

Smiths Cited as State's Top Conservationists

John A. and Mike Smith, a father and son farming team in the Ford area of Deaf Smith County have been honored by the Texas Outdoor Writers Association as Texas' Citizen Conservationists of the Year.

The local men were awarded the honor in recognition of outstanding wildlife management and conservation work on their farm near Ford.

The award came following a vote of outdoor editors and outdoor media representatives from throughout the state who make up the membership of the TOWA.

The award was announced during the recent TOWA convention in Austin.

A plaque in recognition of the achievement by the county farmers was presented to the two men during a dinner gathering of members of the Hereford Ducks Unlimited committee, local sportsmen and area wildlife officials at K-Bob's Restaurant here last night.

The TOWA annually honors citizen sportsmen who have upheld the highest ideals of the TOWA and who make significant contributions to the conservation of the state's natural heritage.

The Smiths were the first residents of the Deaf Smith County area to be so honored by the state association of outdoor communicators.

Nominated for the honor by Jim Steiert, Brand outdoors editor, the Smiths were singled out for their work with migratory waterfowl and native pheasants.

The Smiths operate some 1,300 acres of farmland near Ford with 1,100 acres under cultivation, and have farmed southwest of the Ford community since 1959.

Their farm includes a 60-acre playa lake which serves as a major wintering area for geese and ducks in the Panhandle.

In 1968 the Smiths began working to make the playa and their own fields surrounding the lake a refuge-type area for waterfowl during the winter months.

Access to the lake was closed in 1968 and the father and son team began working with waterfowl at a particularly crucial time as the Buffalo Lake Wildlife Refuge at Umbarger dried up, leaving many waterfowl without a suitable wintering area.

Thousands of geese that had been wintering on Buffalo Lake fanned out and many apparently found an alternate wintering area on the Smith farm.

The Smith farm has wintered a peak population of as many as 40,000 geese on the privately-owned lake, including short grass prairie Canada Geese, lesser snow geese, whitefronts, blues and Ross' geese, as well as mallard and pintail ducks.

The farming family has seen their lake host an average population of from 20,000 to 40,000 geese during recent winters.

Residues left on the land following harvesting operations provide much of the feed for the geese wintering on the Smith farm and the Smiths also manage the water in their playa lake to avoid problems with avian botulism and fowl cholera.

Hunting at the Smith farm is on a permission basis only, and hunters are instructed to set up in fields away from the lake in order to maintain the refuge status of the playa.

The Smiths have worked with the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department in waterfowl matters since 1974 and have also worked with the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service to conduct waterfowl banding activities.

In addition to their own private wildlife work, the Smiths are supporters of Ducks Unlimited, Inc. and Mike served as co-chairman for Hereford's first Ducks Unlimited banquet in November of 1980.

Along with waterfowl, the Smith farm provides a haven for bald and golden eagles migrating through the Panhandle in the wake of flights of waterfowl and the father and son team has also managed their farmland to enhance its pheasant production.

In addition to the Smiths, the TOWA honored Ted Clark, director of the wildlife division of the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department as its professional conservationist of the year.

Award ceremonies at the recent TOWA convention included the presentation of "Craftsmanship Awards" to active members of the TOWA.

Brand Outdoors Editor Jim Steiert received a third place award in the editorial division of the contest for an item concerning the management of the Texas deer herd in his outdoors column "The Sportsman's Den."

The award cited Steiert for "exhibiting the highest professional standards in the effective dissemination of facts relative to the conservation and restoration of natural resources of Texas."

Among those attending last night's dinner and award ceremony were Bill Bradley, Jim Clarke, James Higgins, A.T. Griffin, Dr. A.T. Mims and Steiert.

Citizen Conservationists

Mike Smith, left, and John A. Smith, right, were presented with this plaque from the Texas Outdoor Writers Association last night by Jim Steiert, Brand outdoors editor in recognition of their election by the TOWA membership as Texas' citizen-sportsman conservationists of the year during a gathering of the Hereford Ducks Unlimited committee at K-Bob's Steak House last night. The father and son farmers were nominated for the award by Steiert and received the nod from some 103 outdoor communicators from across the state in recognition of their ongoing work with migratory waterfowl and native pheasants on their farm near the Ford community. The TOWA award cited the Smiths "for upholding the highest ideals of the organization and for significant contributions to the conservation of our natural heritage in Texas." (Photo by Bill Bradley)

Utility, Health Costs Lowest in State Here

While Hereford residents may feel that utilities are taking an ever-increasing chunk of the family paycheck, a report released by the Chamber of Commerce yesterday show that utility costs in Hereford are the lowest in the state.

A report prepared by the American Chamber of Commerce Researchers shows that among 28 participating Texas cities, utility costs for Hereford run almost 20 percent below the national average.

Health care costs in Hereford also run well below the national average and are again the lowest in the state at 84.7 percent of the national norm.

Hereford residents do pay higher prices for grocery items than most other Texas cities—Hereford prices are listed at 102.4 percent of the national norm.

Prices for transportation are also higher than the national average at 100.8 percent, but the higher figure is due to gasoline prices, the report shows.

In housing, the chamber determines average monthly payments for an 1,800 square foot home for a 25-year first mortgage with a 25 percent down payment. Rents are also included in the study. Chamber figures show average monthly payments on a two-bedroom unfurnished apartment including water bills are $290.

Utility costs are figured on the basis of a $40.10 electric bill and $30 per month for other energy plus a $7.15 per month telephone service charge.

Health care costs were based on a semi-private hospital room, $77 per day; an office visit to a general practitioner at $14; and costs for routine inspection and teeth cleaning at a dentist's office for $20.

Grocery averages were taken from a survey of local stores on 25 items including eggs, T-bone steaks, fresh produce and sugar.

Miscellaneous goods and services cost Hereford residents only 94.5 percent of the national average and include costs of a man's haircut, dry cleaning and entertainment.

Housing in Hereford also dipped below national averages at only 91.4 percent. Housing costs for the city are also lower than many others surveyed.

Millions of Americans to Feel Squeeze from Budget Cutbacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — From auto workers to artists, millions of Americans are sure to feel the pinch if the Reagan administration squeezes billions of dollars out of the federal budget.

Students, pensioners, welfare recipients, farmers, children, rural residents, urban dwellers and businesses, too, would be affected directly by the spending cutbacks under consideration.

President Reagan's budget office is proposing cutbacks in dozens of social programs that provide cash payments, loans or other assistance to a sizeable share of the nation's low and moderate-income families.

Among the administration's largest targets for reductions are the food stamp program, which serves more than 22 million people; child nutrition, which helps feed 27 million; Medicaid, which provides health care to 24 million poor people; and Social Security disability payments, which assist nearly 5 million workers or dependents. In addition, farmers would be affected by proposed reductions in price support programs. Thousands of rural homeowners would have to pay higher mortgages if cuts are made in the Farmers Home Administration's low-interest housing loan program. Proposed cuts in federal support for the arts and humanities could mean fewer jobs for artists.

Here are some other examples of how people would be affected by 1982 program reductions under consideration by the administration and Congress:

—Social Security: The administration is talking about eliminating or phasing out the minimum monthly retirement payment, the $255 death benefit and survivor benefits to college-age students. An estimated 2.1 million retirees now receive the minimum payment of $122, regardless of their contributions, and most would see their benefits cut in half. Elimination of the death benefit would affect an estimated 1.3 million surviving family members and 734,000 college students would see their benefits phased out.

—Student loans: The number of college students taking out low-interest subsidized loans from the government has tripled since 1978, when Congress opened the program to anyone regardless of their family income level. For 1982, some 3.4 million students are expected to borrow money at a cost of $2.9 billion to the government, but the Reagan administration hopes to reduce the number by asking Congress to reimpose income eligibility requirements.

—Extended unemployment: Almost 700,000 jobless Americans are receiving extended benefits. Fewer people would be able to collect the additional pay under proposed changes in the way the program is triggered nationally.

—Trade Adjustment Assistance: More than 300,000 workers who lost their jobs because of import competition, primarily in the auto

Drink Tax Rebate Will Total $1,823

Rebates totalling $1,823.65 will be returned to the area from the sale of mixed drinks during 1980, state comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday.

Nearly $1 billion of mixed drinks were sold in 1980, and sales during the final quarter of the year reached $25.4 million.

Bullock said his office is sending Texas counties and cities more than $7.3 million in rebates from the mixed drink tax for the fourth quarter of 1980.

Deaf Smith County's 15 percent rebate of the 10 percent gross receipts tax charged on mixed drinks is $1026.14 and the city of Hereford will receive $797.51. The state will pocket more than $18 million from mixed drink taxes from the October, November and December period.

During 1980, the state's share of mixed drink taxes totaled $67.7 million. City-county rebates to 213 counties and 367 cities totaled $27.7 million.

The tax, which was authorized under the law that legalized the sale of mixed drinks in Texas, is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission and rebates are sent quarterly to cities and counties by the Comptroller.

