Taylor divulges business 'secrets' at seminar here

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Over 100 Hereford residents learned the "six secrets to success" and other ways they can do more business during a customer relations seminar held Tuesday at the Hereford Community Center.

Don Taylor, director of the Small Business Development Center at West Texas State University, directed the seminar, which was sponsored by the Retail Business committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

"Some of these are $10, $100, $1,000, $5,000 or $10,000 ideas," Taylor told the 103 persons at the seminar. He said that customers are "the reason our businesses exist. They generate the profit that pays the bills and are the reasons for our jobs."

Taylor said that taking care of the customer was one of the "most neglected parts of any business" and pointed out statistics that 30 percent of all business is lost because of poor customer relations.

"Consider what that 30 percent could do for your business," Taylor said.

"People go where they are treated well, and 70 percent of all customers that stop coming back leave because of poor treatment," Taylor said that it costs five times as much to get a new customer through the door as it does to keep an old customer coming back.

Taylor's six steps that keep customers coming back include greeting the customers when they enter the business, offering to help, appreciating the fact they are there, listening, servicing their needs and asking them back.

Ken McLain, chairman of the sponsoring committee, said the committee hopes to sponsor a seminar once every two months for the remainder of the year. The next seminar will be based on survey responses recorded Tuesday night.

Should doctors be disqualified from running for election to on the Deaf Smith County Hospital Board?

That question faced directors of the county hospital district here Tuesday night after the Texas House and Senate approved two different versions of special enabling legislation for the district—one disqualifying doctors as directors and one allowing them to serve.

Following a lively discussion on the issue, the board voted unanimously—with Dr. Gerald Payne abstaining—to recommend that the legislation include the current election rules. That would be six directors, with doctors allowed to be elected.

The enabling legislation is specifically for Deaf Smith County, and would allow the district to expand its health-related services. The election system was one of several other legal changes requested.

State Sen. Teel Bivins and State Rep. John Smithe asked the board to decide which election method they wanted in the bill, board chairman Ralph Detten told directors Tuesday night. The Senate version called for the medical chief of staff to serve as the seventh member and other doctors be disqualified from serving. The House version allowed for doctors to serve as board members, but also called for seven directors with staggered terms.

Detten said some members of the board felt there was "a conflict of interests" with doctors housed in the hospital serving on the board. He and director Frank Zinser said they thought the board had decided on a compromise in naming the chief of staff as a board member and disqualifying other doctors.

Dr. Nadir Khuri, who appeared at the meeting to discuss another topic, said he was not aware of a compromise and he was opposed to doctors being denied the right to seek election. He said he thought some members of the board were "stung by one bad episode" that occurred recently and that it was not fair to other doctors.

Dr. Tim Revell, medical chief of staff, said the man doctors elect as chief of staff "is not necessarily the best man to serve as a board member." Dr. Khuri added that "it's no big deal" to be chief of staff "because it carries no authority . . . the main duty is to make reports to the board."

Khuri added that "no one on the staff is eager to run for the board, but we feel there needs to be a doctor on the board. After all, who else has more concern about the interests of the hospital?"

Dr. Payne, a current member of the board, said he did not think doctors should be disqualified. "If the people don't want a doctor on the board, they'll let it be known in an election." Payne is not seeking reelection after 12 years on the board. Dr. Khuri is a candidate this year but any change in the system would not affect his candidacy.

In other business Tuesday night, the board discussed a retirement system for employees, heard the administrator's report and an operations report, and heard a brief report from the medical staff.

The board voted unanimously to apply for membership in the Texas County and District Retirement System, but will receive input from employees before making a final decision on the plan.

Gary Moore, administrator at Deaf Smith General, reported that the new orthopedic surgeon, Dr. Dennis Finley, would be moving here next week and start practice May 1. Two general practice physicians will be interviewing this weekend. Moore added that a ear, nose and throat specialist who interviewed had decided to go elsewhere.

The operations report reflected "an average month," according to controller Phillis Morrison. Revenues were $396,999 and net income was $12,746. Total patients admitted for March was 197 compared to 219 a year ago. Average daily census was 21.2 compared to 26.2 a year ago.

Dr. Khuri announced that a benefit dinner for the Hospital Endowment Fund has been scheduled for May 13 with Sen. Bivins as featured speaker. It will be a $100-a-plate dinner with proceeds going to the endowment fund.

Directors Detten, Payne, Craig Smith, Frank Zinser and Raymond Schroeder were present at the start of the meeting and Margie Ford arrived late, making all members present.

Bush wants timely payments

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush says farmers who signed up in this year's crop programs will soon get speeded-up payments totaling about $850 million to help them with spring planting.

But Bush also warned Tuesday that "perilous budget-deficit times" will mean cuts in other farm programs. He did not say what other cuts may be involved.

Bush and Agriculture Secretary Clayton Yeutler participated in a telephone interview program with a group of farm broadcasters. The president said he authorized the acceleration of price-support payments "to provide some extra money to farmers early in the crop year."

The $850 million in payments will be made after May 15 to producers of wheat, feed grains, rice and cotton who signed up in the 1989 programs and requested advance payments.

While Bush said the speeded-up payments show that "we are with the American farmer in these tough times," a principal goal of the change is to reduce the red ink in his fiscal 1990 budget.

The payments now shift the $850 million out of fiscal 1990, which begins on Oct. 1, and into the current fiscal year.

About $3.13 billion in advance payments were already paid to farmers during the program sign-up period, which ended on April 14. The $850 million will be on top of those advances.

Bush, putting on headphones in a small USDA broadcast booth, answered questions from agricultural broadcasters for about 15 minutes. The program was sent out over the agency's agricultural radio network.

The president also announced creation of a working group on rural development to be headed by Yeutler. He said the group would evaluate existing federal rural-development programs and make recommendations.

"Events such as last year's drought reinforce the need to develop and diversify the rural economy in the years ahead," Bush said.

The price announcement made by Bush makes an additional 10 percent available to farmers in so-called advance deficiency payments.

Tuesday's action raised the size of advance payments wheat and feed-grain farmers can collect from 40 percent to 50 percent, and the share rice and cotton farmers can collect in advance from 30 percent to 40 percent.

The advances are against anticipated government subsidies to help farmers recover the difference between market prices and federally set target prices.

One interviewer asked Bush how he reconciled heavy cuts in farm programs under the budget compromise recently negotiated by the White House with his campaign vow not to balance the budget on farmer's back.

"We are in perilous budget-deficit times. We've got to get the deficit down. And the best thing we can do to help the American farmer is to get these interest rates down. And the best way to do that is to make the tough decision on the spending side of our budget," he said.

"Yes, 'ag' is taking a hit. But so is a wide array of programs across the board."

Asked if the speedup in payments would be the sum total of federal help for producers who are being hurt by the drought gripping Kansas and much of the winter wheat area, Bush said: "This should not be viewed as the definitive answer. We hope it is something that will help the farm family."

Yeutler added: "Clearly we don't have an open spigot that just spits out federal dollars in any situation today. But we'll be as sympathetic and as accommodative as we can be within rather severe budgetary restraints."

