

Fleet Racers Product Of Westbrook Farm

By JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor

Westbrook Farm: The name has a ring to it that can conjure up visions of sleek Thoroughbred racehorses cantering through paddocks of lush Kentucky bluegrass, surrounded by white rail fences.

Westbrook is a long way from Kentucky and bluegrass though. It's located six miles west of Milo Center, in an area more noted for feedgrains and buffalograss, and the paddocks of winter wheat, rye, brome and fescue grass are surrounded by fences of white pipe and V-mesh wire.

The horses are there though—Thoroughbreds to rival the sleekness of the pride of Kentucky.

Local cattlemen turned horsemen Lowell Neumayer and Don Brooks have added a Texas twist to the Kentucky heritage, however.

With careful sire selection, including the likes of a son of the immortal Secretariat, plus a discriminating choice of dams, the local men have wound bloodlines of the American Quarterhorse amidst Kentucky blueblood to create their own four-legged racing machines—fast horses that can go the distance in the rich dash-for-cash events of Quarterhorse futurities, and which bring the towering bids their abilities command. Westbrook began in 1974 as the brainchild of Brooks and Neumayer after they bought their first brood mare in July of that year at the All-American yearling sale in Ruidoso, N.M.

"I had just gotten through the cattle crash of 1973-74 and I was looking for something better. I had always been interested in horses," Brooks explained.

"We got up to 15 brood mares and began breeding them to stallions standing at other places, selling the yearlings at the All-American sale," he continued.

According to Brooks, Westbrook Farm took 11 yearlings to the Ruidoso sale last year and the colt crop brought an average price of $30,000 per head, considerably higher than the per-head take on cattle.

Brooks is quick to add, however, that the risks are far more considerable as well.

"It's a very slow process, getting a colt available for sale. There's an 11-month gestation period for the mares and the colt is 15-18 months old before it goes to sale. If everything is real good, the conception rate on mares is about 85 percent. Also, you have to figure out which sire will be popular at the time when the colts will sell. There's plenty to gamble on," he related.

Westbrook Farm includes 320 acres, with half the acreage in cool season grasses and the remainder planted to winter wheat or rye.

There are 11 irrigated horse paddocks arranged over the farm plus a "mare motel" that houses 20 brood mares.

At the center of the spread is a barn enclosing 16 12x12 stalls plus a breeding area and office facilities.

"We keep about 21 brood mares now, most of which are Thoroughbred stock," said Brooks.

"If they are good runners, your colts will be popular. In this area, people are more tuned-in to Quarterhorses than they are to Thoroughbreds, although I am leaning more toward the breeding of Thoroughbreds now, because that's where the money is... Some Thoroughbred people will breed a Quarterhorse mare to a Thoroughbred stud, but there aren't many. The Quarterhorse is coming to the forefront more now than ever before though, because of all of the futurities. In 1982, the All-American Futurity will pay $2 million to the winner," Brooks explained.

With an eye toward the production of more

Thoroughbred foals, Brooks reports that Westbrook Farm purchased the stud Natomas, a son of the great Triple Crown winner Secretariat.

What's the criteria for selection of top broodstock prospects?

"We look for conformation, pedigree and racing ability. I like a well-balanced horse with a long, sloping shoulder, short back, long underline and hip, good muscling, and a horse that is good-headed," said Brooks.

