Hereford's Prison Task Force met Monday evening to discuss plans for a community public hearing on the prison proposal, scheduling the meeting for 7:30 p.m. on Monday, March 30, at Hereford Community Center.

Purpose of the public meeting will be to give citizens an opportunity to express their views on the possibility of locating a prison facility about 4.5

miles east of town. Staff members from the Texas Department of Criminal Justice will attend the meeting to evaluate community support of the proposal.

With 47 communities being considered for the sites, community support becomes an important factor in the selection process, said Speedy Nieman, task force chairman. "All communities will have a public hearing, and we feel those who draw a substantial amount of opposition will be eliminated from consideration," added Nieman.

"We feel confident that our community will present evidence of strong support," said Nieman. "The task force has been at work about three months with no vocal opposition expressed. The proposal has been explained at a number of club meetings and has been publicized by the newspaper and radio."

Naturally, the task force supports the project and urges residents to turn out and show the TDCJ officials that there is community support. However, added Nieman, the public meeting will give anyone the opportunity to express an opposing viewpoint. "We are not trying to cram something down the throats of our citizens. If the majority of folks don't want a prison facility here, then we need to know it."

The task force discussed general plans for the public hearing during the Tuesday session, deciding to forego any "cheerleading" demonstrations. Preliminary plans are being made for some signs and posters.

Members were urged to contact friends and neighbors about attending the meeting so that a good representation of the community is present.

Nieman said 18 persons attended the task force meeting last night. Another meeting will be held after information is received from TDCJ on the format prison officials desire for the community hearing.

Pay hike unlikely for city employeesBy GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Prospects of a pay raise for City of Hereford employees waned Tuesday night when the City Commission closed the last work session on a new budget, without discussion of pay scales. A public hearing on the budget will be held on April 6.

The final work session went a long way toward finishing the budget but left a couple of spending projects up in the air.

After an executive session of about 90 minutes, the commission took no action on pay or employment of department heads. There was no discussion on pay for employees.

"I thought we pretty well settled that earlier when we decided the pay scale is in line with business in Hereford," said Mayor Tom LeGate, when asked if any action would be taken on employee pay.

The commission left the door open for discussion on the pay issue, though, until the budget is adopted. Finishing touches still must be made before the budget is put in place for the new fiscal year, beginning May 1. The budget will be adopted April 20.

Commissioners also made no provision for repairing or building a new swimming pool. They will consider applying for a grant for the project before allocating funds.

The swimming pool in Dameron Park will require extensive repairs in the near future. Early estimates reported some months ago indicate that a new pool might be more cost effective.

The commission has discussed filing an application for a grant from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department for matching funds to build a new pool.

"I think we can talk about that money if we get a grant," Commissioner Emory Brownlow said Tuesday.

City-owned tennis courts may get some attention. The commission asked for estimates on repairing or installing new courts. Commissioners informally agreed that remedying the tennis court situation may be on a year-to-year basis. "We may have to do some each year for a while," said a commissioner.

Changes in the city's landfill were not addressed in any budget discussion. Commissioners reversed themselves on a fire department request for a new vehicle, initially turned down.

After seeing a report from Fire Marshal Jay Spain on necessary repairs to a 1981 Suburban, the commission decided to include the request in the budget.

Sale of a used fire engine and the '81 vehicle are expected to offset part of the $23,000 cost of the vehicle.

All budget discussions have been based on making no changes in the city's tax rate, 42 cents per $100 of value, or in water, sewer and garbage rates.

Kites fly high at Day Care

Mike the Kite Man helps Christopher Moreno, 3, build a kite at Hereford Day Care on Tuesday. Christopher and other Hereford Day Care clients then enjoyed flying their kites, and watching kites by the members of the High Plains Kite Association.

Mike the Kite Man shares his special love

Mike the Kite Man and his friends made many Hereford children happy with a special kite day Tuesday at Hereford Day Care.

Mike the Kite Man is Mike Elliston of Panhandle. He's a native of Deaf Smith County, growing up on a farm southeast of Hereford.

"At 13 I was given a tetrahedral, a kite invented by Alexander Graham Bell for lifting. That sparked my interest and I've been hooked ever since," said Elliston.

Mike and other members of the High Plains Kite Association showed children at day care a kite video then helped them make simple kites using plastic garbage bags, dowels and simple streamers for tails. While the children were flying their own kites, the HPKA members launched stunt kites made of rip-stop nylon with fiberglass rods and tubes.

The prison "short list" came out Monday and a lot of residents were pleased to see that Hereford is still in the running for a facility. There are still 47 applicants, however, and Hereford's Prison Task Force is emphasizing the importance of the public meeting to be held here Monday, March 30. Purpose of the meeting will be to provide residents the opportunity to voice their views on the proposal. Texas Department of Criminal Justice staff members will be here to take notes.

The task force is hopeful that strong community support for the proposal will be expressed. And, the committee has good reason to expect that, since no vocal opposition has arisen during the entire process.

There's no doubt that folks would rather locate a General Motors plant here, but the reality is that we really have a chance to get a prison site and help boost the local economy.

Roy McQueen, Snyder Daily News, passes along the story about a large woman who exercised her will power from eating by daily going into the doughnut shop. She never took a doughnut, but always left a quarter after standing at the counter and gazing intently into the display case for a few moments.