House members study public's view of Wright

WASHINGTON (AP) - House Democrats, looking warily toward the task of judging Speaker Jim Wright's ethics, have heard his defense and now turn their ears to their constituents.

"When this hits the (House) floor, it's not going to be about justice," lamented Rep. Ron Dellums, D-Calif. "It's going to be about how it will play in Peoria."

Members began spreading across the nation to their home districts after the House adjourned Tuesday for a long Passover holiday weekend.

Before they left, Wright worked hard to fortify Democrats for the inevitable onslaught of questions they will face during the town meetings, picnics and barbecues of hometown politics.

Wright, knowing he had to talk to his members before they hit the road, had committee chairmen cancel any meetings that conflicted with a special caucus of all House Democrats.

He spoke for 40 minutes in the closed session, disputing the ethics committee charges that he violated House rules in 69 instances involving his unusual book publishing deal and his benefits from a business partnership.

"I told them I intend to fight and I intend to win," he said.

Supporters were charged up. "There's a lot of outrage about how this whole process has become a Frankenstein" that's consuming Congress, said Rep. James Scheuer, D-N.Y. "There's never any allegation that he did anything with corrupt intent."

Rep. Joseph Kennedy, D-Mass., a second-term member, said Wright's speech was "a very important first step in gaining the confidence of the members."

Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., said he would remain a staunch supporter of the speaker unless the facts show he did something wrong. Constituents might not understand at first, he said.

"You get beyond the beltway, what have they got besides a perception?" he asked. For some members, public perception would be the only issue, he said with a tone of disapproval.

"You know who they are," he said, licking his finger and raising it in the springtime air.

Along with his appeal to his members, Wright has begun an effort to win support in the general public through careful management of his public statements.

In fighting a charge that he accepted improper gifts from Fort Worth developer George Mallick, a longtime friend and business partner who the committee suggested had interest in legislation, Wright has focused his defense on the $18,000 salary his wife received from the partnership - a salary the ethics committee labeled a gift.

"The fact is my wife worked. She earned her pay," he told reporters at a news conference, at which he refused to answer questions which might dilute his message that he was a proud husband.

Wright said he would spend more time later discussing his book publishing deal.

FFA judging team to compete at state

FFA judging team successful

The Hereford FFA judging teams have had a successful season this spring in judging contests across the area. The horse and wool teams will compete this weekend in the state

The Hereford High School FFA judging teams will be competing in state contests the next two weekends after a successful season in 1988-89.

The wool and horse teams will be competing this weekend at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

The wool team includes Brian Vogler, Kirk Marnell, Andy Kalka and Eric Davis. They were second in a recent contest at Tech, and placed first in district and second in area in FFA contests.

The horse team of Will Jones, Monroe Timberlake, Jennifer Scott and Gary Hamilton was fourth at Clarendon College, where Timberlake was sixth-high individual among the 32 teams; 12th at West Texas State University; seventh at Tech; second in district and seventh in area.

The livestock and ag business management teams will participate April 28-29 at Texas A&M University.

Greg Urbanczyk, Toby Fulton, contest at Texas Tech University. On April 28-29, the livestock and ag business management teams will compete at Texas A&M University.

Brian Wilson and Shayne Fellhauer are on the livestock team, which finished second at Clarendon among 38 teams; sixth at WTSU among 74 teams; fourth at Tech from 100 teams (and Urbanczyk was high individual among 400 participants); first in district and second in area.

The ag business management team has had a clean sweep this year, placing first at all four contests. The team includes Jill Johnson, Brian Jesko, Joey Malamen and Jeffrey Carlson.

At Clarendon, Jesko was first, Johnson third and Malamen fifth among individuals, while at WTSU, Malamen was first, Johnson third and Jesko fifth.

"We decided to cut down on the number of teams this year so we could help the kids more and they could concentrate on one area," said Hereford FFA advisor, Kevin Kelley. "The kids have done an outstanding job this year."

Congress clears base closing plan

WASHINGTON (AP) - The chairman of the House Armed Services Committee is warning lawmakers not to try any "end runs" around a plan to mothball 86 domestic military bases now that it has cleared Congress.

"It is incumbent upon all of us to make sure this base closing list is implemented, that we not have any end runs in the appropriations process, that we not have any language stuck in some continuing resolution somewhere," Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., told his colleagues Tuesday.

The House, by an overwhelming margin of 381-43, rejected a resolution to disapprove the recommendations of the Base Closure and Realignment Commission.

That meant the recommendations now go into effect. The law creating the commission required that the entire package take effect unless both houses of Congress voted to disapprove it.

But Tuesday's House vote also could set the stage for an appropriations fight, with lawmakers trying to save individual facilities in their home districts. Congress still must appropriate the money for short-term expenses associated with closing the bases.

In total, the commission's recommendations affect 145 military installations by closing 86, reducing the operations at five and altering the mission of 54 others.

By virtue of its action, the House gave Defense Secretary Dick Cheney the go-ahead to implement the recommendations beginning in January.

Aspin warned that he will be watching carefully to make sure "there's no fooling around with this list," and said any legislative trickery could cause the plan to collapse.

"You cannot end run this list and make an exception in the appropriations process for one base without unraveling the whole package and making a case for other people adding their bases as exceptions," he said. "Pretty quick we're right back where we started from."

In the final hours of debate on the resolution, representatives from New Jersey, Illinois and California argued that the commission overestimated the savings when it said the plan would save $694 million a year at first, and $5.6 billion over a 20-year period.

"In terms of savings, I don't believe they're there. In terms of expenditures, I believe they're underestimated," said Rep. Jim Saxton, D-N.J., who opposed the closing of Fort Dix in his home state.

Saxton cited a report by the General Accounting Office, the investigative arm of Congress, that said savings in closing Fort Dix had been overestimated by $20 million.

Rep. Terry Bruce, D-Ill., said the estimated savings rely on major defense policy changes, including reductions in personnel, and not on the closing and realigning of bases.

Lucille Ball is recovering

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Lucille Ball, the zany redheaded queen of comedy, was in guarded condition today after seven hours of emergency high-risk cardiac surgery during which she received heart tissue donated from a 27-year-old man.

The 77-year-old comedian suffered a heart attack at her fashionable Beverly Hills home Tuesday, and arrived at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center with her husband, Gary Morton.

"She came out of the surgery OK," said Ron Wise, the hospital's spokesman.

Miss Ball suffered a tear in her aorta, the main artery in the body, said her surgeon, Dr. Robert Kass.

During the operation, her heart was stopped for two hours, said

Kass. With the heart stopped, blood was pumped through her body by a machine as Kass replaced part of her aorta and aortic valve. The donor was a 27-year-old man, Kass said. No other details were released about the donor.

Miss Ball was listed as guarded after the "high-risk procedure with a fairly substantial mortality rate," the surgeon said.

"The fact that she came through this leaves me optimistic," Kass told reporters late Tuesday. "The major risk is in the operating room, at least initially."

Miss Ball probably will be in intensive care for several days and remain hospitalized for weeks, Wise said.