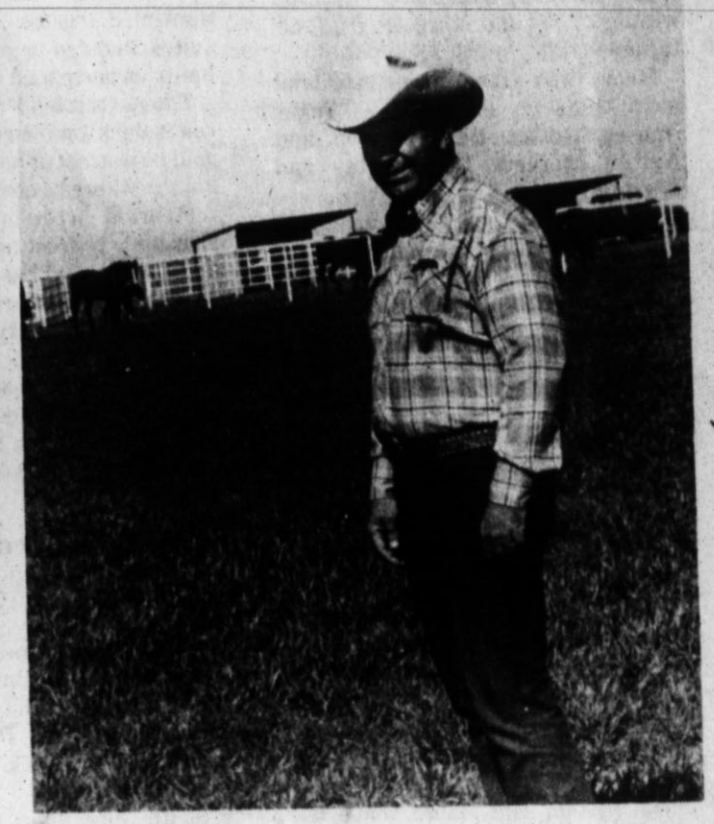

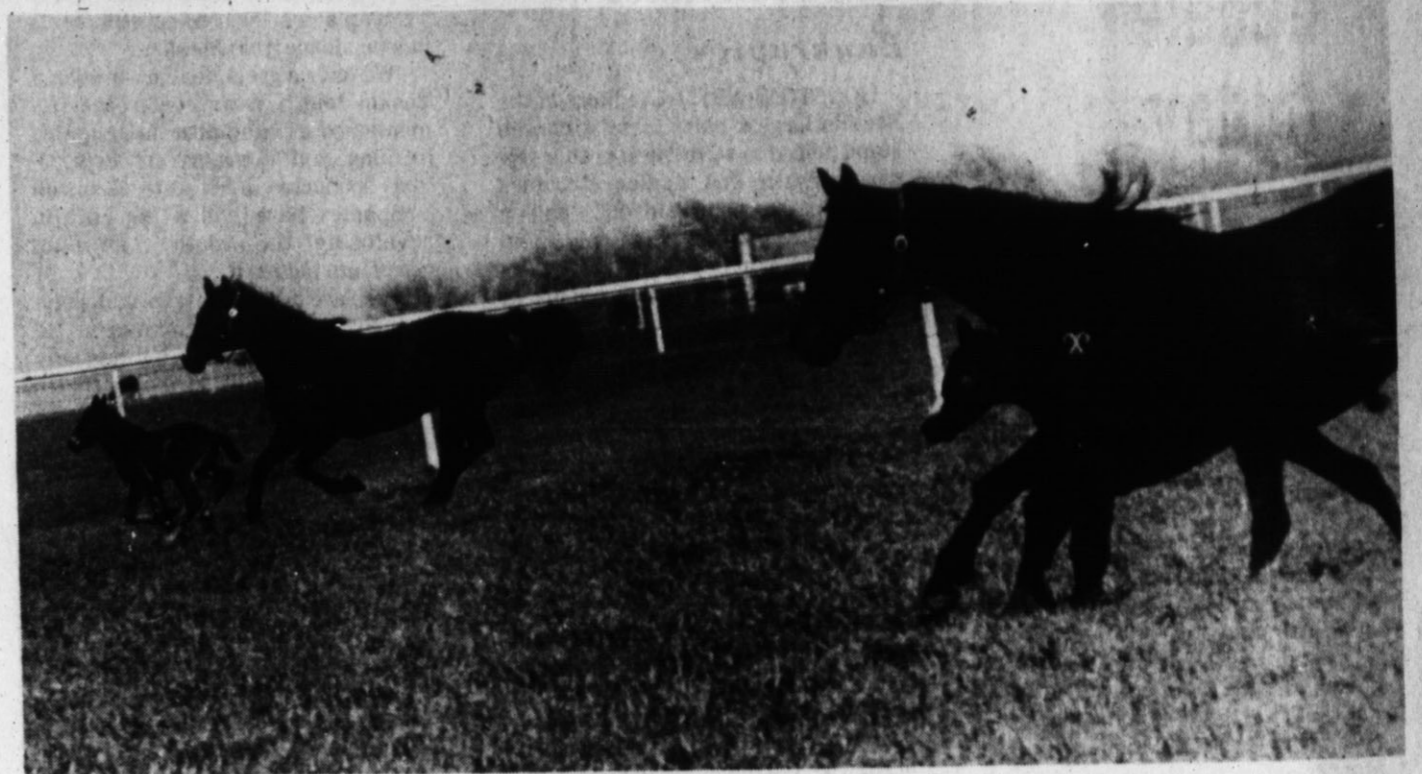

"Nearly all of the running Quarterhorses today are probably 1/2 to 3/8 Thoroughbred, mainly because they used to run 250 yards in the futurity races and now they run 440.—They need the Thoroughbred blood to go the distance," he added.

Brooks plans to take several yearling colts to sales in Kingland, Kentucky and Texas this year. He reports that the foundation stock for those colts was bought in Kentucky and that only the best progeny will be taken back there.

According to Brooks, the breeding season for Westbrook Farm begins Feb. 15 and continues through June 1 each year.

A lighting program exposing mares to 16 hours of light a day is utilized to get an earlier start on the breeding

It's Not Kentucky, But...

The Texas Panhandle isn't normally considered a prime production area for fleet-footed racehorses but at Westbrook Farm west of Milo Center you'll find Thoroughbred mares and their foals galloping through lush pastures such as the one shown above. Both Quarterhorse and Thoroughbred racing foals are raised at the

'Sharing Miracles' Day's Work For Nurses in OB Ward of DSG

By ALLISON RYAN
Women's Editor

Obstetrics is considered a branch of medicine that deals with childbirth, but for the 15 nurses at Deaf Smith General Hospital, led by supervisor Carolyn Andrews, "OB is the sharing of the miracle of birth."

The nurses involved in the department are serious, yet there appears to be a special and soft atmosphere about the obstetrics and gynecology wing of the hospital. Even the physical features of the wing are different as nine private rooms open to an octagon shaped foyer painted a warm orange with a garden of green plants in the center and the nursery on one side.

"This is a happy place to work. Birth is just a miracle in itself and to be able to share this with a mother is fulfilling for all of us," Mrs. Andrews said.

The nurses and mothers are not the only ones involved with childbirth as practices and theories in recent years have changed to include the father.

"The system we have here is very flexible in order to include the family as much as possible. Not too long ago fathers were not even allowed in the labor room and now with training they can participate in the delivery of their baby," Mrs. Andrews explained.

"I think it is very important that a father participate because that baby becomes a real individual to him and it helps him to understand the process of birth," she continued.

To help prepare couples for the sharing of childbirth the OB department started early childbirth or Lamaze classes at the hospital about a year ago.

The classes which are offered to women who are within at least three months of delivery, teach couples about pregnancy and birth including correct exercise to help with birth and the relaxation and breathing needed when giving birth.

Senator Says Booze Lobbies Endangering Age Limit Raise

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Sen. Bill Sarpalius, D-Hereford, says beer, liquor and grocery store lobbyists are endangering the final passage of his bill raising Texas' legal drinking age from 18 to 19.

The issue, he said, is an amendment added by the House which puts a responsibility on sellers of alcoholic beverage to make sure customers are not under-age.

"I understand they (lobbyists) are putting pressure on some of the senators not to go along with the amendment," Sarpalius said.

The House passed the bill, 104-15, on Thursday, returning it to the Senate for action on the amendment. If senators OK the amendment, the bill goes to Gov. Bill Clements for signature into law. But if they reject it, the measure will be sent to a House-Senate conference committee for compromise talks.

Clements submitted raising the drinking age as an emergency matter and is expected to sign the bill if he gets it.

Sarpalius said he feared losing the entire bill in the fight over the House amendment.

The House amendment

puts teeth in the law that says a tavern or beverage merchant may not "knowingly" sell alcohol to a minor — defined in the bill as anyone under 19. A seller would be presumed to know a person was a minor if he did not request a driver's license, military identification card or other proof of age.

Sarpalius said grocers, as well as liquor and beer interests, object to the amendment.

"They don't like the idea of being required to ask for an ID, and the responsibility that is being placed on them," he said in an interview.

Sarpalius said he gave each of the 31 senators a copy of the amendment to take home and study over the weekend. He said he would talk to them again on Monday.

"If it looks like I have the support to concur (in the amendment), I will... I support the amendment," he said.

Speaker Bill Clayton, who would appoint House members of a conference committee if one is required, also favors the amendment.

Shuttle Rehearsal Claims Life of Worker

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — An "all clear" announcement that it was safe to return to work sounded over Kennedy Space Center moments before one worker was killed and five others nearly asphyxiated in a nitrogen-filled compartment of the space shuttle Columbia, an official says.

The compartment, filled with nitrogen as a precaution against fire during a dress rehearsal Thursday for the shuttle's launch, should have been refilled with oxygen before workers were allowed back in the area, said Dick Barton, a spokesman for Rockwell International Co., the major shuttle contractor.

