THE SCHOOL TAX.

Why Those Interested in the Welfare of the Public School Should Vote for this Proposition.

There are many patrons of the public school, and others equally as interested, who will wonder what this election means. Why is it necessary to order an election to decide whether or not the board of trustees shall be authorized to levy a tax not exceeding 50 cents on the $100 valuation, when heretofore the board could levy 75 cents on the $100 without consulting the tax payers.

The facts are about as follows: The law under which such levy has been made for so many years was declared unconstitutional, and the constitutional amendment which carried at last November's election is now operative. This amendment gives independent districts the power to rate a tax not exceeding 50 cents on the $100 of valuation, but this tax must be voted before the board of trustees can levy a tax at all for the support of the public school.

This is a very important matter for Clarendon people to bear in mind. It is not probable that an intelligent voter in Clarendon would vote against this proposition,

WATCH HER GROW.

Some of the Improvements That Have been made in Clarendon This Year

It may seem to the casual observer that Clarendon is not growing, but the following list of new houses, and improvements or additions to old ones, shows the city to be growing right along.

As we have been able to get hold of the new buildings and improvements they are as follows:

Joe Hardy has built a neat five room cottage.

W. H. Thompson has erected a modern five room cottage.

Chas. Baldwin built a comfortable five room residence.

Frank Whitlock replaced his residence that burned with a pretty five room cottage.

R. B. Glenn has built two nice comfortable six room residences.

L. C. Jones has begun the erection of a handsome seven room house.

Claude Jones has built a two room house.

Cuba Blackwell erected a comfortable and handsome seven room residence.

Mrs. Houk has built two neat modern cottages, each with five for the defeat of this proposition would mean about four months school for next year instead of the usual nine months.

It must not be understood that this election authorizes the erection of new buildings, the issuance of bonds or any matter of that kind. This is simply to authorize the board of trustees to levy a tax to support the public school for the year 1909-'10

This election is to be held June 19. This matter should not pass without careful attention from the voters in this district. Our school interests demand that there should be no uncertainty about the matter.

W. R. SILVEY.

E. M. Ozier and wife of Clarendon, and Master Manley, came down Monday morning to take in Trades Day and visit relatives and friends in the city. Mr. Ozier at one time owned the lot where the Fox & Pate grocery is now located and came near being a Childress citizen. He bore a look yesterday like he would like to be a citizen of a town like Childress.—Childress Daily Index.

From a Confederate Soldier.

I am an earnest confederate soldier who loves the cause. While the war is ended and the battle lost the cause still lives. We wish to perpetuate the deeds of the men of 1861-1865, who went forth to meet an invading foe, and who until subdued by starvation and overwhelming numbers drove the enemy from the battle field. I covet no higher as one of the number than that we get a true history of the war, and the cause of the war. I am not entitled to anything for being a confederate soldier, but it is a wreath of glory that every man that made a good Confederate soldier is entitled to. I would rather leave the heritage to my children and their children's children than to have been governor of Texas elected on the Populist ticket.

Yes the brave boys of 1861-1865! who but mighty men of war could have taken the small resources of the South and stood for four long years against the well-equipped North with limitless resources? In population they stood as eleven to three, in soldiers as four and one half to one, in money and resources as plus to minus. Think of it! the North had nearly four times as many soldiers to send home at the close of the war as the South had on the field at any time, two million six hundred thousand North in deadly combat against six hundred thousand South. For four years the conflict waged. When peace was declared and the smoke of battle was cleared away, nearly four to one lay on the field as slain by the southern soldier, with fifty thousand more prisoners of war than they had. This is too sad to make boastful mention of; it is only to reveal to our sons and daughters the noble heroism of their fathers as well as to do justice to the matchless leadership of the commander in chief, Robert E. Lee, and our other generals. Lee was a military genius, keen in foresight, masterly in strategy and wise in bravery. He was brilliant and scholarly, clear headed and sweet spirited. He had the temperament of a poet, the instinct of a business man, the qualities of a soldier, and the habits of a saint.

No, we rejoice not in the number slain or imprisoned by our southern Grays, but in the bravery impelling them on.

Let our right arms lose their cunning and our tongues be silent ere we forget our fallen chieftains or cease to honor their brave deeds.

But the war is over. Now the sixty's are more than two score past. General Lee realized at Appomattox that the end had come. He said, "It is the part of wisdom to acquiesce in the inevitable; to hope for the best turning to our material interests, and await results". In this same spirit the bereaved widows and mothers of the South, who with unselfish devotion had borne their part in that disastrous war, received back none these heroes with pathetic smiles, and inspired them with new hope and courage to rebuild the shattered structure of Southern wealth. It is no vain boast to say that this has been done, and that the men and women of the South of today are worthy descendants of heroic sires.

So in all the pathetic scenes of this hour, a commingling of tears for the fallen with our love for the living, we are nevertheless Americans, knowing one common country, with reverence for its imperial flag, its achievements, and its standing among the nations of the earth, in all of which we have a just pride as Southern patriots.

COPPER IS KING.

We are offering a limited amount of Treasury Stock 10c a Share.

Par Value $1.00 per Share, Full Paid and Non-Assessable.

Every Sound Investment.

Every sound investment has for its basis a careful study of facts and conditions. On no other basis can any enduring success be hoped for. The officers and directors of the Cobre Grande Copper Company are presenting the facts which have formed the basis of their own confidence in the present undertaking.

Location of the Cobre Grande.

The property is about sixteen miles south of Douglas, Arizona, the great smelting center of the Southwest. It is also 4½ miles east of Cabullona Station, on the Nacozari Railroad, at present the nearest shipping point; however, the Southern Pacific Railway, which is now building its road into Douglas, will come within one and a half miles of our property.

A Rich Copper District.

The range of mountains in which this property is located, is a continuation of Chiricahua range, in which so many valuable Copper and Gold properties have been recently located. As far as known, the entire belt is highly mineralized, the country rock being identical to that of the Bisbee District in its formation.

The country generally is cretaceous of the Mesozoic period; the ore throughout the district makes in line on a porphyry or granite contact with occasional outcropping of an intrusive porphyry. The lime-stone and iron cap comes up in reefs and dykes. The granitic overflow is apparent over large areas, and wherever this occurs, combined with porphyritic croppings and iron, it is absolutely sure.

There is a Large Bed of Copper Ore Beneath.

In accordance with geological law each of the openings made showed these material facts, the vein being three and a half to four feet wide at grass roots, widening out as descent is made.

AGAIN, it is a geological law that in all molten metals the heaviest lies the lowest. Now the mighty pressure of the deep waters of the Pacific Ocean, ages ago, reached down to the bed of gold and forced it upward with the copper. Hence in sinking the shaft

Anywhere in the Copper District

Gold will be found at a depth of one to two hundred feet in sufficient quantities to meet or more than meet all mining expenses, leaving the Copper a Clear Profit.