As word of Miss Ball's heart attack spread, the hospital's switchboards were jammed with calls from well-wishers and news organizations around the world. Wise said that flowers also were arriving.

Miss Ball, who has been in ill health in recent years and suffered a mild heart attack May 11, was conscious when she arrived at the hospital. She complained of moderate chest pains and shortness of breath.

"I told her the nature of the condition she had, that it was life-threatening and that we had to operate immediately," Kass said.

Her last public appearance was introducing a production number with Bob Hope at the March 29 Oscar presentations. Wearing a slit skirt, she appeared to be in good health and giggled throughout a brief routine.

"Lucille Ball is one of the most wonderful women I have ever known," Hope said Tuesday night.

"I'm shocked, especially since we worked together so recently at the Academy Awards and she was so full of energy. There's only one Lucy. You don't meet many people like her. Like the rest of the world, Dolores and I are praying everything will be all right," he said of his wife.

Miss Ball and her late former husband, Desi Arnaz, starred in "I Love Lucy," one of the most popular TV shows of all time, from 1951 to 1957. The show is still seen around the world in syndicated reruns.

In 1950, Miss Ball and Arnaz started their own production company, Desilu, on a shoestring budget of $5,000.

Most victims were traffickers in drugs

MATAMOROS, Mexico (AP) - Only four of the 15 men found buried in a rural area just south of the Rio Grande were randomly chosen human sacrifices of a drug-smuggling ring, an official said.

The rest probably were drug traffickers the violent organization found necessary to eliminate, said Juan Benitez Ayala, commander of the Federal Judicial Police in this border city.

"I have information about only four people who were sacrificed," Benitez said, adding that "the great majority were drug traffickers."

Eleven people were indicted by a federal grand jury Tuesday in McAllen in connection with the case, including the reported cult leaders, Adolfo de Jesus Constanzo, 26, and Sara Aldrete Villarreal, 24, who remained at large Tuesday night.

Four of them also were formally arraigned Tuesday night on federal Mexican charges in Matamoros. City police armed with pump shotguns closed off both ends of the Calle Gladiolas, the street where the district court is located.

Many of the victims unearthed at the ranch were horribly mutilated. Hearts, brains and other organs were removed and boiled in rites designed to bring magical protection to the organization, according to confessions from four men in custody.

Benitez said the investigation has shifted to Mexico City, where officials believe several murders are linked to the Constanzo, known as the drug cult's "godfather."

He said the investigation in Matamoros has shown that most of the 13 bodies unearthed at the Santa Elena Ranch 20 miles of Matamoros last week, and two more found at a nearby cooperative farm Sunday were drug smugglers.

Of the 15 victims, "some were tortured, some were only shot, and there were the young people who were sacrificed," said Benitez.

University of Texas student Mark Kilroy, 21, of Santa Fe, Texas, was one of the four sacrificial victims not involved in the drug trade, Benitez said.

He did not say which others appeared to be sacrificed, but said at least eight and probably more of the victims were either associates or rivals of the Constanzo group. Five of the victims remained unidentified Tuesday.

Officials have searched at least three residences in Mexico City linked to the group, Benitez said.

Shockley demonstrates China painting at meeting

Hereford Fine Arts Association members and guests met at the Hereford Community Center April 11 for their regular monthly meeting.

The program on china painting was presented by Angeline Shockley, an artist from Levelland. She displayed pieces of her china which were decorated with fruit and flowers; one piece was a glass globe decorated with birds, pine cones and mistletoe.

The audience was attentive as she painted a China plate, explaining each step as she worked. She gave a most interesting background history of the making of China, including the discovery of materials used, and the ancient kilns.

Mrs. Shockley is a teacher, a charter member of World Organization of China Painters, Texas World Organization of China Painters, State Federation of China Painters, and a member of Concho Porcelain Club. She has done demonstrations in Texas, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico and Iowa. She also did a demonstration at The World Convention of China Painters in Denver, Colo. Her most recent seminars were held in San Antonio and Victoria. She has been asked to display some of her work at the WOCP Convention which will be held this summer in Oklahoma city, Okla.

After a business meeting, refreshments were served by hostesses Vinita Wear and Bobbie Wilson.

Members present were: June Owen, Melba Dillard, Jolene Bledsoe, Louva Kersey, Linda Minchew, Wear and Wilson.

Guests present were: Nancy Shave, Mildred Guinn, Elvov Kersey and A.R. Dillard.

Owen's name was chosen for the Dinner-Out Certificate. Kersey received the door prize which was a hot-bread basket with a tile painted by Shockley.

The next meeting of Hereford Fine Arts Association is scheduled for May 9, at 7 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center. Frances Frazier of Dimmitt will give an oil painting demonstration.

Tom Simons to emcee Miss Hereford Pageant Saturday

Deaf Smith County Judge Tom Simons will serve as master of ceremonies during Saturday night's Miss Hereford Scholarship Pageant.

The annual pageant will begin at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Hereford High School auditorium and will follow the theme, "The Times of Your Life."

Simons, a resident of Hereford for the past 18 years, was sports director for KPAN Radio Station. He has served as emcee for various community events including the Little Miss Pageant and the All-Sports Banquet. He has been the Voice of the Whitefaces for 18 years, broadcasting football, basketball, and baseball games.

He has three children, Christy, Julie, and Scott, and a stepson, Bill Burnam. He enjoys golf, is active in the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce and the Hereford Hustlers. He has served in various leadership positions with such organizations as Camp Fire, United Way, and Kids, Inc.

Simons will provide commentary between segments of the pageant, which will include performances by local talent and contestants. While each pageant contestant will be interviewed Saturday morning by judges, the night's contest will feature the talent competition and evening gown competition. Talent offerings will range from skits to singing, dancing, and playing musical instruments.

Thirteen contestants are entered in the contest, including Brenda Allen, Gina Alley, Andrea Borden, Wendy Connally, Dawn DeBord, Leasha Deyke, Kristina Kerr, Brenna Reinauer, Vaavia Rudd, Laynie Souter, Renee Sublett, Karen Ward, and Jill West.

1988 Miss Hereford Deanna Hobbs plans to perform and will take her final walk down the runway prior to crowning her successor.

Other winners of the Miss Hereford Scholarship Pageant have been Delight Thames Iler, 1987; Dallas Ann Phillips

Paetzold, 1986; Amy Quillen Lee, 1985; Dana Cabiness Ketchersid, 1984; Gina Griffin Blanton, 1983; Lisa Snyder Cassels, 1982; Dana Ulibarri Limon, 1981; Dianne Warden Jackson, 1980; Lynn Mitts Ross, 1979; Cindy Heard, 1978; Dee Anne Caison Trotter, 1977; Delfine Ulibarri Mazzamuto, 1976; Monica Herring Stauffer, 1975; Susie Hickman Hubbard, 1974; Sandy Caison Walden, 1973; and Sherry White Talley, 1972.

