Total Loss

Fire gutted this storage building-garage at 307 Jowell early Thursday morning with the structure and contents a total loss. Hereford firemen fought the blaze for some three hours, saving the residence adjacent to the building from major damage. Lost in the blaze were two motorcycles, several bicycles, tools, a stove, and several large truck tires. The cause of the fire is still under investigation today. (Brand photo by Bob Nigh).

Teams Resume Search For Missing In Elevator

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Search teams were determined to go back into the smoldering rubble of a burned out-grain elevator today to look for two men believed buried in the debris of an explosion and fire that demolished most of the structure.

The search were inside the building when it blew up Tuesday and believed, at the time, that they were going to die. Four men were killed in the Tuesday blast, triggered when volatile grain dust was ignited in the huge, 10-story elevator, investigators said. Another 32 men were injured and 20 of those remained hospitalized, hospital spokesmen said. The structure sustained $30 million damage and must be razed and rebuilt from the ground up, said Don Rodman, public information officer for the Port of Corpus Christi.

Israel Lopez, 24, an employee of the Corpus Christi Public Elevator, scrambled up a mound of crumpled concrete looking for one of the missing men as darkness fell Tuesday.

Huge chunks of the shattered concrete walls, held in place only by twisted steel reinforcing rods, hung precariously above Lopez' head as he searched, but he refused to seek safety.

"The guy taught me all I know," Lopez said of the missing man. "He's in here somewhere." Lopez was transferred to another job in the elevator before the blast, else he would have been standing where the missing man was. But he still feared for his life when the dust blew. "I knew I was going to get burned and all I could think of was to cover my face so that they could recognize my body later," he said. Lopez will stay on the job but a half-dozen or so of his friends plan to quit because of the powerful explosion and the possibility that it could happen again, he said. "It's sad that we have to put our lives on the line. I never knew how intense it could be until this happened. Grain dust is supposed to be 10 times as powerful as gunpowder," Lopez said. "I got hit by a file cabinet that pinned me against the wall," said elevator superintendent Bill Jackson. "It probably saved my life. I was holding my face against the wall and all I could think of was, 'I'm going to die.'"

Cranes and bulldozers were moved into the area Wednesday to help clear the rubble and facilitate search efforts, which were halted at nightfall because electric power still has not been restored to the dockside area. A 200-foot-high crane lifted firefighters to the top of the storage silos to check on fires that continued to smolder and see if more bodies could be spotted. A fourth body was found shortly after noon Tuesday (See SEARCH, Page 2)

Sunday's announcement of a "Town and Country Jubilee" to be held in Hereford in August is the result of several years of talking and planning. Many residents of the community have felt that Hereford needed a big, annual celebration of some type.

A number of events and programs are in the planning stage for the jubilee, and more contests and participant programs will probably be announced in the near future. It could become a big annual event if all the community is involved.

Since we are a small daily newspaper, it was with much interest we read about a survey made in the midwest to see what readers think about their hometown daily paper.

"Smaller-town readers are loyal and treat their hometown newspaper as 'family,' even though that attitude is not always an unmixed blessing," stated the survey results.

This is reflected by the statement of one reader: "It is hard to be objective about my hometown paper. I like it and I don't like it. It's how I feel about my relatives."

A consultant firm conducted the survey on behalf of the Inland Daily Press Association. One reason for the study was to compare it with a survey made of metro dailies in 1979. In that study, the big dailies had shown "a serious gap between readers and the newspapers."

The smaller-town papers fared much better, but they are still under pressure to be both "homey" and "professional," concluded the report. Readers don't want their paper to act like a big daily, but at the same time they want many of the same things that they get from a metro daily.

In response to the survey findings, one publisher said that most readers are "understanding about the paper's time and money limitations." He added, however, that many subscribers don't care much about your problems—they expect you to produce.

Several publishers agreed that they were amazed at how closely the newspapers are read. Most readers showed a close attention to details, according to the survey.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Astronauts John Young and Bob Crippen paid a pre-dawn visit to launch pad 39A today, inspected the shuttle Columbia and said they are eager to fly the revolutionary spaceship on Friday.

"The forecast is 100 percent good" for liftoff at 6:50 a.m. EST, according to a top space agency official.

The astronauts stopped by the pad at 5 a.m., shortly after a large service structure had been rolled away, leaving Columbia bathed in floodlights, perched on its historic launch site, glistening with promise.

Young and Crippen told the launch crew they are "ready to go" and then climbed aboard executive jets modified to handle like the Columbia to practice emergency landings at a nearby 15,000-foot runway. They would use the strip Friday only if their engines quit early and they can't get into orbit.

The countdown, on time, went into a planned 11 hour 50 minute hold at 4:30 a.m., providing rest time for the launch crews.

Weather conditions, which earlier in the week had been threatening, continued to improve. The Air Force today forecast good weather for Friday morning, with no ceiling; thin, scattered clouds; light winds and 54 degree temperature.

John Yardley, head of the space shuttle program for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration was asked early today about the chance of an on-time Friday launch? "They're looking just super," he said. "The forecast is 100 percent good," said.

Young and Crippen were to review flight preparations with launch officials later in the day and then retire in late afternoon. They have a 2:05 a.m. wakeup call on Friday.

"We look forward to the flight," Young said on arrival here Thursday. He then joined Crippen for an hour's aerial acrobatics, flying loop-the-loop aerobatic maneuvers to improve their proficiency for the orbital mission.

On launch pad 39-A, from which Apollo 11 left Earth for man's first walk on the moon, work crews were preparing to load, starting late tonight, more than 500,000 gallons of volatile liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen fuels to drive the shuttle's three main engines.

Young and Crippen flew here yesterday to meet with project officials and to make final preparations for a mission that is one of the most important in the U.S. man-in-space program. This nation's future in space — scientifically, commercially and militarily — is riding on this launching of the world's first reusable spacecraft.

It is strictly a test flight, with Young and Crippen slated to exercise all of Columbia's complex parts — its flight controls, cargo doors, engines, computers, fuel and life support systems, and its ability to land back on a runway like an airliner.

They are to orbit the Earth 36 times in 54½ hours. But this is the first time a spaceship has been flown by men without first being launched unmanned. So the astronauts are prepared to bring the 80-ton Columbia back to Earth at any time if there is a mission-threatening problem.

Young and Crippen flew here in separate T-38 jet trainers Wednesday and were met by ground crews wearing protective masks to guard against passing along an infectious disease.

Young, the mission commander, told reporters, who were kept 100 yards away: "Bob and I are about ready to fly this thing. We look forward to the flight. We're hoping everything will allow us to go on Friday."

"Columbia is in great shape," Crippen added. "The launch team tells us it's almost ready to go."

Later, Young jokingly told Kennedy Space Center officials he had brought enough clothes "to last a month."

Heart Attack Claims Gen. Omar Bradley

NEW YORK (AP) — Gen. Omar Bradley, the last of the nation's great World War II commanders and the last of its five-star generals, has died at the age of 88.

Bradley, a lanky, bespectacled Missourian who commanded U.S. invasion forces on D-Day at Normandy and was the first to chair the Joint Chiefs of Staff, suffered a heart attack Wednesday while attending a dinner at the 21 Club here and was pronounced dead shortly afterward at a hospital.

During his 69 years of active duty, the longest service of anyone in U.S. history, he commanded the largest force in U.S. history — 1.3 million men in World War II — and never lost a fight.

But, he once told a congressional committee, "as far as I am concerned, war itself is immoral."

Secretary of the Army John O. Marsh Jr. called Bradley "a great patriot, a peerless military leader and an individual dedicated to the cause of peace in the world."

"With his passing, the army and our nation have lost one of the most devoted and selfless men to ever wear the military uniform," said Army Chief of Staff Gen. E.C. Meyer.

The Pentagon said Bradley would be buried in Arlington National Cemetery outside Washington, D.C.

Bradley, who had come to New York from his Fort Bliss, Texas, home for the dinner of the local chapter of the Association of the United States Army, collapsed in an elevator of the 21 Club, said Bruce Snyder, a club official. Accompanied by his wife, Kitty, and three aides, he was rushed in a private car to the emergency room of St. Luke's-Roosevelt Hospital Center, where doctors tried for 20 minutes to revive him. He was pronounced dead at 7:35 p.m.

A hospital spokesman said doctors listed the cause of death as "cardiac arrest." A Pentagon statement initially said Bradley died of a stroke, but officials later confirmed he had died of cardiac arrest.

Bradley was one of only five men to wear the five stars of a general of the army, a rank created during World War II and held by Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, H.H. Arnold, Douglas MacArthur and George C. Marshall. Eisenhower's death in 1969 left only Bradley still wearing the five stars.

The rank permitted the general to remain on active duty for life, but also to pursue outside interests. Bradley served for 15 years as chairman of the board of the Bulova Watch Co. after leaving the Joint Chiefs post in 1958. He remained honorary board chairman of the company until his death.

A native of Clark, Mo., son of a school teacher who named him for a local newspaper publisher and a local doctor, Bradley was graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1915 along with Eisenhower.

He never made it outside the United States during World War I and thought his military career ruined.

Relief Underway Amid Lebanon Cease Fire

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The guns fell silent in Lebanon today as the government and the International Red Cross mounted relief operations for the victims of eight days of fierce fighting between a Syrian peacekeeping army and Lebanon's right-wing Christian forces.

