Elections To Decide Few Local Races

CLARK ANDREWS
School Board Candidate

RUMALDO GARCIA

Saturday elections will provide at least one new hospital district board director and will decide the outcome of single contested positions on both the city commission and Hereford Independent School District board of trustees.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday at the Community Center for elections involving the Deaf Smith County Hospital District, Hereford city commission and school district.

With two hopefuls and two incumbents battling for three places on the hospital district board, at least one fresh face is guaranteed when results of the election are certified in a special meeting of directors at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

The hopefuls are Mrs. Bill (Kathryn) Acton and Edward B. Roberson.

Mrs. Acton is county supervisor of Panhandle Home Health Agency after having served as director of nursing service at Deaf Smith General Hospital for 4½ years, clinical director at St. Anthony Hospital in Amarillo for five years, nursing supervisor at hospitals in Odessa and Big Spring, county school nurse in Potter County and a public health nurse in that county.

"Nursing input to the hospital board and past experience as a director will help to balance the board's direction," Mrs. Acton said in a prepared statement this week.

Roberson, who came to Deaf Smith County in 1922, has been in the oil business since 1945. For the last 13 years, Roberson has been Hereford's Tezaco wholesaler.

"I am taking in a partner here and I'm going to have extra time," Roberson told The Brand. "I also was asked to run."

"The main thing is I have an accounting background."

Incumbents in the race are E. J. Straffuss, who has been on the board for 12 years, and Frank Zinser Jr., who has served for four years.

Straffuss, a farmer and Deaf Smith County resident for 50 years, said he is seeking another term "because I was asked to run again. I thought that 12 years might be long enough, but if the people will put me back on there, I'll serve two more years."

"I think the next two years are going to be pretty hard to keep that hospital out of the red."

Zinser, a farmer and rancher, said the objectives of the hospital board have been to "provide the best possible care and service and facilities we can at a reasonable price that both taxpayers and patients can afford."

"I feel I've been on the board just long enough to get acquainted with how things should be run."

The only contest spot on the city commission is in Place 4, where John Arsola and Emory Brownlow are hoping to replace Frank Barrett, who is not seeking another term.

February Deficit Worst Ever

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States recorded the worst trade deficit in its history in February as the nation imported $4.5 billion more than it sold abroad, the Commerce Department said today.

The monthly deficit, the 21st in a row, surpassed the record $3.3 billion last June and was a blow to Carter administration attempts to reduce the deficit below the $26.7 billion total for all of last year.

U.S. exports totaled $9.9 billion, a decline of 1 percent from the $10 billion reported in January. Imports were a record $14.4 billion, $16.5 percent higher than in January.

A trade deficit means that more dollars are leaving the country to pay for foreign goods than the United States is earning from sale of its goods abroad. It can affect employment and production and can lead to inflation.

Analysts have cited the nation's large trade deficit as one of the reasons for the decline of the dollar against foreign currencies in recent months.

Imports of oil from the Middle East have accounted for most of the nation's trade deficit in the past two years, but the rising imports in February were widespread.

Imports of petroleum products totaled $3.3 billion, an increase of about 10 percent over January.

Iron and steel imports rose $160 million, while machinery and transport equipment purchased from abroad rose 10 percent to $3.9 billion.

145 Miners Still on Strike

STEARNS, Ky. (AP) - The end of the 16-week coal strike means little to some 145 miners here. Their strike - over representation by the United Mine Workers - is in its 20th month with no end in sight.

Despite bloodshed, economic hardships and the absence of any indication their walkout is having an effect, they vow to go on.

"The moral is still high at Stearns," said striking miner Bob Dixon as he and five other men kept watch at the picket line outside the Justus mine. The strike at Stearns Mining Co. is one of the longest in UMW history, according to union officials.

ASCS Says Program Not So Bad

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

After spending most of the day consulting with Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service officials Thursday, County ASCS Executive Director John Fuston had an inkling today of how a new payment program proposed by the administration for feed grains and cotton will supposedly function.

The payments are part of a new farm program announced Wednesday by the Carter administration, and are designed to attract more producers into the government's acreage set-aside program.

"The program is apparently a lot better than it first sounded," Fuston related, following criticism of the administration's program which surfaced yesterday.

Speculation that farmers would be receiving $100 for each acre idled caused widespread confusion among local farmers, but Fuston explained that after staying on the phone for most of the day Thursday, he found that the $100 payments do not necessarily apply and that grazing regulations contained in the administration proposal will apparently prove more liberal than many farmers originally thought.

"A man is going to be able to graze out 40 percent of his seeded wheat acreage for grain for 1978 and receive a price of 50 cents per bushel on that acreage," said Fuston.

The local ASCS official cited this example: "On 1,000 acres of wheat for grain for 1978, if the farmer elects, he can graze out 40 percent or 400 acres. He would receive the benefits of 50 cents per bushel times his established yield here at the local ASCS office on the grazed-out acreage."

According to Fuston, the administration proposal on wheat, "Could prove a real tool in helping to reduce production."

Fuston pointed out that under present policy, farmers are required to set aside 10 percent of their feedgrains acreage on crops including corn and grain sorghum.

"Under the proposed payment program, a man will have to leave out another 10 percent of his corn and sorghum acreage, which would mean a 20 percent set-aside on feedgrains. With the set aside of the additional 10 percent, the farmer would get payments of 20 cents per bushel times his normal yield, times planted acres on both corn and 12 cents on sorghum. This is the explanation I have received from officials over the phone," Fuston commented.

Although some government agriculture officials were expected to start receiving additional details and launch the program

Carter Meets with Human Rights Leaders

During Last Day of Latin America Tour

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) - President Carter concluded his visit to Latin America today by meeting with Brazilian champions of human rights who are critics of the military government. One reported that Carter said human rights have improved in Brazil.

The meeting was not expected to please Carter's official hosts. The critics, including two Roman Catholic cardinals, spent 45 minutes exchanging views with the president. Carter departed afterward for Nigeria, where he will become the first American president to make a state visit to black Africa.

Julio Mesquita Neto, a publisher and member of the group who met with the president, said Carter was told that the Brazilian press has played a major role in the defense of human rights.

"The president agreed and told us that the increase in freedom of the press existing now in the country represents an improvement in the human rights situation," Mesquita told reporters after the meeting ended.

He said Carter asked many questions about human rights in Brazil, press freedom, the nation's economy and the opinions of group members about political affairs in Africa. Carter will be the first American president to visit black Africa.

He will confer with Gen. Olusegun Obasanjo, chief of state in oil-rich Nigeria, seven jet hours across the south Atlantic from Brazil. Obasanjo is likely to ask Carter to get tougher against white-minority governments on the subcontinent.

Nigeria is the third developing nation on Carter's seven-day tour of South America and Africa. He has spent two days each in Brazil and Venezuela. The president, wife Rosalynn and 10-year-old daughter Amy will visit Liberia before returning to Washington late Monday.

Although not all of the six Brazilians meeting with Carter are outspoken critics of the Brazilian regime, most have opposed at least some government policies and are associated the human rights cause Carter espouses.

White House press secretary Jody Powell said that before Carter's final meeting with Brazilian President Ernesto Geisel on Thursday, the American president's human rights crusade and his opposition to Brazil's purchase of nuclear technology capable of production weapons-grade uranium had "poisoned the atmosphere" between Brazil and the United States.

However, Powell, speaking for the administration, said two days of talks between Carter and Geisel, ranging far beyond the issues of human rights and nuclear non-proliferation, laid the groundwork for improved relations.

Carter himself said in the presence of reporters that his meetings with Geisel had been "delightful and very productive."

Whatever gamble on goodwill his meeting with government critics represented, Carter was willing to take it. "It's important for me to visit with different persons who represent different views," he told reporters Thursday.

"I noticed, for instance, with some interest, that when President Geisel visited the Federal Republic of Germany recently he not only met with Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, he also met with leaders of the opposition parties," Carter said.

"As a leader of a nation, I reserve the right to meet with whom I please."

Powell said Carter's meeting with the six Brazilians was "an opportunity to talk with people who represent a rather broad spectrum and a number of areas.

Cotton Voted New Boss Of Lions Club

By BOB NIGH
Staff Writer

Gayle Cotton withstood the efforts of campaign manager Clete Corlis and the appearance of "Charlie's Angels" Thursday night to be elected president of the Hereford Noon Lions Club at an election party held at the Community Center.

Cotton, who currently serves as the club's 1st vice president, edged out fellow Lion Charlie Bell by a slim one-vote margin for the honor of leading the club for next year. He will soon replace outgoing "Boss Lion" Buddie Evans.

Some 200 people in the audience enjoyed the annual antics of the Lions' election party, which is well known for its surprises pulled by the campaign managers of the candidates.

Neil Cooper, manager for Bell, delighted the audience with his production of the "Angels". Susie McGee and Patsy Morris. The singing duo, dressed in the T in hot pants, gaudy jewelry, and flippant wigs, entertained the crowd with a campaign song for Bell, and the later performed an encore as votes were being counted.

Cotten, a local CPA, will head up a slate of officers for next year which will include secretary Nicks Fariss, treasurer Calvin Jones, vice presidents Dickie Gerries, Sid Shaw, and John David Bryant, Lion Tamers Speedy Nieman and Mark Andrews, Tail Twisters Bob Nigh

Last-Minute Rush

Lines at the Deaf Smith County tax assessor-collector's office Thursday extended into the hallway as numerous Hereford residents waited until the last two days to purchase vehicle-registration stickers. Deadline for registration is 5 p.m. today although motorists are not considered to be driving illegally until Sunday, the second day of April. County offices will be closed Saturday. Both the Texas Department of Public Safety in Deaf Smith County and Hereford police said today that since the lawful deadline is midnight Saturday, drivers bearing expired stickers would not be ticketed until Tuesday. [Brand photo by Paul Sims]

Endless Election Continues in Osona

OSONA, Texas (AP) - They're still awaiting the outcome of the May 1976 Precinct One commissioner's election in Crockett County. And they'll have to keep on waiting, at least until June 3, 1978.