One morning, the woman came in and spent an unusual amount of time looking at the selection. She again dropped a quarter on the counter and walked away. This time, the bakery owner grabbed her by the arm.

"I guess you want to know why I come in every day, look around, never take a doughnut but leave 25 cents on the counter?"

"No," replied the owner. "I just wanted you to know that doughnuts are now 50 cents!"

Bush, Clinton tighten their grip

CHICAGO (AP) - Bill Clinton and George Bush, in a probable fall campaign preview, offered dueling promises of change following their Midwest primary sweeps.

The Arkansas governor took command of the Democratic race and the president all but snuffed out Patrick Buchanan's right-wing revolt.

Clinton faces two stubborn Democratic rivals next Tuesday in Connecticut and the New York primary three weeks away. But he focused instead on the fall after big victories in Illinois and Michigan.

"This is a victory for the forces of change, for the people who believe we can do better - because we can," Clinton said Tuesday night in proclaiming his wins were a mandate for a new Democratic Party - and a new president.

But Bush vowed to stay put and looked beyond Buchanan's challenge after running his primary record to 16-0.

"I will seek the support of everyone who believes that we can change America as we changed the world," the president vowed in a statement that called his nomination "virtually assured."

Although Buchanan said he would "keep on rolling," aides said he planned to scale back his teetering campaign to a one-state protest in California. "Geography and time were not on our side," Buchanan conceded.

Buchanan's sister and campaign manager, Angela Bay Buchanan, said her brother eventually "is going to endorse George Bush and he is going to support him and want him to do well."

Even as the results suggested the anti-Bush protest vote was waning, an anti-incumbent sentiment appeared to be stirring.

Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Ill., was defeated in his primary bid for a third term by Carol Moseley Braun, a Cook County official who if victorious would be the first black woman and the first black Democrat elected to the Senate.

Illinois voters also ousted outspoken Rep. Gus Savage and Rep. Charles Hayes, identified by sources as one of the 24 worst abusers in the ongoing House rubber check affair.

Clinton's rivals were gracious in their congratulations, polite for a night in what has been an increasingly personal war of words.

But former Massachusetts Sen. Paul Tsongas and former California Gov. Jerry Brown vowed to press on.

Cabinet trio among check bouncers

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush, no longer joking about the House rubber-check scandal, is standing by three Cabinet members caught up in the affair.

The back-to-back-to-back confessions Tuesday by Bush's defense, agriculture and labor secretaries let some air out of the political balloon for House Republicans who have relished watching Democrats squirm as the major abusers of privilege at the shoddy run, in-house bank.

A dour Defense Secretary Dick Cheney was the first Bush appointee to confess Tuesday - he had bounced as many as 25 checks. Agriculture Secretary Edward Madigan owned up to 49 overdrawn checks - including one for $8,618 - and Labor Secretary Lynn Martin found 16 in her closet.

Cheney served in the House from Wyoming, Madigan and Martin represented Illinois districts.

Bush, who cracked a joke about the scandal on the campaign trail in Milwaukee on Monday, took a more sober-sided approach in a Rose Garden appearance Tuesday.

He expressed "total confidence in (Cheney's) integrity," and added, "I just haven't heard anything about any of the others."

Judy Smith, a White House spokeswoman, said later, "I'm sure he would say the same about all the Cabinet members, that it's a situation they didn't have any knowledge of."

"Let's get the facts out, and then I think the American people are very smart," said Bush. "They will be able to make a determination as to what was wrongdoing and who were simply victims of a system that obviously has failed everybody."

Cheney called himself "angry and frustrated" and said he never knew his account had run dry.

Madigan called it "an embarrassment to me, my family and friends" but said it should not "impact my effectiveness as secretary of agriculture."

Martin said she was docking herself $425 in fees that a real bank might have charged and was donating the money to charity.

Twenty of the 24 people on the worst offenders' list were Democrats, and Republicans had been quick to lay the blame at the majority party's door.

14 from Texas admit bad checks Bank management blamed in latest confession

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congressman Solomon Ortiz of Corpus Christi was the latest to step forward and admit writing overdrafts to the House bank, but the Democrat says most of the rubber checks weren't his fault.

Ortiz, through press secretary Cathy Travis, admits he bounced 17 checks, the face value of which were not revealed. The House ethics committee says Ortiz bounced 20 checks in the 39-month period surveyed.

Ortiz blamed shoddy management at the House bank for most of his overdrafts.

"In most of the instances, it seems that my direct-deposit salary was not credited to my account for several days," he said Tuesday.

Fourteen of the 27-member Texas delegation now have admitted their part in the scandal at the now-closed House bank. The total includes 10 Democrats and four Republicans.

Reps. Mike Andrews, Albert Bustamante and Jack Fields - who had earlier admitted writing overdrafts - Tuesday revealed the exact number of bad checks.

Andrews, D-Houston, told reporters in Houston that he wrote 121 bad checks worth $103,946.37 in the 39-month period.

"This chicken has come home to roost," a visibly nervous Andrews said. "It hasn't been very pleasant."

