

Gov. Clements Lists 'Must Issues'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says the July 13 special legislative session may not be as short as some had hoped.

Clements told a news conference Thursday that the five subjects he listed in his all of the session did not mean that would be all he wanted out of the 30-day meeting.

In a special session, the governor has full power to say when the Legislature will meet and what subjects it will discuss.

"I strongly support the gasohol bill (for temporary exemption from the state motor fuel tax) but whether it gets into the special session is an open question," he told the news conference. "I haven't decided yet, but I have not changed my mind about supporting it."

Clements said the three "must" issues of the special session are:

- Abolishment of the state property tax. "That's my No. 1 priority," he said.

- Congressional redistricting.
- Passage of the Medical Practices Act. The Texas Medical Examiners Board, which licenses all Texas doctors and physicians, will go out of business Sept. 1 unless the act is continued.

"The other two items are certainly needed," he said.

Also on the agenda for the summer session are creation of a water trust fund from any state surpluses and a "tune up" revision of the 1979 property tax revision act.

He said the regular session of the 1981 Legislature passed 901 bills and he has not acted on 478 of them. The deadline for his signing or vetoing them is June 21.

On other subjects, Clements said:

- He was "terribly disappointed" that West Texas rancher Robert Anderson, also chairman of the board of ARCO, had backed out of a deal to trade a large bloc of land for a similar amount owned by the University of Texas. "I am absolutely convinced the state has lost a wonderful opportunity for the future generations of this state," he said of the proposed wilderness area near Big Bend National Park. He said he doubted if Anderson would consider any more negotiations because he and his family were "offended" by reports that Anderson would benefit from the deal.

Clements said he would veto any bill calling for the state to buy the ranch.

- He was confident the recent meeting of President Ronald Reagan and Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo strengthened the lines of communication between Mexico and Texas.

- He would veto a bill changing the dates of local elections in Houston. "The others I have not decided," he said about other pending bills.

Cable Service Interrupted

'Tornado' Cloud Spotted

By BOB NIGH
 MANAGING EDITOR

The Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Office reported a possible tornado near the Farmer's Corner area north of Hereford Thursday night as a massive thunderstorm moved across the area dumping more than two inches of rain in the western section of the county and providing an awesome display of lightning and thunder.

Sheriff's deputies Luis Escobedo and Leo Neal spotted a funnel cloud at 9:15 a.m. Thursday about 10 miles west of Farmer's Corner, but reported the cloud dissipated in "about three minutes."

While the tornado didn't materialize, weather watchers were kept busy until around midnight as the storm tracked its way across the county. A second storm, moving into the area along the route of Highway 60 apparently passed to the south of town.

Local cablevision service was interrupted for some eight hours during the night after lightning struck near the tower site northeast of the city. Cablevision manager Lloyd Ames reported this morning that all service problems that he knew of had been remedied. Ames said service to local customers was resumed at 7:25 a.m. today.

Service was interrupted around 11:15 p.m. Thursday when lightning struck near the tower. Ames said several fuses were blown at the tower, causing the interruption in service. All channels with the exception of the two locally-produced channels were knocked off the air.

Storm violence raged across the rest of the Panhandle as well last night, with a tornado confirmed six miles west of Panhandle. Heavy rain, hail, and gusts of wind up to 70 miles per hour were reported in downtown Amarillo. The thunderstorm activity that spawned the violent weather had dissipated early today into a few scattered areas of light rain.

Downstate, the Austin area was again hit by a deluge as accumulations of up to eight inches were reported in Central Texas. Floodwaters drove 125 Austinites from their homes as fire department personnel evacuated creek-bank homes in the state capitol, where 12 people lost their lives in a Memorial Day flood.

The city of Hereford officially recorded .24 inches of rain last night, while Eldred Brown in the Bootleg Corner area reported a whopping 2.30 inches at his farm. Other reports included 1.18 inches at Dimmitt, .10 inches at Easter Fertilizer, several reports of half-an-inch in the Walcott area, .80 near Yucca Hills, and 1.60 inches at the Eldon Owens farm southeast of Hereford.

The forecast for today called for partly cloudy conditions through tonight, becoming fair Saturday. Widely-scattered thunderstorms were possible again tonight. Highs were expected to be in the 90s today, with lows in the high 60s tonight.

'Bronco Billy'

Cub Scouts enthusiastically attempt to straddle the bucking barrel located at Veteran's Park during the second annual Camp Akela. The camp, which has been underway for three days will close tonight with a ceremony and camp fire. Other activities available for the boys were crafts, archery, and nature trails. The camp is located at Veteran's Park. Pat Sinnacher is camp director, and Lynn Gowdy program director.

Reagan 'Digs in Heels' On Tax-Cut Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, rejecting Democratic complaints that his tax-cut plan does too little for low-income Americans, is slamming the door on further compromise. "I've dug in my heels," he says.

The statement, relayed by a press aide, apparently assured an all-out battle when a tax-cut bill reaches the full House later this year.

"I can't retreat from the 25 percent, across-the-board" cut in personal tax rates, Reagan told a group of labor leaders Thursday at the White House.

Democrats on the House Ways and Means Committee, meanwhile, were telling one of the president's chief tax advisers that the across-the-board concept — meaning the same rate cuts for rich and poor — is not acceptable.

Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., the committee chairman, led the charge.

He told John E. Chapoton, assistant treasury secretary for tax policy, that the administration's bill is faulty because it does not increase the earned-income credit, which benefits working families with incomes less than $10,000, or the standard deduction, which helps mainly those making less than $20,000.

As a result, Rostenkowski said, "people in those brackets will be paying more tax" even if Reagan's tax cut is approved.

Rep. Donald J. Pease, D-Ohio, cited estimates by Treasury Department and congressional experts in an effort to prove that low-income families will lose under the president's plan.

If Reagan's bill is enacted, Pease said, inflation and higher Social Security taxes will force an average taxpayer earning between $5,000 and $10,000 to pay $42 more in federal taxes in 1982 than in 1981. A person at the $20,000 level would end up with a $103 tax cut; the $200,000-a-year person would get a $20,300 reduction.

The plight of the under-$5,000 worker in that example is exaggerated (See RELIEF, Page 2)

On Energy, Environment

Solons Hit Some, Miss Some During Session

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Energy and the environment were key issues of the recently adjourned Texas Legislature, in which lawmakers adopted a "model" law to regulate low-level nuclear waste but rejected a gasohol proposal that supporters claim could be an answer to future energy problems.

The recent Legislature also promoted solar energy and energy conservation, appropriated money to clean up hazardous chemical wastes and voted to require the state to prepare a plan for "energy emergencies."

It also voted to impose heavy penalties on anyone stealing oil or gas field equipment and refused once again to raise state severance taxes on crude oil and natural gas.

The radioactive waste bill authorizes the State Health Department to buy land for disposal sites and to regulate activities of firms it licenses to operate them. Operators would pay into a special fund to finance "perpetual care" of all abandoned sites.

Nuclear medicine accounts for almost two-thirds of the 2,163 cubic meters of nuclear waste generated in Texas each year, and some hospitals were storing radioactive waste in barrels in their hallways because out-of-state disposal sites were refusing to handle more Texas radioactive waste.

Violators of the new law could be fined up to $100,000 a day.

"This was our big effort, and the Sierra Club views the bill as model legislation, possibly the best of its kind in the nation for regulating low-level radioactive waste," said Rick Lowerre of the club's Lone Star Chapter.

Another proposal created a new state agency — the Texas Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority — to locate and operate a burial site or contract with a private company to run it.