A police spokesman said combatants on both sides of Beirut's Moslem-Christian dividing line, and in the Christian city of Zahle were observing the 18th cease-fire of the war, which was ordered Wednesday by Lebanese President Elias Sarkis.

The spokesman said no truce violations were recorded during the night or early today as efforts got under way to take final stock of the losses in both cities where at least 265 civilians were killed and about a 1,000 wounded.

Cancer Goal Topped

Elaine Rains, one of the co-chairmen for the American Cancer Society in Hereford, reported that Monday during their annual door-to-door drive, volunteers collected $4568.67.

This exceeded the Cancer Society's goal of $4000, according to Mrs. Rains, stating that "more packets are still out that have not been counted."

Other co-chairman for the drive were Susie Edwards, Toni Jones and Mary Gilster.

from the International Red Cross was in Zahle helping hundreds of wounded. A French military hospital plane was ready at Beirut airport to fly the seriously injured to France, the spokesman said.

Except for the Red Cross convoy, Syrian forces maintained their siege of Zahle, 30 miles east of Beirut and 20 miles from the Syrian border. Syrian tanks control the surrounding hills and every road leading to the city, most of whose 200,000 inhabitants spent the last eight days in cellars, basements and bomb shelters.

Just before the truce, Christian military commander Amin Gemayel vowed to drive the Syrians out of this half-Christian, half-Moslem country.

"The war of liberation is close. We shall accept no compromise and will not stop our struggle until the whole of Lebanon is liberated," said Gemayel, military commander of the Phalange Party, the largest Christian organization in this nation of three million.

Palestine Liberation Organization chief Yasser Arafat claimed, meanwhile, that the Christian's war of liberation was the beginning of a joint offensive by the Christians and their Israeli allies against his Palestinian forces.

"Implementation of the pincer plan about which I have repeatedly spoken has already begun in Beirut, Zahle and the south," Arafat said.

Syria maintains a

22,000-man peacekeeping force in Lebanon to police a four-year-old armistice that halted a civil war between the Christians and an alliance of leftist Moslems and Palestinian guerrillas.

Temperature 'Normal', Reagan's Release Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is under doctors' orders to work no more than a couple of hours a day when he returns to the White House, now expected to be between Friday and Monday.

Reagan left lung, punctured by a bullet in an assassination attempt 10 days ago, was described Wednesday as "pristine," with clot blood and damaged tissue now "barely perceptible" in X-rays.

The White House press office, which has cut its formal bulletins on the president's health to one a day, said Reagan's temperature was "essentially normal" Wednesday — an indication he was still running some fever.

While the chief spokesman at George Washington University Hospital and White House aides indicated the president would be released soon, no firm date was set.

Hospital spokesman Dr. Dennis O'Leary, describing Reagan as a model patient, said the president has not asked to be discharged yet and is "not chopping at the bit." But he added: "He probably would like to get out of here."

Reagan could be ready to go home as early as Friday but no later than Monday, O'Leary said, assuming continued improvement and no surprises.

O'Leary said that while there has been no sign of infection, the president was still receiving two forms of antibiotics — penicillin and tobramycin — and probably would remain hospitalized until he is off the medication. Running "a lot" of fever also would delay his release, O'Leary said.

Reagan is no longer receiving oxygen, as he has on occasion, and Dr. Benjamin Aaron, the president's surgeon, described the wound as "pristine...clean as it could be," O'Leary said.

Once Reagan does go home, O'Leary said, the president's staff will "stay away from loading him up with routine things. In terms of mental work, he can do as much as is necessary."

But, the doctor said, "he will not be chopping wood next week. Instead, he will start out by putting in a couple of hours of work each day, moving up to half a day, three-quarter work days and then full days."

The doctor said the president should be 100 percent recovered within four months, although "he might do a little better."

Meanwhile, White House press secretary James S. Brady, who was the most seriously wounded of the four people hit in the assassination attempt, was reported making satisfactory progress.

Medical tests showed continued healing of the bullet wound in Brady's brain with no sign of complications, the White House said.

In addition to former Texas Gov. John Connally, Reagan was visited Wednesday by Sen. Paul Laxalt, the NEVADA Republican who is heading an advisory committee on transferring some powers and responsibilities from the federal government to the states. Reagan signed an executive order creating the panel earlier Wednesday.

Rabbit Convention

Set In New Braunfels

NEW BRAUNFELS, Texas (AP) — Rabbits of all sizes, colors and types will convene at the Wursthalle this weekend for the Annual Texas State Rabbit Show.

An estimated 800 rabbit breeders from El Paso to Texarkana and from Orange to Dalhart are expected to bring 2,000 rabbits to be judged for show and commercial value, according to J.C. Grimes, editor of the Texas Rabbit Breeders Association Newsletter.

Lilac and Chinchilla, white and red and black, champagne and palomino, Angola, Checkered Giants, Netherland Dwarf and English Spots are a few of the varieties that will be displayed.

Trophies in each of at least 20 breeds of rabbits will be awarded, as well as ribbons for the first five rabbits in each class, plus special awards for the best rabbits of each sex.

Check-in for the rabbit show is Friday night and judging starts at 8 a.m. Saturday and ends Sunday.

There also will be a dance and award banquet Saturday night at which the Texas Rabbit Breeder of the year will be named.

Escapee Prefers

Death to Prison

ENNIS, Texas (AP) — The wife of an escaped Dallas County prisoner who killed himself rather than surrender told investigators that she, too, would have committed suicide but her husband's pistol was empty.

Allen Larry Smith, who escaped from Dallas Parkland Hospital by firing a smuggled pistol and stabbing his guard with an intravenous needle, ended his life by shooting himself in the head on a farm outside this East Texas town.

Smith, with his wife, had tried to steal a pickup truck from the farm of Steve Valek of Ennis when Valek opened fire on them with a rifle, said Dallas County Sheriff's Sgt. Larry Williams.

Valek was chasing the truck when Smith told his wife to stop, Williams said.

"He said he can't go on any longer, that he can't do any more time in the penitentiary," then put the pistol to his temple and pulled the trigger, Mrs. Smith told deputies, according to Williams.

He said she also told officers she tried to shoot herself, too, but all the pistol's chambers were empty. He said the Smiths had signed a suicide pact — "a letter to her son" — earlier.

"I am doing what I have to do, Larry and I love you. If we should both die, let us be buried in the same casket," the letter read, according to Williams.

Mrs. Smith is being held in connection with her husband's escape, said the sergeant.

Judge Asked to Rule

On Suit Against Iran

DALLAS (AP) — Attorneys for H. Ross Perot's Electronic Data Systems have asked a federal judge for a summary judgment on their contention that part of the agreement made with Iran to free 52 U.S. hostages early this year should be set aside.

U.S. District Judge Robert Porter is expected to make his decision Friday.

Attorneys for EDS asked Porter for a ruling invalidating that part of the hostage agreement limiting damage suits against Iran.

In May of 1980 EDS won a $19 million judgment against the Social Security Organization of Iran, the Ministry of Health and Welfare of Iran and the Iranian government. A hearing on Iran's appeal of that decision is scheduled for April 20 before the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

After the hostages were freed in January, EDS asked the courts to let the $19 million judgement be finalized, despite a provision in the hostage agreement forbidding such suits.

That agreement further provided for transfer of all Iranian deposits in U.S. banks within six months. Half the funds will go to Iran and the other half — up to $1 billion — will be placed in a security account to pay claims decided by a proposed Iranian-U.S. tribunal.

The government contends the hostage agreement and the executive orders signed by then president Jimmy Carter which implemented it are valid. But EDS argues the agreement is unconstitutional and does not apply to its case against Iran because the judgment came before Nov. 14, 1979, when Carter froze Iranian assets in the U.S.

EDS also obtained an attachment against Iranian assets at a New York bank before that date, and the government has agreed that attachment is not affected by the freeze order.

SW Bell Asks Customers' Help In Reducing Damage to Cables

Southwestern Bell is seeking the assistance of its customers in reducing the number of underground telephone cables damaged by digging and other excavation work.

During 1980, some 11,429 damaged cables were reported in Texas. The figures represent a six percent increase in cable cuts around the state and do not include hundreds of cuts of drop wires, which run from a terminal to a customer's house.

"Reducing the number of damaged cables is a top priority for the company in 1981," said F.P. Cleveland.

manager-outside plant construction-maintenance.

"Hereford and its surrounding communities reported 40 cable breaks in 1980."

Cleveland said the damage is caused by a wide variety of sources, ranging from contractors and excavators, to homeowners setting mailboxes and fence posts.

"A cut cable has a devastating effect on our company and our customers alike," Cleveland explained. "Long distance or local service may be interrupted over a widespread area. Increased labor costs and replacement cable expenses have to be incurred. All these things affect the company and, ultimately, the consumer."

Cleveland said many potential cable cuts were avoided in 1980 due to conscientious contractors and residence customers who sought telephone company assistance in identifying cable locations before digging.

Over the past several years, most telephone cable has been placed underground. The decision to use buried cable is based on its ecological, service and financial benefits Cleveland said. Buried cable solves the problem of sight pollution, caused by the appearance of poles and overhead wires.

According to Cleveland, placing cable underground protects it from falling trees, traffic, weather changes, and squirrels.

"Although the below-ground cable offers these advantages, it remains susceptible to damage by digging and excavation work," Cleveland said. "That's why we are seeking the assistance of our customers in reducing the number of cuts that take place."

