1,500 Inmates Placed On Work Release

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) -About 1,500 inmates will have been paroled or placed on work-release programs by the end of June as the Texas Department of Corrections attempts to cut crowding in prison cells, a spokesman says.

Jay Byrd said the number of inmates sleeping on the floor has been cut from 3,000 to 1,000.

TDC has also begun housing some inmates in eight-man tents borrowed from the Texas National Guard in its attempt to comply with a federal judge's order to relieve crowding.

Many inmates say they prefer living in tents to being housed with two other men in cells.

"It really changes your attitude about doing time," said Marshall Parker, 23, serving a seven-year sentence for possession of a controlled substance.

White Disc Jockey Upset Over Firing

HOUSTON (AP) - A white former employee of a black radio station was fired because of his race and deserves reinistatement and $6,000 back pay, a federal judge ruled Friday. Clarence Chaline Jr., former production manager and part-time disc jockey at KCOH, refused to move to a lower paying sales job when told he would not appeal to black audiences, U.S. Judge Ross Sterling found.

Station manager Michael P. Petrizzo fired Chaline Feb. 1, 1980. The station contended it needed a disc jockey who could use the idiom and voice of Wolfman Jack. Wolfman Jack is white.

Sterling found that KCOH hired a black to replace Chaline, even though the black was no better qualified.

While Chaline "may not have the appeal with black radio listeners that Wolfman Jack and others may have, (Chaline's) idiom and voice quality are sufficiently similar to those of black audience disc jockeys that such an excuse is mere pretext," Sterling said in his ruling.

Wimberly was charged with helping Hoyt Rector, 58, shop for a hit man to kill Judge Roy Fillyaw. The plot was not carried out.

the world from the demons that possessed the child has been found innocent of murder by reason of insanity.

Jurors said they took three votes and five hours of sometimes emotional debate Friday to determine that Patricia Ann Frazier was not responsible for her actions in February of 1980 when she excised the child's heart and left it wrapped in a bloodsoaked rag beside the body.

"In my opinion she loved that little girl and doesn't realize yet fully what has happened. ... When and if she does, it will kill her," said defense lawyer Bill Wood.

State District Judge Keith Nelson ordered Ms. Frazier to remain in custody and returned to Wichita Falls for a hearing Monday to determine if she should be committed to a state mental institu-

Wichita County District Attorney Tim Eyssen told jurors in his closing arguments that Ms. Frazier was a "calm, cool, collected killer who now wants you 12 people to think she was insane when she committed the ultimate act of child abuse."

He argued that Ms. Frazier planned it all and feigned insanity to avoid punishment.

But defense attorneys argued that Ms. Frazier was insane and convinced that her daughter, Khunji Wilson, was possessed by demons. And that she was driven to destroy the child after watching the movie "The Exorcist" - a film jurors were shown during the trial

"For someone to do this to their own flesh and blood, they would damn well have to be crazy," defense attorney M.P. Duncan said in closing arguments as he held up a picture of the dead girl.

Jury foreman Richard Seideanstein said the verdict was "a hard decision." One juror wept in the hallway outside the courtroom after the verdict was announced.

Ms. Frazier broke into tears after the verdict was read, then smiled and greeted her brother, Michael Frazier. Eyssen was bitter.

"I's been a long case for us..., said Eyssen. "I guess everybody that commits homicide, the more bizarre you do it the more they figure you are nuts and let you get away with it."

Mrs. Frazier was tried once before for the gruesome slaying, but the November trial ended in a mistrial withthe jury hung 10-2 for conviction. The retrial was moved to Denton because of extensive publicity.

She was charged with murder after Wichita Falls police found the body of her daughter on the front seat of the woman's car. The girl's heart had been cut from her chest, wrapped in a bloodsoaked rag and left beside the Defense lawyers relied on the testimony of six psychologists psychiatrists who all testified and schizophrenic.

"You must believe Pat Frazier is the most horrendous, most dispicable, meanest and most devoid of any conscience person that you have ever known or that she was, as the doctors said, insane," said Wood in his closing arguments.

The Reagan administration is easing restraints on the saie of defense-related technology to China and seeking a "richer dialogue" on possible U.S. arms sales to the Asian country, a senior State Department official says.

'We are going to China with an open mind on this issue," said the official, who briefed reporters Friday on Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig's trip to China on June 14-17.

The official, who asked not to be identified but is in a position to know Haig's thinking, said the secretary will seek a "richer dialogue" than before with China on possible arms sales. He added, however, that U.S. allies and Congress would be consulted before any decisions are Haig leaves Wednesday for a two-week trip that also will take him to Hong Kong, the Philippines and New Zealand.

The decision to ease restraints on selling the Chinese defense-related technology would apply to equipment that could have a dual civilian and military use, such as computers, radar and transport aircraft.

However, sales of such goods would still have to be approved on an item-by-item basis, the official said. China is currently in a category with the Soviet Union where

"In principle, the decision has been made for a degree more of flexiblity," the official said. There has been speculation China would be placed in a category with Yugoslavia, but he declined to confirm this.

Listening

PREACHERS (and my wife) tell me that if we'd all listen carefully to what God is trying to tell us, we'd have an easier time getting along in life, and even in the rough times, we'd be better prepared to handle the situation.

I'm sure not going to argue with that, but those of us a bit too dense to hear most of the Almighty's messages would be a lot more prepared for things if He would orchestrate our lives just like those guys who make movies

What I mean is that you can always tell by the music every time something is about to take place of major significance. If you haven't noticed this, listen to the mood music next time you watch a movie, in a theatre or on television. If the hero and heroine are about to meet for the first time in a crowded place, or out by the lake or someplace, the music lets you know that something good is about to happen. It's happy music, full of love and sweetness and you just know something pleasant is coming soon.

On the other hand, if a small child is playing in the street and about to get hit by a truck, or the beautiful girl is walking blissfully through a deserted house, you know by the threatening music that something bad is imminent. You can generally tell when the good guy or girl approaches the curtain behind which lurks the madman with a knife, just by the music.

I sometimes wonder why the good guy doesn't hear that terrible beat and forceful notes and know to get the heck out of there.

As a matter of fact, I know a blind man who often listens to television and he says he can pretty well tell what is happening, partly by the music.

It would be nice if every time someone comes into the office in a pleasant mood, good music would fill the air. And it would help if threatening music filled your car just before you blew out a tire or some drunk comes over the hill on the wrong side of the highway. At least we could slow down and get ready to

It would help, too, around the house. When you hear a sudden burst of "Old Man River" as you start to turn on your washing machine, you stop right there, knowing that it's about to go crazy and throw water all over the utility room. Just before a light bulb burns out, it starts playing "Darkness on the Delta."

