Vacancy remains on board of education

Hi Ya Tex

What does a Texan really look like? To a reporter from Missouri, this fellow looked like a Texan. Travis Shannon of Plainview was in Hereford Thursday afternoon on business. We caught him (where else?) on his way over to a local steak house.

No one was appointed Thursday night to replace Sallie Strain on the Hereford Independent School District Board of Education despite a two-and-a-half-hour closed session to consider the matter.

Also at the regularly-scheduled meeting, Superintendent Dr. Harrell Holder had his contract extended from July 1 until June 30, 1987. Another lengthy closed session - about one-and-a-half hours - preceeded that action.

During the secret discussion about replacing Strain, board members reportedly held a telephone conversation with Kenneth Frels, a Houston lawyer. He is representing HISD in a lawsuit filed late last year which claims Mexican-Americans do not have a fair chance to be chosen for the school board due to an at-large election process. The governing body now consists of five white men and one white woman.

Prior to the meeting, a notice from the board claimed the phone call would be "in the interest of expediting progress toward the solution of Guzman, et. al. vs. (HISD)." Dr. Holder guessed the long-distance talk with Frels lasted an hour and 15 minutes.

Lawsuit considered

Since Strain had been president of the board, vice president R.C. Hoelscher chaired Thursday's meeting. Strain's resignation letter, dated Dec. 22, was read by Hoelscher and unanimously accepted by board members.

Dr. Holder began serving as superintendent in September, 1976. The extension of his contract, though it now goes to 1987, was actually for twelve months. Last year, his job was secured through June 30, 1986.

In other board matters, the school district's bilingual education program was explained by director Ophelia Echevarria. She said there are approximately 560 kindergarten-through-third graders and about 160 students in grades four through six learning bilingual skills. There are around 120 others involved in the English as a Second Language (ESL) program, which covers seventh-through-twelfth graders.

According to Echevarria, the bilingual program's goal is to give a limited-proficient child stronger skills in his native tongue while learning another language. There are 32 bilingual education teachers in HISD, she said, of whom 26 are Hispanic and six Anglo-American.

The resignations of three district instructors were accepted by the school board. Leaving HISD are Jennifer Newton of Shirley Elementary School, Diane Skelton of Stanton Junior High School and Margaret Smith of Tierra Blanca Elementary School.

Selected to begin teaching in the district were Meredith Fish at Stanton, Elsa Montez at an unnamed school and Judy Schumacher at Tierra Blanca. No leaves of absence were granted for the coming semester.

Consideration of a new building for athletic practices during inclement weather was tabled until the board's next meeting. The proposed facility, to cost around $50,000, would be placed near Whiteface Stadium. The delay was requested by Dr. Holder to allow principals of HISD schools to help prioritize spending needs in the district.

Enrollment in HISD rose from 4,792 on Jan. 3 to 4,803 Tuesday. That represents an increase of 11 students over the total count registered Jan. 10, 1983.

Larry Wartes, assistant superintendent, said average daily participation in the lunch program is 3,436 students. Tax collection is running about 4 percent above its rate one year ago, he added.

Mel Holubeck, president of the local Classroom Teachers of America (CTA) chapter, said about eight local educators plan to attend the state convention Feb. 12 in Austin. Hereford Educators Association President Rose Mary Shook expressed thanks to Strain, not present at the meeting, for her work as a school board member.

The next regularly-scheduled meeting of the HISD Board of Education is 5 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 9 in the administration building, 700 Union.

Heads Bilingual Program

School board members listened Thursday evening to Ophelia Echevarria's explanation of the school district's bilingual education offerings. Echevarria, who is in charge of the program, said about 720 kindergarten through sixth graders are involved.

Marines attacked, reply

By FAROUK NASSAR

U.S. Marines unleashed rockets and mortar fire to repulse a heavy attack today by militiamen on their base in Beirut while U.S. special envoy Donald Rumsfeld, visiting Damascus, met for the first time with Syrian President Hafez Assad.

Marine spokesman Maj. Dennis Brooks said there were no reports of casualties or damage at the U.S. base at Beirut airport. He said the southeastern perimeter of the base came "under attack by a heavy concentration of small-arms fire" from a building toward the east.

The Marines, part of the multinational peacekeeping force, then beat back an attempted "infiltration" by firing back with small arms, machine guns, 60 mm mortars, shoulder-fired rockets and anti-tank guided missiles, Brooks said.

In Damascus, Assad, who had declined to meet with Rumsfeld during two previous visits, warned in advance of today's session that "peace in Lebanon cannot be established under the American gun barrel." But there were no immediate details on today's meeting.

Rumsfeld met Thursday and again today with Foreign Minister Abdel-Halim Khaddam of Syria, but there also was no word on those talks. Rumsfeld has made two previous trips to Syria since he became Reagan's Middle East envoy last November, but this was his first meeting with Assad.

Elsewhere, in Beirut, today, police reported an Egyptian diplomat and the wife of a French envoy survived separate attacks by gunmen, and shells from anti-government gunners crashed onto the capital's eastern Christian sector for a second straight day, reportedly killing two civilians and wounding 12.

At the French Embassy in Beirut, a spokesman said one of two people riding a motorcycle today shot Elaine de Chico, wife of the director of the French Cultural Center in the Lebanese capital.

Embassy spokesman Eric Coulat said Mrs. de Chico, 47, suffered a "superficial" wound on her chin as a bullet grazed her. He said the attack occurred when she was driving from the west Beirut area where she and her husband live. She was taken to the nearby American University Hospital, he said, and the assailants escaped.

Soviet violations alleged

By TIM AHERN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration, even while it hopes for a thaw in chilly U.S.-Soviet relations, is preparing a new indictment charging the Soviets with at least three violations of existing arms control treaties.

The classified report will be sent to Congress, possibly by the end of next week, according to administration officials who discussed it Thursday on condition they not be identified. They said an unclassified version will be made public.

The analysis says the Soviets are constructing a new missile, a major new radar station, and are encoding almost all technical data from missiles being tested, said the officials.

All those actions are prohibited by the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaties.

SALT I, including an anti-ballistic missile treaty, was Regarding arms control treaties negotiated in 1972 and SALT II was signed in 1979.

Although the U.S. Senate has never ratified SALT II, both superpowers say they are abiding by its provisions.

In a United Nations speech on Sept. 26, President Reagan said "a newly discovered radar facility and a new ICBM raise serious concerns about Soviet compliance with agreements already negotiated."

The study has been pushed by conservatives in Congress, who won approval last October for an amendment to the State Department budget bill requiring a report on whether Soviet actions violated the treaties.

The report comes as the administration is sending signals that it hopes relations between the two superpowers can improve. President Reagan has scheduled a speech Monday in which he reportedly plans to say he hopes for better U.S.-Soviet relations.

Secretary of State George P. Shultz, who meets next week with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, said Thursday the United States is "prepared for a thaw" in its dealings with Moscow.

The study on alleged Soviet treaty violations has been prepared by a group including experts from the Pentagon, Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, State Department, CIA, and National Security Council.

It has been finished for some time, but its release was delayed because the violations are technical and because the administration has been reluctant to make the allegations, according to congressional sources who

Democratic hopefuls assail policy

By GEORGE GEDDA
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is blaming "unacceptable" Nicaraguan behavior for the slaying of a U.S. Army pilot at a tense border area in Honduras, but four Democratic presidential candidates are seizing on the incident to condemn the administration's Central America policy.

Secretary of State George Shultz said Thursday the United States has lodged a strong protest with Nicaragua over the slaying of Chief Warrant Officer Jeffrey C. Schwab, 27, of Joliet, Ill., who was killed Wednesday by gunfire as he took refuge from his downed chopper in an area where cross-border incidents have occurred frequently.

