

Action Considered Against Former Hostage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is considering possible "administrative actions" against a sergeant denied a medal awarded to 20 of his military colleagues also held hostage in Iran.

While the other 20 Army, Marine, Navy and Air Force men held hostage were named Monday to receive the Defense Meritorious Service Medal, the Army said Sgt. Joseph Subic Jr. "did not meet the criteria" for the award.

"Suffice it to say that there were certain periods of time during the 444 days of captivity when Sgt. Subic did not behave under stress the way noncommissioned officers are expected to act," the Army said.

The Army refused to detail its reasons for denying a medal to Subic, 24, of Redford Township, Mich., who already holds an Army Commendation Medal awarded previously in his seven-year military career.

While "there are no judicial actions being taken against Sgt. Subic," several administrative actions are being taken, the Army said, refusing to be more specific.

Without saying they necessarily apply to Subic, Army officials said possible administrative actions could include barring re-enlistment, administrative discharge, counseling and revocation of security clearance.

The Defense Meritorious Service medals followed recommendations by special service panels which reviewed the conduct of the 21 military men among the 52 American released in January.

One of them, Army Sgt. 1st Class Donald R. Hohman, a medic from Sacramento, Calif., also was named Monday to receive the Soldier's Medal for saving the life of an ill comrade at the risk of his own.

The final decision in the Subic case was made by Army Secretary John Marsh and by Gen. Edward C. Meyer, Army chief of staff. Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger approved all award actions and Army officials said the White House was checked before the announcement was made.

While in captivity, Subic appeared in a film — which U.S. television networks declined to air — criticizing the U.S. role in Iran and saying that spies for the CIA were among the hostages.

Subic has said that he never saw the film and believes it probably was doctored. He said he was beaten and threatened by his captors, but told them nothing they did not already know.

Subic, now assigned to the Army Intelligence and Security Command in northern Virginia as an administrative specialist, "won't talk to anybody" in the media, the Army said Monday.

But in a hometown Memorial Day parade, Subic said he hoped his experience would help him become a credible spokesman for those demanding that servicemen missing in action in Southeast Asia be accounted for.

"I think I'm man enough not to go out putting if I don't receive one," he was quoted as saying of the medals.

Subic's lawyer, Owen Cummings, said Monday in Detroit that his client has asked for an early discharge and expects to receive it about July 1.

"I've instructed him that he not make any statements to the media until such time as he is a civilian," Cummings said. "He doesn't feel

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hershey were the first couple to be named "Pioneers of the Year" Saturday morning during the annual Mid-Plains Pioneer Day luncheon. The award has been presented each year since 1967. Local radio station KPAN solicits nominations for the award, and the recipient is selected by a secret committee in the Pioneer Day Association. Making the presentation for KPAN was Chip Formby, News Director.

Hershey came to Deaf Smith County in 1910 as a boy of seven, moving from Pi-quay, Ohio. His father farm-ed 14 miles northeast of

"There were lots of wind-mills, very few cars, and most transportation was by horse and buggy," stated Hershey referring to his arrival in Hereford.

Hershey graduated from Hereford High School and later attended Texas Tech University where in 1930 he received his degree in general education.

Juanita Hershey came to Hereford in 1929 when she and her husband were mar-ried. They had met at College Station. She was born in Cash, Tex., and moved to Abilene when she was nine. She resided in Abilene until moving to Hereford.

Hershey has been active in livestock breeding, seed ex-perimentation, and is well known for keeping a day-by-day rainfall account.

He is active in the American Association of Retired Persons, for which he now serves as president, is active in Senior Citizens, and has worked with the Rainbow Girls for 25 years.

He is a Mason, and the couple have resided in Pro-gressive Community for over 50 years. They are retired farmers.

Mrs. Hershey is a member of Eastern Star and secretary of the Senior Citizens. The couple attend the Church of Christ and have three sons.

Mr. and Mrs. Hershey are the 15th local residents to be honored as "Pioneer of the Year," and according to Her-shey, "the important thing about this award is that they

No Progress Seen On Redistricting

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — In the end, Texas, a strange-shaped giant of a state with diverse political interests, resisted the required efforts to draw new congressional boundaries.

Months of computer-backed efforts by scores of staffers and legislators ended in defeat late Monday, two hours before the 1981 Legislature adjourned.

"We didn't do it," said Jack Ogg, chairman of the Senate delegation to a conference committee. "I'm sorry. We didn't get the job done."

It will be a short break for the lawmakers, however. Gov. Bill Clements said congressional redistricting would be a priority item for a special session.

The House and Senate devised separate plans for congressional boundaries for the 1980s. A 10-member conference committee made no progress during four days of negotiating the differences.

Both plans added the three new districts Texas has earned through its growth. The new congressmen would be from the mid-cities area between Dallas and Fort Worth, the Houston suburbs and South Texas.

On Monday the committee voted down two revised plans. Each contained the major stumbling blocks that loomed for weeks. The senators wanted to split a black-populated area of Dallas between the districts now represented by Democrats Jim Mattox and

Administration Woos Democrat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration, chastized as "bubbling, effervescent with smugness" over its insistence on a multiyear, across-the-board tax cut, is trying to convince a key Democrat to break with the leadership and sponsor a bipartisan measure.

President Reagan and Democratic leaders failed Monday to reach a consensus on a tax-cut bill, but Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said he would try to influence the members of his committee to support a compromise. He indicated, however, that he still would want to see more concessions on Reagan's side.

Administration officials, who asked not to be identified, told The Associated Press that Reagan's strategists have focused their attention on Rostenkowski as

City Okays Zoning Change; Buys Vehicle

Lee Umsted approached the Hereford City commis-sion Monday night on behalf of a client who was seeking a zoning change for North 62.71' of East 317.42' of Lot 4, Block 2, Womble Addition from a "C-Multi-Family" to "E-Central Business". The lot is located at 815 South 25 Mile Avenue.

During debate City At-torney Earnest Langley pointed out that changing from a C to an E zone in-volves mainly a change in parking requirements and set back, which determines how close to the property line a building can be set, and general use.

The individual who re-quested the zoning change wants to open a cabinet shop. After much deliberation the commissioners voted to ac-cept the recommendation of

Government Troops Quash Bangladesh Rebellion

DACCA, Bangladesh (AP) — Government troops early today killed the rebel army general whose men assassinated President Ziaur Rahman, the Bangladesh government's Dacca Radio announced.

Maj. Gen. Muhammad Abdul Manzur's attempt to take over the government was put down Monday, 48 hours after the murder of Ziaur and seven aides in the port city of Chittagong, 140 miles southeast of Dacca.

The government radio said Manzur was slain by soldiers angry over the assassination of Zia, a military hero of Bangladesh's war of in-dependence and the country's strongman for more than five of its nine years as a nation.

Earlier broadcasts said Manzur was captured after he fled from Chittagong the zoning commission and approve the zoning change. Commissioner Ed Coplen voted against the change.

A zoning change request for the South 100' of West 1/2 of block 57, Hereford Addition, from "C-Multi-Family" to "D-Restricted" zone was denied in accordance with the recommendation of the zoning commission. The lot is at Eighth and Lee Streets, and would permit a business in a residential district.

The second reading of the franchise for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. took place in accordance with city ordinance, which requires three readings in consecutive open meetings of the city commis-sion before a franchise may be approved.

City fathers accepted the sole bid submitted for a vehicle for the Volunteer Fire Department. Stagner-

Solons Approve Spending Bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Legislature has approved a $26.7 billion budget that still must survive Gov. Bill Clements' vetoes to run state government for the next two years.

