Residents Warned: Maintain Guard Against MX

By JIM STEIERT Managing Editor

The talk out of Washington these days is that there is only a 10 percent chance of the controversial MX missile system ever being deployed in the West Texas-New Mexico area.

Frank Ford, the head of Arrowhead Mills here and a onetime commander of a nuclear missile battery is warning residents not to let their guard down, however, and is urging a concerted effort to going in here down to zero.

Ford has been working closely in recent weeks with system here could be abrepresentatives of a number of major commodity organizations and has also kept the mail system busy with messages to con- destroyed," he commented. gressmen, senators and Air Force officials.

He's developed a veritable file of messages from goverpment officials he's been prodding into opposing the MX and emphasizes that local citizenry must get involved in a showdown situation if the people here hope to avert the presence of sprawling complexes of missile shelters literally in their back yards.

"A little effort now can head off a lot of trouble and expense later. We've already seen the Air Force waste $15 million on scoping hearings which have done little but tie up the energies of the people of this area," said Ford.

Ford, like many other residents of this area, is concerned with the potential loss farmland which would come with the deployment of the missile system in the pare the likelihood of the MX Eastern New Mexico-West Texas region.

"Putting the MX missile solutely devastating on the Panhandle as farm homes, cropland and irrigation systems would be

"Hereford would be the most damaged town of any in the whole proposed system," he charges.

Ford has been actively involved in battling the Air Force in its consideration of the Panhandle for the MX missile system for a number of months now.

He points out that some important allies have been picked up along the way.

"We're getting all of the commodity groups on record against this boondoggle," said Ford.

Among the notable commodity groups in the Panhandle which have already passed resolutions in opposition to the deployment of the MX missile here are the Texas Wheat Producers Association, the Texas Corn Growers Association and the Texas-New Mexico Sugar Beet Growers Association.

Ford pointed out that the Lubbock-based Grain Sorghum Producers Association is also expected to follow suit in the near future.

"We could be facing a new dust bowl. The MX could destroy life as we know it here in this area and I think thousands of individual citizens are ready to band together to take every legal means at their disposal to see that further waste of time and money on this fraud is avoided," stated Ford.

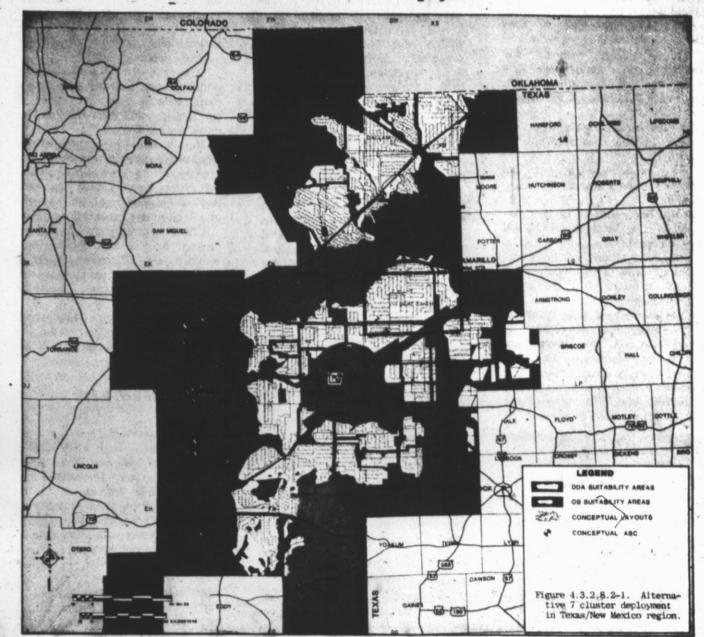

Ford commanded a nuclear-armed rocket battery with the U.S. Army in 1957 and states, "I can hardly be taken for a peacenik. There are many alternatives to deploying the MX in shelters for a shell game, though. They could be placed on subs or surface ships, or even in the existing Minuteman missile silos for which they were originally designed." The local food firm head's reasons for opposing the missile echo the sentiment of many area producers.