Shultz told a news conference the United States does not plan any military action in retaliation for the incident. Other officials said that option was discussed at lower levels.

As Shultz was denouncing the Nicaraguan action, four Democratic presidential candidates said Thursday the episode demonstrates a fundamental flaw in administration policy.

In Boston, Colorado Sen. Gary Hart said he will file legislation when Congress reconvenes calling for withdrawal of all United States combat troops from Honduras "before another U.S. pilot is killed."

"We are headed for creation of another Lebanon in Central America and possibly another Vietnam," said Hart, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Former Vice President

Walter Mondale told reporters in New Hampshire there is a link between military maneuvers in Honduras and covert action in Nicaragua.

"You can't conduct a covert action in Nicaragua with a backup support action right along the border in Honduras without risking loss of American lives," said Mondale. "We've seen this now. ... That covert action should be terminated."

The Rev. Jesse Jackson said in New York that "we must cease using Honduras as a staging base for overt

Reinauer elected president

Joe Reinauer was elected president of the Hereford Industrial Foundation Thursday evening after new directors were installed.

Elected to three-year terms as directors were Dwayne Cassels, Hal Easley, Dick Montgomery, John Stagner, and Roger Williams. Montgomery and Stagner were reelected to the board.

Named to a one-year term on the foundation board was Jack Mars, new Hereford manager of Energas. Mars replaced Gene Ehler on the board.

Other officers elected by the directors were Jerry Morgan, vice president; Terry Bromlow, vice president; David Emerick, treasurer, and Mike Carr, secretary.

Dick Hazel, owner and manager of Hazel Manufacturing Co., appeared at the meeting to report on his operation. The industrial foundation owns the building of the manufacturing company. Hazel said he was optimistic about the business outlook for 1984.

Grand jury indicts 14

The newly-impaneled Deaf Smith County grand jury met Thursday, returning indictments against 14 persons.

Charged with burglary of a building were Gloria Angela Casias, four counts, and Joe Angel Martinez, one count. Raul Rivera Gonzales and Albert Hernandez were each indicted by the jury for DWI, subsequent offense. Victor Duran and Olga D. Ortiz were indicted on three counts each of delivery of marijuana.

The grand jury returned forgery and passing indictments against Joseph L. Bellino, Rene Christine Berry, Cecilia Pina Castillo, Romula Salazar, also known as Raymond Madrigal and Catarino Rubio Torres.

Jose Robles was charged with gambling while Gary Vargo was indicted for interference with child custody. The jury also indicted Dick Rogers on theft charges and Jose Pete Velasquez for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. District Clerk Lola Fae Veazy said there was also one pass and one no bill.

The new jury has been called to serve for six months, while the grand jury that met during the latter part of 1983 has been extended to continue investigation of alleged wrong doings in the 222nd District Attorney's Office.

Dutton going for first place

Hereford resident Danny Dutton has been selected to represent western Texas in the third annual speech contest at the 80th annual state convention of the Texas Farmers Union.

He is one of five finalists who qualified for first-place consideration. Dutton and the four others participated in five regional speech competitions on Dec. 10. They are to make their presentations to the general session of the convention Saturday morning, with the winner to be announced at an evening banquet.

The speech contest awards scholarships of $100 to $500 to the high school students who are finalists. Among the speeches given Dec. 10 included some involving the role of the state government in preserving family agriculture, whether the family farm is worth saving and the role of the federal government in the stabilization of agricultural prices.

Police have light ledger

Hereford police reported handling no major incidents of crime Thursday, though one minor motor vehicle accident occurred within city limits.

Investigated were one case apiece of a stolen dog, harassment and trespassing. Hereford Volunteer Firemen responded to a minor fire in a cornfield Thursday afternoon about six miles north of town.

Police say foreman went for gun

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — A ranch foreman, fatally shot by officers who mistook him for a fugitive, failed to heed lawmen's orders and appeared to be reaching for a weapon when he was killed, a police officer testified.

John Wayne Turner told jurors Thursday that he and three other Borger policemen chased a fleeing pickup onto the Four Sixes Ranch on Aug. 11, 1961.

Turner, a former rookie officer in Borger and now a policeman in the Dallas suburb of Balch Springs, said officers ordered James C. Grandstaff, a 31-year-old ranch foreman, out of the truck.

Grandstaff did not obey a single order officers gave him, but turned and walked toward the back of the truck, Turner said.

"He didn't say anything. He just started reaching toward his waistband," Turner said.

Turner said one of the officers yelled, "He's going for a weapon" and all of the policemen opened fire.

Four taken in rental scheme

HOUSTON (AP) — The bargain was impressive: a $120,000 west Houston house offered for rent for $400 a month, almost half what officials said a leaser could usually expect to pay.

But it was too good to be true. A "wealthy dentist" who does not own the house leased it to four families who were convinced he did.

Among those taken was a newlywed couple who said they spent all the cash they got as wedding presents to pay the first month's rent.

"Now we're strictly broke," Randy Morse said Thursday.

Morse said he was enthusiastic about the lucky find until he visited the house Tuesday and a neighbor said he was the fourth person to tell her he planned to move in this week.

Son blames TV evangelist

WACO, Texas (AP) — A teen-age housekeeper has pleaded innocent to last month's slaying of a 70-year-old woman, whose death and change of wills has pitted her son against television evangelist Jimmy Swaggart in a battle for the estate.

Jacqueline Euna Warren, 19, was arraigned Thursday before State District Judge George Allen, who ordered her returned to McLennan County Jail in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Ida Lee Baugh, 70, who had been confined to a wheelchair for the past nine years, was stabbed repeatedly in the face and shoulders with scissors early Dec. 10. She received 400 stitches about the head and shoulders, but died two days later without regaining consciousness, investigators said.

Ms. Warren, who was working as a housekeeper for Mrs. Baugh and her husband, flagged down a motorist early on Dec. 10 outside the Baugh's home on the east edge of McGregor, 20 miles east of Waco.

Oil companies avert strikes

DENVER (AP) — The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union reached tentative contracts Thursday with Atlantic Richfield Co. and two other oil firms, averting a strike set for Friday, the union said.

The agreements, reportedly modeled on one reached earlier this week between OCAW and Gulf Oil Corp., raised to about 7,900 the number of oil industry workers under proposed contracts.

Bargaining on other fronts was continuing, as more than 40,000 OCAW members at other oil companies worked without contracts following the expiration of old pacts Saturday, a union spokesman said.

"We've got a ways to go," said the spokesman, Jerry Archuleta. But he added that with Thursday's pacts, "The Gulf pattern is now very well established."

Baker says he'll leave post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential Chief of Staff James Baker III, describing his job as a "lightning rod," says he will leave the top-level White House post at the end of the year, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported in a copyright story today.

In an interview with the newspaper, Baker said his decision is based on a long-standing timetable to keep the job no longer than four years and is not the result of burnout or White House infighting.

Four years "is the absolute cutoff," Baker said. "Staying through the elections will be almost four years, and I think the president would be better served by someone else in this job in a second term," Baker said.

Baker, a Houston attorney, has been chief of staff since Reagan took office in January 1961.

Leftist rebels condemn report

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — The leftist Sandinista government says the Kissinger Commission report on Central America, which urges more covert U.S. aid to anti-Sandinista rebels, is a "failure" which advocates a "policy of pressure."

Leftist guerrillas battling the U.S.-backed government of El Salvador also condemned the report Thursday, calling it an "insane course" and "genocide against our people."

