AROUND TOWN

Sights and Faces Seen

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brownlee of Rio, New Mexico, came to Hereford Tuesday to get their dog, which had been lost. Needham to say, the pet was located through a Brand lost ad. Mrs. Brownlee subscribed for the Brand and said it is "like a letter from home."

Hereford streets are all spick and span these days, following a thorough cleaning and the painting of white traffic and parking lines. The line down the center of the street is worth the money, if motorists can be kept from parking so deep that one has to drive completely over the line to get by.

Tierra Blanca creek is lined with fishermen every afternoon. Some are lucky; others do not fare so well. But all apparently enjoy themselves.

Blending the recent list of big catches: Noah Ewton, who pulled out a five-pound bass at Sulphur Park last Tuesday, and Cliff Estes who hooked a three and one-half pounder at Boardman's the following day.

Mont Baker has found it much more pleasant to fish at about 5 o'clock in the morning—it's cool then, no mosquitoes and no flies.

Park Officials Visit Hereford

SUGGEST LOCAL GROUPS ACCEPT MAINTENANCE ON PARK

Members of the Texas State Park Board and representatives of the National Park Service visited the Hereford State Park Monday afternoon, completing a week's tour of state parks in Texas. The visit was preceded by a meeting with the Panhandle Parks Advisory Board at Amarillo to discuss plans for the future operation of the three state parks in this section—Hereford, Palo Duro and Palo Verde.

A local delegation met the visitors at the park club house and discussed the problems with state park representatives. Among those to meet the visitors were Mayor Charles Paddock, Vern Witherspoon, member of the Panhandle Parks Advisory Board; J. H. Head, Jess Stinchfield, Frank Gyles, George Magee, Glenn Weir, Wirt Phillips, Mrs. Vern Witherspoon, Jack Rose and County Judge Mal Stewart.

Pat M. Neff outlined the problems facing the state and the advantages in taking over and operating the parks which have been built by the state and federal governments. The immediate problem facing the state at the Hereford and Palo Verde parks, he said, is one of funds for their maintenance and operation. He expressed the opinion that city and county authorities or civic clubs are in better position than the state to maintain and supervise the local parks and various suggestions were made, but no official action taken.

NEW RULING GOVERNING EXEMPTIONS IS GIVEN

A new ruling from the attorney general's office regarding voting qualifications has been received by the county tax collector's office. It says that those becoming of age after February 1, 1936, and on or before the date of election are entitled to vote without exemption certificates.

Although the ruling does not state, it is presumed the same would apply to those moving into the state after February 1, 1936. The ruling pertains to those not residing in state of more than 60 days.

TWO DAYS ARE CRAMMED WITH ACTIVITY AT STATE PARK

Hereford State Park will be the scene of pleasure and entertainment seekers of this section this week end, with several hundred visitors expected for the American Legion's two-day Independence Day celebration. The program gets under way tomorrow afternoon and continues almost unbroken until late Saturday night.

Mingled in with half a dozen different types of entertainment will be the visit to the state park, and ventures along the midway, which will be no small part of the attraction. All concessions will be operated by local people, but will offer all the variety of (Continued on page seven.)

Lions Install New Officers

LADIES' NIGHT BANQUET MARKS EVENT LAST THURSDAY NIGHT

Following an elaborate chicken dinner, five new officers and two directors were installed as leaders of the Hereford Lions Club last Thursday night at the First Presbyterian church. It was ladies' night at the banquet and about 100 enjoyed the occasion.

Ralph Smith was presented the gavel as boss Lion by the outgoing boss, Dave Alexander, who presided over the installation. He also conferred offices upon Alex O. Thompson, vice president; John McLean, secretary-treasurer; Glenn Weir, tall twister; Ray Conway, lion tamer, and Arch Foster and Bill Davis, directors. He instructed each as to the duties of his office and extended his best wishes.

A short program preceded the installation, including two vocal numbers by Mrs. Ray Conway and several selections by Ralph Smith's string trio. Alex Bateman, called upon by Boss Smith to make a talk on contouring, presented Alexander with a pen from the club, a token of its appreciation for the work he did during the past year.

NYA PROJECT HALTED HERE

The NYA summer youth project in Hereford came to a halt yesterday, only a month after its inception, as the National Youth Administration reached the end of its fiscal year. All NYA projects came to a close at that time, it was announced.

However, this does not mean that the project is closed definitely. With the start of the new year, projects will be either renewed or dropped by the administration. It is impossible to say if the local project will be reopened. However, a district representative here early in the week was enthusiastic about the work being accomplished. Between 40 and 50 children were reporting to the group leaders under the supervision of Miss Eloyse Pitman.

SEWING ROOM DISPLAY SHOWS SURPRISING WORK STANDARD

Open house was held Saturday afternoon at the WPA sewing room in the Deaf Smith county court house so that the public might view and inspect the work being done by the women under the supervision of Mrs. Pink Gilliland.

Garments were made through a 10-day test period. Eighteen women, working a total of 1,293 hours, completed 519 garments, using 1,187 yards of materials. Each woman average 27 garments a day. The garments made included women's and children's dresses, gowns, slips, shorts, slacks and overalls, and men's and boys' shirts, shorts, socks and overalls. The number of pieces completed is by no means the entire story.

Road Project Is Ready When Labor On Hand

NOT NECESSARY TO RE-SUBMIT PROJECT, IS WPA REPORT

The county-wide WPA road project, which was halted several months ago after the work order had been issued, because the state had exceeded its quota, is now ready to start "when and if the necessary labor becomes available," according to word received by County Judge Mal Stewart from A. A. Meredith, district director of WPA at Amarillo.

The letter said it is not necessary to re-submit the project since it already has been given Presidential approval. However, Meredith said: "Due to new regulations governing detailed plans and specifications, it will probably be necessary that you furnish us with more comprehensive drawings. We will advise you shortly as to just what additional plans will be required in order to start the project."

WPA labor is not available immediately, and it may be some time before the project can be started. It includes all county roads not listed as separate projects, which never had advanced as far as county-wide project.

Rain Scattered Over Territory

Helpful moisture fell in scattered sections of the Hereford area Monday afternoon and night, reaching a maximum of half an inch about 15 miles southeast of Hereford. Almost half an inch fell here, according to the gauge at the First National Bank.

Scattered showers fell north of Friona, but that city received only a light sprinkle in the afternoon. Roads were slippery from Summerfield to Hereford because of the precipitation. Edgar Ireland reported half an inch southeast of here. Nestor Gass said there was no rainfall to the north.

MRS. MINNIE SMITH IS ILL AT HER HOME HERE

Mrs. Minnie Smith, 78-year-old pioneer resident of Hereford, was reported slightly improved at her home in West Hereford this morning, following more than a week of serious illness.

MEETING OF DEAF SMITH COUNTY WHEAT FARMERS

About 50 Deaf Smith county wheat farmers met in the district court room Saturday afternoon for the purpose of discussing plans for procuring for farmers of this county the $1 per acre plow-up money on wheat, as provided by the new agricultural program.

A committee consisting of W. W. Wimberly, Dawn; J. W. Kirby, Bippus, and J. D. Love of Hereford was selected to look into the matter and make recommendations.

B. AND P. W. SPEND SPARE TIME LOOKING FOR TURTLES

Intent upon hogging most of the midway honors during the American Legion celebration at Hereford State Park this week end, the Business and Professional Women's club has been catching turtles—big turtles and little turtles—during their spare moments for the past week.

It wasn't explained how the women learned the turtles' correct names, but there is Little Breeches, Tar Baby, G. O. P., Twenty Grand, Centennial, F. D. R., Moss Back, Wild Fire, Geronimo, Bonus, White Face and Alamo.

Bandit Trail Lost Near Hereford After Friona Bank Robbed of $965

Walker Secures Creamery Stock Of S. O. Wilson

MRS. S. B. WALKER IS NAMED SECRETARY-TREASURER

S. B. Walker has announced the purchase of the S. O. Wilson interest in the Farmers Creamery here and the addition of Mrs. Walker to the personnel as book-keeper for the creamery and secretary-treasurer of the Association, effective yesterday.

Mr. Wilson, one of the organizers of the Association in 1928 and its president until November, 1933, when he was succeeded by Mr. Walker, left the creamery, he announced, to devote all his time to irrigation farming and dairy interests.

11 Sections of Land Reported

Eleven sections of land in Deaf Smith county have been reported to the wind erosion district governing body since a request was issued last week for reports so that steps can be taken immediately to protect neighboring fields.

County Judge Mal Stewart said owners of such land were being notified by letter that the land must be worked, and if this is not done, the district will hire someone to work it, charging the expense against the land. Landowners will be given about 30 days to work their land before the district steps in, he said.

DEAF SMITH RECEIVES OVER MILLION IN FARM PAYMENTS

Deaf Smith was one of nine counties in this congressional district to receive more than a million dollars from the Democratic administration's farm program in the past three years, according to a report compiled by the Department of Agriculture.

Deaf Smith has received $1,156,968.86, the report shows, being exceeded in payments only by Colingsworth, Hall, Ochiltree and Swisher counties. Carson, Gray, Randall and Wheeler also passed the million mark.

SIMPSON TO SPEAK FOR DOUGLASS ON SATURDAY

Col. E. A. Simpson of Amarillo will speak here Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock in behalf of the candidacy of Curtis Douglass for state senator, it has been announced from the Douglass headquarters at Panhandle. The place was not announced.