Sponsored by the Women's Division of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, the pageant offers prizes and scholarship money to the winner and first two runners-up. This year's steering committee and assistants include co-chairmen Betty Drake and Lanette Leasure, and Pam Wagner, Debra Perry, Judy Barrett, Linda Daniel, Gayla Sanders, Danell Culp, Kathy Allison, Lacy Driver, Kim Buckley, Julia Laing, Kyla McDowell, and advisor Donna West, president of the Women's Division.

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) - Actor Martin Sheen says he hasn't gotten over the fear of being arrested for his protests against homelessness and nuclear weapons testing in the Nevada desert.

"I'm the biggest coward I know," he told 400 University of Notre Dame students at a lecture Tuesday. "I get so ... scared that I weep. I don't know what else to do."

The actual arrest comes as a relief "because you know you have done all you can do non-violently as a human being," he said.

Brown, Andrews Espy leads Rangers' win lead Herd to win

Keith Brown and Jim Andrews hit home runs to help lead the Hereford Whitefaces to a 12-10 win over Canyon on Tuesday in a non-district baseball game.

Hereford came back from two early five-run deficits to eventually post its 16th win of the year.

Canyon scored five runs in the first inning, including a three-run homer, and four more in the second, but Hereford starter Clint Cotten held the Eagles to one run in the third and shut them out the rest of the way to pick up the win.

Hereford answered with four runs in the second on a three-run homer by Andrews, his first of the year, one run in the third, two in the fourth, three in the fifth and single runs in the sixth and seventh for the win.

Canyon outhit the Herd, 12-10. Each team committed six errors in the game.

Russell Backus scored the winning run in the top of the sixth after he and Cotten pulled off a double steal, sending Cotten to second and Backus to third. Backus then scored on a passed ball to give the Herd an 11-10 lead. Hereford added the insurance run in the seventh.

The Herd will host Pampa at 2 p.m. Saturday at Whiteface Field, then Berger will be in town for the next-to-last home game of the season at 4 p.m. Tuesday.

ARLINGTON (AP) - Cecil Espy attained the ultimate compliment. He got a standing ovation on a ground out.

The ovation followed three singles, a triple, three stolen bases, and three runs in a 6-2 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers on Tuesday night.

Milwaukee pitcher Don August, 1-3, said he's never been so frustrated trying to deal with a leadoff hitter.

"I tried a fastball, curve, and change and he got hits off all of them," August said. "He got on base, stole bases, and scored. He had just a great night. It was his night."

Espy agreed.

"It was the best game I've had as a big leaguer," Espy said. "I've never had four hits before."

Espy and August exchanged words after the fifth inning triple.

"He threw me a purpose pitch knocking me down just before the triple," Espy said. "I think he was trying to give me something to think about. I don't think he was trying to hit me."

"Then I got the triple off him and I said something. It was no big deal."

Espy got his standing ovation from the crowd of 21,528 fans after he grounded out in the eighth inning.

"That made me feel good," Espy said.

August said Espy is almost unstoppable on the bases.

"He is a good baserunner and I was too slow to the plate," August said. "When guys like Espy get on base it takes away from your concentration."

Milwaukee manager Tom Treblehorn said it's difficult to stop Espy once he gets on a roll.

"Espy does a nice job leading off," Treblehorn said. "He ran quicker than we can get the ball there."

Bobby Witt, 2-0, picked up the victory, scattering four hits including homers by Paul Molitor and B.J. Surhoff.

Rafael Palmeiro scored Espy three times on two singles and a ground out.

"I feel comfortable when I see a guy in front of me getting on and stealing bases," Palmeiro said. "That keeps happening and I'm going to get a lot of RBIs."

Witt said it's also more fun to pitch when Espy is playing havoc with the other pitcher.

"We got some runs tonight and it's a lot easier to pitch when you have a few runs in front of you," he said. "You don't have to worry about the eighth inning homer I gave up for example."

The Rangers have won 11 of 13 games, their best start in team history. The club is now two victories shy of the team record for wins in April, set in 1974.

Texas owns a three game lead in the American League West.

In the final game of the series tonight, Jamie Moyer (2-0) of the Rangers goes against the Brewers' Mike Birkbeck.

The New York Yankees saved a couple of raves for a couple of Daves.

The Yankees had gone the final 83 games of last season and the first 12 this year without pitching a shutout. But Dave LaPoint and Dave Righetti combined on a seven-hitter as the Yankees continued their domination of the Blue Jays in Toronto with a 2-0 victory Tuesday night.

"It seemed like every time they hit the ball we were standing in front of it. I think, more than anything, that took the wind out of their sails tonight," said LaPoint, who scattered five hits in 6 2-3 innings and won for the first time since signing a three-year contract as a free agent last winter.

The Yankees won for the fourth time in five games after a 1-7 start. They have won 19 of their last 28 games in Toronto.

"I don't know how to explain it," Manager Dallas Green said. "I've only been in this league about 12 games, but our guys just seem to know how to win here."

In other American League games, it was Minnesota 9, Detroit 8; Texas 6, Milwaukee 2; Oakland 5, Seattle 3; Kansas City 7, Baltimore 4 in 13 innings. The Boston-Cleveland and California-Chicago games were postponed by inclement weather.

The Yankees scored their runs in the first inning on RBI singles by Don Mattingly and Steve Balboni as Toronto's Jeff Musselman failed to retire any of the four batters he faced.

Todd Stottlemyre and John Cerutti pitched shutout ball the rest of the way although the Yankees had 11 hits, five walks and five stolen bases.

Twins 9, Tigers 8

Kent Hrbek hit a tie-breaking three-run homer in the fifth inning and added a decisive solo homer in the seventh.

Detroit took a 4-0 lead against Shane Rawley, including Torey Lovullo's two-run homer. But the Twins tied it in the fourth on Kirby Puckett's RBI single and Gary Gaetti's three-run homer.

Detroit's Ken Williams homered in the sixth and Hrbek's solo shot in the seventh made it 9-6 and offset Detroit's two-run ninth.

Athletics 5, Mariners 3

Stan Javier broke a tie with a two-run double in the eighth inning and Billy Beane also drove in two runs.

Jerry Reed took over the Seattle pitching chores in the eighth and Terry Steinbach got a one-out infield hit and went to third on Carney Lansford's double. After Dave Parker was intentionally walked, Javier doubled, scoring pinch runner Luis Polonia and Lansford.

Eric Plunk earned the victory by pitching one inning in relief of starter Mike Moore. Dennis Eckersley pitched 1 1-3 innings for his third save.

Royals 7, Orioles 4

Brad Wellman singled home the winning run and Kevin Seitzer doubled home two more in a three-run 13th inning. Bob Boone opened the inning with a single off reliever Mark Williamson and Bret Saberhagen, a pitcher, ran for him.

Saberhagen went to third on a single by Frank White and scored on Wellman's single to shallow center. After Bill Pecota sacrificed, Seitzer double to score White and Wellman.

Kansas City reliever Tom Gordon earned the victory with 3 2-3 innings, allowing one hit. Steve Farr pitched the 13th for his third save.