Although the spending bill — stretched by higher than usual appropriations for education — was $4.4 billion higher than the 1981-82 budget, it fell within constitu-tional limits.

Senators approved the compromise bill, 22-6, and the House passed it, 100-46, Mon-day.

Rep. Bill Prenal, D-Bryan, said the 19.6 percent increase was the smallest rate of in-crease in years.

"It represents the drop in state government that we all hoped would occur," said Prenal, chairman of the House Appropriations Com-mittee.

He said the bill fell about $12 million, or 0.04 percent, below the spending ceiling imposed by the Texas Con-stitution, which says expen-ditures may not outstrip the state's economy.

Clements has 20 days to decide if he wants to trim anything from the 500-page bill.

Public schools and state universities account for $14 billion of the budget, and Prenal said this is the first time more than half of state

Artillery Barrages Hit Beirut, Zahle

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Artillery, mortar and rocket barrages shook Beirut and the eastern Lebanese city of Zahle as hostilities between Syrian troops and Lebanese Christian militiamen went in to their third month. Police reported 10 more civilians killed and 23 wounded in the battered capital.

The casualties from Mon-day's fighting raised the Lebanese toll to 30 dead and 299 wounded in Beirut since midnight Saturday. Beirut's Mediterranean beaches were hit for the first time since the 1975-76 civil war.

Syrian casualties, as usual, were not reported.

Pipeline Rupture

Coats Shorelines

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — The cleanup of an oil spill that sent more than 20,000 gallons of refined oil from a ruptured underground pipeline into Nueces Bay will take several days to complete, U.S. Coast Guard spokesmen say.

A slick produced by the spill blackened about five miles of shoreline along the inland bay Monday, the spokesman said.

The ruptured pipeline, located under a marshland on the south shore of the bay, is owned by Coastal States Petrochemical Corp. The leak was discovered Sunday morning after the oil had collected in a surface drainage ditch near the buried pipeline, said Marco Marquez, a spokesman for the Coast Guard's Marine Safety Office at Corpus Christi.

Cleanup crews had recovered about 360 barrels, or 15,120 gallons of oil from the bay by Monday night and what remained of the slick was surrounded by booms, Marquez said.

A strong north wind blew the slick from the south shore across the bay to the north shore, where it coated four miles of shoreline, he said. One mile of shoreline on the south end of the bay was affected by the spill.

Marquez said Coast Guard investigators had not determined what caused the pipe to burst.

A spill of more than 10,000 gallons is classified as major by the safety office. Another Coast Guard spokesman said bay currents were sweeping the remaining oil toward the west and away from beaches.

Coastal States is investigating the cause of the pipeline leak, the company's manager of administration and accounting said. "It would have taken about 15 minutes to spill that amount from that type of pipeline," manager Paul Lindsey said.

Gunman Holds

Patients Hostage

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A gunman who police said had been diagnosed as "suicidal" took over the second floor of a convalescent home and was holding about 120 elderly patients hostage early today, police said.

Emmy Straup, a nursing aide who left the building, quoted the gunman as saying he came "to shoot (his daughter's) legs off so she can't run anymore."

Dominic Giordano, 59, of New Haven entered the 195-bed New Fairview Hall Convalescent Home about 11 p.m. Monday in search of his daughter, who works there, Police Chief Edward Morrone said.

His daughter, Denise, was not at the home. Giordano went to the second floor where he was holding at least two nurses, apparently at gunpoint, Morrone said.

"We know he has two guns, a long gun and a handgun," the chief said.

Sixty patients on each of the second and third floors were unable to leave the building, Morrone said.

Two police officers were talking by phone with Giordano in an attempt to get him to surrender, the chief said, and a police special tactics team had surrounded the building, located in a middle-class residential neighborhood. Streets leading to the nursing home were blocked off to traffic and bystanders.

Morrone said Giordano had been examined May 4 at the Veterans Administration hospital in West Haven where he was diagnosed as "suicidal and depressive."

Bill Uses Cigarette Tax for Museum

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Legislators have passed a bill allocating part of the cigarette tax to planning a Texas Sesquicentennial Museum, which Gov. Bill Clements said would be a "museum of the first class" in Austin.

A voice vote in the House to accept Senate changes sent the measure, by Rep. Chris Semos, D-Dallas, to Clements for signature.

Funds for planning the museum over the next two years would be taken from the portion of the cigarette tax now devoted to acquisition and development of park land in or near urban areas.

Senators reduced the drain on the park fund from the $9 million a year approved by the House to $1 million a year and restricted its use for the next two years to planning.

Semos said additional funds would be sought in 1983.

Clements and the Texas Sesquicentennial Commission want the museum built by 1986, the 150th anniversary (sesquicentennial) of Texas' independence.

The museum would be operated by the University of Texas at Austin.

Clements said at a news conference the museum would be for both Texans "who appreciate their rich historical heritage and for scholars who would interpret it for future generations."

"This institution will be a quality general museum of fine art, historical objects, geology, anthropology and archaeology," Clements said.

that what they did today was done with a lot of thought and investigation of everything that went on."

Cummings said he wanted to see a written statement from the Army, which Subic expects to receive Tuesday, before commenting in substance on the situation.

"We feel that a lot of people found themselves in this (the hostage) situation that was not of their making, that was thrust upon them, and we don't feel that what's happening here is justified," Cummings said.

"We'd at least like the opportunity to find the reasons for what they did. To our knowledge they have only talked to Joe back in February at a debriefing that everybody went through," he said.

According to the Army, the criteria for making awards involves "public recognition of extraordinary, exceptionally meritorious or conspicuously outstanding acts and service above and beyond normal expectations."

It said that Subic was not recommended for an award "because he did not meet these criteria while held hostage in Iran."

Hohman, 37, was cited for the Soldier's Medal for "saving the life of a fellow hostage who suffered a severe reaction and became extremely ill from an insect bite."

As a trained medical specialist, the Army said, Hohman recognized the symptoms and repeatedly asked his captors for medication for the bite victim "but was adamantly refused," the Army said.

Martin Frost.

The House plan would set up one district to include most of the blacks, guaranteeing a black congressman from Dallas and making it tough for Mattox to get re-elected. Clements said he would approve no plan that did not guarantee a minority representative in Washington from Dallas.

Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, opposed the House plan. He preferred to have black input in both districts.

"The Dallas thing was, by far, the issue that killed it," said Rep. Tim Von Dohlen, D-Goliad, who led the redistricting effort on the House side.

The other snag was in South Texas, where the House wanted to split Nueces County, leaving most of the county's Anglos in one district and Mexican-Americans in another. The plan would have

The revised House plan offered by Von Dohlen on Monday would have paired Patman and Ron Paul, R-Lake Jackson.

The Senate wanted a unified Nueces County.

After a day of haggling, and return trips to the maps and computers, Von Dohlen announced shortly after 10 p.m. that no agreement could be reached before the midnight deadline.

One person in the crowded room applauded, drawing the ire of Ogg.

"I'm not really going to candy coat it," said Ogg, D-Houston. "Whoever applauded... one of us doesn't know what this process is about."

"I don't think we lost. I just think the clock ran out on us," said Ogg.

Local Police Busy With Theft Reports

Hereford Police have been busy since Saturday with several theft reports.

Hereford Independent School District reported that after taking inventory of instruments at the high school, a French horn valued at $700 was discovered missing.

Police have a suspect in the theft of a saw from a residence at 335 Ave. B. Esperanza Lopez reported that the recently-purchased saw was taken from their back yard when her husband went into the house. The suspect had been helping him work with the saw.