But Kissinger defended the report in a news conference with Latin American reporters, saying more military aid to El Salvador is consistent with efforts for Central American peace.

Marines under fire again

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — U.S. Marines came under heavy fire today at their Beirut airport base and responded with a massive barrage of rockets, missiles and mortars to beat back attacking anti-government militiamen.

Marine spokesman Maj. Dennis Brooks said the southeastern perimeter of the base came "under attack by a heavy concentration of small-arms fire" at about 10:50 a.m. local time (3:50 a.m. EST).

Brooks said the fire came from a building east of the base of the U.S. Marine contingent serving with the multinational peacekeeping force. He said the Marines responded with small arms, machine gun, mortars, anti-tank missiles and shoulder-fired rockets.

Something Different

I'm from the north. Well, the midwest, actually, but to the native Texan that is north enough.

As children growing up in Missouri we delighted in being the first to spy the V-shaped formations of wild geese as they traveled to and from Canada each spring and fall. "The geese are flying south," we would say to each other on those chilly October days, "it can't be long till winter now."

A few weeks ago I realized something. I won't be able to witness those migratory trips across the sky anymore, because for the geese, this is south. "There are thousands of them right here in the county," Game Warden Chuck Cosper told me. Well I just couldn't imagine that, so I had to see for myself.

We approached the first lake just in time to see the geese take flight. "Something has frightened them," Cosper guessed. Sure enough, we drove up beside the water to discover, with the help of his powerful field glasses, two bald eagles and a golden eagle dominating the usual resting place of hundreds of Canadian and snow geese.

Bald eagles are an endangered species and don't often venture this far south, but a lot of the birds have been seen in the Panhandle this season. The national Wildlife Federation, which recently counted 21 of the majestic birds on Lake Meredith, said they may have been attracted here by the unusually cold weather late last month. Officials explained the eagles feed on fish frozen in the water.

Anyway, we climbed back into the green Parks and Wildlife Department vehicle and bounced our way across dirt farm roads to the next watering hole. This time we were in luck.

About 1,000 geese were resting on a lake that is protected by the owner from game hunters. Cosper said there are often 100,000 Canada and snow geese to be found there, but to me 1,000 was still a whole bunch of birds. The geese wouldn't allow me to get close enough for a detailed photograph, but I had no trouble hearing their 1,000 pairs of wings beating the air as they took flight and moved to the other side of the lake.

On the way back to town we spotted about a dozen ringnecked pheasants that had made it through the recent hunting season.

"Those are the survivors," Cosper explained. "I get to see things like that every day," he said, commenting on the beauty of the birds. "I can't imagine why anyone wouldn't want to be a game warden and drive around the countryside and see the things I do."

Maybe they just don't know what they're missing.

General's death probed

Suicide being considered

By KRISTIN GAZLAY

Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Texas

(AP) — Federal investigators who initially were baffled by a terse note saying a two-star general had been executed for crimes "against the people of the world," now say the man might have committed suicide.

The FBI said Thursday that

Army Reserve Maj. Gen.

Robert G. Ownby could have looped a noose around his neck and stepped into a second-story stairwell after tying his own hands behind him.

Two notes were found at the headquarters building at Fort

Sam Houston, including a typewritten message pinned to the general's sweater that read: "Captured, tried, convinced of crimes by the U.S.

Army against the people of the world. Sentenced and executed."

The body of Ownby, 48,

head of the 90th U.S. Army

Reserve Command, was discovered about 6:40 a.m.

Wednesday.

His glasses, jacket and wallet were found in a neat stack near the body and there was no sign of violence or foul play, the FBI said. Pentagon officials said the note could have been "a diversion" and that Ownby could have committed suicide or been murdered.

"The possibility of the victim having placed the belt around his own wrists has not been ruled out," an FBI statement said.

A close friend, however, said Ownby never would have taken his own life, and a Pentagon spokesman in Washington said senior reserve officers were being advised to take precautions.

The FBI said Ownby had left a handwritten note in his second-floor office saying that he had "startled" some intruders in the building and was going to investigate.

Blood was found on the general's body, but the FBI quoted Bexar County Medical Examiner Vincent DiMaio as saying the blood could have dripped from Ownby's nose and mouth during the hanging.

DiMaio ruled asphyxiation

by hanging as the cause of death and said the general had no "preliminary marks or bruises indicating a struggle."

The FBI released the contents of the handwritten note found on Ownby's desk, which said it was written

"about 1145 hours."

"I started out of the building and caught a glimpse of some people in the building who moved toward the back of the building," the note said. "I don't know who they are or what they are doing. They were apparently startled. I came back here to call the MPs (military police), however, I can not get any of the telephones to work. Just as a precaution I am placing my office keys in my shoe. I will call the MPs

as soon as I can get to a phone."

Base spokesman Capt.

Rudy Purificato said Ownby

often worked late and probably would have been alone in the brick building late

Tuesday.

Investigators initially feared the general's death was the work of a terrorist, and a close friend said he still subscribed to that theory.

Bob Butler, who described himself as the general's "dearest friend," told the

Fort Worth Star-Telegram

that he doubted Ownby killed himself.

"This was the most perfect father and husband in the world," Butler said. "In my own mind, somebody was waiting in there. I just feel like it was somebody he recognized and they made a martyr out of him."

He said Ownby's wife, Ann, had gotten worried and gone to her husband's office before dawn Wednesday, but could not find him.

In Washington on Thursday, Pentagon spokesman

Michael Burch said that as a second charge is that the Soviets are developing more

"new" missiles than allowed by the SALT treaties, which limit each side to one such weapon. The pacts permit

some upgrading, or modernization, of older missiles.

The United States says the Soviets are testing two missiles, known as the SSX-24 and SSX-25.

The Soviets have responded that SSX-25 is the "new" missile type they are allowed while the SSX-24, also known as the PL-5, is simply an upgraded version of the Russian SS-13 missile.

In addition, U.S. intelligence sources say, the Soviets are now encoding

almost all technical data

radioed back from missiles

during flight tests. The SALT

II pact permits some encryption of telemetry, but not as much as the Soviets are now doing, U.S. officials say.

The ban on encoding the data was designed to permit

each side to monitor the other to ensure the treaty is being followed.

precaution, "senior officers in reserve forces are being reminded to take prudent precautions for their own safety."

Ownby, a native of Durant,

Okl., was promoted in February 1962, becoming one of the youngest two-star

generals in the Army.

He supervised about 4,500

reservists in 63 combat units

throughout Texas and in Bossier City, La., and reviewed reports from unit commanders involving mobilization preparations and equipment readiness, said

Purificato.

He owned Bristow-ONB

Corp., a company manufacturing steel doors and frames, and had three children.

During his three years on active duty, Ownby served as a platoon leader with the 3rd

Infantry, the presidential honor guard responsible for security in Washington, D.C.

His family planned to bury him today at Fort Sam

Houston National Cemetery.

Federation proposes stronger curriculum

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, says children should start school earlier, slack up on football, concentrate on "basic" courses and hit the books in high school at least two hours a night.

Rewards for good students might come in the form of scholarships, free hamburgers, movie passes and school trips and the privilege of skipping some final exams, the federation said.

High-achievers also might get out of class to work in community affairs and take courses for college credit, tuition-free, the group suggested.

The federation recommended increasing from 21 to 24 the number of units required for graduation from high school, with more required and fewer "elective" courses and two years of a foreign language.

"We do not believe that excellence should be limited to a few students, but that all Texans should have an education that prepares them for life in a complex technological society," said John Cole, federation president.

"Excellence is a commendable goal, and should be achieved, but not for an elite," he said.

The federation's recommendations were prepared by a task force and made public by Cole at a news conference Thursday.