Southwestern Bell has set up signs throughout Hereford marking the company's buried cable routes. In addition, Cleveland said, area contractors and local residents can call Enterprise 9800 for assistance in identifying cable locations before digging. Callers can reach this number by asking the operator to connect them to Enterprise 9800. There is no charge for these calls.

"We welcome calls to the Enterprise 9800 number," Cleveland said. "If we can avoid just one damaged cable with this procedure, it will result in better service for our customers."

Launch

Every other time I never brought enough and always had to stay longer. That'll make sure we can go on Friday."

He's been here before — having flown on four earlier space missions. The last, a walk on the moon, began nine years ago this month.

Crippen, in contrast, is making his first trip away from his planet.

They retired at 6:15 p.m. Wakeup call today was 2:05 a.m. — the same time it will be on launch day.

They were to take Gulfstream II jets up today to practice emergency landings at a 15,000-foot runway not far from the launch pad. They would use that strip Friday only if their engines quit early and they can't get into orbit. Their prime touchdown point is a large dry lake bed at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. After four flights, when confidence has been gained in a pinpoint touchdown, Columbia will land back at the Cape.

Communities around the space center were pulsing with activity as the vanguard of a projected expected million shuttle viewers began pouring into the area, filling hotels and restaurants. They are expected to jam the beaches and roadways on Friday to get a glimpse of America's first manned space launch in six years.

More than 3,000 newsmen from around the globe have checked in to cover the event, and the press compound 3 1/2 miles from the launch pad has been transformed into a tent and trailer community. Television networks will beam the launch live around the world.

Congressmen, government officials, officers of industry, movie and television stars and entertainers were converging on the area in private jets. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has issued 80,000 VIP invitations to people around the country, and the agency has rented two L1011 wide body jetliners from Eastern Airlines to fly in dignitaries from Washington, with the planes departing at 3 a.m. Friday.

The chief of Soviet cosmonaut training also took note of the launching, especially the military aspects. He said it would touch off a new arms race and bring "the United States nothing, no advantages, except new, enormous, colossal expenditures and more international tension."

The Pentagon does have some ambitious plans for the shuttle. But American officials claim it is Russia that is pursuing an aggressive military space program. Since American astronauts last flew into space, 43 cosmonauts have been in orbit, including two currently occupying the Salyut 6 space station.

and identified as Pedro Delgadillo, 54, a Corpus Christi employee of the elevator.

Three of the dead were found immediately after the explosion.

Alfredo Canales, 52, a mechanic in the maintenance division, was found on the main floor of the headhouse.

"Somebody was standing next to him," said his son, Robert R. Canales. "He lived through it. What can you say? It's difficult. It really is."

Richard W. Pierce, a 44-year-old maintenance worker, was knocked through the rail dumping area and onto the ground.

Jose Valdez, 72, recently had been promoted to assistant superintendent. He was in the control room when the silos exploded.

The Port of Corpus Christi's engineering director, Nolan Rhodes, said investigators may never know what caused the dust to ignite or why the elevator's $60-million dust control system failed to work properly.

Port Director Harry G. Plomarity said, "We're terribly hurt, disappointed and grieved. They (dust control devices) were installed as they should have been. They were functioning and everything seemed to be in perfect working order before it happened."

Two ships, waiting to load at the crippled elevator, were diverted Wednesday to the port of Houston by the Department of Agriculture.

"One of the things that we will have to figure out is what we are going to do with the grain that is in the elevator and how we will get it out," said Rodman. "The elevator equipment will not work. We will have to do some work to see what repairs can be done to get the grain moving again.

"We are completely out of business. Right now we do not know how long it will take to make the facility minimally operational if at all."

Authorities said traffic through the Corpus Christi ship channel continued to flow smoothly.

The elevator is governed by Nueces County and is not directly under the regulations of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, but "if OSHA wishes to come in they are certainly welcome," Rhodes said.

Officials said that in the elevator when it exploded were 2.9 million bushels of grain — sorghum, corn and hard winter wheat — slightly more than half of the 5.6 million bushel capacity.

T.D. Sexton, port commissioner, said the explosion would have a "substantial economic impact on the area. Obviously we are not going to be able to handle any grain for an extended period of time."

He estimated the economic loss to area "in excess of $100 million"

DALTON HARDISON

Services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. in Rex Funeral Home Chapel for Dalton Hardison, 58, a former Hereford resident.

Graveside services will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday in Loss Prairie Cemetery in Groesbeck, Tex., under direction of Rix Funeral Home.

Mr. Hardison died at 7:15 this morning at his home in Canyon.

Prior to living in Canyon for four years, he lived in Hereford for seven years.

Born Dec. 16, 1922 in Groesbeck, Mr. Hardison was manager of Stribling Spraying Service in Dawn. He served in the United States Air Force during World War II.

Mr. Hardison is survived by the widow, Emeline; two daughters, Cathy Friemel of Dawn, and Kelly Chaney of Dennison; and two grandchildren.

Martins Buy Harmans In Sugarland Mall

Betty and Danny Martin have recently bought Harmans located in Sugarland Mall. Mrs. Martin is also a partner of The Funny Farm.

Residents of Hereford since 1965, Mrs. Martin is the mother of four children and her husband farms at Easter.

Mrs. Martin, a partner of The Funny Farm for six years, stated, "I began all of this as an outlet and mainly to see if I, with the help of Judy Neumayor and Tina Reinauer could make it a success."

Mrs. Martin's mother, Louise Ferguson, has been manager for Harmans since 1950. She began working for Pic and Mary Harman, owners of the downtown store. Plans for Mrs. Martin are to continue the current lines in clothing and add new lines for the young misses. Her mother will continue as manager for the Sugarland Mall store.

Ann Landers

A Blow for Justice

DEAR ANN LANDERS:

Please don't pass up a chance to strike a blow for justice in behalf of the survivors of suicide. Very often the person who takes his own life is trying to lay a guilt trip on anyone who will accept it.

Let's give some supportive help to the victims - the families and friends left behind to wonder if they could have done more to help the troubled person. This is a special kind of tyranny maneuvered from the grave.

Exceptions do exist, but will you agree - in most cases - the suicide victim has made an important error in his thinking? He may be sure of his intentions, but he is the one whose thought processes are snarled up - not the survivors.

I have great sympathy for those who are left to struggle with their doubts. I believe the rest of us should keep hammering away at the concept that NO ONE can be responsible for a suicide but the killer himself. Please give those folks a break with some straight talk. Ann.-Don A. In Orinda, Calif.

DEAR DON: This is one subject about which I have been talking very straight for 25 years. If you haven't heard me, you haven't been listening.

I am especially sympathetic to parents of teenagers who commit suicide. (It is now the second most common cause of death among teens. Accidents are first.) Many of these young people were involved with drugs. Their deaths were accidental or a result of the craziness caused by the junk they were on.

I hope every person who has lost a loved one to suicide will clip from this column those 12 wise words from your letter. They are: "NO ONE CAN BE RESPONSIBLE FOR A SUICIDE BUT THE KILLER HIMSELF."

DEAR ANN LANDERS:

After a successful career and raising three children alone, I moved back to the family homestead. The last thing I was looking for was romance.

Then this wonderful man turned up. He is a widower with six grown children. We are the same age (nearly 70) and I am thrilled that he is so eager to marry me. My children, as well as his, are all excited about our new-found happiness.

The problem: We both have large homes filled with heirlooms and treasures. Neither one of us wants to give up anything. Yet we are so anxious to spend the rest of our lives together. Can you help us?—Senior Citizens In Indiana

DEAR CITIZENS: First, I hope you both agree with me that people are more important than things.

It is traditional that the "bride" moves into the home provided by the groom. So, that's settled. You both should give your children and grandchildren some heirlooms and furniture NOW. Keep what is dearest to your hearts, and buy a few things together so it will be truly YOUR home. I wish you much happiness.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You missed an opportunity to help that young girl who baby-sits for a woman who never seems to have anything smaller than a $50 bill.

Why didn't you suggest that she take the $50 bill and say, "I'll bring you the change tomorrow?"—N.R. One Step Ahead

DEAR ONE: I didn't suggest it because I didn't think of it. But YOU did - and I thank you. Another reader suggested the sitter show up with blank checks. That's not a bad idea either.

Teaching your kids about the facts of life can be easy or awkward. Ann Landers' booklet, "How, What, and When to Tell Your Child About Sex" can spell the difference. Send 50 cents along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request, to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Luncheon Scheduled

Plans for a May luncheon were discussed when members of La Affiliatus Estudio Club met at the home of Aileen Montgomery, club president.

Mrs. Montgomery presided at the meeting, calling on Opal Elliston to lead the reading of the club collect.

Lucile Hughes called the roll and 16 members answered with quips, readings and quotations.

The next meeting will be April 21 at the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room at 2:30 p.m.

Other members present at the meeting were Irene Markham, Eva Gilliland, Allyne Johnson, Della Stagner, Madeline Bell, Mary Williamson, Jennie Terrell, Lydia Hopson, Alberta Higgins, Emily Suggs, Ora Morgan, Teresa Hale and Pet Ott.