"The club is not excited about this (bill), because it opens the way for a possible disposal site in Texas," said Lowerre. "But if there is a disposal site in Texas, it will be well regulated."

A third measure would strengthen the health department's regulation of wastes (See ISSUES, Page 2)

County History Progress Noted

A report meeting for all area representatives, committee members and workers on Project County History was held Thursday afternoon at the E.B. Black Historical House.

Mrs. Marge Mehlberg gave the financial report noting that about 500 books have been sold. Mrs. Kathryn Ruga reported that response from clubs, organizations and businesses has been good.

Twenty-four organizations have reserved space in the book and 38 businesses have reserved space for their histories, according to Mrs. Ruga.

"The work of contacting these groups is expected to continue thru the summer. There have been over 20 memorial or tribute spaces purchased," she reported.

Mrs. Sue Coleman reported that 711 new family stories have been submitted and 64 stories have been updated from an earlier history book on pioneer families.

The general history section of the book was discussed and suggestions made regarding material needed in this section prior to adjourning.

As of next week, the Project County History office will change to summer hours 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. The office will still remain open Tuesday through Friday.

Those in attendance were Troyce Hanna, chairman; Kathryn Ruga, co-chairman; Marge Mehlberg, book

Heart Attack Fells Swayze

Jay Swayze, president of Geobuilding Systems, and a pioneer in underground housing, is reportedly in critical condition in High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo after suffering an apparent heart attack yesterday.

Swayze was driving on Country Club Road in front of Hereford Country Club Thursday when he collapsed. Craig Koehn, a passenger in the car and an employee of Swayze's said he and Swayze were on their way to a lumber company.

Koehn said he ran to some houses across from the Country Club for help but he could get no response. Koehn then ran to the country club. Pat Higgins, country club employee, administered Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation until an ambulance arrived.

One of the graduation dresses on display this summer at the Deaf Smith County Museum is that of Jennie Carter Buckner. Mrs. Buckner graduated from Hereford High School in 1914, wearing a dress she had made on a treadle sewing machine.

The school board that year sponsored a contest with a prize for the least expensive graduation dress. The prize was five dollars and was shared by Mrs. Buckner and another girl as they were the only two to enter the contest.

"All the girls wore white dresses for graduation," she remembers, "this was before they had caps and gowns."

The material for Mrs. Buckner's dress cost 17 cents a yard and the total cost of the dress was 95 cents. Her aunt, Jennie Thompson made the crochet lace for the dress. The other girls' dress cost $3.15.

With the $2.50 she won,

Mrs. Buckner treated the other 12 members of her graduating class to ice cream at the drug store.

From a yellowed graduation announcement she has can be read the class motto "The elevator to success is not running, take the stairs."

The names on the announcement are: Madelaine Barnett, Sloan Baker, Mary Paulina Bourn, Jennie Love Carter, Jonnie Hellen Estes, Benjamin Funk, Hal B. Fullerton, Anna Lavina Garrison, Gladys Opal Ivy, J. Calvin Lucas, Louise Oberthier, Edward P. Price, and Bessie Irene Snyder.

Mrs. Buckner said that she entered the dress contest because she had just been here for two years and was not eligible for Valedictorian or any other honor, and she "figured it would be something."

Born in Gainesville, she lived in Marietta Indian territory until she was eight years old when her family moved to Altus, Oklahoma.

They lived in Altus until July of 1912 when they moved to Hereford. She was then 16 years old.

She married J.J. Buckner on his birthday, July 4, 1915. They had five children; Irene was the first. She is Mrs. J.K. Salser and lives in Lubbock; Barbara is now Mrs. Ford and lives in New Orleans; Joe Edgar Buckner and his family live in San Antonio; Jessie Ann, who is now Mrs. W.C. Davis, resides in Hereford, and the youngest is Nan, who is Mrs. Lavorn Richeson and lives in Gainesville.

Mrs. Buckner is proud of her "international family," which includes one daughter-in-law a native of Finland, some of her 14 grandchildren born in England, and some of her 14 great grandchildren born in Colombia, South America.

Her hobbies include crochet and tatting which is the making of handmade lace.

Mrs. Buckner remembers the winter of 1917-18 when the city began paving the brick streets of Hereford. She says they began by paving the main streets leading to the schools.

She also remembers the year 1927 fondly because that is when they got city water and had their first bathroom. "I used to stand at the door and wish it was Saturday," she laughs.

One of the most exceptional attributes of Mrs. Buckner is her neighborliness. She remembers in the spring of 1957 she was fixing lunch for her husband when a neighbor came over to ask if she could go down in the basement of the Buckner home to wait out a tornado warning she had heard about on the radio.

This was the beginning of what Mrs. Buckner refers to as her "basement parties." The parties have continued over the years as she extends her hospitality to new friends and neighbors. "When a new neighbor moves in I call them and tell them they are

Polls Show

Begin Ahead

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin has gained a comfortable lead over the Labor Party, according to two opinion polls published today.

The soundings were conducted for the dailies Jerusalem Post and Haaretz before Israeli warplanes bombed the Iraqi nuclear reactor. The popularity of that operation is expected to boost Begin's ratings in the next round of public opinion polling.

The Modi'in Ezrahi Applied Research Center projected 46 seats for Begin's Likud bloc and 40 for Labor in the 120-seat Parliament following June 30 national elections.

The gap had widened from 45-42 in late May, the poll found. Modi'in Ezrahi said the findings were bolstered by setting up a mock ballot booth and asking each of the 1,217 Israelis polled to cast their vote. This lowered the undecided vote from 22.5 percent to 14.5 percent, it said.

A separate poll by Public Opinion Research of Israel gave Likud a 43-37 lead over Labor.

The poll of late May was the first in two years to give Begin the lead. At one point last year Likud was trailing so badly that polls predicted Labor would win the first outright majority in Parliament in Israel's 33-year history.

The turnaround was attributed to lackluster campaigning by Labor, generous tax cuts by Likud and a burst of foreign policy combativeness on Begin's part.

State Sen. Bill Meier

Switches To GOP

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Sen. Bill Meier of Euless has switched his allegiance from the Democratic to the Republican Party and says he'll campaign for lieutenant governor or Congress next year if he decides to run for office.

Meier, who served as state chairman last year for Democrats and Independents for Reagan and Bush, also has worked closely on legislative proposals with Republican Gov. Bill Clements.

"I will not seek another term in the state Senate," Meier said Thursday at a Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce gathering. "If I seek office it will be either lieutenant governor or Congress."

"The Democratic leadership in this state is attuned to national goals of the party and I am convinced its thinking no longer represents the mainstream of thought of the majority of the people across Texas," Meier said in explaining his party crossover.

Seven May

Have Died

MOSCOW (AP) — At least seven people may have died in a smoky fire in a Moscow subway station Wednesday evening, Western sources said today.

Soviet officials refused comment, but the sources, quoting Western and Soviet witnesses, said authorities removed what appeared to be seven bodies from the station after crowds of onlookers left the scene early Thursday.

There were also unofficial reports of injuries and of many people overcome by smoke inhalation.

More than 20 pieces of firefighting apparatus converged on the Oktyabrskaya station in south-central Moscow at about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday and heavy smoke poured from one of the station's entrances. Two major subway lines serve the station.

Policemen at the scene told a Western reporter at the time that there had been no injuries.

The Oktyabrskaya station is at the corner of two major avenues and normally has heavy traffic in the evening hours.

The fire was the first major accident in the subway to become publicly known since a train derailed in August 1979 on a section of open track, sending four persons to the hospital and injuring several others.

