

County Would Be In New 85th District

Deaf Smith County would join Randall County and become the 85th Legislative District under a redistricting bill passed by the Texas House of Representatives.

Rep. Bob Simpson of Amarillo, who now represents the 65th District, would be the state representative for the new district.

Deaf Smith County is currently in the 74th District which is represented by House Speaker Bill Clayton of Springlake. That district would be changed to the 81st District and would include Parmer, Bailey, Cochran, Hockley, Yoakum, Terry, Gaines and Andrews counties.

Lamb County would move into the new 86th District which would also include Castro, Swisher, Hale and part of Lubbock counties. Rep. Pete Laney of Hale Center is the representative for that district.

All the districts have been renumbered under the plan which was drawn to reflect population changes. Results of the 1980 census in Texas required state representatives to increase the number of persons in their districts from about 75,000 to about 94,000.

Fourteen members were forced into situations where they must campaign against one another if all seek reelection in 1982. Speaker Bill Clayton was paired against Pete Laney, however Clayton has indicated he will not seek re-election.

The plan pairs Rep. Bill Heatley of Paducah, dean of the House, against Rep. Larry Shaw of Big Spring if both men decide to run for reelection. The other pairings are down state.

The House approved the bill Thursday afternoon by a vote of 118 to 22. The measure now goes to the Senate, which passed its redistricting bill more than a week ago. Each chamber is expected to pass the other's bill before the session ends. (See DISTRICT, Page 2)

Bobby Decker Rehired As Hereford Cage Coach

By BOB NIGH
Managing Editor

Bobby Decker will return to the Hereford High School coaching next year as head basketball coach. The formal announcement of Decker's hiring was made this morning at a news conference by HHS Athletic Director Don Cumpton.

In addition, Cumpton named three other changes to the Herd staff. Those include James Salinas as the new HHS golf coach to replace Jerry Wilbourn; and the addition of two former Whiteface standout athletes, Suzanne Duvall and Rocky Rodriguez to the staff.

Miss Duvall will work with the girls program at Stanton Junior High, while Rodriguez will assist high school tennis coach Robert Cox, and will handle the junior high tennis program as well.

Cumpton said he was pleased to get Decker back on the staff. "We feel very fortunate to get him back," the AD said. "We feel that he is as good as any basketball coach in the country, and are glad to get a man of his caliber."

Cumpton said that he had visited with several prospects for the cage job, but that Decker outclassed the field.

Decker coached the Herd for three seasons, the last in 1979-80 when the Whitefaces just missed the district throne room. He was replaced last year by former assistant Dan Gullison, who resigned following one year at the helm.

Compromise Reached On Spending Measure

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — With only four days left in the 1981 Legislature, lawmakers still have to deal with the mammoth state spending bill, now expected to appear this weekend.

House and Senate negotiators resolved their differences Thursday, agreeing on a $25.6 billion compromise bill to pay for running state government during the two years beginning Sept. 1.

Optimistic conferees had said when negotiations opened May 17 that lawmakers would have the bill in their hands by May 27, but late Thursday the measure was still being prepared for publication.

The crush of work in both houses as the June 1 adjournment nears, and extended committee debate over funding the state prison and welfare systems, delayed action. Meetings were often interrupted, postponed or abbreviated while conferees conducted other legislative business.

But committee co-chairman Rep. Bill Presnal, D-Bryan, said he still hoped debate could begin Saturday.

The original Senate version of the bill was $19 billion more than Comptroller Bob Bullock said was available in state revenues. The House bill left $12 million on the table, Presnal said.

The final spending bill must be within the amount Bullock says is in state coffers or it cannot become law.

Bullock said Thursday he probably would not issue a new estimate of available revenues, but would "just wait and see what happens."

He said that he would decide if enough money is available when he sees the final bill.

The most difficult compromises — money for the state welfare and prison systems — were worked out in midnight agreements Tuesday.

Thursday's meeting spent $8.5 million more for state bilingual education programs, gave the attorney general $5 million to pay judgments against the state, and set aside $1.35 million for centers for battered wives.

The Texas Department of Corrections budget brought out some of the least temperate rhetoric in committee negotiations. Representatives took a hardline attitude toward appropriating money to meet expenses related to the federal civil rights suit on conditions in state prisons. They said they hoped the judgment that Texas prisons violate inmates' civil rights would be overturned on appeal.

Presnal called U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice, who is presiding over the case, a "dictator."

Senators said they wanted to respond positively to the court order. They proposed spending $68.9 million more than the House for construction to relieve overcrowding, and created a $6.4 million contingency fund for "flexibility" and $7.5 million contingency item for security.

The committee combined the two contingency funds into one item and allocated $10 (See SPENDING, Page 2)

Pioneer Days Event Begins Tomorrow

Registration for the 58th Annual Mid-Plains Pioneer Day Celebration will begin at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at the Hereford Community Center. The celebration annually brings together friends and acquaintances from earlier days of Deaf Smith County.

The Pioneer Study Club is responsible for registration, which will precede a business meeting at 11:15 a.m. Coffee and doughnuts will be served before the meeting, at which new Pioneer Association officers will be elected. The current associational officers include Donald Hicks, president; Rachel Henslee, vice president; and Wilma Clark, secretary-treasurer.

Meat, bread and beverages will be provided by the association for the noon, covered-dish luncheon. Those who attend are asked to bring salads, vegetables and desserts.

The 15th annual "Pioneer of the Year" award will be presented by KPAN radio staffer Buddy Peeler. Those who traveled farthest to attend the celebration and the oldest man and oldest woman present, also will be recognized.

Robert Thompson will give the invocation, and Ed Line will follow with the welcoming address. Mary Kate Tripp will give the response and Hicks will preside over the program.

Light Showers Fall; More Rain Possible

Light showers fell in Hereford last night while surrounding areas reported little or no rainfall.

KPAN recorded .13 inches of precipitation for last night and today. The total for the month of May is .43 inches, a decrease from the 1980 May total of 2.68 inches.

Possibly heavy rain has put a flash flood watch into effect for the northeast portion of west Texas today. Considerable cloudiness is expected to last through Saturday with scattered thunderstorms in most sections of the area. Highs today will be in the upper 70s to the north and near 105 near Big Bend. Lows are expected to be in the low 50s in the mountain and northern sections of West Texas and near 70 in the extreme southern section. The high is expected to be in the 70s Saturday.

The forecast for Sunday is partly cloudy skies with widely-scattered showers and thunderstorms. Monday should be fair and Tuesday should show increasing cloudiness and scattered showers and thunderstorms for most of the area. Highs for the north are expected to reach the 80s and lows should dip to near 60.

School's Out

School ended Thursday for local students, and these four-year-old kindergarten students at West Central Elementary celebrated the event. By the looks of things, teacher Mrs. Nancy George wasn't too unhappy at the prospect, either! Hereford youngsters will have all summer to frolic before school doors reopen in August. Rank and File to Vote Now

Tentative Coal Pact Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of striking miners and the soft coal industry announced tentative agreement on a new contract early today. If approved by the rank and file, the pact will end a walkout that lasted more than two months.

The announcement was made at 12:55 a.m. EST by United Mine Workers President Sam Church. "We have a contract," he said, ending a day of marathon meetings that had begun at 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

Bobby R. Brown, chief negotiator for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, emerged from the negotiating room in a downtown hotel moments later and said: "We have addressed most of the issues that were outstanding and we believe it's a good contract for the union."

Neither side would discuss changes made in the tentative pact since an earlier proposal was turned down overwhelmingly by UMW members more than two months ago.

Was the new contract a better one, Church was asked. "It's better," he replied.

Asked whether the union had won agreement on the crucial point that the industry pay a royalty on non-union coal it purchases, Church said, "That's no problem."

The UMW president said he would present the new proposal today — on the 64th day of the strike — to the 39-member union bargaining council that must approve the pact before it can be sent to minefield locals for approval of the members.

The council approved the earlier contract by a 21-14 margin only to see it rejected by rank-and-file miners by a margin of better than 2-to-1.

Ratification of the new three-year accord by some 160,000 miners in Appalachian and midwestern coalfields would take about 10 days under rules laid out in the union's constitution.

Today's announcement came two days after the negotiators reached agreement on the major sticking point — the question of unionized coal companies subcontracting work to outside, nonunion personnel.

As talks ended Wednesday, an effusive Church told reporters: "We made a lot of progress. We've still got some unresolved problems but I'm optimistic. I feel

Survey Shows Double Digit Inflation Declining

WASHINGTON (AP) — Double-digit inflation, the scourge of the nation's economy since early 1979, has been declining gradually over the past year, a survey of consumer prices shows.

The decline has prompted some economists to express optimism that the nation is coming out of a spell of high inflation.

"I'm increasingly optimistic we have turned the corner on inflation," said Allen Sinai, vice president and senior economist at Data Resources Inc., Lexington, Mass., a leading economic forecasting firm.

Thomas D. Thomson, senior vice president and chief economist for the Crocker National Bank in San Francisco, said he, too, was "fairly optimistic" the nation has moved away from a period of high inflation.

A survey of inflation figures shows that after peaking at nearly 15 percent in the spring of 1980, increases in the Consumer Price Index have been steadily declining and are on the verge of moving below 10 percent. The CPI is the government's most common measure of inflation.

Some private economists are optimistic a worldwide oil glut, favorable weather in the Midwest grain-producing areas, a strong dollar and government efforts aimed at reducing federal spending will help keep the trend going.

Other economists caution that the tough problem of spiraling wage increases outstripping productivity growth needs to be resolved, to make sharp and lasting reductions in inflation rates.

Israelis Raid Bases in Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Seaborne Israeli commandos made a brief raid south of Beirut during the night after a series of earlier air strikes in which Israel claimed destruction of four Libyan missile batteries at Palestinian bases on the Lebanese coast.

The Palestinians said the air strikes killed 25 people, including 18 civilians and seven guerrillas.

A communique from the Palestine Liberation Organization said a squad of Israeli commandos came ashore in landing craft just before midnight Thursday at Khaide, destroyed a truck and clashed with guerrillas before withdrawing 30 minutes later.

Israeli military authorities confirmed the raid, saying a guerrilla base was attacked and a vehicle destroyed. They said all the raiders returned safely.

Earlier Thursday, Israeli jets made three attacks on Palestinian mountain strongholds in the Damour area, about 15 miles south of Beirut, and a fourth against Palestinian positions in the foothills of Mount Hermon in southeast Lebanon, Beirut Radio said. The PLO reported a fifth strike at Naameh, 2½ miles north of Damour.

The Israeli military command said its warplanes were on a reconnaissance mission near Damour when SAM-9 anti-aircraft missiles "operated by Libyan forces" were fired at them.

UT Fusion Center Dedicated

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The problems that remain in fusion energy research "are within our ability to solve," Dr. John Clarke, deputy director of the U.S. Department of Energy's office of fusion energy, said Thursday.

Clark spoke at the dedication of the new Texas Experimental Tokamak, a device for fusion energy research at the University of Texas in Austin.

"Fusion represents an infinite source of energy," Clarke said, "and TEXT has a very fundamental role to play in the development of that source."

"We've come a long way. We've learned that fusion can be harnessed for energy, we've identified the key problems that remain and we've invented the tools to tackle these problems."

He said TEXT is one of the "tools" which will be used to conduct experiments that can fill the "enormous gaps" that remain in the understanding of the basic phenomena of the fusion process.

"The problems that remain are within our ability to solve them," he said.

He predicted at least 10 more years of research would be needed but at the end of that time, "we should know how much energy from fusion plants will cost consumers, how long it will take to build fusion power plants and what their impact will be on the environment."

TEXT was built and will be operated with $25 million from the Department of Energy. The new tokamak is a national user facility that will draw scientists from around the country and abroad to conduct basic research in the science of nuclear fusion.

House Approves Senate Changes

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The House has approved the Senate changes tacked on Speaker Bill Clayton's political contributions bill.

A voice vote in the House Thursday sent the measure to the governor for consideration.

Clayton's bill was sparked by his experience with the FBI Brilab investigation. He started pushing his proposal after his October acquittal on charges he took a payoff from an FBI informant posing as an insurance man seeking state business.

The bill creates a 15-member committee to assess Texas laws governing state officials' conduct. The House version said no campaign contributions could be made in the period from 30 days prior to the legislative session through 30 days after the session.

Senators changed the bill to allow contributions in the 30 days after the session.

The Senate deleted a requirement that officials report the use of officeholder funds not spent on expenses that could be reimbursed by the state.

Governor Seeks Help in Flooding

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements asked President Reagan Thursday to declare Travis and Williamson counties disaster areas because of the May 24-25 flash floods.

"The damages that occurred during this disaster are of such severity and magnitude that effective recovery is beyond the capabilities of the state and local governments," Clements said in an official request to Washington.

City officials have estimated damages of at least $35.5 million to property in the city from flood waters Sunday night and Monday while damages in the rest of Travis County and Round Rock total another $2.5 million.

Nine persons died in Austin and another four are missing. One victim was reported from Burnet, northwest of Austin. About 100 persons were injured.

Thirteen homes were destroyed in Austin and another 375 damaged.

The Austin health department began additional spraying Wednesday for mosquitoes after increased demand from residents in the hardest-hit areas.

Later, Clements told reporters that he was "sure we will get an early declaration" from the president, probably in the next day or two.

However, Clements warned, it might take several months before flood victims would get checks from the federal government for loans to repair property losses.

He said the official declaration called for $28 million in damage to private property and $8.3 million to public property.

War on Drugs Bill Receives Preliminary Okay from House

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A Texas War on Drugs bill, designed to catch doctors who put "hard drugs" into the illicit drug traffic, gained preliminary approval in the House late Thursday night.

The measure advanced, 89-46, with a final vote expected today. A number of minor amendments would send it back to the Senate for further action.

