

Shuttle Opens Path 'To The Stars'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Columbia and its jubilant astronauts, back from a remarkable maiden voyage, dramatically advanced America's chances of gaining a working foothold in space by 1982 — and someday, said Commander John Young, for "going to the stars." The shuttle, resting comfortably in California, is A-OK. The astronauts, exuberant after Tuesday's pinpoint landing, are healthy and eager to participate in future space projects. Today they began an exhaustive week of debriefings with space agency technicians. When Young and Robert Crippen brought Columbia down from orbit to a rock-hard lake bed in California's Mojave Desert, they demonstrated that the United States has a space machine that makes all others obsolete

— a machine that can fly into space and return to Earth like an airplane, ready to fly again, a hundred or more times. The astronauts, in their own way, probably said it best. "You can't believe what a flying machine this is,"

Young said. "I think we've got a fantastic and remarkable capability here. We're really not too far — the human race isn't — from going to the stars." Said Crippen: "We are really in the space business to stay." America had left manned space flight to the Soviet Union since 1975. Shortly after the wheels-down landing on Rogers Dry Lake, the two astronauts climbed aboard space agency executive jets for the trip back to the Johnson Space Center here. For the next seven work days they will meet with National Aeronautics and Space Administration specialists, discussing in great detail every one of Columbia's systems to pinpoint any flaws in design or procedure. They have few problems to analyze. From the moment of its fiery blast-off from launch pad 39A at Cape Canaveral, Fla., on Sunday, Columbia performed almost flawlessly. The astronauts had only a few minor problems to tend to. Columbia was parked today at Edwards Air Force Base, where technicians will (See SHUTTLE, Page 2A)

AF Spokesman Says

MX Missiles Will Be 'Unobtrusive'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Air Force's huge, multi-billion dollar MX nuclear missile system won't disrupt life around it any more than Minutemen missile silos currently do, an Air Force spokesman says.

In the first of four Texas meetings, officers explained Tuesday night that the site could be "unobtrusive, almost unnoticeable," and that damage to a nearby community would be minimal. A second Austin meeting is set for today.

At the Tuesday hearing, about 100 people, many openly opposed to locating the $3.8 billion system in the Texas, watched an Air Force slide show that said the MX was necessary to "swing the pendulum back" from equality with Soviet missile strength to U.S. superiority.

Superiority, according to Air Force spokesman Maj. Dick Bryan, would "preserve peace through strength — what is commonly called 'deterrence.'"

Federal officials have said the preferred site for the MX missile system, which would hide 200 missiles among 4,600 launch sites, is in Utah and Nevada. However, an alternate plan calls for basing part of the system in the Clovis-Dalhousie area of New Mexico and Texas.

Bryan said the Air Force had conducted a number of studies on minimizing damage to the environment, including water, soil, air, wildlife, and vegetation. But at a press conference earlier in the day, opponents called the system an "environmental disaster."

"It would devastate the region," said Bill Crawford of the American Friends Service Committee.

"This would have a tremendous impact on agricultural land in the Panhandle," said Sen. Bill Sarpalius, D-Hereford, author of a resolution asking Congress to cancel the Air Force plans.

"This would force 1,400 property owners off their land in Texas and New Mexico," said Pat Smith, executive director of the Texas Farm Bureau. "All this land taken by the federal government would be tax exempt and this would raise everybody's taxes."

"We want to do our part in national defense," said Rep. J.W. Buchanan, D-Dumas, "but this is ridiculous. It would take 143,000 acres of productive land out of production. This thing should be put on government land."

Jim Butler of the Sierra Club said the New Mexico and Texas region is one of the driest in the nation and the MX missile system would become a competitor for already scarce water. It also would strain facilities for electric power in the area, he said.

Maj. Bryan said the system (See MX, Page 2A)

Just Poolin' Around

Hereford may not get enough rain over the next few days to fill the city pool, but it won't be long before the sounds of swimmers happily splashing in the water will be heard around Dameron Park. Workers were busy Tuesday sandblasting the paint off of the deck around the pool in order to apply a new coat soon. The popular recreation spot is due to open sometime in May according to City Manager Dudley Bayne. (Brand photo by Bob Nigh).

Block Says President Reagan May Be Apt To Lift Embargo

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary John R. Block, citing recent developments in Poland, says President Reagan now may be more inclined to lift the embargo on grain sales to the Soviet Union.

At the same time, however, Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger says the situation still "would have to improve substantially" before the administration would consider renewed arms control talks with the Soviets.

Reagan has kept the grain embargo, despite his pledge in last fall's campaign to end it, because of the threat of Soviet military intervention in Poland.

But Block told a group of farm broadcasters in a telephone interview Tuesday that chances of lifting the embargo "are much better than they were a week or so ago at the height of the crisis in Poland."

Block, who contends that the embargo has "tarnished"

U.S. dependability as a supplier of grain, later told reporters he based his comments on recent developments but declined to be specific.

U.S. intelligence sources reported this week that there has been a general reduction in the readiness of Soviet troops in and around Poland in the past two weeks.

Despite the reduction, however, Weinberger said Tuesday that Soviet and Warsaw Pact troops still could move against Poland. And he said the Soviets would have to "reverse" troop concentrations around Poland and "the situation would have to improve substantially over what it is now" before arms control talks resume or any other U.S.-Soviet negotiations are held.

The grain embargo is expected to be a major topic of discussion as Rep. F. James Sensenbrenner Jr., R-Wis., (See EMBARGO, Page 2A)

Trueblood Holy Week Speaker

Dr. Elton Trueblood, commonly termed as "the dean of America's religious writers," will be guest speaker at a special Holy Week Service here Thursday under sponsorship of the Hereford Ministerial Association.

The service will be conducted at First Baptist Church of Hereford beginning at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. The public is invited to attend the service.

Dr. Trueblood has served with distinction as professor at Guilford, Haverford, Harvard, and Stanford. He is presently retired from the philosophy professorship at Earlham College.

In 1970 Dr. Trueblood founded Yokefellow International, an interdenominational organization of committed Christians. Among his literary contributions are such classics as "The Incendiary Fellowship," "A Place to Stand," "The Company of the Committed," and "The Yoke of Christ."

He holds degrees from William Penn College, Harvard University and Johns Hopkins University, in addition to 12 honorary degrees.

Dr. Trueblood and his wife, Virginia, have six children and 15 grandchildren. They live in Richmond, Ind.

Society Battles Dog Fighting

By ALLISON RYAN Staff Writer

Two American Pit Bull Terriers are placed in a pit which is 15-feet wide by 15-feet long with walls about three to four feet high and a floor covered with matting or carpet.

The animals face each other from far corners, their owners turn them loose and they charge across the pit at one another.

The animals bite into each other and do not let go. They shake viciously but there is little growling or barking.

The fight continues using "cajin rules" until the winner is proclaimed by a referee.

Gene Morrison, chief investigator for the Amarillo-Panhandle Humane Society, calls the age-old so-called sport of dog fighting a "grotesque display of inhumane violence."

"I can't think of enough strong terms to describe something as horrible and tragic as pitting two animals against one another," he said.

"Dog fighting and cock fighting has been around for years and years, but in the state of Texas and everywhere else in the United States, dog fighting is against the law," he explained.

According to the Texas State Penal Code, Sec. 42.11 the act to cause one animal to fight against another is considered a Class A misdemeanor.

However, the degree dog fighting continues to grow even though it is against the law.

Deaf Smith County, as other similar rural counties, is considered a "safe" county in which to operate because of the "good ol' boy" syndrome that seems predominate.

Through the course of several years the APHS has had a "good" working relationship with area law enforcement including Deaf Smith County sheriff Travis McPherson.

"The humane society has been fortunate to have the cooperation of the law enforcement officers. We realize it is not as important as rape or robbery, however, it is a violation of the law and more than that a violation against the law of human decency," Morrison said.

Morrison explained that McPherson was one of the leaders in encouraging other law enforcement agencies in the Panhandle to work with the humane society.

About six months ago, a task force was formed to act as a coordinating unit to gather all information concerning animal fighting.

"The task force was formed to see if we could figure out why people do these things (dog fighting). The past few years it has been growing and has become more evident in the Panhandle the last two years. It is a sport with quite a lot of betting involved," McPherson explained.

"We have not found any dog fighting in Deaf Smith County, but there is some outside the county in this area," he continued.

One of these areas in which a dog fight was staged was in Vega. Last year, Morrison (See DOGS, Page 2A)

Awed Astronauts Return To Texas

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Astronauts John Young and Robert Crippen, awed by the success of their historic space adventure, were back in Texas today for several days of intense debriefing.

Young told a rousing, flag-waving crowd waiting at nearby Ellington Air Force base Tuesday evening the 54½-hour voyage and unprecedented landing was "something just short of a miracle."

"Robert and I spent the most exciting 2½ days probably that we ever spent in our lives or ever will spend again," said flight Commander Young, wearing a blue flight suit and standing on a platform decked with red, white and blue banners.

About 1,500 persons who greeted the triumphant space explorers whistled, clapped, and let loose with numerous yelps of glee. "It's always great to be back in Houston," said Young with a wide grin.

He and shuttle pilot Bob Crippen, who now face several days of debriefings and afterward a news conference, flew into Ellington just before nightfall and hardly six hours after the pinpoint landing of their spaceship in a California desert.

"The spaceship Columbia is phenomenal. It is an incredibly amazing piece of machinery," said Young. "Anytime you can take something that big and put it into space and bring it back and land it, you have accomplished something just short of a miracle."

"I think the American public is going to get their money's worth out of this baby," he said. "It will allow us to do in the 80s and 90s things we must do for defense and to advance science and technology. We've got the capability right now and so I say let's just press on and do it."

The remark drew wild whoops from the crowd.

Without elaboration, Young, 50, a veteran of four previous trips into space and one of the handful of Americans to walk on the moon, suggested there might have been some perilous moments during the maiden voyage that perhaps went unnoticed in an almost flawless (See YOUNG, Page 2A)

Walcott School Wins Contest

The students at the Walcott School have put that small, Deaf Smith County community on the map, at least as far as the American Heart Association is concerned.

Walcott school superintendent Eddie Derr has reported that the school has placed first statewide in a "Jump-A-Thon" sponsored by the AHA last March 7. As a result of the work by the Walcott students, the school will receive a nine-station universal gym unit to be delivered within the current school year.

"This is a dream come true," Derr said after being notified of the news by the AHA offices in Austin this morning. "We had been trying to figure out a way to put such a unit into the budget, and we're just tickled to receive it."

According to the superintendent, the school had been looking at purchasing a similar machine at a cost of around $2,000.

Derr said he was preparing to notify the students of the news following their recess period this morning.

The "Jump-A-Thon" was based on money raised for the AHA during a three-hour period. Teams of six students participated with at least one of the six jumping rope at all times during the contest period. The 45 Walcott pupils raised a total of $1,749.66 during the Jump-A-Thon, for a $40 per student average.

The statewide contest was based on funds raised per student according to a school's average daily attendance. Second place went to the Winfield School, which had an average of $34.30 raised per student.

In addition to the first place prize, Walcott will also receive 60 feet of tumbling mats for having 100 percent participation in the contest.

"We're really proud of the effort our students put forth during the Jump-A-Thon," Derr said.

Area Rainfall 'Just Drizzle'

The city of Hereford officially recorded .02 inches of rain since yesterday, bringing the total for the month of April to .12 inches. While Hereford had the small accumulation, things weren't much better throughout the county according to area reports.