CofC Women's Division Announces Plans for Miss Hereford Pageant

The Women's Division of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce convened Tuesday night at K-Bob's Steak House for their quarterly meeting. It was announced during the meeting that the Miss Hereford pageant will be held Aug. 15 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Making the announcement was Women's Division board member and secretary, Shirley Wilson who is sharing on the Miss Hereford Pageant committee.

Mrs. Wilson said Keith Ann Gearn will direct this year's pageant. It was announced that talent will be put back into the contest and the swim wear will be removed.

This year, the Miss Teen will combine with Miss Hereford for competition, according to Mrs. Wilson. Future plans for the pageant will include a tea to be scheduled for the mothers and interested entries.

A report was also heard from Carolyn Canon, chairman of the Little Miss Pageant.

The pageant is scheduled for May 16 in the high school auditorium. Entries will be taken beginning April 29 and closing May 8, according to Mrs. Canon.

This year's theme for the Little Miss is "Buttons and Bows." "Last year we had 88 contestants," stated Mrs. Canon, adding "I hope we can do as well this year."

Highlight of the evening was to be the announcement of the winners of the recent membership drive contest, in which Avis Blakey served as chairman. Jane White, membership chairman, announced that she had not yet figured a completion on the membership drive, but recognized Arvilla Lauderback for enrolling five new members. Mrs. Lauderback, who was not present at the meeting, received $20 in Hereford bucks.

Upon completion of Mrs. White's committee report, those which were visitors or new members were recognized by the division.

Betty Gilbert, Women's Division president, reminded members to continue enrolling new members. "Hereford has the largest membership in the Women's Division," stated Mrs. Gilbert.

The Chamber of Commerce Women's Division of Amarillo has invited the Hereford division to participate in a regional conference. A formulating meeting has been scheduled in May for a discussion of the conference, and according to Mrs. Gilbert, some of the Women's Division board members will attend this meeting.

It was announced that Sherry Hoover has been nominated for the West Texas State University 6th Annual Texas Panhandle Award for Distinguished Service. She was recognized by the division for this accomplishment.

Leatrus Clark, chairman of the beautification committee, announced that the week of May 1-9 has been slated as Clean-Up Week in Hereford. Heading this event will be Avis Blakey.

Mrs. Clark stated that Mary Garrison was in charge of the red petunia committee, encouraging everyone in the town of Hereford to plant red petunias. A meeting has been scheduled with all local civic clubs and board of directors concerning this event.

Following committee reports, a presentation of the "Sixteen Brides of the White House," by Mrs. Glen Reeves of Friona was given.

Mrs. Reeves stated that she began this program in the summer of 1971. It includes the brides who married in the White House, which was built in the 1800's.

Mrs. Reeves, a resident of Friona for 46 years, was cited as Palmer County Chamber of Commerce Woman of the Year in 1976.

Beginning with the first born Quaker to be married in the White House, Lucy Payne Washington, Mrs. Reeves informed members that the woman married Judge Thomas Todd in 1812.

Following in the order of their marriage were Maria Monroe to Samuel Lawrence Governor, 1820; Mary Catherine Hellen to John Adams II, 1828; Mary Ann Eastin to Lucius Janius Polk, 1832; Mary Ann Lewis to Alphonse Pageot, 1832; and Elizabeth Tyler to William Nevison Waller, 1842.

The seventh bride to marry in the White House was Nellie Grant to Algeron Charles Fredrick Sarto, 1874; Emily Platt to General Russell Hastings, 1878; Frances Folsom to Grover Cleveland, 1886; Alice Roosevelt to Nicholas Longworth, 1906; Jessie Wilson to Frank Sayre, 1913; and Eleanor Wilson to William Gibbs McAdoo, 1914.

The 13th bride to marry in the White House was Alice Wilson to Rev. Isaac Stuart McElroy, Jr., 1918; Mrs. Louise Gill Macy to Harry Hopkins, 1942; Lynda Bird Johnson to Captain Charles S. Robb, 1967; and the last being Tricia Nixon to Edward Finch Cox, 1971.

Included in Mrs. Reeves' program was the fact that the wedding dress of Maria Monroe, married in 1820, is the only dress in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C. The only Roman Catholic wedding to ever be performed in the White House was the wedding of Mary Ann Lewis to Alphonse Pageot, 1832.

Mrs. Reeves also stated that among the 16 brides, only three of them were blonde. The other's were brunettes. The meeting adjourned with members viewing the display of brides.

Caught in the Act

The observance of National Dance Week in Hereford continues this week until Saturday and although these young dancers may not be aware of the significance of the special week, they are aware of their approaching dance recital May 10. The 3 and 4 year old dancers are some of the students from Larrymore Dance Studio.

At Wits End

By ERMA BOMBECK

Can I say a few words on behalf of the men and women of this country who try to find some humor out of a grim, terminal condition that stalks every American? Living?

Men and woman who walk the fine line between good taste-offensiveness-comic relief-sensitivity every day of their lives...without a net. God help them when they miss a step.

I've missed a few in my time. We all have. We've all resorted at one time or another to the "cheap shot," the borderline taste test and misery overkill, but no one is perfect.

This is not a piece inspired by an attack by anyone on something I've written. On the contrary, it's a concern I have when I read the paper and see the flak being borne by some of my colleagues.

I've always compared humor to a street light. Everyone wants it, needs it, feels safe and secure with it, agrees we should have more of it - but not in front of their house.

Humor makes demands. It demands that the humoree possess security about himself, confidence, assuredness, a bit of the absurd, silliness and an "arrangement" with seriousness.

Ironically, the people who want and need humor the most we cannot administer to. Over the years I have kept a file of people who have begged me to put their situations down on paper so they could laugh at them and give them some perspective: blind women, handicapped people, elderly couples, widows and widowers, divorced men and women and ministers' wives and their children. (Other people's children can play in water, but ministers' children have to walk on it!)

They're like everyone else. They need humor to survive their pain and their problems. It's only the rest of the world who would be offended by it.

Since humor is so personal, each must deal with it in his or her own way. But don't let sensitivity smother your capacity to laugh. Whenever you're tempted, think of the following story.

A man with a wooden eye was very self-conscious about going to a dance, but was talked into it by a friend who swore no one would notice.

A girl, very sensitive about her large ears, was also talked into going to the same dance by her friend.

The man with the wooden eye approached the girl with the large ears and said awkwardly, "Would you like to dance?" Stunned by the offer, she shouted, "Would I?" He yelled back, "BIG EARS! BIG EARS! BIG EARS!"

Local Residents Return From Southeastern Tour

Several Hereford residents have returned from a 17-day tour of the southeastern states and a cruise to Nassau. Residents attending the trip were Audine Dettman, Ursalee Jacobson and Woodrow and Rosalie Gilbreath. Robert and Alice Thompson hosted the trip. Several stops the tour included, were Vicksburg Battlefield, the first White House of the Confederacy, St. Augustine, Florida, Kennedy Space Center, Cypress Gardens, Disney World and a tour of Nassau.

Jeff Fong, a native of Amarillo, has taken over the management of Hereford Gattis Shoe Store in Sugarland Mall. Fong is the former manager of Gattis Shoe Store in Sunset Center in Amarillo. The son of a dentist, Fong stated his grandfather came from the old country and opened a grocery store in Amarillo. Since then "retail business has been in my blood," stated Fong. Fong has attended Amarillo College, majoring in psychology, and has been in Hereford for four weeks. He is planning to marry Barbara Walczak of Amarillo June 27.

Support for Children of Divorce

COLLEGE STATION - Children of divorce need to understand the arrangement of relationships in their lives - and have help in knowing how divorce will affect them, a family life education specialist says. Like death, divorce has been treated as "an unpleasant subject to which children must adjust" - often without help, Diane Welch stresses. Mrs. Welch is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. It may not be easy for parents to provide the needed help, either, she admits. Parents are trying to get through their own personal upheaval. Objectivity and patience may be lacking.

TEENS' SPECIAL NEEDS
 Adolescents sometimes exhibit more obvious reaction to divorce than children of other ages. Teenagers have a clearer understanding of what a family is and the mutual love and understanding it can provide for its members. Divorce may shake the foundation of this belief. Because adolescents are prone to pass judgment quickly, they may cut themselves off from their parents or side with one. Sometimes loss of self-esteem and the emergence of self-blame are special problems the teen of divorce faces. Parents must recognize these and other special problems and help their teens deal with them.

CHILDREN'S MAJOR NEEDS
 Keeping the lines of communication open and honest is one key to helping children understand what is happening. Parents should make a special effort to provide their children with generous doses of love and warm affection - along with consistency in behavioral guidelines, routines, and expectations. All of these are major needs of children. They cannot be overlooked during divorce.

helping teens cope with their parents' divorce is outside help from a support group. An experimental program sponsored by the Family Court of Allen County, Indiana, offered a workshop for children of divorcing parents. Small group sessions were led by trained and responsive adults. Children in the group learned about divorce through non-threatening films. They explored the effects of divorce in terms of emotional response, and they had time to discuss their thoughts with their peers. Most of the youth were pleased with the workshop and said they felt it was helpful to them. Most said they would come again if they had it to do over.

PEOPLE HELPING PEOPLE: TEXAS STYLE
 In Texas, most communities have the resources to conduct such workshops for youth, Mrs. Welch says. County Extension agents who coordinate educational programming based on county residents' major needs are available for group organization - as are church leaders and representatives of social-service agencies, she points out. "If the need is there and groups are available, parents may wish to encourage participation - the benefits appear worthwhile," she concludes.