Incumbent Jeff Marley led the pack in May 1976 and won a runoff in June 1976 by 32 votes over Sothenes DeHoyes.

DeHoyes, however, filed a law suit in federal court contesting the election and a three-judge panel in Dallas ordered a new election for Dec. 10, 1977.

Marley and DeHoyes finished atop the pack and again had to face each other in a runoff - this one on Jan. 7, 1978. Marley won that one, too, but DeHoyes challenged it with a state court suit alleging voting irregularities.

State District Judge George Thurmond of Del Rio ruled Thursday that a fifth election should be held June 3 after Marley and DeHoyes agreed that there had been voting irregularities in the Jan. 7, 1978, runoff.

DeHoyes contended in his state court suit that numerous persons who voted in the election were not residents of the precinct.

"In concurrence with the parties involved, I found that such a quality of illegal votes would have been cast as to affect the outcome of the election," Thurmond said.

John Wayne To Have Surgery on Heart

BOSTON (AP) - Actor John Wayne will undergo heart surgery to replace an aortic valve Saturday morning, according to a Boston television station.

Spokesmen for Massachusetts General Hospital declined to comment on the report, which WNAC attributed to sources at the hospital.

"We try to protect the privacy of patients who are in with an illness," said Martin Bander, a hospital spokesman. WNAC reported Thursday night that the surgeon will be Dr. Mort Buckley, a heart specialist at the hospital.

Buckley, reached at home, declined comment.

"He's being examined," said Chris Bullock, another MGH spokesman. "It's not related to cancer. That's all we can say."

Wayne, who has starred in more than 200 movies in 50 years, many of them as a war or cowboy hero, had a widely publicized bout with cancer that cost him a lung in 1964. He used to smoke four to five packs of cigarettes a day before coming down with cancer.

Interviewed by telephone earlier this week by a Boston radio station, Wayne said from California that he was not being treated for cancer.

"No, pneumonia," he said. "Hell, I got rid of that cancer 14 years ago."

Wayne also was quoted earlier in the week as saying he had been "sick as a dog" since Thanksgiving.

News Clippings, Tapes Subpoenaed in Hearings

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) - News clippings and tapes from 35 South Texas news operations have been subpoenaed to a change of venue hearing for persons indicted here on manpower related charges.

A pair of Brownsville state judges were to decide today if the 19 persons, including two suspended state officials, can get fair trials here.

The indictments returned in January include witness tampering charges against Rogelio Perez, suspended director of the Governor's Office on Migrant Affairs GOMA; Joaquin Rodriguez, suspended GOMA program director; and Fred Galindo, a former Cameron County district attorney.

The change of venue hearing was ordered by Judges Filemon Vela and Harry Lewis after several defendants asked to have their trials moved. Eliseo Sandoval, director of a Hidalgo County anti-poverty agency, Nick Ramirez, director of the Hidalgo County manpower program, and Ed Romero, former auditor for the anti-poverty agency, had sought changes of venue.

Sandoval and Ramirez, former business partner, are on leave from their posts.

Earthquake Rocks Puget Sound Region

SEATTLE (AP) - A moderate earthquake rocked a wide and heavily populated section of the Puget Sound region early today, but authorities said no damage or injuries were reported.

Frank Baldwin of the Newport geophysical observatory in eastern Washington said the quake registered 4.2 on the open-ended Richter scale and appeared to be centered about halfway between Tacoma, on the east side of the sound, and Bremerton, on the west.

The quake was of sufficient force to be felt over a 50-mile radius, Baldwin said.

It followed a quake that was centered in Anchorage, Alaska, Thursday night that had a magnitude of about 5 on the Richter scale, the U.S. Geological Survey in Washington, D.C., reported.

Spokesman Don Kelly said the Alaska tremor occurred at 7:38 p.m. EST. He said no there were no reports of damage or injuries but that the quake was widely felt.

The Richter scale is a measurement of ground motion in which each number represents a tenfold increase in force. Thus an earthquake measured at 4.0 is 10 times as strong as a 3.0 tremor.

Police Report

Sally Walker, of Red Arrow Freight Service, 105 S. Blevins, told police Thursday that between 12-5 p.m. Wednesday someone stole her citizen's band radio.

Police said the car was unlocked when entry was gained.

Police are searching for three Mexican-American women who entered Dick's Auto Store, 228 Main, Thursday and reportedly stole a set of silverware, a Sunbeam electric can opener and a Sunbeam iron.

A minor traffic accident was investigated by police at 3 p.m. Thursday at 603 Lee.

'Mass Meeting' Shakes Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter is telling a joke about himself these days that goes like this:

"Trying to shore up support for the Panama Canal treaties, he called a 'mass meeting' of treaty supporters to explore the problems he faced."

"Both of us were glad the other came," he says. "It was one of the worst days I ever had. I went home that night. The only way I could relax the tension that I felt as president was to take a warm bath in the tub," he says. "I got in the tub and my Ivory soap sank."

Carter waited to tell the story until aides felt confident they would win the first Panama Canal treaty vote in the Senate. That was the night before the vote.

The story has been getting laughs, and the president has been grinning at it, but there is a touch of bitter-sweet humor to it: The spring of 1978 presents some of the greatest challenges yet during Carter's White House tenure and the president could have several more close contests he may not want to joke about for some time.

"These next few months are critical in terms of the rest of the administration. There is a lot at stake," said one high-ranking administration official. "Our hope is in the next month we can show a breakthrough."

There is one more Panama Canal treaty to be voted on, most likely next month. Energy legislation has been hanging around for a year.

There are faltering peace initiatives in the Middle East, Soviet military activities in Africa and proposals to reduce taxes and revise the U.S. tax system.

Also, the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty talks, which Carter hoped would be concluded in 1977, continue in Geneva with little sign of a breakthrough.

That is a tall order, one that Carter is quick to point out was not entirely of his making.

Kenneth G. Carroll Pastors New Church

A new church in Dimmitt, the Bible Baptist Church, will begin regular worship services Sunday.

The church is located at 106 E. Halsell St., just east of the Circle K Grocery.

The new church will begin as a mission church from the Greenwood Baptist Church of Hereford until it becomes incorporated as an independent Baptist Church.

The pastor is Kenneth G. Carroll, who has been serving as a member of the Greenwood Baptist Church for about the last 15 months. A native of Hereford, he has served in pastorates in Ohio and Michigan. He was ordained in Durham, N.C. in December 1964 and is a graduate of the Baptist Bible College in Springfield, Mo.

He and his wife, Janice, have five children, three of whom live at home in Hereford. He is employed in the advertising department of the Hereford Brand.

Sunday services will include Sunday School at 10 a.m., morning worship at 11, and evening worship services at 7:30. Wednesday evening services will be at 7:30 also.

The Bible Baptist Church of Dimmitt will be supporting missionaries through the Missions Offices of both the Baptist Bible College of Springfield, Mo., and Arlington Baptist College.

and Temple Abney, and directors Tom Robinson, Don Hicks, Chuck Boyd, and Ben Harris. Boyd and Harris are carry-over directors, while Robinson and Hicks were elected to that office Thursday night.

Some dignitaries witnessed the antics at the election party, including District 27-1 Lions Lieutenant Governor Al Temple and his wife, District Queen Sharon Lindeman of Canyon, and former District Governor Raymond White, a member of the Noon club.

Current president Evans presided over the meeting, and expressed the club's appreciation to Lions Shaw and Tom Carter for their work in the recent Pancake Supper, which raised over $2,000 to go toward the new Kids, Inc. baseball complex here.

Shaw and Carter were presented with engraved paper weights as a token of appreciation from the club.

The Lions will complete a busy week Saturday with the weekly card of wrestling at the Bull Barn and volunteer help for the Hi-Plains Eye Bank.

Club members are also currently handling advance sales of tickets to the YMCA Partner of Youth Banquet, which will be held at the Bull Barn next Friday night with Dallas Cowboys standout Randy White the featured attraction.

Payments

Monday. Fuston did not expect the local office to receive final details until late Tuesday.

"Since the administration proposal does not need congressional approval, I feel confident we should have our information by Wednesday," the local ASCS spokesman said.

According to USDA officials in Washington, the payment of the administration plan requires that a farmer cannot plant more feedgrains this year than he had in 1977 in order to qualify.

Unlike many past programs which paid farmers to idle part of their land, the new approach involves making payments on the basis of how many acres of cotton or feedgrains a farmer plants for 1978.

Local farmers are being urged to consult with local ASCS officials to figure out their own production alternatives under the proposed program.

Elections

department at Armour Foods, is a member of the American GI Forum and the VFW and president of the Parish Council at San Jose Catholic Church.

"I believe that community involvement is what I want to do right now," Arnsola said. "Being bi-lingual—the population of Hereford what it is now—would be a great asset to the city of Hereford."

Arnsola is seeking his first elected position. Brownlow has prior service on the city commission.

Brownlow, a building contractor, served one term on the commission then ran for mayor in 1977.

Running unopposed is Dickie Gerles, First National Bank vice president, who will win the Place 3 seat on the commission.

Gerles will replace Stan Fry, who is running for the Deaf Smith County commission.

Unopposed candidates for the school board are president James Gentry, Place 1; Jim Arney, Place 2, and Paul Rameriz, Place 7. Rameriz was appointed to fill the unexpired term of David Pruitt earlier this month after Pruitt moved to Wellington.

Board vice president Clark Andrews and Rinaldo Garcia are fighting for the Place 3 position on the board.

Andrews, a farmer, has served two terms on the school board while Garcia, president of the American GI Forum's Hereford chapter and a federal meat inspector, is seeking his first elected position.

The school board election has attracted the most local attention thus far, with 25 persons voting absentee compared to two in the city election and 12 in hospital board balloting.