And when you open the refrigerator door during commercials, it plays "The Baby Elephant Walk."

Re-Districting

Editor's Note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith grass farm on Tierra Blanca Creek solves the redistricting problem, perhaps.

Dear Editor:

Even if a problem has an easy solution, politicians will roll up their sleeves and make it a hard one. I think it's one way they have fun.

Take re-districting. Because people won't stay in one place, are always moving to some place else where they're no better off either, voting districts get out of balance and have to be reshaped. You can't have one Congressman representing a million people and another a few thousand, although with Senators it's excusable.

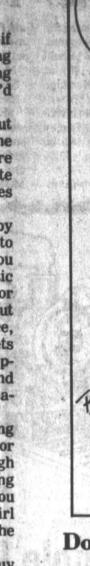

So when new census figures come out politicians begin scrambling to re-draw district lines, trying to snake them around in odd shapes to include voters they think are on their side. They stay up all night, trying to figure it out.

There's a simplier method. Say you want 500,000 people per district. Divide that into the total population of some 220,000,000 or so people in the country and you get the number of Congressmen needed, around 400, give or take a few, which in some cases wouldn't be noticed anyway.

Now figure up the number of square areas in the United States, divide that by 400 or so Congressmen, and the result is the number of acres per Congressional district. Every Congressman then has the same number of acres.

But, you'll say, the number of people per square acre in some places like metropolitan areas far exceeds the number per acre in the arid West.

True. But you then assign 500,000 people by computer to a given district, makes no difference where they live, until Nevertheless, Americans are still very pessimistic about the future prospects for our economy. If you are one of them, I suggest you take a look at some fascinating historical evidence which Thomas J. Sargent, an economist with the Federal Reserve Bank of Minnesota and the University, has uncovered recently.

If you have had a tough time making ends meet with inflation hovering around 10 percent, imagine what it must have been like for consumers in various European economies after the devastation of World War I. "Between January 1922 and April 1924, the price index increased by a factor of 263 times," Sargent reports of postwar Hungary. Poles had it even worse. The price index there increased by a mind-boggling 2,402 times in just two years:

It's My Turn

I am finding myself somewhat in the middle of a resurgence in television viewing. Especially since we have been exposed to what are some of " the good, old, wholesome, shows which we enjoyed as we grew up.

The cable hookup in our house has proved well worth the expense. Besides providing the added " sports attractions of Atlanta football, basketball, and baseball, WTBS is quickly becoming one of my favorite channels.

They are a welcome relief from the plethora of modern-day "entertainment," such as "Dallas," "Vegas," and "Charlie's Angels."

WTBS also features other early-day shows which far and away are better than the fare presented today by the major networks. "All In The Family" is another of my favorites.

I guess we all mellow as we grow older. I can remember not missing the "Tonight Show" 8 almost upon penalty of death just a few years back. Now, just about the only time I even care to watch it is when Rich Little is the guest host. It's fascinating to watch and hear 150 people on the stage, all wrapped up in the body of one man.

WTBS also began re-runs of another goodie last week, but I guess I'd have to call in sick to watch it. "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriett" comes on at 4 p.m. daily.

Still, I've got a little room on one corner of my desk ... I wonder if Speedy would mind if I put a portable TV there?

Harald Bredesen to Speak At Amarillo Civic Center

tionally - known leader in the Charasmatic Movement, will speak at the Amarillo Civic Center on Saturday, June 20, at 7 p.m., according to Larry Titus, Senior Pastor of Trinity Fellowship.

Bredesen, who recently returned from Egypt after a five-day visit as the guest of President Anwar Sadat, travels world-wide in a ministry to churches and individuals which has had a major impact on Christian renewal during the last twenty-five years.

Bredesen, who in 1946 as a Lutheran minister received the Baptism of the Holy Spirit, was the first to have the experience and remain within an historic denomination. Time Magazine, the Evening News with Walter Cronkite, the BBC, and even Radio Moscow have cited him as a beginning figure within the Charasmatic Movement, which is thought to be the fastest-growing Christian movement in the world and has significantly affected every major denomination.

Ordained as a Lutheran minister in 1944, Bredesen first served as Public Relations Secretary for the Christian Education Department of the World Council of Church, and editor of the Christian Education World. From 1957 to 1970 he served as Pastor of the historic First

A frequent speaker on college campuses, Bredesen was described by the Saturday

Evening Post "Charasmatic Envoy to the Campuses." He has spoken at Yale, Harvard, Princeton, the University of Chicago, Stanford, and many other universities throughout the world. A beginning point for the Charasmatic Movement among intellectuals, while Bredesen was leading a campus retreat for the Yale Christian Fellowship, a Holy Spirit Awakening took place that drew national attention. Five who spoke in tongues (Glossal Yalies, as Time Magazine described them) were deacons of the university church, a third of the board of deacons. Others included five Phi Beta Kappas, three Suma Cum Laudas, one member of the Yale faculty, and a member of the Yale

Chaplin Corps. A year ago in an ABC Network program, "Anwar Sadat, Crisis and Belief," Bredesen's half-hour interview with the Egyptian president drew the most widespread public response, with the possible exception of one, of any program in the history of the Cultural Affairs Department of the network.

Bredesen is the author of numerous books and a regular contributor to magazines throughout the Christian world. Best known is the continual best seller, Yes, Lord. A recent book on Christian development is, Need a Miracle.

'We are extremely pleased that God has sent Harald to the Panhandle Area," stated Pastor Titus. "I have known Harald for several years now, and his ministry can best be described as another chapter in the Books of Acts. Harald will be showing a film, 'Anwar Sadat, Crisis and Belief,' and tell the remarkable story of the operation of the gifts of the Holy Spirit which lead to it, as well as the amazing breakthrough at Camp David which followed. This remarkable story is worth the consideration of the people in this area," Pastor Titus add-

Tribute To A Secretary

County Extension Agent

I'm getting my chance these two weeks and one day (Yes, please don't forget the one day) to try my luck as a secretary. It's quite an experience. Yes, our office is between secretaries.

The first thing on the agenda was to type a budget. Now that meant lots of little squares, columns, and numbers. After I managed to find the "On" button, I made a mistake. Out comes the liquid paper or correction fluid. I learned right off that a drying period is necessary. For when I returned the carriage, liquid paper smeared over my good typing. (Ex-cuse me, The phone is ring-

Before I go any farther, remember I always have typed on a typewriter that had individual keys that would all clump together if

At Wits End By ERMA BOMBECK

I have never felt my children really understood the complexities of banking ever since the day I discovered one of their checkbooks by the phone being used as a scratch pad. Somehow, they never got the idea they were dealing with real money.