The Salt Cathedral of Aiquira, Columbia, 32 miles north of Bogota, is an actual church carved with Gothic arches 1,300 feet underground in a salt mine. The church can accommodate 13,000 worshippers.

Columbia Not Pretested—Pilots Unconcerned

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The space shuttle Columbia is the first spacecraft assigned to carry astronauts without first being tested on unmanned flights. Its two pilots say they are unconcerned.

Astronauts John Young and Bob Crippen concede the maiden journey carries the potential for a disaster that could cost them their lives, but note Columbia is laced with safety features for emergencies from launch to landing.

"We obviously think the vehicle is safe; otherwise we wouldn't be flying it," said Young, 50, the mission commander who has made four earlier space trips, two each in the Gemini and Apollo programs.

The Mercury, Gemini and Apollo craft each were flown on at least two unmanned flights, and two chimpanzees, Ham and Enos, tried out Mercury before Alan Shepard and John Glenn went aloft.

But the shuttle is too complex a vehicle to send up without pilots.

"There's probably a way to do it, but it would probably cost as much as $500 million and delay the program another year," Young told the Associated Press.

"Just about anything can break and we'll decide to go ahead and terminate" the 54-hour mission, Crippen said.

"We've taken a very conservative approach — we're going to play it safe," said Flight Director Charles Lewis.

The most dangerous part may be when Columbia's three main engines and its two solid-fuel booster rockets ignite on the launch pad.

Earlier American spacecraft were equipped with an escape tower — a rocket attached to the nose — intended to pull the craft swiftly away from an exploding rocket during liftoff and parachute it to safety.

But Columbia's 80-ton weight and its shape precluded an escape tower. Instead, the astronauts sit in ejection seats.

"I guarantee if you pull that little handle, you will eject, and all the data shows there should be no problem with survivability," he said of the possibility he could be ejected into a fireball.

If the four test flights are successful, NASA will consider the spacecraft to be as reliable as a jetliner and remove the seats.

To handle a problem — such as an engine failure — once Columbia is off the pad, NASA devised a number of

"abort modes" for a fast emergency landing.

If trouble occurs in the first 4 minutes and 23 seconds, the shuttle, having jettisoned its two boosters but still firing its main engines, would swing around and return to a 15,000-foot landing strip at Cape Canaveral.

Shuttle craft eventually will land back at Canaveral, but for the first three or four flights, landing is planned for the wide-open lake bed at Edwards Air Force Base in California, allowing a large margin for error if runway landing goes awry.

The most important in-orbit test comes early in the flight: The open and closing of two giant doors on Columbia's 60-foot-long cargo bay. Silvery panels just inside them are designed to radiate heat from the crew cabin and from electronic devices throughout the spaceship.

If the doors don't open, the astronauts would quickly return to Earth, because they have only enough backup cooling to stay up for about nine hours.

Ten pairs of motors drive the latches that close the doors. If any one motor fails, the shuttle would then return to Earth. That's because, if the second motor in the pair should later fail, the doors probably could not be closed and the ship might not be able to survive re-entry.

Upon its re-entry to the atmosphere, Columbia enters a region of hypersonic speeds where no winged craft has ever flown before.

Government is Paying for Health Spa 'Cures'

OBERSTAUFEN, West Germany (AP) — They go to lose weight and end up wrapped like mummies in wet sheets. Others stomp around in calf-deep water to try to relieve tension. And almost all are reimbursed by liberally dispensed federal insurance.

More West Germans than ever are flocking to health spas, whatever their complaint or the method of treatment. Once exclusive refuges for the rich and well-born, health resorts are now within financial reach of the masses, thanks to the nation's generous social security plans.

In this mountain village, the "Schrothkur" is the main industry. The local Cure Association says 12,000 guests a year flock to nearby hotels and sanatoriums for "the cure."

That's just a fraction of the 380,000 people, the highest number in postwar history, who applied for federally sponsored health cure benefits in 1980, according to the Federal Office for Employee Insurance. Only 40,000 of the applications were rejected.

Besides some rather strange regimens, practically all the 100 recognized cure resorts scattered throughout West Germany offer fresh air, exercise, balanced diets and mineral waters. Those amenities may account for the widespread faith in their methods, both among the public and the government.

The federal government lists a total of 29,000 beds available for insurance-paid cures in some 145 clinics and sanatoriums and 80 other cure homes.

"The idea is to keep people healthy and working so fewer retire early," one federal health expert explained.

Almost every employed West German contributes to government-supported health and retirement plans. The number of rehabilitation trips allowed varies greatly from job to job and according to need. Most cures include two to four weeks away from work with most expenses paid, and the resort stay usually is not counted against vacation time, according to federal and state rules.

Permission is rarely granted for more than one cure every two years, and in all cases, the employee must fill out an application demonstrating why he needs the cure, the government expert explained.

"Patients generally can't expect a 'cure vacation,' but they have to take part in a real rehabilitation program," he said.

Some of the programs offered by German spas may strike non-Germans as somewhat bizarre.

The ancient spas grew up around mineral or hot springs, and variations of the water cure are still among the most popular. Dozens of resorts offer the "Kneipp cure," named for a 19th century practitioner, Sebastian Kneipp.

Kneipp, once a tubercular child who said he overcame his illness by "hardening" himself with daily cold baths in a river, developed a "natural medicine" system of treatment with plant extracts and balanced diet, supplemented by periodic outdoor splashes.

Patients practicing the Kneipp cure tramp around in ponds, brooks or the mud flats of the North Sea. The exercise lasts less than a minute, and the foot must be raised completely out of the water with every step, the rules stipulate.

Afterward, patients don dry wool socks and go for a brisk walk or run.

Guests here at Oberstaufen pay $400 to $600 for a three-week treatment which includes a diet of fruit juice, toast and low-fat essential foods, dry wine, schnapps and a procedure called "packing" — being wrapped in wet sheets for two hours.

Though named for the equator it straddles, Ecuador has extremes of climate ranging from tropical heat to polar-like cold.

Key Whiteface Fem Tracksters

The Hereford 1,600 meter relay team will play an important part as the Whiteface fems attempt to bring home their third successive District 4-5A track crown here Friday. The team, from left, includes Allyson Thomas, Michele Osborn, Deborah Rogers, and Louise Mays. Misses Mays and Rogers will also be aiming at individual honors in the 800 meters, while Miss Thomas will shoot for the 400 meter medal. Action will continue throughout the day Friday at Whiteface Stadium.

Kings Even Series With Suns; Spurs Rebound, Stop Rockets

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — With guards Otis Birdsong and Phil Ford sidelined with injuries, Kansas City Kings Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons said his team "had to play the cards dealt us" Wednesday night against the Phoenix Suns.

Subsequently, Kansas City relied on a "king" — forward

Tryouts Set For Kid's Inc. Major League

Kid's Incorporated tryouts for boys major baseball, ages 11-12, will be held Friday, April 10 from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the Ave. H and 15th Street baseball field.

If any of the boys have not registered for baseball or have not turned their cards in, Martha Shire, president of the Bronco League, encourages them to bring their cards to tryouts.

Terry Russell is president of the Kid's Inc. Board of Directors. For further information, one can contact Mrs. Shire during the day at 364-5700 or at 364-7234 after 5 p.m.

Partnership Golf Tourney Slated Here

The annual Hereford Partnership Scramble golf tournament is scheduled Saturday and Sunday at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

Mike Horton, golf pro, announced that last year's winning duo—Jim Haren and Jack Coffey of Borger—will be back to defend their title.

Tee-off times are 9 a.m. and 2:30 each day with shotgun starts. Teams will be flighted according to first-day scores. Entry fee is $75 per team.

Entry deadline for the tourney is 6 p.m. Friday.

Reggie King — to trump the Suns, 88-83, in their National Basketball Association playoff and square the best-of-seven Western Conference semifinal series at one game apiece.

King paired with guard Scott Wedman for 21 points in a pivotal fourth period as Kansas City recorded its first post-season victory at the Arizona Veterans Memorial Coliseum in six games over a three-year span.

The series shifts to Kansas City Friday night.

Wedman, who shifted from his accustomed forward position to fill in for Birdsong, was the Suns' main nemesis according to Phoenix Coach John MacLeod.

Phoenix hit just 29 of 43 attempts from the free throw line in the game and shot 39 percent from the floor in the first half in struggling to a 43-43 tie.

The Kings wiped out a 65-61 Phoenix lead in the opening minutes of the fourth quarter as King, Wedman and guard Ernie Grunfeld scored nine of the period's first 11 points for a 70-65 edge.

The Suns battled back behind the hot-hand of guard Dennis Johnson who had a game-high 31 points. But Wedman hit a jumper and two free throws in a 1:34 span for a 78-71 Kansas City lead with 3:24 left in the game.

Four free throws by Johnson and two from reserve guard Kyle Macy over a 1:02 stretch cut Phoenix' deficit to 85-83 with 24 seconds to play.

But swingman Joe C. Meriweather's free throw with 19 seconds remaining — coupled with two from Grunfeld with three seconds to go — sealed the Kings' victory.

Wedman finished with 24 points, Grunfeld had 19 and King had 20 — including eight in the first period when Kansas City took a 24-20 lead.

In the only other playoff game Wednesday night, the San Antonio Spurs got their running game going and beat the Houston Rockets 125-112 to tie their West semifinal at one victory apiece.