The absentee turnout for the school board election was surprising to some followers of local politics since it was not known until Wednesday whether there would be any voted cast on Saturday.

The Justice Department, citing the federal Voting Rights Act and a March 6 ruling by Supreme Court against the City of Sheffield, Ala., filed an injunction against the HISD to have the election delayed on the grounds that the place system might be discriminatory to minority voters and candidates in Hereford.

A federal three-judge panel denied the injunction request Wednesday in Dallas, resulting in the go-ahead for Saturday's election.

about how long the national strike was going on. I'd catch myself thinking, 'That ain't nothing... What do you think about us?'" said Betty Dison, whose husband, James, has been striking since July 1976.

"It's been a hard struggle trying to feed three kids and all on $100 a week strike benefits paid by the UMW," she said.

Two years ago today, the UMW was certified in an election as the bargaining agent for Justus miners. But Blue Diamond Coal Co., the parent company of Stearns Mining, refused to sign the standard union contract after the election, so the miners walked out.

Union officials say Blue Diamond will not agree to UMW safety provisions, including one that allows a union safety committee to close the mine if it is deemed unsafe.

Down the Justus road, three Kentucky state police cruisers - each carrying two troopers - drive up quietly twice each day, then sit in observation as about 30 company officials and employees enter and leave the mine.

The pickets are quiet now. Most remember the sting of police riot sticks after last fall's confrontation between 80 to 100 troopers and about 150 miners and 40 wives. Several miners and police were injured; 79 miners were arrested and 11 were sentenced to six-month jail sentences.

The men were released in December on a promise to Circuit Court Judge J.B. Johnson Jr. that they would not again violate his court order limiting pickets at the mine to six.

The Abundant Life

BOUNCE BACK

BY BOB WEAR

"HE BOUNCED BACK," or "she bounced back" are statements we hear often. We understand the expression to mean someone has recovered from an illness; or has survived a failure and is making or has made a satisfactory comeback; or perhaps has recovered from a state of depression, or some such thing. We exercise much control over these and other difficulties, not total control, but sufficient control to make our life effective.

We can "bounce back" from most things that have the potential to cause our defeat. We have great capacity for thus coping with life, but it is our responsibility to learn how to use it successfully.

IT HELPS US just to know that it is possible to "bounce back." It also helps to know that we must handle ourselves wisely, in order that this possibility can become a reality. We must be sure that we do not let ourselves become so rigid that we cease to function in the most desirable manner.

Some things that cause rigidity in a life are anxiety, prejudice, arrogance, dishonesty, false pride, insecurity and ignorance. None of these is helpful to us, and all of them hurt us. They can be kept out of one's life, and we must keep them out; or get rid of them, if they are now present.

RESILIENCE AND FLEXIBILITY are two of the more necessary life qualities that we must develop, and nourish, in order that we may "bounce back"; when we have slipped, or failed, or have been knocked down by some undesirable happening. Of course, there must be present in such a life the essentials of steadfastness, conviction and stability, but these must thrive and function in the context of resiliency, rather than rigidity.

In life, there will be events and circumstances which buffet us about, and some of this can be very rough, but, if we have equipped ourselves with the best available attitudes and understandings; we will "bounce back."

SUCH A LIFE IS NEVER MOVED from its tried and true foundation, although it does fluctuate within the limits of its permissible and necessary adjustments. This fluctuation contains the resilience and flexibility essential to our ability to "bounce back." A meaningful living experience requires this life structure. It is quite possible for a life to be broken and wasted due to a completely unjustified notion that will not permit the elasticity which would enable the individual to "bounce back." Where this condition develops, it is usually because of the faulty view that rigidity is strength and resilience is weakness. Others will likely say that this is fickleness. The truth is found in the opposite view.

THE LIFE THAT IS FLEXIBLE within the framework of honesty and truth will continue to be effective long after the rigid life is broken and defeated.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, March 31, the 90th day of 1978. There are 275 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1854, the first treaty between the United States and Japan was signed. Two Japanese ports were opened to trade with the outside world.

On this date: In 1889, the Eiffel Tower was opened in Paris.

In 1917, the United States took possession of the American Virgin Islands after their purchase from Denmark.

In 1931, Managua, Nicaragua, was destroyed by an earthquake.

In 1933, during the Great Depression, Congress authorized a Civilian Conservation Corps to employ and train young men.

In 1943, in World War II, American bombers pounded the shipyards at Rotterdam in the Netherlands.

In 1953, Dag Hammarskjöld of Sweden was elected secretary-general of the United Nations.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson declared: "I shall not seek and I will not accept the nomination of my party as president."

Sports Equipment Prices Will Vary

COLLEGE STATION — With "sporting" weather on the way, it's time to shop for sport's equipment, advises Claudia Kerbel, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

When buying equipment, shop around carefully—many discount stores offer the same equipment at greatly reduced prices, she says.

Ask to see several price ranges, and ask about specific differences between the middle priced articles and the higher priced articles.

Often the middle priced article will be the best value—only the most consistent players benefit from buying the highest priced equipment, the specialist explains.

When shopping, ask if last year's models are still available—usually, there is only a cosmetic change.

Beginners might consider renting or borrowing equipment rather than buying, Ms. Kerbel suggests.

People can easily lose interest before they get their money's worth from purchased sport's equipment—or, they often change their minds about the kind of equipment wanted or needed as they gain expertise in the sport.

Some sporting goods stores rent equipment by the day, weekend or week—sometimes with an option to buy included, she adds.

A GOOD FIGHT!

I've always felt a good fight (verbal, of course) was healthy! The only problem is having a good fight, as opposed to a bad one.

Believe it or not, there are rules. Psychologist George R. Bach offers suggestions.

1. Get set. Be prepared to fight by physical exercise and setting the scene. (Bach even suggests an appointment!)
2. Get to the real point. Don't try to hash out petty irritations. Don't use words like "always" and "never". If you do, you're skirting the real issue.
3. Establish the rules. There are some areas with each person that should go untouched. (For example, an obese person would never want that mentioned!)

4. Fight in proportion. If the topic you're fighting over is small, keep the fight likewise.

Also, acknowledge the logical stopping point. All focused fights have a natural ending stage, but make sure each person has had his say.

A good fight can increase communication, facilitate change, and, most importantly, increase self-image and awareness.

Follow the rules and have a try at it!

Electronic Banking Said Risky

WASHINGTON (AP) — When a Texas man discovered someone used his lost or stolen electronic banking card to withdraw $2,300 from his account, he notified the bank.

While there was no negligence on his part, the consumer was unable to get his money back, said Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., who wants to protect the public from such incidents.

Annunzio, who conducted committee hearings on electronic banking, said Wednesday the system could cost people their life savings.

A consumer using the system is given a "debit card" that he can use in a store to have his purchase automatically deducted from his bank account.

Annunzio's bill would give electronic banking customers the same protection already established for credit card users.

The consumer's liability would be limited to the first $50 of unauthorized use and financial institutions would be liable for their mistakes in handling the accounts.

Ann Landers New Era Approved

DEAR ANN: Why do some young women who have plenty of money to spend on clothes go around looking as tacky as possible?

Katie is 17, fairly pretty and intelligent. You'd think she was a hardship case. She wears bib overalls and jeans constantly. Her blouses and sweaters have patches on them and her jeans are faded and torn -- on purpose.

At her own mother's funeral, Katie wore a summer dress in February that barely covered her butt. I couldn't believe it.

Can you explain this somewhat recent phenomenon? -- Are They Blind?

DEAR ARE THEY: No, not blind -- just determined to overplay the "equality" bit and underplay the affluence. Actually, Katie is a bit behind the times. Most of the former protesters against the establishment have washed up, trimmed their hair and gone in for expensive boots, leather and suede jackets and raccoon and possum coats. Money is no longer something to be scorned. Hail the new era!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Re: The letter from the geologist's wife who was outraged that her husband "had" to spend time in the field with a woman geologist whom he was training.

I am a wildlife biologist, educated by and working with me. If that dame wants to call me "ugly," I can live with that. I'm no Farrah Fawcett but then I don't scare horses either.

What I can't accept is that anyone would deny me my profession, which I dearly love. I'm happiest when working. My husband doesn't get bent out of shape when I'm away for two weeks at a time. I'm not trying to prove any of that Lib stuff. I'm just lucky enough to have the kind of job I've always dreamed of. If men can have it, why can't women?

Maybe if Mrs. Bigmouth became involved with something meaningful she might be less prickly toward other people's interests...Love My Work

DEAR LOVE: You talk sense, woman. Glad to give you the opportunity to express yourself.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I want to share a story with all the disgusted mothers-in-law who have written to you about the girls their sons married and the dirty houses they keep.

When my mother-in-law first came to my house 15 years ago, I apologized for my poor housekeeping. Her answer was, "I don't care what your house looks like as long as you love my son and take good care of him."

I'm sorry to say that over the years my housekeeping did not improve (it probably got worse). A few months ago I reminded my mother-in-law of what she had said and asked if she still meant it. She said, "I sure do."

That wonderful woman has closed her eyes to plenty. She has never said one word to make me feel uncomfortable. On the contrary, she always manages to find something to say to put me at ease.

I was lucky to get such a sweet guy and equally lucky to have such a terrific mother-in-law...Evansville

DEAR EVANSVILLE: You sound like a great group--all of you. I'm glad you wrote. Your letter provided a pleasant relief from all the gripes that were dumped on me today about breast-feeding babies in public. You'll read about them next week.

Cut pile carpet will develop a condition called shading, says Pat Seaman, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Shading is the light and dark areas which develop on carpet surface due to light reflection and pile lay, she explains.

It is characteristic of all cut pile carpets and not a defect, Ms. Seaman adds.

Women's Division To Convene Tuesday

Reservations to attend the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce quarterly general membership meeting on Tuesday night should be made before Monday by telephoning the Chamber office, 364-3333.