Of the 14 Texas congressmen who have been identified or have admitted bouncing checks, Andrews' money total ranks third behind Ronald Coleman, D-El Paso, who totaled $275,848 with 673 bad checks, and Charles Wilson, D-Lufkin, who bounced 81 checks with a face value of $143,857.

Coleman on Tuesday told constituents poor bookkeeping landed him in hot water with the bank and with an El Paso newspaper. The El Paso Herald-Post in an editorial called for Coleman's resignation.

"We think something should happen now," the editorial said. "The Herald-Post calls for Coleman's immediate resignation for this betrayal of his position and the public trust."

Bustamante, D-San Antonio, said he had 25 overdrafts with a face value of $9,733. He said he never exceeded his next month's paycheck.

In six or seven instances, the bank did not credit Bustamante's paycheck until several days later, accounting for overdrafts, he said.

"My wife said blame her, but no, I blame myself for even putting our money in there," he said. "I could have done better with any outside bank than this bank."

Bustamante was not apologetic about the check flap, and was gleeful that several members of President Bush's Cabinet revealed Tuesday they also had written bad checks.

"I guess we're all sinners," he said. "This is not a solo flight. That plane is loaded. It's a C-5 (cargo plane) and everybody's in it. Some are in the front, some are in the back."

Bustamante called on Congress to slash all congressional perks - including the gymnasium and the barber shop.

He also wants to sell Camp David, the presidential retreat in Maryland. "That's a big perk," he said. Bush "can go to his rented hotel room in Houston."

Fields, R-Houston, who earlier had admitted to "some" overdrafts on Tuesday said he wrote 22 bad checks with a face value of $11,114. In no instance did the overdrafts exceed his next month's paycheck, he said.

Fields released the information after meeting Tuesday with the Republican counsel to the House ethics committee.

"As I've said in the past, this entire incident is painful and embarrassing, particularly since I had been assured last October by the House sergeant-at-arms that I did not have a problem with my account.

"I want to stress - and I believe the record clearly demonstrates - that it was not my intent to manipulate my account at the House bank," Fields said.

Police look for person on train

Hereford police officers (including Lt. Ronnie Henderson, on top of the train) search for a man thought to be hiding on a car on a Santa Fe train here Tuesday. Police and train crew members found a pair of coveralls and a sandwich on the ledge of an empty hopper car but did not see anyone. The man was reported to have boarded the train at Clovis.

Senator says FmHA didn't use available funds for Texas loans

WASHINGTON (AP) - Over $100 million in federal low-income housing assistance for rural Texans has been unused and given to other states because the agency overseeing the program isn't doing its job, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen says.

But a spokesman for the Farmers Home Administration - which administers the low-income housing assistance programs - says Bentsen is wrong to say rural Texans aren't being helped.

"We're definitely not refusing applicants so that we can return money to the national office," FmHA spokesman Rob Sweezy in Washington said Tuesday.

But Bentsen, D-Texas, contended Tuesday in a letter to FmHA Director LaVerne Ausman that the state FmHA office has "the worst record in the nation for providing low-income housing assistance."

He urged Ausman to immediately review the way in which housing loans are made.

In a three-year period, the Texas FmHA failed to use more than $100 million - or 40 percent of its funds - in four major rural housing programs, Bentsen said.

In 1991, the Texas office returned to its national headquarters over $42 million for low-income housing assistance, using only 66 percent of its total allocation, he said.

"These funds have certainly not gone unspent because of a lack of need for rural housing assistance in Texas," Bentsen said.

"Texas leads the nation in the number of rural poor and ranks first in the percentage of occupied substandard homes," he said. "I believe it is essential that the federal dollars that are sent to Texas be used to make life better for rural Texans."

Sweezy said Bentsen was wrong in claiming three of the four housing programs did not use up their full allocation.

The single-family housing program was the only one with a surplus, he said.

A shaky Texas real estate market in Texas in recent years meant a surplus of homes returned to the FmHA because of loan defaults or other reasons, Sweezy said.

Last year, FmHA placed 659 families in houses it had in its inventory, he said. So far this year, the agency has placed 251 Texas families in the so-called credit sales homes.

Although some state FmHA offices place housing loans at the bottom of their priorities, Collings said Texas FmHA Director Neal Sox Johnson was known as an advocate of low-housing loans.

TAR officer gives report to Hereford

The Hereford Board of Realtors heard a report from Jane Nibergall of Amarillo, regional vice president of the Texas Association of Realtors, during a regular meeting at noon Monday at Hereford Country Club.

Nibergall stressed the importance of Realtors being active members of the state association and using its services, and reviewed legislative matters affecting the industry.

She also congratulated Hereford on making the short list of cities vying for a state prison facility. Speedy Nieman, local prison task force chairman, had made a brief report on the prison proposal prior to Nibergall's talk.

She said the new prison unit in Amarillo had been a great benefit to that city. "We knew there would be 800 news jobs at the prison, but what we didn't realize is that most of those people had spouses who are also working and helping boost the economy," she said. "And these people are becoming contributing, active workers in the community," she added.

"Be active in the prison project--if you support or oppose, go to the public meeting and air your views," Nibergall urged. "Community support is an important factor."

Glenda Keenan, board president, introduced the program and presided at the luncheon meeting.