The two East semifinals resume Friday night with Boston, leading 2-0, at Chicago and Philadelphia at Milwaukee in a series that is tied 1-1.

Mark Olberding, San Antonio's power forward, scored a career-high 34 points and teamed with Paul Griffin to hold Houston's Moses Malone to 21 points and 12 rebounds.

Calvin Murphy, Houston's explosive reserve guard, matched Olberding's 34 points in a losing effort. But Rockets Coach Del Harris said he was satisfied to break even in the first two games of the series in San Antonio.

In other action, Guillermo Vilas of Argentina eliminated Jaime Fillol of Chile, 7-5, 6-1; Harold Solomon beat Ben McKown 6-1, 6-2; Jose Higueras of Spain defeated Richard Meyer, 2-6, 7-6, 6-4; Victor Pecci of Paraguay topped Ramesh Krishnan of India, 4-6, 7-6, 6-3; Mel Purcell beat Mark Edmonson of Australia, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2; Sammy Giammalva defeated Terry Moor, 6-4, 7-5, and Bruce Manson topped Paul Kronk of Australia, 6-3, 7-5.

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Chris Evert Lloyd beat Duk Hee Lee of South Korea, 6-0, 6-0 in the second round of the $150,000 Family Circle Cup.

In other action, Pam Shriver topped Kathy Horvath 6-3, 6-3; Virginia Ruzici downed Hana Strachonova 6-2, 6-2; Mimi Jausovec scored a 6-3, 6-0 triumph over Renee Richards; Regina Marsikova beat Renata Tomanova 6-0, 6-0; and JoAnne Russell beat Iris Reidel Kuhn 6-2, 6-1.

BOWLING

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — Randy Lightfoot averaged 247 for six games to take the second-round lead in the $100,000 Long Island Open AT Garden City Bowl.

Lightfoot was in 25th place after bowling 1,325 for his first six games but recovered with games of 268, 277, 248, 228, 228 and 234 to boost his total pinfall to 2,808 for a 21-pin lead over Gil Sliker.

SWIMMING

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Tracy Caulkins, Mary T. Meagher and Rick Carey led a remarkable charge of record-setting performances at the U.S. Indoor Swimming championships as five American records were set on the first day of the four-day meet.

Caulkins' victory in the 200-yard backstroke was her first record in that event. Her time of one minute, 57.02 seconds was .77 under the previous American mark set in 1978 by Linda Jezek.

Meagher won the 200-butterfly in 1:52.99, breaking her own American record of 1:53.21.

Brian Goodell set an American record of 8:58.54 in the men's 1,000 freestyle, breaking his own standard of 9:00.10 set a year ago.

Hereford Hosts District Girls Track, Field Meet

The Hereford Whiteface girls will be going for their third District 4-5A track crown in a row Friday when the Herd hosts the loop meet at Whiteface Stadium. Leading the charge for the 'Faces' will be half-milers Louise Mays and Deborah Rogers.

Coach Martha Emerson's thinclads will be looking to repeat as league cinder champs, hoping to improve on a slim three-point margin of victory over Monterey in last year's version.

Field events will begin the meet at 9:30 a.m. Friday, with running prelims to start at 10 a.m. Finals in the running events will begin at 2:30 p.m., aiming at trophy presentations at about 5:30 p.m.

Emerson listed the host Herd along with Plainview and Coronado as the pre-meet favorites. "It's down really to which team performs at its best," Emerson said. "The team which can show some depth and pick up some points in the lower places will probably win it."

Mays, a talented senior, will be out to capture the loop's 800 meter crown, making the changeover from the 400 meters, which she won in a close finish over Monterey's April Graves last year. Rogers, formerly a 400 meter specialist, moves up to the two-lap race after trying it out last week. Mays owns the top Panhandle time in the 800 with a 2:20.6, while Rogers was timed in 2:27.1.

Plainview will probably get a head start in the team race with Gay Hemphill favored to take both shot put and discus laurels. The Bulldogs will also show strength in the relay races, as will Hereford.

The two teams' 1,600 meter relay squads have a two-second spread between them coming into the meet with the 'Dogs' owning a 4:05.2 clocking and Hereford a bit behind at 4:07.2.

Other performers who will figure in the race for the team title for the Herd include Allyson Thomas in the 400 meters, and Laura Kosub in the 1,600 meter race. Thomas owns a 61.6 time in the 400, while Kosub has been clocked in the 1,600 at 6:00.5.

TCU, SMU, Tech Brag Of SWC Basketball Recruits

By The Associated Press

Texas Christian and Southern Methodist, two teams that struggled through the 1980-81 basketball season, both signed players to fill big gaps in their lineups on national letters of intent day.

TCU coach Jim Killingsworth signed 6-10, 230-pound post man Brian Christensen from Southwest Oklahoma Junior College in Oklahoma City.

Meanwhile, SMU coach Dave Bliss got the signature of 6-9 center John Koncak of Center High School in Kansas City, Mo. Bliss also celebrated the signing of heavily recruited Reginald Pink, a 6-4 blue-chip forward from Dallas Kimball High School who may be moved to guard in college.

Koncak averaged 27 points, 14 rebounds and 5 blocked shots per game. Bliss said "Koncak fills our greatest void at SMU. He's a capable big man who definitely will play for us next season."

Pink averaged 24.6 points and 14.2 rebounds per game. Texas Tech coach Gerald Myers announced the signing of four players — 6-5 all-stater Vince Taylor of Hobbs, N.M., and 6-9 Quentin Anderson of Athens, Ala., along with 6-6 junior college All-American Charles Johnson of Midland College and 6-9 All-Stater Dwight Phillips of Levelland.

"I couldn't be happier ... These are all players we wanted badly," said Myers.

Taylor averaged 24 points and 17 rebounds and was named the Player of the Year in New Mexico in leading Hobbs to a 26-0 mark and the state championship. His older brother Jeff has led the Red Raiders in scoring the last two years.

Phillips averaged 16 points and 16 rebounds per game for Levelland.

Baylor landed 6-5 all-state Russ Capps, who averaged 18.6 points per game in leading Clear Lake High School to a 38-2 record.

Texas Coach Abe Lemons snared guard Jack Worthington who averaged 27 points, six assists and six steals per game for Spring High School.

The Houston Cougars collected a prize by signing 6-7 center-forward Gary Orsak of Alvin High School.

Baylor also went out of state to sign 6-7 forward David Glover of Chapel Hill, N.C. High School. Glover was a member of that school's state championship. He averaged 19 points and 12 rebounds on the 29-3 team.

Baylor Coach Jim Haller also signed Waxahachie High School's James Sterns, a 6-foot guard who averaged 26 points a game while earning first team all-state honors.

Reds Edge Phillies on Bases-Loaded Walk

CINCINNATI (AP) — Dan Driessen, the National League leader in walks last season, wasn't about to disdain a free pass Wednesday with the baseball's traditional opening day game on the line.

The Cincinnati Reds first baseman worked Philadelphia Phillies reliever Tug McGraw to a full count with the bases loaded, then watched a low slider nip the dirt for a ninth-inning, 3-2 victory over the defending world champions.

"It was just a matter of not jumping at the ball and being a little more selective," said Driessen, given 93 bases on balls last season. "You know they're going to try to make you hit their pitch."

That's exactly what McGraw did. The pitch broke low into the dirt, and Ken Griffey loped home from third base.

"Until they lower the strike zone six inches below the plate, I'm going to have to live with that one," McGraw said of his last pitch.

The showdown supplied a final drama in an opening game that remembered two far more critical dramas earlier this year.

Col. Leland Holland and Bert Moore, two of the Americans held hostage in Iran, received lifetime baseball passes from Commissioner Bowie Kuhn on the field before the game.

Then the sellout crowd of 51,716 rose in a moment of silence for the speedy recovery of President Reagan, wounded in an assassination attempt last week. The president was unable to attend and throw out the first pitch as planned.

Pitching was the featured attraction in the first Cincinnati opening day meeting between the two clubs since 1962. But neither Phillies' starter Steve Carlton, the 1980 Cy Young Award winner, nor Cincinnati's Tom Seaver figured in the decision.

Seaver, like Carlton a three-time Cy Young winner, scattered six hits over eight innings.

"The minimum I wanted to do was pitch seven innings and keep us in the ballgame," Seaver said. "That's the way it worked out."

Carlton, who topped the league with 24 victories last year, pitched into jams in four of his first five innings, but only in the third did the Reds score. Shortstop Dave Concepcion, who had three hits, doubled home Dave Collins.

Consecutive singles by Del

Unser, Pete Rose and Manny Trillo tied the game in the eighth. The Phillies took the lead in the top of the ninth with an unearned run off reliever Tom Hume, 1-0, delivered on a single by Keith Moreland.

But Collins blooped a double to right to lead off the bottom of the ninth off Sparky Lyle, 0-1, and Ken Griffey lashed a single to center for a tie. A stolen base and a throwing error on Moreland put Griffey on third with just one out.

Philadelphia Manager Dallas Green had Ron Reed intentionally walk George Foster and Johnny Bench to set up a double-play possibility with Driessen up next. Then he summoned the usually dependable McGraw.

Rose was especially hard on his former teammates with three hits in five at-bats

Angel's Fregosi Shows Optimism

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

California Angels Manager Jim Fregosi can't wait for his team to turn on the power.