The H.L. Hersheys, 13 miles Northeast of town reported just a sprinkle of moisture, and the story was much the same from all directions. Bruce Coleman from Walcott also reported a light sprinkle as did Mrs. J.E. McCabe, East of Dawn. (See WEATHER, Page 2A)

How about that historic flight of the space shuttle Columbia? Americans beamed with pride over the magnificent success of the project. Many of us do not understand all the implications of the flight, but we can hold our heads high as the United States takes another step forward!

Rotarians remind us that their big Fish Fry is coming up Friday night at the Bull Barn. Tickets are just $4 each for all you can eat! Proceeds will go to the "heart thumper" fund at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Hereford's annual All-Sports Banquet is coming up next Monday night at the Bull Barn, and it should be a top-notch affair with Baylor's Grant Teaff as the guest speaker.

The banquet will feature the presentation of special awards to many of the athletes. The male and female Athletes of the Year will be honored by Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce; top athletes in each sport will receive the News Media awards; and the Whiteface Booster Club will present the Fighting Heart Award.

Athletic Director Don Cumpston has announced that letter awards and individual recognition of all the athletes will be conducted later at a community-wide Whiteface Picnic.

This will be the first year for the picnic, and Cumpston believes it will serve a dual purpose. The banquet runs too long with each athlete being introduced, and there is not time to comment much on each of the youngsters. The athletes will be recognized individually at the picnic and presented their "letter" awards.

The picnic will be open to all interested fans, and they can take their picnic lunches to the stadium and enjoy the program. The date is to be announced later.

The banquet next Monday night is open only to parents of athletes, booster club members and booster program advertisers. They will need a ticket, however, and can pick them up at either bank.

If you're not a booster club member, the membership is only $5. That will be a bargain for the All-Sports Banquet!

Senate Votes To Halt Sneak Filings

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Senate has voted to halt what Sen. Dee Travis refers to as "sneak filings" by local political candidates.

Travis' bill would prohibit single-county candidates from filing for office by mail.

It cleared the Senate on Tuesday by voice vote and was sent to the House. The only opposition came from six Democrats, with Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, claiming the bill represented an attempt to tell the Democratic Party who it could run for office.

Travis, R-Garland, said a "sneak filing" comes when a candidate waits until the last minute to get his application for office postmarked, after determining he or she would have little or no opposition.

"I don't think this serves either party well," said Travis. The measure was introduced, according to a bill analysis, after a Dallas County resident filed at the deadline and was put on the ballot although the county chairman thought he was unqualified.

Quick Resolution Of Dispute Urged

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The lawyer for the Public Utility Commission says the dispute between Southwestern Bell and a newspaper group should be handled quickly because PUC faces another rate request from the "mammoth in Dallas."

Allen King told PUC hearing examiner Rhonda Ryan that the Texas Daily Newspaper Association should not be given extra time to prepare its case against Bell's proposed experiment in electronic home information service.

A July 6 hearing date is set in the case, with pre-trial proceedings set for May 10, but TDNA attorney Earnest Casstevens said the newspapers need more time. He said he doubted Bell would answer questions fully and quickly or provide needed documents and information without legal prodding.

"This is a very complex case," Casstevens said. "We think there is so much misrepresentation and broad-brushing of facts that we need time to find out exactly what's going on."

Bell attorney Jon Laurence ridiculed Casstevens' argument, calling it "something out of Alice in Wonderland."

King said any delay would put the hearing at PUC's busiest season.

"We're expecting a visit from a mammoth in Dallas (Bell), and if Casstevens delays the case by much it will become infinite delay," he said.

King also hinted that telephone company workers are worried about losing their jobs if the suit succeeds, and "that's the reason the CWA (Communications Workers of America) want to intervene."

Senate Calls

For Redfish Study

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Senate has voted to seek facts and figures between legislative sessions on the numbers of redfish and speckled trout in Texas' coastal waters.

A resolution by Sen. Walter Mengden directs the Senate Natural Resources Committee to study a state agency's report of an "alarming decline" in redfish and trout.

The committee would report to the 1983 Legislature.

Reps. Ed Watson, D-Deer Park, and Bill Blythe, R-Houston, have introduced a resolution calling for the House Committee of Environmental Affairs to make the same study.

In another development, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby apparently sentenced the 1981 "redfish bill" to death by referring a House-approved measure to the Senate Natural Resources Committee.

Another New Business

Members of the Hereford Hustlers gathered Tuesday afternoon at Taco Express to welcome the new owners and their business into the Chamber of Commerce. Owned by Mr. and Mrs. Leon Romo, this is the second Taco Express to be opened. The first being opened and other law enforcement agencies led a raid on the fight.

"Through the effort of coordinating information, we were able to develop the information we needed to make the raid," Morrison explained.

The APHS took custody of three abandoned animals and two of those had been fought. The case was presented to a grand jury in Oldham county. However, no action was taken due to insufficient evidence.

"It is very frustrating dealing with all aspects of animal fighting, not just the court system," Morrison continued.

"For the most part people involved in the training, staging and promoting of dog fights are a small secretive society. They are very careful about who they talk to and what they say because they are involved in something that is illegal," he said.

"It is difficult to find out what is going on. However, through sources and some hard-nose investigative work, the facts finally tell the story," he continued.

According to Morrison, the American Pit Bull is used exclusively because of the way the animal is built. The dog has a wide jaw and through training develops extremely powerful jaws. It has a strong muscular strain across the shoulders and has a slick, lean body.

The training procedure involves several steps. McPherson explained the dogs are abused from a very young age in order to "make fighters out of them."

Smaller animals are also used in the training, according to Morrison. "Through a city like Amarillo, three to four days or as long as a week before a fight, we will notice an increase in the incidents of small animals being taken. Animals such as poodles, schnauzer or chickens are given to the Pit Bull to kill and eat," Morrison explained.

"Trainers reduce the food and water intake as the fight date nears. Hours before the fight, the animal is given no water or food in order to dehydrate the dog to help reduce the bleeding," he continued.

"They usually inject pain killers and antihistamines which also slow the flow of the blood," he said.

Money is the other side of the story in dog fights. From information received, Morrison has learned that admission to the fight, which is by invitation only, ranges from $35 to $60.

"There is a lot of money involved. The smallest bet you can pick up, information tells us, is $100 upwards and over $1,000 per dog, per fight," he explained.

"In order to handle this type of betting there needs to be an outside source involved. There lies the tie-in with organized crime. Most people in the Panhandle think there is no organized crime here. That's not true," he continued.

According to Morrison, people who are involved with dog fighting will also be involved with stolen property, illegal weapons and trafficking of narcotics.

In addition, these people are not limited to one level of society.

"The type of people involved cuts across all socio-economic levels of society. Doctors, lawyers, corporate people, middle class citizens, working people, all the way down to the lower class of the socio-economic group, men and women alike, have been known to participate in the fights," he continued.

"Many of these people bring children to these dog fights -- small children anywhere from the age of five or six up to teenagers," he said.

At this time, a congressional bill, written by members of the Texas Humane Information Network in Austin, and supported by Sen. Carl Parker of Beaumont, has been proposed to the Texas legislature which would make dog fighting a Class Three Felony.

The Texas Department of Public Safety has pledged its support to help stop the "sport." In fact, Dan Self, intelligence officer for the DPS serves on the board of directors for the APHS.

"Our goal is to put the humane society out of business, so to speak. We know we will never be able to completely wipe-out cruelty," he said.

"The public is naive when it comes to animal fighting. Good and decent citizens would be violently opposed to it if they knew the actual truth about it," he continued.

"I've never seen a fight except on films presented by the national humane society, but I've seen the aftermath. I just can't tell you how bad it is," he said.

Anyone who has any information about the training, staging or fighting of animals is asked to contact Morrison in Amarillo at 373-1717 or McPherson at 364-2311. All names will be kept confidential.

Weather

The Johnny Jesko farm at Westway and Summerfield Fertilizer also reported "just a drizzle" overnight, while a light rain was continuing to fall during the morning hours.

The forecast for today called for scattered rains in the western sections of the state, continuing to the central and eastern portions Thursday. Decreasing cloudiness was forecasted for the Panhandle Thursday after a chance of rain over most of the area through today. Warmer temperatures were also called for Thursday.

Rain was in the forecast for much of the Lone Star State today after a cold front combined with an upper level disturbance, which produced widespread rain and light rain over West Texas during the night and into the early morning hours.

Some rain was reported early today over the western half of the state, and light rain was reported in South Texas and along middle sections of the coast.

San Angelo reported .79 of an inch between 6 p.m. Tuesday and 5 a.m. today, while many stations in Southwest Texas reported close to half an inch of rain during the evening and early morning hours.

Early morning temperatures were in the 40s in West Texas and in the 50s and 60s across the rest of the state. Extremes ranged from 42 at both Dalhart and Lubbock to 70 at both Laredo and Corpus Christi.

Its next flight, a four-day mission, is scheduled for August or September, with rookie astronauts Joe Engle and Richard Truly at the controls.

Officials said initial inspection showed the spacechop to be in very good condition. There were indications a few non-critical thermal tiles on the top of the vehicle suffered some damage. But the important ones, those that protected the underside from re-entry heat, were in good shape.

Ground operations were stretched several hours longer than expected when toxic freon gas was detected around the ship. One NASA official said the amounts were small, perhaps from a vented cooling system.

If subsequent test flights are successful, officials may consider accelerating the shuttle program, perhaps cutting the last of three trial runs. That could advance to mid-1982 the date the ship can begin moving routinely into space, ferrying up payloads for military, scientific and

He said Crippen, 43, the rookie now initiated into the elite group of American space pioneers, "is a very smart man" who "kept me mission."

Donald K. Slayton, a former astronaut who heads the shuttle test flight program, said the desert landing at Edwards was so perfect that Columbia may return to Earth at a 15,000-foot runway at Cape Canaveral sooner than expected. The first landing near the launch site now is set for the fifth mission.

Alan Lovelace, acting NASA director, said Columbia's shakedown flight was sweet vindication for the long-delayed $10 billion rocketship, flagship of a fleet of at least four shuttles that will anchor America's space effort for the next two decades. Each will be capable of at least 100 round trips into space, carrying as many as seven people and 32 tons of cargo.

"As the rookie of the group, I can say that waiting 12 years to get my flight in space was really worth it," Crippen said Tuesday. "I'll go stand in line for another 12 years if that is what it will take, but I don't think it will. I think we're back in the space business to stay."

President Reagan, who will have to make that decision, spoke with pride in his con-

As he spoke, Crippen stood behind Young grinning and shaking his head from side to side as his boss in space praised him. "For me it was the darndest time I've ever had in my entire life," he said. "I was just hanging on hoping he would point me in the right direction. I want to go back as soon as I can."

Haig: People Want Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A year ago, congressmen were getting letters from people who said, "We demand a balanced budget." This year, the letters say, "We demand a tax cut, like President Reagan is calling for."

"You want to write them back and ask, 'What do you want — a balanced budget or a tax cut? You can't have both,'" said Rep. Kent Hance, D-Texas.

"There's no way you can have a balanced budget, a major tax cut and increased spending for defense, all at the same time," said Hance, 38, who is playing a major role in the tax cuts legislation being hammered out in the House Ways and Means Committee.

Hance is one of 44 House Democrats who belong to the Conservative Democratic Forum and is head of the organization's tax cut group.

