Bush, Ferraro eye Thursday's debate

By WILLIAM M. WELCH
Associated Press Writer

Vice President George Bush and Geraldine Ferraro are plunging into preparations for their debate this week with pressure heightened by poll results suggesting that Walter F. Mondale won his confrontation with President Reagan.

"Sure I'm nervous," Ms. Ferraro, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, said of Thursday's scheduled debate with Bush. "I'd be a sick person if I weren't a little nervous about debating with 50 million people watching."

Mondale and Reagan both were out campaigning on Monday, appearing at traditional Columbus Day events. Mondale flush with the good reviews his debate performance Sunday night was drawing and greeted by his largest crowds in months.

Reagan and Mondale both said they'd let voters decide who won, but Mondale was clearly enthused. "This is a brand new race," Mondale said. "From now on, everything is wide open."

Reagan campaigned in Baltimore, and in Charlotte, N.C., helping GOP Sen. Jesse Helms in his tough re-election fight. "I'm smiling," Reagan told reporters who asked how he thought he'd done. "I do not fear the judgment of my fellow citizens on Nov. 6," he said later.

Both Bush and his Democratic counterpart were closeted with aides today and tomorrow in preparation for their debate in Philadelphia. Ms. Ferraro was at her home in New York, reviewing briefing material and watching videotapes of her opponent, while Bush was in Washington, holding mock debates with a stand-in for his opponent.

Bush, meantime, was said by his press secretary to be "understanding" of a flap over a remark made by his wife Barbara Bush to reporters aboard Air Force Two on Monday en route to New York for a Columbus Day appearance.

Complaining that her husband was being criticized unfairly for paying only 12.8 percent of their income in federal income taxes in 1983, Mrs. Bush said she and the vice president enjoy their lifestyle and don't pretend to be poor "like that $4 million - I can't say it, but it rhymes with rich."

After the remark was reported, Bush press secretary Peter Teeley said the vice president's wife "feels awful about her remark ... I don't think I can express to you the depth of feeling Mrs. Bush has on this," Teeley said.

She called Ms. Ferraro. "Mrs. Bush called and apologized and was very, very gracious and very nice," Ms. Ferraro said. "She said she did not intend to call me any names and did not call me any names."

Mrs. Bush told reporters later, "I called Mrs. Ferraro and told her I would never call her a witch for anything."

Reagan was remaining in the White House today, meeting with Israeli Prime Minister Shimon Peres. Bush was joining in the session.

The president planned another campaign trip Wednesday to Michigan, and on Friday he is scheduled to make a nostalgic whistlestop train trip through Ohio.

Mondale has a full week of campaigning, with stops today in Cincinnati, Detroit and Pittsburgh.

Both the Mondale and Reagan camps claimed their polls showed their man had won the confrontation Sunday in Louisville, Ky. But neutral polls pointed to Mondale, though by varying margins.

None suggested the results had caused a major shift in Reagan's large lead over Mondale in the polls.

Court okays Brown's request for bailiff

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

After spending a good portion of two meetings discussing the matter, Deaf Smith County Commissioners agreed Monday to reinstate the bailiff's position in the sheriff's department.

Sheriff Joe Brown had appealed to the court on Sept. 24 to let him find a full-time bailiff. He pointed out that the various courts and grand jury meetings frequently required the services of his deputies - who need to be doing other things - as bailiffs.

Along with authorizing funding for a bailiff, commissioners agreed with Brown more help is needed in the county jail. The court adopted a motion that will give a new deputy to be hired this budget year duties as a jailer as well.

Brown explained more arrests

Deputies have other chores have been made lately, especially by city policemen, who are cracking down on persons caught driving without a valid driver's license or without liability insurance coverage.

Brown will ask 22nd District Judge David Wesley Gulley to help select someone for the bailiff's position, since that person will spend a lot of time in district court. Gulley appeared briefly at Monday's meeting to explain the duties of a bailiff to the county fathers.

Another request granted Brown at Monday's regular meeting was to advertise for bids for two new patrol cars. Two of the cars presently in use have been driven nearly 100,000 miles, which is the county's usual trade-in time, it was reported. County Auditor Alex Schroeter, keeping the commissioners up to date on his efforts to make the county's buildings and programs more accessible to the handicapped, announced a new telephone and commode attachments for the restrooms have been ordered.

Upgrading handicapped accessibility to the Deaf Smith County Historical Museum presents the biggest problem, Schroeter told the court. Commissioners discussed such possibilities as relinquishing control of the museum to the local historical society, turning the basement into storage so that only the upper floor would be used as a museum and adding a wheelchair lift to a south entrance.

Schroeter said the county should build a ramp at the Black House, an historical landmark often used for meetings and social gatherings.

County Clerk David Ruland is to provide "curb service" for handicapped persons to vote absentee at the courthouse, and precinct voting places are to provide a similar service on election day, it was decided.

"We are in compliance, or will be, so far as Section 504 is concerned," Schroeter concluded. The Office of Revenue Sharing has told the county it must meet handicapped regulations in order to continue receiving revenue sharing funds.

Other routine items checked off during Monday's meeting included paying annual dues to the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission and giving Randy Tooley permission to cross a county road with a gasline.

Hereford Fire Marshal Jay Spain was re-appointed as the county's fire marshal.

Peres: more defense cuts would hurt Israel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seeking more U.S. aid for Israel's inflation-ravaged economy, Prime Minister Shimon Peres has told the Reagan administration that deeper government spending cuts would jeopardize his country's military security.

Israel already has sliced $1 billion from its $23 billion budget and undertaken several austerity measures, including a ban on auto and stereo imports.

With inflation over 400 percent, Israel's economic woes were the principal focus of today's meeting between Peres and President Reagan.

The two governments are trying to develop a program to help Israel put its economic house in order. Among the possibilities: U.S. backing for the weak shekel and Pentagon purchase of Israeli weapons, including anti-tank equipment and artillery pieces.

American dollars deposited in a special account would serve as a guarantee for Israel in world credit markets. Inflation and repeated devaluations have weakened the shekel, and Israel's credit rating is shaky.

Also, the $1.2 billion in U.S. economic aid Israel is due to receive in January may be delivered at an earlier date. And, diplomatic sources said, Israel may ask for U.S. assistance in building non-nuclear submarines.

