NACO Committee Stand On LSC Is Clarified

By JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor

Continuing confusion over a resolution concerning the Legal Services Corporation which was adopted by the National Association of County Officials Criminal Justice and Public Safety Steering Committee during a session last month in New Orleans was clarified somewhat Monday by Precinct 3 Commissioner Bruce Coleman.

Much of the confusion was apparently created by an article in the Feb. 17 edition of The Brand which quoted Coleman concerning the meeting and the resultant resolution.

According to Coleman, the resolution drawn up by the NACO committee for forwarding to the national committee meeting of the organization later this year represents "a compromise resolution worked out by Dan Bradley, president of the Legal Services Corporation, and NACO.

The resolution is to be voted on by the NACO general assembly in an annual meeting in July.

Included in the resolution approved by the committee is a call for increased local control over federally-funded legal services that aid indigents in civil cases.

The committee adopted a resolution supporting the reauthorization of the Legal Services Corporation.

Among items in the resolution is a call for representation by local elected officials on local legal services boards of directors where they exist; consultation by local corporations to learn local government's views on legal service priorities; and compliance with federal mandates and local priorities.

Confusion was apparently caused by the belief that the committee also called for a funding cut for LSC.

"The group did not want negative language concerning cuts or critical of activities. Instead, they wanted to outline what the Legal Services Corporation should be doing," stated Coleman concerning the resolution.

Coleman went to the session armed with a resolution originally approved by the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court which was critical of the LSC and TRLA and calling for a funding cut for LSC, parent organization of TRLA.

The county resolution had earlier been approved by the state association.

"The committee did go along with me concerning wording in my resolution calling for strong local control of LSC. The committee and the NACO staff agreed to take the first part of my resolution calling for funding cuts and containing criticism of the TRLA and send it along with the resolution which was adopted as background material," said Coleman.

Coleman pointed out that although the overall resolution which was adopted in Texas and which he carried to the NACO committee meeting was not accepted by the committee in its entirety, he is continuing to circulate the pro-funding cut resolution.

"I think there is little doubt the LSC will eventually get a funding cut and numerous restrictions on functions. With the present economic climate I feel the cuts will eventually come. By stating in positive terms our views on local control of LSC, funding becomes a separate issue," stated Coleman.

"Whatever funding is done, if locally controlled, can be beneficial. Lack of control has been the problem, to me. We have an abundance of need by the poor and can absorb all the efforts of the LSC if it can be constructive work," he concluded.

Tower Doubts Missile Deployment in Texas

By JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor

Deaf Smith County commissioners moved through a brief agenda in short order Monday, approving a motion to dispose of a surplus vehicle in Precinct One after the legal aspects of the move are investigated.

County fathers also heard a report on monetary savings that are being made possible by placing county records on microfilm.

Precinct 1 Commissioner Bill Brady reported that the county currently owns an Army surplus military-type ambulance which is kept at the Precinct 1 yard.

According to Brady, the county has no need of the ambulance while the building trades class at Hereford High School has expressed a need for the vehicle.

Commissioners voted unanimously to check out the legal ramifications of such a move, and if allowable, to transfer the vehicle to the building trades department of the school system.

County fathers went through the formality of accepting a pledge contract and securities from the First National Bank of Hereford after approving the FNB as the county depository at their last regular meeting.

County liability for damages inflicted at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo by a county prisoner who was hospitalized there was also discussed by the commission.

Members of the commission agreed to wait to pay the damages bill until it is determined if county insurance will cover the sum, which amounts to $134.50.

County Clerk B.F. Cain informed commissioners that the county is saving about $100 per month by placing its records on microfilm, a process which has been followed in the county since 1967.

According to Cain, Deaf Smith County was one of the first 10 counties in the state to enter records on microfilm.

Cain reported that due to storage space requirements, the county will be going solely to microfilm records and will be leading a reader-viewer-copier.

Cain indicated that cost of microfilm will be seven cents per sheet while cost was 65 cents per page under the old system.

Monthly cost for microfilm records will be $458 while cost of the old system was $560 per month, according to Cain.

County fathers also viewed the completed sewer system at the San Jose community south of Hereford Monday morning.

The sewer system was installed with the aid of a grant to the county.

In an informal discussion session during Monday's meeting Precinct 3 Commissioner Bruce Coleman displayed a letter he received from Senator John Tower, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee concerning the MX missile system.

Tower stated in his letter to Coleman that he "strongly approves of former President Carter's decision on the basing mode for the MX."

Tower related, "I believe the system as now planned is workable and that we should continue without delay full-scale development and ultimate deployment."

Tower also stated, "Split basing of 4,600 missiles would add $3 to $7 billion to the cost of the MX system and might require private lands. For these reasons the Defense Department is opposed to split basing. It is doubtful that MX missiles will ever be deployed in Texas."

Black Historical House Destruction 'Senseless'

By DENISE SMITH
Staff Writer

"For the use and benefit of the people of the Community in consideration of the gratitude, respect and love I have for the citizens of Deaf Smith County..." a statement made by Mrs. Jim Black in 1976 when she offered the Black family home to the County of Deaf Smith, leaves one wondering how she would feel now toward the community since the recent break-in at the historical E.B. Black House.

Entering through the front door, totally destroying an irreplaceable five-eighths-inch, beveled edge, diamond-polished glass placed in the door in 1909, the vandals took only an antique Seth Thomas mantle clock, which was a wedding gift to Mrs. Bess Warner in 1912.

The rectangular clock of simulated red marble and marble pillars is also irreplaceable, according to Lois Gilliland, executive director of the Historical Society.

Vandalism, according to Webster's Dictionary, is a willful or malicious destruction or defacement of public

Armed Robbery Suspect At Large

Hereford police still have no leads or suspects in an armed robbery of an Allsup's store that occurred Sunday night about 10:15.

The cashier of the convenience store located at 910 E. Park Ave. told police a Mexican-American male entered the store and asked for a pack of cigarettes.

She said the man had a blue bandana over his face and a towel draped over his hand in a way that led her to believe he was carrying a weapon.

The man demanded money from the cash register and forced the cashier to lie down on the floor while he left the scene, according to police.

About $117 was stolen from the cash register.

Several Hereford schools reported weekend burglaries to police.

A clarinet valued at about $900 was stolen from the band hall at Hereford High School in a burglary police believe may be related to another HHS burglary.

Burglars gained entry to the principal's office and scattered the contents of several desk drawers on the floor sometime Saturday night or Sunday morning.

Several doors showed evidence of pry marks, and pry marks were also found on a soft drink machine.

Police said approximately $75 in damage was done.

A burglary of the high school was also reported Saturday. Friday night burglars pried open several vending machines.

No money was taken in the burglary.

HISD also reported that burglars broke into Shirley Elementary School between 9 p.m. Friday and 9:35 a.m. Saturday.

The burglars apparently entered the teachers' lounge, pried open a vending machine and attempted to pry open a candy machine.

Police said they didn't know the extent of damages or loss.

Burglars also entered Shirley School through a window sometime Saturday night. A small closet had been pried open, but nothing was taken. About $12.50 in damage to the window was reported.

A Monday burglary netted burglars over $600 worth of items from the Mini Storage units at 16th Street and Highway 385, police said.

Marcel Fischbacher, 430 Fir, told police four tires, a stereo, an 8-track player and a set of golf clubs were stolen from the shed he rents.

Joe Johnson, 911 13th St., told police a stereo valued at $75 was stolen from the same storage units.

Burglars apparently broke the lock on the door of the building.

Blood Mobile to Stop In Hereford Wednesday

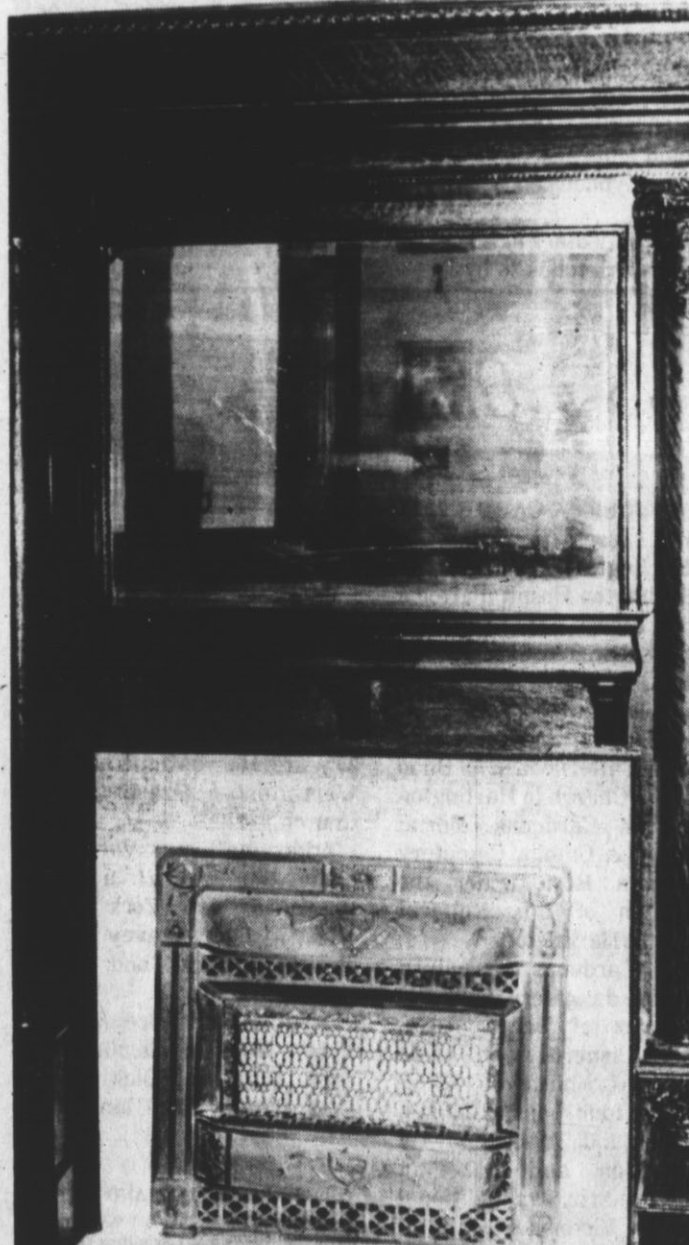

The Coffee Memorial Blood Mobile will be at the Community Center Wednesday from 3-6 p.m.