Col. Simpson will discuss Douglass' platform, which includes information on legislator's fees, the prompt payment of old age pensions, economy in state expense and a tax program based on the capacity of the tax payer to pay.

WOMAN IS RECOVERING AFTER WALKING INTO AIRPLANE PROP

Mrs. Allen Murphy, wife of an airplane stunt pilot, is recovering on each of the last three Sundays from injuries received late Sunday when she walked into the spinning propeller of an airplane at Renfro Airport.

The injuries resulted in the amputation of her left forearm and a crushed third finger on the right hand, which may have to be removed later. The accident occurred at about 7:30 o'clock.

SCS Extends Use of WPA Labor for July

PROJECT REMAINS OPEN UNTIL "FURTHER NOTICE" IS GIVEN

The Soil Conservation Service will continue to use WPA labor until further notice, for a period of at least 30 days, O. T. Williams, project manager, announced, following instructions from Washington, delivered last week end at a meeting in Amarillo.

The announcement means that approximately 150 men now at work on the project will continue their employment at least until August 1. When the project was first started with the use of WPA labor, plans called for a halt of the open work on July 1, work after that date to be done by regular employees of the service.

Mr. Williams and Lee T. Morgan attended the meeting from the local office last Friday and Saturday. At the conference, new cost reports, new cooperative agreements and new progress reports were explained. Soil conservationists, project managers and camp superintendents attended, along with the regional staff.

Those now working are busy surveying, constructing terraces, working at gully control, removing fence drift hummocks and clearing prickly pears from pasture land. July 1 was the close of the soil conservation year.

MRS. BETTY COCANOUGHER SHOWS IMPROVEMENT TODAY

Mrs. Betty Cocanougher, 71-year-old resident of the Jumbo community, was reported improved this morning at the Godwin hospital where she was brought Sunday following a stroke of paralysis. Her condition has been considered critical for several days, but considerable hope is held for her recovery.

CLINT SMALL REVIEWS HIS SENATE WORK

Senator Clint Small of Amarillo, speaking from the court house lawn last night and at the Lions club yesterday at noon in behalf of his candidacy for re-election to the Texas Senate and discussing the cost of government, reviewed his long record of accomplishments while in the legislature.

Small spent the afternoon in the western part of the county viewing the wind erosion conditions, he said, and was agreeably surprised with the constructive work that is going on to pre-

M. D. WOMBLE BECOMES WORSHIPFUL MASTER OF ORGANIZATION

Installation of new officers of the Hereford Masonic Lodge took place at the lodge last Thursday night, with M. D. Womble succeeding W. C. Nix as Worshipful Master for the coming year. Six elective officers and five appointive officers were installed at the regular ceremonies.

R. E. Perkins became Senior Warden; Ed Bogness, Junior Warden; Egbert Brady secretary; Miles Roberson, treasurer; G. M. Suggs, Tiler; H. A. Close, Senior Deacon; Sherman Morgan, Junior Deacon; Grant Fuller and Dr. B. M. Whitshire, stewards, and A. O. Thompson, Chaplain.

The lodge is looking forward to one of its most successful years, Worshipful Master Womble announced. A full program is being planned, and much is expected to be accomplished, he stated.

Clyde Posey Is Clovis Medalist

Clyde Posey captured medalist honors in the West Texas-Eastern New Mexico golf championship last week end at Clovis Golf Club, but he and J. M. Posey were defeated in first round championship competition and had to be content with rulling the consolation flight.

Clyde cracked par by one stroke, touring the course in 70, to lead the field in qualifying. Repeating his victory in a recent local tournament, he gave brother J. M. a 6 and 5 trouncing in the consolation title match. Clyde was awarded a dozen golf balls and a golf bag for his troubles, and J. M. received a pair of golf shoes as the runner-up prize. Bob Shaggs of Clovis captured the championship.

TRIO ELUDES OFFICERS OF SECTION; $5,000 OVERLOOKED

Disappearing as quickly as they worked, eluding every effort of officers from Amarillo to Clovis to pick up their trail, a trio of bank robbers held up employees and one customer of the Friona State Bank Monday afternoon, scooped up $965 in currency and small silver and fled toward Hereford at a high rate of speed.

Entering the front of the bank at 3:20 o'clock, two of the men, unmasked and heavily armed, announced: "This is a hold-up. Don't get excited, we're not going to hurt you." Methodically they went about their work, forcing their victims to lie on the floor behind the cage, one keeping them covered with a pistol while the other scooped up the money and stuffed it into his shirt.

Victims of Hold-up. In the bank at the time were Hugh E. Lee, the only customer; C. E. McLean, cashier; Mrs. McLean and Miss Orma White, assistant cashiers. Mr. McLean was forced to open the vault safe, which was cleaned out of all money in sight. The haul included a "dummy" money sack, while a sack containing $5,000 hidden in the vault was overlooked. The occupants of the bank were herded into the vault and the door slammed three times but not locked. The pair fled through a side door, joining their confederate in a waiting automobile. Circling the block to the southwest, they struck the Hereford highway and roared out of town before an alarm could be sounded.

Mrs. McLean described the two men as being opposite types, one heavy set and dark, the other small and blonde. The large man was exceedingly vulgar in language, she said, throughout the robbery. He shook Lee roughly and kicked him while ushering him to the back of the cage. The other was as affable as the first was vulgar, Mrs. McLean said.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Deaf Smith County, Greeting: You are hereby commanded to summon Claudice Sherrill and Alton L. Sears to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Deaf Smith County, Texas, at the courthouse thereof in Hereford, Texas, on the first Monday in August, 1936, being the 3d day of August, 1936, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 26th day of June, 1936, the file number of which is 2305, in which suit Frank F. Ferry, Kent Chandler and Farwell Winston, Trustees, are plaintiffs and Claudice Sherrill and Alton L. Sears are defendants, the nature of plaintiffs' cause of action being alleged as follows:
That plaintiffs are trustees under a declaration of trust dated December 23, 1933, recorded in the Deed Records of Deaf Smith County, Texas, Volume 72, page 51, and are the assignees of the vendors under the contract hereinafter mentioned, which vendors were Francis C. Farwell and Frederick E. French, Trustees under a trust deed dated June 5, 1915, recorded in the Deed Records of Deaf Smith County, Texas, Volume 36, page 243.
That heretofore, by written contract dated July 25, 1929, recorded in the Deed Records of Deaf Smith County, Texas, Volume 62, page 300, the said Francis C. Farwell and Frederick E. French, as trustees, contracted to sell to B. M. Wiltshire the following described land in Deaf Smith County, Texas, to-wit: All of the Northeast Quarter of Section No. Three, in Township No. 4-North of Range No. 2-East.
That said contract provides that the purchase price of said land is $2720.00, payable on or before at the proper season, sow at least eighty per cent of the land described in the contract to wheat; that the vendee shall, beginning with the year 1930, pay the taxes on the tract of land described in the contract before they become delinquent; that failure of the vendee to perform the covenants imposed upon him by such contract shall nullify the same and all payments made and all improvements placed on the land shall be kept by the vendors; that such contract is assignable; that plaintiffs have performed all the covenants imposed upon them by the terms of such contract. That the defendant Claudice Sherrill is the owner of the rights of the vendee under said contract.

That no payments have been made on the purchase price of said land and the same was not sowed to wheat in the proper season in 1935. That on account of the defendant's default in the payment of the purchase price of said land and in the tilling of the land as provided in said contract the plaintiffs have declared the contract for the sale of said land at an end and are entitled to recover the title to and possession of said land from defendants and each of them.

That the defendant Alton L. Sears is claiming some interest in the land, the exact nature of which is not known by the plaintiffs, but whatever right, title or interest said defendant has in the land was acquired through the contract above mentioned and is subordinate and inferior to plaintiffs' title and claim to the land.
Plaintiffs pray that the defendants be cited to appear and answer their petition and that the plaintiffs recover title to and possession of the land and improvements; that the contract for the sale of the land be declared at an end, and for general relief.
You are hereby commanded to summon the defendants, Claudice Sherrill and Alton L. Sears, and serve this citation by making publication of this citation once each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof in some newspaper published in your county, but if there be no newspaper published in said county, then in any newspaper published in the nearest county in which a newspaper is published. Herein fall not but have you before said Court on the first day of the next term thereof this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court at office in the City of Hereford, Texas, this the 26th day of June, A. D. 1936.
(SEAL) L. H. FOSTER,
Clerk of the District Court of Deaf Smith County, Texas.
By Effa Rutherford, Deputy.
Issued this the 26th day of June, 1936.

J.C. Parkers and Harold Closes Entertain With Two Events

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Parker and Mrs. Harold Close were hosts at a dance given at the State Park club house Tuesday night. Herb Sindt's orchestra furnished music for the dancing which was enjoyed until a late hour.

In the refreshment room the table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a large cut glass punch bowl. At either end of the table yellow candles burned in silver candelabra. Cookies, punch, mints and nuts were served.

Forty-four couples were entertained. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Sobell of Shreveport, Louisiana; William Weatherby, Jr., of Hubbard City; Mrs. George Lancaster, Clovis; Miss Katherine Sillip, Los Angeles; Miss Laura Fuller and Sidney Fuller, Chicago; Mrs. Jack Houns, Dallas; Miss Veve Light, Abilene, Kansas, and Mrs. Peers Wheat, Van Horn.

Mrs. Harold Close and Mrs. J. C. Parker entertained with a bridge party Tuesday afternoon from 3 until 6 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Parker. The house was attractively decorated with a profusion of arden flowers.

After the games high score prize was awarded Mrs. Bobo McLean, second high to Mrs. C. H. Dyar.