A well-defined and heavy mineralized ledge shows outcrops over the entire surface of the Cobre Grande property and extends along its entire length, showing surface measurement across the outcrops of from 75 to 100 feet, highly mineralized the entire width.

The strike of the ledge is east of north and west of south, and the vein stands nearly vertical, being about five degrees to the northeast.

These statements are taken from reports made by expert mining engineers and geologists. Various assays have been made of our ore, showing very rich copper values, together with good gold and silver values. These documents are on file in our office and will be gladly exhibited to anyone desiring to investigate our statements.

Here Lies the Greatest Mineral Deposits Known to the World.

The statements are not based on theory, but have been absolutely demonstrated. It is a fact without exaggeration that the Copper Queen Smelter, located 15 miles from the Cobre Grande property, handled more copper under one roof last year than any other smelter in the world.

This rich mineral zone is many miles in width and follows in general a northerly and southerly direction. It is a broad statement, nevertheless true, that among all the mines of this district there has NOT been recorded A SINGLE MINE where development work has been continued down to the depth of known and permanent values.

In this great Copper Belt, millions and millions of copper, gold and silver have already been taken out. The Copper Queen, the Calumet and Arizona and the Shattuck mines are just to the west of our property, the Cananea mines to the south and west, the wonderful Montezuma Copper mines to the south, the El Tigre gold and silver mines to the east and south, the rich copper mines of Moreaci, Clifton and Globe to the north and east.

Greenville, Tex., March 8, 1909.
Mr. W. S. Kirby, Prest. Cobre Grande Copper Co.,
Dallas, Texas.

Dear Sir, I accepted your invitation to become a stockholder and a director in the Cobre Grande Copper Company. I was at liberty to resign, surrender my stock and the money paid by me for my stock returned to me, after investigation by me, I was dissatisfied. I have investigated the business integrity and ability of the other directors, and persons primarily interested in the proposition presented by the company; I have also inspected the property owned by the Cobre Grande Copper Company, and I am well satisfied that the enterprise is worthy of the confidence of every investor, as to the business ability and integrity of the officers and directors of the corporation, and as to the rich value of the Cobre Grande property as a copper mine proposition.

I visited other copper mine properties, and inspected the ore from different mines, at the Copper Queen smelter, and comparison with the ore in evidence in and at the different excavations made on the Cobre Grande property, convinces me that few, if any, copper mines excel the Cobre Grande property in value.

The Cobre Grande property is situated in a territory recognized and proved as valuable copper ore territory, and some of the most promising claims are contiguous to the Cobre Grande property.

I can and do, without hesitation, assure my friends that the proposition presented by the Cobre Grande Copper Company is a bona fide one, and that investment in its stock will reward the investor with rich returns. Very respectfully,

JOSEPH NICHOLS,
Mayor of Greenville.

MINES IN CANANEA DISTRICT, STATE OF SONORA, MEXICO

Transportation Facilities

We invite your special attention to this feature, as the matter of transportation is a most important factor in the mining industry. Our properties are not inaccessible, requiring long, tedious journey over the mountains on burros, but easy of access, being already only 4½ miles from the railroad, reached by a good wagon road to our property. We also have a good wagon road to Douglas—16 miles distant.

The Southern Pacific Railroad, now building into Douglas, will run within a mile and a half of our property.

This is not a matter of probability, but evidenced by the work already in progress. Many mines have made wonderful successes even though far removed from railroads and smelters necessitating the marketing of their ores at tremendous costs, where timber and water had to be obtained from a great distance.

Can we not succeed having transportation at our very door and only a short distance to the smelters?

Other Advantages possessed by the Cobre Grande

Water is conveniently at hand. An abundance of wood for fuel is also available in the vicinity.

Timbers can be shipped at a reasonable price, but owing to the nature of the ground but little timber is required for mining operations. We have an ideal climate, being no interruptions of work on account of weather conditions during the entire year.

Native labor of excellent efficiency is also constantly available at low cost and unattended by strikes, etc.

Titles to Property.

This company is not operating on a lease, bond or option, but owns this property by authority of the Mexican Government, signed, sealed and delivered to us by its proper officers.

The title to this property has been fully investigated and passed upon by the highest legal authority in the country and is in the name of the Company.

To our READERS AND THINKERS, having secured this valuable property now wholly free from any liability and which we assure you shall forever be kept from "Earth-quaking Bonds," attachments or legal entanglements, we come to you offering a limited amount of stock, at a small percentage of its real value, to put this magnificent property upon a good dividend paying basis.

We want engines, boiler, hoisting machinery, tramway, mine cars, and lastly, a tram road from mines to connect with the NEARBY RAILWAYS, thus enabling us to discharge the valuable product of our mines direct to the smelters, less than twenty miles distant.

We believe that within six months the mines can be made free from further stock sales, in which case the stock will command par or above.

If you have never really considered a mining investment as a means of increasing your savings, we urge that you do so now. Cobre Grande Copper stock, at the price it is now offered you, presents an exceptional opportunity.

There are no encumbrances on the property, no preferred shares and no bonds to come first in the division of profits, and your shares will earn as much as a like number of shares owned by any other member of the Company.

All stock is fully paid and non-assessable, as stated in each certificate. Each share carries with it the right to vote, so that with a single share you have every right, privilege and protection possessed by any other stockholder.

Without exaggeration we have presented you with facts concerning the merits of our proposition and for your information have furnished you with correct data regarding the tremendous fortunes which have been made by other companies in our immediate vicinity. In this connection we beg to state that it is our intention to conduct the business in a conservative manner, and protect the interests of all stockholders. We are investing our own money in this enterprise, which is the best evidence of our good faith, and in offering you this stock we present it as a solid and safe investment, not as a speculation.

Vote for the school tax on the nineteenth.

Remember the school tax election is the nineteenth.

Every farmer should have a patch of alfalfa and some hogs to graze on it.

Those in charge of the job of securing the Normal are doing fine work.

The amount proposed for school purposes this year is less than last by ten cents.

The Panhandle is a great place for raising chickens as well as every thing else.

The hen and milk cow are money makers on the farm, and should have careful consideration and close attention.

It is evident that Senator Bailey and Governor Campbell do not think alike on the sacredness of "platform demands."—Denton Record and Chronicle.

The election ordered for the nineteenth is not to raise an additional tax for the school but the only tax for the year and is lower than the last years tax.

If the election for school tax ordered for the nineteenth, fails to carry there will be no school the coming school year. Therefore let everybody interested vote.

Donley county farmers should keep their eyes on broom corn. If you have not planted any this year watch your neighbor's crop and if he succeeds you arrange to plant next year.