Five of the men, including the dead man, worked for Rockwell and the sixth was a security guard.

"I just happened to be in the area, and I heard the announcement: 'Clear for return to normal work.' Regrettably, it was not," Barton said.

Asked if someone at the space center gave an all-clear announcement prematurely, Barton said: "That's the inference, but I can't go any further. I did hear the one statement, I can say that. But I didn't hear any other statements that were made after that."

The men would not have smelled anything peculiar or have had any other warning that they were entering a deadly area. All five reportedly passed out almost immediately, and soon after they were evacuated from the compartment.

The dead man was identified as John Bjornstad, 50, of Titusville, a senior mechanical technician for Rockwell.

Two of the workers were hospitalized. One was in critical condition early today at Shands Teaching Hospital in Gainesville, the other was in satisfactory condition. The other workers were treated and released.

Aeronautics and Space Administration convened boards of inquiry after the incident.

The accident marred a "super" dress rehearsal for the nation's first reusable spacecraft.

Space agency officials in Washington said the accident was not caused by any flaw in the shuttle and said the craft would be launched on

Town Hall Meet Set Tomorrow

U.S. Rep. Kent Hance of Lubbock will be visiting local cities in his 19th Congressional District Saturday for town hall meetings.

Rep. Hance will be at his home town of Dimmitt at 10 a.m. Saturday where he will visit with constituents in the assembly room of city hall there.

At 1 p.m. Hance will be at the Hereford High School cafeteria for a session in which he will first address constituents on current matters being considered by Congress and will then listen to comments and questions from local residents on various issues.

Hance will conclude his visit to the Magic Triangle area with another meeting at Friona at 3 p.m. at the Friona Community Center.

The Lubbock representative is now in his second term in Congress and has made the town hall meetings standard procedure for gathering grassroots opinion from residents of his district.

Moore Trial Is Delayed

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge has postponed indefinitely the Texas Brilab trial of a local union official until a local union official until reputed crime boss Carlos Marcello has been tried in New Orleans.

The decision by U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor came amid speculation that the government would seek additional indictments in the Texas case in May.

O'Connor granted the motion by government and defense lawyers Thursday to delay the scheduled April 27 trial of Deer Park labor leader L.G. Moore.

Several people subpoenaed to testify at Moore's trial are "essential witnesses" at the Marcello trial, attorneys said.

Moore was given a separate trial from three co-defendants — Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton and Austin attorneys Donald Ray and Randall Wood.

The four were charged in June 1980 with fraud, conspiracy and bribery. The government claimed Moore and undercover FBI agent Joseph Hauser delivered $5,000 in cash to Clayton in exchange for his influence in reopening bids on a state employee insurance contract.

Clayton, Ray and Wood were acquitted last October.

According to the motion, Moore would be able to ask that all charges against him be tried at once if he is named in additional indictments.

Other court documents have indicated a federal grand jury also has been investigating a health insurance contract awarded in 1979 by the Houston City Council and negotiations involving similar contracts for labor groups.

The motion said Moore would use entrapment as the same defense in all cases.

"A joint trial of offenses will be an exercise in judicial economy as well as saving Moore from participating in a war of attrition with the United States," the motion said.

Church Declares Bankruptcy

HOUSTON (AP) — Creditors of the South's largest black Baptist church stand poised to seize the church's new sanctuary, a $1.1 million structure that hasn't been paid for, and a bankruptcy petition is the only thing keeping them at bay.

The filing of bankruptcy papers in federal court here is the latest chapter in the story of the Pleasant Grove Missionary Baptist Church. Its pastor is the Rev. Charles L. Jackson, a Houston preacher who drives a Mercedes and frequently travels abroad.

A Dallas bond company has foreclosed on Pleasant Grove, and 500 bondholders have gone to court in Harris County to claim possession of the property after Jackson's administration defaulted on a $1.1 million deal to finance construction of the church's new sanctuary.

The bankruptcy will temporarily block the bondholders from seizing the church until Pleasant Grove's finances are sorted out by a court-appointed trustee. The bondholders' suit, scheduled to go to trial Monday, has been postponed indefinitely.

The Associated Press was unable to reach Jackson for comment. His wife said he was not at home and she would not say where he could be reached.

Pleasant Grove is located in one of Houston's poorest neighborhoods, the Fifth Ward, and has 10,000 members. Jackson is a prominent political force known for his ability to deliver votes in the ward.

Besides owing money on the sanctuary, Jackson's administration also owes about a dozen building contractors more than $500,000, court records show.

South Australia Has Ties to Texas

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Sesquicentennial celebrations in Texas and South Australia in 1986 will improve the already friendly relations between the states, the Australian governor says.

South Australian Premier David Tonkin was in town Thursday paying "courtesy call" to Texas to discuss "some proposals for linking the two states and their respective anniversaries."

In 1986, South Australia commemorates the 150th anniversary of its founding as a British colony, and Texas plans a 150th celebration of its independence from Mexico.

"We have a great deal in common," Tonkin told a news conference. He mentioned as examples the irrigated farming and extensive oil explorations conducted in his state. Texas oil companies have had a big part in developing the South Australian petroleum industry.

There are differences, he said, pointing out that South Australia is 1 1/2 times the size of Texas, but has only about one-tenth of its population.

Tonkin met earlier in the day with Gov. Bill Clements and presented him with the state flag of South Australia and a bronze statue of a kangaroo reclining on a jade base.

He also donated 400 bottles of South Australian white wine to the Dallas press club for their weekend banquet, which he will attend with Rep. Chris Semos, D-Dallas, chairman of the Texas Sesquicentennial Commission.

Semos chairman of the Texas Sesquicentennial Commission, gave Tonkin a gavel from the House of Representatives and a Texas flag that flew over the Capitol on March 2, Texas independence day. He will also receive seeds of the bluebonnet, Texas' state flower.

Semos announced the two states plan to exchange exhibits during the sesquicentennial year, and Tonkin added that he hoped cultural and student exchanges could be worked out.

Black Students Plan Slave Trip

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP) — Three black college students are planning to sail from the shores of Africa chained in the hold of a ship for a journey deep into their own heritage.

The re-enactment of the slave trade that David Hoard and two friends are planning would bow to the demands of health and safety: Ships would carry doctors, and "slaves" who fall ill on a diet of watery gruel would be taken from the hold and considered "dead."

There would be neither lashings nor mistreatment for the three students and 75 other participants stuffed into the hold of ships for a 12-week journey to New Orleans or Brazil.

There may be blacks among the crew and officers, and whites among the "slaves."