"A project like this develops its own momentum, regardless of its merits. Emplacement of a landbased shell game system would be obsolete before it was completed and would increase the likelihood of a Russian strike by the fact that defense funding would be diverted from methods that are an effective deterrent," Ford opined.

"This project could destroy the economy. It would be the largest project in the history of man, costing over $108 billion based on today's economy," he charged.

missioner has been instrumental in the passage of a resolution calling for strong local governmental control and decreased funding for the Legal Services Corporation

Legal Services Corporation is a federally funded program that supports legal aid for people, often poor or minority group members, who could not otherwise afford it. The area branch of the LSC is Texas Rural Legal Aid.

Bruce Coleman, county commissioner for Precinct 3, developed and promoted a resolution which he said would probably pass a vote of the general assembly at a convention of the National Association of County Officials in July.

The resolution would then become part of a platform presented to members of Congress as the official position of county governments and their recommendation for legislation.

Coleman said this platform is one of the strongest influences on Congressional legislation, and NACO serves as the nation-wide voice of local government.

The resolution, which passed a committee of NACO members last month, is similar to a Colemanauthored resolution passed by Deaf Smith County commissioners and the state association of commissioners, Coleman said.

The resolution acknowledges effective legal services provided in some areas, but at the same time states that, "numerous Rural Legal Aid Corporations and other legal service groups...also funded by Legal Services Corporation are operating, we believe, in uncontrolled, militant and destructive fashion."

The resolution also states that some offices funded by LSC are, "inflaming racial division." Coleman said the increased racial tensions are the most important reason for the passage of the resolu-

Deaf Smith County commissioners approved the First National Bank of Hereford as the county's session held Monday morn-fered the county interest on its deposits at the same rate as U.S. Treasury bills at the time of deposit plus .25 percent.

The FNB offered loans as depository during a regular. required by the county at 6.5 percent per annum interest and no service charges.

The North State Bank offered interest on deposits at the rate of U.S. Treasury bills plus .26 percent, but the interest rate on borrowed money was listed at the prime rate.

unanimously agreed to accept the bid offered by the home-town First National Bank.

Commissioners became involved in a discussion with District Attorney Roland Saul concering assistants in DA's office after considering an item pertaining to a Criminal Justice Grant for the county DA's office.

Precinct 4 Commissioner James Voyles agreed with Coleman's sentiments, stating he felt that conflicts of interest might arise but Saul disagreed with the commissioners.

"I don't feel that there's a conflict or that we can keep quality people without allowing them some opportunity to supplement their income. I think it is a service to the people of the county," countered Saul, who then offered to meet with individual commissioners to discuss the matter.

The discussion ended with an apparent agreement to (See COUNTY, Page 2)

Mayoral Hopeful Charged with Theft

ABILENE, Texas (AP) - This West Texas city may not have a mayor when June rolls around.

Incumbent Oliver Howard is leaving the job voluntarily and the only candidate who had announced for the position was arrested and jailed over the weekend on theft charges.

"This is all very ironical," said songwriter and would-be mayor Eric White, who had composed a song in honor of his candidacy titled "Liber-

Shortly after singing the song on the steps of City Hall, however, White lost his own liberty.

"If my songs sound a little sad, it's because I'm more than a little disappointed."

He was released from Taylor County Jail on $1,000 bond and says he will plead innocent to the charges filed by Paul Lenker, a former high school classmate who claims White stole materials from the site where Lenker is building a home.

White admits he stopped at the site in November and was picking up scraps of wood when Lenker approached and asked him to stop.

 "I returned the scraps immediately when I was asked to do so, and I have no earthly idea why he filed the charges against me," White said.

Students Upset, Over Tuition Hike

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - A student leader at Texas Tech says a plan to double tuition fees at state colleges and universities will place yet another burden on students already plagued by spiraling education costs.

"The cost of education has risen tremendously, and students cannot be expected to bear another overburdening increase in the cost of their education," said Jeff Williams, vice president of external affairs in the Texas Tech Students' Association. Williams made his remarks Monday at a news conference called to announce a meeting this weekend in Austin with student representatives from at least four state schools who are protesting the tuition hike.