The federation suggested that the state should switch from optional kindergarten to a full-day, full-year program for children as young as 4.

Cole said the public school curriculum had been weakened over the last 20 years, and an extra unit of science, mathematics and English should be added as well as "life skills" courses such as typing, law, automobile maintenance and parenting. A unit equals two semesters.

The federation said the practice of passing students simply so they can stay up with their age group should be abolished, and the Legislature should make it illegal to pressure a teacher into raising grades or passing a failing student.

"TFT believes that extra-curricular activities are vital to school," the federation said, but it added that "there can be little argument that some activities, of which football may be the most notorious example, have been over-emphasized to the detriment of the rest of the school program."

"Athletics should increasingly emphasize 'lifetime sports,' rather than the traditional triad of football, basketball and track. Most students will not continue exercise in a team sport once high school is passed, but all of us need to continue to exercise. A program emphasizing tennis, bowling, swimming, and other 'lifetime sports' would greatly benefit all students."

Athletic budgets should be written to allow girls to participate in physical education on an equal basis with boys, the federation said. A "C" average in all subjects should be the minimum grade for participation in sports and other extra-curricular activities, it said.

Cole also said districts should stop the practice of hiring coaches and then sticking them in the classroom, often to teach a course in which they have little experience. "Coaches should be hired to coach, not to teach," the federation said, and no sport should be favored over another.

Consumer Alert

by Jim Mattox
Attorney General

AUSTIN—It has come to my attention that a powerful cancer-causing agent has been found in some grain-based grocery products bought here in Texas.

According to the Texas Department of Agriculture, the carcinogen Ethylene Dibromide (EDB), which is used to control weevils and nematodes, was found in grits and cornbread mix bought in two Brenham grocery stores.

EDB was found in similar tests performed by the Florida Department of Agriculture in December. As a result of those tests, the state of Florida took a number of products off the shelf in that state. Florida health standards allow less than one part per billion of EDB in products for human consumption.

In tests done by the Texas Agriculture Department, some grain products were found to contain as much as 90 parts per billion of the chemical. However, since the federal Environmental Protection Agency has set no standard for this carcinogen in food, it remains on our shelves.

There is no need for public panic over this situation. However, you as a consumer have a right to know about what products may contain a dangerous substance and to choose whether you want to buy them.

The Grocery Manufacturers of America, a lobby group for food processors, believe that the products are safe for consumption. But at this point, it is really difficult to know.

Here is a list of the products which were found to contain EDB, with the level of the chemical (in parts per billion, ppb) found in the products tested in Texas:

- Jim Dandy Quick Grits (90 ppb);
- Martha White Yellow Corn Muffin Mix (8.3 ppb);
- Martha White Buttermilk Cornbread Mix (12 ppb);
- Martha White Yellow Cornbread Mix (15 ppb);
- Martha White Yellow Corn Meal (41 ppb);
- Olde Tyme Food Yellow Cornbread Mix (9.6 ppb);
- Olde Tyme Jalapeno Cornbread Mix (8.4 ppb);
- Martha White White Corn Meal (41 ppb);
- Martha White Mexican Cornbread Mix (15 ppb); and
- Martha White Corn Muffin Mix (15 ppb).

Newspaper says

Bernstein knew about contamination

DALLAS (AP) — The commissioner of the Texas Health Department knew eight months ago that a cancer-causing pesticide had been detected in Florida's waters, but waited until last week to order tests to determine if Texas has a similar problem, The Dallas Morning News reported today.

In a copyright story, the newspaper reported that Dr. Robert Bernstein said Thursday that he had learned last May, at a meeting in Alexandria, Va., of state health officials, that EDB had contaminated ground water in Florida.

Despite coming under widespread attack by legislators and other officials, Bernstein has defended his action and has criticized Florida's removal of EDB-tainted food from grocery shelves as premature.

"We thought — and still do — that we're on top of it," Bernstein said. "There is no public health menace that we're aware of."

State Sen. Hector Uribe, D-Brownsville, has asked for a legislative hearing to investigate the way state officials have handled the EDB problems. The hearing is tentatively scheduled for Jan. 25, said Tony Grigsby, an aide to Uribe.

"I don't think that Texans are served well by the apparent cavalier attitude of the chief physician who is charged with protecting our public health," said Uribe, vice chairman of the Health and Human Resources Committee.

State Rep. Debra Danburg, D-Houston, also expressed displeasure with Bernstein's actions.

"It's my impression that the Health Department is not responding," she said. "I'm extremely disappointed with Dr. Bernstein's lack of concern and lack of activity in this area."

Ms. Danburg is vice chairwoman of the Committee on Environmental Affairs.

Bernstein defended his agency's actions, saying that until the federal government sets EDB limits, there is little reason for the Health Department to act.

Tests of the water in Texas cities began Tuesday, almost a month after the state Agriculture Department began testing food to see if it contained ethylene dibromide, or EDB. The chemical has been found in almost a third of the 79 food items tested in Texas.

Health Department officials said they will announce results of their 22 water-sample tests on Friday.

EDB was used extensively as a soil fumigant before the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency banned its use in soil in September because the chemical had tainted groundwater in Florida, Georgia, California and Hawaii.

The pesticide is still used to kill weevils in stored grain and in milling equipment, but the EPA is considering halting its use on grain because the chemical has been found in food in Texas, Florida, California and Ohio.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower, saying he didn't want to "pick a fight" with Bernstein, said the Agriculture Department started testing for EDB as soon as his staff learned of the Florida problems.

"All I know is that when we found out about this stuff (EDB contamination in food) we felt we had a public responsibility that was pretty clear to us," he said.

Gov. White to speak at 11th annual meeting

Gov. Mark White will be in Dimmitt Feb. 6 to address the 11th annual meeting of the Texas Corn Growers Association, it was announced this week by Carl King, president of TCGA.

The list of special guests will also include State Sen. Bill Sarpalius and USDA deputy secretary John Ford. It is believed to be the first time ever for an acting governor to visit Dimmitt.

King said the corn growers will discuss the National Food and Fiber Security Program, a supply-management farm program which the group initiated and hopes will be adopted as 1985 farm legislation.

Lee Morse, a Fort Worth attorney, is on the program agenda to discuss the new marketing concept. The TCGA will also elect officers for 1984.

With Soviets

Reagan seeking productive relations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is set to assure the Soviet Union he seeks a "productive relationship," but his secretary of state says there will be no arms control deal unless it serves U.S. interests.

Reagan's conciliatory move, reversing the tough line he took after the downing of a South Korean airliner last September, will come in a White House speech Monday.

It could set the tone for a critical meeting Secretary of State George P. Shultz will hold in Stockholm, Sweden, two days later with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

But Shultz, at a news conference Thursday, dismissed any suggestion that it would be better to accept past Soviet proposals for restricting nuclear missiles in Europe than to have no agreement at all.

MEXICO CITY — The newspaper Excelsior said Thursday the Kissinger panel's report on Central America is aimed at restoring democracy in the conflict-ridden region, but noted that the area never was democratic.

The newspaper said in an editorial that the report seeks to drive Central America toward "uninterrupted progress" that everyone wants, but that it fails to see up to what point the diverse interests in the region can be appeased.

"If the commission now has found the formula to make them compatible, so much the better," the editorial said. Excelsior often reflects the government's positions.

The independent newspaper El Universal commented in an editorial Thursday that the report shows the United States will not yield to the four-nation Contadora group in devising a solution to the crisis in Central America. "The report maintains the military criteria that oppose those of Contadora head-on, underestimating a series of social and economic factors and putting military superiority above social and political problems," El Universal said.