The organization, formed to strengthen the conservative position in Congress, has lined up basically behind Reagan's budget proposals. The Republican Party has a majority of the Senate, while the Democratic Party has a 26-member edge in the House. But with 44 members, the CDF has found itself the subject of a lot of interest. With the Republicans likely to vote together behind Reagan's proposal, the support of the CDF would give Reagan a victory in a situation that has become — to the chagrin of the Democratic Party leadership — to be a battle between the Conservatives and the Liberals rather than the Republicans and the Democrats.

The Democratic leadership has tried, with little success, to persuade the maverick Democrats to stay with the party position.

"I think the key vote of the next two years will be the first budget vote" on the floor of the House, Hance said.

But the support from the conservative Democrats for Reagan holds true only for his call for widespread budget cuts. The president isn't faring as well in his call for extensive tax cuts.

Allred Named ESC Head for TOMA

Lynton Allred, of Allred Oil Company of Hereford, has been named chairman of Education Steering Committee, of the Texas Oil Marketers Association.

Allred's appointment was announced by TOMA president Perry N. Bolin during the Annual TOMA Convention in Houston last week.

Bolin, of Bolin Oil Company, was elected to succeed John Calhoun as president of TOMA. A graduate of Baylor University, Bolin co-owns a Mobil jobbership in McKinney.

The association elected eight new officers at the convention in addition to naming new board members. The Texas Oil Marketers Association represents over 850 independent firms which own, supply, or operate chains of branded and unbranded service stations in Texas.

These firms supply petroleum products to two-thirds of the state's service stations, as well as the vast majority of agricultural and commercial accounts.

HPD officers also assisted an ambulance call to the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Office at 9 p.m. Tuesday. A prisoner in the county jail, Ted Loyd Hasten, was reportedly ill and transported to Deaf Smith General Hospital for observation.

Marianna Pibbs, of Rt. 2, reported the theft of a purse and 24 cassette tapes from her vehicle Sunday night. The vehicle was parked in front of the residence at 126 Ave. D when the theft occurred. The purse contained a checkbook and a small amount of money according to the report.

The police department also issued four traffic citations Tuesday.

The board will present a statement of condition as well as cover job description and evaluation, board policy and hear the chief appraiser's report of progress.

Sensenbrenner, who was leaving on the 10-day trip today, said the State Department suggested he hold informal talks with middle-level Soviet officials.

Among those he is scheduled to meet Friday are Viktor Pershin, chief Soviet negotiator for foreign grain purchases and exports, and Semyon Skachkov, chief administrator of Soviet foreign economic aid programs.

Former President Carter imposed the embargo 16 months ago in response to the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan.

Sensenbrenner, citing escalating Soviet military involvement in Afghanistan and possible Soviet intervention in Poland, said, "My feeling is that it's not the proper time to the lift the embargo."

In the interview with farm broadcasters, Block was asked about the possibility of extending the embargo.

"The potential for broadening it always exists," Block said, "but I can't imagine that it would be a viable alternative under current circumstances. But we never know what might happen from one day to the next."

Block said the embargo — actually a partial lid that greatly reduced but did not eliminate sales to the Soviet Union — forced Russia to go elsewhere for grain and, consequently, could affect future trade.

Suspects Held On Assault Charge

Hereford police have two suspects concerning a charge of simple assault filed by Rosie Nanez, 420 Ave. B, following a family dispute Monday evening.

Officers also received a report of a burglary at the W.A. Johnson residence at 422 Mabel. According to the report someone entered that residence sometime between Saturday and Monday, taking a purse left in the kitchen. The loss in the incident was $70 in cash contained in the handbag.

HPD officers also assisted an ambulance call to the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Office at 9 p.m. Tuesday. A prisoner in the county jail, Ted Loyd Hasten, was reportedly ill and transported to Deaf Smith General Hospital for observation.

Marianna Pibbs, of Rt. 2, reported the theft of a purse and 24 cassette tapes from her vehicle Sunday night. The vehicle was parked in front of the residence at 126 Ave. D when the theft occurred. The purse contained a checkbook and a small amount of money according to the report.

The police department also issued four traffic citations Tuesday.

Reagan Accused of Trying to Destroy Housing Programs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-Texas, has accused the Reagan administration of denying social responsibility and trying to destroy housing programs through its recommendations that the government cut back its backing of subsidized housing for the poor.

"I do not believe the people of this country will sit in idleness or be still" for such a program, the San Antonio Democrat said.

Gonzalez railed against David Stockman, the president's chief budget spokesman, in an address Monday to the National Housing Conference.

"The Republicans are pretending that we don't have a housing problem in this country — or if we do, that it will go away if we just wait long enough and let Dr. Stockman's magic elixir do the trick," said Gonzalez, chairman of the House subcommittee on Housing and Community Development.

Housing and community development programs won't just go away and they won't be solved "by wishful thinking ... (or) a denial of any responsibility. Housing cannot be wished into existence, and it cannot be built by walking away from housing programs," Gonzalez added.

He said apartment rental vacancies are at the lowest level in America's history, with rents skyrocketing beyond the reach of most people.

Housing prices, pulled up by a rapidly accumulating unmet demand, are rising far faster than the cost of living, he said.

"Where just a decade ago, the price of a new home would run about 2½ times the buyer's annual income, today's home is running at a median price of better than $64,000 — more than three times the typical buyer's annual income."

Even with both a man and his wife working in many American families, and even "with all the new gimmick mortgages and with all the so-called innovative financing schemes, only about 6 to 8 percent of the American people can qualify today for a 30-year, $60,000 mortgage," Gonzalez said.

Consequently, home construction is down, and as home buyers are shut out of the market, so are renters, he told his audience of housing officials from across the nation.

"About a third of our population depends on rental housing, some by choice, but most out of necessity. Among that third are clustered at least 10 million people with low incomes — and there are 10 million Americans today who are renting substandard or overcrowded housing," he continued.

"Yet we are told by the administration that we ought to produce less subsidized housing for the low income. The truth is that we are already producing less than half the amount of subsidized housing that a prudent goal suggests we should be building."

In a 36-month period from 1974 to 1977, almost two million Americans watched their rent climb above 35 percent of their annual income, Gonzalez said.

Of that number, more than half were paying more than half their income for rent, he added.

"Nothing in the past four years has happened that would ease that burden. On the contrary, the problem is undoubtedly worse today than it was in 1977. No wonder there is a cry for rent control. No wonder there is a cry to keep rental units from going condominium."

Despite the cries for cutbacks by Stockman, America is not just short but pitifully short of meeting the needs for housing for either rent or purchase, said Gonzalez, who estimated the nation will need 21 million additional housing units over the next 10 years.

"The simple and inescapable truth is that unless we improve our housing performance, the crushing housing cost increases of the past few years will by 1990 look like the good old days."

Administration officials have complained the housing program is "out of control," a claim Gonzalez strongly disputes.

"The truth is that at no time in the last 10 years, and at no time projected in the future, have we increased the percentage of our gross national product going into subsidized housing. If we have erred, it is on the side of conservatism, for the need has grown, not shrunk," he said.

"The reality of the matter is that Mr. Stockman doesn't believe government should intervene at all — except in favor of those who already have the power and means to take care of themselves."

Gonzalez said his strategy this year will be to try to keep alive "the minimal level of effort" already in existence and begin later in the year looking for new solutions to the new problems that have arisen.

"If the people of this country recognize any single problem, it is the cost and growing unavailability of housing. Solving the problem ... will not happen without a deliberate and determined national policy," Gonzalez added.

"This is not the time to abandon our pledge for decent housing. This is the time to reaffirm that pledge."

Fisk Powers Sox Win; Indians Scalp Rangers

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Carlton Fisk has changed the colors of his Sox from Red to White, but he's still making the Milwaukee Brewers blue.

The veteran catcher, who became a free agent when the Boston Red Sox were late mailing him a contract and subsequently signed a long-term deal with the Chicago White Sox, has hit 21 of his 164 career home runs against the Brewers.

The latest was a grand slam that highlighted a six-run fourth inning and powered the White Sox to a 9-3 victory Tuesday before a record opening-day crowd of 51,560 at Chicago's Comiskey Park. Last week, Fisk belted a three-run homer to help defeat his former Boston teammates in the season opener.

"I never try to top anything," Fisk said. "All home runs are special, but this one had to be extra special because it came in the home opener before a big crowd and put the game out of reach."

Elsewhere in the American League, the unbeaten Oakland A's made it six in a row by beating the California Angels 5-2, the Detroit Tigers edged the Kansas City Royals 6-5, the Minnesota Twins nipped the Seattle Mariners 5-4 for their first victory of the season and the Cleveland Indians trimmed the Texas Rangers 7-1. Baltimore and Boston were rained out, while New York and Toronto had the day off.

The beneficiary of Fisk's homer, as well as his expertise with the mask and mitt, was lefty Ross Baumgarten, who won only twice in 14 decisions last season as the White Sox scored only 25 runs while he was on the mound.

Baumgarten was ecstatic, even though he failed to finish when Gorman Thomas hit a two-run homer in the ninth inning after Don Money hit a solo shot in the fifth.

"Getting a lead like that was great," he said. "And Fisk is just great behind the plate. He gets you to move the ball around and not get into a rut. He makes you change speeds, change pitches and concentrate."

Fisk hit his grand slam off loser Pete Vuckovich just after the right-hander "made me look silly on a breaking ball." Catcher Ted Simmons said he "called for a fast ball on Fisk because I thought we could get him out. But he hit a good pitch, and when he hit it I knew it was gone."

A's 5, Angels 2

Mike Norris hurled a four-hitter and Tony Armas delivered the key hit in a three-run sixth inning. The A's snapped a scoreless tie when Dwayne Murphy, Cliff Johnson and Armas opened the sixth with consecutive singles off Geoff Zahn. The other two runs scored on grounders and Johnson delivered a two-run single in the ninth.

Norris recorded his second straight complete-game victory although he was in constant difficulty by issuing eight walks. But Norris also struck out six and the Angels didn't get a runner past second until the ninth, when they scored on sacrifice flies by Bobby Grich and Rod Carew.

Tigers 6, Royals 5

Lou Whitaker doubled with two out in the ninth off Kansas City relief ace Dan Quisenberry and scored the winning run on a single by Rick Peters to spoil the Royals' home opener. The Royals had tied the score with three runs in the bottom of the eighth. Al Cowens and John Wockenfuss drove in two runs apiece for Detroit and every starter hit safely. Wockenfuss hit a solo homer in the fourth inning and added an RBI single in the Tigers' three-run sixth. Cowens followed with a two-run double.

Twins 5, Mariners 4

Ron Jackson homered twice and Roy Smalley hit another as Minnesota broke a string of 28 scoreless innings in recording its first victory of the season. Jackson slammed Seattle starter Glenn Abbott's first pitch of the fifth inning into the left-field bleachers for the Twins first home run of the season. He homered again in the seventh after Smalley connected in the sixth. Julio Cruz and Jim Anderson homered for Seattle.

Indians 7, Rangers 1

Toby Harrah's wind-blown pop fly triple in the first inning keyed a two-out, four-run rally and Cleveland spoiled the Rangers' home opener as Rick Waits scattered 10 hits. Loser Jon Matlack walked Mike Hargrove with two out in the first inning and Joe Charboneau singled. Harrah then lofted a short fly to right which dropped just under diving Johnny Grubb's glove and rolled to the wall, scoring Hargrove and Charboneau. Jorge Orta followed with a double to score Harrah and Bo Diaz singled to score Orta.

