City Will Re-Instate Parking Enforcement

By JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor

Hereford's city commissioners voted unanimously to re-instate enforcement of the two-hour parking limit in downtown Hereford during a regular session Monday night and also approved a zoning change request and upped the amount of tax exemption for those 65 and older.

A delegation of downtown-area merchants came before the commission complaining of problems with parking availability due to the growing number of offices in the downtown Hereford area and the resultant increase in storefront parking by business owners and employees.

The merchants indicated that the problem is becoming more serious as more offices locate downtown and employees park in front of the firms for the entire day because the two-hour parking limit has not been enforced.

Commissioner Emory Brownlow commented that the city did away with a parking patrol in the downtown area expressly at the request of the Downtown Merchants Association due to concern over traffic citations driving away prospective customers.

At the urging of the delegation of merchants on hand, however, commissioners voted unanimously to have City Manager Dudley Bayne work with Police Chief Don Brush to secure an employee, possibly a school crossing guard, to patrol parking in the downtown area.

Commissioners then reminded the merchants that public parking is available on the courthouse square and at the county-library parking lot.

City fathers received request for a zoning change for the south 85 feet of the east 140 feet of Lot 2, Block 58, Hereford Addition from "C Multi-Family" to "D-Restricted" from Jerry Shipman. The area in question borders Dameron Park and is in the vicinity of Hobo's Restaurant.

Upon hearing from Bayne that the proposed change met with the approval of the city's planning and zoning commission city fathers swiftly gave their unanimous approval to the change.

Milton "Buff" Morris appeared before the commission on behalf of the Panhandle-Plains Higher Education Authority and informed commissioners concerning recommended appointees to the association for three-year terms.

Upon hearing Morris' report on recommendations commissioners unanimously approved the appointment of Dr. Ronnie Barnes, Paul Fortenberry, Ken Morrison and Jim Brandon and the re-appointment of Don Cates to the group.

Morris also outlined some of the functioning of the student loan group and pointed out that low-interest loans are available to students or their parents at a rate of nine per cent interest.

Bayne informed city fathers that a miscalculation caused the commissioners to set the property tax exemption for those 65 years of age and over in error at the last commission session and that the actual increase in the exemption should have been $7,000 rather than $6,500.

Commissioners voted to increase the exemption to the $7,000 figure.

Matters concerning the city's insurance premiums were discussed with Commissioner R.W. Eades explaining that Plains Insurance Agency, which has shared in the premiums in the past, cannot presently participate in the premium program due to his association with the insurance firm.

'Spring' Sport

The Hereford High School varsity tennis team put the fall season on wavers Monday and made its spring season debut with a match against the Canyon Eagles in Canyon, despite still frigid Panhandle temperatures. But the untimely warm weather the High Plains has enjoyed this past week made the job of playing an easy task for singles competitor Raymond Duncan as he returns this shot to an eagle opponent.

Grand Jury Indicts Two in Truck Theft

The Deaf Smith County Grand Jury returned indictments against an Amarillo man and a Hereford man on theft charges in connection with the theft of a 1981 Peterbilt cabover truck from a Little Rock, Arkansas truck dealership following the conclusion of a session Monday.

An indictment was returned against Gary Quisenberry, 28, of Amarillo, who remains at large and an indictment was also returned against Vernon J. Carlisle, 55, of Hereford.

Two other Hereford men, Wilbur David Hayes, 50, and Juan P. Hernandez, 29, were no-billed.

Indictments were returned on charges of theft over $10,000 in connection with the theft of the 1981 Peterbilt from ACB Trucks, Inc. of Little Rock.

Local authorities began an investigation into the case after being contacted by Dale Burrows, DPS motor vehicle theft criminal investigator in Amarillo, and in the wake of an anonymous phone call and an anonymous letter received by a local deputy.

The stolen truck allegedly arrived in Hereford on Dec. 5 and was subsequently bought locally.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of Quisenberry last week but he remains at large today.

Federal charges are still pending in the matter with the FBI expected to file soon on those responsible for the theft of the truck in Arkansas.

History Deadline Extended

After a flurry of activity Monday, the Deaf Smith County Project History committee decided to extend the time to accept the family histories to April 30.

Deaf Smith County residents are urged to write a summary of their family history which will be compiled into a book about the county.

The office at the E.B. Black House is open Monday through Friday from 1-5 p.m. Completed histories and pictures may be mailed to Project County History, Drawer 2297, Hereford 79045.

Chamber Banquet Tickets Growing Scarce

Emphasizing that no tickets will be available at the door, Mike Carr, executive vice president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, points out that local residents had best hurry to purchase the few remaining tickets which are available for Thursday night's annual Chamber banquet.

Tickets are still available at both city banks and at the Chamber offices and the event promises to be a sellout, according to Carr.

Some 600 tickets had already been sold by late last week with a steady movement of the 300 remaining tickets noted.

The banquet is set for 7 p.m. at the Bull Barn and tickets are selling for $10 each.

A dinner catered by K-Bob's Steak House will be featured at the event, which will be highlighted by the naming of Hereford's Citizen of the Year and entertainment by Cheryl Prewitt, Miss America 1980.

Sid Shaw, president of the Hereford Noon Lions Club will make the Citizen of the Year presentation during Thursday night's proceedings.

Miss Prewitt, an accomplished vocalist and pianist, will provide entertainment for the large crowd expected to be on hand utilizing those talents, and will also be the evening's featured speaker.

According to Carr, the annual Chamber report will also be presented and accomplishments of the Chamber during the past year will be reviewed.

Plans for the upcoming year's activities for the Chamber will also be eyed.

"This promises to be a fast-moving, entertaining evening and we urge those who don't have their tickets to get them today or tomorrow," commented Carr.

Beet Growers Association Okays Anti-MX Resolution

Members of the Texas-New Mexico Sugar Beet Growers Association have adopted a resolution in opposition to the MX missile system.

During a recent business meeting here, members of the association unanimously approved a resolution pointing up that opposition.

The text of the resolution states:

"The membership of the Texas-New Mexico Sugar Beet Growers Association opposed the MX missile system program for the reason that it is neither sound or good as a national defense project and the enormous cost could much better be spent for strong missile defense projects including submarine and aircraft missile carriers.

"It is the opinion of knowledgeable people that by the time this enormous project would be installed it would be obsolete.

"We consider the project as proposed to be cumbersome, non-workable, too expensive and that proper study and judgment has not been exercised by those advocating the same.

"We further oppose placing the same in Texas and New Mexico where it will have a great impact upon the farming and food producing sections of the United States and where it would unduly effect the cattle and livestock industry as well as the food producing and agriculture industry of these two most important states of the whole country in these two respects and that if it had to be built, which is contrary to our thinking, it should be in more desert places where the impact would be relegated to prairie dogs, gophers, lizards and desert snakes."

Copies of the resolution have been forwarded to the congressmen and senators serving the area which would be affected by the deployment of the MX missile in Texas-New Mexico.

Crane Accident Claims Worker

A 32-year-old Panhandle man was pronounced dead on arrival at Deaf Smith General Hospital Monday afternoon following an industrial accident on a ranch near the Milo Center community.

Ronnie Lee Tucker, a former Hereford resident who had moved to Panhandle about a year ago, was fatally injured when a crane boom collapsed at the Cliff Skiles ranch five miles northeast of Milo Center.

Tucker was working to set up the crane boom for erecting a grain tank at the Skiles property when the accident occurred.

County Justice of the Peace O.K. Neal said Tucker "apparently pulled the wrong pin" resulting in the loss of tension on a cable and the collapse of the boom.

An ambulance from Deaf Smith General

Hospital rushed to the scene but Tucker was dead on arrival at the local hospital, apparently as the result of massive chest injuries.

There were no other injuries in the accident.

Tucker was a native of Canyon and graduated from Canyon High School. He had served in the U.S. Marine Corps.

Funeral services are pending with Schooler-Gordon Funeral Directors of Amarillo.

Tucker is survived by his wife, Modina Sue; a son, Ronnie Lee Tucker Jr. and a daughter, Robin Reshel Tucker, all of the home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tucker of Claude; five brothers, William of Athens, Pat and Thomas of Canyon, Jerry of Amarillo and Joe Hardemon of Belton; and two sisters, Mrs. Evelyn Whelen and Mrs. Betty Garrity, both of Amarillo.