Doctors would have to write their prescriptions for such drugs as dilaudid, demerol, methaqualones, amphetamines, narcotics and barbiturates on special pre-printed, serially numbered pads provided by the Department of Public Safety. Information on the form would include the name, age and address of the patient.

The physician, the druggist and the DPS each would get a copy of the prescription, which the DPS would record in a computer for correlations that might point to doctors who make a business of prescribing drugs with high street values.

Rep. Walter Grubbs, D-Abilene, the sponsor, told the House the measure would be "a deterrent to illegal prescriptions and illegal drugs."

He said drugs covered by the bill amount to only 7 percent of all prescriptions. Grubbs added that "prescription forgery is easy and widespread."

Debate on the measure centered on privacy issues, and Grubbs said the DPS would be prohibited from making information in its computers available to the public. He said data on a prescription would be purged from the computer after 180 days.

Rep. Matt Garcia, D-San Antonio, attempted to eliminate the requirement that the prescription forms show the name and address of the patient.

"I am afraid we are sacrificing the right of privacy in the name of law enforcement," he said.

Rep. Bob McFarland, R-Arlington, answered that without data on patients, law enforcement officers could not identify persons who go from doctor to doctor, persuading them to prescribe drugs that could be abused.

"The bill covers only seriously addictive narcotic drugs," McFarland said. Garcia's amendment was tabled, 86-50.

John Duncan, executive director of the Texas Civil Liberties Union, later issued a statement criticizing the bill as one that "strikes at those persons who are simply unfortunate enough to be in enough pain to have a physician prescribe a pain killer."

"The only person to come out ahead with this scheme will be the person who gets the new DPS computer contract," Duncan said.

He explained he meant H. Ross Perot, the Dallas computer millionaire who heads the governor's War on Drugs Committee.

much better than I have in quite some time."

Brown, reserved by nature and reticent with reporters throughout the talks, said only: "We're making progress. I'm not pessimistic."

Apparently what tied up the talks for a series of three meetings that lasted almost 10 hours Thursday were questions of money.

The miners' wages were not at issue — union and management had agreed earlier on a $3.30 hourly raise that would give top-scale miners $14 an hour. But there were disagreements over several points that could cost the coal companies millions of dollars.

Sources who asked not to be identified by name indicated that the last obstacle was whether a new $100-a-month pension already agreed to for widows of miners who retired prior to 1976 should be reduced in view of the industry's agreement to restore the royalty clause.

It was not certain how that issue was resolved, but the sources said the tentative agreement included these provisions:

—The industry agreed to limitations on work by non-union subcontractors at mine sites in exchange for an end to the union demand that the contract work standard apply to some 14,000 unionized mine construction workers employed by outside contractors.

—The BCOA agreed to union demands that a 45-day probationary period for new miners be dropped.

—In return, the industry reportedly won an end to union demands for nullification of all precedent-setting decisions by the Arbitration Review Board, a joint labor-management panel the two sides had agreed to abolish in the tentative contract settlement reached March 23 and rejected a few days later. The industry sought to retain the board's decisions for use as precedents in grievance cases.

—The industry agreed to restore a provision requiring coal companies to pay a royalty into union health and retirement funds for each ton of non-union coal purchased for resale.

This apparently was a concession the BCOA knew it had to make in the wake of the rejection of the earlier accord, and the issue was considered "non-negotiable" by the union. The BCOA bargaining team evidently made no attempt to fight restoration of the provision.

The strike began March 27, when the previous three-year contract expired. It has been marked by many violent incidents, most involving clashes between striking miners and those working for non-union companies still producing coal.

The economic impact, virtually negligible in the first weeks of the walkout, has been more widely felt recently as layoffs in industries allied with mining have risen. The price of coal rose rapidly on the spot market with the dwindling of large stockpiles once held by electric utilities.

The BCOA, which represents 130 coal companies, had faced a threat by Church to break off the talks if management failed to improve its contract offer.

Inflation

increases in the CPI shows that inflation reached a peak in March and April of 1980 when the index jumped 14.7 percent above the same months the previous year.

The rate of inflation then started declining last May when it slipped to 14.4 percent above May 1979 levels.

It went up 12.6 percent in both October and November and 12.4 percent in December over the comparable months the previous year.

The moderating trend was more pronounced this year. In April, the CPI was only 10 percent over April 1980, marking the lowest year-to-year change since the 9.9 percent rise of February 1979 over February 1978.

The assessment was made of increases in the CPI beginning in January 1979. Comparing the changes from one month to the same month the following year flattens any bulges or dips that may show up in a month-to-month assessment.

The CPI is a measure of the average change in prices over time in a fixed market basket of goods and services.

Spending

million to it. Negotiators slashed the Senate's $191.3 million biennial prison construction budget by $45 million. Presnal said the Senate appropriation was more than could be spent in two years because sites for new prisons had not been selected yet.

The new figure is $25 million more than the House wanted to spend.

Prison construction could also be funded from $28 million earmarked for site acquisition, architectural development, purchase or construction of new facilities. The House had originally proposed to spend nothing on acquisition.

Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, said the figure was $3 million above the minimum that Department of Corrections officials said they could live with.

Welfare spending, another sticking point, was also settled at the witching hour Tuesday. The compromise proposal includes two-year totals of $34.6 million for family planning services, $253 million for community-based alternative care facilities, and $80.3 million for day care centers.

Emergency family services got $5 million. A special provision set aside $100,000 annually to be used to match federal money that might be available to centers for battered women. Such grants, if forthcoming, would be added to the money agreed upon Thursday.

Medical Group Says Regular Biking Can Improve Health

It's a glorious time of the year! Why not get out your bike and leave that stuffy car in the garage for the weekend? What better way to enjoy the newly budded trees and wildflowers than by getting out in the open air and cycling. After all, springtime is bike time.

Not only can cycling provide an enjoyable family outing, but regular biking also can improve your health, says the Texas Medical Association. Good cycling workouts can help protect you from heart and circulation problems. The rhythmic leg movements involved in cycling squeeze the blood vessels and pump blood more efficiently from the arms and legs to the heart. An additional system of blood vessels is also built, creating a back-up system to the blood vessels which could save your life when your heart is under stress.

However, like any other active exercise, don't overdo it. Start off slowly and gradually build up your endurance. And don't forget to be safety conscious.

Bicycles are the number one cause of recreational injuries in the United States. And the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) ranks bicycles as the second leading cause of product-related injuries last year. In 1980 an estimated 514,000 accidents occurred involving bicycles or bicycle accessories.

In part, this high rate of injury is reflecting the large number of people of all ages who ride bikes. But CPSC notes that there are accident patterns associated with bicycle accidents, and there is a lot that you can do to avoid them.

Be sure that your bike is in good mechanical condition before you go for a ride. Check the brakes and make sure the wheels are not loose or wobbly. Also check for looseness in the steering mechanism, difficulty in shifting gears and pedals falling off.

Loss of control of the bicycle occurs primarily because of riding too large a bike or riding double on banana seats, rear fenders, handlebars or the top bar on a man's bike. Don't be tempted to perform stunts—you may be doing them in a hospital bed.

Beware of entangling your feet, hands or clothing in the bicycle. Be sure to wear appropriate clothing when bicycling. Avoid wearing anything that dangles. It can get caught in the bike.

IF YOU ARE BETWEEN THE AGES OF 55-65 and are not in a Bible study class, we invite you to join us for Bible study at First Baptist Church each Sunday at 9:45 a.m. ground floor ADULT IV DEPARTMENT

While you are cycling, make sure that your foot doesn't slip from the pedal. This is one of the major causes of bicycle accidents.

One of the most serious types of accident situations is collision with a car or another bicycle. This can often be prevented if cyclists would stick to safety regulations. Besides obeying traffic laws and remembering to ride defensively, a cyclist should walk, not ride, the bicycle across busy intersections.

Ann Landers

Warning for Pantyhose

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 28-year-old woman, in good health, and have a darling three-year-old daughter. Recently I read a story in a magazine about palmistry. It had pictures of certain lines on the palms and explained what they meant.

After I read the article I examined my husband's palms. His life lines were very short. We have been planning to have a second child, but now I wonder if it's a good idea. If my husband is going to die young, I don't want to be left with little children. It would be hard enough with one.

When I mentioned this to him he said it was silly—that nobody can tell from looking at the lines in another person's hands how long he will live.

Will you please check this out with your experts and tell me if palmistry is a lot of baloney—as my husband says?—Ootzy in Hicksville

DEAR OOTZY: Palmistry is neither a science nor an art. It can, however, be a fairly good source of income for convincing talkers who need to make a few dollars. As Barnum said, "There's a sucker born every minute" ... and two to take him.

DEAR ANN: The enclosed appeared in my local paper a few days after your reply to a reader. I thought you might reconsider your response after reading it.—Ann Fan From Bridgewater, N.J.

"Not long ago, a woman wrote to Ann Landers saying she had varicose veins in her legs. She asked Ann what she thought of the idea of wearing pantyhose under her bathing suit to cover them up."

"Ann replied she thought it was a great idea and added 'you might start a new trend.' 'Wrong, Ann.

"I hasten to issue a word of caution.

"I know a Bridgewater resident who came up with this same idea several years ago. She went off on a dream-come-true vacation to Hawaii and, on the first day there, donned her pantyhose under her Jantzen swim suit and raced to the beach.

"There she stood at the edge of the water, entrance by the beauty all around. She stood there for some time, then noticed that the tide was coming in.

"Reluctantly, she started to leave ... and found to her horror that she was rooted to the spot. Grains of wet sand had seeped inside per pantyhose, cementing her in place.

"Finally, her husband saw her waving madly and raced to her rescue.

"Perhaps pantyhose packages should be labeled with a warning: Caution: Wearing this product under a bathing suit may be dangerous to your health!"

DEAR BRIDGE: My advice was sound. The lady in trouble was wearing pantyhose that did not fit properly. Such a thing could NEVER happen to me! Sorry I can't tell you the brand name, girls, but I don't do commercials!

CONFIDENTIAL to Can't

Figure Him Out: Stop trying and accept him as he is. Marriage is not a reform school. This might sound like a contradiction, but being a little nutty now and then is perfectly normal. It can also be refreshing. No one is 100 percent rational and in perfect control of himself at all times. We are all capable of doing something completely out of character now and then. This doesn't mean we are crazy. It merely means we are human. Look into your own life and you will see what I mean.

EXCUSES! EXCUSES!

Jesus turned to His host. "When you put on a dinner," He said, "don't invite friends, brothers, relatives, and rich neighbors! For they will return the invitation. Instead, invite the poor, the crippled, the lame, and the blind. Then at the resurrection of the godly, God will reward you for inviting those who can't repay you."

Hearing this, a man sitting at the table with Jesus exclaimed, "What a privilege it would be to get into the Kingdom of God!"

Jesus replied with this illustration: "A man prepared a great feast and sent out many invitations. When all was ready, he sent his servant around to notify the guests that it was time for them to arrive.

"But they all began making excuses. One said he had just bought a field and wanted to inspect it, and asked to be excused. Another said he had just bought five pair of oxen and wanted to try them out. Another had just been married and for that reason couldn't come.

"The servant returned and reported to his master what they had said. His master was angry and told him to go quickly into the streets and alleys of the city and to invite the beggars, crippled, lame, and blind. But even then, there was still room!

"Well, then," said his master, "go out into the country lanes and out behind the hedges and urge anyone you find to come, so that the house will be full. For none of those I invited first will get the smallest taste of what I had prepared for them." Luke 14:12-24

New Law Will Set Texans Back An Unnecessary $50-200 Billion

The Texas legislature is expected to approve this week a new law that will cost Texans an estimated $50 to $200 billion in unnecessary medical care costs, according to Gene Mitchell, president of the Health Freedom Council, a consumer organization that is fighting the proposed legislation.

In addition, an estimated 48,000 Texans will die needlessly each year as a result of the legislation, said Mitchell.

informed as to all the alternatives that could be used for their health problems.

For example, Mitchell points out that a person going to a medical doctor with a gallstone problem will invariably be told that he needs a gallbladder operation—at a cost of several thousand dollars, severe pain, permanent impairment of his digestive function, and the risk of death from the operation. "More than 6,000 people die each year in the U.S. during gallbladder operations," he added.

that result from the operation.

Similarly, patients will not learn of alternative therapies for cancer, heart disease, arthritis, strokes, diabetes and other carbohydrate disorders, kidney and urinary disorders, high blood pressure, osteoporosis, cataracts and other causes of blindness, various muscular disorders and back problems—plus many other diseases.

We have the answers today for all the major diseases afflicting mankind, but we are prevented from knowing about them, and using them, by medical practice laws, such as Senate Bill 315," Mitchell said.

the bill is discriminatory and unconstitutional in many parts and we intend to test its validity in the courts," Mitchell said.

Under the law, which will have a term of 12 years, practitioners of alternative health care therapies, such as nutritionists, acupuncturists, massage therapists, reflexologists, herbalists, hypnotists, naturopaths and many others are subject to arrest and imprisonment. To combat this, Mitchell said the Health Freedom Council plans to set up a legal defense fund and information center to help all those who may be arrested under the act.

The proposed law, Senate bill 315 sponsored by the Texas Medical Association, is expected to pass because a majority of the members of both the Texas senate and house of representatives have been "paid off" to the tune of more than $800,000 paid to the legislators by the medical association, Mitchell charged.

Such a patient will not be told that there is a simple home remedy and change of diet that will solve the problem quickly, at virtually no cost, without pain, and with only beneficial long-term effects, he said.

The bill has already been passed by the Texas senate and needs only the approval of the house of representatives, plus the governor's signature, to become law. The bill is expected to clear the house committee Monday (May 25) and be up for approval by the full house on Thursday (May 28).

