City's Financial Budget to Be Discussed In Public Meeting Monday Night

A notice published elsewhere in the Brand this week makes known the holding of a public meeting in the city hall Monday evening of next week at 8:00 o'clock to present the budget of city financial affairs for the coming year to its taxpayers. All citizens and taxpayers are invited to be present to learn the details of the city's financial administration, and take part in the discussion relative to it.

The budget has been submitted to and approved by the city tax league officials.

Lower Taxes 20 Per Cent.

Acting upon the advice of the recent board of tax equalization to lower the taxes on real estate, the city commission this week ratified that recommendation and announced a reduction of 20 per cent upon real estate contingent upon payment of delinquent taxes and payment of next year's taxes by the property owners. Without that cooperation the city commissioners feel that a tax reduction would be impossible.

Water Rates More Strict.

In another announcement the city commission makes known its intention to deal more strictly with delinquent water patrons, asserting that repeated notices to those with unpaid water bills will be discontinued, and that water service will be discontinued on the 10th of each month if current bills are not paid on the 15th. For payment on the 10th of the month a 10 per cent reduction is given.

Club Exhibits To Be Shown 13th and 14th

Miss Lela Martin, demonstration agent, announces the annual club exhibit of the Deaf Smith county demonstration and 4-H clubs Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. The work will be displayed in the windows of the E. B. Black Furniture Company.

The exhibit will be placed Tuesday, and open to public visits and inspection Wednesday, on which day the judging of the work will be done. Individual members of 15 demonstration and 4-H clubs will have articles entered in the competition.

The exhibits will include canned specimens of fruit and vegetables put up this summer, various home improvements such as made for home decorative purposes or household convenience, and garments and wearing apparel made by the members.

Although the competition is among individuals, the exhibits are planned to be presented in groups of the respective clubs that show them. First, second and third prize awards will be made.

CLEANING SEED WHEAT.

(R. O. Dunkle, County Agent.)

A much disputed question is whether it pays to use the fanning mill to clean and grade wheat for seed. The following facts, however, appear to be definitely proved:

It pays to clean wheat that contains weed seeds, chaff, straw and dirt, or diseased or shrunken kernels. Weeds rob the soil of food and moisture, and if present in the wheat are practically certain to reduce the yield. Chaff, straw and dirt clog the drill and prevent uniform seeding. Diseased and badly shrunken kernels often do not germinate and if they do produce small, weak plants that add little to the yield of the crop. If removed, the value of the screenings for chicken feed will pay the cost of the cleaning.

If wheat is well cleaned at the threshing machine, and is plump, free from weed seeds, dirt and smut, and of general good quality there is likely to be a small gain for cleaning. A large number of experiments show an average of about one-half bushel or more per acre than the uncleaned seed. While this is a very small difference, it is more than enough to pay the cost of cleaning.

It may be concluded that it is always worth while to use the fanning mill if the wheat contains weed seeds, chaff, dirt, smut balls, or shrunken kernels, and also that a small gain in yield may be expected merely as a result of sifting, inating all but the plumpest and heaviest kernels.

Bible Class and Lions Battle for Victory Today

That the Bible Class team of the city twilight baseball league thinks it is about as good as any, and perfectly willing to demonstrate, was made evident this week when a challenge was issued to the Lions team that defeated the league champion Odd Fellows in a post season game last week.

The Lions accepted and the game will be a seven-inning affair to be called at 5:00 o'clock this afternoon. Should the Bible Class win, which it is entirely possible they will do, the comparative standing of the teams of the league will be woefully mixed up, for it is evident the Midgets are not going to sit idly by and see eliminated teams share in the spotlight of glory without trying for a little of it themselves.

Great Enrollment and Crowded Conditions As City Schools Open

(BY C. H. DILLEHAY)

Hereford schools opened Monday morning, according to schedule. Children in the grades were kept only a sufficient time to be classified and to receive books. High school classes met for regular work through the day. Students and teachers entered into their work in fine spirit and with an apparent determination to make the best of the somewhat crowded conditions in the high school.

The highest enrollment on record on Wednesday gives high school a total of 326 students divided as follows: freshmen 114, sophomores 71, juniors 73 and seniors 68. The figures for the same time last year were freshmen 77, sophomores 78, juniors 85 and seniors 49, with a total of 287. Two years ago there were 250 in high school.

The departmental grades has enrolled a total of 157, as follows: high seventh grade, 34, low seventh, 32; high sixth, 34, low sixth, 31; high fifth, 25. The figures for a year ago were high seventh, 34; low seventh, 37; high and low sixth, 70, high fifth, 30; total 197. The high seventh grade was taught by high school at that time, however.

At Central school there are 42 in the low fifth, 34 in the high fourth, 34 in low fourth, 21 in high third, 57 in low third, 28 in high second, 73 in low second, 15 in high first and 77 in low first, total 381. Last year there were 376 in Central school, divided as follows: low fifth 37, high fourth 29, low fourth 42, high third and low third 71, high second and low second 83, high first 28, and low first 85.

The grand total for all departments this year was 864, as compared with 800 last year, and 809 two years ago. The increase of 50 in the high school caused much crowding in certain departments, especially in English, history and science. The history teacher has 170 pupil recitations per day, and two English teachers in excess of 150 per day. Very little if any relief can be given, though shifting has already been done to equalize the teaching load in English and probably reduce each teacher's load in that department slightly below 150 pupil recitations per day. The State Department recommends not more than 125 pupils per day for a high school English teacher and the Southern Association prescribes 150 per day as the maximum for any teacher. These are not arbitrary standards, but it is generally considered that excellent work cannot be done where the teacher has more than the maximum numbers given.

Odd Fellows Entertain Rebekahs.

After the regular meeting of the Lodge Monday evening, the Odd Fellows entertained the Rebekahs with a watermelon feast. About 40 members were present. The evening was spent at games of forty-two.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Dowell visited friends in White Deer Sunday, T. C. Mathies, who accompanied them, going on to Pampa to spend the day.

M. M. Hardin of Clovis was in Hereford Wednesday on business.

J. W. BERRY FARM SALE NEXT TUESDAY

It looks like old times coming back again to see farm sales being held over the country. J. W. Berry, south of Hereford, is holding a dispersal sale of fine Jersey cattle Tuesday of next week, together with a set of complete farming equipment. Mr. Berry's dairy stock is said to be the equal of any. Several cows sold through the use of Brand want-ads a number of weeks ago to the Lee Wilson ranch west of Hereford, are reported so satisfactory the owner thinks they will pay for themselves in a few months.