Refreshments were served Misses C. Ferguson, F. H. Oberthier, H. Dyar, B. F. Guthrie, Jesse Sanford, Charles Donald, Dow Greer, Ray Barber, Jim Black, John Olson, John Coffee, Bobo McLean, Alice Lea, of Denver; Tom Carter, Gaston Baer, Paul Math-

MISS FLOESIE BOWMAN MARRIED TO JAMES G. PLOTT AT VERNON

In an informal wedding at the Vernon Methodist church, Miss Floesie Bowman, formerly of Hereford, was married last Saturday morning to James G. Plott of Frederick, Oklahoma. Rev. J. H. Hamblen, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony before a large number of relatives and friends of the couple.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bowman of Hereford, wore a navy blue triple sheer with white accessories. She carried a prayer book covered with white carnations, baby breath and white ribbon streamers. She also wore a white lace collar and brooch which her grandmother wore at her own wedding 59 years ago. Following a wedding trip to Sulphur, Oklahoma, and probably to the Ozarks, Mr. and Mrs. Plott will be at home in Frederick.

Attending the wedding from Hereford were Mr. and Mrs. Bow. Hereford were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bowman, her brother, William Bowman, and sister, Miss Virginia, and Miss Louise Jacobsen. The groom's parents and other relatives were also present. Mrs. Plott entertained members of the two families and the bridal party with a lawn supper-Friday evening.

Mrs. Plott is a graduate of Hereford High School and of the Progressive Series Teachers College of St. Louis. She also attended Washington University of St. Louis, and the University of Colorado. She is a member of the Pi Mu musical sorority, the National Organists' Guild and a number of other musicians' organizations. She has been organist for the Vernon Methodist church for several years.

MISS LOUISE HUNTER BRIDE OF H. F. POWERS

The marriage of Miss Louise Hunter of Hereford to Mr. H. F. Powers of Miami, New Mexico, was solemnized Monday afternoon, June 22, at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. W. A. McCann officiated in the presence of relatives and a few friends.

The bride was lovely in a pink pebble crepe with white accessories and carried a bouquet of roses. She is a graduate of Hereford High School and has made her home in Miami for the past two years. Mr. Powers is a rancher near Miami.

Those present for the wedding were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dove of Canyon, Mr. and Mrs. Dillard Edwards and children, Misses Augustine Gregory, Virginia and Marie Miller and Jackie Miller.

VACATION CHURCH SCHOOL FACULTY ENJOYS OUTING

The faculty of the Vacation Church School of the first Presbyterian church enjoyed an outing at Gem Lake near Amarillo Monday, following the close of the school.

Those attending were Misses Bettie Rose Kerr, Jean Snyder, Mary Ann Baird, Virginia Nix, Vivian Olson, Barbara Brotherton, and Billie Jo Roberts, Mrs. E. S. Ireland and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thorns and son, Jack.

TO BUILD 36,000 MILES OF TERRACE IN THREE YEARS

More than 36,000 miles of farm terracing, or enough to make four terraces from New York to Los Angeles, are scheduled for construction by the Soil Conservation Service of the Department of Agriculture during the next three years under agreements with farmers. H. H. Bennett, chief of the service, said recently.

Most of the terracing will be confined to Southeast and will be held to protect approximately 500,000 acres from erosion.

To date the service has built more than 15,000 miles of terraces as part of an erosion control program on farms of more than 200,000 acres. Approximately half of this work was done during the past year. Approximately 950 miles of terraces have been completed in the wind eroded region, according to H. H. Fennell, regional conservator.

HONEYMOONING COUPLE ARRESTED ON BUS HERE

A honeymooning couple was taken from a fast bound bus here early last Friday morning and returned to Clovis where they were charged with robbery in connection with the theft of $475 from Fred Brown, a World War veteran. Another young couple was apprehended in Amarillo and also charged with robbery.

Brown said the money was taken from his sock while he slept in a hotel room. The young couple had occupied rooms in the same hotel. They are in their early 20's and were married last Tuesday. The couple arrested here were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Young. The others were Mr. and Mrs. Troy Gross.

"CRADLE OF TEXAS LIBERTY"
Peaceful now, its supreme sacrifice to posterity enshrined down the colonnades of time, the Alamo rests in the San Antonio sun, stepped in the traditions of the Lone Star State is bore. Never forgotten, by Texans, the shrine of Texas liberty will ever live in the hearts of Centennial visitors.

GIVE CHILD CHANCE TO ENJOY THE SUMMER

Schools are closed for the summer all over the state, and citizens interested in the welfare of future generations are confronted with the fact that a vast amount of energy and ability may go to waste if skill and patience are not employed in directing the growing children in this play time season, according to Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer.

"The civic, moral, and educational value of developing the natural talents of each child," Dr. Brown said, "has a far-reaching influence on the health, knowledge and character of the future men and women of this state. The child need not be directed in each little act he performs. Let the summer vacation season be the time when the child has a chance to develop his own individuality. Many an artist, statesman or competent executive has come from humble surroundings. But looking back of this we probably find that this outstanding individual had a chance to develop his natural talent.

"It has been observed that children grow faster during the summer months than at any other time. This is explainable, perhaps, because it is then that they are out in the sunshine and fresh air. Good health is essential to the physical and mental growth. The prime factors of good health are care of body, nourishing food of the right kind, regular habits, sufficient sleep, rest and play, and a happy state of mind.

"Of course, where the child lives and under what conditions, means a great deal as to the type of recreation he will find during the summer. The city child will look forward to trips to the country or hours spent in the play grounds and swimming pools. The child living in the country will have many things to do that will keep him in the sunshine most of the time.

"Let us all work toward the end that each child may feel at the end of summer that he has worked out some of his own ideas and dreams and still developed his physical and mental capacities during these few months of play."

BY PEGGY VALENTINE
Rev. Fred Hawkins of Hart held services at the school house at 10:30 and 8 o'clock Sunday. Shopping in Hereford, Saturday were Dock Roberson and family, N. G. Elliston and family, Ben McBrayer and family, Mrs. Louie Olson and family, J. W. Dickerson and family.

Mrs. H. B. Elliston and family, Mrs. R. W. Elliston and family and Billy Townsend attended Sabbath school in Hereford Sunday. Billy Valentine accompanied Bernice Elliston to the afternoon services.

Noile Elliston's sisters from Portus are visiting his home here. Several teachers from Canyon visited the N. G. Ellistons Sunday. Geo. Brumley called in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Louie Olson, Thursday evening.

Helen Frances Elliston is home again after being in the Hereford hospital for a tonsil operation. Rev. Fred Hankins and daughter, Genice, of Hart, and Dock Roberson and family spent Sunday with the Ben McBrayers.

Several from this community attended the convention at Westway Sunday.

N. G. Elliston and family attended church in Hereford Sunday. Mrs. Louie Olson and Misses Peggy and Lorene Valentine attended church in Hereford Sunday night.

There will be an agricultural meeting at the school house to-night, July 2.

Rev. Hankins of Hart plans to conduct a revival meeting at the school house some time this summer. Rev. Patterson of Hereford also has planned a revival here for the last week in July.

Medicine Man Judge, Jury.

It's the medicine man who decides upon the innocence or guilt of an accused person in those African tribes which still hold trial by ordeal. The ordeal consists in making the accused gulp a cup of poison. If he becomes violently ill he is adjudged guilty and is then beaten to death. If he dies from the effects of the poison he is also considered guilty. But if his stomach throws off the mixture, then he is considered innocent. The potency of the potion, however, depends upon the medicine man. If he thinks the accused is guilty he administers a powerful dose. If he thinks the accused is innocent he gives him a harmless drink.

Methodist Church.

I am glad to be home. About June 1, the church told me to prepare to attend the Texas Pastors School at SMU, with expenses paid. There was no trouble arranging such program. The school opened June 15 and closed June 25. Classes were held each morning with a public lecture at noon and in the evenings. Outstanding educators and theologians of the various denomination were present. One platform lecturer was a colored man. About 375 preachers registered, with that many more visiting a few days at a time.

I visited friends and relatives in Fort Worth and Dallas, and made one trip to the Centennial. I would not say I saw the Centennial—it is too big. I would advise those contemplating a trip to this wonderful institution to wait until cooler weather, and allow two or three days. Wear your most comfortable shoes and take a little money with you. If you can stand the expense, it is worth your time.

We want to see you at church Sunday and will tell you what we saw, heard and felt. Come to Sunday school, stay for church, which begins at 11. Evening service at 8:30. Good music, good fellowship, a message and welcome. Worship with us.

T. C. WILLETT, Pastor.

10,000 UNPAID VOLUNTEERS ARE AID TO WEATHER MEN

A complete picture of North American climate is possible only because of the great mass of fundamental facts furnished by 5,000 volunteer weather observers. Each unofficial observer, says W. R. Gregg, chief of the Weather Bureau, really runs a small field station at no expense to the Government except for the new instruments and blank forms used.

This system of augmenting official weather records began in 1891, when the newly created weather bureau was charged with the duty of "taking such meteorological observations as may be necessary to establish and record climatic conditions in the United States." The cost of maintaining thousands of stations to make these observations all over the country was prohibitive.