A motor valued at $250 was taken from George Warner Seed Co., 148 S. Lawton.

Stereos valued at $200 were taken from two cars parked at One-Stop Auto on Highway 385. The theft occurred sometime in the last two weeks, but was just noticed Sunday.

A bicycle was taken from the home of Betty Pickens at 626 Ave. I.

David Wagner reported that a lawnmower and a rototiller were taken from his back yard at 410 W. Third. The items have been recovered.

Other action over the two-day period included two criminal mischief reports. Wallace Stotts reported that all four tires of his car were slashed in the parking lot of Blue Water Garden Apartments. Damage is estimated at $300. David Reed reported that tires were cut on a bicycle in his backyard at 405 Ross.

Manual Estrada Jr., 20, of 200 Lake, Tucumcari, New Mexico, was picked up on Country Club Drive and charged with possession of marijuana.

Two harassment by phone reports were made. Also, police picked up six people for public intoxication, two for DWI and issued 25 traffic citations.

Bilingual Ed Bill Approved

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The bilingual education bill that won last-day approval from the Legislature didn't quite satisfy its author and upset a House member, but it pleased the attorney general.

The bill extends bilingual education through the elementary grades.

Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, wanted $150 in state money per student eligible for the program, but settled for the $56.85 allocated in the bill.

"The funding for the program is unfortunate," he said.

Rep. Milton Fox, R-Houston, predicted the bill would cause segregation. Fox was a member of the conference committee that worked out the final version of the bill, approved by the Senate, 22-6, and by the House, 82-58, on Monday.

"Bilingual education as we have been practicing it in Texas perpetrates segregation, and I fear it will perpetrate segregation in our society," said Fox, who refused to sign the conference committee report.

"Educators feel that existing bilingual programs by and large have failed," said Fox, Attorney General Mark White was happy with the bill. White has been fighting a federal court lawsuit that sparked U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice's ruling that Texas must provide bilingual education through the 12th grade.

"Passage of this legislation is evidence that Texans can work together to resolve their own educational problems without federal court intervention," said White.

He predicted the bill would aid his appeal of Justice's ruling.

"In addition to enhancing our appeal, this legislation will allow our non-English speaking children to learn English quicker so that they can compete equally with other children, and thus be able to take advantage of the many opportunities that Texas has to offer," White added in a statement.

Truan said the program would affect about 350 school districts out of the 1,100 in the state. It would apply to districts in which at least 20 persons in a grade have limited English-speaking ability.

Parents would have to agree to placing their child in a bilingual program, but the school district could appeal if the parents refused.

a potential leader in a move to draft a consensus tax bill, despite the objections of House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr.

Reagan, meanwhile, was meeting today with key Republicans to assess the prospects for the pared-down tax plan that he has embraced.

After the Oval Office bargaining session with Reagan on Monday, O'Neill said he found the president's position was set "pretty well in cement" and there seemed little purpose in further talks.

The Massachusetts Democrat said he found the president and his men "bubbling, effervescent with smugness."

He charged that the president's plan, despite modifications adopted to make it more palatable, was a "windfall to the rich" and promised to produce a Democratic alternative that would be guided toward those earning between $20,000 and $50,000 a year.

But Rostenkowski told reporters, "I didn't recognize any door closing."

At the White House meeting, Reagan for the first time personally confirmed he would accept less than the 30 percent reduction he endorsed during his election campaign last year. The new plan already has the support of Dole and at least some members of the group of conservative House Democrats who allied themselves with Reagan to give him victory on a budget-cutting blueprint.

The plan would reduce personal income taxes by 5 percent in each tax bracket on Oct. 1, half the amount and three months later than Reagan had previously asked. That would be followed by 10 percent reductions in each of the next two years.

The Democrats' principal objections have been to the multiyear requirement and to the across-the-board feature. They would prefer a one-year cut weighted to favor those who earn between $20,000 and $50,000 a year.

No arrests were made involving an assault at the labor camp, and a victim of another, simple assault was treated at the hospital.

The book is a non-profit project, and its sole purpose is to preserve the history of the County. It is sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Historical Society and all work is done by volunteers.

Kristi Holmes Accepts Donation

Kristi Holmes was presented with $2595.88 proceeds from a benefit barbeque held in her honor Sunday. Over 600 people were served in the Hereford High School cafeteria during the two hour long lunch.

T.H. Sossaman, W.W. Clevenger, Alvin Holmes, and M.J. Shell donated 1055 pounds of beef which was slaughtered and processed by Earth Locker of Earth.

Caison House and Savage's Hickory Pit barbecued the beef with Hobo's preparing the potato salad and cole slaw.

Nunley's Fruit Market donated the potatoes and churches across the city donated cobbler desserts along with The Thompson's House.

Robert Holmes extends their sincere gratitude to all of these people and to the many others who helped.

The Hereford Elks and Dale Christie were sponsors of the event and encourage other groups and individuals to participate in future fund raising events as there are still many medical expenses for Kristi.

Community Aids Family

Steve Hodges, vice-president of Hereford State Bank, looks on as Kristi Holmes deposits $2595.88 with Madeline Rosson, assistant cashier. The money is proceeds from a benefit barbeque held Sunday and will be used to help defray medical expenses incurred by the Holmes family. Family friends, businesses, and churches donated the food and labor for the barbeque.

4-H Firsthand

Key To Learning

By PENNY CRIBBS
County Extension Agent
4-H projects are the "backbone" of the 4-H program.

Projects help 4-H members grow because, as a member studies and works, he learns by doing.

Skills are learned and developed through practice such as sewing a dress or baking a cake. Publications and other project aids, project meetings, talks with parents, leaders and others all help members learn. But projects are real-life experiences that help 4-Hers learn to make wise decisions.

First a member must decide which project to take. Then he must decide a lot of things as he is doing the project. In gardening that would include such things as the location and what vegetables to plant. These decisions help members feel responsible for their own actions and give them personal satisfaction.

Learning to work with others is another benefit of a project. The work is done in or near the home where the whole family can work and be together. As members work together, they share ideas and help each other. They learn to compare their work with what other club members are doing. In some projects, club members own their projects. When they do, they learn to care for their property and respect other's property.

Most 4-H projects are set up to meet the needs of boys and girls of different ages - beginners, juniors and advanced members. As a member grows older and makes more progress, he has a chance to make more of his own decisions and do work that he could not do at an earlier age.

Besides the development of skills in a certain area, a 4-H project offers the 4-H member fellowship, leadership growth and personal development. The 4-H project, the most important part of the 4-H program, offers 4-H club members the opportunity for head, heart, hand and health development through many avenues of participation in 4-H.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages, regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

At Wits End By ERMA BOMBECK

I am sick of hearing there are no more heroes or heroines left in this world.

They're here all right. We just never take the time to acknowledge and to appreciate them.

There isn't a day goes by that I don't kneel in my kitchen and give thanks to those courageous men and women of vision who have provided me with better living through push buttons.

Thank you, Marie Engle Pennington, who pioneered research that later contributed to frozen foods.

God bless you, Eleanor Roosevelt, who publicly stated that she never gave more than 15 minutes a day to keeping house.

To Inga Marshall goes our undying gratitude for being the first mother to discover that if you took the bean out of a whistle, the child could no longer blow it in your ear and make you sterile.

Our thanks to Ma Bell, who has brought families together through a common sharing of "FINAL NOTICE OF PAYMENT BEFORE YOUR PHONE IS DISCONNECTED."

Let us not overlook Letitia Armstrong, who torched a girde factory in 1962 and is being considered for canonization.