The needless medical costs and deaths will come about, Mitchell explained, because the bill continues and expands state controls on the practice of health care that will effectively prevent consumers from being properly

Also, thousands of Texas men will undergo prostate operations each year without learning that there are simple nutritional and other therapies that can correct the problem without the cost, pain, possible impotence, and further worsening of the condition—leading to cancer—

Even if the bill is approved, the Health Freedom Council will continue its fight against the law. "We are convinced

Mitchell was also critical of the "circus atmosphere" of the last few days of the legislative session. "To have to debate and approve legislation of this magnitude under these conditions is deplorable," he said. "We believe the people of Texas should—by phone, telegram or in person—demand that their representatives defeat S.B. 315 at this time so that it can be considered in a special session where proper attention can be given it by all concerned."

Polaroid Introduces A New Camera System

NEW YORK (AP) — Polaroid Corp. on Wednesday introduced a new camera and film system for the consumer market that it said boasts the most sensitive color film available in the amateur market.

The new "Instant 600 System" includes two different cameras with built-in strobe-flash units that combine r-w electronic and film technologies with Polaroid's successful SX-70 instant motor-drive system.

As with the SX-70, the two new cameras spit out a photograph that develops outside the camera. But the new film, 50 percent faster than conventional 35 mm color film and four times faster than Polaroid's current "Time-Zero" film, offers more natural color and a greater range of possibilities, both in sunlight and indoors, said Peter O. Klein, Polaroid's vice president for research.

The two new camera systems also introduce a new built-in strobe flash unit that Polaroid President William J. McCune Jr. said offers new possibilities to the amateur photographer.

"The most important feature of this new system is that the cameras are designed to blend strobe light and ambient light, both indoors and out, creating a brightness range for the scene which is matched to the scale of the film," McCune said.

Milton S. Dietz, senior vice president of engineering, said both new cameras are powered by a new battery included in the 10-shot film pack. The battery, more powerful than previous Polaroid power supplies, runs all mechanical and electronic functions of the cameras, including the built-in flash.

The cameras, similar in appearance to the SX-70, will list for $95 and $70 dollars. The SX-70 cameras currently list for $35 to $189. The 660 camera, includes a sonar focusing device similar to the SX-70 system but uses four different lens elements on a rotating disk that focus from 2 feet to infinity. The 640 camera does not include the sonar device.

The 600-system film will cost $9.95, compared to $9.50 for SX-70 film.

The new film is not compatible with previous cameras.

Both camera and film will be on the market next month, Donald Dery, a spokesman for the company, said production has been going on for the past several months in Boston-area plants. "I firmly believe the 600 system is the greatest value of any system we have offered to the public," said McCune.

Turkeys
 The dark meat of the turkey is dark because it has been well supplied with blood vessels. The white meat of the breasts—the muscles that power the wings—indicates that bred-for-eating turkeys are weak flyers at best. Wild turkeys, on the other hand, may be able to fly a mile, hitting 45 mph.

Holly Sugar President Sets Record Straight

COLORADO SPRINGS—In a letter mailed to shareholders, the president of Holly Sugar Corporation told them that an earlier letter mailed by Michael S. Buchsbaum, an ex-broker formerly of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., Inc., contained figures more than a year old and did not include key facts about the company's financial performance.

John B. Bunker, president of Holly, said "In his (Buchsbaum's) letter to you dated May 15, 1981, he is using figures more than a year old. His letter is out of date. The company's fiscal results for 1981 were reported in the press and mailed to you and to him on May 7, 1981, eight days prior to his letter."

"His letter to you does not include the following key facts about Holly Sugar:
1) Holly had record sales of $328.6 million for fiscal 1981.
2) Holly's fiscal 1981 earnings were nearly three times as high as in 1980 and the third highest in the company's history.

3) Holly had a substantial reduction in the level of long-term debt, from $20.9 million at the end of fiscal 1980 to $14.3 million in fiscal 1981. (Holly's debt as a percent of total capitalization in fiscal 1981 was reduced to 16 percent from 27 percent in the prior year.)
4) Holly shareholders' equity reached $90 million at the end of fiscal 1981, an increase of 17 percent from the prior year's level.
5) Your Board of Directors resumed dividend payments in September. (The annual indicated rate is $1.00 per share.)"

Bunker also said, "A year ago, the brokerage firm where Mr. Buchsbaum worked and where he was the second largest stockholder, wired me that they advocated auctioning off all of Holly's assets by sealed bid. I warned Mr. Buchsbaum that if he proceeded with this course of action he could do irreparable harm to Holly's relationship with its sugarbeet growers and that without sugarbeets even the most efficient sugarbeet factory is worthless.

"Now he tells you he has no plans to liquidate your company. In fact, his letter indicates no specific plan for Holly at all. This is not surprising. Mr. Buchsbaum has never been employed in the sugar industry."

Referring to a lawsuit filed by Holly Sugar Corporation against Mr. Buchsbaum and certain others he added, "On May 13, your company filed a lawsuit (answerable in 30 days) in the U.S. District Court for the District of Colorado alleging that Mr. Buchsbaum and certain others conducted an illegal solicitation of Holly's stockholders and have been manipulating the market price of Holly's stock since 1979."

In closing his letter to Holly's shareholders he said, "Today your company is in the best condition it has ever been, with one of the strongest balance sheets in history. Do not be misled by Mr. Buchsbaum's stale year-old figures."

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

AUSTIN — Because this is the first Legislative session after the 1980 national census, the Legislature must engage in redistricting. Redistricting means we must redraw the lines for the Texas Senate, the Texas House of Representatives and Congress. This is to assure that everyone has equal representation and that each vote is of approximately equal strength.

This is a good theory, and will be good in practice by the time we get through. But there will be a few minor battles before the lines are completed. The Democrats have a plan, and the Republicans have a plan. Each wants to assure his reelection, and party strength.

Congressmen are not exempt. Many have been to Austin to lobby for a district they can win.

The rural-urban stress is particularly important with a largely rural district like ours. Rural voting strength can easily be diluted by including part of a large city in a rural district.

But that will not happen to our voters. There have been three proposals put forth so far, and our district is the same under all three plans. Of course, the area of our district will grow. The population of the Panhandle has not grown as fast as some other parts of the state, so we must add geography to add people. We will add Hale, Hall and Briscoe Counties.

This will bring our total up to 29 counties and a land area about the size of Albania, or a little larger than Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Delaware and Maryland combined. But we still will not have the largest district in the state.

Under current plans, neither the district of Congressman Kent Hance nor the district of Congressman Jack Hightower will change substantially. The plans for Congress, though, may require a special session. But there can be no special session for redistricting the Texas House and Senate. If we do not complete that task by June 1, the Legislative Redistricting Board takes over.

Redistricting will determine who represents whom for the next decade. It is one of the most important things the Legislature will do for the people in our district. For that reason, we want to hear from you about it. Please write to Senator Bill Sarpalius, P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.

What's in a Name? Ask about Quaaludes

SELLERSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — The trademark Quaalude, like the illegal drug that masquerades under its name, has been widely abused — on the streets, in the newspapers and by the police.

It's all a case of mistaken identity. But still, some doctors are afraid to prescribe it and some patients worry about taking it. There's a twin sister — same stuff, different name — for them.

Sanka became "Sanka brand" to fight off generic use of its trademark. Xerox reminds journalists that not every photocopy is a "Xerox copy."

But few companies have the trademark woes of the Lemmon Co., a Sellersville-based concern that makes the hypnotic-sedative methaqualone, available by prescription under the name Quaalude.

For more than a decade, Quaalude has been wrongly associated with overdoses of illegally made methaqualone, wild drug parties, swarthy drug dealers and underground laboratories.

"There's no doubt we've lost a considerable amount of business because of the substitution of the trade name for the generic name," said Elliot Fisher, lawyer for Lemmon.

He writes 25 to 50 letters a week to newspapers and police agencies, complaining that they have said "Quaaludes" when they meant "illegally manufactured methaqualone" or "counterfeit Quaaludes." Some respond with apologies, and many are surprised to learn that Quaalude is a trademark, Fisher says.

Lemmon has taken out advertisements in medical journals urging physicians "not to permit the abuses of illegal users to deprive a legitimate patient of the drug," Fisher adds.

Lemmon's market research indicates doctors are skittish about prescribing Quaaludes because of the adverse publicity, and patients worry about taking a drug whose name is associated with arrests and death on the street. In 1980, 117 people died after taking illegally purchased methaqualone, federal officials say. That's up from 87 deaths in 1979.

In 1978 Lemmon introduced Mequin, identical to Quaalude except for the name, "for physicians who are sensitive to improper newspaper publicity, identifying phony pills as Quaaludes," Fisher said. One of 10 methaqualone tablets the company makes is marketed as Mequin.

Taken under a doctor's supervision, the methaqualone tablets made by Lemmon are a daytime sedative or, in larger doses, an aid to sleep.

The illegal drug wrongly called "Quaaludes" usually contains methaqualone in varying quantities. When users fight sleep, it makes them feel euphoric or "high," drug officials say.

The illicit drug is being used more widely than ever before, the Drug Enforcement Administration says. Some 40 million illegally made methaqualone tablets are expected to hit the streets this year, up from 20 million in 1980, according to the DEA's "conservative estimate." Others have estimated the figure at as high as 1 billion.

Ancient astronomy

Before scientists understood seasonal changes, astronomers believed that the sun, in its apparent "path across the heavens," passed over the Tropic of Capricorn (on Dec. 21 or 22 by modern calendars) and again when it reached the Tropic of Cancer (about June 21). Ancient astronomers named each moment "solstice," from the Latin "sol," sun, and "sistere," to stand still.

Gilley's July 4th Picnic Objected to by Residents

PASADENA, Texas (AP) — A proposed Fourth of July party hosted by this Houston suburb's most famous nightclub owner has upset some residents — and it's not because they weren't invited. In fact, that's the problem — everybody is invited. Mickey Gilley, owner of the huge country and western nightclub bearing his name, is planning an 11-hour country music concert and picnic here July 3 and 4.

But the party hinges on a decision expected next week by the City Council on a proposed ordinance aimed at stopping it.

Some residents, who have complained to the council the past two Tuesdays, fear the concert will attract "a bunch of drunks" who will disturb the peace. Gilley's lawyer insists the crowd will be kept under control.

"This won't be another Willie Nelson picnic or an acid rock concert," said lawyer J.L. Jay, who represents Gilley and concert promoter Sherwood Cryer. "Two or three off-duty officers handle 5,000 to 6,000 people every night at Gilley's. I'm sure three or four more can handle this."

But Don Francis, administrator of Pasadena Bayshore Hospital, told councilmen the expected noise and traffic jams would be "totally disruptive" to his staff and 400 patients.

"Our patients are recovering from heart attacks, strokes and major surgery," Francis said. "I'm an accomplished musician and a great country music fan, but I think this would effectively shut the hospital down."

He said the site of the proposed concert — the 21-acre grounds of Gilley's nightclub — is too close to his hospital. Gilley's Club abuts one edge of the tract and the hospital abuts the opposite side.

Cryer said loud speakers used at the concert "will be turned away from the hospital."

Justice of the Peace Larry Wilson said noise would not be the only problem. Pasadena would have to deal with it if the concert is allowed.

"We're not talking about 5,000 or 6,000 sober people," he said. "To a large degree we're going to be dealing with a bunch of drunks."

Dallas Men Rent Out As Husbands by Hour

DALLAS (AP) — Oh, for the perfect man. A husband who will paint your house, wash the windows, fix the car, and do all those other mental household chores with a smile.

For those who don't already have one, in Dallas they can rent two such men.

Don Cannaday and Robin Hill are Husbands by the Hour.

These two enterprising Dallas divorcees will do various odd jobs around the house — all without expecting dinner, a date or a lasting relationship in return.

Actually, Hill and Cannaday are no more than glorified handymen who've figured out a rather unique way to market their many talents.

"We just wanted a name people would remember," Cannaday said with a smile.

The two men charge $20 for the first hour, and $17.50 for each additional hour of work. They'll tackle most any chore, "but I won't do ovens," says 35-year-old Hill.

A little more than a year ago, the men were trading their skills to friends, in return for a good dinner "or a six-pack of beer." That's when someone suggested they could turn their hobbies into a livelihood.

"This woman, whose husband had died, told us that things that had been done for her before, weren't getting done now," 37-year-old Cannaday said.

"I thought about it on my way home and came up with the name," he added. "After we stopped laughing about it, we registered (the business) and suddenly began getting a lot of publicity."

Some ladies, however, were suspicious at first.

"This one woman called me up and quizzed me for quite awhile, telling me she wasn't interested in me and just wanted some work done," Cannaday said. "I agreed with her."

Hill left his job as a production manager to go into the business full-time. Cannaday, a salesman, squeezes in his "husband" work in his free time.

The jobs they are hired to do range from mundane — such as painting, carpentry and pruning trees — to bizarre.

"This one lady wanted us to fill five bullet holes in her ceiling," Cannaday said. "She put them there during an argument with two of her former husbands."

One woman hired Cannaday for an entire day to show her how to drive her new five-speed car.

About 90 percent of their customers are women, Hill said. But some couples, and a few men, call for help.

"Most of the time, though, men don't like to admit they can't do something," Cannaday said.

If a customer asks them to do a job they've never done, "we may run down to the hardware store, read the directions on the back of a box and then come back and try to do it," Cannaday said.

"But we won't accept jobs we know we really can't do," Hill added.

The two men say they don't want to remain laborers forever. "We would eventually like to expand and become consultants. Maybe a service that lists companies or workers and refers our subscribers to them," Hill said.

Space Diamonds Puzzle Scientists

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Scientists who found tiny diamonds inside a meteorite from outer space are baffled by how they formed, but one theory holds that they are debris from a high-speed collision of two asteroids millions of years ago.

At present, no one knows for sure.

"It is a very interesting specimen and raises an old question again," said Donald D. Bogard, a senior research scientist at the Johnson Space Center.

The diamonds, which are only .004 of an inch thick — too small to be of commercial value — were discovered when grinding tools used to slice off thin sections of the space rock struck microscopic objects the tools had no effect on.