Gardening at the Gazebo

BY CARMEN FLOOD

Recent studies have shown that gardening is the fastest growing leisure time hobby in the United States. It must be true considering the number of questions we get at the E.B. Black House gardens from interested persons in Hereford and the area.

The Black House and its garden are adjuncts to the Deaf Smith County Museum and the garden is cared for by volunteers who serve on the Historical Society board of directors. This committee, currently chaired by Jan Furr and Mary Zinser, is made up of about 10 dedicated gardeners who think digging in the soil is great fun. These volunteers give a great many hours annually to the care and feeding of this lovely space.

This article is being offered to you gardeners out there who see the Black House Garden and would like to know how it comes to be. We hope to give you ongoing information through the growing seasons of the year. Information will be provided on such things as planning, preparing the soil, planting, fertilizing chemical treatments and the general care of this garden. Our first article will give some background on things that have been done since last fall in preparation for this spring.

In the fall of 1991, we entered into the second phase of a three-year program of planting specific spring blooming bulbs. Over 2,000 bulbs were planted in color blocks in the different sections of the garden this past year. Each of the triangular shaped sections in the gazebo area will be in a different color tulip. The colors are red, white and yellow in these areas. Yellow/orange tulips will frame the outside of the gazebo garden and golden and apricot tulips will be located on either side of the front entrance to the house. All the spaces around the house will have daffodils and many grape hyacinths, as well as other bright tulips on the corner and behind the storage shed. These colors were chosen for their eye appeal from the street, up close in the garden, and also for their usefulness in arrangements on the tables at the annual luncheons held in the Black House in April.

In caring for any garden, the pruning and shaping of woody plants is essential. This year, all the trees were thinned as well as the Rose of Sharon shrub border which edges the property on the northeast corner. Pruning not only opens the tree visually, but allows air circulation, prevents branches from rubbing against one another, removes any dead or damaged branches, and encourages abundant blooms.

The trees and flower beds were given a boost with a mixture of micro-nutrients such as chelated iron, zinc, magnesium and copper. These help release other nutrients for use by the plants. Woody plants were also treated with a dormant oil spray which helps keep scale from becoming a problem later in the season. If not treated in the dormant stage, it is very difficult to control this pest later on.

There are a number of weddings at the Black House every year and the gazebo is a favorite site for the exchange of vows for many couples. In light of that, the ladies have designed a very fragrant pathway from the steps of the house to the gazebo with a lovely medium pink blooming antique rose alongside the steps, and in the bed to the right of the sidewalk, another very fragrant pale pink antique rose, surrounded by poppies, white hibiscus and menton and apricot tulips for spring, followed by rose colored zinnias in summer and deep lavender mums in the fall. To the left of the walk, a new bed containing tall oriental lilies surrounded by white and pink hibiscus and tiger lilies and paint brush lilies at each end, should be both fragrant and beautiful for the brides.

We've added another rose section to our two existing rose beds and these plants were chosen for both fragrance and color. The emphasis in this new bed will be on pastels and soft color, leaving the bolder colored roses in the other two sections. Great care was taken in preparing and amending the soil in this area, giving the roses all that they need to get a good start.

We sincerely hope that we've answered some of the questions that we are hearing and look forward to more such articles in the coming months. It has been said, not entirely in jest, that a gardener is one who is truly mad, and we have to admit that we are a little crazy when it comes to a small touch of lush, and lovely paradise right here on the "Great American Plains." It may be hard won, but we think it's worth it.

Preparing for spring

Volunteers who serve on the Historical Society board of directors are preparing for spring by planting additional roses at the E.B. Black House gardens. New plantings, with weddings as its focus, are being put in place at the gardens this spring by, from left, Mary Zinser, Betty Kriegshauser, Jan Furr and Theresa Artho.

If a kernel of popcorn were dropped on a neutron star, it would produce as much energy as a World War II atomic bomb.

Poison Prevention Week being observed

March 15-21 is National Poison Prevention Week, according to Rita Chamberlain, R.Ph., director of the pharmacy at Deaf Smith General Hospital. The theme of the week "Children Act Fast... So Do Poisons!" emphasizes that children are the primary focus of concern.

"Children act fast and move quickly, often when a parent is distracted," Chamberlain said. "For that reason alone, adults must make sure that even household chemicals and drugs are stored away from children at all times."

For the past 30 years, Poison Prevention Week has focused on preventing poisonings among children under six years of age, but accidental poisonings can happen to anyone, according to the Poison Prevention Week Council.

Safety packaging on oral prescription drugs as reduced the number of accidental ingestion fatalities. Also, deaths due to household chemical production has decreased.

"Poisonings can also happen to older people who cannot read labels or who fail to follow instructions," Chamberlain said.

The best way to prevent accidental poisoning is to survey the home for dangerous chemicals, and be sure that all medicines and household cleaners are stored out of reach of children.

"It's simple advice, but keeping dangerous substances out of the reach of children is still the best way to prevent accidental poisonings. Adults, too, should always exercise caution anytime they ingest a substance by carefully reading labels," Chamberlain said.

Chamberlain, who has been a pharmacist since 1979, urged people to contact their pharmacist or call Deaf Smith General Hospital if they have a question about medications or other substances. "We're the healthcare professional who is trained to be expert in this area," she said. "We're always anxious to prevent a tragedy."