City officials of Henderson, Minn., have offered gifts to the person who has everything. For $10: fill a pothole in the name of a person and provide a certificate of appreciation. For $20: a color photograph of the pothole, too.

Mexico is one of four nations that joined as the Contadora group are trying to find a peaceful solution to Central America's tensions.

MEXICO CITY — President Miguel de la Madrid says 30,000 public works projects will be under construction this year and that proves Mexico has not come to an economic standstill.

De la Madrid also says he will announce soon a series of special programs to reactivate the economy and improve employment.

The president made his comments during a meeting with the nation's 31 governors who gathered at the National Palace for a working session.

MEXICO CITY — The daily mini devaluation of the peso will continue at its current level throughout the year, according to Miguel Mancera Aguayo, director general of the Bank of Mexico, the country's central bank.

The government allowed the peso to start sliding by 13 centavos each day in September in an effort to head off a one-time larger devaluation of Mexican currency.

Mancera said the peso, valued at 163.66 to the dollar Thursday, is approaching its true value after having been considerably undervalued in recent years. He said the gradual decline in the peso rate has been sufficient to compensate for the difference in inflation rates between Mexico and the United States.

Mancera also said consumer prices and inflation levels are likely to rise during the first three months of 1984, but he said the long-term tendency toward reducing inflation will continue.

Breaking The Zone

The Hereford girls varsity basketball team will need plenty of outside shooting to beat the Palo Duro zone when they travel to Amarillo Friday. Here Darla

Simmons three-stroke lead in Bob Hope Desert Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Jim Simmons cited two factors — a return to his teacher and an exercise program — that helped produce what he called a "once in a blue moon" round. Simmons, a three-time winner in 12 previous seasons on the PGA Tour, scattered nine birdies across his card in a spectacular 63 that provided him with a three-stroke lead Thursday in the second round of the five-round, $400,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic. "I've gone back to Jimmy Ballard (a well-known teaching pro) and that's helped," Simmons said. "I'd worked with him before I won the Memorial five years ago. Since then, I've kind of gotten sidetracked." And, he said, dedication to an exercise program has provided him with added length. "I'm all the way up to average," said Simmons, who now combines his Tour play with a concurrent career as an investment executive for a national financial firm. "I've never been that long before. "It seemed like the courses were all getting longer and old Jim was getting shorter. "It's given me a good feeling about this year."

He rolled in five birdie putts from the 8-12 foot range. He completed two rounds of this five-day, 90-hole event with a 132 total, 12 under par.

Ronnie Black, who scored his first Tour triumph last season, was second at 135 after a 68 at Bermuda Dunes. Johnny Miller, John Mahaffey, Tim Norris and Jack Renner were another stroke back at 136.

Miller, a two-time Hope titleholder and winner of his last two starts, had a second round 69 and Norris 68, both at La Quita. Mahaffey shot a 70 in the mild afternoon at Indian Wells and Renner, a slender little native of this desert resort area, shot 67 at Eldorado.

The touring pros play one round on each of the four courses (all carry a par of 72) with a different set of amateur partners each day. After 72 holes, the amateurs drop out and the field is cut to the low 70 scorers for the pros-only finish Sunday at Bermuda Dunes.

The amateur field includes a number of show-business celebrity friends of the host comedian. The bulk of that group — and most of the gallery — was at Eldorado, where 1983 leading money-winner Hal Sutton had former President Gerald Ford as one of his amateur partners. Sutton, the PGA champion and Player of the Year, could do no better than a 76 and a 144 total.

Houston races past Texas Tech

Villanova upsets Georgetown

By The Associated Press

Dwight Wilbur told his Villanova teammates during a last-second huddle that he would sink the winning basket to upset fourth-ranked Georgetown.

He didn't believe it, though. But when a Villanova play designed to go elsewhere broke down, Wilbur got the ball in the right corner and hit an 18-footer that lifted the Wildcats to a 65-63, double-overtime victory over Georgetown in a Big East Conference game Thursday night at Landover, Md.

A few miles away, top-ranked North Carolina stayed unbeaten by downing No. 5 Maryland 74-62. In other top games, No. 7 Houston beat Texas Tech 88-66; No. 8 Texas-El Paso breezed by San Diego State 75-59; No. 13 Fresno State topped Cal-Santa Barbara 69-51; No. 14 Nevada-Las Vegas routed San Jose State 105-77 and No. 20 Tulsa topped Oral Roberts 84-78.

With the score tied 63-63, Villanova used its last timeout with 16 seconds remaining to set up its final strategy. It was then that Wilbur told Harold Pressley that he would make the winning shot.

"I didn't believe it then and I still can't believe it now," Wilbur said. "I was the last option on the play. We were going to go to Pressley and if we couldn't get inside, then one of the guards would shoot."

"When I shot the ball, I thought we were in for another overtime," said the sophomore guard.

Georgetown, 13-2, had overcame a six-point deficit in the final 23 seconds of regulation. Michael Jackson's 22-foot jump shot at the buzzer sent the game into overtime at 59-59.

Neither team scored in the first overtime as both teams misfired from the floor and the free-throw line.

In the second overtime, Villanova's Frank Dobbs, who had missed two shots in the final 13 seconds of the first extra period, scored four quick points to put the Wildcats ahead. A jump shot by Jackson and two foul shots by Patrick Ewing, who had been held scoreless for 24 minutes, tied it and left it up to Wilbur.

Wilbur scored 10 points while Pressley had 17 points and 17 rebounds.

Top Ten

North Carolina and Maryland played on even terms in College Park, Md., until the final two minutes, when the Tar Heels pulled away in the Atlantic Coast Conference matchup.

With North Carolina leading 63-62 and 2:05 left, Sam Perkins scored five consecutive points and Michael Jordan added four to seal the victory.

Perkins scored 18 of his 26 points in the second half and Jordan added 21 as undefeated North Carolina won for the 11th consecutive time.

Len Bias had 24 points for Maryland, which had a nine-game winning streak snapped and fell to 10-2.

Houston's Akeem Olajuwon asserted himself with 18 points, 10 blocked shots and a career-high 25 rebounds as the Cougars won their 28th consecutive Southwest Conference game.

Michael Young led the visiting Cougars, 14-2, with 21 points. Houston raced to a 25-8 lead and never got within six points the rest of the way.

Tempers flared in the second half when Texas Tech's Tony Benford and Houston's Eldon Franklin exchanged blows and were ejected.

Sophomore center Dave Feit hit 10 of 12 shots from the field and scored a career-

Bahr ready for pressure kick in Super Bowl

EL SEGUNDO, Calif. (AP) — While Chris Bahr isn't looking to join Jim O'Brien as a Super Bowl place-kicker hero, he'll be ready if given the opportunity.

"I'd much rather see us with a 21-point lead with five minutes to go," the Los Angeles Raiders place-kicker said before practice Thursday. "But that doesn't mean I wouldn't accept and enjoy a challenge like that."

"I guess that would be the ultimate challenge you could have in my position."

Bahr is aware that only once in the past 17 Super Bowls has a last-gasp field goal determined the outcome. O'Brien, in his rookie season, kicked a 32-yarder with five seconds remaining to give the Baltimore Colts a 16-13 victory over the Dallas Cowboys in Super Bowl V on Jan. 17, 1971.

Bahr, completing his eighth National Football League season, needs few words to sum up the life of a place-kicker.

"Kickers are like used cars. Nobody notices them until they break down."

Bahr has done very little breaking down in helping the Raiders earn their berth opposite the Washington Redskins in Super Bowl XVIII at Tampa, Fla., on Jan. 22.