Approximately 136 pints are needed to replace blood used by the Hereford area residents, according to local director Pat Clark.

Persons needing blood replaced are as follows:

Sarah Wieck, 1 pt.; Irene Latham, 3 pts.; Mary Diaz, 2

pts.; Vecinia Gamez, 1 pt.; Dollie Parker, 1 pt.; Gwen Weaver, 3 pts.; Cecil Phibbs, 2 pts.; Juanita Ramerize, 2 pts.; Josa Rodriguez, 1 pt.; Rose Bealer, 1 pt.; Lupe Villalobos, 2 pts.; Gabriel Don Juan, 2 pts.; Carnie McCullough, 1 pt.; Juan Perez, 2 pts.; Veronica Meza, 4 pt.; Guadalupe Tapia, 4 pts.; and Etoile Manning, 2 pts.

Vandalized Black House

The E.B. Black House, donated to the County of Deaf Smith in 1976 to be restored and administered by the County Historical Society was recently broken into by vandal(s). In the process of the break-in, the front door glass, being five-eighths inch thick, beveled edged and diamond polished, was completely destroyed. Upon entering the home, a Seth Thomas mantle clock was taken from the fireplace located in the entry hall. The fireplace has a firebox framed by French tile and hearth. Above the oak mantel is a large, beveled glass mirror. The tile and mirror are framed on each side by Ionic columns and entablatures in oak. The clock which was on the mantel added to the Victorian style of the house.

Woman of the Year

Cindy Norvell was named Extension Homemaker Woman of the Year at the annual EH Clubs and Council Appreciation Luncheon held Monday at the Bull Barn. The award is sponsored each year by The Hereford Brand.

Palo Duro EH Member Norvell Named 1980 Woman of Year

By ALLISON RYAN
Women's Editor

Cindy Norvell, representing the Palo Duro Extension Homemakers' Club, was named Woman of the Year at the Deaf Smith County EH Clubs and Council Appreciation Luncheon yesterday at the Bull Barn.

Mariellen Homfeld, representing Bippus Extension Club, was named runner up for the award which was sponsored by the Hereford Brand.

When presenting the award to Mrs. Norvell, Jim Steiert, managing editor of The Hereford Brand, cited several of her activities in the club.

Mrs. Norvell has been an active member for nine and one-half years holding various elected offices and is presently serving as reporter for Palo Duro, vice chairman of Council and chairman of the yearbook committee for her second term.

She has had perfect attendance for two years, attended several district and state meetings and has served as a delegate for both the state and district.

Community activities include 4-H, Camp Fire, girls softball in which she was selected as Coach of the Year, Kid's Inc., Red Cross and several community clubs.

Mrs. Homfeld has been a member of the Bippus Extension club for almost six years serving as president the past two years. She is currently vice president and chairman of the program and recreation committees.

For the past two years she has kept a scrapbook for the club and attended Rural Homemakers Day in Amarillo for three years.

Mrs. Homfeld is currently serving the EH council as vice president and has had perfect attendance during the last year.

She is a member of the Texas State Teachers Association, St. Anthony's Womens Organization and Confraternity of Christian Mothers.

Extension Homemakers having perfect attendance in the council were honored at the banquet.

Mrs. Jimmy Bradley, a member of the Bippus EH Club, was given a standing ovation when she was cited for her 18 years of perfect attendance to the council.

Other perfect attendance members were Terri Johnson, Peg Hoff, Naomi Brisindine, Clara Trowbridge, Wilma Nell Pierce, Cindy Norvell and Mariellen Homfeld.

Perfect attendance for two years were Winnie Wiseman and Betty Thomas. Jewell Hargrave was cited for perfect attendance for three years.

Sabra Parker and Carla Weemes, students of the Hereford High School forensic team presented the program for the more than 100 people attending.

Miss Parker, who has won several awards in competition, presented an oratory on divorce. Miss Weemes took the lighter side with a humorous presentation through poetry of "Married is better." The students are under the direction of Mary Parker.

Following the program county agents and county extension agents gave a brief review of their work in the past year.

Justin McBride, county agent, presented a certificate of award to Eldred Brown for his work in agriculture.

Louise Walker, county extension agent, spoke briefly about her work and Robbie Vann told of the work he and Penny Cribbs, county extension agent, have done with the 4-H groups.

The luncheon is held each year to show appreciation to the county commissioners and judge and the local media in addition to honoring members of the 11 homemakers' clubs.

Chamber Breakfast Reservations Due

Reservations for Thursday's Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Fun Breakfast need to be made by Wednesday at 5 p.m. according to Michael Carr, executive vice president of the chamber.

Those planning to attend the first breakfast of the year can call the chamber office at 364-3333 for reservations.

Rix Funeral Directors of Hereford are sponsoring the early morning event and Gary Phipps, manager, has promised a "most enjoyable program."

The breakfast will begin at 6:30 a.m. at the Hereford Community Center and cost for the meal is $3.25 per person.

Doug Manning and Lynton Allred will co-emcee the activities and will present the Bull Chip Award.

Prizes of $100, $75, and $25 in Deaf Smith County Bucks and several steak dinners will be awarded in addition to the fun-time announcements by various residents.

Fate of Teenagers'

Money to be Decided

WACO, Texas (AP) — A strange story involving a pair of teenagers and a $500,000 buried treasure should be resolved here, starting today, when jury selection begins in a federal court trial to decide who rightfully owns the money.

The two young men, Percy Garcia and Dean Bridges, claim the money belongs to them. They dug it up, they say, near the South Texas town of Alice in 1977 on a ranch belonging to Bridges' father, James Hiroms.

Police learned about the stash when they arrested the two, who were both in their teens at the time, on a routine traffic investigation as they drove through this Central Texas town in a brand-new Thunderbird with a suitcase full of money in the trunk.

The young men, age 16 at the time, said they had used about $10,000 of the cash to buy the car, paying a stranger they met at a bus station in Dallas about $1,000 to act as their purchasing agent.

That was Jan. 31, 1977.

Since then, the money has been drawing interest in a Waco bank, where police put it to hold as evidence. Garcia and Bridges, now 20, say the money and the interest belong to them as rightful finders.

However, the Internal Revenue Service says will take about two-thirds of the cash whenever it is finally awarded, and claims also have been made by the State of Texas and McClellan County, in Waco.

Continental Wants

CAB's Help

HOUSTON (AP) — Continental Airlines has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board to prevent Texas International Airlines from interfering in a proposed merger between Continental and Western Airlines.

Texas International Airlines, Inc. said Monday it is succeeding in its attempt to obtain control of Continental Airlines through a cash tender offer.

But Continental directors termed the tender offer "grossly inadequate."

Texas International, based in Houston, says Continental shareholders have tendered 3.8 million shares to Texas International, which is paying $13 per share. Texas International on Monday increased its tender offer from four to six million shares.

The airline has admitted it is seeking the additional shares so it can vote against the proposed Continental-Western merger. A vote of Continental shareholders on the merger is scheduled for March 12.

Continental directors asked the CAB Monday to force Texas International to return the shares to the shareholders who have tendered them.

The clear purpose ... is to defeat a shareholder vote on the Continental-Western merger" by reducing the number of shareholders who might favor it, the Continental directors said.

Senate Wants

Teachers Tested

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Senate wants future teachers to take tests to prove they can read, write and do arithmetic in a "satisfactory" manner. Veteran classroom teachers apparently would make up the tests.

Sen. Ray Farabee described his proposal Monday as "one tool" for improving public school education.

The bill was sent to the House on a 27-1 vote, with Sen. John Wilson, D-La Grange, the lone dissenter.

It would require college students wanting to become teachers to perform satisfactorily on a competency examination before being accepted in a teacher education program. The testing would begin in 1982, said Farabee, D-Wichita Falls.

"It would be unfair and unjust" to allow students to go through the entire program and then inform them they did not measure up, he said.

After graduation, a prospective teacher would again have to turn in a satisfactory performance on a "comprehensive examination" in his or her teaching field before being certified as a teacher.

Farabee said the Texas Education Agency, in conjunction with classroom teachers, would devise the basic skills exams and determine what would be a satisfactory performance on them.

"Every major teaching organization testified in favor of this bill" in committee, said Farabee.

The bill does not apply to people who already are teaching or students who are currently enrolled in a teacher training program.

Farabee estimated it would be at least 15 years before a majority of Texas school teachers would have taken and passed the exam.

Sen. W.E. "Pete" Snelson, D-Midland, said, "This is the first step in a long process of upgrading public schools. It's the beginning of the pipeline, where you do a little screening before someone becomes a teacher."

Sen. John Traeger, D-Seguin, noted some people "freeze up on tests" and asked if they would have a second chance if they failed.

Farabee said they would have a chance to take the exams again.

Perfect Attendance

Mrs. Jimmy Bradley (right) was presented a set of pens for her 18 years of perfect attendance in the Deaf Smith County Extension Homemakers' Council. Mrs. Bradley, a member of Bippus Extension Club, is shown with Louise Walker, county extension agent at the county EH Clubs and Council Appreciation luncheon held yesterday at the Bull Barn.