Col. Ray Barber, Hereford's auctioneer par excellence, who will cry the sale, reports making public auction of the John Shipley farm equipment over across the New Mexico line Tuesday of this week and says the articles brought good prices and there were plenty of buyers.

Miss Millicent Griffith arrived in Hereford the first of the week enroute from her home in Chicago to Hartley, where she will teach this term. Miss Griffith taught in Hereford several years ago and has many friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Steele and daughter of Fort Sumner, New Mexico, visited relatives in Hereford over the week end.

Paul Harrail of Aternathy visited his grandmother, Mrs. John Estes, Saturday.

POSEY WINS WHEAT BELT GOLF TROPHY

J. M. Posey, president of the Hereford Golf Club and highest ranking player here, struck and held a winning stride that shook off all opposition in the Wheat Belt League annual tournament held at Tulla Sunday and Labor Day, and won the individual championship of the League. A magnificent silver trophy and one of the best golf bags made, are the material prizes in evidence, but in winning J. M. has placed himself among the very best in the Panhandle and at the same time has brought high honors to his club and the city.

His score for the 54 holes of medal play was 215, one under par. Beginning with steady play Sunday morning, his game constantly gained in distance and accuracy throughout the two days, the last nine holes being played in 33, 3 under par for that distance.

Of the other 13 players from Hereford who entered the tournament, two, A. R. Posey and Sam Munson, withdrew Sunday evening and Wirt Phillips was prevented by illness from going. Of the remaining 10, seven placed in the prize winning column.

J. J. Clark and B. F. Marrs each won a fine sweater; A. A. Foster, six golf balls; J. H. Patton and J. A. Pittman, three golf balls, and H. L. Rice, an automatic pencil. E. D. Fox, Frank Mosley and L. H. Foster failed to place.

Amarillo Here Sunday.

The players of the Wolfen golf course in Amarillo, will be down here next Sunday afternoon to return the match the Hereford club played there several weeks ago. The local players are setting their ambitions on redeeming themselves for a rather disastrous showing made in Amarillo, and every Hereford member is expected to be out to play, as the visitors will bring a large number of players with them.

Nazareth Lady Burned When Oil Explodes

Miss Tarsha Brockman, 28 daughter of Mrs. August Brockman, five miles southeast of Nazareth, died at the family home about 9:00 o'clock Monday evening, September 5, as the result of burns received when her kerosene-saturated clothing caught fire. She was building a fire in the kitchen stove preparatory to cooking the evening meal when the kerosene can exploded.

The oil threw over her did not ignite, but set the kitchen on fire and as she was trying to extinguish it, her dress touched the flames and her entire body was soon a blazing torch. The fire in the house was soon extinguished by other members of the family, but little damage is reported to have been done to the building. Burial of Miss Brockman was made Wednesday at Nazareth.

DEAF SMITH PIONEER IS BURIED AT VEGA

Old-timers of Hereford will learn with regret of the death of Mrs. Martha Butt, 97, at the family home in Vega Monday. Burial was made there the next day.

Mrs. Butt was one of the earlier settlers of this country, moving here many years ago from Tennessee.

Newton Wiles Laid To Rest Here Monday

Newton Franklin Wiles, 35, a World War veteran, former citizen of Hereford, and more recently living at San Angelo, was drowned near there last Saturday afternoon. The body was brought here, funeral services were conducted by Rev. M. J. Johnson in the Black Funeral Home Monday afternoon, and he was laid to rest in West Park Cemetery, near his father, John A. Wiles, who preceded him in death here in March, 1922.

Mr. Wiles and a friend were fishing from a boat in the Concho River, setting lines, when they were caught in the swift current of flood waters released from a dam, and were swept under. The friend, Fred Jones, kept afloat with the current and swam to safety. It is thought Mr. Wiles, realizing his danger, tried to take off as much of his clothing as possible to be able to swim better, became entangled in his shirt and was drowned.

He is survived by his widow, who was Miss Jacqueline Brown of San Angelo.

His mother, Mrs. Josephine Wiles has been making her home in Plainview in recent years. Four sisters, Mrs. Clyde Penrod of Dallas, and Mrs. E. B. Blair, Miss Minnie Wiles and Miss Alma Wiles, also of Plainview; and two brothers, Dixon and Harvey, of near Wellington, survive him. Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Oliver of North Hereford are uncle and aunt of the deceased, and Mrs. R. T. Nunn is his aunt.

Mr. Wiles was a veteran of the World War, having enlisted from here and served in the navy transport service. He is credited with having made 28 trips across the Atlantic in transport work during the war.

WEST COAST STAR FOOTBALL PLAYER VISITS UNCLE HERE

Ernie Pinckert, star football player of the University of Southern California, and member of the "All American" team selection for the past two years, visited a few days this week with his uncle, F. L. Pinckert, of the Jumbo community.

The Trojan star enjoys a national reputation, and is enroute from California to join the New York Giants, a team of professional football players. The University of California team were national college champions last year by virtue of defeating Notre Dame and Tulane Universities.

Mr. Pinckert recently played in a Universal Picture production of "All American," a football feature to be released soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lambert, Mrs. T. C. Mathies and Clyde and Mrs. Renfro returned Sunday from a several weeks outing trip spent in the mountains near Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Rev. and Mrs. Harold Hicks and little daughter are moving to Wink where he has accepted the pastorate of the Baptist church. He conducted a very successful revival there several weeks ago, and the church called him to be its pastor immediately following the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. F. Parker have visited their daughter, Miss Ann Fitzhugh Parker, who has been studying at Oxford, England, the past two years. She arrived last Thursday and expects to be here until the middle of the month after which she will leave for Catonsville, Maryland, to teach.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Biggs spent Sunday in Bovina with Mrs. Biggs' mother, Mrs. Harry Jackson.

Legion to Hold Big Meeting Next Thursday

The meeting of the American Legion local post set for tonight has been postponed until Thursday night of next week, September 15, and plans are under way to make the occasion one to be long remembered. Not only present members but all persons knowing themselves eligible for membership are urged to attend next week, and to come expecting a big time. The regular meeting place is in the county court room.