The meteorite containing diamonds was among hundreds found in Antarctica, and is composed mainly of iron — which makes the discovery of diamonds inside all that much more surprising.

"This is very unusual," Bogard said. He said scientists have found diamonds before in "an odd-ball type of meteorite called urelites, which are very rare" — but not normally in the more common, iron ones.

The only other iron meteorite known to have diamonds was the Canyon Diablo meteorite that crashed into Arizona about 50,000 years ago, forming the mile-wide Meteor Crater.

Bogard said the discovery of diamonds in the Arizona crater started scientific debate over how carbon, probably in the form of graphite, underwent the intense pressure required to turn it into diamonds.

He said the Arizona crater is so large and the impact so great the pressure could have occurred when it struck Earth. But the meteorite now under study weighs only 23 pounds and fell on relatively soft polar ice.

Bogard said the most likely explanation was the high-speed collision theory, but he said there is no proof.

"By studying it we may learn something about the processes that formed them," he said.

The meteorites from Antarctica are stored at the Space Center where preliminary analyses are made before pieces are sent to scientists throughout the world for further study.

Valenzuela Defeated; Rangers Edge Twins

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

After a fabulous start, Fernando Valenzuela of the Los Angeles Dodgers is starting to struggle a bit.

Allan's Gaylord Perry knows something about struggling.

"It took a few games to get that one," said Perry after recording his 293rd career victory Thursday night with a 9-4 decision over the Dodgers and their news-making rookie pitcher.

The 42-year-old Perry had misfired on three previous starts for victory No. 293 and currently has a 4-3 record.

"The way some guys (pitchers) were getting demoted around here pretty quick, I decided I better do a little bit better, especially in the first inning," said Perry, who had allowed 11 first-inning runs in his last four starts.

As it was, Perry didn't allow a run until the sixth and left after scattering nine hits in eight innings.

Valenzuela, meanwhile, lasted only 3 1/2 innings and was shelled in the midst of a seven-run rally in the Braves' fourth. That marked the first time that the hard-throwing left-hander had failed to pitch at least seven innings and reduced his season's record to 8-2 after a brilliant 8-0 start that included five shutouts.

"My control was good but they were getting the hits when they needed them," said Valenzuela. "I was just pitching the same way as always. I know I'm going to win some and lose some."

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati beat San Francisco 7-4 and Pittsburgh walloped Chicago 9-4. In the only American League game, Milwaukee whipped Detroit 7-1 and Texas stopped Minnesota 6-2.

Rangers 6, Twins 2.

Leon Roberts smashed a three-run homer in the bottom of the eighth inning to cap a four-run Texas rally that broke a 2-2 tie and gave the Rangers their victory over Minnesota.

Al Oliver and Buddy Bell opened the eighth with consecutive singles. One out later, John Grubb chased Twins starter Roger Erickson, 1-5, with a run-scoring single. Roberts then greeted reliever Don Cooper with his second homer of the season.

Texas starter Rick Honeycutt, 4-1, walked none, struck out one and gave up seven hits. Honeycutt retired 12 of the last 13 batters he faced.

Mauch Reluctantly Takes Manager's Job With Angels

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — "If it's not you, it will be someone else," California Angels' owner Gene Autry says he told Gene Mauch, when Mauch didn't want to take over for about-to-be fired Jim Fregosi as manager of the Angels.

"Then it's me," Autry said Mauch reluctantly told him after the former manager at Philadelphia, Montreal and Minnesota had turned down the job the night before, and repeatedly told the baseball team's owner in recent weeks he did not want to take the reins in midseason. But the Angels said that three teams have been asking the Angels to talk to Mauch about managing, and Autry did not want to lose him.

On Thursday former Angel shortstop Fregosi was formally fired from the team he had directed to its only American League West Division pennant in 1979.

Former movie cowboy and singer Autry offered the job to Mauch Tuesday night, and was turned down, but when he made the offer again Wednesday night Mauch accepted when he was told the Angels were committed to making a managerial change, Autry said.

Mauch, who managed in the major leagues 20 1/2 years, never has won a pennant but finished second with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1964. He left Minnesota in mid-season last year and joined California this year as director of player personnel.

But Mauch has been highly regarded for the work he did building the Philadelphia and Montreal teams. In Minnesota his teams never had pennant personnel, largely due to a club policy of turning loose high-priced top players, such as seven-time American League batting champion Rod Carew, now with the Angels.

In 1980 the Angels, with a lineup stocked with newly-millionaire free agents, lost most of them to injuries and sagged to a 65-95 record. This year California has started 22-25 to be 7 1/2 games behind AL West leader Oakland.

Unser Seeks to Reverse Decision of Indy 500 Race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — An appeal seeking to reverse the decision by race officials that took victory from Bobby Unser and made Mario Andretti the winner of the 1981 Indianapolis 500 was filed with the U.S. Auto Club hours before a midnight deadline Thursday.

The appeal, which was hand delivered to USAC headquarters by Unser and others connected with the Roger Penske racing team, was accepted by Roger McCluskey, USAC director of competition, who will present it to USAC President Dick King Friday.

It asks USAC to overrule race officials who already have denied two Penske team protests that were filed Monday after the ruling changing the winner of Sunday's race was announced.

"We've had several people working with us since Monday when our protest of the decision was denied. We've never been involved in an appeal before, so this is all new to us," said Dan Luginbuhl, a spokesman for Penske, who owns the car Unser drove to what had seemed to be his third Indy 500 triumph.

Unser crossed the finish line more than five seconds ahead of Andretti. But Unser was penalized one lap by officials for allegedly violating the rule for passing cars during a yellow caution light while coming out of the pits.

The penalty was not invoked until officials reviewed records and videotapes of the race and was not announced until Monday morning. Penske then filed two protests, one which claimed Unser had complied with rules of the race and another that Andretti had also passed cars under the same conditions as Unser.

The filing of the appeal sets the stage for a hearing on the decision that resulted in Andretti being declared the winner of the $1.6 million race. USAC rules require the holding of the hearing within 30 days. Prize money for both drivers is being withheld pending a decision on the appeal.

A three-person panel, appointed by King, will hear the appeal. Bill Marvel, a spokesman at USAC headquarters, said Thursday he knew of no timetable for the hearing.

As the appeal was being prepared, Unser offered to take a polygraph (lie detector) test to verify a conversation he had with Art Meyers, the race's referee. He said his actions complied with instructions Meyers gave him in that private conversation over pit exit procedures.

Pirates 9, Cubs 4.

Dale Berra's three-run double capped a five-run fifth inning and powered Pittsburgh past Chicago. The triumph was the third straight for the Pirates after dropping the opener of the series, while the woeful Cubs went down to their 31st loss in 40 decisions.

Eddie Solomon, 3-3, who contributed a run-scoring single in the third, was the winning pitcher while Bill Caudill, 1-4, took the loss.

Berra has knocked in 12 runs in his last 55 at-bats.

Brewers 7, Tigers 1.

Roy Howell hit a grand slam homer in the fourth inning and Ted Simmons added a two-run shot in the eighth, leading Milwaukee over Detroit. Mike Caldwell, 5-4, and Rolie Fingers combined on an eight-hitter, with Fingers picking up his ninth save.

Dan Petry was the losing pitcher.

UCLA Favored to Win Women's Track Crown

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Nebraska's Merlene Ottey, the sophomore Olympian from Jamaica, believes the women's world 100-meter record of 10.88 could be in danger at the ninth annual AIAW Track and Field Championships if the weather cooperates.

Ottey ran a wind-aided 10.97 in the 100-meter trials Thursday but a 4.40-meter wind at her back kept her from entering the American record books alongside Evelyn Ashford of Maccabi, who had that legal time in 1979.

The long-legged Jamaican gets another shot at the record today in the semifinals and another in the finals Saturday.

"I believe a new world record is possible here in the 100 meter," she said. "I got off to a poor start but I really hadn't been practicing my starts for several weeks. I can do much better."

Her main competition will come from UCLA's Jeanette Bolden and Leleith Hodges of Texas Woman's University who coasted to victories in their respective heats.

UCLA is heavily favored to capture the team title and the Bruins did little harm Thursday to their chances.

The Bruins qualified nine individuals and two relay teams. Jackie Joyner's failure to qualify in the long jump was the only disappointment for UCLA Coach Scott Chisam.

Florida State qualified 11 individuals and Tennessee qualified five individuals and two relay teams.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — San Diego Chargers owner Eugene Klein suffered an apparent heart seizure as he left a courtroom after four hours of intense testimony in the antitrust trial of the NFL and the Oakland Raiders.

Klein, 60, who had ended his witness stand stint with a passionate defense of the league, walked outside the courtroom, broke into a sweat and complained of chest pains. He was taken to a nearby witness room, where paramedics attended to him. An ambulance then arrived to take him to Queen of Angels Hospital.

"He's been diagnosed as having a heart attack," said Kenneth Gosting, public affairs coordinator at the hospital. "He's stable."

Mid-Season Baseball Strike Averted for Now

NEW YORK (AP) — It could be for just a week, but America today still had major league baseball to cheer, boo and argue over, thanks to a last-minute deal and a federal judge who quotes Abbott and Costello.

The threat of the sport's third strike in nine years evaporated for now when representatives of the players and the club owners agreed to extend the deadline beyond today when the players were to strike over the free agent compensation issue.

While not issuing a no-strike order, U.S. District Judge Henry Werker allowed the delay to take effect, and set a hearing for next Wednesday in Rochester, N.Y., on a National Labor Relations Board request for a preliminary injunction.

At a meeting of its executive board Thursday night, the Major League Players Association made it official: No strike, at least until Werker rules on the NLRB's injunction request.

"There will be no strike until we see what the court does," said Baltimore Orioles third baseman Doug DeCinces, the American League player representative. "Once they rule, we'll see if the outcome is positive or negative for the association."

"If it's positive, it looks like we won't have a strike. If it's negative, we could go out. And if there's no movement, there will be a strike."

Philadelphia Phillies catcher Bob Boone, the National League player rep, said there was "no way of telling" if the entire season would be played.

"There are too many variables involved," Boone said. "I would hope this issue can be bargained out and negotiated fairly. But now there's hope that we can keep baseball in front of the country."

Avoidance of a strike had nothing to do with progress at the bargaining table. The talks appeared deadlocked this week, and Thursday's scheduled session was canceled at the insistence of both sides, according to federal mediator Kenneth Moffett.

Moffett said he would contact both the Players Association and the Player Relations Committee, the owners' bargaining arm, today, but doubted that he could interest them in resuming negotiations until Werker has ruled.

Newton, Cook Lead Kemper

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Australian Jack Newton says he has finally rid himself of a golfer's elbow through pills and an ointment for horses.

Newton and John Cook, winner of the Bing Crosby at Pebble Beach earlier this year, took advantage of a steady rain which softened the greens Thursday to fire 5-under-par 66s. They jumped to a 1-stroke lead after the first round of the $400,000 Kemper Open at the Congressional Country Club in suburban Washington.

Behind Newton and Cook was Howard Twitty, winner at Hartford last year, with a 66 over the famed 7,054-yard, par 70 course, site of the 1964 U.S. Open and 1976 PGA Championship.

Despite the pre-tournament complaints, the players found the rain made the greens play easier in the opening round although the accompanying lightning held up play for 30 minutes with half the field, including Cook, still out on the course.

Van Heafner, son of former pro Clayton "Candyman" Heafner, needed only 22 putts to tie with Craig Stadler, second place finisher here a year ago, and Danny Edwards with a 67, two strokes behind the leaders. Tom Weiskopf, Tom Purtzer, D.A. Weibring, Mike Reid and Mark O'Meara had 68s.

John Mahaffey, who won the tournament a year ago, the first time it was played here after moving from Charlotte, N. C., was among the 20 who came in with one over par 71. Tom Watson, the player of the year the last four years and No. 2 among the money winners this year, also was at 71.

Newton, who has had a sore elbow since last year's U.S. Open, said he had been flinching when he hit the ball, but that he feels no pain now.

"I couldn't lift a cup of coffee at Christmas time," he said. "It has given me so much trouble. Now, it's fine again — it's about 90 percent."

Four strokes behind the leaders at 69 were Mike Donald, Doug Tewell, Scott Hoch, Jim Simons, Beau Baugh, Jim Nelford and Dan Pohl. Ray Floyd, a former PGA and Masters champion and No. 3 money-winner this year with consecutive victories at Doral and the Tournament Players Championship, Tom Kite, and Lon Hinkle were among the 13 who came in at even par, Tommy Aaron, Ron Graham and Greg Powers withdrew from the field of 156 which was to be reduced to the top 70 and ties after today's round.

Holly Sugar President Sets Record Straight

COLORADO SPRINGS - In a letter mailed to shareholders, the president of Holly Sugar Corporation told them that an earlier letter mailed by Michael S. Buchsbaum, an ex-broker formerly of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., Inc., contained figures more than a year old and did not include key facts about the company's financial performance.

John B. Bunker, president of Holly, said "In his (Buchsbaum's) letter to you dated May 15, 1981, he is using figures more than a year old. His letter is out of date. The company's fiscal results for 1981 were reported in the press and mailed to you and to him on May 7, 1981, eight days prior to his letter."

"His letter to you does not include the following key facts about Holly Sugar:

- 1) Holly had record sales of $328.6 million for fiscal 1981.
- 2) Holly's fiscal 1981 earnings were nearly three times as high as in 1980 and the third highest in the company's history.

3) Holly had a substantial reduction in the level of long-term debt, from $20.9 million at the end of fiscal 1980 to $14.3 million in fiscal 1981. (Holly's debt as a percent of total capitalization in fiscal 1981 was reduced to 16 percent from 27 percent in the prior year.)

4) Holly shareholders' equity reached $90 million at the end of fiscal 1981, an increase of 17 percent from the prior year's level.