Tax Writers Question Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — Skeptical tax writers in the House are calling on President Reagan's chief economic advisers to account for their claims that a 30 percent personal income tax cut over three years will dramatically improve the economy. The Senate, meanwhile, is formally beginning the task of turning Reagan's budget cutting proposals into reality.

Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan and Budget Director David A. Stockman were called before the House Ways and Means Committee today as it begins consideration of the administration's tax proposals.

Although most legislators in both houses favor some kind of tax cut this year, many Democrats — and some Republicans — are dubious that Reagan's proposal will do anything but further fuel inflation.

On the other hand, a proposal for businesses to receive faster tax write-offs on the buildings and equipment they purchase has received generally favorable reaction.

A House staffer who asked not to be identified said Democrats on the Ways and Means Committee wanted "to put (Regan and Stockman) on the griddle" during questioning about the administration's tax proposals.

Reagan administration officials say that according to their economic scenario, Americans will begin immediately to work harder and save more if tax rates are cut by 30 percent over three years.

But some economists say people will be more inclined to buy than save — getting the items they need or want now because they expect prices to be higher next year. Such sudden spending would increase demand and aggravate inflation, wiping out the gains of a tax cut with higher prices, these economists say.

Stockman told reporters at one point Monday that Reagan's economic plan could send the prime rate tumbling from about 19 percent to 8.5 percent or lower once Congress completes action.

When pressed later, Stockman admitted he had gone too far. "I thought about that and I think I misspoke a little," he told The Associated Press through spokesman Ed Dale. "We do anticipate a substantial decline in interest rates, but I can't say that they will be down to 8.5 percent at any early time."

Police

Pascual Delgado, Route 3, Hereford, told police burglars entered his pickup while he was in church.

The thieves stole $150 in cash from a purse, a set of SK brand sockets and a green tool box valued at $45.

Several cases of broken windows were also reported to police over the weekend.

Gladys Farquah, 148 Nueces, told police a window in her 1981 model car was broken out, and Lloyd Lindley, 200 Ironwood, told police that someone broke the side window of his 1979 model car with a beer bottle.

Mike Veazey, 206 Jennifer, told police a juvenile riding a bicycle shot out his garage window with a B.B. gun at 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Joe Jenko, 150 Centre, told police someone shot a hole in one of the garage windows of her home sometime Sunday.

Montgomery Wards, 114 E.

Park Ave., reported a hole in the front plate glass window to police.

The hole could have been made by a .22 caliber shell or a pellet gun sometime Friday night, police said.

J.R. French, 420 N. Schley, reported vandalism to her home. Police said a gate was torn off a picket fence, a screen taken off a window, and a cat was killed by the vandals.

Police said a dumpster fire in the 400 block between Long and Ave. B was set by an 11-year-old boy. Juvenile officers talked to the boy.

Johnny Alderet, 701 S. Texas, told police that a red 24-inch ten speed bicycle was stolen from his residence after midnight Saturday.

Police answered two civil disturbance calls and eight miscellaneous reports.

Four traffic citations were issued Monday.

House

of private property.

Feelings submitted by Sue James, a member of the E.B. Black House committee, were, "Vandalism is beyond my comprehension. People who commit such an act are sick mentally."

Mrs. James continued by stating, "We put blood, sweat and tears into this House for the people of the community to enjoy, then for it to be destroyed in this way, it's just a shame."

These feelings are mutual among the hundreds of volunteers involved in maintaining and keeping the House available to the community for activities including teas, parties and showers.

The E.B. Black House, built by Mr. and Mrs. E.B. Black in 1901, is marked with the Texas Historical Commission official Historical Medallion. In 1978 the house was entered in the National Register of Historical Places.

There are only three such places in the Panhandle.

Since its dedication, this is the first time the House has been broken into. In addition to the abduction of the clock, members of the House committee have noticed several windows having evidence of BB shots.

Since the House is used by people throughout the Panhandle, Mrs. Gilliland stated, "It's a shame for some small group of individuals to come in and destroy it."

The House, equipped with sensors and security locks, is still, as any home in the community, vulnerable to this kind of destruction. Due to the senselessness of the act some think maybe the vandal(s) merely committed an act of contempt.

"It is just senseless to

destroy something as nice as the House when it serves a purpose for the entire community," Mrs. Gilliland stated. "We have rules for those using the House, but they apply to everyone."

"We are appalled and hurt about what happened," said Mrs. James. Yet those associated with the historical house have agreed to forgive and forget if the clock is returned.

Friena Policeman Shoots Assailant

A Friena policeman shot and killed a 26-year-old man who stabbed him in the left side early Sunday morning after responding to a domestic disturbance call.

Nick R. Hand, 31, shot Cesario C. Mendoza of Levelland, a former Friena resident, in the street at the intersection of Ninth Street and Virginia Avenue after answering a call to a domestic disturbance at 1001 Virginia Ave., the residence of Fred Florez.

Mendoza died at Parmer County Community Hospital shortly after the shooting, and Hand was transferred from the Parmer County hospital to Cook Memorial Hospital for observation.

Friena police have not revealed other circumstances surrounding the shooting or how many times Mendoza was shot.

Common Error Can Cause Refund Delay

A common error of taxpayers claiming head of household filing status is not listing the name of a qualifying dependent or child, and this can lead to a refund delay.

To file as a head of household, a taxpayer must be unmarried and provide more than half the cost of keeping up a home that is the main home for his or her dependent or child. An unmarried child who qualifies the taxpayer as head of household must live with the taxpayer but need not be his or her dependent. Other qualifying persons must be the taxpayer's dependents. They generally must live with the taxpayer. However, the taxpayer's dependent parents may qualify, even though they live elsewhere, if the taxpayer paid more than half the cost of keeping up their home and is eligible to claim one or both parents as dependents.

Unmarried includes single, legally separated, divorced and widowed persons, the IRS said.

Without a child or qualifying dependent, unmarried taxpayers are not eligible to file as heads of household and if they do not qualify as surviving widows or widowers, they file under single status and use the corresponding tax table.

Paul Harvey News

Pledge of Hyphenated Allegiance

The United States has benefited immeasurably by the cross-pollination of many cultures.

Historically, our "land of opportunity" reputation has attracted the world's most talented, most ambitious, best skilled and most energetic workers.

Our polyglot population—each of us "most something else"—merged under one flag, claimed one nationality—"American!"

Until recently—when some segments of our population have elected to hyphenate their allegiance.

The nationality "American" evolved as a contraction of the extraction concept.

You never heard any Russian come over here and proclaim himself to be a "Russian-American." He came over here purposely to "stop being a Russian."

Britons came over here, immediately to identify themselves—not as British-Americans—but as Americans. While they did not deny or apologize for their birthplace, they left that allegiance behind and proudly became unadulterated Americans.

Our American society is singular in the degree to which it demands that race, color and native nationality of its citizens "not be considered for any reason."

We have gone to great lengths legally to insure that race, creed and national origin "not" be either an advantage or a disadvantage. Equal rights and equal opportunities for everybody means "everybody!"

Yet there are some segments of our nation's population tending to segregate themselves—to hyphenate their allegiance—by calling themselves "Latino-Americans," for example.

And not only has the hyphenated allegiance been romanticized—in the way patriotism used to be—but the designation is frequently a basis for special consideration—in schools, in jobs, in politics.

Surely the immigrants from Mexico don't want what they left behind or they would

And this applies to other racial and ethnic groups which tend to hyphenate their allegiance.

While it might sound innocent enough to call oneself a Polish-American or an Afro-American or an Asian-American, in grammatical construction the "hyphen" which joins also separates.

The hyphen tends "to keep apart."

The only other nation in the world which tends to hyphenate allegiance is Canada, and the result there is chronic strife and threatened divorce.

It seems to me that when anybody from anywhere elects to come here—to become an American—if he insists on bringing along and perpetuating the mores, politics and language of his original homeland—that's like a divorced man keeping his first wife's picture in his second wife's bedroom.

It's not nice, and it is not conducive to compatibility.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor, If rats get to digging under the foundation the foundation will settle, which is bad. If dogs undertake to dig the rats out it gets worse.

No doubt a lot of businesses take too big a margin of profit. When business can advertise sales cut as much as 25 to 30 percent in prices they are still selling at a profit.

At least 50 percent or 100 percent profit above cost is out of reason but people with good judgment look for better deals and the business that demands too big a margin may lose trade and go broke.

But for labor to demand wages high enough to compete with the highest prices only encourages those high prices to raise. When people can get any price they put on a product they will still go on while if they have to cut their margin to get more sales they can make more money by more turnovers.

A lower percentage in profit with more turnovers nets more profit.

Satisfied customers are the best policy.

The man who sold water to a customer for $1 per glass had to catch the customer unaware. The man who sold water for 5 cents a glass got the customers.

I had rent property for low income people for 20 years and was told I rented too cheap. I said I would rather keep my property occupied than have double rent and be empty half the time.

Many of those renters have homes of their own while some are dissatisfied at any rent.

I know or property that was renting for a certain price but owners decided to demand a $56 per month raise. That property has been vacant almost two years. How much have they lost?

If we didn't have some government control, burglary and murder would be worse.

If labor keeps striking, we need more government controls in some cases.

Extension Council Convenes After Appreciation Luncheon

Deaf Smith County Extension Council met at the County Bull Barn for their annual appreciation luncheon. Council convened at 1:30 following the luncheon Monday.

Cultural Club was responsible for the opening exercise. The T.E.H.A. song was read, with the verses reminding council members of what Extension clubs are all about. Roll call showed 11 clubs represented and seven with 100 percent attendance.