Litter on our streets is a problem, but it is even more of a problem on private parking lots. The parking lots of businesses and churches on North Main Street and on 25 Mile Avenue are used as gathering places by young people.

Some of these parking lots have become traditional meeting places as friends gather to make dates, swap stories and, for some, drink a little beer. Unfortunately they are prone to toss things on the parking lots—cans and bottles, paper wrappings, leftover food, etc.

Saturday night seems to be the worst time, although the young people gather almost every evening after businesses close. Some of the churches have to clean up their parking lots on Sunday morning.

Churches, as well as business people, have tried to appeal to the youngsters to use the lots but keep them free of trash. It hasn't had much effect. Some vandalism has occurred and city police are having to patrol the areas.

It is a difficult situation to control...unless the youngsters decide to do something about it.

The Brand announced plans Sunday for publishing a special supplement, "Discover Deaf Smith County." The tabloid newspaper is planned as a business and cultural reference for citizens, a guide for newcomers, and a promotional brochure for the chamber of commerce.

Complete with city and county maps, listings of governmental bodies, information on taxes, church and club directories, school information and an advertisers' index, the supplement will be inserted in an issue of The Brand. Additional copies will be provided to the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

The advertising and editorial departments of the newspaper have been formulating plans for the supplement, and ad sales for the publication will begin soon.

We think it will be an edition which readers will want to keep around for future reference.

Balloting Over For Oscar Nominations

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Nominating ballots are in for the Academy Awards and the familiar phrase, "the envelope please," will be heard again at the 53rd annual Oscar ceremony on March 30.

Ballots were due at 5 p.m. Monday at the Price Waterhouse accounting firm in downtown Los Angeles, where they will be tabulated for the Feb. 17 announcement of nominees in 17 categories, including best picture, director and all the writing, acting and technical areas.

This year, 189 English-language films were eligible for nominations by the membership of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. Nominees in an additional four categories — foreign film, documentary short, full-length documentary and visual effects — are determined by academy committees.

A record 26 films were submitted this year to the foreign language film nominating committee, the academy said, noting that only one film per country is accepted. Nominees must have primarily foreign-language soundtracks with English subtitles.

Foreign films may be nominated in other categories, except best picture and best feature-length documentary.

Budget Cut

Proposals Made

WASHINGTON (AP) — While President Reagan is honing his proposals for reducing federal spending, congressional economists have come up with 105 ways to cut billions of dollars from the budget and increase revenues.

The proposals are contained in a Congressional Budget Office study submitted today to the House Budget Committee.

Actions described range from simply increasing efficiency to imposing direct fees to pay for government services such as Coast Guard activities.

Some of the proposals have been rejected by previous congresses and others were contained in former President Jimmy Carter's budget for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1.

Woman Bitten

By Baby Elephant

NEW YORK (AP) — A 68-year-old Long Island woman who was bitten and slammed against a fence by a baby elephant at the old Jungle Habitat wildlife park in New Jersey has been awarded $200,000 in damages.

Elizabeth Ennis, of Hempstead, won the award Monday from Warner Bros., owners of Jungle Habitat, after a six-day trial before acting state Supreme Court Justice Thomas Sinclair in Manhattan.

Her husband, Edmund, a retired pressman for Newsday, was granted $5,000 for loss of her companionship. The incident occurred July 8, 1974 in the West Milford, N.J. park after Ennis had photographed their grandson feeding a goat.

Mrs. Ennis, a native of Wheeling, W.Va., who stands 5-foot-4, said she was grabbed by the 5-foot tall, 750-pound elephant when it extended its trunk over a four-foot high fence.

She said the animal wrapped its trunk around her arm and pulled her off the ground. Her husband had to pry the trunk loose to free her, she said.

The 1,000-acre park went out of business in 1976.

Airlines Request

Fare Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The major U.S. airlines are requesting emergency fare increases because of higher fuel prices, including those expected from President Reagan's order lifting the remaining price controls on domestic oil.

The Civil Aeronautics Board is expected to review the request quickly, CAB spokesman Ted Lopatkiewicz said Monday.

The Air Transportation Association, which represents the nation's major airlines and other carriers, asked the CAB to increase the standard fare level to reflect the higher fuel costs the airlines must pay, said Bill Jackman, spokesman for the association.

84 Illegal Aliens

Caught in Bronx

NEW YORK (AP) — Immigration officials say 84 illegal aliens caught in a Bronx raid will be deported to their native countries and at least two men will be charged with running a smuggling operation that they say netted $500 to $2,000 a head.

"From what we have seen it looks like the largest smuggling operation of this kind in the last 10 years," Henry Dogin, regional director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, said Monday. "We have found this many people at a place of business but never in a tractor-trailer."

The aliens were discovered Monday after a woman told police she saw people going in and out of a parked tractor-trailer in the South Bronx.

Police eventually arrested 51 people in the rear of the truck and 33 others inside two nearby apartments.

Police, who were told the trailer was loaded with lettuce, said the inside of the vehicle was "a horrible mess," smelly and littered with soda-pop cans, fast food containers and other refuse.

Five shots were fired at police as they approached one of the apartments.

They found a handgun and $10,500 hidden in a stove in one of the two apartments. The money may have been payment from the aliens to the smugglers, police said.

INS agents were questioning two men in connection with the alleged smuggling and transportation of the aliens, and planned to file charges, according to Robert Costello of the U.S. attorney's office.

Dogin said 83 of the suspected aliens are from the Dominican Republic, and one is from Guatemala. Investigators said the group left El Paso, Texas, late Friday or early Saturday and arrived here early Monday.

Bilingual Education Proposals Scrapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Education Secretary T.H. Bell on Monday scrapped the Carter administration's controversial bilingual education proposals that would have required the nation's schools to teach youngsters in their native language.

"Nothing in the law or the Constitution anoints the Department of Education to be National School Teacher, National School Superintendent or National School Board," Bell said in announcing that the proposed rules would be thrown out.

He said the rules proposed by his predecessor, Shirley M. Hufsteler, were "harsh, inflexible, burdensome, unworkable and incredibly costly."

The rules Mrs. Hufsteler proposed last Aug. 5 never took effect because Congress blocked her from making them final.

The rules would have mandated that children with limited or no ability to speak English must be taught basic courses — such as reading, math and science — in their native language along with instruction in English.

Bell told reporters federal law specifically states the Education Department must not usurp state and local control of education. He criticized a portion of the proposed rules that would have forced schools to get special permission to deviate from the government-approved program for teaching English.

Bell said President Reagan is "in full support" of the decision to discard the proposed rules. Reagan promised during his campaign to abolish the year-old Education Department as unduly intrusive into state and local control of schools. State school chiefs, the National School Board Association, the American Federation of Teachers and other school groups attacked Mrs. Hufsteler's proposed rules last summer, saying they were an unprecedented attempt by Washington to tell local schools what to teach and how to do it.

Theft, Vandalism Investigated Here

Police investigated the theft of two speakers valued at $200 from a car parked in the Hereford High School parking lot Monday.

Maria Gavina, 300 Ave. B, told police someone pried her trunk open to steal the speakers. Damage to the car is estimated at $200.

Melvin Binger, truck driver from Caseyville, Ill., was flagged down early Monday morning by a female hitchhiker east of Hereford.

When Binger stopped at Big Daddy's Truck Stop, a man jumped on the side of the truck and began beating on the door yelling at the driver to open the door.

The man kicked off the right side mirror valued at $35, and caused $150 in damages to the truck's door. Police have a suspect in the case.

Charges of driving while intoxicated (DWI) were filed against Jose Casnova Tijerina Jr., 514 Knight, after he lost control of his pickup on South 25 Mile Avenue Saturday night.

Police said Tijerina lost control of his 1979 Ford truck south of the railroad overpass of 25 Mile Avenue. The truck hit the curb, swerved back across the road, hit the median, continued across the road and hit a concrete embankment before coming to a stop.

Tijerina was taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital and then transferred to St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.