5) Your Board of Directors resumed dividend payments in September. (The annual indicated rate is $1.00 per share.)"

Bunker also said, "A year ago, the brokerage firm where Mr. Buchsbaum worked and where he was the second largest stockholder, wired me that they advocated auctioning off all of Holly's assets by sealed bid. I warned Mr. Buchsbaum that if he proceeded with this course of action he could do irreparable harm to Holly's relationship with its sugarbeet growers and that without sugarbeets even the most efficient sugarbeet factory is worthless.

"Now he tells you he has no plans to liquidate your company. In fact, his letter indicates no specific plan for Holly at all. This is not surprising. Mr. Buchsbaum has never been employed in the sugar industry."

Referring to a lawsuit filed by Holly Sugar Corporation against Mr. Buchsbaum and certain others he added, "On May 13, your company filed a lawsuit (answerable in 30 days) in the U.S. District Court for the District of Colorado alleging that Mr. Buchsbaum and certain others conducted an illegal solicitation of Holly's stockholders and have been manipulating the market price of Holly's stock since 1979."

In closing his letter to Holly's shareholders he said, "Today your company is in the best condition it has ever been, with one of the strongest balance sheets in history. Do not be misled by Mr. Buchsbaum's stale year-old figures."

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

AUSTIN - Because this is the first Legislative session after the 1980 national census, the Legislature must engage in redistricting.

Redistricting means we must redraw the lines for the Texas Senate, the Texas House of Representatives and Congress. This is to assure that everyone has equal representation and that each vote is of approximately equal strength.

This is a good theory, and will be good in practice by the time we get through. But there will be a few minor battles before the lines are completed. The Democrats have a plan, and the Republicans have a plan. Each wants to assure his reelection and party strength.

Congressmen are not exempt. Many have been to Austin to lobby for a district they can win.

The rural-urban stress is particularly important with a largely rural district like ours. Rural voting strength can easily be diluted by including part of a large city in a rural district.

But that will not happen to our voters. There have been three proposals put forth so far, and our district is the same under all three plans. Of course, the area of our district will grow. The population of the Panhandle has not grown as fast as some other parts of the state, so we must add geography to add people. We will add Hale, Hall and Briscoe Counties.

This will bring our total up to 29 counties and a land area about the size of Albania, or a little larger than Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Delaware and Maryland combined. But we still will not have the largest district in the state.

Under current plans, neither the district of Congressman Kent Hance nor the district of Congressman Jack Hightower will change substantially. The plans for Congress, though, may require a special session. But there can be no special session for redistricting the Texas House and Senate. If we do not complete that task by June 1, the Legislative Redistricting Board takes over.

Redistricting will determine who represents whom for the next decade. It is one of the most important things the Legislature will do for the people in our district. For that reason, we want to hear from you about it. Please write to Senator Bill Sarpalius, P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.

What's in a Name? - Ask about Quaaludes

SELLERSVILLE, Pa. (AP) - The trademark Quaalude, like the illegal drug that masquerades under its name, has been widely abused - on the streets, in the newspapers and by the police.

It's all a case of mistaken identity. But still, some doctors are afraid to prescribe it and some patients worry about taking it. There's a twin sister - same stuff, different name - for them.

Sanka became "Sanka brand" to fight off generic use of its trademark. Xerox reminds journalists that not every photocopy is a "Xerox copy."

But few companies have the trademark woes of the Lemmon Co., a Sellersville-based concern that makes the hypnotic-sedative methaqualone, available by prescription under the name Quaalude.

For more than a decade, Quaalude has been wrongly associated with overdoses of illegally made methaqualone, wild drug parties, swartzy drug dealers and underground laboratories.

"There's no doubt we've lost a considerable amount of business because of" the substitution of the trade name for the generic name, said Elliot Fisher, lawyer for Lemmon.

He writes 25 to 50 letters a week to newspapers and police agencies, complaining that they have said "Quaaludes" when they meant "illegally manufactured methaqualone" or "counterfeit Quaaludes." Some respond with apologies, and many are surprised to learn that Quaalude is a trademark, Fisher says.

Lemmon has taken out advertisements in medical journals urging physicians "not to permit the abuses of illegal users to deprive a legitimate patient of the drug," Fisher adds.

Lemmon's market research indicates doctors are skittish about prescribing Quaaludes because of the adverse publicity, and patients worry about taking a drug whose name is associated with arrests and death on the street. In 1980, 117 people died after taking illegally purchased methaqualone, federal officials say. That's up from 87 deaths in 1979.

In 1978 Lemmon introduced Mequin, identical to Quaalude except for the name, "for physicians who are sensitive to improper newspaper publicity, identifying phony pills as Quaaludes," Fisher said. One of 10 methaqualone tablets the company makes is marketed as Mequin.

Taken under a doctor's supervision, the methaqualone tablets made by Lemmon are a daytime sedative or, in larger doses, an aid to sleep.

The illegal drug wrong called "Quaaludes" usually contains methaqualone in varying quantities. Users fight sleep, it makes them feel euphoric or "high," drug officials say.

The illicit drug is being used more widely than ever before, the Drug Enforcement Administration says. Some 40 million illegally made methaqualone tablets are expected to hit the street this year, up from 20 million in 1980, according to the DEA's "conservative estimate." Others have estimated the figure at as high as 1 billion.

Ancient astronomy

Before scientists understood seasonal changes, astronomers believed that the sun in its apparent "path across the heavens," passed over the Tropic of Capricorn (on Dec. 21 or 22 by modern calendar) and again when it reached the Tropic of Cancer (about June 21). Ancient astronomers named each moment "solstice," from the Latin "sol," sun, and "sistere," stand still.

Gilley's July 4th Picnic Objected to by Residents

PASADENA, Texas (AP) - A proposed Fourth of July party hosted by this Houston suburb's most famous nightclub owner has upset some residents - and it's not because they weren't invited. In fact, that's the problem - everybody is invited. Mickey Gilley, owner of the huge country and western nightclub bearing his name, is planning an 11-hour country music concert and picnic here July 3 and 4.

But the party hinges on a decision expected next week by the City Council on a proposed ordinance aimed at stopping it.

Some residents, who have complained to the council the past two Tuesdays, fear the concert will attract "a bunch of drunks" who will disturb the peace. Gilley's lawyer insists the crowd will be kept under control.

"This won't be another Willie Nelson picnic or an acid rock concert," said lawyer J.L. Jay, who represents Gilley and concert promoter Sherwood Cryer. "Two or three off-duty officers handle 5,000 to 6,000 people every night at Gilley's. I'm sure three or four more can handle this."

But Don Francis, administrator of Pasadena Bayshore Hospital, told councilmen the expected noise and traffic jams would be "totally disruptive" to his staff and 400 patients.

"Our patients are recovering from heart attacks, strokes and major surgery," Francis said. "I'm an accomplished musician and a great country music fan, but I think this would effectively shut the hospital down."

He said the site of the proposed concert - the 21-acre grounds of Gilley's nightclub - is too close to his hospital. Gilley's Club abuts one edge of the tract and the hospital abuts the opposite side.

Cryer said loud speakers used at the concert "will be turned away from the hospital."

Justice of the Peace Larry Wilson said noise would not be the only problem Pasadena would have to deal with if the concert is allowed.

"We're not talking about 5,000 or 6,000 sober people," he said. "To a large degree we're going to be dealing with a bunch of drunks."

Dallas Men Rent Out As Husbands by Hour

DALLAS (AP) - Oh, for the perfect man. A husband who will paint your house, wash the windows, fix the car, and do all those other mental household chores with a smile.

For those who don't already have one, in Dallas they can rent two such men.

Don Cannaday and Robin Hill are Husbands by the Hour.

These two enterprising Dallas divorcees will do various odd jobs around the house - all without expecting dinner, a date or a lasting relationship in return.

Actually, Hill and Cannaday are no more than glorified handymen who've figured out a rather unique way to market their many talents.

"We just wanted a name people would remember," Cannaday said with a smile.

The two men charge $20 for the first hour, and $17.50 for each additional hour of work. They'll tackle most any chore, "but I won't do ovens," says 35-year-old Hill.

A little more than a year ago, the men were trading their skills to friends, in return for a good dinner "or a six-pack of beer." That's when someone suggested they could turn their hobbies into a livelihood.

"This woman, whose husband had died, told us that things that had been done for her before, weren't getting done now," 37-year-old Cannaday said.

"I thought about it on my way home and came up with the name," he added. "After we stopped laughing about it, we registered (the business) and suddenly began getting a lot of publicity."

Some ladies, however, were suspicious at first.

"This one woman called me up and quizzed me for quite awhile, telling me she wasn't interested in me and just wanted some work done," Cannaday said. "I agreed with her."

Hill left his job as a production manager to go into the business full-time. Cannaday, a salesman, squeezes in his "husband" work in his free time.

The jobs they are hired to do range from mundane - such as painting, carpentry and pruning trees - to bizarre.

"This one lady wanted us to fill five bullet holes in her ceiling," Cannaday said. "She put them there during an argument with two of her former husbands."

One woman hired Cannaday for an entire day to show her how to drive her new five-

speed car.

About 90 percent of their customers are women, Hill said. But some couples, and a few men, call for help.

"Most of the time, though, men don't like to admit they can't do something," Cannaday said.

If a customer asks them to do a job they've never done, "we may run down to the hardware store, read the directions on the back of a box and then come back and try to do it," Cannaday said.

"But we won't accept jobs we know we really can't do," Hill added.

The two men say they don't want to remain laborers forever. "We would eventually like to expand and become consultants. Maybe a service that lists companies or workers and refers our subscribers to them," Hill said.

Space Diamonds Puzzle Scientists

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - Scientists who found tiny diamonds inside a meteorite from outer space are baffled by how they formed, but one theory holds that they are debris from a high-speed collision of two asteroids millions of years ago.

At present, no one knows for sure.

"It is a very interesting specimen and raises an old question again," said Donald D. Bogard, a senior research scientist at the Johnson Space Center.

The diamonds, which are only .004 of an inch thick - too small to be of commercial value - were discovered when grinding tools used to slice off thin sections of the space rock struck microscopic objects the tools had no effect on.

The meteorite containing diamonds was among hundreds found in Antarctica, and is composed mainly of iron - which makes the discovery of diamonds inside all that much more surprising.

"This is very unusual," Bogard said. He said scientists have found diamonds before in "an odd-ball type of meteorite called urelites, which are very rare" - but not normally in the more common, iron ones.

The only other iron meteorite known to have diamonds was the Canyon Diablo meteorite that crashed into Arizona about 50,000 years ago, forming the mile-wide Meteor Crater.

Bogard said the discovery of diamonds in the Arizona crater started scientific debate over how carbon, probably in the form of graphite, underwent the intense pressure required to turn it into diamonds.

He said the Arizona crater is so large and the impact so great the pressure could have occurred when it struck Earth. But the meteorite now under study weighs only 23 pounds and fell on relatively soft polar ice.

Bogard said the most likely explanation was the high-speed collision theory, but he said there is no proof.

"By studying it we may learn something about the processes that formed them," he said.

The meteorites from Antarctica are stored at the Space Center where preliminary analyses are made before pieces are sent to scientists throughout the world for further study.

Valenzuela Defeated; Rangers Edge Twins

By KEN RAFFAPORT
AP Sports Writer

After a fabulous start, Fernando Valenzuela of the Los Angeles Dodgers is starting to struggle a bit. Atlanta's Gaylord Perry knows something about struggling.

"It took a few games to get that one," said Perry after recording his 293rd career victory Thursday night with a 9-4 decision over the Dodgers and their news-making rookie pitcher.

The 42-year-old Perry had misfired on three previous starts for victory No. 293 and currently has a 4-3 record. "The way some guys (pitchers) were getting demoted around here pretty quick, I decided I better do a little bit better, especially in the first inning," said Perry, who had allowed 11 first-inning runs in his last four starts.

As it was, Perry didn't allow a run until the sixth and left after scattering nine hits in eight innings.

Valenzuela, meanwhile, lasted only 32-3 innings and was shelled in the midst of a seven-run rally in the Braves' fourth. That marked the first time that the hard-throwing left-hander had failed to pitch at least seven innings and reduced his season's record to 8-2 after a brilliant 8-0 start that included five shutouts.

"My control was good but they were getting the hits when they needed them," said Valenzuela. "I was just pitching the same way as always. I know I'm going to win some and lose some."

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati beat San Francisco 7-4 and Pittsburgh walloped Chicago 9-4. In the only American League game, Milwaukee whipped Detroit 7-1 and Texas stopped Minnesota 8-2.

Rangers 5, Twins 2
Leon Roberts smashed a three-run homer in the bottom of the eighth inning to cap a four-run Texas rally that broke a 2-2 tie and gave the Rangers their victory over Minnesota.

Al Oliver and Buddy Bell opened the eighth with consecutive singles. One out later, John Grubb chased Twins starter Roger Erickson, 1-5, with a run-scoring single. Roberts then greeted reliever Don Cooper with his second homer of the season.

Texas starter Rick Honeycutt, 4-1, walked none, struck out one and gave up seven hits. Honeycutt retired 12 of the last 13 batters he faced.

Reds 7, Giants 4
San Francisco reliever Gary Lavelle's wild pickoff throw let in the tying run and touched off a five-run eighth-inning rally that lifted Cincinnati over the Giants. After Lavelle's off-target toss allowed the Reds to forge a 3-3 tie, Sam Mejias, a seventh-inning defensive replacement, singled to put the Reds ahead by a run. George Foster continued the rally with a two-run double and Dan Driessen capped the burst with an RBI single to provide Cincinnati with a 7-3 lead.

The victory was bittersweet for the Reds, who lost first baseman Johnny Bench when he broke an ankle sliding into second base. A team spokesman said he will be out of action for about eight weeks.