A letter was received from West Texas State University asking for nominee's for the W.T.S.U. award to Women for Distinguished Service. No action was taken on this letter at this time.

Agents reports included Louise Walker thanking everyone for the good job that was done on the appreciation luncheon.

The Club Woman of the Year, chosen by the Hereford Brand, was Cindy Norvell.

She discussed the upcoming month's activities and announced that she will be giving one club program this next month.

Penny Cribbs reported on the 4-H clubs, thanking everyone for the help in the concession stand at the stock show.

The T.E.H.A. report by Kate Bradley included that the district meeting fees this year will be $7.50, covering lunch and insurance. This meeting will be held in Amarillo on April 2.

The election for delegates to attend the April 2 District meeting were held after the council meeting adjourned.

These women will be able to vote on any resolutions brought before the District meeting.

Nominees were Kate Bradley, Jewell Hargrave, Becky Caraway, Becky Gould, Gayle Carter, Carolyn Evers and Louise Packard.

Three delegates were selected by the top three highest members being the winner. They were Kate Bradley, Louise Packard, and Becky Caraway.

Alternates will go in place of the delegates, in case of illness or circumstances that come up. Alternates are Carolyn Evers, Gayle Carter, and Jewell Hargrave.

Ann Landers

Crowding Relationship

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am an 18-year-old male senior in high school. I never thought I would fall in love so young. I figured I would have to search for Miss Right for a long time.

Well, I found her. She is my best friend's sister, a sophomore in high school. Her name is Ann, like yours, and she is exactly the type of girl I would like to build a strong relationship with.

We have been alone together only once because of the distance which separates us. (Over 100 miles). We correspond frequently through letters and talk on the phone quite often.

Although we have declared our love for each other, I am upset by a letter which came yesterday. She wrote, "I am certain what we feel for each other is real, but I think it would be best to keep our relationship casual."

I don't know how to reply—I love her very much. Can you help?—Waiting And Hoping

DEAR WAITING: Love needs time to flower. Don't forget you've been alone together only once. This is much too slender a reed to lean on, Romeo.

Tell Ann you are perfectly willing to keep it casual. Don't crowd her. Time is your best ally.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I saw this definition of "love" on the refrigerator door in the home of friends where I was baby-sitting last week. It made a strong impression. Will you print it, please? Sorry, I don't know who wrote it. Thanks, Ann.—Reader Of The Oakland Tribune

DEAR READER: I am pleased that you thought enough of the definition to send it on. I wrote it. Thanks for giving me an opportunity to run it again. I'm sure many others out there missed it.

LOVE
Love is a friendship that has caught fire. It is quiet understanding, mutual confidence, sharing and forgiving. It is a loyalty through good and bad. It settles for less than perfection and makes allowances for human weaknesses.

If you have love in your life, it hopes for the future and it doesn't brood over the past. It's the day-in and day-out chronicle of irritations, problems, compromises, small disappointments, big victories and working toward common goals.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It is a well-known fact that we all lose millions of brain cells every day. What I want to know is, does the excessive use of alcohol make us lose them any faster? When a person gets older does the loss of brain cells contribute to senility?—Worried And Want To Know in Ft. Scott, Kan.

DEAR WORRIED: The excessive use of alcohol does, indeed, produce a loss of brain cells, and this can increase the chances for senility.

On the positive side: Heavy drinkers who stop drinking show an increase in brain capacity. The same principle applies to heavy smokers who kick the habit. X-rays show their black lungs turn a healthy pink within six to eight months.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Non-Profit Organization Founded To Give Support to NF Patients

On Sunday, February 1, NBC News broadcast a feature story about the "Elephant Man" disease - neurofibromatosis (NF). This incurable, progressive genetic disorder has received notoriety lately because of the play and movie.

There is a second reason for specific Texas interest. Baylor College of Medicine, in Houston, houses the United States' most important research facility for the study of NF. Founded in 1978 by Dr. Vincent Riccardi, this program is aimed specifically at the study of causes, effects, and cure of NF, primarily through analysis of case studies of the more than 5,000 persons in Texas and 80,000 across the country who are suspected of having this disease.

The research is difficult but absorbing, and is complicated by the amazing variety of form and severity which NF takes. The most visible signs of the disease are light brown "cafe au lait" spots, present in almost all cases, usually from birth. This is the mildest form of the disease. NF is also characterized by nerve and fibrous tumors which can be present on any part of the body, and which can grow inward or push outward as in the case of John Merrick, an extreme example.

Other symptoms vary in degree and intensity. Last year a 19 year old woman lost her fight with NF. Her tumors grew into her brain causing her to be partially blind and deaf on her left side. At age 4 her right leg was amputated below the knee; at 8 her first brain tumor was discovered. Soon her spine began to curve. The surgery performed last August was to remove a life-threatening tumor. Her body, with the disease advancing along the spine causing eventual paralysis, gave out after four months on a breathing machine. Hers was another extreme, but not unusual, case.

Last year Dr. Riccardi and some of his patients saw the need for other kinds of support for NF victims. The result of that concern was the

Use Patriotic Theme in Meeting

Los Ciboleros Chapter, DAR, met recently in the home of Margaret Durham with Lois Gilliland, Bea Barrett and Kate Johnson assisting as co-hostesses. Table decorations and refreshments carried out a patriotic theme, red, white and blue, as February had been proclaimed as American History Month.

Meeting was called to order by Patricia Robinson, Regent. Opening rituals were led by Frances Hennen, chaplain. The President General's message was given by Bea Barrett.
 Helen Rose, National Defense leader, discussed the Message, "Not a Binge, but a Build-Up" by former Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird. The question now before the new administration is how much and how quickly the budget should be increased and what areas the increment should be applied.

This program must increase our military capability and send a clear and reassuring signal to our allies and adversaries but, more important, be sustained and supported both economically and politically," Mrs. Rose said.

Leta Kaul, chapter chairman of American History Month Committee, reported on the committee activities this past month, which included the proclamation by the mayor, 200 essays from Hereford, Dimmitt, Friona, Springlake-Earth and Lubbudie schools.

Grand Opening of Model Unit South Plains Plaza, Lubbock

The grand opening of the model residence of the South Plains Plaza, a condominium for independent retirement living, was held Sunday in Lubbock. Thereafter, the model will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and noon to 6 p.m. on Sundays in Lubbock at West Loop 289 between 56th and 58th streets.

Approximately 160 units will be available with one or two bedrooms, with bath, or bath and a-half, full kitchen, living room, walk in closets and a balcony-solarium off each bedroom. Each unit will have individual temperature controls and individual utilities. These units will be on the second through the eleventh floors. The first and twelfth floors will have common rooms such as a club, lounge, dining facilities and activity rooms.

Among the services to be provided by South Plains Plaza are 24-Hour security, a registered nurse on duty and maintenance of the grounds and building.

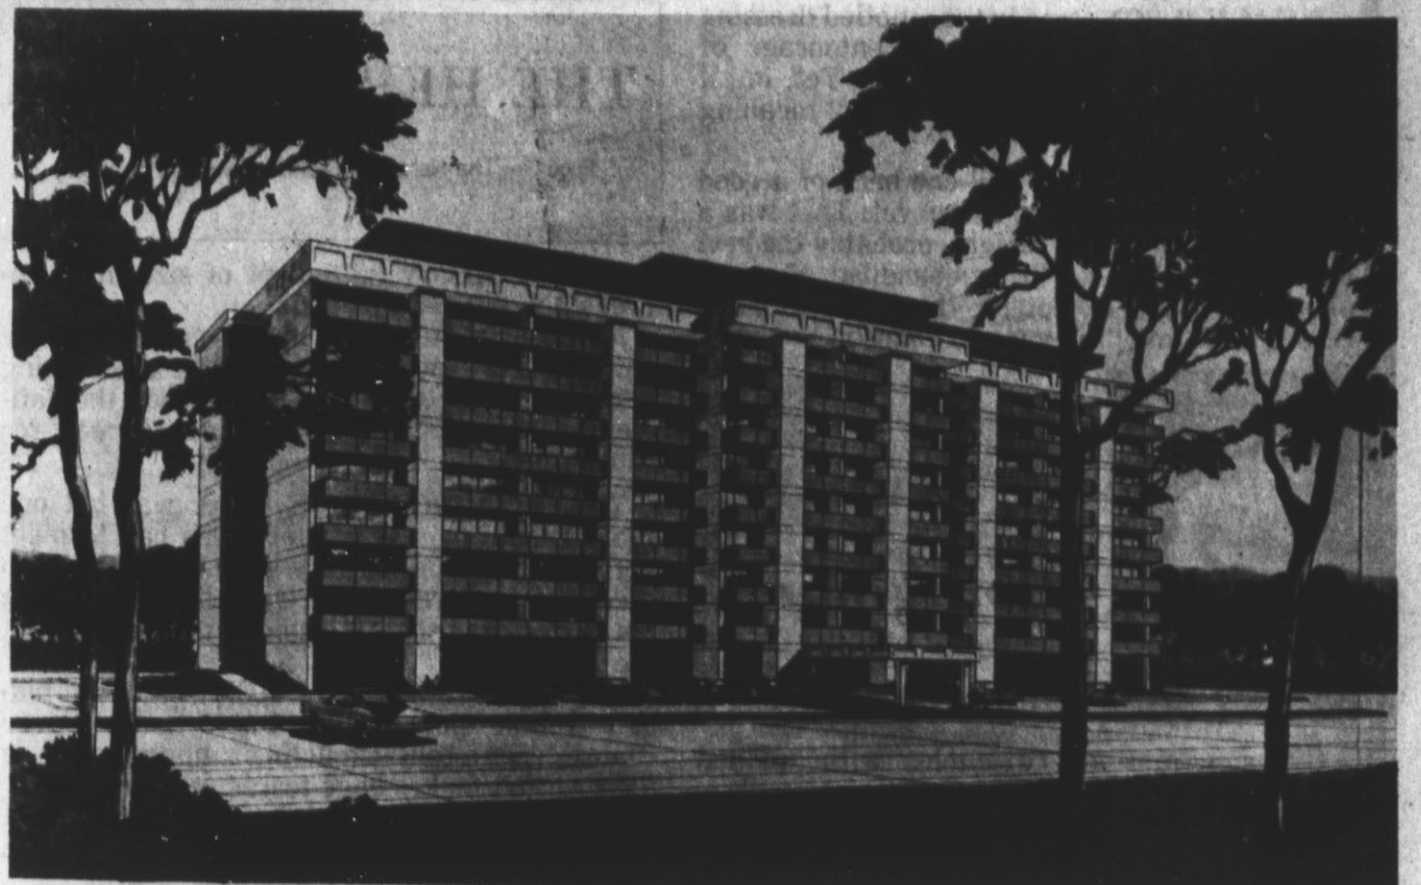

Units are available for purchase through Chapman and Company Realtors-Better Homes and Gardens. All ownership will be completed as in any condominium transaction in that the owner will retain full title to the property, and can sell as he or she wishes.