Volunteers, Tight Budget Tell Story of Meals on Wheels

By ALLISON RYAN
Women's Editor

Since 1972, a group of volunteers have delivered hot meals to elderly or disabled people in Hereford as a service with no profit involved.

The organization, Meals-on-Wheels, has survived the high cost of food and gas and fought winter weather to deliver the needed meals.

However, as Mrs. O.C. Curtsinger, director and founder of the organization sees it, there would be no Meals-on-Wheels without the people of the community.

"The important thing to me is that the people of the community realize this, and I am truly grateful for the support both financially and from those who deliver the meals," Mrs. Curtsinger said.

Meals-on-Wheels is not sponsored by any organization nor does it receive funds from the state or federal government. It depends on donations from the community and volunteer workers.

Last year, 6,755 meals were served to people in Hereford at a cost of $10,132.50. According to Mrs. Curtsinger, the program cost about $1,000 per month to operate.

"We received $6,809.66 from the community and $4,000 from the Jim Hill Estate. If we had not received the Hill donation we would not have made it through 1980," she said.

Meals-on-Wheels depends on several organizations to deliver the meals. The delivery process involves four people in two routes beginning at 11 a.m. each morning, Monday through Friday.

Drivers include people from the Avenue Baptist, First United Methodist, Temple Baptist, First Baptist and the F. St. Christian churches. Each church is responsible for one week of the month.

The only paid worker is Rita Cole. Mrs. Cole is responsible for cleaning the kitchen and packing the meals for delivery. She receives $5 per day.

Menus are prepared by a registered dietician, Mrs. Johnny Davis, who has been with the program for three years. She and her granddaughter assist Mrs. Cole in cleaning the kitchen and packing meals.

"Mrs. Davis is paid minimum wage for 20 hours a week by Green Thumb which is a branch of Texas Employment for Retired Senior Citizens. She works more than 20 hours a week," Mrs. Curtsinger explained.

"Mrs. Davis is coordinating the program now as well as preparing the meals. I don't know how I could have

As the coordinator, Mrs. Davis visits those who receive the meals and checks to make sure the program is not abused.

Meals-on-Wheels cost is $1.50 per meal, but recipients are asked to pay only if they are able to do so.

"Recipients of the meals paid $2,630.50 last year. Some pay 25 cents a day while most pay nothing. I feel some few are deliberately abusing the program as not even five percent ever pay the full $1.50 per meal," Mrs. Curtsinger stated.

However, without a full time coordinator it is not always possible to keep a close watch on who receives the meals, she explained.

On the average, about 25 to 30 people receive meals each day. Those who receive the meals are elderly people who live alone, individuals who may have a physical illness or handicap or persons who have been dismissed from the hospital and are not strong enough to prepare themselves a meal.

"We also prepare meals for those who require a special diet such as diabetics if they have no one to help them," Mrs. Curtsinger said.

Mrs. Curtsinger was recently honored with the 1980 Chamber of Commerce Bull Chip Award for her work with the Meals-on-Wheels program.

"I was overwhelmed, but it should have been given to Mrs. Davis or to the drivers, for they deserve it. It should have been awarded to everyone who has so faithfully supported Meals-on-Wheels," she continued.

In Mrs. Curtsinger's opinion, the financial support has been good, but not enough.

In fact, this year's funds were so low, she could not afford to buy postage stamps to send thank you notes to those

Garwood Awaits

Outcome of Trial

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. (AP) — Marine Pfc. Robert Garwood, who returned to the United States unable to speak English without an accent, waits outside a courtroom today to learn whether a military jury will convict or acquit him of collaboration charges stemming from 14 years in Vietnam.

A jury of five officers told a military court Wednesday it has "a lot more deliberation" ahead before deciding the fate of the only American prisoner of war to be tried for alleged collaboration with the enemy in Vietnam.

The jurors met for about five hours Wednesday. Before recessing for the day, senior juror Lt. Col. Abramo L. Vallese requested transcripts of testimony from two former POWs and an Air Force psychiatrist.

"We have a lot more deliberation," Vallese said.

Garwood, 34, is charged with five specific instances of collaboration and one count of maltreatment of another POW. A conviction on either count could result in life imprisonment and forfeiture of some $147,000 in pay that accrued during his stay in Vietnam.

The jurors, all Vietnam veterans, also have the option of reducing the maltreatment charge, which alleges Garwood struck former Army Pvt. David N. Harker in the ribs, to assault, which carries a maximum penalty of six months in prison.

Lawyers Trying

To Block Court Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government lawyers are trying to block a court order directing them to make public Internal Revenue Service data they say could provide a road map for cheating on federal income taxes.

IRS officials say complying with the order might cost the government millions in lost taxes and extra auditing expenses by revealing what tax return items are likely to trigger an audit.

But Stephen Strong, attorney for a husband and wife who sued to get the data under the Freedom of Information Act, says those fears are baseless. And he says the IRS is trying to conceal information that might undermine its budget requests because it wants to "have more auditors and build its empire."

After nearly six years of litigation in two lawsuits, one of which went to the Supreme Court, U.S. District Judge Walter T. McGovern in Seattle has ordered the government to turn over computer tapes Friday to Susan and Philip Long.

Hiring Freeze

Threatens Jobs

MISSION, Texas (AP) — Doing a job well may prove to be the undoing of 280 government employees caught in an employment squeeze by President Reagan's freeze on federal hiring.

Workers at the U.S. Agriculture Department's screwworm laboratory here have been so successful in their efforts to eradicate the livestock pest that both the program and their jobs will end March 6.

USDA placement officer John Nichols said 280 of the 325 employees at the lab, which raised sterile screwworm flies for introduction in infested areas in Mexico and the southwestern United States, still have not found new jobs.

Anticipating the phaseout of the program, the laboratory has gradually released employees over the last several months. But the hiring freeze has hampered efforts to relocate the workers.

Ten had accepted positions with other federal agencies, but Reagan's hiring freeze took effect before they reported for their new duties, Nichols said.

Under the freeze, the USDA is the only federal department to which screwworm employees may transfer, he said.

By introducing the sterile flies in infested areas, the laboratory has been so successful at disrupting the reproductive cycle of the screwworm that the pest has been eradicated effectively in the United States, USDA officials said.

The pest harms livestock by laying eggs in open wounds and draining an animal's strength.

4 Die From

Meningitis Outbreak

HOUSTON (AP) — Four people have died and 27 others are under doctor's care from an outbreak of meningitis here, but one local health official said authorities are "not alarmed yet" at the situation.

Dr. Ralph D. Feigin, chairman of pediatrics at the Baylor medical school, said, "There have been at least 27 confirmed or probable cases" of meningococcal meningitis in January and the first few days of February, and said he and his colleagues are "concerned, but not alarmed yet."

Dr. Robert MacLean, deputy director of the Houston health department, said he has been told of at least 30 verified or suspected cases since January 1, six of them in the same class at Dodson Elementary School in a mostly black section of the city's south side.

State Health Department spokesman Justus Baird said a 12-year-old boy, a 4-year-old boy, a 2-year-old girl and a 20-year-old woman had died of the disease.

Feigin and Baird would not name the victims, but Feigin did say the 12-year-old, who died last week at Texas Children's Hospital, was a student at Dodson.

A Houston Independent School District spokesman said arrangements had been made to test all Dodson pupils and their families.

The last outbreak of meningitis in Houston was in early 1978, when health officials reported 12 cases and four deaths.

The Houston Independent School District said it had arranged to have tests run on all Dodson pupils and their parents.

Meningitis is an inflammation of the membranes covering the brain and spinal cord, caused by bacteria or viruses.

Grisly Details Unravel During Trial in 'Freeway Killer' Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Southern Californians, inured to the horror of mass murder by the likes of Charles Manson, have been shocked anew by a grisly case now snaking its tangled way through the courts.

It is called "the Freeway Killer case," and the gruesome details unfolding daily involve homosexuality, black magic and demonic tortures of perhaps 44 victims.

The dead were young men and boys, mostly in their teens, whose mutilated bodies were dumped along or near the maze of high-speed freeways that criss-cross this vast urban sprawl.

The prime suspect, charged with 14 of the slayings, is a 34-year-old truckdriver and Vietnam veteran named William Bonin, a twice paroled sex offender whose sexual problems reportedly date back to the age of 10.

He has been described by a prosecutor as "the most arch-evil person who ever existed."

An informant told police that Bonin once said he liked to strangle teenage boys on Friday and Saturday nights so he could have Sundays free to take his girlfriend roller skating.

Three young men, one of them said to be possibly retarded, have been charged as Bonin's accomplices in murder.

A fifth defendant, Vernon

Butts, 23, who confessed his role in some of the killings, was found dead in his jail cell last month, an apparent suicide.

Butts had dabbled in the occult and kept two coffins in his home. In a detailed confession he called the murder spree "a good little nightmare."

The boyish Butts, who was said to have become despondent when his confession was made public, claimed he never killed any victims but rather held down the screaming youths while Bonin tortured and strangled them.