According to Israeli sources, Peres

Two area boards to gather

Two area governing bodies are to have regularly-scheduled gatherings tonight, including the Buffalo Lake Water District's board of directors.

In addition to filling a Randall County director's seat, the group is to hear reports from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and district treasurer. There are also to be reports about discussions with county commissioners concerning refinancing.

The meeting is supposed to start at 7:30 p.m. in the Buffalo Lake Headquarters Building in Umberger.

Trustees of the Hereford Independent School District are to assemble at 5 p.m. today in the HISD administration building, 700 Union Ave. A report on the district's building program is one of 19 agenda items to face the school board.

Also to be heard are professional teachers' organization, general, personnel, committee, assistant superintendent for instruction and superintendent reports. Public comments and policy development are other items scheduled for consideration.

Police report vandalism acts

The windshield of a 1964 Ford owned by Harold Tucker of 837 Blevins St. was shot at around 10:40 p.m. Monday, Hereford police reported this morning.

The vandalism was valued at $250 and has no suspects.

Another vehicle - a 1978 Chevrolet pickup - had the rear window of its cab broken sometime Friday evening. Taken out of the cab were a $250 shotgun and a .22-caliber gun worth $200. The victim was Hereford's Martin Paetzold, whose truck was parked at Pizza Hut on W. Highway 60 at the time of the crime.

Jose Esparza told police he was robbed at knifepoint of $400 Sunday at approximately 11:30 p.m. Four men reportedly ordered he lie on the floor so they could search his pockets. The suspects are still at large.

Among the arrests police made between Friday and this morning were four for driving while license suspended, three for driving while intoxicated and two for public intoxication. Incidents included three assaults, two minor thefts and one piece of criminal trespassing, juvenile shoplifting and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

There were also three non-injury motor vehicle accidents within city limits.

Judge refuses to release parents

HOUSTON (AP) — Spending a month in jail is starting to weaken the determination of a couple jailed because they vowed not to tell a grand jury about their son, accused of murdering a female letter carrier, says a prosecutor in the case.

But the attorney trying to gain the release of Bernard and Odette Port dismissed the notion, insisting his clients will not break their silence.

State District Judge I.D. McMaster refused Monday to order the Ports' release after the couple reiterated they would not testify about events at their home at the time postal worker Debora Sue Schatz was slain.

Attorney Randy Schaffer sought the Ports' release, claiming the grand jury had indicted their son, David, 17, and no longer has jurisdiction. But prosecutors opposed it, saying the grand jury is considering whether to upgrade the charge to capital murder.

Schaffer said he will ask the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin today to free the Ports.

PUC to set rates for TUEC

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Utilities Electric Co. says it needs more than a $300 million rate hike. But the state's public counsel says the rates should be cut.

The Public Utility Commission, working with recommendations that vary by almost $400 million, was to meet today to set rates for TUEC, which sells power to about one-third of the state's population.

The company says it needs a $304 million hike. But Public Utility Counsel Jim Boyle, representing residential and small business customers, says TUEC rates should be cut by $81.8 million.

The utility commission staff agrees a decrease is due. The staff proposal calls for a $65.2 million cut.

Hearing examiners who listened to weeks of testimony in the case say TUEC is entitled to a $7 million hike that company officials say would mean "effectively a zero increase" on most residential bills.

"I don't think it's in the long-term best interests of the people of Texas," TUEC Vice President Tom Baker said of the examiners' proposal.

Calendar forces two resignations

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Ever since the new "Copcakes" calendar came out last week, former police officer Ed Haton says he hasn't been getting much sleep, what with trying to open all the mail and fill all the orders.

So Haton and fellow officer Jorge Garcia submitted their resignations last weekend, claiming the new publication was taking too much of their time and causing supervisors to "hassle" them because of the sexually calendar featuring Texas police officers.

Police spokesman Doug Clarke said the officers' decision to resign was their own and that the department did not force them to quit.

The calendar, promoted as "the calendar they said shouldn't be done," features photos of 14 officers — five of them from Fort Worth — in muscular poses. Some of them are in tandem with pictures of scantily clad women.

Haton said he and Garcia sold out the first 3,000 copies — at $7.25 each within three days of publication last week.

Congressional marathon resumes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like students facing an endless school year, unhappy legislators who would rather be home campaigning were returning instead to Capitol Hill today to continue an election-year session they had hoped would adjourn last week.

Members of the House and Senate faced a midnight deadline, again, for approving legislation to keep most of the government operating and avoid a replay of last week's partial shutdown of federal offices that idled about 500,000 workers.

Congressional negotiators, who have been trying to work out a compromise spending package to provide about $470 billion for the remainder of the fiscal year that began Oct. 1, stalemated at the end of last week over space weapons the Pentagon wants and aid for Nicaraguan rebels.

They were trying again today to break the logjam. When it became clear last Friday that the long-term bill could not be passed quickly, Congress passed a stopgap measure that expires at midnight tonight. It was the third such interim measure in a week that Congress had to enact because of the problems in passing a long-term money bill.

Montanans eyeing false teeth

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Montana voters will soon decide whether to take a bite out of the traditional monopoly of dentists on the sale of false teeth.

If it passes Nov. 6, Initiative 97, the Freedom of Choice in Denture Services Act would make it legal for licensed "denturists" to join in the business now belonging exclusively to dentists and dental technicians.

Five other states currently license denturists: Idaho, Oregon, Maine, Colorado and Arizona. Canada also licenses denturists.

Denturists would be allowed to work on patients' mouths, take impressions, as well as make, fit, repair and furnish false teeth and other dental appliances.

Proponents, including senior citizens groups, argue that the issue is price and consumer choice. A newsletter published by the Montana Elder Association said Idaho and Oregon residents can buy artificial teeth at about half the price charged by dentists.

The Oregon Health Division reported last year that the average cost of a complete set of false teeth from denturists was about $400. The Montana Elderaid it conducted a telephone survey of Oregon dentists and found the average price to be $905.

Duarte proposes peace meeting

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — President Jose Napoleon Duarte's surprise offer to meet next Monday with leftist guerrilla commanders was hailed by U.S. officials as "a major forward step" toward peace but drew a cautious response from the rebels.

Duarte, addressing the U.N. General Assembly on Monday, offered to open peace talks with rebel military leaders in the mountain village of La Palma, near the Honduran border in an area of frequent civil war clashes. Rebels control the last several miles of highway leading to the town.