Police reported several cases of weekend vandalism: Kenneth Christie, 109 Centre, told police someone shot the window out of his pickup; Steve Saiz, Route 5, said someone threw a brick through his pickup window while it was parked at Uncle Sam's Restaurant, 628 W. First.

Denise Noyes, 115B Ave. G, reported someone entered her home and scattered items around sometime Monday.

Police also investigated several thefts over the weekend.

Verna Sowell, Route 2, told police someone stole about $38 worth of personal items from her home Sunday morning.

The burglars entered her home between 9:25 a.m. and 12:20 p.m. and stole items including a stereo, 10 to 12 tapes, old silverware and a handmade quilt. Police have no suspects in the case.

Ed Dziuk, 326 Star, reported the theft of two guns from his pickup Sunday night.

A .22 Mario-Glenfield rifle and a Daisy BB gun were taken from the truck parked in front of Dziuk's home.

A. Rogers, S. 25 Mile Avenue, also reported a gun theft to police. A Remington model 121 Field Master pump shotgun was stolen from his home.

A box of .25 gauge shotgun shells was also taken.

Police issued 31 traffic citations over the weekend and Monday.

McKeel, Engelmann Honored in Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Vietnam-era veterans received a belated welcome from Mayor Bob Folsom during a wind-whipped city hall ceremony organized to honor two area military men who returned home last week from a different kind of conflict.

Navy Lt. Cmdr. Robert Engelmann of Hurst and Marine Staff Sgt. Johnny McKeel Jr. of Balch Springs, two of the 52 Americans held hostage in Iran, were the honored guests at Monday's noontime ceremony on the steps of Dallas City Hall.

A high school band played "It's a Grand Old Flag" as the men were presented resolutions drafted by local governments in Tarrant and Dallas counties.

But Folsom widened the scope of the ceremony, saying, "This is a chance to provide a welcome for all returning Americans," he said, "and to those we did not have a chance to welcome who served in Vietnam."

Folsom, Tarrant County Commissioner A. Lyn Gregory and Engelmann spoke — McKeel begged off, pleading a sore throat — a cold, blustery wind whipped clothes, hair and a battery of state and military flags displayed by a Navy-Marine color guard.

The brief ceremony, the most recent in a series of hostage homecoming celebrations in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, took place in bright sunshine on the City Hall mall before a crowd of several hundred.

DON RICHARDSON

Paul Harvey News New Test Case Overdue for School Busing

It's time to test a new federal government authority to require crosstown school busing.

The new administration in Washington is opposed—but is helpless to countermand Supreme Court orders.

Surely by now the High Court must recognize that busing has in fact re-segregated schools, repolarized our population, violated the rights of youngsters white and black and tragically depleted the quality of public education.

A new test case is on the way.

What happened in Buckeye, La., has been misrepresented as a black-white confrontation.

It is both simpler and more complicated than that.

There is only one school in the little town of Buckeye. The three girl students in question have been attending Buckeye school — within walking distance from their homes.

Until a federal court judge ordered them to be bused 30 miles each day for the sole purpose of further "whitening" an integrated school in Alexandria, La.

It has to be insulting to black parents and students, this implication that academic excellence requires cross-pollination with whites.

The school bus runs backward!

The objective of purposeful race-mixing in public schools was increased educational opportunity for blacks.

It has not worked that way. Academic achievement scores, black and white, are down.

Unemployment for black youths, 24 percent 10 years ago, is now 37.4 percent.

One of the significant factors in the case of the "Buckeye Three" is that the school to which the federal court wants to assign them — Jones Street Junior High in Alexandria — is already half-and-half, black and white.

Obviously, therefore, the federal judge, Norman Scott, is less concerned with adding whites to an already balanced school than with punishing the "all-whiteness" of the Buckeye school.

The parents of The Buckeye Three will need public contributions to help with the horrendous legal costs of pursuing this fight — but somebody must.

I have said there is nothing the new president can do without the concurrence of the courts. That is not entirely true.

Because crosstown school busing wastes the equivalent total output of 700 average oil wells every day, probably by executive decree the president could park the buses.

Understandably, however, the resultant disruption of classroom enrollment would dissuade him from any such stopgap measure.

What's needed is a new Supreme Court test case. In the new climate of public opinion and with our enlightened hindsight — surely the Supreme Court will want to recover its own fumble.

President Reagan Says Iran Committed 'An Act of War'

By The Associated Press

Iran committed "an act of war" by taking the American hostages, and the U.S. government should have stood firm with a response that their release was non-negotiable, President Reagan says.

"Let me say that I just believe that we got off on the wrong tack in those negotiations to begin with," Reagan said Monday, referring to the attempts by the Carter administration to negotiate the release of the Americans who were taken hostage in Tehran on Nov. 4, 1979.

"The first reply we made was the proper reply — there would be no negotiations until the hostages were returned. And then we violated that," Reagan said.

His comments came Monday in an interview in Washington with reporters for five publications: The Chicago Tribune, The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, The Christian Science Monitor and Time Magazine.

Reagan also answered questions about the economy, relations with the Soviet Union, the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks and the Mideast.

Reagan said the Iranians were "kidnappers."

"They were the ones who broke international law, who committed, actually, an act of war," Reagan said.

The president said the United States should have issued its own demands and told the Iranians "here's the price that we put on your keeping them."

Commenting on his review of the agreement that resulted in the hostages' release, he said, "There were some executive orders applying to our own people and so forth that I want checked out with regard to not only international law, but our own law

... How do we give up the right of an individual to sue for damages?"

He was referring to one facet of the agreement in which former hostages were barred from pursuing legal claims against Iran involving their capture.

Reagan reiterated that he favors resuming SALT talks with the Soviet Union "any time they want to sit down and discuss a legitimate reduction of nuclear weapons."

But he cautioned that the Soviets "should be under no illusions" about America's resolve to maintain a strong defense.

Reagan made it clear he stood by his recent sharp attacks on Soviet policy, in which he said the Soviets were bent on world domination.

The Soviets have "come back snarling at me and charged me with lies and everything else. But I haven't heard them refute what I said," Reagan said.

Reagan said Israel's combat-ready military "is a force in the Middle East that actually is of benefit to us." Reagan said he did not regard Israeli settlements on the West Bank of the Jordan River as illegal. But he said that Israel's "rush" was perhaps "ill-advised" and "unnecessarily provocative."

The president said he favors a U.S. military presence in the Middle East, including ground troops, to help maintain peace and discourage any Soviet incursions in the Persian Gulf.