 Nat Kizer, who has served as consultant-advisor to several retirement groups, will be the sales director. The structure will be made of pre-cast concrete similar to that of the Lubbock International Airport Terminal. Construction is expected to be completed in approximately six months after ground breaking.

Dawn Forms New 4-H Club

By PENNY CRIBBS
 County Extension Agent
 Go! Go! Go! That should be a 4-H'er's middle name. Always on the go - going different places, meeting new faces and learning through a new experience every day!

To give all of you an idea of exactly what our 4-H clubs are involved in, I want to share a few things taking place right now.

This month a new club formed in Dawn, calling themselves "The Dawn Ground-Hog 4-H Club." They have had two meetings and have done an excellent job in getting the ball rolling toward having a very active club. Officers were selected Monday, February 16th. Those selected were: President - Joe McCabe, Vice President - Chawn Cook, Secretary - Reporter-Michael Watkins, Treasurer - Lisa Watkins, Council Delegate - Rodney Worley, Pledge Leaders - Jason Bradshaw, Billy Watkins, Refreshment Chairman - Loretta Watkins and Jimmie Cook. The organization leader for this club is Diana Clark.

Growing in numbers is not our only accomplishment this month.

Several 4-H members will be traveling to Brownwood, Texas, on February 20th, for a three day workshop on Method Demonstrations. This is probably our most outstanding program for training in leadership skills. Robby Vann and I want to encourage each 4-H'er to become involved in this activity. A fun-workshop day has been set aside on Saturday, March 14th, to help each boy and girl interested in learning more about what a method demonstration is and-or about doing one. Each 4-H club, leaders, and parents are invited to attend and bring a sack lunch. Materials in each category will be provided for their use in writing a demonstration. Agents, leaders and parents will be available to help the 4-H'ers start writing. More information on the time and location will be sent out at a later date!

One other super activity planned for this month is an introductory session to "Charm School." Mickey McDonald, Director of the American Beauty Charm School, will be in Hereford on Thursday, February 26th, at the Community Center Ball Room. The session will be held from 4:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m. Ms. McDonald's session is entitled, "How To Make The Most Of You." She will speak on poise and posture along with giving tips on walking and sitting correctly and modeling. The public is invited, so please feel free to join us!

Whew! As you can see - another busy schedule in the life of a 4-H'er! If you're interested in becoming a 4-H'er or finding out more information concerning 4-H, please feel free to call your county Extension office, 364-3573. Step into the busy world of 4-H!

At Wits End By ERMA BOMBECK

For years, few women have seen fit to tamper with the child-bearing cycle. Somewhere the averages are written:

- Birth of first child age 20.
- PTA and brownie baking at age 30.
- Graduation of first child age 38.
- First child married at age 42.
- Grandmother for the first time at age 44.

The last decade has changed all of that. A lot of women are reversing the cycle, choosing to pursue a career first, and postponing having a family until later. Few have explored the ramifications of this trend. In the past we have treated the older pregnant mother with awkwardness and embarrassment, and usually blurt out something profound like, "What happened?"

Today's generation has a new timetable for mother that looks something like this:

- Birth of first child at age 35.
- PTA and brownie baking at age 45.
- Graduation of first child at age 53.
- First child married at age 57.
- Grandma for the first time (assuming your child follows your example of career first, children later) at age 73.

If the trend catches on, I think there are some of the things you can look for.

A pregnancy rider on your Medicare forms. For a few extra bucks, you can be covered by an Act of God clause that would see you through your pre-natal care and your post-natal depression which could be quite costly over a long haul.

An increase of Social Security cards for show 'n tell. Also more participation by parents as resource persons in history classes. ("That battle wasn't prehistoric. My mom served doughnuts to the troops.")

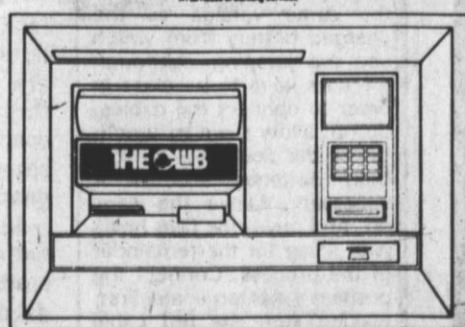

Creative cooking developed for the older Mom, such as Sedative Brownies, Tranquilizer Taffy and One-Box-Fits-All Breakfast Cereal.

A new family pastime where the children sit around and connect the liver spots on Mom's arms. Also, a new national physical fitness craze called "Napping."

Frankly, I think it's a Catch-22 situation. You either look 42 when you are 20 or you look 60 when you are 38. And you can always count on someone no matter what age to ask, "What happened?"

Giliuson Had A Dream for His Bruise Brothers

DAN GILIUSON stood in the emptied dressing room, the sole survivor of an entourage of backslappers, of staff handshakers. Yet, in all the solitude, he could still hear the well-meaning but trite jargon.

"Shoot coach! It was still one heck of a good game and the season isn't over yet. That was a tough team we played tonight, probably the best we've seen this year," they counseled. Hey, we played all right except for those two minutes before half time," they would concede.

Mauri Montgomery

Giliuson met every cliché with nodded acknowledgement. The consolations were second nature to him by then — mid-season and juggling three wins and 16 losses.

HE COULD RECITE ALL of them by memory just as easily as he could cite specifics in his crew's downfall that night — any defeated night — always the same culprit — those two minutes.

You remember Giliuson, the winning junior varsity coach awarded with an incomplete basketball program last spring after Bob Decker's resignation, a program lacking nothing but the necessary ingredient of size in an increasingly tall 4-5A league.

THE HEREFORD BRAND SPORTS

Page 6 - The Hereford Brand - Tuesday, February 24, 1981

No problem. Zones would be enthusiastically shuffled, play modified to meet the challenging demands of the situation — to cushion the deficiency in height which fate had decreed for Hereford.

THOSE THINGS DONE, there was but one more requirement the Whitefaces had to meet before the regal 4-5A fairy-godfather would dub thee 'Sir Cinderella'. Hereford had to promise not to miss any shots — especially the easy ones, the layups.

The 'TOO HUMAN ELEMENT' was the hidden trouble-spot. It was the primary Cause Clause, (not totally excluding Liliputianosis — a disease that makes cage teams very small).

The Whitefaces had been inflicted with it somewhere down the line — about 17 losses ago to be exact.

So said Giliuson, following Hereford's last disillusionment, 76-62, to the Lubbock High Westerners last week.

"What can you say, we hurt ourselves just like we have the rest of the season," he commented concerning his HHS Bruise Brothers, those who had been receiving the bumps rather administering such brutal treatment. "If you can't make a layup, then you're in trouble from the very start."

"Basically, it all boils down to making the easy shots. When a team gives you the easy one's, you've got to be able to make them consistently — not just part of the time," he noted.

IN THAT TILT, Hereford had guided itself to a 24-23 lead early in the second quarter behind the consistent efforts of guard Garry Parman (finished in familiar team-leading form with 22 points) in combination with Alan Wartes (had nine as another one of Hereford's high-scoring leprechauns), and Norman Hill (netted 11).

But with 5:21 left in that period, the Whitefaces missed four back-to-back layups while allowing Lubbock the courtesy of 10 unanswered points.

At that point, one could have easily envisioned Giliuson standing up before the Lubbock caucus to announce "I had a dream."

NO ONE HAD to tell Giliuson about the 'human element' then. He and the 'element' were on a first name basis — ELEMENTARY.

And now, going into the regular season finale tonight against the Monterey Plainsmen at 7:30 p.m., the only significance left for the Whitefaces' 0-7 loop cage play is, there is little or no significance.

There is one consolation, however. Hereford could throw a monkey wrench in the already disorderly proceedings of the (first-year) district tournament with a win tonight.

It (an HHS victory) would be the deciding factor in whether or not Lubbock Monterey (6-1 overall and sole first-half champ) will be forced into a tournament-site playoff with Plainview (the Bulldogs ended their season 7-1 Friday with an overtime victory over Lubbock Coronado).

Should Monterey beat Hereford, the Lubbock team would then play host to the tournament after having won the first-half outright and tying with Plainview in the second-round. But providing Hereford wins tonight, Plainview would become the second-half's outright winner, thus setting up a playoff between the Bulldogs and Plainsmen for hosting rites to the tournament.