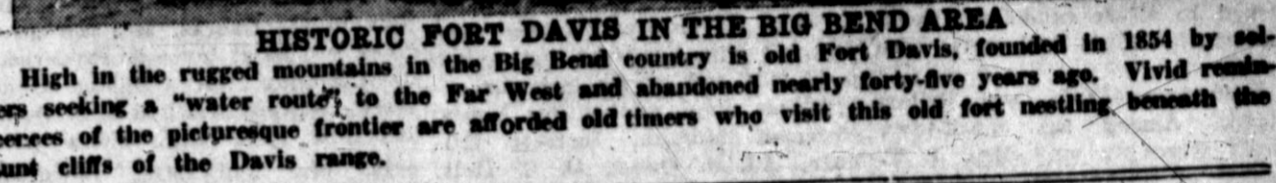

About 800 members of the present volunteer force have served for 25 years or longer. Three have been keeping records for more than 54 years, and 54 for between 40 and 50 years. There are 300 women observers, 100 with more than 40 years of service. To prevent breaks in the continuity of the daily records, each observer has a substitute, which means that 10,000 persons are ready to give their service at any time.

Every day at a fixed time, usually around sunset, the observer records the maximum and minimum temperature, the precipitation, and such unusual conditions as wind, dust, or thunderstorms, fog and frost. At the end of the month the record goes to the Weather Bureau in Washington, D. C., for tabulation and filing.

From millions of these records, meteorologists work out the answers to the countless questions on climatology. Recently these questions have dealt largely with land policies for land is "conditioned by the sky under which it lies and by the climate which is proper to it."

—Job Ahead for Science.

Science still has to capture the energy of the sun for power. Each square foot of sunshine continuously delivers 100 watts of energy.

HISTORIC FORT DAVIS IN THE BIG BEND AREA
High in the rugged mountains in the Big Bend country is old Fort Davis, founded in 1854 by soldiers seeking a "water route" to the Far West and abandoned nearly forty-five years ago. Vivid reminders of the picturesque frontier are afforded old timers who visit this old fort nesting beneath the gaunt cliffs of the Davis range.

SIMPLE EXPERIMENT SHOWS EXPLOSIVE POWER OF DUST

Dust explosions which occur in grain elevators and other industrial plants can be easily demonstrated.

Chemical engineers of the United States Department of Agriculture often produce miniature dust explosions at training schools for firemen and at fire-prevention meetings. They take a small handful of corn starch and sift it through a fine cheese cloth onto a lighted match. A vivid, fast burning flame appears as if by magic. It is such a flame in an industrial plant—starting perhaps from an electric spark or the striking of a match—which ignites other inflammable dust and causes a disastrous explosion.

Once the dust starts burning the flame travels rapidly, building up pressure which causes the actual explosion. Inflammable dust will not explode unless it is fine, dry, and suspended in air.

Investigators by the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils indicate that two reports are usually heard in connection with large dust explosions. The first report is sharp and quick—the second, loud and rumbling. A small quantity of suspended dust catching on fire apparently causes the first. The other dust is disturbed and another explosion, much larger than the first and accompanied by more flame, spreads through the dust zone.

CANNED ORANGE JUICE WITH "BITE," PLEASES THE BUYER

Canned orange juice with the "bite" of fresh juice developed by the Government's Citrus Products Laboratory at Winter Haven, Florida, has widened the market for this fruit. More than a half million boxes of oranges went into canned juice last season, compared to less than 50,000 boxes five years ago.

Grapefruit juice has been canned satisfactorily for more than ten years, but canned orange juice changed its flavor after pasteurization and often developed a "cooked" taste.

Canned orange juice with fresh fruit flavor is obtained by flash pasteurization, pushing the temperature to a high point for a few seconds only, and by removing the air before pasteurization, which preserves both flavor and vitamin C. Grapefruit juice canned by this method also has a better flavor and keeps better than that put up by the older method.

The process developed by the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils and now in use in California and Florida not only uses surplus fruit in good years, but prevents a total loss to growers when an unexpected freeze leaves a crop unfit for market as fresh fruit.

Like boiled water, pasteurized orange and grapefruit juices may have a slightly flat taste, because the air has been driven out. The original tang may be restored to both by pouring the juice from one container to another six or eight times before serving.

WEALTH GOES TO CITIES IN DIVISION OF ESTATES

The movement of many people from the farms to the cities has long been a familiar feature of American life. Less obvious is the fact that this migration to the cities draws with it, sooner or later, a considerable share of farm wealth. Inheritance is one important way through which the cities drain wealth from the country.

Some of the children of a prosperous farm family go to the city. Others remain at home. The parents die and the estate has to be divided. The children who remain on the farm assume a debt against the property which did not formerly exist.

Economists of the United States Department of Agriculture estimate that from 1920 to 1929 the transfer of wealth from farms to cities as the result of settlement of estates amounted to no less than $3,000,000,000 and possibly to $4,000,000,000.

This helps to explain, they say, why the farmhouses built in recent years in New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio or the South are, as a rule, neither large nor so substantial as those built a century or more ago.

In recent years, not only have there been little or no accumulation of wealth on farms, but many farms have been getting deeper and deeper in debt. In many cases these debts have resulted in transfer of land ownership to urban residents, with consequent increase in farm tenancy.

Oldest Pioneer Passes at Vega

Funeral services were held at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Catholic church in Vega for Isabel Gurule, 89, member of the Panhandle's oldest Spanish family, who died at 3:10 o'clock Sunday morning at his Vega home. Mass was read by Rev. M. G. French. Pallbearers were Ben Freeman, W. N. Pulliam, Buford Montgomery, Allen Staggs, Mel Armstrong and Henry Holloway. Burial was in the Vega cemetery. Gurule came to the Panhandle at the age of 18 from Anton Chico, New Mexico. He was well known by all the old time cowmen of this section. He was believed to have lived in the Panhandle a score of years longer than any other pioneer now living. He worked as a cowhand for the Torrey interests near old Tascosa, as early as 1865 and later on the LS ranch and the LITS ranch. He is believed to have come to this country ahead of Colonel Charles Goodnight. Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Emmons were in Plainview last Thursday.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Deaf Smith County, Greeting: You are hereby commanded to summon J. H. White, as you have once before been commanded to summon him and as he has once before been commanded to appear by Non-Resident Notice, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Deaf Smith County, Texas, at the courthouse thereof in Hereford, Texas, on the first Monday in August, 1936, being the 3d day of August, 1936, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 25th day of October, 1935, the file number of which is 2273, in which suit Frank F. Ferry, Kent Chandler and Farwell Winston, Trustees, are plaintiffs and J. H. White and Distributors Investment Company, a corporation, are defendants, the nature of plaintiffs' cause of action being alleged as follows:

That plaintiffs are trustees under a declaration of trust dated December 23, 1933, recorded in the Deed Records of Deaf Smith County, Texas, Volume 72, page 51, and are the assignees of the vendors under the contract hereinafter mentioned, which vendors were Francis C. Farwell, Frederick E. French and Charles E. Harding, Trustees under a trust deed dated June 4, 1915, recorded in the Deed Records of Deaf Smith County, Texas, Volume 36, page 243.

That heretofore, by written contract dated August 27, 1929, recorded in the Deed Records of Deaf Smith County, Texas, Volume 63, page 287, the said Francis C. Farwell, Frederick E. French and Charles E. Harding, as trustees, contracted to sell to J. H. White the following described land in Deaf Smith County, Texas, to-wit: All of the Northeast Quarter of Section No. Seventeen and the West One-half of the Southeast Quarter of Section No. Eight, all in Township No. 3-North of Range No. 1-East of a Capitol Syndicate Subdivision, as shown by plat of such Subdivision of record in the Deed Records of Deaf Smith County, Texas.

That said contract provides that the purchase price of said land is $4500.00, payable on or before six years from November 1, 1929; that the vendee shall each year, at the proper season, sow at least eighty per cent of the land described in the contract to wheat; that the vendee shall, beginning with the year 1930, pay the taxes on the tract of land described in the contract before they become delinquent; that failure of the vendee to perform the covenants imposed upon him by such contract shall nullify the same and all payments made and all improvements placed on the land shall be kept by the vendors; that such contract is assignable. That plaintiffs have performed all the covenants imposed upon them by the terms of such contract. That no payments have been made on the purchase price of said land and the same was not sowed to wheat in the proper season in 1934. That on account of the defendants' default in the tilling of the land as provided in said contract, the plaintiffs have declared the contract for the sale of said land at an end and are entitled to recover the title to and possession of said land from defendants and each of them. That the defendant Distributors Investment Company, is claiming some interest in the land, the exact nature of which is not known by the plaintiffs, but whatever right, title or interest said defendant has in the land was acquired through the defendant J. H. White and is subordinate and inferior to plaintiffs' title and claim to the land. Plaintiffs pray that the defendants be cited to appear and answer their petition and that the plaintiffs recover title to and possession of the land and improvements; that the contract for the sale of the land be declared at an end, and for general relief. You are hereby commanded to summon the defendant J. H. White and serve this citation by making publication of this citation once each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof in some newspaper published in your county, but if there be no newspaper published in said county, then in any newspaper published in the nearest county in which a newspaper is published. Two Important Foods

Everyone knows we make Cream O' Plains Butter at our creamery here in Hereford from the finest cream produced in this area. In fact, most people of Hereford insist on Cream O' Plains when they are buying butter. Other cities in the Panhandle are learning how good this butter is and are using no other kind.

But Cream O' Plains Ice Cream is a new product. We just started making it this spring. But let us assure you it is a fit companion for Cream O' Plains Butter. Rich in butter fat, it exceeds the requirements of the state law in butter content. Made of pure, fresh and pasteurized sweet cream, it is truly excellent food.