Pirates 9, Cubs 4
Dale Berra's three-run double capped a five-run fifth inning and powered Pittsburgh past Chicago. The triumph was the third straight for the Pirates after dropping the opener of the series, while the woeful Cubs went down to their 31st loss in 40 decisions.

Eddie Solomon, 3-3, who contributed a run-scoring single in the third, was the winning pitcher while Bill Caudill, 1-4, took the loss.

Berra has knocked in 12 runs in his last 55 at-bats.
Brewers 7, Tigers 1
Roy Howell hit a grand slam homer in the fourth inning and Ted Simmons added a two-run shot in the eighth, leading Milwaukee over Detroit. Mike Caldwell, 5-4, and Rollie Fingers combined on an eight-hitter, with Fingers picking up his ninth save.

Dan Petry was the losing pitcher.

GOLF
GREENWICH, Conn. (AP) — Pat Bradley and Janet Alex, who shot a hole-in-one, shared the first-round lead in the $125,000 LPGA Golden Lights Championship with 3-under-par 69s.

For Alex, the hole-in-one was the first in her professional career. The shot came on the 150-yard 16th hole of the 6,272-yard Stanwich Club course.

One shot off the pace, at 2-under 70, were Amy Allcott, Karolyn Kertzman, Marlene Floyd, Cathy Reynolds and Joan Joyce.

TENNIS
PARIS (AP) — Bjorn Borg made the third round of the French Open by defeating Cassio Motta of Brazil 6-1, 7-5, 6-2, just before rain flooded the red clay courts of Roland Garros Stadium.

Only two other men beat the weather and reached the third round — Wojtek Fibak, who defeated Fernando Luna of Spain 6-0, 7-6, 6-0, and Paul Torre, who upset Angel Gimenez of Spain 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

In women's play, Pam Casale defeated Petra Delhees of Switzerland 6-3, 6-2; Hana Mandlikova of Czechoslovakia beat Rosie Casals 6-2, 6-1; Virginia Ruzici of Romania topped Nanette Schutte of the Netherlands 7-5, 6-2; and Pilar Vasquez of Peru eliminated Kim Jones 6-1, 7-5.

GENERAL
LOS ANGELES (AP) — San Diego Chargers owner Eugene Klein suffered an apparent heart seizure as he left a courtroom after four hours of intense testimony in the antitrust trial of the NFL and the Oakland Raiders.

Klein, 60, who had ended his witness stand stint with a passionate defense of the league, walked outside the courtroom, broke into a sweat and complained of chest pains. He was taken to a nearby witness room, where paramedics attended to him. An ambulance then arrived to take him to Queen of Angels Hospital.

"He's been diagnosed as having a heart attack," said Kenneth Gosting, public affairs coordinator at the hospital. "He's stable."

Mid-Season Baseball Strike Averted for Now

NEW YORK (AP) — It could be for just a week, but America today still had major league baseball to cheer, boo and argue over, thanks to a last-minute deal and a federal judge who quotes Abbott and Costello.

The threat of the sport's third strike in nine years evaporated for now when representatives of the players and the club owners agreed to extend the deadline beyond today when the players were to strike over the free agent compensation issue.

While not issuing a no-strike order, U.S. District Judge Henry Werker allowed the delay to take effect, and set a hearing for next Wednesday in Rochester, N.Y., on a National Labor Relations Board request for a preliminary injunction.

At a meeting of its executive board Thursday night, the Major League Players Association made it official: No strike, at least until Werker rules on the NLRB's injunction request.

"There will be no strike until we see what the court does," said Baltimore Orioles third baseman Doug DeCinces, the American League player representative. "Once they rule, we'll see if the outcome is positive or negative for the association."

"If it's positive, it looks like we won't have a strike. If it's negative, we could go out. And if there's no movement, there will be a strike."

Philadelphia Phillies catcher Bob Boone, the National League player rep, said there was "no way of telling" if the entire season would be played.

Avoidance of a strike had nothing to do with progress at the bargaining table. The talks appeared deadlocked this week, and Thursday's scheduled session was canceled at the insistence of both sides, according to federal mediator Kenneth Moffett.

Moffett said he would contact both the Players Association and the Player Relations Committee, the owners' bargaining arm, today, but doubted that he could interest them in resuming negotiations until Werker has ruled.

Newton, Cook Lead Kemper

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Australian Jack Newton says he has finally rid himself of a golfer's elbow through pills and an ointment for horses.

Newton and John Cook, winner of the Bing Crosby at Pebble Beach earlier this year, took advantage of a steady rain which softened the greens Thursday to fire 5-under-par 65s. They jumped to a 1-stroke lead after the first round of the $400,000 Kemper Open at the Congressional Country Club in suburban Washington.

Behind Newton and Cook was Howard Twitty, winner at Hartford last year, with a 66 over the famed 7,054-yard, par 70 course, site of the 1964 U.S. Open and 1976 PGA Championship.

Despite the pre-tournament complaints, the players found the rain made the greens play easier in the opening round although the accompanying lightning held up play for 30 minutes with half the field, including Cook, still out on the course.

Van Heafner, son of former pro Clayton "Candyman" Heafner, needed only 22 putts to tie with Craig Stadler, second place finisher here a year ago, and Danny Edwards with a 67, two strokes behind the leaders. Tom Weiskopf, Tom Purtzer, D.A. Weiringer, Mike Reid and Mark O'Meara had 68s.

John Mahaffey, who won the tournament a year ago, the first time it was played here after moving from Charlotte, N. C., was among the 20 who came in with one over par 71. Tom Watson, the player of the year the last four years and No. 2 among the money winners this year, also was at 71.

Newton, who has had a sore elbow since last year's U. S. Open, said he had been flinching when he hit the ball, but that he feels no pain now.

"I couldn't lift a cup of coffee at Christmas time," he said. "It has given me so much trouble. Now, it's fine again — it's about 90 percent."

Four strokes behind the leaders at 69 were Mike Donald, Doug Tewell, Scott Hoch, Jim Simons, Beau Baugh, Jim Nelford and Dan Pohl. Ray Floyd, a former PGA and Masters champion and No. 3 money-winner this year with consecutive victories at Doral and the Tournament Players Championship, Tom Kite, and Lon Hinkle were among the 13 who came in at even par. Tommy Aaron, Ron Graham and Greg Powers withdrew from the field of 156 which was to be reduced to the top 70 and ties after today's round.

Mauch Reluctantly Takes Manager's Job With Angels

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — "If it's not you, it will be someone else," California Angels' owner Gene Autry says he told Gene Mauch, when Mauch didn't want to take over for about-to-be fired Jim Fregosi as manager of the Angels.

"Then it's me," Autry said Mauch reluctantly told him after the former manager at Philadelphia, Montreal and Minnesota had turned down the job the night before, and repeatedly told the baseball team's owner in recent weeks he did not want to take the reins in midseason. But the Angels said that three teams have been asking the Angels to talk to Mauch about managing, and Autry did not want to lose him.

On Thursday former Angel shortstop Fregosi was formally fired from the team he had directed to its only American League West Division pennant in 1979.

Former movie cowboy and singer Autry offered the job to Mauch Tuesday night, and was turned down, but when he made the offer again Wednesday night Mauch accepted when he was told the Angels were committed to making a managerial change, Autry said.

Mauch, who managed in the major leagues 20½ years, never has won a pennant but finished second with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1964. He left Minnesota in mid-season last year and joined California this year as director of player personnel.

But Mauch has been highly-regarded for the work he did building the Philadelphia and Montreal teams. In Minnesota his teams never had pennant personnel, largely due to a club policy of turning loose high-priced top players, such as seven-time American League batting champion Rod Carew, now with the Angels.

In 1980 the Angels, with a lineup stocked with newly-millionaire free agents, lost most of them to injuries and sagged to a 65-95 record. This year California has started 22-25 to be 7½ games behind AL West leader Oakland.

Unser Seeks to Reverse Decision of Indy 500 Race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — An appeal seeking to reverse the decision by race officials that took victory from Bobby Unser and made Mario Andretti the winner of the 1981 Indianapolis 500 was filed with the U.S. Auto Club hours before a midnight deadline Thursday.

The appeal, which was hand delivered to USAC headquarters by Unser and others connected with the Roger Penske racing team, was accepted by Roger McCluskey, USAC director of competition, who will present it to USAC President Dick King Friday.

It asks USAC to overrule race officials who already have denied two Penske team protests that were filed Monday after the ruling changing the winner of Sunday's race was announced.

"We've had several people working with us since Monday when our protest of the decision was denied. We've never been involved in an appeal before, so this is all new to us," said Dan Luginbuhl, a spokesman for Penske, who owns the car Unser drove to what had seemed to be his third Indy 500 triumph.

Unser crossed the finish line more than five seconds ahead of Andretti. But Unser was penalized one lap by officials for allegedly violating the rule for passing cars during a yellow caution light while coming out of the pits.

The penalty was not invoked until officials reviewed records and videotapes of the race and was not announced until Monday morning. Penske then filed two protests, one which claimed Unser had complied with rules of the race and another that Andretti also passed cars under the same conditions as Unser.

The filing of the appeal sets the stage for a hearing on the decision that resulted in Andretti being declared the winner of the $1.6 million race. USAC rules require the holding of the hearing within 30 days. Prize money for both drivers is being withheld pending a decision on the appeal.

A three-person panel, appointed by King, will hear the appeal. Bill Marvel, a spokesman at USAC headquarters, said Thursday he knew of no timetable for the hearing.

As the appeal was being prepared, Unser offered to take a polygraph (lie detector) test to verify a conversation he had with Art Meyers, the race's referee. He said his actions complied with instructions Meyers gave him in that private conversation over pit exit procedures.

UCLA Favored to Win Women's Track Crown

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Nebraska's Merlene Ottey, the sophomore Olympian from Jamaica, believes the women's world 100 meter record of 10.88 could be in danger at the ninth annual AIAW Track and Field Championships if the weather cooperates.

Ottey ran a wind-aided 10.97 in the 100 meter trials Thursday but a 4.40 meter wind at her back kept her from entering the American record books alongside Evelyn Ashford of Maccabi, who had that legal time in 1979.

The long-legged Jamaican gets another shot at the record today in the semifinals and another in the finals Saturday.

"I believe a new world record is possible here in the 100 meter," she said. "I got off to a poor start but I really hadn't been practicing my starts for several weeks. I can do much better."

Her main competition will come from UCLA's Jeanette Bolden and Leleith Hodges of Texas Woman's University who coasted to victories in their respective heats.

UCLA is heavily favored to capture the team title and the Bruins did little harm Thursday to their chances.

The Bruins qualified nine individuals and two relay teams. Jackie Joyner's

Holly Sugar President Sets Record Straight

COLORADO SPRINGS—In a letter mailed to shareholders, the president of Holly Sugar Corporation told them that an earlier letter mailed by Michael S. Buchsbaum, an ex-broker formerly of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., Inc., contained figures more than a year old and did not include key facts about the company's financial performance.

John B. Bunker, president of Holly, said "In his (Buchsbaum's) letter to you dated May 15, 1981, he is using figures more than a year old. His letter is out of date. The company's fiscal results for 1981 were reported in the press and mailed to you and to him on May 7, 1981, eight days prior to his letter.

"His letter to you does not include the following key facts about Holly Sugar:

- 1) Holly had record sales of $328.6 million for fiscal 1981.
- 2) Holly's fiscal 1981 earnings were nearly three times as high as in 1980 and the third highest in the company's history.
- 3) Holly had a substantial reduction in the level of long-term debt, from $20.9 million at the end of fiscal 1980 to $14.3 million in fiscal 1981. (Holly's debt as a percent of total capitalization in fiscal 1981 was reduced to 16 percent from 27 percent in the prior year.)
- 4) Holly shareholders' equity reached $90 million at the end of fiscal 1981, an increase of 17 percent from the prior year's level.
- 5) Your Board of Directors resumed dividend payments in September. (The annual indicated rate is $1.00 per share.)"

Bunker also said, "A year ago, the brokerage firm where Mr. Buchsbaum worked and where he was the second largest stockholder, wired me that they advocated auctioning off all of Holly's assets by sealed bid. I warned Mr. Buchsbaum that if he proceeded with this course of action he could do irreparable harm to Holly's relationship with its sugarbeet growers and that without sugarbeets even the most efficient sugarbeet factory is worthless.

"Now he tells you he has no plans to liquidate your company. In fact, his letter indicates no specific plan for Holly at all. This is not surprising. Mr. Buchsbaum has never been employed in the sugar industry."

Referring to a lawsuit filed by Holly Sugar Corporation against Mr. Buchsbaum and certain others he added, "On May 13, your company filed a lawsuit (answerable in 30 days) in the U.S. District Court for the District of Colorado alleging that Mr. Buchsbaum and certain others conducted an illegal solicitation of Holly's stockholders and have been manipulating the market price of Holly's stock since 1979."

In closing his letter to Holly's shareholders he said, "Today your company is in the best condition it has ever been, with one of the strongest balance sheets in history. Do not be misled by Mr. Buchsbaum's stale year-old figures."

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

AUSTIN — Because this is the first Legislative session after the 1980 national census, the Legislature must engage in redistricting.

Redistricting means we must redraw the lines for the Texas Senate, the Texas House of Representatives and Congress. This is to assure that everyone has equal representation and that each vote is of approximately equal strength.

This is a good theory, and will be good in practice by the time we get through. But there will be a few minor battles before the lines are completed. The Democrats have a plan, and the Republicans have a plan. Each wants to assure his reelection and party strength.

Congressmen are not exempt. Many have been to Austin to lobby for a district they can win.

The rural-urban stress is particularly important with a largely rural district like ours. Rural voting strength can easily be diluted by including part of a large city in a rural district.

But that will not happen to our voters. There have been three proposals put forth so far, and our district is the same under all three plans. Of course, the area of our district will grow. The population of the Panhandle has not grown as fast as some other parts of the state, so we must add geography to add people. We will add Hale, Hall and Briscoe Counties.