Texas currently charges $4 a semester credit hour for tuition. The Texas College Coordinating Board has recommended that the state legislature increase the tuition to $8

Texas ranks 46th in the nation in tuition costs for resident students and 25th for non-resident students.

Williams says a poll of 500 students on the Tech campus was taken about the tuition hike, and that 17 percent of them replied they would be forced to leave school if tuition fees were rais-

Sheriff Tells Bandidos

They're Not Welcome

NEW CANEY, Texas (AP) - A gang of motorcycle riders that calls itself the Bandidos will have to find "somewhere else to party" outside of Montgomery County, new Sheriff Joe Corley has told them.

Corley said he and officers from several other agencies had to arrest about 32 Bandidos early Sunday on offenses ranging from driving while intoxicated to carrying prohibited weapons, as well as various drug charges.

They were among about 200 Bandidos who camped out over the weekend on the grounds of a private club as they have done the past three years while in the area to attend motorcycle races in the Astrodome.

Corley and about 50 deputies and officers from the Texas Department of Public Safety, Harris County Organized Crime Task Force, the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, and the Texas Rangers patroled the camp area over the weekend.

The sheriff, who took office in January, said there were no major problems but that he told the president of the Bandidos the group would not be welcome next year.

"I told him to find somewhere else to party," Corley said. "We don't

Bill to Tighten

Benefits Approved

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Senate has tentatively approved a bill containing what Sen. Roy Blake calls a "return to work provision." The bill would make it harder for a person who quits a job to draw unemployment benefits.

Blake's bill was approved, 20-9, Monday, but another vote is needed to send the measure to the House.

The Nacogdoches Democrat failed the first time he tried to bring the bill up, Jan. 28, because he could not muster enough votes. Gov. Bill Clements then submitted the bill as an emergency, which required fewer votes for debate.

"The governor did some research and found people drawing unemployment because they were tired of working or some other frivolous excuse," said Blake.

His bill would disqualify persons who voluntarily quit their jobs or who are fired for misconduct from receiving jobless benefits until they have had another job for at least six weeks at a wage equal to weekly benefits.

A fiscal summary showed that enforcing the bill, if it became law, would require 152 new employees at the Texas Employment Commission, costing $3 million a year. Employers would pay for it.

"This is not going to restrict anybody's benefits who is unemployed through no fault of his own," said Blake

"There is great confusion about the grant from the LSC," Beardall said. "We are not a part of LSC-we are independent..." The "independent" TRLA foffice receives a grant that supplies 80 percent of funding -from the Legal Services Corporation. The other 20 percent is collected from defendants when clients are successfully represented, Beardall said.

Beardall opposes a board appointed by the officials of one county to monitor efforts of an office serving 75,000 igrant seasonal farm workers in 60 counties, as is the case in Hereford. Beardall said such control would negate the existence of

TRLA and provide immunity to governmental entities that were depriving citizens and potential clients of TRLA of their rights. "Unfortunately, I'm afraid that what resolutions like this represent is an effort on the part of government entities and agri-businesses to insulate themselves from any accountability to the rights of

Coleman said his information on the parathion suit came from the McAllen Griffin and Brand vegetable producers office. Coleman said, "One of the biggest problems is that although the wording of the charge to the LSC organization calls for local control, it's been so loosely interpreted that in effect it doesn't exist. The local board in TRLA exists on a state level. Local government has no input whatsoever," he said. Coleman said another reason for passage of the resolution is to prevent further economic damage to the community. "The economy of our area

If the American Family is becoming an endangered species, you can bet one of things that killed it is the dinner

When it was conceived, the dinner hour was to be a gathering of every member of the family who would sit around and exchange pleasantries and news of what each had done that

I know that's the way it's supposed to be because I saw it once on the Donna Reed Show.

We have never had a family dinner that did not sound like we were hosting a lynching. It was inevitable to touch upon who did what to whom, who did it first, and who would get a room to themselves after they were sentenced.

The criticism of "family meals" is that "this is not a fit topic to discuss at dinnertime." As I see it, no one seems to know what is a fit subject to talk about at the dinner table. There are few things that the entire family can get into.