One has a checkbook that has been through the laundry so many times it shrunk.

Another one wrote the bank a check to cover an overdraft. And the third one is listed in the Guinness Book of Records for writing 208 checks. In one week. Under $2. Without recording one of them. Who is still roaming free.

Somehow, each carries the erroneous notion that bankers are just people who were young themselves once and can laugh at their naivete.

I contend bankers were born wearing a three-piece suit, would put their mother in the slammer for an error in subtraction, and haven't laughed since they got locked in the vault at Christmas with Miss Leonardi, Accounts Receivable.

As a mother, I worry that my children have inherited their father's recessive check-writing-compulsion genes. Ever since I have known him, he rips checks out of the book like nose tissue. He has never stepped a foot out of the door without announcing, "I have to cash a check."

It didn't matter where we were going. We never had enough money to get there. And that was in the days when cash was still being used over plastic money.

My worst fears were realized one night at a party when a woman said, "I met your son once. He came into my shop." When I asked her what she sold she said, "Maternity clothes."

As I steadied myself, she explained, "He didn't buy anything. He wanted to cash a check for $2 for gas for his

The other child has no idea what canceled checks are for. He had three years of them on the floor of his car until he put the top down one night and they all blew out and fluttered down upon the city like a deficit shower.

I don't know where all this is going to end. But the other day I was sorting out the laundry and some white breath mints rolled out. One of them had some numbers on it. It read, "2376-185." I asked my son if it was important.

He said, "It's either check no. 2376 for $1.85 or check no. 185 for $23.76." Then he shrugged and popped it in his mouth.

The end is probably closer than I think.

time. Too, the carriage movYes, I hand it to the time. Too, the carriage moved. Now it's hard getting use to this new fangled thing with a ball that has those letters on it. (Pardon, I have a caller she wants some information on her garden - where would that be in this uniform filing system? Lady, please be patient! I'll find it.)

Now my typing did improve the second day. My friend, Joan Bookout, who must type 500 words a minute and NO mistakes told me that little key with an X inside an arrow automatically corrects your mistake. Now it took me a while to master that key. But friends, that key backspaces and marks out your mistake and without any to do you can type the correct letter on top of it. That's got to be the greatest key on the typewriter. I've used it so much, the X is worn off. At first, I thought you had to do your own back spacing after you hit the X but you don't. It's a fantastic little key. (Excuse me - phone - Good mor-secretaries. They're the ones that keep the office so organized and everything is done at the right time and perfectly. And they're always smiling. And it's a worthwhile profession. Luckily, I've always had great secretaries. Once St. Peter realizes they were secretaries and who they worked for, he'll ask no more questions and the Pearly Gates will open. I hope I haven't been a difficult boss (I don't like that word) and I don't think I have been bad to work with. But my secretaries have held a special place in my heart and have certainly gone beyond duty on their job. (Oh, the phone is ringing - now both lines are ringing - what do I

Westgate Mothers Honored With Dinner

Westgate News

May is the month for honoring mothers, and so it was at midst and hope that if they Westgate. It is a delightful occasion when a local restaurant calls and invites mothers to be their guests for a steak dinner. This is what happened on the eve of Mothers Day, when the ladies were entertained by K-Bob's Steak House. It was an enjoyable way to spend the evening and a sincere expression of appreciation is extended to everyone at K-Bob's who helped make it possible.

Other special happenings, were a visit from the children of the Day Care Center who brought May baskets filled with goodies. Not only did the residents enjoy the treats, but the little ones were a great moral booster. We also had a group of young people from the Avenue Baptist Church mothers with dried flower arrangements that were gratefully appreciated.

On Friday, May 8, a Mothers Tea was sponsored by Xi Epsilon Alpha, Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. Invitations were sent to family members, inviting them to come and take part in the festive occasion and spend the afternoon with their loved ones. The serving table was filled with a variety of goodies and a very good time was had by those who attended. Thank you to all th. sorority members for this kind and thoughtful gesture. We appreciate it very much.

The birthday party for May was hosted by the Marjorie Stevens circle of the First Baptist Church. As usual, it was very well done and appreciated by all.

Thank you is extended to Rev. McCarter of the First Christian Church for leading our Bible sessions for the nonth. Thanks, also, to Rev. Bookout of the First Assembly of God Church for bringing us the "Master Touch" - a group of young people from Oral Roberts University in Tulsa, Oklahema. This group of loyal singers shared a common love of music and fellowship with our residents. Staff and residents, alike, enjoyed having them in our near future, they will stop and visit our home again.

King's Manor News We were delighted to have a group of young people from the Oral Roberts University visit the Manor and bring a beautiful program in song and witness for Christ. They are touring several states and were guests of the Assembly f God Church in Hereford. How fortunate we were these fine singers took time to bring a program to us.

The "Christian Aires" sang for us one evening. This group came from the Christian Assembly Church. It was not their first visit. We say thanks for the love you show who remembered the in bringing happiness to

> The Youth choir from the First Christian Church thrilled us with their young voices one evening. They were directed by Tony Jones in the absence of the usual leader Ray Owens. We appreciated the friendliness they showed.

Also singing one evening was the girls choir from Stanton Jr. High under the direction of Doug Morris. One cannot believe the kindness so many show King's Manor. There are so many groups who visit and share the talents to brighten the days of others.

The Bay View Study Club have supplied a driver for those who need to shop each Tuesday this past month. We know you girls are busy and it is a sacrifice on your part to do this, the courtesy is appreciated by those who do not drive yet occasionally need to Birthdays are part of every month in King's Manor family. This month Llewellyn Deason, Andy Powers, Sam Clay and Audrey Heard were celebrants. It is a real pleasure to wish them many happy returns of the day.

Vesper service is well attended each Tuesday evening. This month we had Rev. Doug Manning, Rev. Bill McReynolds, Rev. Howard Quiett and Rev. George Belford. Thank you for your devotion to this service.

The Thames Pharmacy provided an unusual service for the Manor residents one evening. Mr. Thames assisted each one to better understand the medications they are taking.

Mother's Day was the big day for most of the residents are Mothers. There were beautiful floral rangements received and shared. So many long distance calls brought a sparkle to their eyes. So many visitors to see the Mothers and Grandmothers; as loved ones came to honor them and have a visit. It was a joyous time for everyone. Again Mr. Parsons of K-Bobs invited the Mothers to a steak dinner. This most generous gift from Mr. Parsons each year has been so grately enjoyed and appreciated. It was a time of happiness for over fifty ladies from King's Manor and Westgate. We hope you know Mr. Parsons these dear ladies all say Thank You in Capital letters.