This will bring our total up to 29 counties and a land area about the size of Albania, or a little larger than Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Delaware and Maryland combined. But we still will not have the largest district in the state.

Under current plans, neither the district of Congressman Kent Hance nor the district of Congressman Jack Hightower will change substantially. The plans for Congress, though, may require a special session. But there can be no special session for redistricting the Texas House and Senate. If we do not complete that task by June 1, the Legislative Redistricting Board takes over.

Redistricting will determine who represents whom for the next decade. It is one of the most important things the Legislature will do for the people in our district. For that reason, we want to hear from you about it. Please write to Senator Bill Sarpalius, P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.

What's in a Name? Ask about Quaaludes

SELLERSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — The trademark Quaalude, like the illegal drug that masquerades under its name, has been widely abused — on the streets, in the newspapers and by the police.

It's all a case of mistaken identity. But still, some doctors are afraid to prescribe it and some patients worry about taking it. There's a twin sister — same stuff, different name — for them.

Sanka became "Sanka brand" to fight off generic use of its trademark. Xerox reminds journalists that not every photocopy is a "Xerox copy."

But few companies have the trademark woes of the Lemmon Co., a Sellersville-based concern that makes the hypnotic-sedative methaqualone, available by prescription under the name Quaalude.

For more than a decade, Quaalude has been wrongly associated with overdoses of illegally made methaqualone, wild drug parties, swarthy drug dealers and underground laboratories.

"There's no doubt we've lost a considerable amount of business because of" the substitution of the trade name for the generic name, said Elliot Fisher, lawyer for Lemmon.

He writes 25 to 50 letters a week to newspapers and police agencies, complaining that they have said "Quaaludes" when they meant "illegally manufactured methaqualone" or "counterfeit Quaaludes." Some respond with apologies, and many are surprised to learn that Quaalude is a trademark, Fisher says.

Lemmon has taken out advertisements in medical journals urging physicians "not to permit the abuses of illegal users to deprive a legitimate patient of the drug," Fisher adds.

Lemmon's market research indicates doctors are skittish about prescribing Quaaludes because of the adverse publicity, and patients worry about taking a drug whose name is associated with arrests and death on the street. In 1980, 117 people died after taking illegally purchased methaqualone, federal officials say. That's up from 87 deaths in 1979.

In 1978 Lemmon introduced Mequin, identical to Quaalude except for the name, "for physicians who are sensitive to improper newspaper publicity, identifying phony pills as Quaaludes," Fisher said. One of 10 methaqualone tablets the company makes is marketed as Mequin.

Taken under a doctor's supervision, the methaqualone tablets made by Lemmon are a daytime sedative or, in larger doses, an aid to sleep.

The illegal drug wrongly called "Quaaludes" usually contains methaqualone in varying quantities. When users fight sleep, it makes them feel euphoric or "high," drug officials say.

The illicit drug is being used more widely than ever before, the Drug Enforcement Administration says. Some 40 million illegally made methaqualone tablets are expected to hit the streets this year, up from 20 million in 1980, according to the DEA's "conservative estimate." Others have estimated the figure at as high as 1 billion.

Ancient astronomy

Before scientists understood seasonal changes, astronomers believed that the sun in its apparent "path across the heavens," passed over the Tropic of Capricorn (on Dec. 21 or 22 by modern calendars) and again when it reached the Tropic of Cancer (about June 21). Ancient astronomers named each moment "solstice," from the Latin "sol," sun, and "sistere," to stand still.

Gilley's July 4th Picnic Objected to by Residents

PASADENA, Texas (AP) — A proposed Fourth of July party hosted by this Houston suburb's most famous nightclub owner has upset some residents — and it's not because they weren't invited.

In fact, that's the problem — everybody is invited.

Mickey Gilley, owner of the huge country and western nightclub bearing his name, is planning an 11-hour country music concert and picnic here July 3 and 4.

But the party hinges on a decision expected next week by the City Council on a proposed ordinance aimed at stopping it.

Some residents, who have complained to the council the past two Tuesdays, fear the concert will attract "a bunch of drunks" who will disturb the peace. Gilley's lawyer insists the crowd will be kept under control.

"This won't be another Willie Nelson picnic or an acid rock concert," said lawyer J.L. Jay, who represents Gilley and concert promoter Sherwood Cryer.

"Two or three off-duty officers handle 5,000 to 6,000 people every night at Gilley's. I'm sure three or four more can handle this."

But Don Francis, administrator of Pasadena Bayshore Hospital, told councilmen the expected noise and traffic jams would be "totally disruptive" to his staff and 400 patients.

"Our patients are recovering from heart attacks, strokes and major surgery," Francis said. "I'm an accomplished musician and a great country music fan, but I think this would effectively shut the hospital down."

He said the site of the proposed concert — the 21-acre grounds of Gilley's nightclub — is too close to his hospital. Gilley's Club abuts one edge of the tract and the hospital abuts the opposite side.

Cryer said loud speakers used at the concert "will be turned away from the hospital."

Justice of the Peace Larry Wilson said noise would not be the only problem Pasadena would have to deal with if the concert is allowed.

"We're not talking about 5,000 or 6,000 sober people," he said. "To a large degree we're going to be dealing with a bunch of drunks."

Dallas Men Rent Out As Husbands by Hour

DALLAS (AP) — Oh, for the perfect man. A husband who will paint your house, wash the windows, fix the car, and do all those other menial household chores with a smile.

For those who don't already have one, in Dallas they can rent two such men.

Don Cannaday and Robin Hill are Husbands by the Hour.

These two enterprising Dallas divorcees will do various odd jobs around the house — all without expecting dinner, a date or a lasting relationship in return.

Actually, Hill and Cannaday are no more than glorified handymen who've figured out a rather unique way to market their many talents.

"We just wanted a name people would remember," Cannaday said with a smile.

The two men charge $20 for the first hour, and $17.50 for each additional hour of work. They'll tackle most any chore, "but I won't do ovens," says 35-year-old Hill.

A little more than a year ago, the men were trading their skills to friends, in return for a good dinner "or a six-pack of beer." That's when someone suggested they could turn their hobbies into a livelihood.

"This woman, whose husband had died, told us that things that had been done for her before, weren't getting done now," 37-year-old Cannaday said.

"I thought about it on my way home and came up with the name," he added. "After we stopped laughing about it, we registered (the business) and suddenly began getting a lot of publicity."

Some ladies, however, were suspicious at first.

"This one woman called me up and quizzed me for quite awhile, telling me she wasn't interested in me and just wanted some work done," Cannaday said. "I agreed with her."

Hill left his job as a production manager to go into the business full-time. Cannaday, a salesman, squeezes in his "husband" work in his free time.

The jobs they are hired to do range from mundane — such as painting, carpentry and pruning trees — to bizarre.

"This one lady wanted us to fill five bullet holes in her ceiling," Cannaday said. "She put them there during an argument with two of her former husbands."

One woman hired Cannaday for an entire day to show her how to drive her new five-

speed car.

About 90 percent of their customers are women, Hill said. But some couples, and a few men, call for help.

"Most of the time, though, men don't like to admit they can't do something," Cannaday said.

If a customer asks them to do a job they've never done, "we may run down to the hardware store, read the directions on the back of a box and then come back and try to do it," Cannaday said.

"But we won't accept jobs we know we really can't do," Hill added.

The two men say they don't want to remain laborers forever.

"We would eventually like to expand and become consultants. Maybe a service that lists companies or workers and refers our subscribers to them," Hill said.

Space Diamonds Puzzle Scientists

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Scientists who found tiny diamonds inside a meteorite from outer space are baffled by how they formed, but one theory holds that they are debris from a high-speed collision of two asteroids millions of years ago.

At present, no one knows for sure.

"It is a very interesting specimen and raises an old question again," said Donald D. Bogard, a senior research scientist at the Johnson Space Center.

The diamonds, which are only .004 of an inch thick — too small to be of commercial value — were discovered when grinding tools used to slice off thin sections of the space rock struck microscopic objects the tools had no effect on.

The meteorite containing diamonds was among hundreds found in Antarctica, and is composed mainly of iron — which makes the discovery of diamonds inside all that much more surprising.

"This is very unusual," Bogard said. He said scitists have found diamonds before in "an odd-ball type of meteorite called urelites, which are very rare" — but not normally in the more common, iron ones.

The only other iron meteorite known to have diamonds was the Canyon Diablo meteorite that crashed into Arizona about 50,000 years ago, forming the mile-wide Meteor Crater.

Bogard said the discovery of diamonds in the Arizona crater started scientific debate over how carbon, probably in the form of graphite, underwent the intense pressure required to turn it into diamonds.

He said the Arizona crater is so large and the impact so great the pressure could have occurred when it struck Earth. But the meteorite now under study weighs only 23 pounds and fell on relatively soft polar ice.

Bogard said the most likely explanation was the high-speed collision theory, but he said there is no proof.

"By studying it we may learn something about the processes that formed them," he said.

The meteorites from Antarctica are stored at the Space Center where preliminary analyses are made before pieces are sent to scientists throughout the world for further study.

Valenzuela Defeated; Rangers Edge Twins

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

After a fabulous start, Fernando Valenzuela of the Los Angeles Dodgers is starting to struggle a bit. Atlanta's Gaylord Perry knows something about struggling.

"It took a few games to get that one," said Perry after recording his 293rd career victory Thursday night with a 9-4 decision over the Dodgers and their news-making rookie pitcher.

The 42-year-old Perry had misfired on three previous starts for victory No. 293 and currently has a 4-3 record. "The way some guys (pitchers) were getting demoted around here pretty quick, I decided I better do a little bit better, especially in the first inning," said Perry, who had allowed 11 first-inning runs in his last four starts.

As it was, Perry didn't allow a run until the sixth and left after scattering nine hits in eight innings.

Valenzuela, meanwhile, lasted only 32-3 innings and was shelled in the midst of a seven-run rally in the Braves' fourth. That marked the first time that the hard-throwing left-hander had failed to pitch at least seven innings and reduced his season's record to 8-2 after a brilliant 8-0 start that included five shutouts.

"My control was good but they were getting the hits when they needed them," said Valenzuela. "I was just pitching the same way as always. I know I'm going to win some and lose some."

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati beat San Francisco 7-4 and Pittsburgh walloped Chicago 9-4. In the only American League games, Milwaukee whipped Detroit 7-1 and Texas stopped Minnesota 6-2.

Rangers 5, Twins 2

Leon Roberts smashed a three-run homer in the bottom of the eighth inning to cap a four-run Texas rally that broke a 2-2 tie and gave the Rangers their victory over Minnesota.

Al Oliver and Buddy Bell opened the eighth with consecutive singles. One out later, John Grubb chased Twins starter Roger Erickson, 1-5, with a run-scoring single. Roberts then greeted reliever Don Cooper with his second homer of the season.

Texas starter Rick Honeycutt, 4-1, walked none, struck out one and gave up seven hits. Honeycutt retired 12 of the last 13 batters he faced.

Reds 7, Giants 4

San Francisco reliever Gary Lavelle's wild pickoff throw let in the tying run and touched off a five-run eighth-inning rally that lifted Cincinnati over the Giants. After Lavelle's off-target toss allowed the Reds to forge a 3-3 tie, Sam Mejias, a seventh-inning defensive replacement, singled to put the Reds ahead by a run. George Foster continued the rally with a two-run double and Dan Driessen capped the burst with an RBI single to provide Cincinnati with a 7-3 lead.

The victory was bittersweet for the Reds, who lost first baseman Johnny Bench when he broke an ankle sliding into second base. A team spokesman said he will be out of action for about eight weeks.

In 1980 the Angels, with a lineup stocked with newly-millionaire free agents, lost most of them to injuries and sagged to a 65-95 record. This year California has started 22-25 to be 7½ games behind AL West leader Oakland.

Pirates 9, Cubs 4

Dale Berra's three-run double capped a five-run fifth inning and powered Pittsburgh past Chicago. The triumph was the third straight for the Pirates after dropping the opener of the series, while the woeful Cubs went down to their 31st loss in 40 decisions.

Eddie Solomon, 3-3, who contributed a run-scoring single in the third, was the winning pitcher while Bill Caudill, 1-4, took the loss.

Berra has knocked in 12 runs in his last 55 at-bats.

Brewers 7, Tigers 1

Roy Howell hit a grand slam homer in the fourth inning and Ted Simmons added a two-run shot in the eighth, leading Milwaukee over Detroit. Mike Caldwell, 5-4, and Rollie Fingers combined on an eight-hitter, with Fingers picking up his ninth save.

Dan Petry was the losing pitcher.

Mauch Reluctantly Takes Manager's Job With Angels

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — "If it's not you, it will be someone else," California Angels' owner Gene Autry says he told Gene Mauch, when Mauch didn't want to take over for about-to-be fired Jim Fregosi as manager of the Angels.

"Then it's me," Autry said Mauch reluctantly told him after the former manager at Philadelphia, Montreal and Minnesota had turned down the job the night before, and repeatedly told the baseball team's owner in recent weeks he did not want to take the reins in midseason. But the Angels said that three teams have been asking the Angels to talk to Mauch about managing, and Autry did not want to lose him. On Thursday former Angel shortstop Fregosi was formally fired from the team he had directed to its only American League West Division pennant in 1979.

Former movie cowboy and singer Autry offered the job to Mauch Tuesday night, and was turned down, but when he made the offer again Wednesday night Mauch accepted when he was told the Angels were committed to making a managerial change, Autry said.

Mauch, who managed in the major leagues 20½ years, never has won a pennant but finished second with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1964. He left Minnesota in mid-season last year and joined California this year as director of player personnel.

But Mauch has been highly-regarded for the work he did building the Philadelphia and Montreal teams. In Minnesota his teams never had pennant personnel, largely due to a club policy of turning loose high-priced top players, such as seven-time American League batting champion Rod Carew, now with the Angels.