New officers for the year, elected recently, were installed Thursday night of last week, among them being—C. W. Humble, post commander; W. J. (Bill) Smith, first vice-commander; Volnie Downs, second vice-commander; Fred Oberthier, adjutant; J. Wallace Robinson, service officer; Harry Taylor, sergeant-at-arms, and L. H. Foster, finance officer.

Dairy and Pork Contests Judged First of Week

Deaf Smith county farmers who took part in the Pork Production and Master Dairy Farmers contests being conducted by the Pinkney Packing Company of Amarillo, and the Amarillo News-Globe, will entertain judges from A. & M. College Monday and Tuesday of next week, as final inspection is made preparatory to the compilation of records to determine the winners over the Plains country.

E. R. Eudaley, dairy specialist of A. & M., will probably be here Monday to go over the premises of Lester Galley's dairy farm northeast of town, and check the production records of his herd. Mr. Galley is the only Deaf Smith county farmer taking part in the Master Dairy contest this year.

The Pork Production contest is expected to be judged by E. M. Regenbrecht, swine specialist, of A. & M., who will be here Tuesday to check the pork production records of Minard Koelzer, Mrs. Bess Turrentine, Horace Hershey, and Lester Galley.

Plans Laid for Poultry Show

The meeting called in the county court room Tuesday evening for those interested in the coming Tri-County Poultry Show to be held December 1, 2, and 3, was not very largely attended, but there was an abundance of enthusiasm which promised to carry through the organization work and make this year's exhibition the equal, if not the superior, of that of any previous time.

N. C. Vogele was re-elected president, and B. H. Hopkins secretary-treasurer, which in itself betokened a successful poultry show. Word received from exhibitors indicated plenty of interest. Directors elected included Jack Wright, R. P. Conaway, R. L. Bailey, R. O. Dunkle, Mrs. Edith Hughes, Mrs. Berry Orr, and W. I. Kucker.

The poultry show will be held in the Buchanan & Rosson building as it has been for the past several years, and that firm has again offered its excellent facilities and conveniences for the purpose.

An endeavor will be made to secure the services of H. B. Lansden of Embrock to again judge the birds, he being not only an accredited American Poultry Association judge, but also a member of its board of directors.

One of the largest and best shows of the entire Panhandle was held in Hereford last year, with 79 breeders having 647 birds entered. The chamber of commerce is again cooperating with the holding of the event by putting up the money for cash prizes and the incidental expenses.

Will Go to Tri-State.

Work is going forward in preparation to have an excellent showing of poultry from Deaf Smith county at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo September 19-24. Jack Wright, who has been placed in charge of that work, has called a meeting of all citizens with birds of exhibition quality to meet in R. O. Dunkle's office Tuesday evening of next week for final plans of getting the exhibit together and taken care of in Amarillo.

John P. Slaton, Hereford attorney and former president of the chamber of commerce, was again chosen to lead the organization for the coming fiscal year, at the organization meeting of the newly elected board of directors Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. C. R. Bentley was re-elected secretary by the new board, having been associated with the office almost constantly since 1929.

The election of directors at Monday's luncheon put the administration of the chamber of commerce work for the coming year upon J. D. Buchanan, G. C. Hartman, E. S. Ireland, Jno. P. Slaton, J. A. Pittman, A. O. Thompson and John McLean. A. O. Thompson was chosen vice-president by the board in its organization meeting, and John McLean treasurer. Mr. Thompson's office carries with it the added responsibility of being in charge of all luncheons and meetings of entertainment, a feature that will, no doubt, be pleasing to Hereford citizens who have learned to anticipate the enjoyment occasioned by his ability as a program and entertainment manager.

Forty members and guests attended Monday's luncheon, the first that has been held for several months. W. E. Dameron, president, handled the program which dealt with the presentation of county extension and health workers' activities.

L. F. Sheffy, head of the history department of West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon, was present as the guest of his brother-in-law, Superintendent C. H. Dillehay, and spoke of his pleasure in renewing friendships with Hereford folks, and gave a brief outline of the historical museum building work, final plans of which have been made and the construction begun. Mr. Sheffy was responsible for raising the $25,000 in donations to match the state appropriation to build the structure, and deserves much credit for his accomplishment at this time.

Rev. E. R. McWilliams, newly chosen pastor of the First Christian church, was present and duly presented to the business folks of the city. He spoke of his pleasure in mingling with the people and expressed a desire to see them at church services.

B. H. Hopkins, secretary, announced the dates of the Tri-County Poultry Show to be held here December 1, 2 and 3; asked the sincere cooperation of everybody to make the exhibition the success it has always been, and expressed appreciation of the chamber of commerce donation that made the occasion possible.

R. O. Dunkle, county agent, told of plans and accomplishments looking toward an excellent booth of Deaf Smith county agricultural products to be shown at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo September 19-24, stating it would be a fine thing to encourage local people to study the exhibit there, as some truly wonderful specimens had been secured and would be on display.

Miss Grace Buzzell, county health nurse, announced the health tour being made of the county Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week, to take the judges of the rural community sanitation contest to the several schools for their first report of the work done. Visitors are welcome to accompany the judges on each day of the trip and members of the chamber of commerce were especially urged to go with the tour on as many days as possible.

Miss Lela Mae Martin, home demonstration agent, told of her work in establishing household improvements and home living conditions over the county, plans to conduct a home market for rural produce, accomplishments in home canning campaigns, and announced the exhibit of her work to be shown in the E. B. Black Company windows Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Adeline Koelzer, 4-H club girl of east of town who won the wardrobe cooperator project this year and was given a trip to the A. & M. College Short Course, told of her experiences while there and expressed her appreciation of those who made the trip possible.

While voting for the new directors chosen from a list of ten names presented by the nominating committee, President W. E. Dameron expressed his personal appreciation and that of the retiring directors for the assistance and cooperation given the chamber of commerce during the past year, without which no commercial body can work toward the best interests of its community, and bespoke the allegiance of all citizens of the county in the work for the coming year, under the direction of the new board.

Put Through The

A PRECIOUS CHARACTERISTIC

Enthusiasm is the dynamics of your personality. Without it, whatever abilities you may possess lie dormant, and it is safe to say that nearly every man has more latent power than he ever learns to use. You may have knowledge, sound judgment, good reasoning faculties—but no one—not even yourself—will know it until you discover how to put your heart into thought and action.

A wonderful thing is this quality which we call enthusiasm! It is too often underrated as so much surplus and useless display of feeling, lacking in real substantiality. This is an enormous mistake. You can't go wrong in applying all the genuine enthusiasm that you can stir up within you, for it is the power that moves the world. There is nothing comparable to it in the things which it can accomplish.