Rookie Hurler Sparks Win By Dodgers; Astros Triumph

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

Outside of throwing from the left side, Fernando Valenzuela bears little physical resemblance to Sandy Koufax.

But the Los Angeles Dodgers' rookie is certainly pitching like him these days. A chunky version of the great Dodger southpaw, Valenzuela has started out on the right foot this season with strong showings in his first two starts — including Tuesday night's 7-1 decision over the San Francisco Giants.

Valenzuela, who pitched a five-hit shutout against Houston on opening day, gave up but four hits and struck out 10 in his second start. The run

Church League Softball Plans To Be Made

The Church Softball League will be sponsored again this summer by Hereford YMCA and the Hereford Ministerial Alliance, it was announced this week by Weldon Knabe, YMCA director.

Plans call for the program to start around the first part of May. An organizational meeting has been scheduled Monday, April 20, at the YMCA office. The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m.

The Hereford Brand Sports

Teaff to Speak At All-Sports Banquet Here

Grant Teaff, head football coach at Baylor University, will be the principal speaker for the annual Hereford High School All-Sports Banquet April 20 at the Bull Barn.

The event, sponsored by the Whiteface Booster Club, honors members of all athletic teams at Hereford High. Invitations to the banquet will go only to the athletes' parents, booster club members, and booster program advertisers.

Parents will receive banquet tickets from the school. Boosters and booster program advertisers can pick up two tickets at either bank in Hereford. Parents of athletes will be providing covered dishes for the event.

Teaff is one of the country's most sought-after speakers. He is recognized as one of the top football clinic speakers in the nation. He's active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, having been elected a national trustee several years ago.

He began his coaching career as an assistant at Lubbock High, then moved to McMurry where he was the nation's youngest head coach. In 1966, Teaff went to Texas Tech as an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator. He then moved to Angelo State as head coach.

Then, in 1972, Teaff accepted the biggest challenge of his life by taking over the reins at Baylor. The rest, as the saying goes, is history. In his very first season, Teaff received SWC Coach of the Year honors. It was an award he has won three more times.

The Bears won the SWC title in 1974, the school's first in 50 years, and went to the Cotton Bowl for the first time. The 1979 and 1980 Bears produced more success stories. Baylor was 8-4 and won the Peach Bowl in '79.

In 1980, the Bears went 8-0 in the SWC and 10-1 for the season — the school's best football season ever. With nine seasons at Baylor, Teaff has coached in the SWC longer than any other active coach.

he gave up against the Giants was the only earned run against him in 352-3 innings of major-league pitching and 70 straight innings dating back to Class AA ball last summer.

"I'm a little surprised," said Valenzuela about his seeming superiority over the hitters. "But I have a little confidence in myself, too."

Noted Dodger catcher Steve Yeager: "The most amazing thing is his composure. He stands out there like an old pro. And everything he throws is improving, too."

Bruce Berenyi, another rookie, also made some news Tuesday night when he pitched the Cincinnati Reds to a 4-0 victory over the San Diego Padres with a two-hitter.

In the only other NL game, the Houston Astros routed the Atlanta Braves 8-2. Two games were rained out — Chicago at Montreal and St. Louis at New York.

Valenzuela, a 20-year-old from Mexico, extended his streak of scoreless innings to 32 before giving up the Giants' run with two outs in the eighth on a double by Larry Herndon and a single by Enos Cabell.

Ron Cey drove in the Dodgers' first run against San Francisco left-hander Vida Blue with a sacrifice fly in the fourth inning. Yeager opened the seventh with his first homer of the year, and Cey delivered a two-run double in the eighth for the

Houston Takes 3-2 Series Edge Over Spurs

HOUSTON (AP) — The late-blooming Houston Rockets, who surprised the world champion Los Angeles Lakers earlier in the National Basketball Association playoffs, need just one more victory to deal the same fate to the Midwest Division champion San Antonio Spurs.

The Rockets, who powered to a 123-117 win over the Spurs in San Antonio to take a 3-2 series edge Tuesday night, can wrap up the Western Conference semi-final series with a win tonight.

"It all boils down to one game," San Antonio coach Stan Albeck said after watching feisty Calvin Murphy bomb his team for 36 points from the outside while super center Moses Malone hit 34 points and grabbed 13 rebounds.

"As I've been saying, the home court means nothing in the series," Albeck said. "It's vital now we go to Houston and return the favor."

Tuesday night, Murphy came off the bench and connected on 16 of 23 shots, most of them long range, while Malone muscled his way for 8 goals and hit 18 of 20 free throws.

Referees Darrell Garetson and Hugh Evans awarded 84 free throws in the physical contest and the Rockets made 37 of their 43 charity tosses. But the Spurs managed only 29 of 41 free throws, causing Albeck to remark, "our free throw shooting was atrocious."

Malone, who complained Sunday that he was taken out of the game for 8 minutes, played all 48 minutes Tuesday night and had the stamina to score 10 of Houston's last 15 points to stave off a furious rally by the Spurs.

Houston led by 14 points early in the final period, but San Antonio cut the margin to 1 point twice in the last four minutes with George Gervin, who had only one basket in the first half, scoring 15 of his 23 points.

San Antonio started fast behind a 14-point first quarter outburst from Reggie Johnson, who led his team with 25 points, and twice led by 8 points.

But Murphy came off the bench late in the period and canned Houston's last two baskets to cap a Rockets rally that tied the score at 29-29 after one quarter.

The Rockets led 60-54 at halftime and 91-84 after three periods en route to the win, their second on San Antonio's homecourt during the series.

Murphy, at 5-10 the shortest and at 32 the oldest player on the court, drew praise from both the Spurs and Rockets for his brilliant shooting display.

"When Calvin has a super game, you have to go with the flow," Houston coach Del Harris said. "He has to be one of the most underestimated players in the league."

"The key to our game was tempo," Murphy said. "We stayed within the framework of our offense. We stopped their fast break and George Gervin's not getting 30 points does not hurt at all."

Watson Rides High As TofC Starts

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Tom Watson is still riding a high from his Masters triumph as he comes in to defend his title in what many players consider golf's "Fifth Major," the $300,000 MONY-Tournament of Champions.

"The letdown hasn't set in," Watson said before a practice round over the 7,080-yard, par 72 La Costa Country Club course, site of the unique event that begins Thursday.

"It was important to me to win the Masters," he said, "but that's history. Now I'm looking ahead to the Tournament of Champions."

"Obviously, I'm playing better than I was at the first of the year. And when you've got it going, you want to keep it going, ride that horse as far as he'll take you."

Watson, golf's outstanding performer over the past four seasons and gunning for a fifth consecutive Player of the Year title, used a victory in this event last year to kick off a string of three consecutive victories.

And he'll be seeking a third consecutive title in this winners-only tournament. Jack Nicklaus, back after a year's absence, calls it golf's "best format."

And Lee Trevino and Johnny Miller have, for years, placed a high priority on this tournament which brings together only the winners of regular PGA Tour titles from the past 12 months.

"You've really accomplished something when you beat all the other champions from the past year," Trevino said. He said he was fully recovered from back pain that bothered him last week in Augusta, Ga.

Although there are nine multiple winners from the qualifying period — with Watson winning six events — a relatively large field of 29 players will be chasing a $54,000 first prize.

In addition to Watson, who holds the British Open and the Masters' title, and Nicklaus, the current U.S. Open and PGA champion, the other multiple winners in the field are Trevino, Miller, Bruce Lietzke, Curtis Strange, Larry Nelson, Ray Floyd and David Graham.

Ten men are making their first appearance at the posh Southern California resort. They are Strange, Mark Pfeil, Scott Simpson, Scott Hoch, Peter Jacobsen, Don Pooley, Phil Hancock, Mike Sullivan, John Cook and Canadian Dan Hallardson.

Also on hand are John Mahaffey, Bill Kratzert, Ben Crenshaw, Bob Gilder, Howard Twitty, Wayne Levi, Hale Irwin, Andy Bean, Tom Kite, Doug Tewell and Bill Rogers.

Portions of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday will be televised nationally by NBC.

The tournament is sponsored by Mutual of New York.

The old saying "lightning never strikes twice in the same place" is not true. The Empire State Building in New York is struck by lightning an average of 23 times per year.

Tanner Upset Victim In Kramer Net Open

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Top-seeded John McEnroe begins play in the Jack Kramer Tennis Open tonight, hoping he lasts longer in the $75,000 event at the Los Angeles Tennis Club than second-seeded Roscoe Tanner did.

Unseeded Hank Pfister eliminated Tanner 6-4, 6-4 in a first-round match Tuesday night, ousting the left-hander by breaking his powerful service once in each set while holding his service throughout the 68-minute match.

McEnroe takes on unseeded Ferdi Taygan in tonight's feature match.

Pfister, ranked 82nd in the world, faces unseeded John Lloyd of Great Britain in a second-round match Thursday.

In other first-round matches involving seeded players Tuesday, No. 4 Bill Scanlon downed Sherwood Stewart 6-1, 6-4; No. 5 Rolf Gehring of West Germany whipped Trey Waltke 6-4, 6-2; No. 6 Sandy Mayer rallied to defeat Vince Van Patten 1-6, 6-1, 6-3 in a two-hour marathon, and No. 8 Stan Smith struggled to a 7-5, 7-5 triumph over Ramesh Krishnan of India.

In matches involving unseeded players, John Austin topped Tim Wilkison 5-4, 6-2; Mark Edmonson outlasted Scott Davis 6-3, 2-6, 3-4, and Nick Saviano topped Bruce Manson 6-3, 6-3.

The tournament runs through Sunday. The singles champion will collect $15,000.

Gold Sox Take 4-3 Win Over El Paso

By The Associated Press

Catcher Ron Tingley singled home the winning run with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning Tuesday night as the Amarillo Gold Sox took a 4-3 Texas League baseball victory over the El Paso Diablos.

In other Texas League games, Jackson beat Tulsa, 6-2, and Shreveport defeated Arkansas, 6-1. San Antonio's scheduled game at Midland was postponed because of rain.

The Gold Sox were one out away from having to go into extra innings against El Paso when Tingley's single ended the game.

Tim Hamm, who gave up only five hits and struck out four and didn't walk anyone, went the distance to pick up the victory. Jim Koontz was the losing pitcher.

Mike Davis had a double and a single and Jake Moore scored twice as the Jackson Mets completed a sweep of the Tulsa Drillers, 6-2.

MONTGOMERY WARD

Hostages Enjoying What May Be Last Reunion

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. — While 31 of the former hostages relaxed today at what one predicted would be their last reunion, a foreign service officer who spent 444 days in Iranian captivity revealed the ordeal sent him to a hospital for six weeks' treatment of physical and emotional problems.

Phillip Ward, who like his former colleagues arrived at this luxurious mountain resort for a vacation mixed with a battery of medical and psychological tests, says he now feels "terrific."

And like the others, he was looking forward to enjoying himself with family and friends during his stay at The Greenbrier, which is picking up the tab.

"I'm here for a nice time and a rest," said Moorhead Kennedy Jr., who was accompanied by his wife, Louisa. "This probably will be the last time we'll be together as a group."

Guests at the 700-room hotel applauded as the former hostages arrived Tuesday in limousines and a bus. The returnees were hustled by State Department officials past flocks of reporters and into an orientation session to outline the three-day program.

Department officials declined to release names of those in attendance or details of the medical program, which is being run by the team of doctors who first examined the 52 hostages following their Jan. 20 release.