Duarte said he would arrive without protection — "placing my life as a guarantee to have this meeting to attain peace" — and his only condition was that all participants be unarmed. Previously he has insisted that the guerrilla forces put down their arms before talks could start.

The rebels' position has been that they would talk, but without preconditions, and leftist spokesmen said they are waiting for Duarte to follow up his speech with a direct proposal for talks.

By MICHAEL HOLMES Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Democrat Lloyd Doggett has accused Republican U.S. Senate candidate Phil Gramm of opposing Social Security benefits for some poor Americans, a charge Gramm aides deny.

On Monday, while unveiling some new television ads, Doggett said Gramm "just does not care" about the elderly who get minimum Social Security benefits.

The Democrat cited President Reagan's pledge during his debate with Walter Mondale "never" to cut Social Security benefits to those currently receiving them.

He then asked rhetorically why Gramm, who has campaigned on his close ties to Reagan, refuses to make the same pledge.

"I'll tell you why. I think the reason that Phil Gramm has refused to stand in defense of the Social Security system despite even his own president's commitment to do so is very simple: Phil Gramm just does not care. What other solution can there be?"

Doggett chided Gramm's refusal to join 406 of the 435 House members in voting for a resolution stating that Congress didn't want Social Security benefits trimmed to those currently receiving them.

That vote wasn't a Republican or Democratic issue and not a liberal or conservative issue, Doggett said. "Every member of our congressional delegation took that pledge to protect Social Security except one — Phil Gramm," Doggett said.

In a written statement, Gramm press secretary Larry Neal said Doggett had launched into a "campaign of fear."

Neal said Gramm "has a proven record of fighting for Social Security. He knows Congressman Gramm was, in fact, a leader in the 1983 battle to restore financial stability to the Social Security system."

Social Security was near bankruptcy that year, Neal said, because of continued mismanagement under previous Democratic administrations.

"Phil Gramm's position on the issue is already well known. He fought to put Social Security back in the black ... and he intends to keep Social Security in the black no matter what Doggett and his pals try to do to upend the compromise legislation that saved the system," the Gramm spokesman said.

Gramm "will never allow" earned benefits to be denied to recipients of Social Security, veteran's benefits, railroad retirement or other programs, Neal said.

In the new television commercials, Doggett uses quotes from newspaper articles to criticize Gramm about Social Security and education aid to handicapped students.

In one, Gramm is quoted as saying: "They are 80-year-olds. Most people don't have the luxury of living to be 80 years old, so it's hard for me to feel sorry for them."

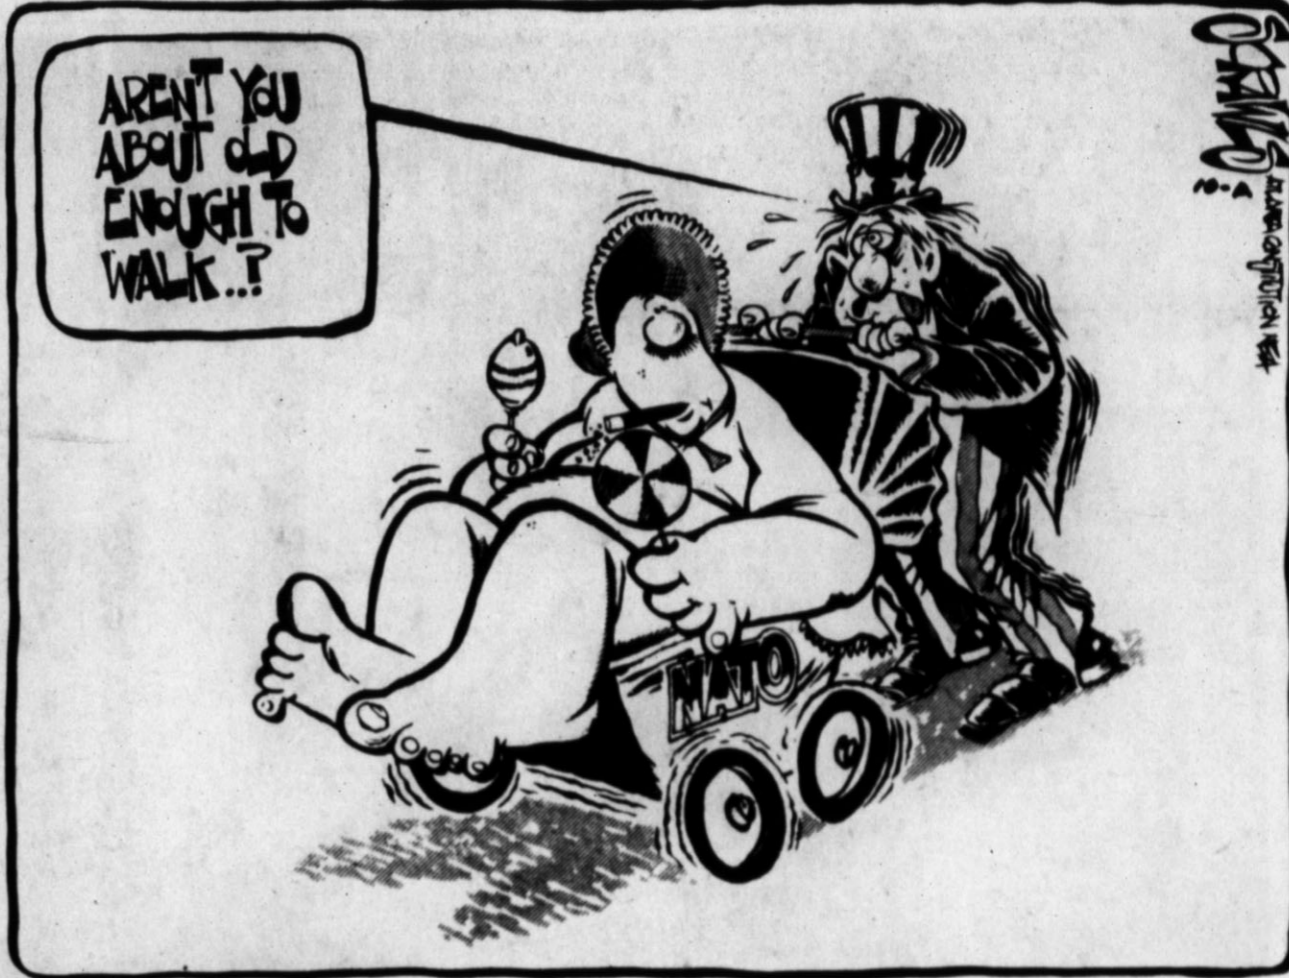

The second commercial cites a Wall Street Journal report that quoted a congressional aide quoting Gramm on the education budget.