New Arrivals

Mr. and Mrs. James Brockman are the parents of a son, Brian Thomas, born March 5 at High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo. He weighed 6 lbs. 14 oz. He was welcomed home by Robert, Libby and Chris Brockman.

• LOS ANGELES (AP) - U2, Robert Palmer, Def Leppard and Annie Lennox are the latest to sign on to perform at an AIDS benefit honoring the late Freddie Mercury.

"A Concert for Life," to be held April 20 in London's Wembley Stadium, had already signed David Bowie, Elton John, George Michael, Metallica and Guns N' Roses.

Members of Queen, the band Mercury led, also will perform. Mercury died of AIDS in November at 45.

Canyon comes back in seventh to drop Herd

Moving the runner

Hereford's Richard Rodriguez lays a down a two-strike bunt to move Richard Wilbanks over to second. Wilbanks later scored to give Hereford a 3-2 lead, but a disastrous seventh inning for Hereford gave Canyon a 7-3 win.

The Canyon Eagles broke through for five runs in the top of the seventh to ruin what had been a close baseball game. Hereford held leads of 2-0 and 3-2 in Tuesday's game at Whiteface Field but lost 7-3.

Hereford drops to 2-7-1.

Hereford led early--scoring two in the first--and was in control of the game until the seventh inning.

Rene Cano led off the bottom of the first inning with an infield single. The Canyon catcher caught Cano straying too far off first, but a bad throw by the first baseman let Cano slide into second safely. Cano scored on Fonzie Enriquez' single.

Enriquez came around to score on a pair of errors. Ruben Ramos' shot back to the mound knocked the glove off pitcher Glenn Woodard's hand.

When Woodard retrieved the ball, he still had time to throw Ramos out at first, but he threw the ball past the first baseman. Ramos was safe at first base, and Enriquez went to third on the play. Richard Sanderson ran for Ramos (the pitcher) and stole second. Enriquez scored when catcher Chad Olson threw into center field.

The Herd made that lead hold up until the fifth inning, when Canyon's

Kevin Kraai tripled home Matt Hicks, then scored on Ramos' wild pitch to tie the score at 2-2.

Hereford promptly regained the lead in the bottom of the inning. Jake Head led off with a sharp single to left. Richard Wilbanks, who pinch-ran, went to second on Richard Rodriguez' sacrifice bunt, stole third and scored on Cano's sacrifice fly to center.

Hereford went into the seventh inning with a 3-2 lead. Sammy Casarez went to the mound in relief of Ramos to start the inning. Hicks started off with a single. Olson bunted him over and reached on third baseman Sanderson's throwing error, but second baseman Enriquez backed up first and nailed Olson, who had rounded the bag.

A single by Kraai tied the game, and Casarez left with a 2-2 count on the next batter, Isaac Padilla. Ramos came back out to pitch, and Padilla laced his first pitch for an RBI single. That gave Canyon the lead at 4-3.

Ramos got the next batter to fly out, but then things went really bad for Hereford. Padilla stole second, and catcher Michael Campos' throw went into center. Ramos coaxed a weak ground ball but slipped trying to field it. Ramos balked with men on first and third, allowing Canyon to score its fifth run. Consecutive singles produced another run, and Campos' second throwing error of the inning let the Eagles' seventh run in. The 10th batter of the inning grounded out.

Tab Hathaway and Head singled in the bottom of the seventh, but that was it.

"We had our chance to win it late, but Canyon came back and took it away from us," Herd coach T.R. Sartor said.

The Herd has two more home games this week before hitting the road until the start of district play. The Herd will host Tascosa at 4 p.m. Friday, and Palo Duro comes for a visit at 1 Saturday. Hereford opens district play in Dumas April 4, then hosts Borger April 7.

Hereford junior varsity split a doubleheader in Dumas Monday. Hereford won the first game 11-5 behind the pitching of Ray Hastings. They lost the second game 17-16 in the bottom of the ninth inning. Hereford coach Henry Perez said the second game was a relatively error-free slugfest.

"We just started hitting the ball around. We hit the ball well and they hit the ball well. We didn't have very many errors," he said.

Keough upgraded to serious condition

By The Associated Press

California pitcher Matt Keough was upgraded from critical condition to serious a day after emergency brain surgery, and even was well enough to watch a television replay of the foul ball that hit him in the head.

Keough, who had the surgery to relieve pressure from a blood clot, had another brain scan taken Tuesday morning.

"At this point, Matt is awake and alert," said Dr. Fred Dicke, the acting team physician. "He has movement in all extremities."

Keough, 36, will remain in intensive care for an undetermined period at Scottsdale Memorial Hospital.

Meanwhile, Pittsburgh made the first big trade of spring training, sending John Smiley to the Minnesota Twins for minor leaguers Denny Neagle and Midre Cummings.

Smiley, who agreed to a $3.44 million contract after filing for arbitration, is eligible for free agency after this season. Pittsburgh agreed to pay approximately $800,000 of Smiley's salary.

At Clearwater, Fla., Philadelphia first baseman John Kruk injured his left shoulder when he dived for a ground ball in the sixth inning against Texas.

