Caught in The Corral
Put Through The Chute

A something or other, insect or animal, but undoubtedly classed as fauna, has been attracting attention all this week in the county agent's office. It was captured in its wild state by Coy Phillips in the north part of the county, safely corraled and brought to town for identification.

"It's a, dibrochita timponotita," said R. O. Dunkle, without batting an eye or spitting out his tobacco end. Everybody said that must be right, as it looks a great deal like one. However, Alex Thompson drifted into low American dialect and said he thought it was that old enemy, snake-in-the-grass.

The main trouble ordinary folk had was telling its head from its tail. "I can't make heads or tails out of it," one spectator remarked; and the cattlemen are puzzled about its age, for if you can't find the head how can you examine the teeth?

Miss Emma Gunter, the new home demonstration agent, has been afraid to make any trips into the rural districts. She was told these "dibros" were plentiful in the county, that they grow to big size and especially liked to lounge around gates.

"Old Dib," as the court house bunch now call their mascot, measured 9 1/2 inches in length, and some think he is the largest of its species. Everything grows big in Deaf Smith county, anyway, including Hars.

And speaking of Dibros reminds us that we would like to have settled locally, once and for all, the question of whether horse-hairs turn into snakes. Jowell Murchison and L. H. Foster, high political nabobs, talked us down Monday when we were anti-horsehair and they were pro-horsehair, and every passage was either a pro-horsehair or was neutral.

We did not know people were still so superstitious, but evidently they still believe that old horse-hair myth. We remain anti-horsehair until some one submits irrefutable proof, not hearsay. This column will give fifty cents to the one who can settle the question definitely, either one way or the other; and what somebody else or some book says won't go. We want to find a truthful man who has grown a snake from a horse-hair, some one who has gone into the horse-hair culture and produced a live specimen.

In the Brand's news columns you will read that Deaf Smith county has or had only 30 people unemployed. If there had been any fewer the government probably would have refused to mention it for fear of getting too personal. One state paper, in giving cotton yields by counties, always ends up with an item "all others," which, the paper explains, is listed in that manner in order not to reveal individual operations. The government comes near revealing "individual operations" in Deaf Smith county when it brings up the unemployed. The unemployed in this case became conspicuous by being an exception, and the census report is near the border line of personal publicity.

The new marriage law is bringing about an economic injustice to the pastors of Hereford. For the past 12 months there have been only 19 marriages of homefolks at

19 Years Ago In Hereford

City Marshal C. L. Sullivan has had in all about 50 men at work on the streets for the past several days. They were removing weeds and a lot of Syperri's alfalfarine in preparation for the water-carnival.

Pre-Prohibition Days.
Senator B. B. Sturgeon of Paris delivered an address at the court house upon the question of a proposed amendment to the Texas constitution making illegal the sale of intoxicating liquor. He reviewed the burning of a negro in that town which occurred while the saloons were there and told of the awful condition that prevailed. Judge L. Gough, county chairman of prohibition forces, introduced the speaker.

Hereford's First Taxi.
The entertainment committee of the water carnival has arranged to give all visitors at least one free ride to the big wells. Home folks will pay the fare—30 cents for round trip. Autos will be run at such time as the wells are in actual operation. Tickets for visitors can be had at the office of Ashbrook & Dale.

There will be an array of irrigation and soil experts here today to speak at the Congress. Some of them are Prof. Townsend, Garden City, Kansas; Mr. McPherson, Roswell; Hon. J. C. Hunt, representative; Judge W. E. Lindley of Portales, and H. M. Balner, agriculture for the Santa Fe railroad.

Bank Statements
The First National Bank issued its financial statement with $50,000 capital, $30,000 surplus, $100,000 on deposit, and total resources of $280,000. W. S. Higgins, J. E. Bowers and J. L. Fuqua were directors, and J. J. Gallagher cashier.

G. A. F. Parker, J. L. Smith and B. C. D. Bynum were directors of the Western National Bank. A. J. Lipcomb was cashier. This bank had a capital of $50,000, surplus of $50,000 and resources of $249,000.

No financial statement for the First State Bank was given, but it had a capital stock of $100,000 under the presidency of S. B. Edwards. J. Thos. Webb was cashier.

home; all the others have gone to nearby states. It is estimated that about 100 couples of the county have gone out of Texas to buy their licenses and out-of-state ministers have performed the ceremonies.

If the groom gives the minister on an average of ten dollars, the income of Hereford pastors is just $1,000 short, and the community has one grand less money in circulation. When you divide this amount up equally among the ministers, it gives each one a nice sum to supplement their "salary on paper."