We note that our old friend, Joe C. McElhannon has been elected president of the Inter-collegiate Press Association of Texas. Mr. McElhannon represents Baylor University in the Association.

The Amarillo National Life Insurance Co. has lately been organized at Amarillo, with some of the Panhandle's most successful capitalists as incorporators. Note that the Panhandle is keeping abreast of the rest of Texas along all lines.

Those who thought that every conceivable kind of Democrat had been catalogued and indexed were the most surprised of all at the appearance of that strange, uncouth and outre creature known as an "Aldrich" Democrat. Dallas News.

The Fires and Crews ranch in Cochran county has lately been sold a syndicate of Illinois capitalists, and it will be colonized by them. The price is said to have been $798 for 33,633 acres. This ranch has seen a number of large deals in the Panhandle.

One of our exchanges from east central Texas are howling about the drought in the Panhandle. You don't hear of any of our leaving their fields and coming to the cities, as is the case from the sections named. It explains if you want to understand the drought. Claude News.

Local option elections in three county and one precinct, the pros won three. Smith and Comanche counties and Alice precinct went dry while Dalham county went wet. Smith and Comanche were both dry and the pros won by an increased majority.

Local option goes marching on. In Saturday's election two counties, Smith and Comanche, previously dry, continued so by increased majorities, while Dalham, of which Dalhart, a railroad town, is the county seat, went wet by the small majority of fourteen votes. The time will soon come when the saloon will be looked upon as a relic of barbarism and children will wonder how their fathers ever brought themselves to the point of voting for such a giant agency of evil.—Terrel Transcript.

H. Bascom Thomas shies his castor into the gubernatorial ring. He was doubtless correct in the charges he made that resulted in his expulsion from the senate, and the people of his district did right in returning him to his seat in the senate; but he must not think that because the people right the wrong his colleagues perpetrated on him, that he is gubernatorial timber. Hundreds of the people who voted for him to go back to the senate would vote against him for governor.

The officers of Austin and Travis county stood by and saw one man kill another in a pugilistic contest last Saturday night. Each officer should be impeached to say the least that can be said.

Present at the encounter were Sheriff Geo. S. Matthews, Chief of police T. J. Laughlin, Deputy Sheriff Coley White, Deputy Sheriff Eugene Barbische, Police Sergeant Jake Platt and State rangers J. T. Seale, M. E. Bailey and Clifford Stone, County Judge White and District Clerk Pickle.

These men, every one sworn to enforce the law, stand by and see one man kill another in a prize fight, which itself is a felony in this state. Are these men not pretty specimens for peace officers? They are a disgrace to the offices they have sworn to fill. The man killed was named Lyons and the fellow who slugged him to death was Keppe.

Smoking is a filthy habit, and a big, fat, black cigar advertises that you're straying from the higher life afar. I have walked in summer meadows where the sunbeams flashed and broke, and I never saw the horses or the sheep or cattle smoke; I have watched the birds, with wonder, when the world with dew was wet, and I never saw a robin puffing at a cigarette; I have fished in many rivers when the sucker crop was ripe, and I never saw a catfish pulling at a briar pipe. Man's the only living creature that parades this vale of tears, like a blooming traction engine, blowing smoke from mouth and ears. If Dame Nature had intended, when she first invented man, that he'd smoke, she would have built him on a widely different plan; she'd have had a smoke consumer that was strictly up-to-date. Therefore, let the erring mortal put his noisome pipe in soak—he can always get a new one if he feels he needs a smoke.—Walt Mason.

The Telephone Improvements.

Notice was made in the paper about two months ago of the contemplated improvements at the telephone office, making it a much larger exchange.

This week a car of supplies for this improvement has arrived in the city, and work will begin at once.

The same company will also put in an exchange at Lakeview this summer.

Another View of Lincoln.

EDITOR BANNER-STOCKMAN—

The history of Mr. Lincoln, his life and his death, is the unsurpassed record of the greatness of this country since the close of the war. The closing words of his second inaugural, "With malice toward none, and charity towards all", plainly expresses the life he lived and the death he died. By the civilized world he was regarded a hero in his life and a martyr in his death. I should not presume to answer my friend, Mr. Barnett, were it not that he writes and expresses the sentiments of a majority of the southern people, who are persistently teaching their children in our schools and colleges to ignore our flag, notice in our own town, and disrespect for our own constitution.

Mr. Barnett's belongs to the the primary and initial court, that extends upward to the supreme court of the U. S. A. and he will know the history of the state rights as against the federal constitution had its beginning at Poukpsie, N. Y., championed by such men as Gov. Clinton, Patrick Henry, and light-horse Harry Lee, who uttered these memorable words at Washington's funeral, "First in peace, first in war, and first in the hearts of his countrymen", as against George Washington, Alexander Hamilton, and Franklin and many others on either side so numerous to mention.

When Abraham Lincoln took the oath of office in '61, Pres. Buchanan and his cabinet had transferred south of Mason and Dixon's line, Forts and munitions of war show that the south was not unprepared as is often asserted, but had in fact been preparing for years, as notice the surrender of Ft. Donaldson to Grant, Feb, 1862, sixty cannon, some of the caliber 128 pounds and smaller, with 20,000 stand of arms and 15,000 soldiers after 5,000 had deserted with Gens. Floyd and Pillow, leaving Gen. Buckner to surrender.

The first day of investment by Grant his forces numbered less than those of Floyd, who was behind the strongest fortress of the south during the war.

Slavery was not the cause, it was an incident, but was used as a cause. The people north, east and west were not abolitionists as witnessed first by the election of James Buchanan for president, a Democrat and pro-slavery, and Steven A. Douglas, who felt himself honored to hold Lincoln's hat during his inaugural, U. S. Senator over Mr. Lincoln, for the state of Ill., after the great debate. All the southern states shared the state rights view. Mo., Ky., Mo., and Tenn. seceded but sent 30,000 soldiers to the federal army.

Gen. Lee, who was too great for and prejudice to clinch him, was opposed to breaking the Union, till his state succeeded, and he, as a trained soldier, always predicted defeat. He knew the strength of both sections, and he knew all were brave and all were Americans. And a man but wastes his breath who asserts to the contrary. Call the roll in Donley county. 12 men on either side, a fair representative of north and south equal in every respect as shown in public and private life. And notice that the highest county office was held by a Union soldier, Hon. H. B. White, for 20 years. As a matter of fact it is well known that the best minds, of both sections, for years have disparaged such articles as "What I Think of Lincoln".