But the human cargo would spend 14 hours a day in chains, sleep on planks and be allowed on deck an hour a day.

Administration Expected To Cut Off Aid to Nicaragua

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration appears ready to conclude it has no choice but to cut off economic aid to the Nicaraguan government although such a move would risk further weakening of moderate anti-Marxist elements in that country's government, officials say.

At stake is $15 million approved but not disbursed for fiscal 1981 and an additional $20 million tentatively budgeted for fiscal 1982.

The decision, not yet final, is expected to be announced within a week. An aid cutoff surely would be controversial, although it would be applauded by conservatives such as Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., who contend Nicaragua's Sandinista government is clearly Marxist.

A chief concern, one State Department official said Thursday, is that the aid to Nicaragua may be indirectly helping finance the leftist guerrilla movement in El Salvador.

The Reagan administration already has extended its informal deadline for reaching a decision an extra week. In the meantime, it has been setting the stage for terminating aid with a barrage of statements critical of Nicaragua.

In congressional testimony Wednesday, Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. said the country was on a Soviet "hit list" and that the communists "have already completed the seizure of Nicaragua."

Haig qualified his response somewhat Thursday, saying he did "not mean to suggest that the situation in Nicaragua is hopeless with respect to the future....There are a number of very important democratic elements in Nicaragua who are seeking change."

It is those elements — including the Catholic church, a major opposition newspaper, political parties, labor groups and private businessmen — that are likely to be undercut if U.S. aid is discontinued.

Two State Department officials, who did not want to be identified, said the possibility of weakening the non-Marxist elements has been the chief consideration against cutting off aid.

State Department spokesman William Dyess acknowledged Thursday that a loss of U.S. aid may have a weakening result for non-Marxist elements "in the long run" but not "in the immediate term."

"The question now is whether that aid is being used for the purposes intended," he said, referring to $60 million in U.S. aid already extended for 1981.

The two officials who assessed the situation on the condition they not be identified said they don't believe the administration has any other choice but to terminate aid.

One suggested, however, that the administration may hold out the prospect of resumption at a later date if the Nicaraguan government took certain steps.

They also don't rule out the possibility that some last-minute action by the Nicaraguan government could avert the cut-off. The economy of Nicaragua is regarded here as in bad shape, and the government there clearly wants aid.

Senate Republicans Pushing For Budget Recommendations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans, moving to exploit their new majority swiftly, are pushing for a floor vote next week on a budget-cutting package containing most of President Reagan's recommendations and a few of their own.

The Senate Budget Committee capped a grueling, four-day budget review Thursday and approved a blueprint for $36.4 billion in spending reductions in 1982, $2.3 billion more than the president wants in the areas covered. The vast majority of cuts would come in social programs such as unemployment, welfare, education, nutrition and some Social Security benefits.

Even before the committee gave its approval on a 20-0 vote, Republican Leader Howard Baker announced the full Senate would begin debate on the proposal next Thursday. He said there was a "realistic prospect" for a final vote a week from today but added that he would schedule an unusual Saturday session if necessary to complete action by the end next week. Meanwhile, the House Agriculture Committee voted to back Reagan's proposal to scrap a scheduled April 1 increase in dairy price supports. The vote was 30-7 to approve the measure, which would save an estimated $147 million.

The full Senate is scheduled to vote on an identical bill next week.

Reagan is seeking $48.6 billion in cuts for fiscal 1982, which begins Oct. 1. Congressional aides said the committee's figure is lower because some additional money can be saved through other legislation and still more can be saved through administration actions that don't require congressional approval.

In all, the package adopted by the Senate Budget Committee calls for cutting planned spending $2.8 billion through 1983 — $8.7 billion this year, $36.4 billion in 1982 and $47.7 billion the following year.

Some of the additional cuts made by the committee might not last.

The panel's biggest departure from the president's program called for private financing of the Strategic Petroleum Reserve, at a savings of about $3 billion.

But Sen. Peter Domenici, R-N.M., who shepherded the bill through the budget committee as chairman, predicted a floor fight over the reserve proposal, since the Senate Energy Committee voted later in the day to reject the idea for the time being.

Domenici hailed the Budget Committee's work as "the most historic exercise in (spending) restraint that has ever been attempted by the Congress of the United States."

He predicted no significant changes when the full Senate debates the measure, but he conceded the proposed reductions face a hazardous passage in the House, where Democrats retain a majority.

Some of the Senate Democrats who voted for the overall package vowed to attempt to force changes during floor debate.

Shuttle

schedule next month.

The workers were felled quickly by the lack of oxygen when they entered a "nitrogen purge" zone, said Rocky Raab, a Kennedy

Space Center spokesman. It was the first launch pad fatality at the space center since a Jan. 27, 1967, flash fire killed three Apollo I astronauts — Virgil Grissom, Edward White II and Roger Chaffee — during a pre-launch test. In all, eight people have died here, some in accidents unrelated to launches. The shuttle, delayed repeatedly by technical problems over the past two years, is scheduled for its maiden voyage into space sometime during the week of April 5.

Horses

season. Brooks explained that a mare's cycle is triggered by season and that the lighting helps to make mares believe spring has come earlier than is actually the case.

"Everyone wants a foal born as close to Jan. 1 as possible, because that's their official birthdate, regardless, so an early start on the breeding season is important," stated Brooks.

Westbrook Farm has taken as many as 18 yearlings to market in a year, but the operation's good fortunes always rest on a relatively small number of animals.

Among the top yearlings auctioned was a colt sired by "Easy Jet," a Quarterhorse syndicated for $30 million, the highest stallion syndication price in history.

The Westbrook foal brought $152,000 at auction, the highest price obtained for an Easy Jet foal at public auction, according to Brooks.

Brooks relates that he got involved in raising fast horses after more-or-less training himself.

"I've been to Kentucky several times, and Florida, Oklahoma and Arkansas stables. I looked at what I thought would work best in this country, then we designed our set-up here. I learned by visiting with others and studying the pedigrees. It takes a lot of study in the horse business to stay up with the markets and what's popular," stated the local horseman.

"Raising these kind of horses is a big gamble, no doubt, but there's probably more potential in horses today than there is in farming," stated Brooks, who still operates three sections of irrigated farmland and a small feedlot at Ford.

"The horse business is on the boom and we've built Westbrook believing that someday soon Texas will be in the midst of the biggest horse boom ever," he concluded.

OB

"Many people don't understand the mechanics of labor and delivery. By teaching a woman proper breathing and relaxation, the birth process is much easier. We also try to prepare couples for what to expect after the baby is born such as proper care and how to include the entire family if there are other children at home," the supervisor continued.