San Francisco left-hander Trevor Wilson, as the ace of the Giants' pitching staff, found out he will be out of action at least two weeks because of a rib fracture.

And Pittsburgh second baseman Jose Lind may be sidelined for up to two weeks because of a sprained ligament in his left knee.

California pitcher Dave Johnson and New York Yankees shortstop Alvaro Espinoza were placed on unconditional release waivers and will get one-sixth their salaries as termination pay ($166,666.67 for Espinoza and $33,333.33 for Johnson). Players placed on release waivers after Tuesday get one-quarter of their salaries.

Phillies 8, Rangers 3

At Clearwater, Fla., Pat Combs allowed one hit and struck out seven in four innings. Texas got three runs off Jason Grimsley (1-0) in three innings, but Philadelphia rallied for five off Don Carman (0-1) in the seventh.

Astros 9, Pirates 5

At Bradenton, Fla., Benny Distefano hit a go-ahead double in the seventh inning and Mike Simms added a three-run homer in the ninth. Pittsburgh starter Doug Drabek was pounded for six hits and five runs - three earned - in four innings.

Mets 21, Royals 7

At Haines City, Fla., Bret Saberhagen gave up three runs and eight hits in five innings against the club that traded him to New York in December, but the Mets scored 14 runs in the eighth.

Twins 7, Red Sox 4

At Fort Myers, Fla., Shane Mack homered and drove in four runs and Boston's Frank Viola pitched five shutout innings against his original team.

Orioles 8, Expos 3

At West Palm Beach, Fla., Cal Ripken drove in two runs with a single and double, and Randy Milligan added a two-run double. Montreal starter Mark Gardner was tagged for six runs in five innings.

Tigers 2, Reds 1

At Lakeland, Fla., Bill Gullickson allowed two hits in five shutout innings as Detroit stopped Cincinnati's five-game winning streak. Reds starter Greg Swindell gave up four hits in five shutout innings.

Cardinals 1, Blue Jays 0

At St. Petersburg, Fla., Ray Lankford homered, and Jose DeLeon allowed three hits and struck out five in five innings. Jeff Ballard, Todd Worrell, Bob McLure and Lee Smith combined for two-hit relief.

Braves 3, Dodgers 1

At Vero Beach, Fla., Ron Gant hit a two-run homer off Bob Ojeda in the pitcher's first game this spring. Deion Sanders singled in the first inning and scored on Gant's first homer. Sanders also hit a run-scoring single in the second.

Angels 6, Athletics 3

At Phoenix, Dave Stewart gave up three runs and six hits in five innings. Stewart, 11-11 in 1991 after four consecutive 20-win seasons, underwent minor surgery on his left knee last winter, then completely altered his windup last week.

Two veterans picked for Hall

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - Hal Newhouser never gave up on his dream of winding up in Cooperstown. Baseball fans from around the world wouldn't let him.

For years, the one-time Detroit Tigers star received between 200 and 300 letters a month - many posing the same question for the only major league pitcher ever to win MVP awards in successive seasons.

"They'd come from all over and say something like, 'Hal, you're one of the best of all time. Why aren't you in the Hall of Fame?'" Newhouser said Tuesday. "I guess now I'll spend time now explaining what it feels like to be in the Hall of Fame."

Newhouser, 70, and the late Bill McGowan, an American League umpire for 30 years, were voted into Cooperstown Tuesday by the veterans committee, a 17-member panel that votes each year on players passed over by the baseball writers, as well as umpires, executives, managers and former Negro League stars.

Jordan pours in 40 against Nets

By The Associated Press

They used to call the Chicago Bulls a one-man team. Against New Jersey, they almost were.

Michael Jordan scored almost half of Chicago's points in Tuesday night's 90-79 victory over the injured-riddled Nets at the Meadowlands. Eleven of his 40 points came during an 18-0 fourth-quarter run that clinched the Bulls' seventh straight win and 10th in their last 11 games.

Jordan personally outscored the Nets 13-9 in the final quarter, when the Bulls held New Jersey to one basket in the last nine minutes.

New Jersey, playing without Derrick Coleman, Sam Bowie and Kenny Anderson, took a 74-65 lead with 9:05 left on a jumper by Drazen Petrovic, who finished with 26 points. But the Nets didn't score a point in the next seven minutes as Jordan went wild.

In other games, it was New York 99, Orlando 86; Milwaukee 127, Boston 106; Houston 100, the Los Angeles Clippers 92; Denver 118, Sacramento 100; Phoenix 92, Dallas 81; Portland 111, Minnesota 91; and Golden State 119, Seattle 107.

Rockets 100, Clippers 92

At Houston, Vernon Maxwell scored 16 of his 20 points in the third quarter and Hakeem Olajuwon had 21 points, 18 rebounds and five blocks as the Rockets beat Los Angeles.

The victory was the Rockets' eighth in a row at home and gave them a 2 1/2-game lead over the Clippers for the No. 7 playoff position in the Western Conference.

The Clippers' Danny Manning scored 20 first-half points, including a 12-foot jumper at the buzzer for a 45-44 lead. But the Rockets took command in the third quarter, starting with consecutive 3-point baskets by Maxwell.