We can cut through the hardest rock with a diamond drill and melt steel rails with a flame. We can tunnel through mountains and make our way through any sort of physical obstruction. We can check-mate and divert the very laws of nature by our science. But there is no power in the world that can cut through another man's mental opposition except persuasion. And, persuasion is reason plus enthusiasm, with the emphasis on enthusiasm.

Enthusiasm is the high art of persuasion. Did you ever stop to think that your progress is commensurate with your ability to move the minds of other people. Even if you are a clerk, it is the zest which you put into your work that endears an appreciation in the mind of your employer. You have a good idea—don't think people will recognize it at once. Columbus had a good idea, but he did not get across with it without much of this high persuasion. Cultivate enthusiasm. People will like you better for it; you will escape the dull routine of a mechanical existence, and you will make headway wherever you are. It can not be otherwise for this is the law of human life. Put your soul into your work and not only will you find it pleasanter every hour of the day, but people

A LONG TIME AGO IN HEREFORD

(From Files of The Hereford Reporter, September 20, 1901.)

It seems that Sanders and Williams planned to establish an up-to-date goose farm on the lake just west of town, and were to put down wells to assure ample water supply, plant trees and otherwise improve the premises in such manner as to produce contented geese for discriminating customers.

At 2:10 o'clock the Saturday morning before, news was flashed to the world of the death of President William McKinley, at the hands of an assassin. All over the Nation plans were being formulated for the purpose of paying homage to this great and good man. Railroad trains on many of the country's great systems were to come to a complete halt at 11:30 Thursday morning, September 19, bells were to be tolled at half-minute intervals, and other lines of business and all people were to observe the time in proper ways that our departed President might be honored. Vice-President Teddy Roosevelt had taken up the reins of Government, and announced that plans formulated by President McKinley would be carried out.

While Sheriff Innon was out of town, a prisoner held on a charge of illegal voting broke (quit) jail, walked quietly out of town and was well on his way before his escape was known. He was recaptured at Portales.

will believe in you, just as they believe in electricity when they get into touch with a dynamo.

Others do not have to ask whether or not you believe in your work. You tell them in every action, word and deed. Whatever task you are given to perform, or whatever is a natural part of your responsibility, do it as though your whole life depended upon it. Someone may be looking for a friend. Some valuable business or personal contacts may be established through your own enthusiasm. The world loves an enthusiastic worker. Show the other members that you love your work by doing it thoroughly.

And remember this: There is no secret about this gift of enthusiasm. It is the sure reward of deep, honest thought and hard persistent labor.

"Say, what kind of company are you expecting, if you don't want to let them in?"

"The gas company, the telephone company, and the electric company."

The steadily advancing price of cotton can be made of advantage to many people here who are in need. Already the cry for cotton pickers in the lower parts of the state is growing more urgent. The farmers want to save every boll of the fleecy staple and good money can be made by those who are now out of employment.

The Lubbock country, it is reported, is producing one of the best cotton crops of its history, and will need pickers from everywhere to come in and help the farmers gather it. The cotton farmer at present seems to have the best outlook of any agricultural worker for the past two years, and it is a certain thing that he will not take any chances on not gathering every bit of his crop.

Idle folks who are waiting for winter to come so they can be fed by charity should be assisted to the cotton fields and given an opportunity to provide for their own upkeep during the coming winter. There will be trucks here rather consistently for the next month or more to give free transportation to cotton-pickers who will go to the cotton areas and work.

Those in charge of the welfare work, or charity distribution in Deaf Smith county, can be doing an inestimable good by seeing to it that charity prospects are earning their own winter provisions by picking cotton, or else.

It's a great and wonderful thing to harken to the voice of distress and want, but the distribution of charity can be a very foolish thing that works an irreparable wrong when it provides sustenance for people who become indolent because others keep them up. There is going to be more work available this fall than there has been for the past two years, and it is time for drifters and hand-out applicants to be directed towards the fields of honest labor.

THE HOPE OF A NATION LIES IN THE STRENGTH OF— LABOR

The mills, the fields, the factories and the little shops along the highway . . . this great country gives tribute to those who have worked there. It is a beautiful sign, a constructive sign when a nation such as ours recognizes the right of labor. For the laboring man is the strength of this land. Rank upon rank he stands ready to accomplish. He is quiet, he is steadfast, he is sure—the real source of stamina and power. A country with such integrity to draw on must move forward.

Through the night comes a call for help

THE alarm bell on the switchboard at Miss Freeman's head tinkled as the hands of the clock reached 4 one morning.

"Operator? Send Dr. Palmer out right away. We live four miles west, you know."

Miss Freeman was ringing the doctor when she noticed a reflection against the sky. The doctor didn't answer. What was wrong? Was that a fire in the north of town? She stepped to the window. That shed by the Black place was on fire. It was out by the road away from the house. It would burn before the firemen could get there.

As she tried to ring the doctor again, Miss Freeman realized that his telephone line had burned. Perhaps a life was in peril. She called a neighbor. No answer. At last a sleepy voice, two blocks down the street, said . . .

"Hullo?"

"Will you call Dr. Palmer, please. His telephone isn't working. An emergency call. The Bamberger home. Four miles west."

Miss Freeman smiled at an item in the Hilledale notes of the local paper the next week:

"Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bamberger are the proud parents of a 9-pound son, born last Friday morning."

The telephone is ready day or night . . . in case of fire . . . to call the doctor . . . to order a part for a machine . . . to get the price for eggs . . . to visit friends. You can buy few things which cost so little and are worth so much.

ISRAEL JOURNEYING TOWARD CANAAN

Numbers 10:11-13, 29-36

11. And it came to pass in the second year, in the second month, on the twentieth day of the month, that the cloud was taken up from over the tabernacle of the testimony.

12. And the children of Israel set forward according to their journey out of the wilderness of Sinai; and the cloud abode in the wilderness of Paran.

13. And they first took their journey according to the commandment of Jehovah by Moses.

20. And Moses said unto Hobab, the son of Reuel the Midianite, Moses' father-in-law, We are journeying unto the place of which Jehovah said, I will give it to you: come thou with us, and we will do thee good; for Jehovah hath spoken good concerning Israel.