Ah, how soon you forget the legends who brought us self-cleaning ovens, hair coloring, electric brooms, the overhouse and twin beds.

But the man I would like to honor today is Herman Goldstein, a chemist with Sun Chemical Company in South Carolina who, in 1962, made a breakthrough that was to change the lives of women everywhere... when he discovered a formula for permanent press.

You all remember wrinkles. They were handed down from generation to generation like a recipe for Apple Brown Betty. Every Monday every woman in America washed and every Tuesday she ironed. And Wednesday. And Thursday. And Friday.

When we tried of pushing the iron back and forth, we resorted to strategy and cunning. "Are you going to take your coat off today?" Or "Give me a break. Roll up your sleeves just this once!"

Then came Mr. Goldstein and it was goodbye steam iron. Goodbye scorch marks. Goodbye pleated skirt blindness. Goodbye mildew and laundry stored in the refrigerator. Goodbye brown ironing cloths. We were free at last.

I think we should erect a giant ironing board memorial to Mr. Goldstein where every June 2, women would make a pilgrimage and place a cold iron on it, marking the day we really became liberated.

I have said this to only one man before in my life. I love you, Herman Goldstein.

Women's Aglow Announce Next Meeting Date

Due to the absence of several people and beginning of summer, the Hereford Women's Aglow has cancelled its meeting until June 24 at which time they will meet at the high school cafeteria at 7:30 p.m.

This was announced today by Janet Coleman, vice president. Serving as president of the organization is Joan Culp.

Ann Landers Help is Available

DEAR ANN: I've been running away from home since I was 13. I am 17 now and a junior in high school with an 85 average.

I've got something to say about the government-sponsored programs for kids like me. They stink. I have gone to child-abuse counselors and runaway crash pads. I've tried to call the runaway hotline and other switchboards that are supposed to help. They are always busy. It seems everywhere I go people turn their backs on me. I am not wanted at home and have been told to clear out for good.

At 13 I got raped and had no one to talk to. I've tried to commit suicide twice because I find no reason to live. Right now I'm sleeping on roofs, in subways - any place that looks safe.

Please tell parents to give their kids some love and understanding. I only wish I had had it. - Lonely And Unloved

DEAR FRIEND: You've had a very rough time and I'm sorry for you, but sympathy won't do you any good.

Please read the advice in the next letter. If you are serious about getting help, it's there for you. But you must want to get your act together badly enough to work at it. It's easy to blame the government, society and your parents. How about accepting some responsibility for yourself?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please elaborate on your frequent answer, "There are excellent counseling facilities in your area." Tell us, step by step, how to begin. Does one flip through the yellow pages as if looking for a piece of merchandise and hope to get a good one? Does one dial the phone and ask the receptionist, "What do you charge to save a marriage?"

If I were looking for a plumber or a decorator or an accountant, I would ask my friends or call the Better Business Bureau. But I can't say to a neighbor, "By the way, my marriage is lousy. Do you know a good therapist?" I can imagine approaching a stranger. It would be too humiliating.

Our minister is a cold fish. Our doctor is impersonal. Our friends think we have a beautiful marriage. Yet, every day, I die a little and I don't know where to turn.

The knowledge that we need help and getting it are two different things. I suspect a lot of your readers would also like to know how to close that gap. - A Regular Reader

DEAR READER: You CAN'T be a "regular." I have virtually beat this subject to death. Maybe your paper is cutting my column.

Repeatedly I have advised: LOOK IN YOUR PHONE BOOK UNDER MENTAL HEALTH AND COUNSELING. Also, the Salvation Army and the Family Service Assn. In some cities the Catholic Charities, the Jewish Federation, the Lutheran Family Service and the YMCA have excellent counseling services. I have printed the addresses of the American Psychiatric Assn. and the American Psychological Assn. numerous times. (Your library has them.) I have urged readers to talk to their clergymen. If yours is "a cold fish", go to another one. I have suggested numerous self-help groups that do a remarkable job for people who need to talk about their troubles.

Help is available for people who want it. I suspect your major problem is, "What will the neighbors think?" Believe me, the neighbors couldn't care less, dearie.

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex - Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Carol A. Rohrbach Awarded Scholarship

Carol A. Rohrbach, freshman student at West Texas State University, has been awarded a $100 WTSU Student Foundation Scholarship for the 1981-82 academic year. She is the daughter of Edward Rohrbach of Route 4, Hereford.

Rohrbach, a secretarial studies major, is one of 10 WTSU students who received the scholarship through the School of Business Department of Administrative Services.

Money for the scholarships which exist in 17 academic areas, became available when the WTSU Student Foundation donated $13,600 for scholarships following the October "Campaign for WTSU" phone-athon which attracted $38,000 in pledges from alumni and friends of the university.

James P. McDowell Listed On Honor Roll

James P. McDowell was among several University of Oklahoma Norman campus students who earned a 4.0 (A) average and was listed on the 1981 spring honor roll recently.

He is the son of Jim McDowell of 421 Fir and Mrs. W.C. Russell, also of Hereford.

McDowell graduated with his bachelor of business administration in finance. He is currently employed by an oil company in Fort Worth doing office and field work.

American Legion Boys State Convenes On University Campus

Nine hundred and twenty-five Texas high school juniors will converge on Austin and assemble on the Campus of The University of Texas, June 6, 1981, for the 41st session of American Legion Boys State, State Commander, Harry C. Riggs of Plainview announced.

The Boys State delegates will arrive in Austin on Saturday, June 6, and begin registration at 1:30 p.m., in Jester Center. That evening the new cities of Boys State will attend their first orientation in their assigned mythical Boys State city to start the week long program. A program that teaches responsibilities of citizenship in an actual "do it yourself" type workshop from which comes its motto, "Learn by Doing".

The political caucuses and conventions by Boys State are as exciting as any in real life. The secret ballot of the general election instructs the young citizens in the finer arts of being a gracious winner and a good loser as they learn from their experiences of campaigning. The 925 boys will be housed in 21 Boys State Cities with each city further divided into two precincts, one for the Federalist and one for the Nationalist political party. They will run for office or work for appointments as they organize city, county, and state governments. Climax of their effort is the election of a Boys State Governor, a Legislature, Supreme Court, and other state officers.

Jack W. Flynt, II of Lubbock American Legion Post 575 is Chairman-Assistant Director of this year's program.

"Boys State is one of the outstanding youth training programs of the Americanism Commission of The American Legion," Commander Riggs stated. "Not only do the youths learn more about the functions of government but they also see the importance of the role played by each good citizen in discharging his basic citizenship responsibilities in voting. They discover that each individual citizen is an integral part of, and responsible for, the character and success of his government."

On Friday, June 12, the citizens of Boys State will visit the State Capitol and actually sit in chairs of the office to which they were elected and mythically run the state government for a day.

Boys State enrollment for Texas this year brings the total to 24,763 high school juniors who have attended in the past four decades, since 1940, when Boys State was first inaugurated in Texas.

Canada-Back Door For Illegal Aliens

By CHARLES J. HANLEY
Associated Press Writer

While border agents try to curb a tide of aliens crossing the Mexican border, the Canadian frontier is a convenient back door for tens of thousands of other "illegals" sneaking into the United States.

Haitians, Jamaicans and other aliens using Canada as a stepping stone head south hidden in automobile trunks or secret compartments of trucks. They scamper through the border's piney woodlands, or cruise across the lakes and rivers strung along the frontier.

Others, more confident of their "documents," openly drive through crossing points to U.S. airports.