Butts gave a chilling account of Bonin's search for victims as he cruised Southern California in a green van, picking up hitchhikers or offering rides to youngsters waiting for buses.

One 12-year-old victim disappeared while waiting for a bus to Disneyland.

Butts told of Bonin's grotesque torture methods — using an ice pick and a coat hanger before he strangled the young men with their own T-shirts.

In one case, Butts recalled how he and Bonin left a movie and picked up a hitchhiker "somewhere in the middle of the city."

"We picked up the boy, took him out to the middle of nowhere and had sex with him and then he (Bonin) killed him," Butts said. "Bill (Bonin) said he loved those sounds of screams."

Of his own role in the killings, Butts said, "After the first one I couldn't do anything about it."

Bonin, he explained, had "a hypnotic way" about him that led the younger man to follow.

Others are said to have followed, too. Three men charged in the case are James Munro, 19, who once worked with Bonin; Gregory Miley, 19, whose family says he is retarded, and William Ray Pugh, 18, a sandy-haired man with braces on his teeth. Pugh first led the police to Bonin.

"We know that Bonin had his group and they did not act independently of him," said one law enforcement official, who asked not to be identified.

"In the cases of Butts, Munro and Miley, all came from broken homes with no strong father identification. Bonin became the father. He gave them love," the official said.

Authorities have also speculated that some young men helped Bonin because they feared they might be his next victims if they objected.

Before he died, Butts linked Bonin to 21 of the freeway killings — a series of similar murders which began in 1972.

Bodies have been found on or near freeways in Los Angeles, Riverside, Orange, San Bernardino and Kern counties, but investigators say all 44 deaths may not be part of the same case. Bonin was in custody during the earlier killings. He was released in October 1978. The 14 murders with which he is charged date from May 1979 to May 1980.

Bonin is scheduled for trial May 4. His prosecutor will be veteran Deputy District Attorney Aaron Stovitz, who participated in the prosecution of Manson in the Tate-LaBianca murders of 1969.

Stovitz, who says he once thought the murders of Sharon Tate and six others was "the most horrible thing we would ever see," shakes his head in contemplating the increase in multiple murders. "Is there a lesson to be learned from this case? Yes," he said, "I would tell kids: 'Don't accept rides from strangers, either hitchhiking or gratuitous offers — be they from girls, boys or in between.'"

"And I would tell parents: 'Let your sons and daughters see the pictures of these murdered children.'"

Jr. High Break-In Investigated

Police investigated a break-in at Stanton Jr. High that occurred between 6:30 p.m. Tuesday and 7:15 a.m. Wednesday.

Three vending machines were broken into, and police said probably the only thing taken was small change.

The main office of the school was also ransacked, but school officials could find nothing missing.

No point of entry was found, and police said they believe that the burglar may have been locked up in the building.

Police also investigated a complaint of a vehicle passing a school bus unloading children at an elementary school.

Apparently this has been going on for several days, and police officers said passing a school bus while its emergency flashers are on is prohibited.

Police are still investigating the case. Police issued 12 citations yesterday.

Congressman Faces Sodomy Charge Following Incident

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressman Jon C. Hinson of Mississippi, re-elected last fall after admitting he had visited two homosexual hangouts, is charged today with committing oral sodomy in a public men's room on Capitol Hill.

Deputy Chief Gilbert Abernathy of the Capitol Police said police, tipped off that the restroom was a homosexual gathering place, watched through a peephole Wednesday as the 38-year-old conservative Republican allegedly engaged in oral sex with Harold Moore, 28, of suburban Oxon Hill, Md., an assistant at the Library of Congress. Moore also was arrested.

Hinson who was released on $2,000 bond, was to be arraigned today in District of Columbia Superior Court, along with Moore and two others arrested in the same men's room two hours earlier.

Abernathy said all four men had been observed committing homosexual acts in the "common area of the rest room."

Within hours of Hinson's arrest, leading Mississippi Republicans said he should resign from office if guilty. "I think we gave him the benefit of the doubt on the other charges," said Clarke Reed, Republican national committeeman from Mississippi. "I feel strongly he should resign if found guilty on the charges."

W.D. Mounser, one of Hinson's chief supporters in Mississippi, said, "Those of us who supported him believed him when he said he was not a homosexual and had never committed a homosexual act.... If this is true, he has no choice but to resign."

Hinson, who lives with his wife, Cynthia, in suburban Alexandria, Va., was not available for comment. The other three men charged also could not be reached for comment.

Police began surveillance last week at the isolated, fourth-floor restroom in the Longworth House Office Building, across the street from the building where Hinson's office is located, Abernathy said. Congressional employees had complained to police that it was a "tea room gathering (place) for homosexuals," Abernathy added.

The deputy chief said the surveillance team was aware that Hinson was a congressman and alerted Abernathy Wednesday that Hinson was being watched.

"He (Hinson) was not engaged at that time in an illegal activity but appeared to be cruising," Abernathy said.

Earlier Wednesday, in the same men's room, police arrested Jetton S. Douglas, 28, a lobbyist for Children's Rights Inc., and Kerry L. Jones, 36, a staff member of the Democratic Study Group, an organization of liberal congressmen. They were charged with oral and rectal sodomy.

Prosecutors said the four, if convicted, each could be sentenced to up to 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

who donated to the program. "I usually write to all contributors at the end of the year, but since we are running so low on funds I won't add to the expense by spending postage money. I regret this, but I want to convey my sincere thanks to everyone," she said.

Although the new year began with a financial balance of only $1,681.81, those who work with the program have no doubt that it will continue because the service is needed in the community.

The idea that best describes the reason behind the hard work to make the program a success is a phrase printed in small type on the brochure concerning Meals on Wheels which reads: "A Christian service dedicated to serving God and community."

Study Shows

Test Tube Conception May Cause Defects

BOSTON (AP) — Conceiving babies in test tubes could result in slightly more birth defects, but the risk is so small that the controversial procedure may be a useful last resort for barren couples, a Harvard study concludes.

The report cautions, however, that the odds are slim that the procedure will work and it should be used only after all other fertility treatments fail.

So far, three children around the world are known to have been conceived in test tubes, then implanted into their mothers' wombs.

The latest review of the procedure was written by Dr. John D. Biggers of Harvard Medical School and published in Thursday's issue of the New England Journal of Medicine.

"The evidence suggests that the danger of increased congenital defects is not high," Biggers wrote. "The risk seems considerably lower than that accepted by couples with a recessive (inherited) defect who decide to have a child even though they know that an abnormal baby may be born."

The defect most likely to result from test tube conception is an extra set of chromosomes, Biggers said. But when such embryos are transferred into their mothers' wombs, almost all will die, as they do in natural pregnancies.

The idea of test tube babies was first suggested in an editorial — "Conception in a watch glass" — published 43 years ago in the New England Journal. It was finally accomplished three years ago, with the birth in England of Louise Brown.

That test tube baby and one other birth were the work of the two pioneers in the field, Dr. Patrick Steptoe of Oldham General Hospital in England and Dr. Robert Edwards of Cambridge University. The third baby was fertilized by doctors at the Royal Women's Hospital in Melbourne, Australia.

The only American test tube baby clinic is at Eastern Virginia Medical School, but that clinic has yet to produce a baby.

Iranian Regime Moves Toward Dwyer Decision

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iran's revolutionary regime freed one of the three Americans still held in its jails and moved toward a decision on another one amid new criticism of President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr from the leader of the clerical party controlling the government.

Authorities in Tehran on Wednesday freed Mohi Sobhani, a 44-year-old computer expert from Los Angeles who was arrested on unspecified charges Sept. 6. A naturalized American, he had stayed in his native Iran to run a computer business after his former employer, Rockwell International, pulled out in 1979.

Sobhani's brother, Morris, told reporters in Santa Barbara, Calif., he did not know whether his brother and his Iranian wife would return to the United States.

Meanwhile, the Swiss Foreign Ministry reported that Cynthia Dwyer, 49, a free-lance journalist from Amherst, N.Y., who was arrested last May 5, was tried by a Revolutionary Court Wednesday on espionage charges and a verdict was expected soon, possibly by Monday.

Wilhelm Schmid, a Swiss diplomat allowed to attend the court session, reported she was charged with "spying — acting against the best interests of the Islamic Republic of Iran," but he said he got no inkling what the verdict might be.

"In the event she is released, we will do everything in our power to help with the arrangements for leaving the country," said Schmid in a telephone conversation with The Associated Press in Beirut.

"In the event that she should be sentenced, which we hope will not be the case, we will naturally continue to insist on our right to visit her and to help her in any way possible."

Schmid said Mrs. Dwyer "was very happy to see and to learn that finally there seems to be some sort of decision about her case." The Swiss Foreign Ministry said Mrs. Dwyer appeared nervous but in good health and was allowed to speak freely.

Although the Swiss, who represent U.S. interests in Iran, said the woman was tried for spying, State Department spokesman William Dyess called the session a hearing and said, "We are not aware of any specific charges." But Swiss Foreign Ministry spokesman Othmar Uhl insisted that a trial had been held and said a verdict was expected "around Monday."