Private vehicle traffic virtually is prohibited along its mostly gravel 87-mile road, with free shuttle buses substituting for the traffic jams plaguing many of the nation's most popular parks.

Superintendent Bob Cunningham, a wildlife biologist, says he believes the lack of contributes significantly to healthy animal populations. He says his mail indicates most visitors support the autom restrictions.

Truesdell, says a minimum of 200 grizzly bears, 1,000 caribou, 1,200 moose and a like number of sheep inhabit

Among the exotic birds using the park tundra for their nesting grounds are the longtailed Jaeger, which migrates from Japan, and the arctic tern, which comes all the way from Antarctica each year.

There are no flashy curio shops and junk food em-poriums that blaze the way to many national parks. Denali is announced simply, by one of the Park Service's distinctive brown wooden signs.

There are hotel-type sleeping accommodations for only about 300 people within the park boundaries and a lesser number near the entrance. Two train cars, each sleep-

Mays Makes 800 Finals

Houston Track Star Matches NCAA Feat

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) - Sensational Carl Lewis, the 19-year-old University of Houston sophomore, matched a feat last performed 45 years ago by the legendary Jesse Owens, and Suleiman Nyambui of Texas-El Paso broke a mark held by Owens Friday night at the NCAA outdoor track and field champion-

The beautifully conditioned Lewis became the first athlete since Owens in 1936 to win both a track event and a. field event at the collegiate outdoor championships, capturing the long jump and the 100-meter dash with sparkling performances.

In the long jump, held indoors because of rain, Lewis cleared 27 feet, 34 inches. The distance would have been a meet record, but because it was conducted indoors, meet officials ruled that it would not be considered for a record.

Later, when the rain had subsided, Lewis rallied to win the 100 in 9.99 seconds. That would have been a thirdfastest clocking in history and broken Lewis' collegiate record of 10.00, but this time a trailing wind of 2.54 meters per second ruined any chance of a mark.

The wind cannot be more than 2.00 meters per second for a sprint race to be submitted as a record.

Nyambui, the tireless distance runner from Tanzania, outlasted a 41-man satile Owens, who won all of his events outdoors in 1935 field and led a 1-2-3-5 Texas-El Paso finish in winning the 10,000 meter race in 28:34.23.

Garnett Wins Golf Award At Harding

Phil Garnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lathan Garnett of Hereford, has been named the recipient of the "Inspiration Award" for the Harding University golf team.

Garnett was presented with the trophy by Bison coaches. Harding University is located at Searcy, Ark.

It was his ninth NCAA title, won the indoor crown twice breaking the record of eight he had shared with the verand 1936, and long distance runner Gerry Lindgren of Washington State.

Nyambui, only a junior, already has won five NCAA distance races indoors and four outdoors. He also is entered in Saturday night's 5,000-meter final, a race that could help determine the team championship.

UTEP's Peter Lemashon and Florida State's Mike Rolle led the 800-meter qualifiers, while Texas Tech's James Mays had the third best time. All three were in the same heat. Lemashon clocked a 1:46.21 and Rolle was timed at 1:46.58. Mays had a time of 1:46.84, and just edged Jim Jeffrey at TCU.

Texas-El Paso, seeking its third consecutive title, finished Friday night's competition with 27 points - including 26 from the 10,000 - five behind first-place Southern Methodist's 32.

The Mustangs, runnersup to Texas-El Paso in the NCAA indoor championships in March, accumulated their points in two events - the hammer throw and the shot

McLemore, hired by Final Four Decided In College World Series

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) -Oklahoma State and Arizona State provided the expected offensive fireworks by scoring 21 runs on 26 hits in the College World Series baseball winners bracket final but the teams wore each other down in the process.

No. 3 Oklahoma State pulled out an 11-10 victory over the top-ranked Sun Devils in a five-hour, 13-inning marathon Friday night before a record crowd of 15,333.

The victory sends the 52-15 Cowboys into the tonight's game with 60-10-1 Texas while Arizona State, 52-13, meets 46-14 South Carolina in an afternoon elimination game.

Should Oklahoma State win Saturday, it will meet the ASU-South Carolina winner Sunday afternoon in a nationally televised game. Should Oklahoma State lose either Saturday or Sunday, a Monday night finale would be necessary in the doubleelimination tournament. An OSU loss today would pit Texas against today's early game winner in Sunday's televised contest

"We won but we wore each other out," said Oklahoma State Coach Gary Ward. "It may be hard on both of us to have to come back and play again Saturday. I guess we'll find out how much we have

Substitute first baseman Eric Dorn delivered a oneout, bases loaded single to score the winning run in the bottom of the thirteenth for Oklahoma State.

Dorn doubled and singled in three trips to the plate as Oklahoma State unleashed an 18-hit attack against five Arizona State pitchers. The Cowboys chased starter Randy Newman and 18-1 Kendall Carter in a six-run first inning and sent left-handed star Kevin Dukes to the bench with three more runs in the Dukes was one out away from tying the series record of 11 consecutive innings without a hit when Benji De la Rosa singled in the second.

Dorn's single also overshadowed a record-setting performance by Arizona State's Stan Holmes. The Sun Devil slugger drove in two runs on a first-inning single, two more on a double in the seventh and tied the game with a three-run line drive homer in the top of the ninth. Holmes' seven runs batted in upped his three-game total to a record 14. The old mark was 11 by ASU's Bob Horner in 1978.

Following Holmes' homer in the ninth, OSU starter Darren Dilks went to the bench. Cowboy relief ace Craig Tice came on two hitters later to pitch four innings of shutout, no-hit relief and pick up with seventh win in nine decisions

Meanwhile, Oklahoma State managed to put runners in scoring position in the bottom of the ninth, tenth and twelfth innings. A diving catch of a Bruce Kastelic liner by ASU third baseman Mike Sodders saved the game in the tenth and reliever Jim Boudreau pitched the Sun Devils out of trouble in the other innings.

to put Richard through his daily workout pace. HOUSTON (AP) - Ten months ago, Houston pitcher

Richard, standing at the top of the hill playfully taunting the puffing McLemore, has gone from the trauma of a life-threatening stroke last July 30, to a possible return to the big leagues this season.

Although Astros majority stockholder John McMullen confidently predicted last month that Richard would pitch again in June, others aren't as certain.

Manager Bill Virdon says Richard must get better control of his blazing fastball, which now is revving above 90 miles per hour. McLemore, who has worked with Richard for six weeks, thinks the return might come following the All-Star break. Richard isn't saying

"Everyone is super concerned that he will be able to protect himself on the mound," McLemore said. "That's got to be a major concern for Bill Virdon and the doctors. "He's wearing glasses now and that's helped correct his vision."

anything.