Backus scores winning run
Hereford's Russell Backus, pictured here after he scored the tying run in last Saturday's 3-2, nine-inning win over Dunbar, scored the winning run in the top of the sixth inning Tuesday in a 12-10 win at Canyon. Backus and Clint Cotten had executed a double steal, then Backus scored on a passed ball.

The shortest game in World Series history was in 1908 when the Tigers and the Cubs played a game in one hour and 25 minutes.

Eleven players from the 1932 World Series between the Yankees and Cubs are in the Hall of Fame.

Jim Palmer, former star pitcher for Baltimore, is the only man in World Series history to win games in the classic in three different decades.

In his perfect game against the Brooklyn Dodgers in the 1956 World Series, Don Larsen of the Yankees threw only 97 pitches.

Schramm going from Cowboys to new league

NEW YORK (AP) - The man who built America's Team is now going to build Europe's League.

Tex Schramm, the only president the Dallas Cowboys have ever had, made it official Tuesday - he's leaving the Cowboys to take over as president of experimental International Football League, an offshoot of the NFL that both Schramm and NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle insist will be independent.

The announcement came the same day NFL owners approved without a dissenting vote the sale of the Cowboys for $146 million to Jerry Jones, the Arkansas oil millionaire whose insistence on being a hands-on owner - "from socks to jocks" - made Schramm dispensable.

While Schramm is getting support from the NFL and help from a six-man committee that includes Bill Walsh, who recently stepped down as coach of the San Francisco 49ers, he insists the IFL will be independent from its parent body.

"It will be operated at arm's length," Schramm said. "This league will stand on its own feet. It will not be a developmental league and it will not be a minor league. It will have the best players we can have, within financial limitations. The main thing is it must be sound financially."

Schramm's main job will be to answer what Rozelle described as "hundreds of questions" about the new league of 10-12 teams split between Europe and North America.

They include stadium availability, television, conflict with other European sports, obtaining players and the other problems that go into forming a league, including how the fluctuation of the dollar might affect the salaries of American players.

"This is a new era, an era of international growth," Schramm said. "We want to take American football across the water and make it into an international sport."

The NFL has been across the water quite a bit in the past half-decade - this summer the Cleveland Browns and Philadelphia Eagles will play the fourth American Bowl at London's Wembley Stadium and another exhibition in Tokyo. Last season, there was an exhibition game in Sweden and the 49ers are talking about playing in Italy next year.

Moreover, NFL games will be telecast live next season for the first time in England, which in the past has been content to show edited one-hour versions, usually from two days to a week late. Only the Super Bowl has been televised live overseas, the last one to 58 countries.

Tuesday was an emotional day for the 68-year-old Schramm, whose role with the Cowboys has been sharply reduced since Jones bought the team for $146 million in February. The 45-year-old Jones immediately made it clear that he's a hands-on owner, hiring Jimmy Johnson as coach in place of Tom Landry, who had been the Cowboys' only coach.

It followed an emotional year for Schramm, one in which the Cowboys fell to a 3-13 record, worst since the expansion years; Landry was fired by Jones; and Schramm's "closest friend in football," Rozelle, announced he was retiring after 29 years. Rozelle and Schramm first met in 1947, when Schramm was public relations man for the Los Angeles Rams and Rozelle was a student at Compton Junior College helping with football programs.

Jones reiterated that he will be active in running all areas of the Cowboys even though history has taught old-line teams, in which the owner ran the football operation, that the game has become too complex not to be turned over to experts.

"Someone's got to turn off the lights in the building at night," he said. "If I do that, am I taking someone's job or saving money?"

Schramm, meanwhile, will begin looking into how to run the international league, aided by a committee of one representative from each of the six divisions - Lamar Hunt of Kansas City, Dan Rooney of Pittsburgh and Victor Kiam of New England from the AFC, and Norman Braman of Philadelphia, Mike Lynn of Minnesota and Walsh from the NFC.

Schramm, however, stressed it will not necessarily be a developmental or "farm" league, although NFL teams will be free to send players to the IFL and free to take unsigned players from it.

"My first job is to go over and see how the people feel," he said. "This league is going to stand on its own feet. We'll have the best players we can get within the financial structure."

Schramm, who spent five years at CBS between 10 years with the Rams and his 29 years with the Cowboys, will also work on television contracts, both within the United States and Europe. NBC and ABC are both reportedly interested. The loss of baseball leaves them with a void in sports programming for spring and early summer, when the IFL expects to play.

Schramm said he expects the league will start with 10 or 12 teams and play perhaps 12 games per season.

He mentioned no specific sites for teams, although he said cities like Memphis, Jacksonville and Baltimore, which are bidding for NFL expansion franchises, were possible candidates.

Overseas, he cited Italy as the country with the best organized existing American football structure, along with England, West Germany and Scandinavia.

But he added: "We're not taking over anything or trying to beat out a sport like soccer, any more than they could come over with a soccer league and take customers away from the NFL."

Rangers won't see changes

ARLINGTON (AP) - Don't expect the Texas Rangers to be expected to become a free-spending team under George W. Bush.

"Unfortunately, the Texas Rangers are one of the poor boys of baseball," Bush said Tuesday after the American League approved his purchase of the franchise. "We'll treat this as a business. We'll listen to the experts on the ways to spend money on salaries, etc. But this isn't a toy. It has to be run like a business. The club will have to stand on its own."

Texas' opening-day payroll was $10,591,500, 18th among the 26th clubs and an average salary of $407,365, according to an Associated Press study.

Bush said he would commission a study to see if the Rangers should expand Arlington Stadium or build a new ballpark. Chile had said that the team should build a new ballpark.

"Actually we may never leave," Bush said. "That's a possibility. We'll just have to see."

Bush, the new managing general partner of the Rangers, said the team will be turned over to his group on Friday.

Gregg leads Braves over Astros, 5-4

By The Associated Press

Tommy Gregg already had four hits, his best game in the major leagues. Surely he wouldn't get another against Astros relief ace Dave Smith.

Guess again. "I had a confident feeling," Gregg said after his single to center in the 11th inning gave Atlanta a 5-4 victory over Houston on Tuesday night. "I was hitting the ball really well."

Gregg had two doubles and two singles when he followed Lonnie Smith to the plate in the 11th. Lonnie Smith had doubled off Dave Smith.

Astros manager Art Howe said he didn't consider walking Gregg. "I was just trying to get him out and then walk (Gerald) Perry," Howe said.

But Gregg spoiled the strategy by guessing right. "I was looking for something off-speed, maybe a fork ball," he said. "I didn't think he would come with a fork ball. It didn't come down as much as I think he wanted it to."

Smith, 0-2, said the fork ball "stayed up. I didn't have my best stuff, but I thought it was good enough to get by."

Not with Gregg around. Elsewhere, it was Pittsburgh 4, St. Louis 3; Los Angeles 6, Cincinnati 0; Montreal 11, Chicago 2; Philadelphia 7, New York 1; and San Diego 4, San Francisco 2.

Joe Boever, like Gregg a relative newcomer to the majors, got the victory with 2 2-3 innings of scoreless relief. Pirates 4, Cardinals 3

Ozzie Smith had two hits and knocked in a pair of runs and still had a bad night.