The meal, costing $5, will be served at 7:30 p.m. at the Country Club.

introduction of new members plus several announcements concerning current projects. Margaret Formby, president of the Women's Division, will conduct the meeting.

Presenting the evening's program will be Jean Burchett of Childress, Panhandle humorist who is in popular demand as an after-dinner speaker and writer. She has been dubbed the "Erma Bombeck of the Panhandle."

On the Women's Division business agenda is the

Benefit Dance Tomorrow Night

Hereford residents are invited to enjoy an evening of solid entertainment while supporting the Panhandle Kidney Foundation Saturday night by attending the first Kidney Ball in the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Tickets for the dance are priced at $15 per couple and available from James Paetzold and Allen Brockman. Admission will be limited to 90 couples and proceeds of tickets sales will go as a direct contribution to the Kidney Foundation.

Providing music for Saturday evening's dance will be "The Sound Express" featuring Tex Rhodes. The band is composed of Tex Rhodes, Chuck Danley, Cecil White, Lewis Poarch and Steve Sanders.

Refreshments will be served by St. Anthony's Women's Organization while the Knights of Columbus act as host for the evening. Dance festivities will begin at 9 p.m. and conclude at 1 a.m.

Allen Brockman, supervisor of the Kidney Foundation's fund-raising efforts in Hereford, expressed appreciation to "The Sound Express." The Knights of Columbus and the SAWO for donating their time and talents in the fight against kidney disease.

Hereford residents gave a total of $1,650 earlier this month in a door-to-door drive. Proceeds of the upcoming Kidney Ball will be added to that sum. The Panhandle's goal has been set at $13,000 and lacks $3,000 in reaching that figure.

Lamaze Classes To Start Monday

Local expectant couples are invited to attend the Lamaze (Childbirth Without Pain) classes, scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. Monday night at First Baptist Church.

Fee for the six-week class will be $20 per couple. All couples planning to participate will be required to pre-enroll by telephoning one of the Lamaze instructors, Penny Jessup at 364-6435 or Glenda Wells at 364-6607.

Future camp outs and hiking trips were discussed by the E-Ha-We Camp Fire group when they met Wednesday at the Community Center.

Sheila Bryan and Debbie Garza served refreshments to Cindy Wilson, Anjelica Baldez, and leaders Susan Guitierrez and Elsa Ramero.

Hospital Auxiliary To Meet

The local Hospital Auxiliary will meet at 12 noon Monday at K-Bob's Steak House for their monthly business session.

All current and prospective members are urged to attend. On the Auxiliary's business agenda will be a report of the recent rummage sale and a presentation by the officers who plan to attend the state convention May 23-25 at San Antonio.

Spring Clean-Up Campaign Scheduled Here April 8-22

Strategies for this year's Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up campaign were drawn up Wednesday afternoon during a meeting of the beautification committee of the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division.

The year's beautification drive is scheduled April 8-22 under the direction of Lavon Nieman, who expressed hopes that citizens of the community will cooperate by improving their properties. Mrs. Nieman suggested that local sites be enhanced through landscaping projects, grading rough grounds and painting buildings and fences. She also asked that residents remove accumulated trash, weeds, dead trees, junked cars and delapidated buildings.

"We are encouraging residents to clean up their private property and take civic pride in their homes and surrounding neighborhood," Mrs. Nieman said. "The success of this drive will be a visible and appreciated asset to the entire community."

Hereford's youth will provide the nucleus of volunteers cleaning public grounds during the coming three weeks. Local Camp Fire Girls have agreed to make posters promoting community beautification and collecting newspapers and aluminum cans for recycling. Proceeds of recycled items will be used to purchase shrubbery. Also, the Camp Fire Girls are expected to turn out 400-strong on April 22 to tidy up a large area in the city.

At least eight other youth organizations are being contacted this week by the Women's Division in hopes that they will agree to participate in the clean-up drive.

In conjunction with the clean-up campaign, Women's Division president Margaret Formby announced that the residential and non-residential "Beauty Spots of the Month" will be announced in mid-April by Lynn Carlile, chairman of that program.

Also, Hereford Kiwanians will be supporting the campaign by staging their annual broom and mop sale here April 21-22. Bill Bankston is chairman of that project.

Other members of the Women's Division beautification task force are Glenda Geries, Denise Sims, Wanda Hoover, Mary Garrison, Billie Faye Ham, Rena Duckworth and Kathryn Kester.

Revival Begins Sunday At Frio Baptist Church

Frio Baptist Church will be in revival this week, beginning Sunday, it has been announced by the church pastor, Johnny Tims.

The guest evangelist for the week will be the Rev. Delbert Serratt, who has been pastor of the First Baptist Church of Claude since 1972. A native of Sudan, Rev. Serratt is a graduate of Wayland Baptist College and Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary at Mill Valley, Calif. Rev. Serratt has been pastor of churches in Texas and Kansas since 1962.

He will be preaching during the revival at 7:30 p.m. each night, Monday through Saturday and each morning at 11 a.m., Sunday through Friday. Sunday evening worship services will begin at 7 p.m.

DELBERT SERRATT

Serving as guest music director during revival services will be Clifford Rogers Jr., youth and music director at Wilshire Park Baptist Church at Midland. In addition to singing and performing piano selections, Rogers will be directing the Frio Baptist Church choir.

Persons planning to attend the Thursday evening revival services are asked to come attired in their oldest clothes, because that service has been designated as "Old Fashioned Night." Friday will be Youth Night with the service centered on young people. A fellowship for the youth is planned after the Friday evening services.

Further information concerning the revival can be obtained from pastor Tims at 276-5380.

Bus Tour To Southern States Involves Hereford Residents

Eighty people, including eight from Hereford, recently returned from a combined bus tour and cruise to the Southern States and Nassau.

Aboard two Trailway buses, one week apart, these people visited points of interest in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, and took a weekend cruise from Miami, Florida to Nassau in the Bahamas on the SS Emerald Seas.

Among the attractions visited were the Vicksburg Battle-ground in Mississippi and the White House of the Confederacy at Montgomery, Ala. In Florida, the group visited the Stephen Foster Memorial on the Swannee River, St. Augustine, which claims the distinction of being the oldest city in the United States, Cypress Gardens and Silver Springs. A tour of Cape Kennedy and a day at Disney World, were interesting features of the tour.

Leaving Miami on Friday and returning on Monday, the groups enjoyed a cruise to Nassau, shopping and sight-seeing tours in the bustling tropical city.

The Emerald Seas was docked approximately two blocks from Bay Street and down town Nassau, and tour members came and went as they pleased. Returning to the United States, the groups again boarded their Trailways Silver Eagle buses and continued their drive through Florida along the Gulf Coast by way of Panama City, to Mobile, Ala. where they toured that city.

After an overnight stay in Mobile, they visited the scenic Bellingrath Gardens, and then went to New Orleans for two nights. While there they dined at some of the five internationally known restaurants, strolled along Bourbon Street and visited the old French Quarter. A Gray Lines Tour of the old French city was included.

Departing New Orleans, the groups traveled across Lake Pontchartrain and on to Natchez, Miss. and the world-famous Natchez Pilgrimage. That night they attended the Confederate Pageant, a colorful attraction featuring the natives of Natchez. This was considered by some of the group as one of the highlights of the entire tour.

Leaving Natchez, the luxurious motor coaches carried the sight-seers through Shreveport to Dallas and the farewell banquet and overnight stay at the Dallas Sheraton Hotel. They arrived in Amarillo at mid-afternoon Monday where they said goodbye to their friends with whom they had enjoyed a memorable tour of the Southern States and a Nassau cruise.

On the tour from Hereford were Jo and Susie Robinson, Eunice Petersen, and Mrs. Annie Lee Dobbins. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson served as escorts on one of the buses. Joining the group at Miami, for the Nassau cruise only were Mr. and Mrs. Byron Terrell of Hereford.

For God So Loved The World

The rain brings a flood of lessons in faith

It was during a drought that the preacher spoke out
 At the farmers whose fields had turned yellow;
 "You have come hereto pray for some rainfall today,
 Yet I don't see a single umbrella!"
 Now man can make rain, seeding clouds from a plane,
 And he feels justifiably proud;
 And yet something was needed before he succeeded,
 For God had to furnish the cloud!
 Though there's much we can do, and it's certainly true
 That in Church we can learn what we're worth;
 Let this lesson explain that, including the rain,
 It was God who made heaven and earth!

I saw God wash the world last night.
 Ah, would He had washed me
 As clean of all my dust and dirt
 As that old white birch tree.
 —William Leroy Stidger

Texas, Angels To Challenge Royals

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

Can the stand-pat Kansas City Royals hold off the challenge of the free-spending Texas Rangers and California Angels in the American League West?

"It seems to get tougher and tougher each year," says Manager Whitey Herzog, who has piloted the Royals to consecutive division titles, only to lose to the New York Yankees each time in the ninth inning of the fifth and final playoff game. "But now," he adds, "it looks like the '78 race may be the toughest yet."

The Royals didn't go after any of the expensive free agents, but they did get relief ace Al Hrabosky in a trade with the St. Louis Cardinals. And they have a pair of rookies who could crack a set lineup - center fielder Willie Wilson and outfielder-first baseman Clint Hurdle.

Kansas City's basic strength is the players who have won more than 90 games three years in a row. The set positions are Al Cowens in right, George Brett at third, Fred Patek at short, Frank White at second, Darrell Porter catching and Hal McRae as the designated hitter.

But they may lack for pitching depth unless Andy Hassler develops some consistency to go with Dennis Leonard, Jim Colborn and Paul Spittorff in the regular rotation. Hrabosky and Doug Bird provide a strong lefty-righty bullpen.

But Texas has almost as many backers as new players. The Rangers added slugging outfielders Al Oliver and Richie Zisk and pitchers Jon Matlack, Ferguson Jenkins and Doc Medich.