Children tend to talk about things that take away your interest in food - and living. At one meal alone, I heard a description of the underside of the tongue, a rumor of what popular food contained rat's nostrils, what pureed peas remind you of when you look at them from a distance, and what happens to the dog's stool when he eats leftover chicken.

Men prefer to talk about money. Within minutes they can make you feel guilty for asking seconds on the salt. They also take the opportunity to lay on the family their famous lectures: "An 'E' on the Gas Gauge Does Not Mean Evacuate," "Why Do We Heat the Front Porch by Gas in the Winter?" "Don't Reach Out and Touch Somebody unless It's Collect," and the all-time favorite, "When I Go to the Poorhouse, I'll Have to Call a Cab to Get There."

Mothers use the togetherness of the meal to discuss their doormat status ("Why don't you just put a key under my tongue and stand on me?" and to tell their children that no one ever amounted to anything who smoothed a lumpy bed with a coat hanger. I have come to the conclusion there are no "safe" topic areas at the family dinner table. No matter what you hit upon, every member of the family will react in character. The other night, a guest said at our table, "I read where the

Project County History Extends Story Due Date

The Project County History Committee wishes to thank those people who have submitted their family histories and pictures. Many people have responded but there are still people who have not written their stories yet. Those people who are having problems with their histories, tributes or memorials for the Deaf Smith County History have a new lease on life with the extension of the due date. Now is the time to take action. Through a family story each person has the opportunity to be a part of the history of the county. An important part of the history of the county is the history of its families and this will not be documented unless families leave a written record.

Many people have expressed interest in purchasing space for a memorial or. tribute page. These special pages are available for the purpose of remembering someone that has influenced your life in a special way.

The Project County History Committee wishes to emphasize that there will be but one opportunity to order a book and that is before they go to print. Only the number of books ordered will be printed. The book project is not a money-making project.

The purpose is simply to document and preserve the heritage of Deaf Smith Coun-each of these qualities. One is unable to lead successfully if he has no concept of what it is to follow. Only then can he emphasize with and understand those whom he is leading. This is a very difficult skill to develop, but once achieved will bring lasting rewards.

A leader will stand aside to let another take control in order to gain self-confidence and experience. As he follows the direction of another he can give him support and encouragement.

In a program as versatile as our 4-H program, we are proud to say that we provide the opportunity for youth to grow in these skills. No one child (or adult) is an expert in all aspects of 4-H projects. As a consequence, he then is allowed the opportunity to be a "leader" at times and a "follower" at other times both a part of leadership development.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serves people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Ann Landers Call Me By Name

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I wonder if you have an explanation for this? We have been married for 20 years and my husband never addresses me by name.

When he introduces me to someone, he says, "This is Delores." But when the phone rings and I am upstairs he shouts, "It's for YOU."

I have told him how much it annoys me, and still he persists in this habit of avoidance. When I ask for an explanation, he has none. Once I had a sign made and wore it around my neck. It read, "I AM DELORES." he thought it was funny, but it didn't change anything.

Do you have an explanation for this unusual behavior? If I understood it, perhaps I could be more tolerant. Thanks for your thoughts.-Lock Haven,

DEAR LOCK: The behavior you describe isn't all that unusual. Men who feel they are being "controlled" (or bossed around a lot) sometimes use this device to get even. Your husband's dogged refusal to comply with your simple, inconsequential request is an act of conscious or subconscious de-

The rationale expressed here is not out of my own head. My consultant is a California analyst who wishes to remain anonymous.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please transform this mess into a decent letter and print it. Commuters across the world will bless you. If you doubt its merit, I ask only that you sit next to a person or a train or bus who was in such a great hurry to rush out the door that she took her cof-

To begin with, there is no justification for this gross behavior. No matter how frenetic the schedule, it is inexcusable. Instant coffee can be spooned into the cup the night before and the water boiled while you brush your teeth. An electric percolator can be set to go, and all you have to do in the morning is nervously at a cup just a few inches from your lap whenever the bus or train lurches or stops. Try to imagine how YOU would feel if you had to show up at work in a dress (or a pair of trousers) with an ugly coffee stain

Thanks, Ann. Now will you please do a number on these idiots?-A Face in the Crowd down the front.