Bahr joined the Raiders in 1980 after being released by the Cincinnati Bengals and responded by scoring a career-high 98 points.

Then, he clicked on six-of-seven field goal attempts and all 12 conversion tries as the Raiders marched through the postseason on their way to Super Bowl XV, where they beat the Philadelphia Eagles 27-10.

Bahr, whose brother, Matt, kicks for the Cleveland Browns, admitted he'll be at least a bit nervous on Jan. 22.

"There'll be butterflies," he said. "The other players get hit a few times early in the game and relax. We're the one position where we're not into the flow of a game."

high 24 points to lead Texas-El Paso. The host Miners, 14-0, took the lead two minutes into the Western Athletic Conference game and stayed ahead the rest of the way.

Senior forward Bernard Thompson scored 17 points as host Fresno State had little trouble with Cal-Santa Barbara.

Thompson scored eight of his points in the final two minutes of the first half as the Bulldogs, 11-2, took a 35-24 lead.

Ed Catchings scored 18 points to pace visiting Nevada-Las Vegas. The Runnin' Rebels scored the final nine points of the first half to take a 43-26 lead.

Nevada-Las Vegas improved to 13-1 with the Pacific Coast Athletic Association victory.

Steve Harris scored 25 points and Ricky Ross had 24 as Tulsa held off crosstown rival Oral Roberts. Tulsa, 14-0, took the lead for good when Ross sank a half-court shot at the halftime buzzer to give the Hurricane a 39-37 edge.

Because time changes insurance aims and costs, a review of your overall insurance program should be made every few years.

We will be pleased to make a survey of your insurance needs compared to the insurance you now carry. After the survey you can better evaluate whether your insurance dollar is being spent most wisely.

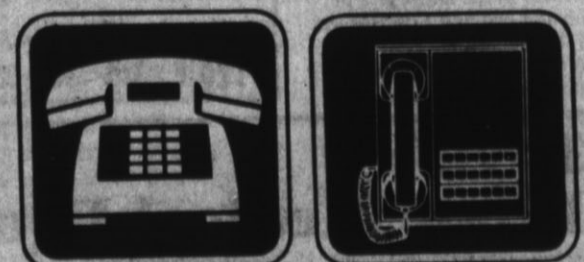

Often, insurance is bought "piecemeal" over a period of time. Many times, in reviewing programs, we have found that essential coverages are not insured at all or inadequately. Meanwhile, money may be spent on insurance which we would consider optional, that is, nice to have but not at the expense of more essential coverages.

McEnroe advances to net semifinals

NEW YORK (AP) — The explosion was expected and expensive. But when it was over, the tempestuous John McEnroe advanced to the semifinals of the $400,000 Volvo Masters tennis championships where he will meet top-seeded Mats Wilander.

"I think there's definitely a possible chance" that the winner of their Saturday encounter will be considered 1983's top tennis player, McEnroe said after disposing of Johan Kriek 6-4, 6-2 in Thursday night's quarterfinal.

Wilander, who has beaten McEnroe in all three of their 1983 meetings, agreed after he advanced with a 7-6, 6-2 victory over Spain's Jose Higueras.

In today's quarterfinal, reigning U.S. open champion Jimmy Connors played surprising Tomas Smid of Czechoslovakia. The winner will face the survivor of tonight's quarterfinal pairing between two-time defending Masters champion Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia and Ecuador's Andres Gomez.

Saturday's semifinals, as well as Sunday's final, will begin at 12:30 p.m. EST and will be televised nationally by NBC. The winner of this elite 12-man field will collect $100,000, with $60,000 going to the runnerup.

And, besides the money and the crown, the title as 1983's top player could hinge on the outcome here on the Supreme Court at Madison Square Garden. The four Grand Slam titles — the French Open, Wimbledon, the U.S. Open and the Australian Open — were split among four players, three of whom are still in the running for the Masters championship.

Only Yannick Noah, the first Frenchman in 37 years to capture the French Open, is sitting on the sidelines after being shocked by Smid in an opening-round match.

Despite the score, McEnroe's victory over Kriek wasn't an easy one. Neither player could hold serve in the first four games.

Then, after McEnroe broke his South African-born opponent in the ninth game, his temper got the best of him.

After he was wide with a forehead down the line, giving Kriek a 15-30 lead in the 10th game, the New York left-hander slammed his graphite racket to the court. The racket splintered and the broken head went crashing into the curtain at the back of the court, just missing two lineswomen.

He was given a warning for abuse of racket by referee Charles Beck of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and later fined $500 by the Volvo Grand Prix supervisor Ken Farrar.

"I've done that a thousand times," McEnroe said of hitting the floor with his racket, "and it's only shattered twice — here and against Connors in the U.S. Open when it landed on his side of the net."

"It was completely accidental and I apologize for that. But I may have to change because it's not worth getting fined for and having fans boo me."

Both love to hit

Mancini to battle Chacon

RENO, Nev. (AP) — "We're going to get in there and play a good game of catch," says Bobby Chacon. "I hope not," says Ray Mancini. "I hope I'll do all the pitching."

But the game the two friends play is not baseball, but boxing, and critics say both catch too many punches, bleed too much.

Both men claim they have more boxing ability than they generally are credited with having.

Thursday, they tried to laugh off their detractors at a news conference for their scheduled 15-round fight Saturday night for the World Boxing Association lightweight championship held by Mancini.

The 32-year-old Chacon, of Oroville, Calif., will be bidding for a third world title in the bout on the University of Las Vegas-Reno campus. It will be televised live by Home Box Office beginning about 7:15 p.m., PST.

"We both love to hit," said Chacon, the former World Boxing Council featherweight and super featherweight champion. "We both love to hit."

"I've been trying to bleed all during training, but it won't come. The doctor did a good job."

In his last fight in which he rallied to win a 12-round decision over Cornelius Boza-Edwards last May 15 at Las Vegas, Nev., Chacon needed 24 stitches to close cuts. Some observers thought the fight should have been stopped.

"I wore red today because everybody talks about how much blood there's going to be," said the 22-year-old Mancini, of Youngstown, Ohio.

Turning serious, Chacon said, "They say bad thing are going to happen in this fight. No bad things are going to happen."

"Ray has that misfortune happen with Kim, but that was one fight," said Chacon, referring to the fight in which South Korean Duk Koo Kim was injured fatally.

"We're both in good shape."

"It's more dangerous now," Chacon has said, admitting that 13 years as a professional fighter has made him an old 32. "I have to stay in shape all the time."

Mancini was about a 4-1 choice to win his fourth title defense. He has a 28-1-0 record, with 22 knockouts.

FIRST CHRISTIAN

Within the last eight months, four young men from First Christian Church, along with their families, have accepted a call to the ministry. Three have already left for seminary training and one plans to enter seminary in the fall.

This kind of commitment, by so many in such a short period of time in one congregation is unusual, to say the least, according to the Rev. Mack McCarter, pastor.

Jim Donaldson, 27, and his wife, Debbie, were the first to leave. He is presently attending the International School of Theology of Campus Crusade for Christ International in Arrowhead Springs,

To Enter Ministry

In unprecedented evidence of commitment, four young men from the congregation of First Christian Church have dedicated their lives to the ministry and made the decision to enter seminary, all within the last eight months. With the Rev. Mack McCarter, pastor, are, from left, Bill Marquis, David Grounsnick, Jim Donaldson and Carry King. Donaldson will be returning to Hereford after nine months of study to become the first local missionary in the Cornerstone Christian Community Movement, a pilot program for renewal in America.

Calif. He was manager of Pengo Farm Services in Hereford.