"The medical team is holding firm on that," said department spokesman David Nall. "They are making absolutely no comment."

However, the hostages themselves said today's agenda included workshops on "marital readjustment" and "getting back to work."

During his captivity, Ward said he was physically abused and lost 40 pounds. He said he was slapped around and kicked in the stomach. On several occasions, his captors placed his hands in the drawer of the embassy's communications safe and then slammed the drawer, Ward said.

While he did not cry once during his ordeal, Ward found himself crying several times a day once he was freed.

"I was totally paranoid and totally exhausted," said the resident of Culpepper, Va. "I needed rest. I had blood clots in my legs and a hyperactive thyroid."

Ward, a foreign service telecommunications officer, said he is awaiting his doctor's decision on whether he can return to work.

"Right now I feel terrific, and I wouldn't have missed this trip for the world."

As for the reunion, Kennedy said the hostages probably would discuss aspects of their 444-day ordeal but that he didn't expect "any formal recitation of our memories."

Former hostage Richard Queen, who was released early because of illness, agreed.

"I just want to relax this week," he said, adding that he'd like to see more such reunions. "But it's tough for us to organize it because of the nature of the business most of us are in. We're spread around the globe."

End of Strike Efforts Stalled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Efforts to end the 20-day coal strike are stalled, with negotiators for the nation's soft-coal industry and the United Mine Workers trading charges on who is to blame for the latest deadlock.

Union and industry bargainers met for about five hours Tuesday, but ended the talks with both sides reporting no progress. UMW President Sam Church said the union had made proposals but said the industry "rejected everything we gave them."

B.R. Brown, chief negotiator for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, refused to discuss the substance of the talks. In a formal statement issued later, however, the industry group complained the union had attempted to reopen several issues that previously had been agreed upon.

"The BCOA flatly rejected the union's position, which continues to reflect a serious lack of bargaining discipline on the union's part," the association said.

Talks are scheduled to resume Friday, and the UMW's Church said: "We will give them a revised package ... and go from there." There was no immediate word on what changes the union would make.

Meanwhile, there were new reports of violence in the coalfields.

In Kentucky, authorities said Tuesday that a UMW official was shot when coal trucks crossing picket lines were pelted with rocks at a non-union mine. Officials said Billy Gene Looney, 34, of Mayking, Ky., a representative from the UMW District 30 headquarters, was treated at a hospital for a bullet wound in the thigh and released.

Police said the incident was triggered Monday when pickets threw rocks at a truck driven by Bobby C. Bates, 40, of Whitesburg. "The driver apparently shot out of the vehicle," said state policeman Ronnie Wardrip. Bates was charged with first-degree assault and first-degree wanton endangerment, while Looney and Jerry Puckett of Jenkins, both of whom were on the picket line, also faced wanton endangerment charges on warrants taken out by Bates, police said.

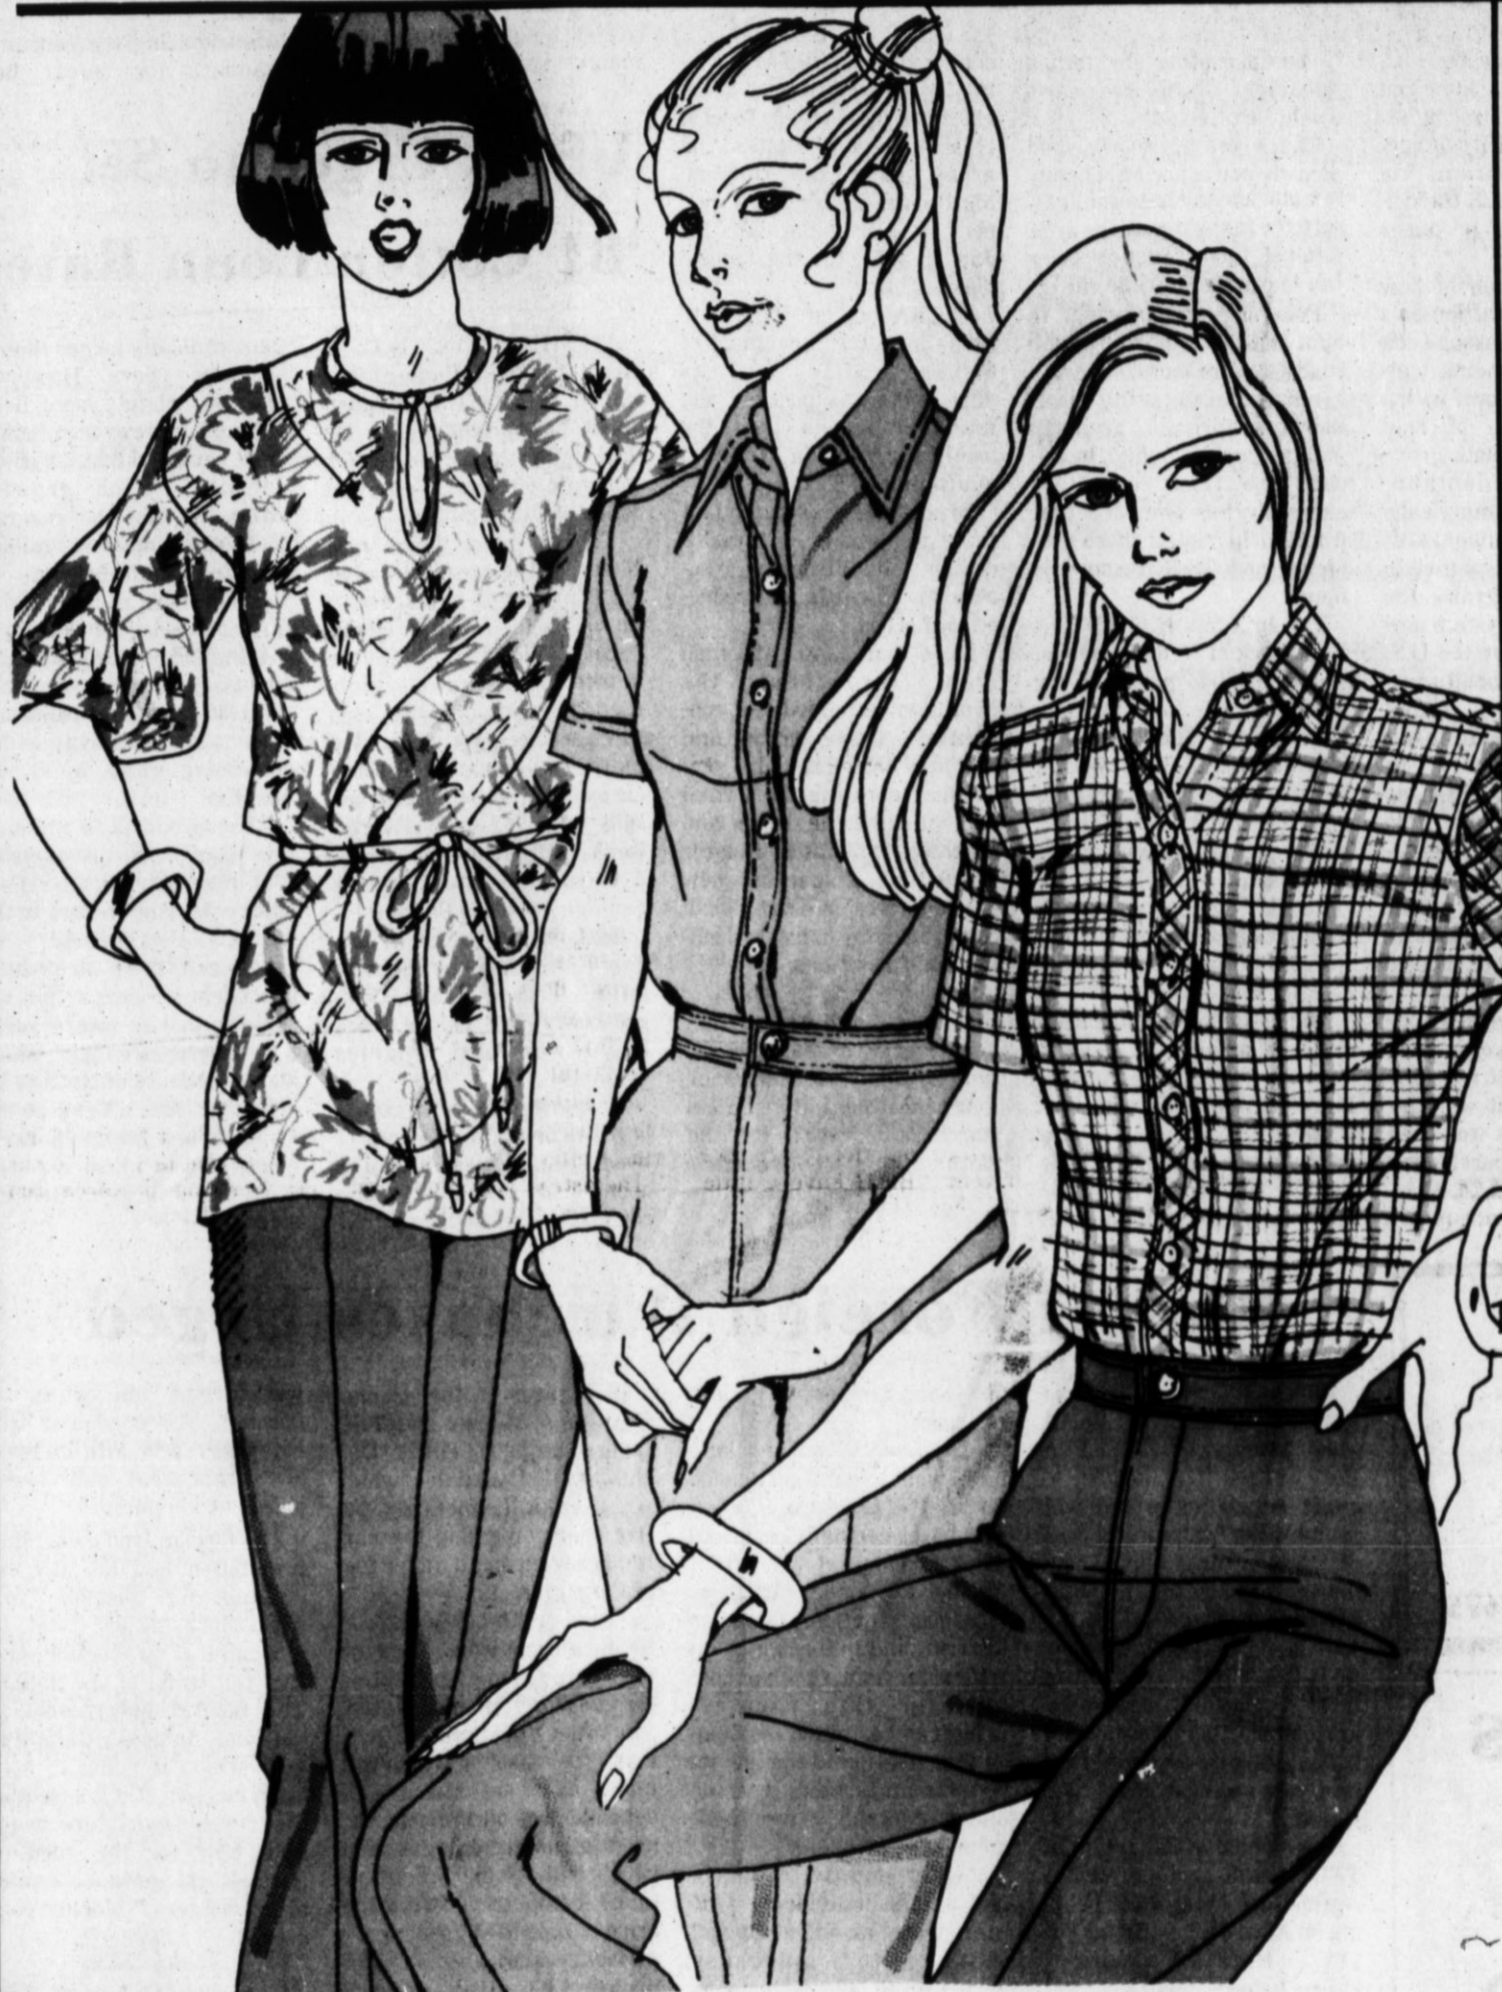

Tuesday's session was the first attempt to resolve the dispute that sent some 160,000 coal miners to the picket lines on March 27.