"Look at that! Look at that! They're encouraging people to be handicapped."

Doggett said he read both quotes during his debate with Gramm 10 days ago and that Gramm has denied neither one.

"Phil has chosen to remain silent and to offer no explanation for his comments," Doggett said. The Democrat said he was prepared for Gramm to accuse Doggett of being mean-spirited in running the ads.

"Because I anticipated that kind of response, that's why I put it in Phil's own words. If there's anything mean about this ad, it's not what I said

Paul Harvey Red Tape

"Committees are likely to keep minutes and waste hours."

One of the frustrations of dealing with committees, foundations and top-heavy corporations is that their boards frequently resist making decisions.

They prefer to "name a committee to study the subject."

I am on one board with several academicians I respect, but in their world they love to delegate "studies."

I remember once when I urged them to spend a nominal sum to buy bullet-proof vests for city policemen. The majority responded with delight, but—

"Let's authorize a study," they said.

"The studies already completed are adequate and convincing," I insisted.

And the board, if reluctantly, acquiesced—and appropriated the money necessary for the vests. I am impatient with the sometimes cumbersome and redundant "studies" conducted by or for the government, also.

But I have seen one which has merit.

Roosevelt Center for American Policy Studies designated a committee of 13 to answer this question: "Can we break the deficit deadlock?"

The 13 include chairman William Hudnut, mayor of Indianapolis, and Bruce Babbitt, governor of Arizona, and others similarly distinguished.

Obviously there were enough pragmatists on the task force to come up with some specific recommendations, a fair and simple plan to balance the national budget.

It will not please anybody. Belt-tightening pinches everybody. But with the proliferation of government spending obviously malignant, drastic surgery is indicated.

The Hudnut Committee prescribes drastic surgery.

Even the politically sacrosanct areas of Social Security, Medicare and the military.

President Roger Molander of the Roosevelt Center says, "We are about to make our children and grandchildren pay for our inability to discipline ourselves; that is tantamount to fiscal child abuse, unforgivable!"

The Hudnut Committee recommends freezing some grant programs, reducing subsidies, limiting federal pensions.

(I warned you, this would make nobody happy.)

The projected plan would forego weapons systems which we cannot now afford, would strengthen the Guard and Reserves.

And the budget process itself—the committee would establish a hard and fast deadline for budget decisions by the president and Congress at the start of each fiscal year. Uncle Sam would be allowed to buy no more than he can afford. Now, says Mayor Hudnut, "We'll see if we are really ready to peel the hot potatoes."

Congress to receive report on violations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan was expected to send to Congress by tonight a classified report accusing the Soviet Union of 11 violations of arms control agreements since 1961.

Prepared by a presidential advisory committee, it is likely to contribute to the campaign debate over the merits of negotiating U.S.-Soviet treaties to reduce nuclear weapons.

Reagan was set to submit the report to Congress last month, but the State Department persuaded him to wait until after his meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

An aide to Sen. Steven Symms, R-Idaho, said Robert C. McFarlane, the president's national security assistant, promised last Tuesday night that it would be submitted within a week. A summary is to be made public.

The aide, David S. Sullivan, said McFarlane gave the assurance in a telephone conversation with Symms during consideration of defense legislation.

The alleged violations include sending nuclear-powered submarines to Cuba and testing an illegal intercontinental ballistic missile. The report was completed last November.

U.S.-Soviet negotiations to reduce nuclear weapons are in suspension with no indication when they might be resumed. In the meantime, the two powers are adding to their arsenals.

Reagan says he is committed to pursuing arms control, despite his skepticism about Soviet compliance with past agreements. Last January, he told Congress the Soviets violated or probably violated a half-dozen accords.

Several conservative Republicans in Congress consider the report as evidence that arms control has failed to secure U.S. national security. An amendment sponsored last June by Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, and Rep. James A. Courter, R-N.J., called for submission of the report within 60 days of enactment of the defense authorization bill.

The measure was passed last month and awaits Reagan's signature.

"Congress expects to receive the report on Tuesday, before midnight," Sullivan said. "If it is not received by then, conservative senators have several options which they may decide to take.

told Secretary of State George P. Shultz on Monday that further budget cuts would be detrimental to Israel's security.

Of the $1 billion that is being cut from the government's budget, $300 million will come from defense. Israel devotes $10 billion of the annual budget to repaying debts. Apart from that, half of what remains goes toward defense.

Peres told Shultz there is no more room for cuts in defense spending without eroding Israel's military security, according to the Israeli sources, who spoke on condition they not be identified.

Working groups were asked to produce economic proposals for the White House meeting as well as recommendations to extricate the 14,000 Israeli troops now in southern Lebanon.

They are costing Israel $1 million a day.

For a family with such varied interests, the Garretts have one thing in common: music.

"We're all so different," Jennifer Garrett explained. "But the one thing we all love is music."

The Garretts moved here two months ago from Plainview where Gary was a physical therapist at a private hospital. The family only lived in Plainview for 18 months, though, because the hospital was bought by a larger corporation that closed it down.

"Gary heard about the opening here," Jennifer said. "So we came down and Gary was really impressed with the hospital here and decided to take the job."

Gary is currently the director of physical therapy at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Before Plainview, however, the couple lived in San Diego, Calif. Jennifer grew up in California, and although Gary grew up in New Mexico, the two met at a church service in California when he was stationed there with the military.

Since coming to Hereford, the family has attended the Nazarene Church.

"I don't like to say that we're a religious family," Jennifer said, "but we try to always put the Lord first."

Jennifer currently takes piano lessons and was involved in the piano club in Plainview. She has played the flute all of her life.

"My goal is to get a diploma through the Fine Arts Center in Plainview," Jennifer said.

"I'm a person who really likes to be busy," she added.

To keep herself busy, she enjoys weaving, sewing, and working on macramé and latchhook.

When they lived in Plainview, Jennifer worked as a receptionist for her husband. When they first married, she was an advertising compositor for the local paper.

"I just loved the ad work," Jennifer enthused. "I had more fun."

