

The Hereford Brand

TUESDAYS—TWICE-A-WEEK—FRIDAYS

3RD YEAR, NO. 53

HEREFORD, DEAF SMITH COUNTY, TEXAS, TUESDAY, JULY 24, 1923.

WAKE UP!
While in Hereford Monday with Congressman Marvin Jones, Professor Ben Short, former superintendent of the Hereford schools, said:
"If you folks in Deaf Smith county don't take all the blue ribbons at the Amarillo Tri-State Fair this fall, it will be because you do not go to the trouble of bringing what you have to the Fair. In all my rounds I have not found another county with as fine fruit and general crop conditions as prevail here, and you ought to make a whale of a showing at the Fair."
Prof. Short spoke the cold truth and Hereford can do nothing better this year in the way of telling the world what her resources are than to get in behind J. E. Bray who is working to gather this exhibit and help him get together every good sample of every kind of crop grown here this year.
Exhibits which may come from across the county line in Castro, Parmer or Oldham counties will be properly labeled by counties and owners, and there will be no sponging on the other fellow's premises.
Kick in and help out in this vital matter. If you have anything good telephone Mr. Bray, or The Brand, and it will be called for promptly.

WEED NUISANCE
The Brand believes there is one city ordinance that should be enforced without fear or favor, and that is the weed ordinance. The Mayor has issued a proclamation, appealing to the people's civic pride to clean up, and many good-property owners have complied with the request. But there are spots around this man's town, and some of them in the heart of the business district, that are a disgrace to the city, and should not be allowed.
We believe the time for persuasion has passed and that the time for direct action is slipping past swiftly. And we also believe the big majority of the people will applaud action by the City Commission enforcing this weed ordinance to the letter.

THE CAMP GROUND
Recently complaints reached the Chamber of Commerce that the Tourist Camp Ground was insanitary and that tourists were passing it up. An inspection was made immediately by representatives of the City and the Chamber of Commerce, and the fact developed that while a private family would undoubtedly keep the place cleaner, still, considering the uses to which it is put and the conglomerate character of the users, it is in fairly good condition and serving the purpose for which it is intended. The city's cleanup wagons are looking after the camp more closely than formerly, some minor repairing has been done, and in all probability the building will be repainted inside at once.
The object of such a camp in a town like this is to fill an emergency for the tourists. The primary object is not to supply up to the minute hotel accommodations. The larger part of the tourists appreciate this and do not demand hotel accommodations. Occasionally a man comes through with long range sights who wants hardwood floors, running ice water and bell-hop service, apparently.
There are extremists on the road as well as in town, apparently. But they do serve a good purpose in that they force a keener watch upon the service of the Tourist Camp and prevent a carelessness that might result in unhealthful and unpleasant conditions.

Cotton is Blooming and Forming Squares Rapidly
Cotton is blooming and forming squares, says D. Y. Edwards, who has a cotton patch only half a mile northwest of Hereford. Mr. Edwards and H. B. Hunter have thirty-five acres of cotton that stands on an average of twenty to twenty-four inches with the blooms and the squares coming on thick and fast. Mr. Edwards says he has a prospect now of making a half bale to the acre and that they planted two varieties, the Mebane and the Acala.

JONES MAKES ADDRESS TO GOOD CROWD

CONGRESSMAN LANDS ON REPUBLICANS AND TARIFF LOOKS AT WELLS

Marvin Jones, congressman for fifty-three Panhandle counties, held the close attention of a generous-sized audience in the district court room Monday night in a discussion of the political issues of the day. Mr. Jones was brought here by Prof. Ben Short, former superintendent of the Hereford schools, and was met by a reception committee from the Chamber of Commerce, consisting of Mayor Knight, J. E. Hill, W. E. Dameron and G. A. F. Parker. Before supper the visitors were shown the McDonald Irrigation wells in action and also the Hereford Nursery, and Mr. Jones continually referred to both demonstrations of what Hereford has to show her world during his private conversations as well as in his speech at night. The visitors were entertained at dinner by the committee at the Cordova Hotel.

Mr. Jones was introduced by the Mayor in a brief address. After commenting upon the amazing water supply here and the abundant fruit crop in evidence Mr. Jones launched into a discussion of the fundamentals and underlying principles of the finest government in the world. He said that at the last session of congress provision had been made for putting the original copies of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States in the national library at Washington to be preserved for future generations to actually see. He emphasized the character of the Panhandle citizenship and expressed his gratification at serving a section with such an overwhelming preponderance of undiluted American blood. He said this government had its troubles and tribulations but would come through by the sterling quality of its citizens as a whole, in spite of the pessimists. Illustrating how pessimistic some people could be he told a story about the man who never saw the bright side of anything. Even when heavy rain clouds gathered overhead and the drought appeared to be surely broken this man said: "Aw, they are only empties coming back from Missouri!"

He declared that the legislative machinery of any country grows to fit the people it is designed to serve and for that reason he had an abiding faith in the future of this country. He contrasted the Russian idealistic attempt to abolish poverty with the American achievements and said they could not skip a hiatus of a thousand years and attain the ideal.
The speaker, however, warned against some things that threatened the peace and security of the nation. He said he voted for the three percent emigration law now in effect and would vote for a law shutting off emigration entirely, except for students in our schools, for a period of years. The American ideals were threatened by the flood of foreigners without a sense of the patriotism necessary to maintain them. Another danger is the indifference of the people to their governmental affairs and their apparent willingness to take everything to the federal government. He illustrated this indifference with the story of a dandy who asked the meaning of the word, "patriotism." "Why, Sambo," said his white instructor, "patriotism means love of your country. Wouldn't you be willing to die for your country, if necessary?" Sambo scratched his head and then replied: "Well, Boss, I've been hanging around town so much lately I don't know much about the country!"

