Two enter city contest seeking at-large seats

With the deadline Wednesday for filing in the Hereford City Commission election, two more candidates entered the race Monday for two at-large positions.

The latest candidates are Raul H. Valdez, 34, a pastor at Community Church, and Jerry Walsh, 44, 102 Pecan, manager of Southwest Corn Handlers for Frito Lay. Both filed for at-large positions, where Paul Hamilton and Paul Abalos had previously announced.

Five places will be on the ballot April 4. Mayor Wes Fisher is still unopposed for mayor; Tom LeGate is seeking reelection for Place 3; and Loran Nixon is challenged by Sylvana Juarez for Place 1.

Candidates must reside within their districts in the Place 1 and 3 elections. The others will be elected by an at-large vote. Places 5 and 6, the at-large seats, will be determined by the most votes. The candidates receiving the largest number of votes will be assigned Place 5 and the runnerup will take the Place 6 seat. These terms are for one year in this election only. The other posts are for two-year terms.

Mrs. Juarez, 24, who filed last week, is a lifelong resident of Hereford and a 1980 graduate of Hereford High school. She attends St. Anthony's Church and serves on the voter committee of the Concerned Citizens of Deaf Smith County. She is employed at LoMart as head of the health and beauty aids department.

"I believe I can represent the interests of all the people within my district," said Mrs. Juarez. "My husband and I hope to raise our children here and we want to make Hereford a better place to live." She has two children, 3 and 14 months.

Valdez, seeking an at-large post, has lived here since 1961 and resides at 804 13th St. He is on the Friends of the Library board and is vice chairman of an advisory board to the Department of Human Resources. "If elected, I want to represent all the people and help relieve racial tensions. I want to contribute and work with the city commission in making Hereford a city where people can live in harmony and work together for the benefit of all," states Valdez.

Couple dies in shooting

Castro County officials are waiting for an autopsy report before filing charges in a Monday night shooting in Dimmitt which left a Hereford man and his wife dead.

Robert Cabrera, 52, of Hereford, was shot once in the head with a small handgun outside of Joe's Liquor Store, 605 E. Bedford. He was dead at the scene. His wife, Sally, 46, of Dimmitt, was dead on arrival at Plains Memorial Hospital in Dimmitt.

Marcos Victor Castillo, 50, of Dimmitt, is being held after turning himself in to the Castro County Sheriff's office about an hour after the shooting. He is being held in the Castro County Jail today on criminal trespassing charges filed last week by Mrs. Cabrera.

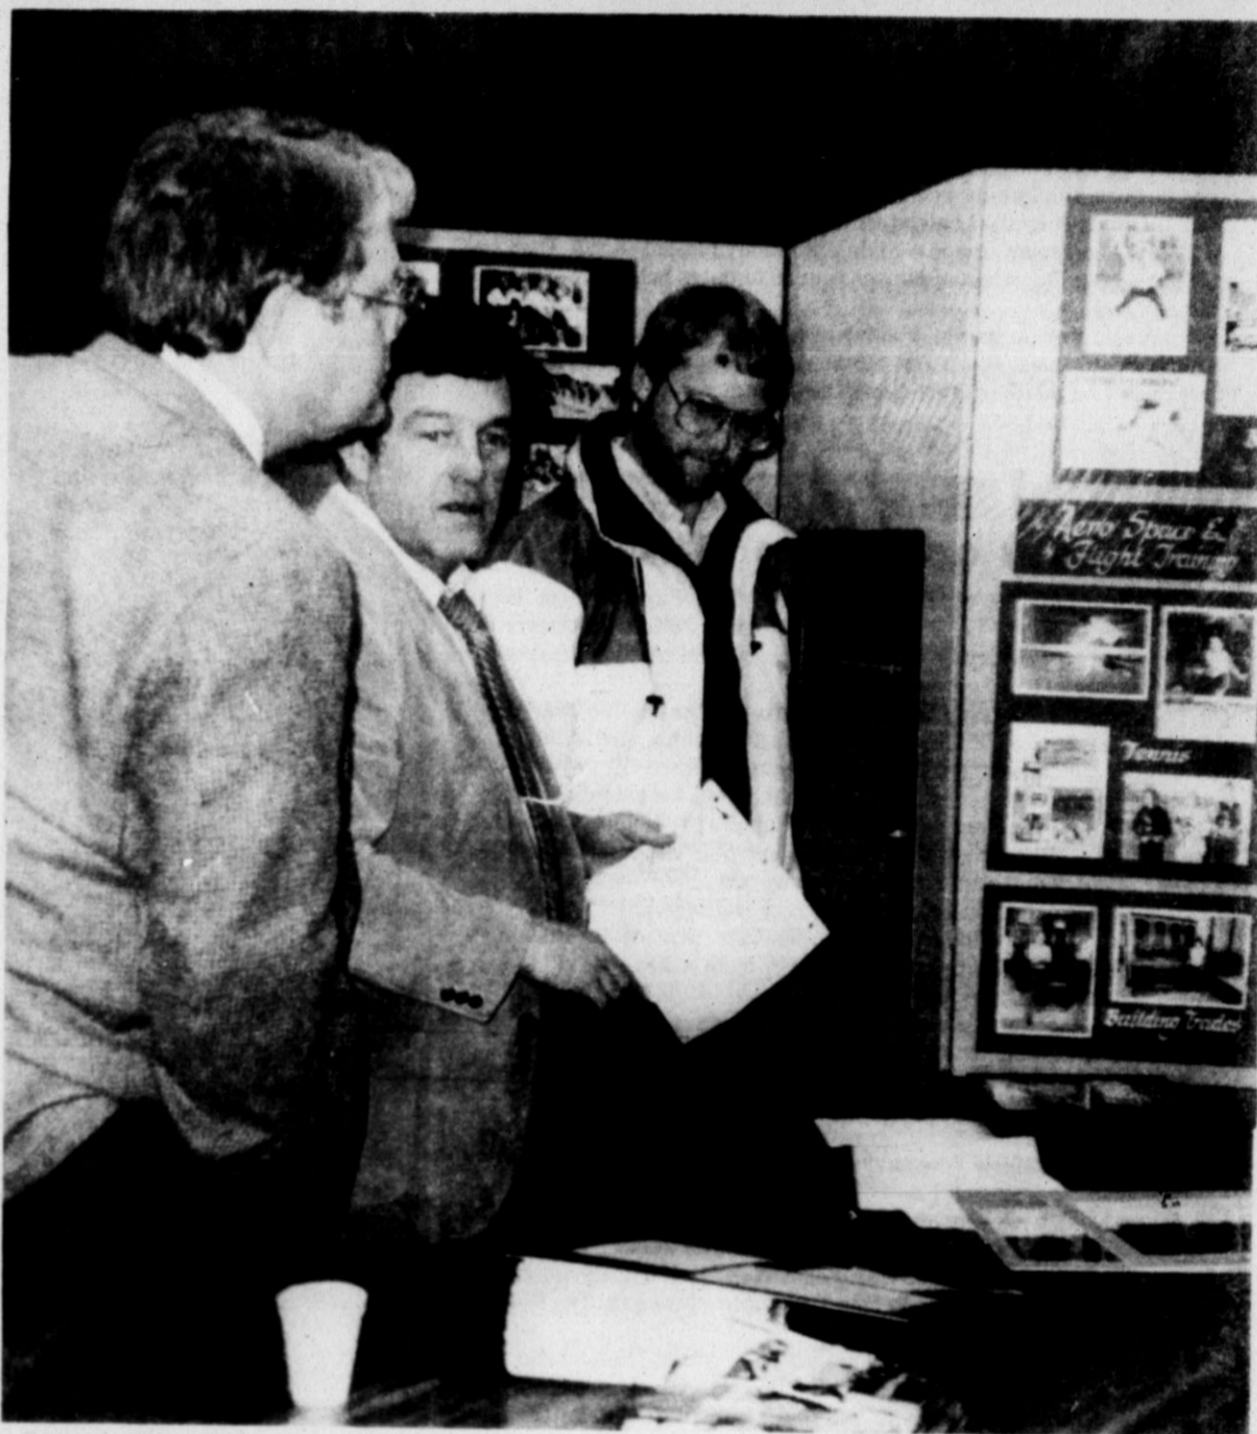

Autopsy results are expected to be released today.

Castillo could face capital murder charges, since two persons were killed in the same incident.

John Brooks, managing editor of the Castro County News, said the criminal trespassing charges were filed last Wednesday against Castillo, who neighbors said had been seeing Mrs. Cabrera.

Brooks also reported that the Cabrerases had been separated and were reconciling.

Brooks said the police report indicated that Cabrera and Castillo got into a fist fight at the store. Witnesses told police that Castillo pulled out the gun, shot Cabrera, then shot Mrs. Cabrera and fled the scene.

Getting It All Together

A cross section of Hereford residents selected to represent various aspects of the community to Battelle employees in Columbus, Ohio, on Thursday met last night to view the material which has been collected for display. Viewing the material to be presented by Hereford Independent School District are Rex Easterwood, attorney, Don Cumpton, athletic director, and John Stagner, car dealership owner.

City adopts zoning rule, makes appointments

Hereford City Commission Monday night adopted a comprehensive zoning ordinance, made two appointments to the planning and zoning commission, adopted an ordinance to abandon Juniper Street north of La Plata Drive, and appointed election judges for the April 4 city election.

The zoning ordinance, as recommended by the planning and zoning commission, was approved with minor revisions by the commissioners. The zoning map, revised consistently with the new zoning ordinance, was also approved.