Mrs. Dwyer's husband, John, said he and their three children "just have to settle down and wait for" the verdict.

There was no information on the third captive American, Afghan-born Zia Nassry, a travel agent from New York City arrested by the Iranians in March after he went to Tehran to try to open a clinic for Afghan refugees. He reportedly was accused of spying and like the others was held in Tehran's Evin Prison.

The three Americans did not figure in the negotiations for the release of the 52 Americans released Jan. 20 after being held hostage for 444 days by the young militants who seized the U.S. Embassy in Tehran. However, the Swiss Embassy, which represents U.S. interests in Iran, had been working on their behalf.

Pearl Harbor

Some 300 Japanese planes attacked the U.S. Pacific fleet at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941, destroying one battleship and sinking or severely damaging 18 other ships. Casualties were: Navy and Marines, 2,065 men killed, 749 wounded; Army, 194 men killed, 360 wounded.

Banquet Preparations

Members of the Camp Fire Discovery and Horizon Clubs will be serving the meal at Thursday's Chamber of Commerce banquet at the Hereford Country Club. Some 20 members are expected to help serve the banquet meal.

One-Man Painting Show, Workshop Set

The Moore County Arts Association will honor Mrs. Ruth Biffle of Amarillo with a reception at the opening of her one-man show of paintings at the Art Center Galleries, 100 West Seventh in Dumas, Texas, Sunday, February 8th from 1 to 5 p.m.

The public is invited to meet the artist, view her collection of paintings and register for her five-day painting workshop scheduled for February 16-20th at the Art Center School of Art.

Mrs. Biffle received her formal training at Stephens College, Columbia, Missouri; University of Texas, Austin; West Texas State University, Canyon, Texas; and Technologico de Monterrey in Monterrey, Mexico.

Private study has been with such well-known professional artists and teachers as: Jan Herring of Clint, Texas; Ben Konis, Amarillo, Texas; Daniel Greene, New York; and Tom Hill of Arizona.

Mrs. Biffle shows her work at the Pritchard Gallery, San Antonio, Texas; Legacies of Lubbock, Texas; and the Amarillo Art Center, Amarillo, Texas.

Her awards and participation in group shows include: Jurors Choice Award - Texas Fine Art Association, Lubbock Merit Invitational Winner, first place at the Snyder Palette Club, and first and second place in the Best of the Southwest Art Show in Amarillo. Mrs. Biffle has also held seventeeneone-man shows in Texas and Oklahoma, including Texas Western College and West Texas State University.

The Biffle painting workshop scheduled February 16th-20th, 9:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. will offer students an opportunity to learn the technique of combining oil glazes over other media such as acrylics and pastel under-paintings. Mrs. Biffle is a contemporary amster and authority on the classic procedure of glazing handed down by the great Flemish Masters. Her technique produces a softness of focus by the use of veil-like luminous glazes over smooth, light, colored grounds.

The total color effect of her poetic and elegant paintings is truly a sensuous experience in luminosity. The subjects of her paintings, always taken from her environment, express the language of tranquility, serenity, and empathy. They carry a universal communication not only for the present but for future generations.

Students unable to register during the reception on Sunday, February 8th, will have another opportunity Tuesday, February 10th, 10 a.m. - 12 noon, at the Art Center, or register by mail, or telephone by contacting Mildred Boyd, 111 Amherst, Dumas, Texas 79029. Phone: (806) 935-4531. Enrollment will be limited and must be complete by February 14th.

Ann Landers

Protecting a Reputation

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a female geologist for a major oil company and must travel for business.

Recently I flew to Houston with my boss, who is at least 50 (I am 23). We had to finalize a business deal and I was a key person in the transaction. There were some business lunches, dinners and entertainment with the other company's representatives. The deal was successfully completed, and we returned to New Orleans.

During the trip my boss and I remained on a "Mr. and Miss" basis. We exchanged nothing more than a handshake. When I returned from the trip I was commended for a job well done and given a promotion.

Well, the news spread like wildfire. Now rumors are flying that we were together night and day and I am sleeping my way to the top. I'm furious about these lies and don't know how to combat them. It is all so unfair. I have worked like a dog to get where I am. The record is there for anyone who wants to see it. What can I do to protect my reputation and regain my good name?—A Lady With A Career

DEAR LADY: She who excuses herself -- accuses herself. It's always a mistake to dignify an ugly rumor by issuing a denial. Moreover, it's a waste of time and energy. Rise above the gossip and pretend you don't hear it. Your strongest defense is top-notch job performance and continued ladylike behavior.

DEAR ANN: The letter in your column about the death of a child prompts me to write. I applaud that nurse's attitude that it is healthy to grieve and mourn. This issue is often ignored in our "death evasion" society.

Two years ago our 16-year-old son was killed in an accident. At the time, his 11-year-old brother behaved in a peculiar, death-denying manner. He showed no sign of grief to us or his friends. We sought professional help for him but the boy refused to cooperate with the therapist.

On his 12th birthday he became so self-destructive we considered having him institutionalized. In his peer group it is not "cool" to cry, so he kept, and is still keeping, his grief bottled up. My wife and I are both getting professional help and profiting from it. Please, Ann, keep telling your readers that mourning and grieving cannot be blocked. It must and will come out, one way or another.—Name Withheld

DEAR N.W.: You are so right when you say that if grief is suppressed it will erupt in unexpected and destructive ways.

I do hope your young son can be persuaded to accept help. Please try the coach, a favorite teacher, a kindly physician or a family friend. Someone must be able to get through to the boy. For heaven's sake, don't give up on him at age 12!

DEAR ANN: A couple of months ago a girl asked, "What do you do with the letters from readers after you read and print them?" You said you destroy them. But when someone asks you to repeat a column, you are able to reprint it word for word, even if it was written years ago. How is this possible?—Curious K In Miami

DEAR CURIOUS: Every column that appears in print goes into a scrapbook. When a column rerun is requested by a number of readers, I have no trouble finding it.

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex—Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Rebekah Lodge to Serve At Odd Fellow Meeting

Plans were completed for serving supper at the Odd Fellow Circle meeting, Monday, Feb. 9 by the Hereford Rebekah Lodge No. 228 during their regular session Tuesday evening in the IOOF Temple with Noble Grand Faye Brownlow presiding.

A practice session was conducted for receiving a new member as the Hereford Lodge will be exemplifying the procedure at the joint school of instructions in Friona Feb. 16, 1981.

Lodge Deputy Edna Mathes installed Peggy Lemons as Inside Guardian and Belle Reid as left Support to the Noble Grand.

Mrs. Brownlow presented Verna Sowell with a Past Noble Grand Jewel, a gift from the lodge in recognition of her services in the last tenure of office.

Members who had been out because of illness were welcomed back, with greeting cards being signed for others who are still ill.

Additional members present at the Tuesday meeting were Guy Lawrence, Martha Bridges, Helen Sowell, Ada Hollabaugh, Bessie Saulcy, Leona Sowell, Karrol Rettman, Peggy Lemons, Ursalee Jacobsen, Bessie Lawrence, Susie Curtsinger, Anna Conklin, Glessie Shelton, Roberta Combs and Nellie Beauford.

Kay Suttle Named On Honor Roll

Kay Suttle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Suttle of Bangs, Tex., and former Hereford resident, was cited for being one of the select group of students who achieved a 3.3 or higher grade point average for at least nine credit hours' course work during the fall semester, 1980 at Texas Woman's University in Denton.

This announcement was made by John W. McFarland, vice president for Academic Affairs and interim at TWU. Mrs. Suttle was placed on the honor roll with a grade point average of 3.6.

Miss Suttle is presently a music therapy major at TWU. She graduated from Hereford High School in 1980.

Camping Program Essential Aspect

By Susan Owens
Last year due to a shortage of funds, our Directors were faced with the problems of how to keep our local Camp Fire Council operating another year. We had to choose some priorities and make some very difficult decisions. In order to keep the lodge doors open and to continue with our group and response programming, we were forced to delete the summer camping program. We absolutely do not want to be faced with this dilemma again.

You see, the Camping Program is one of the most integral aspects of Camp Fire. It is also the most costly. The camping program is specifically designed to instill in youngsters a deep and abiding respect for the outdoor world around us. They are taught the importance of ecology. They are taught to appreciate our natural resources, not to abuse them—to remember never to take something needlessly nor carelessly from nature and to try to replace it once it is taken. These are high ideals not to be taken lightly. Along with learning about our world, the youngsters and adults, alike, are given qualities not so easily recognized on the surface.

By participating in the camping and outdoor programs, individuals gain a very deep seeded sense of self worth. They become self-reliant, responsible to themselves and to others. These young people grow up to take their places of responsibility as worthy citizens of this great country. They realize their roles in keeping the United States free and beautiful.