Gary is the quiet one in the family. He is an avid reader, plays the guitar and has written a few Christian songs.

"Gary likes to do anything that will expand his mind and help him grow," Jennifer said. "He loves to hike and to be in the outdoors."

"He also loves to help people. That's what makes him so good at his job."

The Garretts have two children. Tracy, 14, is a freshman at La Plata Junior High. She, too, enjoys music, but also loves swimming and snorkeling.

"She's a real California girl," Jennifer explained. "So far, she's been lucky and has been able to go back to California every summer."

Travis, 12, is a seventh grader at La Plata. He loves music, but also enjoys sports—any and every kind, according to his mother.

The family has definitely moved around quite a bit, but Jennifer sees that as an experience which has taught them a lot and which has made them grow as people.

When they first moved here, Jennifer's first reaction was to the beauty she saw in Hereford. They also find the people friendly and outgoing.

"Hereford is always what I envisioned a small town to be," Jennifer said. "Everyone is so friendly, the neighbors came over and everyone has received us with open arms."

"California is so busy," she continued. "I've always wanted to be in a small town."

"4-H: Building on Experience" is the year-long theme of the 4-H program in Texas and across the nation, and that theme will get special emphasis during National 4-H Week, Oct. 7-13.

A number of local activities and programs are being planned to support the 4-H theme, says Brad Morrison, county 4-H program coordinator with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Some of the weeks activities include: Store window displays featuring the individual club's and special projects; a Puppet Show in Sugarland Mall on Wednesday, Oct. 10; and an Achievement Banquet on Saturday, Oct. 10 to honor 4-H'ers and leaders.

"4-H: Building on Experience" highlights the educational projects which help young people gain practical skills, develop good nutrition and health habits, explore career opportunities, generate leadership capabilities, and become involved as citizens in their local communities, the state and the nation.

The 4-H program is built on experiences of an impressive past. By providing useful knowledge to help youths develop as leaders of tomorrow, 4-H has enabled many young people to gain insights and experiences in careers they would enjoy. 4-H has also contributed to international understanding through exchange programs with countries around the world.

Youths from all backgrounds and walks of life can enjoy the unique learning experiences that 4-H has to offer. Through their 4-H experiences, these young people can play an important part in a more satisfying and rewarding future for all Americans.

NFL team remains unbeaten

San Francisco whips Giants

By TOM CANAVAN Associated Press Writer

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers learned a good lesson about the value of keeping a big lead earlier this season and they showed the New York Giants they hadn't forgotten it.

Quarterback Joe Montana threw two touchdown passes and Dana McLemore returned a punt 79 yards for another score as the 49ers ripped the Giants 31-10 Monday night to remain one of two undefeated teams in the National Football League this season.

"Even though we jumped to a 21-0 lead, the game was by no means over," said safety Dwight Hicks, who had an interception in the nationally televised game. "It's a comfortable lead but you still have to play hard."

That's the lesson the 49ers learned earlier this season against the Washington Redskins. San Francisco grabbed a 27-0 lead in that game, but had to sweat out a 37-31 victory.

"It wasn't that long ago and it popped into everybody's mind once we got the big lead," said linebacker Keena Turner. "We knew what happened in the Washington game and we knew it could happen again if we did not keep playing."

The 49ers never did as they raised their record to 6-0, the best start in the team's history.

"The 6-0 means consistency throughout the ballclub," said Montana, who completed 15 of 24 passes for 207 yards and three touchdowns. "We are playing well."

That was especially true in the first quarter as the 49ers scored on their first three possessions in a span of seven minutes, 33 seconds.

Montana, wearing a flack vest to protect sore ribs, connected with speedster Renaldo Nehemiah on a 59-yard scoring play just 2:32 into the game. Less than four minutes later, he tossed a 1-yard TD pass to tight end John Frank.

McLemore's long punt return, the second against New York in as many weeks, turned the game into a rout.

Montana added his third touchdown pass in the second quarter on an 8-yard swing pass to fullback Roger Craig and Ray Wersching added a 37-yard field goal in the third period.

For the Giants, it was their second straight miserable performance. They dropped a 33-12 decision to the Los Angeles Rams last Sunday.

"We were bound and determined when we left San Francisco to play the best possible game in New York," said Coach Bill Walsh. "You're never a class football team until you come to New York and win."

That apparently was never in doubt to many Giants fans who left at halftime. When the game ended the stands were virtually empty.

At Amarillo cross-country meet

Hereford meets tough competition

Hereford High School cross-country runners ran into perhaps their toughest competition of the year Saturday at Amarillo, the boys finishing fifth in team totals and the girls sixth.

The contests took place in Amarillo's Thompson Park.

Francisco Saucedo placed seventh in boys' competition with a time of 16:51. Other Hereford runners' order of finish began with Ceaser Castro who finished in 25th place. Castro ran a time of 17:38.

Bobby Aranda ran a 17:43 for 31st place, Lupe Rocha a 17:56 for 36th place, Alonzo Martinez an 18:09 for 46th and Frankie Vallejo an 18:10 for 48th.

Team scores are determined by the order of finish of the runners. Boys Ranch won the team title with 59 points. Monterey was second at 75, Muleshoe third at 113 and Coronado fourth at 128. Hereford had 143 points.

Fifteen teams were represented by 109 runners in boy's competition.

Hereford's Selma Moreno turned in her best time of the year Saturday, an 11:58. However, Moreno placed second to Michelle Montega of Tucumcari. Montega had a time that beat Moreno by six seconds. Hereford coach Martha Emerson said.

One hundred runners from 16 teams competed in the varsity girls' contest. Nazareth won with 90 points, followed by Tucumcari (94), Palo Duro (119), Dalhart (124), Amarillo (140) and Hereford (163).

Lina Esqueda of Hereford came in 15th at 13:09. Francis Flores was 21st at 13:18, Irene Serma 59th at 14:17 and Eva Medrano 70th at 14:43.

In junior varsity competition, Craig Waddell had a 19:36 in boys' running and Alicia Reyes a 15:27 in the girls' contest. They placed 25th and 32nd, respectively.

Other J.V. runners and their times were: Angel De La Cruz, 20:08, and Darrel Blevins, 22:41 in boys' running; and Michelle Mason, 16:20, in girls' competition.