But, unlike the flood from Mexico, it is more of a seepage from Canada.

In 1980, a total of 92,896 undocumented aliens were turned back at the U.S.-Canadian border or were caught trying to sneak across, the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service reports. The figure for the Mexican frontier was approximately 1.6 million.

However, U.S. officials concede privately that thousands must be getting across the northern border, making it a significant second source of the United States' underground population of illegal aliens, which some estimates put as high as 10 million people.

The Canadian border is not yet a major problem, said Vern Jervis, an INS spokesman in Washington.

"But it's logical that there might be an increase" in illegal traffic from the north, he said. "More and more people are anxious to enter the country."

The biggest problem is at the eastern end of the 3,200-mile line between Canada and the lower 48 states.

"We have a steady stream of people coming through illegally," said George Lara, district director for the INS in St. Albans, Vt.

In the East, the "illegals" generally are from Haiti and other poor Caribbean islands. In the West, they include many people from India or Pakistan, and the Philippine Islands.

George Tranberg, a deputy chief patrol agent in the border town of Blaine, Wash., said the flow from British Columbia of fraudulently documented people from India is "steadily on the increase."

The advantage of the northern route is that it can be far easier to enter Canada than the United States, and the lightly patrolled U.S.-Canadian frontier is one of the world's most open borders.

The route is well-known around the world, Haitian officials say it is openly advertised in that country. At her 1978 trial for entering Vermont from Canada, suspected West German terrorist Kristina Berster said she learned of the route from Latin American refugees in Paris.

U.S. authorities say professional smugglers in Canada charge $1,000 or more to sneak an alien into the United States.

Often the smuggler drops off his clients in an isolated woods on the Canadian side, drives through the border crossing alone, then picks them up after they have walked to a remote spot on the U.S. side, agents say.

"Sometimes we detect it by the fact that the driver has extra clothes in the car," said James Harrigan, INS chief at Champlain, N.Y., on the border 30 miles south of Montreal.

Immigration officials said others come by boat across Lake Champlain, the Detroit River and waterways. Many simply head south down the highways.

"Last month we stopped a tractor-trailer hauling wood," Harrigan recalled. "The trailer had a space below it that would accommodate 15 to 20 people. We found a Haitian in there."

"Once they get into the United States, they go live with relatives or friends, get work and settle down."

The "back door" clearly is more attractive than the perilous sea voyage thousands of Haitian "boat people" have risked to reach Florida.

For a $544 round-trip ticket — the two-way air fare "proves" to Canadian immigration officers he is not staying — a Haitian can fly to Montreal and put himself in the hands of a smuggler or of friends who can arrange his illegal passage to America.

Many caught at border posts have been supplied fraudulent documents — passports with visas allowing U.S. entry but doctored with substitute photographs, or papers supposedly proving permanent residence in Canada. Canadian residents generally can cross freely into the United States.

American officials say a recent six-month Canadian "amnesty" for undocumented Haitians in Quebec province — granting them immigrant status — apparently helped stem the flow of Haitian "illegals" from Montreal. Almost 4,000 Haitians came forward under the amnesty, but it has ended and the southbound Haitian tide could rise again.

U.S. officials do not blame Canada for the situation.

Scientists have found that people dream four to six times a night. Each dream lasts between 15 and 20 minutes.

Celebrate 50th Reunion

The Hereford High School class of 1931 gathered at Caison House Restaurant Friday evening to celebrate its 50th reunion. Thirty-six of the original graduates were present and seven deceased counted for. Alumni visited and read letters from those unable to attend during the evening. Emcee for the event was Homer Brumley. Those 1931 alumni present were, left to right, Gladys Jones Benson, Dimmitt; Homer Brumley, Hereford; Glenn Curry Walser, Summerfield; Lois Clayton Ethridge, Hereford; Alberta Davis Higgins, Hereford; Delia Weeden Ethridge, Stratford; E.W. Curtis, Hereford; Pauline Fincher Lady, Hereford; Claudell Siles, Portales, N.M.; Myra Hartman Witherspoon, Albuquerque, N.M.; Ruby Vaughn Anthony, Elida, N.M.; Reavis Kerr, Canyon; Lois Sowell Moore, Hereford; and G.T. Higgins, Powell Butte, Oregon.

Conferees Reject Medical Practice Act Compromise

By LAURA RICHARDSON
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas' Medical Practices Act went "down the drain" when House and Senate negotiators failed to agree on a compromise bill to continue regulating doctors in the state, Speaker Bill Clayton says.

Clayton reported to a boisterous House late Monday night that conferees had rejected the proposed compromise plan. The committee voted 2-8 against the only plan that was presented.

"The Medical Practices Act is down the drain," Clayton said to loud cheers. "We'll see you in a special session."

Intense lobbying efforts marked the proposed revision of the act, which expires Sept. 1. Nurses, optometrists and osteopaths seeking expanded roles in health care, as well as a group — the Health Freedom Council — which favors complete deregulation of medicine, testified at hearings on the bill.

Clayton, at the urging of an optometrist friend, went to bat for the optometrists, and succeeded in amending the House version of the bill to permit them to prescribe and administer diagnostic drugs.

Optometrists are not medical doctors and currently are not allowed to use drugs on their patients. The Texas Medical Association opposes giving them the authority.

The TMA was unhappy with several House changes made in Sen. John Wilson's bill, including the optometrists drug-use provision. Clayton said after House action that it was "impossible" to negotiate with the doctors, but that the committee could compromise on other areas. Breaking legislative precedent, he appointed himself to the conference committee.

Early Monday, he moved to let optometrists use drugs that would dilate a patient's eyes — and drugs to counter any allergic reaction — if the practitioner had 50 hours of classroom instruction on the use of the chemicals. The amendment failed 5-5.

Late Monday night, he revised his proposal, suggesting that optometrists should be allowed to use the drugs after 80 hours of study. That amendment was rejected, 5-5, and a substitute unacceptable to Clayton was adopted.

The substitute would have allowed optometrists to administer the drugs under standing orders of the state Board of Medical Examiners.

Clayton said he had "seen how immovable these people are," and indicated he felt they would set up rules that would be too restrictive.

He then joined in the negative vote on the compromise bill.

The proposed compromise would have picked up several House amendments, including one that stipulated that the Board of Medical Examiners would include three citizens and three osteopaths along with 12 medical doctors.

The bill would have allowed patients who requested copies of their medical records in writing to have the right to get them, in most cases.

Ogg Voted Senate Officer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Sen. Jack Ogg, chosen by his colleagues as their assistant presiding officer, says he is "as much of a definite 'maybe' as you can ever be on a vote."

Other senators joked Monday night about honoring Ogg with a position that is based primarily on seniority, but they stood silently as he made an emotional appearance on the podium.

Ogg, a 47-year-old Houston lawyer, draped his arm around the shoulders of his son, Jon, 11, and said, with tears in his eyes, "I honestly think there is nothing finer than public service."

Afterwards, numerous senators hugged him and shook his hand.

"He was in the House so long he wasn't fit for anything but going to the Senate," said Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur.

Ogg was in the House for four years before being elected to the Senate in 1970.

Sen. John Traeger, D-Seguin, said he remembered Ogg as being a member of a "kind of runty looking crop" of freshmen in the House. "He was the only man in the House who created 72 water districts on one day, and the next year they investigated water districts."

"Jack's been teased a lot," said Traeger, "but we only tease those we like. If he just didn't have a weakness for that little... armadillo."

Ogg sponsored a resolution this session recognizing the armadillo as the state mascot, but it was knocked off a "local and uncontested calendar."