In order to be able to keep our total programming alive and functioning, the Camp Fire Council is conducting a magazine sale sponsored by Readers' Digest. This IS NOT a door to door selling project. Each member of Camp Fire, child and adult alike, is encouraged to sell at least seven subscriptions or renewals within his or her own circle of family and friends. Each Camp Fire group is being encouraged to average the sale of two subscriptions per group member. Naturally, the success of each group leans heavily on the number of its members. Smaller groups will have less difficulty than the larger ones in meeting this average. All proceeds from this project will go for developing programming in the council.

If you would like to subscribe to a magazine, or if you have a subscription renewal coming up, contact a friend in Camp Fire. Everyone benefits.

We would like to take time to thank Allison Ryan and the Hereford Brand for their warmth and cooperation with the Camp Fire Public Relations Committee. We appreciate your willingness to allow us to keep Hereford aware of our purposes and the happenings at the lodge. Thank you, Allison and the Brand.

From the Lodge was temporarily shelved while the Owens family was making final preparations for the arrival of a new family member. We are ready and the impatient waiting has begun. Thank you for your patience with me, and hopefully, further articles From the Lodge will not have to be delayed.

Congratulations are in order for Cindy and State Norval upon the arrival of their new baby boy, Shay State, born January 11. Cindy is the field and program director for Camp Fire. Hurry back to the lodge, Cindy, and we wish you and your family the best of everything.

At Wits End

By ERMA BOMBECK

All of you know there is no one in this wide world who has more affection for her children than I do.

I also have affection for Miss Piggy, but I don't want to pick up her wet towels off the bed for the next 30 years.

Parents of grown children tell me their children don't need door keys anymore...they need a revolving door. They're in when they're out of work, out of money, out of socks, out of food and in debt.

They're out when they're in love, in the bucks, in trouble in school and have outgrown their need for milk.

When I launched all my children I rewarded myself with a celery green carpet in the spare bedroom. It was my Olympic Gold Medal, my Oscar, my Emmy, my Reader's Digest Sweepstakes. I had done it and this was my reward.

Three months later, one of my children moved back with, among other things, a set of drums that leaked oil. My celery green carpet looked like a leftover.

When he left we had it cleaned and began again. The next prodigal son brought a dog that had a sofa wish, a car that was not garage trained and leaked oil all over it when it stopped and used towels like they were nose tissue that popped up automatically in a box to be disposed of.

The next one to return let me use my own phone but kept hours like a fireman.

One night my husband and I sat down and tried to figure out what the attraction of living at home is - other than free laundry, free rent, free toiletries, security, love a permanent address for mail, unlimited storage, financing and loans, convention rooms for private parties and entertaining, and guest privileges. I snapped my fingers. "I've got it! It's the refrigerator that beckons and calls them home. Without it, nothing else would keep them here."

We decided to stop treating the kids as guests and go back to eating the way we wanted to eat. We stocked the refrigerator with cottage cheese, fresh green vegetables, plain yogurt, unsalted butter and blue milk. We bought bran cereal, wheat germ, dietary fruit and did away with the sugar bowl.

As the last one left we heard him mumble, "I'm going anywhere, just so long as they don't refrigerate their bread!" We haven't seen them since.

An open meeting concerning appointments and decisions for the Miss Hereford and Miss Teen Hereford Pageant 1981 has been scheduled by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division pageant steering committee. The meeting will be Feb. 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the lower level of the Deaf Smith County Library.

March of Dimes to Conduct Door-to-Door Drive March 8

Of the 250,000 babies born with birth defects, more than 50,000 could have been prevented, according to the March of Dimes community service representative Elaine Basham of Amarillo.

Local residents will have the opportunity to support the work of the March of Dimes by contributing to the campaign against birth defects when the Mothers March of Dimes conduct their door-to-door campaign March 8 from 1-5 p.m. with headquarters located at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center. It is hoped that volunteers will help collect contributions in the door-to-door drive, according to Marjorie Daniels, local drive chairman. In addition to research, a portion of the March of Dimes collection goes into a health careers scholarship fund and part is used for the transportation of critical infants to medical facilities. Free educational materials for schools, hospitals and community organizations are

Gold Takes Severe Dive

NEW YORK (AP) — The gold bugs of the world have undergone a severe test of faith lately.

Over the past 12 months the price of gold has taken its sharpest drop in six years — from a peak of $875 an ounce in January 1980 to under $500 early this week. Anyone who got a gift of gold for Christmas has seen it fall more than 20 percent in value since.

That's an awful lot of turbulence for an investment that is supposed to be a haven from political and economic storms.

A wide variety of explanations, ranging from the simple to the abstruse, has been offered for gold's decline.

High interest rates are one of the first factors mentioned. At the moment, money-market investments are yielding considerably more than the rate of inflation.

That's important, because one of the principal arguments in gold's favor is that it serves as an inflation hedge. Right now, however, an investor in the 33 percent income-tax bracket can choose among several money-market mutual funds yielding 18 percent or better.

The dollar, meanwhile, is strong for a change against most foreign currencies. The hostages are free, and so are Iran's deposits that were frozen in this country.

Perhaps even more to the point, many analysts say, there is a growing feeling that the United States is finally ready to do whatever is necessary to win the battle against inflation.

As the gold price flourished early this week, many dealers in the market said investors were looking ahead warily to President Reagan's economic message this week.

Tangible evidence of any progress against inflation isn't expected any time soon.

In fact, with such recent developments as the full decontrol of oil prices, economists warn that the consumer price index reports over the next few months could look downright nasty.

There are, however, other signs that hopes are mounting for better news later on. Stock prices of oil companies, which soared for most of 1980, have recently been taking a beating.

With all this facing them, it's understandable that many investment advisers who have been advocates of gold have turned cautious or just plain negative on it.

Still, some diehard gold bugs are standing their ground, among them James Dines, an adviser who has sung the praises of gold for almost 20 years.

In the 1981 forecast issue of his newsletter, Dines continued to urge his followers to hold on. "We never promised you a rose garden," he said. "Gold bullion has already had seven significant declines during this major bull market."

"Those who have held these precious metals through every technical correction and period of bad news have racked up incredible percentage profits."

The term "meat packing" comes to us from early American colonists, who salted their pork and packed it in barrels for use during the winter.

HAVE YOU SHARED THE GOODS NEWS TODAY?
It was early on Sunday morning when Jesus came back to life, and the first person who saw Him was Mary Magdalene - the woman from whom He had cast out seven demons.

She found the disciples wet-eyed with grief and exclaimed that she had seen Jesus, and He was alive! But they didn't believe her!

Later that day He appeared to two who were walking from Jerusalem into the country, but they didn't recognize Him at first because He had changed His appearance.

When they finally realized who He was, they rushed back to Jerusalem to tell the others, but no one believed them.

Still later He appeared to the eleven disciples as they were eating together. He rebuked them for their unbelief - their stubborn refusal to believe those who had seen Him alive from the dead.

And then He told them, "You are to go into all the world and preach the Good News to everyone, everywhere. Those who believe and are baptized will be saved. But those who refuse to believe will be condemned."

And those who believe shall use My authority to cast out demons, and they shall speak new languages. They will be able even to handle snakes with safety, and if they drink anything poisonous, it won't hurt them; and they will be able to place their hands on the sick and heal them."

When the Lord Jesus had finished talking with them, He was taken up into heaven and sat down at God's right hand.

And the disciples went everywhere preaching, and the Lord was with them and confirmed what they said by the miracles that followed their messages.

Interior Decorator Presents Program to Young Homemakers

Keith Ann Kearns explained how to give a home a facelift at the recent meeting of the Hereford Young Homemakers held at the First National Bank.

Mrs. Kearns, a local interior decorator, told the club the main idea on remaking a home is to reflect the owners personality yet retaining a comfortable atmosphere for the family. She presented several examples which could be used in the home.

When redecorating a child's room, Mrs. Kearns stressed the importance of using inexpensive and practical furniture.

A preview was given of some of the new spring fabrics at the close of the program. A report about the recent state convention was presented by several members during the business meeting.

Those who attended agreed the convention was not only educational but an enjoyable meeting, according to Karen Smith, club reporter.

In other business, Marilyn Culpepper was elected to serve as treasurer of the club, members voted to present a donation of $25 to Meals-on-Wheels and the club agreed to place a table at Sugarland Mall Feb. 7 and 14 to sell praline pecans for $3.50 per can.

Valentine refreshments were served by hostess Gail Blain.

Members present were Gail Blain, Linda Goss, Bobbie Patzig, Marilyn Culpepper, Brenda Campbell, Connie Gilbert, Karen Smith, Barbara Weatherford, advisor Mrs. M.T. Burelsmith and guest Brenda Meiwes.

Chromium- An Important Item in Human Diet

COLLEGE STATION -- Chromium - an important item in the diet - is getting serious attention these days, says Cass Ryan-Crowe, a foods and nutrition specialist.

Chromium is important in the diet because it is required for glucose utilization - that is, it enables the body to put glucose to work. And that is a necessary function in producing body energy, the specialist explains.