30. And he said unto him, I will not go; but I will depart to mine own land, and to my kindred.

31. And he said, Leave us not, I pray thee; forasmuch as thou knowest how we are to encamp in the wilderness, and thou shalt be to us instead of eyes.

32. And it shall be, if thou go with us, yea, it shall be, that what good soever Jehovah shall do unto us, the same will we do unto thee.

33. And they set forward from the mount of Jehovah, three days' journey; and the ark of the covenant of Jehovah went before them three days' journey, to seek out a resting place for them.

34. And the cloud of Jehovah was over them by day, when they set forward from the camp.

35. And it came to pass, when the ark was set forward, that Moses said, Rise up, O Jehovah, and let thine enemies be scattered; and let them that hate thee flee before thee.

36. And when it rested, he said, Return, O Jehovah, unto the ten thousands of the thousands of Israel.

Golden Text: Come thou with us, and we will do thee good.—Numbers 10:29.

Place: The wilderness of Paran, North of Sinai.

Introduction.

With this lesson the long sojourn at Mount Sinai is ended, and the Children of Israel resume their march through the wilderness. They would never come that way again; its only other appearance in the Old Testament history being in connection with Elijah's flight from Jezebel. But it will never lose its significance in the life of the Hebrew nation. There the nation received its constitution, the great body of the law with its moral, ceremonial and judicial guidance which would serve as a tutor until the day of Christ.

The departure from Sinai was no easy task. This because the movements and the sustenance of so vast a host through that region were beyond possibility without divine intervention and guidance; and for those who reject miracle the whole story must be fiction. But for those of us who believe in the miraculous power of God, it is a demonstration of the grace of God in giving wisdom to his chosen leader, Moses, and his sustaining presence to his chosen people.

The Book of Numbers.

Numbers is the fourth Book of the Pentateuch, or Five Books of Moses. Its Hebrew name is its opening words, "In the wilderness." Our name for it comes from the Greek translators, and is derived from the fact that it contains two numberings of the people, one at the beginning and the other at the end of the wilderness wanderings. A large part of the Book is occupied with various laws, but it also contains, besides the incidents of our lesson, the account of the descent of the quails, of Miriam's leprosy, the journey of the spies through Canaan, the rebellion of Korah, Dathan and Abiram, the death of Miriam, the sin of Moses and Aaron, the death of Aaron, the story of the fiery serpents, the story of Balaam, the choice of Joshua to succeed Moses, and other events of the wilderness wanderings. It is a much neglected book, but contains much that is worthy of our study and reflection.

Moving On.

The Israelites had been at Mt. Sinai almost a year. Notice the significance of this: God believes in preparation. He doesn't lead you forth into new and strange experiences, or into promised lands without first getting you good and ready. These months at the mountain were the most momentous in the whole history of the chosen people. Their entire political, social and religious life for centuries to come was to follow the principles and instructions here imparted to them by God.

"I'm a pilgrim" is a confession that we are all willing to make. It has taken forty-year journeyings, so to speak, to reach the most of the desirable goals of your life. Time and again sin has made you go zigzag instead of straight. But you are a poor Christian if you cannot sing with confidence Professor Gilmore's "He Leadeth me: O blessed thought!"

The Wilderness of Paran.

The wilderness on which the Israelites now ventured "is indeed a great and terrible wilderness" (Deut. 1:3). A bare limestone or sandstone plateau, crossed by low ranges of hills, seamed with innumerable dry water-courses, and interspersed with large patches of sand and gravel, is what now meets the eye of the traveler in this forsaken land. "It is clear from the Bible itself that the country was then, as now, emphatically frightful (Deut. 1:19; 8:16; 32:19; Jer. 2:6). At certain seasons, at any rate, the wilderness of Paran was (as it is) a howling wilderness, where the dreadful silence of a lifeless land was only broken by the nightly howling of unclean beasts, who tracked the footsteps of the living in order to devour the carcasses of the dead. Perhaps so bad a country has never been attempted by any army in modern days, even by the Russian troops in Central Asia."—Pulpit Commentary.

The Invitation to Hobab.

"And Moses said unto Hobab, Come thou with us, and we will do thee good." He who makes no effort for the salvation of others has great reason to distrust his own. It was this that hurried Andrew to find his brother, Peter, that took the woman from the well of Jacob to tell the people of Sychar about Jesus, that filled Jerusalem with the tidings of the resurrection, brought great joy to the city of Samaria, and gladdened the heart of Barnabas when in Antioch he saw the grace of God developed by the efforts of the men of Cyprus and Cyrene.—Rev. John Kennedy, D. D. "For Jehovah hath spoken good concerning Israel." Note that the plea of Moses did not rest on the goodness of Canaan, but on the goodness of God. He was inviting Hobab to join God's people, not an emigration party. "Come," he said, "and put yourself under divine promise."

Moses' Second Appeal to Hobab.

"Thou shalt be to us instead of eyes." "But Moses had another plea, even after this distinct refusal, a plea under the circumstances far more powerful to such a man than the offer of personal good. It was the plea not of Hobab's need of Israel but of Israel's need of Hobab. He knew the country, knew all its dangers and resources; he was a man of great influence and wisdom; and cared for Moses and presumably also for the great religious interests at stake in Israel's future.

To have him with them would be a source of strength to all. And so Moses' invitation took another form. He appealed to Hobab's heart and not to his interests; he appealed to their need of him, and no longer to anything of good that might come to himself. He could be their guide and their guardian, and could be a help to them of untold value. He might be as their very eyes. And we are left to assume that this second appeal was successful." In Judg. 1:16 we see that the sons of Hobab were counted among the men of Judah and shared their patrimony in the conquered Canaan.

Moses' Journeying Prayer.

"Verses 33-36 give us a picture of the journeying hosts of Israel as they departed from Mount Sinai. The ark of the covenant, that newly-given symbol of the presence of God, was borne before them, doubly emphasizing leadership. To nobody in all the company was the sight more sacred and more moving than to Moses. It was to him a call to prayer. And we are told that when the ark was set forward, Moses said, 'Rise up, Lord, and let thine enemies be scattered; and let them that hate thee flee before thee.' It was a prayer for protection and guidance. It was an Old Testament version of the prayer, 'Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.' The figure of life as a journey is old because it is so true, and because life is a journey every one of us ought to have his journeying prayer—which becomes a prayer of power if he is on before.

Divine Guidance.

"I see my way as birds their trackless way. I shall arrive! What time, what effort first, I ask not. In some good time, his good time. I shall arrive; He guides me and the bird."—Browning.