In January 1977, an explosion ripped through a subway car in the northeastern section of Moscow. A 33-year-old Armenian and two unidentified accomplices were sentenced to death and executed on charges they set the blast.

In October 1974, an unspecified number of people were injured in an electrical fire in the subway.

The Moscow system has 107 stations in its network, which covers 120 miles. It carries up to 8 million people daily.

Fish Fry Fizzles After

Fish Sizzle Then Fizzle

BORGER, Texas (AP) — The 18th Annual Lake Meredith World's Largest Fish Fry has been cancelled — again.

The mammoth picnic, which normally features thousands of people eating tons of fish with traditional trimmings, had been set for Saturday, but the Borger Chamber of Commerce said Thursday they couldn't find enough finny fare to go around. The affair will be held later in the summer, a spokesman said.

The fry had originally been scheduled for June 6. It was postponed when the truck loaded with 3,600 pounds of frozen cod crashed into a train three miles away from the site. The fish were prematurely "super-fried," a fire department spokesman said.

Nixon Moving To Suburbs

SADDLE RIVER, N.J. (AP) — After a year in bustling Manhattan, former President Richard M. Nixon and his wife are moving to the suburbs.

An aide says the Nixons are buying a $1 million house on a quiet cul-de-sac in this small Bergen County community, which has the highest per capita income in the state and only one welfare recipient.

And the new neighbors apparently are tickled about the prospect of living near the former president.

"He'll be most welcome in Saddle River," said Mayor Duncan H. Cameron, a retired stockbroker. "We've never had a Democrat serve as mayor or councilman since the beginning of time."

Nixon aide Nicholas Ruwe said Thursday the Nixons are moving to a sprawling seven-bedroom, contemporary house now owned by John Alford, also a retired stockbroker. The two-story, wood-trimmed house with a circular drive is near a peach orchard and surrounded by woodland.

Although Ruwe declined to give the purchase price, he said the house had been offered for $1.2 million.

Among its features are three built-in stereo systems, a 900-square-foot swimming pool, a tennis court and a 1,000-bottle wine cellar.

The closing of the sale is scheduled for late July, when Ruwe said he expects the Nixons to move from their $750,000 Manhattan townhouse where the Nixons have lived a little longer than a year probably will be sold, Ruwe added.

"The Nixons are not tired of New York, they loved that house," said Ruwe. "But a lot of their life right now is their grandchildren.

The threat of a filibuster on the final day of the session June 1 blocked a bill to exempt gasoline from the nickel-a-gallon motor fuels tax until 1987. Gov. Bill Clements was asked to allow legislators to consider the bill in the upcoming special session, but the governor said the July 13 session would be limited to five subjects and would not include gasoline.

leader of America, a leader in production of agricultural products with a large motor fuel market is ideally suited for a gasohol industry. Not to have passed this bill is unthinkable," said Guy Austin, chairman of High Plains Grain Products Cooperative of Muleshoe.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown said "14 gasohol facilities are intended or already started, but I don't believe the industry will get off the ground unless it has an incentive."

"Gasohol would not only be good for farmers," said Brown. "We need to have it as a standby in the event of a national emergency."

ing Social Security taxes in 1982 and 1983. But when the program is fully effective in 1984, he said, most Americans at all income levels would get enough of a tax cut to offset those factors.

"I wonder how in good conscience you can ask this committee to vote for... a tax cut" that so favors the wealthy, Pease said.

Such a measure is necessary, Chapoton said, to increase saving and investment and put the economy on a path of stable growth.

While people earning more than $30,000 a year would get about 62 percent of the tax cuts under Reagan's program, Chapoton said, those people — who now pay 63 percent of the taxes — are most likely to invest their tax cut in ways that would benefit the economy.

bill that would authorize the agriculture department to regulate small-scale gasohol production.

Two bills promoting development of solar energy cleared the Legislature. They commit the state to paying up to 20 percent of the cost of constructing experimental "solar repowering" and solar heating facilities.

The state was instructed in planning new buildings to determine whether it would be feasible to use solar energy devices. If money is available, state buildings in the Capitol complex should be renovated to include "energy conservation measures," the Legislature said.

Legislators eliminated the $5 million ceiling on the Energy Development Fund.

Arab League Meets

In Emergency Session

Foreign ministers or other representatives of the 21 Arab League members met in emergency session Thursday in the Iraqi capital. They adopted 11 resolutions charting a campaign of diplomatic pressure aimed at winning U.N. sanctions that would force a halt to U.S. military and political assistance to Israel.

"What we are asking for is a complete stoppage of arms to Israel unless they abide by the rules and regulations of the United Nations," said Bahrain's Foreign Minister Mohammed Bin Mubarak.

The meeting delegated Arab League Secretary-general Chedli Klibi of Tunisia, Kuwaiti Foreign Minister Sabah al Ahmed al Jaber and Algerian Information Minister Boualem Dousayeh to represent the league before the Security Council.

Iraqi Foreign Minister Saadoun Hammadi was to open the council debate with his government's charge of Israeli aggression. Israeli Ambassador Yehuda Z. Blum was to defend his government's action.

In a preview of what the Arabs are expected to seek, one of the Arab League resolutions "calls upon the countries supporting the Zionist entity... to work seriously to put an end to Zionist aggression and to adopt practical and tangible steps to terminate this assistance."

A Third World diplomat in Baghdad suggested Iraq was pressing for U.N. sanctions because "there is a limit to what they (the Iraqis) can do in the way of retaliation." The United States was expected to veto any resolution demanding sanctions against Israel, as it has always done. President Reagan halted shipment of four F-16 jet fighters to Israel until Congress determines whether the use of American fighters in the Baghdad raid violated a 1952 agreement prohibiting the offensive use of American military hardware. But the president reassured Israeli Ambassador Ephraim Evron that the fundamental relationship between their countries would not change, a senior administration official said.

Reagan also met with five Arab ambassadors and told them he was "shocked and disappointed" by the Israeli attack, one of the envoys reported.

Rescue Workers Find 500 Bodies

CYPRUS (AP) — Rescue workers reported finding 500 bodies in the ruins of a major earthquake in southeastern Iran's Kerman province, the official Iranian news agency Pars said today. The Red Crescent, Islamic equivalent of the Red Cross, said the death toll probably would climb to 5,000.

Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai flew today to the region to inspect the scene of the destruction, Tehran Radio reported.

Pars said rescue squads were still digging out dead and injured from the ruins from Thursday morning's quake. It said the tremors flattened 95 percent of the buildings in Gol Bagh, a city of 40,000 people near the provincial capital Kerman, 500 miles southeast of Tehran.

Pars said one casualty figure reported from the area "was put at more than 3,000 killed and more than 1,000 injured."

The agency quoted a Red Crescent announcement as saying 500 bodies had been recovered from the ruins by 10 a.m. today, and 1,500 injured people rescued. The Red Crescent report said 5,000 people "have been reported missing and they have probably been killed in the collapsed buildings."

Rajai called on the Iranian people for "revolutionary sacrifice" to aid the victims of the disaster.

Tehran Radio reported more than 1,500 people hospitalized in serious condition. A spokesman for the governor general's office in Kerman, reached by telephone, said "rescuers still are pulling victims from the massive rubble."

Rajai called on the Iranian people for "revolutionary sacrifice" to aid the victims of the disaster Thursday morning.

Tehran Radio said food, medicine, blankets and relief personnel were being flown to the region 500 miles southeast of Tehran by helicopter, and the injured were being brought out to hospitals on the return flights.

The provincial governor-general ordered all security forces mobilized to help with relief work.