The Republicans came in for a vigorous though good natured peppering by the speaker. He stated that figures showed the majority and dominating number of Republicans resided in sections where manufacturing and industrial enterprises abounded while the majority and dominating number of Democrats hail from the agricultural sections of the country. Therefore, he said, he could not understand how there could be any Republicans in this country. He explained that with the Republicans in charge of the legislative machinery of the nation for so many years, the bulk of laws passed were in favor of the eastern manufacturing and industrial sections while the agricultural sections had been neglected. He vigorously attacked the tariff policy of the Republicans, stating that when this nation was young a protective tariff was probably a good thing but that now when the United States was so powerful, and had nearly all the money in the world, such a policy merely built up the manufacturing and industrial enterprises of the east at the expense of the farmers of the south and west. The pre-election promises of the Republicans have not been kept to any extent, he declared, while there is no foreign policy at all, which condition prevents the securing of foreign markets for the American farmers' products. He said President Harding started his recent tour of the country in fine style but after reaching the West he was asked so many embarrassing questions by the farmers that he could not answer that he got cold feet and went to Alaska to get them warmed up. In fact, said Mr. Jones, the Republicans have made such a mess of things that if they don't look out they will be in the position of the Marines in another negro story he recounted, "A general order was issued at the front one day in France," said the speaker, "directing 2,000 negro troops to go over the top at daybreak next day, and to be supported by 6,000 Marines. A negro private, after finally digesting the meaning of this order, predicted to his Captain that the next day's bulletin would contain the news that 6,000 Marines had been tromped to death."

Another Birthday for John D.

Attending regular services at the community church near his home at Tarrytown, N. Y., John D. Rockefeller observed his 84th birthday July 8. The founder of Standard Oil Co. and now one of the world's richest men, was very gracious to newspaper men.

Mr. Jones' discourse throughout was punctuated with witty sallies and occasional old fashioned Red, White and Blue political oratory seldom heard these days. The house gradually filled up as he began and was filled to capacity before long. A count showed that there were more ladies than men present. The address was well received and the speaker applauded throughout. After the address he shook hands with practically everybody in the audience. Messrs. Jones and Short returned overland to Amarillo after the speaking.

COMMITTEE IS AWAY AFTER COTTON GIN

OBERTHIER AND PARKER WENT TO OKLAHOMA TUESDAY

BONUS IS RAISED

Will be Used in Effecting a Trade of Some Kind For Adequate Gin

A big stride forward toward a cotton gin for Hereford was made at Monday's luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce at the City Cafe when two or three definite propositions were picked out of a mass of offers received and the cotton committee was instructed to tighten up and rush the gin proposition. On motion of the cotton committee, G. A. F. Parker and F. H. Oberthier were appointed a committee to visit Oklahoma at once and inspect a gin and confer with the owners. These two gentlemen left on Tuesday morning's train.
L. Baskin reported for a committee consisting of himself and D. L. McDonald, who inspected nearly 1,000 acres of cotton last week. The report was very favorable and everything heard at the table was to the effect that while late the cotton hereabouts is thriving and promising.

C. A. Skelton reported that his committee had raised a total of $2,302.99 for a bonus for a gin and believed that $2,500 could be reached. The remainder of the session was devoted to a discussion of the various propositions made for a gin and details of how to run each one down and find out what was in it arranged. Several telegrams and letters followed the meeting and there is no question now but that a gin will be forthcoming soon.
There was a good sized crowd out Monday. Next week the luncheon will be held at the Cordova Hotel and the committee now in Oklahoma will undoubtedly have some interesting data to submit.

Robs Calomel of Nausea and Danger
 Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved—Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed. Perfected Tablet Called "Calotabs".
 The latest triumph of modern science is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs". Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines, long enjoyed a wider field of popularity—purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use.
 In biliousness, constipation, headaches and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger.
 Calotabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large family package, ten cents for the small, trial size. Your druggist is authorized to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)

Swimming at Soda Lake is unusually fine this summer. Because of the

The party arrived at the Lake about six o'clock which gave them plenty of time for a good swim before the water became cool. After the swim everyone was more than ready for the fried chicken, bread and butter sandwiches, fruit and cake that awaited them. Soon after the lunch was eaten the mosquitoes began to entertain the crowd and they soon decided it was time to leave.

Then delicious refreshments of sandwiches, cake and punch were served. After the refreshments, games were played. The party broke up about ten o'clock, the boys declaring the girls to be delightful best-esses. The young folks were accompanied by Mrs. G. R. Linville, J. L. Hinson, E. R. Hewitt and Miss Ethel Cunningham.

Mary Jean Hall, who fell and sprained her knee while at Soda Lake Thursday evening is now improving.

poem by UNCLE JOHN

Smith has got a souper-six, and Jones has got an eight; Brownson keeps a four-seater a-standin' by his gate. Biggs has got a toudrin' coup, an' Baggs has got a truck, — Jefferson sez the 'lectric is the finest job he's struck. The butcher drives a roadsterette, that's OUR HOSSLESS playin' hell with gas; The grocer drives a limousine that chokes ye, as they pass! The barber puts his surplus in a seven-seater bus. O, everybody's got a boat, and that's includin' us! Granny steers her chummy car with doors of bevel plate. Baby wants a winter-Ford—he'll have it, sure as fate! Sister—she's the suffragette—that lives on rubber tires—bound to have an auto-bearse, the minnit she expires! Makes a feller figger like he never done before—what we might amount to, if we weren't so beastly poor!