Concessions Ratified

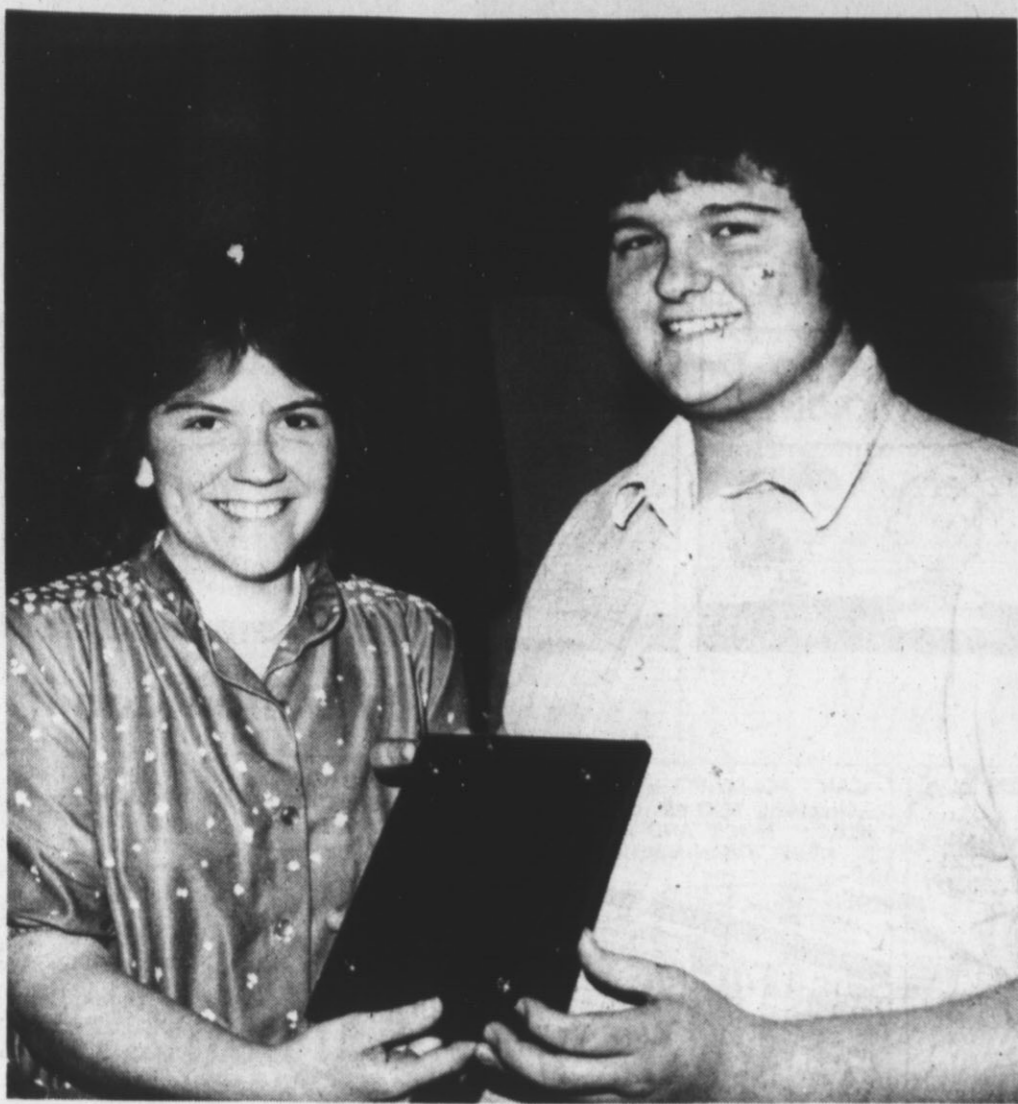

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers union members voted by a 3-to-2 margin to ratify contract concessions to struggling Chrysler Corp. that will give them a 13 percent pay cut, the union announced Monday.

UAW vice president Mark Stepp, in charge of the union's Chrysler affairs, said 26,942 members voted for the third round of concessions and 18,859 voted against, clearing the way for the company to receive $400 million in government loan guarantees if Chrysler's lenders approve sacrifices asked of them.

At Wits End
By ERMA BOMBECK

When you think about it, technology has come no appreciable distance in this country. Oh, sure we have electronic games to amuse us and garbage compactors (a spinoff of pantyhose), but we still sit around the campfire and our children still carve on the walls.

Medical technology is even worse. The common cold is still a mystery. No one knows why hot flashes occur in the summer but never in the winter when you need them. And not one member of the medical community has tackled the biggest mystery of all—how to stop children's feet from growing.

For years, parents have tried to anticipate the rate of growth. From the time a child is old enough to walk until his final days of college, he never has a pair of shoes that really fit.

I have seen my children's feet through an X-ray machine and have known for a fact that there are a good two sizes to go before he outgrows them. In the two short blocks from the store to the car, there is growth beyond belief and he is saying, "Mom! These shoes are pinching my toe and rubbing my heel."

You could buy 135 pairs of shoes in assorted sizes and not once during the entire year would your child fit in one of them. That's the way kids' feet are.

There are other mysteries surrounding children's feet. I had a son who took a cab to the bathroom. He never walked anywhere. Everywhere I turned I saw his feet propped up at eye level—on coffee tables, over chairs, on top of the TV set, on the dashboard, on the walls.

I drove him to school right up to his desk. I drove him to ball practice, the library, his friends' houses, to the playground, the activities center, the gym and the drugstore. The kid had virgin feet. Believe me, a piece of lint would have caused him pain. He had his shoes three weeks when he reported there was a hole in the toe.

I figured out once if children's intellect developed at the same rate as their feet, by the time they were five they could speak 15 languages, debate Freud (and win), explain Plato, outwrite Shakespeare, challenge Einstein and make patents obsolete.

You have probably wondered why more children don't run away from home. The truth is, their feet hurt. They go through life with nose tissues stuffed in the toe or their toe stuffed in the toe.

I don't know what the answer is, but until children's feet are given scientific priority, the little toddler with the flipper feet that slap with every step will always be with us.

Ann Landers

Workaholics

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read the letter from the wife who complained that her husband was a workaholic. It really made me mad. What to these women want from their husbands, anyway? If you ask me, they are crazy. I would rather have a husband who works too hard than not at all, and I have had both kinds. My first marriage was a disaster because the man's main aim in life was to take it easy. He worked about one-third of the time. The rest he spent hunting, fishing, playing golf and poker. His favorite pastime was pointing out in the obituary columns the names of young men who died of heart attacks. "Overwork," he always said. "It won't happen to me."

After working a double shift for six years so we could eat and pay the rent, I got smart and filed for divorce. I am now married to a man who loves to work. Some people say he's a workaholic, but I don't care what label they put on him - he's full of pep, always has a smile and we don't owe anybody a dime. - Been Both Places And This Is Better

Dear Better: Read on. There's more.

DEAR ANN: Your advice to the woman who was married to the workaholic was right on. You said, "Stay off his back and keep yourself busy. He's not going to change."

When we were first married I felt resentful because my husband's work was more important to him than I. After I sat down and had a good talk with myself I decided to stop nagging him or he might work even later to avoid coming home.

You were right when you said women marry men for the very qualities they complain about later. I wanted an ambitious husband who would "go places." Well - I got one. I no longer feel sorry for myself and am looking at the positive side. Believe me, Ann, life is a whole lot better. - Got It All Together in Bridgeport

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Much has been written about the male workaholic. One hardly ever sees a word about the female of the species. I am an authority on the subject, because I am married to one.

My wife does not hold a paying job, but she is busy morning, noon and night doing for our five kids, helping out with church activities, cooking, cleaning, marketing, shopping and reading Time magazine. She manages to do everything except get enough rest and spend time with her husband.

Whenever we sit together to watch a TV shows she falls asleep. She also dozes off the minute we get into the car to go someplace. Any loving that can be fitted in must be in the middle of the night. She is never ready to go to bed when I am because there's always something she has to do. I get up before she does and fix my own breakfast.

Any suggestions for a husband who doesn't hang out in bars or chase other women? I am - Lonely In The Night in Paterson, N.J.

Dear Lonely: Your problem is not "workaholism." It's a marriage that has gone flat. All the busy stuff that occupies your wife's attention is designed to keep you at arm's length.

Show her this letter and tell her it's yours. Tell her, too, that I hope you will sit down together and talk about what went wrong. If you both make a genuine effort you should be able to get things back on the track. A counselor may be helpful. Good luck, and let me know what happens.

How young is too young for a child to learn about sex? That's just one thing you'll find in Ann Landers' new booklet, "How, What, and When to Tell Your Child About Sex." The greatest gift you can give a bedwetter and the rest of the family, too, is an end to this serious problem, and make no mistake, bedwetting is serious. Welfare Fraud Rate Low in Texas

Investigators from the Texas Department of Human Resources found 4,022 cases of welfare fraud in the state in 1980, it was announced recently by Marlin W. Johnston, acting commissioner of DHR.

Johnston said the cases represented $2,689,329 in welfare assistance fraudulently taken from DHR programs.

"While that is a large sum of money," Johnston said, "it represents only .18 percent of the agency budget, and I think this reflects tight control of welfare programs and substantial assurance that only those who qualify for assistance are getting it."

IN ADDITION to the low fraud figure, Johnston said that welfare cheaters made payments of $703,804 in restitution to the state during 1980.

The fraud figures were contained in an annual report to Johnston from Ed Richards, head of DHR's Investigation Division.

Richards said fraud is attempted most often in the food stamp program, where investigator's found fraud in 2,594 cases in 1980, involving a total of $970,598. More than 1,200,000 Texans participate in the food stamp program.

The next program where fraud is most often attempted is in the Aid to Families With Dependent Children program. Richards said 1,331 attempts to defraud the AFDC program were made in 1980, involving $1,286,837.