Donaldson plans to return to Hereford after nine months of study to become the first local missionary in a Hereford-based nationwide pilot program, the Cornerstone Christian Community Movement, which is being undertaken by First Christian Church.

These young men, as well as others in the First Christian congregation, have committed themselves to this movement, which has as its goal, bringing people to Jesus Christ, beginning with the county-seat towns of America.

David Grounsnick, 29, and Carry King, 26, left Dec. 18 for Asbury College in Wilmore, Ky., to begin studying for the ministry.

Grounsnick, who was employed with Farr Better Feeds, and his wife, Becky, have three children. King and his wife, Kyle, are also parents of three children. He was an independent trucker.

Bill Marquis, 34, a local lawyer, plans to enroll at Fuller Theological Seminary in California in August. He and his wife, Susan, have two children.

Ann Landers

No housekeeper

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I believe mother-daughter problems are the most difficult of all and I need some help with mine. Please hear me out.

"Kathy" is expecting her third child soon. She never was a good housekeeper, but now her place is such a mess I don't know how she stands it.

Last night she had her father and me to dinner. I could barely eat anything because the place was such a shambles. Clothing on doorknobs, chairs and on the floor, curtains that needed to be washed, draperies that have never been to the cleaner. The bathrooms were just plain filthy. The kitchen was incredible—not a clean surface to work on, dishes and pots and pans piled up from the day before.

I have offered repeatedly to come and clean one day a week. Kathy's answer, "No, thank you." When I learned she was pregnant this last time, I volunteered to pay a cleaning woman. Again, "I'm managing OK. Thanks."

She is a wonderful person in so many ways. I can't understand how she can live in all that grime and clutter. Her husband doesn't seem to mind, nor does he pick up after himself, let alone the children.

They will have a lot of money when I die, but I would rather spend some of it now to help them live in an orderly home. What do you suggest?—Cornwall, Ont., Mother

DEAR MOTHER: You will never win this one, so adjust to the grime and clutter as best you can and get off her back.

Your relationship with your daughter is more important than the state of her housekeeping. Even if it looks like a pigpen, vow that you will never bring up the subject again.

Why some people who are brought up in neat and orderly homes prefer to live like slobs is a mystery. It may be a matter of rebellion or just plain laziness, but whatever the reason, it's their business, and a mother who is wise will keep her views to herself.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 34, living with the guy who fathered my nine-year-old son. We've been together 10 years. He is a good father and a nice person.

There's one problem—he uses cocaine and is a free-baser. I worry that he might burn down the place. All his money goes for the white stuff. He never answers the phone, steals money from me left and right and is a wonderful liar. Of course, I've been supporting him.

I love him dearly and know things could be like they once were if he would get of the coke. I have asked him to call a drug-abuse hotline or go to a center where he can get help. He says he doesn't have a problem and can quit anytime he wants to, but he enjoys the feeling and doesn't want to give it up.

I am not asking him to quit cold turkey. If he could just cut down, I'm sure he could lick it. I am — Open For Suggestions In Beantown

DEAR BEANTOWN: I fail to see how a "nice person" can be a liar, a thief and a freeloader. A coke junkie who refuses to admit he has a problem is hopeless. My advice is for you, not him. Unload the guy before he destroys your life.

Don't flunk your chemistry test. Love is more than one set of glands calling to another. If you have trouble making a distinction you need Ann's booklet, "Love or Sex and How to Tell the Difference." The Newspaper BIBLE

SENTENCED TO DIE, BUT DESTINED TO LIVE!

Pilate sentenced Jesus to die as they demanded. And he released Barabbas, the man in prison for insurrection and murder, at their request. But he delivered Jesus over to them to do with as they would.

As the crowd led Jesus away to His death, Simon of Cyrene, who was just coming into Jerusalem from the country, was forced to follow, carrying Jesus' cross. Great crowds trailed along behind, and many grief-stricken women.

But Jesus turned and said to them, "Daughters of Jerusalem, don't weep for Me, but for yourselves and for your children. For the days are coming when the women who have no children will be counted fortunate indeed."

"Mankind will beg the mountains to fall on them and crush them, and the hills to bury them. For if such things as this are done to Me, the Living Tree, what will they do to you?"

Two others, criminals, were led out to be executed with Him at a place called "The Skull." There all three were crucified—Jesus on the center cross, and the two criminals on either side.

"Father, forgive these people," Jesus said, "for they don't know what they are doing." And the soldiers gambled for His clothing, throwing dice for each piece.

Watchdog committee clears legislator

AUSTIN (AP) — The House Ethics Committee investigation into the expense accounts of Rep. Ron Wilson, D-Houston, is closed. Wilson paid the panel $2,000 Thursday after the panel admonished him in what he said was a "difference of opinion."

The watchdog committee said it "hereby admonishes the respondent in that his conduct ... was contrary to the customs and usages of the House and its committees regarding spending policies and has resulted in unfavorable publicity to the House and the respondent."

Committee Chairman Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline, said that closed the books on the investigation.

Wilson said later he considered the charges, pending since mid-1982, and once the subject of a grand jury investigation, "a difference of opinion in interpretation of the House rules."

Wilson said he would be a candidate for re-election to a fifth term in the House in the May 5 Democratic primary.

The committee had said on Oct. 18 it was undertaking an investigation in that it "had reason to believe" Wilson could possibly be guilty of improper conduct because his House Committee on Health Services far exceeded the budget set by House leaders.

The committee also said it had reason to believe that Wilson had collected living expenses illegally from June 1981 to July 1982, because his per diem expense accounts totaling $16,820 for 289 days included 33 Saturdays and 32 Sundays when he supposedly worked on committee business, and that he had charged the committee for telephone calls apparently not related to committee business.

Published reports said Wilson was living in Austin, attending the University of Texas Law School, and charging the state for trips back to his district in Houston. Others said he billed the state for more than $4,000 in long distance calls, including more than 150 calls to at least one actor and to Hollywood talent agencies and film studios.

Wilson said all of his expense accounts were approved either by former House Speaker Bill Clayton or Rep. Pete Laney, D-Hale Center, former head of the House Administration Committee.

Hollowell said "a proposed remedy" was worked out and presented to Wilson. It called for him to pay a total of $1,000 to repay the state "in full" for the telephone calls and for per diem when he was not actually in Austin. It called for another $1,000 for per diem expenses collected in excess of House rules.

Hollowell said the committee took no action on the excess spending by Wilson's committee because the House has not enforced committee budget limits in the past "and we recommend that Rep. Wilson not be held to any higher standards than previous legislators."

After the Travis County grand jury investigation in late 1982, District Attorney Ronnie Earle reported "our conclusion is that a criminal violation cannot be proved, because it is impossible to prove that Rep. Wilson did not conduct at least some committee business on each of the days for which he claimed expenses."

Earle said Wilson's expense claims may have been "excessive and even abusive of the public trust" but under House policies they were not illegal.

Because their eyes are on the sides of their heads, most birds have excellent fields of vision.

Amarillo artist shares water color techniques

The Hereford Fine Arts Association met Tuesday night in the Community Center. After a short business meeting, Charles Lyles introduced the guest speaker, Jerry Vance of Amarillo.

Vance is an accomplished water color artist and shows his work in about 25 art shows each year. He does contemporary as well as traditional water colors and uses varied techniques in reaching what he wants in a picture, taking advantage of what the color does when put on the wet paper. He demonstrated many of these techniques in an informative and unique program.

Vance is an art teacher at Amarillo High School, having received his master's degree from West Texas State University. He says he cannot remember a time when he did not paint.