NOTICE TO PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation, which may appear in the columns of this paper, will be gladly corrected upon due notice of same being given to the editor personally at the office at 402 Main Street, Hereford, Texas.

WELCOME, CELEBRATION VISITORS

The Brand, voicing the thoughts of every business firm or individual who has seen fit to bring you its message in the columns of this July 4th edition, welcomes every visitor to Hereford and Hereford's state park on July 3 and 4 for the American Legion's bigger and better celebration.

We hope you enjoy every minute of your visit. We hope it is possible to conduct all the events in such a manner as to cause no disappointments. We hope nothing arises to make anyone regret his coming here. We hope the celebration succeeds in the fundamental purpose for which it was planned—to bring the citizens of Hereford and its area closer together. Above all, we hope you'll come back again soon.

To the American Legion we have many words of congratulation and approval. Members of this worthy organization have worked diligently to make the affair a howling success. Although they have been helped by other organizations, its success will be a tribute to them.

PANHANDLE LOSES VALUABLE TEACHER

The Panhandle in general, and Tulia in particular, have lost a wide-awake, progressive and intelligent school man, in the words of C. H. Dillehay, superintendent of local schools, with the passing of W. H. Younger, superintendent of Tulia public schools, last week, just as he was reaching the prime of a brilliant school career.

"I worked with him for 13 years—he went to Tulia at the same time I came here—and I found him a man of sound ideas, willing to carry his part of the load, and a man of unusual intelligence," was the tribute paid him by Mr. Dillehay. The Brand extends its sympathy to his family and friends and to the people of Tulia, who lost a valuable citizen.

PROMOTING SOIL CONSERVATION

The Wind Erosion District, that is Deaf Smith county, is ready to start functioning, planning now to prevent erosion by wind next spring. Farmers have been asked to cooperate by reporting land that is unprotected and will be a hazard next year. That is a duty, and it is a matter of protection for the neighbor who tries to save his own land.

The erosion district presents an angle that few of us have considered heretofore. The adverse publicity given this section of the country because of its sandstorms during recent years has made outsiders dubious of the value of the land and has to some extent destroyed the sales value of property. Money was hard to get; no one wanted to make an investment in a "coming desert." Even the Federal Land Bank hesitated. In the erosion districts, however, a Federal Land Bank representative said: "A policy of extension of obligations to worthy and cooperating land owners will be followed, even to the extent of advancing funds for payment of delinquent taxes in the areas covered by legally constituted wind erosion districts."

This is an advantage not to be realized in counties in the Panhandle not covered by erosion districts. Of course there are other benefits to be realized, but the fact remains that confidence rests with the erosion districts, and they must not betray this confidence. It is a turning to renewed faith in this country, and should the districts fail to accomplish their purpose, we have no other direction in which to turn.

Much rests, therefore, upon the shoulders of the county judges and commissioners, the governing bodies of the special districts. As they pointed out, they do not wish to work unnecessary hardships upon land owners, yet it is their duty to see that the power invested in them does not fail. They must prove the worth of the law which the entire agricultural part of the nation is watching, more or less skeptically.

WE MUST KEEP ON PLUGGING

Community life brings on problems and tasks that are never finished—undesirable circumstances that must be weeded out; a constant move toward beautification and more pleasant surroundings; disagreeable pests that must be exterminated by combined efforts. Too many of us neglect these things and make it necessary that someone continually remind us of our duties. It usually falls to the lot of the newspaper to do this.

Through announcements by the Mayor, attention has been called to such undesirable features as unkept barnyards, and we have been urged, those of us who have livestock and chickens, to keep them at home so as not to damage neighbors' yards or gardens. We have been warned against termites.

These things we again call to your attention and insist that you not neglect them even for a short time, for it is then that the damage is done—and we also offer two more suggestions: That something be done about places that breed flies and that a move be started to rid Hereford of stray dogs!

Few pets were vaccinated and registered when the city fathers announced that dogs must be licensed. This was a confession that not more than one out of every 10 dogs in Hereford are actually desired and cared for by their owners. We have seen as many as five or six dogs roaming the residential section in one group, and that is especially obnoxious and undesirable at this time of year. And with the approach, in slightly more than a month, of the so-called dog days, so many animals at large is an actual threat to the life of children especially.

We saw a sickening sight just a few days ago. A stray hound tied up and shot, tossed into a box and carried away. Certainly no one appreciates such a task and to order such a job is not pleasant; yet if owners do not keep their pets at home and do not properly safeguard them against disease, it is the only method of extermination that can be adopted, and one that should be sanctioned on every hand.

Our councilmen and officers should warn owners to do one of two things: keep their pets at home or prepare to lose them. This they have done in effect and during the next 30 days they should bend every effort to carry out their ultimatum.

Although Hereford has its quota of flies, they have not become alarmingly numerous by any means. If breeding places are properly eliminated, we shall not be bothered by the pests. One breeding place in particular that we have noticed is the trash barrel, where garbage is tossed to await the arrival of the trash man. A covering for the container and a little lime will solve this problem. It's a matter of a few cents.

A LONG TIME AGO IN HEREFORD

(From The Hereford Brand, June 30, 1905.)

Jno. E. Ferguson had resigned as president of the Hereford National Bank and Jno. F. Fuqua of Amarillo had been elected as his successor.

Ex-Governor Frank R. Lubbock had died Thursday evening at his home in Austin. He was born at Beauford, S. C., in 1815, and came to Texas in 1836.

One crew had sheared over 6,000 head of sheep in Castro county the past season.

Eight additions had been made to the Christian church as the result of a revival just closed.

A. C. Harrow had roped a couple of mighty fine badgers on the prairie just east of town.

Byrle Elliston was in Mineral Wells for his health.

J. E. Martin of Castro county marketed 35,000 pounds of wool in Hereford.

(From The Hereford Brand, July 2, 1915.)

A storm swept the Parrot vicinity a few days before, laying waste crops and buildings. Hail, rain and wind played parts. Hail as large as baseballs was reported at several points, splitting boards in walls, killing stock, among which was about 300 head of sheep.

Organization of a Commercial Club, with J. Frank Potts as president had been perfected.

General Huerta had been arrested by United States officers at El Paso, charging with conspiring to raise an insurrection on American soil.

Only about 60 connections remained to be made with the sewer lines, after which Hereford was expected to prove a much healthier town.

Miss Myrtle Bennett had been home from Canyon to spend the week end with her parents.

Fox Mercantile Co. stepped out with a double-page ad, enumerating hundreds of bargains.

"Dangers and Perils of Married Life" was the subject to be used by Dr. J. Frank Norris in his sermon Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Miss Mary McLean had become the bride of C. W. Dixon June 22, in a beautiful ceremony at Dimmitt.

Herman Wright Local Speaker

Herman Wright, candidate for state representative from the 31st Congressional district, spoke here Saturday afternoon in interest of his candidacy, favoring the payment of old age pensions and attacking monopolistic interests in Texas, unfair taxation and lobbying. He said that if the proper wealthy interests of the state were taxed in proportion with other taxes, the state could pay every aged person $15 a month without adding new taxes. He referred to the sulphur interests, which are taxed 75 cents a ton, corporations "who do not pay" and chain stores.

He said eastern interests take more than $12 a ton profit in sulphur out of Texas and pay the state only 75 cents a ton for that privilege. The tax should be raised to at least $2.50 a ton, he stated. Eighty-five per cent of the wealth in Texas is owned in the North and East, he asserted. "We don't even own Texas!"

"Worse than that," he said, "we don't even own our legislators. Legislators are paid by these big interests, and they attempt to serve two interests at the same time." He favored a law requiring legislators and public officers to let the people know where their salaries are coming from. He talked at the corner of Third and Main Streets, his talk being sent out over his own loud speaker system.

Mrs. Peers Wheate and small daughter of Van Horn arrived Wednesday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Hill.

Alex Bateman Descendant of Honored Hero

With the firing of a 21-gun salute, the display of national colors, with prayer and benediction, the remains of Col. Robert Rankin, officer in the American Revolutionary War and who at the age of 79 came to Texas, in 1832, was interred in the state cemetery at Austin.

Thus Byron C. Utecht starts his description of one of the most unusual events of this Centennial year. The account was followed closely and with great interest in at least one Hereford home, for Alex R. Bateman, county agent, is a direct descendant of Col. Rankin, the only Revolutionary War officer buried in Texas, so far as any records reveal.

He had the unusual record of coming to Texas before its own war for independence, Utecht said. He was a close friend of Sam Houston and other Texas pioneers. He died in Texas in 1837. He was a pioneer of two states—Texas and Kentucky. He was in 1792 a member of the first Kentucky constitutional convention and in the same year became a member of the legislature.

When he was nearly 80, Col. Rankin removed to Texas and was granted a large area of land by the Mexican government for colonization purposes, in San Jacinto, Walker and Montgomery counties. There are several hundred descendants of Col. Rankin living in Texas today.

Platinum Fish Hooks. Before America's discovery, metals had no value except for beauty or usefulness, in the Indian world, and fish hooks were sometimes made of platinum or gold.

Attend Funeral of W. H. Younger

FORMER FRIENDS, ASSOCIATES AND PUPILS RESIDE HERE

Several local people joined with hundreds of other grief-stricken citizens from over the Panhandle who last Friday paid final tribute to William H. Younger, Jr., superintendent of Tulla schools, who died the preceding Saturday in Hot Springs, New Mexico. Services were held in the Tulla High School auditorium.

The local group contained old friends, former school associates and former pupils of Mr. Younger, who had steered Tulla school work for 13 years and ranked it as one of the most noteworthy systems in Texas.