McLemore said when Richard reported to spring training in February, he had trouble picking up the flight of the ball thrown back to him by the catcher. Now he's catching line drives.

"We started out with me hitting balls back to him on the mound and he had to field them and throw to first base," McLemore said. "Now he'll move back to about first base and I hit him line drives."

Virdon watches Richard's daily workouts and while he sees, improvement, he's noncommital about a return to the major leagues.

"The bottom line is his continuing progress and that's what he's doing," Virdon said. "His control is better this time (Friday) than it was the last time. But there's no way to predict when he'll be

Ryan Hurls Astro Victory; Rangers V

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

Nolan Ryan of the Houston Astros has notched another major league record - in a

Already the possessor of several strikeout marks, not to mention a record-tying four no-hitters, Ryan became baseball's all-time walk king in Friday night's 3-0 victory over the New York Mets.

"I'm not ashamed of the record," Ryan said after giving up two walks to boost his career total to 1,776. "It means I've been around enough to pitch a lot in the major leagues."

Ryan's fourth-inning pass to Lee Mazzilli gave the Houston hurler the record, surpassing Early Wynn. Ryan had walked Frank Taveras in the first inning to tie the mark.

While breaking the dubious walk record, the Astro righthander also extended another major league record by posting double figures in strikeouts in a game for the 134th time. He fanned 10, and in the process, also gained his 46th career shutout.

Elsewhere in the National League, Atlanta defeated Philadelphia 4-1, Cincinnati whipped Montreal 6-3, San Francisco stopped Pittsburgh 5-3, St. Louis edged San Diego 2-1 in 13 innings and Chicago nipped Los Angeles 4-3.

Walks got the Mets in trouble. Art Howe drew a secondinning walk from loser Randy Jones, 1-6, moved to third on Gary Woods' single and scored on Luis Pujols' base hit. Houston made it 2-0 in the sixth when Craig Reynolds hit his ninth triple of the season and came home on Cesar Cedeno's sacrifice fly.

Terry Puhl's sacrifice fly in the seventh boosted the Astros' lead to 3-0. Pujols, who had walked, moved to second on Joe Bittman's base hit and to third on Ryan's bunt, scored on the play.

Enos Cabell rapped a tworun homer off relief pitcher Enrique Romo in the ninth inning to boost San Francisco over Pittsburgh. With the score tied 3-3, Bill North got a one-out walk off Romo and Cabell followed with his second homer of the season.

Romo fell to 0-3 as Fred Breining, 2-1, got the victory. Breining threw only one pitch, getting Bill Madlock to line into a double play with Pirate runners at first and second in the eighth inning. Greg Minton and Gary Lavelle pitched the ninth inning, with Lavelle getting his fourth save.

It was the seventh gamewinning RBI of the season for Cabell, who leads the Giants in that category.

Cardinals 2, Padres 1 Keith Hernandez, mired in a 1-for-20 slump, slugged a one-out RBI single in the 13th inning, driving home pitcher Jim Kaat from second base to lead St. Louis over San Diego.

Hernandez' hit came off former teammate John Curtis, 1-3, the fifth San Diego pitcher. Kaat, 3-1, who came on in the 12th for St. Louis, was the winner.

Kaat opened the 13th with a walk, the sixth issued by Padres pitchers, and advanced to second on Tommy Herr's sacrifice bunt. Garry Templeton was then walked intentionally before Hernandez came through.

Cubs 4, Dodgers 3

Ken Reitz' two-run double capped a three-run fourth inning, enabling Chicago to beat Los Angeles and snap a four-game losing streak. Winner Rick Reuschel, 3-7, yielded 10 hits before leaving in the eighth, but was aided by three double plays Dick

Ryan Not Ashamed Of Who Am I? Rocket Coach Hopes New Record for Walks

HOUSTON (AP) -Houston Astros pitcher Nolan Ryan, that modest, unassuming country boy from nearby Alvin, Texas, placed credit where he thought it belonged after he set a major league career record of 1,776 walks.

"I'd like to thank all the umpires," Ryan quipped after walking only two batters and shutting out the New York Mets 3-0 Friday night.

Strange Play Helps Texas Beat Toronto

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) 3-strikeout night I have ever - It had been a long night for Jim Sundberg.

The Texas Rangers' contest with Toronto was already three hours old when Sundberg came to bat in the 12th inning, and the Texas catcher had not exactly been a hitting star. He had been hitless in five appearances and had struck out three times.

But suddenly, things fell into place and Sundberg singled, dashed to third on a sacrifice bunt and scored the winning run in the Rangers 5-4 win over the Blue Jays. "That's the strangest covering third base had," Sundberg said, shaking his head after the game. "I never felt that good and struck out three times before.

The main topic of clubhouse conversation, however, was not Sundberg's bat but the strange play that put him on third.

Mario Mendoza dropped what looked like a routine sacrifice bunt and Sundberg headed for second, but four Toronto infielders converged on the ball and left nobody

"If it wasn't for them, it major leagues. I'm not ashamed of the record. A type of pitcher like I am is going to walk a lot of batters."

Ryan, who averaged 150 pitches per game in the American League, needed only 121 pitches to dispense with the Mets Friday night.

And, ironically, on a night when he broke the base on balls career record, he had excellent control, yielding only two walks. The record came in the fourth inning with a walk to Lee Mazzilli.

"I'm just glad I didn't walk seven or eight then it would have really been magnified," Rvan said.

Ryan, who boosted his record to 5-3 and pitched his 46th career shutout, said he had gained more control in the past two seasons.

"I've changed as a pitcher over the years, I'm not as aggressive as I used to be,' Ryan said. "Time has taken its toll. I don't see any difference in my effectiveness, I'm just not as aggressive."

While gaining the dubious record for most walks, Ryan also registered the 134th 10-plus strikeout game of his career, extending his major league record.

To Improve by Trades

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) - As an 18-year old Indiana schoolboy, Houston Rockets Coach Del Harris had a full head of black hair and a desire to enter the ministry.

The following year, however, his pate started turning white and by May 1981, the now completely white haired Harris was preaching a fire-and-brimstone brand of "Rocketball" that took the rag-tag Rockets all the way to the National Basketball Association finals.

Now, with Tuesday's NBA draft approaching, it is back to soul-searching for Harris, who realizes the Rockets can't go through next season the way the finished the last.