At this time, the staff is trying to organize classes for couples who are only planning for children and for those women who are in the first term of pregnancy.

According to Mrs. Andrews proper care for a baby begins before he or she is conceived.

Even though the majority of births at Deaf Smith General are simple and uncomplicated, nurses must still be prepared for the premature or complicated births.

If we have a woman who goes into early labor, the first thing we try to stop her. If it doesn't work and she delivers, the most important thing to watch is for respiratory problems with the baby," she stated.

A respiratory therapist is on call 24 hours-a-day and is called in for any premature births.

"If we feel we have a possible respiratory problem we call him and he helps monitor and stabilize the baby. The majority of our preemies are transferred to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo to the Neo-Natal Intensive Care Unit," she continued.

The Amarillo hospital has a neo-natal transport ambulance equipped for premature babies and travels to Deaf Smith General to transport the baby back to Amarillo. It takes a minimum of 75 minutes to reach Hereford.

"We keep the baby stabilized until the unit can get here. Because they are specialized in this area, it is often better to let them transport rather than us. When you get on the road with a critical baby, it's a whole different ballgame," she explained.

The Hereford department works closely with the doctors from the special unit at Amarillo in order to keep up to date with new material about drugs and therapy concerning childbirth.

"I don't think any of us feel uncomfortable with our work. There is always a stressful situation present, but we have just grown accustomed to it. There have been a few times, when a woman delivered before the doctor could get here, so we just do what we have to and deliver the baby," she said.

As Mrs. Andrews explained, the work is a learning experience and few days go by that those working in the department do not learn something new.

"We have one of the best OB staffs I know of and there is a real good working relationship. Hereford also has five of the best doctors to deliver babies. It takes everybody to make a system work," she said.

"For me personally, my job is a dream come true. I started as a nurse's aid in 1968, started school, quit to get married, quit to have babies and then finally finished. Now, I'm a nurse, a teacher and a mother," Mrs. Andrews concluded.

Nader Urges Safety

Plug of U.S. Cars

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer activist Ralph Nader has urged the United Auto Workers to launch an advertising campaign emphasizing what he called the relative safety advantages of American-built cars against autos imported from Japan.

"There is enough reliable and comparative information to warrant the UAW launching... a campaign pointing out the disadvantages of imported cars by model when compared to U.S. produced cars," Nader said in a recent letter to UAW President Douglas Fraser.

UAW spokesman Jerry Dale said the union would have no immediate comment on the letter.

Nader, a longtime critic of the American auto industry, cited several government and insurance industry studies comparing crash results of U.S. and foreign cars.

Nader noted that a 35 mph crash test conducted by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration last summer showed the Chevrolet Chevette and the Fiat Strada passing. But, he said, a number of Japanese autos — including the Honda Civic, Toyota Corolla, Toyota Tercel, DATSUN 310, Subaru GIF and the Honda Prelude — failed.

Texas Town Residents Provided Burial Plots

PORT ISABEL, Texas (AP) — The 3,700 residents of this South Texas fishing town have one less financial worry than everyone else.

They are entitled to a free plot in the city's only cemetery at a time when burial space usually costs hundreds or even thousands of dollars.

"They have to arrange for the burial but the plot is free. It always has been, ever since the land was donated," said the Rev. Ben Verbrugge, pastor of the local Roman Catholic church.

Historical records are skimpy but it appears a local family donated the land for a cemetery about 1880. The church acquired control of it at some point and has managed it as long as anyone can remember, Verbrugge said.

"It's quite an unusual arrangement. It seems actually it was donated to the city and then given to the church to operate it," he said.

"From the beginning, any resident could be buried there regardless of religion," he said. "I guess when it started, the original members of the community were fishermen and they were all Catholics. So it followed that that's where everyone was buried."

Plots cannot be reserved but are assigned on a first come, first served basis.

The cemetery, about the size of a city block, is crowded with markers wedged close together. The oldest grave dates to 1880.

Brightly colored plastic flower arrangements decorate almost every grave while overgrown weeds push up through the plot boundary markers.

Some have elaborate headstones while simple wooden crosses adorn others. Many paupers are buried here as are the bodies of unidentified persons found washed up on the Laguna Madre or across the causeway at South Padre Island.

"We have volunteers from the church come over here once in a while to mow the grass. But we don't have a fulltime person to keep it up. That's why we've asked for donations towards its upkeep," the priest said.

Only $22 has come in since Verbrugge launched a donation drive last month.

The cemetery gets a good cleaning and whitewashing once a year when families come on All Souls' Day, Nov. 2.

"That's quite a Mexican tradition. Families come and spend the whole day at the graves," he said.

The church spent more than $1,000 last year on a wall around the cemetery.

"Space is running out. It won't be but a few more years and it will be full," he said.

"When that happens, there's only one thing to do. The city will have to acquire land for a new cemetery."

Until then, residents know they have a final resting place when they need it.

Child Star, Coleman To Televises Warning

NEW YORK (AP) — Several Atlanta television stations this week will begin broadcasting messages by "Diff'rent Strokes" child star Gary Coleman, who urges his peers to protect themselves against the killer or killers who have slain 20 black children there, NBC officials say.

In one of the three messages, Coleman warns: "I know you've heard this before. But, travel in groups. It's important. You're tough, I know, and you think what's going on right now can't happen to you. Believe me, it can happen to you. You know, us smart and careful guys are our community's future."

The 13-year-old TV star also reminds the children to tell their parents or whoever is taking care of them "where you are going and when you are going."

Theft, Burglary Reported to Police

Alex Valdez of 322 Ave. A gave chase to an individual taking a child's bicycle from his house Thursday about 10 p.m. Valdez was unable to locate the subject. No value has been placed on the bike and police do not have a suspect.

Ronnie Osborn of 129 Mimosa told police his house had been broken into when he was away on a trip. When Osborn returned today at 1:30 a.m. he discovered the house had been "gone through," but the only thing taken appears to be a bottle of rum.

Police have had several complaints of obscene telephone calls, but have no suspects. Officers answered 13 police related calls, issued 12 traffic citations and arrested a juvenile for shoplifting at T.G.&Y. Thursday.

Firemen Called To Mall

Hereford volunteer firemen were called out Thursday at 1:30 p.m. to The Funny Farm at Sugarland Mall N. Highway 385, because of a smoking light ballast.

According to employees at the store, the light went out and began to smoke. Firemen disconnected the power and removed the light.

Manager of Allsup's Completes Course

Elaine Whipple, manager of the Allsup's store at S.E. Main and Austin Rd. in Hereford received her diploma from Tom Lasiter, instructor, for successfully completing the Allsup's Store Manager Training Course.