The superb shortstop flubbed a ground ball by Bobby Bonilla in the top of the ninth inning, allowing Pittsburgh to score two runs. R.J. Reynolds and Jose Lind singled off Todd Worrell, 0-1. With two outs, Bonilla hit a grounder right at Smith and the ball went off his glove as

Reynolds and Lind came home. Dodgers 6, Reds 0

At Los Angeles, Tim Belcher had no trouble with the Reds, allowing four hits and striking out 10, a career high. He also didn't walk anyone; retired 16 of the last 17 batters and had a two-run single.

Danny Jackson, 1-3, had been 4-0 against the Dodgers in his career. But the left-hander, who was runner-up to Orel Hershiser in the 1988 Cy Young balloting after tying the Dodgers' star for the National League lead with 23 victories, now has lost three straight. His only victory so far came on opening day, against Belcher. Expos 11, Cubs 2

At Montreal, the Expos got six runs in the first inning and Hubie Brooks had four hits in the rout. Tim Wallach and Nelson Santovenia doubled home runs in the opening inning against Paul Kilgus, who saw his ERA soar from 1.72 to 5.06.

Ten Expos batted in the first inning. After Kilgus retired leadoff batter Tim Raines, Otis Nixon walked and Andres Galarraga singled, the first of six straight hits. Phillies 7, Mets 1

At New York, Mike Schmidt had a three-run homer and Darren Daulton added a two-run shot as the Phillies routed Ron Darling, 0-3.

Schmidt, 39 and coming back from shoulder surgery, hit his fourth home run of the season and 546th of his career.

New York's Kevin Elster played his 72nd consecutive game without an error, tying the major league record for shortstops set by Detroit's Eddie Brinkman in 1972. Elster has handled 234 chances during his streak and Brinkman had 331.

Padres 4, Giants 2 Jack Clark had a two-run homer, Benito Santiago added a solo shot, both in the fourth-inning, and Walt Terrell pitched a six-hitter for eight innings for his first victory as a Padre.

Terrell, 1-2, acquired from Detroit during the offseason, struck out three and walked two before yielding to Mark Davis with none out in the ninth.

Simons to head HMGA

Tom Simons, Deaf Smith County Judge, was elected president of the Hereford Men's Golf Association for 1989 when an annual meeting was held Tuesday night at Hereford Country Club.

Other new officers are Bernie Orel, vice president, and Joe Soliz Jr., secretary-treasurer. Simons replaces Ron Weishaar as president.

Members discussed a membership drive and tournament to be held in May. Dates will be announced soon.

During the membership drive, Simons said all men interested in golf activities and improvements in the local course will be invited to join the association.

Pistons pound Celtics in playoff drive

By BILL BARNARD AP Basketball Writer

The Detroit Pistons and Boston Celtics, last year's Eastern Conference finalists, are at opposite ends of the playoff spectrum this season.

The Pistons did their part toward assuring a first-round meeting between the two teams when they beat the Cleveland Cavaliers 118-102 Tuesday night, clinching the best record in the NBA, the Central Division title and the top seed in the Eastern Conference.

The Celtics could have sealed eighth place in the conference and the first-round meeting with Detroit next week with a victory over Washington, but they lost 121-113 to the Bullets at Boston Garden.

Washington now trails the Celtics by two games with three to play for each team, but the Bullets would get the last playoff berth if they finish in a tie because Washington beat the Celtics 4-2 in head-to-head meetings.

"There's nothing we can do about the Celtics," Bullets coach Wes Unseld said. "Now we have to do the same thing when we play Chicago Thursday."

"No question, our back was against the wall, and we wanted to go out fighting," said Jeff Malone, who led Washington with 24 points.

Reggie Lewis had 34 points, Kevin McHale 24 and Robert Parish 23 for the Celtics, but the Bullets had 55 field goals to 41 for Boston.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Charlotte 121, New Jersey 105; Philadelphia 124, Milwaukee 102; Dallas 103, Miami 99; Atlanta 121, Indiana 114; Los Angeles Clippers 95, Utah 92; Seattle 122, Golden State 118; Los Angeles Lakers 142, Denver 118, and Sacramento 120, Portland 118.

Pistons 118, Cavaliers 102 Detroit raced to a 20-3 lead and then held on as Joe Dumars scored 24 of his career-high 42 points in the third quarter against Cleveland.

The Cavaliers, who got 21 points from Mark Price, fought back from the early 17-point deficit to get within two late in the first half.

Dumars scored 24 of Detroit's 30 points in the third quarter. Lakers 142, Nuggets 118

Los Angeles pulled a full game ahead of Phoenix in the Pacific Division as Magic Johnson had 24 points, 17 rebounds and 17 assists against Denver.

James Worthy led the Lakers with 26 points. Lafayette Lever scored 26 points for Denver. Sonics 122, Warriors 118

Seattle closed in on fourth place in the West, which would give the Sonics a homecourt advantage in the first round of the playoffs.

Dale Ellis and Xavier McDaniel scored 35 points apiece and McDaniel had 11 of Seattle's last 13 points and blocked two shots in the last two minutes against Golden State.

Chris Mullin topped the Warriors with 36 points. Kings 120, Trail Blazers 118

Sacramento kept Portland from clinching a playoff berth as Danny Ainge scored 32 points, including a 15-foot underhand shot on the run with a second left.

Clyde Drexler scored 28 of his 34 points in the second half for the Blazers. 76ers 124, Bucks 102

Philadelphia beat Milwaukee for the first time in four games this season and Charles Barkley scored 34 points on 15-for-16 shooting from the field.

The 76ers made their first 10 shots of the second quarter. Hawks 121, Pacers 114

Atlanta, trying to hold on to fourth place in the East, beat Indiana as Dominique Wilkins scored 15 of his 39 points in the fourth quarter.

The Pacers tied the score at 97 on Chuck Person's 19-foot jumper with 7:37 to play. The Hawks then took the lead to stay on a five-footer by Wilkins.

Clippers 95, Jazz 92

Los Angeles beat Utah for the first time in eight tries when Charles Smith scored six of his 24 points in the final 3:11.

Karl Malone scored 26 points for Midwest Division champion Utah. Hornets 121, Nets 105

Dell Curry came off the bench for 31 points and Robert Reid scored his 10,000th career point as expansion Charlotte beat New Jersey.

Mike McGee had 30 points for the Nets.

The public is invited to join the Hereford Community Concert Association during its membership drive which concludes April 28.

For those interested in joining this organization, you may sign up at the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce office, 701 N. Main, from 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Four outstanding concerts have been scheduled for the 1989-90 concert season: "Broadway Celebration", "The Dallas Brass", "Lincoln Mayorga" and "McLaughlin and Marx." The first concert is scheduled at 8 p.m. Nov. 14 in the Hereford High School auditorium.

Membership dues include $15 for adults; $7.50 for students through grade 12; and $40 for a family. Memberships are available only during the membership drive campaign and no individual performance tickets will be sold.