ATTEMPTS AT fraud usually involve giving false information about income or the number of people in a household, both criteria for assistance eligibility.

DHR investigators make the cases against welfare cheaters, and then turn the evidence over to local district or county attorneys for disposition.

Richards cited phenomenal success in cases that were prosecuted. Of the 619 cases prosecuted in 1980, 614 ended in convictions.

Other cases are disposed of through agreements between the prosecutor and the offender to make restitution, or in some cases the court may order restitution.

THE NUMBER of fraud attempts generally is highest in the urban areas of Texas, with Dallas having the most incidents of attempted fraud, followed by Houston, the Lower Rio Grande Valley, Beaumont, Austin, Fort Worth, El Paso, the east Texas area surrounding Tyler, San Antonio, Abilene, and Lubbock.

Medicine Conference Scheduled in Lubbock

Next time you hit the jogging path, strike out on your bicycle or grab a quick game of handball, you'll be joining one out of three Americans who, over the last two decades, have taken up some sort of vigorous athletic activity.

If all goes well, you will reap the benefits of a health-building exercise program. But is it possible that you could become one of the 17 to 20 million American weekend athletes who will suffer some sort of injury this year.

Can you prevent sports-related injuries? Can you lessen their severity? What can the injured person do to speed up recovery or to prevent further damage? These questions and others will be the concern of a Sports Medicine Conference February 6-7 in Lubbock.

The conference combines the expertise of speakers from the areas of health and physical education, medicine and science to explore physical, emotional and mental aspects of sports participation.

"We have developed a program for people concerned at many levels," said Robert P. Yost, M.D., conference program chairman. "We have topics and workshops which will be helpful for people including physicians, coaches, athletes, tennis and golf pros and mothers who want to know what to feed their kids before a ball game." Yost is associate professor in the Division of Sports Medicine of the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center (TTUHSC).

Speakers for the conference include Irving Dardik, M.D., chairman of the U.S. Olympic athletes now involved in athletic research and the sports industry will be joined by biochemists, physiologists and other scientists to deliver lectures and conduct workshops at the two-day conference.

The program is sponsored by the TTUHSC Department of Orthopedic Surgery and officers of Continuing Medical Education and Continuing Nursing Education and Texas Tech University Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation and Division of Continuing Education. The conference is the first of its kind in Lubbock to combine the resources of the fields of health and physical education and medicine in an approach to sports medicine.

The meeting is open to the general public, athletic trainers and coaches, sports instructors and health care professional. Participants may earn continuing education credits for attendance. Registration may be arranged through the Office of Continuing Medical Education, Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center, Lubbock 79430, telephone (806) 743-2929.

National Health Quiz to be Televised

COLLEGE STATION - Television's upcoming National Health Quiz will get a helping hand from most County Extension Offices throughout Texas where "answer sheets" for the public to use during the test will be available before it airs on most PBS stations.

According to Mary Ann Shirer, health education specialist, the National Health Quiz, set for Feb. 15 at 9 p.m. CST, will help people evaluate their health-risk factors for the four leading causes of death: heart disease, cancer, stroke and auto accidents. The test is a self-test in which viewers will score themselves, too.

Dr. Shirer is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Prior to the Sunday airing of the National Health Quiz, "answer sheets" will be given to anyone who asks for them at any County Extension Office free of charge, Dr. Shirer said. In many counties, the Extension Office is in the county courthouse.

Co-hosted by cover girl Cheryl Tiegs, also a health and beauty reporter, along with actor Peter Graves, the National Health Quiz is based on a medical concept termed "prospective medicine," Dr. Shirer explained.

This concept seeks to identify and assess an individual's health risks and then reduce those risks before danger develops—that is, before a crisis, disability or death.

Prospective medicine's approach to fighting America's major health problems starts with the idea that these "killers" are actually "helped along" by their victims' behavior.

With that in mind, prospective medicine was developed to accurately define the risk factors for disease development—and auto accidents, so that behavior can be changed before the disease or accident strikes.

Once an individual becomes aware of specific health risks, he can work to change unhealthy behavior and habits to reduce those risks.

Viewers are urged to check television listings for any differences in local or area schedules.

Autoworkers Urged to Drive What They Build

DETROIT (AP) — When people ask Lillian Edwards why she drives a Triumph TR7 to her job at the Ford Motor Co.'s Rouge plant in Detroit, she tells them to mind their own business.

"You work for the money, you can get what you want. I always wanted a sports car," she said. "I believe in it (buying Ford) for people whose lives are the Ford Motor Co. But I'm not interested in working for Henry Ford all my life."

Diane Koch, on the other hand, bought her Datsun B210 before she started working at a General Motors Corp. Fisher Body plant — "It was the cheapest car around," she explained.

But the next time she's in the market, Ms. Koch said, "I'd like to get a GM car, just so I could stay in my job." She won't be fired for being disloyal, but she wants to do everything she can to boost flagging auto sales.

That kind of logic is common these days around Detroit, where tens of thousands of autoworkers are out of work, at least partly because of competition from foreign cars.

Some United Auto Workers locals here have banned foreign cars from their parking lots. Others leave only one or two spaces in the far corners of their lots for foreign autos.

And billboards asking Michigan residents to "Buy The Cars Your Neighbors Help to Build," signed by GM's Pontiac division and UAW Local 653, are posted around the state, the first time an automaker and the union have joined in a public advertisement.

Stan Chilbecki, a GM employee for 20 years, said he always drives GM cars. "I buy them because I think they're good cars and I work for the company. I think that's only fair," he said.

Said Irving Howard, who works for Ford and drives a 1977 Mercury Cougar: "I put my money where I get it from." It's an attitude the auto companies and the United Auto Workers union like to see. What they don't like, and are trying to overcome, are the attitudes of people like Ms. Edwards — and Sue Murdzia.

Ms. Murdzia works for GM but says she hates her 1978 Pontiac Firebird.

"That's rotten to say about my company, but I've had nothing but trouble with that car. It's falling apart," she said. "I really want a foreign car, but they would probably stone me when I drove it into the parking lot."

The auto industry in general encourages workers to buy what they build. All the companies instituted policies about five years ago to give employees refunds of up to several hundred dollars if they buy new cars made by their companies. At GM alone, some 70,000 workers take advantage of the refunds every year, officials say.

Jim Flower, general superintendent of manufacturing engineering at the Bay City Chevrolet plant, is quoted in the July-August 1980 issue of GM Today, a monthly magazine for GM employees: "Chevrolet spends millions of dollars on advertising to sell our products. When someone who works at this plant drives a non-GM vehicle, domestic or foreign-made, they are also advertising — but in a very negative and detrimental way."

"I don't know how many sales we lose because of this negative advertising, but I'd guess it is plenty." One "Buy GM" program seems to have worked at GM plants in Saginaw and Pontiac; Danville, Ill.; Bedford, Ind.; Defiance, Ohio, and Massena, N.Y. The number of GM vehicles in employee parking lots has increased from 66.3 percent to 79.9 percent, according to another GM Today article.

Still, even with the publicity and the cash incentives, many autoworkers drive cars made by competitors' companies.

Eighty-eight of 353 cars parked outside one GM plant in Detroit, about 25 percent, were made by companies other than GM, although fewer than 10 of those were foreign-made.

At a Ford plant, 42 of 127 cars, or 33 percent, were made by companies other than Ford. In a Chrysler parking lot, 66 of 167 cars, or 40 percent, were made by competitors.

However, in a Chrysler parking lot reserved for "management and salary" employees, only 1 of the 208 cars was made by a company other than Chrysler.

Blacks Advance at the Mississippi Polls

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Less than two decades ago, blacks in Mississippi were struggling to vote in an atmosphere of violence and hatred. Now they hold more elected offices than blacks in any other state, a study shows.

Blacks credit three things with giving them their powerful voice in state and local government: the Voting Rights Act, which has kept Mississippi election laws under the watchful eye of the Justice Department, persistent voter registration drives and constant court pressure.

"The main reason our state leads in the number of black elected officials is that Mississippi proportionately has more blacks than other states and because of aggressive enforcement of the Voting Rights Act," said Frank Parker, a white attorney who has led legal efforts to achieve black voter rights.