"When I'm governor-for-a-day, I'll have an armadillo proclamation, and nobody can knock it off," said Ogg.

If tradition holds, Ogg also would have an opportunity to serve as governor one day in the absence of the governor and lieutenant governor.

Ogg received most of his legislative publicity in crusading against smoking in public places and for his sponsorship in 1979 of the presidential primary bill that touched off the flight of the Killer Bees.

A sign on his desk in the Senate chamber reads, "Thank you for not smoking at this desk."

Rowan Alexander Earns Degree From WTSU

Rowan Alexander, recently graduated from West Texas State University with a bachelor of business administration degree and a major in computer information systems.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey Alexander of 540 Willow Lane. Beginning

The split-primary bill would have allowed Texans to vote in a presidential preference primary prior to the 1980 May party primaries.

Twelve senators, who became known as Killer Bees, fled late in the legislative session in a successful maneuver to break a quorum and prevent a vote on the bill.

Opponents claimed the bill was designed to promote former Gov. John Connally's presidential bid. They said conservative Democrats could have voted for Connally in the Republican presidential primary and later voted in the Democratic Party primary.

the first week of June, Alexander will be a computer programmer for Standard Oil Company of Indiana in Tulsa, Okla.

A 1977 graduate of Hereford High School, Alexander is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hershey of 508 Ave. J.

Marine Worried About Others

HOUSTON (AP) — The Marine piloting the plane that crashed on the flight deck of the USS Nimitz and killed 14 people was not afraid to die, but often voiced concern for the safety of others, says his brother.

"He told me that many times," Charles H. White III said of his brother, Marine Capt. Steve E. White.

"He said if he did have to die, he didn't want to take other people with him."

Charles White said Friday he was worried that people might blame his brother for the accident aboard the world's largest warship late Tuesday night.

"I know in my heart there's no way he made an error without other contributing factors," he said. He said he blames a crosswind and the pitch and yaw of the ship.

Steve White, 27, had married Air Force Capt. Ann M. White, an operating room nurse, only three weeks before the accident, officials said.

White was stationed at Cherry Point, N.C. His wife is assigned to Patrick Air Force Base in Satellite Beach, Fla.

White will be buried near Texas A&M University, his alma mater. He graduated in 1976 with a degree in mechanical engineering.

"He was an Aggie all the way," said retired Marine Lt.

Col. Art Hickle, of Bryan, one of White's teachers. "The best evidence of that was in his personal papers: he asked to be buried in College Station, Texas A&M was his home."

While at A&M, White commanded a unit of the Corps of Cadets and was a member of the elite Ross Volunteers, which serves as the governor's honor guard.

A memorial service and funeral arrangements are pending with Callaway-Jones Funeral Home of Bryan.

Hicks Re-elected as President

Historical Society Holds Annual Meeting Here

By LAVON NIEMAN

The annual meeting of the Deaf Smith County Historical Society, Inc., was highlighted Saturday afternoon by the re-election of officers, progress reports on the museum and the Black House, and the discussion of the book being prepared by the Project County History committee.

Donald Hicks was elected president of the board for his third term. Also re-elected were Ruth McBride, first vice-president in charge of display; Mary Elizabeth Barnard, first vice-president in charge of historic fashions and textiles; Helen Rose, secretary, and Lois Gilliland, treasurer and executive director.

Two new members were elected to the board. They were Wilhelmina Wimberly and Meredith Wilcox. Mmes. Rose, Barnard and Lavon Nieman were re-elected to the board. Mmes. Wimberly and Wilcox will replace Tom Simons and Lazelle Fowler on the board.

Mrs. Gilliland gave a treasurer's report and stressed that a larger membership is needed. Memberships are down to 257. It was suggested that women's organizations should be contacted and asked for support by membership from their club members. Annual memberships are $2.50 per person, and $250 secures a life membership. Cash contributions are always welcomed. The society is a non-profit organization and all contributions are tax deductible.

Mrs. Gilliland also reported that more volunteer help is needed. She said they can always use ideas, someone to help at the museum and suggestions such as who might build a windmill wheel or paint the caboose that is on display. She reported that the Women's Division of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce has volunteered to provide hostesses at the museum and the Black House during the Town and Country Jubilee set in August.

Andrew Kershen noted at the meeting the Project County Historical committee is really doing an excellent job and he thinks "it will be a fantastic book of which everyone can be proud."

Workers on this project includes Mrs. Grant Hanna, chairman, Sue Coleman, Marjorie Mehler, Kathryn Ruga, Major Schroeter, Donald Hicks, Harold Close, Garth Thomas, W.J. Albracht, Walter Seed, Juanita Owen, Violet Reinauer, Marian Kreig, Nelda Guy Lawrence, Jenny Butler, Dorothy Conkright and James W. Witherspoon.

Mrs. Mehler gave a report from the Project County History committee's progress. So far there have been 725 new stories on families turned in to the committee. They have updated 65 stories and are using 200 stories already written in previous history books.

She said they have only sold about 500 books and need to sell at least 2,000. The books sell for $35 plus tax and must be ordered and paid for before the book goes to press.

Special pages are now being sold for organizations and businesses. Deadline for this phase of the book is tentatively set for September.

Mrs. Mehler said it is still not too late for families to turn in their history. She noted that only three Spanish families have submitted family histories and the committee is hoping that more will respond. The family history, along with one picture, is free. A form may be obtained at the Black House, and the family is asked to write in the information. The committee will write the story for the family. Deadline for these stories has also been set for September.

She also stressed that these family histories are not just for those who have lived in Deaf Smith County for many, many years. They are also wanting stories on newcomers to the county.

Mrs. Gilliland showed those in attendance a book of some of the things that will be on display on a touring exhibit sponsored by the Texas Women - A Celebration of History. The Deaf Smith County Museum submitted two things to be shown and both were chosen to be featured in the colorful book. They are a "Crazy Quilt" made in 1905 by Mrs. George A. Stambaugh and a black beaded bag that belonged to Mrs. S.H. Easley. The touring exhibit will come to Canyon during the summer of 1982.

Mrs. McBride reported that she had been in search of a silver punch bowl to be used at the Black House to replace crystal bowls which seem to get broken so easily. She was happy to report that Cowan Jewellers sold the society one at their cost.

The board of directors voted unanimously to send a letter of appreciation to the First National Bank commending its board of directors for all its support over the many years it has been supporting the society. A letter will also go to the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court for all its support. "It's people like these that make all this possible," was Hicks comment.

Mrs. Rose, secretary, noted this year marks the beginning of the society's 15th year. "Those of us who have been privileged to work closely and first hand with the museum collections and the E.B. Black House want to reiterate our thanks to all members and friends for their encouragement, enthusiasm, and support during this time.

"No project of this kind - regardless of the labors of love extended - could grow to become a guardian of the past and a voice of history without the support which has allowed us to become a necessary and vital part of life here."

