marille Daily Panhandle Publishes Some Interesting Data-Speaks Well for Prohibition.

That the Queen City of the Panhandle is enjoying a period of rest from criminals and making a good record should be received with commendation from her sister cities. The Daily Panhandle, the anti paper, has published some interesting data and has commented at length upon the situation. It says:

"The record of arrests in the Chief of Police's office shows that but 331 arrests have been made by the city authorities in Amarillo during the year 1912 against 545 arrests for the year 1911. In other words, police authorities of the city last than the number made during the year that is just closing. In fact, the number of arrests have been fewer this year than for many years.

"It frequently happens in county seat cities that a reduction of the number of arrests by the city authorities is met or overcome by an increase in the number of arrests by the sheriff's department and vice versa, but the recent report of the even greater in the same direction. The report of the latter docket shows the number of arrests now to be merly.

"As stated previously in the Daily Panhandle, the criminal docket/in est of all.

"Nor can it be said that the very great reduction in the number of arrests in Amarillo is due to the lax enforcement of the law. On the other hand, it is probably true that seldom, if ever before, have either the city or the county authorities been more vigilant in the enforcement of law than at present.

"The conditions for law and order in Amarillo at the present time will certainly compare favorably with the conditions in other cities of this size.

"The following figures taken from the record of the chief of police may be of interest:

Number of arrests for the last ten months of 1907 Total arrests in 1908 _____453 Total arrests in 1909 431 Total arrests in 1910 _____ 508 Total arrests in 1911_ Total arrests in 1912

New Style Pump Arrives.

J. L. Johnson, cement block contractor, who owns a good piece of for the unexpired time on the Brand land east of town, has received from Denver a new style pump for lifting water for irrigation. It consists of a number of large metal buckets attached to an endless chain which runs over and is held in place by double bearing sprocket wheels, which are operated by a chain or belt from the engine. While the machinery does not require so large a well, Mr. Johnson is sinking a 9-foot hole and intends to go down into the water bearing sand several feet. 20-H. P. gasoline engine will be used as the power. The capacity of the lifter is 750 gallons per minute and as the lift is low, he will get that much if not more.

THE WORD HELL

little book selling at only five cents, postpaid, is baving a very wide circulation-running up into the millions, It contains some very startling information respecting the meaning of the word Hell. It claims to demonstrate, both from the Hebrew and the Greek of our Bible, that Bell is NOT a place of eternal torment, but merely another name for the TOMB, the GRAVE, the STATE OF DEATH. It affects to show that man was not redeemed from a far-off place of eternal torture, but quotes the Scriptures proving that he was REDEEMED from the GRAVE at the cost of his Redeemer's LIFE and that the Scriptural Hope, both for the Church and the World, is a resurrection hope based upon the death and resurrection of Jesus. The book is certainly worth the reading The information it furpishes is certainly valuable, far beyond its trifling cost. Teachers and Students Helped by the Week's Lessons.

A Splendid Article This Week-Sunday School Recitation Made Enjoyable by Reading These Excellent Sermonettes. A Splendid General Knowledge of the Bible Will Necessarily Follow.

Of interest to all our renders are the Brooklyn Tabernacle Articles on the International Sunday School Lessons. These articles are written for every body-the teacher, the pupil, the stayat-home and the skeptic. All will find this week's lesson "worth while."

Some people can prosper and maintain a respectable standing among their fellows without being familian with Shakespeare, Virgil or Emerson, but none can afford to lack a general knowledge of the Bible. No matter how many cares rest upon an individual he is not excused if found ignorant of the general teachings of the Scriptures, acknowledged to be The World's Most Wonderful Book.

By a perusal or, better still, by a systematic study of a series of these articles on the Sunday Lesson, a splendid general knowledge of the Bible will necessarily follow. Therefore we again with pleasure call our readers' attention to the one-column Brooklyn Tabernacle Bible Study, on the International Sunday School Lesson, ap-pearing regularly in this paper.

DANGER FROM GRIPPE

Lies in That Cough and Weak, Worn-out Condition.

Grippe, pleurisy, pneumonia, these are greatly to be feared at this time of the year.

To prevent grippe from being followed by either pleurisy or pneumoit is important to drive the last traces of it out of the system quickly. Our advice is to take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron preparation without oil, and get your strength and vitality back quickly.

Mrs. A. A. Grabill, of Strasburg, Va. says: "Grippe left me weak, run down and with a severe cough, from hich I suffered four years. I tried different remedies, but nothing seemed to do me any good until I took Vinol, from which I received great benefit. My cough is almost entirely gone, and I am strong and well again, and I am glad to recommend Vinol to others who suffer as I did."