In Washington, a White House spokesman told questioning reporters he knew nothing about any U.S. government plans to send aid.

The governor-general's office said the small city of Gol Bagh, with a population of 40,000, appeared to be hit hardest. He said two-thirds of the homes were destroyed.

The city of Kerman, the capital of the copper- and coal-mining province, suffered only minor damage, the governor's spokesman said.

The U.S. Geological Survey in Golden, Colo., said the earthquake registered 6.9 on the Richter scale. A quake measuring 5.8 hit the same area in 1977, killing nearly 600 people.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on a seismograph. Every increase of one number reflects a tenfold increase in magnitude, so that a reading of 7.5 shows an earthquake 10 times stronger than one of 6.5. An earthquake of 6 can cause severe damage, while one registering 7 is a "major" quake which can cause widespread heavy damage.

Ten Highest Rated Shows

NEW YORK (AP) — Only a dozen of the 63 programs broadcast in prime time in the week ending June 7 were on the air for the first time, and ratings for the period reflected the heavy menu of repeats.

CBS won the race with an average rating for the seven-day period — 14.2 — that was the lowest recorded by a winner in nearly a year, figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. showed. CBS won the weekly competition for the week ending Aug. 17 with a 12.4 score.

CBS' first-place finish was the network's third in a row and was accomplished with help from "M-A-S-H," "House Calls" and "Lou Grant," the week's three most-watched programs.

The week's 10 highest-rated programs: "M-A-S-H," with a rating of 23.9 representing 19.1 million homes, and "House Calls," 22.4 or 17.9 million, both CBS; "Lou Grant," CBS, and Movie-"Detour to Terror," NBC, both 20.7 or 16.5 million; "Diff'rent Strokes," 20.3 or 16.2 million, NBC; "Three's Company," 19.6 or 15.7 million, ABC; "Facts of Life," 19.4 or 15.5 million, NBC; "60 Minutes," 19.1 or 15.3 million, CBS, and "20-20," 18.9 or 15.1 million, and "Laverne and Shirley," 18.8 or 15 million, both ABC.

The next 10 shows: "Too Close for Comfort," ABC; "Happy Days" and "Barbara Walters Special," both ABC, Movie-"First You Cry," CBS, and "Real People," NBC, four-way tie; "Taxi," ABC; "Duke of Hazard," CBS; "Barney Miller," ABC, and "Quincy, M.E.," and "CHiPs," both NBC tie.

Obituaries

ARNIE B. CARR

Services for Arnie B. Carr, 69, will be tomorrow at 10:30 in the Rose Chapel of Gilliland-Watson. Rev. Clarence Powell of Trinity Baptist Church will officiate. Burial will be in West Park Cemetery under the direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home. In lieu of flowers, the family asks that memorials be sent to the Cancer Society.

Carr died Thursday morning in Deaf Smith County Hospital.

Born August 19, 1911 in Collins County, Texas, he married Geardene Watson May 25, 1940 in Collins County. He came to Deaf Smith County in 1946 from Collins County and he was a security guard for Pittman Industries. Carr lived two miles southeast of Hereford. Surviving him are his wife, three sons, Jerry, Lee and Johnny, all of Hereford, one brother, Frankie, of Plano, two sisters, Francis Mack of McKinney and Janelle Caldwell of Wylie, eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

MARY IRENE TRAWEEK

Mrs. Mary Irene Traweck died Thursday morning in Clovis, New Mexico. Services will be in Elmwood Memorial Park in Abilene. Mrs. Traweck moved to Hereford from Abilene in 1974.

She was born March 4, 1892 in Commerce and married Edd Traweck October 12, 1909 in Altus Oklahoma. He preceded her in death in 1963.

Survivors include one son, Curtis Traweck of Hereford, and one granddaughter.

Hereford Police arrested Scott Ireland yesterday on a charge of contributing alcohol to a minor at the Fina Station on W. 90. Also, Nita Villegas, 204 Ave. B, reported an assault. She told police that Alfred Escabal slapped her in the face.

A prowler was reported at 135 Oak. Ken McLain said the suspect attempted to get in through the sliding glass door.

Police answered two minor incident reports, issued 14 traffic citations and assisted ambulance personnel with a heart attack victim.

The Newspaper BIBLE

FORGIVENESS, FAITH AND FIDELITY—YOU NEED THEM ALL!

"There will always be temptations to sin," Jesus said one day to His disciples, "but woe to the man who does the tempting."

"If he were thrown into the sea with a huge rock tied to his neck, he would be far better off than facing the punishment in store for those who harm these little children's souls. I am warning you! Rebuke your brother if he sins, and forgive him if he is sorry. Even if he wrongs you seven times a day and each time turns again and asks forgiveness, forgive him!"

One day the apostles said to the Lord, "We need more faith; tell us how to get it."

"If your faith were only the size of a mustard seed," Jesus answered, "it would be large enough to uproot that mulberry tree over there and send it hurtling into the sea! Your command would bring immediate results!"

"When a servant comes in from plowing or taking care of sheep, he doesn't just sit down and eat, but first prepares his master's meal and serves him his supper before he eats his own. And he is not even thanked, for he is merely doing what he is supposed to do."

"Just so, if you merely obey Me, you should not consider yourselves worthy of praise. For you have simply done your duty!"

June Beauty Spots

The Hereford Chamber of Commerce Women's Division Beauty Spot of the Month Committee recently selected their June Beauty Spots from residential and non-residential places among the community. Mary Jean Gore is chairman of this committee which selects beauty spots each month. In the top photo, the home of Mr. and Mrs. A.R. Dillard, 217 Texas, has been designated as "June's Residential Beauty Spot." In bottom photo, Property Enterprises, 205 S. 25 Mile Ave., is designated as non-residential beauty spot for June. These spots will remain designated by the Beauty Spot of Month sign through this month.

It's Best to Do It Yourself

COLLEGE STATION - To keep up with the Joneses these days, ask the Joneses to be part of the team, one specialist advises.

With increasing prices - and the decreasing value of incomes, today's families are searching for ways to increase their buying skills to maintain their level of living. Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist, says.

To do that, families must turn to such tactics as "do-it-yourself" repairs, sharing talents with others and using community resources more than in the past few years, she says. Mrs. McCormack is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Do-it-yourself" expertise will lessen your dependence on professionals and save repair money while keeping the house and car in working order, Mrs. McCormack says.

Youth Hold Car Wash, Rummage Sale Saturday

A Car Wash and rummage sale, sponsored by the Nazarene youth, will be held Saturday from 9:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. at the Rainbow Car Wash, 417 N. 25 Mile Avenue. Cost will be $5 for a wash and vacuum.

The young people are raising money for their missions trip to Eugene, Oregon. The trip is totally self-supported by the youth and $10,000 will be needed by the 35 people expected to go.

Known as the "Crossroads Ministry Teams" the group will leave July 12 and return home July 25.

Places they will perform their concert, drama, and puppet show include Denver, Colorado; Caldwell Idaho; Eugene, Oregon where they will stay five days with a Home Missions Church; Sacramento, California; Belen, New Mexico, and then home to Hereford where they will give us a chance to see the concert July 25 at the Hereford Community Center.

The support of Hereford citizens at the two previous dinner theaters sponsored by the youth has been greatly appreciated.

Several of the youth are willing to perform odd jobs to earn money for the trip. If you have something they could do for you contact Ted Taylor at 364-5303.

Fund Opened For John David Nava

A hospital fund account was opened Thursday at Hereford State Bank for John David Nava.

John David the 5 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Nava, has been ill since February. At that time he was hospitalized and since has required weekly blood tests and treatment.