The new law may be wise, but it certainly is taking a lot of money out of the Panhandle counties into New Mexico, Colorado and Oklahoma.

THE RISEN LORD AND THE GREAT COMMISSION

Matthew 28:1-10, 16-20

Golden Text: Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all the nations. Matthew 28:19.

Introduction.
The lesson we studied last week itself would be a dreadful one; but it is, if it ended the story. But the cross never ends the story of the gospel of the Son of God. This one of the splendid things about its dark, hopeless incidents always have a bright, hopeful conclusion. The resurrection throws back upon the crucifixion a radiance that robs it of its horror, that transforms the cross into a symbol of the victory of heaven's King over earth's sinfulness, of life over death.

The Resurrection.
"It was blackness of despair for the disciples. The Master had raised Lazarus from the dead, and now the grave held Jesus himself fast. With him they had buried all their hopes. No conspiracy in the part of these dejected disciples to revive Christianity with the announcement that Jesus was alive, though he was not, is inconceivable. If it be said that the women imagined that they had seen angels and Jesus, and so restored the hopes of the disciples, it is to be observed that the disciples did not believe the women. If it be said that the narratives are conflicting, one must remember that this shows independence in the testimony. In simple truth, no theory has yet been advanced that harmonizes with the fact of the arrival of a dead Christianity alive by the fact of the resurrection of Christ. The disciples say Jesus."—Prof. A. T. Robertson.

There Was a Great Earthquake.
"And behold, there was a great earthquake." Matthew is going backward a little with this verse for the earthquake evidently took place before the arrival of the women at the tomb, which was at the break of dawn. "For an angel of the Lord descended from heaven." If ever these celestial beings came to earth, it would be to attend the birth and the resurrection of the Son of God. "And came and rolled away the stone." The women as they approached the tomb were worrying about the great stone that closed the entrance, and how it could be moved by their feeble strength—a fine example of the helplessness of worry. They did not know about the sealing of the tomb and the Roman guard in front of it, or they could not have attempted their errand at all. He is risen, as he said. "He is not here." He was in the world, but not in the grave. "For he is risen, even as he said." These women had been with Christ throughout his ministry. Probably each of them had heard him prophesying that he would rise from the dead on the third day. This is the most stupendous announcement ever made, more wonderful even than the angels' proclamation of the birth of Jesus at Bethlehem. It is the most blessed for us, taking away the fear of death forever. It placed the crown of triumph on the life of the Saviour. "Come, see the place where the Lord lay." The empty tomb would be more convincing that the stone rolled away. When Peter and John, who came next, running, entered the tomb, they were powerfully impressed by the sight of the grave cloths in which the body of Jesus had been wrapped, and especially by the headbands, lying there rolled up in the shape of the Lord's head, like a chrysalis shell from which the butterfly has emerged. (John 20:1-9)

Appearance of the Risen Lord.
"The New Testament is an effect, the cause of which lies in the fact of the risen Christ. If Jesus Christ had remained buried in the tomb, the story of his life as recorded in the New Testament would have doubtless been buried with him. The death of Christ shattered the faith of the disciples. This is evident from a study of the conduct of the disciples between the death and appearance of Christ. It is a question as to whether we should have heard anything more about them, or any further messages from their lips had not the risen Christ appeared to them and resurrected their faith."—Dean William Evans. "And behold, Jesus met them, saying, All hail." No one but a true historian would have related, in those days when women were not held in the honor as they are now in Christian lands, how the Lord showed himself first to a woman. A false historian would have told how the risen Saviour showed himself to the Sanhedrin and Pilate to confound them, or to the chief of the apostles, Peter and James and John.

The Report by the Guard.
Matthew interrupts his narrative at this point to relate the report of Christ's resurrection made to the chief priests by the Roman guard, the dismayed meeting of the Sanhedrin, and their bribing the soldiers to say that while they (the soldiers) slept, the disciples came and stole the body of Jesus, a falsehood repeated by the Jews even to this day. The Sanhedrin agreed to protect the soldiers if Pilate should threaten to punish them, for it was death for a sentinel to sleep on duty; but it is inconceivable in the first place that the soldiers would be asleep, and in the second place that the disciples would have taken such a step. We know that they were honest men. They died for their faith in Christ, based on his resurrection. Men do not die for the sake of a cheat which they themselves have accomplished.