In triangular match

Golfers first Saturday

The golf team at Hereford High School came away from the Boys Triangular Golf Match at Amarillo Air Base Saturday with a win over Palo Duro and Caprock.

Michael Drake fired an 80 to pace Hereford golfers, who turned in a team total 336. Palo Duro had 341 and Caprock 375.

Matt Albracht shot 81 and Bobby Valdez 83 to turn in other low scores for Hereford. Albert Valdez had a 92 and Johnny Urias a 94.

Medalist of the triangular competition was Palo Duro's Justin Ashurst. He fired a 78.

Hereford girls were to be in action today at John Pitman Municipal Golf Course as they hosted a 9-hole dual meet between themselves and Plainview. Play was scheduled to begin at 4 p.m.

The boys return to action Oct. 20 when they also host a dual meet. The boys' match features golfers from Lubbock and Hereford. Play begins at 10 a.m.

A racehorse named Halcyon of a half century ago was such a bad actor at the post he had to wear blinkers resembling venetian blinds. The jockey pulled a string to open them at the start.

On the Ball

By DENNIS BALL

Hereford 7, Coronado 3. Some have called it "the upset of the year."

But was it really? Maybe so to fans, reporters, even coaches and players who didn't believe Hereford had a chance. That's a shame, too, because that covers too many people. Not many thought the Whitefaces would win.

"Well, poor Coronado couldn't possibly do anything after Chris Moore, the all-everything running back for the Mustangs, was injured," Coronado supporters may say.

Remember, though, it takes 11 to play football. "All right," they may continue, "we had four players (Moore, Troy Ward, Jeff Fleenor and Ung Yi) get injured. And everyone of our tailbacks (Moore, Fleenor and Yi) were hurt."

Moore was injured the final play of the first half. The Hereford High School marching band already was on the field before he was removed from the sideline. But the Whitefaces already had put the final points on the board and were leading 7-3 when he went down. The Whitefaces were in control when the four Mustangs were injured.

That's not to lessen the seriousness of the Coronado injuries, however. Moore suffered strained ligaments in his ankle in the first half. Ward injured his knee, Fleenor also hurt his ankle and Yi's ribs were injured.

The point is, though, the injuries didn't affect the Mustangs' play that much.

"It seemed they made as many long runs in the second half without him (Moore) as they did in the first half with him," Hereford coach Jerry Taylor has said. "Sure, it hurts to lose a starter, but at the same time, I'm not going to take anything away from our players."

Even Coronado coach Kenneth Wallace said the decisive factor in Friday's ball game was not injuries, but the play of the Whitefaces. "We had all four of those players in the first half and couldn't do anything," he said. "The defense held them, but we've got to be able to score ourselves to win."

After the game, Taylor credited his assistants, as well as his players, for the victory. He said the groups were putting in extra time to figure out exactly what had gone wrong in the Herd's losses this year.

"Our assistant coaches did a heck of a job," he said. "They...had every man and every man's assignment down pat. And our players performed so well."

Always bad to see is a high school football player who gets injured. But credit should be given where credit is due, and excuses need not be made.

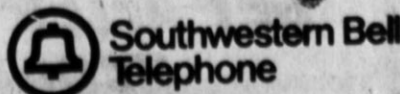

Wallace didn't make any excuses. Take his and Taylor's lead and attribute the Herd victory to the players and the coaches, not to an opponent who was injured.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, in accordance with an order from the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice it has filed a tariff to reduce the monthly rates for the Switched Access portion of the company's intralATA Foreign Exchange (FX) Service offering that was implemented starting June 1, 1984. Simultaneously, the LATA-wide toll-free calling scope, also started June 1, would be discontinued and the calling scope would return to that in effect prior to June 1. The Commission has assigned this matter Docket Number 5891.

The net effect of the tariff will be a monthly decrease in total billing of approximately $700,000 until November 1, 1984. After that time the net effect on the company's revenue is estimated to be negligible.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 tele-typewriter for the deaf.

Aviso Público

En conformidad con una orden de la Comisión de Servicios Públicos de Texas, se anuncia mediante el presente aviso público que Southwestern Bell Telephone ha presentado una tarifa con el objeto de reducir las cuotas mensuales que se han cobrado desde el 1 de junio de 1984, por la porción de la tarifa para acceso a la red central necesaria con el uso del Servicio de Zona Exterior (Foreign Exchange (FX) Service).

Simultáneamente, el servicio de llamadas de larga distancia sin cobro dentro del área de servicio que también se efectuó el 1 de junio de 1984, se discontinuó; y el campo de llamadas será el igual que antes del 1 de junio de 1984. Se ha registrado la nueva tarifa bajo el Docket 5891.

El efecto real de la nueva tarifa se verá en la reducción del costo total de facturas de aproximadamente $700,000 hasta el 1 de noviembre de 1984. Se calcula que después de esta fecha el efecto real para nuestra empresa será despreciable.

Los usuarios de Southwestern Bell Telephone Company que estén interesados en participar en esta reunión, o que requieran mayor información, deben dirigirse por escrito a: Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. También se puede obtener información adicional llamando a Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division al 512/458-0223, al 512/458-0227, o al 512/458-0221 si requiere teletipo (aparato para personas con impedimentos de audición).

Tigers, Padres open World Series

Teams mix similarities, differences

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

SAN DIEGO (AP) — It is a matchup both of contrasts — tradition vs. expansion — and common threads binding the San Diego Padres and Detroit Tigers.

And it wasn't even supposed to start here. Chicago was all charged up for its first World Series in 25 years, perhaps the Cubs' first world championship in 76.

But in a most improbable of comebacks, the Padres, only 15 years old, won the final three games in the National League's best-of-five playoffs and now find themselves hosting tonight's opening game of their first World Series.

In Chicago, where waiting for next year has become a family tradition, handed down from generation to generation, a psychiatrist and Cubs fan, Helene Starr, was quoted as saying of the Padres: "I don't want you to think I'm bitter, but let me say this... I hope the Tigers squash them, eat them up and spit them out. I hate the Padres! I hate the name Padres! Their colors stink, too!"

Their colors are those of autumn, brown and gold, but in Southern California, autumn is only a word, not a season. It is forever sunny, warm and green. Not a bit like Detroit, the very essence of fall — cool, crisp and rich in World Series tradition.

Eight times previously, the Tigers have participated in this fall classic, winning three of them, most recently in 1968. The names, too, ring of tradition — Ty Cobb, Charlie Gehringer, Mickey Cochrane, Hank Greenberg, Al Kaline...