Bill Johnson was re-appointed to the Planning & Zoning Commission, and Harley Daniels was appointed to replace Wayne Phillips. The terms will expire in October, 1988. Phillips had served on the commission since 1958.

Vance Crume was appointed as presiding judge for the April 4 city election, and Gloria Gonzales was appointed as alternate judge. David Rutland will serve as clerk for absentee voting.

The ordinance to close Juniper Street north of La Plata Drive was requested by the Nazarene Church in order to expand its facilities with a new building program.

The commission also made appointments to the Panhandle-Plains Higher Education Authority, approving recommendations made by the board. Carolyn Baxter of Hereford was reappointed to a two-year term. Others include Don Judd and Duane Howard of Amarillo, Dr. Ronnie Barnes of Lubbock, and Dr. Charles Bassett of Plainview. Judd replaces Paul Fortenberry of Amarillo and the others were reappointed. The commission presented a plaque of appreciation to Charlie Bell, who had served on the Board of Adjustments since 1958. Commissioners attending the regular session were Mayor Wes Fisher, Loran Nixon, Tom LeGate and Emory Brownlow. Bud Eades was absent, as was City Manager Darwin McGill.

Calero departure called key to more U.S. aid to Contras

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — The departure of Adolfo Calero from the main Contra umbrella group will help convince Congress that Nicaragua's anti-Sandinista rebels deserve continued U.S. aid, another top rebel leader said.

Calero insisted Monday that patriotism prompted his decision to quit the three-man directorate of the United Nicaraguan Opposition or UNO, the Contra coalition through which the Reagan administration is channeling $100 million in aid.

But Alfonso Robelo, another UNO director, acknowledged having urged Calero's resignation in hopes of mending rifts in the Contra leadership.

"Calero had to sacrifice himself for this and that's what he did," Robelo said Monday at a news conference in San Jose.

Calero announced his resignation at a news conference in Miami. He retained his leadership of the main Contra fighting force, the Nicaraguan Democratic Force, or FDN, which claims about 18,000 troops. Various other Contra groups, some linked to UNO and others on their own, are estimated to have a total of 2,000 fighters.

UNO long had been divided by a power struggle among its directors and differences of opinion on the best way to oust the leftist Sandinista government that took power in Nicaragua in a 1979 revolution.

UNO was formed at State Department urging in 1985 to bring together several Contra groups. Disputes broke out almost immediately between Calero, a successful businessman under the U.S.-backed regime of President Antonio Somoza, and the two other directors, Robelo and Arturo Cruz, who both briefly sided with the Sandinista government before breaking over its leftist policies.

Cruz said UNO was concentrating too much on military affairs and needed a better image, especially in human rights, for any chance at acceptance within Nicaragua as an alternative to the Sandinistas. He threatened to quit if Calero stayed.

The Nicaraguan government did not comment Monday on Calero's resignation. However, Vice President Sergio Ramirez Mercado, commenting on speculation that Calero would resign, said late Sunday that the Contras and their internal problems were "irrelevant because they have been strategically defeated."

Referring to Washington, he said: "The problem is who directs (the Contras), who gives the money and material resources and who is pulling the puppet-strings in this pantomime."

Reagan administration officials have worried openly that UNO's public disputes would weaken its support among members of Congress who want to see signs of Contra gains before committing more support to the rebels.

More snow covers Dixie, schools closed in 7 states

By MARTIN STEINBERG
Associated Press Writer

More snow blanketed Dixie today, closing schools in seven states, after a storm caused hundreds of traffic accidents from the Plains to the Piedmont and knocked out power to thousands, including West Virginia's governor.

The winter weather, blamed for a dozen deaths since late last week, also kept the Northeast locked in bone-numbing cold, with minus 10-degree readings in Watertown and Glens Falls, N.Y. The strong winds that accompanied the cold earlier in the week, however, eased somewhat.

"This is Ice Station Zebra," said Kent Carper, public safety director in Charleston, W.Va., where an ice storm Monday resulted in power outages to 2,500 homes, including the state mansion Gov. Arch Moore calls home.

Up to 8 inches of snow fell by Monday night in southwestern Virginia and as much as 6 inches in the mountains of North Carolina and West Virginia.

Today's forecast called for snow across North Carolina, the Virginias, Maryland and Delaware, with up to 10 inches in the mountains. Snow also was expected in much of the Ohio and Tennessee valleys, and light snow from the middle Mississippi Valley and Arkansas to north Texas and Oklahoma.

"It looks like we're not in for a good time," said Bob Bottom, a National Weather Service meteorologist in Newport News, Va.

The bad weather kept schools closed today in parts of the Virginias, the Carolinas, Tennessee, Kentucky and Indiana.

Monday's storm resulted in more than 1,200 traffic accidents in North Carolina alone in a 12-hour period, said Willis Cooke, a communications supervisor with the Highway Patrol.

Local Roundup

Police report

Three persons were arrested during the weekend and Monday by Hereford police. One woman was taken into custody for a public display in the 800 block of Irving, two juveniles were arrested for burglary of a building, and a 36-year-old man was arrested for shoplifting and public intoxication at Save-N-Gain.

Offenses filed Monday included an assault in the 300 block of North Main, harassment, burglary of a coin operated machine and trespass complaint.

Weekend cases included 3 harassment complaints, an assault and criminal mischief, a family disturbance, trespassing, a prowler call, a suspicious person report, four hubcaps stolen, two cut tires and burglary. Also, a window of a semi-truck was shot out as the vehicle traveled in the 700 block of East 15th.

Police issued 25 citations and checked two minor accidents.

Two more file in school race

Two more persons have filed for the Hereford Schools trust posts.

Dennis Ziegler, R-1, Box 282, an employee of Frito Lay, and John Fenton, a businessman, both filed for the trustee posts with John Fenton and Bill Townsend.

Dennis Newton filed last week for the at-large post. No filing has been made for the Dist. 3 seat, including the trustee post.

The filing deadline for the April 4 election is 5 p.m. on Monday. Ballots must be registered in the district. If running for a district seat, registration is done in person at 10:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.

Texas prisons to reopen, again

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — The Texas prison system was set to open again today, six days after closing its doors because a state-mandated prison population cap was exceeded, officials said.

Texas Department of Corrections spokesman Charles Brown said the prison system would be open today and possibly Wednesday.

The nation's second-largest corrections department, behind only California, was forced to close last Wednesday after some 700 new prisoners were admitted from county jails.

It was the third closure in a month that the prison system had to close because the inmate population had surpassed a 95 percent of capacity limit set by the Legislature to ease overcrowding.

The last head count, made a midnight Friday totaled 38,297. That number was 94.78 percent of capacity, or 89 inmates below the legal limit.

No inmates were released Monday because of the Presidents Day holiday, Brown said. But about 210 inmates were released Friday, dropping the population figure below the 95 percent cap, he said.

Barker says no furs for Miss USA

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Miss USA Pageant host Bob Barker said he will not preside over tonight's nationally televised competition if pageant officials continue to insist that semifinalists wear fur coats.

Barker, an animal rights activist who is celebrating his 20th year with the pageant, said Miss USA officials knew of his position on furs and he was shocked to learn they planned to use them anyway.

"They've placed me in a position that would be untenable after speaking at various locations around the country telling people not to wear furs," Barker said Monday night. "I think it would be hypocritical of me to appear if the furs are used."

"To do this, I thought, was thoughtless," Barker said.

The pageant plans to have the semifinalists, who will be announced during the CBS-TV broadcast, emerge from a stage-set ski lodge wearing swimsuits and furs.

George Honchar, president and executive producer of Miss Universe Inc., said the fur coats are necessary because of advertising commitments. He said he would depend on Barker's professionalism not to break his contract.

"I'm really not looking at throwing Bob's number of years with the event out the window," he said after meeting with Barker on Monday night.

Roger Neal, a pageant spokesman, said CBS requires a stand-in be prepared in case of an emergency. Michael Young, master of ceremonies of the Miss Teen USA Pageant and host of the syndicated television shows "Kids Are People Too" and "Putting On The Kids," has been Barker's understudy.

Barker said he has been working with pageant officials to end the practice of presenting a fur coat to the Miss USA winner.

Pageant officials were unable to find a substitute gift for the fur coat this year, but planned to find something different next year, he said.

Barker said he opposes garments made of fur because of the harm suffering to God's creatures that they represent.

"I sincerely hope we can make a change," Barker said. "I hope they can wear something else or simulated furs."

Barker is host of the nationally syndicated television game show "The Price Is Right."

CIA director faces Iran questioning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting CIA Director Robert M. Gates, facing sharp questioning today about the Iran-Contra affair in Senate confirmation hearings, testified last April that CIA employees believe in the congressional oversight process.

He said nearly two-thirds of the agency's employees had been hired since Congress tightened controls on U.S. intelligence a decade ago and "they know no other way of doing business than within the framework of congressional oversight."

But Gates and other top agency officials failed to tell Congress of the CIA role in the secret arms deal with Tehran, or their suspicions that some of the proceeds went to help Nicaragua's Contra rebels.

Senators on the Select Intelligence Committee said they would ask Gates today to explain the CIA role in the Iran-Contra affair, and to renew his pledge to cooperate with congressional oversight panels.

Gates, a 43-year-old career CIA analyst, was nominated this month to replace William J. Casey as director of central intelligence. Casey, 73, retired after the removal of a cancerous tumor from his brain.

Gates, who would become the youngest person ever to head the CIA, has tried to create an appearance of openness to Congress that sharply contrasts with Casey.

Gates was easily confirmed to the No. 2 CIA post last April on a 10-0 vote by the Senate committee. But he was expected to face tougher questioning today from the same panel.