Try Vinol with the certainty that if it does not benealt you we will give back your money. The Corner Drug Store, Stocking & McLean, Props., Hereford, Tex.

JE CBRO. ABERNACLE BIBLE -STUDY-ON-

GOD CREATED MAN IN HIS OWN IMAGE.

Genesis 1:26-2:25; Paalm 8-Jan. 12. OW different the statement respecting man's creation from that describing the creation of plants and the lower animals which the seas and the earth brought forth! Man's creation was premeditated. God designed man to be king over the earth. He was to be his Creator's image, not in physical form, but in moral and intellectual qualities resembling his Creator, a Spirit Being. As we read, "God created man in His own lecture full of thought, at the same image." Not a word here can be contime, so intersperced with wit and strued as implying the evolution of man from the lower creatures.

A Fall, Not an Evolution. So far from teaching Evolution, the Bible teaches the very reverse. St. Paul declares, "By one man's disobedience sin entered into the world, and death as the result of sin. Thus death passed upon all men, because all are sinners." (Romans 5:12.) The Bible represents man as the masterpiece of mundane creation. God pronounced him "very good." Nor could we esteem it just that any but a perfect being should be placed on trial for life or death everlasting.

Not Two Creation Accounts Higher Critics claim that Genesis 2 is another account, written by a different person, giving a different order of creation-man created first, then trees, beasts, etc. To us this is foolishness. Moses, having described creation in its logical order, merely particularizes some of his previous statements. He declares (Genesis 2:4) that he has already described the generations or developments of things heav enly and earthly from "the beginning." before there was any plant life. He mentions that at that time there was no rain. He again assures us that man Miss Cecil Gilliland of Hereford was God's last creation, to be the king account of man's creation, so different from that of the lower animals and vegetation. Man was not evolved, but God's handlwork. He was not spirit. but flesh, formed of the dust of the Jim Carter and family of Here- ground, with the spirit of life common reads, literally, "In his nostrils the breath of lives"—the breath or spirit Man Originally Sexless. The details of human creation imply J. O. Lindsay from north of town that Adam lived some time alone and of life common to all breathing creafrom the chronology that it was two years from Adam's creation until the expulsion from Eden under the death sentence. The cause for the division of Adam into two persons is stated: the earth was to be populated with a race of his species, and amongst all the creatures none was suitable as companion and mother of his offspring. Thus again is shown that Adam was distinctly different from apes and all other, creatures under his control. He was in the likeness of his Creator. Other Scriptures show us that it is the Divine purpose that the sex quality in humanity shall be dropped.

The division of Adam into two parts left the headship with the male, but deprived him of some of his sympathetic qualities. His wife had less of the masculine and aggressive traits; but the two were perfectly adapted to each other and fulfilled each other's ideals. The fall from God's favor has affected both sexes, producing ex-tremes of coarseness and effeminacy, and robbing the marriage relationship of its ideal happiness. The Restitution or resurrection to be brought about by Messiah's Kingdom will not mean the restoration of sex perfec-tions, but the gradual perfecting of each individual in the image of God.

By One Man's Disobedience Note the consistency of the Bible theory which necessitated the division of one man into male and female. God purposed that the entire race must proceed from the one man. He fore-saw sin and provided for man's recov-ery. If two or more individuals had sinned, it would have required just as many redeemers, according to the Divine Law. "An eye for an eye," a man's life for a man's life. God in-tended only one glorious Redeemer, therefore the entire race sprang from one man—Adam—that "as by a man came death, by a man should come the resurrection of the dead."—1 Corinthians 15:21.

WAITING FOR OTHERS.

There seems to have been some objection to a short article which appeared in the Brand last week under the title of "No Land Boom." The reasons assigned were entirely sufficient, but there are other good ones. Just the other day, while en route to Amarillo, the writer fell into conversation with a non-resident land owner, and in the course of the talk, it was suggested that he develop his land near Hereford by having an irrigation well put down. He owns a half section just east of town. "No," he said, "I believe Hereford has a good thing in water, but I shall wait two or three years to see how these men who have wells come out. they make good, and if the water holds out, I may have a well." Just such "waiting for the other fellow" is the very thing that will hold Hereford back. These fellows are anxious, very anxious, to see every local land owner put in a big well, make a large success of irrigation, and then they will come in and put down a big well-not much. They will double the price of their land Hon. Joseph Bailey, resigned. That and offer it for sale. This is business alright-holding land for a raise in price, but it does not help power and should be checked by the country. Of course, every ad- prompt action on the part of the ditional well, every new farm and farmer, when success crowns their efforts, will raise the price of land. If the non-resident land owners are willing to wait for all of the development to be done by local perple, then they must be content to wait a long time for a material rise in the selling price of their land. It takes time to advertise a new source cf wealth, and as none of the non-res!dent land owners have expressed a desire to join the proposed organization to raise $5,000 a year for a 3year campaign, they must consent to wait. They, no doubt, believe in that old false adage-"Everything comes to him who wait"-long enough. Not a single letter has been received endorsing the advertising campaign. Evidently, all thought the other fellow would chip in, or that somebody would get a "rake-off" and the money wasted. Without co-operation, little can be done. "Every man for himself and the devil for the hindmost" is a mighty good way for the local land owners and real estate men to keep things at a stand still. "Waiting for the other fellow" is the poorest kind of stuff to dish out. Don't do it.