Superintendent C. H. Dillehay, who had been associated with Mr. Younger during the 13 years in district and Panhandle school activities; Miss Katherine Kirby, who taught school under the superintendent; Miss Ella Aikman, also associated with him in school work; Mrs. Chas. Brooks, a former pupil at Tulla, and Rev. J. A. Hornbeak, attended the services.

Mr. Younger was a brother-in-law of DeWitt Landis, former editor of the Brand. Charles Brooks also was one of his pupils now residing in Hereford. There probably are numerous others who studied under the well known instructor who now reside in this section and felt keenly the tragedy of his passing.

Barney Hicks was a business visitor in Amarillo last Monday.

Clint Small

vent the recurrence of the devastating storms in the future.

Discussing first state aid to public schools, he said it has long been his aim to see that the public schools received adequate support from Austin and that he had always supported the rural school aid bill. He played an important part in raising the per capita quota to the highest level ever reached this past year, and hopes to see it reach $20.

Turning to the gasoline tax for highway use, he said he saw no connection between the building of highways and gasoline used in agricultural purposes. "I passed through the legislature a bill to refund the tax on gas used for agricultural purposes, and as a result this county has received in refunds in excess of $50,000 during the year ending June 1. It will be my purpose if I am returned to the Senate to stand behind this bill and prevent its repeal."

Senator Small pioneered in wind erosion legislation. No state in the union had a bill to deal with this problem, he said, and he wrote the bill now on the statutes of the state. The Federal government, he recognized the bill and called it the forerunner of a new type of soil conservation. It has already brought more than $13,000 in ad valorem taxes back to Deaf Smith county and it has been estimated that it will return in excess of $17,000 next year, he stated.

Speaking of old age assistance, Small said the delay in payments could not have been avoided. It is one of the biggest jobs the state has ever undertaken. He said he does not agree with all phases of the bill and believes it will be amended, but "despite that, it is a pretty good bill." The job of providing revenue was greater than that of drafting the bill, he stated. "It was my privilege," he added, "to rewrite the revenue bill into one that would have raised the revenue had it passed."

The method was to raise the tax on natural resources and virtually every tax except ad valorem tax, which "I think already is too high." He hoped to raise the money by indirect taxation only. "Had my bill passed, the payment of old age pensions would have been a thing of the past, and there would have been no special session of the legislature," he said.

He also discussed other measures on which he had worked. He wrote the liquor bill after the repeal amendment had been voted, and he handled practically every oil and gas conservation and regulation measure that has been written. "I have tried to respect the wish of the people," he stated.

Attacking those who had pointed to his absence from numerous roll calls in the Senate, he said he had not taken time to vote on East Texas squirrel bills, but spent that time working. "If you can find a record of me being absent when a real fight was going on, bring it to me." As a high wind started blowing, he concluded, "I seem to have stirred up a pretty good wind, and I hope I bring you a rain."

His Lions club talk was non-political, discussing the rising cost and increasing scope of state government.

Around Town

and apparently, from Mont's experience, no fish!

W. C. Nix has just completed a year's record that is of interest. During the last 12 months he has set 4,404 gallons of "straight matter" for the Brand. This, in plainer terms, means 277,992 inches of straight reading matter, not including two column type—such as editorials—advertising and heads. If the slugs were placed end to end, they would extend a distance of almost nine miles. Think of reading a newspaper line that long, which is what you did if you read every line of "straight matter" in the Brand the past year.

Of interest, while we are on the subject, is the fact that the New York Times, the world's No. 1 newspaper, owns its own forests and paper plants in Canada, and consumes an average of seven acres of forest every day in producing paper for its own use.

Barney Hicks (yeah, he got his name here again) says we can have that dad-burned tobacco, if we want it—it's too much for him!

Saw Nester Gass two blocks away from his place of business, which, we think, is worthy of mention. He was having a talk with the boys at Brumleys.

Don't believe everything you read. Despite the three different versions given last week as to the time of the Silver Tea and by whom it was being given, it is actually taking place tonight on the lawn of the First Presbyterian church, sponsored by that church's Christian Endeavor.

Not so terribly long ago a copy of the Brand mailed in Hereford on Thursday would have reached New York probably three months later. Now, note the improvement: Last Thursday morning the postman delivered a copy of the Brand mailed the preceding Thursday to Ike Crowthair—exactly a week to travel half a block!

George Benson of the Ford community was in town several days ago and reported that the weather at his farm was somewhat HOT. He said he was planting some popcorn and stopped work to go to the house for a drink and upon returning to his work, discovered that a lot of the corn in the grain bin of his planter had popped. He brought some popped corn to town to prove his statement.

a professional carnival. Hereford State Park and the adjoining baseball field will be the scene of all activities with the exception of the aerial circus and the dances.

Opens Friday Afternoon.
The program opens Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock with a baseball clash between Hereford and Friona nines, followed immediately by the rodeo, which will be staged adjoining the ball field. A feature of each rodeo performance will be the appearance of Red Myrick, world famous cowboy formerly with the Stroud rodeo, and his wonder horse, whose tricks will thrill the crowds.

At 9 o'clock each night the pleasure seekers will turn to the modern dance for their entertainment, holding forth at the Pitman Grain Company, whose mammoth floor has been machine smoothed and made ready for one of the largest crowds ever to assemble for a dance here.

Saturday's show opens at 9 a. m., with the first display of fireworks, which will be held in the state park. The second display will be at 8 o'clock Saturday night. The combined displays are valued at about $500 and will be the most extensive fireworks attraction ever staged in this section, according to Legionnaires in charge of this phase of the attraction.

Air Circus

Following the morning display, the scene will shift to Renfro Airport, a mile south of Hereford on 25-Mile Avenue, where half a dozen planes will take part in an aerial circus, which will include target practice, with sacks of flour serving as bombs, stunt flying, shirt tail race, parachute jump and free rides for all women over 65 years of age who wish to take to the air.

At noon the American Legion will serve a mammoth barbecue dinner at the state park. Barbecued beef, prepared in the old fashioned manner, will be the main dish, but with it will go all the trimmings. Each attraction in the state park will be held near the Main Street entrance. In the afternoon and night the ball game, rodeo, fireworks and dance will follow in proper order. Small charges will be made for each of the events, with a person being able to take in the entire show for about one dollar.

Mrs. C. O. Wilkins and children have moved back to Hereford to make their home and are occupying the J. G. Evans home. Mr. Wilkins expects to join his family next week. They have been living at Vega the past year. Mrs. Wilkins is back in the china and glassware department of Streu Hardware, where she previously worked.

apologizing for his companion's actions and saying, "I'm sorry this has to happen." Mrs. McLean said she talked to him throughout the robbery, continually urging him not to injure anyone. To please her, he put his gun on safety, she said.

Gives Descriptions.

She described both men as being about 29 or 30 years of age. One was heavy set, about six feet tall and wore dark work clothes and a light Stetson hat. The other weighed probably between 150 and 160 pounds, was about five feet nine inches tall, had a fair, smooth complexion, light blue eyes and light hair. First assumption that they might have been Luke Trammel and Forrest Gibson, escaped Texas convicts, were shattered when that couple was reported in a tilt with officers near Matador at about the same time the Friona bank was robbed.

The men were believed to have been seen twice before the robbery. Mrs. Carl Maurer, who manages the Maurer hotel across the street south from the bank reported that the automobile, a dark sedan or coach, was parked across the street from the hotel about 20 minutes before the robbery. She conversed with the large man, she said. The couple left the car and walked back and forth in front of the hotel and bank several times, and the large man stopped to talk with her small son and to sit on his tricycle. She instructed him to get off the tricycle, she said.

Almost Hit Truck.

A truck driver whose name was not learned told officers that he saw the men purchase gasoline at Black a short time before the robbery and then drive toward Friona but before reaching town the men passed him going in the opposite direction at a speed of about 70 miles an hour. "They almost ran into my truck," officers quoted him as saying.

The alarm was spread to Hereford, Amarillo, Clovis, Plainview and intermediate points. A wide search was begun, all highways being guarded, but the bandits vanished, their trail disappearing somewhere between Friona and Hereford. This was the third attack upon the Friona bank, it having been robbed in 1926 and again in 1927. Mr. and Mrs. McLean and Miss White were not connected with the bank at the time of the previous robberies.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. McMinn of Coral Gable, Florida, and daughter, Mrs. Joe Shambley, of White Plains, New York, are visiting Mr. McMinn's sister, Mrs. J. F. Ward, and brother, J. B. McMinn, and other relatives at Summerfield.

Canyon Golfers Defeat Hereford

Invading the Hereford golf course Sunday afternoon, Canyon's shot-makers turned back local golfers in the first inter-city match of the year between the two clubs here. Canyon scored 32 points to Hereford's 19.

Thirty-six golfers, going out in foursomes for the 18-hole match competition, took part in the tournament. Based on three points to the match, Canyon captured 10 of the bouts, Hereford six, and two were even. Scores generally were high, with few nine-hole totals under the 40 mark.

Matters were coming to a pinch. After the first wetting by the rain, what remained of the meat spoiled. It became so flyblown and tainted that Lillith threw it away before Garth could prevent the wastage. He decided to give them all another lesson.

In the fast that followed, Mr. Ramill was the first to fall. Huxby came next; Lillith last of the three. By the third day they had given up all paddling. On the fourth day they lay slumped in the bottom of the canoe. Garth only tightened his belt again and dipped his paddle in his strong, steady, seemingly tireless stroke.