THE FIRST DAY OF SCHOOL

Seen On the Screen at the Star

Showing for the last time tonight is one of the most popular pictures of the year, featuring Jean Harlow in "Redheaded Woman." This is a regular one-cent special for the week, and Manager J. C. Parker of the Star has gone one better than that this time by admitting all red-headed women free!

Tomorrow, for one day only, John Gilbert appears in his latest production, "Downstairs," a picture playing in the largest theatres over the country at top prices. As a special feature the Star is playing it at the low price of 10 cents admission to everyone.

Saturday, matinee and night, will bring a picture famous throughout the country as a new epic of the World War, "The Doomed Battalion," played in the Italian Alps and showing a close-up view of the mountain fighting, a part seldom even mentioned in accounts of the great struggle.

The four Marx brothers are in college in "Horsefeathers," their most recent monstrosity of foolishness, in Sunday's matinee program and for Monday and Tuesday evening performances. To know that they will be on the screen is always enough guarantee of a good entertainment, yet the coming feature promises to supercede any former attempts they have made to present the acme of nonsense.

Levis Stone and Jackie Cooper, whose names are sufficient any time to warrant the expectation of a fine picture, appear together in next Wednesday and Thursday's 1-cent special in "Divorce Made Easy."

Manager J. C. Parker says for folks not to get impatient about Wheeler and Woolsey's new football picture, "Hold 'em Jail," as it will be here in the near future, and what a one it will be.

Tri-State Fair In Amarillo Sept. 19 to 24

Catalogs of the Tri-State Fair to be held in Amarillo September 19-24 inclusive are now being distributed.

Every department of this annual attraction, which has defied the depression, is being maintained. The dairy cattle, swine, poultry, agriculture, horticulture and pet stock exhibits will be up to standard. Farmers and livestock men from all over the Tri-State fair territory expect to exhibit, and demand for exhibitors' space is good. Not only the fair officials but the railroads anticipate record crowds.

Railroads will offer the lowest fares to Amarillo in the history of the Panhandle. Round trip tickets during the first two days will be sold for 60 per cent of the one-way fare. Excursion rates will be in effect during the remaining four days.

Among this year's Tri-State fair attractions will be a world championship rodeo, with $3300 in prizes, night auto races, the Black Mask Players presenting nightly the best of their repertoire, the Wortham Shows, with 350 people, and a football game, Texas Tech vs. Texas A. & M. on the last day.

SOME ADVICE ON MODERN JELLY MAKING

At this time of year homemakers are getting out their preserving kettles, jelly bags and are wielding the jelly spoon. Every family likes jelly at least once a day, if not three times a day. The American people are noted for their fondness for sweets and one of the ways of getting these sweets is in the form of jelly.

Sometimes hours are spent in a hot kitchen, working over the jelly kettle with disastrous results. The jelly does not become firm; it is not clear in color, and the homemaker is at a loss to know what to do. There are certain things to be considered in making good jelly. They may be summed up as follows:

Work with only a small amount of juice at one time, as large amounts of juice are much more difficult to handle satisfactorily.

Use a powdered citrus fruit pectin to supply the necessary jellying substance which may be lacking in the fruit which is being used for jelly.

By using a flannel jelly bag to strain the juices, a nice clear jelly will result.

In cooking the jelly, cook it until the juice "sheets" on the spoon, then pour into jelly glass. While still hot cover with a layer of hot paraffin.

Right now the homemaker could be making peach jelly, or a combination of peach and pear jelly. Other combinations such as apple and peach or pear and apple are also delicious. A blend of different juices will produce an unusual jelly which will please not only your guests but your family as well.

Then of course, there is the old standby, grape jelly. This year there is a bountiful crop of grapes which should be made into jelly. There is nothing that will give more satisfaction to the homemaker at the close of the preserving season than many rows of filled jelly glasses, and the greater variety the greater satisfaction created. It pays to stop at this time of year and look forward to the coming winter months when these jellies are going to taste pretty good on hot biscuits, hot toast or waffles.

What's become of your sister that was going to raise a family of five children?

Oh, she's over playing with the five kids of my other sister who wasn't going to have any.

Crop Relief for Next Year Being Asked

The local committee that has been in charge of the federal seed and farm loan distribution in Deaf Smith county the first part of this year, has received information from Owen W. Sherrill, manager for this district, that he is still working diligently to get federal relief for the wheat farming sections of the state, to enable farmers to prepare their land and get a crop sowed for 1933.

The message received this week is a copy of Mr. Sherrill's telegram to the national secretary of agriculture, Arthur M. Hyde, and takes exception to the article recently published in the Dallas News stating that the Texas Agricultural Corporation as set up by the Federal Reconstruction Finance Corporation would confine its loans to the livestock industry and the wheat and truck farmers would not be served by them.

He asserted that serious conditions exist in 56 Panhandle counties in the wheat area, and unless served quickly irreparable damage will be done.

It will be necessary for Congress to reauthorize farmer loans for 1933, unless the Reconstruction Finance Corporation makes proper provision to accommodate them.

Mr. Sherrill reported that the recent rise in farm products prices has been extremely beneficial in all affected lines, but that the three years strain has left available necessary credit short of farmers' ability to carry out their needed programs.

Mr. Sherrill concludes his message to the federal authorities with the words: "Let me again urge that this section needs and its importance justifies ten million capitalization instead of but three million for the Texas Agricultural Credit Corporation."

Lawyer: Yes, you got the best case I've ever heard. You can't help winning, and I shall be very pleased to assist you.

Grocer: Thank goodness, (as he made for the door).

Lawyer: Where are you going.

Grocer: I'm going to settle this case out of court.

Lawyer: But why waste your money? I've told you it's the best case I ever heard.

Grocer: Maybe, but not for me. I've told you the other fellow's side.

A keen-eyed mountaineer led his over-grown son into a country school house. "This here boy's arter be learnin'," he announced. "What's yer bill o' fare?"

"We teach arithmetic, algebra, geometry, trigonometry—"

"That'll do," interrupted the old man, "load him up with trigonometry. He's the only poor shot in the family."

Mother: What kind of a show did daddy take you to, Bobby?

Bobby: It was a dandy, mother. They had ladies dressed in stockings up to their necks.