And in San Diego, major league baseball tradition is, well, nonexistent. In fact, for a while a decade ago, major league baseball here almost was nonexistent. C. Arnholt Smith, then the owner of the Padres, was on the verge of selling the franchise, which was to be moved to Washington, D.C.

Instead, he sold it to the late Ray Kroc, the hamburger king, founder of McDonald's, a pioneer in fast-food franchising.

This, incidentally, is being called the fast-food series matching McDonald's against Domino's Pizza, a nationwide chain owned by Tom Monaghan, who bought the Tigers after the 1983 season.

Kroc, who in his early years as the team's owner was perhaps best known for grabbing a stadium microphone, apologizing to the fans for the club's performance and berating his players, went about the business the past few years of finding the right parts to the puzzle.

The pivotal one was Dick Williams, a manager with winning credentials in Boston, Oakland and Montreal.

And Jack McKeon, vice president for baseball operations, went about spending Kroc's money for the rest of the pieces, among them:

— First baseman Steve Garvey, for years the All-American boy up the coast with the Los Angeles Dodgers who led the team with 86 runs batted in.

Spikers win tourney

Hereford High School volleyball players returned home from Melrose, N.M., about 4:30 a.m. Sunday, but regardless of whether players were sleeping, the spikers' spirits couldn't be.

Hereford played a one-day tourney in Melrose Saturday and came home with the championship trophy. Hereford upped its 1984 record to 7-14 in the three-game contest by defeating New Mexico teams San Jon, defending state champion Melrose and Grady.

"I tell you what," Hereford coach Cindy McMillan said, "I am so proud of the players. They played tough, and were hard to beat."

And no one did. Nancy Moreno was named to the all-tournament team. Yvette Gamboa and Elita Acosta turned in high-point figures for the Whitefaces, McMillan said.

McMillan said volleyball team members were given the day off from practice Monday in preparation for today's game against Palo Duro.

"They've got to be so tired," she said. "And I guess they deserve a day off."

Today's game, which opens the second half of District 3-5A play, begins at 7 p.m. in the HHS gym.

Ann Landers

Get professional help

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A few days ago I attended my husband's Vietnam veterans group counseling session. All the women related episodes in their relationships that were so similar to ours I was shocked. It was as if they were standing outside our window listening to our conversations and watching our troubled marriage.

Most of the men at the meeting had been discharged 15 or 20 years ago. They all had the same symptoms—withdrawal, depression and bitterness. They hated their jobs and resented the government. Several men had drug or alcohol problems. All had troubled marriages and difficulties with close relationships.

My husband sought counseling only recently. Had I known the reasons for his withdrawal, I would have urged him to seek counseling much earlier, and would have gone for counseling myself.

Please print something in your column about "Vietnam veterans syndrome." There must be hundreds of Vietnam veterans and their families going through the same upheaval. If the information saves others from the heartache we have suffered, it would be wonderful.—M.G. In Pennsylvania

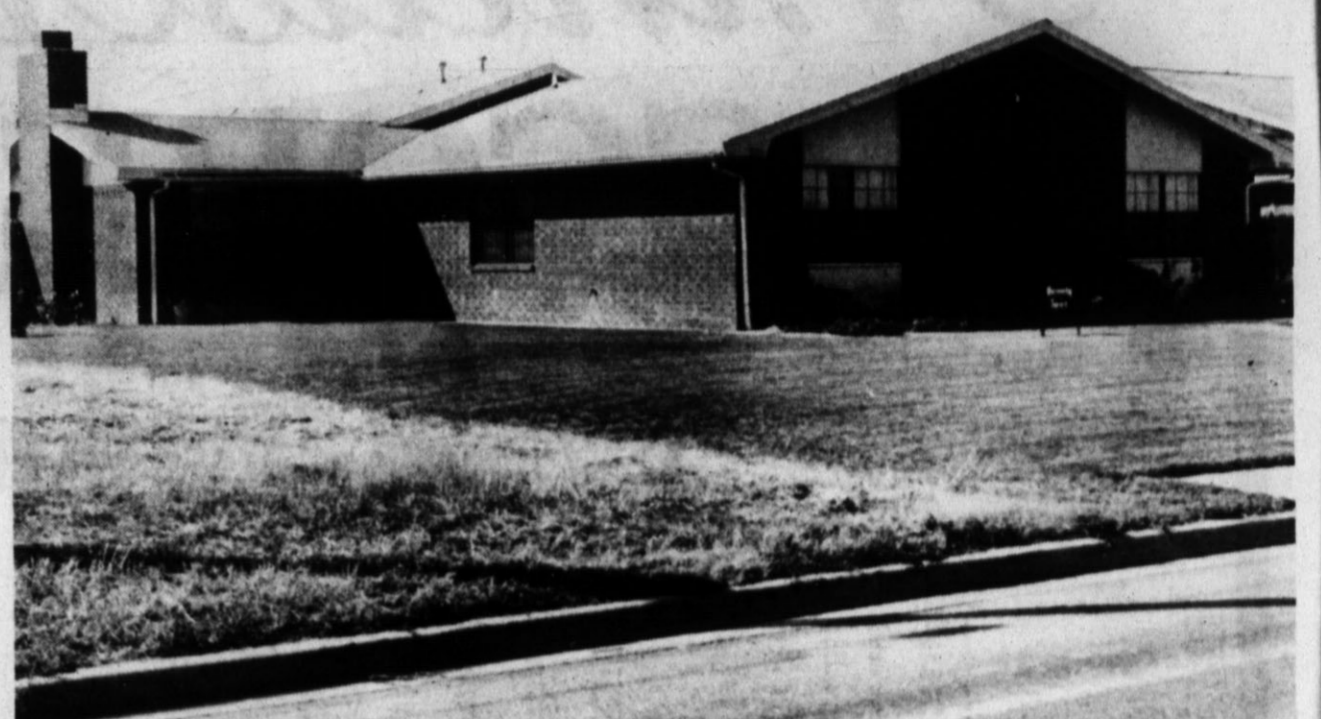

DEAR M.G.: You have described the symptoms well and recommended counseling through support groups. If there is none in your town, two or three couples can get together and start one. You'll need a professional counselor, of course. Good luck.