THE criminal data furnished by the Daily Panhandle of Amarillo must be encouraging to the Prohi's of that city. It will also give them the very best evidence that local option does decrease crime even in Amarillo and does not increase law violations as some claim. When Amarillo gets into another election, these figures should be remembered.

THE Texas Legislature will meet Tuesday, January 14. It will be the duty of that body to pass upon the appointment of Col. R. M. Johnson as U. S. Senator to succeed the the appointment of Mr. Johnson is a piece of flagrant abuse of official legislature.

SOD-BOUND ALFALFA FIELDS

Methods Employed in Regenerating Vary Great Deal-Disking Is Most Popular System.

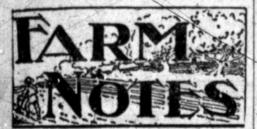

(By H. F. PATTERSON.) The methods used in regenerating an old field of alfalfa vary a great deal. Perhaps the method that is used to the largest extent throughout all of the northwest states is the method of disking the land early in the spring. Whether or not it is a good plan to disk alfalfa land is a question upon which there has been much difference of opinion. However, if this work is done properly there seems to be a good reason for so handling our

In localities where there is but a small samount of rainfall and where the soil becomes hard and impervious to water it is a very good practice to follow. Then again in regions where there is sufficient rainfall and where the winter season is open, the thawing and freezing will tend to loosen up the ground and in that way have the same effect as disking in the arid regions. It is a well-known fact that the disking of the stems will cause them to become very much thicker. However, in disking alfalfa there is some danger in that the crowns very often become infected with fungus diseases which will oftentimes destroy the entire plant. We must keep this in mind and must govern our actions accordingly. That is, we must use extreme care in order that the crowns of the plants will not be injured to any great ex-

The disking of course will cut the crowns and there is always the danger that the fungus diseases will set in. However, if we are careful and do not alow the diseases in our fields on the start and are careful that our disk is very clean, this danger will be almost entirely eliminated. The disk should be so set that it will cut the crowns of the plants rather than gouge them Some farmers have had success by getting the disk nearly straight and running the disk each way. This will divide the grown into four equal portions and each part will send up a new alfalfa plant and in that way the stand will be materially thickened. Then again it is well to disk the alfalfa field when the field has become infested with blue grass and dandetions, which will choke out a large amount of the alfalfa.

Farmers have also had success by putting on from five to six pounds of alfalfa seed, especially upon fields that have become infested with dandelions. It is sometimes a good plan to add a small amount of clover seed to the alfalfa. The clover germinates very rapidly and will get a good start and will thus keep down the weeds. The clover will die out in a year or two and we will still have a good stand of alfalfa. We would suggest the following of this plan upon a large number of our alfalfa fields that have grown alfalfa for three or four years. By getting in and disking it is possible to thicken up the stand to such an extent that we can grow our alfalfa upon the same field for three or four years longer and still obtain large and profitable crops. The best time to disk the alfalfa is in the early spring because the young plants can thus obtain a very early start.

The best fertilizer for the garden is rotted stable manure.

The corn grader is a necessity on every farm where the corn planter is Diversified gardening is the safest course for growers supplying local markets.

Fresh seed you must have to be good, and good seed is necessary to get a satisfactory crop. Onlon seed for ripe onlons should be sown as early as the ground can worked in good order. Do not plant short rows, but let them run the whole length of the garden if need be why not? In setting plants, if the top is too long cut part of it off. It will prevent wilting, and the plant is more apt to

To grow crisp early vegetables the soil must be kept thoroughly pulverfied and well filled with rotted stable

String beans should be drilled in double rows six inches apart, with for cultivation.

Nitrate of soda will force the growth melons, tomatoes and other plants. A tablespoonful scattered about each omato plant and slightly raked in will produce good results.

It requires some ingenuity to bring tender, young plants through their first three weeks of existence when the sun is hitting them at about 120 degrees-but it pays.