Research by the Joint Center for Political Studies in Washington shows Mississippi had 387 black elected officials for the 12-month period ending June 1980. Louisiana was second nationally with 363 black officeholders.

In addition, the center said Mississippi led the nation in an annual increase in black elected officials with 60 new officeholders.

Blacks note, however, that even with Mississippi's population being 35 percent black, the black elected officials make up only a very small percentage of the total number of such posts as justice of the peace, town alderman, county supervisor and mayor.

With the exception of 17 black legislators — among 174 in the state house — blacks hold county or local offices only in predominantly black areas. And all but two of the black legislators are "freshmen," first elected in 1979 after civil rights forces won an 11-year reapportionment battle to redraw legislative districts to increase black representation.

Nevertheless, Gov. William Winter and other state officials see the increase in black elected officials as a sign that Mississippi is coming of age in race relations.

"It would be very naive for me to say race is not a factor in Mississippi politics," Winter said. "But compared to where we were a few years ago, we've come light years in terms of political relationships and human resources."

"Other areas of the country can no longer single Mississippi out as a place where there is deprivation of civil rights," the governor added.

But Parker said he saw little to indicate Mississippi whites were willing to give blacks greater political clout without renewed pressure from the court system.

He noted that a sizable majority of legislators were white and, on the local level,

"only 10 percent of the 410 members of county boards of supervisors are black and only 10 percent of city council members are black."

State Rep. Aaron Henry, president of the state chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said a survey of black officeholders shows "blacks are voting for black candidates and whites are voting for white candidates."

Henry said the best way to get voters to base their choice on qualifications rather than race was for "black and white people to have complete access to each other."

Ally Mack, a political science professor at Jackson State University, agreed that blacks were being elected primarily because they ran in areas where black voters could muster sufficient strength to out-poll whites.

While there may have been an overt change in the attitude of some whites toward black officeholders, she said, whites generally were willing to accept only those black officials "who would go along to get along" and not rock the boat.

State Rep. Fred Banks, one of 15 blacks in the House, said it was "imperative to keep registering blacks to vote and to make sure we do not revert to some of the things that kept blacks from being elected in the past, including a return to at-large voting."

Parker and others noted there was a movement to toss out the requirement that the Justice Department approve Mississippi election law changes. Parker said such a move would lead to a dramatic drop in black of-officeholders.

Attorney General Bill Allain said, however, that with blacks in the Legislature and holding various appointive office in state government, "I don't think any law which discriminated against blacks would ever win approval in our state."

Allain said he agreed with the governor that Mississippi found perhaps the most famous eyeglasses in rock and roll history — they were considered part of Holly's image, much as was the long hair of The Beatles.

Also found in the envelope was a watch that belonged to the "Big Bopper." An inscription on the watch read "KTRM Champion Disc-A-Thon — 122 hours eight minutes — J.P. Richardson — 5-4-57."

February, 1979, 20 years after the plane crash. Even though it was more than 20 years ago, bits and pieces continue to surface.

Last year, Cerro Gordo County officials, in the process of cleaning out old court records, ran across an envelope marked: Charles Hardin Holly — recd. April 7, 1959. Also written on the package was "J.P. Richardson."

Inside the envelope were

Concert to Honor Buddy Holly

CLEAR LAKE, Iowa (AP) — His death immortalized in the song American Pie by Don McLean — the lyrics say "The day the music died" — and considered a rock and roll pioneer, the late Buddy Holly will be remembered in a special concert next month at the last place he appeared before his death.

Four people were killed in a plane crash five miles north of Clear Lake on Feb. 3, 1959. The wreckage was strewn over a farm field. It wasn't discovered that February morning until 9:30 a.m. The plane was last heard from at 1 a.m. shortly after takeoff.

Killed were entertainers Holly, 22, Ritchie Valens, 21, J.P. Richardson, 24, better known as the "Big Bopper," and the pilot of the aircraft, Roger Peterson, 23, of Clear Lake.

The three entertainers had just played the Surf Ballroom in Clear Lake the night before and were on their way to Fargo, N.D., for another appearance at Moorehead, Minn. Other members of the troupe were Dion and the Belmonts and Frankie Sardo and the Crickets, of which Holly was the singing star.

Most left Clear Lake by bus. But the stars had decided to fly because the heater in the bus was broken.

More than 2,000 people from across the country are expected to pack the Surf Ballroom Feb. 7 for "Tribute III: Buddy Holly Memorial Concert."

Among those to attend, according to the tribute organizer — Clear Lake radio station KZEV personality Darryl Hensley, "The Mad Hatter," — is Holly's widow, Maria. She will also attend the Feb. 6 "Mad Hatter's Tea Party," a back-to-the-'50s record hop with Bob Elefson with KZEV and Bill Griggs with Wethersfield, Conn., president of the Buddy Holly Memorial Society. She will also attend the Feb. 7 tribute concert, which will feature music by The Whitesidewalls, Dell Shannon, Carl Perkins, Cricket Nicki Sullivan and the Rocket 88s.

The Whitesidewalls, Shannon and Sullivan all performed at each of the three previous Buddy Holly tribute concerts.

The first Holly tribute concert was held at the Surf in 1980 First Yearly Decline Since the 1975 Recession

WASHINGTON (AP) — American business regained a bit of vigor in the final months of 1980 but not enough to keep the nation's economy from suffering its first yearly decline since the 1975 recession, the government says.

The real gross national product — the total value of goods and services, adjusted for inflation — dipped 0.1 percent in 1980, according to preliminary figures released Wednesday by the Commerce Department.

The economy grew at an annual rate of 5 percent in the final quarter, but the department's chief economist, Courtenay Slater, said she thought the rate would slacken in coming months.

"I think that's a reasonable expectation," she said, although she added that she is "a little doubtful" about some private economists' prediction of a new decline in real GNP.

The nation's GNP in 1979 rose 3.2 percent. The incoming Reagan administration has promised tax reduction, federal budget cuts and business deregulation, hoping to prod the economy into better performance while beating down inflation at the same time.

David Stockman, who will be President Reagan's budget director, told the National Press Club Wednesday that the administration hopes to present its economic program within three or four weeks.

"The budget consequences of a deteriorating economy are now beginning to take on a self-fulfilling proportion," Stockman said. "Our program will be one designed to jolt the economy. It will be a full-throttle, four-year plan in which there will be no equivocation." He gave no details.

Meanwhile, former Federal Reserve Chairman

Arthur Burns told a group of congressmen he "would think very carefully" before enacting tax cuts as big as Reagan has proposed. But he said Reagan should probably go ahead and press for them because backing down now would heighten public skepticism about the government.

Ms. Slater said the real GNP rose at an annual rate of 3.7 percent in the second half of last year, "restoring most, but not all, of the ground lost to the recession during the second quarter."

The year's slight decline, which could change when Wednesday's preliminary figures are revised next month, was not as deep as the 1.1 percent drop in 1975, the Commerce Department said.

Some women were there watching from a distance — Mary Magdalene, Mary (the mother of James the Younger and of Joseph), Salome, and others.

They and many other Galilean women who were His followers had ministered to Him when He was up in Galilee, and had come with Him to Jerusalem.

This all happened the day before the Sabbath, late that afternoon Joseph from Arimathea, an honored member of the Jewish Supreme Court (who personally was eagerly expecting the arrival of God's Kingdom), gathered his courage and went to Pilate and asked for Jesus' body.

Pilate couldn't believe that Jesus was already dead so he called for the Roman officer in charge and asked him. The officer confirmed the fact, and Pilate told Joseph he could have the body.

Joseph bought a long sheet of linen cloth and, taking Jesus' body down from the cross, wound it in the cloth and laid it in a rock-hewn tomb, and rolled a stone in front of the entrance.

(Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Joseph were watching as Jesus was laid away.)

THE HOT DOG VENDOR

There was a man who lived by the side of the road and sold hot dogs.

He sold very good hot dogs.

He put up signs along the highway and advertised in the newspaper telling how good they were.

He stood on the side of the road and cried:

"Buy a hot dog, Mister?"

And people bought.

He increased his meat and bun orders.

He bought a bigger stove to take care of his trade.