"We can't delude ourselves into thinking we are the second best team in the league because we're not," said Harris. "When you go through the playoffs as the underdog team, you don't sit still unless you enjoy masochism." Harris is not a masochist and would like to pick up a big forward and get some rebounding help for Moses Malone but immediate help likely won't come from the Barring last minute trades, the Rockets won't pick until the second round and aren't anticipating a 'franchise' type draftee. Harris says the Rockets will have to improve themselves through trades and free agents.

He hopes owner Gavin Maloof is listening.

"I hope the Maloof folks liked this enough that they are willing to open the old pocket book and help to perpetuate what we've attained," Harris said. "We're going to have to be alert to the free agent market and to trades."

The guard-laden Rockets could used Calvin Murphy, who became a free agent at season's end, as trade bait. Harris said Seattle has sounded the warning that conference rivals should be 'alert and have your checkbook handy. They swallowed their pride and signed Gus Williams and made legitimate offers to Steve Hawes (of Atlanta) and Alex English (Denver).

"They've already offered out over $2 million in May and we're not even into June yet." The Rockets, who finished the regular season with a 40-42 record, upset Los Angeles, San Antonio and Kansas City teo become only the third team in NBA history to gain the league championship finals with a losing record. They finally lost to Boston in the finals.

"We took a last meal psychology into the playoffs and played our key people 48 minutes," said Harris, who used only six players in one game against Kansas City. 'Mo often went 48 minutes. We couldn't do that in the regular season."

Harris held a pre-draft camp last week to look at some of the players he hopes will still be available when it comes Houston's turn to pick. Utah gets Houston's first pick as payment for a 1978 deal that brought guard Slick Watts to Houston.

'Safe Boating Week' Is Proclaimed by Clements

With more than half a million boat owners in Texas, boating safety is a timely topic as summer approaches, says an official of the Texas Safety Association.

In fact, Governor William P. Clements Jr. has declared June 7-13, 1981, as Safe Boating Week in Texas to impress upon boating enthusiasts the merits of safe over the water in the direcboating, says Nelson Mueller, TSA's president for home and leisure activities. The obser-vance will coincide with National Safe Boating Week. "Safety and accident lives and increase the quality of water recreation for all Texas," reads the governor's proclamation on safe boating The proclamation points out that 575 accidential drownings, many related to boating, occurred in 1980. "It's very hard for boaters speeding across the water to spot a swimmer's head. And even if boaters are alert, they might not be able to avoid swimmers that suddenly appear. Slowing down is a good precaution to take to prevent this situation," he says.

He suggests the following safety tips for boaters:

Continually scan the water ahead of your boat for objects in the water, particularly swimmers. Heading directly into the sun makes vision ahead difficult. Wear a sun visor or sun glasses.

Before making a turn, look tion of the turn.

Never run too close to an anchored or drifting boat; swimmers might be near.

Always expect to find prevention behavior will save swimmers beyond the authorized swimming areas. If you see one, expect to find

Don't be distracted by one hazard so that you fail to watch out for others.

Mueller advises swimmers to swim near shore and never alone. Any swimmer entering a boating channel for whatever reason should have a boat accompany him, the safety official adds.

The Texas Safety Association, headquartered in Austin, was chartered by the National Safety Council in governmental public service association. It is the largest state safety organization in the United States.

Me, 21 lbs. heavier. weight problem when I decided to try Pat Walker's.

What I didn't want to do was lose weight too fast. I've seen the sags and wrinkles crash dieters get. So Pat Walker's planned a program just right for me: regular (and surprisingly easy) sessions on the passive exercise unit to keep my figure toned and firm, and counseling about the right and wrong ways to eat. I didn't even have to give up the foods I like, once I learned when I could have them.

With Pat Walker's help, I've trimmed off 21 pounds and a total of 31 inches! Now I weigh 119, and honestly, I've never felt better. Don't you think my 73-year-old figure is in good shape?

Make an appointment now for a free, no-obligation consultation at Pat Walker's. DEAR ANN LANDERS: How come a husband can't be with his wife when she has a complete physical? I am very upset about this.

"God intended for me to be a truck driver." That's the opinion of Peggy Hearn, 36, of Hereford.

And, after trying her hand at such diversified occupations as hairdresser, musician, and nurse, Peggy can say that, without reservation, her place in life is undoubtedly behind the wheel of a tractor-trailer rig tooling down the long and sometimes lonely ribbons of blacktop that cross the broad expanse of America.

Peggy has trucking in her blood. From her childhood days spent on her father's California farm to a pair of marriages to truckers, she has never been far from the magnetism which draws a hearty breed of people to the nation's highways.

It's not that she hasn't tried other things in life. Mrs. Hearn has a bachelor of arts in music from Fresno State University in California, and also holds a certificate as a registered nurse. In addition, she has spent over half of her life, 19 years to be exact, as a hairdresser, her "second

> "It's hard on a driver to be away from home for a long period of time, not being able to share in those special family experiences, seeing their children grow day by day, and missing those special moments such as Christmas and Thanksgiving," she stressed.

And yet not only is the occupation hard on the driver, but also on the wife at home alone wondering each time her husband leaves when he'll be back ... or if he'll make it back safe this time.

Mrs. Hearn, who has lived on both sides of the road, states, "the wife has more responsibility, having to make decisions not only for herself, but for the children."

She is presently working full-time as a hair stylist at "9 to 9". In her spare time she cooks, paints, and plays the piano, flute and clarinet. She is also the mother of three step-children and two children of her own.

"It's not all a bed of roses," stated Mrs. Hearn, adding "wives of truck drivers need to take to the road with their husband at least once to really experience and acquire an understanding of their husband's occupation."

"I have, and it has helped me," she concluded.

LUBBOCK - The Texas Angus Association will meet in Lubbock June 18-20, with Texas Tech University serving as host for the first time.

In addition to touring the area, members will participate in a beef cattle evaluation short course and a session on carcass evaluation, Dr. Richard L. Willham, internationally recognized for his research in breeding and genetics, will join Texas Tech professors C. Boyd Ramsey and Robert A. "Bob" Long in presenting work sessions.

Willham, who is Curtiss Distinguished Professor of Agriculture at Iowa State University, will speak on "Accurate Comparisons." He and a co-researcher recently completed sire evaluation analyses using the field data of the American Angus and the American Hereford associations. The genetic trends evaluated are the first for any beef breeds. The Angus Association has published a sire listing of 564 sires from the analysis.

Grain sorghum acreage is expected to decline to 4.6 million acres in 1981, down from 4.8 million in 1980.

Grain sorghum, a statewide crop, has lost ground largely because expected returns for alternative crops such as cotton and corn have been competitive, said Anderson.

