGTH

For some time, we have been regaled with dire predictions of recession, depression and other ominous terms that depict a general worsening of our economic situation; all of which must cause many of us to wonder if our own source of life's basic needs might soon be in jeopardy. The fancy words would indeed appear to forecast a grim future when translated into terms of next week's groceries or next month's rent. Throughout history, in time of trouble man has always turned to religion as a last resort, even when it should have been his first. There is no better time than now to go to your Church and pray to God for His ever-present help and guidance.

"But seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."
— Matthew 6:33