He finally got his son home from college to help him out.

But then something happened.

His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio and watching TV?"

There's a big depression.

The foreign situation is terrible.

The domestic situation is worse."

Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son's been to college, he listens to the radio and watches TV and he ought to know."

So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders, took down his signs and cancelled his newspaper ads and no longer bothered to stand out on the highway to sell his hot dogs.

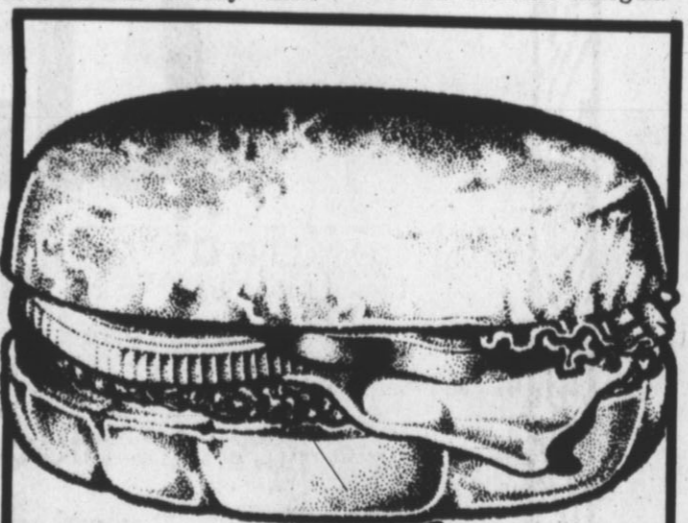

And his hot dog sales fell almost overnight.

"You're right, son" the father said to the boy.

"We certainly are in the middle of a great depression."

Whiteface Netters Open Season With Win

The Hereford Whiteface varsity boys' tennis squad knocked off a rivaling Canyon team 7-2 while the HHS girls' crew bombed its Eagle opponent 8-1 in order to stage a successful spring season debut in Canyon Monday.

The Whiteface netter unit, coming out of a layoff from fall competition, claimed easy dominance in both singles and doubles competition of the match.

In boy's singles play, Hereford five of six matches after Ramon Duncan canned Ted Barrett 6-3, 3-6, 6-1; Robert Castro clipped Alex Gwyn 6-3, 6-0; Danny Perez cinched straight set victories over Tom Johnston 6-4, 6-0; Eddy Lindeman edged out Mike Rush 2-6, 6-2, 6-2 and Mike Morgan beat Rex Hamilton.

The doubles team of Danny Perez-Lindeman fell 3-6, 3-6 to Tej Mariyappa-Barrett before Duncan-Castro defeated Gwyn-Johnston 6-7, 6-3, 6-3 and Garcia-Morgan beat Rush-Hamilton 6-1, 6-0.

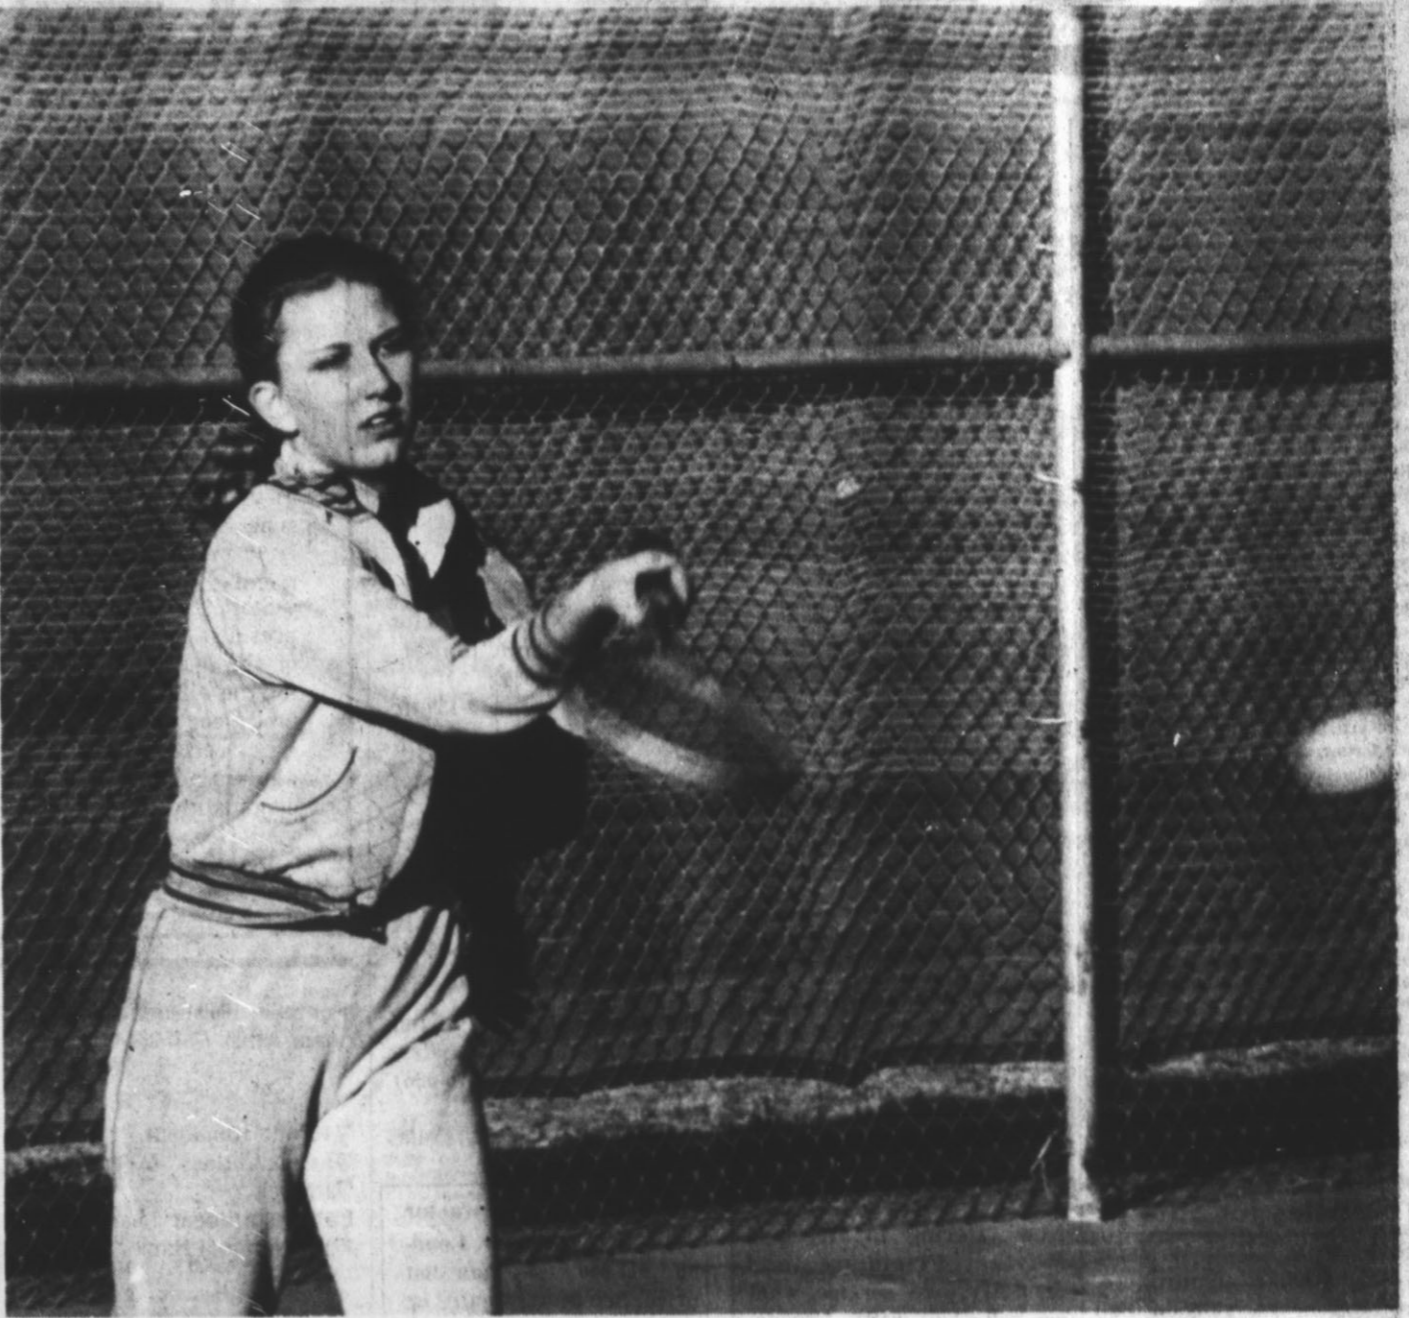

In girls' singles play, Hereford recorded wins in its top five positions.