DEAR FACE: I wonder how many people are reading this column on their way to work. If you happen to be seated next to a person with a cup of coffee this very minute, do me a favor and show it to the slob-and if you get spilled on I don't want to hear about it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I wish you would say something in your column about grandparents who don't get to see their grandchildren because their mother had a fight with the old folks. I am not long in this country and my English is poor, so please fix up my It is no fun to keep glancing language so you can print it in the newspaper.

We love the little ones and don't think it is right that we are deprived of this pleasure because of problems the children have nothing to do with. I know I am not saying this very well. Please help me.-Lonesome In The West

DEAR LONESOME: You said it just fine. Parents who keep their children away from grandparents because of adult misunderstandings hurt not only the old folks but the young ones, too.

Grandparents can add a dimension to the lives of young people that they cannot get anywhere else. It's sad when death denies them this. To lose it because of vindictiveness is unspeakable.

Is pot a drug? Can LSD and pills open new worlds for you? Stop guessing. Get the facts in Ann Landers; new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." # Arizona State Wins Pac-10 Cliff-Hanger 78-76

AP Sports Writer

It was almost a case of toomuch-too-soon for Arizona State but too much turned out to be just enough for the fifthranked Sun Devils Monday

Leading by as many as 18 points in the first half on its home court, Arizona State had to hang on for a 78-76 Pacific-10 victory over Washington, its 18th triumph in 20 games over-all and 10th straight conference success after an opening-game setback.

"Our mistake was to grab the momentum so early," said Coach Ned Wulk. "We just got complacent. We lost our concentration. They got going and played some good basketball in the second half. We didn't shoot well at all. If we did, we would have blown them out."

Meanwhile, Louisville continued its recovery from the worst start ever by a defending national champion, downing Virginia Tech 71-66 in Metro Conference action for its seventh victory in a row and 11th in its last 12 games. The Cardinals are 13-8 over-all.

Arizona State let Washington battle from 18 points behind to within 49-46 with four minutes gone in the second half. Senior center Alton Lister took control at that juncture, scoring 13 of his game-high 23 points as the Sun Devils opened a 72-62 bulge with just under three minutes left.

And they needed every bit of it, including Byron Scott's two clinching free throws with seven seconds to go, as Washington (10-10) rallied again with a 14-6 spurt. They got so far ahead that

In the only other contests of The Sooners Sign Oklahoma, Texas Blue Chip High Schoolers

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) -Four more of Oklahoma's hottest football prospects and one of California's best high school backs - have pledged themselves to the Oklahoma Sooners.

Oklahoma State, though, apparently will pick up the state's two best-known ball carriers - Eddie Goodlow of Altus and Kelly Cook of Midwest City.

Goodlow, the state's only Parade magazine prep All-America selection, said he has scheduled a signing ceremony for Wednesday afternoon. He said an OSU coach would be there.

The 5-11, 200-pounder was not specific about intentions to actually sign with the Cowboys, but other reports said he will do so.

Goodlow, who rushed for 1,829 yards in two seasons for Altus, had been heavily recruited by OSU, OU, Texas and Nebraska. A riff with Sooner recruiters two weeks ago apparently caused Goodlow and OU to break off communication. Goodlow visited OSU over the weekend.

Cook rushed for 3,207 yards and scored 41 touchdowns his junior and senior seasons, helping lead Midwest City to the Class 4A finals each year. He chose the Cowboys after weighing a scholarship offer from Tulsa.

The Sooners received commitments from Lawton quarterback Rodney Douglas, Altus split end David Carter, Millwood split end Paul Clewis and Sperry tackle Paul Smith - all named to the 10-man Sunday

Top College Passer Ignored By Pro Scouts

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) - The greatest passer in the history of major college football is having a tough time convincing the professional scouts he can do many of the same things in the play-forpay set.