GETTING MOISTURE TO BEETS

Plant Cannot Depend Entirely on Tap Root for Water, but Must Get Some From Side Roots,

An examination of a large number of beets shows that so soon as they get any size they cannot depend entirely on the tap root for moisture, but must draw some through the side roots to make any rapid development. A tap rooted plant has, of course, an immense advantage over other plants in being able to draw moisture from the depths of the soil, but its side roots are not mere ornaments, but highly necessary to its growth. So long as a beet is making new leaves in the center and these are of good color it is doing well, but when the moisture dries out so that this growth stops it will usually be found that only the tap root is in moist ground.

In some cases there will be only a streak of moisture a few inches thick down six or eight inches, and dry ground may again be encountered if you dig deep enough. In other cases there may be more moisture the deeper you go and yet the ground on top is dry. I think in such cases cultivation should usually bring up the moisture, and it is a big advantage if capillarity is not interfered with at some point below the reach of the cultivator shovels. There is an old feed lot at Longmont in which we were digging the other day and there seemed a good deal of moisture a little way down and yet the top was bone dry. Capillarity seemed to be arrested. Why did not the moisture rise to the top? The field had been worked in beets last year and to a depth of six or eight inches was in fair physical condition. Below that it still very plainly showed the effects of kneading by the big lots of cattle that had been on the ground and the clay was in streaks and layers through which it was probably impossible for the water to rise and equally inconvenient for it to go directly down. Where the hay lot had been and no cattle had tramped both the soil and the beets were in much better condition and the stand was good. Had there been enough showers to keep the first six inches moist the beets would have been all right till irrigating time, and likewise probably if the water could have risen by capillarity from the subsoil, where it was present.

Another factor that enters into this problem is that where a great deal of alkali is present there must be a higher percentage of moisture in the soil before most plants can make use of it than in alkali-free soils, for only few plants can make use of a heavily charged saline mixture and it needs to be thinned by rain or irrigation water for the use of others.

Never Feed Whole Grains.

Never feed whole grains to chickens bolder will get more than their share and more than is good for them, while the weaker ones will be underfed. Scatter all grain over as wide an area as possible. If in narrow quarters, go to some pains to bury it in straw or litter or even to sow it several inches deep in the ground.

To Kill Cabbage Worms.

A-successful cabbage grower recommends this remedy for the destruction of cabbage worms: Dissolve a heaping teaspoonful of concentrated lye in warm water, and three or four gallons of water and apply to the cabbage plants with an ordinary sprinkler.

POULTRY NOTES.

Cull out the undesirable stock and sell for reasters.

Lice and sunshine combined will be too much for the little chicks, Take the drakes out of the flock that you keep for laying purposes.

will be right on hand with their eggs next spring. One old hen may offset all that two young ones can do in the way of bringing you success. Pick out the young chickens that you do not want to keep and get them ready for market. The growing cockerels should be separated from the pullets and fed well to fit them for market. A bare floor, kept clean, is 'way ahead of a littered floor where the straw or chaff is full of filth.

One good reason why people fall with poultry is that they try to keep too many in the space they have. The chicks hatched in August and

September will make November frys or brollers if they have the right food

The March pullets should begin to lay. Do not let them become over fat, as it will put them back in making a start.

Often the seeds of next winter's sickness are sown by allowing the young stock to be overcrowded and overheated at night.

Cut a good lot of second growth clover, chop it up fine, cure it out of the sunshine and then gather in the eggs as your reward next winter when

You cannot expect much from turkeys, unless they have plenty of room over which to range. They cannot bear close confinement any better than we can.

Just because a hen is a yearling is not the sole reason why you should keep her. Is she a good yearling? That is the question. Let the answer decide her fate.

Good Blood Means Good Health.

A clear healthy skin, full of life and color, reflecting perfect health and energy has long been known to be a business and social asset.

If you are not the fortunate possessor of all the above—if you are suffering from skin eruptions of any description, it means that the blood is weak.

Pure blood, rich red in color and circulating freely, is the essential factor in the possession of perfect health.

When it becomes impoverished—thin and watery—it cannot supply proper nourishment and the body tissues become

This condition is ever ready to manifest itself and should be checked and treatment started with the first appearance of blood

In our estimation Nyal's Hot Springs Blood Remedy is the one best treatment. It gets at the root of the trouble, cleanses the blood of impurities, increases the circulation, produces blood that is rich in nourishment, blood that builds up broken-down tissues.

It will not be long before you notice a decided improvement—you will feel the blood coursing through your veins, your appetite increases, the food will be absorbed in the proper manner and the skin will become clear and healthy.

You will never regret having used Nyal's Hot Springs Blood Remedy-it will put you on your feet.

We expect to be here in business a good many years. The only way we can do it is by treating everybody right. That's our policy.