"We will present a strong lineup on a daily basis and we figure to have strong pitching," says Manager Billy Hunter, who led the Rangers to a pennant-winning .645 pace after he took over.

The pitching will have a decided New York flavor. Doyle Alexander, Dock Ellis and Medich are ex-Yankees. Matlack an ex-Met. Paul Lindblad is the bullpen ace, but watch a youngster named Len Barker, who struck out seven of 10 Boston batters he faced in one 1977 game.

Rifled-armed Jim Sundberg, the Gold Glove catcher, is a vastly improved hitter and the infield is set with Mike Hargrove at first, Bump Wills at second, Bert Campaneris at short and Toby Harrah at third. Zisk will be the DH with Oliver, Juan Beniquez and Claudell Washington from left to right in the outfield.

Despite last year's fifth-place finish, California Manager Dave Garcia says this year's edition is "the best team ever to represent the Angels."

Outfielder Joe Rudi and second baseman Bobby Grich are back from crippling injuries that produced much of last year's disappointment. Rudi will be joined in the outfield by free agent Lyman Bostock, who finished second to Minnesota teammate Rod Carew in the batting race with a .336 average, and rookie sensation Ken Landreaux or free agent Rick Miller.

Few teams have as exciting a 1-2 pitching punch as Nolan Ryan and Frank Tanana. The rest of the rotation will come from Paul Hartzell, Ken Brett, Chris Knapp and Don Aase.

Slugging outfielder Bobby Bonds, who came from California and becomes a free agent next fall, is this year's rent-a-star for Bill Veeck's third-place Chicago White Sox, who lost Zisk and Oscar Gamble, their two top home-run hitters, in the re-entry draft.

Bonds had more homers and runs batted in than anyone on last year's club and also stole 41 bases. The White Sox as a team swiped just 42. Ralph Garr and Chet Lemon, both fast, will likely join Bonds in the outfield, and there's even more speed in promising Thad Bosley, who came with Bonds in the trade with the Angels. Ron Blomberg is the DH.

The infield has hard-hitting Lamar Johnson at first, Jorge Orta at second, Alan Bannister at short and Eric Soderholm at third and Kevin Bell, the good-looking 1976 rookie third baseman, has recovered from a knee injury. Jim Essian is the No. 1 receiver.

However, pitching is still the major problem.

The Minnesota Twins lost two-thirds of their outfield - RRI champ Larry Hisle and Bostock - to free agency. They still have first baseman Rod Carew, baseball's best hitter with a .388 average, and 20-game winner Dave Goltz, but there's a vast rebuilding job to do.

Manager Gene Mauch predicts there will be "enough good hitters on either side of Carew to keep those pitchers honest with him." He names right fielder Dan Ford, catcher Butch Wynegar, shortstop Roy Smalley and third baseman Mike Cabbage, plus lefty DH Glenn Adams. But much depends on whether Bob Gorinski and Willie Norwood can fill the outfield gaps.

The Seattle Mariners finished sixth in their first season, largely because the Oakland A's are in the same division. The Mariners have some punch in outfielders Ruppert Jones and Lee Stanton, first baseman Dan Meyer, third baseman Bill Wstein and catcher Bob Stinson and they've added a couple of free agent bats in Bruce Bochte and Bob Robertson.

But the pitching staff is a mass of sore arms.

The A's are still in Oakland, which means the American League still has Charlie Finley to kick around. Center fielder Bill North is the only holdover from the glory days.

There might be some improvement, though, because last year's promising youngsters have a year's experience. The best ones are outfielders Mitchell Page and Tony Armas, third baseman Wayne Gross, shortstop Rob Picciolo and pitchers Rick Langford, Pablo Torrealba and Bob Lacey.

The A's also have veterans in catcher Manny Sanguillen, DH Earl Williams and first baseman Dick Allen. Trade acquisitions Gary Alexander catcher, Dave Revering first base and Gary Thomasson outfield should help.

Prediction: 1. Kansas City. 2. Texas. 3. California. 4. Chicago. 5. Oakland. 6. Minnesota. 7. Seattle.

Bulldog Rally Defeats Herd

The Borger Bulldogs came up with four runs in the bottom of the sixth inning Thursday to wipe out a 2-0 Hereford lead and claim a 4-2 non-district baseball decision over the Whitefaces.

Hereford, now 5-5 on the year, took a 2-0 lead in the second inning on a pair of walks, a Bulldog error, and a hit by Ricky Matchett, but the Bulldogs, 3-6, shook Herd starter Kevin Bunch for four runs in the sixth, three of them unearned, for the victory.

Bunch got the first batter to fly out in the sixth, but two consecutive throwing errors, a passed ball, a walk, and a triple lead to the Bulldog uprising.

Bunch, now 2-2 on the year.

walked seven and struck out the same number in absorbing the defeat. Raythan Cotton, 1-1, got the win for Borger. Each team was limited to three hits in the contest.

The Bulldogs open District 1-3A play next Tuesday in Dumas, while the Whitefaces will face the Demons in a make-up game Saturday at 2 p.m.

Extra Baseball Blanks Needed

Additional applications for Hereford Kids, Incorporated Baseball play were to be distributed through the local schools today after a larger-than-expected response was felt.

Original consignments of entry blanks were distributed through the schools Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The original deadline of turning the blanks in was today, but that date has been extended to next Tuesday, April 4.

May 1 is the proposed date for opening the season, and Kids, Inc. officials and volunteers will hold another in a series of workdays at the new park complex site at 15th and Whittier Saturday.

Twisters In Sunday Exhibition

The Hereford Twisters enter their sophomore year of soccer action Sunday when they host the Amarillo Dragons at 3 p.m. at the HHS band practice field.

The exhibition game will be the first opportunity for the public to see the team, coached by Paolo Marra, in action. There is no admission charge for the game.

The Twisters is a team made up entirely of local players.

Middle linebacker Ralph Ortega of the Atlanta Falcons is the only Cuban-born player in the National Football League.

In the first ten starts of his career, in 1976 and 1977, Seattle Slew was never in a photo finish.

Ski jumpers earn points in competition based equally on distance covered and the form demonstrated.

Busy Slate Ahead

The weekend will again be busy for HHS athletes with representatives of all spring sports in action across the Panhandle.

The Herd girls' track team, fem linkster Barbara Scott, and the HHS tennis teams began play at the Amarillo Relays today, while the boys' track team travels to Plainview tomorrow with the varsity baseballers on the road at Dumas and the JV baseball team set for a twinbill in Plainview.

The boys' golf team traveled to Lubbock today for the 4th of six District 4-A rounds, and the Herd was trying to improve on a 19-stroke edge over the field as they sought their first ever loop title. The varsity baseballers are coming off a 4-2 loss at Borger yesterday as they look to a make-up game with the Demons Saturday. Coach David Ashby's troops will open loop play at Plainview next Tuesday.

Darlene Sanders (220 and 100) and Velma Arroyos (880) loomed as the HHS girls' track team's top hopes in the extremely large field assembled for the Amarillo Relays today. Prelims will take up much of the day, with finals set for Saturday.

Scott, district medalist last season by 30 strokes, trails in this year's race by a single shot. The loop fems had the third round postponed last week due to the Easter break, and will make that action up next week in Lubbock.

The boys' track team will welcome back sprinter Paul Bell when it goes to Plainview tomorrow. Bell will run the open 440 and a leg on the mile relay team at the meet.

Junior Jackie Mercer still will not be ready for action, however, after a recurrence of an old injury in practice Wednesday.

The Whitefaces have hopes in the mile relay with Bell, Greg Brockman, Gerald Vaughn and Keith Adams as well as in the shot put with Mike Kerr, discus with Jim Fish, and Brockman, Brent Allen, and Barry Morgan in the hurdles events.

Darkhorse in Waiting

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

As momentum builds up for the Kentucky Derby's winter book favorites, Alydar and Affirmed, in key races a continent apart this weekend, a speedy bay colt with giant-killer potential settles down in Barn 23 at Belmont Park to bide his time.

Unbeaten Sensitive Prince, son of the great Majestic Prince, will play the waiting game.

"We're going to try not to over-race him before the Derby," said Trainer Allen Jerkens, declining to commit himself on the Wood Memorial and other preparatory tests. "This horse has a beautiful will to win. We want him to be dead fit but would like to avoid too many tough races. It must stay fun for him."

Jerkens is a robust Long Island native who grew up around his father's stable in Islip. In his family gray fedora and with his self-effacing attitude, he has built up a strong reputation himself around the tracks as a "spoiler" and a "giant-killer."

It was he who saddled Onion for the upset triumph over Secretariat at Saratoga in 1973 and plucked some more strands from the triple crown champion's tail with Prove Out later at Belmont. Six times Jerkens sent Bold Purple against Kelso, the all-time leading money winner, and broke even 3-3.

"I don't deserve any credit," the trainer said modestly. "They were all good horses. Onion got a great ride from Jorge Velasquez at Saratoga. Remember Prove Out went on to win the Jockey Club and Gray Lag. Looks like a good sire. We're getting a bunch of his yearlings this spring."

Jerkens, who has trained for Jack Dreyfus since 1962, was singled out to prepare Sensitive Prince for stardom.

"He won his first race as a 2-year-old at Hialeah, setting a record for five furlongs," he said, "but then was put away because of shin problems. Joseph Taub owner came to me in October and asked would I take him over."

Sensitive Prince has won four races this year, showing record-breaking speed.

Ty Cobb of the Detroit Tigers led the American League in batting 12 times.

Argentinian Cops Greensboro Lead

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) - In his own country, he's probably the nation's best golfer - winner of some 40 tournaments, five times the national open champion, twice a representative of Argentina in World Cup play.

But Florentino Molina, a slender, graying, 39-year-old, is just another face on the American WPGA tour, a battler for spots in the Monday morning qualifying rounds; largely unsuccessful in four years of competition on the American tour; often in danger of losing his playing rights.