What does the south want, Mr. Barnett? Another war? A solid south? That will inevitably mean a solid north, east and west. No greater calamity could befall the south. Does the south want to live under an administration like Mr. Cleveland's who brought financial ruin on the whole country, north and south alike? And cost the school children of Texas $50,000,000 by taking $1.00 per acre from the school land. The majority say by their votes they prefer to live under the adminis-on both sides has passed and I would not stir up strife, for the war is over and passed, but I wanted to explain my own position in this matter.

W. A. ALLAN.

I will mention New Orleans and Gen. Butler. It is a well known fact that women in that city spit upon and insulted the soldiers and the flag. When asked who they were the city claimed they were not southern women, but women of the street, and he treated them as such and the offence ended.

Mr. Lincoln took the oath of office to preserve, protect and administer the constitution, which he did from Ft. Sumpter to Appomattox court-house. None know this better than the south, and finally he gave his life defending the constitution. Now his picture hangs in the halls of nearly every capitol in the Union, and in the capitols of the great nations of the world, with heroes and martyrs of great renown. The bullet of the assassin and traitor reached his heart, and the great leader was no more, and while muffled drum and boom of cannon echoed the anguish of the people Booth, caught in the folds of the flag he had dishonored, was hunted to his doom.

After life's fitful season Lincoln sleeps well.

To concluded; Squire Barnett's reasons as a barrister or an attorney, not as a judge and his conclusion is contradicted by the enlightened world and largely by the south. Were his conclusion just as to fact and truth, both the assassin would be the greatest monster next to Judas not only the greatest criminal, it was not only a crime but a great folly for the south. Mr. Lincoln and Andrew Johnson were both Southerners and Kentuckians. The first was a Whig after the creed of Webster and Henry Clay and Washington, but Lincoln understood the south and the Negro. Had he lived the negro would never have voted, the greatest calamity that ever cursed the entire nation, and the regime of the carpet-bagger would never have been by him tolerated. I believe the time for irritation

A Needed Factory.

There has been a great deal thought and said lately on the subject of factories. It would certainly be an excellent thing to have as many large industries as possible. For example a great broom concern would be compelled to keep a considerable bank account in order to settle its weekly pay roll, a fully equipped coal company would cause to come here, and stay, a vast number of operatives, and money, not far short of millions, a cotton mill would notoriously require both men and capital to run it. Such things are magnificent even to dream of. But there are strong objections to each of them. Enough broom corn to supply a large manufactory would demand land and labor to raise and horses to haul it. Coal can be evacuated and handled only at the expense of hard muscle. Cotton machinery is very costly and complicated and high-priced talent is necessary to show the wheels which way to go. But what of Clarendon and an International Dog Meat and Food Company? We have abundant material full grown. There is a great number of loose curs in the town, which have no ostensible owners and may therefore be regarded as the property of the city.

If properly corralled into herds of a hundred or less, they can be ground up and carried without any great expenditure. The flesh will certainly have a fine flavor. The dogs have had nothing to do except fiddle off their fleas, bite a few people and bark at horses for months. They have been luxuriously cared for by the public and are fat and juicy. Laziness naturally imparts tenderness and savor. Every can, therefore, in exact conformity with the pure food law may bear the label—Guaranteed to be absolutely genuine and delicious dog. Already cooked and ready for the chop-sticks. Very fine for lunches and picnics. Now the Chinese are world-famous as lovers of dog flesh. A tremendous output can be disposed of on the Pacific coast, and that not consumed there can be profitably forwarded to the Kingdom of pigtails and laundries. The city, furnishing the raw material, will take the whole stock at a cost merely nominal, and so enjoy a monumental monopoly. Great profits are absolutely sure to follow. The dividends can be used for purchasing a fire engine, paving the streets, cleaning the alleys and other useful things. The profits may indeed be large enough to enable us to have our electric light plant and our water works. The mayor and aldermen, inasmuch as they are supposed to have the best interests of the town at heart, ought to be ex officio the President and Board of Directors of the company. The plan is entirely feasible, is comparatively inexpensive and, moreover, it will delight a number of innocent and virtuous citizens with wrongs unredressed and insults unavenged to know that the vagrant and useless curs are dead and for once have been put to a good use. No more frightened women and children, no hydrophobia and a terrible nuisance abated. By all means let us have the Clarendon International Dog Meat and Food Co.

P. S. If the Mayor and alderman are too busy to undertake the management of this great industry, then let them pass an ordinance to exterminate vagrant dogs.

Home Mission Notes.
 The home mission society met at 2 o'clock Monday, in order to be present at the Baptist church at 3 o'clock for the 5th Monday entertainment. Mrs. Sayre, who attended the meeting at Corsicana was bubbling over with good things to tell us. The most of her report, Mrs. Hardy's talk and suggestions about our bazaar and other business was left over till the devotional meeting on account of lack of time. Mrs. Warlick became a member and we had several visitors. Miss Brooks kindly consented to get up several entertainments for us, the proceeds to be used for the new M. E. Church building. We feel sure they will be a success in every way as Miss Brooks is a graduate of Kidd Key and won many honors in the past year.

At 3 o'clock the society adjourned to meet two weeks from date with Mrs. Ross as leader.

The cloth, in great fun, was laid on a hillside. "Stand-if-er" wanted too, or else you could slide.

The Codmoppe.
 Herrings are still eaten as much as in the days when Yarmouth had to send a hundred yearly to the king, baked in four and twenty pasties. But where is the codmoppe gone, and what was it like when kings dined off it in Lent? "Codmoppe sauce Hollandaise" would sound most intriguing on a Savoy menu. More original still would be the "rostit perpes" of a Henry V. banquet, which was the "sea swine" of the unrefined Saxon, the "porco marino" of the medieval ecclesiast. A maister coker gives an early receipt for "pudding of porpusse," another teaches how to "salte porpusse and seele," another how to "undertranche that porpus." From which it may be seen that enterprise extended also to the spelling of the porpoise.—London Chronicle.

Candy-makers' Tricks.
 An Atchison man went into a candy factory. He was surprised to see one of the candy-makers reach with his bare hand into a pot of boiling candy. He brought out a handful of the boiling fluid. He was testing its consistency. He first put his hand in a pail of water. After he had jerked out his hand he put it back in the water. The Atchison man tried the same thing and did it without getting burned.—Atchison Globe.

THE UNTOLD HALF.

By ARTHUR BOLTONWOOD.
 Copyrighted, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.

There is no particular excitement when one of the lumbering fruit boats of the Yellow Star line comes into port. There was no particular stir along the water front that biting, foggy morning in December when the Admiral Dart came wheezing up the harbor, swung into her berth at the Yellow Star docks with the aid of a couple of tugs—for the tide was running strongly—shot out her gangplank and disembarked the four passengers she carried.