The class, held at the company's home offices in Clovis, N.M., prepares new managers for assuming the responsibilities of operating an Allsup's store.

According to Lasiter, "The eight day course is intensive, with theory, policy and procedure practical application covered. It's a demanding class designed to prepare the managers to handle the duties of their challenging position and better serve our customers."

Safety Officer of Month

Betty Davis (left) has been named Safety Officer of the month of March for her "overall outstanding performance of duty and great response in the Tuesday accident at the Texas Migrant Council building." Mort McCullough, a member of the Elks Lodge, presented the certificate to Mrs. Davis, who has worked as a dispatcher for the Hereford Police Department for three years.

Ann Landers

Uncomfortable Position

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our widowed father began to see a lovely woman 18 months ago. My husband and I were sure that she and Dad would be married soon.

When they came to visit during the Christmas holidays they stayed in a hotel. We assumed they had separate rooms, but when we drove them back to the hotel, Dad asked her, "Do you have the key, or did you leave it at the desk?" Reference to "the" key made it clear they were sharing the same room. We were surprised at Dad's lack of discretion.

Yesterday I received a call from Dad saying he and "Thelma" would like to come for the weekend. We recently bought a larger home and have a guest room now. Dad asked if he and Thelma could stay with us. I laughed and asked, "Did you two run off and get married?" He replied, "No, but if you are THAT narrow-minded we will stay in a hotel." I said I would make the reservations.

I told my husband about the conversation, and he backed me up. We have teenage children and would be uncomfortable having Dad and Thelma here in one bedroom. I confess I feel guilty denying hospitality to my own father, who has always been wonderful to me. What is your opinion?—Perplexed In Peoria

DEAR PLEXED: You are not denying hospitality to your father. You are simply saying, "We do not want you under our roof, sleeping with a woman to whom you are not married." This is your right. Continue to be friendly and cordial, however. What your father chooses to do elsewhere is not your business.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have written this letter four times and never mailed it. It seems so childish. But I am particularly bothered by my problem tonight, so I am putting this one in the mailbox—come hell or high water.

I'm not a flighty teenager. I'm a grown woman of 26. The problem: My looks. I am not overweight—in fact, I'm on the skinny side. But my hair is awful, my nose has a hump and is much too long. My eyes are too close together, and my lips are too thin. I hate to look in the mirror because I am so ugly.

Ever since I was a small child people have made fun of me because I look like a witch. When I was 14, I went crying to my favorite teacher. (Kids can be so cruel.) She told me not to pay any attention to them because I was beautiful on the inside and that is what counts.

I have only had three dates in my entire life. None of the fellows asked me out a second time. (Apparently they weren't interested in my beautiful insides.) Am I going to be miserable all my life because I was cursed with this ugly face? Please tell me what to do.—Depressed And Lonely In Dallas

DEAR FRIEND: If good looks were the key to happiness, all the beautiful people would be ecstatic. We know this isn't true. In fact, some of the best-looking people are the most miserable.

Your low opinion of yourself is rooted in early childhood. I recommend therapy at once. When you feel better about yourself, plastic surgery for your nose might give you a lift. A hair stylist and a make-up lesson or two could do wonders to raise your morale. When you develop a measure of self-esteem, you will be able to reach out to others and they will respond. Your whole world will change, and you'll wonder why you didn't do it sooner. Good luck.

How do they take the caffeine out of decaffeinated coffee?

They use a method developed at the turn of the century, says Cass Ryan-Crowe, a foods and nutrition specialist.

Basically, a chemical solvent, methylene chloride, is applied either directly to the bean, or hot water is applied with the solvent, and then the solvent separates the caffeine from the solution, the specialist explains.

Dr. Ryan-Crowe is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Babysitting co-ops can offer an occasional respite from the daily routine of housework and child care, suggests Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist.

Co-ops are economical, shared and "quality" in terms of child care—when established rules are followed by friends who take turns keeping other members' children, she says.

Ms. Taylor is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

'The Muppets', Major Attraction To Museums Throughout Nation

Popular art has discovered new heroes recently - the Muppets. The world-famous puppet creations of Jim Henson have achieved a phenomenal popularity in television and film and are now proving to be a major attraction to museum crowds throughout the nation.

"The Art of the Muppets," a unique behind-the-scenes look at the remarkable artistry of the Muppets, will be on view at the Witte Museum in San Antonio April 4 through May 17, 1981.

Tracing the history of their creation by Henson more than 20 years ago for "Sam and Friends," a local television show in Washington, D.C., to their present exposure in "The Muppet Show," "Sesame Street," and "The Muppet Movie," the exhibition shows the creative process behind the conceiving, building, and performing of the famous puppets.

The extensive display includes 100 original Muppet characters, with such favorites as Kermit the Frog, Fozzie Bear, Miss Piggy, and Big Bird of "Sesame Street."

Separate exhibition areas show the original Muppets created for the regular TV productions, as well as for NBC's "Saturday Night Live" and a Muppet Christmas special, "Emmett Otter's Jug-Band Christmas."

Also featured is a 400-square-foot "Workshop Collage" of actual materials used in the building of the Muppets. Muppets in performance are represented by life-size photographic cut-outs of puppeteers Frank Oz, Jerry Nelson, Richard Hunt, Dave Goetz, Kathy Mullen and Jim Henson in action, working their puppets against a photo-mural backdrop of an actual studio set.

Highlighting the exhibition is a continuous video screening of scenes from "Sesame Street," "Emmett Otter," "The Muppet Movie" and the Emmy-winning "Muppet Show," now in its fifth year of broadcasting.

The engagement of "The Art of the Muppets" at the Witte Museum is part of a three-year tour of major American museums. Henson and his producing firm, Henson Associated, Inc., decided to tour the exhibition nationally after its unprecedented success at the San Diego Museum of Art in California during the winter of 1979-1980. It proved the most popular exhibition in that institution's history, attracting more than 150,000 visitors.

"The Art of the Muppets" has been designed by Mari Kaestle of Henson Associates, Inc., working with Michael Frith, Vice President, Art and Design. The exhibition tour is being organized by Jerry Lawton, President of Designgroup, a New York company specializing in the planning, production and booking of major museum tours.

The Witte Museum, 3801

Broadway, is open daily from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Admission to the galleries is $2 for adults and $1 for children under 12. Group rates are available. The museum will be closed all day Friday, April 24, for the annual Fiesta Battle of the Flowers Parade. For more information, contact John Regnier in the Public Relations Department of the San Antonio Museum Association, (512) 226-5544.