"If we stay healthy, we're going to challenge the club record for runs scored," says Fregosi.

The Angels, who set that mark with 866 runs in 1979, start swinging for what Fregosi hopes will be a new high when they host the Seattle Mariners in their American League baseball opener tonight.

It is one of eight major league games on tap, following Wednesday's official Opening Day featuring Cincinnati's 3-2 National League victory over the World Champion Philadelphia Phillies.

Geoff Zahn, who had a 14-18 record for Minnesota last year, will be California's opening-day pitcher against Seattle's Glenn Abbott (12-12).

In today's other AL games, Texas visited New York, Oakland was at Minnesota and Toronto played at Detroit. In the National League, it was Montreal at Pittsburgh, New York at Chicago, Houston at Los Angeles and San Diego at San Francisco.

The main reason for Fregosi's optimism is a rebuilt lineup that includes new additions Fred Lynn, Butch Hobson and Rick Burleson, whom California acquired in trades with the Boston Yed Sox. Among the returning Angels are Don Baylor, the AL's most valuable player in 1980 who hit .296, knocked in 120 runs and hit 36 homers last season, and evergreen Rod Carew, who hit .331 last year.

The Mariners, meanwhile, acquired some power of their own in Richie Zisk and Jeff Burroughs in trades with Texas and Atlanta. However, Seattle Manager Maury Wills isn't nearly as optimistic as Fregosi, considering that his team finished with the worst record in baseball in 1980.

Both he and club president Daniel O'Brien have said they'd be happy with a .500 season in 1981.

In Wednesday's exhibition action, Paul Molitor slugged a two-run triple and five Milwaukee pitchers put together a five-hitter as the Brewers defeated the Cleveland Indians 5-2.

George Brett and U.L. Washington each socked three hits to lead the Kansas City Royals to a 6-3 decision over the Boston Red Sox in a game called after 8½ innings so both teams could catch their planes for home.

Joe Licata's two-run homer off Phil Niekro lifted Florida State University to a 4-1 victory over the Atlanta Braves. Mark Belanger drove in three runs with a bases-loaded double in the fifth inning, leading the Baltimore Orioles to an 8-5 decision over their Charlotte farm club.

Keith Hernandez smacked a solo home run and Ken Oberkfell collected three hits to pace the St. Louis Cardinals to a 7-2 decision over the University of Alabama-Birmingham.

Master's Tourney Has Strong Field

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Raymond Floyd and Jack Nicklaus hold the Masters scoring record of 271, and both predicted it will never be broken if it survives this year.

They will find out soon. A select international field of 82 golfers, 71 of them Americans and all but seven professionals, teed off today in the opening round at beflowered Augusta National Golf Club.

The Masters is the first of the year's four major championships. The two contenders agreed the new bent grass greens, when they mature, will put their 72-hole scoring mark out of reach.

"The bent grass is going to make the greens like lightning," said Floyd, this season's leading money-winner and the 1976 Masters champion.

Premier WBC Runner Will Be in Classic

Joel Ngetich, Wayland Baptist's premier 800-meter runner, has been invited to participate in the Bruce Jenner Classic at Los Angeles Saturday, it was announced today.

Ngetich is coached by Gary Gooden, former Hereford High coach and former standout Whiteface athlete. Gooden is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Gooden of Hereford.

Ngetich won the national indoor 800 meters at the NAAI Track Meet in Kansas City last month. He is undefeated in the 800 meters this season.

Highlights of the meet are scheduled to be telecast Sunday.

Added Nicklaus, a five-time Masters winner: "If they're going to beat 271, they better do it this year. It may be their last chance. Scores will start going up."

There were no clear-cut favorites for this 45th Masters, but among those in the forefront were:

—Defending champion Seve Ballesteros, the dashing, carefree Spaniard who insists he must be lucky to repeat.

—Tom Watson, the PGA Player of the Year for the last four seasons, but fighting a mild slump. The 1977 Masters champion is winless in the first 13 tournaments of 1981.

—Johnny Miller, a two-time winner this season who contends he has not totally regained his magical touch of the mid-1970s.

—Lee Trevino, needing a Masters title to become just the fifth player in history to win the four majors.

The fun-loving Merry Mex skipped the Masters four times, saying he couldn't handle the course. Now a green jacket that goes to the Masters champion is one of his most cherished goals.

—The collection of young, proven American pros such as two-time 1981 victor Bruce Lietzke, Hale Irwin, Andy Bean, Tom Kite, Curtis Strange and Larry Nelson, last week's winner at Greensboro.

—A foreign contingent led by South African Gary Player, the Masters titleholder in 1961, 1974 and 1978; Isao Aoki of Japan and David Graham, an Australian now living in Dallas.

Portions of the final rounds Saturday and Sunday will be carried by CBS-TV.

WESTWARD (STILL) HO!

Population Centers of the United States 1790-1980

After two centuries of American expansion, the population center of the United States has crossed the Mississippi River. On the basis of preliminary totals from the 1980 census, the new center is located in the community of De Soto in Jefferson County, Missouri, 40 miles southwest of the Gateway Arch in St. Louis. Final calculations could shift the exact point slightly, according to the Census Bureau, but not enough to change the locality. The center of population is the point at which there are equal numbers of Americans in all directions of the compass. Map states centers and nearest communities for every national population count since the first in 1790. Missouri is the eighth state in which it has been located. It remained in Indiana longest, from 1890 census through 1940. The line traced by successive centers shows the steady westward migration of Americans since the nation's founding and, in the southward dip of recent decades, the population surge in the Sunbelt states.

Crippen—Never Been in Space Before

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Bob Crippen has been an astronaut for almost 15 years and he's never been in space before. The closest he came was putting on a space suit for a make-believe flight that lasted 56 days.

Now that long wait for a rocket ride is over. Crippen is half of the two-member crew on America's first space shuttle, a rocket-ship that seems to have waited for flight almost as long as he has. The Navy captain from Beaumont, Texas, might well have been selected by Central Casting for the role. He is 43, 5-foot-10 and stays at 160 pounds by running a couple of five-minute miles a day. He is handsome enough to be a movie star with chiseled features and a ready smile. He is a military astronaut, a good bet for future assignments that involve defense missions. Crippen earns $3,000 a month. His wife calls him "a waffle freak." His big pleasure on weekend mornings is making his breakfast specialties, waffles, of course, or an onion and potato omelet. He reads both fiction and non-fiction and has no special fondness for science fiction.

He has not seen Star Wars. The astronaut's oldest daughter, Ellen Marie, 19, attends Crippen's alma mater, the University of Texas. Susan Lynn, 16, is in high school in LaPorte near Houston. Linda Ruth, 13, is in junior high. Crippen has gone through the shuttle-birthing process cheerfully, putting the best face on two years' delay, and his wife, Virginia, isn't unhappy about it either. "The delay in general has been for cause," she says. "We'd rather have any bugs ironed out than try to go before the vehicle is ready."

Space Shuttle-Space Ships To Be Reused

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — What is a space shuttle?

It is the world's first reusable space ship, designed to make flight into Earth orbit more routine and less expensive. A fleet of at least four shuttles, each capable of 100 or more roundtrips, will make up America's space transportation system for the rest of this century.

The first four bear the names Columbia, Challenger, Discovery and Atlantis.

Under development since 1972 at a cost of $9.9 billion, shuttles will be flown by both the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Defense Department. Initial launchings will be from Cape Canaveral, Fla., but starting in 1984 many of the military flights will originate at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

The shuttle system, standing upright on the launch pad, consists of the 80-ton winged orbiter vehicle mounted on a huge external fuel tank and flanked by two solid rocket boosters. The solids and the orbiter's three main engines all ignite on liftoff to propel the vehicle into space. The solids are jettisoned after 2½ minutes, and the tank is kicked away just before the orbiter reaches orbit. Four test flights of the Columbia are planned, with landings at a dry lake bed at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. After that, the orbiters will return to a runway at Cape Canaveral and eventually some of them to Vandenberg. About September 1982, Columbia is expected to begin commercial flights, with businesses paying NASA to carry up satellites or to conduct pharmaceutical, metallurgical and other experiments.

The shuttle has a cargo bay, 60 feet long and 15 feet wide, capable of carrying 32 tons, which might include manned laboratories, satellites for injection into orbit and spacecraft for launching on interplanetary courses. Eventually, shuttles might carry up men and materials to build space stations. More than 70 flights have been booked, about one-third for military missions, and NASA and the Defense Department anticipate more than 400 flights over the next 12 years. A typical mission will have as many as seven crew and passengers and will last four to 30 days.

Before the shuttle, Crippen's biggest assignment was as a member of the crew on the Skylab Medical Experiments Altitude Test, known in NASA's world of acronyms as SMEAT. The test was a 56-day simulation of the Skylab mission to enable crewmen to collect medical data and to evaluate equipment and procedures. It was important and Crippen did well but nine other astronauts went into space on Skylab, not Crippen. His career as an astronaut

City Gives $100,000 In 7-Year-Old's Death

HOUSTON (AP) — Jerald Sparks was playing with other neighborhood children near a water hole that had been flooded by a broken city water pipe when he fell in and drowned. He was 7 years old.