Sen. David Boren, D-Okla., the Intelligence Committee's new chairman, said that in order to assure the committee enough time to "reflect upon all relevant information," he wanted no vote until the expiration of the full 14-day waiting period provided by the panel's rules.

Boren said the Iran-Contra affair showed a failure by the Reagan administration to follow the oversight rules, and called for a fresh start.

"I think the most important thing is attitude," Boren said in an interview. "We are going to show them that we're worthy of trust ... and we expect them to be totally candid with us."

Gates, who began his career in the 1960s as an Air Force intelligence officer with a Minuteman missile wing, told senators in April that critics are mistaken when they say the CIA "deeply dislikes oversight, resists keeping the committees informed, carries out its reporting responsibilities grudgingly and minimally and would like to return to the so-called good old days before oversight."

Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., former vice chairman of the panel, said, "Gates was quite forthcoming when I dealt with him, but I believe the committee will want to delve deeply into what he knew about the entire Iran-Contra affair."

Shamir says Israel not involved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir intends to try to make two points clear during his visit here: Arming Iran was a U.S. idea, and Israel had nothing to do with the secret fund for Nicaraguan rebels.

Shamir, according to Israeli officials, will stress his nation's close ties with the United States and a willingness to explore peace prospects with its Arab neighbors during a three-day visit beginning today.

He is expecting a warm reception from President Reagan and senior administration officials, with only a new U.S. arms plan for Jordan and Saudi Arabia a potential source of friction.

But the visit is still likely to be marked by controversy as Shamir faces members of Congress and an American press eager to get at the origins of the Iran-Contra scandal.

Also, the prime minister is bound to be quizzed about persistent rumors that Israel is negotiating a deal to free a captured Israeli pilot and some of the American and other foreign hostages in Lebanon in exchange for 400 Arab prisoners.

CLOSE COUPLE...
...Keith Lindell and Carla Baxter

By DEBE GRAVES
Feature Writer

Like most college girls', Carla Baxter's dorm room at West Texas State University is decorated with pictures of a handsome young man. Her relationship with him is so important to her that regular telephone calls and weekly visits back home to see him are routine. The young man is 16-year-old Keith Lindell and Carla has been his "sister" through Big Brothers-Big Sisters for one and a half years.

It is unusual for a young man to be matched with a little brother so close in age but Carla and Keith knew each other through a special program she was enrolled in during high school.

"I worked with Keith at Shirley Elementary while I was in Hereford High School," she explains, "Keith had waited several years for a Big Brother and when I applied they made a special consideration for our case."

Keith has cerebral palsy which limits his ability to walk and makes his speech unclear, but his physical limitations in no way hinder his mental abilities or his capacity for love.

"He really is like a brother to me," smiles Carla, "He is one of the most important parts of my life. He is very smart and very funny." A joke between this special pair is that Keith covers Carla's eyes with his hand when something comes on television which he doesn't think she should see.

Together, Carla and Keith have gone to Amarillo to the movies, a rare treat for him, and are a familiar pair to Hereford residents who have seen them shopping at local stores. Needing to make a quick trip to her dorm, in Canyon, Carla picks up Keith and together they go rollin' down the highway with the rock music Keith loves blasting from the radio. They also spend time together at each other's homes just talking and watching television.

Conversation is largely comprised of questions which Keith can answer with a yes or no. His frustration with not being understood has evolved into just not speaking. To alleviate Keith's frustration and to force him into trying to speak, Carla began calling him on the telephone. "The telephone calls are his favorite," she comments, "But the most special surprise I've had was when he called me."

Keith also chooses cards which he encloses with the letters he mails to Carla in Canyon. When Carla has had a rough day in her studies, she is a senior majoring in social work, she can count on Keith to help her feel better. "He is always happy and his smile lifts me up," she says, "I get a lot out of this program; I get to be around Keith and he is special. Everybody thinks the children get all of the benefit but the 'Bigs' get just as much, it is a wonderful program."

(Carla Baxter was named Big Sister of the year for 1986.)

Dropout rate topic of meeting

The February meeting of the Concerned Citizens of Deaf Smith County will be devoted to discussion of the Hispanic dropout rate.

The public is invited to the meeting at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the Hereford Community Center.

A 30-minute film "Hispanic Dropouts: America's Time Bomb" will be shown.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. produced the film which features Edward James Olmos, Emmy-winning actor of "Miami Vice"; Henry Cisneros, mayor of San Antonio; Oscar Moran, national president of the League of United Latin American Citizens; Dr. Lauro Cavazos, president of Texas Tech; Dr. Lupita Quintanilla, vice chancellor of the University of Houston; and Tony Bonilla, of the National Hispanic Leadership Conference.

Also on the meeting agenda are reports from the elections, education and Labor Camp Committee.

65 mph speed limit advocates cite popularity, respect for law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western and rural lawmakers leading the move to increase the federal speed limit to 65 mph are bolstering their case with public opinion polls, states' rights arguments and even lessons about teaching children to respect the law.

"A child now sits in the back seat and watches his old man drive and put it at 62 mph, because that is where you can get by," Sen. Alan Simpson, R-Wyo., said during debate on the measure last week. "It happens to be that the speed limit is 55. That is a pretty poor law."

But they are being countered by legislators and their allies, largely from urban and Eastern states, whose major argument is safety.

"Every recognizable piece of evidence indicates that speed on highways kills and that trucks and other vehicles operate most safely at lower speeds," says Robert Mann, spokesman for the American Trucking Association.

The Senate passed a highway bill Feb. 4 that would allow states to increase the speed limit to 65 mph on segments of interstates outside urban areas. The highway bill approved by the House on Jan. 21 would retain the 55 mph limit. Conferees from the two chambers are expected to begin meeting this week.

Part of the dispute is tactical. According to the office of Sen. Steven Symms, R-Idaho, chief Senate supporter of the higher speed limit, the bill would allow higher speeds on 33,910 miles of the 43,291 miles of interstate.

Al Lauersdorf, traffic safety specialist with the National Safety Council, which favors the lower limit, says, "We look at that as probably an opening. If they get that, probably they'll go further."

The American Automobile Association, which favors allowing states to set higher speed limits, commissioned a poll last September asking whether speed limits should be increased on rural interstates. The results: 56 percent said yes and 40 percent said no.

The telephone survey of 1,014 randomly selected adults had a margin of error of plus or minus 3 percent, and represented a reversal of an identical poll in 1985, when 43 percent said speeds should be increased and 55 percent said no.

The lower limit was instituted in 1974 in response to the oil embargo. Symms argues "the energy scare has passed" and says the 55 mph limit costs 1 billion additional hours of passenger time each year.

But House supporters of 55 such as James Howard, D-N.J., chairman of the Public Works and Transportation Committee, disagree.

"My main argument for 55 is it saves fuel, it saves lives and it saves money," Howard says.

Howard and his allies say the lower speed limit saves about 167,000 barrels of oil daily, and reduces automobile maintenance costs because cars run more efficiently at the lower speed. And they say the billion extra hours of passenger time works out to an average of one minute for each car trip.

But their major point is lives saved.

The horsepower, a non-metric unit used in mechanics, is equal to 746 watts.

The legendary Hirsch Jacobs made enough money racing pigeons to afford a 282-acre horse-breeding farm.

When the Brooklyn Bridge was dedicated in 1883, 12 people were trampled to death in the excitement.

Cookbooks given to garden club members

Members of Hereford Garden Club met Friday in the home of Corene Smith, 710 Baltimore, with Bessie Hill serving as co-hostess.

The club prayer was led by President Ursalee Jacobsen and each member was presented with a complimentary cookbook compiled by members of the District I Garden Club.

The officers for 1986 were re-elected to serve this year.

Hill told the group of a prize winning essay by a 16-year-old girl entitled "Our Land, Our Opportunity." She said, "It is our responsibility to think of the environmental conditions of today such as water pollution which endangers our health. What takes nature 1,000 years to develop takes man one day to destroy."

"Living Color From the Garden"

was the program given by Mozell Childers. She said that with the proper planning one can have color all summer. She listed as example, the New Rock Alpine Gardens in Denver. She further said, "In planning, read about plants and find out the color of each." She suggested planning on paper before actual planting.

"Easier Gardening With Glyphosate" was the topic explained by Ursalee Jacobsen. She suggested that chemicals be used to lessen the time spent on chopping weeds. She also listed various types of chemicals to use and what form they come in.

Others present included Carman Angel, Lucy Fay Cocanougher, Lois Ethridge, Jerry Jackson, Mable Mitchell, Mary Stoy, Meredith Wilcox and Elizabeth Wilson.

Fellers, Pope present program on leadership

Byrdie Fellers and Nell Pope presented the program on membership and leadership when members of Cultural Extension Club met Friday with Carrie Mae Doak serving as hostess.

Members were asked by Fellers to give their reasons for joining an extension club. Pope stated that the base of a club was the leadership and also emphasized that supporting the leaders was very important to the organization.

Roll call was answered with one way to enlist new members and the opening exercise was given by the hostess entitled "Thank God for Little Things" and "Voicing a Prayer."

Fellers, vice president, presided over the business session when the council report was given by Delegate Jewell Hargrave. She also read the council recommendations for 1987.

Virginia Sumner and Doak volunteered to register guests during the Appreciation Luncheon scheduled Feb. 23 at the Bull Barn when the Club Woman of the Year will be named.

The hostess served Valentine refreshments from a table covered in white and centered with a bouquet of red roses flanked with red rose-shaped candles.