The Art of the Muppets

Jim Henson's world-famous Muppets, including Big Bird of "Sesame Street," will be on exhibition in "The Art of the Muppets," April 4 through May 17, at the Witte Museum in San Antonio. The traveling exhibition is currently breaking museum attendance records on its three-year tour of the nation.

Steven Mayes, Head of WTSU Art Department to Hold Demonstration

Steven Mayes, head of the West Texas State University Department of Art, will demonstrate photo screen printing techniques to 20 Panhandle area high school students involved in a gifted and talented program on Wednesday, March 25.

The students are among about 230 students in Region XVI who participate in the gifted and talented student program designed to meet specific needs of students in rural school districts. Region XVI Education Service Center of Amarillo coordinates the program which involves monthly sessions in four major areas.

Monthly sessions offer demonstrations, tours and study in humanities, natural sciences, fine arts and career fields.

Participants enrolled in the gifted and talented program are from school districts in Canyon, Friona, Hereford, Dumas, Borger, Pampa, Dalhart, Panhandle, Miami, Kerrick, Stratford, Tulia and Wellington. Mayes will begin the demonstration at 9 a.m. and students will experiment with the process until 3 p.m. in Room 281 of Mary Moody Northern Hall.

'Weezy' Simply 'A-Mays-ing'

LOUISE MAYS HAD no reason to doubt her day in sports would come, even on the first day of her existence 18 years ago. It was as inevitable as the ensuing baby foot prints she would later administer on her birth certificate that 12th day of July in a Fort Worth hospital.

Her natural ability was written somewhere in bloodlines that took precedence over her as the baby of the Mays clan - 10 in all counting father Reverend L.V. Mays and mother Dorothy.

Maufi Montgomery

AT TWO-YEARS-OLD, the choices facing the tomboyish lass concerning her eminent athletic future were already being molded. She tagged helplessly half-mast behind her older brothers (Percy, Lester, Luther and biblical John, James and David) while half-tripping, walking and rolling over on the sphere she would someday be able to pronounce as a basketball and companion.

Yet at that point, basketball and everything about it seemed trivial, if not totally irrelevant. How could she begin to know she would one day become 'A-MAYS-INGLY' capable at a game she simply regarded as being fun, a way to be noticed among the endless row of boys in the 'CLAN OF MAYS'?

Two of those brothers, Luther and James, would go on to set collegiate records in track at Texas Tech University. James would later be named as an All-American runner for the university twice (setting a mark equal only to Green-bay runningback Donny Anderson).

"I KNOW SHE WANTS to play basketball, and it's probably the most important thing in her life right now," said Mrs. Mays, residing in Dallas, of her daughter's eage career. "Now this is coming from mama, but she and I both know she can play the game. She's good enough if she can just get the opportunity to show somebody her talents."

"She's been looking at North Texas State as a possible opportunity, but if that doesn't work out the way she wants, she'll probably consider sportscasting or modeling as career choices," Mrs. Mays said.

Modeling, sportscasting and North Texas? They only added to the mystique behind the girl whose name crowds bellowed as 'Weezy' during her frequent ball-to-bucket impacts - buckets that this subtle, almost too pretty to play basketball girl had culminated in order to earn Hereford's leading scoring threat for the past two years.

THE LIST OF ACHIEVEMENTS that have set her apart as Hereford's record holder in scoring and rebounding during her career are; a second-team All-District pick a year ago, an even more notable placement as a first-team All-District player after this year's campaign, an invitation to play in the Golden Spread Girls' High School All-Star Game on March 28 (30 area girls' cage standouts were recognized and invited to the affair), an expected placement on the Amarillo Globe News Annual All-District Super Team (to be named Sunday), the Most Valuable Player of the Hereford and Clovis basketball tournament, and the list goes on and on.

One day, her coach insists, she could be a top-notch player providing she can become more aggressive.

AND IT WAS ALWAYS that aspect of her play as a 5-8 post, that surrounded her in mystique. How could a girl as pretty as this get inside and elbow with the best of 'em - many of whom outweighed her by 15 pounds and were at least three or four inches taller?

Wasn't it 'Weezy' who would frequently come out of a pileup, smile almost sheepishly at the referee as he called a charging foul on her opponent, and then walk up to the instigator and apologize for having gotten in the way?

Yet somehow, miraculously enough, sport-writers would add up total points only to find the senior had again scored 18-19-20 points as the squad's leading scorer.

"Louise is the kind of person, even in practice, that will go up and ask a person if they're alright during a collision," said coach Larry Sowers who witnessed her last performance of the year against Plainview's usually domineering Gay Hemphill become one-sided (in Mays' favor).

"I THINK SHE DID PLAY more aggressively and with more confidence near the end of the season this year," he said. "She ended up with 19 points against Plainview in our last game of the year with Plainview which was quite good - normally you don't get that much against Gay."

"That's especially surprising to me because she always had this thing about Hemphill. She would always seem to let Hemphill intimidate

Whiteface Team Rallies Past Longhorns, 20-16

AMARILLO -- The Hereford varsity baseball team, after facing as much as a 16-1 deficit by the conclusion of the fourth inning, rallied to a 20-16 win over the Caprock Longhorns here Thursday.

The Whitefaces, now 2-2 on the year following an earlier win over Palo Duro last week, faced a seemingly insurmountable 15-point Caprock edge into the fifth inning, but bounced back with six runs in that frame of play and punched in 13 more in the sixth on a three-run homer by hurler Matt Collier to take the lead 19-16.

The Hereford squad will continue its road schedule Saturday as it travels to compete in the one-day Pampa tournament. The tournament will feature play between a four-team field.

Hereford Rodeo Club Retains Team Trophy

The Hereford boys' rodeo team maintained its stance as the high-point crew in the Tri State Rodeo Association this past weekend during the Canyon Rodeo, after it accumulated 18 total points to win the affair. The girls' team netted 4th place in the overall standings.

Blake Johnson (header) and Brett Cunningham (heeler) placed 1st in team roping with a time of 7.403 in order kick-off the Hereford's dominance with six points apiece. Cunningham also capped four points in the calf roping segment of the rodeo after he raced for a time of 11.992 for 3rd place.

Lee Washington netted 5th place in steer wrestling with a time of 13.408 for two points as the other prominent showing for Hereford.

In the girls' division of the rodeo, Rita Ward placed 3rd in barrels with a clocking of 18.738 for four points, 6th place in pole-bending with a time of 22.576 and 6th in breakaway roping after pacing off a 7.982.