Suns 92, Mavericks 81

At Phoenix, Kevin Johnson had 18 points and 15 assists, and Dallas went scoreless for 7:15 of the fourth quarter as the Suns handed the Mavericks their 10th consecutive defeat.

Rodney McCray scored a basket

33 seconds into the fourth quarter to give Dallas a 70-69 lead. But the Mavericks, winless in their last 21 road games, did not score again until Rolando Blackman made a 10-footer with 4:12 remaining. The Suns scored 14 straight points during the Mavericks' dry spell.

Dan Majerle had five of his 16 points in the run and capped it with a 3-pointer from the top of the key as the shot clock expired with 4:33 remaining.

Bucks 127, Celtics 106

At Milwaukee, Dale Ellis scored 22 points and Jay Humphries had nine of his 21 points in the decisive third quarter as the Bucks cruised past Boston.

Alvin Robertson had 17 points and Frank Brickowski 14 for the Bucks. Kevin Gamble finished with 20 points, while Rick Fox added 16 for the Celtics, who played without guard Dee Brown.

Knicks 99, Magic 86

At Orlando, Patrick Ewing scored 25 points and New York used a 17-6 run in the final three minutes to beat the Magic.

The Knicks built a 22-point lead early in the third quarter, but allowed Orlando to battle back to 82-80 on a 3-pointer by Chris Corchiani with 5:28 remaining.

New York then scored the next nine points during a 17-second stretch to put away the Magic, who have lost 21 of their last 25 games. Ewing was 8-of-13 from the field and had 10 rebounds for the Knicks, who snapped a two-game losing streak.

Warriors 119, SuperSonics 107

At Seattle, Sarunas Marciulionis scored a season-high 30 points and Tim Hardaway added 28 as the Warriors beat the SuperSonics.

The Warriors guards also keyed a decisive third-quarter run when Golden State took control with a 19-4 run. Golden State led by as many as 18 points in the third quarter, and Seattle never came closer than nine points the rest of the way.

Ricky Pierce led the Sonics with 24 points and Shawn Kemp added 18.

Caison House site of study club meeting

Members of Pioneer Study Club met recently at the Caison House Restaurant for their regularly scheduled meeting. Mary Panciera served as hostess.

Depicting a St. Patrick's Day theme, shamrock cutouts were arranged with aloe vera plants for members to take home as gifts.

President Rosemary Thomas opened the meeting and Mary Panciera led the invocation. Willie Wimberly led the pledge to the United States flag and the salute to the Texas flag.

Gladys Miller read a letter from Ron Rives, administrator at Deaf Smith General Hospital. He explained that the hospital is offering the first in a series of educational programs committed to becoming the center of healthy living for area residents. The first of the series was held March 3 with Margaret Z. Couch presenting, "Building a Balance Between Work and Home." Donna West, Hereford CPA, will talk tonight about preparing participants for their financial security. On March 31, Cyndi Rohrer will speak on "Building A Positive Lifestyle", and on April 21, Sharon Ivory will present "People-How to Cope."

Maria Escamilla gave an update on the work at Mothers Park. She reported that the group has worked over three hours cleaning flower beds, rotor-tilling the day-lily beds, watering the park and placing soaker hoses on the corners.

The Spring Top of Texas District meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs will be held March 28 in Borger. The GFWC State Convention is set for April 20-30 in Dallas.

Nell Culpepper read an article from Ann Landers written several years ago as her part on "My Turn" in which the writer admitted "overspending" during the Christmas holiday. The writer needed to replenish herself with more self-respect and stock up on compassion and patience.

Catherine Gripp chose for her program a report on the book Route 66-The Mother Road by Michael Wallis. She stated that Route 66 started at Lake Michigan and ended at the Pacific Ocean. It was begun in 1926 when Calvin Coolidge was president of the United States. Route 66 was called the American Main Street by Will Rogers and became a road where a soldier headed home and a road of cafes, waitresses, short-order cooks and hitch-hiking. It was the road to adventure.

Cy Avery was known as the father of Route 66 and by 1926, 1,800 miles were paved. During the depression, it became the road of flight. It cut an 180-mile swath across the Texas Panhandle towns through Shamrock, Conway, McLean, Groom, Amarillo, Adrian and Vega. Bob Lee built the first Big Texan Restaurant on Route 66 and later moved it to I-40. The old highway had a life of its own. Just outside the Amarillo city limits stands the monument, Cadillac's Ranch, built by Stanley Marsh who calls it "A Portrait of '66-The Stonehenge of America."

In 1956, Route 66 could no longer handle the traffic. Loops were built around towns, curves straightened and on Jan 17, 1977, the "End of Route 66" was published by the Chicago Sun Times. The name Route 66 still is magical-it will always mean going somewhere.

In closing, the club repeated the Pioneer Club pledge, "Believing that membership in the Pioneer Study Club carries with it a duty, I pledge myself to be faithful to its interests, to share its work, and to guard its reputation."

Those attending were Burrus, Jeanie Caison, Culpepper, Escamilla, Gripp, Oleta Hoffman, Johnson, Helen Langley, Miller, Panciera, Fern Sigle, Thomas and Wimberly.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I can't tell you how many times my husband and I have gone to a family gathering with our two children only to find that other family members have shown up with children who are ill.