And when was the baby born? Between the second payment on the radio and the tenth payment on the car. A policeman brought in a negro woman. The desk sergeant scowled and roared at her: "Liza, you've been brought in for intoxication." "Dat's fine," beamed Liza. "Boy, you can start right now."

Of course, replied the private. Did you think I was fur-lined?

A city man, seeking rest and relaxation at the country boarding house, climbed into a hammock stretched in the cool shade between two trees, and prepared for a nap. But the place was so infested with flies that he could not rest, and he went to the keeper to complain.

"What's the idea," he asked, "of putting a hammock in a place where the flies are so thick?"

"Oh," said the proprietor, "that hammock is for use only during hammock time."

"When is that?"

"From 11:30 to 1:30. During those hours all the flies are in the dining room."

Follow an Investment In Better Light

How the home may profit from better light and better lighting facilities has been demonstrated over and over again by a comparison of children's report cards during school sessions when much study and research work must be done at night under artificial lights. Children's eyes need every bit of protection possible and the few cents difference between poor lights and that necessary for best reading, is but poor economy when compared with the preservation of eyesight and the value of increased learning made possible by good lights.

HOME CANNED FRUITS PROMISE GOOD HEALTH FOR COLD WINTER DAYS

Gardens are the vogue these days. Leaders are recognizing the importance of home grown food as a constructive factor in America's economic life. Last year through private contribution sustenance gardens as industrial and community projects were given great impetus through the appointment of garden specialists in five industrial states—Illinois, Kentucky, Ohio, West Virginia and Indiana. In each state the activity is under supervision of the state agricultural extension service. In these five states alone there are conservatively about 175,000 supervision home gardens.

Many families have been better nourished this summer than ever before because of these gardens. When fall comes, little boys and girls will go to school with fresh rosy cheeks and bodies stored with health and sunshine.

Those interested in providing families with food cannot think of these gardens only as summer sources of food. Some of the minerals and vitamins and calories in these foods must be stored away for winter use. If the winter is to be faced without hardship and the family's all too small income is to be stretched to buy many necessities, home canning will preserve many of these choice garden products for winter use and will add to the pleasure and nutritional value of meals.

Home orchards as well as the markets are filled with lovely fresh fruits all during the summer. "Eat fruits twice daily" recommends the Bureau of Home Economics at Washington. This is not such a difficult problem, for some families, during the summer months but in the winter they face difficulty.

If the family budget is too limited to supply fresh fruit each day two servings of fruit daily for each individual must come from home canned fruits. Peaches and pears are fruit favorites and should be chosen to fill a large portion of the fruit jars. A bushel of peaches will fill about 18 quart jars. A bushel of pears will fill at least 30 quart jars. The canning of peaches and pears is a simple matter. Pour boiling water over the peaches leaving it long enough to loosen the skins. Plunge the peaches at once into cold water. Then remove skin and let stand in cold water to keep from discoloration until ready for cooking. The peaches may be jar cooked or they may be cooked in the open kettle. A syrup of three cups of sugar to one cup of water is used. To improve flavor add one peach pit to each jar of fruit.

Pears are usually canned when slightly underripe. They are pared and cored and then dropped at once into a cold salt water bath made in the proportion of one tablespoon of salt to one quart of water. This is to keep them from discoloring. Boil the pears gently in a syrup made with two cups of sugar to one cup of water, then pack into hot jars and seal. If the housewife prefers, pears may be packed into jars, covered with syrup made of 3 cups of sugar to two cups of water, partly sealed and processed for 20 minutes. Remove from canner and seal immediately. A few jars of many kinds of fruit will provide a great variety when winter comes. The frugal housewife will watch the daily market to take advantage of the best prices for good, sound fruit. Home canning has returned in full force to most American homes.

Soil Preparation.

The ground should be freed of all weeds left from the summer garden. Plowing under this material is bad practice, because it will prevent the moisture from rising to the upper soil surface, and the seeds will not germinate. Then, too, the unrotted plant material seriously interferes with the cultivation of the young fall vegetables and the heat resulting from the turned under vegetation dries out the soil.

The soil for the fall garden should be plowed shallow to a depth of four to five inches, or disked. Immediately following the breaking of the soil it should be harrowed and the seed bed made as firm as possible to re-establish capillary attraction of the soil particles and bring the moisture, if possible, to within 1 1/2 to 2 inches of the surface.

Where fertilizer is necessary, well rotted manure may be used but quickly available commercial fertilizers are to be preferred at this time of the year. This is because of the relative slowness with which the plant food elements in the manure are made soluble at this season. A commercial fertilizer mixture of 6-12-6 or 6-10-7 may be applied in the row at the time of planting, using 300 to 400 pounds for one-fourth acre. Nitrate of soda, ammonium sulphate or other concentrated nitrogenous fertilizers may be used as a side dressing on leafy vegetables to stimulate growth. One to three pounds per 100 feet of row is the proper rate of application.

Planting Fall Garden.

In purchasing seed for the fall garden it is advisable to secure one-fourth more seed for this planting than for the spring garden. The germination of seed at this season is poor, consequently the extra quantity of seed will be necessary to secure a good stand.

The dates for planting the fall garden have been figured for this section.

Table 1.—All vegetables listed in this table which are not mentioned in Tables 2 and 3 should be planted sufficiently early to avoid frost in the fall. Where irrigation is used all vegetables mentioned in this table can be grown advantageously as early fall vegetables.

Table 2.—The plants listed in this table will withstand ordinary temperatures throughout Texas.

Table 3.—The vegetables in this table should not be planted until cool weather, as they are sensitive to heat and will not thrive under high temperatures. If these vegetables are planted in sufficient quantities they will furnish an adequate supply of leafy vegetables throughout the winter months.

Insects.—For insects which eat the foliage of the plant it will be necessary to dust or spray the plants with poison material. Calcium arsenate or arsenate of lead when dusted over the surface of the plants will control the plant-eating insects. When mixed with water at the rate of two pounds of calcium arsenate to 15 gallons of water or one pound of arsenate of lead to 15 gallons of water, good results will be obtained. Poison applied to vegetables at this rate does not make them unfit for table use.

For lice which suck the juice of fall vegetables, best results are secured by dusting the plant with Black Leaf 40 and four to five pounds of slacked lime. A good spray material which will control plant lice is Nicotrol, 1 part to 400 parts of water.