Whenever he found himself nearing his limit, he headed ashore, boiled tea, slept, and then put off again. The fifth day began to draw on the last reserve of his wiry endurance. Towards noon he made the boggy shore, almost outspent. He dragged out the wolfskin knapsack anchor, with its load of platinum alloy. The girl and the two men lay in a stupor of starvation. He himself was so tired that he could not have lifted even Lillith ashore.

As he rested on the wet sedges he recalled the place as one of his former camp sites. A spruce-covered ridge of higher ground here thrust out into the muskeg. The first remembrance brought another. The second gave him strength to pull his rifle from the canoe and slimb a slant the ridge end. There was a berry patch on the east slope. The fruit would be better than nothing. He hoped, however, face, he crept through the spruce for something more.

Circle to get the wind in his thickets until he could peer out on the open ground of the berry patch. Luck was with him. The old black bear had gone off and left her cub. He rested the rifle barrel on a spruce branch to get sure aim.

That was the end of famine. Gorged upon the fat, tender meat of the bear cub, even Mr. Ramill rapidly regained strength. He was still rather weak, however, when they came to the last portage.

The approach to solid ground was across a narrow belt of muskeg. Near the far side of the swamp, the millionaire failed to jump squarely upon a tussock of niggerhead grass. He slipped and plunged head first into a pool.

Huxby was following close behind, alert for every move of his partner. He sprang to grasp the foot of the sinking man. A heave dragged him out, slimed and spluttering. Huxby worked over him, scraping off mud, until Lillith hastened back to help assist her father.

er across the rest of the muskeg. Once on firm ground, the millionaire joked about his mishap.

"Haven't had a bath since the last rain," he said. "This one is higher class—equal to the mud baths at Hot Springs. How about my pack, Lillith?"

She looked in his foxskin bag. "Everything is there, Dad—with some mud added."

Garth had been too far ahead, with his heavy pack and canoe to see or hear the accident. Mr. Ramill joked again about his extra bath when they took to the canoe at the far side of the portage. But all the time until they reached the evening camp and he started to wash the mud from the leather coat, he did not notice the pistol was missing.

At the announcement of the loss, Huxby met Garth's gaze with a stare of cold hostility. Garth walked up to him, empty-handed.

"If you've done what I think you have," he said, "I call you for a show-down."

The engineer's lips tightened in an ironical smile. He put up his hands. Not to be fooled by the seeming bluff, Garth went over Huxby's tattered clothes, from coat collar to moccasins. The pistol was nowhere on the engineer.

"This is one time I'm due to apologize," Garth admitted.

"I accept no apology from you," Huxby replied.

Lillith looked from one to the other, her own lips tightened.

CHAPTER VII

The Gaffed Wolf.

Mr. Ramill's good humor over his fall into the muskeg pool had not been forced. It was based upon his feeling of physical well-being.

Instead of having been broken down by the hard toil and exposure of the trip and that severe lesson in the meaning of famine, he had come through it all in even better shape than before the start from the lost valley. The days of starvation had completed Nature's raid upon the degenerate fats and poisons of his once obese body.

There had followed the feasts of tender bear-cub meat. He was again putting on weight, but it was hard muscle.

He was paddling as vigorously if not as skillfully as his daughter.

"Out of the Muskeg; but a Long Way From Out of This D-d North!"

ter, when, mid-morning of the twenty-fourth day from the valley the canoe neared a wooded point. Garth called out from the stern of the canoe:

"If you want a surprise, friends, shut your eyes while we take 10 strokes."

He knew that Huxby would keep on staring ahead. But he guessed right about Lillith and her father. At the end of the tenth stroke, the girl flung up her paddle and uttered a shriek of joyous amazement:

"The river! The river!"

Close upon the cry came the deep-lunged shout of her father: "By the Almighty, you've done it, Garth! We're out!"

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Deaf Smith County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon J. H. Williams, Jr., by making publication of this citation once each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest County where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Deaf Smith County, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Herford, Texas, on the first Monday, August 4, A. D. 1936, the same being the 31st day of August A. D. 1936, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 17th day of May A. D. 1934, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 2169, wherein the United Fidelity Life Insurance Company, a corporation, is Plaintiff, and J. H. Williams, Jr., is Defendant, and a brief statement of plaintiff's cause of action, being as follows:

Suit for balance owing in Certificate No. 285 issued by City of Herford to Jordan Construction Company on August 24, 1928, in sum of $72.10 for improving Sampson Avenue abutting Lot No. Seven, Block No. 18, of Town of Herford, levying special assessment against said property for same, and default having been made in payment, balance has been declared due and suit filed for collection thereof, with reasonable attorney's fee and costs of suit, with foreclosure of the lien against said property, same having been duly transferred to the plaintiff herein, such special assessment being levied against said property under ordinance duly passed June 16, 1928, and as personal liability against defendant, being declared to be a first and paramount lien upon said property, said improvements being duly completed and accepted by said City on August 24, 1928, in full compliance with contract on-tered into with said City and all proceedings of said City, plaintiff praying for judgment on balance due, with reasonable attorney's fees of $50.00 and costs of suit, as provided for in said certificate and proceedings, as well as foreclosure of special assessment lien against said property, and for general and special relief.

Herein fail not but have before said Court, at its next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Herford, Texas, on this 23rd day of June, A. D. 1936.

(SEAL) L. H. FOSTER,
Clerk, District Court Deaf Smith County, Texas. 25-4

(Continued from last week) Down in the lower country, the pest of black gnats, mosquitoes and stinging flies became worse. At the same time the flask of grease and pitch dope began to give out. Most of the camps were on wet ground. For days the party were drenched by a steady drizzle, varied only by downpours that kept Lillith and her father bailing the canoe.

Several times fog on the water compelled Garth to put ashore. Without sight, even his training could not enable him to follow the right channel. He was not an Indian. But between the forced halts he put in still longer hours paddling.

Malaria Control Shown At Dallas

A prominent position in the space of the Federal Building allotted to the United States Public Health Service at the Texas Centennial Exposition is occupied by a twin exhibit arranged by the Texas State Department of Health. The exhibit was made possible through materials furnished by the Public Health Service and is creating much comment and interest.

Two tables, four by six each, depict a typical village before and after malaria control work produced desired improvements. The layout of the village before malaria control shows common malaria mosquito breeding places, including swampy areas, slow, sluggish streams with grassy banks, ox bows or resacas, poor drainage along railroads and highways, ungreenced houses, leaky water tanks and open rain barrels, and other trash and containers which might collect and hold water long enough for mosquito breeding.

The second table represents the same village after extensive malaria control work has accomplished the correction of many hazards and complete elimination of others. Streams through the town have been cleaned and straightened, rip-rapped and permanently lined. Swamps have been drained by underground drainage or surface ditches, and in one case a dam constructed to raise the water level and convert the swamp into a lake. Houses are screened properly and all containers which would invite mosquito breeding, such as tin cans, fire barrels and water tanks have been corrected or removed.

Improvement of the village after malaria control was instituted over its former condition is readily apparent, both from an engineering and an economic standpoint. With the elimination of mosquitoes and halting of the spread of malaria, better economic conditions among the population follow as a natural consequence.

Radium as Element.

Radioactivity has proved that some and possibly all, of the elements are decomposable, yet radioactive changes are entirely different from any known chemical reaction. Moreover, they are so exceedingly slow that they are practically negligible, and the meager radium itself, through being gradually transformed into the gasses helium and nitrogen, is unhesitatingly classed as an element. The essential fact about every chemical element is its relative atomic or combining weight, which is constant and unchangeable and forms an unvarying characteristic of the element.

Texas' Natural Resources Discussed at Length by Arthur Ikin.

The indigenous products of Texas are very numerous," wrote Arthur Ikin, English consul to Texas, nearly one hundred years ago in his little book, "A Guide to Emigrants." The remarkable interest which attaches to Ikin's volume, of which only a few copies have been preserved, one being in the Texas Collection in the Texas University library, is due to the fact that, although it was written in the early days of the Republic of Texas, the data contained in it are substantially correct and have been authenticated by later investigations of the region's physical aspects and properties.

"Beneath the surface, coal has been found in the rolling country in several places, and in such positions as to lead to the conclusion that one vast bed of this mineral extends across the greater part of the country," the English consul continued. "Throughout the same region, oxide of iron and nodules of iron ore everywhere give indication of the abundance of that valuable metal. Higher up, among the hills, lead, pure gold, and copper ore have already been often found."

"Of these being rich silver mines among these mountains, and beyond them, towards Santa Fe, there can be no question. Records of their discovery still exist in the archives of that city; and among the mountains of San Saba the Spaniards are well known to have worked a valuable mine, until their settlement was about in the middle of the last century, broken up and the workman massacred by the Comanche Indians. There are also great quantities of magnolia, bay, mulberry, sumac, field is presented in this part of Texas for the researches of the practical mineralist, though it should be mentioned that the government has reserved all the mines that may be discovered on the lands it grants of sells to private citizens.

"Salt is to be obtained from both streams and lakes, as well as from artificial pits communicating with the sea.

"The surface of the country is almost everywhere covered with native grasses, the luxuriant growth of which sufficiently attests the great fertility of the soil. The most nutritious kinds are the gama, mesquite, wild clover and wild rye; but the common prairie grass, though not equal to these, affords, especially when young, a most excellent pasturage. The cane, a species of bamboo, of which numerous brakes are found on the richest tracts of the lower country, also yields a superior fodder for cattle.