In 1980 the Angels, with a lineup stocked with newly-millionaire free agents, lost most of them to injuries and sagged to a 65-95 record. This year California has started 22-25 to be 7½ games behind AL West leader Oakland.

Unser Seeks to Reverse Decision of Indy 500 Race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — An appeal seeking to reverse the decision by race officials that took victory from Bobby Unser and made Mario Andretti the winner of the 1981 Indianapolis 500 was filed with the U.S. Auto Club hours before a midnight deadline Thursday.

The appeal, which was hand delivered to USAC headquarters by Unser and others connected with the Roger Penske racing team, was accepted by Roger McCluskey, USAC director of competition, who will present it to USAC President Dick King Friday.

It asks USAC to overrule race officials who already have denied two Penske team protests that were filed Monday after the ruling changing the winner of Sunday's race was announced.

"We've had several people working with us since Monday when our protest of the decision was denied. We've never been involved in an appeal before; so this is all new to us," said Dan Luginbuhl, a spokesman for Penske, who owns the car Unser drove to what had seemed to be his third Indy 500 triumph.

Unser crossed the finish line more than five seconds ahead of Andretti. But Unser was penalized one lap by officials for allegedly violating the rule for passing cars during a yellow caution light while coming out of the pits.

The penalty was not invoked until officials reviewed records and videotapes of the race and was not announced until Monday morning. Penske then filed two protests, one which claimed Unser had complied with rules of the race and another that Andretti has also passed cars under the same conditions as Unser.

The filing of the appeal sets the stage for a hearing on the decision that resulted in Andretti being declared the winner of the $1.6 million race. USAC rules require the holding of the hearing within 30 days. Prize money for both drivers is being withheld pending a decision on the appeal.

A three-person panel, appointed by King, will hear the appeal. Bill Marvel, a spokesman at USAC headquarters, said Thursday he knew of no timetable for the hearing.

As the appeal was being prepared, Unser offered to take a polygraph (lie detector) test to verify a conversation he had with Art Meyers, the race's referee. He said his actions complied with instructions Meyers gave him in that private conversation over pit exit procedures.

UCLA Favored to Win Women's Track Crown

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Nebraska's Merlene Ottey, the sophomore Olympian from Jamaica, believes the women's world 100 meter record of 10.88 could be in danger at the ninth annual AIAW Track and Field Championships if the weather cooperates.

Ottey ran a wind-aided 10.97 in the 100 meter trials Thursday but a 4.40 meter wind at her back kept her from entering the American record books alongside Evelyn Ashford of Maccabi, who had that legal time in 1979.

The long-legged Jamaican gets another shot at the record today in the semifinals and another in the finals Saturday.

"I believe a new world record is possible here in the 100 meter," she said. "I got off to a poor start but I really hadn't been practicing my starts for several weeks. I can do much better."

Her main competition will come from UCLA's Jeanette Bolden and Lelith Hodges of Texas Woman's University who coasted to victories in their respective heats.

UCLA is heavily favored to capture the team title and the Bruins did little harm Thursday to their chances.

The Bruins qualified nine individuals and two relay teams. Jackie Joyner's failure to qualify in the long jump was the only disappointment for UCLA Coach Scott Chisam.

Florida State qualified 11 individuals and Tennessee qualified five individuals and two relay teams.

GOLF

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP) — Pat Bradley and Janet Alex, who shot a hole-in-one, shared the first-round lead in the $125,000 LPGA Golden Lights championship with 3-under-par 69s.

For Alex, the hole-in-one was the first in her professional career. The shot came on the 150-yard 16th hole of the 6,272-yard Stanwich Club course.

One shot off the pace, at 2-under 70, were Amy Alcott, Karolyn Kertzman, Marlene Floyd, Cathy Reynolds and Joan Joyce.

TENNIS

PARIS (AP) — Bjorn Borg made the third round of the French Open by defeating Cassio Motta of Brazil 6-1, 7-5, 6-2, just before rain flooded the red clay courts of Roland Garros Stadium.

Only two other men beat the weather and reached the third round — Wojtek Fibak, who defeated Fernando Luna of Spain 6-0, 7-6, 6-0, and Paul Torre, who upset Angel Gimenez of Spain 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

In women's play, Pam Casale defeated Petra Delhees of Switzerland 6-3, 6-2; Hana Mandlikova of Czechoslovakia beat Rosie Casals 6-2, 6-1; Virginia Ruzici of Romania topped Nanette Schutte of the Netherlands 7-5, 6-2; and Pilar Vasquez of Peru eliminated Kim Jones 6-1, 7-5.

BOWLING

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Mal Acosta defeated Don Bell, 226-196 in the championship game of the $105,000 U.S. Polychemical Open.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — San Diego Chargers owner Eugene Klein suffered an apparent heart seizure as he left a courtroom after four hours of intense testimony in the antitrust trial of the NFL and the Oakland Raiders.

Klein, 60, who had ended his witness stand stint with a passionate defense of the league, walked outside the courtroom, broke into a sweat and complained of chest pains. He was taken to a nearby witness room, where paramedics attended to him. An ambulance then arrived to take him to Queen of Angels Hospital.

"He's been diagnosed as having a heart attack," said Kenneth Gosting, public affairs coordinator at the hospital. "He's stable."

Mid-Season Baseball Strike Averted for Now

NEW YORK (AP) — It could be for just a week, but America today still had major league baseball to cheer, boo and argue over, thanks to a last-minute deal and a federal judge who quotes Abbott and Costello.

The threat of the sport's third strike in nine years evaporated for now when representatives of the players and the club owners agreed to extend the deadline beyond today when the players were to strike over the free agent compensation issue.

While not issuing a no-strike order, U.S. District Judge Henry Werker allowed the delay to take effect, and set a hearing for next Wednesday in Rochester, N.Y., on a National Labor Relations Board request for a preliminary injunction.

At a meeting of its executive board Thursday night, the Major League Players Association made it official: No strike, at least until Werker rules on the NLRB's injunction request.

"There will be no strike until we see what the court does," said Baltimore Orioles third baseman Doug DeCinces, the American League player representative. "Once they rule, we'll see if the outcome is positive or negative for the association."

"If it's positive, it looks like we won't have a strike. If it's negative, we could go out. And if there's no movement, there will be a strike."

Philadelphia Phillies catcher Bob Boone, the National League player rep, said there was "no way of telling" if the entire season would be played.

"There are too many variables involved," Boone said. "I would hope this issue can be bargained out and negotiated fairly. But now there's hope that we can keep baseball in front of the country."

Avoidance of a strike had nothing to do with progress at the bargaining table. The talks appeared deadlocked this week, and Thursday's scheduled session was canceled at the insistence of both sides, according to federal mediator Kenneth Moffett.

Moffett said he would contact both the Players Association and the Player Relations Committee, the owners' bargaining arm, today, but doubted that he could interest them in resuming negotiations until Werker has ruled.

Newton, Cook Lead Kemper

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Australian Jack Newton says he has finally rid himself of a golfer's elbow through pills and an ointment for horses.

Newton and John Cook, winner of the Bing Crosby at Pebble Beach earlier this year, took advantage of a steady rain which softened the greens Thursday to fire 5-under-par 65s. They jumped to a 1-stroke lead after the first round of the $400,000 Kemper Open at the Congressional Country Club in suburban Washington.

Behind Newton and Cook was Howard Twitty, winner at Hartford last year, with a 66 over the famed 7,054-yard, par 70 course, site of the 1964 U.S. Open and 1976 PGA Championship.

Despite the pre-tournament complaints, the players found the rain made the greens play easier in the opening round although the accompanying lightning held up play for 30 minutes with half the field, including Cook, still out on the course.

Van Heafner, son of former pro Clayton "Candyman" Heafner, needed only 22 putts to tie with Craig Stadler, second place finisher here a year ago, and Danny Edwards with a 67, two strokes behind the leaders. Tom Weiskopf, Tom Purtzer, D.A. Weibring, Mike Reid and Mark O'Meara had 68s.

John Mahafey, who won the tournament a year ago, the first time it was played here after moving from Charlotte, N. C., was among the 20 who came in with one over par 71. Tom Watson, the player of the year the last four years and No. 2 among the money winners this year, also was at 71.

Newton, who has had a sore elbow since last year's U.S. Open, said he had been flinching when he hit the ball, but that he feels no pain now.

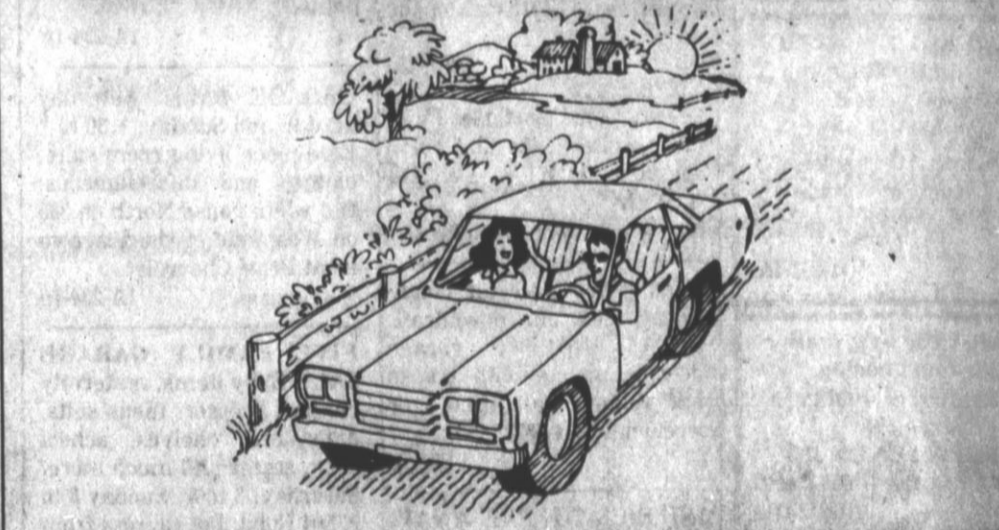

"I couldn't lift a cup of coffee at Christmas time," he said. "It has given me so much trouble. Now, it's fine again — it's about 90 percent."

Four strokes behind the leaders at 69 were Mike Donald, Doug Tewell, Scott Hoch, Jim Simons, Beau Baugh, Jim Nelford and Dan Pohl. Ray Floyd, a former PGA and Masters champion and No. 3 money-winner this year with consecutive victories at Doral and the Tournament Players Championship, Tom Kite, and Lon Hinkle were among the 13 who came in at even par. Tommy Aaron, Ron Graham and Greg Powers withdrew from the field of 156 which was to be reduced to the top 70 and ties after today's round.

Isaiah mentions the sounds that some birds make. "Like a crane or a swallow, so did I chatter: I did mourn as a dove..." - Isa. 38:14

When the Israelites in the wilderness got tired of manna, they mentioned the Egyptian food they missed. "We remember the fish, which we did eat in Egypt freely; the cucumbers, and the melons, and the leeks, and the onion, and the garlick." - Num. 11:5

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Exercise the mind at any age

DEAR DR. LAMB - My husband, age 77, had a mild stroke. His speech is slightly slurred when he is very tired. The problem I notice most is his memory loss. He can't remember where he put something yesterday. He's afraid to drive, afraid he will get lost. I feel the stroke has affected his brain. Will this ever improve?

I read an article regarding senility that said much of older people's problems wasn't senility but could be lack of proper diet, medication, etc., and that many older people were put away when they could be treated. My husband had a brilliant mind and has a Ph.D. but his mind has slowed so. He realizes his problem and is very distressed. Do you have any idea regarding this?

DEAR READER - Unfortunately this is a very common problem. I don't think our society has come to grips with it yet. It is true that as many as one in five people who have symptoms we attribute to senility have a medical problem. In point of fact, your letter indicates your husband has a medical problem - the changes in circulation to his brain that caused the stroke. In some instances these medical problems can be corrected, such as those rare instances of chemical imbalance or a case of vitamin B-12 deficiency, but many others cannot.

The damage in your husband's brain cannot be corrected. But he may learn new ways to use other parts of his brain that may help him. Many older people with brains that don't function as well as they once did can be helped. They tend to forget more easily just as young children - forget. Learning is slower. If we could only provide ways to give them more time to learn and stimulate their learning many would be able to cope.

I would recommend memory training, even though it may be difficult. The more you exercise the mind, the better it works at almost any age.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Some time ago you mentioned a new drug, relatively safe to use for menopause flashes, I lost the article and need a copy for my doctor. I suffer a great deal from this. My doctor said he knew nothing new except estrogen which I do not want to take. He would appreciate any suggestions and so would I.

DEAR READER - You probably have reference to studies by Drs. David R. Mel drum and Howard L. Judd of UCLA Medical Center. They have been studying the ability of progesterone to prevent hot flashes. Women have two main types of female hormones, estrogen and progesterone. Both inhibit the pituitary action on the ovaries. It is worth trying. Progesterone has different actions from estrogens and has not been linked to any increased risk of cancer. Other doctors have been trying Inderal because of its anti-adrenaline effects. Vitamin E has been cited as useful but careful studies leave its value for hot flashes very much in doubt. At least it is relatively harmless if you should decide to try it.

FAITH TEACHES US THAT ALL OF LIFE IS LEARNING

At graduation time, whether high school, college or a specialized institution of learning, we are reminded that education in the skills of life is an infinite thing; that you can always add to the knowledge you need for your chosen career, and that there is always something new for you to learn. Likewise, your religious training is concerned with the development of your character, and this process should continue for the rest of your life on earth. By attending the Church of your choice you will learn the nature of this divine curriculum from which there is no graduation, but for which you will receive a degree of happiness and serenity obtainable from no other source of learning.

"Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom; and with all thy getting get understanding."
— Proverbs 4:7

The very spring and root of honesty and virtue lie in the felicity of lighting on good education.
— Plutarch