Colorful Rodeo Leads Fair Feature Galaxy

Elaborate preparations have been made by the Tri-State Fair to defy the depression. With more features than ever, the Amarillo attraction, September 19-24 inclusive, will meet the usual fair requirements—"bigger and better"—officials claim. Because of its popularity the Tri-State Fair rodeo has been put into the world's championship class with thousands and thousands of dollars in prize. This year, officials predict, it will equal Calgary and Cheyenne rodeos. Leonard Stroud, world's champion trick rider, will direct the rodeo. Spectacular fireworks, night auto races, carnivals and other important attractions are on the program. Railroad fares to Amarillo during the six days will be the lowest in the history of the Panhandle.

Drying Beans and Peas.

Garden peas intended for drying should be gathered when in ideal condition for immediate table use, that is, when the seeds have attained full size and before the pods have begun to turn yellow and dry up. Shell them by placing the pods in boiling water for three minutes, then spread them on a wire screen having a mesh large enough to permit the shelled peas to pass through, with a box or basket beneath it. Rub the pods vigorously over the screen with the hands. This will burst and empty practically all the pods much more quickly than they could be shelled by hand. Then dip the shelled peas for only one to two minutes in boiling water (to which table salt has been added, 2 Ts to the gallon), drain, spread to a depth of 3-4 to 1 inch on the trays and dry at 115 to 120 degrees F., as initial temperature, rising to 140 toward the completion of the drying. Stir occasionally while drying. Properly dried peas will be uniformly dry throughout, showing no moisture near the center when split open.

Wax beans, Lima beans, or mature string beans for drying should be gathered when full grown but before the pods have begun to dry. Shell, blanch 5 minutes in boiling water with thorough aeration, dry and spread on trays to a depth of not more than 1 inch. Stir rather frequently in the first hours of drying. Considerable variation in the temperatures employed in drying is permissible, but do not heat the material above 150 degrees F. at the outset.

Brining String Beans. Select white or green stringless beans and remove the tip from each end. Wash the beans well and place in a 10 per cent or 40 degree brine. All salt each day until the brine is constant. When the brine is constant, store the beans in glass jars or earthenware containers, sealing closely with paraffin. After the jars are sealed do not move them, or the liquid will loosen the seal.

The beans can be freshened when needed for pickles or can be used for the table. The cold water method for freshening consists of placing the beans in cold water, three times their volume, bringing to simmering point and keeping it there for 20 minutes and then allowing to cool in the water. Place in fresh water for a few minutes. The salt is sufficiently extracted.

Canning Tomatoes.

Select firm, ripe tomatoes of medium size and uniform shape. Do not use tomatoes which are spotted or decayed places. Put into trays or shallow layers in wire baskets and dip in boiling water for about a minute, according to ripeness. Remove and plunge quickly into cold water for an instant. Drain at once and core and peel promptly. Pack into jars or cans as closely as possible. For home use, fill with a thick tomato sauce or with the juice of other tomatoes. If the tomatoes are to be sold under Federal regulations add only the juice which drains from them during peeling and trimming. Season with 1 ts salt per quart. Process quart and pint glass jars 45 minutes in boiling water and No. 2 and 3 sanitary or R enameled tin cans for 35 minutes.

Canning Tomato Juice. Select firm, ripe tomatoes. Wash well and drain. Cut into sections. Add a small quantity of water to start cooking and simmer until softened. Stir occasionally to prevent burning. Put thru a sieve fine enough to remove the seeds. Bring to boiling, put immediately in containers. Add 1 ts salt to each quart of juice. Process quart and pint glass jars 5 minutes in boiling water.

BUNT OR STINKING SMUT

 Bunt is the most destructive disease of wheat, due to its wide distribution and the regularity of its occurrence. The loss is two-fold, a large direct loss being caused by the reduction in yield and a smaller loss by the dockage of smutty wheat on the market. Smut is caused by a fungus which develops in the interior of the wheat plant and at heading time replaces the grains with false kernels containing a mass of black spores. In threshing, the false kernels are broken up, releasing the spores which are mixed throughout the grain. The disease is carried over summer on the outside of the seed. At sowing time the spores germinate and the fungus penetrates the young wheat plant and lives there until heading time the following spring.
 Heavy infection is favored by low temperatures and high moisture content of the soil at the time of sowing. Thus late sowing often results in high smut infection as compared with earlier sowing of the same seed.
 Smutty seed can be detected by fetid odor, and heavily smutted seed by the dark color of the grain caused by the clinging spores. It cannot be detected in fields until heading time, and it is then rather inconspicuous because such plants often are shorter and the heads smaller than normal heads; the glumes being forced apart by the false kernels makes the heads bluish green at first, but dark brown when the wheat is mature. The amount of smut in a field is frequently underestimated on account of the inconspicuousness of the smutted plants.
 Stinking smut can be satisfactorily controlled by treating the seed with copper carbonate before sowing. Two grades of this compound are on the market, one containing less than 25 per cent copper, and one containing 50 to 55 per cent copper. Either gives satisfactory control when properly used. Those containing 50 to 55 per cent copper should be used at the rate of two ounces per bushel of seed, while those containing less than 25 per cent copper should be used at the rate of 3 to 4 ounces per bushel. Complete information on treating methods and machinery can be secured from the County Agent.

First Christian Church.

Church school, 9:45; morning worship, 11:00; evening worship at 8:00.
 Last Sunday we began our ministry with the church in two splendid services. We were pleased to have a large number of visitors from the other churches in our audience at the morning hour. However we missed some of our own members. We want you to be present for all of the services next Sunday so that we can have the pleasure of getting acquainted with you. Remember that you miss a great opportunity for spiritual refreshment when you are absent from the communion service and when you miss the fellowship of other earnest folks as they worship the Lord. We are exceedingly anxious to have every member present and of course our visitors will always be cordially welcome. The subject of the sermon for Sunday morning will be "The Institution of the Ideal," that for the evening, "When the Lights Went Out." We will be disappointed unless you are present.

Trench Silos for Big West Texas Feed Crop

JUST WHAT ITS NAME IMPLIES, a trench silo is simply a trench dug into the ground into which chopped feed crops may be stored for feeding as succulent ensilage to dairy cows, beef cattle and work stock during periods of dry pastures or bad weather. Cheap, easily dug, easily filled, ensilage easily removed, the big disadvantage of a trench silo is excessive spoilage which may be avoided by properly filling, and by providing drainage. More than 200 were dug in Texas in 1931 and county agent reports indicate a big increase for 1932 especially in West Texas.