On Tuesday he underwent surgery in Amarillo and his spleen was removed. At this time he is still in the hospital, and no definite date has been set for his dismissal.

Due to the extensive medical bills financial help is being sought to aid the family in continuing to provide for John David's health.

Contributions will be appreciated. For information contact Rebecca Arredondo at 364-1208.

Concern of Food Safety

Consumer's concerns over food safety is equalled only by their obsession with dieting, says Dr. Philip White, director of Food and Nutrition for the American Medical Association.

Weight control is a common thread interwoven throughout all proposals for nutrition policy. In White's opinion, obesity prevention is better than 100 pounds of cure, no matter which diet is chosen.

White presented his critical viewpoint on overweight America at the Sixth Annual Nutrition Press Symposium co-sponsored by Dairy Council, Inc. and Texas Cattle Feeders Association. The symposium took place January 15 and 16 in Dallas, Texas.

White's humorous, often sarcastic discussion of fad diets began with the revelation that to talk about weight loss while gaining weight is not only acceptable but fashionable behavior in our society. Referring to estimates in an Esquire magazine article that the diet industry accounts for $10 billion of the Gross National Product (GNP), White told reporters they live in a nation "where more money is spent on worthless 'cures' for obesity than is spent on all medical research."

White accused the authors of the latest four best-selling diet books of publicly advocating their weight control plans without first exposing them to the critical review of medical peers.

"Popularized diets fail in the long run because they cannot provide the appropriate and highly personal motivation and instruction required for successful adherence," he said. Prevention should emphasize personal dietary control and exercise more than federal control through policies which regulate food components such as cholesterol, sodium and sugar.

Curriculum of Courses Become Effective

WTSU - A revised core curriculum of courses needed to meet general education requirements will become effective for students who begin as freshman during the fall semester at West Texas State University.

The General Education Review Committee, selected by WTSU President Max Sherman, began meeting in March of 1980 to review the courses which form about one-third of the total academic program required of each student who seeks a bachelor's degree at WTSU.

For about 15 years before the revision process began, the core courses included selection from about 100 courses in English composition, communications, fine arts and humanities, natural science, social sciences and physical education activity.

Minor revisions had been made in 1964-65 and again in 1975.

Members of the WTSU administration and faculty had been concerned that the core of courses did not satisfy the university's role in providing training for the student's development of critical thinking skills, a broad understanding and preparation for the future.

When he announced the committee and the plan to revise the core curriculum to the faculty in a spring 1980 address, Sherman said, "We can, and should, insure that WTSU is shaping a dynamic system suited to the needs of the 1980s and 1990s, in what will continue to be a highly competitive world, and we can and should insure that this system expresses our conviction that higher education will exercise its proper role in elevating standards of human achievement and worth."

Committee members gathered input and suggestions for the revision through faculty questionnaires, individual interviews with each department head and with members of the Student Senate.

Members met about 23 times to compile information collected through individual efforts.

In November of 1980, the committee, headed by Dr. Richard Moseley, professor of English and dean of the Graduate School, completed the study and offered a revised curriculum to Sherman and Dr. Gail Shannon, WTSU executive vice president.

The restructured curriculum includes three categories with course subdivisions.

The area of analytical reasoning and communication skills includes courses designed to develop deductive reasoning methods, inductive methods, written communication skills and personal and societal interaction.

A student may select two survey laboratory courses in the inductive methods division from biology, chemistry, geology, geosciences and physics. Deductive methods courses are in computer information systems, mathematics and philosophy and written communication involves two beginning English courses. One course in personal and societal interaction may be chosen from anthropology, economics, geography, psychology, speech and sociology.

The cultural heritage category is divided into the "American perspective" with two courses from American history and two courses in American government and world perspectives.

To satisfy the world perspectives requirements, students may choose one course in world literature through the Department of English course offerings and one course in humanities chosen from art, arts and sciences, English, fine arts, history, music and philosophy.

The third category involves a physical education requirement of two activity courses with a variety of choices. A course in basic military science, fall semester band or horsemanship may be substituted as an activity course.

The total core curriculum results in an additional three credit hours of general education for a total of 40 semester credit hours.

"These are fairly positive changes and ones which we need," said Moseley.

A previous choice of about 100 academic courses to meet general education requirements has been narrowed to about 50 selections, he said, and previous options in math and languages have been made required. Specialized courses have been taken from the requirements to leave general, interdisciplinary, overview courses to develop general knowledge, Moseley explained.

Specific courses are outlined in the university undergraduate catalog for 1981-82 which is available in the WTSU Administration Building.

Other members of the General Education Review Committee included vice chairperson, Margie Adkins, associate professor of art; and members Georgia Barrow, instructor in nursing; Dr. Charmazel Dudd, associate professor of English; Mary Hill, assistant professor of physical education; Dr. Ted Montgomery, head of the Department of Animal Science; Dr. Joe Nelson, professor of music; Leon Trekel, associate professor of accounting; and Dr. Kenneth Van Doren, head of the Department of Mathematics and Physics.

In addition to the core curriculum, the committee recommended that faculty members be encouraged to develop additional courses for the core and that composition skills be heavily emphasized in English and development of writing skills be emphasized throughout the curriculum.

Ann Landers Poor Mannered Guests

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have never had children, but my two brothers have three daughters each. They are all in their 20s.

On their birthdays I treat my nieces to lunch in a lovely restaurant. The seven of us have a good time six times a year, and we look forward to it. Now I am wondering if I should continue the tradition. The reason:

Four of the girls always order the most expensive meals on the menu. They ask for side dishes that cost extra. There are many elegant dishes at a reasonable price, but they never try them.

I was taught that when someone else is paying the bill, it is polite to stay away from the high-priced items. Am I wrong to be upset by this? Also, I suddenly realized that I have a birthday once a year, too. Not one of my nieces has ever invited me to lunch. (P.S. I am not rich)—Auntie T.

DEAR AUNTIE: It is poor manners for guests to order with reckless abandon, unless the host does, but to tell guests to avoid expensive dishes would be gross. The best solution: Order ahead of time—the same menu for all.

More important—I find it shocking that your nieces have never treated you to lunch. When this column appears, at least three of them should see it. If no invitation is forthcoming, bring this column to the next luncheon and read the following sentence aloud: Ann Landers believes it's high time you dames pitched in and treated your aunt to lunch on HER birthday.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I met a man when I was in Florida on vacation. Joe seemed very pleasant. When he suggested I move in with him and share expenses, I agreed. The idea of living in a warm climate appealed to me.

I thought we would have a platonic friendship but it didn't turn out that way. Joe started coming to my bedroom and we became lovers.

I recently discovered that he is carrying on a correspondence with a woman in another state. When I asked him about it he said there was nothing between them. I don't believe him. To my mind, Joe made a commitment when he started to come to my bedroom.

We are not youngsters, and I am old-fashioned enough to believe that when a woman has sexual relations with a man he belongs to her. Your opinion is wanted.—Cards On The Table

DEAR CARDS: "Old-fashioned" girls don't move in with men unless they are married.

Joe owes you nothing. Take my advice and move out before he tells you a long-lost cousin from another state is coming to visit, and he needs your closet space.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This evening we received another surprise visit from our pastor.

I have been pulled out of the shower, the pool, away from the dinner table, out of bed and off a ladder to answer the doorbell. There he was.

He has caught me in torn jeans, with my hair in rollers, my hands in cookie dough, and in the middle of painting a room. This is not only embarrassing to me, but my husband resents being interrupted when he is doing briefcase work or watching his favorite TV show. We can't bear to tell him. Will you? He quotes you from the pulpit, so we know he reads you regularly.—Gutless In Ohio

DEAR OHIO: One of Landers' Laws is—"If you are uninvited and unexpected you are also unwelcome." This goes for everyone—including relatives and clergymen.