She also disembarked Bobby Shacklett. But Bobby Shacklett did not come to the wharf by way of the gangplank. While the fussy little donkey engines in the sheds were puffing valiantly and swinging briskly out of the Admiral Dart's hold the many bunches of green bananas Bobby Shacklett, very thin, very pale and very much unwashed, came up from the stoke room, took a long breath of the misty air, shivered a bit—for his clothes were painfully thin and shabby—and then climbed over the rail and dropped unostentatiously to the wharf.

A couple of carriages bearing the steamer's late passengers whisked past him. Three rumbling drays went bumping past, one of the drivers shouting impolitely to Bobby to get to somewhere out of the way.

Bobby grinned. It was not a pleasant grin. He was thinking of his homecoming as he had planned it and as it had actually turned out, and comparisons, which are always odious things, were particularly so in this case.

He thrust his hand into the pocket of his ragged trousers, drew out a few pieces of silver, grinned once more, shivered again and made his way to the street.

A solitary hansom was drawn up to the curb, waiting for a chance fare. Bobby stepped over to it. The cabbie surveyed him scowlingly, but Bobby, quite oblivious apparently to the dubious glances cast in his direction, climbed calmly in.

He gave an address on a certain conservative street uptown. The driver stared at him. Bobby smiled.

"Don't blame me, old chap," he said, noting the other's hesitation. "But I want to go there, strange as it may seem and incompatible as it may be with my present appearance. What's the row? Afraid I won't be good for the row? Here you go."

He passed up the handful of silver through the trap. "Now, then, drive on," he commanded.

The whiplash sang through the air; the shambling horse lurched into a trot; the hansom rocked, and away they went through the dingy, noisy streets.

They drew up finally before an imposing house on the conservative uptown street. Bobby climbed from the hansom, and while the latter turned and went clattering away he shut his teeth grimly and mounted the brown-stone steps with a light of determination in his eyes.

In response to his vigorous tug at the bell the door was opened by a statuesque butler, whose dignity stood out obtrusively all over him. He looked at the figure on the stoop and closed the door halfway.

"Well?" he said, and the manner in which he said it plainly bade the visitor begone.

"Is Miss Wadsworth in?" said Bobby quietly.

"Hi think not, sir. In fact, Hi am very sure she isn't," the butler replied. A look came into Bobby's gray eyes—a look that had made better men than the butler quell many times before now.

"I rather think you are mistaken," said he. "I'm sure she is home, and, what is more, I am sure she will be glad to receive me. If you don't believe it, just tell her, if you will, that the general manager of the Colona Interoceanic railway would like a word with her. I'd advise you to do as I say."

for coming here this way, but stoking on a fruit steamer raises the very decency with one's appearance."
 She was about to say something, but he held out his hand.
 "Please let me talk first," said he. "I must tell you before you say a word or else I shan't have the courage to. You see, it's all off—railroad gone up, contracts unfulfilled, and the fortune I went down there to stow away in my jeans some one else has walked off with. That's about all, except that I came back in the fruit steamer to tell you that I'm the largest, most inexcusable fizzle extant."
 "That is all?" she asked suddenly. "Are you sure that is all? Do you mean to say in those few sentences you have told me everything?"
 "All that you should know," said he. She looked at him steadily, and a sudden light leaped to her eyes.
 "You are telling me only half," she said.
 He was silent.

"Why don't you tell me the other half?" she demanded.
 "It—It wouldn't interest you," he said lamely.
 She leaned toward him. "I know the other half without your telling it, you great big, generous boy," said she.
 "Eh? What? What is it you know or, rather, think you know?" he asked.
 "I know it all—the whole story," she declared. "I know why you are here as you are. I know it was because you shielded my brother when he—when he wasn't straight, when the gambling houses down there had done their worst for him. I know that you—you, dear, loyal Bobby Shacklett—threw everything into the balance—opportunities, contracts, everything, to save him and that now you have come back to me with your lips sealed, claiming that you have failed and offering no excuses for it."
 Shacklett reddened. He smiled rather vaguely and looked decidedly embarrassed. Twice he essayed to speak and each time got no further than the initial word. The girl was watching him closely.

"It—It doesn't change things any, even if all you have said is true, and I haven't admitted yet that it is true," he said at last. "I've lost my money, and—you see that?"
 "You have gained—gained something else," she whispered.
 The butler was telling the pretty second girl about it below stairs.
 "Is h'arm was around her," said he disgustedly. "Think of it! And 'im nothing but a common tramp!"

The Pedigree of the Shirt.
 Why does the being we call a "gentleman" wear around his neck a band of spotless whiteness and unbearable stiffness, at his wrists similar instruments of torture and before his chest a rigidly starched linen plate? No one outside of a madhouse would call these articles of apparel agreeable. There is for the custom no reason at all drawn from comfort, hygiene or usefulness. There is, however, the ghost of a dead reason. Once upon a time a "gentleman" was presumed to do no work, and he dressed to show this by putting on these visible signs that he never soiled his hands, sweated his neck or bent his noble back. It matters not that we no longer believe in this definition of a gentleman. We did believe, once. Its ghost rules on. No man is bold enough to appear in society without this impossible harness. Only a professional humorist like Mark Twain or some one who wishes to pose as a mild lunatic dares rebel. Addison said that the man who would clothe himself according to common sense would find himself in jail within a week.—Frank Crane in Atlantic.

In the Heat of Battle.
 There had been a hotly contested football game between the Steam Rollers of the Benjamin Franklin school and the Avalanches of the George Washington school. It was won by the Avalanches. After the game was over and the contestants had returned to their various homes one of the heroes of the winning team complained of a feeling of soreness in the lower part of his neck.
 "I didn't feel it until just now," he said, "but it hurts like sixty!"
 His father examined it. It began to swell and was very sore to the touch.
 "I believe your collar bone is broken, my boy," said his father.
 A surgeon was hastily summoned and made an examination.
 "Yes," he said, "the bone is fractured." "How did it happen, Walter? Do you remember anything about it?"
 "Why, yes," answered the boy. "I remember that when I tackled Skinny Morgan I fell on top of him, and I heard something crack, but I thought it was his collar bone."

Government by Veto.
 A veto, used in connection with public acts, is a euphemism for smother, squelch, kill, etc. Owing to our elaborate system of vetoes our country may well be called the "veto country."
 If a member of congress wishes a bill passed, it may be vetoed by the speaker.
 If the speaker wishes it passed, it may be vetoed by a committee.
 If the committee wishes it passed, it may be vetoed by the house.
 If the house wishes it passed, it may be vetoed by the senate.
 If the senate wishes it passed, it may be vetoed by the president.
 If the president wishes it passed, it may be vetoed by the supreme court.
 If the supreme court wishes it passed, it may be ignored and thus vetoed by any executive officer into whose hands it may fall.
 If a bill succeeds in getting through all these safely, it is a good bet that it is something the people do not want.—Ellis O. Jones in Life.