Officials had predicted the strike would be a short one, since negotiators agreed upon a three-year contract calling for a 36 percent increase in wages and benefits. But miners voted down the pact by a 2-to-1 margin.

Now, Brown says he's "not optimistic" of reaching a quick settlement, and Church contends that the industry doesn't appear to be in a rush to agree on a revised contract.

The industry has complained about the range of issues that the union wants to renegotiate.

Bush Promises Action Against Over-Regulation

FORT WORTH, Texas - The Reagan Administration can't do anything about the shortage of rain, U.S. Vice President George Bush told cattlemen here, but it can and will do something about federal government over-regulation. In a message on the Reagan economic program for the nation March 30, Bush gave the cattlemen attending the 104th annual convention of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association this warning: "Unless we do something to stem and reverse current trends, this country is going to suffer an economic catastrophe of unprecedented dimensions." John S. Cargile, TSCRA president from San Angelo, said that the administration must have strong support from the people if it is to achieve its goals. He added that Texas cattlemen are ready to take their share of the budget cuts because they don't want to be a part of the problem.

Bush addressed the kickoff luncheon of the four-day convention as did President Ronald Reagan four years ago. The cattlemen were struck with the irony of that after they learned Monday afternoon that Reagan had been hit by an assassin's bullet while Bush was preparing to deliver his keynote address.

Cargile, who was re-elected for another year to run the 14,000 member producer group, said the cattle industry is in trouble with the consumer. Beef is no longer king and, he said, "We need to promote our product in a professional, well-financed manner so that we can meet our competition in the marketplace and regain our historical share of the consumer's dollar."

The cattlemen later passed a resolution calling for a voluntary 25-cent check-off on all Texas cattle sold at auction or to the packer for funding a national beef development program. The Beef Industry Council of the National Live Stock and Meat Board would administer the funds without any government intervention. TSCRA encouraged packers and market interests to actively participate as collection agents for these producer funds.

Recognizing the consumer mandate for leaner beef

TSCRA endorsed U.S. Department of Agriculture proposals for changing beef grading standards. TSCRA also asked producers to work toward breeding cattle with a higher percentage of lean meat.

Texas Governor William P. Clements, in his third time to speak to the group while in office, reviewed "the condition of the state" with additional comments on legislation of interest to livestock producers.

Clements promised his audience that there will be no new tax in the coming years and threatened to veto any such legislation. And, like Bush, who spoke the previous day, he was greeted with long rounds of applause.

Clements praised Reagan's proposed tax budget cuts and plans for increased defense spending.

"Where and how his program will affect our state, we don't know yet. But, I want the state of Texas to get on board with his program. I think that if we tend to our business in a manner that I've been preaching about for the last two years, we in Texas will come out just fine," Clements said.

If a reduction of federal funds leaves surplus funds in excess of the needs of state government, Clements favors the establishment of a state water trust fund to hold this surplus revenue in reserve to meet long-range water needs. Providing an adequate water supply ultimately will be the most critical issue facing Texas, Clements said.

The governor announced he signed a proclamation in late March extending the state's brucellosis regulations for another year. Brucellosis is a livestock disease that robs cattlemen and consumers of millions of dollars in lost beef production.

The governor gave his full endorsement to a TSCRA resolution supporting the continuing work done by the Texas Animal Health Commission in improving the brucellosis program so that it will be less burdensome for all Texas cattlemen.

"As a cattleman myself, I know that we are all in favor of eradicating brucellosis, but we sure don't have to eradicate the ranchers of Texas in the process," Clements said.

The TSCRA resolution also asked for modification of the effective date of the federal classification of states and areas under the Uniform Methods and Rules. The current time schedule calls for Jan. 1, 1982, kickoff time for the federal classification.

TAHC was encouraged by TSCRA to make sure the movement of Texas cattle be as unrestricted as possible and that avoidance of a federal quarantine of Texas be a primary goal.

Other convention speakers included Congressman E. "Kika" de la Garza, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee; C.W. "Bill" McMillan, assistant secretary of agriculture; J.W. "Bill" Swan, president of the National Cattlemen's Association; John Huston, president of the Meat Board; and Mrs. Ann Woolley, president of the National CowBelles.

Cargile announced that the summer board meeting will be in San Angelo June 26-27. The next annual convention, trade show and Heritage Sale will be in Dallas, March 10-13, 1982.

Americans produce 400 billion pounds of garbage each year, enough to bury Manhattan under 13 feet of refuse.

The United States, with 6 percent of the world's population, consumes about one-third of the world's energy.

TSCRA Announces Policies

FORT WORTH, Texas - Cattlemen attending the 104th annual convention of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association in Fort Worth, March 29-April 1, announced TSCRA policy on five major issues facing the livestock industry, says John S. Cargile, TSCRA president from San Angelo.

Admittedly worried by a drop in consumer demand for beef, cattlemen took a positive step to expand beef promotion, education, research, product and market development by approving a plan that would take 25 cents out of their pockets whenever an animal sells at auction or to the packer. This voluntary 25-cent checkoff in Texas could send $2.5 million to the National Live Stock and Meat Board for national beef market development, Cargile said. At this point, that is the total amount the Meat Board gets from all the nation's cattlemen.

John Huston, Meat Board president and a convention speaker, praised TSCRA for joining with other Texas cattle organizations in support of a voluntary checkoff program on cattle and calves. Texas joins 20 other major beef-producing states that have or are considering upping their check-off rates.

TSCRA urged packers and market interests to recognize the extreme necessity of supporting these programs via their participation as the collection agents for producer contributions.

Another indication of how consumers have cattlemen's attention was the passage of a resolution encouraging cattlemen to produce beef with a higher percentage of lean meat to accommodate growing consumer demand. Secondly, the resolution calls for support of a National Cattlemen's Association effort to improve and modernize the U.S. beef grading system now being considered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The latest census shows Texas is experiencing remarkable growth in population. The cattlemen, as landowners, recognize this growth will increase the demand for parks and recreation areas, but they are also concerned the tax base in rural areas will be eroded severely.

They went on record as opposing any land acquisitions by the state, except where it can be shown that a large population segment would be served by such purchases. They also asked the state to develop a means of adequately compensating the taxing agencies whose tax base would be affected.

Taxpayers who own land already are carrying a heavy tax burden and this would inure the taxpayers of the area against further unnecessary tax increases, Cargile said.

Poaching, trespassing to hunt and shooting from public roadways are increasing problems endangering landowners, private property and the general public, he added. The Texas legislature currently has two bills that would help control these problems and TSCRA supports them.

The first bill, H.B. 1435, by Rep. Bock of New Braunfels, would toughen penalties for poaching and road hunting. The second, H.B. 1421, by Rep. Lewis of Fort Worth, would set up a private fund for rewards for information leading to conviction of game poachers.

TSCRA also supports the prohibition of public hunting in state-owned riverbeds, Cargile said.

The cattlemen reemphasized their support of the work done by the Texas Animal Health Commission to continue improving the brucellosis program so that it will be less burdensome for all Texas cattlemen. They did send a message to TAHC asking for the modification of the effective date of the federal classification of states and areas under the Uniform Methods and Rules. The current time schedule calls for Jan. 1, 1982, for the federal classification.

TSCRA asked TAHC to make sure the movement of Texas cattle be as unrestricted as possible and maintain as its goal the avoidance of a federal quarantine of Texas.

Brucellosis, or undulant fever in humans, is a multi-million dollar disease causing abortion in cattle and reduced calf crops.

More than 2,500 cattlemen from throughout the Southwest attended the convention, trade show and Heritage Sale. They also joined in celebrating the formal dedication of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Foundation, a sparkling new headquarters in Fort Worth constructed by individual cattlemen's donations.

Cargile said the group would meet in San Angelo June 26-27 for their summer board meeting and in Dallas March 10-13, 1982, for the 105th annual convention, trade show and Heritage Sale.

Ban of Foreign Purchases Urged

Austin, Texas - Texas Farmers Union President Mike Moeller has called on the Texas Legislature to enact legislation which will prohibit the future purchases of agricultural lands by foreign owners and adopt an exemption for gasohol on the five cents per gallon motor fuels tax. "These are the two most important issues for agriculture this session, and it is absolutely essential that they are passed," Moeller stated.

Moeller led a delegation of TFU members to a House Agriculture Committee hearing on April 6 to testify for HB 112 (Pete Patterson, D-Brookston). The bill will prohibit aliens from future purchases of Texas farmland. "It is more important to all Texans that our children are able to inherit our land than people of another country," Moeller said. "The higher land values which are being driven up by foreign purchases in Texas are making it more difficult for young farmers to go into business."

"If I have to sell my land and I want to get a good price for it, the pressure of alien purchases certainly serves to drive the market value up," Moeller explained. "With only a few exceptions, the price of farm land in foreign countries is far above comparable land in this country. American farmland is cheap only in relation to the low income our farmers receive under current government policies."

Moeller said the Patterson bill allows individuals who immigrate to the United States to purchase agricultural land as long as they intend to become American citizens. "We are only asking the legislature to prohibit purchases of farm land by those foreign individuals and corporations who only want the land for speculation, not those who wish to become bonafide American citizens and taxpayers."

In regards to the gasohol legislation, Moeller said TFU favors passage of HB 24 (Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale) which will exempt the fuel from the five cent per gallon tax currently levied on all motor fuel at the pump.

"Texas is the only state in the Southwest which does not have some kind of exemption for gasohol," Moeller stated. "In order to stimulate production of gasohol, which will make us more energy independent of oil imports, we need meaningful legislation which will enable producers to be competitive with the price of unleaded gasoline."

Moeller said gasohol is a proven renewable energy source which will be of benefit to both the producer and the consumer. "With the adoption of the Kubiak bill, we will see more farmers become involved in alcohol production. This will lessen their dependence on fuel in agricultural production and stimulate more competition in the marketplace with widespread marketing of gasohol. The consumer will benefit greatly with increased competition and lower prices at the pump."

The foreign land ownership prohibition and the tax exemption for gasohol "are pocketbook issues vital to agricultural production and the well being of the nation. The federal government is not likely to do anything this year which is going to help farm income, so it is essential the Texas Legislature enact both bills for the good of agricultural producers and all consumers," Moeller concluded.

The original Liberty Tree was planted in Boston in 1646, by the citizens of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

EH Committee Plans Annual Health Fair

Final plans are being made for the April 28 Health Fair sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Extension club's family living committee. The fair will feature some 32 organizations who will display educational exhibits, perform testing and screening, give health demonstrations and administer immunizations throughout the day.