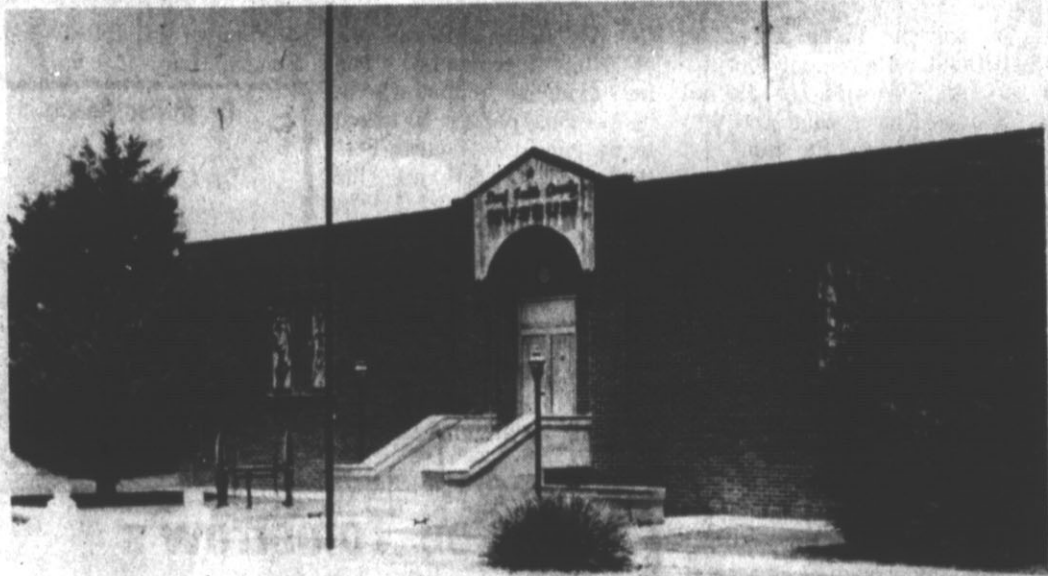

Mrs. Rose said the board also wanted to offer special

Q. Less than two months ago, I completely overhauled the differential on my 1978 Bronco. Now I have a brand new noise coming from the rear. The tires are all right. What's my next move?

A. Make a test drive and perform the following tests: Change the transmission lever from one speed range to another. If the noise appears in one and not in the other, it is coming from the transmission. Note the road speed at which the noise is loudest. Stop the car and race the engine until it's at the speed the noise was heard. If the noise is present, it's caused by the engine or exhaust; or as you drive, lightly apply the brakes while holding the car speed steady. If the noise varies in pitch, you need to replace a wheel or axle shaft bearing.

Needs to be Rich, Skillful, Motivated

Will Woman Ever Win Indy 500 Speedway?

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

Will a woman ever win the Indianapolis 500 speedway race?

It's possible, says Janet Guthrie, but it would have to be a combination of Lella Lombardi and Christina Onassis.

"First of all, you have to be awfully rich or have an awfully rich sponsor," insists the first and only woman to challenge the guys at 200 miles per hour speeds on the old asphalt oval at Indy.

"I think if any woman ever does, it probably would be an European — maybe Lella Lombardi, the Italian Grand Prix racer. Who knows? Somebody some day might risk backing her."

"Otherwise, it would have to be somebody able to finance themselves. Like Josele Garza, the rookie in this year's Indy race. His mom is one of the richest women in Mexico. To get a car ready and race it costs up to $1.5 million. I would like to try it on $750,000. But Goodness knows, I don't have that kind of money."

Onassis, daughter of the late Greek tycoon, has the required resources but not the skills or the desire.

Guthrie is overflowing with the latter but she hasn't donned a racing helmet since a stock car race at Pocono (Pa.) a year ago when her car broke down early. She is like a worm on a hot stove, anxious to return to the only sport that can send her into an orbit of exhilaration.

She gathered with a number of other well-known athletes Monday for the formal opening of the Women's Sports Hall of Fame. She was one of the first inductees last year along with Billie Jean King, Wilma Rudolph and such pioneers as Babe Didrikson Zaharias, Eleanor Holm, Patty Berg, Althea Gibson, Gertrude Ederle and Amelia Earhart.

To a less motivated individual, that would be reward enough but not for Janet, who is determined to prove that she has the nerves, skill and intense concentration needed to win the most demanding and most celebrated automobile race in the world.

"They keep saying a woman can't do it, that a woman shouldn't even be in the race," Guthrie said. "How do they know until they give someone a fair chance?"

Combating overwhelming odds in 1977, Guthrie qualified by setting the fastest time on the first day and surmounting a crash to lead the time trials the second week-end.

Critics had to swallow crow and the late Tony Hulman had to improvise an ancient tradition when he intoned: "In company of the first lady to start the Indianapolis 500, gentlemen, start your engines!"

Janet's car blew a cylinder head after 10 laps, but she felt she had proved herself and that future sponsorship would be instantaneous. Not so. Sponsors avoided her as if she were contagious. So, in frustration, she assembled her own team at the last minute and finished ninth, silencing many of her detractors.

"For the first time in 20 years I am without sponsorship. I am without competition," she said. "I feel short."

"I don't race for fame or the money, or to prove anything. It's the sensation I get from racing — the difficulty, the challenge, the exhilaration which only a racer can explain."

Dodger Rookie Wins; Reds Defeat Giants, 8-5

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

It may have been a screwball notion, but Fernando Valenzuela decided it was the perfect time to try the fastball.

Noted for his wicked scroogie, the 20-year-old Los Angeles Dodger left-hander finally won his ninth game Monday night after three unsuccessful tries. He scattered seven hits, struck out 11 and beat the Atlanta Braves 5-2 with his eighth complete game of the year.

After the game, he said his fastball was his best pitch, at least in the middle innings while he still had a shutout going.

"My fastball was faster," he said through his interpreter. "I was using it more in the middle of the game and using my screwball later in the game."

In other National League games, Cincinnati downed San Francisco 9-5, St. Louis beat Montreal 4-2 and Philadelphia edged the New York Mets 5-4.

Valenzuela carried a two-hit shutout into the seventh inning. Dale Murphy led off the Atlanta seventh with a double and scored ahead of Chris Chambliss' single. Chambliss later scored on a single by pinch hitter Bill Nahorodny, making the score 3-2.

Tommy Boggs, 1-8, lost his seventh straight game, giving up three runs on four hits in the first six innings.

Reds 8, Giants 5
Dave Concepcion's run-scoring double ignited a four-run in the ninth inning rally that sent the Reds to victory over San Francisco. Dave Collins led off the ninth with a walk off losing reliever Greg Minton, and Ken Griffey singled him to third. Concepcion drove in Collins with a bloop double, and George Foster was walked to load the bases.

Gary Lavelle relieved Minton and struck out pinch-hitter Mike Vail, but Ray Knight's single drove in another run. Dan Drissien capped the rally with a two-run double.

Tom Hume, 3-2, pitched two innings of hitless relief for the victory. Foster had a two-run homer for Cincinnati in the first inning, giving him the NL lead with 39 RBIs.

Cardinals 4, Expos 2
Garry Templeton denied reports he wanted out of St. Louis, then drove in a pair of runs and scored another to back Cardinals rookie John Martin to his second victory of the season.

Martin, a left-hander, went 72-3 innings, giving up one run on four hits before he left in favor of Bruce Sutter. Sutter earned his ninth save despite throwing a home-run pitch to Gary Carter in the ninth.

Phillies 5, Mets 4
Philadelphia rallied for two runs in the ninth inning, one on Garry Maddox's leadoff homer, to beat the Mets. Maddox's homer, his second of the year, tied the score 4-4 off reliever Neil Allen, and pinch-hitter George Vukovich added a single that drove in the winning run.

The victory went to left-hander Sparky Lyle, who tossed two innings of one-run relief, and Tug McGraw notched his fifth save with one inning of no-hit relief.

Dave Kingman had given the Mets a 4-3 lead when he opened the eighth inning with a solo homer, his 12th and sixth in seven games.

PHIL GARNETT

Garnett On NAIA Team

Phil Garnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lathan Garnett of Hereford, is one of a five-man team from Harding University, Searcy, Arkansas, traveling to Huntsville, Texas for the NAIA national golf tournament June 2-5. The team qualified for the event by taking the 1981 Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference and NAIA District 17 titles.