His 6-under-par 66 gave him the first-round lead Thursday in the $240,000 Greater Greensboro Open. It marked the first time Molina has held a clear lead in an American event.

He held a single shot advantage over Wally Armstrong, a non-winner whose 67 was the only round of the day that did not include a bogey.

Gene Littler, a 47-year-old veteran, 24-year-old rookie David Thore, and a pair of one-time high school teammates from San Jose, Calif., Roger Maltbie and Forrest Fezler, had 68s on the hilly, 6,984-yard Forest Oaks Country Club course.

Lanny Wadkins, the PGA champion and the top attraction in a weak field, shot 70. Defending titleholder Danny Edwards took 76, 4 strokes higher than his brother Dave, an amateur. Al Geiberger had a 72 in his first start of the season.

Molina, a pro since 1957, gained his American playing rights in 1974 but didn't start on the tour until the following year. It's been a constant struggle to retain his Approved Players' card ever since.

He went into the late-fall B.C. Classic last year needing about $2,000 in winnings from that tournament to retain his spot on the tour.

He finished fourth and won $9,400. So he came back. He came back after winning five times in 10 starts in Argentina and, two weeks ago, even though fighting an allergy problem, he collected $6,610 with a 12th place finish in the important Tournament Players Championship.

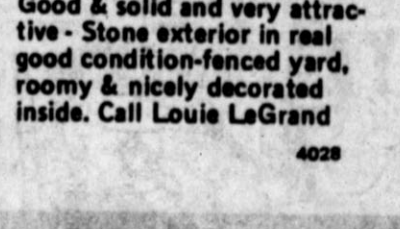

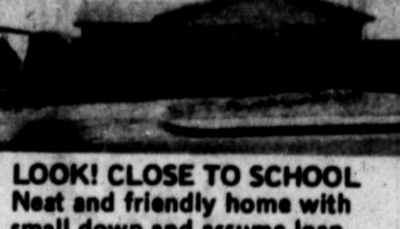

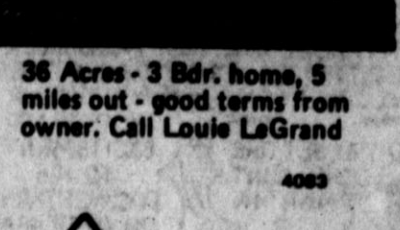

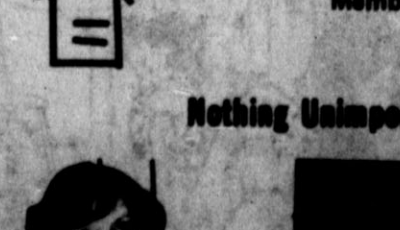

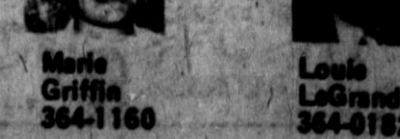

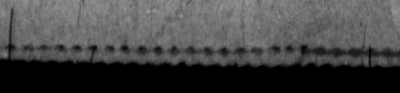

A quick trip home followed, and he came back with a solid effort that included a single bogey and only one missed green in the bright, warm sunshine.

He scored four birdies with putts in the 12-15 foot range, twice flew short-iron approaches some 4 feet from the cup and came within 4 inches of making eagle-2 with an 8-iron shot.

In the 1977 National Football League season, Ray Wersching of San Francisco twice kicked a field goal in the closing seconds of a game to defeat the New Orleans Saints.

Renfro's Decision Coming in Month

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) - Mel Renfro, a 14-year veteran defensive back of the Dallas Cowboys, says he will decide in a month whether to retire from football.

The five-times All-Pro was invited at the last minute to the spring training camp of the World Champion Cowboys Thursday.

Renfro frolicked like a young colt through the agility drills.

"My bad knee really felt good but how will it feel 30 days from now," said Renfro. "I should know by May if I can play another season."

Renfro told The Associated Press he wondered if he was going to be invited to the three-day practice camp.

"All the other players got a letter in February," said Renfro. "They just called me up a day before the camp. Does that tell you anything?"

Renfro, who has been to 10 Pro Bowls, was used only in spot situations last year but still intercepted two passes.

"If I feel good, I'd like to go another year," said Renfro.

Veteran defensive tackle Jethro Pugh was the only

Cowboy missing the drills, which are designed to melt away pounds gained since the Super Bowl XII victory over Denver.

Under the watchful eye of Coach Tom Landry, the Cowboys ran obstacle courses, lifted weights and triple jumped under a hot sun.

"I wasn't a believer about off-season conditioning but I am now," said a sweat-soaked Drew Pearson. "A lot of teams don't do anything like this in the National Football League and I think it gives us an edge. I've noticed some of the other clubs have started to jump on our bandwagon."

While the players groaned and moaned under the 80-degree temperatures, there were moments of high humor.

Free-safety Cliff Harris almost mangled assistant Coach Danny Reeves in a collision at the triple jump pit.

Super Bowl hero Butch Johnson knocked over four of five cones marking an agility course, prompting Coach Landry to crack "Hey Butch, you missed one."

Rookie Tony Dorsett, who suffered a severe knee bruise in the Super Bowl, showed no traces of a limp.

Offensive tackle Rayfield Wright, bouncing back off knee surgery, displayed some of the quickness that made him an All-Pro.

Defensive end Harvey Martin, co-winner of the Most Valuable Player award in the Super Bowl along with Randy White, was in a leisure suit. His mouth was wired shut. Martin had his jaw broken a month ago to improve his facial appearance. He was already lost 30 pounds.

Quarterback Roger Staubach was one of the most vocal leaders.

"An hour a day keeps the young quarterbacks away," said the 35-year-old Staubach.

The Cowboys started their off-season program in 1970 and have been to the Super Bowl four times.

"You can't survive anymore without an off-season program," said Landry. "Everything that can have one does it."

Pearson added "With the 16 game season on the books, you'll be able to tell the teams who don't have off-season conditioning—like in December."

Sox' Hopes Jump With Super Trade

By DAVE O'HARA
AP Sports Writer

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) - The Boston Red Sox' pennant hopes jumped like the price of gold today with the acquisition of Dennis Eckersley in an all-out bid to dethrone the New York Yankees.

"One man can't win the pennant, but Eckersley is more than one man," veteran first baseman George Scott said Thursday after the Red Sox wooed the young right-hander from the Cleveland Indians in a multiplayer trade.

The Red Sox, who boast such an awesome lineup that a 30-home run hitter like Butch Hobson bats ninth, outbid the Yankees and several other major league clubs for Eckersley to bolster their lone weakness.

After weeks of negotiations with the Indians, Boston General Manager Haywood Sullivan completed the deal while the Red Sox were whipping the New York Mets 8-0 in an exhibition game.

However, Eckersley, along with veteran catcher Fred Kendall didn't come cheap. The pair cost the Red Sox right-handed pitchers Rick Wise and Mike Paxton and two outstanding rookies, first baseman-third baseman Ted Cox and catcher Mike Diaz.

"We gave up one helluva lot, but we got one of the top five or six pitchers in baseball," Sullivan said. "We want to win and this gives us a much better shot. Eckersley is capable of striking out 200 batters a season. The sky is the limit for him, pitching and winning with our young club."

Eckersley, only 23, had a 14-13 record, including a 1-0 no-hit victory over the California Angels, in just his third year with the lowly Indians last season. He has a 40-32 major league record, striking out 543 in 633 innings.

"With him over here, it should add 10 to 15 points to my batting average," Scott said. "I won't take any predictions, but Luis Tiant, Mike Torrez, Bill Lee and Eckersley - that's four damn good pitchers. You have to be tough to beat four like that."

"It took a lot of guts to make that trade, but I like it," Boston captain Carl Yastrzemski said. "We gave up a lot of people. However, our farm system has developed a lot of young players and we can afford to give up people to get an outstanding pitcher like Eckersley."

Dennis Traded, Vida Shows Up, Jones Happy

By BERT ROSENTHAL
AP Sports Writer

The acquisition of Dennis Eckersley has made the Boston Red Sox really believe they can win the American League pennant. The appearance in camp of Vida Blue has convinced the San Francisco Giants there really is a Vida Blue. And a nine-inning performance has made Randy Jones really believe he can pitch again.

Eckersley, a hard-throwing right-hander who won 14 games, including a no-hitter for Cleveland last season, was obtained by the Red Sox Thursday, along with catcher Fred Kendall, from the Indians for pitchers Rick Wise and Mike Paxton, infielder Ted Cox and catcher Bo Diaz.

Blue rejoined the Giants. Blue, a fireballing left-hander, had practiced only one day with the Giants since being obtained from the Oakland A's for seven players March 15. After that, he said he was unhappy with his contract and went to his mother's home in Mansfield, La.

And Jones matched his complete game total of last season with a route-going effort as the San Diego Padres beat the California Angels 7-2 in an exhibition game.

The Baltimore Orioles dropped a 3-2 exhibition game to the Atlanta Braves, the winning run scoring on a wild pitch by Scott McGregor.

In other exhibitions: run-scoring singles by Ron Blomberg and Royle Stillman highlighted a three-run seventh-inning that helped the Chicago White Sox edge the New York Yankees 3-2. Detroit's Jim Slaton went eight innings, spacing five hits, for his fourth straight victory as the Tigers defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-1.

Rod Carew, the six-time AL batting champion, drove in three runs with a single and double, while Geoff Zahn and Greg Thayer combined for a six-hitter as the Minnesota Twins blanked the Montreal Expos 4-0. Two-run homers by Dwight Evans, Bernie Carbo and Jack Brohamer backed the four-hit pitching of Bill Lee and Bill Campbell as the Boston Red Sox rocked the New York Mets 8-0.