A new addition to the annual fair will be private consultations concerning over-the-counter drugs and mixing drugs by John Thames, local pharmacist.

Any health related organizations interested in participating in the fair should contact Louise Walker, County Extension agent, at 364-3573. Hereford Senior Citizens will provide transportations. The fair is free of charge to exhibitors as well as to the public.

St. Anthony's Sets Holy Week Services

Holy Week services at St. Anthony's Catholic Church are scheduled to begin Thursday and will continue until Sunday.

Holy Thursday, the mass of the Lord's Supper with the Madatum, washing of the feet, will begin at 8 p.m. followed by procession with the Blessed Sacrament to the Repository.

Parish families will participate in the adoration from 9 p.m. - midnight. The church will close at midnight and will not be opened again until Friday at 4 p.m.

On Good Friday, the Stations of the Cross will begin at 4:30 p.m. "The Liturgical Actions of the Passion and Death of Our Lord Jesus Christ," will begin at 5 p.m. with the reading of the passion and the adoration of the cross.

Saturday, the Vigil of Resurrection and the first mass of the Feast of Resurrection will start at 8 p.m. St. Anthony's Adult Choir will sing solemn intonations at the liturgy.

During the service, Stephanie Mariscal, daughter of Israel and Maria Mariscal, will be baptised.

On Easter Sunday, the Feast of Resurrection, services are scheduled for 9 and 11 a.m.

C of C Plans Poster Contest For May Beautification Week

The Women's Division of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a poster contest in conjunction with Beautification Week, May 1-9.

All school students in grades 4-6 may enter the contest.

"Beautifying Hereford" is this year's theme, and entries should be made on regular-size posterboard, 22"x28".

Although planting red petunias by residents and merchants is being encouraged by the committee, the symbol does not have to be included on the poster.

All posters must be turned in by 3:30 p.m. April 24 at the office of the individual's school in order to be picked up by committee members. The student's name, grade and school should be printed on the back of the poster.

Cash prizes of $5 for first; $4 for second; and $3 for third will be awarded to top winners in each grade level.

Contact Gladys Merritt at 364-5888 or Teri Morgan at 364-5024 for more information.

Mrs. Deason Speaks At Garden Meeting

Mrs. Vera Deason, member of the Amarillo Garden Club, spoke about gardens of the past and trends of the future when she met with the Hereford Garden Club recently.

Trends of the future included foliage feeding and a new type of corn in which the cob is edible.

During a brief business session, members voted to write the club's history for the Project County History Book. Mrs. O.G. Hill will be in charge of the activity.

Mrs. Jack Wilcox and Mrs. Burnie Riley were hostesses.

Assistant Store Managers Receive Their Diplomas

Graduating Assistant Store managers Dee G. Roberts and Nora L. Dobbs received their diplomas from Gary Whittington, instructor of the Assistant Store Manager's training course. The class, held at the company's home office in Clovis New Mexico, is a requirement for all new assistant managers.

According to Whittington, "The training is very thorough, covering food handling, paperwork, store cleanliness, cooked foods procedures and public relations. We're able to provide our customers with trained professionals."

This helps our company as well as the consumer." Mrs. Roberts will return to her store at 910 Park Avenue while Ms. Dobbs returns to the store at 400 N. 25 Mile Avenue in Hereford, to assume their duties as assistant managers.

RUSTY BROWN

Someone had his head on straight when he invented the refrigerator door. Not only does it keep the food cold and the flies out; it provides a nifty place to put things that you would otherwise lose.

I feel secure all summer knowing that the dry-cleaning claim ticket for our winter clothes is safely anchored under a butterfly magnet on the refrigerator door. I would have to spend an entire weekend looking for it if it were to float around the house from May to September.

The refrigerator door provides a multitude of services. It is a place to praise the children, for example. My friend Carol has posted son Andy's perfect spelling paper — the one with two stars and a smile sticker on the teacher.

"But Carol," I said the other day. "This paper is from January. Isn't that kinda odd?"

"It's never too old until there's one to replace it," she said. She doesn't dig the neatness but that most homemakers are expected to emulate. To reassure herself that she is OK anyhow, she keeps on her refrigerator door a New Yorker magazine cartoon showing two people on a heavenly cloud. One is dressed in the usual immaculate white robe. The other, hair awry, eyes ake, is wearing a splatchy, spotted garment with the hem falling out. The immaculate one is saying to the messy one: "Well, you were right. Neatness didn't count!"

A lot of friends keep diets on the refrigerator door to halt themselves when tempted to reach inside for a goodie. But one, who has given up the fight, has a cartoon character eating a gooey sundae and chirping smugly, "Man should not live by bread alone."

"Perform a death-defying act. Quit smoking." That message was found on the door of a friend in the midst of her anti-weed struggle.

Joanne, who runs a travel agency, has posted the itinerary for her upcoming trip to Malaga. Handy for the stay-at-homes, she says, "also the police if they come looking for me and the burglars if they're going through the house."

She says the refrigerator door is the must place for most messages to the family, things such as: "There will be no laundry service here for 10 days beginning April 25. Please make other arrangements."

Parents of teens say they have to leave warnings to scavengers on the door: "Don't eat the chicken. It's for dinner."

And kids who get uptight if they think mom is nagging take more kindly to unspoken but posted reminders. I read this note under an owl magnet: "Betsy, you must write Grandmother a thank you for the birthday gift and tell her how you've been doing at school."

Still others use refrigerator doors for new snapshots of family members, magazine photos of dogs that look like theirs and newspaper clippings with locations of auto license bureaus, antique stores, etc.

Finally, when testing the canner, be sure to look for steam leaks around the canner lid. If the lid has a rubber gasket, make certain it's clean and grease free. If the gasket leaks steam, turn it over, stretch it gently and replace it. If the rubber has hardened, replace it with a new gasket.

and use - and so they're separate from "new" canning. Make sure the storage area is cool, dark and dry.

Correction

It was incorrectly stated in the Tuesday, April 14 edition of the Hereford Brand that the Spanish Speaking Ministerial Alliance will conduct their United Service tonight at the Community Center beginning at 7 p.m. The article should have read that the United Services will be held in the Community Church tonight beginning at 7 p.m. The Brand regrets this error.

Inventory jars, lids, rings, freezer bags and any other equipment necessary for your special home canning projects.

Check jars for chips or cracks. Chips along the jar mouth usually result in an unsealed product after processing. Cracked jars usually break in the waterbath or pressure canner.

Make plans for clean storage areas, and plan ways to use leftover canned food. Group "last year's" canned foods so they're easy to reach

Test dial-gauge pressure canners every year. For information on testing sites, call your county Extension agent. Many County Extension Offices have testing equipment and they hold pressure-canner-testing clinics early in the canning season. Tests should include making sure safety valves, petcocks and safety plugs are in good condition.

Replace any worn parts. Remove any corrosion by soaking in vinegar.

Ann Landers

Would-Be Lover's Request

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 27, a career woman, and by today's standards, I am neither an easy mark nor a prude. I have had one lover - a long-time affair that ended two years ago. I have not gotten involved since, for one reason or another.

Recently my best friend told me she has genital herpes. She isn't sure who gave it to her, but she says her health has not been the same since.

Is genital herpes detectable through a blood test? If so, would it be too awful to ask a would-be lover to present a clean bill of health from a doctor before going to bed with him?

This may seem like a strange and unromantic request, but you know, Ann, Herpes Simplex II is epidemic in this country, and there is no cure for it yet. It isn't just tramps who get infected. You might trust your lover, but who knows where his previous girlfriend has been?

No lecture on morals, please - just some answers. Is herpes like syphilis - detectable? Is it unreasonable to expect a would-be-lover to accommodate such a request? - Prudence In Corpus Christi

DEAR PRUDENCE: No lecture, but no simple answers either. Unfortunately, a blood test for herpes is inconclusive. A positive result tells us only that the person has at one time been exposed to a herpes virus and produced antibodies to the infection.

Most of us have been exposed to some form of herpes virus by the time we are adults. As many as 90 percent would test positively for herpes in a blood test, and yet not have active herpes infection.

A "tissue culture" test is a conclusive diagnostic procedure for herpes, but this involves taking a specimen from a visible, active lesion. Any visible sore, of course, should be checked out by a physician.

Your fears about herpes are valid. It is indeed epidemic, and we have more questions than answers. But you cannot allow fear to prevent you from living a normal life. Frankly, it is too bad that a greater number of people, particularly young people, do not share your concern about the consequences of sex.

The news is not all bad. It sounds as if you are already practicing the first line of prevention - that is, being discriminating in your relationships. There is no substitute for honesty and openness. Most men would resent being asked to get checked out by a doctor, and since the tests for Herpes Simplex II are inconclusive, I don't recommend it.

If you want more information, the American Social Health Assn. is the only national agency devoted to solutions to sexually transmitted diseases. Write to them at HELP-ASHA, Box 100, Palo Alto, Calif. 94302.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband graduated from a school of dentistry and opened an office downtown. He knew it would take a while to get established, and so did I.

The problem is Bill's relatives. He did a lot of work for his aunt and uncle and two cousins (same family). They ignore his bills, which are modest compared to what other dentists charge. They say, "We went to Bill because he needs experience. If we knew he was going to charge us we would have gone to a REAL dentist."

What should he do? - Mad As Hell

DEAR MAD: He should get smart and learn from experience. All dental fees should be discussed in advance. This means with relatives, friends... everybody.

Parents, what should you do if your teenager is having sexual relations? Ann Landers' new booklet, "High School Sex and How to Deal With It - A Guide for Teens and Their Parents," give nonsense advice on how to handle this delicate situation. For each booklet, send 50 cents plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Threat of Violence Looms over Shrimp Season;

ROCKPORT, Texas (AP) — Until they moved here, Nhan Nguyen and her husband never closed the doors to their home even in the midst of war. But what decades of strife in Southeast Asia couldn't do, boat burnings and Ku Klux Klan rallies accomplished. Now they lock their doors "all the time."

And, like many other Vietnamese refugees along the Texas gulf coast, the Nhans are thinking of fleeing again. The governor's office says 76 Vietnamese shrimp fishermen have agreed to sell their boats for a fair price and leave the area. Others already have left.

"I like to live in Rockport," Mrs. Nhan, 25, said. "We don't want to leave. (But) I told my husband, if they buy your boat, go ahead and sell but make sure we find a job first."

Clashing cultures, declining shrimp catches and a concern over economic survival have raised tensions until the threat of violence looms over the start of bay shrimping season May 15.

The fiercely independent native shrimpers claim the bays will be overfished with the growing number of Vietnamese boats.

The refugees who began settling here in 1976 say they do not understand why the Americans shrimpers first sold them old boats and now complain when they are used.

Tensions increased after a Ku Klux Klan rally near Houston in February where robed members burned a mock Vietnamese boat, labeled "Viet Cong."

Two Vietnamese shrimp boats burned at their docks last month in Seabrook. Law enforcement officials blame arson.

Some refugees say the anxiety is too much. They want a new beginning away from the coast in their new country.

"We want to get away from the violence here. The pressure from American fishermen is such that I think the Vietnamese have to get out of here. I encourage them to do this," said Nam Van Nguyen, an ex-Army colonel and head of the Vietnamese Fishermen's Association in the Galveston Bay town of Seabrook.

American shrimpers interviewed in this town of 10,000 deplored both violence and reported offers of Klan intervention but quickly added that they wondered how it could be avoided.