Other participants competing for Hereford included: Scott Wilcox, Tony Wilcox, Steve McConnell, Mark Urbanczyk, Brent Self, Jenness Self, Clifton McElhane, Shawn McConnell, Robert Esqueda and Kenneth Paetzold.

Hereford Places Three On 4-AAAA All-District Team

The Hereford girls' varsity basketball team garnered three positions on the district 4-5A All-District team it was announced Thursday. The announcement came two weeks after the league's post season competitor, Lubbock Monterey, completed play in the girls' high school basketball state finals.

Senior Louise Mays, who lettered three years in her post position, was recognized in conjunction with team captain Terri Harkins (5-6 sr. Hereford) and Louise Mays (5-8 sr. forward) as a first-team All-District selection.

Amy Schumacher, a 5-6 junior guard filling the guard spot on the 1980-81 Hereford girls' team, joined her teammates in the list of conference standouts after she garnered an honorable mention niche.

The entire makeup of the All-District selections included: (First Team)—Gay Hemphill (6-0 Plainview sr. who also was recognized as the league's Most Valuable Player), Kamie Etheridge (5-4 jr. Lubbock Monterey), Kriss Etheridge (5-4 sr. Lubbock Monterey), Terri Harkins (5-6 sr. Hereford), and Louise Mays (5-8 sr. Hereford). (Second Team)—LeAnne Wade (5-10 jr. Lubbock Coronado), Tracey Muehlbrad (5-6 sr. Lubbock Monterey), Pam Williams

(5-4 sr. Plainview), Olivia Vasquez (5-5 sr. Lubbock High), and Alyna Gilmore (5-11 sr. Lubbock Monterey).

(Honorable Mention)—Amy Schumacher (5-6 jr. Hereford), Jamie Shores (5-5 jr. Plainview), Cindy Black (5-8 sr. Plainview) and Pattie McFerren (5-11 sr. Lubbock Coronado).

"I was really pleased that we had three people recognized in the selections," said Hereford coach Larry Sowers. "I was especially pleased that Louise and Terri made the first team because it was their senior year and I felt they honestly deserved such a selection."

HHS co-captain Louise Mays capped her final year at Hereford High School as the one of the team leaders in rebounding and led the squad in the scoring department. The senior post knocked in an average of 13.3 points and game and came away with 6.9 rebounds every outing.

Terri Harkins accumulated an average of 12.1 points a game and followed that with 7.9 rebounds per game as the leader in that category and led all other Hereford players in the thefts with 85 on the year. Co-captain Amy Schumacher netted an average of 2.8 points a game from her post at guard and led the team with 183 assists.

"Everybody has a role they must play on a team, and these three girls played their roles like they were supposed to, and each one of them accomplished their assigned tasks," said Sowers. "All three of these girls were natural leaders to the team. The fact they were chosen as such by their teammates, shows that the rest of the squad were aware of those leadership capabilities earlier this season. I would have liked to have seen them all make first-team, but I think we did well overall in the selections."

Orioles Forfeit Kansas Game

By The Associated Press

The pitchers may or may not be ahead of the hitters but Earl Weaver, as usual, is right up there with the umpires.

The feisty Baltimore manager may have outdone himself Thursday when he pulled his team off the field because he said the umpires wouldn't give him a list of Kansas City's batting order or substitutions.

The Orioles were losing 4-2 after six innings when Weaver and the Orioles flew the coop and the result was a forfeit...although a spring training forfeit means about as much as a politician's campaign promise.

Kansas City Manager Jim Frey inserted five substitutes in the top of the seventh. Because of numerous changes in spring games, the managers reportedly had been told that substitutions would be announced over the public address system. Vic Voltaggio, the senior umpire, said both managers were made aware of that before the game.

Oh, yes, the Royals broke a 2-2 tie on Dave Chalk's bases-loaded double in the bottom of the sixth.

If Weaver was up to his old tricks, so were the New York Mets. They brought back memories of their hilarious early days by committing three errors on one play and six all-told in an 11-3 loss to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

In the third, third baseman Joel Youngblood missed a grounder and Mookie Wilson bobbled the ball in left field. When the ball finally got to the plate, catcher Ron Hodges heaved it into center field trying to nail a runner at second base.

Meanwhile, the Minnesota Twins turned in three double plays in the first three innings, pulled a triple play in the eighth and rallied to beat the Philadelphia Phillies 4-3 on RBI singles by Rick Sofield and Roy Smalley in the bottom of the ninth.

The California Angels won their sixth consecutive game, nipping the San Francisco Giants 4-3 behind the pitching of Steve Renko and Jesse Jefferson.

Montreal pitcher Bill Lee hit a three-run homer to cap a nine-run third inning as the Expos outslugged the Houston Astros 12-9 and Graig Nettles' two-run homer helped the New York Yankees defeat the Atlanta Braves 6-3.

Leon Durham singled in the 12th inning, stole second and scored on a single by Ken Reitz to give the Chicago Cubs a 6-5 triumph over the Milwaukee Brewers.

her, but considering the type of ball player Gay is, that was understandable."

"BUT LOUISE HAS got the athletic ability. She can play college ball, but I don't think it will be in the post position because she's not big enough. She'll probably have to make a transition to a forward, and for that to take place, she'll have to be able to handle the ball better. It's like I said earlier though, she had the ability. She was really too small to play post for us, but she did," he added.

Mays finished out her high school career welding a 13.3 scoring average and led the Hereford squad in rebounding with 6.9 yank-downs a game. The year before she amassed an identical scoring average of 13.3.

She is known enthusiastically as 'Weezy to some. She is her mother's tomboy (mama Dorothy had coached her in the little leagues). She is her father's daughter (Mr. Mays had played ball in a Fort Worth Business college—once having the opportunity to play against the Harlem Globetrotters). She is the little ball-rolling squirt who had trailed her older brothers like a shadow.

BUT BEHIND THAT almost (Too Pretty to Play Basketball) smile, Louise 'Weezy' Mays is simply A-MAYS-ING.

LET FAITH CONSOLIDATE YOUR NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

As the season of fun and festivity draws to a close, let us give some serious thought to a worthwhile task which most of us have undertaken rather half-heartedly at this time every year, despite our good intentions. Driven by a natural impulse to turn over a new leaf in our lives as well as on the calendar, we compile our annual list of personal reforms and even try to follow it for a few days before consigning it to limbo along with its predecessors. This year for a change, try simplifying it into one all-encompassing resolution: to attend the Church of your choice regularly throughout the coming year. If you will do so and try to live by the lessons you learn there, this will be the only New Year's resolution you'll ever need.

"Be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God."
— Romans 12:2

"I'll turn over a new leaf."
— Miguel de Cervantes