"We are not to think of the Lord's resurrection as a mere appendix to our religion. It is a fundamental part of our Christianity. We are justified in believing in Christ as our Lord only by the completed fact of his resurrection."—Rev. D. W. Frances, D. D. Go Ye, Therefore.

Because I have authority, therefore I command you to go forth. Because I will empower you, therefore go. Because there is no other way to get the gospel to all the world, therefore go. It is to be noted that the first two letters of Go-spel spell go! The people will not come to Christ? Then it is our business to go to them with Christ.

"And make disciples of all the nations." Christ said he was sent only to the lost sheep of the house of Israel; but he sends his disciples to all the lost sheep, of all lands and races. "The method by which Jesus proposes to subdue all things unto himself appears to be utterly inadequate. To teach, to make disciples, and to instruct them further in the faith! Good Master, are these the weapons of our warfare? Not thus do the princes of this world contemplate conquest, for they rely on monster guns, iron-clads, and engines of death-dealing power. Yet what are these but proofs of their weakness? Had they all power in themselves they would not need such instruments. Only he who has all power can work his bidding by a word and dispense with all force but that of love."—C. H. Spurgeon.

Teaching Them.
"Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I commanded you." "We men are, at our best, always learning, always revising, correcting, supplementing what we have learned heretofore; never able to express ourselves positively on subjects which deeply interest us, without feeling that we, or others, will trace shortcomings or exaggerations, or elements of paradox or falsehood, in what we say. Our Lord is haunted by no such apprehension as this. He is confident that what he has taught his disciples will hold good for all time; for all races and classes of men; for characters, moods of thought, moral and intellectual atmospheres the most diverse. As he said, 'My words shall not pass away' (Matt. 24:35) so now he fearlessly bids his apostles teach the nations He reigns, alike in the moral and the intellectual world; and he is certain of the authority of the commission which he gives us to teach."—Dean H. P. Liddon.

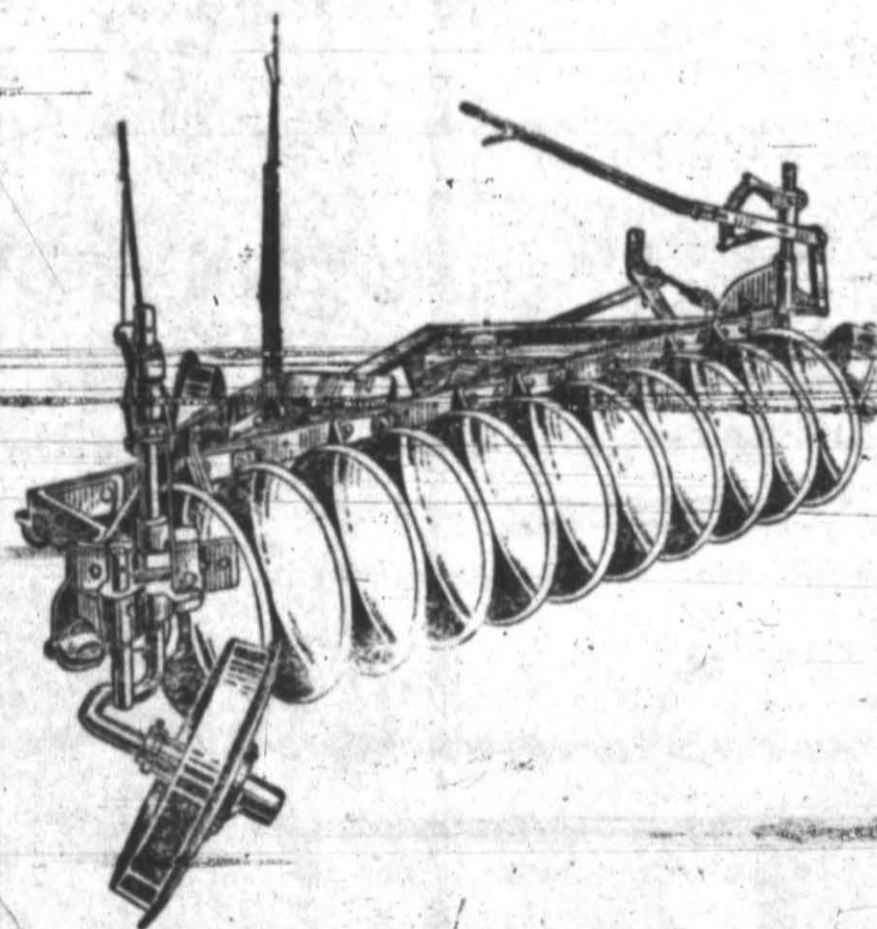

I Am With You Always.