CAPIROTADA (Mexican Bread Pudding)

- 1 1/2 qt. water
- 1 C. raisins
- 1 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1 T. finely chopped onion
- 1 1/2 C. brown sugar
- 16 slices bread
- 1 lg. sliced apple
- 1/3 C. pecans
- 1 1/2 C. shredded cheddar cheese

In a saucepan, combine water, raisins, cinnamon, onion and brown sugar. Bring mixture to a boil and simmer until the raisins are plump and flavors are combined; then remove raisins and set aside. Meanwhile, place four slices of bread in baking pan approximately 9x9 inches. Divide raisins, apple slices, pecans and cheese into fourths to be layered with the remaining bread slices. Sprinkle one-fourth of the fruit mixture on first layer of bread and cover with another layer of bread. Repeat this alternation ending with fruit mixture on top. Pour liquid from saucepan over bread into baking pan to moisten ingredients. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until bread is puffed and slightly firm.

NOTE: The cone shaped piloncillo in the background of the picture is a traditional cane syrup cone that was used to make Capirotada.

Chances of Play Nonexistent

Strike Is On

NEW YORK (AP) — There was still some talking being done but the chances of any major league baseball being played today were practically nonexistent.

The Major League Players Association went on strike early this morning following a breakdown of negotiations between the union and the owners' Player Relations Committee. At least, that's what Marvin Miller, executive director of the players association, said following a fruitless 4½-hour bargaining session with management.

"As you know, we have met most of the day, and nothing has been accomplished," said Miller. "The strike is on."

"Reports we've been getting indicate a substantial number of players have left for home and as soon as everybody knows, the remainder will go home."

Ray Grebey, chief negotiator for the club owners, said he did not consider the players on strike because the deadline was at 2 p.m. EDT today and another negotiating session was scheduled for 10:15 a.m. EDT. But Grebey added he was not optimistic that a settlement of the sticky free-agent compensation issue could be reached at the morning meeting.

"We have a bargaining session at 10 in the morning," said a weary-looking Grebey. "We don't take bargaining sessions lightly. If someone calls a strike before a bargaining session, I guess they're trying to tell us something."

"This issue can only be solved at the bargaining table and we have two years invested in this. We will be here to continue negotiating even if there is a strike."

The first midseason player strike in baseball history centers around whether a team losing a free agent is entitled to another major league player as compensation. The only compensation awarded previously has been a first-round selection in the amateur draft.

But last February the owners, with a right given them in an agreement reached hours before a threatened strike last May, unilaterally implemented their compensation plan. That plan would require that teams losing a "ranking" free agent in the re-entry draft get a roster player from the team signing him.

The players, under the same agreement of last May, were given the right to strike over the free-agent compensation issue but would have to do so by June 1 or lose their right to walk out over compensation for the remainder of the agreement.

That deadline was extended in a mutual agreement between management and the union read into a court record late last month, just before a May 29 strike date set before the season began by the players.

The National Labor Relations Board, at the request of the players, then sought an injunction to delay implementation of the owners' plan for one year.

William Lubbers, general counsel to the NLRB, had found validity in a players association claim that the owners were guilty of bargaining in bad faith by refusing to make their financial records available to the players.

But U.S. District Court Judge Henry Werker dismissed the petition Wednesday and said the matter of compensation should be settled at the negotiating table. The agreement delaying the June 1 strike deadline contained a provision that if the injunction was denied, the players would strike between 24 and 48 hours after the decision.

Don Fehr and Peter Rose, counsel and associate counsel, to the players association, when told that Grebey did not consider a strike to be on until shortly before the first scheduled game — San Diego at the Chicago Cubs — said that the union and not the clubowners determined whether or not there was a strike.

Thursday's negotiating session centered around the creation of a compensation pool of players. But neither side could agree on the quality of or just how many players would be in the pool.

Grebey said the union insisted that all teams, regardless of whether they drafted a free agent in the re-entry draft, must contribute to the pool. When asked if there was any way the owners would accept such a pool, he emphatically said "No."

"We made another proposal today, the fifth we've made," said Miller, who also looked haggard following the evening's talks. "The owners' committee said they considered it and rejected it. We invited them to amend it or make a series of counter-proposals."

Cardinals Defeat Valenzuela

Seaver Turns Back Mets, 5-2

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

It's been four years since Tom Seaver pitched for the New York Mets — but Shea Stadium fans still rolled out the red carpet for the Cincinnati pitcher.

"They pull for their own ballclub, as they should," said Seaver, "but it's nice to hear them welcome me back."

Many of the New York fans stood and chanted "Seaver, Seaver, Seaver", and gave him even more of an ovation when they felt the Mets' cause was lost Thursday night.

As it turned out, it was they who dropped a 5-2 decision before Seaver's masterful six-hitter.

"The fans realized the Mets were not going to win, so they

TENNIS

LONDON (AP) — Kevin Curren of South African upset second-seeded Roscoe Tanner 6-7, 7-6, 6-4 in the 150,000 dollars Stella Artois Grass Courts Tournament at London's Queen's Club.

"We asked if they expected to have new proposals. If they did, we would stay. But they said no."

Miller said he wouldn't be at this morning's bargaining session.

"We will have an appropriate committee to meet with them," he said, adding that Joe Niekro and Don Sutton, pitchers for the Houston Astros; Rusty Staub, a New York Mets' first baseman, and Bob Boone, catcher for the Philadelphia Phillies and the National League player representative, were expected to be on that committee.

"We have no reluctance to meet with the players without Mr. Miller," added Grebey.

Miller made mention of "a clique" of owners and said he thought that not all team owners were "informed of what's going on."

cheered for the second best thing," Seaver said.

Seaver's victory was his sixth straight this year and gave him a 7-1 record, his only loss coming April 18 against St. Louis. He struck out seven, and with the victory passed Bob Gibson for 30th on the all-time victory list with his 252nd triumph.

Seaver was perhaps the Mets' most beloved player when traded to the Reds on June 15, 1977 in a multiple-player trade involving Pat Zachry, ironically the Mets' losing pitcher Thursday night.

In other National League action, St. Louis beat Los Angeles 2-1, Montreal blanked Atlanta 7-0 and Chicago tripped San Francisco 6-1.

George Foster provided the offensive punch for Cincinnati with a three-run homer in the sixth inning that snapped a 2-2 tie. The homer, his 14th, followed three strikeouts, and Foster joked afterward that perhaps he had jumped the gun on Marvin Miller, head of the Major League Players Association, which was ready to strike against the owners today.

PETE ROSE... one hit away from record

Strike Stalls Rose's Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pete Rose, who needs only one more hit to break Stan Musial's National League career hit record of 3,630, is continuing his positive thinking in the face of a possible baseball strike.

The 40-year-old Rose tied Musial's mark with a first-inning single Wednesday night against the Houston Astros. Then he struck out the next three times at bat.

The Major League Players Association and the major league club owners are embroiled in a labor dispute over compensation for the loss of a free agent.

The players actually went on strike early today, but the walkout was expected to have little effect until game time this afternoon. And, with more negotiations scheduled today, there was still a possibility of a settlement. The Phillies were off Thursday, and were scheduled to open a three-game series tonight against the Atlanta Braves.

Although the strike threat caught him at a bad time, Rose makes it clear he's 100 percent behind the players association.