Miss Baker Entertains.

Saturday evening one of the best and most enjoyable of the seasons parties was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Green Baker. Miss Millie entertained in honor of the Misses Clower, of Mangum, Okla., and Oscar Coulter, of Dallas. About fifteen couples were present and spent a happy evening in social converse, in contests and the enjoyment of music.

The guests were welcomed by Misses Millie Baker, Ella Dial, Edith and Mertz Clower and Beulah Dodson, Messrs Oscar Coulter, Price Baker and Joe Powell. Twine strings were given the guests who were told to tie a knot in the string for every person with whom they conversed. When the strings were well knotted the young ladies went into the parlor and the young men into the hall, a sheet was put over the door and the young men were asked to guess what young lady was passing between the lamp and sheet in the parlor, testing their powers of observation. In this contest Mannie Josylin was pronounced best and as a token of distinction was awarded a B. A. diploma from the universal college of Friendship.

The B. A. Degree meaning the best acquainted. Mr. Coulter then presented a bouquet to the blushing graduate.

Slips, containing half of a quotation from a mother goose Rhyne, were then passed and by matching the quotations partners were secured with whom one was privileged to partake of dainty refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cake. Several of the young ladies rendered pretty piano music during the evening.

At a late hour the guests departed declaring Miss Baker to be one of Clarendon's most charming hostesses and this party one of the best of the season.

PREACHER GOES TO CLARENDON.

Former Pastor Here Goes to That Place to Preach to Christian Congregation.

Elder J. D. White, who until recently was pastor of the Christian church of this city, left this week with his family for Clarendon where he has accepted a call as pastor of the church of his denomination for the coming year.

He will preach at Clarendon two Sundays in each month at Pampa one Sunday and Tulia another Sunday in each month.

Before leaving the city Mr. White stated that he was deeply regretful for the necessity of moving away from Canyon City because he thought that it was one of the best towns that he had ever known; that the tone of morality in this city could not be beaten in any other place and that the people generally were of that energetic, hustling type that he much admired.

The city loses a valuable man when Mr. White moved from here. He has made friends by the score during his residence here and these friends are a unit in wishing him and his family those joys in life to which the deserving are entitled.—Randall County News.

Sunday at the Churches.

Sunday morning at the Methodist church, Rev. O. P. Kiker filled the pulpit, preaching a very helpful and inspiring sermon. Miss Sullivan sang a solo. At the evening hour Rev. G. S. Hardy, presiding elder of the Plainview district, filled the pulpit, preaching on Methodism in the Panhandle, giving a full history of its work and telling of its needs, stressing the importance of the work of Clarendon College. Before the sermon some very fine special music was rendered. A male quartette composed of Messrs Kiker, W. T. Hayter, Nash, and Clower sang two songs and a duet was rendered by Mr. Nash and Mrs. Tressie. Sunday School was well attended in the morning.

At the Baptist church the pastor, Rev. T. B. Pittman filled the pulpit at both the morning and evening hours, preaching very fine sermons at both services. There were ten additions to the church Sunday, and interest was very good. The Sunday School and B. Y. P. U. Services were interesting and well attended.

The revival will begin at this church the twentieth of this month and it is urged that every one make preparations to attend, and work in the meeting.

Rev. Jetton, late of Austin Theological Seminary, filled the pulpit at the Presbyterian church at both the morning and evening hours Sunday, preaching fine sermons at each service.

Next Sunday the missionary, Rev. Gill, of Amarillo, will fill the pulpit both morning and evening.

Sunday School and Endeavor were the only services at the Christian church Sunday.

The editor of this paper has known Mr. Durham for a number of years, in fact since he was a boy, and we can recommend him to the people of Wellington as not only a good printer and editor, but a citizen desirable from every standpoint. He will give them a good paper, and we wish him well in this venture.

Alumni Banquet and Meeting. (Crowded out last week.)

One of the most interesting and pleasant features of the commencement exercises of Clarendon College was the Alumni Banquet in the oratory room of the college after the grand concert Friday night. It had been intended to have the banquet at the Denver house until Wednesday evening. This gave the alumni officers but little time to prepare for the occasion, and yet at the appointed time everything was in readiness and the occasion surpassed the expectation of any of the guests, who had learned of the difficulties under which everything had been gotten in readiness.

Quite a number were present, almost every member of the association in the city and quite a number of out of town members, as well as the teachers and members of this years class, with two or three invited guests, the local editor of this paper being one of the favored few.

In the hall upstairs before the banquet was served, the boys and girls made merry with greetings and finally with the old college yells, using yells from the first class down to the present class, as well as the college yells and some from the S. W. U. boys and girls. The guests were then invited into the oratory room where the banquet was spread.

After being seated at the table, Harwood Beville, chairman of the executive committee announced the absence of the toastmaster, Mr. R. Hundley Cocke, of Wellington, of the class of '06, and introduced Jesse Stanford, of the class of '04, of Hereford, who took the place of Mr. Cocke on the program was one of the first graduates. Although Mr. Stanford had no time for preparation for the occasion he took as his subject, "Do You Remember?" and handled it well. Instead of the set speech so often made he began his introduction of each speaker with "Do you Remember?" and followed with something of interest about that speaker's school days, blending wit and wisdom of school-days.

O. T. Warlick, of Childress, was the first speaker, representing the class of '05 on the subject of "School Days," and gave a very interesting talk on this subject so near the hearts of the guests, who were all interested not only in the past, but in the future of Clarendon College. Nothing more appropriate could have followed this speech than the next number on the toast line. Mr. Stanford introduced Miss Lelia Ross representing classes of '07 and '09, who sang for us "School Days". Her voice was never better or sweeter than in this song so dear to the school-heart, and every word was enjoyed as it rang clear and sure to the ear of the guests, who "were only boys and girls tonight."

Rev. D. B. Doak, of Dickens City, was next introduced, and representing the class of '06 spoke on "Retrospect and Prospect of Clarendon College." His speech was thoroughly enjoyed and was full of wit and humor as well as of retrospect and the prospects for the future of the college. Dr. Burkhead was then called for and made one of the best speeches of the evening. With his usual style he interested his former pupils, but talked a very short time as he said he did not want his ice cream to melt while he talked. Dr. Burkhead took Miss Maude McLean place on the program, she being absent.

D. A. Neely, of Memphis, representing the class of '07 was introduced and spoke on "One Thing and Another" applying "one thing" to school life and "another" to life's school. Following this splendid speech Ernest Wilson of class '08 made one of the most interesting speeches of the evening, especially was his subject, "What C. C. Alumni are doing", interesting to the members of the Alumni Association, and his speech was given close attention. It was the closing speech of the program, but the toast-master called for a speech from Rev. W. Y. Switzer, who was one time a teacher in Clarendon College, and is said to be the only graduate in "pen art" from C. C.