Refreshments, including a cracker and cheese tray along with a tray of divinity, fruit cookies and fruit cake, were served by Dorothy Mayfield and Frances Frazier to the following members: Mildred Guinn, Louva Kersey, Kersey, Mary Lou Aquirre, Shirley Wyssman, June Owens, Lyles, Linda Minchew, Norma Hendon, Venita Wear, Gary Hammett, and guests, Truman and Norma Thurston.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 14 at the Community Center, with a program on pastel portraits by Jayne Williams. Visitors are always encouraged and welcome to attend.

Thomas hosts class meeting

Luella Thomas was hostess for the regular monthly meeting of Kingdom Seekers Sunday School Class from Avenue Baptist Church on Tuesday.

Pauline Landers led the opening exercises, a reading entitled "Just for Today," and roll call was answered with "my new year's resolution."

Opening prayer was voiced by the hostess, and Veima Carroll gave a devotional entitled "The New Year." She stressed the importance of living one day at a time.

During the business meeting, Trudie Gray was welcomed as a new member and reports were given on ill members; the class mother, Ava Phillips; and the Laotian ministry of the church.

Juanita Houle closed the meeting with a prayer.

Others present were Wilma Bryan, Irma Bain, Fannie Townsend, and Shirley Brown.

Mrs. Bain will host the Feb. 14 meeting.

FAITH REVEALS THE UNLIMITED FACETS OF LOVE

o many of us, the word "love" usually signifies romantic adventure, happy marriage or the care and anxiety of a parent; but while all of these are good examples of it, they by no means tell the whole story. Love is an act of kindness for one's neighbor; an anonymous donation to a worthy cause; food and supplies sent to starving native children or the victims of a disaster; a regular visit to the sick, the elderly or the lonely of any age; and so on indefinitely. Whatever form it takes, the main ingredients of love are thoughtfulness and unselfishness, and you will find the recipe for it at the Church of your choice. It will be served with a generous portion of happiness for you as well as for the recipients of it.

"A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you."
—John 13:34

Respect is what we owe; love, what we give.
—Phillip James Bailey

Tennis balls to rescue

DEAR READERS — Lamps, lipsticks and lint lead off our Pointer roundup today. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — If you put a down-filled jacket into the dryer, it can come out with the down all bunched up and lumpy. However, putting a couple of tennis balls in the dryer with the jacket will make the down fluffy and evenly distributed. Works with pillows, too. — OLGA

DEAR POLLY — If you hesitate to throw away lipsticks because you know there is unused lipstick left in the tube, one solution is to invest in a lipstick brush. They sell for $3 or $4 but are an excellent investment. However, it is even better to remove the lipstick from the tube and put it in a clean plastic container, such as the kind loose powder comes in. A space can be left in the middle of the container for mixing shades. To identify the shade of each container, merely transfer the label from the bottom of the lipstick tube to the plastic container. — G.A.O.

DEAR POLLY — When lint accumulates in the front facings of shirts, take a pencil with a clean white eraser and run the eraser end down between the buttons or buttonholes. This easily removes the lint from these spaces. — MUFF

DEAR POLLY — The best way to remove accumulated water in my chest-type freezer, after all the ice has melted in the bottom, is to use a clean mop. This absorbs all the water left standing, and you won't break your back leaning over the edge trying to reach the bottom. By the way, I'm only 5 feet tall and this makes cleaning a breeze.

Older people who buy their own phones will find those with a re-dial button on them very helpful. You can dial an emergency number, such as the fire department or police, before going to sleep. Then, if the number is needed during the night, you only need to push the re-dial button. There's no time lost or frustration due to having to look up the number. — A.W.

Homfeld nominated for club woman of the year

Mariellen Homfeld was nominated as Bippus Extension Homemakers Club's woman of the year candidate by the club members when they met Wednesday in the home of Margaret Hall.

The members chose to adopt a grandparent as their club project.

Roll call was answered with "one thing I hope to accomplish this year" by 12 members and one visitor, Cindy Freeman. The group shared ideas such as finishing a quilt, cleaning closets and filling picture frames.

The next meeting will be at 2 p.m. Feb. 8 in the home of Mrs. Juanita Perrin.

English initiated into Order of Eastern Star

Maxine Dorothy English was initiated as a new member of the Order of the Eastern Star Monday at the Masonic Temple.

All officers were present for the meeting, and Bessie Trimble signed the by-laws. It was announced that Pam Bell will be installed as Worthy Advisor for Rainbow Girls at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Opal Robertson reported on an Eastern Star meeting she visited in Imperial, Calif.

Penny Powell was welcomed as a guest by the 32 members present. Serving as hosts were Norma and Marvin Coffee, Dorothy Noland, and Wynema and Harold Wheeler.

Millions suffer from little known disorder

COLLEGE STATION — More than five million women suffer from osteoporosis.

Yet a recent national survey shows that 77 percent of all women in the United States know nothing about this degenerative bone condition, says health educator Dr. Mary Ann Huessner.

Osteoporosis is a disorder which causes bones to lose calcium and become thin, weak and brittle, explains Huessner, who is a specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economics program.

National figures show that osteoporosis affects one out of four postmenopausal women. Complications resulting from osteoporosis are the 12th leading cause of death in the United States today. The condition has also been directly linked to more than 200,000 hip fractures suffered by American women each year.

With awareness and understanding, this "silent epidemic" can be controlled, says the specialist. Preventative measures include a calcium-rich diet, consistent aerobic exercise, and when appropriate, hormone replacement therapy.

Women should inform themselves about osteoporosis and talk to their doctors about means of treatment and prevention, Huessner says.

'Floaters' generally harmless

You may be looking at a clear sky or a light-colored background when you first notice them. In your field of vision are one or more small, gray spots or thread-like figures. They drift in and out of the visual field and float away when you try to stare at them directly. Because they seldom affect vision, you may not realize they are present.

They are "floaters," which are common in the general population, says the Texas Medical Association. Though usually harmless, they can indicate serious eye problems.

The eye is filled with a clear, jelly-like substance called vitreous humor. In some people, imperfections within the vitreous humor cast tiny shadows on the retina, the inner surface of the back of the eye where the visual image is formed. This results in the spots or thread figures in the visual field.

Floaters are common with the elderly and in people who are nearsighted. Even if the floaters are not bothersome, it is wise to mention them to an ophthalmologist during the next visit. This medical doctor who specializes in eye care, can check to make sure the floaters are harmless and do not indicate a more serious problem.

Floaters themselves have no treatment, but the serious eye diseases that occasionally accompany them do.

If numerous floaters appear suddenly or are accompanied by flashes or "sparks" of light, a checkup is critical. These signs could indicate a detached retina. Any loss or change of vision also demands immediate medical attention because early treatment helps prevent permanent vision loss.

Auxiliary changes time

The Ladies Auxiliary to VFW Post 4818 met in special session Monday night with Rose Goheen presiding. The meeting was preceded by a covered dish supper for auxiliary and VFW members.

During the business session, members decided to hold their suppers at 7 p.m. and meetings at 8 p.m. to make it easier for those who work until 6 p.m.

The auxiliary voted to donate $5 to the State Nursing Scholarship Fund.

One guest, Karen Hatley, was welcomed. Other members present were Helen Bishop, Betty Boggs, Leone Buckley, Doris Coffin, Frances Green, Maisie Heath, Essie Martin, Erna Murphey, Edith Richardson, Vivian Williams, Lillie Muller and Marie Goheen.

The next meeting will be Jan. 23 at 8 p.m. Starting in February the auxiliary will be back on the regular first and third Monday night schedule.

The first session of the First Congress of the United States, meeting in New York, submitted to the states on Sept. 25, 1789, the original constitutional amendments now known as the Bill of Rights.