Interest in growing corn, however, is being dampened by the high cost of irrigation water. After reaching a peak acreage of 1.8 million in 1977. growers are expected to plant about 1.4 million acres this year. Almost half of the state's corn crop is produced in Parmer, Castro, Hale and

With hay supplies short, harvested hay acreage is expected to rise to 3 million acres this year, a 330,000 acre increase over 1980, says the economist.

Peanut acreage is subject to some uncertainty because of the high cost of planting seed. Early this spring, farmers said they intended to plant some 315,000 acres, about the same as last year. Good peanut prices, resulting from limited stocks, will likely encourage growers to fulfill earlier planting intenexpected to climb to around 619,000 acres, almost 30,000 tions, believes Anderson. Tax Cut Needed: Farm Spokesman

WACO - The Texas Farm Bureau has told members of the Texas congressional delegation that a multi-year tax cut "is of tremendous importance as a second step in our national economic recovery program."

"As you know, we were and are in full support of congressional efforts to balance the budget, and we feel as strongly about the necessity of real tax cuts as an incentive for individuals, businesses, and industry to increase productivity," TFB President Carrol Chaloupka, Dalhart, said in a letter to the 24 congressmen and two senators from Texas.

"We are deeply concerned about those in Congress who apparently do not feel tax cuts are necessary, or who believe that multi-year tax cuts would be inflationary," the grain and livestock producer said.

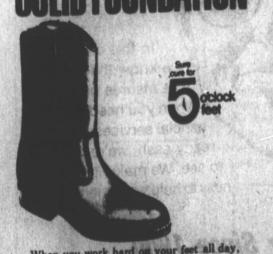

"It seems to us that these people, for the most part, are those who are responsible for our current financial crisis," he said. "If tax cuts should prove to be inflationary, the obvious answer is to cut government spending even further to compensate for any inflation which may occur."

The state farm leader told the legislators that "inflation is still our greatest and most immediate problem."

House Dairy Plan Defies Big Decrease in Spending Targets

By BOB FICK

Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP)

The House Agriculture Committee, defying President Reagan and the stringent spending targets approved by Congress, is refusing to back down from higher price supports for the dairy industry.

The committee's proposed dairy support levels, at 75 percent of parity, would cost almost $200 million more than this year and $475 million more than contemplated by the 1982 budget targets adopted last month.

The House dairy plan also would leave other commodities with only about twothirds the money tentatively earmarked for them in the overall budget guidelines.

"It's obvious this issue is a bit of chicanery," said Rep. Dan Glickman, D-Kan. 'Nobody can think we're actually going to save money with supports at 75 percent of

The administration has dairy to have money for the strongly opposed support levels higher than 70 percent of parity, and the Republicancontrolled Senate Agriculture Committee has endorsed a plan effectively meeting Reagan's wishes.

Parity is the theoretical price a commodity must bring to give producers the same buying power they had in 1910-14. The dairy support level is 80 percent now. If it were continued at that level next year, dairy supports would need an estimated $1.81 billion instead of the $1.19 billion to be spent this year.

At 75 percent, generally the same support level the committee approved last month in its over-budget farm bill, the dairy program would consume almost two-thirds of the money tentatively allotted for all price supports in 1982 -$1.37 billion out of $2.14 billion. Congressional budget calculators figure it should take up only 40 percent.

"We have to bring down other commodities," said Glickman, one of the few committee members who questioned the ramifications

If the plan were enacted now and removed from the debate over the cuts that must be made to bring the farm bill in line with the budget, other commodities like corn, wheat, soybeans, rice, cotton and peanuts would have to scramble for the $800 million left for next year. That's about $450 million less than even the strict spending targets envisioned in the farm bill that farm organizations have criticized as already providing too little support.

But Glickman said the dairy plan would be reconsidered by the committee later this summer. That assurance, he said, came from Rep. Thomas Foley, D-Wash., the third-ranking Democrat in the House and chairman of the Agriculture subcommittee on grains.

who pushed the dairy plan this week, also acknowledged that the committee would debate the issue again before new support levels take effect this fall. But he declined to say whether the support levels would be lowered, arguing that will be decided once the tentative budget targets are finalized late this summer. Critics of the higher support levels claim they are primarily responsible for the current dairy surplus that has forced the government to stockpile millions of pounds of milk products. But supporters argue that dairy farmers already are losing money and need the 75 percent support to ensure adequate supplies of fresh milk and other products.

The government, through a complicated method of purchases, buys up enough milk to keep the price to producers at the set parity level. Support prices for other commodities are generally below

Little-Known Crop Has Bright Future in Southwest Texas

Pena said.

UVALDE, Texas (AP) -More and more farmers in dry Southwest Texas have begun cashing in on rising prices for guar - a littleknown, drought-resistant crop that originated in India but whose gum now is found in such diverse U.S. products as ice cream and oil well drilling mud.

Jose G. Pena, area economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, estimates that guar plantings in Southwest Texas jumped from 2,000 acres a year ago to about 19,000 acres this year. Pena estimates about 70 percent of the Southwest Texas guar crop will produce in mud and fracturing comyields averaging 1,500 to 2,000 pounds used in the oil-drilling rigated fields and about 1,200 pounds an acre from dryland fields.

"To the average American not priviledged to inside information from the White House or State Department," Bob said, "the transition from the Carter to the Reagan administration seems to be going smoothly. The stock market and commodities marks bounce along inside ranges investors seem to find familiar and relatively comfortable. The decontrol of oil has brought little in the way of surprises. The hostage crisis is over and America seems ready to relax a bit.

"But a whole new philosophy has invaded our capitol and even though we are not priviledged to inside information, some facts are evident. The Carter administration relied on government spending as a stimulant to the economy and higher interest rates as a deterrent to economic activity when the economy got too 'hot.' We were even asked to believe that these higher interest rates not only slowed the velocity of our economy but slowed inflation as well.

"The ridiculousness of such a policy is becoming clear to more and more Americans and I believe is understood by the President as well. As he properly and correctly pointed out in his public address of Feb. 5, 1981, all taxes the next four months to pay are paid annually by the peosusinesses are simply tax collectors for government and only pass through tax costs to the people in the form of higher prices for the goods and services which we buy. What he did not point out, and what I expect will be lesson number 2 for the American people, is that exactly the same thing is true of interest costs. Unfortunately few Americans realize the tremendous implications of this fact. "A few statistics are therefore in order. First, Federal debt stands at $960 billion. Second, gross public and private debt stands at about six trillion! Third, the interest on all debts in America today is equal to or in excess of the total cost of operating the federal government (about $600 billion). And fourth, the interest costs in America are escalating at a rate faster than the federal budget - and the Carter crowd expected us to believe that raising interest rates would help this problem? (Remember now, we the people must pay all $600 billion of interest costs annually, just as we pay the costs of government annually, either directly as taxes, or in the added on costs of all the goods and services we buy.) So when the president tells us we have to work the first four months of every year to pay our taxes, he is right. He could have adthe annual interest costs of America!