The evening's program was closed with the singing of Auld Lang Syne by the guests; and then goodnights, or rather good-mornings were said, and everyone congratulated everyone else on the success of the banquet and the very pleasant time which had been spent at the second alumni banquet.

The following delicious menu was served between speeches: Salted Peanuts, ham sandwiches, waldorf salad, pickles, olives, wafers, ice cream, cake, ice tea and mints. The flower for the decorations was the cape jasmine.

The Clarendon College Alumni Association held its regular meeting at the college just after the Annual Address by T. E. Graham, and transacted the business which came before them. G. T. Palmer, of Clarendon, president of the Association was in the chair and Miss Mary Peebles also of Clarendon was at her place at the Secretary's desk.

Reports were received and officers and Orator for the year were elected. D. A. Neely, '07, of Memphis, Texas was elected president, W. J. Stanford, '04, of Hereford, Texas, Vice President; Mammie McLean of '05, of Clarendon, Secretary-treasurer, Hon. O. T. Warlick, of the class of 1905 was elected to deliver the Annual Address at Commencement next year. The members of the Association expect a most excellent address from Mr. Warlick and his record in school leads them to believe he will come up to their expectations.

The president appointed an executive and entertainment committee Will McDonald, '09, Mary McLean, '08, both of Clarendon. After allowing all of the accounts of the treasurer and entertainment committee the association adjourned to meet during commencement 1910.

Pioneer Days in the Southwest.

Through the courtesy of the author, Rev. E. Dubbs, of this city we have read that very interesting book, Pioneer days in the Southwest.

It is a collection of life stories, simply but effectively told, and as is said in the introduction they give us "not fiction or ideal tales, but unadorned truths and conditions that have fortunately passed out forever". For this very reason the book is very interesting, because it is the true story of this great Southwest, and some of the men and women who have done much for the advancement of our section of Texas, as well as the Indian Territory and New Mexico. The lives of Rev. E. Dubbs, Chas. Goodnight, John A. Hart and others of the pioneers cannot fail to interest any one who is interested in the greatest part of Texas, the Panhandle.

We have read the lives of the men who were instrumental in making the states which are now eastern states, but we have no histories and biographies of our own Panhandle pioneers published which could be so true to the real facts as this book of personal reminiscences. We cannot tell you about it, but will say that it cannot fail to interest you.

Last Friday a jolly party consisting of Misses Lelia Ross, Lucile Neely, Ruth Gage, and Mabel Smith and Messrs Harwood Beville, John Arnold, Mannie Joselyn, and Oscar Coulter, went out to Tomblesome, Chaperoned by Mrs. D. P. Ross and Mrs. Wade Willis, and spent the day. A very Pleasant time is reported.

Mrs. M. A. Posey came in Friday morning from Como to visit her son, A. M. Beville.

A party of Clarendons young people breakfasted at the Denver House Sunday morning and went horseback-riding afterwards. Mr. and Mrs. Diggins chaperoned the crowd.

THE C. C. COMMENCEMENT

Last Week the College Term Closed With Splendid Entertainments in all Departments. Class of '09

Saturday evening seemed to be the time appointed for lots of noise on the hill, and the students failed not in this part of the commencement program. Society spirit reached its high water mark, and every one was excited over the annual inter society debate between the young mens societies. Claude Miller and Herbert Hilburn represented the Panhandle society on the negative, and George Stocking and John Arnold represented the Adkissonians on the affirmative of the question, "Resolved: That the election of United States Senators should be by direct vote of the people". The arguments made by each were strong and the debaters were at their best, but the affirmative easily won, which victory was due largely to the splendid rejoinder of George Stocking, who answered every challenge of the negative in a quick and decisive manner. When the decision was made public and it was known the Adds were victors by a vote of three to five, each side took charge of their representatives and it was a trial to know which would holler loudest and longest, and those who heard the debate and knew the excellent work of each speaker, were glad that it was the defeated as well as the victorious men who were so roundly cheered and shaken up in the general rejoicing.

On Sunday the day was made one of especial interest because of the presence of Bishop Seth Ward, of Houston, who delivered the baccalaureate sermon at the morning hour. The sermon was eloquent and helpful, inspiring and spiritual, and a large audience heard the Bishop. The music was good for the Sunday services, and mention must be made of the fine special music.

In the afternoon before the evening service the league meeting was held at the college, and it was a good meeting, a missionary service and the subject. Korean Mission work, seemed made to precede the sermon for the evening hour, as did a talk by Bro. Butterfield, of Childress, who has been a missionary to the Indians.

Bishop Ward occupied the pulpit at the evening hour and delivered a very fine address on the Japanese Field, telling of his trip to that country last year to hold the conference, of some of the experiences he went through, of the work of our missionaries, and of the need in the foreign field, as well as here, for trained workers and for money consecrated to the service of God.

Monday morning the Graduating exercises were held in the college chapel, the audience was large, filling the chapel, and every one was interested. The stage was pretty for the occasion, and everything went off nicely. The program was well rendered. The musical numbers were beautiful and the orations showed careful thought and preparation. Rev. J. H. Stewart, presiding Elder of the Vernon District, delivered the baccalaureate address, which was very fine.

Allen Burton and Troy Montgomery tied for first place in the athletic field, and in a cut the prize fell to Mr. Montgomery. The society had been divided into sides, the reds and the blues, and at the close of the athletic meeting the sides had a game of ball, the reds winning first place.

In the evening a basket supper was given by the young ladies at the dormitory and on the campus and a very pleasant time was reported.

Into history and recollection another commencement has passed at Clarendon College. None more pleasant and profitable has ever been enjoyed in this city. Everything passed off in good shape and the management and pupils deserve much credit for the splendid programs rendered and for the general excellence of work of the past year in our college.

Fine Prospects.

D. B. Sache and son, Star, of the Brice country, were, in the city Friday and said that the people of his section have better stands and better prospects now than they have had since he has been in the Panhandle. Mr. Sache is from Collin county, one of the rich black land countries, and he thinks this country a much better farming country than that. He claims that a man can work twice as much ground in the same length of time and that a farmer can work a third more days in the year out here. His people told him he would starve in the West but he is making more money than all of them.

Common Sense in Dress.

The wealthiest young woman in America attended a public function in New York not long ago, says the Ladies Home Journal for June, and this is the account of her appearance; "There was nothing of what women call 'style' in Miss Helen Gould's appearance. She wore a small, black hat which could have been hidden completely in the crown of a 'Merry Widow' hat, and which was trimmed only with a bow of black velvet ribbon and a modest buckle. Her white shirt-waist with a neck ribbon was of the simplest order; and a black cloth skirt and a short black coat were alike simple, quiet and lady like. Not a piece of jewelry was visible anywhere."