Mark Herrmann hopes to follow such former Purdue quarterbacks as Len Dawson. Bob Griese, Mike Phipps and Gary Danielson - he has shattered all their records into the pro ranks, but he isn't sure just where he stands. Herrmann doesn't have the rifle arm of a Terry Bradshaw or the scrambling ability of a Fran Tarkenton. National Football League teams want their quarterbacks to fire the ball like it was shot from a gun and be able to evade a heavy pass rush, as "The pros haven't said too much to me so I don't really know their feelings. I've heard I might be the second or third quarterback drafted. It kind of varies with different scouting services," Herrmann said over the weekend as he was honored at the annual awards banquet

'Magic' Will Return to NBA Courts

By ALEX SACHARE AP Sports Writer

If you believe in Magic, here's some good news: Earvin "Magic" Johnson, whose skills helped the Los Angeles Lakers to the 1980 National Basketball Association championship and whose smile lit up the entire league, is expected to be back in action within two weeks.

"I can hardly wait," said Johnson. "Not being involved has really hurt."

Johnson, sidelined since Nov. 18 because of torn cartilage in his left knee, has been scrimmaging with the Lakers for the past week, with encouraging results.

tact again, but he seemed not to be hurt at all.

"He'll play for us Feb. 22 in New York.

That would be a most appropriate occasion for the return of Johnson, whose value to the entire NBA lies as much in the 20-year-old's infectious enthusiasm as in his basketball skills. Besides taking place in the media capital of New York, it will be nationally televised as part of CBS's Sunday Game of the Week series - and a Magic act can only help the ratings. The Lakers have done surprisingly well since the 6-foot-9 guard got hurt. They were 15-5 before Johnson went down and have gone 23-14 without him to stay within 412 games of the firstplace Phoenix Suns in the Pacific Division race.

Q. I have a 75 Buick. I know it has a fuel filter and I'm sure it needs to be changed - but where is it?

A. Many General Motors cars cleverly conceal the fuel filter in the carburetor, itself, where the fuel line from the fuel pump is connected. After you've located it, you'll need two wrenches to disconnect the fuel line from the carburetor. Use one wrench to prevent the larger nut on the carburetor from turning while loosening the smaller nut on the fuel line. Once the fuel line is disconnected, loosen the large nut on the carburetor.
This holds the filter. Be careful: There is a small spring inside which could pop out, so loosen slowly. Note the direction the old fuel filter is facing when you emove it. Install the new one n the same direction.

Virginia, which rallied from a 16-point deficit en route to an 80-79 overtime victory over then-No.11 North Carolina, retained the No.1 position in The Associated Press college basketball poll Tuesday, increasing its lead over runneru Oregoi. State from 10 to 28 points.

The Cavaliers collected 43 of 62 first-place votes and 1,221 of a possible 1,240 points in the balloting by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. The Beavers, who defeated both California and Stanford last week, received 18 first-place votes and 1,193 points.

Last week, Virginia, 20-0, collected 35 first-place votes, while Oregon State, 19-0, was tabbed No.1 on 26 ballots. All 62-members of the poll voted this week.

DePaul, Louisiana State, which got the final first-place vote, and Arizona State retained the Nos.3 through five positions.

The Blue Demons, who posted victories over Detroit and Alabama-Birmingham, picked up 1,096 points - 25 more than LSU, which is riding a 20-game winning streak. The Sun Devils, who edged California 84-81 in overtime and whipped Washington State 77-63 last week, collected 945 points.

Utah, 20-1, nipped Wake Forest, 19-2, for the No.6 slot by a single point. The Utes, who squeaked by Air Force 48-46 and downed Nevada Las Vegas, received 882 points. The Deacons posted victories over Maryland and Georgia last week.

UCLA, which got 692 points, jumped four places and took over the No.8 position in the poll following its nationally televised victory over Notre Dame on Sunday.

Tennessee and North

Carolina both moved up a notch in the poll despite losses and rounded out the Top 10. The Volunteers, who were upset by Mississippi early in the week but thrashed preseason favorite Kentucky 87-71 last Saturday, garnered 634 points. The Tar Heels, who beat Furman and St. Joseph's following the loss to Virginia, were six points farther back.