IN THE FIRST conflict of the tournament, an affair in which anything can happen according to most of the league coaches including Giliuson, Hereford will be required to meet the loser of the Round Robin contest (either Plainview or Monterey) while Lubbock High and Lubbock Coronado tangle.

The hosting team of the tournament (again, either Plainview or Monterey) will acquire a bye until only one team is left in the competition.

Giliuson, still standing solitary in the vacant lockerroom, wondered if the 4-5A fairy-godfather would, indeed, ever dub his crew 'Sir Cinderella'. There was still time — there still remained the district tournament. He, like many others, believed anything could happen in that spectacle.

HE NODDED TO HIMSELF in acknowledgment. He still held a dream for his, as of late too human, 3-27 Bruise Brothers.

Houston's Murphy Nets 30 Points To Give Utah 10th Loss

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — It was shake-your-head-and-remember-when night for Utah Coach Tom Nissalke, who watched chagrined as Houston guard Calvin Murphy sent his former coach's club to its 10th loss in 11 games.

Murphy scored 38 points, including two long jumpers and a twisting layup in the final minute and a half to guide the Rockets to a 106-102 National Basketball Association win, Houston's third straight and the league's only contest Monday night.

"Murphy is just a great player," said Nissalke, Houston's coach from 1977 to 1979. "He's one of the greatest players of all time."

The 5-foot-10 Murphy, whose basket with a minute remaining gave the Rockets the lead for good at 100-99, also sank six straight free throws to keep alive his NBA record string at 73. He broke Rick Barry's record of 65 straight last week.

"We like to go with whoever is on a roll," said Houston Coach Del Harris, "and Calvin has been on a roll for the past 10 days."

Murphy, who had 22 points in the first half, drilled 16 of 21 field goal attempts in out-dueling the NBA's leading scorer, Utah forward Adrian Dantley, who finished with 34 points.

Houston center Moses Malone, who averages 28 points, scored 18 and grabbed 14 rebounds.

"When Moses isn't having his usual offensive night, we spend a lot of time going to Murphy and (guard Mike) Dunleavy in the backcourt for our offense," Harris said.

"Moses had to play a lot tonight with (forward Billy) Paultz out, and he knew he would so he was pacing himself."

With less than a minute left, Utah rookie Darrell Griffith, who had 23 points in the game, missed a shot that would have given the Jazz the lead. Murphy then drove for a layup with 23 seconds remaining to make it 102-99 for Houston. Two foul shots each by guard Allen Leavell and Dunleavy preserved the win.

The victory also boosted the Rockets into a tie with Kansas City for second place in the Midwest Division behind San Antonio. The Rockets are 31-33, while the slumping Jazz dropped to 24-42.

Houston led 77-74 after three quarters, but the Jazz scored 11 straight to take an 85-77 margin. However, a three-point play by Malone, and six points by Murphy brought the Rockets back.

Harris credited Houston's defense with giving the Rockets their first road win against Utah after two losses.

"I think we have been playing pretty good defense for the past 30 games or so, and we had every guy out there tonight playing for his pride on defense to finally get a win here," Harris said.

For his part, Nissalke was in the doldrums. "Are our players down? I hope so. I am. They should be down because that's how you regroup and get things back together," he said.

Sports Briefs

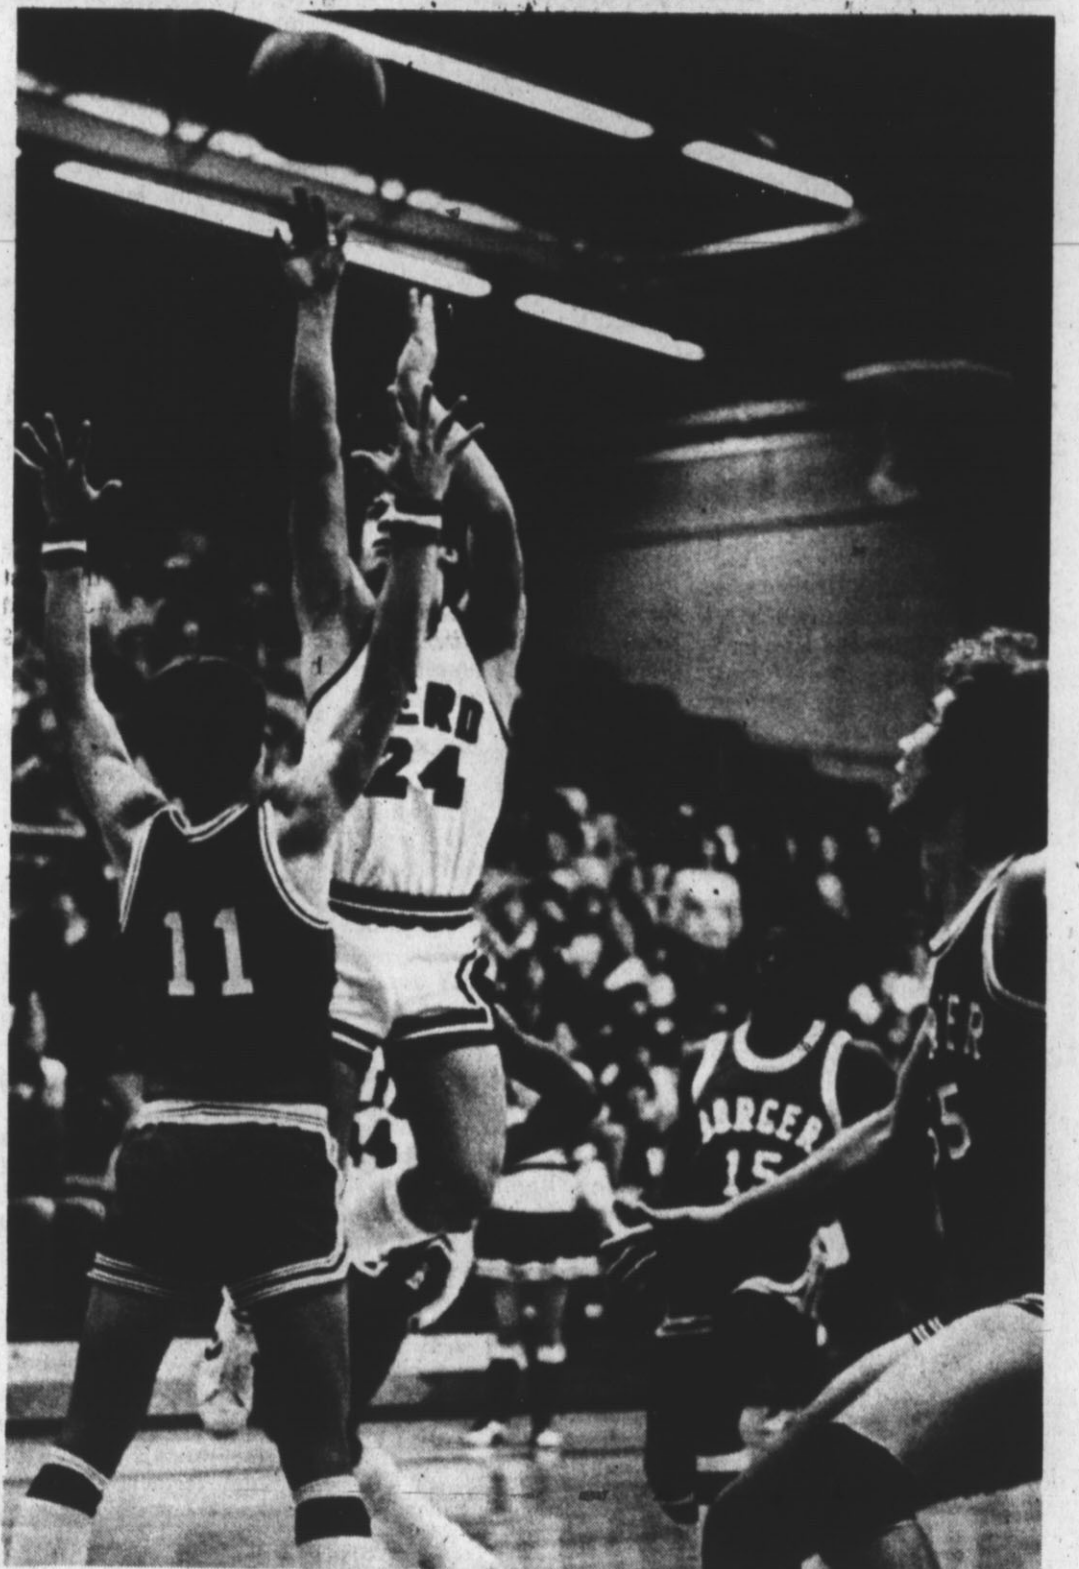

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Sweden's Bjorn Borg extended his winning streak over Vitas Gerulaitis to 15 by downing the American 4-6, 6-2, 6-3 in an exhibition match.

The victory ended an exhibition tour in Australia during which Borg earned more than $500,000. He earlier beat John McEnroe two matches to one in a challenge series in Sydney and Melbourne.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Tom Gullikson upset 13th-seeded Bill Scanlon 6-2, 7-6 in the first round of the $200,000 U.S. National Indoor Tennis Championships.

In other first-round matches, Tim Wilkison eliminated Sherwood Stewart 6-2, 6-2; sixth-seeded Yannick Noah of France, defeated Butch Walts 6-3, 4-6, 6-4; Harold Solomon downed Francisco Gonzalez of Puerto Rico, 7-5, 6-3; and Gene Mayer beat his brother, Sandy, 7-6, 6-2.

SEATTLE (AP) — Sylvia Hanika of West Germany defeated Betty Stove of The Netherlands, 6-7, 6-4, 6-4 in first-round singles action in the $150,000 Avon tennis championships.