"And, lo, I am with you always." Literally all the days, dark days, bright days, busy days, restful days, "all the way my Saviour leads me." And notice the verb "I am." To Christ, the Lord of eternity, all time is one and present. The name of Christ, as of the Father is "I Am." Remember his great saying, "Before Abraham was born, I am." (John 8:58) "So shall we ever be with the Lord." (1 Thes. 4:17) "Even unto the end of the world." The margin reads, "The consummation of the age," the close of this world-age. The coming of the Holy Spirit, and his constant abiding with Christians, is the fulfillment of this great promise. "This last and wonderful world in Matthew is a worthy close for any book, for any career, even for the life of Jesus the Son of God."—Prof. A. T. Robertson.

Check-up Made On Merits Of Pure-Line Seed

First hand information on the merits and advantages of sowing pure seed in wheat production for Deaf Smith county will be evolved as result of experiments on five different farms this season.

P. B. Dunkle, brother of County Agent R. O. Dunkle, was here Friday and Saturday to get samples from the demonstrating farms. He is in charge of the state experiment station at Denton, and has taken back with him the cuttings of a 16-foot row of both the native and pure-line bred wheat.

These bundles will be threshed and the grain weighed. In addition five separate samples from each field was gathered so that an estimate of the probable production may be made.

After harvest ten pounds of the wheat for each of the pure bred and native will be shipped to Mr. Dunkle by the five men cooperating in the work. Separate tests will be given these samples for protein content and milling. The milling test includes grinding and actual baking. How each will turn out for table use will be checked, and the information catalogued as valuable data from the standpoint of the producer and miller.

One of the main things the wheatman of the Plains is interested in is finding a seed that will give the maximum yield per acre and be a good milling product. These experiments and tests are considered to be pointed to that end.

The men who have planted both kinds of grain this season to aid in the experiment are J. M. Chapman, Sims; Chas. Walser, Clee Mehar and Ky Lawrence, Summerfield, and G. C. Horton, Westway.

The three kinds of pure line seed under observation are Kanrad, Turkey and Blackhall.

Mrs. H. W. Temple and children and Mrs. Roy Johnson, both of Kansas City, are visiting here this week in the home of their sister, Mrs. R. J. Richardson.

Dairy Rules for Fair Announced by Lipscomb; Winnings Club Boy Gets Free Trip to Dallas Fair

Rules and regulations and prizes in the dairy department of the Deaf Smith county fair are announced by Jim Lipscomb, superintendent of that department. Prospective exhibitors are urged to familiarize themselves with the dairy score card in order that no disqualifications may occur.

R. O. Dunkle, county agent in charge of the agricultural division is giving in this article rules applying to community exhibits; score card on grain sorghums, on wheat, alfalfa and sweet clover, animal forage crops and vegetables, canned fruits; and prizes for the community booths, ranging from first prize of $50 to $10 for 10th place, allowing all the communities to get into the money class.

Dairy Department.
The dairy entries will include only Jerseys, Holsteins, Guernseys and milking Shorthorns.

All animals entered for competition must be pure-bred or high grade and the management reserves the right to remove from the fair grounds any animal that may be deemed unsuited or objectionable.

No exhibitor will be allowed to show more than two entries in the individual class and one entry in group class.

The judge must not award a prize for an unworthy exhibit. It is the intention of the management that no premium or distinction of any kind shall be given for any kind of animal not deserving.

The primary object of this show is to encourage breeding of improved breeds of dairy stock for well defined, practical purposes, and the judge is requested to place the exhibits according to the score card of the respective breeds, and his decision shall be final.

Any exhibit not presented promptly when class is called will be ruled out and no complaint that the judge overlooked an exhibit will be considered.

In individual classes first prize will not be awarded on two entries.

After exhibits are placed any interested person desiring information may ask such questions as are necessary.

RIPPER MACHINE SPEEDS UP VAN BIBBER GRADING

The ripper-type of road machine, a new device recently purchased by the county, is doing effective work on the Van Bibber road in the west part of the county, according to Judge Earl W. Wilson, and the grading of this important lateral route is proceeding rapidly.

It is estimated that the grading of the road will be completed within a few weeks. The Van Bibber road traverses the county north and south, linking Farmer and Oldham counties, and a large district of local territory, intervening with the Harrison highway. The ripper machine is found to save several trips over the ground with the grader. It is run ahead through the hard road to loosen or rip up the soil, and the grading then comes much easier.