Kentucky slipped five slots and headed the Second 10. Notre Dame, which dropped three positions, was 12th, followed by Michigan, Iowa, Brigham Young, Wichita State, Illinois, South Alabama, Maryland and Indiana.

Last week the Second 10 was North Carolina, UCLA, Maryland, Michigan, Iowa, Brigham Young, Indiana, Illinois, Wichita State and South Alabama.

All 20 members of the poll, which was conducted before Monday night's games, are holdovers from last week.

It was believed that Mrs. Dwyer spent the night at the airport. A spokesman for the Swiss Foreign Office said she stayed there while the "problem with her papers" was straightened out, and two Swiss diplomats remained with her. A chauffeur for the Swiss Embassy told reporters he saw her there at 6 p.m. But Swiss officials refused to say where she spent the night.

Western news organizations reported incorrectly Monday that she was aboard the Iranair flight to Vienna. Reporters at Tehran's Mehrabad Airport saw her arrive, accompanied by Iranian Revolutionary Guards and a Swiss Embassy official, and run into the terminal building, smiling at them as she passed. Airport employees said she boarded the plane, but Swiss officials reported later that she missed the flight.

Her husband, Dr. John F. Dwyer, had planned to bring their three children to New York City Monday afternoon to wait for her. But after the delay, he said they would wait at their home in Amherst, N.Y., a suburb of Buffalo, until they got definite word of her plans.

Confused and disturbed, Mary tried to think what the angel could mean.

"Don't be frightened, Mary," the angel told her, "for God has decided to wonderfully bless you! Very soon now, you will become pregnant and have a baby boy, and you are to name Him 'lesus.' He shall be very great and shall be called the Son of God. And the Lord shall give Him the throne of His ancestor David. And He shall reign over Israel forever; His Kingdom shall never end!"

Mary asked the angel, "But how can I have a baby? I am a virgin."

The angel replied, "The Holy Spirit shall come upon you, and the power of God shall overshadow you; so the baby born to you will be utterly holy-the Son of God.

"Furthermore, six months ago your cousin Elizabeth--'the barren one,' they called her--became pregnant in her old age! For every promise from God shall surely come true."

Mary said, "I am the Lord's servant, and I am willing to do whatever He wants. May everything you said come true." And then the angel disappeared. Luke 1:23-38 represents the amount of a tip on a bill the tourism agency says Giller signed during a stay at the state-operated Fountainhead State Lodge in eastern Oklahoma.

Giller, who was at the lodge for a family reunion, has con-'tended for months that the signature on the bill is not his and he owes the state nothing.

The Texas man says his troubles with the Oklahoma agency began soon after he returned to Dallas and got a bill from the lodge for the $1.50, which he refused to

In the next several months, he said he got four additional letters demanding payment - two of them by registered mail at a cost of $1.40 each.

The latest correspondence included a threat that the state would sue him for the "debt." That prompted Giller to fire back a letter to the state again refusing to pay the bill and demanding that the state stop harassing him, send him But Capitol observers $10 to cover his expenses and issue an apology.

"Enclosed please notice a copy of a letter that was just sent to me," he wrote. "In the letter it stated this account was 150 days old. It is actual-could be 500 years old and I still will not pay this bill .

"It isn't mine...It is not my signature..."

Harbin, after reading of the squabble, Monday sent a letter to Tourism and Recreation Director Abe Hesser, asking him if the enclosed $1.50 check from him would be accepted and the debt considered paid.

"I think it makes us look foolish," said. Harbin, D-McAlester. "When they read about this in Texas, I don't think it's going to help our tourism efforts there."

Hesser responded by saying that if Harbin wants to pay the bill, that's fine .

'If this covers the bill, it will suffice," he said. "We don't have the perogative of ignoring a bill owed the state, whether it's $1, $50 or more, we have to try and collect it."

In a news story about the fuss last week, a tourism employee said the state never writes off a debt.

recalled publicity resulting a few years ago when the state apparently wrote off some $3,000 in bad debts, including some $2,000 from the campaign organization of former Gov. David Hall.