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex—Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Show gives members chance to excel

The Bud to Blossom Garden Club presented its mini flower show Thursday afternoon in the Heritage Room of the Deaf Smith County Library.

The three master judges for the show are members of the Hereford Garden Club. They were Ursalee Jacobsen, Lois Ethridge and Besse F. Hill.

The top awards were presented to Dixie Porter and Betty Hughes. Porter received the Best in Show, Sweepstakes and the Glad Garden Trophy in horticulture. Her pristine rose brought her these honors.

Hughes was presented with the Best of Show and the Sweepstakes Award for her interpretive design in the class "Memorable Holidays."

In the Horticulture Division, the first-place winners in section A were Porter for her ivy and jade and Elaine Holly for her cactus. Paula Hamby also won first for her synogonium podophyllum.

In the cut specimen section, Porter won first place. Best in Show, the Sweepstakes Award and the Glad Garden Trophy for her pristine rose. The other first place winners were Landa Seth and Hamby.

In the evergreen section, Patricia Robinson received first place honors on both her blue spruce and juniper.

In the deciduous trees and landscape shrubs section, the first place winners were Patricia Robinson, Seth and Wilma Bryan.

For "Our Wedding," Bryan received first place. In "A Bundle of Joy" first place was awarded to Porter and in "Our Anniversary," Naoma Spann received first.

A fourth class was for novices only in which participants had never won a blue ribbon in a flower show. Tracey Duncan captured first place in this class.

Class five was an interpretive design. Hughes won first place as well as Best in Show and the Sweepstakes Award.

Another part of the flower show was the education division. This award was presented to Bryan for her display on making corsages, to the Deaf Smith County Extension Office for their display on educational materials available to the home gardener, and to the Deaf Smith Soil Conservation Department for their display on various Soil and water conservation methods available to the homeowner.

Tracey Duncan also received the award of appreciation for the work she did with the junior division. This division consisted of a coloring contest on saving water which was completed by kindergarten students.

The next club meeting will be a slide program of the flower show. Anyone who missed the show is invited to attend this meeting on Oct. 18 at 9:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Dino Barela.

Award-Winning Rose

Dixie Porter, with her pristine rose, was awarded Best in Show, Sweepstakes and the Glad Trophy in horticulture during the Bud to Blossom Garden Mini Flower Show Thursday afternoon.

Turbulent job for bill collector

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Katie, the collector, was doing her job.

From a stack of 300 notices she pulled the name and phone number of a customer — in this case a well-known realtor who had neglected to pay his residential electric bill.

She dialed the number and luckily caught him at home. From her end, the world was calm. Situated in a clean, softly lit office, she had only the tools of her trade beside her: a ledger of customer accounts, a calendar of billing cycles and the phone.

But as she quietly began to explain the dark results of avoiding payment, a storm erupted on the other end. "He kept cussing," she says, "and I told him I wouldn't be able to help him until he calmed down."

The tirade continued, but hours after the call the man stopped in and paid his bill. The following morning Katie was surprised with a bouquet of flowers and a note of apology. The flowers were forget-me-nots.

Not every past-due customer reacts to simple reminders with such unpredictability. But for dozens of bill collectors like Katie (not her real name), it's this incalculable human behavior that makes their jobs challenging, often difficult, and sometimes just plain lonely.

"Sometimes you get down thinking everybody is a deadbeat," says Greg Koonz, loan collector for Tascosa National Bank. "But most people seem pretty nice about it." It takes a special person to handle the abuse, or fear of abuse, collectors say. You need a quick mind, a patient soul and thick skin.

And there are plenty of chances to develop those qualities. At Southwestern Public Service, for instance, more than 7,000 of its 70,000 Amarillo customers let their bills go past due each month, says credit adjuster Frank Robinson.

That means collectors must face 250 potential headaches every day, week after week, year after year.

"It's not that they (delinquent customers) are mad at me, but at the company," Katie says as she shuffles a stack of disconnection notices. "And even though the job is repetitious, it's still a new world each day. You can't say you've heard it all because somebody's always got a hundred aunts that died."

As many as 200 work these jobs citywide, a spokesman for the Credit Bureau of Amarillo estimates. About 150 of those work in-house on 30-, 60- or 90-day past due accounts; management hopes will be collectible.

Companies like Sears, Security National Bank, Sakowitz, Southwestern Bell and some petroleum companies employ in-house collectors to make written or telephone contact with late-paying clients.

Many collectors handle accounts outside of Amarillo, and some, like Sears, have their credit collection departments centralized in Lubbock or outside of the state, says Melvin Isley, executive vice president of the Credit Bureau of Amarillo.

Some smaller stores "factor" out their delinquent accounts to large banks or a credit company, such as General Electric Credit Corp. or the credit bureau.

Others use the law. Amarillo Hospital District officials, alarmed at the estimated $9.3 million in bad debts this year, recently turned over these accounts to Sanders, Saunders, Brain, Finney, Thomas & Smith. The law firm will get 30 percent of debts collected through the courts.

In a word, the task of these frequently highly paid professionals is to collect money. It is money that customers originally agreed to pay when they bought their bowling ball, picked out a new car or entered the hospital.

The price of this activity is nothing to balk at. Typically, a company will have to write off losses of 7 percent of its billings.

PRESENTING THE... "HOME OF THE WEEK"

"A" Frame Economy

HOME DESIGN
by Larry Farnsworth

Excitement, atmosphere and spaciousness are usually costly, but this 863 square foot house provides all three, plus an exceptional amount of versatility, yet is surprisingly inexpensive to build.

Its A-frame styling and imaginative interior design deserve credit for this accomplishment.

Note carefully how the open space arrangement of entry, living room, dining room and kitchen contribute to the spaciousness of each, permitting greater freedom of movement and decor and, as a bonus, cutting interior finishing costs.

Note, also, the large and well organized storage area and the kitchen, bath and laundry arrangement, utilizing backed up plumbing for maximum economy.

Upstairs are two spacious bedrooms, both with the drama of beamed ceilings. The front bedroom also has its own private balcony which echoes the lines of the front elevation and sheltering the main entrance.

It is just such combinations of practicality and styling excitement that make this 863 square feet of living space a noteworthy design. This plan also has an optional basement.

Call 1(800)634-3401 if interested in House Plans... or send a post card with name, address and phone number to Farnsworth, P.O. Box 1841, Las Vegas, Nevada 89125.