Jim Mason's run-scoring single in the 10th inning lifted the Texas Rangers to a 6-5 victory over the Kansas City Royals. The Cincinnati Reds got the winning run in the 11th inning when St. Louis reliever Butch Metzger overran Mike Lum's tap toward the mound in topping the Cardinals 5-4.

The San Francisco Giants clubbed five doubles, including a two-run shot by Mario Guerrero, during a five-run third inning en route to a 7-4 triumph over the Cleveland Indians.

Fight Awakens Bullets

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

It erupted suddenly, as most fights do in the National Basketball Association, with 6:13 remaining in a close but not particularly well-played game between the Washington Bullets and New York Knicks Thursday night.

Washington's 6-foot-11, 240-pound Mitch Kupchak and New York's 6-8, 245-pound Lonnie Shelton, two young, physical players, went for a rebound under the Washington basket. They exchanged shoves and Kupchak pushed Shelton away with a straight-arm.

Shelton hesitated, then threw a hard right-hand punch that caught Kupchak squarely. More punches were thrown by Shelton before Kupchak hit the deck and a group of players led by Washington's Wes Unseld were able to restrain Shelton.

Both players were ejected from the game, which Washington went on to win 123-108 by outscoring New York 29-16 the rest of the way. Afterward, Kupchak went into the Knicks' locker room and the two combatants shook hands.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the San Antonio Spurs edged the Cleveland Cavaliers 99-95 to clinch the Central Division title and the Milwaukee Bucks beat the Indiana Pacers 105-100.

Kupchak said he did not throw the first punch, claiming, "I can't punch, I have a bad hand." But he conceded he did push Shelton away with a straight-arm.

"You can't stop what happened tonight - it was instantaneous, spontaneous," said Kupchak. "It's unfortunate that it happened. It was something that just flared up. We're both at fault."

The fight seemed to awaken the Bullets, who had gone ahead to stay 94-92 on a basket by Wes Unseld 24 seconds earlier. They proceeded to score 41 points in the final period, clinching the victory with nine points by Charles Johnson and six by Bobby Dandridge in the last three minutes.

Dandridge led all scorers with 28 points, hitting 14 of 20 from the field. Elvin Hayes added 16 points and 22 rebounds before being hit in the head early in the fourth quarter and suffering dizzy spells.

Knicks captain Earl Monroe missed the game as a result of the one-game suspension he drew for bumping referee Richie Powers in Phoenix a week ago. His replacement at guard, rookie Ray Williams, led the Knicks with 26 points and nine assists.

Spurs 99, Cavaliers 95
 "For the players and me, it's a real thrill," said San Antonio Coach Doug Moe after his team clinched its division title behind a 28-point effort, including six free throws in the final three minutes by NBA scoring leader George Gervin.

The title has special meaning to the Spurs as one of the teams which came in from the much-maligned American Basketball Association.

Bucks 105, Pacers 100
 Brian Winters scored 22 points and Marques Johnson 20 as the Bucks beat Indiana and opened a 2½-game lead over Golden State in the race for the final Western Conference playoff berth.

The first telecast of a National Football League game was on Oct. 22, 1938, when the Philadelphia Eagle-Brooklyn Dodger clash was relayed to the few TV sets then in existence in New York City.

 RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) - Bob Stewart, a Cleveland Barons defenseman, will enter University Hospital in Cleveland Monday to undergo surgery to repair both his ankle and knee, according to Barons officials.

Suffering from tendinitis in his ankle, Stewart also has ligament and cartilage damage in his knee. The burly defenseman has played the entire season, despite his injury.

The National Hockey League team also said defenseman Jim Neilson may have suffered a broken finger in Cleveland's 7-3 victory over Minnesota Wednesday. The 15-year veteran was expected to have X-rays taken Friday.

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) - Six Hours of Talladega top-10 qualifying begins today.

Several teams used Thursday as a special test session at Alabama International Motor Speedway.

Unofficially smashing the lap records for Camel GT cars were two identical turbo Porsches driven by Peter Gregg and Hurley Haywood, both of Jacksonville, Fla. They turned in speeds of 126.317 miles per hour over the four-mile road course.

The official record was set by Al Holbert of Warrington, Penn., driving a Chevy Monza at 124.361 mph in 1976.

Property Tax Funds Criticized

HOUSTON (AP) - Serious problems exist with Texas' present "archaic" methods of distributing property tax funds for construction to state colleges and universities, said Higher Education Commissioner Kenneth Ashworth.

"Seventeen of the 28 public senior colleges and universities now participate in the ad valorem tax fund," Ashworth told a conference of the Association of Texas Colleges and Universities. "Under the Texas constitution those funds may be used only for new construction or purchase of additional land. They may not be spent for rehabilitation or remodeling of facilities."

Ashworth said about $550 million would be available for college construction in the next 10 years and he questioned the need for spending half a billion dollars among only 17 schools during a decade of stabilizing enrollments.

Migrant Unions Studied

PHARR, Tex. (AP) - The unionization of Texas farm workers would not necessarily lead to increased costs for the state's producers, according to the chairman of a state House committee studying the plight of migrant workers.

White Neighbor Loses Civil Suit

CLEVELAND (AP) - A federal jury has ordered a white neighbor to pay a black couple $63,101 after he was found guilty of trying to stop the couple from buying a home in a Cleveland suburb.

Milton and Emma Sutton were awarded the money after the jurors found that Phillip Bloom had violated their civil rights in 1973. The award includes legal fees, moving expenses and punitive damages.

The verdict came after nine days of trial and three days of jury deliberations. The legal battle began after Bloom borrowed money from his neighbors to outbid Sutton for the property at a sheriff's sale. The Suttons now live in Toledo.

A neighbor testified that Bloom invited him and two others to his home to discuss the Suttons' interest in buying the adjoining house. The three each loaned Bloom $1,000 for the house, the neighbor said. In addition, a real estate agent testified that a man identified as Bloom contacted him about bidding on the home improving the lot of the people without additional cost to them," Rep. Tony Garcia, D-Pharr, said after a hearing here Thursday.

Two members of the House Joint Committee on Migrant Farm Workers listened to three hours of complaints from area migrant workers. Garcia was joined by committee to prevent blacks from buying it. Although Bloom outbid Sutton, a Geauga County judge invalidated the sheriff's sale, saying Sutton had a contract to purchase the house from the previous owners and the foreclosure on the house should have been canceled.

After the invalidation of the sale, Bloom appealed the decision, finally taking the appeal to the Ohio Supreme Court which refused to hear the case.

Bloom, 37, declined comment on the verdict, but his attorney, Paul Mancine Jr., said he recommended that Bloom appeal.

member Rep. Bill Blythe, D-Houston.

Members of the Texas Farm Workers told the committee of low pay and poor conditions in the fields.

Speaking through an interpreter, Joaquin Rojas testified that his family of four earned $31 for 13 hours of work in an onion field. Rojas said the company avoided minimum wage laws by listing only him as working. The other three family members were not mentioned in the paycheck or company records, he said.

Another witness said the piecework rates the workers are paid allow employers to file false records. The FFW member said his employer recorded fewer hours than were actually worked in an effort to show payment of minimum wage.

Garcia said he was disappointed that no growers attended the hearing. The witnesses told the committee that reporting their employers for improper practices is a risky matter.

"You report them and you'll never get employment," Alfredo Davila said.

Stanley Ramos, a Pharr businessman, suggested the farm workers would be wiser to use the word "association" rather than "union."

"The word union scares a lot of people," Ramos said. He added that growers and farmers have associations which act as unions for them.

Garcia agreed with Ramos. "All they want is some sort of union. We need some kind of law that would allow them to associate with a union," he said.

Josefina Castillo said unionization is her only hope for improved conditions. "All my life I've been a farmworker. There's no way out," she said through an interpreter.

The committee, which includes five other members, will conduct similar hearings in West Texas later this year, Garcia said.

Middleman Called New Cause of Inflation

NEW YORK (AP) - We have today a new form of inflation, say the researchers, a type as resistant to our conventional efforts as a brand new strain of influenza.

The new inflation, they say, has infected our food, housing, health and energy markets.

A new layer of middlemen add to food prices, land and financing costs add to housing, insurance costs add to health expenses, and price-fixing by cartels adds to energy costs.

That, in a one-sentence capsule, is the contention of a private research group, the Exploratory Project for Economic Alternatives. To which one might justifiably ask: What else is new?

Inflation is a chameleon, changing colors in an attempt to blend unnoticed onto the existing economic environment. But it's still the same animal - a lizard, that is, a greedy, devouring one.

Why settle for so short a list, when one can go on and on describing the changing colors? For example:

Politics. Give the voters everything they want - and more. Assume they don't know what they need, so don't wait for them to ask. Provide them with costly services - and then quietly slip the bill to them.

Government Regulation. Make it more and more difficult to do business. Loan down industry with a maze of obstacles. And then watch industry pass on the added costs to their customers.

Environment. Insist on more refined, complex products, while simultaneously clamping down on the resulting environmental damage. Come down hard on industry; change the world overnight.

Perfection. Demand the very best in hospital care, no matter how much overlapping technological gadgetry is involved.

Luxury. Don't settle for a functional home; your neighbor doesn't. Assert yourself, show you are a person to be reckoned with, prove you can afford the best: an extra bath, game room, swimming pool.

Credit. Live on it. Nothing wrong with that, so long as you don't exceed your ability to pay. But why stop there? You only live once; if you can get the money, grab it. Worry about repaying later.

Retirement. Don't wait until you're 65 to retire. Make the company agree to give you a full pension after 20 years. Then you'll be able to lie around in a hammock for decades. If you live that long.

Sue. Get a good lawyer. Go after the insurance company or the company that made the gadget. Claim your life span has been shortened by their negligence. Live comfortably off the proceeds.

Protect. Make sure no existing companies are driven out of business by fierce competition. Instead, write your congressman and demand that the government subsidize local industry, no matter how inefficient.

Why continue - the list is endless. The colors change with the times, but you might say the times really don't change that much. Today's list will be matched by tomorrow's, as it was by yesterday's.