His brother, Tonney, 10 at the time, watched as rescue efforts failed. The City Council was told the trauma caused emotional damage to the surviving brother, who has undergone therapy since the May 9, 1978 incident. To help pay for the cost of treatment, and to compensate for the mental anguish suffered by the parents, the council unanimously approved a $100,000 settlement Tuesday to be paid to the family. Senior assistant city attorney James K. Gardner recommended the payoff, saying if the case had gone to trial "in my opinion a jury verdict would probably result in negligence findings adverse to the city and a finding of damages considerably in excess of $100,000."

City Attorney Ed Cazares said it was one of the largest settlements in the history of Houston "if not the biggest."

John Young, Old Man of Space, To Set An Astronaut's Record

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Alan Shepard took a brief ride into space and became a millionaire businessman. John Glenn orbited Earth and now sits in the Senate. Neil Armstrong took a giant step for mankind and now promotes an El Dorado, Kan., oil well firm.

John Young was, is, and will stay an astronaut. At 50, Young is the old man of space. He is about to set a record as the first astronaut to leave Earth five times, inaugurating the age of the space shuttle. He's risking his neck once more, he says, for his country and the human race and because the scientific pot of gold is out there, somewhere.

And when the flight is done, says Young, he'll stay an active astronaut hoping, as all astronauts do, that he'll be picked for the next flight or the one after that, or one down the line.

As in the television shows, where the old vet tutors the young rookie, Young is partner on the first flight of the space shuttle with Robert Crippen who, at 43, has never

Three years of rigorous togetherness, training for a 54-hour flight, have knitted Young and Crippen into a team. Crippen calls it a privilege to fly with someone who's got that much experience and knowledge. But no, he says, he has never sought Young's reassurance about the safety of the flight.

"Actually," Young chimes in, "he reassures me." The physical discipline imposed on astronauts have kept Young trim. His three-piece suit hangs lightly on his 5-foot-9 frame. His sandy brown hair has only tinges of gray.

Young talks in a stream of jargon like other astronauts — it's part of his equipment, like his space suit. His zeal is little changed from that of the Navy test pilot chosen 19 years ago for the space agency's Gemini program.

"I really feel like we're doing something very important for the country and to the human race in the long run, just like I felt when I got in," says Young.

Young is the only astronaut still eligible for space flight from the September 1962 class of space men, the second astronaut group. He was too late for the one-man Mercury flights, but he flew on the first two-man capsule, Gemini 3, then on Gemini 10, orbited the moon on Apollo 16 and walked on its surface on Apollo 16.

Other people from his astronaut group have done their thing and gone on to other lives.

Alan Shepard, whose 15-minute suborbital flight started it all for NASA, made a fortune in real estate after leaving the space program. John Glenn entered politics.

Neil Armstrong, the first man on the moon, taught engineering and advertised Chryslers on TV. In addition to his oil firm job, he sits on the board of United Technologies and works part-time for Learjet.

Young, by contrast, is a career astronaut, head of NASA's astronaut office. "I'm going to stay with it," he says, even though it may be five more years before he gets another flight. "You never can tell. After Apollo, too, I could have said 'boy, you'll never get to fly again.'"

Young entered the astronaut business as a hot-shot Navy test pilot with an aeronautical degree who set two records in "scrambling" an interceptor jet.

Although he was born in San Francisco, Young's speech is laced with Deep South touches, reflecting his growing up years in Orlando, Fla. He first flew in high school. "I only touched the controls and was scared to death," he said once, "but it sure was a lot of fun."

Young has contributed two unforgettable touches to space lore.

On Gemini 3, in March 1965, while fellow astronaut Gus Grissom was eating highly processed space food, Young reached into a pocket and pulled out a Kosher corned beef sandwich. Space agency officials, who worried about contaminating delicate instruments with bits of fatty corned beef, took a dim view of the prank and reprimanded him. Seven years later, thinking he was on a closed line to mission control, Young complained graphically that the acid in the prescribed orange juice was causing him considerable personal discomfort as he walked on the moon. The words, scatological jargon, made space lore.

After divorcing his wife of 16 years in 1972, Young married Susy Feldman, a secretary for a space contractor. She'll be at the cape for the launching as will son John, who is in the Coast Guard, and daughter Sandy, who is married and living in nearby Rockledge, Fla.

Young's parents, who live 50 miles from the launch site in Orlando, have always preferred to watch in the privacy of their home when their son blasts away from Earth.

For Young, science and technology march on. "It's not a short-term affair by any stretch of the imagination," he says.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Lifestyle change may help

DEAR DR. LAMB - My fiancée has a bleeding ulcer which he refuses to take seriously. He is 24 and I know that he has been hospitalized in the past for vomiting blood. He doesn't have a diet, drinks beer and wine weekly and reaches for the milk bottle when he is in pain. He doesn't seem to think an ulcer is serious. I would appreciate any information you can supply as well as the type of diet he should follow.

Is it possible to arrest this condition completely through diet? I don't wish to spend my life worrying about him.

DEAR READER - It looks like you have already started worrying about him. And both of you must face the fact that once a person has an ulcer he is prone to recurrences for life. We really do not know all the factors that cause ulcers but we do know that most are related to acid digestive juices formed by the stomach.

There are many things you can do in your lifestyle to minimize the chances of recurrences of ulcer attacks and to promote healing of an ulcer if you already have one. There is a lot of debate about diet and ulcers. In severe cases, where bleeding is involved, special diets are definitely useful. In other cases the diet is not that important, as long as one observes commonsense rules such as not smoking, avoiding coffee, including decaffeinated coffee, tea and colas. Alcohol is a real no-no in any form as it stimulates the formation of acid digestive juices.

Psychic stress is an important factor. The stress can come from family situations or the job. Often ulcer problems cannot be controlled unless the factors creating stress are relieved. Diet, antacids, avoiding bad habits and control of stress make managing ulcers much easier.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I was interested in your comments about sex after strokes and heart attacks. I don't agree with your statement that it is less stressful, hence safer with your mate. After 20 to 30 years of marriage a man does have much strain in reaching a climax with his wife. You see there is no longer the initial passion. With a new partner the whole thing goes smoothly and effortlessly. Working harder with your wife is a serious danger to older men. For gosh sakes, don't use my name.

DEAR READER - You are making the mistake of thinking your personal experience reflects every other man's experience. Your sample is limited to one, and that one is biased. Try to understand that some couples grow more comfortable and closer with time, which more than compensates for the changes in physical appearance that the years bring.

Good studies do show that a comfortable relaxed relationship, as in a good mature marriage, provides a situation that is less stressful to the usual man, although there are always exceptions. His measured blood pressure and heart rate, hence heart work, is less than during extramarital affairs. So I can't recommend extramarital affairs for men who have recently had heart attacks or strokes.

DEAR DR. LAMB - My son is 16 and thinks he has syphilis. He says he has never had sexual intercourse. He has only one symptom, bumps on the penis. My husband and I have told him it is acne or a rash. Could this be true?

DEAR READER - In very rare cases a person can get syphilis from the edge of a moist glass or in some way that permits the syphilis germ to live in moisture long enough to be transmitted. That is so rare that you can be rather certain that if a person has never had intercourse he or she does not have syphilis - unless you want to talk about congenital syphilis that a baby can be born with.

Syphilis may cause a localized sore. This is called a chancre and is a primary lesion. It doesn't last long and usually forms a painless ulcer.

Syphilis can cause a rash but it is usually generalized. Since the germs are transmitted by the bloodstream, syphilis may cause a rash of nodules on the palms of the hands and soles of the feet.

There are sebaceous glands that produce acne of the skin of the penis. And there are other causes of a rash. You were probably right in what you have told your son but he will be far better off psychologically if you send him to a physician and have him reassured about what his problem actually is.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Polly Cramer

=To wash or not to wash=

DEAR POLLY - You have helped me in the past, so here I am with another question. I have antique white living room tables and dining room set. Occasionally I wash these pieces with that almost pure white soap and water, but I hesitate about polishing it, as I am afraid it might yellow. Please advise me if I should use polish and if the washing is good for it. - JEAN

DEAR JEAN - The directions I have for such painted furniture suggest using a clean, soft cloth for regular cleaning. Put nothing on it. Once in a great while, a damp dusting with a soft cloth that has been wrung out of clear, lukewarm water until almost dry should be all that is needed. Go easy on that washing. I never use polish on painted furniture. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - For years I have been trying to remove ballpoint ink spots from white purses, belts and shoes, but nothing ever worked until I tried using that white typing correction fluid. It worked really well. - LENA

DEAR LENA - When I tried this, I felt it was more of a cover up than a remover. If your articles are vinyl, try using hair spray. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - When reading a newspaper or magazine, I not only keep a pair of small scissors close by, but a notebook and pen as well. I not only cut out all the coupons, but the store specials, too. This eliminates having to save the paper for repeated "look ups" and extra trips to the market, as I shop a particular store only when I am in that vicinity. I only use the coupons for things I would normally buy. The rest are shared with my married daughters and senior-citizen friends. - PALMA

DEAR POLLY - So often readers ask how to get dog and cat smells and spots out of a carpet. I buy a bottle of rug and carpet cleaner (or even dishwashing detergent), sponge on the spots and then rinse off. Next I sponge with full-strength white vinegar and dry it off with a bath towel to absorb the excess water or vinegar, so the drying process is as fast as possible. The white vinegar may have to be used two or three times, but it will do a good job. - BERTHA

Polly's Note: Always test vinegar or any other product in an inconspicuous spot before proceeding.