"I can't put myself ahead of 650 guys, including myself," he explained. "But I have to believe there will be baseball some time this summer."

Rose said that as far as the record is concerned, "I'm not on any timetable. I'll get one more hit, won't I?"

LONDON (AP) — Martina Navratilova posted a 6-2, 6-4 victory over Sharon Walsh in the third round of the Women's Surrey Grass Courts Championship.

Royals Romp by Toronto Rangers Lose, 6-3

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

It's the kind of situation that would have some players talking to themselves. Jamie Quirk listened. "Going up to the plate with the bases loaded and then getting a 3-2 count is a situation you just dream of," he said. "But when you're at the plate you've got to try and keep it all in perspective and say to yourself, 'Just hit the ball.'"

He did — barely 150 feet down the third base line.

But Quirk's eighth-inning pinch-double off Roy Lee Jackson went far enough to allow two runners to score, wiping out Toronto's 5-4 lead and starting the Kansas City Royals on their way to a 10-5 romp. It was the Blue Jays' 11th consecutive loss, tying a club record.

That game — and all others — were played under the threat of the first midseason strike in major league history. Elsewhere in the American League it was Milwaukee 6, Texas 3; Seattle 8, Baltimore 2; Chicago 3, New York 2; Detroit 7, Minnesota 2, and California 7, Boston 2.

Brewers 6, Rangers 3
Like Quirk, Roy Howell of Milwaukee was just trying to get the job done. Like Quirk, he did — but far more emphatically.

Howell pounded a hard slider by Texas' wily Ferguson Jenkins deep into the right-center field bullpen to break a 3-3 tie in the seventh inning and Milwaukee went on to snap a four-game losing streak.

The loss left the Rangers 1½ games behind idle, first-place Oakland in the West Division. Pete Vuckovich, winning his eighth in a row for Milwaukee, allowed three hits over seven innings and Rollie Fingers notched his 12th save.

Mariners 4, Orioles 2
Julio Cruz's 32nd consecutive stolen base, tied Willie Wilson's American League record (Davey Lopes of Los Angeles owns the major league record of 38) and opened the door to a four-run first inning which propelled the Mariners past Baltimore.

Jeff Burroughs had bases-loaded singles in the first and seventh innings.

White Sox 3, Yankees 2
Steve Trout has not had the best of luck against the Yanks. Last year they beat him 3-1. And barely a week ago they beat him again, 2-0. "Every time I face them it's gone like that," he said — so the victory by the White Sox starter was particularly sweet.

For once, Doug Bird wasn't at his best. He lost his first major league game since Aug. 16, 1978. He'd won 12 in a row in that span.

Angels 8, Red Sox 2
Like the Mariners, the Angels locked up their game against Baltimore with a four-run first inning. Fred Lynn and Ed Ott hit run-scoring singles in the burst which made it easy for Ken Forsch to match Detroit's Jack Morris, Los Angeles' Fernando Valenzuela and Philadelphia's Steve Carlton as a nine-game winner, tops in the majors.

Forsch pitched an eight-hitter with his fourth straight complete game and eighth of the season.

Tigers 7, Twins 2
Tom Brookens' three-run homer in the sixth inning obliterated Minnesota's 2-1 lead and helped the Tigers win for the 10th time in 12 games.

Cadle Leads Golf Classic

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — "Having a little trouble with the putter," is a common complaint on the PGA Tour, perhaps the most oft-voiced affliction of golf's gypsy players.

But George Cadle really has been having trouble with his putter.

Take a couple of weeks ago in the Kemper Open in Bethesda, Md. He casually leaned on it while waiting his turn to putt and the shaft snapped: Broke in two. He had to finish the round putting with a wedge.

Then last week, in the Atlanta Classic, with a new shaft in the putter, he tapped it gently against his shoe. The head fell off. He was able to make an on-the-spot repair.

This time, in the first round of the $400,000 Manufacturers Hanover Westchester Classic Thursday, Cadle was able to keep it in one piece for the entire 18 holes, dropped a couple of 15-footers and birdied four of the last five holes for a 4-under-par 67 and a one-shot lead. "The putting was the difference; it's always the difference with me," shrugged the non-winning veteran of seven years of tour activity. "It just as easily could have been an 80. I was just lucky to make five birdies on the back."

Tied at 68, three under par on the hilly, 6,603-yard Westchester Country Club course in suburban New York, were Gibby Gilbert, Gil Morgan, Bruce Douglass and Lee Elder, a former Westchester champion.

The group at 69 included Fuzzy Zoeller, Bill Kratzert, Tim Simpson and Craig

Stadler, the Kemper winner.

Ray Floyd, a two-time winner this season and one of the pre-tournament favorites for the $72,000 first prize, topped the group of a dozen at 70.

Unusually deep rough and gusty, swirling winds combined to produce much higher scores than normal on the tight little layout that often yields some extremely low numbers.

Defending champion Curtis Strange and Johnny Miller were well back at 73. Bruce Lietzke, winner of three titles this season, was another two shots back at 75 and is in danger of missing the cut when the field is trimmed to the low 70 scorers for the final two rounds. And former Masters and British Open champion Seve Ballesteros of Spain shot 72.

"The rough was up and there was the wind. It made it difficult to play really well," Cadle said.

Post Eyes Bonus

MASON, Ohio (AP) — A sign of the inflationary times — Sandra Post can win $122,500 in four days at the Ladies Professional Golf Association Championship, more than any of the first 26 money leaders could earn in an entire year on the LPGA Tour.

The thought of such a bonanza, the product of a special bonus, is not unnerving Post, if the first round of the LPGA Championship on Thursday was any indication.

The 33-year-old Canadian shot a 67, the same as 1979 U.S. Open winner Jerilyn Brits and one shot off the pace of leading Lynn Adams, a non-winner in four seasons.

Raymond Floyd collected a $300,000 bonus on the men's tour earlier this year for winning successive Florida tournaments. McDonalds has put up a $100,000 bonus for the player who can win its McDonalds Classic, played last week, and the LPGA this week, the first of the women's majors this year.

That is some contrast to the early years of the LPGA Tour.

Mays Competes In Elite Field

Hereford's James Mays will be competing against an elite field of 800-meter runners Saturday in Berkeley, Calif.

Mays finished fourth in the NCAA 800 meters last Saturday and became Texas Tech's first athlete to earn All American honors three times. He was the state schoolboy half-mile champ while at Hereford High School.

Mays will face an international field Saturday in California. They include: Albert Juan-torena, a double winner in the 1976 Olympics; James Robinson, who won the Jumbo Elliott 800 two weeks ago with the second best time in the world this year; Sebastian Coe, England's premier runner who shaved set a new record in Italy this week with a time of 1:41.72; Mike Boit, former Olympic medalist from Eastern New Mexico University.

Other big names in the field are Don Frichtel, Gerald Masterson, Mike White, Rich Nichols and Mark Enyeart. Mays has run under 1:47 three times this year, and Tech coach Corky Oglesby thinks Mays may be ready to run under 1:46 if the conditions are right.

After tomorrow's competition, Mays will enter the Athletic Congress Meet June 19-20, then he will join Athletes in Action and enter a number of meets in Europe this summer.

The summer schedule includes meets in Sweden and Finland from June 25 through July 8, Austria from July 9-19, and Germany and Switzerland from July 19-26.

Free Junior Golf Lessons Slated

Free lessons for junior golfers will be scheduled at John Pitman Municipal Golf Course Monday through Friday, according to golf pro Mike Horton.

The lessons will be offered to youngsters from age 8 to 17. The lessons will be held from 9 to 10:30 a.m. each morning, June 15 through June 19.