And then the report adds these significant words: "So simple was Miss Gould's attire that she was an unconscious rebuke to the overdressed girls and women about her who could ill afford the clothes they wore. And it must be confessed that the quietly-dressed millionairess looked the woman she is, while of the women around her—"The less said the better."

How true it is that the women who "dress" as we use the word, are the women who find it necessary to do so-generally to cover up some mental or social deficiency. A woman who feels sure of herself doesn't have to "dress".

Kindergarten Entertainment.

Last Friday afternoon quite a number of ladies assembled at the home of Mrs. Watkins to witness the closing of her kindergarten school. The little folks presented a play representing "Spring" which was very well rendered indeed. The little tots were dressed to represent flowers, grass, the sun, the wind, the rain, and wake robin who bade them all cheer up, cheer up, cheer, cheer. They all sang America and marched with flags and told the story of our flag. After the exercises ice cream and cake were served and all enjoyed playing on the lawn. As a farewell the children gave their college with great vim.

Mrs. Watkins received many compliments on her patience and skill in training these young minds not only in their play but in their work. She will open school again at the same time as the public school and will make announcement to that effect later on.

One who was there.

Mrs. Cliff Heath is in the city from Beaumont for a summer visit with her parents, W. A. Allen and wife.

J. T. Roberts, T. P. A. of the Katy road was in the city Thursday, and made a pleasant call at the Banner-Stockman office.

Tom Thumb Wedding.

The "Tom Thumb Wedding", in which 50 children, trained by Miss Brooks will perform, will be given at the Opera House Friday night, June 17th.

Besides this, special music by a male quartette, Miss Ross and others, and a reading by Miss Brooks will make the evening a rare treat, and all for the low price.

As the proceeds of this entertainment are for the new M. E. church, every effort has been put forth to make the program especially good, so that the house may be full.

Hedley's School House Bonds.

While in the city this week, E. R. Clark said that the Hedley school house bonds would soon be approved. The attorney has asked for some explanation with reference to the field notes which Mr. Clark has given him. As soon as the bonds are approved they will be put on sale and work of erecting the house begun as soon as possible. This is one of the most important moves the thriving little city of Hedley has made and will add much to her prosperity.

Channing Favors Clarendon.

Amarillo having so many big enterprises on hand with more in sight she should be willing to concede to pretty Clarendon the Normal, as the latter needs it in her business. Be magnanimous to your little neighbor.—Channing Courier.

Thanks Texan.

Clarendon is making a great pull for the Northwest Texas State Normal and it seems that she has a good show of securing same. Verily this city is desirous of becoming the Athens of the Panhandle.—Shamrock Texan.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Martin left Sunday for an extended visit at Memphis and other points in Tennessee.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE AT BRICE.

Dinner on the Grounds. Three Good Sermons and a General Good Time for All.

Last Saturday Rev. J. G. Miller and Rev. J. A. Zinn went out to Brice to hold the third quarterly conference on the Lakeview charge for the current year. The good people of that splendid community showed their appreciation of the quarterly meeting and the coming of the Presiding Elder by preparing and bringing a bountiful supply of good things to eat. The congregation was large Saturday—at eleven o'clock and Bro. Miller gave them a fine sermon after which the people spread a sumptuous dinner which was enjoyed by all. At 2:30 in the afternoon the Presiding Elder preached another helpful sermon and followed with the quarterly conference. There was a good attendance of the members of the conference and Bro. Miller looked very carefully after the interests of the church. The different reports showed the charge to be making progress.

Sunday at 10 o'clock the regular Sunday school services were held followed by a love feast. This old custom of Methodists was very much enjoyed by those present.

At 11 o'clock Rev. Miller preached, to the joy and edification of all present. So ended a very profitable and enjoyable occasion for the Brice community.

Tabernacle for Hedley.

O. H. Britian, Hedley's hustling "Cash Store" merchant was in the city Wednesday with his family. He made a call at the Banner-Stockman office, as he is one of our advertisers and had no other opportunity to meet and know us. We are glad that he called, as we found him a very pleasant, agreeable business man.

While in the city Mr. Britian was soliciting funds to build a new tabernacle for Hedley. He had quite a subscription list with him, both from Hedley and from this city. This is as it should be. Hedley is a part of Donley county and every citizen of Donley county should help every thing that will be for the good of Donley county. They helped us with the college and we are glad to help them with their tabernacle.

Nip and Tuck.

Graef Gleaning.

The people in this neighborhood are well pleased with the prospects of the coal mine. The Clarendon Co. sent out a bunch of men who put a tunnel into the bank, and it sure looks good to us. The vein gets thicker farther in and pitches down which is a good indication. They started into the tunnel with a sixteen inch vein; it looks like it had doubled itself in about twenty five or thirty feet. This seems to interest some one besides the neighbors, as there have been several land buyers out here the past week. I don't think there is any land for sale. Now is the time to get your feet wet, boys, get into the company.

J. A. Rockmore drove to your city one day last week and brought home a brand new cultivator.

M. E. Ward seems to be the luckiest coon hunter we have in this neck of the woods. He and his dogs dug out two, and captured one of the largest coons we ever saw. Mr. Ward is very busy in his crop now, but when he gets through he is going to show us how to catch coons. Boys feed up your hounds.

The people here are sorry to lose their old neighbor, Mr. Beverly, but I suppose our loss will be Clarendon's gain.

Mr. Harvey Smith and family were callers at your city yesterday. We saw Mr. Smith trailing out a new buggy.

Mrs. M. E. Ward called on Mesdames Butler and Rockmore one day last week.

Mesdames Anderson and Ickenburger called on Mrs. Young Wednesday afternoon. Also Mesdames Ward and Harvey Smith called on Mrs. Young one day last week.

Mrs. Young was calling on Mrs. Kates Monday.

The Burt brothers have their crop in now, they are putting in a large crop, they are all done but their millet and they are working on that now.

Little Annie Fish of Clarendon, is out spending vacation with Mrs. Anderson.

Our Sunday school of only three weeks old is a great success. Everyone seems to be interested. The attendance last Sunday was forty. We changed the hour from ten, to three-thirty, every body is invited to come. We need an Organ badly for the Sunday school and I think steps will be taken toward getting one soon.

The singing at G. W. Youngs Sunday night was well attended, all present report a good time.

Among the visitors to your town Saturday, were the Burt boys Messers Goldston, Young, Butler, Wolfenburger, Ickenburger and Frank Kates.

We were visited last night by a fine little shower, and they are as welcome as the flowers in May.