YOU AUTO KNOW

By Don G. I've heard horror stories about batteries exploding when attempting to jump start a car. Is there a safe method for using jumper cables? A. Glad you asked. Yes there is, but extreme caution should be used in any event. First, always make sure the battery you are jumping is the same voltage as the charged battery from which you are jumping. Although the cars have to be close in order to connect the cables, do not allow them to touch. Check the electrolyte level in both batteries and fill if necessary. Leave the caps off, and cover the filler holes with a rag for the remainder of the process. Connect the positive (+) terminals first, making sure the red cable clamp is used on both cars. Connect ONE end of the remaining jumper cable to the negative (-) terminal of the booster battery, and the other end of this cable to the engine block of the car with the run down battery. Once the car is started, remove the negative clamp from the engine block first, then the remaining cables, and replace vent caps.

Fixed Games Worry Coaches

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The tremors emanating from college basketball's latest point-shaving episode are sending shock waves through the nation's football coaches, aware that their sport is not immune from the possibility of fixed games.

Just because college football has never been publicly embarrassed by such a scandal doesn't mean it can't happen.

"Certainly it can. All coaches worry about it," says Florida States' Bobby Bowden.

"Yes, easy," echoes Grant Teaff of Baylor.

"It's been attempted, no question about it," adds Georgia's Vince Dooley.

"Why not?" asks Bo Schembechler of Michigan.

"I think it could happen if gamblers got hold of a dominant player or two," says Don James of Washington.

It has been tried. Teaff disclosed that in 1973 Baylor wide receiver Charles Dancer "came to me real shook up and told me a story that made my hair stand up. He was our prime receiver and two guys offered him a ride to practice one day. They opened the glove compartment and showed him a huge wad of money and a gun and said, 'We want to talk to you about dropping some passes.' "He got out of the car as quick as he could and came straight to me. We reported it to the authorities, but there was no further contact and nothing ever came of it. It's something that never really enters your mind, but when you read about something like the basketball thing, it kind of shakes you up."

The coaches were among those attending the National Collegiate Athletic Association's fifth annual College Football Preview, which winds up today.

Jackson Discusses Lifetime Business Deal

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Reggie Jackson, who would like to be the highest-paid player on the New York Yankees, may settle for getting the most respect.

The slugging outfielder met with George Steinbrenner for two hours Monday and discussed a "lifetime" business deal with the Yankees owner.

"George was very complimentary, very positive," said Jackson, who will be 35 in May. "He talked to me like a business associate. He really thinks something of my name, my drawing card ability, what I mean to the sport. I always thought I'd like for someone to say 'We want you to be a part of us.'"

"That's worth a lot. That's more important than money."

He said Steinbrenner suggested that Jackson become involved in Steinbrenner's other enterprises, such as his shipbuilding business.

Jackson said the only negative aspect of the wide-ranging deal he has been discussing with Steinbrenner is that his playing salary would be less than the $1.4 million per year Dave Winfield reportedly will receive from the Yankees, or the $1.3 million Fred Lynn is said to have signed for with the California Angels.

"I don't know if I'm secure enough and mature enough to be able to accept not having the top number next to my name," conceded Jackson. "But that's a decision I'll have to make. The deal that George is talking about could be very special."

Jackson, who signed a five-year contract with the Yankees in 1976 that expires after the 1981 season, had preliminary discussions with Steinbrenner in New York two weeks ago. They plan to meet again after Jackson reports to the Yankees' training camp March 1 and hope to reach an agreement before the start of the season April 3.

"We had an excellent meeting," Steinbrenner said of Monday's session. "I'd like to sign him and I'd say that the chances are excellent that he will be a Yankee in 1982 and beyond that."

With Amarillo Palo Duro

HHS Netters Split Matches

By MAURI MONTGOMERY
Brand Sports Editor

AMARILLO -- The old adage 'opposites attract' was proved to be no myth here Saturday after the Hereford boys' and girls' tennis teams played at opposite extremes against Palo Duro.

The boys' turned in a narrow, but winning, 5-4 mark while the HHS girls plummeted to a 7-2 loss.

And even though he course of the net play defied description, head coach Robert Cox attempted an explanation anyway.

"A lot of our players are having confidence problems. An example, but not the only example, is Trent Thomas. He played better than he has in two or three weeks, yet he is typical of a lot of our people in that he wasn't able to win the big points -- the points which eventually would have given him a split match win," Cox said.

Thomas, one of Hereford's top seed singles players and one of three HHS boys' singles players to suffer a loss, defeated Amarillo's Kevin Harrison 6-3 in the first set of competition, but later allowed the Palo Duro netter to cap the final two 6-2, 6-3 for the match.

"In the third set, he had a chance to make it four-all, but then he lost it which made it 5-3 instead -- that's a big difference to overcome. You've always got to play hard on that 7th and 8th game because that's one of the most important ones in the set," he said.

"But handling pressure is something you can't learn to any great extent in practice," he noted. "It's something you have to cultivate through experience."

It was that Catch-22 situation. How could one learn to handle the pressure if one had to lose all the time in doing so?

Cox-admittedly didn't know the answer. "I think it's just a matter of playing hard and never giving up," he said. "Raymond Duncan is like that. He is one of the most consistent players we've had so far this year, and it's because he doesn't give up. I never count him out of the match even though he may be behind because of that."

Duncan, coming in from the third spot on the HHS ladder, lost his first set 3-6 to Darrell Norflert, but then bounced back to clinch the match with two final 6-4, 6-2 victories.

Other's making successful showings were Danny Perez who took a split set 6-3, 4-6, 6-2 win over Jayesh Peutal, and Kelly Cassels who drilled Palo Duro's Rodney Irvin 6-3, 6-2.

Adolfo Garcia dropped his singles match with straight set losses of 6-3, 6-4 to Garry McDonald and Robert Castro was scuffled 7-5, 6-4 to Gaither Cain.

In doubles competition, Hereford's duo of Garcia-Perez fell victim to PD's

McDonald-Harrison 7-6, 6-0 before the Whiteface teams of Duncan-Castro and Thomas-Cassels came back to defeat Norflert-Pental 6-3, 6-2 and Irvin-Coltran 6-2, 6-2.

In girls' singles play, HHS netter Kim Sims recorded the only win of the day as she crippled Shirley Hill 6-4, 6-3.

Claire Montemayor dropped her match 6-2, 7-6 to Kim Richardson; Carol Zinser was defeated by Teri Smith 6-0, 6-2; Dolly Montemayor slipped to Pam Pierce 6-3, 6-2; Donnie Brooks capped straight set wins over HHS's Holly Veigal 6-1, 6-0 and Annette Lafuente lost to Debbie Chitwood 6-2, 6-2.

Hereford doubles crew Claire Montemayor-Carol Zinser capped straight set victories over PD's Richardson-Smith 7-6, 6-4 in opening segments of that play before Hereford's Sims-Dolly Montemayor team lost to Hill-Pierce 6-2, 6-1 and Veigal-Lafuente were defeated by Brooks-Ledford 6-1, 6-2.

Oregon State Bombs Huskies

It was the best of times and the worst of times for top-ranked Oregon State, whose blitzkrieg defense made sure that was enough to keep the Beavers the only major unbeaten college basketball team in the nation.

Ralph Miller's powerhouse squad made only 36 percent of its shots in the first half, then came back with a more characteristic 73 percent in the second to whip the Washington Huskies 89-63 for its 23rd straight victory this season.

"We missed a lot of easy shots in the first half, so we were down at about our lowest half of the season," said Beavers Coach Ralph Miller. "But what's wrong with .545 at the end of the game?"

"It wasn't one of our better games but the second half was close to our best half."

In other games involving teams in the new Associated Press Top 20, fourth-ranked DePaul manhandled Butler 89-64 and No. 20 Louisville, making its first appearance in the national rankings in nine weeks, won its 11th game in a row with an 81-67 decision over Cincinnati.

For most of the season, Oregon State has been ahead of Missouri's NCAA team record pace of 57.2 percent set in 1979-80.

But while the Beavers struggled to find the basket in the first half, they still led 37-27 at intermission because the hoop was nearly invisible to the Huskies. They scored on only 25 percent of their shots in the first 20 minutes and finished the game connecting at a 34 percent clip.

"We couldn't shoot the ball worth beans and I suppose that has something to do with their defense," said Washington Coach Marv Harshman. "A team like ours has to put the ball in the hole pretty regularly to cause any problems. When we stayed in there at the first of the game, they were shooting about as poorly as we were."

"After they started getting the ball inside, they had no problems."

The man inside for Oregon State was center Steve Johnson, who scored 21 of his game-high 24 points in the second half. He played only four minutes in the first half because of foul trouble, then returned after halftime to score six of eight straight points by the Beavers to put them firmly in control.

Washington led 16-14 midway through the first half before the Beavers scored 13 points in a row over a 4½-minute stretch to take the lead for good.

The DePaul and Louisville starters gave their teams huge leads before going to the bench.

DePaul easily improved its record to 24-1, taking a 42-14 lead late in the first half against outmanned Butler and used substitutes to coast the rest of the way. Junior guard Skip Dillard scored all of his 18 points before intermission to pace the Blue Demons' scorers.

Louisville, the defending national champion that started the season 2-7, improved its record to 17-8 with a solid performance against Cincinnati. The Cardinals led 33-23 at halftime and outscored Cincinnati 21-4 to start the second period to build a 54-27 margin.

Jerry Eaves finished with 21 points for Louisville.

Elsewhere, Zam Fredrick solidified his national scoring leadership with 43 points as South Carolina ended its regular season with a 106-69 triumph over Georgia Southern; Mike Ferrara, the No. 2 scorer in the nation, scored 35 points to lead Colgate to a 75-66 decision over Army; Villanova outlasted Connecticut 74-73 in double overtime behind John Pinone's 23 points; Graylin Warner scored 23 points and Kevin Figaro added 22 as Southwestern Louisiana upset Lamar, then ranked 19th, 97-81.