No pre-registration is required. All interested boys and girls should report Monday morning at 9.

Holmes Defends Title Against Spinks Tonight

DETROIT (AP) — Three years and three days after he won the title, Larry Holmes defends his World Boxing Council heavyweight championship against Leon Spinks tonight.

Holmes will carry a 12-pound weight advantage, 212½ to 200½ for ex-champ Spinks, into the ring at Joe Louis Arena when he makes his 10th defense of boxing's most glamorous crown.

Also on the card are a WBC super lightweight defense by Saul Mambly against Jo Kimpuani, and a pair of heavyweight bouts with undefeated Michael Dokes facing Briton John L. Gardner, the European champion, and Greg Page, also unbeaten, going against Alfredo Evangelista of Spain.

The Dokes-Gardner fight and the main event between Holmes and Spinks will be shown by ABC-TV, beginning at 9 p.m. EDT.

Holmes, 31, has won all 37 of his career fights, 27 of them by knockouts. Eight of those KOs came in successive title defenses after he outpointed Ken Norton for the crown June 9, 1978. His ninth and most recent defense was a 15-round decision over Trevor Berbick last April 11 at Las Vegas.

Before the Berbick fight, Holmes stopped Muhammad Ali, the same man Spinks beat in a stunning upset to win the universal heavyweight crown Feb. 15, 1978. Spinks, 27, was stripped of the WBC share of the crown because he refused to fight Norton, choosing instead to give Ali a rematch.

Norton was awarded the WBC crown and then lost it to Holmes in his first defense. Meanwhile, exactly seven months after he had beaten Ali, Spinks returned the World Boxing Association version of the crown to Ali on a 15-round decision that greased the skids for the ex-Olympic champion.

Spinks fought only once in 1979, suffering an embarrassing first round knockout against Gerrie Coetzee in Monte Carlo. But in 1980, he knocked out Evangelista, fought a 10-round draw with Eddie "Animal" Lopez, and stopped Kevin Isaac and Bernardo Mercado. The ninth-round knockout of Mercado came on the undercard of the Holmes-Ali fight in Las Vegas, Nev., and positioned Spinks for another shot at the crown.

The champion seems in superb condition under the firm training hand of Eddie Futch, who handled ex-champ Joe Frazier. Futch replaced Richie Giachetti as Holmes' trainer before the Berbick bout, a fight which ended the champion's string of knockouts.

Mambly, who celebrated his 34th birthday eight days ago, will be defending his 140-pound title for the third time. He won the crown from Kim Sang-Hyon Feb. 23, 1980 and defended against Emban DeJesus and Termito Watkins last year. He carries a 29-12-5 lifetime record into the ring against the 31-year-old Kimpuani, a native of Zaire, who is 56-2 for his career.

The undercard includes important fights for a pair of unbeaten young heavyweights. Dokes, 20-0-1 with 10 knockouts, faces Gardner, 33-2 with 28 knockouts, and Page, 15-0 with 14 knockouts, takes on Evangelista, 40-5-3.

Gardner had been prominently mentioned as a possible opponent for Ali after last year's Holmes fight. But the would-be promoter for that comeback attempt was Harold Smith, or Ross Fields, who saw his boxing empire fall apart amid charges of a massive bank fraud in California.

Gardner will be making his American debut.

Also on the program is a 10-round middleweight fight between Dwight Davisson of Detroit and Mel Dennis of Houston. Mark Holmes, Larry's undefeated kid brother, will fight an eight-rounder.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Develop regular elimination

DEAR DR. LAMB - Is there such a thing as the opposite of anorexia nervosa? I am a normally active 22-year-old male. I'm 8 feet and weigh 175 pounds. I am constantly eating because I honestly feel I will lose weight if I don't. The fact that all this eating does not put any weight on me doesn't help either. Do I have a valid problem?

DEAR READER - Maybe. If you are not fat and are not adding weight with your present diet, it is clear that you are in caloric balance, meaning you are only eating as many calories as you use. That is fine.

Now, if you are really eating an enormous number of calories just to maintain your weight, you might need to think of why. If you are very active you could be using a lot of calories.

Two medical conditions that relate to consuming lots of calories and failing to gain weight, or actually losing weight, are diabetes and an overactive thyroid gland. In that case there are other symptoms as well. Diabetics, for example, drink lots of water.

However, if you are not gaining weight your eating is not a psychological problem, as anorexia nervosa is.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 35-year-old woman. For the past 10 months I have been bothered with what I think is a spastic colon. Some mornings I have as many as three to six bowel movements in an hour - not diarrhea, but formed stools. During these episodes I feel nervous and shaky. Then I go two or three days without a bowel movement. The next one is usually hard and dry. These episodes are several weeks apart.

My doctor took barium enema X-rays which were normal. He stopped there and I couldn't even talk to him, just his nurse. She said he just said to take it easy. Unfortunately, I still have the problem. I exercise and try to eat right. I do have hard, dry stools a good portion of the time due to dieting. Your help would be greatly appreciated.

DEAR READER - Your self-diagnosis is probably correct in view of your normal X-ray studies and history. But that certainly hasn't solved your problem. I think you should call the nurse and ask for a referral to a gastroenterologist or call your county medical society. You should be followed by a physician while trying to correct your bowel habits.

When the colon goes into spasm, which is really a muscle cramp, the undigested food residue is squeezed like a sponge, leaving a hard dry mass. And dieting with a low residue diet can contribute to the problem. You should try to develop a regular elimination habit. It will help you.

Bulk is important. That includes bran. Fruit and vegetables are important, such as a good raw apple a day. Bulk laxatives help in some cases and may not cause the gas that people complain about with bran when they first start using it. Also, you might be careful to avoid coffee, including the decaffeinated brands, tea, colas and chocolate as well as other foods you may identify as a problem. Spices also contribute to the problem in some people.

DEAR DR. LAMB - My wife, who is 60 years old, has recently developed a habit of snoring. An allergist thought she might have a polyp in her nose but an ear, nose and throat specialist said he could see no polyp and her nasal passages were clear. He did prescribe an antihistamine but she still snores. Could you give us any advice or information which could help her eliminate this annoying habit?

DEAR READER - There is lots of advice about snoring, some of which may be helpful. One suggestion is to tape a Ping-Pong ball to the back to keep a person from sleeping on the back. Another recently discussed was to use a sleep machine that produced noise at night to mask the snoring sound so the mate could sleep.

Another idea that impressed me comes from Dr. E.L.C. Broomes of the Lakeside Medical Clinic in East Chicago, Ind. He suggested that the snorer wear to bed one of the flexible orthopedic neck collars that hold the chin forward and compressing the trachea (windpipe), which then vibrates with respiration. It is worth a try.

THE RIGHTS OF FREE PEOPLE INCLUDE THE CHOICE OF FAITH

The citizens of a free country never take their freedoms for granted, but have wisely provided a specific list of them in the set of rules by which they are governed. These freedoms include among other things the right of peaceable assembly, to speak and write whatever they see fit, and one of the most basic rights of all: to worship God in any manner they choose; a privilege consistent with the theory that freedom itself is man's God-given birthright. Be ever prepared to defend your your freedom against anyone who would take it away from you, and avail yourself of one of its principal blessings by attending the Church of your choice every week on the Sabbath. And thank God for your right to do so, wherever you are.

"Whoso looketh into the perfect law of liberty, and continueth therein...this man shall be blessed in his deed."
—James 1:25

We owe it to our ancestors to preserve entire those rights, which they have delivered to our care: we owe it to posterity, not to suffer their dearest inheritance to be destroyed.