Dr. Ryan-Crowe is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Normally, the adult body contains less than six milligrams of chromium, and most of it is found in a compound in the body called "glucose tolerance factor" or GTF.

Here's how the whole thing probably works, according to scientists: GTF probably acts as a "cofactor" (a "partner") with insulin. Together the two enable the cells in the body to use glucose for energy.

However, when the body has less than the normal level of chromium, its ability to use glucose decreases.

This fact is especially important to persons with diabetes mellitus, Dr. Ryan-Crowe continues.

Inc asides of diabetes in humans, chromium therapy is a major area currently getting attention. Studies, so far, have turned up varied results, but there are indications that the "trivalent form" of chromium (the form found in brewer yeast) is the most effective in increasing the body's use of glucose, Dr. Ryan-Crowe says.

Other sources of chromium are liver, wheat germ and whole-wheat products, she adds.

Character actor Sidney Greenstreet's first movie was made in 1941 when he was 61 years old - "The Maltese Falcon."

Pauken to Head ACTION

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former Texas GOP congressional candidate Tom Pauken has been nominated by President Reagan to head the federal ACTION agency, which oversees the operation of the Peace Corps, VISTA and volunteer programs for the elderly.

Pauken, 36, twice defeated by Democratic Rep. Jim Mattox of Dallas, has been working on Reagan's transition staff.

Pauken says he favors "substantial" budget cuts in almost all the programs of the federal government's volunteer service agency, but said ACTION's foster grandparent program may be immune from financial cutbacks under his leadership.

The foster grandparent program is a favorite of first lady Nancy Reagan, who reportedly has requested a briefing about its work.

Depression Cure—Changing the Way

Associated Press Writer
You believe that some event would be just terrible. As a result, when it happens, you feel terrible. That's Dr. Aaron Beck's theory. It's also an oversimplified explanation of the thinking behind Beck's "Cognitive Therapy," a treatment that works against 80 percent of even severe depressions. It's a treatment especially well-suited to women — and two of every three depression victims are female.

Biology may predispose some people to depression, but many experts also believe more women are victims because women learn a depressing way of viewing life. Women tend to blame themselves for failure or disappointment, they say — and blaming yourself is depressing. At the University of Pennsylvania Center for Cognitive Therapy, Beck, a psychiatrist, attacks depression by changing the way depressed patients think about their lives. Simply put, he teaches his depressed patients — 65 percent of them female — that erroneous thoughts cause bad feelings. For example: —A woman believes she can't live without her husband. When he dies, she despairs and becomes depressed. Beck helps her see that she lived successfully before she met her husband and that, though his absence means her life will change, life will go on. She feels better. —Another woman is depressed because her 7-year-old son's teacher has been complaining that the boy steals pencils. She concludes that, because her son is bad, she must be a bad mother. Beck helps her to see that the boy may be innocent — she hasn't talked with him about the incident — that he has some nice qualities and isn't totally bad and that, in some ways, she's a very good mother. She feels better. Beck's is one of many varieties of psychotherapy or "talk therapy." To further complicate matters, many — even most — therapists use part of one technique, a dab of another, a sprinkling from a third. But all these therapies have one thing in common: They use words to attack depression and the events that seemed to trigger it. In general, therapists try to help patients recognize their feelings and deal with the events that have triggered them: How can you fill the void created in your life by divorce? How can you find a more satisfying job? Beck, who cites studies to prove it, says that when patients learn to change their depressing, erroneous thoughts, "their improvement is longer-lasting" because they've learned to help themselves and, often, to prevent another depressive slide. He concedes he holds no patent on depression care, however. When a patient is intensely depressed, he said, "give them the works." "There's a marvelous menu of treatment for depression," said Maggie Scarf, author of "Unfinished Business," a study of depressed women. "We've made fantastic advances just in the last ten years." Along with scores of talk therapies, the menu includes nearly a dozen antidepressant drugs, and shock treatments. Therapists say that if one method doesn't bring someone out of a depression, another likely will. "Depression is an eminently treatable illness," said Robert Hirschfeld, a psychiatrist and chief of the National Institute of Mental Health's Center for the Study of Affective Disorders. "But it's important to seek treatment from a practitioner who is well-schooled in an assortment of treatment options." Along with psychotherapy, the other principal options include: ANTIDEPRESSANT DRUGS — Introduced 25 years ago, antidepressants today help lift depression in three of four cases. In 1979, 3 million Americans took them. Some manic-depressives live normally for years on lithium. For depression, the most widely used drugs are tricyclics — marketed under such brand names as Elavil and Tofranil. They work best against depressions with common symptoms — weight loss, sadness, loss of sleep. For atypical depression — people who sleep all the time or gain weight — monoamine oxidase inhibitors are used. These drugs, sold under such brand names as Parnate and Nardil, can be dangerous: They cause nausea, dizziness, fainting, even strokes when mixed with the wrong foods. People taking MAO inhibitors aren't allowed such foods as cheese, beer, sour cream and lima beans. Both varieties of antidepressant can cause side effects like dizziness and weight gain, and elderly patients who have trouble processing the drugs sometimes feel drunk and disoriented. The drugs are not addictive and produce no "high." But they are powerful medications and should be taken only under a doctor's care. Also, it takes two to slow. One in 200 depressions ends in suicide. Scientists are beginning to find drugs that work faster. In addition to helping people, antidepressants offer leads into the chemistry of depression. Researchers have found that tricyclics raise the levels of two chemical messengers in the brain, called neurotransmitters, while MAO inhibitors slow the working of an enzyme involved in breaking down these neurotransmitters. "We don't know the mechanism of the drugs," said Arnold Friedhoff, professor of psychiatry at the New York University Medical School. "If we did, we might also know the mechanism of depression."

SHOCK THERAPY — For the approximately 25 percent of severely depressed people not helped by psychotherapy or drugs, electroconvulsive therapy is "a miracle drug, like penicillin," said Beck. Some 80 percent of the patients who receive this treatment, which electrically triggers brain seizures, respond favorably. Scientists don't know why the seizures work, but one theory is that ECT may "restart" sluggish brain cells that play a role in mood. In ECT, a pulse of electricity — as little as 4 watts — lasting a fraction of a second is passed through the head to provoke the seizure. Normally, patients receive six to 12 treatments over two to four weeks. ECT has changed substantially in its 40-year history, but it still evokes images of horror — what psychiatrists call "the Eagleton effect."

Sen. Thomas Eagleton of Missouri withdrew as the 1972 Democratic vice presidential nominee after it was disclosed that he'd had electroconvulsive therapy. "If you tell people at work that you were in the hospital feeling depressed, they're not shocked," said New York University psychiatrist Robert Canro. "If you tell them you had ECT, they're shocked."

In Match With Lubbock Monterey

Hereford Cagers Need Miracle

THE HEREFORD VARSITY boys' basketball team needed a miracle. It didn't have to be a big one, but one that would preferably represent its best interests going into Friday night's league tilt with the Lubbock Monterey Plainsmen — ending a seemingly bottomless 3-22 season fall.

The HHS diplomat would present the list of miracle demands in the following manner:

(1) Request the services of anyone or anything with two legs that is in the 6-8 range. Will compromise by accepting anything standing 5-11 with three foot arms.

Mauri Montgomery

(2) Automatic win clause — in which any game decided by less than five points is subject to foreclosure by Hereford.

(3) A mandate requiring Lubbock's 6-7 post, Ian Hyslop, to kiss one of the Etheridge sisters (Plainswomen — Kriss or Kamie who reportedly have contracted mononucleosis) for 24 hours prior to Friday night's game.

THE MIRACLE DEMANDS weren't too much to ask for, especially when considering the team's sanity — the squad's last win came 12 games ago against Amarillo Palo Duro.

But if only one request could be acquired this week, chances are, HHS coach Dan Giliuson would wish for No. 3 to be his dream come true. According to him, stopping Hyslop was Hereford's sole objective against the highly successful 21-6 Lubbock team.

THE HEREFORD BRAND SPORTS

Page 10--The Hereford Brand--Thursday, February 5, 1981

"The main thing we've got to do against Monterey is to control Hyslop. We've got to be able to control him inside because he is such a good player there," he said.

If we can't control him inside, then I don't think we'll have much a chance to stop Monterey. They hit well from the outside, but they kill people on the inside play."

GILIUSON'S PARANOIA concerning Hyslop was well justified.

The Monterey post is presently maintaining third place among the area 5A scoring leaders with an average of 19 points per outing as the primary reason the Plainsmen have overwhelmed their way to unbeaten ranks thus far in league play. In addition he is Lubbock's leading rebounder with a total of 224.

The only other Plainsman cager to even come within sniffing distance of a double figure scoring average is 6-3 forward Gary Hodges with 11.8 per outing.

"WE NEED TO WIN this game, as we have needed to win other games in the past — for confidence," Giliuson said after his struggling team suffered another sequel to disappointment with a 57-54 loss to Lubbock High here Tuesday.

"We need to win in order to let the guys know they can play with people. I don't see how they can keep having the attitude they do each week considering the pressures they've had to do just that — win," he noted.