Other members in attendance included Bertha Dettmann, Edith Hunter, S.T. Walton, Jewel Rogers, Winnie Wiseman, Wilma Goetsch, Mildred Lewis, Tillie Scott, Fannie Townsend, and Marie Thames.

The next meeting will be Feb. 27 with Mrs. Thames serving as hostess.

Khuri gives program on Palestinian woman

"The Palestinian Arab Woman" was the program presented by Sylvia Khuri when members of Calliopean Study Club met Thursday in the home of Audine Dettmann. Linda Gilbert served as co-hostess.

Mrs. Khuri spoke from her viewpoint as a Christian urban Arab woman. Highlights of her talk included the history, culture and religion of Palestine which is now a part of Israel. Her home was in Ramallah, about 10 miles from Jerusalem. She explained the importance and influence of family and education and also spoke of marriage and the woman at home and at work.

The speaker also mentioned several United States customs which are different and her adjustment of understanding them. One strong emphasis was on education. Her lower education was in a Christian school established by the Quakers which had also been attended by her parents and grandparents. She received her college education in several countries including attending two years in Florida. She received her master's degree in business administration in May of 1986 from West Texas State University. She said that although property and possessions may be lost or taken away, a person's education always belongs to him or her.

Mrs. Khuri brought several books, olive wood carvings, mother-of-pearl items and examples of very intricate cross-stitch embroidery. She also passed a plate of several types of pastries she had prepared for club members to sample.

Those present included Dettmann, Marye Fraser, Gilbert, Virginia Holmes, Sue James, Claudia McFayer, Cherry McWhorter, Kay McWhorter, Marjorie Mims, Wilma Nobles, Kathlee Palmer, Kathryn Ruga and Meredith Wilcox.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm concerned about a letter you printed from the wife-batterer who went to AA and wanted a second chance. You said you hoped he'd get it.

In June the man I loved and hoped to marry beat me severely and tried to strangle me with a necktie. He will be sentenced soon to one year in jail. It could have been murder.

I can't tell you how many second chances I have given him. Always there were tearful apologies, flowers, promises and excuses. "I was out of my head," "I didn't know what I was doing," "I didn't mean it."

I felt guilty about being an "unforgiving person," and gave in when he pleaded, "It will never happen again." I wanted desperately to believe him.

Batterers always have excuses. "Want To go Home" thinks his is alcoholism. I wouldn't be so sure.

Only a therapist can predict with any accuracy whether a batterer will repeat. Changing one's behavior (drinking) won't affect the urge to physically abuse until you actually address the deep, underlying causes. Alcohol only acts as an enabler by decreasing inhibitions.

Until "Want To" seeks professional help, his wife should hold her ground. If she accepts the endless rounds of abuse and excuses, she needs help too. I did. - Stanford Alumna Who Learned

DEAR S.A.: You are right on, Lady. I hope every batterer and battered person will tear out this column and read it until he or she goes for help. It could change his or her life.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from "Agony revisited" struck a raw nerve. At 12 I looked much older and was constantly challenged about my age. With pain, I remember the hole that had been drilled into a metal pole on the bus. When you were taller than that hole (or 13 years of age), you had to pay an adult fare. I was taller than the hole at age 11. At 12, I was also too tall to be "under 14" at the neighborhood movie house.

The solution was my birth certificate, which I carried with me at all times. The look of surprise on the faces of the doubters was my way of getting even. Be patient, those of you who tower above your contemporaries. Time has a way of evening things up. -S.I. in Grand Blanc, Mich.

DEAR GRAND: Thanks for the words of encouragement. The same advice holds for those who are shorter than average. The compensations are numerous - and I speak from experience.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Right now I'm sitting here hating retired men with a passion. I swear they turn into little boys again. They always seem to need something, want something, hear something and see everything.

I feel suffocated by the constant presence of my retired husband. I resent the way he demands all my attention. The man is jealous of my friends, my family, even the dog. I can't have a phone conversation without him nagging me to "get off" because he wants me to do something for him "right now." I wonder if all retired men are like my husband. I need guidance. - Ohio Candidate for the Loony Bin.

DEAR CANDIDATE: Thank the good Lord all retired men are not like your husband. Many have hobbies and interests that keep them busy, productive and out of the wife's hair.

Ask your husband's doctor to talk to him about pursuing a hobby or doing volunteer work. Consider joint counseling. Sounds as if your marriage is in trouble.

Are drugs OK if you learn how to control them? Can they be of help? The answers are in Ann Landers' all-new booklet, "The Low-Down on Dope." For each booklet ordered, send $2.00, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (39 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Graying Of America

(Source: Census Bureau) NEA GRAPHIC

Expect a surge in middle-age and very elderly households in America by the year 2000. The total number of U.S. households will grow about 27 percent by then. But those headed by people in these groups will grow much faster: ages 35-to-44, by 44 percent; ages 44-to-54, by 77 percent; and age 75 and over, by 47 percent.

Needle punch demonstration given by Odom at meeting

Carol Odom gave a needle punch demonstration for members of Bipus Extension Club when the group met recently with Margaret Hall serving as hostess.

Odom assisted members with their own needle punch creations. She also showed how to decorate sweatshirts with silver studs, conchos and beads. Odom displayed sweatshirts, tee shirts, denim skirts and pillows in which she had personally decorated.

Members were reminded of the annual Appreciation Luncheon planned at noon Feb. 23 at the Bull Barn. The Woman of the Year will be named by a Hereford Brand representative. Members were asked to bring a covered dish to the event.

There was no old or new business discussed.

Roll call was answered by members giving the names of their first boyfriends. Members present were Hall, Kate Bradley, Louise Hall, Flora Homfeld, Becky Mays and Mariellen Homfeld.

Welcomed as visitors were Odom, Gayle Carter from Westway Extension Club; Kathy Hammock, Messenger Extension Club; and Elaine Pinnell.

The next meeting will be in the home of Becky Mays located west of Bootleg corner.

Austin author reveals facts about peppers

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — Columbus discovered America, but he also discovered peppers.

In a book titled, "Peppers, the Domesticated Capsicums," published by the University of Texas Press, Austin author Jean Andrews reveals little-known facts about peppers. She dedicated her book to Christopher Columbus.

"Columbus was looking for black pepper," Ms. Andrews said. "That's why they named them peppers. My publisher didn't think a book had ever been dedicated to Columbus before."

While known as the pepper here, it's called the "aji" in South America, the "chile" in India and the scientific term "capsicum" in other exotic climes.

"The pepper is the most used spice and condiment in the world," Ms. Andrews says. "And it originated in this hemisphere. It was a New World plant, and we didn't realize that until this century. Peppers changed food so much that you don't think of food in India ever being without peppers."

While peppers were found here, within 50 years of the discovery they found their way to China.

"They were small and easy to transport, and birds spread them," she said.

Peppers were an immediate hit because diets were so bland at the time, she explained.

Ms. Andrews illustrated as well as wrote the book, which includes 32 color plates of original watercolor paintings. The original paintings are on display at the Museum of the Southwest through Feb. 15.

She also is the author of "Sea Shells of the Texas Coast," "Shells and Shores of Texas," "Texas Shells: A Field Guide" and "The Texas Bluebonnet."

"My interest in seashells was primarily as an artist," Ms. Andrews said. "Then I needed text to go with my art so I became a writer."

Before painting seashells and peppers, Ms. Andrews studied sewing and design in a home economics program and found herself drawn to the study of food. She received her Ph.D. in art, working in dress design, at North Texas State University.

Today she makes her own clothing. "I still like to fool with food," she said. "It was through cooking and gardening that I became interested in peppers."

The widespread popularity of Mexican food attests to the pepper's importance, Ms. Andrews said. "It's the fastest growing ethnic food in America. The taco is a national dish now."

The pepper adds flavor to the environment as well as to food, she said.

"It adds color at a particular time of the year when there is no color in the yard," she said. "And it's used in the industry as a coloring agent, because it's a natural source of color."

Ms. Andrews urges pepper reform in one aspect, however.

"It would solve the confusion worldwide if we would all call them capsicums," she said.

Here are some of Ms. Andrews' recipes using the world's favorite spice:

AJI DE GALLINA (CHICKEN IN PEPPER SAUCE)

This variation of an unusual Peruvian dish may be prepared ahead of time and frozen. Allow it to return to room temperature before heating. Serves 8 to 10.

- 1-3½-to-4 pound chicken, quartered
- 1 large onion, quartered
- 2 to 3 stalks of celery
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon pepper
- Water to cover

Sauce:

- 2 cups fresh bread crumbs
- 2 cups milk
- 2 medium onions, chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 5 fresh Puca-uchas or Serranos (peppers)
- 2 medium tomatoes
- 1 cup grated Parmesan cheese, divided
- 6 ounces walnuts, chopped
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1-2-cup cracker crumbs
- 1-2-cup sliced black olives
- 4 eggs, hardboiled, sliced lengthwise

Cook chicken, onion, celery, and seasonings in a large pot until tender. Allow to cool in the stock. Remove the skin and bones; shred the meat. Strain the stock. Set the chicken and stock aside.

To make the sauce, soak the bread-crumbs in the milk in a large mixing bowl. Saute the onion and garlic until golden, then add to the soaked crumbs. Puree the peppers and tomatoes in a processor or blender; add to the crumb mixture. Put the sauce in a large pan; cook until it thickens.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Add chicken, 1 cup chicken stock, 1-2-cup cheese, walnuts and seasonings to the sauce. Cook over medium heat for about 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Pour into a greased 9x15x2-inch baking dish.

Spread 1-2-cup cheese and cracker crumbs over the top of the chicken and sauce. Bake until very hot and bubbly, 30 to 40 minutes.

Garnish with black olives and egg slices.