Pope Lavishes Praise On Japan's Culture

TOKYO (AP) — Pope John Paul II, speaking fluent Japanese, lavished praise upon Japan's people and culture Monday at the start of his historic four-day visit to this land of devout Buddhists and Shintoists.

Speaking his newly acquired language for the first time in public, the pontiff extended his "respectful greetings" to Emperor Hirohito and invoked God's "choicest blessings" on Japan where Roman Catholics are a tiny minority and the public has shown little interest in his visit — the first ever by a pope.

The 60-year-old pontiff, who the Japanese call a religious emperor or king of the laws, scheduled a Tuesday morning meeting with Hirohito, who led Japan through World War II as the "Sun God."

The pope, who drew cheering millions during a triumphant six-day tour of the Philippines last week, arrived to a low-key welcome under a driving rain at Haneda Airport. Fewer than 200 people, mostly government and church officials, met him in a brief, formal reception.

In a solemn, moving ceremony at St. Mary's Cathedral, a modern structure of reinforced concrete, John Paul said he came to Japan "as a pilgrim of peace, bearing a message of friendship and respect for all of you." Hundreds of plainclothes security agents checked passes and surrounded the cathedral — part of a 10,000-man force assigned to guard the pope. Police blocked nearly all of the pope's motorcade route.

The pope, in white cassock and skullcap, told an audience of 3,600 bishops, priests, missionaries and nuns that it is "indeed an hour of great rejoicing to come to this hospitable land, where mother nature has brought forth prodigies of incomparable beauty...

"Above all, it gives me immense pleasure to be in the midst of the Japanese themselves, in their own country, which has generated a venerable culture that spans many centuries," John Paul said in a message clearly aimed at the entire Japanese nation.

The fluency of the pope's Japanese caught listeners by surprise. Many in the audience looked at one another in amazement as the pope delivered his seven-minute address without fumbling.

The Newspaper BIBLE

DOCTOR, HEAL YOURSELF!

Jesus said, "Probably you will quote Me that proverb, 'Physician, heal yourself'—meaning, 'Why don't you do miracles here in your home town like those you did in Capernaum?'"

"But I solemnly declare to you that no prophet is accepted in his own home town!"

"For example, remember how Elijah the prophet used a miracle to help the widow of Zarephath—a foreigner from the land of Sidon. There were many Jewish widows needing help in those days of famine, for there had been no rain for three and one-half years, and hunger stalked the land; yet Elijah was not sent to them.

"Or think of the prophet Elisha, who healed Naaman, a Syrian, rather than the many Jewish lepers needing help."

"These remarks stung them to fury; and jumping up, they mobbed Him and took Him to the edge of the hill on which the city was built, to push Him over the cliff.

But He walked away through the crowd and left them.

Then He returned to Capernaum, a city in Galilee, and preached there in the synagogue every Saturday.

Here, too, the people were amazed at the things He said. For He spoke as one who knew the truth, instead of merely quoting the opinions of others as His authority.

Former U.S. Hostage To Cartoon His Story

DALLAS (AP) — Marine Sgt. Jim Lopez knows how the soul sings with humor — even the gallows variety — when there are no songs of freedom to sing.

Although they may lack polished style and biting wit, the political cartoons of the 22-year-old Lopez, a copper miner's son, hometown hero from Globe, Ariz. and former American hostage, may soon be seen by thousands of Americans.

Lopez knows the stiff gait of an Iranian revolutionary, the naivete of the Ayatollah's advisors and the satirical side of hope. This, and a rough-hewn talent for caricature, helped him to buoy the spirits of his fellow American hostages during their interminable stay in Tehran.

When Lopez overheard a birthday celebration being held for a fellow hostage being held elsewhere in the American embassy compound, he penned a birthday card and asked one of his captors to pass it along to the American.

The card showed an aged, wheelchair-bound man, staring blankly at a birthday cake festooned with hundreds of small candles. An Iranian guard stood nearby, a fire extinguisher in his hand.

"Happy birthday to a fellow American political prisoner," the card read. "You haven't been forgotten." The card opened to display a small piece of yellow ribbon and the punch line: "Just written off."

Then there was the "Hostage Lottery." Later in their captivity, Lopez and his cellmates at an Iranian prison offered to place wagers for their fellow hostages on when they might be released from Iran.

"Pick a month and a day," Lopez instructed them. "Leave the year blank."

For Lopez, the hostage crisis has brought a small personal dream to fruition. Now that life for the former hostages has returned to a near-normal pace, Lopez is using his drawing talents to resurrect the kind of black humor "that helped me get through it all in one piece."

Lopez and Phoenix media consultant Ben Goddard are compiling a one-hour animated documentary they hope to market next spring for airing on network or public television. The project is still in its production stages in a Dallas animation studio, but Goddard says it will be a mix of animated cartoon footage and excerpts from a "straight-talking" interview with the young Marine Corps sergeant.

"I've been drawing pictures and cartoons as long as I can remember, says the tattooed former hostage. "This is really like a dream come true. I don't care if we make any money on it. I'm just having fun."

Brezhnev Wants Summit Meeting

MOSCOW (AP) — President Leonid I. Brezhnev, opening the Soviet Communist Party Congress, on Monday proposed a summit meeting with President Reagan to resolve world problems and improve relations between the Soviet Union and the United States.

In a major policy speech greeted by a thunderous ovation, Brezhnev called for resumption of U.S.-Soviet strategic arms negotiations and for limits on submarines and deployment of submarine-based missiles.

Brezhnev said that in the first month of Reagan's presidency "candidly bellicose calls and statements have resounded from Washington, specially designed, as it were, to poison the atmosphere of relations between our two countries."

He said "the acuteness of world problems demanding resolution ... dictate the necessity of a dialogue on all levels" between the superpowers. "Experience shows that the crucial link here is meeting at summit level. This was true yesterday, and is still true today," he told nearly 5,000 delegates at the Kremlin Palace of Congresses.

Speaking before a huge, white statue of Lenin, the Soviet Union's founder, Brezhnev said "the Soviet Union wants normal relations with the United States."

Brezhnev, 74, who has reportedly suffered several bouts of ill health in recent years, was shown on live television for only 10 minutes, delivering the beginning and end of the long address. He appeared ashen-faced on television at the end.

Except for the 10 minutes, television viewers saw a studio announcer reading the text of a speech that kicked off a week-long congress that was to endorse Soviet plans for the next five years.

The presentation prompted speculation that Brezhnev and other leaders were not confident he could deliver his entire speech well. One source said he stumbled over some passages before the delegates in the hall.

Kremlin spokesman Leonid Zamyatin claimed afterward that Brezhnev delivered the entire three-hour, 40-minute address from the rostrum with "very good tempo, very good form, with enormous enthusiasm." Foreign reporters were not allowed to cover the session.

At the last party congress in 1976, Brezhnev spoke for five hours, 10 minutes and his entire speech was televised live.

The passages suggesting a U.S.-Soviet summit meeting and new disarmament talks were contained in versions of the speech read on Soviet television and distributed by the official news agency Tass.

On U.S.-Soviet strategic arms talks, Brezhnev expressed willingness to continue "relevant discussions with the United States without delay," providing such talks do not give a "unilateral advantage" to the Americans.

It was an indication that the Soviet Union might be prepared to consider changes in the SALT-2 Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty, which the U.S. Senate refused to take up for ratification following the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan in December 1979. Reagan has said he believes SALT-2 favors the Soviet Union and should be renegotiated.

Asked by reporters to define Brezhnev's specific proposal for a summit meeting with Reagan, Zamyatin would only repeat the Soviet leader's remarks.

The last U.S.-Soviet summit was in Vienna in 1979, when Brezhnev and President Carter signed the SALT-2 accord.

In his speech, Brezhnev also proposed the two countries limit deployment of new submarines — the Ohio-class by the United States and "similar" Soviet vessels — as well as the development of new ballistic missiles for the submarines.

He indicated Soviet willingness to discuss "international aspects" of the Afghanistan problem with Washington if the talks also dealt with questions of Persian Gulf security.

Brezhnev previously called for removal of foreign troops from the crucial sea lanes in and around the oil-rich Persian Gulf. But Soviet proposals have been dismissed as a "propaganda gesture" by many Western diplomats.

Brezhnev reiterated that Soviet troops — estimated at 85,000 by Western intelligence sources — would remain in Afghanistan until the United States, China and other countries stop "interference" in the country by arming Moslem insurgents fighting the pro-Moscow government in Kabul.

He also indicated that the legitimacy of the Kabul government was not open to discussion.

On Poland, Brezhnev accused "imperialist, subversive" forces of trying to undermine the communist system by promoting "counter-revolution." He quoted the Polish Communist Party as saying that "the pillars of the socialist state in Poland are in jeopardy."

He noted the Warsaw Pact summit of Dec. 5 in Moscow that gave Poland "important political support" and said the Soviet bloc would not abandon Poland "in its hour of need." There was no threat to send Soviet troops into the neighboring country to insure order.

For Europe, Brezhnev repeated a Soviet call for freezing medium-range missiles at present levels, and proposed the widening of military "confidence-building measures" such as providing advance information on military maneuvers.

Brezhnev also said it would be "useful" to call a special session of the U.N. Security Council with participation of top leaders of member states to look for keys to improving the international situation.

The wide-ranging speech also covered a variety of domestic problems, including ambitious plans to improve Soviet food production and end bottlenecks in distribution. He conceded that the Soviet Union faced "difficulties supplying the population with food."