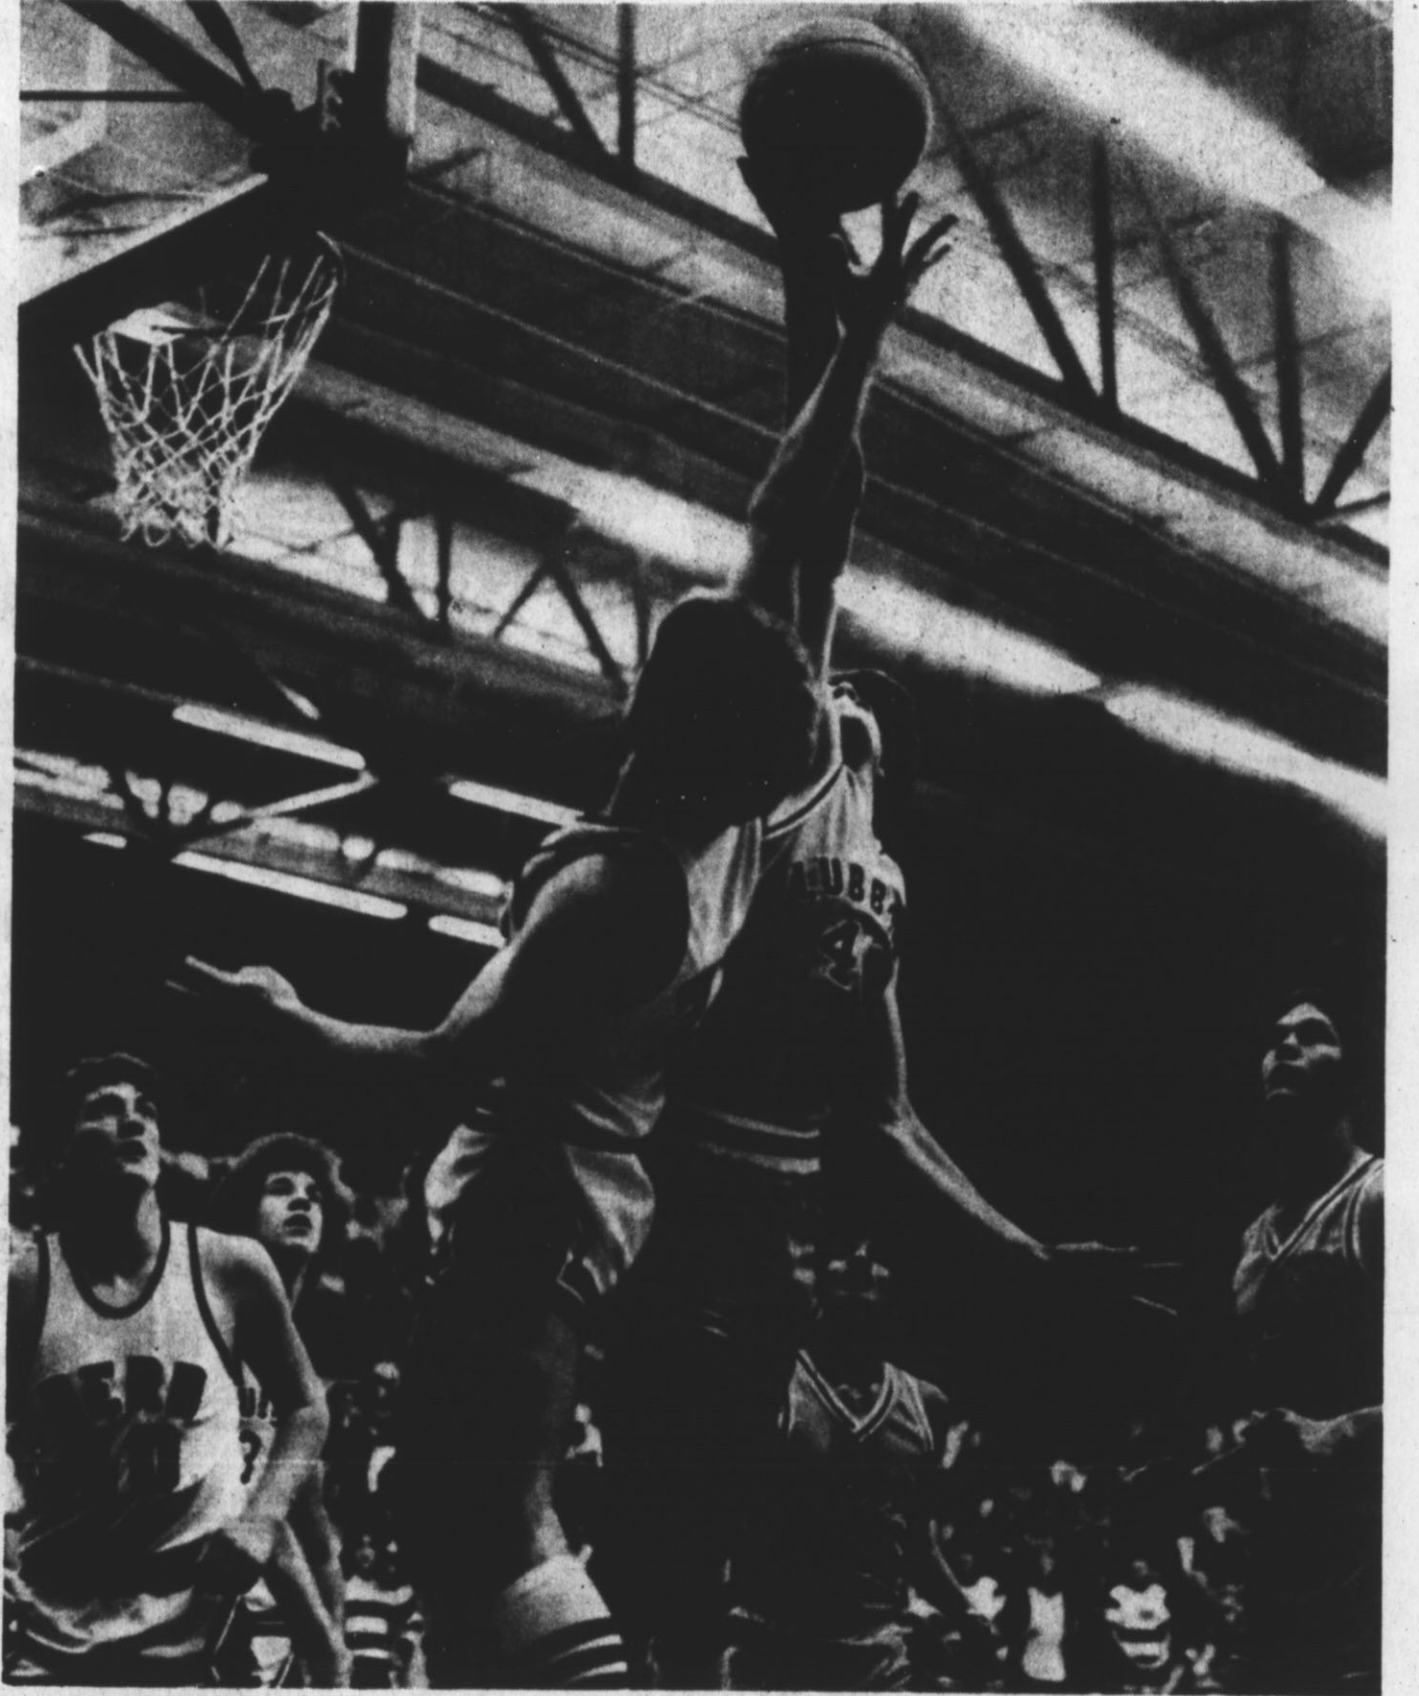

It's awful hard to keep yourself at an emotional high week after week, especially when you lose close ones like we did the other night against Lubbock."

"BUT THEY'RE COMPETITORS and they don't give up. That's all anyone can ask of them."

"We could have conceivably won against the Westerners Tuesday, but we had a brief let down. And with our size we can't afford it. We still played a good game though. It just turned out our effort wasn't enough to win — the effort was there. It was one of the best efforts we could hope for — it just wasn't enough Tuesday night."

Game time for the conflict between the two noted rivals is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Lubbock.

Spurs Beat Denver in Shootout

DENVER (AP) — It was reminiscent of a classic American Basketball Association-style shootout between two old ABA rivals — the San Antonio Spurs and the Denver Nuggets.

Both teams scored furiously in the first half, rolling up a tally of 42-41. San Antonio, at the end of the first quarter and 77-71 — San Antonio again — at the half.

And it went right down to the buzzer, with Denver's David Thompson missing a 3-pointer from the corner as the Spurs broke a six-game National Basketball Association road losing streak with a 135-132 victory over the Nuggets here Wednesday night.

"This is a big win for us," said San Antonio Coach Stan Albeck, whose Spurs lead the Midwest Division with a 9½-game edge over the Houston Rockets. "We've got 15 games left at home, and 11 on the road."