PEBRE (SOUTH AMERICAN HOT SAUCE)

Yields 1 cup

- 1 medium onion, minced
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped cilantro
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley
- 2 or more chinci-uchas, seeded and finely chopped (Serranos may be substituted)
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- Salt, to taste

The number of chiles used in this sauce is up to personal taste; more or less may be used. Combine all the ingredients in a bowl and let stand for about one hour before serving for the flavor to develop. Serve with any meat.

DR. GOTT

Aging can slow pulse

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a retired 72-year-old female. About 12 years ago my pulse was 60. In the last two years it has dropped to 44 and has gone as low as 35. What could cause this? I am very active.

DEAR READER — The heartbeat is controlled by a "natural pacemaker" that discharges electrical impulses into the nerves feeding the heart muscle. As we age and develop arteriosclerosis with poor circulation, the delicate pacemaker mechanism can be affected. Sometimes the pacemaker itself slows down. At other times, the heart's electrical conduction can be impaired. Often, the cardiac nerves become faulty and not evenly distribute the pacemaker's electrical impulses. In these instances, a slow heartbeat (bradycardia) can appear.

By itself, the bradycardia is of no consequence. However, if the pulse falls too low, a person can become weak, dizzy or short of breath. Bradycardia is a common cause of fainting in the elderly. When symptoms appear, the patient must undergo testing to determine the exact location of the problem. Once the cause of the bradycardia has been identified, medicine may be required to enhance electrical conduction or otherwise improve cardiac functioning. Some patients may need an electronic pacemaker to keep the heart beating at an appropriate rate (60 to 80 beats per minute).

In short, bradycardia is often a consequence of the aging process. Medicine and/or electrical pacemakers are useful in treating the symptoms of slow heartbeat.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have had intrinsic asthma for years. I'm 75. Inhalers make my lungs fill up with mucus and I end up in the emergency room. I take prednisone, Theolair and Proventyl, but I still have asthma. Do you have any suggestions?

DEAR READER — The medicines you are taking are appropriate for bronchial asthma (if taken under close medical supervision).

Since they seem to be ineffective, you and your doctor might wish to investigate other possibilities. For example, heart failure often can appear to be asthma. In addition, allergies may trigger your asthma attacks; therefore, an allergist might be able to help you. Finally, your asthma could be eased by different brands of medicine: Theolair, for instance, is trade named theophylline; perhaps another brand of theophylline might be more effective. Your doctor may need to enlist the aid of a pulmonary specialist to help find the right type of dosage of medicine for your needs.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS STORY

"Everybody Already Knows My Store And What I Carry."

Sound Familiar?

Advertising is news about the marketplace, if you don't advertise, you're telling consumers there's no news from your store. But your competition is fighting for the public's interest with regular ads; if you want to keep your share of the market, you need to be in the same arena, bidding for the business. You need to advertise in the newspaper. Plus, people move out of the area and new people move in. Advertise to bring new customers into the store. Sell your store and your service through newspaper advertising.

NOT CONVINCED?

Newspaper advertising is unlike any other media choice. You're reaching a friendly, receptive audience with your advertising message. So receptive that they pay to have the paper delivered to their home. No wonder consumers consider newspapers the most believable advertising medium.

Newspaper advertising can help your business. It can increase sales and in a competitive market, it can give your business and edge over the other guy.

Don't tempt fate. Join the many successful businesses who know what works for them and what doesn't. Advertise in the newspaper and get results.

HHS sophomore boys up season record to 12-7

The Hereford High School sophomore boys' basketball team upped its season record to 12-7 with victories over Canyon and Lubbock Coronado.

On Saturday, Hereford defeated Canyon 67-54, and on Monday night, Hereford beat Coronado 67-58.

The HHS sophomores have two games remaining in their 1986-87 season—at Levelland today at 6 p.m. and at Borger on Friday at 5:15 p.m.

Three players scored in double figures to help lead Hereford to its 67-54 victory over Canyon. Keith Brown was high scorer with 17 points, Darren Nikkel scored 12 points and Kyle Andrews had 10 points.

Other scorers included Todd

Schroeder with eight points and Adolfo Martinez with six points.

Hereford led at halftime, 33-15, and then increased its lead to 49-33 in the third quarter.

On Monday, Hereford moved out to a 10-0 lead and went on to defeat Coronado 67-58. Hereford, which led 20-12 when the first period ended, had a 34-27 halftime lead.

After three quarters of play, it was Hereford 48, Coronado 42.

Andrews poured in 24 points to lead Hereford, including 15 points in the first half. Andrews made 10 of 13 free throw attempts.

Brown added 12 points, and Nikkel and Roger McCracken each scored eight points.

Stanton 7th, 9th boys' teams win season finales

Two Stanton Junior High School boys' basketball teams closed out the 1986-87 season with victories Monday night, defeating Marshall of Clovis, N.M., in home games.

The Stanton ninth grade boys beat Marshall 46-31, and the Stanton seventh grade boys scored a 54-38 win. In the eighth grade game, Marshall beat Stanton 36-32.

Baseballs are put through torture test

By ED SCHAFER
Associated Press Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Major league baseball players groan and sweat during spring training. So, it turns out, do major league baseballs.

The players have it all over the baseballs. The major leaguers stretch and twist and run under a warm sun, but the baseball's lot is to enter the Rawlings Sporting Goods Co.'s "torture chamber."

The balls are shot from cannons, pounded and squeezed — all to ensure uniformity and to rebuff any claims that "livelier balls" are the reason that someone's star pitcher is getting hammered.

"We definitely think we're producing the most consistent ball ever," said Scott Barton, an engineer for Rawlings, the exclusive manufacturer of the estimated 45,000 baseballs that will be used in the major leagues this season.

Rawlings also provides teams with uniforms, catching equipment, batting helmets and other gear, but it is the making of baseballs that is particularly difficult.

Rawlings is based in St. Louis, but the basic components of baseballs come from all over the world. Each component must satisfy quality-control standards before the assembled ball enters the torture chamber.

The cushioned cork centers for the balls are produced at the Muscle Shoals Rubber Co. in Batesville, Miss., using rubber from southeast Asia and cork from Portugal. The center, a red pellet slightly smaller than a golf ball and called the "pill," has been made that way since 1928.

The cowhide covers, which have been used in place of horsehide since 1874, are tanned, finished, cut and punched for sewing at the Tennessee

Final season records for the Stanton teams are: seventh grade, 6-9; eighth grade, 2-13; and ninth grade, 3-12.

Stanton's ninth grade team, which won its last two games of the season, held a 21-16 halftime lead over Marshall. But the third quarter was all Stanton's, with the Dogies outscoring Marshall 20-4 for a 41-20 lead going into the final quarter.

Benny Gonzales led Stanton with 13 points, and Jason Walterscheid and Mason Morgan each scored eight points.

Stanton seventh grader Mark Drumm outscored the entire Marshall team in the Dogies' 54-28 win over Marshall. Drumm scored 29 points, including 10 points in the second quarter and nine points in the third quarter.

Other scorers for Stanton included Jose Gutierrez and John McBride each with six points.

Stanton led 19-9 at halftime and 38-15 at the end of the third quarter.

In the eighth grade game, Jermaine Williams led Stanton with 18 points in the 36-32 loss to Marshall. Marshall held a 20-17 halftime lead and a 34-21 lead at the end of the third quarter.

'Y' high school racquetball leagues planned

Racquetball leagues for high school students are being organized at the Hereford and Vicinity YMCA.

The leagues will be boys' singles, girls' singles, boys' doubles, and girls' doubles. Singles matches will be played on Tuesdays and doubles matches will be played on Thursdays.

The maximum number of players for each league is 12, and the minimum is eight players. Entry fees are $7 for YMCA members and $14 for non-members of the YMCA.

Signup deadline is Friday, Feb. 20, and the leagues will begin on Feb. 24 and 25. The league competition will go for six weeks, plus a single-elimination tournament.

TCU suspends grid players

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Three Texas Christian University football players have been suspended for disciplinary reasons, Coach Jim Wacker announced.

Off the Horned Frogs squad are junior-to-be cornerback Ricky Rougly of Carthage, sophomore defensive back Roy Evans of Atlanta, Texas, and sophomore linebacker Paul Montgomery of Brownsboro.

Wacker would not elaborate on the reasons for the suspensions, which were ordered on Monday, but Montgomery confirmed the action involved an on-campus liquor violation, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported.

"I think Coach Wacker is overreacting a little bit," Montgomery told the newspaper. "I'm upset. I don't understand the situation right now. A lot of players on the team drink."

Wacker would not say if the suspensions are permanent.

"At this point, all I can say is that those three players have been suspended for disciplinary reasons. Decisions like this are the toughest part of coaching," Wacker said.

Athletic Director Frank Windgeper said the players' scholarships will be honored through the end of the spring semester.

Roger McCracken (52) of the Hereford High School sophomore basketball team attempts a shot against Lubbock Coronado Monday night. McCracken, who has had several 20-plus point games this season, scored eight points Monday in Hereford's

67-58 victory over Lubbock Coronado. The win was the 12th of the season for the HHS sophomores against seven defeats. Other Hereford players pictured are: Hud Edwards (5), Jeff Farr (5), and Jason Scott (14). (Brand photo by Gary Christensen)

Man has officiated in NCAA 'Final Four' 4 times

By JOHN INMAN
Longview News-Journal
LONGVIEW, Texas (AP) — On his tip-toes, Paul Galvan admits he "maybe" was all of 5-4 playing a game normally meant for players much taller. That was as a senior in 1956 at Longview High School.