If a member cannot attend a concert, he may lend his card to another person.

For more information call Ann Meyer, drive chairman, at campaign headquarters, 364-3333.

Leaf to speak at Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship

Buster Leaf of Levelland will be the featured speaker during Saturday night's meeting of the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship.

The event will begin at 7 p.m. in the Hereford Community Center and will be catered by Caison House Restaurant.

Currently the athletic director and head football coach for Levelland ISD., Leaf was born and raised in Artesia, N.M. He attended Sul Ross State University, where he received his bachelor of science and master's degrees. He began his teaching and coaching career at Fort Stockton in 1970 and progressed to Lewisville, Midland, Idalou, New Deal, McCamey, and Levelland.

He is a member of South Plains Church in Levelland and has preached at the Assembly of God Church in McCamey, Trinity, and Assembly at Artesia. He has appeared on the Praise The Lord program and has spoken to various youth groups.

Hints from Heloise

AIR FRESHENER

Dear Heloise: My mom gave me this hint that her mother used many years ago and I'd like to share it with you.

Rather than buying the expensive air fresheners, buy some peppermint oil. Soak a cotton ball in the oil and then put the cotton ball in a small jar with a lid. Remove the lid occasionally, or when necessary. It is wonderful for smoke-filled rooms. It leaves the room pleasantly fresh. — Joan Adams, Toledo, Ohio

Magician Richard Spears of Amarillo dazzled youngsters at Northwest School with his repertoire of tricks Friday afternoon. A former Northwest School student, Spears gave the performance in conjunction with the school's end of the year party. Sponsored by the Northwest School PTA, the event also featured popsicles which were served to each student.

Friday deadline for CPR instructor class

Prospective CPR instructors may participate in a class beginning Sunday at the Red Cross office, 224 S. Main. The class will be held from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Sunday. Anyone interested in becoming a CPR instructor should call the local Red Cross office, 364-3761, by Friday. A current CPR certificate is required. A class updating CPR certificates and improving CPR skills will begin Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Red Cross office and continue Friday at the same time.

The American Red Cross Community CPR course teaches participants how to respond to respiratory and cardiac emergencies, what to do when breathing stops, and how to give first aid for choking.

"Heart attacks continue to be the leading cause of death in America," said Betty Henson, executive director

If a home improvement product becomes defective, 75 percent of consumers would hold the manufacturer primarily responsible, if it's American-made. Fewer than half would do so if the product is imported, according to the Bureau of Building Marketing Research. Then consumers hold retailers responsible.

of the Deaf Smith County chapter of the Red Cross. "It takes people in the community, bystanders trained in CPR, to help save lives." The Red Cross was the first organization in the United States to offer training in accident prevention, and has provided first aid training for almost 80 years. Since 1974, the Red Cross has trained about 25 million people in CPR.

Extension council notes upcoming events at meeting

The Extension Homemakers Council met Monday at the Deaf Smith County Library and reviewed a schedule of upcoming events. Called to order by Chairman Carol Odom, the meeting featured representatives from seven area extension clubs with five clubs claiming 100 percent attendance. Those clubs were Bippus, Cultural, Draper, North Hereford, and Wyche. Recording secretary Kate Bradley read the minutes and Byrdie Fellers gave the treasurer's report. Communications were read by Sherrie Blackwell, corresponding secretary. Standing committee reports were then given.

A MESSAGE FROM THE NEWSPAPER AND THE DPS TROOPERS

Agricultural marketing seminar planned

Women in agriculture across Texas will have a unique opportunity on May 3-4, according to Beverly Harder, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

A specially prepared two-day marketing seminar for Texas women in agriculture is scheduled for the Holiday Inn, DFW Airport North, in Irving. The workshop is designed for women who want to learn the basics of commodity marketing. Topics covered will be how to develop a marketing plan, understanding marketing alternatives, and how to utilize the government programs along with marketing tools. Marketing has been identified as a critical issue by Texas agricultural producers.

Some questions that will be answered include: "What are futures? What is hedging? What is basics?" Seminar speakers will include women in agriculture that are helping make marketing decisions. Specialists from the Chicago

Board of Trade and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service also will conduct parts of the seminar.

Pre-registration for the seminar is required. A fee of $35 covers three meals and cost of materials. For registration details and a brochure, please contact your county extension office at 364-3573.

The average time lapse between a mosquito bite and mosquito itch is about three minutes.

Prices Effective Tuesday, April 18, 1989.

"TEXAS" to begin June 14

A flag waving, cowboy and Indian action packed musical drama "TEXAS" draws more audiences each night than a Broadway hit.

But the stage is not New York. Nestled into a magnificent corner of Palo Duro Canyon near Amarillo and Canyon, this unusual Paul Green summer play is truly an outdoor extravaganza.

The breathtaking backdrop, a 600 foot cliff, rises behind the stage, and the sun sets as "TEXAS" unwinds its tale.

A lone bugle sounds the beginning. Spectators raise their eyes to the sky as two riders cross the canyon rim carrying traditional flags. On stage great waves of singers and dancers "invite you all to come to 'TEXAS'."

And come to "TEXAS" they do. Over 80% of the audience travels more than 100 miles to see the outdoor drama that draws 100,000 persons each June through August.

A historical story, "Texas" is delivered by a cast of 80. Complete with a romantic tangle, "TEXAS" highlights the struggle between the cueled ranchers and farmers and their eventual collaboration bringing a town and the railroad to the area.

Much of the innovation for the production comes from Director Neil Hess and his sound and light designers, Lynn Hart and D. Scott Linder from Disneyland. After complete renovation in 1987, "TEXAS" possesses one of the most technically advanced sound and light systems in the country.

A tricky show to call, "TEXAS" uses 125 lighting cues, 75 sound cues, 25 pyrotechnical cues and 35 set changes.

The script remains nearly the same year after year. During Pulitzer Prize winning author Paul Green's lifetime, it could be changed by him and when a slow scene was spotted, Green perfected it.

Hess changes the choreography yearly to highlight the dancers' special talents. He is also instrumental in costume design as it relates to motion and color on stage. No detail is left unnoticed.

Paul Green selected the music for "TEXAS" (though it is occasionally rearranged) and Hess uses a 30-voice ensemble and a small orchestra as the backbone for many scenes.

"TEXAS" was the idea of Margaret Harper. In 1961 after reading about Paul Green's outdoor dramas in other regions of the United States, Harper invited the author to visit Palo Duro Canyon and the seed was planted.

A recent performance at the prestigious 1988 World Travel market in London brought "TEXAS" international attention as a partial cast performed excerpts from the show before 35,000 tour and travel agents. Texas was one of three states chosen by the exhibition to provide entertainment at the November 1988 event, and the Texas Department of Commerce selected "TEXAS" to represent the state.

Last year travelers came from 113 foreign countries with England, Germany, Japan and France leading the list.

Produced by the non-profit Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, "TEXAS" has board members in each of the 40 Panhandle communities.

The 24th season will begin June 14 and play nightly except Sundays through Aug. 26th in the Pioneer Amphitheatre in Palo Duro Canyon State Park. During the first few weeks, "TEXAS" will welcome its two-millionth visitor.