Man Arrested As Killer Suspect

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A 37-year-old maintenance man has been booked on investigation of murder in two of the 13 hillside stranglings after his childhood friend told police he watched while the man killed three women.

"It is a major break," said Police Chief Daryl Gates, "and we're very hopeful that it will successfully conclude at least those two and perhaps more" of the slayings attributed to the Hillside Strangler in which the bodies of female victims were dumped onto roads and hillsides. Many were nude and sexually molested and all were strangled.

"We have sufficient information to believe that one or both of these subjects are involved in these murders," Gates said. Neither man has been charged.

Los Angeles police arrested Beverly Hills maintenance man Peter Mark Jones, 37, on Thursday at his apartment.

George Shamsak, 27, now in the men's prison on Los Angeles' Terminal Island, reportedly told police about Jones and the killings when questioned in February at Walpole State Prison in Massachusetts.

Shamsak had escaped on Oct. 24, 1977, from the state Correction Department's pre-release center in Shirley, Mass. He had been serving a four-to-five-year term for armed robbery.

He was recaptured in Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 9. Two days later, authorities said, Shamsak told Massachusetts state police in his cell that he had watched Jones kill three women in a Ford van in Los Angeles.

Shamsak said one woman was stabbed, one strangled, and one hit on the head with a blunt object, according to a story in the Boston Herald American. Shamsak said he drove Jones' van during the three murders, the newspaper said, and lie detector tests confirmed parts of his story. Shamsak was brought to Los Angeles March 17.

Delaware was the first of the original 13 states to ratify the Constitution.

Former Court Justice Gets 2 to 5 Years

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - State District Judge Mace Thurman Tuesday sentenced former Supreme Court Justice Don Yarbrough to two to five years in prison on a conviction of aggravated perjury.

Defense lawyer Waggoner Carr immediately gave notice of appeal.

Thurman's action carried out the verdict of the jury that convicted Yarbrough in January of lying to the Travis County grand jury, which later also indicted him on a forgery charge.

Yarbrough, wearing a powder blue suit, declined when Thurman asked if he had anything to say before sentencing and also refused to talk with reporters.

Carr said Yarbrough's case probably won't be taken to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals before the end of the year. He figured it would cost about $2,000, not counting attorney fees, and listed a pauper's oath as one route the former jurist could take in paying for it.

Yarbrough served only 6 1/2 months on the high court, resigning July 15 in the opening minutes of legislative proceedings to remove him from office.

Since then he has been disbarred, and Carr said he was unemployed and seeking work. Mrs. Yarbrough "is still trying to sell real estate," Carr said.

Carr, a former attorney general who successfully weathered a downfall and court battles of his own following the Sharpstown scandal of 1971, said Yarbrough did not get a fair trial.

He cited Thurman's granting the prosecution permission to introduce into evidence tapes made clandestinely by former Yarbrough associate Bill Rothkopf of a conversation the pair had.

The conversation dealt with forgery of an auto title, and depicts Yarbrough swearing, using obscenities, cursing supposed enemies and even discussing the possible killing of a former associate.

The grand jury also indicted Yarbrough on a forgery charge.

"Where he was denied a fair trial was where they put into the record all the conversations and the other activities that took place in the meeting with Rothkopf - all of which was calculated to inflame the jury," Carr said.

Yarbrough admitted lying to the grand jury.

Carr said Yarbrough might have been given probation or convicted of a misdemeanor perjury charge that did not carry a prison sentence had it not been for the tape.

Pentagon Rips Magazine Pics

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Pentagon, responding to protests from a Pennsylvania feminist, says "demeaning" pictures of big-breasted women have no place in a magazine for Army reservists.

As a result, editors of "Army Reserve" have been directed to "depict men and women in the same way, professionally," says Robert L. Nelson, an assistant secretary of the Army.

Nelson's directive was announced Thursday by Sen. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa. The senator initiated the protest last September when he passed along concerns voiced by Carol Swaim, executive board member of the Pennsylvania chapter of the National Organization for Women.

Barney Halloran, the magazine's editor, said he thought some of the complaints were justified and that he would comply.

"We talked about it and concluded that if we must in fact be very mid-Victorian and lean toward putting skirts on the furniture . . . we would do that," he said.

Ms. Swaim first approached Schweiker about the magazine after seeing a copy that had been sent to her son, a reservist.

Schweiker passed the complaint along to Gen. Henry Moore, chief of the Army Reserve. Moore said the magazine was not intended to degrade women.

Schweiker then sent a copy to the Civil Rights Commission where the director of congressional liaison, Lucy Edwards, complained that the magazine showed women "as sexual creatures while men are presented as professional soldiers doing their jobs."

"Cartoons, drawings and photographs of women are chiefly of their breasts," she said.

The Lighter Side

PORTER, Ind. (AP) - When police picked up Naam Hankins for public intoxication, he was feeling pretty low.

Hankins, 56, of Gary, told patrolman Daniel O'Kelly early Wednesday that he had just had a fight with his wife and he wanted to use his one phone call to talk to his only friend in the world - God.

O'Kelly denied the request, explaining that he couldn't allow Hankins to make the call because it would have been long distance.

NEW YORK (AP) - Delta Airlines is taking down its billboards urging people to fly to Florida. It seems the shapely, bikini-clad woman doing the urging is taking drivers' eyes off the road.

James Ewing, manager of national media relations for the Atlanta-based airline, said the billboards had been up for months without any complaints.

The Automobile Club of New York made the claim about distractions.

FARGO, N.D. (AP) - Unexpected guests literally dropped in on Mrs. John Bloom.

Two hot air balloonists running low on fuel had to land somewhere on Wednesday, and that somewhere was her back yard in the heart of Fargo.

It wasn't the smoothest landing. Mike Deconcini of Fargo and Brad Lund of Grand Forks hit a tree and then a clothesline before touching down. Neither was injured.

Deconcini - a hot air balloonist for four years-said they took off south of Fargo and planned to head south of Moorhead, Minn., but the wind shifted, and they had to land where they could.

Mrs. Bloom - who didn't see the balloonists land-said: "it isn't everyday you see a balloon drop in your backyard."

Scientists Marvel At Georgia Swamp

OKEFENOKEE, Ga. (AP) - No other place on earth is quite like the Okefenokee Swamp, the land of trembling earth.

That is what the scientists say, and anyone who has ventured among its wondrous wilds emerges a believer. But that is only one reason why this place in America, this place on the planet, is remarkable. At least two more reasons are obvious.

As a mere curiosity, Okefenokee, Ga. 31501, surely is the only place in America with a post office that serves a population which includes 42 species of mammal, none of them man.

Second, if this swamp is not truly paradise, as old-time swamppers hereabouts believe, it is at least a place where two implacable antagonists - those who aim to preserve America's remaining wildlands untouched; those who want to make them accessible - have found harmony. The lion lies down with the lamb.

The Okefenokee is a swamp, yet is more than 100 feet above sea level, the source of two rivers spilling from an ice-age bowl.

For centuries it has challenged indigenes to hunt in it, timber hunters to raise it, naturalists to explore it, explorers to navigate it in its usual forbidding state, which is wet, a wet labyrinth as unpatterned as the crazing in a china cup.

It is a domain of beasts; man is an intruder. Man had better be aware of that if he would survive here.

Some ancient Seminole, a lyricist, gave the swamp its name, Okefenokee. "The land of trembling earth." The "earth" of the swamp, or much of it, was born of decomposed leaves and twigs turned to thick peat from which new vegetation grows, and the whole mass floats.

Step on it. Jump on it. It quivers and rolls, like Jello. All of this 600-square-mile wonderland, here from pre-history, was assumed to be inaccessible except to the few who were born to it and learned its secrets and its hidden entries.

Then, during the Depression, men with great need and sharp blades hacked through one edge, near Waycross, Ga., as a make-work project.

They widened some water trails which had been blazed by alligators and improved by Seminoles, and made a twisting corridor to the swamp's ghostly interior.

That was that. Years later, after the government had made the swamp a federal preserve, some Waycross citizens had the novel idea that others might like to see a swamp. Naturalists, for instance, or even tourists.

They formed a non-profit corporation and subleased from the state, which had leased from the federal government, that small corridor at the swamp's edge, and made a park.

They have kept their park, which pays its own way, utterly free of tourist ticky-tacky. They have, yes, tampered a bit with nature, but only enough to make accessible that wild interior which is federally protected from man's meddling.

Even the alligators seem to like the arrangement.

Americans Still Oppose Treaties

NEW YORK (AP) - With the Senate about halfway through its debate on the two Panama Canal treaties, the American people are still opposed to relinquishing control of the waterway, an Associated Press-NBC News poll shows.

The Senate voted by a 68-32 margin earlier this month to approve the first treaty, which specifies the neutrality of the canal and the U.S. right to defend the waterway after the year 2000 when it will be controlled by the Panamanians.

In the poll taken March 21 and 22, 6,604 respondents were asked if they had heard or read about the treaties. Three-quarters said they had heard about them. 23 percent said they had not and 2 percent were not sure.

The respondents were then asked if they favored or opposed ratification of the second treaty, which spells out how control of the canal will be gradually turned over to Panama by the end of the century.

Of those who had heard about the treaties, 55 percent opposed the second treaty, while 35 percent were in favor of it. Ten percent were uncertain.

This finding is similar to those of the AP-NBC News polls in November and January.

Opposition to the treaties in those surveys ranged from 56 percent to 61 percent, while support varied from 31 to 28 percent.

However, the AP-NBC News polls in January and February found a majority of Americans supported the treaties if they were amended to guarantee U.S. rights to defend the canal and to speedy passage for U.S. warships through the waterway.

The treaty that has been ratified has such amendments. As with any sample survey, the results of AP-NBC News polls can vary from the exact opinions of all Americans with telephones solely because of chance variations in the sample.