Today he's 5-6 and still laces up his sneakers and runs up and down a basketball court — alongside many of the country's top college basketball players.

As an official, Galvan is at the top of his game. He's considered one of the best referees around, as attested by his four trips to the NCAA's Final Four, including last year's finale in Dallas' Reunion Arena. Only two others — Hank Nichols and Irv Brown — have officiated in more Final Fours.

Through 20-plus years of officiating, Galvan has seen all the great teams, all the great players, argued with all the great coaches, travelled an endless number of miles and says he wouldn't change a thing if he could start over.

"To me, officiating is restful. I enjoy it, I look forward to it. Officiating and education go hand in hand. ... you're trying to do the best thing you can for kids," Galvan said.

"You have to go out there and put the crowd and coaches out of your mind and try to help the kids play the cleanest game of basketball that you can. That's what I tell young officials. If they can't live with that, they shouldn't be officiating."

Galvan is completing his 24th and final year as a basketball official. Next year, he will devote his time to being the first full-time supervisor of Southwest Conference officials, something he is already doing this year.

In addition, on weekends he officiates Southeastern Conference, Western Athletic Conference and Metro Conference games; serves as the Southland Conference supervisor of officials; and attends to his "first job" as principal at Fort Worth Trimble Tech High School.

Galvan, who coached at Longview, Gladewater, Marshall, Fort Worth Polytechnic and TCU before moving into administration at Trimble Tech as vice principal and taking the principal's job seven years ago.

There aren't enough hours in the day. "I was asked by the Southwest Conference athletic directors (last July) to assume the position of supervisor (of officials). If I do that and do the kind of job that needs to be done, it would be hard time-wise to continue all I'm doing. I just decided this would be my last year to officiate," said the 40-year-old Galvan.

It'll be the NCAA's loss and the SWC's gain. "Oh, I'm sure I'll miss it (officiating), but I'll still be close to the game and keep myself involved with basketball. I'll be trying to help the officials on my staff and trying to improve their game. That's something that not many of us have been able to have."

"I'll be observing and trying to improve the caliber of officiating in the conference. I'll be looking for new officials."

Galvan also will operate a pair of referee camps — one at Tennessee Tech in Cookeville, Tenn., and one at the University of Southwestern Louisiana in Lafayette, La.

His officiating career, which he estimates at more than 1,300 games, includes junior high, high school and junior college games as well as college contests.

His career is dotted by some of the greatest games in NCAA history. In particular, Galvan recalls the 1974 semifinal game in which UCLA's seven-year championship streak came to an end at the hands of North Carolina State and David Thompson. He has officiated in every NCAA Tournament since 1970, with the exception of 1965, when he suffered an injury during the SWC postseason tournament.

Galvan's officiating began solely by accident, he said. After graduating from Longview in 1956, Galvan attended East Texas State University and became involved in intramural sports. The teams not playing were responsible for furnishing the officials.

"Coach (Earnest) Hawkins was in the stands and saw me. He later said I had done a pretty good job and should consider officiating. Well, at that time every little bit of money helped. He got me interested. I started officiating some junior high games and it went from there," Galvan said.

He moved back to Longview, in 1960, as an assistant coach, and within two years an officiating career was in full swing. Galvan's partner in those days, he said, was Bailey Marshall, then a coach at White Oak and now the director of the University Interscholastic League.

Galvan's reputation as a top-notch official blossomed. The rest is history.

TWO-WAY PLAYERS

MISSION, Kan. (AP) — Gordic Lockbaum of Holy Cross got national publicity last fall for his role as a two-way player, running back on offense and cornerback on defense.

But the NCAA pointed out that Leroy Keyes of Purdue did some nifty two-way playing himself for three seasons, 1966-67-68.

Like Lockbaum, Keyes was a ballcarrier on offense and defensive back on defense. His greatest day was against Notre Dame Sept. 28, 1968. On the attack, Keyes ran for two touchdowns, tossed a scoring pass, and had three receptions. On defense, inserted in key situations to go one-on-one with Jim Seymour, the star Irish end, he stopped him without a reception. When Keyes was not in the game, Seymour made seven catches. Purdue was a handy winner of the contest, 37-22.

FOOTBALL FAMILY

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Harry Mehre, a wide receiver for William and Mary last fall, comes from a famous football family tree.

His grandfather, also named Harry Mehre, was a teammate of George Gipp at Notre Dame shortly after World War I. He coached at Georgia from 1928 to 1937 and at Mississippi from 1938 to 1945.

Young Harry's father, also named Harry, played football at Vanderbilt. The William and Mary Mehre will be back this fall and is rated not only a clever receiver but a dangerous runner on end-around plays.

Rockets win shootout over Mavericks

HOUSTON (AP) — The rivalry heated up in an NBA Midwest Division shootout between the Houston Rockets and the Dallas Mavericks.

"We realize we need to beat them here," Maverick's center James Donaldson said after Dallas' 105-100 loss Monday night, the Mavericks' fifth straight setback on Houston's home court.

"Houston always gives us problems if we are not at the top of our game."

Akeem Olajuwon scored 36 points, grabbed 16 rebounds and blocked Rolando Blackman's shot with 13 seconds to play, allowing the Rockets to move within five games of the division-leading Mavericks.

Mavericks Coach Dick Motta had only terse comments following the game.

"Houston won the game, but they know we're not just renting first place," Motta said.

His comment was in reference to Rocket guard Dirk Minniefield's comment after the Rockets' last victory over Dallas in Houston that the Dallas team was only temporarily holding Houston's rightful place at the division leader.

Rockets guard Steve Harris banked a jumper into the basket with 35 seconds to play to give Houston the lead for good in the closely contested game. Dallas had a 7-point lead and Houston's biggest lead was its 5-point victory margin.

Olajuwon's block and four straight free throws by Cedric Maxwell in the closing seconds boosted the Rockets a game closer to the Mavericks.

"They are the division leaders and tonight's victory helped us a lot," said Harris, a second-year sharpshooter from Tulsa. "We just kind of relaxed tonight and it helped us play a better game after being on the road."

Harris took a shot that was intended for Olajuwon, but the Rockets center said he wasn't disappointed.

"I was going to take the shot," Olajuwon said. "I was happy he made it. It took the pressure off me. This is like two wins for us."

Dallas led 52-50 at the half, and the game was back and forth throughout the second half.

A three-point play by Blackman with one minute left in the game gave the Mavericks a 100-99 lead, their last advantage.

Houston took the ball out of bounds with five seconds on the shot clock and got the ball in to Harris, whose shot put Houston ahead to stay.

"I have to admit they got a couple of breaks," Dallas forward Mark Aguirre said. "Harris' shot was a rainbow from the corner. That's not a high percentage shot."

The Rockets held Dallas to 17 fourth-quarter points.

"It was just hustling and aggressive ball," Olajuwon said. "The refs let us play and that's why it was physical. Now we can relax and enjoy two days off before Boston."

Donaldson said it was a hard day's work against Olajuwon.

"Akeem really made it tough on us in the second half," Donaldson said. "He's the toughest in the league on me."

Sam Perkins led Dallas with 23 points, followed by Blackman with 22 and Donaldson with 20 points and 17 rebounds.

Other NBA games

While the Boston Celtics were having problems with Utah's Karl Malone, the Phoenix Suns had double Malone trouble.

Karl Malone scored 25 points and pulled down 15 rebounds and the Utah reserves outscored the Boston bench 56-6 as the Jazz defeated the Celtics 109-89 Monday night.

Meanwhile, Jeff Malone tied his season-high with 38 points and Moses Malone shook off the flu that kept him on the bench at the start of the game to score 36 and pull down a game-high 11 rebounds as the Washington Bullets beat the Phoenix Suns 124-110.

"Malone was all over the boards and was running the fast break," Boston Coach K.C. Jones said.

"We had trouble with both Malones," said Phoenix Coach John MacLeod.

In other NBA games, it was Cleveland 105, Seattle 94; Milwaukee 128, New Jersey 124; Sacramento 124, Chicago 120 in overtime; Philadelphia 111, New York 101; Indiana 112, Golden State 93 and Portland 110, Los Angeles Clippers 105.

Karl Malone scored seven points in the fourth quarter as Utah broke open a tight game, outscoring Boston 26-16. Darrell Griffith, who didn't play in the first quarter, added 23 points, including five 3-point goals, and Thurl Bailey had 18 while John Stockton dished out 17 assists.

"We weren't in sync all night," said Larry Bird, who led Boston with 26 points.

Bullets 124, Suns 110

Moses Malone, who complained of dizziness before the game and sat out the first period, came off the bench to score nine points in the second quarter while Jeff Malone added seven to give the Bullets a 60-49 halftime lead. Moses added 12 points in the third period as Washington took an 89-76 lead.

Walter Davis paced Phoenix with 24 points and Larry Nance added 23 but Washington notched 18 steals and forced Phoenix into 27 turnovers.

Cavaliers 105, SuperSonics 94

Ron Harper scored 28 points and Brad Daugherty 21 while Cleveland held high-scoring Tom Chambers and Xavier McDaniel to a combined 16 points in handing visiting Seattle its sixth straight setback.

Chambers, averaging 23.9 points, was held to 11. McDaniel, scoring at a 22.4 clip, did not score until 2:55 was left in the game and finished with five points. Dale Ellis led Seattle with 17 points, nearly seven below his average.

Bucks 128, Nets 124

Sidney Moncrief, in his second game since returning from an injury, scored 20 points, 11 in the final period, and passed the 10,000-point career mark, helping Milwaukee to its fifth straight victory, tying its longest streak of the season.