Sunday School Class Camps Out On Palo Duro and Have Novel Adventure In Devil's Kitchen

Under the chaperonage of several of the mothers, the Sunday school class of Dr. B. M. Wiltshire of the First Christian church spent the week-end in Palo Duro Canyon, fifty miles northeast of Hereford. The class was also accompanied by several guests.

The party camped Saturday night at Devil's Kitchen, a center of scenic beauty, and there enjoyed a chicken-fry supper, a bacon-and-egg breakfast and a steak-fry dinner. And the old camp-fire was not absent, with its peculiar and enticing aroma and racial harking back to stone-age days.

At five o'clock the party was up to enjoy the burst of dawn over the canyon walls and inhale the fragrance from the dew-covered wild flowers and native trees.

Immediately following the early breakfast of crisp bacon and scrambled eggs, a wading party was organized to splash about in the hurrying waters where the Palo Duro played its murmuring tunes in rippling shoals. And it was then an unforgettable even occurred.

A heavy rain came swiftly up, and the party sought shelter, mostly for the novelty of it, in the Devil's Kitchen with its ample protective cavern. It was there all became initiated into the mysteries of the Devil's Kitchen and learned the meaning of such a Satanic name.

The young folks had a rare experience, witnessed an unusual scene and went through the thrills of a real adventure, as the terrible force of falling water and its irresistible erosive effect became evident. Suddenly, through the chimney of the kitchen, a huge opening in the dome of solid rock, a hill-side rivulet started pouring its catchment. Within a few moments it became a raging torrent, reaching fearful proportions in size and strength with a noise accompanying of a cyclonic symphony.

While there was no danger, as the avenue of escape would always remain open, being in the presence of such a terrific force, the concentration of all the energy of the little rain drops of the hill-side into a black funnel that belched its water and deafening roar at their feet, was enough to make even the brave want to flee into the open.

The class had been wondering what made the deep canyons, and though they do not know what burst asunder the prairies at the beginning it is now clear how they grow and spread.

And then the adventure was made complete when Palo Duro creek rose so high that the crossing could not be forded in cars and the party became water-bound until the afternoon.

In the picnic group were class members, Misses Ardelle Foster, Virginia Barnett, Wilma Jo Jones, Billy Hill, Violetta Marrs and instructor, Dr. B. M. Wiltshire.

Keep Your Machinery From The Weather

The high winds, dust, rain, hot sunshine and freezing temperatures do more harm to your farm machinery than the use you put them to. They seldom, if ever, wear out—they rust out. It is far cheaper to build good sheds for your equipment than it is to buy new machines oftener. The above advice is not guess work, but the results of experiments and investigations carried out over a period of years. A machinery shed will actually save you more money than it will cost you.

And Speaking of Machinery

Has you investigated the Massey-Harris line of farm equipment? Its general superiority ranks it among the leading makes adapted to the Plains country. Right at present you are probably interested in, and we would be pleased to have you learn more about the Massey-Harris

I Cannot Praise

This Konjola Too Strongly

Says Wichita Lady Suffered for Twelve Years from Stomach Trouble.

"I cannot praise this Konjola too strongly, because I tried many other medicines and treatments, but none gave the remarkable relief that Konjola did," said Mrs. Della Settle, 1719 Mildred Avenue, Wichita. "I just had to force myself to eat, and nearly everything I ate made me sick. I had cramping pains in my stomach and bowels until I could hardly endure them, and I simply felt miserable all the time.

"Finally I decided to put Konjola to the test. That proved to be a wise decision. Right from the start I noticed improvement. I now have a much better appetite, and meals are a pleasure as food digests without pains or misery in my stomach. My bowels are functioning as they should, and it is certainly a relief to be rid of that tired, worn-out feeling. I gladly endorse this splendid medicine that restored my health."

Konjola has become the most talked medicine in America because it makes good. And Konjola makes good in the most stubborn cases when given a fair trial and from six to eight bottles are used. Konjola is sold in Hereford at the Corner Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Tri-State Fair Will Be Staged All Dressed Up

Amarillo.—The Amarillo Tri-State Exposition will be held this year September 22 to 27 inclusive in "dressed up" surroundings.

Between thirty and thirty-five thousand dollars will be spent improving and beautifying the home of the exposition opens in September. The work is under way. Construction of an automobile building, the first permanent structure to be erected—will be the biggest item of cost but will be smaller than other projects in addition to the appearance of the grounds.