The parents stand there and tell me how ill their child has been and how much they spent on medicine. While they're telling me this, I see their sick child toddle up to my daughter and plant a big kiss on her mouth. Two days later--surprise! My daughter comes down with the exact same illness and my doctor prescribes the same medicine.

The last time we got together, two families showed up with their glassy-eyed kids--one running a fever and the other scratching himself like crazy. You guessed it. The following day, those children were diagnosed with chicken pox and a few days later my child had it.

I realize that children eventually are going to come down with illnesses but why anyone would knowingly expose other people's children to their sick kids is a mystery to me. Why don't they stay home and take care of them? Right now I'm so mad I can't see straight. Am I being unreasonable?--Sick of Sickness in Mississippi.

DEAR MISS: When inconsiderate relatives or friends bring sick kids to family functions, there's not much you can do to protect your kids against whatever it is they have.

What you CAN do is make sure your children are inoculated against measles, whooping cough and anything else that might be going around. In this day and age, it is inexcusable not to protect your children against communicable diseases.

Call your local board of health for more information. In many places the inoculations are free.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What do you think? A guest dropped in unexpectedly and said he had just eaten. It was near dinner time and I asked my husband to put some pork chops on the grill for the two of us.

The last time this guest dropped in, he drank 15 cans of beer. This time he brought a case of beer with him. I was pretty sure he wasn't going to leave until the case was finished, and I was getting hungry. I served some cheese and crackers and asked my husband again to start the grill.

At that point the guest left and I was told by my husband that I had insulted him. He hasn't spoken to me since and that was four days ago.

Was I really rude? Please print this letter. My husband reads your column every day and thinks you're a smart woman.--E.H. in Deerfield Beach, Fla.

DEAR DEERFIELD: You did the right thing. When guests drop in unexpectedly at mealtime and announce that they have eaten, it's perfectly OK to proceed with your own dinner. The cheese and crackers were quite enough for him to nibble on.

The case of beer was a tip-off that the guzzler had planned to make a night of it. You were not in the least bit rude to suggest that your husband start the grill. Four days of silence suggests that "Mr. Wonderful" has a serious attitude problem. I hope you will hand him this column when it appears in the paper and ask him if he recognizes anyone he knows.

Gem of the Day: Those who flee temptation often manage to leave a forwarding address.

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" will relieve your anxiety. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Brides, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Video on herbs viewed by Bud to Blossom Garden Club

Members of Bud to Blossom Garden Club viewed a video on raising herbs in the home garden when the group met recently in the home of Patricia Robinson.

The video explained that the gardener should spread one inch of compost over the entire garden and that herbs need good drainage. It is also important to fertilize the plants with slow release nitrogen. Robinson also showed club members her herb butter, herb pickles, etc. that she had prepared.

President Phyllis Brown called the meeting to order and roll call was answered with members telling which herbs they used most in cooking.

During the business session, plans were made for the club's annual plant sale in April. Members also decided to assist at the April 9 birthday party at Westgate Nursing Home.

Robinson reported on the recent District I Garden Club meeting held in Lubbock which she attended along with Brown and Ursalee Jacobsen. Robinson served the group refreshments including Shamrock cookies prepared with mint flavoring to further illustrate her program on herbs.

Virginia Wood and Verna Sowell were recognized as special guests. Members present were Brown, Robinson, Jacobsen, Mildred Fuhrmann, Naomi Hare, Billee Johnson and Maria Escamilla.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Six new episodes of "The Trials of Rosie O'Neill" - including three featuring Robert Wagner as Sharon Gless' love interest - will air this spring.

The series, starring Gless as a sometimes abrasive public defender, will return to prime time April 11, CBS announced Monday.

The show has had numerous time changes and low ratings since its debut two seasons ago. It last appeared Dec. 19.

Gless' husband, producer Barney Rosenzweig, launched a public relations campaign to save the show, including full-page newspaper ads.

He used similar tactics to revive "Cagney & Lacey," a police series starring Gless and Tynne Daly.

CLASSIFIED ADS
Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	15	3.00
2 days per word	26	5.20
3 days per word	37	7.40
4 days per word	48	9.60
5 days per word	59	11.80

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $4.00.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines, those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS
Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS
Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

HELP YOUR HEART WITH YOUR RECIPES

American Heart Association

This recipe is intended to be part of an overall healthful eating plan that would not include more than 30 percent of daily calories from fat.

Scallops Oriental

You don't have to travel the seas to the Far East to enjoy this Oriental cuisine.

- 2 lb. fresh or frozen scallops
- 1/4 cup honey
- 1/4 cup prepared mustard
- 1 tsp. curry powder
- 1 tsp. fresh lemon juice
- Garnish
- 8 lemon wedges

Preheat broiler.
 Lightly spray a baking pan with vegetable oil.
 Rinse fresh scallops in cold water and drain, or thaw and drain frozen scallops. Place in a baking pan.
 In a saucepan, combine honey, mustard, curry powder and lemon juice.
 Brush scallops with sauce. Broil 4 inches from heat for 5 to 8 minutes, or until browned.
 Garnish with lemon wedges.
 Makes 8 servings.

* Do not use vegetable oil spray near an open flame or a heat source. Read directions on can before using, and follow directions carefully.