Garnett began college on a baseball scholarship, but switched to golf his sophomore year. The NAIA tournament will be last of his college career.

Garnett recently graduated cum laude from Harding with a degree in accounting, and will attend Louisiana Tech with a full assistantship. He attended high school in West Monroe, Louisiana.

Kids, Inc. Baseball

After four weeks of play the Yankees and Braves lead their respective leagues in local T-Ball baseball action. The Yankees top the American League standings with a 4-1 mark, while the Braves top the National League with a 5-0 record.

Following the Yankees in the American League are the Cardinals and Giants with 2-3 marks, while the Rangers stand at 1-3. The White Sox (1-4) and Orioles (0-5) round out the league.

The Angels are just a half-game behind the league-leading Braves with a 4-0 record, while the Astros are in third place with a 3-1 mark. The Pirates, at 4-2, are in fourth place, followed by the Mets (3-3) and Dodgers (0-4).

Yankees, Royals Win

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

A famous American Yogi once said of pennant races, "You're never out of it until you're out of it." Despite a horrible start, the defending American League champion Kansas City Royals aren't out of it. They're not exactly in it, either, but they seem to be getting there.

With a come-from-behind 3-2 victory over the Seattle Mariners Monday night, the fifth-place Royals, who got off to the worst start in their history, have won five of their last six games and are 10 games out of first place in the AL West after trailing by 13½ less than a week ago.

"We've been coming back, and to me that's the sign of a ballclub coming to life," said Manager Jim Frey. "I think the troops are getting ready to do their thing."

In the only other AL games, the New York Yankees defeated the Cleveland Indians 5-3, the Detroit Tigers edged the Milwaukee Brewers 4-3 in 12 innings and the California Angels blanked the Toronto Blue Jays 3-0.

Frey said a doubleheader loss in Seattle last Monday may have been the point where the Royals bottomed out.

Off to a slow start, like most of the Royals, and hampered by nagging injuries, George Brett has been up around the .300 mark for a while now. He greeted Seattle reliever Shane Rawley with an RBI single in the eighth inning Monday night to give the Royals the triumph. Willie Wilson and Amos Otis singled off Larry Andersen to start the eighth before Rawley came in to serve up Brett's hit.

Brett also drove in Kansas City's first run with a sixth-inning triple after the Mariners took a 2-0 lead. The Royals tied it in the seventh on Frank White's single and Clint Hurdle's triple.

Yankees 5, Indians 3
Bucky Dent snapped a 2-2 tie with a fourth-inning homer and Dave Winfield homered in the fifth, helping Doug Bird push his personal major league regular-season winning streak to 11 games. The streak was compiled with three teams and in both leagues and, if you count a 6-0 log with the Yankees Columbus, Ohio, farm team in 1980, Bird has won 17 regular-season games in a row.

Tigers 4, Brewers 3
Lynn Jones' 12th-inning single scored pinch runner Mick Kelleher with the winning run. Champ Summers led off with a pinch single and Kelleher, running for him, went to second when Milwaukee pitcher Reggie Cleveland uncorked a wild pitch. Kelleher moved to third on Lou Whitaker's sacrifice bunt and scored on Jones' single, the second day in a row he delivered the winning hit.

Angels 3, Blue Jays 0
Ken Forsch outdueled Toronto's Dave Stieb with a three-hitter and Butch Hobson and Dan Ford hit solo home runs in the fifth and ninth innings, respectively. Forsch, 7-3, limited Toronto to singles by Barry Bonnell in the first inning, Damaso Garcia in the fifth and Alfredo Griffin in the eighth in hurling his third shutout of the season and tying Oakland's Mike Norris, Boston's Mark Clear and Detroit's Jaak Morris for the most wins in the AL.

Hereford's Mays Hoping To be 3-Time All-American

Half-miler James Mays will attempt to become the first three-time All-American ever at Texas Tech when the Hereford, Tex. senior competes in the NCAA Track and Field Championships Thursday through Saturday at Baton Rouge, La.

Texas Tech will be junior 400-meter intermediate hurdler Greg Rolle. Both runners will face competition in the Thursday prelims, Friday semifinals and Saturday finals.

Mays gained All-American status at last year's NCAA meet when he finished fourth with a 1:46.57. He moved up a notch in this spring's NCAA Indoor Meet with a third-place showing.

"James is running better this year than he did at this time last year," said Tech coach Corky Oglesby. "He has bettered the NCAA qualifying standard (1:48.47) in seven of his last eight races and he had done it only once going into last year's NCAA meet."

The three runners who finished ahead of Mays in last year's NCAA final have used up their eligibility, but that does not mean he will go into the meet the favorite in the 800 meters. SMU's Sammy Koskei has defeated Mays in all four meetings this year, including first-place finishes in the NCAA Indoor and the Southwest Conference Championships.

Mays warned up for the NCAA last weekend when he finished fourth in the Jumbo Elliott Invitational at Villanova, PA with a time of 1:46.92. He posted his career-best time May 16 in the SWC meet (1:46.41) but it was only good enough for a third-place finish.

Rolle is something of a surprise entrant in the NCAA. He didn't reach the qualifying standard of 51.34 until May 22 when he finished second in the University of Texas Invitational in Austin with 51.13.

"Running in the NCAA will be good experience for Greg going into next year," Oglesby said. "He is reaching a peak now and he could do well."

The NCAA meet will be the third outdoor event Mays has competed in and it will be his last in a Red Raider uniform.

Martin's Penalty Pleases Nobody

NEW YORK (AP) — American League President Lee MacPhail's decision to suspend Billy Martin one week for bumping umpire Terry Cooney pleased nobody.

Martin thinks it's too hard and the umpires think it's too soft.

Martin, the Oakland manager, planned to appeal, which would allow him to appear in uniform tonight in Chicago when the A's meet the White Sox. His lawyer, Ed Sapir, said Monday he had appealed the suspension, although the American League office had not received an notification by Monday night.

"I have made an appeal with Mr. MacPhail," said Sapir from New Orleans. "He will make the hearing date. Up 'til now, Billy Martin's side has not been heard from."

Martin, punished for bumping Cooney with his chest during a game in Toronto Friday night, told WBBM-TV in Chicago Tuesday: "If I hit him that hard, then I'm in the wrong business." He said he would be managing tonight and accused Cooney of triggering the incident by "baiting him."

Richie Phillips, counsel to the Major League Umpires Association, said he would probably decide today whether to start a civil action against Martin and-or ask Canadian officials to begin criminal proceedings against him.

Phillips says he's not after Martin's scalp; he just wants to make sure that nobody declares open season on the umpires and makes them the scapegoats for frustrations over the threatened players' strike and that old bottom-line syndrome — losing.

That's why Phillips is concerned that the punishment handed down Monday by MacPhail is too lenient to deter others from using umpires as a verbal and physical punching bag.

"I don't think a seven-day suspension and a $1,000 fine is a sufficient deterrent," Phillips said. "I don't think it's a sufficient penalty to deter other managers who are of this ilk."

Phillips named, as an example, Baltimore's Earl Weaver, who was suspended for three games and fined an undisclosed amount last season by MacPhail for brushing umpire Rich Garcia's eye with his cap.

Martin, speaking Saturday to Howard Cosell on ABC, said Cooney's umpiring crew was "so up-tight from Steinbrenner's comments, they came in here and took it out on us." Martin said there was a "double-standard" in punishing him but not Steinbrenner.