"The timber of Texas, except on the sandy ridges of the upper country, or where it has suffered by the burning of the prairies, grows to a large size. That magnificent and singularly valuable tree, the live oak, flourishes here better than in, perhaps, any other part of America. The cedar and pine are also often of very stately growth. Besides these, the most common species of timber are the white, black and post oak, ash, elm, hickory, mesquite or acacia, pecan, walnut, sycamore, cotton wood, cypress, bois d'arc, chinquapin, hackberry, persimmon, &c.

sassafras, palmetto, wild peach, wild plum and cherry. Enormous grape vines, as well as numerous other kinds of creepers, grow in incredible profusion. That singular parasite, the grey hanging Spanish moss, is often seen in the low country. At a certain distance from the sea it disappears, and its absence is considered the sign of a perfectly healthy region.

"A complete Texian flora would fill a volume. In spring and summer the whole country, hill, wood and prairie, presents the appearance of one vast flower garden, and many of the varieties are extremely rare and beautiful. The most common kinds include many species of cactus, mimosa and aloe; clematis, jasmín, passion flower and innumerable other creepers; wild roses, violets, lilies, lotuses; superb star, bell and trumpet flowers, and a great variety of sunflowers, dahlias, geraniums, lobelias, pinks, anemones, &c. "Sarsaparilla, indigo, vanilla, capsicum, tobacco, potatoes, and many other valuable plants and roots, are likewise found indigenous in large quantities.

"The zoology is also comprehensive. Vast herds of the mighty buffalo have already ceded the lower country to man, but in the rolling region they are yet frequently to be met with; and beyond, they have still none to contend with, except their ancient persecutors, the red men. In the lower prairies is also found a species of wild horned cattle, much resembling those still seen in three or four parks in the north of our own island. Deer, of about the size of our largest fallow deer, and in herds of from ten to a thousand, are common in every part of the country. Among and beyond the mountains, moose, a species of antelope, and wild sheep are said to be common. The wild horse which now roams every prairie, sometimes alone, sometimes in herds of more than a thousand, is not a native, but the progeny of those which escaped from the early conquerors of Mexico. He is usually a small bony animal about fourteen hands high, with remarkably clean legs, and other signs indicative of good blood. When congregated in bodies of a thousand, these horses form the most imposing spectacle which the prairies present. They are then under the command of some large and really noble looking stallion, who, by the aid of subordinate leaders, maintains a perfectly organized discipline, and directs every formation and movement with military precision. To observe them as the prairie shakes under their steadily advancing or retreating line, and to watch the marshaling of their separate troops or the detachment of their videttes, their flank and rear guards, and the signals by which each movement is directed, is most interesting and exciting. When caught and broken, these animals become very useful, and exhibit great powers of endurance. Though not often vicious, they are apt to acquire tricks, the principal aim of which appears to be the recovery of their lost liberty. The rough and cruel way in which, by the aid of the lasso, they are first broken, seems also to impress them with indelible feelings of dread and distrust towards man—feelings which often render them by no means pleasant companions.

"The peccary, or Mexican hog, a ferocious and, when in herds, formidable little animal, is sometimes found in the west of Texas. Here also is seen the cougar, or Mexican lion, the largest animal of the panther kind. The only one the writer ever saw, had, at the distance of about fifty yards, much the appearance in shape, size and colour, of a large lioness. They will often attack and devour unmounted horses, but generally fly before man. Leopards and panthers are more numerous, but by no means so formidable.

"Leopard cats and wild cats are frequently seen. The skin of the former is very beautiful. In most parts of Texas, black bears, prairie wolves, racoons, opossums, grey squirrels, several animals of the feline tribe, rabbits, a species of hare, and, in the upper country, the otter and beaver, are frequently found.

"The ornithology of the country includes (among the most common birds) various hawks, eagles and vultures; cranes, rose-colored flamingos, and pelicans; swans, geese, ducks, and other waterfowl in immense numbers; wild turkeys, prairie hens (which are very similar to our red grouse), quails, a species of pheasant, snipe, plover, pigeons, larks, the mocking bird, red bird, blue bird, black bird, parrot, woodpeckers, hummings birds, &c. &c.

"The fish most commonly eaten are the buffalo, cat fish, red fish, and mullet, the delicious sheephead, eels, perch, trout, &c.

"Crabs, prawns and oysters are in great plenty; the quality of the latter, for an American oyster, is excellent. In the bays of the west, green turtle is quite common; and terrapins, a species of land tortoise, much valued by American epicures, are also found.

"Alligators, sometimes 18 feet long, infest the rivers of the lower country. Besides the animals of the serpent kind already noticed, there are said to be constrictors, though not of sufficient size to be formidable.

"There are also some singular species of frogs and chameleons."

Our Congratulations To American Legion
The Legion has gone to some lengths to assure the people of this section an outstanding celebration. They have worked hard and long, not satisfied until they had secured the best that could be obtained. That is worthy of every effort we can make to help them.
Texas Utilities COMPANY

Worthy of the Best That is in Us
On Independence Day, Americanism runs higher; the spirit of our forefathers who gave us this free government is with us. Their efforts gave us a great heritage, and it calls for the best that is in us to keep Democracy alive and our country free of oppressors and aggressors. Patriotism today means not only loyalty to the nation, but loyalty as well to our community, county and state, not only to fight, but also to work for their betterment.

Which So Proudly We Hailed

When Francis Scott Key so fearfully scanned the reddening sky on that far-off dawn, he well knew that it was not a flag, nor the result of a minor battle, for which he was searching. It was the banner of Liberty itself he waited for so apprehensively—Liberty triumphant over oppression, but lately arisen in America, and destined to illumine the world with glorious daylight of freedom.

Again there are wars and rumors of wars. Humanity has once more struck its tents and is on the march—no man can say where. Can the light of that liberty our fathers fought for—that we have hailed so proudly—remain shining in the face of clouds of distrust, of hate, of ambition, and cupidity?

And every true American knows only one answer—yes! That light must remain while there yet remains alive one American. For the words first penned on that lurid dawn of long ago still remain the watchword of a great, united, and FREE people:

"Then conquer we must,
For our cause it is just,
And this be our Motto—
In God is our trust!"

And while they are remembered, there need be no fear for the Ship of State, and the banner it carries so proudly!

Walker Secures

He expressed his appreciation for the support given the creamery by the people of this section and urged their continued cooperation with Mr. Walker.

Mr. Walker was production manager of the creamery for three years prior to his elevation to the presidency in 1933, and was directly interested in the association for six years prior to that date, being entirely familiar with the association and the production of butter and ice cream.

He is highly optimistic about the future of the business in this section, pointing out the fact that the business had survived the drought and depression without serious retrenchment and that the entire stock had been paid off 100 percent on the dollar.

It is one of the major industries of Hereford, starting with the making of butter, manufacture of ice cream was added a year ago and has been extended considerably since that date. Butter is shipped to New York, California and many intervening points from the local plant. Last Saturday Mr. Walker said was one of the best local business days since he has been at the head of the organization.

The personnel consists of Mr. Walker, president; Dick Walker, vice president, and Mrs. Walker, secretary-treasurer. The original board of directors consisted of Mr. Wilson, Lester Gaitley, J. L. Lookingbill, Fred Pittner, Mrs. Ben Turrentine, George F. Lewis and A. B. Schulz. At the death of Mr. Schulz, his place on the board was filled by his son, Herman Schulz, who also was vice president and manager, and who sold his interest to Mr. Walker in March, 1935. Herman left for Amarillo in 1934.

Louis Woodford

personally taken over all used cars and trucks now on hand.

Mr. Woodford, becoming a partner in the firm for which he started working about a year ago, has climaxed a rapid rise in business here. He came to Hereford from Winchester, Kentucky, in 1931, as a wheat raiser, and then he owned and operated a filling station. He became associated with Brumley about a year ago as business manager and salesman. His work with the Chevrolet company has been highly successful.

Mr. Brumley announced that he will take a rest and then will be back active in business. A native of Springfield, Missouri, he first made his southwestern home in New Mexico in 1908. He came to Hereford in 1909, and now holds farming interests and is the leading hog producer in this section. It was also announced that Jim

Vega Rancher Dies Suddenly

H. R. Shields, 69, prominent ranchman and civic leader of Vega, died from a heart attack at 8:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. He was the father of Miss Edith Shields, principal of Central School here for several years. Mr. Shields had lived in Vega 27 years.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Methodist church in Vega.

Survivors include his wife, two sons, Vernon and Joe, of Amarillo, and five daughters, Miss Edith and Rachael Shields of Canyon, Mrs. D. D. Downing of Brackridge, and Mrs. Orba C. They have been visiting Mr. Patton's brother, John, and his sisters, Mrs. J. O. Newell and Mrs. Ida Ricketts, here, and Mrs. Patton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Smith McLeRoy, in Portales, New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Murchison drove to Dallas last week end to get their eldest son, who had been visiting Mrs. Murchison's mother, and to attend the Centennial. They returned home Monday, accompanied by Mrs. A. C. Thompson, who had been visiting in Dallas, and Mrs. J. E. Cockrell, who made the trip with them.

Mrs. E. A. Sutton and two children of Ponca City, Oklahoma, left Tuesday for their home after a visit with her sister, Mrs. Chas. Newell, and her brother, Delmer Rayzor. Her mother, Mrs. W. E. Rayzor, of Perryton has been visiting her sister several weeks, a brother, Kenneth Rayzor and family, of Perryton, spent last Sunday here, all enjoying a family reunion.