Claire Montemayor defeated Angela White 6-3, 6-1; Lisa Snyder scuttled Sherry Cotton 7-6, 6-2; Carol Zinser creamed Missy Poavadore 6-1, 6-1; Kim Sims won over Beth Parker 6-4, 6-1 and Dolly Montemayor out-shot Becky Lacy 6-0, 6-0.

The HHS duo of Zinser-Snyder took a straight set win over Canyon's White-Cotton to lead the way for a clean sweep in girls' doubles competition.

Hereford sisters Montemayor-Montemayor followed that win with a 6-4, 6-2 victory over Palvadore-Parker before the team of Sims-Veigal won by default over Lacy-Favereau.

Returns Shot

Hereford's Carol Zinser returns a shot to her Canyon opponent Missy Polvadore in singles competition held between the two tennis clubs in Canyon Monday. Zinser won the match easily 6-1, 6-1 to help the Hereford girls' varsity net team overwhelm the Eagles 8-1 overall. The Monday match marked the opening of HHS tennis season. (Brand photo by Robert Cox)

Virginia Takes No.1 AP Ranking

Associated Press Virginia's Terry Holland says the difference between being No.1 and No.2 is the sausage. Oregon State's Ralph Miller would rather call it disappointment.

Virginia grabbed sole possession of the No.1 position in The Associated Press college basketball poll Monday, edging Oregon State by mere 10 points to end a one-week tie between the two teams for the top slot in the nation.

"The good thing about being No.1 is Jimmy Graves' home-made sausage," said Holland, referring to a gift he received from a local motel owner after being named No.1. "I doubt I would have gotten them if we were No.2."

Virginia, 18-0, collected 35 first-place votes and 1,212 of a possible 1,240 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Oregon State, 17-0, was tabbed No.1 on 26 ballots and received 1,202 points.

"It may hurt their (the players) feelings a little bit, but as far as affecting their lot in life and what they have to do, it makes no difference," said Miller after learning his team fell from the nation's No.1 position after a three-week stay.

Last week, Virginia and Oregon State each garnered 29 first-place votes and 1,147 points. Three poll members did not cast ballots last week. All 62 poll members voted this week.

Virginia downed then-No.6 Wake Forest 83-73 and whipped Duke 68-47 last week, while the Beavers defeated then-No.10 UCLA 81-67 and nipped Southern Cal 55-48 in games last week.

DePaul, Louisiana State and Arizona State retained the No.3 through five positions, respectively.

The Blue Demons, 18-1, collected 1,095 points after eking out a 54-50 victory over Illinois State and bombarding Syracuse 91-69. The Tigers got the final first-place vote and 1,076 points, while the Sun Devils received 944 points.

Kentucky, Utah and Wake Forest waged a close fight to the next three positions. The Wildcats moved up a notch into the No.6 slot with 830 points, while the Utes jumped two spots and are seventh this week with 812 points — six more than Wake Forest.

Notre Dame and Tennessee rounded out the Top 10. The Irish, who slipped a notch despite wins over Cornell and South Carolina, got 770 points. The Volunteers, victors over Georgia and Alabama, had 657.

North Carolina headed the Second 10. UCLA was 12th followed by Maryland, Michigan, Iowa, Brigham Young, Indiana, Illinois, Wichita State and South Alabama.

Last week the Second 10 was Tennessee, North Carolina, Iowa, Maryland, Brigham Young, South Alabama, Michigan, Kansas, Minnesota and Connecticut.

Indiana and Illinois returned to the Top 20 this week, while Wichita State is making its first appearance. Kansas, Minnesota and Connecticut, the Nos. 18, 19 and 20 teams last week, all fell.

Whitefaces Square Off Against LHS

Both the Hereford boys' and girls' basketball teams will pair off against opposing Lubbock High Westerner teams here tonight in the La Plata Gymnasium as the 1980-81 cage season makes a turn into the last phases of competition.

Both clubs will have completed nearly all play by the end of February. The girls' squad will finish the regular season here February 17 against the Plainview Doggies, and the boys' squad is scheduled to meet Lubbock Monterey here February 24 before the District 4-5A Tournament March 4-6.

The boys' team, now 3-21 in season play and 0-2 in district play, will meet the Westerners (11-13 overall — 0-2 in loop play) tonight at 7:30 p.m. while the HHS girls' team (sporting a 21-3 season ledger and finishing 2-2 in first-half competition) opens second-half league play against Lubbock at 6 p.m. The Westerner girls fell to a 0-4 mark in first-half contention and have slipped to a lackluster 5-17 mark on the season.

The Whiteface boys' and girls' junior varsity will meet their respective Lubbock opponents at 4:15 today in the La Plata Gym and Hereford High School Gym.

Notre Dame, UCLA Renew Rivalry

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Devotees of Notre Dame basketball can attest to it. There's nothing like UCLA to get the juices flowing.

"It's a matter of revenge against UCLA," 6-foot-6 Notre Dame forward Kelly Tripucka said of the Fighting Irish's nationally televised rematch at home against the Bruins this Saturday.

Tripucka, his teammates and Coach Digger Phelps have bitter memories of their season-opening loss at UCLA. A 94-81 drubbing that Tripucka says is no longer indicative of the teams' relative talents.

"We're a completely different team now," says Tripucka, who scored a game-high 20 points Monday night in leading the ninth-ranked Irish over St. Mary's, Calif., 94-63.

"Our execution is totally better. We know ourselves now," Tripucka said.

Tripucka scored his points in only 25 minutes of play against the outmanned Gaels as Phelps used every player on his roster, including 5-10 guard Marc Kelly, who scored the last minute.

"While we were trying to get a lot of mileage out of our bench, we're also trying to rest some others, like Tripucka, (Orlando Woolridge, (Tracy) Jackson and (John) Paxson," Phelps said. "Woolridge is still fighting a cold."

Woolridge, a 6-foot-9 senior forward, scored 12 points in 23 minutes of play, while Jackson and reserve Bill Varner had 10 points each to help Notre Dame raise its record to 15-3.

Jackson, Phelps' shooting guard, was asked about the UCLA rivalry, and he reminded reporters that the Irish still had a game Wednesday with La Salle, which lost a close one, 69-62, to third-ranked DePaul last week at Philadelphia.

Notre Dame led St. Mary's by 10 at halftime, 44-34. The Irish stretched that lead to 22 by outscoring the Gaels 16-2 over a three-minute span, a burst capped by Tripucka's two foul shots that gave Notre Dame a 64-42 lead with 12:57 left.

David Vann, a junior guard, was the leading scorer for St. Mary's, now 7-12, with 14 points, including six in an 8-4 uprising that gave the Gaels their final lead of the game, 18-16, with 10:58 remaining in the first half.

YOU AUTO KNOW By Don

Q. The main thing I worry about when on the road is a cooling system problem. I've had a few over the years. Are there any good tips to help one through a "hot water" crisis?

A. Yes. First, stash away a few items in your trunk like an extra radiator cap, fan belt, a can of sealant, some duct tape, possibly even some extra hoses, some tools to do the job and a gallon of water. Now, if you get stuck in traffic and overheated, particularly on a hot day, turn on the heater. It'll be uncomfortable but you'll get home. Use the duct tape to stop small hose leaks, the sealant for small radiator leaks. If you do spring a leak and lose most of your coolant, that extra gallon of water probably won't fill the system but it'll get you to where you can, BUT don't add cold water to an overheated engine. Wait for the engine to cool down, make your spot repair, add water and go.