The third-place Bucks are just two games behind first-place Atlanta in the Central Division.

The Nets have lost 10 of their last 11 games and 16 of 18.

Kings 124, Bulls 120

Sacramento's Eddie Johnson scored seven of his 17 points in overtime and Reggie Theus hit two clutch free throws with 12 seconds remaining.

Chicago's Michael Jordan led all scorers with 43 points.

76ers 111, Knicks 101

Charles Barkley scored 17 points and grabbed 19 rebounds while Tim McCormick had 19 points to lead six Philadelphia players in double figures.

Patrick Ewing led New York with 24 points.

Pacers 112, Warriors 93

Indiana used Chuck Person's 25 points and a club record 40-point first quarter to beat Golden State.

Indiana led 40-25 after the first quarter, including 12 of Vern Fleming's 18 points.

Trail Blazers 110, Clippers 105

Clyde Drexler tied his season high with 36 points and Jerome Kersey added 19 in place of the injured Kiki Vandeweghe. Although they had only eight healthy players due to Vandeweghe's back spasms and Michael Holton's bruised thigh, the Blazers stormed to a 19-point lead late in the second quarter.

BASEBALL

NEW YORK (AP) — First baseman Don Mattingly went after the largest salary arbitration award in the 13-year history of the procedure, bidding for a $1.975 million contract from the New York Yankees, who were offering $1.7 million.

Outfielder Kevin McReynolds of the New York Mets and pitcher Danny Cox of the St. Louis Cardinals also had their arbitration hearings, although with less money at stake.

Decisions on the three cases were expected either late Tuesday or Wednesday.

PRO BASKETBALL

NEW YORK (AP) — Magic Johnson of the Los Angeles Lakers, who averaged 31.7 points, 10 assists and 6.3 rebounds in three victories last week, was named NBA Player of the Week by the league.

Johnson shot 56 percent from the field and 87 percent from the free throw line as the Lakers defeated Sacramento, Indiana and Boston.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Vinny Testaverde, the Heisman Trophy winner from the University of Miami, accepted the sixth annual Davey O'Brien National Quarterback Award on Monday night.

Testaverde received the traditional O'Brien trophy, which honors the memory of the late quarterback who led Texas Christian to the national championship in 1958 and won the Heisman Trophy.

Testaverde also received a gold watch and his school got a $10,000 scholarship grant.

Despite missing the final regular season game with an injury, Testaverde was the nation's passing efficiency leader, hitting 63 percent of his tosses for 2,557 yards and 26 touchdowns.

Miami Coach Jimmy Johnson attended the awards dinner, saying "Vinny is a team man sharing his phenomenal success with those around him, an unselfish athlete and a quality person of fine character."

Kevin Sweeney of Fresno State, the most prolific passer in NCAA Division-IA history, received a special silver medallion plaque as the runnerup in the balloting by a 13-member advisory committee.

Previous O'Brien recipients included Jim McMahon of Brigham Young, Todd Blackledge of Penn State, Steve Young of BYU, Doug Flutie of Boston College, and Chuck Long of Iowa.

Earl Campbell of Texas, Billy Sims of Oklahoma and Mike Singletary of Baylor were selected when the O'Brien trophy was given to the outstanding collegiate player in the Southwest.

HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL

MASON CITY, Iowa (AP) — It wasn't even an average night for Ventura's Lynne Lorenzen, but it was still something special.

Although the 54 points Lorenzen scored in Monday night's sectional tournament game were 10 below her average, they were more than enough to make her the national career scoring leader in high school basketball.

"I came out kind of sluggish, but I knew tonight would be the night if things all went well," said Lorenzen, who has scored 6,266 points in her career.

Lorenzen needed 39 points to pass the state and national record of 6,250 set by Denise Long of Union-Whitten and she reached that figure with 5 minutes, 12 seconds left in the third quarter of her team's 87-51 victory over Meservey-Thornton.

Long, who played from 1965-69, was in the crowd of 4,000 that packed the Mason City High School gym and joined Lorenzen in the celebration of her achievement afterwards.

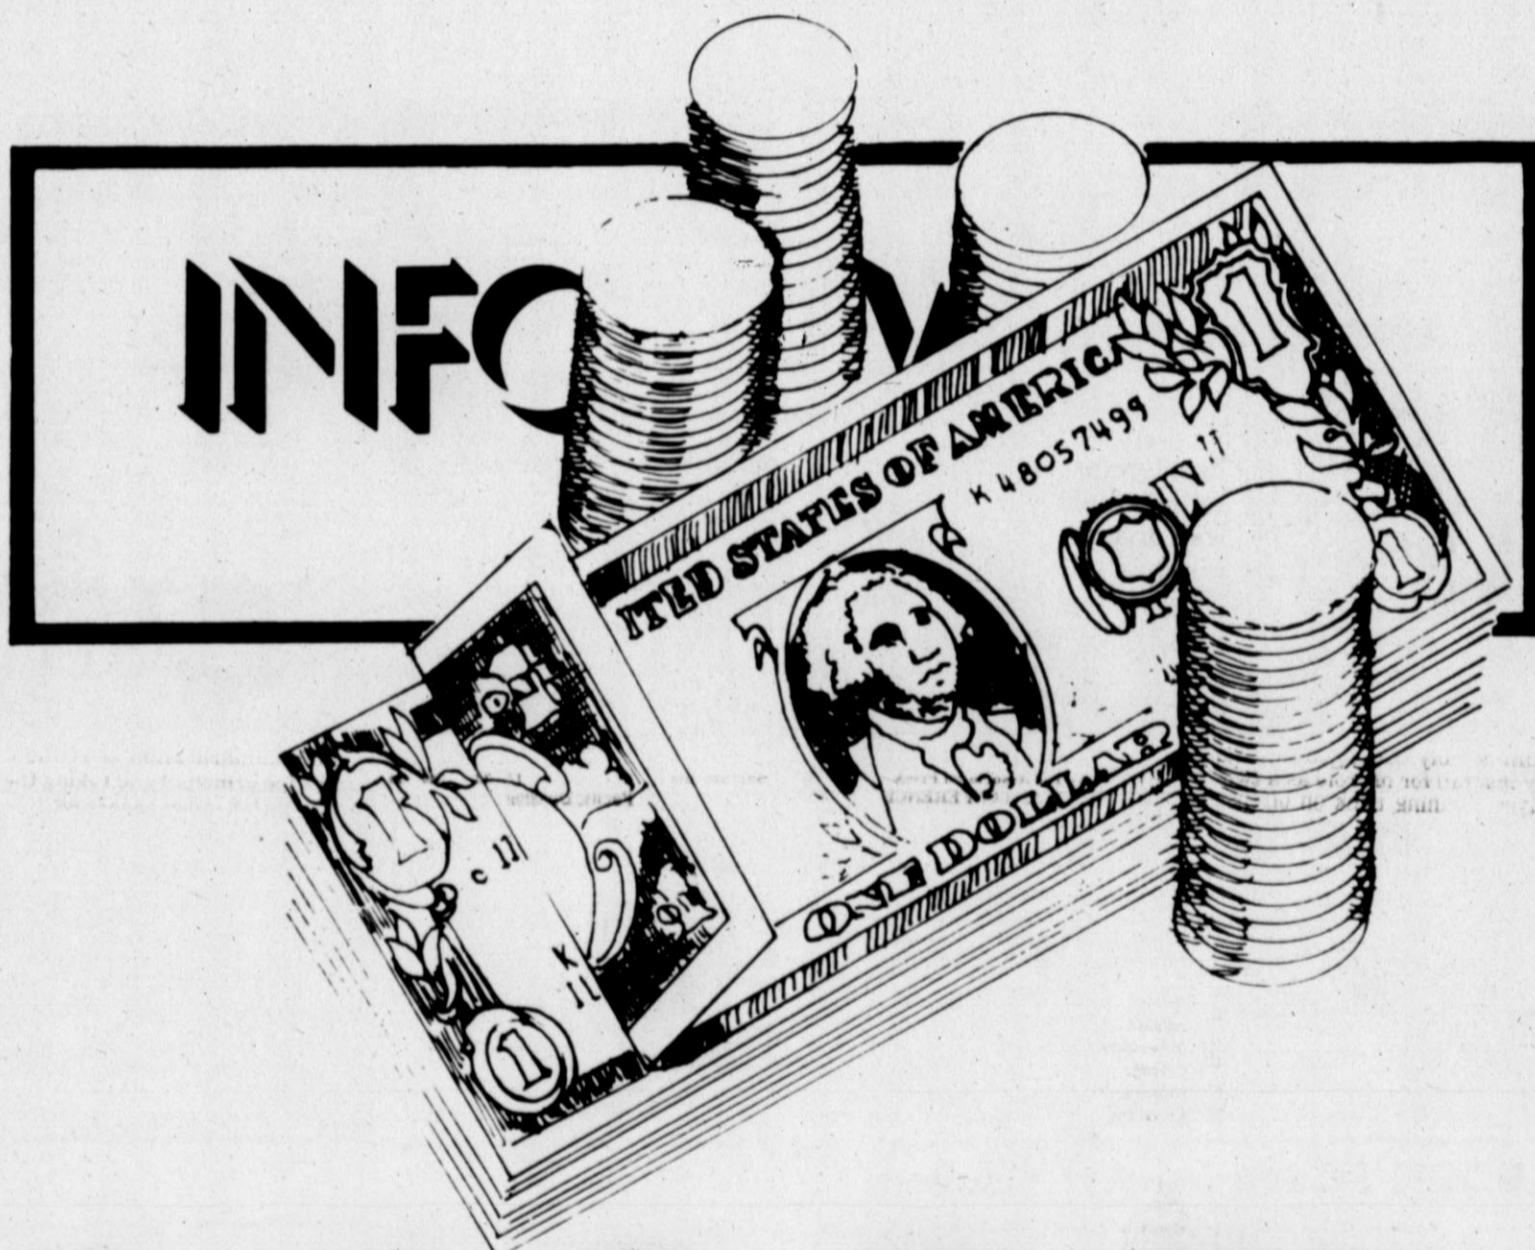

"I was kind of nervous before the game," Lorenzen said. "My arms felt like needles. But once we got into the game, I felt more relaxed."