"They're just taking our jobs away from us," was the constant remark.

Lou LeBlanc, a seafood processor who buys from many Vietnamese boats, said the situation boils down to one thing.

"This bigotry has got to stop," he said.

About 10,000 Vietnamese came to Texas after the fall of Saigon in 1975. Sponsoring agencies located many on the coast with its familiar warm climate and fishing opportunities would be familiar to the refugees.

Families sent for relatives and other Indochinese moved to the coast from other settlement sites. The "boat people" created a new wave of migration in 1977.

Today there are an estimated 38,000 Vietnamese in Texas and only 2,500 living on the coast.

Those who moved to Rockport-Fulton, Palacios, Seabrook-Kemah and other fishing towns often would purchase rundown American vessels. They soon began building new ones.

Natives became concerned over too much competition. The shrimping industry was suffering from high diesel fuel prices, general inflation and several poor seasons in a row.

Many shrimpers turned to off-season fishing or crabbing and offshore oil rigs for income.

The simmering tension boiled over Aug. 3, 1979, in Seadrift, a small town 35 miles up the coast from Rockport.

Billy Joe Aplin, a 35-year-old crabber, was shot to death on a pier. Two Vietnamese brothers were arrested. The night of the slaying three Vietnamese boats were burned and a Vietnamese house was fire bombed.

After the trial was moved 100 miles inland to Seguin, one of the brothers was acquitted and the other released on an instructed verdict of innocence from the judge. The two left and resettled under new identities.

State, federal and local officials have tried to avoid a repeat.

Vietnamese Shrimpers May Leave Gulf Coast

Department's community relations office in Houston. The basic problem, he says, is too many boats competing in the bays.

"Most of the Vietnamese on the coast now were not settled there originally. They moved here from other states," he said. "A year ago they had a gentlemen's agreement in Galveston Bay. Both sides would try to discourage more entries into the shrimping industry."

The agreement fell apart as newcomers ignored the plan. Rockport-Fulton fishermen tried to work out a similar understanding two years ago with the same result.

Soon new complaints were heard that the Vietnamese allegedly violated local customs, accepted welfare fraudulently and built oversized boats.

The clamor shocked some refugees.

"Just this year, my family is scared. I don't know what happened this year," said Tien Hoang, who has lived here five years with her husband. "We don't want to move but if there's trouble we don't want trouble."

The Rockport Vietnamese

lack a formal spokesman.

Local Americans picked Raymond James, a 38-year-old third-generation shrimper, as their official voice.

"We just don't think it's right for the government to take care of foreigners. The Vietnamese have it real good because of the aid. Who couldn't make it if they had subsidized housing, food stamps, cash assistance, Aid to Families with Dependent Children with both parents at home," he said.

According to the Texas Department of Human Resources, 245 of the 2,500 Indochinese on the Texas coast, receive a total of about $18,300 monthly.

Allen Clark, Gov. Bill Clements' special assistant for administration, ordered an investigation of James' charges of welfare fraud.

Clark said he has not received a final report and would not discuss possible preliminary findings. He said he has asked the Vietnamese in meetings along the coast to stop taking government assistance as soon as they are able financially.

Vietnamese deny that boat owners remain on assistance although members of their extended family may be. The refugees are angered by claims that they use welfare money, directly or indirectly, to pay for new $50,000 boats.

"If they do make $1,000, they put $900 aside. They're poverty stricken while they're trying to get these boats built. They pool their money and sacrifice," said a prominent Rockport resident who asked not to be identified for fear of further polarizing the community.

After hearing claims that the Vietnamese were building oversized boats, a state-federal task force measured both American and refugee vessels in several communities.

Noncitizens may not own boats with more than a five-cargo-ton capacity. The measurement refers to storage space and not water displacement. Refugees may apply for citizenship after five years but few have lived here long enough to apply.

Coast Guard officials said they found more sour grapes among native shrimpers than illegal Vietnamese boats.

A survey of 65 boats in the Rockport-Fulton-Corpus Christi area found 19 Vietnamese boats above the limit. Many probably could be altered to comply. The team could only advise boat owners and did not fine anyone.

"It's a case of the haves vs. the have-nots and the Americans at the have-nots," said Petty Officer Doug Bando. "Those American shrimpers sold their old junk boats to the Vietnamese, figuring that they wouldn't be able to make any money off of them."

Fulton Mayor L.E. Casterline hired a naval architect to show the Vietnamese how to seal off storage space and comply with size requirements.

"This is a common practice used by shipbuilders for years in this country," said LeBlanc, who has teamed with Casterline as the refugee's leading local supporters.

The welfare reviews and boat surveys have failed to quiet complaints about the Vietnamese.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

See your doctor instead

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 22-year-old female and I have a bad complexion. I have tried everything - gels, creams, astringents, vitamin E, cucumbers, even some green stuff. I hear now that tea bags with hot water helps.

I really don't have money to see a doctor so tell me what creams I can use that will help. I really don't have oily hair or skin. I do have a few blackheads. I don't eat sweets or sugar.

DEAR READER - You may be spending more money on beauty aids than you would have to spend for some useful medical attention.

Blackheads and acne are caused by an overproduction of sebum, the oily secretion from special glands in your skin. It affects both sexes and usually starts with puberty.

There are three main approaches to treating the problem: decrease oily sebum formation, open skin pores for proper drainage of sebum, and use of antibiotics to eliminate bacteria in the pores that break down the sebum to form irritating chemicals. These irritating chemicals cause the red pustules.

Warm soaks with a wash cloth several times a day help to soften sebum cores, open pores and washes away oily secretions. Do not use oily or greasy beauty aids or creams. They make matters worse.

Peeling agents that your doctor can prescribe for you such as a vitamin A acid gel can help your skin shed surface cells to eliminate blackheads and promote drainage.

There are new medicines being studied that will be even more effective, but they will be prescription items when they are released for general use. Almost everyone can get some help to improve an acne condition today. So see your doctor and stop using all those greasy creams and useless aids.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I had a severe case of laryngitis two years ago. Now I grow hoarse almost every day after minimum use of my voice. In the past I enjoyed singing very much and could sing (or talk, for that matter) for hours.

Now I have had to practically stop singing entirely.

A throat specialist told me that I have benign throat nodules, and that I should stop talking when I become hoarse and maybe it would improve. I would appreciate your advice on ways to improve my voice. I don't smoke. Should I have surgery?

DEAR READER - Scarring, nodules and changes can occur in the vocal cords. There must be 50 different causes for hoarseness. The point I would like to impress upon my readers is that anyone who is hoarse for more than two weeks must have an examination, as you have done.

You may have what is called "singer's nodes" or "speaker's nodes." The only way a proper diagnosis can be made is with direct observation of the larynx. You may get some help by resting your voice but often surgical removal is necessary. It must be done very carefully to not injure the cords. The voice becomes normal within a few weeks after successful surgery.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Is it possible that the birth control pill can cause a woman's hair to grow longer and thicker? I took the pill in 1973 for two years and my hair grew beautifully. I have started taking it again a year ago and my usually thin hair is now thick and luxurious again.

DEAR READER - It's possible. There are many different kinds of birth control pills with different balances of hormones in different types. If you happen to be on the low side of estrogen production and took a preparation that was high in estrogen, it could have this effect. If a woman has a normal amount of estrogen, it might not help her.

A woman's hair grows and thickens during pregnancy, influenced by her super abundant amount of female hormones throughout the pregnancy.

And hair tends to get thin after the menopause because the balance of male and female hormones may change again, although age alone may affect how many hair follicles are producing a good hair shaft.

Rabbit coat sheds

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY - I received a rabbit fur coat as a gift and love to wear it, but every time I do, the hairs fly off and get on my clothes. I have tried vacuuming it, but that did not work. I hope some reader who has such a coat can tell me how to keep the hairs from coming off. - G.G.

DEAR G.G. - The fur may be drying out and the vacuuming is loosening the hairs. Take the coat to a furrier and ask about having it conditioned. After looking at it, they may have a suggestion for something you can do. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - Those who like to serve cream of wheat to their families can vary the taste by adding chocolate chips or other baking chips while the cream of wheat is cooking. They will enjoy a nice flavor change. - LOUISE

DEAR POLLY - I do hope some of the following Pointers will help other readers with their spring house cleaning: When shampooing carpets, put plastic bags on furniture legs and fasten with rubberbands. No more having to move furniture from room to room, as you can just slide the furniture aside, shampoo the carpet and move it back in place. Do not remove bags until carpet is dry.

Use toothpaste on a wet cloth to remove glass rings from furniture.

Soak household sponges in cold salt water and they will become fresh as new.

Wash outdoor furniture - plastic chairs and chairs and removable vinyl cushions - with plain soap and water. Wipe the metal parts with a cloth dampened with mineral oil to clean and preserve it. Wash wicker furniture with a stiff brush moistened with warm salt water. I also find the salt keeps the wicker from yellowing.

Before painting or gardening, apply a mixture of hand lotion and petroleum jelly to your hands. - GENEVIEVE

Local Man's Labrador Receives Recognition

Johnny Haney recently returned from the Texas Panhandle Retriever Club sponsored derby in Amarillo after winning first place with his one-year-old Labrador "Marmaduke of Bitterrot." Bitterrot is a kennel in Hamilton, Montana where Haney purchased the award winning pup.

The derby field trial was a show of dogs competing in retrieving, with people and their dogs from all over the United States.

Haney competed in the division of dogs two years and under against 34 other dogs, going against amateurs, pros and professional dog trainers. The dogs were required to compete both on land and in water, according to Haney.

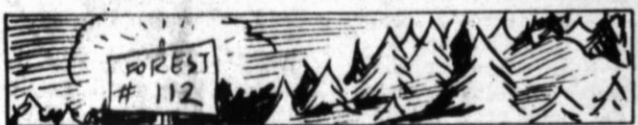

This being the clubs spring derby, Haney was awarded with a bronze goblet and first place blue ribbon on his Labrador's performance. Haney started competing with his prize dog when he was 10 months old. He trained the dog himself with the aide of a professional in Amarillo. Haney has been a member of the Texas Panhandle Retriever Club for three years. He is employed by Poarch Brothers and has received several awards for the dog's performance in various contests.

Texas Briefs

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Levelland attorney Frank B. Kiser Jr. was named Monday as judge of the 286th District in Cochran and Hockley counties.

At the same time Gov. Bill Clements named Johnny Actkinson of Farwell, county attorney of Parmer County, as district attorney of the 287th District in Bailey and Parmer counties.

Both will serve until the next general election.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Billy Thompson, director of the Railroad Commission's Office of Information Services, has resigned to become executive editor of The American Oil and Gas Reporter.

His resignation is effective April 21.

Thompson was oil editor of The Houston Post for 14 years and editor of The Oil Daily for four years. He also was manager of public affairs in Washington for the Arctic Gas Pipeline Project.

He became the first director of the commission's information office on Dec. 1, 1975.

Since then, he said, he and his three-member staff has distributed more than 8,100 news releases, reported on more than 5,600 hearings and responded to more than 11,000 inquiries about the commission.

Thompson will work in the Reporter's new Austin office.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Bevo X — the Texas Longhorn mascot — has retired to green pastures at Vernon, and Bevo XI already is in training for sideline duty.

Bevo X's owner, John Hardin III, said his steer was getting old and deserved a rest after five years as Texas mascot.

"He's on Social Security out here in my pasture," said Hardin.