The Denver Nuggets battled gamely throughout the contest and led by 13 points in the last stanza before George Gervin scored 10 of his game-high 37 points in the last 6:40 to lead the Spurs back into contention.

Rodeo Club Profiles

Cunningham McConnell

Editor's Note: The following personal profiles on the Hereford High School Rodeo Team are designed to acquaint readers with each of the club members' events and successes in those events thus far in annual competition, and will be run twice a week until the upcoming Hereford Rodeo scheduled for March 7-8. Other events scheduled after the HHS Rodeo include: River Road-Amarillo (March 14-15), Canyon (March 21-22), Happy (March 28-29), Plainview (April 4-5), Spearman (April 10-11), Dalhart (April 17-18), Claude (April 25-26), Ralls-Slaton (May 2-3), Dumas (May 8-9), Gruver (May 16-17), Guymon, Oklahoma (May 30-31) and the Rodeo Finals-Amarillo (June 4-7).

Brett Cunningham will be going into the Hereford High School Rodeo as the No. 1 calf roper in the Tri State High School Rodeo Association (the association covers a four state area including Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas) with a total of 22 points out of the top 15 competitors.

He also participates in ribbon roping where he is tied for 5th and 6th place with seven points, and in team roping he is currently standing 11th with 10 points.

Cunningham is a senior at Hereford High and is a four year member of the HHS Rodeo Club.

In addition to those high standings, he is also maintaining a 4th place position in the All-Around Cowboy race with 39 total points.

Steve McConnell is presently standing 4th in steer wrestling out of the top 15 competitors in that event, and also participates in team roping.

He is a junior at Hereford High and has been an active member of the HHS Rodeo Club for three years.

Waters Undergoes Surgery

DALLAS (AP) — Safety Charlie Waters of the Dallas Cowboys underwent surgery on his right knee Wednesday for the second time in 18 months.

Dr. Marvin Knight performed the surgery at a hospital in Muenster, Texas, and said everything went as hoped. Knight said he removed a cartilage and strengthened a ligament.

Waters underwent knee surgery in August 1979 and returned as a Cowboy starter after sitting out the 1979 season.

The surgery Wednesday was unrelated to the previous surgery, although the same knee is involved, Knight said.

A spokesman for the Cowboys said Waters will be in the hospital a week and in a cast for three to four weeks.

1984 Olympic Site Snowy, Historic

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

One year ago, the world came to Lake Placid. Three years from now, the world will be skiing, skating and tobogganing to Sarajevo, Yugoslavia for the Winter Olympics. Evidently, Sarajevo has snow, mountains and sub-freezing temperatures, but what else?

"It struck me as a combination of Grenoble, Innsbruck and Montreal," said Dennis Lewin, part of ABC-TV's scouting party that recently came home after inspecting the Olympic venues and holding meetings with officials of the Sarajevo Olympic Organizing Committee. (Grenoble was the site of the 1968 Winter Games; Innsbruck, the 1976 Winter Olympics, and Montreal, the '76 Summer Games.)

Lewin said Sarajevo, with a population of 450,000, is laid out like Grenoble. "It stands in a valley, and you can almost feel the surrounding mountains; they seem that close," he said. "You get the same picture post card views as from Innsbruck, and Sarajevo has the same variety of culture that Montreal has, but without the big city sophistication.

"The combination of old world and new world is startling. Some of the influences you see are Austrian, German and Moslem. It's fascinating to walk downtown and see Grand Mosques and high rise buildings on the same block."

ABC reportedly paid $91 million for the broadcast rights to the '84 Winter Games, in addition to $225 million for the Los Angeles Summer Olympics. From an educational and historical angle, ABC will get more for its money from the Sarajevo Games. Disneyland and Hollywood may be classic Americana, but they aren't topics in the classroom.

"There's so much history there that each day we should be able to do something that is both informative and entertaining," said Lewin, director of production coordination for ABC Sports. "You could be walking through the center of town, turn the corner and be where World War I started.

They have Princip's footprints (the man who assassinated the Archduke Ferdinand).

Except for the bizarre biathlon competition (a combination of shooting and skiing), weapons will not be a big part of the the Sarajevo Olympics, Yugoslav officials told ABC. This is in sharp contrast to the massive military and police forces that didn't exactly blend into the scenery at last year's Moscow Games.

"They said they planned normal security arrangements, not an armed camp, and with no barbed wire," said Lewin. With all the security at Moscow, the Olympics ran better than a Swiss clock. Efficiency wasn't Lake Placid's strong suit, but Lewin doesn't expect Sarajevo to experience the transportation and logistical problems that last year's Winter Games did.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Help for osteoarthritis

DEAR DR. LAMB - I have had osteoarthritis for the past five years and have tried different kinds of medical pain killers, went to a chiropractor for several years and also had acupuncture. Nothing seems to help.

I read an article recently in a magazine that said proper treatment can often relieve symptoms and help patients keep active. Could you tell me what is the proper treatment? Also would you advise surgery?

DEAR DR. LAMB - A wife of a dermatologist once told me that hand lotions were actually more harmful than not using them. If this is true, what is recommended to help keep the skin soft and not dry? I realize that some people just naturally have more oily skin, but even sun, weather and dishwashing can get the best of us. Are rubber gloves the only answer?

DEAR DR. LAMB - I think your friend must have been exaggerating a bit. However, to moisturize the skin there is nothing that will do a much better job than Vaseline or a similar product. It provides a good barrier over the skin surface so that the natural skin moisture is not lost. Retaining skin moisture prevents drying. Many hand lotions and skin moisturizers really depend upon an oily film to accomplish much the same thing but some of them don't do as well as Vaseline.

There is nothing wrong with rubber gloves if you have to put your hands in water frequently. And the best protection in the world for outside exposure is gloves - not necessarily rubber gloves but skin cover to protect your skin from sun and wind. Protecting the skin with clothing is a smart move if you want to keep a young skin. That may be why the beauties of yesterday used those large brimmed hats.

DEAR READER - Occasionally a low level of vitamin C can cause increased fragility of the capillaries, but there are many other causes for this problem and, as your story demonstrates, taking vitamins alone is frequently not the answer.

If you have not had them, you need a series of tests to evaluate the clotting mechanism of your blood. Your problem can also be caused by a disorder of the platelets, the tiny cells involved in blood clotting.

Certain medicines can sometimes cause this, including aspirin or common home remedies that contain aspirin. Now that you have tried the vitamin C and rutin routine, talk to your doctor again to see if he is

NATO Conducts Simulated Wars Between Ships

PORTLAND, England (AP) — Every Thursday they have a war off the south coast of England.

Ships weigh anchor at dawn and steam out into the English Channel. They meet the enemy, fire missiles, torpedoes and cannon shells, fight off air attacks and take evasive action. Some are declared sunk. Then it's tea time.

The Thursday war is the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's weekly test of ships and crews under realistic conditions short of anyone getting killed. It forces ships from different nations in NATO's standing naval forces to work together, overcome language and tactical differences and forge friendships that bind the alliance.

"It's the way we know our naval forces are really ready," says Rear Adm. David Eckersley-Maslin of the British navy, the commander of the navy base at Portland. "And the crews seem to like it."

Leading the ships to battle last Thursday was the 18-year-old, 2,200-ton Braunschweig, a West German frigate with a crew of 208 led by Cmdr. Frank Saltzwedel, a veteran of the Thursday wars.

The Braunschweig is one of the oldest German ships, and it has two annoying features: toilets that don't always work and an open bridge that offers great visibility and the chance of frostbite from North Atlantic winds.

Saltzwedel, 42, stood on the bridge last Thursday as the Braunschweig slipped through the choppy strait that separates Portland harbor from the English Channel.

Cruising behind in line were the newer and sleeker Dutch destroyer De Ruyter and the British cruiser Norfolk. Unseen ahead was the enemy, the British destroyer Newcastle posing as a Soviet warship.

"We're first in line and will be providing a screen," Saltzwedel explained to a guest. "The old ship goes first."

whispered a British naval observer, "is that his ship, being the oldest, gets sunk first if there's anything out there. Historic naval tactics."

Within minutes, the enemy presence had been relayed by radar to a cramped, sweaty operations room filled with maps, electronic gear and a dozen screens scanned by officers in charge of the Braunschweig's weapons — torpedoes, depth charges, 100mm guns, 40mm guns, rockets and mines.

Orders came in from the Norfolk telling the Braunschweig some of its batteries had been knocked out and to take action accordingly.

"I was on the bridge once and someone handed me a note saying, 'You just went crazy,'" Lt. Cmdr. R. E. Shrubbs of the British navy recalled. "I went around giving strange commands and pushing the wrong buttons and it took about 15 seconds for junior officers to realize what was happening. Then they jumped me."

"The navy was simply testing to see if the crew knew what to do if the captain went crazy."

The battle ended in the sinking of the enemy, and the Braunschweig and its allies steamed back to Portland.