"We Americans love our country. Given honest facts, there is almost nothing Americans won't do to preserve freedom -- and President Reagan's sincerity shines through! When he tells us the road to a sound economy will be difficult for us all, we not only hear and believe, but we stand ready to respond. However, the American people are a just people as well. For many years now, the great middle class has born the burden of ever expanding debt and the inevitable interest burden that accompanies debt, as well as ever increasing taxes to fund the spending machine that exists in Washington; D.C. During this same period of time the lenders of America have reaped a bonanza almost beyond comprehension. Through nothing more productive than the rental of money, they have created an industry (the debt industry) at least four times larger, on an annual income tax basis, than the next largest industry, American Agriculture."

It noted, however, that reduced pork production prompted hog prices to begin climbing three weeks ago, which will mean higher meat this summer and fall. Cattle prices, the analysts said, are likely to peak this fall, "but the overall rise will be moderate."

The favorable conditions for the U.S. crop this spring indicate yields may recover from last year's droughtreduced levels with feed grain production approaching the 1979 record, the analysts said. But that could possibly cause prices to fall slightly.

"Other factors dampening U.S. farm prices this season," they said, "include higher interest rates, the strong dollar and larger-thanexpected meat supplies."

Farm prices for the new crop of soybeans, however, should be little changed from this crop's level because increased production will be offset by expanding demand, the report said.

Seminars Set to Help Cut Estate Taxes for Farmers

COLLEGE STATION Farmers and ranchers have been concerned for years about high taxes that erode their estates. Now the Texas Agricultural Extension Service has developed a special program to help take the bite out of high estate taxes.

Three two-day seminars are planned which will help farmers and ranchers learn how to reduce taxable estates and learn new methods for passing their operations to the next generation.

These special seminars on 'How to Lower Your Estate Tax Burden" are scheduled as follows: Lubbock, June 18-19; Wichita Falls, July 22-23; and Amarillo, Aug. 27-28.

Each seminar will begin with a discussion on estate taxes, including deductions. expenses and tax rates, points out Dr. Wayne Hayenga, a lawyer and Extension Service economist.

Basic estate planning devices will be explained in depth. Among these are wills, by-pass trusts, gifts, equalizing estates, disclaimers and separate segment of the program devoted to treating nerships and selling part of should start when you plan to the business to heirs The second day of the program will be devoted to special estate tax rules for agriculture. These include special farm land valuation. deferred estate tax payment rules, life insurance, "flower" bonds and other property

Joining Hayenga in conducting the program will be Extension economists Marvin Sartin, C.P.A., and Norman

Estate planning is a step toward reduced taxes, points out Hayenga. This process

tion about the seminars, contact your local county Extension agent or Hayenga in the Department of Agricultural Economics, Texas A&M University, College Station, Tex. 77843, or call 713-845-5446.

Grain Specialists Plan Trip to North Africa

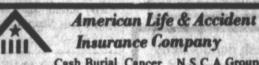

WASHINGTON (AP) -The Agriculture Department is sending a governmentindustry team of grain specialists to North Africa later this month as part of its campaign to intensify grain exports.

"Due to the recent severe drought in Morocco, a major focus of the visit will be on the current situation and Moroccan food requirements," said Deputy Agriculture Secretary Richard Lyng. Algeria also will be a targeted country, he said.

"They will meet with government officials and members of the grain trade to try to develop specific plans for expanding trade servicing, improving credit programs and determining quantities of U.S. grain to be purchased in the 1981-1982 marketing year," Lyng said.

Thomas Hammer, deputy undersecretary-designate for international affairs and commodity programs, will head the team, which leaves June 13 and returns June 24.

FEEDER CALF FORUM

Dr. Danny Williams,

The Great Grass Myth. It could be shorting you 125 lbs. on yearlings.

A myth, according to Webster, is "a notion based more on tradition or convenience than on fact." And based on a common practice in the feeder calf business, that definition fits. Because it seems to have become "traditional" and "convenient" to believe a feeder calf can reach his full growth potential as a yearling on grass alone. Which is not the case.

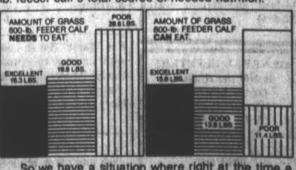

TOTAL NUTRITIONAL VALUE OF GRASS (during growing season).

START OF GRAZING 1 MO. 2 MO. 3 MO.

Grass is a great resource. But as you see above, its nutritional value-which includes nutrient content and digestibility-declines rapidly as it matures through the hot, dry months. And that's under conditions. (Remember last summer?)

Grass has another limitation as a source of nutrition for young growing cattle: They simply don't have the rumen capacity to eat and digest enough of it to fulfill their nutritional requirements for reaching maximum yearling growth. The charts below show how far short excellent, good and poor quality grass falls as a 600 lb. feeder calf's total source of needed nutrition.

feeder calf's nutrient needs are rising, the nutritional value and the animal's consumption capability are declining. In fact, when feeder calves are limited to tein, energy, Vitamin A and minerals.

Purina research, backed by feed trials grounder operations around the country, she can make a difference of as much as one extra daily gain or 125 lbs. extra yearling well Stretcher RM, you also can feed up to one-third more cattle on the same

So we have a situation where right at the time a clining. In fact, when feeder calves are limited to grass alone, they get only about 50-60% of the nutrition needed to reach their full yearling growth potential. And as "good doing" as they may look, you're still getting little more than half the yearling gains you could get. (Thus, the "great grass myth.")

What's the answer? How do you fill in the "missing" 40-50% of nutrition a feeder calf needs for full growth? By supplementing the nutrient deficiencies in grass with the gain-boosting power of Purina® Grass Stretcher RM® brand ration with Rumensin", extra protein energy. Vitamin A and minerals.

Agriculture, only the income,

WASHINGTON (AP) -Those who prefer ice tea as hot weather arrives will be heartened by news that the world tea harvest produced a record 1.8 million metric tons last year, nearly 2 percent more than the 1979 crop.

'The bumper crop was due largely to production increases by India, China, Turkey, Indonesia and Bangladesh," the Agriculture Department's Foreign Agricultural Service said. "However, drought conditions cut output in Sri Lanka, Kenya and the Soviet Union."

Show and Rodeo Association provided an initial endowment in the amount of $75,000 to WTSU School of Agriculture last year: The additional amount has brought a total of $150,000 as an endowment fund