Cattle and hog barns are being enlarged and improved at a cost of $3500. Of no little interest is the new Potter county zoo just left of the main entrance. Although the zoo is small in comparison with others, it is a new attraction and contains 40 or 50 animals. This number will be greatly increased by fair time. The county has spent $4500 on improvements of the zoo.

One of the entertainment features will be the Beckman & Goretty shows as the main attraction on the midway, which are the world's best and they go from here to the Dallas fair for two weeks.

Star Will Show Film On Grain Smut Removal

The Star Theatre will show an educational film Monday and Tuesday night, June 23 and 24 on the destructive diseases among grains, according to J. C. Parker, manager, who believes the feature will be worth something to wheat growers.

More than two hundred million bushels of grain is the annual toll levied by diseases upon America's cereal crops—a staggering waste—a terrific leak in the profit of the grain growers of this country. A method of avoiding paying this disease toll is shown in the intensely interesting and entertaining movie "Seed Disinfection Increases Your Grain Profits." The film etches the tremendous losses caused by cereal diseases; shows scenes in famous wheat growing states; the various steps in marketing the crop, including inspection, dockage and dumping a carload of grain at the terminal elevator; the life story of smut, and the easy dust method of applying the remedy, a seed grain disinfectant.

An unusual feature of the film is a growing picture taken over a period of 21 days, illustrating the striking difference in stand and vigor of treated seed grains, the improved stands and increasing yields.

The Corner Drug Store has been selected local distributor for the noted disinfecting product.

Dairy Expert Is Coming June 20; Will Give Talk

J. H. McLean, dairy specialist of Washington, will talk to the dairymen and business men of Hereford and Deaf Smith county next Friday, June 20, at 2:00 p. m. in the county court room, according to R. O. Dunkle.

McLean's talk will deal with subjects in which all dairymen are interested and things most essential to dairy farming, such as securing better prices for cream, pasture utilization and herd improvement.

"We realize that this is a very inopportune time for such a meeting," said Mr. Dunkle, "on account of harvest, but owing to the importance of the subject and that the services of a man of the calibre of McLean is only available possibly once in ten years, we urge those interested to attend it at all possible."

The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Hereford Creamery Association. This is the first time a dairy representative of the national department of agriculture has ever visited the Panhandle, and the association here feels fortunate in securing the services of this man who can talk intelligently on the problems now confronting the dairymen.

After the First Twenty-five Thousand Miles

THE VALUE of sound design, good materials and careful craftsmanship is especially apparent in the new Ford after the first twenty-five thousand miles. Long, continuous service emphasizes its mechanical reliability and economy of operation and up-keep.

As you drive the Ford through many months and years you will develop an increasing pride in its appearance and a growing respect for the substantial worth that has been built into it. From every standpoint—in everything that goes to make a good automobile—you will know that you have made a far-seeing, satisfactory purchase.

Wherever you go, you hear enthusiastic praise of the car and this significant, oft-repeated phrase—"I'm glad I bought a Ford."

A FORD owner in New York tells of a 13,000-mile trip across the United States and back in sixty days and says "the car was extremely economical to operate, comfortable and speedy." A grateful father tells how the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield saved his wife and children from serious injury.

run from Copenhagen-to-Paris-to-Copenhagen, three gold medals in England, first ranking in the durability test over the tortuous Amancaes road in Peru, and first place in the 1930 reliability run conducted by the Royal Automobile Club of Sweden.

To test tires, a large company drove a new Ford day and night, for an average of 500 miles every twenty-four hours. It was still giving satisfactory service after 105,000 miles.

This contest was an exceptionally severe test of endurance and sturdy construction because it was held in the dead of winter and covered 600 miles of steady running over snow-covered country roads and mountainous hills.

A Ford car that had fallen into Fernan Lake was submerged for twelve days before being raised. After a new battery and carburetor bowl were installed, it was driven back to Spokane under its own power.

NEW LOW FORD PRICES

Many police departments have written of the special advantages of the Ford in crowded traffic because of its alert speed, acceleration, and ease of control. An increasing number of fleet owners are also purchasing the Ford because their cost figures have given conclusive proof of its economy of operation and up-keep.

had adenoids and diseased tonsils removed. Often children who seem stupid and who do not learn rapidly can be made healthy and normal by the removal of diseased tonsils and adenoids. It is wrong to blame children for backwardness when they cannot hear, see or smell properly, or who are suffering from pains from diseased tonsils or adenoids. Adenoids and tonsils can be removed at any time of year. Don't wait thinking they will get better. It is dangerous. Watch carefully for danger signals, such as breathing and earache.