An optional chuckwagon beef barbecue dinner is served prior to every performance from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Reservations are encouraged and available by writing "TEXAS", P.O. Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015 or by calling the office at (806)-655-2181.

While in the area, taste sourdough biscuits, eggs and sausage cooked cowboy style on an authentic working ranch on the rim of the Palo Duro Canyon. Call the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce for more information.

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum in the city of Canyon houses one of the state's largest historical displays. See Colonel Goodnight's invention, the chuckwagon, or visit an authentic pioneer village.

Other area attractions include: the Discovery Center, featuring a robot dinosaur display this summer; Wonderland Amusement Park; the historic Amarillo Livestock Auction; the helium Monument and the Big Texan Steak Ranch.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a teenager who has been reading your column for as long as I can remember. It's the part of the paper that I grab first. There are times when I think you are square or just plain goofy, but deep down I know you make a lot of sense and I respect what you say.

Awhile back my parents split. Usually when this happens, the kids are torn up because they don't know which parent to go with. In my case, neither one wanted me.

I became depressed and decided to kill myself. Then I read a letter in your column about teenage suicides. It changed my mind.

I know a lot of people don't like it when you rerun a letter, but I think this one is important and some kids may have missed it. Will you please print it again?—A Fan Forever in Boston

DEAR FOREVER: You bet. Here is the letter and my response with no apologies. Thanks for asking.

To the Editor (of the Arkansas Gazette in Little Rock): Every year we lose several young people in our community to suicide. We keep hoping it will stop, but so far it hasn't. I hear it is a national epidemic. Every 90 minutes a teenager in this country commits suicide. This message is for every youth who is considering ending it:

You haven't seen the world that exists outside your family. Soon you will be on your own and then you will understand what is important and what is not important.

What you don't know is that 15 minutes after you decide to kill yourself, you might have felt better. Or two hours later, or two days, or two years.

What you don't know is that you are stronger than you think. You can find another girlfriend, or you can stand being shamed more than you realize. Failing in school or getting into trouble with the law may be painful, but you can get over it. You can fix it. Don't be killing yourself over events that you may barely remember 10 years from now. What you don't know is that there is nothing romantic or mysterious or "deep" about killing yourself. It is a god-awful mess that you can never understand until you have kids of your own.

What you don't know is that suicide is sneaky and spiteful and filled with anger. If you are thinking about suicide, you are furious with somebody. You can be furious without killing yourself or thinking you need the punishment of death.

What you also don't know is that suicide is forever, and nobody, not your parents or your doctor, can fix it. You won't be around for your funeral. And you won't be coming back.

So get smart. Join the marines. Go to California. Find a therapist. Lapse into sickness. Become mad as the dickens. Do your time in jail. But get off the suicide kick. It's a dead end.—Tom Heisler, Wynne, Ark.

DEAR TOM HEISLER: That was a sensible piece you wrote—and in language kids can relate to. I hope somebody listens. Nothing in this world causes more grief and suffering than the suicide of a child.

Suicide is often an irrational act, an immature response to disappointment, fear and anxiety. It can also be punitive. If these kids would just cool it and look ahead a week or a month, they might live to see the best days of their lives.

How much do you know about pot, cocaine, LSD, PCP, crack, speed and downers? Think you can handle them? For up-to-the minute information on drugs, write for Ann Landers' newly revised booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope." Send $3 plus a self-addressed, stamped business-size envelope (45 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Teacher job fair scheduled Monday

One of the Southwest's largest teacher job fairs will be held on the campus of West Texas State University on Monday from 2-6 p.m. in the Ballroom of the Henson Activities Center.

Eighty-six school districts from all over the Southwest will be present to visit with prospective teachers for positions they anticipate having available next fall. School districts will send representatives from Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, and Kansas.

The event is open to anyone wishing to apply for a teaching position; it is not a requirement that they be graduates of WTSU. There is no charge for the event.

Teachers should bring as many copies of credentials or resumes as the number of schools with whom they wish to visit.

For more information, call the WTSU career planning and placement office at 656-2345.

Schools registered thus far include: Abilene; Adrian; Alamogordo, N.M.; Amarillo;

Andrews; Anton; Arlington; Big Spring; Borger; Bovina; Boys Ranch/Girls Town; Brownfield; Canadian; Canyon; Carrollton-Farmers Branch; Clayton, N.M.; College Station; Corpus Christi; Culberson County; Cypress-Fairbanks; Houston; Dallas; Deer Park; Denver City; Dimmitt; Dumas; Eagle Pass; Ector County; El Paso; Farmington, N.M.; Fort Bend; Fort Worth; Fort Stockton;

Garland; Grand Prairie; Gruver; Happy; Harlandale; San Antonio; Hart; Hereford; Highland Park; San Antonio; Hobbs, N.M.; Houston; Huntsville; Irving; Judson; Killen; La Marque; Lamesa; Lazbuddie; Levelland; Lewisville; Littlefield; Longview; Lubbock; McLcan; Mansfield; Marfa; Midland; Mineral Wells; Mobeetie; New Braunfels;

New Deal; Northside, San Antonio; North East, San Antonio; Pampa; Perryton; Port Arthur; River Road; San Angelo; Seminole; Slaton; Spring; South, San Antonio; Southwest, San Antonio; Temple; Terrell; Three-Way; Tomball; Tulia; Vega; Victoria; Waco; Wichita Falls; Wichita, KS; Wildorado; and Ysleta.

Most school children can tell you two negatives make a positive, but few can name the man who first said so. It's said to have been John Lowth who first laid down that rule of grammar in 1762.

'Auto Facts' details crash protection

The Department of Transportation has compiled a collection of 13 fact sheets, called Auto Facts, that provides crash tests results and highlights new automatic crash protection equipment. The publication also includes information on bumpers, brakes, lights and vehicle recalls.

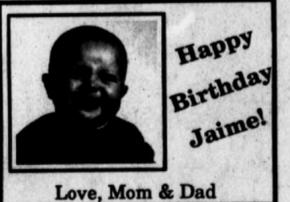

How Cars Are Tested
To test a car, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration crashes it head-on, into a rigid wall at 35 MPH. To check the potential for injury to a driver and a passenger, human-like dummies in the car are equipped with instruments to measure the impact.

Since large vehicles usually offer better protection than smaller ones, the results are only useful for comparing the performance of vehicles in the same weight class. All dummies in the crash tests wear safety belts, indicating potential injuries to real people who would also be wearing safety belts.

Auto Facts has easy-to-read charts with the results of these tests, so consumers can comparison shop for safety. There are also safety recall charts and safety equipment charts, so they can see which cars offer automatic crash protection, for both the driver and passengers in upcoming model years, all the way to 1992.

Write for information
To obtain a copy of Auto Facts, send 50 cents to the Consumer Information Center, Item 466T, Pueblo, Co. 81009.

Here's a tax tip: donations and medical expenses paid by credit card are deductible the year they are charged, not necessarily when they are incurred or paid off.