Lorenzen got the record-breaking points when she caught a lob pass from teammate Steph Anderson just to the right of the basket and banked in a layup.

A roar went up from crowd and the game was stopped for five minutes so the feat could be recognized.

Jake LaMotta was the first man to defeat Sugar Ray Robinson, winning a 1943 decision. But Robinson beat LaMotta in five other bouts.

When Sonja Henie won the Olympic figure skating championship at the age of 18 in 1928, her free skating routine was done to the music from the ballet, "Swan Lake."

Hat shop fits owner to a 'T'

WACO, Texas (AP) — When Cora Bennett decided to make a fashion statement, she not only hit the nail on the head, but she also put a hat on it.

Cora's Hat Shop, owned and operated by the 27-year-old Paul Quinn college graduate, has become something of an exclusive in Waco.

During Mrs. Bennett's 13 months in the hat business, she has earned the right to carry "exclusive" name-brand hats, a feat that often takes others several years to achieve.

The Apparel Mart in Dallas, David Mitchell's Warehouse in Dallas and the Dallas Market Center are her main sources, Mrs. Bennett said.

"And now, I am the only one to carry David Mitchell hats in the area," she said. "I also carry such name brands as Mr. Jack's, Dan Anderson and Mr. John's."

She said her hats range in price from $50 to $200. "A lot of stores would not sell to me at first — being black, young and female," Mrs. Bennett said. "She credits luck with getting the 'big-name dealers' to do business with her.

Mrs. Bennett said she became interested in the hat business while working in the accessory department at Goldstein-Migel Co., where she worked for about a year.

"I worked in retail, and while in retail, I decided that I wanted my own business," she said. "I built up clientele while working in the accessory department at Goldstein's ... that is how I decided to go into hats," Mrs. Bennett said.

Getting a substantial loan at her age and without much collateral was not a promising possibility, she said, so she bought a few things at a time and got lucky with a smaller loan.

"I didn't just go out and spend $10,000 on merchandise," Mrs. Bennett said. "I bought my counter and my racks and stuff like that, while I was working. So my overhead (expense) was not that much. However, I did take out a loan."

Finding collateral was her main problem, she said, because she was just out of school. She contacted the banker who financed her car.

"I refinanced my car and got a co-signer," Mrs. Bennett said. "And I don't know. I guess he believed I could do it because I was so enthused about the idea and gave me the loan."

The east side of Waco has good business potential, Mrs. Bennett said, adding that she has "good figures for the year," with between $15,000 and $20,000 in total sales. She said she earned a substantial profit from those figures.

Mrs. Bennett said she opened her store on Elm Street because an older woman told her she should locate where people would be comfortable and not in a crowded mall.

"Also, basically blacks wear hats, so I moved in the black community which would be better for me," Mrs. Bennett said.

She said she plans to open a second shop on Dripping Springs Road and Herring Avenue in Ray Iglehardt's center in March.

The second store will probably will be a clothing store for men, women and possibly children, Mrs. Bennett said.

The second shop should be easier to finance than the first one, she said, because of her experience and success with the first store.

The Elm Street store progressed from hats only to a complete fashion store that caters more to the older woman, she said.

"I needed something besides hats, so I got off into jewelry," Mrs. Bennett said. "Then after jewelry it was wigs. I have my own line of cosmetics now."

She says she talks to some of her customers about their appearance and sometimes gives facials because "if they're going to come in and pay $200 for a hat, they ought to at least have on some type of makeup."

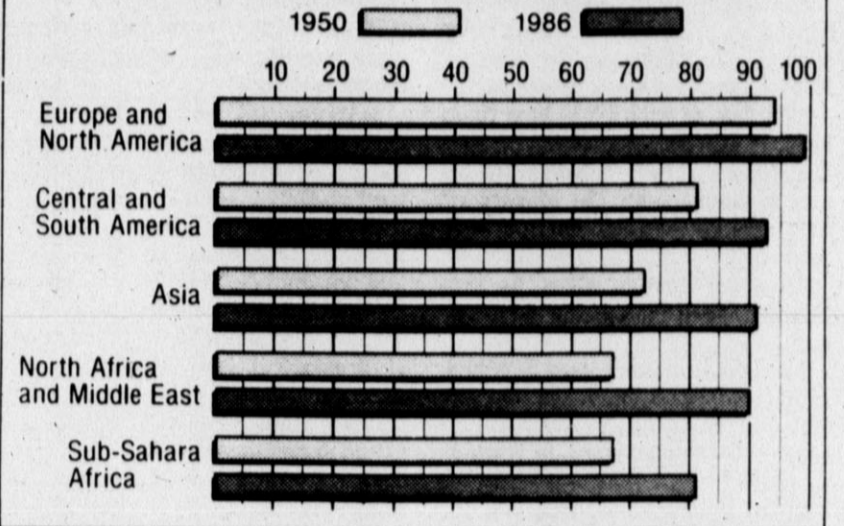

The facials show the women the look they want when they wear certain hats, Mrs. Bennett said. Her clients are about 40 and "have worn hats all of their lives."

Many of them are the "first ladies of the church" (ministers' wives), and they want to stand out from the rest of the people in their congregation, Mrs. Bennett said.

She designs clothes for some of her customers.

ADDRESS: 313 N. LEE

CLASSIFIED ADS
Classified advertising rates are based on 14 cents a word for first insertion ($2.80 minimum), and 10 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN.
1 day per word	.14	2.80
2 days per word	.24	4.80
3 days per word	.34	6.80
4 days per word	.44	8.80
5th day FREE

Ten days (2 free) is $15.80 minimum; 15 days (3 free) is $23.80 minimum; one month is $31.80 minimum.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid-word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $3.95 per column inch; $3.25 an inch for additional insertions.

LEGALIS
Ad rates for legal notices are 14 cents per word first insertion, 10 cents per word for additional insertions.

ERRORS
Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Newspaper Bible

ONE day about this time as another great crowd gathered, the people ran out of food again. Jesus called His disciples to discuss the situation. "I pity these people," He said, "for they have been here three days, and have nothing left to eat."

And if I send them home without feeding them, they will faint along the road! For some of them have come a long distance."

"Are we supposed to find food for them here in the desert?" His disciples scoffed.

"How many loaves of bread do you have?" He asked. "Seven," they replied.

So He told the crowd to sit down on the ground. Then He took the seven loaves, thanked God for them, broke them into pieces and passed them to His disciples; and the disciples placed them before the people.

A few small fish were found, too, so Jesus also blessed these and told the disciples to serve them.

And the whole crowd ate until they were full, and afterwards He sent them home. There were about 4,000 people in the crowd that day and when the scraps were picked up after the meal, there were seven very large basketfuls left over!

Immediately after this He got into a boat with His disciples and came to the region of Dalmanutha.

When the local Jewish leaders learned of His arrival they came to argue with Him. "Do a miracle for us," they said. "Make something happen in the sky. Then we will believe in you."

His heart fell when He heard this and He said, "Certainly not. How many more miracles do you people need?"

'Control' on HBO belabors old fallout shelter debate

NEW YORK (AP) — "Control," which begins its run on Home Box Office this Saturday, is one of the real curiosities of the television season.

The 90-minute HBO Showcase film is about fall-out shelters, resurrecting the 1950s debate about who shall live and who shall die, and does anyone want to live that way anyway?

Burt Lancaster, Kate Nelligan, Eriq La Salle and Ben Gazzara head the international cast, playing roles laid out on predictable lines.

In the shelter we have one uptight Swede (Josephson) and his lusty young wife (Cyrille Claire); an expressionless, non-nonsense American reporter (Gazzara); a British peace activist (Nelligan) and her young son; a punkish Italian artist (Andrea Occhipinti); a French shopkeeper's family; a postal clerk who does magic; a shy typist; a physician; a model; a granny, and a civil engineer.

Lancaster's character is a renowned scientist who is running an experiment to see how this lot will get along for 20 days. For the first 18 days, or 40 long minutes of film time, everything is hunky-dory except for little tremors of sexual tension.

Oddly, some of the shelter residents want out, even if that means giving up $10,000 due to each one who stays the full 20 days. Why they want out is not clear, except for some sentimental twaddle about sunshine and hot showers.

Then comes word by radio and television of a nuclear alert. A second bulletin says that a Soviet missile has been launched by mistake, carrying warheads targeted for every major city in Europe including the very city where our group is sheltered.

"Something's up," the hard-bitten American reporter declares, exhibiting a gift for incisive insight that must make him a joy to his readers.

In due course, the shelter is besieged by panicky people trying to get in, and the shelter denizens argue about opening the door. The choice is to let the outsiders die outside or inside, the difference being that if they come in the people in the shelter get to die, too.

In case you don't quite understand this, someone helpfully mentions lifeboats. This is just like a lifeboat. If everyone comes aboard, the boat sinks. Is that clear enough?

Those who make the rational choice — keep them out — come off as amoral monsters, and those who make the sentimental choice — let them in — are obviously soft-hearted morons.

That seems to be precisely the point. There are no good choices.
